A Dexter barber and milliner exchanged business locations a short time ago. When a prominent lady started to enter the barber shop and noticed her mistake she turned to the barber and said: "I didn't know they had lady barbers in this town—just tickle me under the chin, will you?"

An exchange says that the Oxford young ladies think seriously of going into what they please to call a marriage mutual aid society, the rules and regulations of which are something like this: Every time a young lady has an escort, a gentleman to whom she is not engaged she pays into the society the sum of 25 cents. When she becomes engaged, she also contributes to the society $5, and when she gets married the society pays her $100.

Caro Democrat: The drawing of the Swiss chim bell music box at Parmelee's Clothing House, took place last Saturday morning. Over 10,000 tickets were issued, a duplicate of which was kept by Mr. Parmelee. These were all placed in a box and it was decided that the first ticket drawn would be the lucky one. Number 924 decided the ownership of the handsome music box and was held by Miss Gracie Castle, of Cass City. The instrument is valued at $65.00.

Here's a pointer for our amateur detectives, taken from the Detroit Times: "The police are endeavoring to locate a 61-year-old dead beat who has been stopping at Rice's Hotel for several months. He borrowed money right and left from boarders under the pretense that he owned $80,000 worth of government bonds. The smooth gentlemen left the hotel February 22, owing the landlord a $30 board bill. He registered as Wm. Forsyth and is a professional. He has been traced as far as Cass City and Port Huron, Forsyth came here from Cleveland."

There are various preparations for polishing furniture, but a simple and satisfactory polish, is a mixture of linseed oil and vinegar, put into a bottle well shaken before use. Dust the furniture well, then rub on the mixture with an old piece of flannel; only do a small area at a time, and polish briskly and quickly with two or three soft rubbers ending up with an old silk handkerchief. This home-made preparation both cleans and polishes and not in time for a cake over the furniture as do some patent polishes when frequently used.

Last Friday a warrant was obtained of Justice Wales upon the complaint of Mrs. J. W. Macomber for the arrest of her husband, J. W. Macomber, charged with non-support of his family. The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Striffler, who went to Saline, Mich., on Monday, where he found Mr. Macomber and returned with him to Cass City Tuesday noon. The accused is out on $1,000 bail, and his trial will take place to-day. Peculiar circumstances are connected with this case, but we refrain from further comment, at present.

Orion Review: Our village readers will doubtless remember Frank Sutton who was the "Co." of Patterson. Neal & Co., the original founders of the Review, back in '81. Well, for several years past Frank has been editor and publisher a Marme City, on the St. Clair river, and Frank has labored fifty-two weeks each year to convince his readers that "the tariff is not a tax," but the other day a customs officer walked into Sutton's editorial rooms and made him strip off his Canadian-made suit, which had been purchased on the other side of the river, and on which, Uncle Sam claims, no duty was ever paid. Frank was obliged to disrobe and send the office devil out for a new suit before he could appear on the streets. The editorial suit was confiscated, and hereafter when the Reporter talk about the tariff its readers will think about the suit and smile.

Village Clerk James wishes us to state that all those who wish to obtain bounty on sparrows, should bring them in before they are unrecognizable, as he wants to be sure that he is giving the bounty on sparrows, and not on some other kind of bird.

The funeral services were held at the McQuillen school house on Wednesday, Rev. F. Curry preaching the funeral sermon. The deceased leaves eight children, seven of whom were in attendance at the funeral. Undertaker McKenzie had charge of the remains which were interred in Novesta cemetery.

The Village Election.
The fact that everything was comparatively quiet at the polls last Monday, can be attributed to the new election law, not for lack of interest in the contest, as the various candidates worked hard, and the result was the largest vote that has ever yet been polled in the village. The new election law worked admirably and but one ticket had to be thrown out for being improperly marked.

The election commissioners finished the counting of the ballots at about 7:30 o'clock, and here's the official count:

Did the Marshal do His Duty?

EDITOR ENTERPRISE,
Dear Sir:—Please be so kind as to allow me space in the columns of your paper to say a few words in regard to the disgraceful scene enacted upon our streets last Saturday night. I will endeavor to make my queries brief and to the point. First—Did our village marshal do his duty? Second—Did he not show partiality by taking to the lock-up only the young, drunken fellow who received the punning? Third—Should not all those who participated in the disturbance have been dealt with alike? We are of the opinion that our marshal did not do his duty, and think our new council should make it a point to appoint an officer who will perform his duties without partiality.

Respectfully,
A CITIZEN.

POST mortgages are like the handle of a jug—all on one side, and that the side of the lender.

While it is necessary to take every precaution to insure the safe return of money to the investor, we have found it desirable to build a mortgage like the handles to a tub, giving to the borrower many desirable features which will enable him to get out of debt. It is unwise to mortgage for a long term with no privilege of making payments. Mortgaging or selling you home or farm is important business and should be transacted with great care. It is unwise to mortgage to strangers when you can do as well at home. If you are offered money at low rates by strangers, have the matter investigated and your papers looked over by some friend whom you believe understands the business and in whom you have confidence, in order that you may know that you are getting what is promised. I am making a specialty of transacting any business pertaining to Real Estate. Have a commodious office fitted up for doing this line of business. If you are going to buy sell or mortgage, I would be pleased to do the business and promise you satisfactory treatment in every way.

Yours,
C. W. MCPHAIL.

Will destroy present happiness by a distant misery, which may never come at all, or you may never live to see it? For every substantial grief has twenty shadows, and most of them shadows of your own making.

To do simply what we ought is higher, diviner and more creative than to write the grandest poem, paint the most beautiful picture, build the most worshipful temple, or dream out the most enchanting melodious composition.

In the United States, where every man has a right to vote, no class, however favored, can safely ignore the condition of any other class. The worst citizen has the same power at the ballot box as the best. The most depraved and useless citizen can kill the vote of the greatest thinker in the land. It is the average standard of citizenship that determines the rate of progress or retrogression.

"I NEVER heard of so many murders and terrible accidents when I was young," says the aged reader of the daily papers, and he straightway decides that the people are growing worse every day. He forgets that in those remote days the population of our country was much less than it is now, and newspaper space was limited, and consequently the publishers only inserted the news of the immediate locality in which it was printed, limiting it by the state, the county or often by the town.

