

CASS CITY ENTERPRISE.

VOL. XXV. NO. 6.

CASS CITY, MICH., SEPT. 28, 1905.

BY A. A. P. McDOWELL

Come and examine my large line of . . .
Ladies' Waists
Tailor-made Skirts and everything else to complete a Lady's Wardrobe.
..Great variety in Bazaar Goods..
Full line of Staple and Fancy Groceries.
MRS. G. W. GOFF.

NEW ORGANS
VIOLINS, GUITARS, MANDOLINS, BANJOS, ACCORDEONS,
Musical Merchandise.

FREE LESSONS with Mandolins, Violins and Guitars. Call and get particulars.

Old Organs taken as part payment on New Organs, also Second-hand Organs for sale.

Organs and other Musical Instruments repaired.

Special prices on Furniture during Fair week.

Picture Frames made to order.
LENZNER'S FURNITURE STORE

BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!

We are better prepared than ever before to supply your wants in Books for all Grades, and all Districts in the vicinity of Cass City.

Pencils, Tablets, Book Straps, Crayons, Erasers and Pencil Boxes.

School Flags as required by the new School Law.

L. I. Wood & Co., Pharmacists

A Bargain in . . .
ENAMELLED WARE

"Limonite" Ware is as heavy as any other Enamel Ware on the market and you can't come within 30% of these prices elsewhere:

10 qt. Chamber Pail	$1.08
8 qt. Covered Berlin Kettle	.52
10 qt. "	.70
1 1/2 qt. Double Boiler	.56
2 qt. "	.65
Nest of 6 Basins, 1 to 6 qts.	.85
Tea Steepers, seamless, with cover,	.23
Sauce Pans, 14c., 18c., 21c., 25c.,	.28
11 inch Wash Basin	.16
2 qt. Covered Pails	.24

...Seeing is Believing....

A. Bigelow & Sons

CLEARING SALE

...OF...
HOUSE PLANTS

Having neither time or room to carry plants through the coming winter, will close out what we have on hand at great discounts.

Come at once for best selection.

A. A. P. McDOWELL.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Nelson Karr entered the first grade Monday.

The third grade is studying the work of the bees.

Carola Fritz was absent one day this week on account of sickness.

Alex McBurney, of California, is taking up fourth grade work here.

One of our sophomores is taking a correspondent's course with Alma.

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades will do their first painting this week.

The English Literature class have finished the reading of Chaucer's Prologue.

Wilnot Moore and Earl McKim have entered school after a prolonged absence.

The third and fourth grades are enjoying the story of the "Five Little Peppers."

My! the tests were hard this month. We wonder if Miss H. made the questions up.

In the "Shade of the old Apple Tree" is not the place to be when the teacher is looking.

Some fair ones of the ninth grade are taking in the fair, instead of being taken in by the tests.

Among the visitors for this week were Edna Matzen, Laura McWebb, Mrs. Bardwell and friends.

Some children who were hungry visited the peach orchard and seeing a man started for the woods.

Webster defines measles as a "singular" disease, but pupils declare from experience "they" are plural.

A case of absent mindedness is on record wherein a gentleman wished to arise before the accustomed time so set the alarm clock and neglected to wind it.

One of the high school teachers was relentlessly grasped by one of the doors, which, after she had gotten onto her knees and asked the gods for help was sprung.

Some of the pupils of the High School who were absent on account of a wedding, had better be careful what kind of an excuse they bring. Would wedding cake do?

The pupils of the Grammar Room had a spelling match in which the girls spelled against the boys. As usual the girls came out victorious. Do some studying next time, boys.

Last Saturday, long before King Sol had thought of awakening, three mighty Nimrods were to have been seen sleepily wending their way to swamps and woods unknown. Dinner time brought them back, however, with the usual luck-voracious appetites, and a sight of ducks.

Education pays! Professor F. E. Sinclair delivered a short address to the pupils of the high school Monday morning on the paying quality of an education in which he stated that every day's work in school is worth $10 per day to the pupil who takes four subjects, thus making each subject worth $2.50 per day. The figures were obtained from the President of Lafayette College and he being a close observer of this important question, is taken as excellent authority. The average working man receives $1.50 per day for three hundred days in the year, thus earning $450 per year. The high school graduate earns $1,000 per year. Taking forty years as the time of the average man's work, the working man receives $18,000. During the same time the educated man receives $40,000 thus leaving a difference of $22,000. The High School Graduate can complete his education in twelve years. Therefore he receives this $22,000 for his twelve years' labor in school or $1,833 a year for school work, an average of nearly $100 per day. Can you afford to miss a day's schooling?

Call on A. A. Hitchcock for new style Rain Coats.

The Greening Bros. Nursery Company, Monroe, Mich., one of the leading nursery concerns in the United States write us that they want a good live agent in this section to solicit orders for their nursery stock. Experience not necessary. They offer good pay weekly, and furnish canvassing outfit free. We advise any man or woman in our community, who is in a position to take orders for the above house, to write them for particulars immediately.

9-14-4

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.
Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

Fair Next Week.

An Interesting Program Arranged.

New Features Being Added.

Additional features of special interest in the way of special attractions and entertainment are still being added for the Fair program for next week.

The Secretary is busy this week at his downtown office in H. T. Elliott's Furniture Store, receiving entries and attending to other minor details to avoid delay on the opening day—Tuesday, Oct. 3rd. Already there is a good showing of entries and a number of special exhibits are arranged for, which will add to the interest without entering into competition for prizes.

On Wednesday, the second day, State Highway Commissioner H. S. Earle, of Lansing, will make an address which is sure to interest all. On the same afternoon will occur a lively base ball contest between the teams from North Branch and Bad Axe, well known as crack players, and this will prove a strong attraction for all lovers of the National sport.

At eleven o'clock a. m. each day will occur a free concert in Floral Hall, where programs will be distributed.

The Bobcat Team of Coon Singers and Buck and Wing Dancers has also been secured at a late hour, and will add their merriment for the benefit of all interested.

On Thursday and Friday there will be an interesting program of horse races, besides many special features.

Madame LaVerie, the Trainer and owner of LaVerie's Performing Bears, will put these animals through wonderful feats, and will be assisted by Howard Drake, America's greatest animal educator and trainer.

Don and Mae Gordon, the greatest comedy cycle duo, will do wonder feats of balancing never before attempted by any other artist on bicycles, unicycles, etc.

Zareli, known as the silver gymnast and the world's greatest wire contortionist, and Antonio Von Gofre, will give marvelous exhibitions.

Rose and Lemon, trick bicyclists will appear in the new role of globeing the globe, and guarantee high-class entertainment.

Remember the Cass City Fair lasts four days, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and every day will furnish its own special entertainment.

Come and bring the family, have a good time with old neighbors and friends and gather information from the exhibits in various lines that will assist you later.

Don't forget to make your entries early and get your exhibits in place promptly.

UNPROFITABLE COWS.

Should Be Slaughtered as Soon as Worthlessness Is Proved.

There is only one place for the unprofitable dairy cow, and that is the block. The time to cull is at the end of the second lactation period, says the Iowa Farmer. By this time a cow will have proved her worth or worthlessness as a milker. She will have less free board and will make better steak than if kept longer. Not only in the case of the dairy cow is individuality to be considered, but in that of the dairy bull as well. It is even more important in his case since he is one-half the herd in the matter of progeny. The best dairy herds are built up by raising the best heifer calves from one's own cows.

The dairy bull should of course be a pure bred animal, since such a one will more surely transmit his own characteristics and those of his ancestors to his offspring, and one of the principal things his pedigree should show is good milking qualities in the females.

However, it is not enough that he be pure bred. He must be a good individual to insure his getting good calves. Some one has said in substance that no scrub is so harmful as a pure bred scrub. This is certainly true in the case of the dairy bull, for a pure bred, as before stated, is more persistent than an animal of nondescript breed, and bad qualities are even more likely to be transmitted than good ones.

Appearances are sometimes deceiving, and only time will tell what a bull is really worth. However, a great deal can be accomplished by good judgment in selecting the animal which is to head the herd. Above all, look for constitution. Nothing is so detrimental in a dairy herd as lack of vitality. Due to the artificial conditions under which dairy cows are often kept, diseases are so numerous and of such variety that constitutional vigor is most essential in order that the germs may not obtain a foothold.

A Merry Wedding.

One of the most pleasing social events of the season occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Wickware, corner of Leach and Sanilao Streets, when Miss Alice Maude Mary Anderson, sister of Mrs. Wickware, was united in marriage to Pearl Andrew Schenck, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Schenck. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, Rev. S. G. Anderson, a former pastor of the Baptist Church here, but now of St. Mary's, Ills. The parlors and dining room were prettily decorated with autumn leaves, pink and white carnations, smilax, cream roses, and pink and white asters.

Mrs. R. L. Holloway, of Caro, sister of the bride, sang "Oh Promise Me," and Miss Gertrude Anderson, another sister of the bride, played the wedding march and during the ceremony rendered "The Flower Song" very softly, adding much to the impressiveness of the occasion. Little Miss Catharine Fritz acted as ring bearer. The bride and groom were unattended. The bride was gowned in net over white silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of bridal roses.

After the ceremony dainty refreshments were served and Mr. and Mrs. Schenck left on the four o'clock train to spend a few days in Detroit. Many of their friends went to see them away, loaded with rice, old shoes and rubbers, flowers, etc., but thanks to the compassion of the express messenger and the forethought of a friend or two, the happy couple quickly found their way to the express van and they were locked within, where they were immune from attack and were able to view from the window the disconcerted appearance of their friends.

As the bride formerly lived here, she is known to many of our people, and most highly esteemed. The groom has grown to manhood here, graduated from our High School, took a course in dentistry at the State University at Ann Arbor, and since his graduation from that institution has conducted dental parlors in the Fritz Block here. Upon their return to Cass City they will take up their residence in the rooms adjoining the doctors dental parlors.

The relatives present from outside, not already mentioned, were: Mrs. S. G. Anderson, St. Mary's, Ills., mother of the bride; R. L. Holloway, editor and manager of the Courier, of Caro, brother-in-law of the bride.

For forty years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been curing summer complaint, dysentery, diarrhoea, bloody flux, pain in the stomach, and it has never yet failed to do everything claimed for it.

Don't fail to hear the Canadian Colored Jubilee Singers at the Opera House during the Fair.

The P. O. & N. R. R. will run the last excursion of the season to Caseville next Sunday. The train leaves here at the usual time and the usual price will prevail. See bills.

