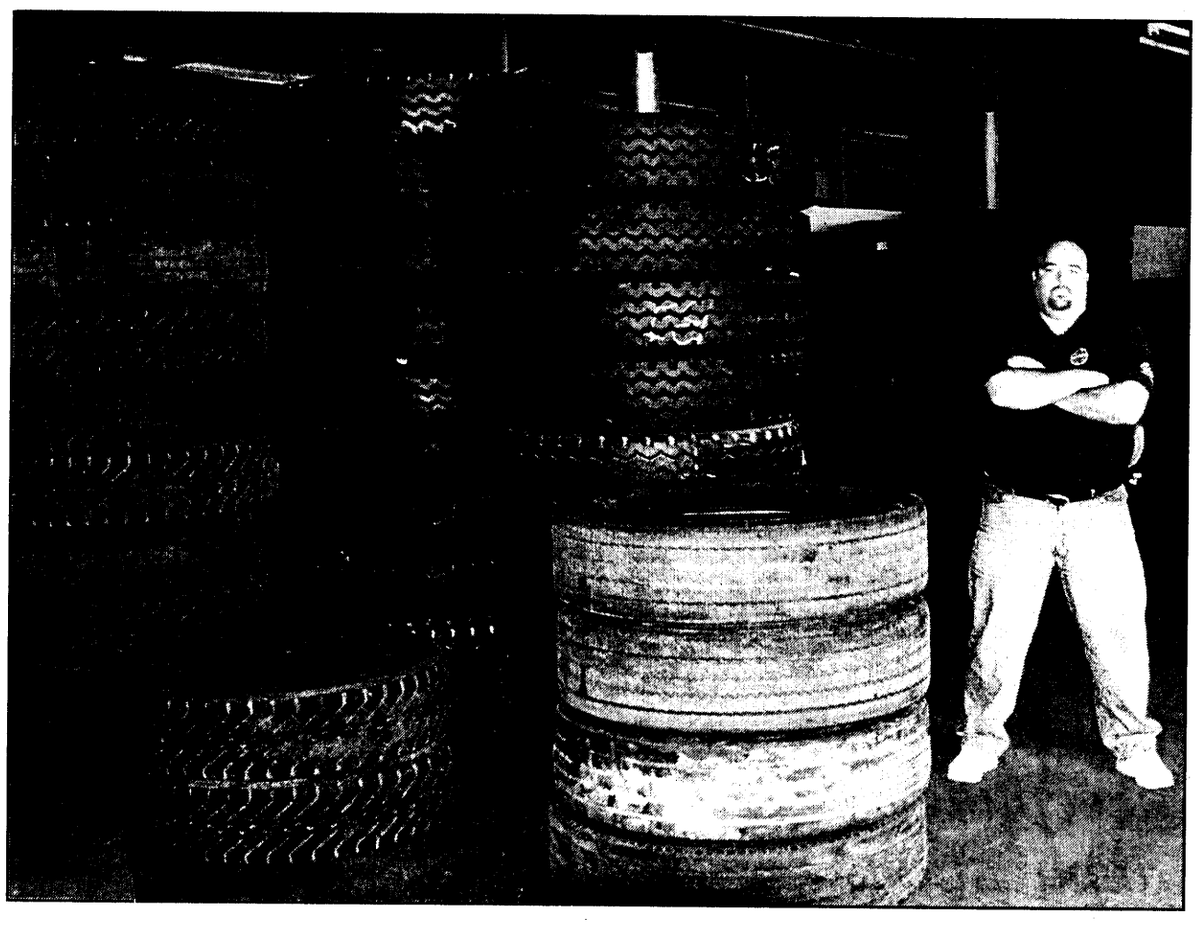
Complete coverage of the Cass City community and surrounding areas since 1899

VOLUME 100, NUMBER 30 | CASS CITY, MICHIGAN - WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 2006 | FIFTY CENTS | 18 PAGES PLUS SUPPLEMENT



MARK AUVIL STANDS inside the former Bassett building in Cass City, which he is transforming into the Midwest distribution facility for his Florida-based company, Midway Tire Company.

Auvil returns "home" with business investment, jobs

by Tom Montgomery
Editor

Returning to your hometown isn't an unusual move, but few people bring jobs and thousands of dollars with them to invest in the community.

Mark Auvil did.

Auvil, who describes himself as an entrepreneur, closed on the purchase of the former Bassett building on Garfield Avenue, just west of Millennium Industries, early last week. He has since been busy transforming the building into what will serve as a second distribution center for his firm, Midway Tire Company.

Born and raised in Cass City, Auvil left the Cass City community in 1990 and eventually established his business in Florida. He and his wife, Sheri, live in West Palm Beach, Fla., but the couple also have a summer home in Michigan, in Fort Gratiot, just north of Port Huron.

Starting a family is what brought Auvil back to Michigan. He says Cass City Village Manager Peter Cristiano's warm welcome and willingness to do what it takes to accommodate his business needs is what brought him back "home", to Cass City.

"Your city manager made it very appealing. He made it very well known that we were welcome here," Auvil said of Cristiano.

"We had a choice of several cities right now, with the way the economy is, and as much as I may have wanted to come back here...if it hadn't been for him, we probably would have (located) in another city," he added, noting there were a number of factors to consider, including logistics such as transportation.

"He went way above and beyond. He did everything from negotiate on the building for us," Auvil continued. "He took care of all the red tape you normally have to go through. He just did an outstanding job for us."

In fact, Auvil said the sale of the building, owned by Patricia Gee and Cheryl Rice, was closed in a matter of hours.

Auvil, who also owns a company called Tire Engineering, has been involved in a number of business ventures over the years. "I do a lot of real estate investing, but tires are my main business," he said. "Altogether, with all my companies, I hope to do $5 million" in sales in 2007.

As for Midway tire, Auvil explained 99 percent of the company's business is focused on the wholesale truck tire sales market, including redistribution of tires to the retread industry throughout North America.

"We're associated with several manufacturing facilities throughout the United States, but mostly in Florida. We do a lot of export business in Mexico and South America," he said.

"This (Cass City facility) will be our Michigan distribution center for the Midwest. This will be the only location in Michigan that Midway has that is full-service," Auvil explained, adding the business will also cater to the general public, whether someone needs service for a wheelbarrow tire or an earthmover tire.

Auvil said the 10,000-square-foot Bassett building is adequate to serve his company's needs.

"For now it is, but we expect to build on another 15,000 square feet," he added. "We may start a manufacturing (retreading) facility here. That's our long-term goal."

Auvil has already realized a short-term goal - getting back to his roots in Michigan.

"Originally, I came back looking because I'm a new father," said Auvil, referring to the couple's 15-month-old daughter, Sophie. "So, my wife and I, after our daughter was born, bought a house in Fort Gratiot. "We wanted our daughter to have some of the same opportunities as we did.

JA in schools may not happen this year

Bert Althaver isn't a professional teacher, nor is Kate VanAuken or Randy Severance.

Althaver is an experienced businessman and Cass City Village official, while VanAuken is a library director and active volunteer in the community. Severance is a dairy farmer and veteran Cass City School Board member.

But all 3 Cass City area residents, along with several others in the community, have a common interest - they have all shared their years of experience in classrooms at Campbell Elementary School and Cass City Middle School as Junior Achievement (JA) volunteers. And, they all agree it's a worthwhile program.

"I think it's valuable," said Althaver, whose leadership played a key role in the growth of Walbro Corporation - a company that began modestly and grew to employee some 5,000 people, earning an international reputation in the process.

"I think it's an absolutely wonderful program," VanAuken agreed. "I think it's a wonderful program that gets people from the community into the classroom."

Unfortunately, local school officials may not be calling on Althaver, VanAuken, Severance or any other community volunteers to help teach students about the world of business this year, as financial troubles have forced the Cass City Board of Education to cut a number of programs, including Junior Achievement.