No HEALTHY mind in a reasonably healthy body ever feels old. To feel old is to be tired of living. Wise men, whose years point that way, afraid of being caught feeling positively young, sometimes betray a sort of affectation in their assumption of the conventional worn-out, life-weary, septuagenarian tone; while in their hearts they say with the old divine that life is too brief a thing to feel old in, and 'time itself but a novelty, a late and upstart thing in respect of the Ancient Days.' They thus pay a tribute to common sense, and acknowledge a brotherhood with the herd of men, so disarming criticism.

WEAKY men overborn, fretted, chafed and worn by the attritions of daily care and toil; women—wives and mothers—weighed with most wearisome burdens, and little children—boys and girls and wee babies—all are interested in the "Slumber Islands." And when the day is done and night curtains the sunless earth, men, women, children, babies, regularly set sail for the "Slumber Islands." As the heavy eyelids droop the sails of each craft hoist themselves and the boats start for dreamland; on and on and on they glide, till that skillful boatman we call "unconsciousness," lands them safe on the delightful shore of the "Slumber Islands."

The steady and increasing agitation of the road improvement question in different parts of this country has had the effect of producing from the state department a large volume of consular reports on the streets and highways of Europe and the methods of constructing them. The most salient impression made by these reports on the American mind is that even such comparatively poor countries as Switzerland and Ireland have far better roads than the great and wealthy republic of the new world. But when we find that Canada's road system also rises superior to our own, and that even British Columbia, which is not much older than Kansas, possesses fine highways, we must acknowledge that in this most important respect the United States is far behind the rest of the civilized world instead of leading it, as is our boast in other respects.

IMAGINE a man of strong character and sterling worth being constantly subjected to the cheapening process of being called by every man and boy in town "Billy." It is all very well within a circle of relatives, but the promiscuous carrying on of the practice outside of the family is intolerable. After a week at the mountains or seashore a party of young people who have never heard of each other before will call each other by their first names with a reckless disregard for the proprieties, which to a well educated and cultivated person is little short of absolute rudeness. Particularly does this apply when an ordinary acquaintance insists upon calling a young married woman "Mary" or "Bertha." For a young man to do this at once stamps him as ignorant of good form and guilty of an unpardonable liberty. Every one who has reached his or her majority is entitled to a courteous form of address. The individual who forgets this is presuming upon the intimacies of childhood, and still continuing to address them as boy and girl is practically an avowed foe to good manners.

THE GIANT'S BEDSTEAD.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON IN TABERNACLE PULPIT.

The Eloquent Divine Draws a Practical and Useful Lesson from an Obscure Text—Giant King Og and His Bedstead.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 13.—Dr. Talmage's text this morning was taken from Deut. x, 11: "Only Og, king of Bashan, remained of the remnant of giants; behold, his bedstead was a bedstead of iron; is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? Nine cubits was the length thereof and four cubits the breadth of it." Dr. Talmage spoke as follows:

The story of giants is mixed with myth. William the Conqueror was said to have been of overtowering altitude, but, when in after time, his tomb was opened, his bones indicated that he had been physically of only ordinary size. Roland the hero was said to have been of astonishing stature, but when his sepulchre was examined, his armor was found only large enough to fit an ordinary man. Alexander the Great had helmets and shields of enormous size made and left among the people he had conquered, so as to give the impression that he was a giant, although he was rather under than over the usual height of a man. But that in other days and lands there were real giants is authentic. One of the guards of the Duke of Brunswick was eight and a half feet high. In a museum in London is the skeleton of Charles Birnie, eight feet, four inches, in stature. The Emperor Maximian was over eight feet. Pliny tells of a giant nine feet high, and two other giants nine and a half feet. So I am not incredulous when I come to my text and find King Og a giant, and the size of his bedstead, turning the cubits of the text into feet—the bedstead of Og, the king must have been about thirteen and a half feet long. Judging from that, the giant who occupied it was probably about eleven feet in stature, or nearly twice the average human size. There was no need of Rabbinical writers trying to account for the presence of this giant, King Og, as they did, by saying that he came down from the other side of the flood, being tall enough to wade the waters beside Noah's ark, or that he rode on the top of the ark, the passengers inside the ark daily providing him with food. There was nothing supernatural about him. He was simply a monster in size.

Why did not the bible give us the size of the giant instead of the size of the bedstead? Why did it not indicate that the man was eleven feet high instead of telling us that his couch was thirteen and a-half feet long? No doubt among other things it was to teach us that you can judge of a man by his surroundings. Show me a man's associates, show me a man's books, show me a man's home, and I will tell you what he is without your telling me a word about him. You can not only tell a man according to the old adage, "By the company he keeps," but by the books he reads, by the pictures he admires, by the places he visits, moral giants and moral pygmies, intellectual giants and intellectual pygmies, like physical giants or physical pygmies may be judged by their surroundings. That man has been thirty years faithful in attendance upon churches and prayer-meetings and Sunday Schools, and putting himself among intense religious associations. He may have his imperfections, but he is a very good man. Great is his religious stature. The other man has been for thirty years among influences intensely worldly, and he has shut himself out from all other influences, and his religious stature is that of a dwarf. No man ever has been or can be independent of his surroundings, social, intellectual, moral, religious. The Bible indicates the length of the giant by the length of his bedstead. Let no man say, "I will be good," and yet keep evil surroundings. Let no man say, "I will be faithful as a Christian," and yet consort chiefly with worldlings. You are proposing an everlasting impossibility. When a man departs this life you can tell what has been his influence in a community for good by those who mourn for him and by how sincere and long-continued are the regrets of his taking off. There may be no pomp or obsequies and no pretense of epitaphology, but you can tell how high he was in consecration, and how high in usefulness by how long is his shadow when he comes to lie down.