The demand for the McKinley Sheet Music is steadily increasing, because people are finding out its value and the advantage of getting high-class music at so low a price—10c. On sale at the ENTERPRISE Office.

We have just received at this office a fresh supply of Columbia disc and cylinder graphophone records, and have on hand several different styles of the Columbia graphophones, needles, extra horns, carrying cases, etc. Let us supply your needs in this line.

The P. O. & N. R. R. is giving special excursion rates for the North Branch fair this week and for the Cass City and Imlay City fairs next week. The rate given is single fare for the round trip with 25c. added for admission to the fair.

Don't let the little ones suffer from eczema or other torturing skin diseases. No need for it. Doan's Ointment cures. Can't harm the most delicate skin. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Rev. S. G. Anderson, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church here, but now of St. Mary's, Ills., will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church here next Sunday, both at the morning and evening services.

Local Happenings.

M. Freeman, of Gagetown, is in town to-day.

A. A. McKenzie is in Caro on business to-day.

Jas. Wright is confined to his home, through illness.

I. K. Reid is attending the North Branch fair to-day.

E. A. Geitgey is assisting J. B. Coates with his furnace work.

Chas. E. McCue is able to be out some, after quite a severe illness.

Roy Phillips spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at Shabbona.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meredith, on Sunday, Sept. 24th, a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Souler are joyous over the arrival of another little son.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Janes spent a part of last week with friends at Grand Rapids.

R. L. Holloway, of the Caro Courier, made us a very pleasant call yesterday morning.

Rev. O. Y. Schneider and family, of Snover, are visiting at the home of A. H. Muck.

Miss Edythe LaFave, west of Gagetown, is the guest of friends in town this week.

Mrs. John Henderson, of Port Huron, is visiting friends here and at Holbrook.

Dr. A. N. Treadgold was called to Oxford on a professional trip the first of the week.

The Canadian Colored Jubilee Singers at the Opera House each night during the Fair.

Miss Orvie B. Titus returned on Thursday evening from a five weeks' visit at Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. McRae and son, of Gananoque, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Keating.

Miss Myrtle Wickware left the first of the week for Lewiston, where she will teach in the schools.

Miss May Tyo, an employe at the Kalamazoo asylum, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Tyo.

Mrs. E. W. Keating and daughters, Etta and Carrie, visited friends in Grant township on Saturday.

Mrs. H. S. Waite, of Sanilao Center, and Mrs. Peter Leslie, of Shabbona, called on friends in town on Monday.

J. A. Caldwell has just had the stone and cement foundation placed under his business building on Main Street.

Miss Lottie Bradley returned on Monday from spending three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hill, at LaPeer.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. will serve dinners at the G. A. R. Hall on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of Fair week.

Frank Striffler and Miss Gertrude Leslie visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leslie, at Gagetown, on Sunday.

H. F. Lenzner, of the Chronicle, has just purchased a fine $30 Columbia graphophone, type AH, and is highly pleased with it.

Harry Sansburn left for Maple Ridge on Tuesday morning, to assist his brother, Alvin, in the general mercantile business.

P. A. Koepfen's barn raising on Monday passed off very successfully, notwithstanding a shortage of help, owing to the busy time.

M. Gilbert, formerly of this place, but whose home is now "over the creek" in Ontario, is visiting friends here until after the Fair.

Morley C. Wickware, cashier in J. L. Purdy's Bank, Gagetown, visited the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wickware, here, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hillgartner, east and north of town, announce the arrival of a son, the first of the week. Dave says "he's a heavy lifter."

"The Christian and His Bible," will be the Epworth League topic for next Sunday evening. Rev. R. N. Mulholland, the pastor, will have charge.

Miss Cecil McKim reports an enrollment of thirty-two at the Quick school, south of town, and a pleasant visit from Miss Cora Collins last week.

Rev. F. E. Davy, of Akron, has accepted a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Grace Presbyterian Church, Saginaw, the acceptance taking effect Nov. 1st.

Miss Etta Schenck has returned from an extended visit at Sault Ste. Marie. Her sister, Miss Aura Schenck, has secured a situation and remains at the Sault.

The chicken pie supper given by the M. E. Ladies' Aid Society last Friday

POINTERS on SOAP.

High-grade Soaps are made from vegetable oils and soda and scented with some delicate perfume. They are thus cleansing, pleasant to use and healing to the skin.

Cheap Soaps are made from animal oils and potash and contain an excessive amount of alkali, also some hardening substance is added, often times sand. They are thus rendered irritating to the skin.

Can you distinguish? We have both kinds. Come in and let us show you them.

EDWARD RYAN
Successor to T. H. First,
Cass City.

Wheels to Rent... or sell.

.....C. A. JONES.
Corner of West and Main Sts.

Cass City Markets.

Wheat No. 1 white	76
Wheat No. 2 red	75
Oats No. 3 white new	28
Rye	60
Barley	75
Timothy Seed	2 00
Beans, Hand picked	7 1/2
Clover Seed	6 00
Hay, pressed, per ton	4 00
Eggs per doz.	15 16
Hogs, dressed per cwt.	7 00
Live Hogs, per cwt.	5 00
Beef, dressed, per cwt.	6 00
Sheep, live weight, per cwt.	3 00
Lamb, per cwt.	4 00
Chickens, per lb.	10 12
Turkeys, per lb.	9 12
Ducks, per lb.	5 8
Geese, per lb.	5 8
Potatoes per bu.	60
Hides	65

MARKETS AT HOLLER MILLS.

White Lily, per cwt.	3 00
Granum Flour per cwt.	3 00
Ceresota, per cwt.	3 30
Buckwheat flour	2 00
Boiled meal, per cwt.	3 00
Feed, per cwt.	1 25
Meal, per cwt.	1 30
Bran, per cwt.	1 10
Middlings, per cwt.	1 20
Oil Meal	1 60

evening, at the church, was very well patronized and the proceeds amounted to about $25.

Master Kenneth, the little son of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Wickware, had the misfortune, yesterday, to severely burn the whole front of one of his hands, by placing it on a hot stove.

Miss Laverne Gamble, who has been visiting relatives here, returned on Saturday to her home at Sebawaing. H. F. Lenzner accompanied her and spent Sunday with friends there.

At the Cass City Fair next week two special premiums of $5 and $3 will be given by the Cass City Draft Horse Association for the best Belgian colts, the get of their stallion, "Coolee."

The members of the Orange order, to the number of thirty, gave a very pleasant surprise to one of their number, Jos. McBurney, northwest of the village, last Friday evening. Everyone had a pleasant time.

M. L. Moore was taken quite suddenly and seriously ill on Friday, but prompt action by Dr. D. P. Deming prevented a prolonged illness. Mr. Moore was able to be up again on Monday and is gradually improving.

The telephone line running east and north towards Greenleaf has been completed as far out as J. D. Tuckey's, and 'phones have been placed with Dana Losey, (84-2r); A. Walmsley, (84-4r); J. H. Walmsley, (84-3r); A. J. Wallace, (84-1L 1s); Sol. Striffler, (84-5r), and J. D. Tuckey, (84-1L 2s). The further extension of the line is delayed for want of poles.

It was found advisable to perform an operation for appendicitis upon H. L. McDermott, on Sunday, and the attending physician, Dr. J. H. Hays, summoned Dr. Darling, of Ann Arbor. It was feared that Mr. McDermott was too weak to stand the operation but he came through it well and has been resting well since. His many friends hope sincerely that he may make a good recovery.

While C. W. Heller was assisting in the Roller Mills here last Friday, he had the misfortune to have the thumb of his left hand caught in the rolls, and torn so badly that nearly all the flesh of that member was lost. Dr. J. H. Hays dressed the injury and found that the bone was not injured to any great extent, but it will be a long time before Mr. Heller can expect to use the hand with any free dom.

BUYS HARVARD HOME

HISTORIC RESIDENCE NOW PROPERTY OF CHICAGO MAN.

Built in 1596 at Stratford-on-Avon, England, by the Grandfather of the Founder of Harvard University, May Be Made American Clubhouse.

Edward Morris of Chicago has become the owner of the Harvard homestead at Stratford-on-Avon, England, the house built in 1596 by the grandfather of John Harvard, who founded Harvard university. Marie Corelli, the English novelist, acted as Mr. Morris' agent, and the price paid is said to have been close to $6,000.

If Mr. Morris accepts the suggestion of Miss Corelli, who urged him to purchase the property, he will convert it into a clubhouse for the accommodation and entertainment of the thousands of Americans who annually make a pilgrimage to the birthplace of Shakespeare.

The quaint old dwelling in High street, not far from the birthplace of the poet, long has been one of the principal objects of interest at Stratford, and its purchase by Mr. Morris has attracted considerable attention in England.

It is the intention of Mr. Morris to restore the house to its original picturesqueness. Some parts of it need repairs, though the facade, which is its most interesting portion, on account of the elaborate carvings, is in a remarkably good state of preservation, Mr. Morris says.

Bought in a Curious Way.
Mr. Morris purchased the property in a curious way. He and Mrs. Morris and Miss Corelli and several others were the guests of Sir Thomas Lipton on a yachting cruise off the south coast of England, and it was then that Miss Corelli made the suggestion: "It would be a fine thing if some rich American would establish a clubhouse at Stratford-on-Avon for his countrymen."

The suggestion grew on the Chicago packer, and when he and Mrs. Morris visited the birthplace of Shakespeare, and he learned that Harvard house was for sale, he asked Miss Corelli if she could not make arrangements for him to become the purchaser.

Stratford is dear to the heart of the author, and her strong protests against a suggestion that once was made by Americans for the purchase of Shakespeare's home are remembered, but Mr. Morris' proposition delighted her. She not only consented to act as his agent, but she arranged all the details of the purchase.

Lacks Modern Improvements.
The house has no modern improvements, and probably it would be difficult to find a tenant for it if it were standing in America.