"Junior Achievement has been operating programs in kindergarten through eighth grade classrooms in the Cass City Schools for the past 5 years, reaching over 4,500 students," said Mark N. Pankner, president of Junior Achievement of Northeast Michigan Inc.

"The principals and teachers from both Campbell Elementary and Cass City Middle School want their students to have this JA experience because they strongly feel it does make a difference," Pankner added. "We are making a plea to the business community to support this program,

Case dismissed

Reene drops criminal case, but says he'll send Burtch file to department of education

by Tom Montgomery
Editor

Tuscola County Prosecutor Mark Reene opted Friday to abandon a trial scheduled this week for Cass City Band Director Doug Burtch on charges of criminal sexual conduct - at least for now.

However, Reene is keeping his options open, and he said the popular former band director could still lose his teaching certificate.

"Due to the nature of defendant's employment, a complete copy of the investigative materials associated with this case are being forwarded to the Michigan Department of Education for administrative review," he said.

Burtch had been scheduled to go on trial Monday morning on 8 counts of criminal sexual conduct (CSC) stemming from allegations leveled by a former Cass City High School student, who claimed she and Burtch had been intimate in the fall of 2004 at his then-Cass City home.

The charges are 2 counts of third degree CSC, a felony punishable by up to 15 years in prison, and 6 counts of fourth degree CSC, a "high misdemeanor" that carries a maximum penalty of up to 2 years imprisonment.

The age of consent in Michigan is 16, but Burtch was charged under a state law that makes it illegal for a teacher to have sexual contact with a student younger than 18 years of age who attends the same school where the teacher is employed.

He was also charged with 2 counts of third degree CSC in Sanilac County after another former Cass City High School student, then 17, alleged that she and Burtch had been sexually intimate in December 2003, when he lived in Sanilac County.

However, following a 3-day trial in Sanilac County Circuit Court last spring, a jury deliberated for 35 minutes before acquitting Burtch of all charges in the case, which involved a former choir student of Burtch's.

Reene said his decision to not proceed with the trial in Tuscola County at this time was based largely on successful pre-trial motions filed by defense attorney Walt Salens, Bad Axe, which suppressed "significant evidence and exclusion of witnesses the People deem necessary.

"Basically, everything that occurred and applied in the Sanilac County venue was stricken," Reene said of the pre-trial motions. "That not only put us behind the 8-ball, but a whole set of them.

"It comes down to evidence, and it comes down to an assessment of what will occur, putting a student victim, now, a third time on the stand, and having the evidence reduced not only substantially, but beyond substantially," Reene said.

In the Tuscola County case, a former Cass City student, also 17 at the time, alleged Burtch invited her to his home during a carnival fundraiser held at the school in October 2004, and she claimed they engaged in sexual activity.

> "For us it was truly a review of the evidence and having so much suppressed and stricken."
> --Tuscola County Prosecutor Mark Reene

Salens called Reene's decision good news for Burtch, who denied both of his accusers' accounts. "I think it's great that he's been vindicated," Salens said. "He has maintained his innocence all along."

"I'm excited that this terrible chapter of my life is behind me," Burtch, 29, said Monday. He said he couldn't put into words his appreciation to those in the community that have stood behind him throughout the past year.

As for the future, Burtch said he has not found employment yet and isn't certain what he will be doing down the road. "I don't have an answer. I wish I did," he added, noting he hopes to return to education, but

Stoeckle logs 50 hours in program

Ashleigh Stoeckle of Cass City has earned an award for logging 50 hours in the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) Horseback Riding Program.

The program recognizes and rewards AQHA members for time spent with their American quarter horses in activities such as trail rides, working cattle, pleasure driving and simply riding.

A unique aspect of the program is its simplicity. Current AQHA members complete a program application and pay a one-time $25 enrollment fee. Each enrollee receives an official AQHA log sheet to record their hours driving or riding. Participants need not own their own horse, but all official hours must be accrued with a registered American quarter horse.

Nine subsequent awards are presented at 100- to 5,000- hour levels and range from merchandise gift certificates to a Montana Silversmith trophy belt buckle at the highest level.

AQHA encourages horseback riding as a recreational activity that can be enjoyed alone or with family and friends. More information is available by visiting the website www.aqha.com.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Chronicle editor Tom Montgomery is more than a writer who finished first in class D for feature writing, he is also a good coach for aspiring writers entering the field. Numerous summer interns have achieved distinction in various writing jobs.

In the same Michigan Press Association contest in which Montgomery won top honors, former intern Matt Bach, now with the Flint Journal, placed first in enterprise reporting with a story showing that schools solved discipline problems by kicking the student out of the school.

Another former intern Marjory Raymer, also with the Flint Journal now, was second in the same category, with a story about shortages at the gas pump.

Christi's Bar & Grill, 95 E. Clarkston Road, is easily visible from M-24, just south of the Lake Orion city limits. It's a brick building that looks staple and one that you wouldn't be surprised to find fine dining in at least a semi-formal setting.

I entered at about 6 p.m. and found just one of the tables occupied and about a dozen bar stools filled to capacity. There were numerous big screen televisions scattered around and the attention of the patrons seemed to be the Keno games.

With that background, I ordered from a limited menu with not much hope of receiving something special. Surprise, my cup of chili served with warm bread sticks was good. My lasagna, fresh from the oven and served bubbling hot, was outstanding. The total bill was under $12.

There wasn't a wide choice on the menu I received and that is the only downer in my rating system. Still, it's worth an 8 on the 1-10 scale.

During the baseball season there has been a friendly rivalry with Sean Severance, a Tiger baseball fan. I needled him about being a jinx, especially when he saw the Tigers play in Boston and lose to the Red Sox.

Of course, he had the last laugh as he was at Saturday's game to see the Tigers eliminate the Yankees.

He did a little needling of his own as he reported that his predictions for the outcomes of high school football games are better than mine. Join the crowd, Sean.

Local man's son survives accident that claimed life

A tragic accident occurred Sunday, Oct. 1 when Chris Klco, 36, and a group of missionary youth were repairing the Klco home in Rockford. It claimed the life of a 16-year-old missionary and resulted in very serious injury to Klco, who remains unconscious in Spectrum Health Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Klco was not breathing when he entered the hospital and was revived with the use of electric shock paddles.

The home was being repaired before being placed on the market, as the Klcos were preparing to move to Brazil for missionary work.

Klco is still unconscious and doctors say his recovery will be a true miracle. He has started to breathe partially on his own, although each breath requires assistance, his father Al Klco of Cass City reported.

No one can say for sure how the accident occurred, Al Klco added. The stricken youth and Chris Klco were in the front of the house by themselves and the rest of the youth group was working in the rear of the house out of sight.

It is speculated that the accident occurred when the ladder the pair was using was being moved and hit a wire, and both workers were electrocuted.

Absentee ballot has advantages

There are obvious advantages to voting with an absentee ballot and perhaps another advantage that is only obvious when you think about it-or when you experience it.

My first vote via the absentee route was at the primary this year. The advantage, in addition to convenience, that has sold me on receiving my ballot before the election day is the opportunity to make an intelligent decision on all the candidates.

Sure, it's possible to have written on a piece of paper your choices for every office before you enter the voting booths, but I'd guess not one in 10 go that route. Most everyone has decided on the Jennifer Granholm vs. Dick DeVos battle for governor and to a lesser extent, their choice for U.S. Senator.

But there is probably a sizeable percentage that does not have a clue in the non-partisan races for justice of the Michigan Supreme Court that in the long run could affect Michigan more than the governor's race.

Although not as important as the non-partisan vote, electing new members of the state board of education or the various universities' board members may well have an affect on how much a college degree will cost.

There are 4 proposals on the ballot and before Nov. 7 they are sure to be discussed and publicized in detail.

There is plenty of time now to make decisions about the proposals and investigate the reasons for the proposals and why they are necessary. One that I already have decided on is to vote in favor of prohibiting the government from taking private property and selling to another private party because of the benefit to the community involved. The individual should not be forced to give up his property for less than the market dictates and that often happens when property is condemned.