Notice furthermore that even giants must rest. Such enormous physical endowment on the part of King Og might suggest the capacity to stride across all fatigue and omit slumber. No. He required an iron bedstead. Giants must rest. Not appreciating that fact, how many of the giants yearly break down? Giants in business, giants in art, giants in eloquence, giants in usefulness. They live not out more than half their days. They try to escape the consequence of over-work by a voyage across the sea or a sail in a summer yacht, or call on physicians for relief from insomnia or restoration of unstrung nerves or the arrest of apoplexies, when all they need is what this giant of my text resorted to—an iron bedstead. Let no one think because he has great strength of body or mind that he can afford to trifle with his unusual gifts. The commercial world, the literary world, the artistic world, the political world, the religious world, are all the time a quaking with the crash of falling giants. King Og, no doubt, had a throne, but the Bible never mentions his throne. King Og, no doubt, had a crowns, but the Bible never mentions his crown. King Og, no doubt, had a sceptre, but the Bible does not mention his sceptre. Yet, one of the largest verses of the Bible is taken up in describing his bedstead. So God all up and down the Bible honors sleep. Adam, with his head on a pillow of Edenic roses, has his slumber blessed by a Divine gift of beautiful companionship. Jacob, with his head on a pillow of rock, has his sleep glorified with a ladder filled with descending and ascending angels. Christ, with a pillow made out of the folded up coat of a fisherman, honors slumber in the back part of the storm-tossed boat. The only case of accident to sleep mentioned in the Bible was when Eurychus fell from a window during a sermon of Paul, who had preached until midnight, but that was not so much a condemnation of sleep as a censure of long sermons. More sleep is what the world wants. Economize in everything but sleep. William H. Seward, the renowned secretary of state, in the midst of his overmastering toils longed for the capacity of rest, writing in his memorandum book: "I have never found but one invaluable recipe for a good night's rest, and that is to have before me." When President John Quincy Adams and the distinguished Josiah Quincy went to hear Judge Story lecture on law to his students, and, when invited to sit beside the judge and both fell asleep, the judge appropriately pointed to them, and said to the students: "Behold the evil effects of early rising." In Bible times, when people arose at the voice of the bird, they retired at the voice of the bird puts his head under his wing. One of our national sins is robbery of sleep. Walter Scott was so urgent about his duty of slumber that, when arriving at a hotel where there was no room to sleep in, except that in which was a corpse, inquired if the deceased had died of a contagious disease, and when assured he had not, took the other bed in the room and fell into a profound slumber. Those of small endurance must certainly require rest if even the giant needs an iron bedstead.

Do you know the name of the biggest giant that you can possibly meet—and you will meet him? He is not eleven feet high but one hundred feet high. His bedstead is as long as the continent. His name is Doubt. His common food is infidel books and skeptical lectures and ministers who do not know whether the Bible is inspired at all or inspired in spots, and Christians who are more infidel than Christians. You will never reach the Promised Land unless you slay that giant. Kill Doubt or Doubt will kill you. How to overcome this giant? Pray for faith, go with people who have faith, read everything that encourages faith, avoid as you would ship fever and small-pox the people who lack faith. In this battle against King Og use not for weapons the cudgel of a limping Christian or the sharp pen of a "neutral" journalist, but the sword of truth, which is the word of God. The word "if" is made up of the same number of letters as the word "Og," and it is just as big a giant. If the Bible be true. If the soul be immortal. If Christ be God. If our belief and behavior here decide our future destiny. If, if, if. I hate that word "if." Noah Webster says it is a Conjunction; I say it is an armed giant. Satan breathed upon it a curse when he said to Christ: "If thou be the Son of God." What a dastardly and infamous "if." Against that giant "if" hurl Job's "I know" and Paul's "I know." "I know that my Redeemer liveth." "I know in whom I have believed." Down with the "if" and up with "I know." Oh, that giant Doubt is such a cruel giant! It attacks many in the last hour. It could not let my mother alone even in her dying moments. After a life of holiness and consecration such as I never heard of in anyone else, she said to my father: "Father, what if, after all, our prayers and struggles should go for nothing." Why could she not, after all the trials and sicknesses and bereavements of a long life and the infirmities of old age, be allowed to go without such a cruel stroke from Doubt, the giant? Do you wonder I have a grudge against the old monster? If I could I would give him a bigger bounce than Satan got when hurled out of heaven, the first thing he struck was the bottom of perdition.

Whatever your work and wherever you work for God—forward! You in your way and I in my way. With holy pluck fight on with something of the strength of Thomas Troubridge, who, at Inkermann, had one leg shot off, and the foot of the other leg, and when they proposed to carry him off the field, replied: "No, I do not move until the battle is won." Whatever be the rocking of the church or state, have the calmness of the aged woman in an earthquake that frightened everybody else, and who, when asked if she was not afraid, said: "No, I am glad that I have a God who can shake the world." Whether your work be to teach a Sabbath class, or nurse an invalid, or reform a wanderer, or print a tract, or train a household, or bear the querulousness of senility, or cheer the disheartened or lead a soul to Christ, know that by fidelity you may help hasten the time when the world shall be snowed under with white lily and incarnadined with red rose. And now, I bargain with you that we will come back some day from our superstellar abode to see how the world looks when it shall be fully compassed—its last tear wiped, its last wound healed, its last shackles broken, its last desert gardenized, its last giant of inquiry decapitated. And when we land, may it be somewhere near this spot of earth where we have together toiled and struggled for the kingdom of God, and may it be about this hour in the high noon of some glorious Sabbath, looking into the upturned faces of some great audience radiant with holiness and triumph.

SPRAYING FRUITS.

WHY, HOW AND WHEN TO DO IT.

Read Before the Twenty-first Annual Meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society at Eaton Rapids, Mich., December 2, 1891.

By William Stahl, Quincy, Ill.

My interest in spraying dates back to 1883. Then, as now, I was extensively engaged in buying and shipping, as well as growing fruits. In that year I found it all but impossible to get grapes free from black rot in the localities from which I had been shipping. About Quincy, for example, the crop was practically ruined by the rot that year. I shipped grapes into Quincy for several localities.