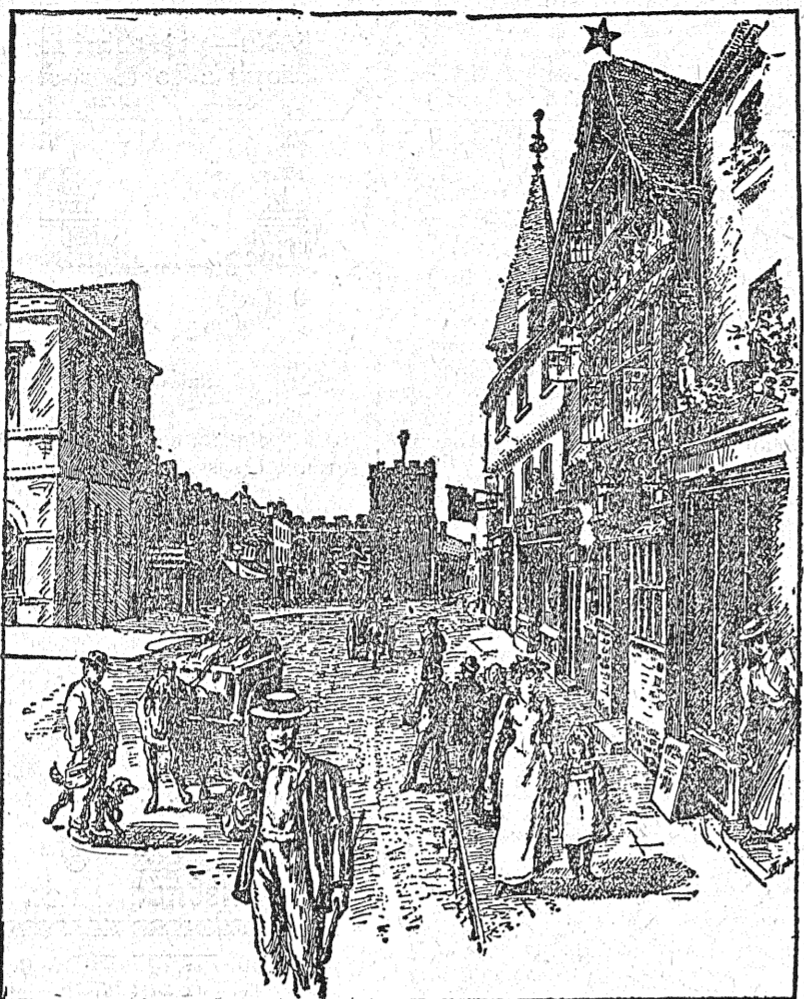

One of the Stratford historians describes it as follows: "On the opposite side of the way (High street), near Ely street, is the 'Ancient house,' a noteworthy specimen of sixteenth century domestic architecture, exhibiting on its face the date 1596, and framework and largeboards of the front, which terminate in an overhanging gable elaborately carved. The upper windows, which project, are supported by ornamental corbels.

"The house was built by Thomas Rogers, an alderman of Stratford, whose daughter, Catherine, married John Harvard of St. Saviour's, Southwark, from whom sprang John Harvard, the founder of the American college."

The recent sale was ordered by the executors of the will of a Mr. Newton, who had owned the place for many years.

John Harvard was born in 1607. His mother possessed some means and sent him to Cambridge university. He was graduated in 1635 and went to Massachusetts two years later. At his death in 1633 one-half of his estate of $1,500 was set aside for the erection of the college, now a university, that bears his name.

Harvard House at Stratford-on-Avon Bought by Edward Morris of Chicago

The star over the gabled roof on the right hand side of the street indicates the Harvard house, which has been purchased by Mr. Morris.

THE MEN THE COUNTRY NEEDS.

Always Demand for Those Who Can Grade 100 Per Cent.

Edward McIntyre of Brooklyn was drummer boy in the Thirteenth New York regiment at the age of 11 on the outbreak of the civil war in which he served. Since then he has been thirty-seven years, consecutively, a member of the National guard in Brooklyn. He has just now resigned the post of drum major of the Thirteenth regiment. During all this time his record has been that of 100 per cent, which means that he was never absent from his post. The Brooklyn Standard Union says:

"There would be little trouble and few problems in the world if every man performed 100 per cent of duty in business and personal relations, in public and private affairs. In any list of the most useful citizens the really indispensable ones would be found to be of the type of the drum major of the Thirteenth. Many people who are temporarily conspicuous could well be spared for lack of those qualities. The men who have shown they possess them are the real Americans, of whom the country is proud. It is not surprising that Edward McIntyre has the friendship and respect of every worthy man in the Brooklyn militia."

Miserly Millionaire.
To the average man that racks his brain to make domestic ends meet on $10 or $15 a week there is something startling in the light recently thrown on the life and habits of Mr. Samuel Dunlap, the octogenarian millionaire, who died a few weeks ago in London.

Mr. Dunlap's housekeeper declares, among many other strange things, that during forty years this owner of millions purchased only one suit of clothes, a cheap pair of gray trousers and two overcoats; while four straw hats, at a shilling each, were all the head covering required for sixteen years.

Once a month the housekeeper cut his hair; and that his locks should not be washed she had orders to stuff mattresses with them. When his frock coat became frayed and green Mrs.

Ealden cut off his tails and converted it, for several years' further use, into a jacket; while her master would never have his shoes blacked or his clothes brushed for fear of wearing them out.

He Had a Good Reason.
Nodd—Come out with me and take a ride in my auto.

Todd—How long have you had it?

"Just got it."

"Had any experience with them?"

"No."

"Going to run it yourself?"

"I am."

"Can you mend a punctured tire?"

"No, sir."

"Wouldn't know the first thing to do?"

"Not the first thing."

"Have you studied, read, or been given any advice?"

"No, sir; I tell you I don't know the first thing."

"How far do you want to go?"

"Just as far as the thing will go."

"All right. I'll go with you."

"What! Why, I didn't dream you'd accept my invitation."

"Why not?"

"Why, I didn't suppose you'd care to go out in an auto with a man who doesn't know anything about it."

"Nonsense! You're just the man."

"How's that?"

"Simply because, old chap, that if we break down we'll drop the old machine and get home by trolley, train or carriage. But if you thought you knew the first thing about it, you'd spend the rest of the day trying to fix it up, while I'd have to stay with you and suffer as a matter of courtesy."

Life.

Disease with Pleasing Possibilities.
New diseases of one sort or another are always cropping up as new conditions give them an excuse. The latest is autorsis, and it is really quite the thing to have. You get it driving a motor car. Only the real hero behind the wheel can have it, and it is said to begin with a burning sensation in the head and a dimness of vision. This is followed by a dull ache all over the body and a constant fear of danger. So great is the power of the disease that a passing shadow on the roadside is said to cause the suffering chauffeur to throw in his emergency brake and bring his car to a dead stop. It is never right to hope that a disease will become an epidemic, but there are certainly possibilities in autorsis.—Springfield, Mass., Republican.

Plain as Day.
Blanche and Harry, aged 5 and 6 respectively, were very fond of maple sugar.

Blanche, being of an inquisitive turn of mind, asked her mother how it was made.

The mother explained how maple trees were tapped and the sugar made from the sap.

The explanation was not convincing to Blanche, however, and she asked her brother if he believed it.

Harry, who never doubted anything his mother said, immediately replied: "Why, of course; you tap maple trees and get maple sugar just the same as you tap an oak tree and get tapicoca." (Lippincott's)

Wealthy Man Lived Hermit's Life.
M. Paul Colasson, one of the wealthiest men in France, known to fame as the "Parisian hermit," lived for twenty-seven years exclusively on eggs and bread, supplied to him twice a week by an old servant, the only human being he ever consented to see. Until some time into the '70s M. Colasson led the life of a rich and fashionable man, but when his nephew, a boy of 14, to whom he was devotedly attached, was burned to death at a fancy dress ball he shut himself up in his palace and spent the rest of his life a miserly recluse.

Free Lunch for Pigeons.
A pretty sight around Madison Square, New York, at noon is the pigeons at their midday meal. The birds make their home in the steeple of the church presided over by Dr. Parkhurst, and have learned at what hour the horses of the neighborhood get their oats. As the horses near the bottom of their feed bags they naturally toss the bags up to get all the grain, and many grains fall to the street. It is then the opportunity of the pigeon family and they deftly gather up all the horses lose.

RELEASE FROM LABOR KILLS

Retired Sea Captains Chafe at Loss of Occupation.

"There's no mistake about habit being a tyrant," said the old sea captain, with a far-away look in his eyes. "I suppose it's just the same in every work and profession, but I have had occasion, of course, to analyze the life of the sea closer than most any other calling. The company I have served most all my life as the captain of a big ocean liner has a rule that masters, when they reach the age of 60, must retire on half pay. As far as the company is concerned, the officer has become useless when that age is reached, and it will no longer accept active service from him, no matter what his feelings are on the matter. The peculiar fact is that the vigorous old mariners, while in perfect health at the time of their retirement, almost without exception, die a few months afterward, simply from homesickness for the sea. I could cite a number of instances to bear out my statement. One old captain, who had been put on the shelf, although it seemed as if he was still in the prime of life, died four months later. An hour before he passed away, he said: 'If they had only allowed me to keep on with my work I would have lived many years longer.' Yes, I had to give up my ship a month ago. I go down to the dock as regularly as clock-work every day. Why I don't know, but a curious something draws me there, and the sight of the familiar old liner wrings my heart. I can feel the strength going out of my body day by day. My work is my life; without it—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TELL SECRETS O'ER TELEPHONE.

People Apt to Forget That Others Can Hear Them.

"Talk about Col. Mann's safe full of scandals," said the telephone girl; "he doesn't know what scandals is. He ought to be a telephone girl for a little while if he wants to know what people are doing. I tell you it is amazing what grown people trust to telephone girls' ears. There isn't a day that we do not hear appointments and discussions of things done the night before that would turn affairs upside down if we ever told them. Men and women talk as freely over the phone as though they were marooned on an uninhabited island. They use their own names and the names of others interested with the most startling freedom and frankness."—New York Sun.

Where the Tourists Came In.
On one of the old turnpikes yet remaining in the south a big touring car had twice rushed through the gate without paying toll. The third time it made the attempt the negro toll man shut his gate and brought the car to a stand. With indignation the half-dozen occupants of the car declared they were entitled to ride free. "Look at your own board," said the spokesman. "It says: 'Every carriage, cart or wagon drawn by one beast, 2 cents; every additional beast, 2 cents.' We're not drawn by any beast at all." "No; but here's where you come in, sah," replied the gatekeeper, pointing to another clause, as follows: "Every half dozen hogs, 4 cents." An' three times four is twelve," he added. The 12 cents was paid.

Chance to Explain.
Many stories are told of the absent-mindedness of Prof. J. K. Paine of Harvard, and among them is the following: One evening Prof. Paine and his wife were attending a performance of grand opera at the Boston theater. During the last intermission the professor went out to a neighboring pharmacy to have a prescription filled, which, being done, he mechanically took a car home, donned dressing gown and slippers and sat down in his library to read. After a time Mrs. Paine reached home in a carriage, but the professor's query as to where she had been did not tend at once to clear the atmosphere.—Boston Herald.