I suspect I won't receive any applause from the various township clerks who administer the absent voter's ballot program with this endorsement of the system.

Admittedly, it is more work for them, but not as big a burden as it could be for clerks in larger population areas.

Long waits in a voting line in the Thumb these days have been a thing of the past. The only real reasons for taking an absent voter's ballot is that you know you won't be around on voting day, or you want to become an informed voter the easy way.

The back forty

"Haruum-voom," the Toyota droned as I shifted into third; "Voom—voom," when I dropped back into second.

"My big, powerful SUV seems to be having a little trouble with this hill," I quipped to my companions. "You would think a monster four-cylinder like this would roar right up this little grade."

That's what I've been reading in the newspapers. Sports utility vehicles are supposed to be gas-guzzling monsters, capable of blowing other vehicles off the road.

So how did I get a dinky four-cylinder, barely able to pull a large piece of taffy? Other SUV owners may be wondering the same thing. Any car that can run over a baseball without crashing has become a gas-guzzling monster.

Here's a feature from the New York Times News Service with the headline, "Automakers Plan Less Deadly SUVs." The story is prefaced with, "Finally admitting the behemoths can be hazardous, companies are tweaking designs to protect motorists in crashes."

A more accurate appraisal might be, "SUVs are safe. Other cars are dangerous."

The problem is SUVs are taller and heavier than other cars on the average. They do more damage in a crash with a smaller car.

Liberal thinkers say that's not fair. Someone should level the playing field by putting more plastic into SUVs and lowering them to the approximate height of an armadillo.

What a bunch of baloney! Nobody ever worried about our '55 Chevys, '57 Fords, or the venerable Thunderbird being out of sync with other cars on the road. We made them any height we wanted; and they were heavy enough they weren't going to get run over by a minivan.

The '54 Chevy I drove to college was probably heavier than my modern SUV, and she could take a hit with the best of them. The "Green Weenie", as my friends called her, wasn't about to get flattened by some wild-eyed fiend in a Jeep.

The Weenie was big enough to take care of herself, and she had that special transmission they called "Power Glide". The old Chevy could go from 0 to 60 in a matter of minutes. Getting back to 0 took a bit longer.

That's what happened when my fraternity brother, Dave, borrowed the Green Weenie for a trip to campus. Dave was barely out of the fraternity house parking lot when a kid in a Corvette came flying out of a side street and hit him broadside.

The 'vette was stopped at the intersection, but the driver didn't see Dave coming. Or, if he did, he probably thought the Weenie was stationary.

Whatever he thought, the kid floored his Corvette and hit Dave right in the driver's side door. The good news is nobody was hurt. A dent in the door was the extent of damage to my old Chevy.

The 'vette was fiberglas, though. It was nearly totaled.

That was a lesson for me. I've never wanted a sports car, and I'm not real fond of fiberglas; but I don't care what other folks drive.

I figure we should drive what works for us. Drivers just need to slow down — and watch out for the Green Weenie.

Red Hawk Talk

by Kyle Swanson

The past few weeks have been a blur as students at Cass City High School prepare for Friday's Homecoming celebration. But only one thing can top how fast last week's preparations went and that would be this week's activities.

The high school this week has been full of fun events and spirited showings. On Monday, students dressed up for hippie day. I can certainly say that I don't know if I have ever seen so much tie-dye before!

All the classes kept the spirit up on Tuesday when everyone dressed up for color day. Freshmen were all wearing yellow, the sophomores all wore green, juniors wore red, and seniors wore blue. But the spirit didn't stop there. Even the teachers participated by wearing purple.

Wednesday will also be a busy day at the high school. All students are invited to dress up for opposite gender day, where the girls will dress up like guys and the guys will dress up like girls. After school, students and members of the community are invited to come to the PowderPuff football game at the football field. The game starts at 7 p.m. and admission is only $3.

On Thursday the high school may not be the best place to find fashion, as Thursday will be ugly shirt day. Students are encouraged to wear the ugliest shirt they can find.

Finally, on Friday, the entire district will be full of pride as the big game approaches. Students are encouraged to wear their maroon and white to support the team in the big game.

After the game, high school students are also invited to come back to school for the annual homecoming dance. It always has a good turnout and is certainly a fun time for anyone who comes.

On Friday, the high school student council also plans to buy doughnuts for all of the high school students and staff. This is most definitely a favorite for everyone at the high school.

But more things are taking place behind the scenes. The past 2 weeks have been filled with planning and hard work on the floats for the parade and half-time. However, members of each class are only allowed to spend $50 on their float and they can only work on it for seven days.

Students at the high school will also have a pep assembly on Friday at the end of the school day. At the pep assembly, the members of the homecoming court and the teaching staff will compete in several races and competitions. The winner of the National Honor Society penny drive will also be announced during the assembly.

Although there will be many activities happening throughout the week, the highlight for most people is still the big game on Friday. I know I will be there and I hope you will too.

Brown and Hunt slated for debate in Caro Sunday

The November general election is quickly approaching, but Tuscola and Huron county residents will soon have an opportunity to hear from both candidates hoping to represent them in the state House of Representatives.

Members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4164, Caro, have organized and will host a debate between 84th District state representative candidates Terry L. Brown and John Hunt. The event is slated for Sunday, Oct. 15, starting at 1:30 p.m. at the Caro VFW Hall.

Terry L. Brown

The 84th District is comprised of Tuscola and Huron counties. Current state Rep. Tom Meyer (R-Bad Axe) was unable to run for his seat again due to term limits.

Brown, a lifelong resident of Pigeon in Huron County, earned the Democratic nomination in the August primary election, when he defeated John Neeb at the polls. Brown received 1,985 votes, while Neeb garnered 1,871 votes.

John Hunt

Hunt, a lifelong resident of Huron County's Verona Township, meanwhile, beat out a host of Republican candidates in the primary, picking up 3,610 votes.

Also running were Ken Micklash (2,577 votes), Lee Teschendorf (1,444 votes), Christine Young (1,068 votes), Phillip Hardy (329 votes) and Timothy Polk (185 votes).

Brown has been employed at the Huron Intermediate School District for the past 23 years. He is also associate pastor at Bay Port Community Church of Christ, where he has served for more than 25 years.

He has worked as a school social worker, an administrator in special education, early childhood and at-risk student programs, and professional development. Brown has also been involved in MSU Extension, the Huron County Council for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect, and the Human Development Commission's (HDC) Drug and Alcohol Advisory Committee.

Hunt has been a business owner for more than 3 decades. The owner of J.W. Hunt, based in Bad Axe, he is a 17-year veteran of the Huron County Road Commission, currently serving as chairman, and also is a member of the Verona Township Planning Commission and the County Road Association of Michigan.

Hunt sits on the board of incorporators for Huron Medical Center and is a past member of the Verona Mills School Board and of the St. Joseph Parish Council in Rapson.

Both candidates have expressed a strong desire to maintain close communication with constituents and to improve the quality of life in the Thumb.

According to Hunt, one of the biggest challenges will be to get "people to realize that all is not lost" in Michigan. "If you tell someone they're a bad boy or a bad girl, they're going to start believing it," he said, adding Michigan has the potential to be like it used to be.

"We have to make sure policies are in place."

Brown said one of his challenges has been getting voters to "look with fresh eyes" at the candidates, especially because he can't remember a time that a Democrat won the state representative seat.

"Will folks give me an honest chance?" he said.

One key, Brown added, is to encourage residents to look at issues in a sense that is not just Democrat versus Republican.

"They can't be Democrat or Republican issues," he said. "They have to be issues for our area."

Letter to the Editor

Vote "no" on proposal to hunt doves in state

To voters of the year November 2006:

I hope you listen to your hearts in November and please vote No on Proposal 3. This is the bill allowing hunters to kill our mourning doves. These are the little birds that come to our backyard feeders. These are the peaceful little birds that will walk away from a fight when another bird comes after them.