For 50 years Nauvo, Ill., has been the center of a great grape-growing industry. The black rot appeared there in the sixties, and for some years had rendered the crop worthless. In 1883 I found the grapes in the vineyards on the bluffs and the uplands about Nauvo, remarkably free from the rot, but on the narrow strip of sandy land between the bluffs and the river I found grapes very heavily free from rot. For those grapes I got as high as $2.00 per basket in the St. Paul and Minneapolis markets. They were so profitable to both the producer and the shipper that I could not escape the conviction that a remedy for the black rot would be of almost incalculable benefit to the vineyardists of the country. I began experimenting and my experiments included spraying with everything I found recommended, and with several mixtures original with me. None, however, gave valuable results, and I was remarkably how little was known about spraying new crops, and their capabilities, and how rude were the available appliances only eight years ago. First used the Bordeaux mixture in 1888—on a very small experimental scale. The results were not encouraging, and I made more extensive experimentation with it. In 1889 I sprayed with the Bordeaux mixture quite extensively, and the results also convinced others of the same fact. In 1890 I sprayed all my grapes, and secured quite a number of neighboring vineyardists to spray their vines. The results were all that the most sanguine could expect. The cost of spraying was very small.

Those who did not try spraying this season have lost from $3 to $5 per acre. The grapes from the rot, while those who sprayed did not lose more than 1 to 5 per cent. The efficiency of spraying apples, peaches, plums and other fruits has also been established among our fruit growers, and henceforth the practice of spraying these trees will not only be common, but will be a number of neighboring vineyardists to spray their vines. The results were all that the most sanguine could expect. The cost of spraying was very small.

The first season we sprayed again and of the results the editor of the Quincy Evening Free Press, visited our vineyards the first week of September, said editorially:

"We do not think we have ever before seen grape vines so heavily laden and not one crop in a hundred was affected with the rot; while only a short distance away, vineyards of equal soil and under like conditions, except that they had not been sprayed, were so badly affected that the rot had eaten up the fruit, and in many cases the vines were so badly affected with the rot and the fruit will not be worth the gathering while, on the other side of the vines were so heavily laden with well-developed fruit, and the bunches were so full of grapes that it was difficult to pick them. The only difference between the two vineyards was that the one had been sprayed, and the other not. The grapes on the sprayed vineyard were so heavily laden with fruit that they were difficult to pick, and the bunches were so full of grapes that it was difficult to pick them. The only difference between the two vineyards was that the one had been sprayed, and the other not."

It is the testimony of everyone that has seen my fruit fields. I have letters from above 1,000 fruit-growers that have tried spraying the past season. I can not mention the names of all, but I will refer to some of the most prominent ones. H. Nelson, Monroeville, Monroeville Co., "I have sprayed my orchard of 100 trees, and have not seen one wormy apple this season. One tree I sprayed four times, and have now picked 20 bushels of apples, and they are all perfect." H. E. Potter, Whitehall, Muskegon Co.: "I sprayed my apple orchard of 100 trees; the apples all perfect in form and size, and at least one-third would be wormy." Francis W. Hall, Sheridan, Montcalm Co.: "I have sprayed my apple plum and cherry orchards, and have saved 50 per cent of the apples. Cherries and plums were free from worms." D. L. Evans, Housman, Oceana Co.: "We sprayed the Baldwin, Stark, Waggoner, Ben Davis and Greening apples, and also plums, peaches and cherries with excellent results. The fruit are of the finest quality—large and smooth, and free from worms. This is the only one that has any fruit on it at all."

H. W. Jones, Houghton, Houghton Co.: "We sprayed our orchard of 300 apple, plum and cherry trees this season, and have saved 50 per cent of the fruit. The fruit are all perfect. Have also used it on our currant bushes, and they are all perfect. Have kept five acres of potatoes free from bugs, and they are all perfect. It will soon be time for selecting pathmasters. Much care should be exercised in this regard, and elect men who are competent to act in that capacity. Many pieces of bad roads can be attributed to the poor judgment or shiftless of incompetent pathmasters.

The new village legislators elected last Monday will have the sewer question, and perhaps other equally as important ones, to grapple with this year, but, as they are all practical and honorable men of good judgment, no one need apprehend any unwise or unjust management of municipal affairs.

The views of "A Citizen," published in another column will, we think, voice the sentiment of all good citizens who desire to have the law enforced, and enforced without partiality. The duties of an official are sometimes trying, but, when he takes the oath of his office, he should fulfill all the requirements relating thereto, or resign his position. The law is no respecter of person, but provides for all alike, and should thus be enforced.

The statement given in our local columns this week showing the excellent financial standing of the Cass City Fair Ground and Driving Park Association, shows what a few wide-awake, push-a-head business men can do when they set about it. The association has been organized but little over two years, yet their valuable property is in a fair way to be free from all encum-brances in a short time. Those who tried to smother the project at the commencement, or predicted "failure,"
can not be found now.

Much confusion will be avoided, this spring if voters who desire to deposit split tickets in the ballot box will pay no attention to the spaces on the official ballots designated for parties, and instead put a cross (X)
mark opposite the name of their choice.
Over half of the defective voting is caused by electors putting a cross (X) mark under their party name, and then attempting to vote for some of the candidates of the other parties without erasing the names of the candidates for such offices on their own ticket.

MICHIGAN'S Attorney General, Ellis, is covering himself with glory. He personally conducted the trial of Dan Heffron at Manistique and secured a conviction last Tuesday. Dan Heffron was a keeper of the worst dens in the Upper Peninsula, a man of wealth and great influence. Indeed people thought the plucky Attorney General was very rash to come there and prosecute big Dan. But Mr. Ellis is no coward.
Now he proposes to go on with the Cossidine case in Detroit. We hope his efforts there will be equally successful.—[Pontiac Post.

Our readers will doubtless remember our mentioning the fact that the government has for years, been doing job printing, in opposition to a large body of men engaged in that business throughout the United States, and our remarks against the injustice of this method. We are pleased to say that a bill has been introduced into Congress which provides for changing the law regarding the printing of envelopes by the government. This is the first step towards a needed reform, and all printers and publishers should use their influence towards the passage of the bill.

It will now be in order for the Elm wood Farmer to acknowledge the authorship of the letter published in the Caro Advertiser two weeks ago,
and thus clear the editor of that paper
of the grave charge made against him by the New Era, viz: As being himself the writer of the letter. The principal accusations made in the letter against the New Era are infidelity to the People's party and union with the Democracy, neither of which charges were very emphatically contradicted by the editor last week. Don't evade the questions, Bros., but come out boldly and tell them "what's what."