Grave Statesmen Enjoy Pun.
French statesmen are not above the pun. M. Doumer, president of the chamber of deputies, gave a dinner and one of his guests, M. Choumle, keeper of the seals, asked for a little ice. The host whispered in a waiter's ear and presently M. Choumle found three ice pails at his elbow. He expressed a little surprise and M. Doumer said: "But are you not keeper of the seals?" The French for seals is "sceaux" and for pails "seaux." The legend is that this little joke is made wherever the keeper dines out in summer time.

Overdressed Children.
If you have money, dress your children well; but if you do not wish them to be regarded with dislike and contempt, teach them to forget that they are wearing fine clothes. Carefully impress on them that to make comparisons between their own garments and those of children less richly clad is to stamp themselves as ill-bred. Girls are worse than boys in this respect.—Exchange.

LIGHTING LORE.

ACETYLENE EXCELS AS AN ILLUMINANT.

Gas for Lighting Formerly Confined to Cities and Large Towns, now in General Use in the Country.

The satisfactory lighting of suburban and country homes requires that the means used shall be convenient, safe, economical and furnish a brilliant, penetrating, effulgent light.

Everybody admits that these are not the characteristics of the candle or kerosene lamp, which, formerly, were the only feasible means of producing light for domestic use in the rural districts.

For generations there was a crying need, a yearning for something better, which was not satisfied. A few years ago deliverance came in the shape of the chemical compound, Calcium Carbide, from which, by the simple application of water, the gas Acetylene is derived. Acetylene meets all the requirements fully and admirably and is being generally used.

Common lime and carbon in the form of coke or coal are the raw materials, which, fused in an intensely heated furnace, make Calcium Carbide, and there is no difficulty in obtaining it in any part of the country.

The machine into which the Calcium Carbide is fed and from which the Acetylene is distributed through the building to be lighted, is but little larger than a thirty-gallon milk can, and of the same general form. It is easily and cheaply installed, either in the cellar or in an out-building.

The light from burning Acetylene is exquisite, and lighting experts agree that it surpasses all other known illuminants. It does not taint the air nor strain the eyes and is not objectionable in any respect. Every up-to-date rural residence should be equipped with Acetylene light.

Pilo's Cure is the best medicine ever used for all affections of the throat and lungs.—WALD E. ENDELEY, Vanburen, Ind., Feb. 10, 1920.

ROMANCE IN LIFE OF HUXLEY

Great Biologist Possessed of Unknown Wealth of Tenderness.

Huxley, after steadfast waiting and earnest upward striving toward his life's purpose for eight years, came at last to the time when he felt he could provide a home for Miss Heathorn. With the thousands of leagues between them, she in Sydney and he in England, each had proved the other's fidelity and devotion. When Miss Heathorn arrived in England, Huxley was to learn from a famous physician that she had only six months to live. But he married her, and took her to Tenby, the beautiful watering place in Carmarthen bay. "Six months or not," Huxley had said, "she is going to be my wife." The devotion of the great biologist brought her back to health, and when, after long years of happiness, the Hand beckoned and the Voice called for him, he directed her to inscribe on his tombstone the touching verse:

"Be not afraid, ye waiting hearts that for still He giveth His beloved sleep. And if an epiphany show His wills, so best."

Gen. Jackson Vine.

The wild grape vine on the shores of Mobile bay, about one mile north of Daphne, Ala., is commonly known as the "Gen. Jackson vine," from the fact that Gen. Andrew Jackson twice pitched his tent under it during his campaign against the Seminole Indians. This vine, in June, 1837, was reported to have a circumference of six feet one inch at its base. Its age was estimated at that time to exceed 100 years.—Scientific American.

A Metropolitan Market.
It has many stories. Men fall and men win. It requires good common sense and an interest in the subject to win. One man told me that he got to his place early and thought of nothing but his business during the day.—Earl M. Pratt.

The Supply Comes From Food.
If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor fuel makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer.

"From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed. All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the indigestion, which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 98 to 116 lbs., my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my household work and enjoy it. The Grape-Nuts food did it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A ten days' trial will show anyone some facts about food.

"There's a reason."

THOUSANDS OF LIVES SAVED

By "Mother's Medicine Chest" and Patent Prescriptions.

Commenting on attacks made by certain eastern publications on some of the best known and most valuable of the world's proprietary medicines, the Committee on Legislation of the Proprietary Association says:

"All through the country districts, in every state of the union, you will find in the farm houses the old family remedies, sometimes called 'patent medicines,' many of which have been in use in the same household for generations. Among such people the old-fashioned proprietary medicine, always at hand with full printed instructions for use, is one of the necessities of life.

"To families in the country many miles from a doctor such remedies are invaluable. 'Mother's medicine chest' has saved many a life and met many a threatening sickness at the threshold and turned it out of doors. So far from constituting self-prescription, as is often pretended, acquaintance with a 'patent medicine' often obviates the necessity of such a step; for here is a prescription already made up, the effect of which is well known. One of the greatest advantages of such medicine is that its constant formula gives it the character of a single drug, so far as uniformity of result is concerned, and the people who use it know from experience just what they can count on—which is more than can be said of many physicians' prescriptions frequently obtained at a far greater cost and trouble."

Another Poetic Idol Gone.

One by one our old poetic idols are being shattered by the utilitarian and practical of the fine-siecle woman doctor. The latest iconoclast is responsible for the asseveration that what is so poetical in poetry and the novels about the whiteness of the skin means something not so poetical. "It's due, she says, to the languor of the muscular tissues throughout the body and the slowness and languor that is often characterized by a charming feminine attribute is associated with indigestion and is therefore thoroughly unromantic. It is one of the ironies of life that women as they stand in literature and romance are not true to life."—Chicago News.

Apples Long a Food.

The apple has been eaten by man longer than any other fruit. The lake dwellers of Switzerland used to preserve apples by cutting them lengthways, and drying them in the sun. The remains of these dried apples, so large as to be evidently a cultivated variety have been found among the pile-props of the island dwellings of this ancient race.

Six Doctors Failed.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 25th (Special)—After suffering from Kidney Disease for three years; after taking treatment from six different doctors without getting relief, Mr. J. O. Laudeman of this place found not only relief but a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Speaking of his cure Mr. Laudeman says:

"For three years and tried six doctors to no good. Then I took just two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they not only cured my kidneys, but gave me better health in general. Of course I recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to others and I know a number now who are using them with good results."

Mr. Laudeman's case is not an exception. Thousands give similar experiences. For there never yet was a case of Kidney Trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills could not cure. They are the only remedy that ever cured Bright's Disease.

Ginger Ale with a Stick in It.

It happened in an uptown Broadway restaurant. He and she used to dine together every night in a quiet domestic way, for they had only lately been married. She was a strict teetotaler, while he—well, he wasn't exactly. They drank ginger ale with their meal, but hubby, by aid of a tip inveigled the waiter into putting a good horn of whisky into his soft drink every night. All went well until one evening the wife was more than ordinarily thirsty. Finishing her glass of ginger ale, she reached over for her husband's glass, and before he could stop her she had taken a good average sip from it. She coughed and sputtered, gave the waiter a glance that froze what was left of the liquid, and—the subsequent proceed- ings interested only the husband.—New York Sun.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA and see that it bears the signature of Wm. A. Stearns.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

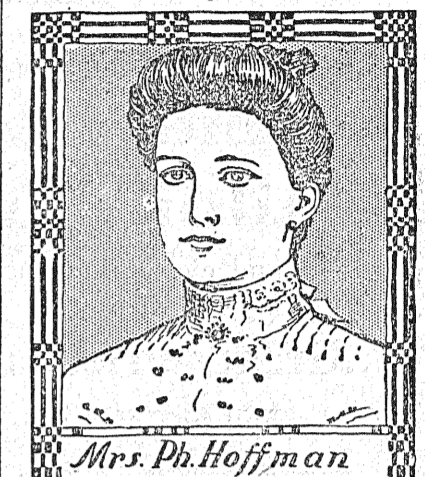

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Mothers Are Helped

THEIR HEALTH RESTORED

Happiness of Thousands of Homes Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

A devoted mother seems to listen to every call of duty excepting the same one that tells her to guard her health, and before she realizes it some derangement of the female organs has manifested itself, and nervousness and irritability take the place of happiness and amiability.

Mrs. Ph. Hoffman

Tired, nervous and irritable, the mother is unfit to care for her children, and her condition ruins the child's disposition and reacts upon herself.

The mother should not be blamed, as she no doubt is suffering with backache, headache, bearing-down pains or displacement, making life a burden.

Such testimony as the following should convince women of its value:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I suffered for eight years with ovarian troubles. I was nervous, tired, and irritable, and it did not seem as though I could stand it any longer, as I had five children to care for. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and it has entirely cured me. I cannot thank you enough for your letter of advice and for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.—Mrs. Ph. Hoffman, 100 Hiram Street, Brooklyn, N. Y."

Mrs. Pinkham advises sick women free. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Novel Reader's Pleant.

If some one will write a high society novel that will not read as if the author were determined to show how much he knows about servants this world would be more like a place worth living in for those who try to keep pace with literature.—Exchange.

His Threat.

There was a very naughty boy and his mother did not know what to do with him. So she said, "I will put you in a hencoop if you will not behave." Then he said, "Well, before you put me in, I want to tell you that I will not lay any eggs."—New York World.

CHRONIC ERYSIPELAS

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Although Whole Body was Affected.

Erysipelas or St. Anthony's fire is a most uncomfortable disease on account of the burning, the pain and the disfigurement; it is also a very grave disorder, attended always by the danger of involving vital organs in its spread.

The case which follows will be read with great interest by all sufferers as it affected the whole body, and refused to yield to the remedies prescribed by the physician employed. Mrs. Ida A. Colbath, who was the victim of the attack, residing at No. 19 Winter street, Newburyport, Mass., says:

"In June of 1903 I was taken ill with what at first appeared to be a fever. I sent for a physician who pronounced my disease chronic erysipelas and said it would be a long time before I got well.

"Inflammation began on my face and spread all over my body. My eyes were swollen and seemed bulging out of their sockets. I was in a terrible plight and suffered the most intense pain throughout my body. The doctor said my case was a very severe one. Under his treatment, however, the inflammation did not diminish and the pains which shot through my body increased in severity. After being two months under his care, without any improvement, I dismissed him.