Mr. Tom Lounsbury seems to be a hunter and cook who has answers and recipes for these little birds. I wonder if he has ever held one of these delicate little creatures in his hands and watched them shiver in fear and feel their heart beat or is it only when they are dead after he has shot and killed them and all their life is gone from their little bodies.

Recently I read an article Mr. Lounsbury wrote for the Huron Daily Tribune and now the article in the Cass City Chronicle. In the Tribune, he was concerned whether people supported hunting or the animal rights/anti-hunting movement. This is just not true, to me it is common sense. I have hunters in my family, and I would hope that they would have better sportsmanship than to shoot a little Michigan songbird.

The mourning dove is the sign of peace, and we sure need more peace in this world (where everything is just throw away anymore). If you read the Bible, it was the little dove that Noah sent out after 40 days of being on the Ark to find land, and it came back with an olive branch. Also, if you look at the different pictures of Our Lord, you will notice the little doves around Him. As Jesus rode into Jerusalem on Holy Thursday, he had doves flying overhead.

Watch these little birds at your bird feeders and you will notice that they walk away if another bird tries to fight with them. Maybe if we taught our children lessons learned from these little birds we would have fewer conflicts in the world.

Not long ago I talked to one of our representatives, and he stated 4 doves would make a nice meal for one person. Are you willing to kill this little songbird for just its little breast? I don't think that is hunting or sportsmanship, because that is all they are - head, feet, wings and tail feathers and its breast.

If you get a chance to hold one of these precious little songbirds they are so light and timid they will hide their little head in your hands. Come on now, shooting a little dove to me would mean that you are taking another peaceful creature out of our otherwise troublesome world that has lost a lot of morals already. Instead of centering our thoughts on shooting the little song and peacemaker (the mourning dove) why don't we put a vote on the ballot to do something about all the dead animals on our roadways already.

We talk of bird flu, bird viruses and other disease, and we have no cure for them. Why not get rid of the things that are causing problems already, the dead animals on the roadways that other birds and animals are eating, don't tell me these are not causing germs.

Let's teach our children to be kind to our little mourning doves and all other creatures. Take them out and let them listen to our beautiful songbirds, each and every one, as we have many. Let them get back to what our nature really is, not video games or game boys and how they can learn so many things from the little songbirds.

Have you ever listened to the sounds at sunrise just before dawn when the sun is coming up or as the sun is setting at night? There is a calm as you hear the sounds of the songbirds. They seem to say "all is well with the world. Enjoy your day and sleep well tonight."

Please vote No on Proposal 3 and save our mourning doves (songbird, the sign peace).

Family of nations

Grahams hosting exchange students from China, Germany this school year

Christian Grimm got more than he bargained for when he signed up to spend a year in America as an exchange student.

Sure, Grimm, 17, got his wish to spend nearly a year away from his home in Leipzig, Germany, to soak up culture in the United States with Cass City area residents Joe and Kaye Graham, but he's also getting a taste of Chinese culture, thanks to MingYu "Harry" Chen, also 17 and a resident of Zhen Jiang, China, a city of more than 2 million people.

Likewise, Chen is learning a little about German culture as well as what it's like to live in America.

Both teens are staying with the Grahams and attending Cass City Schools this year through the Connecticut-based Academic Year in America (AYA) student exchange program.

The students have been here for only about 3 weeks, but both say it's been a good experience so far. They also agreed on what prompted them to become exchange students.

"To do something new, to learn more about this country, to (improve) my English, to know something new," said Grimm, whose home town in Germany boasts a population of about 500,000 people.

"To me, first I say to improve my English and then to know a different culture. You can have a colorful experience in your life," added Chen, who earned his nickname, "Harry", from friends back home because of his resemblance to popular book and movie character, Harry Potter.

This is the Graham's first time hosting exchange students.

"I got a call one day from the local (AYA) coordinator in Ubly - Pat Evans — and she asked me if we would be interested in taking exchange students into our house," Kaye Graham recalled. "I was curious as to how she got my name."

Graham, a rural route carrier for the Cass City Post Office, later learned that the program's regional coordinator in Huntington, Ind., obtained the Grahams' name from an alumni list at Huntington College, now Huntington University, where both Kaye and Joe attended.

The couple indicated the decision to take on 2 exchange students wasn't a difficult one.

"We have 4 grown children and 6 grandchildren and a big house, and sometimes, it seems kind of empty. It seemed like a little bit of a waste," Kaye said.

Their "adopted" sons indicated they have enjoyed their exchange experiences so far, in spite of being so far away from home.

"Sometimes, maybe I miss them (family and friends), but I have new friends, new family here," Chen said. "I think I will do my best here.

"I think when I got this choice (to be an exchange student) that I prepare well," he added. "I think it's an important time in my life because there is a valuable choice - not everybody can go out of the country to study for a year."

"I think the school is not as big as in Germany, but I like it," Grimm said. "It's only a different school. I don't have any problems."

"American people are friendly, and American lifestyles are different than in China," Chen added, noting he enjoys the tradition of family get-togethers in the Graham household. "And my feeling...I also love my new school and the students. The teachers are very helpful, and I love it."

"Cass City Schools have been very good to work with and have really went out of their way to help," said Joe Graham, who is employed as a senior designer at Walbro Engine Management in Cass City. "They've been very good."

Both teens confided that they've struggled a bit with the language, and they both agreed their classes are easier than what they're used to back home. But they've also come to like the more relaxed atmosphere in school.

"I was very surprised how the classes are here - sometimes the students (answer a question) without raising their hand. Less disciplined, but I like it," Grimm said. "And, the American lifestyle is different - they're more funny, they laugh more. And, the church is different, singing more fast and louder."

"He remarked our church doesn't look like a church," Kaye said, referring to the difference in the building style of the Colwood United Brethren Church compared to the gothic architecture that predominates in Europe.

Attending church has been a completely new experience for Harry, who also indicated he has enjoyed the various activities offered there.

As for their fellow students at Cass City High School, both exchange students said they have received a warm welcome.

"They are very nice, or polite, to us, and they want to know something about us and be friends with us," said Grimm. "I can't describe it, it's just different."

"It's very different from China, too, they're very friendly. They want to speak to you a lot," Chen added. "Many of them want to know (what) I think of school lunch. I like the fries."

Aside from soaking up American culture in a rural area of Michigan, both Chen and Grimm have found they're learning about each other's countries.

"He learns something about German culture and I learn something about Chinese culture," Grimm said.

"They both seem very grateful and have been very verbal about being grateful to have someone take them in and have a home for them," Kaye said.

"It's been excellent," she added. "We were just really pleased. The boys get along really well. They consider themselves brothers for this year - they call us mom and dad, and they love our kids and grandkids."

Down Memory Lane

5 YEARS AGO

A Cass City native has worked his way to the top law enforcement post in the city of Lapeer. Sgt. Todd Alexander, 40, was recently named the new Lapeer City chief of police. He replaces Leonard Schneider, who resigned after 1 1/2 years as chief. "Sgt. Alexander brings to the post a broad range of skill and expertise in the technical aspects of police administration, as well as a wealth of experience as a 'street cop' in the Lapeer community," said Lapeer City Manager George J. Strand. "One of Chief Alexander's first assignments will be to work with Terry Kluge, our fire chief, and bring to the city commission a plan for the reorganization of the public safety department into 2 separate and distinct police and fire functions," Strand said.

The Cass City cross-country teams broke a losing pattern Saturday at the 6-team invitational in Cass City. The lady harriers won with 29 points, far outdistancing second place Yale by 46 points. The boys finished third behind Yale, the winner, and Bad Axe. The fine results come at a good time and stamps the Hawk girls as the team to beat at the Greater Thumb League meet next Tuesday in Cass City.