Detroit Editors' Opinions.

The Tribune says: "Women are getting to be very serious nowadays—that is, some of them." . . . The Tribune says of the seal fisheries imbroglio: "No insuperable difficulty lies in the way of agreement upon a modus vivendi, and its terms can be fixed upon without resort to either war or retaliation. Let diplomacy, not commercial warfare, accomplish this task."

The Free Press says: "There is no war sentiment among the people of this country, and we do not believe there is any more among the people of Great Britain." . . . The Free Press thinks criminals should not be dealt with as unfortunates to be coddled and sympathized with.

The Times says: "Maj. Benjamin W.
Houston, of Vassar, is out for the Attorney-Generalship. The major served the state for a short period as Attorney General upon the retirement of S. V. R.
Trowbridge. He is a pretty good lawyer and a chronic office seeker. When Tuscola was in the seventh district the major was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress as regular as two years rolled by. He has been a hard luck politician and is almost certain to be disappointed in his latest ambition."

The Journal says: Mr. Charles Tupper of Canada, has been making some foolish speeches in London in regard to the revenue that the Dominion will visit upon the United States for the Mc-Kinley tariff. He calls it a fatal blow.
It will send his wheat and flour to England, he says and take the manufactured articles of that country in payment. It will encourage the immigration of Englishmen to Canada. The people of the United States certainly have no objection to the immigration of Englishmen to Canada. The best and most enterprising of them soon find their way to the United States. The French population, however, will have something to say about encouraging English immigration. For it means English domination in the Dominion, to which they are resolutely opposed. Tupper's fatal blow is chiefly blow.

It's easier to by a vote than it is to get the goods delivered.
If the American eagle should swell up

If a candidate couldent make prom-

kind of hard.

1-1 FROST & HEBBLEWHITE.

Pronounced Hopeless Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E.
Hurd, of Groton, S. D. We quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on minated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior determined if I could not stay

my absent ones above. My husband advised me to get Dr. King's new Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Colds. I gave it a trial took in all

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be in-

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ.
Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent relief.
One of my friends persuaded me to take a box of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years and now sixty years old, but feel as young as at thirty.—$1 a bottle.

A Contractor's Advice.

Messrs. Dullam's Bros.—Gentlemen:—
I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the liver, stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion, and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six months' other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured. Yours Truly, manent relief. 25 cents per bottle.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

Following are complimentary notices given Rev. Barney who is to deliver an address at this place on the evenings of March 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th.

BOYNE CITY, Mich., Feb. 26, 1892.
Editor Michigan Union—I thought I would like to introduce my union to the readers of your estimable paper. We were organized in August of '83. Have been running since with more or less fluctuation of members and for the last two or three years have been increasing both in numbers and earnestness. Our ladies are all prompt and willing workers, and every member is made to feel herself part and parcel of the whole, as indeed she is.

We were very fortunate in being able to secure the services last week of Rev. H. Barney, of Brooklyn, New York. He spoke for us on the evenings of the 18th and 19th inst. His temperance lecture is very fine. His style was so effective and his diction so pure that it could but leave a deep and lasting impression.

This was followed by his popular lecture "My Life from the Theater to the Pulpit." There were incidents in that life of such a nature that they were eminently calculated to supplement the sentiment of the first lecture, and they were so forcibly put that the audience seemed spell-bound.

Mr. Barney also met our union in the afternoon, and by his efforts 10 members were added thereto, making our number about 35. But I must stop, that I may not further trespass upon your indulgence.

Truly yours
Mrs. A. E. MARTIN,
Pres. Boyne W. C. T. U.

EAST JORDAN, Feb. 26th, '92.
We would say to the readers of the Michigan Union if you have an opportunity to hear the Rev. H. Barney talk on temperance, do not miss it. He is "eloquent and dramatic" or in other words a "big gun and well loaded," holds his audience spell-bound, and was greeted with full houses the three past evening, in our little village, and any time he can return to us will meet with a hearty reception. Brother Barney added fourteen members to our Union by his eloquence, and obtained subscribers to the Michigan Union.

The breeding of the light harness horse is growing more rapidly than any other business. Previous to 1870 the light horse was only a dream of idea with the farmer. He would have laughed a man to scorn had he suggested the idea of ploughing his broad acres with a horse possessing trotting blood. It is a common thing now to see our sturdy farmers ploughing with a team of mares capable of drawing a buggy a 2:40 "clip," and these same horses are doing the farm work with more ease to themselves than the chump-legged draft horses they once raised.—Ex.

IN A GREAT STATE.

A WEEK WITH WOLVERINES BOTH GREAT AND SMALL.

A Sensational Attempt at Suicide by a Bay City Girl.—Strange Hitting Accident.—Brief News Items.

A sensational attempt at suicide occurred at Bay City, Jennie Hendricks, a pretty girl about 20 years old living on Second street, has been keeping company with a railroad conductor for upwards of two years. Several times the wedding day has been set but the wily conductor has always invented a reason for its postponement. Jennie finally came to the conclusion that her affections were being trifled with, and becoming despondent procured a revolver and inflicted on herself what was first believed to be a fatal wound. Entering the breast just above the left nipple, the bullet passed through her lung, but was deflected from its course and passed downward. To the surprise of physicians the girl continued to rally since, recovering from the first shock, and it is now believed she will recover. She declares, however, that she will make another attempt at self-destruction as soon as she is able to get about.

Shot in the Mouth.

Loren Decker, a lad of 14 years, son of Josiah Decker, a well-known farmer living in Hadley township, Lapeer county, met with a serious, if not fatal, accident by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. Decker and a neighbor's boy went to the forest to draw wood. Decker saw something that he wanted to shoot. Rader having the ammunition, passed it to Decker and when the load was in Rader stooped down to put on a cap while Decker was still holding the gun, with the breach open on the ground. No sooner was the cap on than the hammer fell, the gun was discharged and the contents passed through Decker's lower jaw, tongue, palate and all immediate soft parts, taking with it five of the lower and two of the upper teeth, and nearly half the tongue. Dr. Harper was called and dressed the wounds. The tongue is the most seriously injured of any parts that could be reached.