"Shortly after this, on the advice of a friend, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, two at a dose three times a day. After the second box had been used I was surprised to notice that the inflammation was going down and that the pains which used to cause me so much agony had disappeared. After using six boxes of the pills I was up and around the house attending to my household duties, as well as ever."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or may be obtained direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Will Pay

To investigate the merits of the MICHIGAN BUSINESS COLLEGE, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Penmanship, etc. 42-50 Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

Is guaranteed to everyone who uses KENNEDY'S Famous Face Medicine. It gets rid of all skin troubles. Send for free book and samples. KENNEDY'S Dermatological Co., 291 Woodward Av., Detroit, Mich.

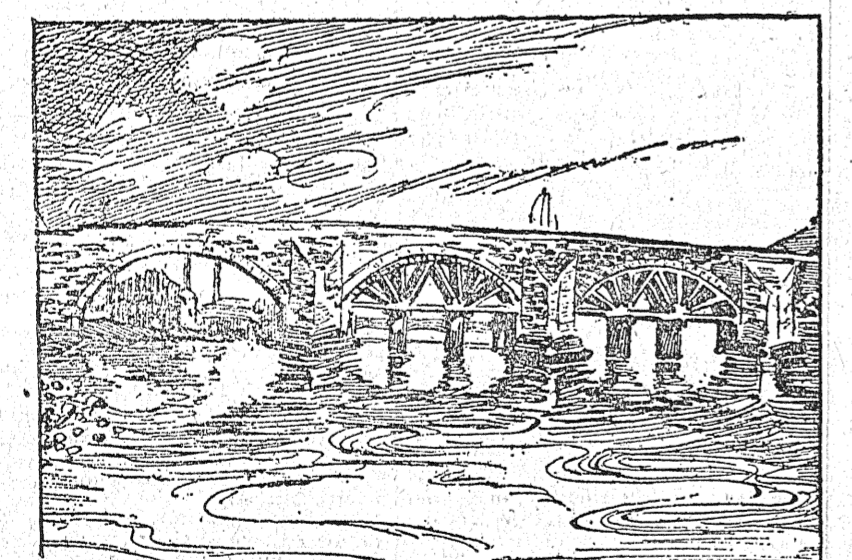

Do You

suffer with heart trouble? If so, send today for a box of Dr. Williams' Heart Cure. No matter what your heart trouble, our remedy will convince you of its wonderful merits. First application relieves. Send to: Watson's Remedies Co., Ltd., Chamber of Commerce, Detroit, Mich.

PENSION

JOHN W. WATERS, Washington, D. C. Successfully prosecutes Claims. Let us investigate your case. 15 1/2 yrs in civil war, 15 adjudicating claims, city since

TO SAVE "AULD BRIG OF AYR"

The Bridge Immortalized by Burns.

Lord Rosebery has performed useful service in directing public attention to the proceedings of the Ayr town council, which decided to pull down the "Auld Brig of Ayr," immortalized by the poet Burns. In response the local authorities have offered to give facilities to any engineer to examine the bridge for the purpose of seeing if preservation is possible. In the meantime their resolution stands where it did, and the work of preparing the plans is about to be commenced.

Lord Rosebery says that the world

"will judge the destruction with unanimous condemnation." The prophecy that Burns put into the mouth of the old bridge, "I'll be a brig, when ye're a shapeless cairn!" was actually fulfilled, for the new bridge, erected in 1788, gave way and had to be replaced in 1877.

The old bridge, concerning which the agitation has been raised, is said to have been built in the reign of Alexander III (1249-85), and certainly, after it has withstood wind and water for so many centuries, it is worth preserving.

IN THE BEST OF HEALTH SINCE TAKING PE-RU-NA.

IN POOR HEALTH. PAINS IN BACK. SICK HEADACHES. PE-RU-NA CURED.

Mrs. Lena Smith, N. Cherry street, cor. Line, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I have had poor health for the past four years, pains in the back and groins, and dull, sick headache, with bearing down pains."

"A friend, who was very enthusiastic about Pe-Ru-NA insisted that I try it."

"I took it for ten days and was surprised to find that I had so little pain."

"I therefore continued to use it and at the end of two months my pains had totally disappeared."

"I have been in the best of health since and feel ten years younger. I am very grateful to you."

Catastrophes of the internal organs gradually sap away the strength, undermine the vitality and cause nervousness. Pe-Ru-NA is the remedy.

Ask Any One

Ask your neighbors what Celery King, the tonic-laxative, has done for them. You will be surprised to find that most of them are kept in good health by using this famous remedy. 25c. at druggists.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

Save $10.- Per Cow EVERY YEAR OF USE

Over All Gravity Setting Systems And $3. to $5. Per Cow Over All Imitating Separators.

Now is the time to make this most important and profitable of dairy farm investments. Send at once for new 1905 catalogue and name of nearest agent.

THE DE LAVAL SEPARATOR CO.
Rands 1 & Canal Sts. 74 Cortlandt Street
CHICAGO NEW YORK

MARVIN'S GASCARA CHOCOLATE TABLETS

By their tonic effect upon the tiny cells that constitute the muscular coat of the bowels, the loss of tone is repaired, the normal secretions are stimulated, the circulation of good healthy blood in the intestinal walls is re-established, and instead of a sluggish, unhealthy state of the whole digestive apparatus, the patient is restored to his old-time vigor. These tablets are purely vegetable and can be taken without any nauseating effect into the most delicate stomach.

We want every afflicted person to try these tablets at our expense. Send us your name and address and we will gladly mail you a free sample.

MARVIN REMEDY CO., - DETROIT, MICH.
Put up in metal boxes only. 25 doses, 25 cts. For sale at druggists.

PILEOID

WILL CURE YOU IF YOU HAVE PILES. IT GIVES IMMEDIATE RELIEF. Free Samples and Booklet Sent Upon Request.

Ask your druggist for it after having used the samples. We invite your correspondence. The following is one of many testimonials.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 20, 1905.

Anti-Septo Medicine Company from itching piles for more than four years. One-half box of Pileoid cured me. Very respectfully,

JOHN GODDARD.

Your money will be refunded by the druggist if you are not satisfied as to results. The price of Pileoid is $1.00 per box, but to any one who has not tried our great remedy we will send two boxes for the price of one. Enough to cure any case. Made by

ANTI-SEPTO MEDICINE COMPANY,
319 East 63rd Street, CHICAGO.

MARVIN'S GASCARA CHOCOLATE TABLETS

By their tonic effect upon the tiny cells that constitute the muscular coat of the bowels, the loss of tone is repaired, the normal secretions are stimulated, the circulation of good healthy blood in the intestinal walls is re-established, and instead of a sluggish, unhealthy state of the whole digestive apparatus, the patient is restored to his old-time vigor. These tablets are purely vegetable and can be taken without any nauseating effect into the most delicate stomach.

We want every afflicted person to try these tablets at our expense. Send us your name and address and we will gladly mail you a free sample.

MARVIN REMEDY CO., - DETROIT, MICH.
Put up in metal boxes only. 25 doses, 25 cts. For sale at druggists.

9305 FREE BOX 114

Send this coupon with your name and address and druggist's name who does NOT sell it, for a free box of Mull's Anti-Belch-Wafers to Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 148 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill. Give full address and write plainly.

Sold at all druggists, 50c. per box.

Many a man is so lazy that he would rather let his wife pay the rent than exert himself by moving.

RESTORED HIS HAIR

Scalp Humor Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment—After All Else Had Failed.

"I was troubled with a severe scalp humor and loss of hair that gave me a great deal of annoyance and inconvenience. After unsuccessful efforts with many remedies and so-called hair tonics, a friend induced me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The humor was cured in a short time, my hair was restored as healthy as ever, and I can gladly say I have since been entirely free from any further annoyance. I shall always use Cuticura Soap, and I keep the Ointment on hand to use as a dressing for the hair and scalp. (Signed) Fred K. Busche, 215 East 57th St., New York City."

ANTHROPOLOGICAL

WILL CURE YOU IF YOU HAVE PILES. IT GIVES IMMEDIATE RELIEF. Free Samples and Booklet Sent Upon Request.

Ask your druggist for it after having used the samples. We invite your correspondence. The following is one of many testimonials.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 20, 1905.

Anti-Septo Medicine Company from itching piles for more than four years. One-half box of Pileoid cured me. Very respectfully,

JOHN GODDARD.

Your money will be refunded by the druggist if you are not satisfied as to results. The price of Pileoid is $1.00 per box, but to any one who has not tried our great remedy we will send two boxes for the price of one. Enough to cure any case. Made by

ANTI-SEPTO MEDICINE COMPANY,
319 East 63rd Street, CHICAGO.

ANTHROPOLOGICAL

WILL CURE YOU IF YOU HAVE PILES. IT GIVES IMMEDIATE RELIEF. Free Samples and Booklet Sent Upon Request.

Ask your druggist for it after having used the samples. We invite your correspondence. The following is one of many testimonials.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 20, 1905.

Anti-Septo Medicine Company from itching piles for more than four years. One-half box of Pileoid cured me. Very respectfully,

JOHN GODDARD.

Your money will be refunded by the druggist if you are not satisfied as to results. The price of Pileoid is $1.00 per box, but to any one who has not tried our great remedy we will send two boxes for the price of one. Enough to cure any case. Made by

ANTI-SEPTO MEDICINE COMPANY,
319 East 63rd Street, CHICAGO.

NATION OF TEA DRUNKARDS

English Suffer From Complaints of Which They Know Not the Cause.

The public analyst of one of the London boroughs has recently been investigating tea inebriety. He states that, judging from the annual tea bill, each individual in England consumes six pounds of tea every twelve months. This means that the average person swallows 3.6 grains of caffeine and 9.7 grains of tannin per diem.

This is about half as much of the former and nearly as much of tannin as the pharmacopoeia allows as an occasional dose. When to these amounts are added the caffeine and tannin consumed in coffee and other beverages, it is obvious that the present generation of Englishmen is saturating itself with these two poisons.

The symptoms of this form of self-poisoning are seen frequently enough by physicians, but their cause is often overlooked. Many of the patients who suffer from palpitation of the heart, chronic dyspepsia, sleeplessness, emaciation and anaemia are simply tea or coffee drunkards.

Do Plants Throw Off Heat?

It appears that many do. A remarkable instance is offered by the alpine solanella. Its flowers actually bore, or rather melt, their way through the hard snow. Sometimes, indeed, the flower opens before it reaches the surface, so that it actually blooms in a little hole in the snow. Usually, however, it reaches the surface and hangs out its pretty violet bells above the snow, looking as if stuck into it. Growing through the snow is due to the heat developed by the vegetative process.

Black Sea Once Inland Lake.