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs split a pair of games last week with a North Central Thumb League win over Port Hope, 39-32, and a loss to North Branch Wesleyan, 42-29. Owen-Gage took an early lead against the Blue Stars and then beat off challenges to take the win. With Heidi Scott netting six of her 9 points in the first quarter, the Bulldogs outscored the Stars, 12-6. After that, it was almost a dead-even game. At the half, Owen-Gage was in front, 19-12. The Bulldogs spurted into a comfortable lead in the third quarter outscoring the visitors, 17-11, and then coasted in for the win.

By 2025, world food supplies will need to double to keep pace with population growth. Over the next 30 years, the world population is expected to grow by 2 billion to 3 billion people, with 95 percent of those persons living in developing countries.

Bumblebees and carpenter bees may not he people's favorite bees, because they don't produce any honey. But they have a critical role to play in agriculture. Bumblebees, for example, are crucial to pollinating tomatoes, cranberries, blueberries and chili peppers.

Navy Petty Officer 1st Class William A. Smith, son of Larry N. Smith of Shabbona, recently received the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal. Smith was recognized for his outstanding achievement while serving as an instructor at Naval Submarine Training Center, Pacific, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Smith was singled out for the award because of his superb initiative and contribution in helping the command fulfill its mission. The 1985 graduate of North Branch High School joined the Navy in September 1985.

Cass City United Way officials are looking for good things as they prepare to kick off their 1996 campaign next week. The local United Way board of directors recently set this year's goal at $25,000, an increase of $5,000 over last year. And, for the first time, they hope to top the goal without knocking on a single door. "We just felt we can achieve $25,000. We didn't see any shortfalls anywhere," commented Dawn Prieskorn, president of the Cass City United Way.

This trivia crossed my desk this week. In addition to everything else did you know that this is a poor year for apples? Yields are down in Michigan, which ranks third in the nation in apple production. What's the difference between apple cider and apple juice? Thought you'd never ask. Apple juice is cider that has been pasteurized. (From Rabbit Tracks)

One of the more dangerous Olympic sports is luge tobogganing. Competitors lie on toboggans that have neither braking nor steering mechanisms and slide down a twisting, 1,000-meter, concrete course. The new run at Lake Placid is completely refrigerated, and the only one in the Western hemisphere.

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team, still looking for its first win of the season, didn't get it at Ubly Tuesday night, losing the non-league game, 43-23. Top scorer for the Bearcats was Linette Messing with 10 points. Vicki Alexander collected eight points for the Bulldogs. Owen-Gage, now 0-9, hosts Carsonville-Port Sanilac Thursday and is at Kingston Tuesday. Ubly also won the junior varsity game, 17-13.

The Cass City School Board inched forward on two plans for capital improvements that are high on the priority list of Supt. Donald Crouse. The most expensive is consideration of additional site land. Crouse told the board the preliminary discussion with Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Donahue indicated that there are 58 acres adjacent to present school-owned land and that the cost would be in the neighborhood of $1,500 per acre. The owners are reluctant to sell lots fronting on Seeger Street, but Crouse said that at least one of the lots would be needed to establish traffic patterns to avoid congestion in future expansion.

I'm not old...no not that. But...the years do creep by and inflation creeps (or runs) with it. I thought of this in Bay City the other day when I stopped at a Coney Island restaurant where I've eaten since I was a youngster. Most of the time I order the same things, 2 dogs, chili and a glass of milk. Then, more often than not it's a double dip ice cream cone. I did that one day last week and the bill came to $1.98. When I first started getting the same lunch at the same place the total cost was 30 cents. (From Rabbit Tracks)

A second attempt by the school boards of Owendale-Gagetown and Unionville-Sebewaing for consolidation will be realized if approval of a proposed merger vote is received from Dr. John W. Porter, State Superintendent of Public Education. Both boards voted to make separate requests for a consolidation election. They also voted to form a 100-member citizens committee to push the consolidation proposal. The committee will be selected at large from the four areas. The joint boards hold an option on an 80-acre site on Bach Road in Section 26 of Sebewaing Township, where a central high school could be built.

AUVIL'S COMPANY will be a full-service business specializing in truck tires. Above, he stands by one of 2 service trucks ready for the road when he opens for business Oct. 15.

Auvil returns home with investment

It's (Michigan) just a really good place to call home and to raise kids."

Auvil, whose father, Charles "Chuck" Auvil operated a Good Year farm tire store in Cass City for many years, indicated he was very pleased to be able to set up shop in the town where he was born and raised.

"We just felt there was a need here," he said. "That's one of the reasons we did this. We had the financial means to bring back quality jobs, and we could find the work ethic we wanted.

"One thing we're proud of is we've pumped about $100,000 into the local economy, with the (purchase of the) building, in the past 10 days. And we're using all local contractors," said Auvil, who plans to open for business Oct. 15.

Auvil also hired locally. "We'll start off with 5 Cass City area residents, and if we go into the manufacturing, we'll be at 14 to 15 (employees), and we'll probably add on 2 more here relatively shortly," he said.

"We're happy about that, and we've got a couple more (possible business opportunities) in the works," Cristiano said of Auvil's decision to set up shop in Cass City.

Cristiano said he learned about Auvil's interest in a local building from longtime Cass City building contractor Tom Herron.

"So I called (Auvil) and asked what he needed. Then I called the owners of the building," he recalled. "In a nutshell, what we did was facilitate.

"It works," Cristiano said. "You just have to go that extra mile to make it happen."

An added bonus, Cristiano pointed out, is that Auvil has expressed an interested in getting involved in the community through projects such as the Cass City Rotary Club's Christmas for Kids program.

"He's very much going to be a strong part of the community," he said.

2 appear in circuit court on charges

The following people appeared in Tuscola County Circuit Court last week on various criminal charges:

•Stacy J. Wright, 32, Clifford, was found innocent on 2 counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct and one count of second degree criminal sexual conduct following a one-day trial. The jury in the case, however, found Wright guilty of domestic violence stemming from an incident Feb. 16 in Koylton Township, according to court records.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered in the case, bond was set at $10,000 cash and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

•Chance E. Woodruff, 20, Caro, pleaded no contest to 3 counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct involving a victim under the age of 13 years between January 2002 and July 2003 in Almer/Wells townships.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, bond was cancelled and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Burtch

isn't certain about all of his options at this point.

Among Burtch's biggest supporters have been some members of the Cass City Band Boosters, who reaffirmed their support Monday.

"We are extremely excited that the charges against Mr. Burtch have been dropped and that this terrible situation is finally over," boosters President Debra L. Kranz said in a statement issued to the media. "As we said we would in the beginning of this over a year ago, we have stood beside Mr. Burtch through this entire process. We are glad he can begin to put his life back on track.

"Mr. Burtch was hired to build an instrumental and vocal music program for Cass City Public Schools. He did this to the highest level we could have dreamed of. He taught our kids so much more than how to play an instrument or how to sing. He taught them self-confidence, he gave them pride in themselves and the team they were a part of, and he taught them that they could be successful," Kranz added. "He did this with praise and commitment to them. He taught by example. He put in the time necessary to build a program. Mr. Burtch is so much more than 'the band teacher'.

"We are very happy that Mr. Burtch can now look to the future," Kranz continued. "The only thing that could be better is if he were back teaching our kids. Many of us are grateful for the time our kids had him as a teacher. He is the best thing that ever happened to them, and although it was a small time in their lives, it was very important and he will not be forgotten."

Reene said his decision to not pursue the Tuscola County case now should not be taken as a change of heart on his part.

"We don't view the evidence any different than we did in the beginning," he added. "We've not received, through continued investigation, any evidence that changed our view of what happened here.

"For us, it was truly a review of the evidence and having so much suppressed and stricken. We also had to look at the student victim issue - she has to testify not once, but twice," Reene said, referring to the girl's appearance at Reene's preliminary examination in Tuscola County, and during his trial in Sanilac County.