The track will now be built around these bottomless pits.

"Jockey" Brown's Will Broken.

Mrs. Alice Hayden, the disinherited daughter of the late "Jockey" Brown, of Grand Rapids, will, as matters now stand, receive one-half of her father's estate. The jury rendered a verdict for the contestant and against Mrs. Haines, the sixty-year-old heir, thereby breaking the will. The verdict was received with immense enthusiasm. The crowd applauded, threw hats and parasols into the air and some of the women wept hysterically. Two ladies grasped Mayor Uhl around the neck and kissed him in their elation, and then turned to find his colleagues, but they had escaped. Mrs. Hayden was applauded when she appeared on the streets and a large crowd followed her half way home. Mrs. Haines, the heiress, was not in the courtroom, and the news was conveyed to her by her attorneys. She declares she will appeal, but her lawyers were inclined to advise a settlement. Before the contest opened Mrs. Hayden offered to accept $60,000, but this was indignantly refused. She now says she will abide by the jury's verdict and take half after the lawyers are paid.

A Terrible Death.

An accident which happened at the Michigan avenue crossing of the Michigan Central railroad at Albion resulted in the death of Brakeman Curtis D. Tussing. The engine was backing down the house track and Tussing was uncoupling a car to be left when his foot slipped and he fell under the tender, which passed over him, crushing his body just below the chest in a horrible manner and dragging it several rods. Death was instantaneous. The remains were taken on an improvised stretcher into the way car, and the freight soon pulled out for Jackson. Deceased lived in Jackson and leaves a wife.

Jumped into the River and Drowned.

A man rushed into police headquarters at Grand Rapids and said he had seen a man jump off the Chicago & West Michigan railroad bridge into the river. He described him as without coat or shoes, and a few minutes later a telephone message announced that George Floto, a painter, who has been ill for several weeks had escaped from his nurses while delirious and wandered away only partially dressed. The river was at once dragged, but the body was not found.

Leo Glen, 4-year-old boy, of Pentwater, is indeed a lion. He was playing with a dog when the brute became mad and made a vicious attack upon him. When dauntless courage the infant fought off the angry beast with a stick until aid came to him. He was bitten on the face and body, and was nearly exhausted, but the first words he uttered to his rescuers were: "Bring me a gun!"

WASHINGTON LETTER

INTERESTING NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WILL CHECKMATE THE BRITAINS.

It has become known in Washington that Great Britain is building two revenue cutters for the northern lakes which can be converted into formidable war ships in a very short space of time. Their batteries and armaments are to be constantly ready to be speedily placed upon the alleged revenue cutters. A bill appropriating $75,000 for two United States revenue cutters for the great lakes. It is understood that before the appropriation is exhausted another and a greater amount will be appropriated if need be, to give the revenue cutters heavy armor and full battery equipments. This is an indication that the action of Great Britain at every point is being carefully watched by the state and navy departments of this country.

WILL PROTECT OUR SEALS.

The President sent to the Senate the arbitration treaty relative to the Behring Sea fisheries, without suggestion or recommendation. The members became very much interested in the subject at once and considerable indignation was expressed because of the arrogant refusal of the British government to renew the modus vivendi. The matter was referred to the foreign relations committee and a firm and explicit report making a decided stand may be expected. At a cabinet meeting the subject of Lord Salisbury's letter was discussed and the members expressed that some better understanding might be arrived at before the sealing season.

SPRINGER IS IMPROVING.

Representative Springer continues to improve rapidly, and he expects to be on his feet again in a few days. It is expected that the tariff discussion in the House will continue for three or four weeks more, with interruptions now and then for consideration of appropriation and other pressing bills. It is now understood that Mr. Springer will make the closing speech in the tariff debate. He has a great deal of matter collected which he expected to use in an argument at the opening of the debate, so that no great labor will be involved in preparing for the closing argument in favor of his bills.

WILL EXPAND MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

Secretary Elkins is much interested in the matter of military intelligence, and is examining the subject with great care with the idea of extending the functions of the bureau of military intelligence in the war department and locating it with a view to its expansion and permanency. This question has had his earnest attention since the first days of his administration; but the important part has been to make the bureau cautious in reaching any conclusion. He has now made himself familiar with the questions involved and will undoubtedly act at an early day.

DEATH OF REPRESENTATIVE KENDALL.

Representative John W. Kendall, of Kentucky, was suddenly stricken with apoplexy and died. His wife and one son were with him when he expired. Mr. Kendall was a native Kentuckian, aged 58 years, and was serving his first term in Congress. During the late war he was first lieutenant and adjutant of cavalry in the confederate service. The body was taken to West Liberty, Ky., for interment. The House, as is its custom, adjourned as a mark of respect to the deceased member.

SECRETARY BLAINE'S ILLNESS.

The illness of Mr. Blaine which confined him to his room and bed for some time has subsided. He is now able to walk. While the secretary has been quite sick his condition is not regarded as serious by either his family or by his physician, but it will be some time before he is able to resume charge of the state department.

The census bulletin of the wool industry just issued shows that Michigan now has 52 wool establishments as against 50 by the preceding census. The total capitalization, however, is now $1,800,000, against $700,000 by the last census. The value of the land, buildings and machinery devoted to the wool industry in Michigan is $1,017,000. There are employed 1,428 persons in these establishments.

The bill which Senator McMillan has put through the Senate will give the great lakes two modern revenue cutters, specially designed to be serviceable as war ships. One will be put on Lake Superior and Michigan, and the other on Lake Ontario. They will be very fast, capable of making 25 miles an hour, and will be equipped with heavy guns, the same as gunboats, to be used as harbor defenders in time of war.

Representative Gorman, of Michigan, will introduce a bill restoring pensions to widows who have lost their allowances by remarriage. At present the law cuts off the widow of a deceased soldier if she remarries, even though the second husband dies or is divorced. To avoid making the law an inducement to divorcing second husbands, in order to receive the pension as widow of the first, the Gorman bill will limit the operation of the law to pension widows who have secured divorces before Jan. 1, 1892.

The King May Visit the Fair.