The Black Sea, according to chronicles mentioned by Strabo and others, was once an inland lake, connected with the Caspian, till some catastrophe forced its outlet into the basin of the Mediterranean, cutting off communication with its eastern sister lake, which, indeed, has gradually shrunk, ever since, but, for awhile, may have flooded its shore lands far and near.

DEATH SEEMED NEAR.

How a Chicago Woman Found Help When Hope Was Fast Fading Away.

Mrs. E. T. Gould, 914 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all that saved me from death of Bright's Disease, that I know. I had eye trouble, backache, catches when lying about or when bending over, was languid and often dizzy and had sick headaches and bearing-down pains. The kidney secretions were too copious and frequent, and very bad in appearance. It was in 1903 that Doan's Kidney Pills helped me so quickly and cured me of these troubles and I've been well ever since."

Poster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists. Price, 50 cents per box.

Learn how to forget disagreeable things. Learn to share your pleasures, thus making at least two happy.

DON'T MISS THIS.

A Cure for Stomach Trouble—A New Method by Absorption—No Drugs.

DO YOU BELCH? It means a diseased stomach. Are you afflicted with short breath, gas, sour eructations, heart pains, indigestion, dyspepsia, burning pains and lead weight in pit of stomach, acid stomach, distended abdomen, dizziness, BAD BREATH, or any other stomach trouble? Let us send you a box of Mull's Anti-Belch-Wafers free to convince you that it cures.

Nothing else like it known. It's sure and very pleasant. Cures by absorption. Harmless. No drugs. Stomach trouble can't be cured otherwise—so says medical science. Drugs won't do—they eat up the stomach and make you worse.

We know Mull's Anti-Belch-Wafers cure and we want you to know it, hence this OFFER.—The regular price of Mull's Anti-Belch-Wafers is 50c. a box, but to introduce it to thousands of sufferers we will send two (2) boxes upon receipt of 75c. and this advertisement, or we will send you a sample free for this coupon.

9305 FREE BOX 114

Send this coupon with your name and address and druggist's name who does NOT sell it, for a free box of Mull's Anti-Belch-Wafers to Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 148 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill. Give full address and write plainly.

Sold at all druggists, 50c. per box.

Many a man is so lazy that he would rather let his wife pay the rent than exert himself by moving.

RESTORED HIS HAIR

Scalp Humor Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment—After All Else Had Failed.

"I was troubled with a severe scalp humor and loss of hair that gave me a great deal of annoyance and inconvenience. After unsuccessful efforts with many remedies and so-called hair tonics, a friend induced me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The humor was cured in a short time, my hair was restored as healthy as ever, and I can gladly say I have since been entirely free from any further annoyance. I shall always use Cuticura Soap, and I keep the Ointment on hand to use as a dressing for the hair and scalp. (Signed) Fred K. Busche, 215 East 57th St., New York City."

JOAN OF THE SWORD HAND

By S. R. CROCKETT, Author of "The Raiders' C's" (Copyright, 1908, 1909, by S. R. Crockett.)

CHAPTER XXVI.

Theresa Keeps Troth.

But they had reckoned without Theresa von Lynar. Conrad and Joan came back from the ruined fortification, silent mostly, but thrilled with the thoughts of that which their eyes had seen, their ears heard. Each had listened to the beating of the other's heart. Both knew they were beloved. Nothing could alter that any more forever. As they had gone out with Theresa watching them from the dusk of the garden arcades, their hands had drawn together. Eyes had sought answering eyes at each dip of the path. They had listened for the finest shades of meaning in one another's voices, and taken courage or lost hope from the droop of an eyelid or the quiver of a syllable.

Now all was changed. They knew that which they knew.

And now Theresa von Lynar, the woman who had given her beauty and her life like a little Valentine's gift into the hand of the man she loved, content that he should take or throw away as pleased him best—Theresa von Lynar, who had renounced her own glory of renunciation thought that had plumed the abysses of love, when as yet they had taken no more than a single sounding in the narrow seas. She stood looking at them as they came toward her, with a sympathy that was more than mere tolerance.

"You have faced the sunshine!" Thus she greeted them as they came. "Sit awhile with me in the shade. I have here a bower where Maurice loved to play—before he left me. None save I hath entered it since that day."

It was a small, rustic, eight-sided lodge, thatched with heather, its latticed windows wide open and crepe-grow, to which Theresa led them. It had been well kept; and when Joan found herself within a sudden access of tenderness for this lonely mother, who had offered herself like a sacrifice upon an altar, took possession of her.

For about the walls was fastened a dead child's pitiful armour. Home-made swords of lath, arrows winged with the cast feathers of the woodland, crooked bows, the broken crockery of a hundred imagined banquets—these, and many more, were carefully kept in place with immediate and loving care. Maurice would be back again presently, they seemed to say, and would take up his play just where he left it.

There was silence in the arbor for a space, a silence which to one of the girls was anxious to break. For Joan thought of her promise, Conrad of Joan, and Theresa of her son. It was the last who spoke.

"Somehow to-day it is borne in upon me that Kernsberg has fallen and that my son is in his enemy's hands!"

Joan started to her feet, and thrust her hands a little out in front of her as if to ward off a blow.

"How can you know that?" she cried. "Who—No; it cannot be. Kernsberg was victualled for a year. It was filled with brave men. My captains are staunch. The thing is impossible."

Theresa von Lynar, with her eyes on the waving foliage which alternately revealed and eclipsed the mudy globes of the apples on the orchard trees, slowly shook her head.

"I cannot tell you how I know," she said, "nevertheless I know. Here is something which tells me." She laid her hand upon her heart. "Those who are long alone beside the sea hear voices and see visions."

"But it is impossible," urged Joan, "or, if it be true, why am I kept here? I will go and die with my people!"

"It is my son's will," said Theresa—

stein so long as your son lives. My father's compact and condition are of no effect. The Diet of the Empire would cancel them in a moment. I will therefore take no rest until this thing is made clear. I swear that your son shall be Duke Maurice and sit in his father's place, as is right and fitting. For me, I ask nothing but the daughter's portion—a grange such as this, as solitary and as peaceful, a garden to delve and a beach to wander upon at eve!"

As she spoke Theresa's eyes suddenly brightened. A proud high look sat on the fulness of her lips, which gradually faded as some other thought asserted its supremacy. She rose, and going straight to Joan, for the first time she kissed her on the brow.

"Now do I know," she said, "that you are Henry the Lion's daughter. That is spoken as he would have spoken it. It is greatly thought. Yet it cannot be."

"It shall be!" cried Joan imperiously.

"Nay," returned Theresa von Lynar. "Once on a time I would have given my right hand that for half a day, for one hour, men might have said of me that I was Henry the Lion's wife, and my son his son! It would have been right and sweet. Ah, God, how sweet it would have been!" She paused a moment as if consulting some unseen presence. "No, I have vowed my vow. Here was I bidden to stay and here will I abide."

"Maurice of Hohenstein shall sit in his father's seat," said Joan firmly. "I have sworn it. If I live I will see him settled there with my captains about him. Werner von Orseln is an honest man. He will do him justice. Von Dessauer shall get him recognized, and Hugo of Plassenburg shall stand his sponsor before the Diet of the Empire."

"I would it could be so," said Theresa wistfully. "If my death could cause this thing righteously to come to pass, how gladly would I end life! But I am bound by an oath, and my son is bound because I am bound. The tribunal is not the Diet of Ratisbon, but the faithfulness of a woman's heart. Have I been loyal to my prince these many years so that now shame sits on my brow as gladly as a crown of bay, that I should fail him now? Low he lies, and I may never stand beside his sepulchre. No son of mine shall sit in his high chair. But if in any sphere of sinful or imperfect spirits, be it hell or purgatory, he and I shall encounter, think you for an empire I would meet him shamed. And when he says, 'Woman of my love, hast thou kept thy troth?' shall he be compelled to answer 'No?'"

"But," urged Joan, "this thing is your son's birthright. My father, for purposes of state, bound my happiness to a man I loathed. I have cast that bond to the winds. The fathers cannot bind the children; no more can you dishonor your son."

Theresa von Lynar smiled a sad, wise smile, infinitely patient, infinitely remote.

"Ah," she said, "you think so? You are young. You have never loved. You are his daughter, not his wife. One day you shall know, if God is good to you!"

At this Joan smiled in her turn. She knew what she knew.

"You may think you know," returned Theresa, "but your calm eyes on the girl's face, when I mean by loving is another matter. The hand you broke you did not make. I keep the vow I made. With clear eye, undulled brain, willing hand I made it—because he willed it. Let my son Maurice break it, if he can, if he will—as you have broken yours. Only let him never more call Theresa von Lynar mother!"

Joan rose to depart. Her intent had not been shaken, though she was impressed by the noble heart of the woman who had been her father's wife. But she also had vowed a vow, and that vow she would keep. The Sparhawk should yet be the Eagle of Kernsberg, and she, Joan, a home-keeping housewife nestled in quietude of a ham-door fowl about the orchards of Isle Rugen.

"Madam," she said, "your word is your word. But so is that of Joan of Kernsberg. It may be that out of the unseen there may leap a chance which shall bring all to pass, the things which we both desire—without breaking vows or losing of the bands of obligation. For me, being no more than a daughter, I will keep Duke Henry's will only in that which is just!"

"And I," said Theresa von Lynar, "will keep it, just or unjust!"

Yet Joan smiled as she went out. For she had been countered and checked in sacrifice. She had met a nature greater than her own, and with the truly noble that is the pleasure of pleasures.

All the while Conrad sat very still, listening with full heart to that which did not concern him to interrupt. But within his heart he said, "Woman, when she is true woman, is greater, worthier, fuller than any man—ay, were it the Holy Father himself. Perhaps because they draw near Christ the Son through Mary the Mother!"

But Theresa von Lynar sat silent, and watched the girl as she went down the long path, the leafy branches spattering alternate light and shadow upon her slender figure. Then she turned sharply upon Conrad.

"And now, my Lord Cardinal," she

Theresa went on remorseless. "What said the Lady Joan when you told her that you loved her?"

"The words she spoke I cannot repeat, but when she ended I set my lips to her garment's hem as reverently as ever to holy bread?"

The slow smile came again over the face of Theresa von Lynar, the smile of a war-worn veteran who watches the children at their drill.

"You do not need to tell me what she answered, my lord," she said, for the first time leaving out the ecclesiastic title. "I know!"

Conrad stared at the woman.

"She told you that she loved you from the first?"

"How know you that?" he faltered. "None must hear that secret—none must guess it!"