Reene pointed out the charges are being dismissed without prejudice, meaning he can reauthorize the charges in the future should additional evidence surface. "That was another important factor for us, obviously," he said.

In the meantime, Reene said, Burtch's future as a teacher will rest in the hands of the state Department of Education officials.

"They have the ability to take administrative action" to revoke Burtch's teaching certificate. "They'll take a look at it and make that determination as to what could occur," he said.

Thanks for calling 872-2010 with feature story ideas

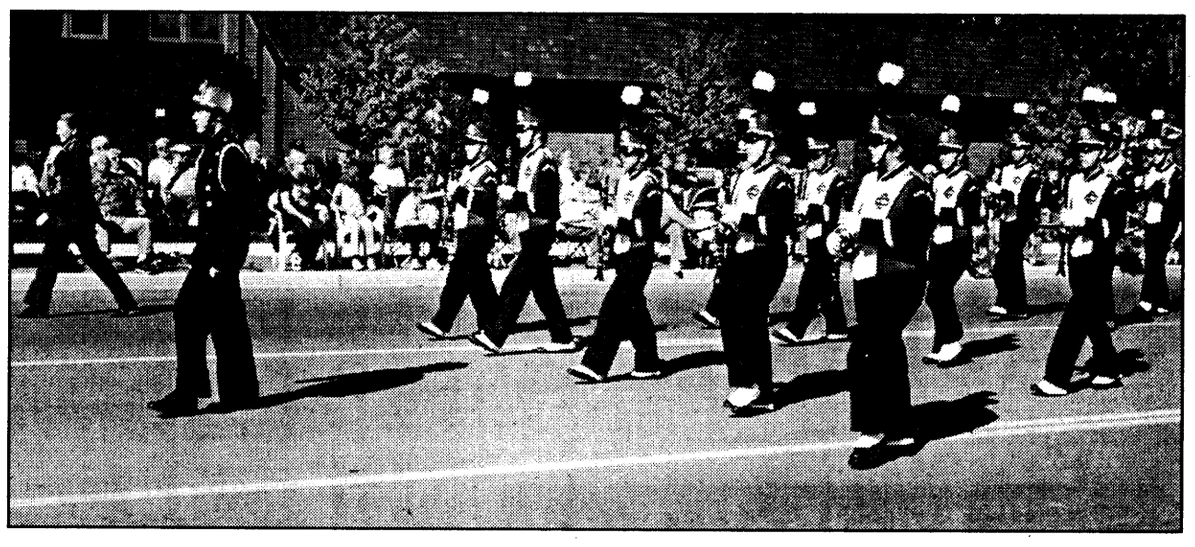
Hundreds enjoy pumpkin parade

THIS YEAR'S Pumpkin Festival Parade theme of honoring veterans was the inspiration behind this Knights of Columbus float entry.

LITTLE MR. AND MS. Kingston 2006, Carter Goss and Kali Powell, were among dozens of entries in Sunday's annual Pumpkin Festival Parade in Caro. The weather was picture-perfect, with hundreds of area residents lining both sides of the street.



THE RED HAWK Marching band joined a host of other marching bands from the Thumb and beyond for Sunday's parade.

ACT exam deadline set Nov. 3 for next testing

College-bound high school students can take the ACT college admission exam Dec. 9, the next national test date.

The deadline for postmark or online registration is Nov. 3. The late registration deadline is Nov. 16 (an additional $19 fee is required for late registration). Students can get registration materials from their high school counselor or they can register online at ACT's student website (www.actstudent.org).

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all colleges and universities across the nation, including the Ivy League. The basic ACT exam includes four parts: English, reading, mathematics and science. An optional writing test is also available. Some colleges require or recommend a writing score, but many do not.

The basic exam takes three hours to complete, plus an additional 30 minutes for those who opt to take the writing test.

The basic registration fee for the ACT is $29. An additional $14 fee is required for students who choose to take the ACT Writing Test, bringing the total registration fee to $43 for these students. Free sample tests are available from school counselors and on ACT's website, which also offers additional free practice tests.

The ACT has long been popular in the Midwest, but its popularity is growing rapidly on the East and West coasts as students in those areas become aware that it takes less time to take the ACT, the writing test is optional, and virtually all schools that require admissions tests accept ACT scores.

Cass City runners win invitational, Lady Hawks place second Saturday

The Cass City cross country teams proved Saturday that there's nothing like home cooking.

In their only home meet of the season, the Red Hawk boys ran to the title, while the Lady Hawks finished second at the 12-school Cass City Invitational.

With 4 runners placing among the top 10 competitors, the Hawk boys defended their crown with 41 points, easily outdistancing runner-up Marlette with 82. Reese finished third with 86 points, followed by Mayville (94), North Branch (117), USA (126), Frankenmuth (128) and Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port (194).

Lukas Varney's third place individual finish topped the winners as he crossed the end line in 17:22. Varney had plenty of help as Kyle Reif placed 6th at 17:33, Cameron Lautner, 8th at 17:50 and Tyler Burke, 10th with a time of 18:01. Rounding out the Cass City scoring was Adam Wentworth who finished 15th at 18:36

North Branch's Chris Pratt recorded the day's best time at 16:34.

LADY HAWKS

USA grabbed the girls' field with 49 points. The complete order of finish had Cass City with 65 points, Frankenmuth 73, Marlette 84, North Branch 109, Reese 153, Sandusky 174 and Vassar 187.

Ashleigh Rabideau finished 10th individually for the hosts with a time of 22:14, while Brittany Loomis placed 13th (22:28), Jennica Richards, 15th (22:28.9), Leah Whittaker, 16th (22:33) and Lindsay Bliss, 22nd (23:09).

USA's Sara Turschak turned in the best time among the ladies at 19:44.

BULLDOG HEATHER Collon is pressured by Dryden's Hillary Mason during Thursday's North Central Thumb League action in Owendale.

O-G wins pair of NCTL tilts

For the first time this season the Owen-Gage Bulldogs have racked up 2 wins in a row and will be looking to make it 3 straight with a game slated Tuesday against Port Hope (6-4) that leads the North Central Thumb League North.

An upset win for the Bulldogs would keep them in contention, a game behind the Blue Stars in the NCTL north race.

The 2-game win streak last week started with a decision over winless Akron-Fairgrove, 50-38.

The Bulldogs bounced out to a 14-5 first period lead and were in front at the intermission, 27-18. Leading the first quarter charge were April Nowaczyk with 3 hoops and Becky Schmidt with a couple of buckets and a charity shot.

Akron-Fairgrove matched baskets with the Bulldogs in the second quarter, each with 13 points. Renee Pepkie scored 3 hoops in the quarter and Amanda Faist matched her output with 3 hoops of her own.

Nowaczyk and Schmidt continued to carry the offense in the third quarter accounting for all of the Bulldogs' points in the third quarter and when the last quarter started O-G was in front, 38-26.

Three Bulldogs were in double figures - Schmidt, 16, Nowaczyk, 19, and Faist, 10.

DRYDEN GAME

The Bulldogs were off to a slow start Thursday against visiting Dryden, but heated up in the next 3 quarters to post a 53-46 decision. Dryden used balanced scoring to finish the opening period with a narrow, 10-9 lead. After that the Bulldogs controlled the game and Becky Schmidt furnished the firepower to make it happen. She had a career night with 24 points and her big second and third quarters pushed the Bulldogs in front, 40-34, going into the final 8 minutes.

In the second period, Schmidt rammed home a trey, 2 regular hoops and a free throw. Nowaczyk helped with 2 hoops and 2 free throws and the Bulldogs were ahead to stay.

In the third quarter, Schmidt rang up 4 regular hoops for 8 of Owen-Gage's 14 points in the period.

Hawks post 61-6 win

Cass City throttles Buena Vista

As expected, Cass City had no problem collecting its fourth win of the season Friday at Saginaw Buena Vista in Greater Thumb West play.