The king of Sweden writes that he may visit the world's fair at Chicago in person. The communication was received by President Bonney, of the world's congress auxiliary. The projected visit is as yet a mere suggestion and of course is subject to numberless contingencies. If it comes, the king will preside over some literary or scientific congress.

Dan Heffron, wanted at Manistowic to receive his sentence, is in Chicago and says he isn't coming back to Michigan until his case is taken to the supreme court and he is acquitted.

SEIZED RUSSIAN MAIIS.

The Sultan of Turkey May Become Involved in a Deep Difficulty.

It is reported from Constantinople that the Sultan, under the influence of the German and Austrian authorities, has refused to discipline the Governor of Salonica for confiscating the Russian mail to Mount Athos recently. It is an open secret in diplomatic circles that the Mount Athos cloister has long been little less than an advanced post of the Russian army. Of its 3,000 monks at least 1,300 are non-commissioned Russian officers, who in monks' garb traverse the surrounding country and gather information for the Russian general staff. To facilitate their work these officials recently had established a special mail service from Salonica to Mount Athos. Thus, while the Austrian and French postoffices in the city managed only the correspondence of French and Austrians in Turkey with foreign ports, Russia had a domestic mail service on Turkish soil. This arbitrary move over the Sultan to the complete rout of the Mercier party, or of Salonica to the Russian consul in Constantinople and the latter protested to the Sultan. The Austrian and German ministers protested against this protest. It was hardly expected, however, that their advice would stiffen the Sultan's backbone sufficiently to cause him to persist in opposing this last encroachment of Russia upon his sovereign rights.

Conservative Victory in New York.

Elections for a new Quebec legislature consequent on the dismissal by Lieutenant-Governor Angers of the late Mercier government on account of the scandals developed in connection with the St. Charles Railway, were held and resulted in the complete rout of the Mercier party. A total of 51 Conservatives, 12 former supporters of Mr. Mercier and 5 Independent Liberals have been returned. In the late House Mr. Mercier had a majority of about 28. Four members of the late government stood for re-election, but all were defeated. Not a single Conservative seat was lost, which according to the returns received 26 seats formerly occupied by Liberals were captured by the Conservatives.

President Montt Victorious.

Valparaiso cable: President Montt has told the leaders of the Liberal party emphatically that if they wanted him to form a new cabinet from among their ranks they must manage to secure a full majority in the next election of Pedro Pablo Kuczynski. The Liberal party, however, has been returned. In the late House Mr. Montt had a majority of about 28. Four members of the late government stood for re-election, but all were defeated. Not a single Conservative seat was lost, which according to the returns received 26 seats formerly occupied by Liberals were captured by the Conservatives.

Terrible Hurricane in Portugal.

A hurricane passed over the Portuguese coast, doing much damage to property and to the harbor works at Lisbon. A number of houses were unroofed, chimneys blown down and trees prostrated. Six persons were passing along the streets when they were struck by flying debris and killed. A number of others were more or less seriously injured. The River Tagus, which in some places had already overflowed its banks, continues to rise rapidly and threatens considerable damage. The river has become so hazardous that few, if any, vessels attempt it.

Score One for Flourens.

Gov. Flower, of New York, has sent to the legislature a message upon pending measures, and in it occurred these words: "I have no sympathy with that ill-considered concern for public interests which sees a bogey in every corporate enterprise of a public character. Nor do I approve that wholesale denunciation of men and motives with which a well-meaning but somewhat short-sighted and hysterical press evidently considers it a duty to greet every corporate attempt to obtain municipal privileges."

A Queer Accident.

An extra engine, running east, side-wiped a west bound train from Baltimore at the end of the double track at Rockville, Md., killing a brakeman named Teaters and a fireman named Buckalew, of the extra east bound engine. Engineer Peters, of the west bound train, was slightly injured, also the express messenger. Both engines and tenders were badly damaged. The coaches and sleepers of the west bound train were slightly damaged. No passenger was injured.

Found the Bodies.

Last Thanksgiving three young men went out duck hunting on Erie Bay, at Erie, Pa., and were never seen again. The trio were Robert Skelly, Bert Grumwell and James Roberts. After a prolonged search at that time, a circumstance turned up which left a suspicion that the three boys had run away. Within the past few days the bodies of the three boys have been found in the ice in the vicinity of where their boat was found beached last fall.

Heirs of Lynched Italians Will Sue.

A suit will be filed in the United States court at New Orleans against that city by the families of the unsatisfied Italians who were mobbed last spring. The claims will vary from $30,000 to $40,000 and the total will amount to between $150,000 and $200,000. The heirs of the mobbed Italians have a claim against the government already, but it is said that it will be worthless unless suit is brought against the city within one year after the occurrence.

Trade Their Bread for Gin.

The indiscriminate distribution of free bread in Vienna is making workmen lazy. Some large factories are now unable to engage a sufficient number of laborers to carry on operations. In many cases it has been found that persons receiving free bread have afterwards bartered it for gin.

Ended His Journey Suddenly.

Col. Louis Duestroff, of St. Louis, Mo., the largest single holder of stock in the famous Granite Mountain silver mine, ruptured a blood vessel of the heart in stepping from a street car (he weighed almost 300 pounds) and died almost immediately. Col. Duestroff acquired his rank in the war as a volunteer. He was 60 years old. By the Granite Mountain strike he rose suddenly from comparatively nothing to a multi-millionaire.

At Duncombe, Ia., Thos. Gaffly shot and killed Edward Buggy. Gaffly was the rejected suitor of a girl with whom Buggy was walking when killed.

THINKS IT IS SERIOUS.

ERASTUS WIMAN ON THE BERING SEA CONTROVERSY.

Grand Duke Ludwig IV, of Hesse, in Bed.—Our System of Pork Inspection Declared Perfect.

Serious Talk of War.

Erastus Wiman, one of the best known of the country's economists and financiers, is very much impressed by the gravity of the situation between this country and Great Britain. "The English government," said he "is under tremendous pressure now from the Canadian government which, being Tory in complexion and strengthened by the recent elections, is in a mood to insist that Canadian sealers be protected and given equal rights with Americans on the high seas. Besides, the coming contest in England between the Tories and Gladstone and the Liberals makes it incumbent that a diversion of some kind be created to insure Tory success at the polls. Nothing will so fire the British heart with enthusiasm as anything calculated to maintain the fiction that Britannia rules the wave, and under such circumstances it is not improbable that a vigorous foreign policy will prevail during the coming summer, in which the peace of the world may be threatened. Actual hostilities are doubtful, but many a war has sprung from less serious causes, and it is a fact that party exigencies have caused one-half of England's wars."