Theresa von Lynar laughed a little mellow laugh, in which a keen ear might have detected how richly and pleasantly her laugh must once have sounded to her lover when her pulses beat to the tune of gladness and the unbound heart.

"Do you think to deceive me, Theresa, whom Henry the Lion loved? Have I been these many weeks with you two in the house and not seen this? Prince Conrad, I knew it that night of the storm when she bent her over the couch on which you lay."

"I love," you say boldly, and you think great things of your love. But she loved me as I will love her, and your boasted love will never overtake hers—no, not though you love her all your life. Well, what do you propose to do?"

(To be continued.)

HAS FOUND HER LIFE WORK.

Syracuse (N. Y.) Woman a Successful Electrical Contractor.

One little woman in Syracuse, N. Y., wasted no time in search for the aesthetic when she wanted a life business. Rose B. Richardson is her name, spinster is her state. She is the only electrical contractor in petticoats in the United States—anywhere in the world, it may be. Her list of customers is large, and she equals a goodly force of high-priced workmen. Miss Richardson enjoys her work, though it isn't one of the pretty occupations. "I'm in the business because I like it," she says. "I was the first telephone operator in Syracuse, and always had a liking for things relating to electricity. My brother-in-law wished me to go into the contracting business with him and I consented. He died three years ago, and since then I have run it alone. Several contractors have tried to get me to take them as partners, but I prefer to have it all to myself. Some persons hesitate about employing a woman to do their work for them, as they fear she could not make her workmen attend to their duties, but I have no trouble that way. I always personally inspect all the contracts I have after the men have finished. In that way I keep up a high standard." Miss Richardson is still young and is regarded by her acquaintances as one of the handsomest women in Syracuse.

Explained.

Agnes Gottrox—Your friend is an awfully good letter writer, isn't he? Mabel Nuritch—Oh, yes; he used to go to one of these correspondence schools.

Theresa von Lynar, the woman who had given her beauty and her life like a little Valentine's gift into the hand of the man she loved, content that he should take or throw away as pleased him best—Theresa von Lynar, who had renounced her own glory of renunciation thought that had plumed the abysses of love, when as yet they had taken no more than a single sounding in the narrow seas. She stood looking at them as they came toward her, with a sympathy that was more than mere tolerance.

"You have faced the sunshine!" Thus she greeted them as they came. "Sit awhile with me in the shade. I have here a bower where Maurice loved to play—before he left me. None save I hath entered it since that day."

It was a small, rustic, eight-sided lodge, thatched with heather, its latticed windows wide open and crepe-grow, to which Theresa led them. It had been well kept; and when Joan found herself within a sudden access of tenderness for this lonely mother, who had offered herself like a sacrifice upon an altar, took possession of her.

For about the walls was fastened a dead child's pitiful armour. Home-made swords of lath, arrows winged with the cast feathers of the woodland, crooked bows, the broken crockery of a hundred imagined banquets—these, and many more, were carefully kept in place with immediate and loving care. Maurice would be back again presently, they seemed to say, and would take up his play just where he left it.

There was silence in the arbor for a space, a silence which to one of the girls was anxious to break. For Joan thought of her promise, Conrad of Joan, and Theresa of her son. It was the last who spoke.

"Somehow to-day it is borne in upon me that Kernsberg has fallen and that my son is in his enemy's hands!"

Joan started to her feet, and thrust her hands a little out in front of her as if to ward off a blow.

"How can you know that?" she cried. "Who—No; it cannot be. Kernsberg was victualled for a year. It was filled with brave men. My captains are staunch. The thing is impossible."

Theresa von Lynar, with her eyes on the waving foliage which alternately revealed and eclipsed the mudy globes of the apples on the orchard trees, slowly shook her head.

"I cannot tell you how I know," she said, "nevertheless I know. Here is something which tells me." She laid her hand upon her heart. "Those who are long alone beside the sea hear voices and see visions."

"But it is impossible," urged Joan, "or, if it be true, why am I kept here? I will go and die with my people!"

"It is my son's will," said Theresa—said, "what have you been saying to my husband's daughter?"

"I have been telling her that I love her!" answered Conrad simply. He felt that what he had listened to gave this woman a right to be answered.

"And what, I pray you, have princes of Holy Church to do with love? They seek after heavenly things do neither marry nor are given in marriage."

"I know," said Conrad humbly, and without taking the least offense. "I know it well. But I have put off the armor I have not proven. The burden is too great for me. I am a soldier—I was trained a soldier—yet because I was born after my brother Louis, I must perforce become both priest and holy cardinal. Rather a thousand times would I be a man-at-arms and carry a pike!"

"Then am I to understand that as a soldier you told the Duchess Joan that you loved her, or that as a priest you forbade the bans. Or did you wholly forget the circumstance that once on a time you yourself married her to your brother?"

"I did indeed forget," said Conrad, with sincere penitence, "yet you must not blame me too sorely. I was carried out of myself."

"The duchess, then, rejected your suit with contumely?"

Conrad was silent.

"How should a great lady listen to her husband's brother—and a priest?"

"It shall not be!" cried Joan, imperiously.

Theresa went on remorseless. "What said the Lady Joan when you told her that you loved her?"

"The words she spoke I cannot repeat, but when she ended I set my lips to her garment's hem as reverently as ever to holy bread?"

The slow smile came again over the face of Theresa von Lynar, the smile of a war-worn veteran who watches the children at their drill.

"You do not need to tell me what she answered, my lord," she said, for the first time leaving out the ecclesiastic title. "I know!"

Conrad stared at the woman.

"She told you that she loved you from the first?"

"How know you that?" he faltered. "None must hear that secret—none must guess it!"

Theresa von Lynar laughed a little mellow laugh, in which a keen ear might have detected how richly and pleasantly her laugh must once have sounded to her lover when her pulses beat to the tune of gladness and the unbound heart.

"Do you think to deceive me, Theresa, whom Henry the Lion loved? Have I been these many weeks with you two in the house and not seen this? Prince Conrad, I knew it that night of the storm when she bent her over the couch on which you lay."

"I love," you say boldly, and you think great things of your love. But she loved me as I will love her, and your boasted love will never overtake hers—no, not though you love her all your life. Well, what do you propose to do?"

(To be continued.)

It shall not be!" cried Joan, imperiously.

Theresa went on remorseless. "What said the Lady Joan when you told her that you loved her?"

"The words she spoke I cannot repeat, but when she ended I set my lips to her garment's hem as reverently as ever to holy bread?"

The slow smile came again over the face of Theresa von Lynar, the smile of a war-worn veteran who watches the children at their drill.

"You do not need to tell me what she answered, my lord," she said, for the first time leaving out the ecclesiastic title. "I know!"

Conrad stared at the woman.

"She told you that she loved you from the first?"

"How know you that?" he faltered. "None must hear that secret—none must guess it!"

Theresa von Lynar laughed a little mellow laugh, in which a keen ear might have detected how richly and pleasantly her laugh must once have sounded to her lover when her pulses beat to the tune of gladness and the unbound heart.

"Do you think to deceive me, Theresa, whom Henry the Lion loved? Have I been these many weeks with you two in the house and not seen this? Prince Conrad, I knew it that night of the storm when she bent her over the couch on which you lay."

"I love," you say boldly, and you think great things of your love. But she loved me as I will love her, and your boasted love will never overtake hers—no, not though you love her all your life. Well, what do you propose to do?"

(To be continued.)

HAS FOUND HER LIFE WORK.

Syracuse (N. Y.) Woman a Successful Electrical Contractor.

One little woman in Syracuse, N. Y., wasted no time in search for the aesthetic when she wanted a life business. Rose B. Richardson is her name, spinster is her state. She is the only electrical contractor in petticoats in the United States—anywhere in the world, it may be. Her list of customers is large, and she equals a goodly force of high-priced workmen. Miss Richardson enjoys her work, though it isn't one of the pretty occupations. "I'm in the business because I like it," she says. "I was the first telephone operator in Syracuse, and always had a liking for things relating to electricity. My brother-in-law wished me to go into the contracting business with him and I consented. He died three years ago, and since then I have run it alone. Several contractors have tried to get me to take them as partners, but I prefer to have it all to myself. Some persons hesitate about employing a woman to do their work for them, as they fear she could not make her workmen attend to their duties, but I have no trouble that way. I always personally inspect all the contracts I have after the men have finished. In that way I keep up a high standard." Miss Richardson is still young and is regarded by her acquaintances as one of the handsomest women in Syracuse.

Explained.

Agnes Gottrox—Your friend is an awfully good letter writer, isn't he? Mabel Nuritch—Oh, yes; he used to go to one of these correspondence schools.

Theresa von Lynar, the woman who had given her beauty and her life like a little Valentine's gift into the hand of the man she loved, content that he should take or throw away as pleased him best—Theresa von Lynar, who had renounced her own glory of renunciation thought that had plumed the abysses of love, when as yet they had taken no more than a single sounding in the narrow seas. She stood looking at them as they came toward her, with a sympathy that was more than mere tolerance.

"You have faced the sunshine!" Thus she greeted them as they came. "Sit awhile with me in the shade. I have here a bower where Maurice loved to play—before he left me. None save I hath entered it since that day."

It was a small, rustic, eight-sided lodge, thatched with heather, its latticed windows wide open and crepe-grow, to which Theresa led them. It had been well kept; and when Joan found herself within a sudden access of tenderness for this lonely mother, who had offered herself like a sacrifice upon an altar, took possession of her.

For about the walls was fastened a dead child's pitiful armour. Home-made swords of lath, arrows winged with the cast feathers of the woodland, crooked bows, the broken crockery of a hundred imagined banquets—these, and many more, were carefully kept in place with immediate and loving care. Maurice would be back again presently, they seemed to say, and would take up his play just where he left it.

There was silence in the arbor for a space, a silence which to one of the girls was anxious to break. For Joan thought of her promise, Conrad of Joan, and Theresa of her son. It was the last who spoke.

"Somehow to-day it is borne in upon me that Kernsberg has fallen and that my son is in his enemy's hands!"

Joan started to her feet, and thrust her hands a little out in front of her as if to ward off a blow.

"How can you know that?" she cried. "Who—No; it cannot be. Kernsberg was victualled for a year. It was filled with brave men. My captains are staunch. The thing is impossible."