The Red Hawks ran back 3 punts for scores, 2 in the opening quarter, to help build a 22-0 margin en route to a 61-6 massacre.

Next for coach Scott Cuthrell's squad is a homecoming match up against guests Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port. The Lakers will arrive fresh off their own homecoming victory and despite a 2-5 record could spoil Cass City's march towards the state playoff.

It's certain the Lakers will prove a much harder test than the one received against the winless Knights, as the Hawks had 5 different players score touchdowns in the easy victory.

Micah Randall opened the touchdown parade for Cass City when he converted a Dereck Halasz interception into his first score from one yard out. Randall's rushing figures, 4 carries, 6 yards and 3 scores, speak volumes of the winless Knight's football program.

"On kickoffs, they were lining up on about the 30-yard line," Cuthrell said. "I told the referee to move them up, but he said it wasn't his job."

Several times during the slaughter, the Knights had to call time out because they lacked 11 players on the field, surprising for the school that is the current Class C state champions in basketball.

Punt returns accounted for the Hawks' final 2 scores in the initial frame as Brad Hartel sprinted 42 yards and Cameron Lautner 35 yards to help the guests take a 22-0 lead into the second stanza.

Another Hartel punt return, to the Knight's one-yard line, set up Randall's second touchdown run to open the scoring in the quarter before the break that ended with Cass City in front, 48-6.

Kyle Sieradzki scored next for the Hawks from the 2-yard line, while Hartel covered 45 yards on anther punt return score before Randall notched his final marker from 2 yards out.

In the final half, Cass City used a pair of scores from back-up running back Tommy Parrish to complete the trashing. Parrish was the leading Hawk rusher with 35 yards on 3 totes.

Cass City's defense, led by Dennis Bowen's 9 tackles, supplied several hard hits on the night. Ironically, the biggest whack was a collision between best friends Hartel and Halasz. With Hartel's arms extended above his head in an attempt to pick off a Buena Vista pass, Halasz came springing across the field and struck Hartel square in his mid section. The play left Hartel grasping for air, as both teams took a knee, for nearly 5 minutes.

Afterwards, Hartel said that he has had his bell rung several times, but never experienced a lick like the one Halasz delivered.

Owen-Gage suffers NCTL loss against Peck

Two special plays by the Peck Pirates started the Owen-Gage Bulldogs on the way to a one-sided loss Friday, 50-14, and removed any chances for Owen-Gage to qualify for the finals, while Peck (4-3) can still make the post season dance if it wins the remainder of its games with Akron-Fairgrove and Marlette.

The Pirates broke the game open with the special plays and overcame a 7-0 Bulldogs lead at the end of the first quarter.

The first key play was a blocked punt that Michael Mann returned 25 yards for the score. The visitors then recovered an on-side kickoff to score again and start a TD parade. At the half Peck was in front, 28-7. Michael Pries led the potent Peck ground game (239 yards) scoring 4 touchdowns for the night.

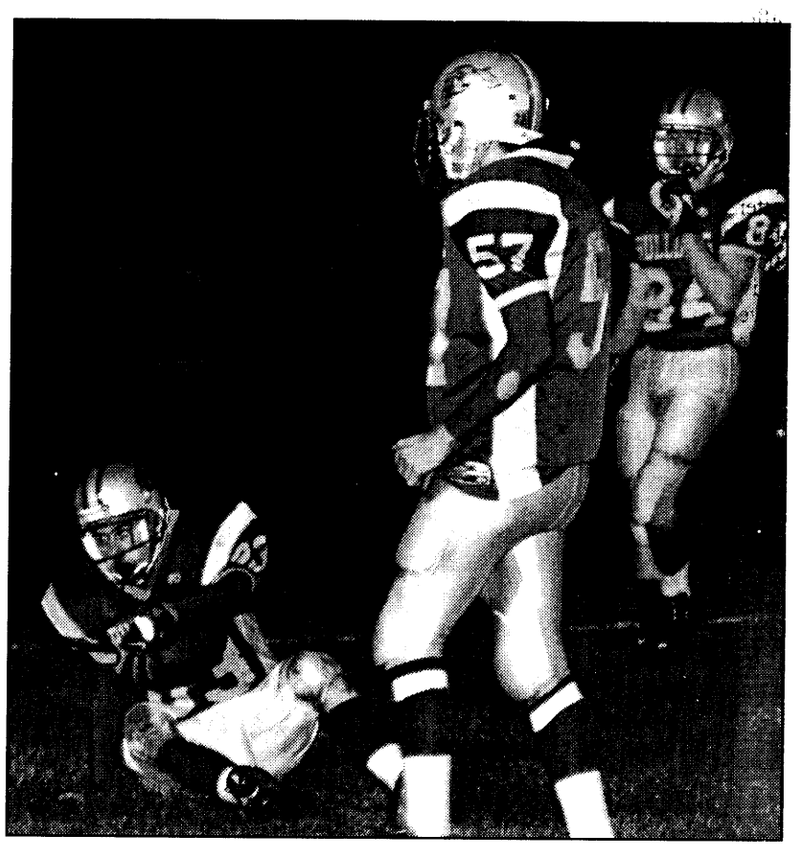
The Bulldogs went into the lead in the first quarter as Brent Reil broke loose on a 20-yard touchdown run. Matt Grenke notched the first of his 2 successful kicks for extra points.

Josh McLaren capped a Bulldog drive in the third quarter when he scored from the 4-yard line.

The Bulldogs' primary offense was through the air. Grant Champagne connected on 6 of 9 attempts for 85 yards and Danny Shepherd was 2 for 2 for 75 yards. Andy Dronsella caught 3 tosses for 71 yards and Brandon Dubs, 3 catches for 59 yards.

The Bulldogs had trouble moving the ball on the ground, netting just 92 yards in 34 attempts.

Owen-Gage will meet Dryden Friday and will be favored in their homecoming game.



NO GOOD!

BULLDOG Brent Reil foiled Peck's point after attempt with this interception in the end zone. However, the Pirates recorded a 50-14 victory Friday in North Central Thumb League action.

Hawk cagers suffer another close defeat Thursday at Bay City

It may be that the Cass City High School has set a record, a record that coach Lloyd Schinnerer and his charges would certainly not want to set. The Hawks have 4 losses by a total of 7 points.

The second one-point loss of the season was suffered Thursday when Bay City All Saints topped the Hawks, 41-40.

It seemed sure in the opening minutes that Cass City was on the road to their second win of the week, both in Greater Thumb North competition, as the Hawks cruised by Reese, 55-41, Tuesday.

Playing smoothly, Cass City romped to a 16-1 lead over the Cougars in the opening minutes and ended the first period in front, 16-4. The charge was led by Amanda Langenburg and Emily Schinnerer, each with 7 points.

After that early explosion we lost momentum, coach Schinnerer said, and a dismal second quarter let All Saints back in the game. The Cougars exploded for 21 points, led by 3-pointers by Lisa Lukowski and Katie Tepkowski and 7 points by Lynsay Weaver to lead 25-17 at the break. Cass City went stone cold dead with its poorest quarter of the season, failing to score a field goal and just one of 3 free throws.

While the second quarter belonged to All Saints, the third belonged to the Hawks. Paced by Maddie Dooley with 3 hoops, Cass City posted a 15-6 advantage to lead by a point, 32-31, going into the last quarter.

Sara Meeker did her best to help put the game in the win column, netting 3 of her game-high 5 hoops in the quarter, but the balanced scoring of the Cougars led by Megan Gerulski with a pair of baskets was enough to send the Hawks to another one-point defeat.

REESE GAME

When the 3 veteran starters from last year's championship squad are hitting on all cylinders, Cass City becomes a tough team to beat. Tuesday the 3 starters were on their game and the Hawks walked off with a 51-41 decision.

Even though the veterans were on their games it was still a hard fought win for the Hawks. Reese jumped off to a first half lead, 29-22, behind Kelsey Richards who got the Rockets off to a flying start with 9 of her 13 points for the night in the first quarter.