Ludwig IV, is Dead.

Special dispatches from Darmstadt, Hesse, Germany, give news of the death of the Grand Duke Ludwig IV. Three of his daughters and Prince Ernst Ludwig, his heir, were at his bedside at the time of his death. The city is in mourning. In the English quarter, where the grand duke was especially popular, many houses are draped in black. The Grand Duke Ludwig was the nephew of his predecessor on the throne of Hesse-Darmstadt. He was born on September 12, 1857, and he married in 1882 the Princess Alice, second daughter of Queen Victoria. She died six years later, after bearing him five daughters and one son, the present grand duke. He distinguished himself by his bravery at Gravelotte and in the fighting on the Loire. He became heir to the throne by the death of his father, Prince Karl, of Hesse, in March, 1877, and three months later, upon the death of his uncle, Grand Duke Ludwig III, he ascended the throne. In 1884 he married Franz von Kolumina, nee Countess Chapska, but was divorced from her shortly afterwards. He was liberal in his political views, and despite his tendency towards Englishmen and English ways, was a much more popular ruler than his son is likely to be.

The Monitor's Builder.

John P. Winslow has died at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He was one of the leading ironmakers of the state, and with Erastus Corning and John A. Griswold introduced the manufacture of Bessemer steel into this country and at their works they made the first steel rails in this country. Mr. Winslow's most important public work, however, was the building of the famous Monitor, his firm taking the responsibility of furnishing the vessel complete to the government, their pay being conditioned upon its success as a war vessel. The success of the vessel and the good work done in its fight with the rebel ironclad Merrimack is historic and need not be referred to.

Our Pork Inspection Perfect.

Paris special: M. Duclos, the French revenue expert sent to the United States to inquire into the system of American inspection of pork, said to an Associated Press reporter, "The system of American inspection is as perfect as anything can be. There are no weak points in it. Everything goes like clock work under the direction of Mr. Hickman, who is a real scholar. I visited the different pork centers and I came to the conclusion that it is neither possible nor advantageous for any body to pack or export a single hog that has not undergone a microscopic inspection."

Important Insurance Decision.

A very important decision has been rendered in the circuit court at Bloomington, Ill., which has a bearing upon the business of all insurance associations. Mrs. Thos. Belcham's husband carried a life policy for $2,000 in A. O. U. W. for 12 years, but was expelled from the order a few months before his death for drunkenness. The claim was made by Mrs. Belcham that when he was expelled her husband was insane. The verdict rendered gives Mrs. Belcham a judgment for $2,115.

MEN AND THINGS.

A German workmen's society has been organized at Dowagiac.

In an election quarrel at Sacramento, Cal., a politician shot and killed Patrick Branigan.

Jay Gould has abandoned his proposed Mexican trip and started home from Laredo, Tex.

During a quarrel near Cartersville, Mo., J. Cooper stabbed C. M. Gilstrop, killing him instantly.

Negotiations are in progress for the consolidation of the four big window glass plants in Bellair, O.

In the house of commons at Ottawa, Ont., Hon. Mr. Bowell introduced his bill relating to salivary gland disease. It gives the right to Americans to wreck and salvage and also to tow in Canadian waters. Its provisions are on the same line as that introduced by the United States government which gave the same right to the Canadians in United States waters.

The United States government has determined upon the manufacture of smokeless powder for use in both small arms and heavy ordnance, and with this object in view Captain Pitman, well-known ordnance officer and expert chemist, has been detailed by General Flagler, chief of ordnance, United States army, to take charge of the laboratory at the Frankfort Arsenal.

Mrs. Osborne, the English woman who stole the Hargreave jewels, pawned the m and afterward perjured herself on the witness stand by making serious charges against Mr. and Mrs. Hargreaves—her victims—has been sentenced to nine months imprisonment at hard labor. Mrs. Osborne expects to be confined early in June and her friends had hoped her sentence would not be put in force until after that period, but the court was unyielding and refused the request.

A SHAME TO THE NATION.

The Condition of New York City Contagious Disease Hospital.

Reporters for the New York World visited the pest houses of that city on North Brother Island and found a startling and deplorable state of affairs. They went into pavilion after pavilion and found neither attendants nor doctors. The poor patients rolling on their cot on the floor with only one blanket or cover each, crying in their delirium and fever for water. One attendant was found who had 32 typhoid patients in his care, some of them so wild that they had to be strapped to their cots. A thick fog was blowing over the island and an intermittent drizzle was falling. But the windows of the pavilions were open and the wind and fog swept down on the cots where the afflicted wretches tossed in feverish delirium. In the different pavilions and tents there were cases of small pox, typhus fever, scarlet fever, measles and lepers, what few attendants were found at their meals together in the dining room. No attempt was being made to prevent a spreading of the different diseases. The attendants know of the extreme suffering of the patients for want of water and care, but were powerless to aid all at once. The matter is a disgrace to the great metropolis of the most enlightened country on the globe and shame to humanity in general.

A Steamer to Navigate River or Ocean.

The Iowa iron works of Dubuque, Ia., have undertaken to build a boat on an entirely new plan, the object of which is to navigate the river and the ocean. It is to be built after the style of what is called the Lucas plan and will be the first boat built. It will have one bow and two sterns, each of which will have a rudder and screw, so if one is disabled there will remain half the power to make port. She will carry an adjustable center board, which it is thought will have the purpose of a deeper draft. The boat will be about 300 feet long and from 30 to 35 feet beam. She will be built entirely of steel and will cost about $200,000, and it is expected that she will carry a cargo in weight equaling about 60,000 bushels of wheat or five feet of water, which will be nonmarketable if such results are secured. This vessel when finished will be sent with a cargo to the Amazon. She will then go up the river 500 miles or more to the coffee plantations, and take from them direct the products which now have to be transferred a half-dozen times before reaching the market.