A big third quarter pushed the Hawks in front to stay in the third period. Courtney Rabideau connected for a bucket and 5 of 6 free throws, Sara Meeker added a hoop and 2 of 2 free throws and Emily Schinnerer connected for a trey, 2 regular hoops and a free throw. The big 3 accounted for all the Hawk points in the second half.

We executed better in the second half, coach Schinnerer said.

Schinnerer netted 24 points and a huge 17 rebounds, 8 of them on the offensive boards. Courtney Rabideau contributed 17 points while handling the point-guard duties and Meeker anchored the center and scored 10 points. Amanda Langenburg contributed 4 assists. Cass City picked off 48 boards, a season's high.

The Hawks step out of conference competition this week with a game Tuesday against Deckerville and next week, Tuesday, against Bay City John Glenn. Both games are at home.

Cass City advances on links to regional

For the second straight year, the Cass City golf team will advance into regional competition on the heels of a runner-up finish in district play.

Hosts Frankenmuth captured Friday's district title on the par 72 Fortress Golf Course with a score of 345, while the Red Hawks shot 354.

Joining the champion Eagles and Hawks this Thursday in regional action, also slated at the Fortress, are the top 6 district finishers. Rounding out the regional qualifiers were: Caro (354), Mayville (356), Bad Axe (361) and Vassar (368).

While it is no surprise that coach Jim Green's Hawks advanced into regional play, how they moved into the state playoff's next round was. Cass City's number 1 and 2 players - Matt Hallwood and Ryan Biddinger - played well, but recorded the team's highest individual tallies.

"After Matt and Ryan came in, I was a little nervous," Green said.

Senior Ryan Ross paced Cass City at the district competition with an 18-hole score of 84. Ross was followed by Kurt Hanby's 89, while Biddinger and Hallwood carded 90 and 91, respectively.

Motorists - don't veer for deer this fall

October and November are 2 of the most dangerous months in Michigan, especially for the state's 1.75 million whitetail deer and the motorists who crash into them each year.

Which is why Gov. Jennifer Granholm has proclaimed October as "Michigan Car-Deer Crash Safety Awareness Month".

Officials with the Michigan Deer Crash Coalition (MDCC), which this year celebrates its 10th anniversary, ask that motorists be extra alert when driving this fall.

The MDCC - a broad affiliation of groups representing law enforcement, traffic safety, insurance, natural resources, higher education and strategic regional planning in the public and private sectors - seeks to increase awareness of the problem among the driving public and reduce the number of deaths and injuries that occur each year on state roads. The safety message for motorists is, "Don't Veer for Deer!"

"Statistics show that most motorist deaths and injuries occur when drivers swerve to avoid hitting the deer and strike a fixed object, such as a tree or another vehicle," said coalition Chairman Jack Peet of AAA Michigan. "No one wants to see a deer destroyed, but striking the animal is often the safest action."

In 2005, Michigan experienced a reduction in the number of total car-deer crashes, which are at their lowest level since 1995.

According to the Michigan State Police Criminal Justice Information Center, there were 58,741 deer-vehicle crashes in 2005, down from the 62,707 crashes reported in 2004. However, officials note that many crashes also go unreported, so actual crash numbers are much higher.

In 2005, Kent County once again topped the state's counties in the number of car-deer crashes with 2,169 collisions, followed by Jackson County (2,111), Calhoun (2,018), Oakland (1,704) and Montcalm (1,576).

In the Thumb, Tuscola County recorded 940 car-deer accidents in 2005, compared to 981 in 2004; Huron County had 1,098 car-deer crashes in 2005 (1,223 in 2004), and Sanilac County had 1,112 car-deer collisions in 2005 (1,125 in 2004).

More than 17 percent of all crashes in Michigan involve deer. Last year, 9 motorists were killed and 1,700 were injured as a result of car-deer accidents, compared to 3 killed and 1,647 injured the previous year. Nearly half of all car-deer crashes occur in the October-to-December mating season when deer are very active, and crashes spike again in spring when the season's first grass appears along highway-rights-of way.

"Deer are often seen calmly feeding near highways, but when they panic, they may appear in front of your windshield in no time at all," said Penny Melchoir, Department of Natural Resources field coordinator. "Drivers must be prepared - look for other deer following the first in line and keep an eye out for deer doubling back once they have moved out of a traffic lane.

If a collision with a deer is unavoidable, experts recommend that drivers don't swerve, but brake firmly, hold onto the steering wheel with both hands, come to a controlled stop, and steer the vehicle well off the roadway.

JA in schools may not happen

which exposes students to economics, workforce readiness and entrepreneurship with hands-on programs that provide proven results."

Letters were mailed out early last week to the area business owners, asking them to make donations.

It's a tall order, even though JA is a 501 C-3 organization (contributions are tax deductible). At a cost of $25 per student, officials will have to raise about $22,500 - and soon - to ensure the program continues this year.

JA's mission is to ensure that every child has a fundamental understanding of the free enterprise system by utilizing hands-on experiences, in partnership with business and educators, to help young people understand the economics of life and how to succeed in a global economy.

JA provides all of the materials needed for various lessons. Younger students learn about the roles people play in the local economy by exploring topics such as needs and wants, jobs, tools and skills, and independence. At the middle school level, the lessons include exploring personal finance, education and career options, and practical information about the global economy and how it affects their lives.

JA not only encourages practical lessons, but also provides an avenue for students to learn from individuals who have already succeeded in the world of business.

"I guess the theme I took was that, even in Cass City or any small community, globalization and international business affect us all, and opportunities are available to them as they go through their educational period to work outside the United States," Althaver said of his approach to teaching international business to sixth grade students.

Among Althaver's favorite lessons was bringing a can of Pennsylvania Dutchman mushrooms in the classroom. The popular product is grown and canned in India - not Pennsylvania.

"When we get the kids thinking about this and they go home and look around, they're pretty surprised at where things come from," said Althaver, whose meetings with students covered a myriad of topics. "We talk about concepts of trade. We talk about exchange rates and figure out what a Big Mac costs in various countries."

Students, who form teams and select their own continent and country to focus on during the program, also come up with their own product and discuss how to price it, ship it and sell it.

"It's an awareness and an exposure, and I think anytime a stranger can come into the classroom, it not only gives the teacher a break, but also gives the kids a different flavor," he added.

"It's great, I think, for the kids, because they get to see people from the outside come in, and I think the teachers enjoy it because they can tie it into their curriculum," VanAuken said. "I think we (volunteers) get more out of it than the kids."

"Whoever does this program gets an idea of what it's like in the classroom, and the other thing is, it exposes the kids to other people" in the community, Severance agreed.

Severance has shared a number of lessons with students, including the concepts of supply and demand in the world economy. He's also tied his own profession into the program by talking about the importance of being informed when it comes to working in futures to lock in prices for the milk he produces on his Evergreen Township farm.

Those sorts of practical lessons, provided firsthand by members of the community, "make it seem real to the kids," said sixth grade teacher Linda Derfiny. "It just brings all of this reality to it."

And, JA makes it easy for just about anyone to teach those lessons, according to Cass City Middle School Principal Jeff Hartel, who noted the organization provides all of the materials and lesson plans.

"Everything you need to teach the class is there. It's an expensive program, though - that's the problem."

At the same time, Hartel indicated JA is worth the cost, given what students learn both about their own community and the world around them.

"The number one thing I like about Junior Achievement is, there's a connection between the school and the community - (volunteers) modeling positive behaviors for the kids and exposing them to different careers," he said. "It's been a real positive connection."

"It's been fabulous," Derfiny said. "I think that's one of the nice things about Cass City - we have so many people who are willing to share their time and their talents. It's a good thing for our kids."

"I think it talks about things that are important - core values, about your community and giving back to your community," VanAuken said. "If we don't invest in our community, we only have ourselves to blame."