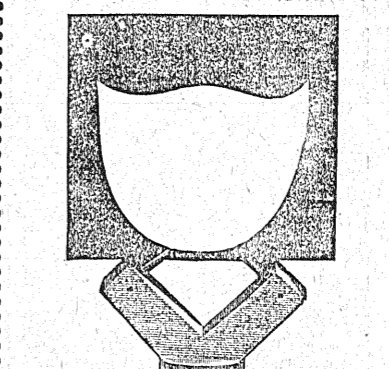

Theresa von Lynar, with her eyes on the waving foliage which alternately revealed and eclipsed the mudy globes of the apples on the orchard trees, slowly shook her head.

"I cannot tell you how I know," she said, "nevertheless I know. Here is something which tells me." She laid her hand upon her heart. "Those who are long alone beside the sea hear voices and see visions."

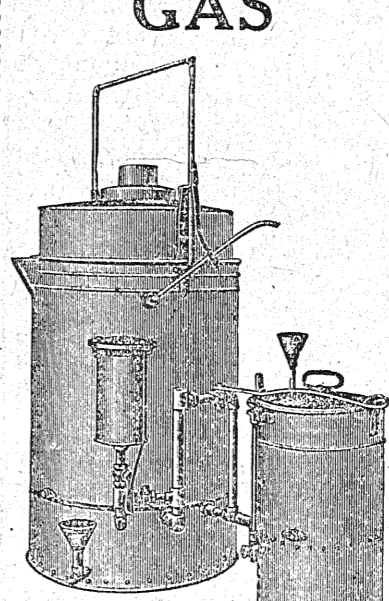

"But it is impossible," urged Joan, "or, if it be true, why am I kept here? I will go and die with my people!"

"It is my son's will," said Theresa—

ARTIFICIAL SUNLIGHT

ACETYLENE GAS

PILOT Automatic Generators

can be installed at small cost in any home, large or small, anywhere. Acetylene Gas is cheaper than kerosene, brighter than electricity, safer than either.

Full particulars FREE for the asking.

Acetylene Apparatus Mfg. Co.,
157 Michigan Ave., Chicago

BEST BY TEST

"I have tried all kinds of waterproof clothing and have never found anything at any price to compare with your Fish Brand for protection from all kinds of weather."

(The name and address of the writer of this unqualified letter may be had upon application.)

Highest Award World's Fair, 1904.

A. J. TOWER CO., The Saver of the Fish
Boston, U.S.A.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

TOWER CANADIAN CO., LIMITED
Toronto, Canada

Makers of Warranted Wet Weather Clothing

Shiloh's Consumption Cure

The Lung Tonic

The cure that is guaranteed by your druggist.

Price: 25c. 50c. $1.00
S. C. WELLS & CO., 9
LeRoy, N.Y., Toronto, Can.

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC

WONDERFUL

Blood, Stomach and Bowel Remedy

FREE.

Will You Accept It and Be Cured or Reject It and Be Miserable Unto Death.

Until Mull's Grape Tonic was brought to America there was no cure for Constipation and Stomach Troubles.

It is now the internationally famous remedy for these ills. The world's greatest cure for Constipation and Stomach Troubles, Impure Blood, run-down, and bad health generally. The Blood, Stomach and Bowels are strangely subject to the curative power of Mull's Grape Tonic. Mull's Grape Tonic has cured thousands, not hundreds, my reader, but thousands of fellow sufferers who now know the pleasures of perfect health.

Men, women and children in every state and neighborhood throughout the whole country bear willing witness to the marvelous curing qualities of this sovereign remedy, Mull's Grape Tonic.

Mull's Grape Tonic is in truth a boon to mankind. Mull's Grape Tonic is peculiarly the relief and cure for decaying intestines and bowels, Impure Blood, Diseased Stomach and digestive organs which afflict nine-tenths of the human race.

Constipation and its attending ills: A run-down system and general bad health, Rheumatism, Colds, Fevers, Stomach, Bowel, Kidney, Lung and Heart Troubles, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, Loss of sleep and strength, Piles, Fistula, Appendicitis, Womanly Troubles, Impure Blood, Bad Complexion, etc., yield at once to the wondrous cure of Mull's Grape Tonic.

This free bottle offer is made alike to one and all, Fathers, Mothers, Brothers, Sisters, Wives and Children, and to every one, to you my suffering reader, and to the ailing ones of your friends and acquaintances, who will even try, to be well and strong again.

Nowhere now in all the world can any sufferer say, "I have no hope, no help, no friend to aid me in my silent misery." There is a help. There is a cure. There is a friend. There is a way. The help is Mull's Grape Tonic. Mankind's best friend, and the way is free. Mull's Grape Tonic is free, nothing to pay, nothing asked, only that you be willing to try to be yourself again and test for yourself at our cost, free, the marvelous merit of this sovereign cure. When you send your name and address, tell us simply that you want a bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, the great Stomach and Bowel remedy, free. You will receive the bottle without one cent of cost. Every penny of the expense is ours. Simply fill out and mail this coupon at once.

The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

122 FREE COUPON 9305

Send this coupon with your name and address and druggist's name for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic and Constipation Cure.

Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 148 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Give Full Address and Write Plainly.

The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the size. At drug stores.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Cilt Edge Line cannot be equaled at any price.

SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SELLERS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes save by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you to my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof, and show you the fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make and cost more to hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men $2.50, $2.00, Boys' School & Dress Shoes $2.50, $2.00, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. Some gentlemen without his name and price stamped on the bottom.

WANTED.—A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request. Fast Color Envelopes used; they will not wear brass. Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

DAXINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with its peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvellously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local sores.

Daxine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more effective than any germicidal and chemical than liquid antiseptics for TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES.

For sale at druggists 50 cents a box. Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free. THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

Take Your Choice

"U-Shine-It"—the new light shoe polish, brilliant and lasting. It shines easier, wears longer and covers more surface than any other.

Big Can, 10c.

If you want to save labor, buy the 65¢ Self-Shining "Steve Lusta," which will not wash off, is applied like paint, "Kats-Up" Paste and is equally good for Farm Machinery, Stoves, Store Pipe and Wire Screens. Keeps

Cass City Enterprise

An independent newspaper Published every Thursday by A. P. McDowell, Seeger Street Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich.

Advertisements. All changes of advertisements must be sent to this office 20 DAYS before Wednesday noon of each week, else they can not be inserted in that week's issue.

A. A. P. McDowell, Proprietor.

Professional Cards.

Brooker & Corkins, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Reference: Exchange Bank and Cass City Bank.

HENRY BUTLER, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Real Estate Agent, Office on north side of Main Street, Cass City, Mich.

Dr. J. H. Hays, Physician and Surgeon, Special attention given to the Eyes, Offices and residence, west side Seeger St., Phone 23.

Dr. M. M. Wickware, CASS CITY, MICH. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Office over Auden & Seeger's Bank, residence one block north of Opera House.

Dr. A. N. Treadgold, Offices above P. O., Residence Seeger St., Special attention given to diseases of children and old age.

Dr. F. H. Newberry, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Office in City Block, Residence, North Leeward St., Office hours: 11 to 12:30 p. m., 7 to 9 p. m.

A. W. Truesdell, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, Shabbona, Mich. Special attention to surgery, 6-12-02.

DR. A. N. JOHNSON, Formerly of Minden, but latterly of Detroit, has resumed the practice of medicine at Cumber, Mich. Chronic cases a specialty, 7-20-05.

DENTISTRY, I. A. FRITZ, DENTIST, Office over Fritz's drug store, City Block, Cass City, Mich. Out of town Tuesdays.

P. A. SCHENCK, D. D. S., DENTIST—Graduate of University of Michigan, Office in new Fritz block, Cass City, Mich. 12-31-01.

D. HUTCHINSON, DRAYMAN, Phone 51, Residence and Barns Main Street west. Draying of all kinds and goods handled with care. 6-28-13.

Societies, I. O. F., COURT ELKLAND, No. 825, I. O. F., meets on second and fourth Tuesdays of each month in their hall in the Campbell block, at 7:30 p. m.

CLASS CITY LODGE, No. 203, meets every Wednesday evening at 7:30, Visiting brethren cordially invited.

K. O. T. M. M., CLASS CITY TRUMPETS, meets the first and third Friday evenings of each month, at 7:30, Visiting Sir Knights cordially invited.

Elkland Arbor, No. 31, A. O. U. O. G. meets the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, in Oddfellows Hall. Visiting companions always welcome.

Church Directory, BAPTIST—Preaching services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, school at 12 m. Young people's meeting Sunday evening at 5:30.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL—Preaching services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, school at 12 m. Junior League at 3:30 p. m.

Presbyterian—Sunday preaching services, 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, school at 12 m. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:40 p. m.

ST. PANCRAIUS R. C. CHURCH—Services on the second Sunday of each month at 10:30 a. m. Standard Time, on the fourth Sunday of each month at 8:30 a. m. Standard Time.

5,000 Telegraphers NEEDED, Annually, to fill the new positions created by Railroad and Telegraph Companies.

LEARN TELEGRAPHY AND R. R. ACCOUNTING, We furnish 75 per cent. of the Operators and Station Agents in America.

MORSE SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY, Cincinnati, Ohio, Buffalo, N. Y., Atlanta, Ga., San Francisco, Calif., etc.

Throat Coughs

A tickling in the throat; hoarseness at times; deep breath irritates it;—these are features of a throat cough. They're very deceptive and a cough mixture won't cure them.

Scott's Emulsion

is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor.

Send for free sample SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409-415 Pearl Street, New York

Correspondence.

Canboro, Geo. W. Parker had a horse killed in the storm last Tuesday.

Rev. Veolker, of Elkton, was a caller in this vicinity Friday.

Services in the Canboro Church Sunday evening, Oct. 1st.

Chas. Hintze, of Linkville, was a caller in this vicinity Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hartsell, of Beaulieu, visited at Fred Kinnietz's Sunday afternoon.

Two million Americans suffer the torturing pangs of dyspepsia. No need to Burdock Blood Bitters cures. At any drug store.

Wickware.

Geo. Bond was the guest of H. Bigelow on Friday last.

Mr. Renshler, of Cass City, did business northeast of Wickware Thursday.

Miss Vidia McConnell, of Cass City, assisted Mrs. M. Keyser in her household duties last week.

Among those who attended the Detroit Fair from Wickware were Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Fisher.

C. Hiff and Ellen, Ethel and Verna Gibens attended the play at the Opera House on Monday evening.

John McPhail and Rev. D. M. McPhail were the guests of their cousin, A. Livingstone, in Northwest Greenleaf, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Chas. Wright died at the home of her son, Wm., south of Wickware, on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock after suffering eight years from a stroke of paralysis.

Impossible to foresee an accident. Not impossible to be prepared for it. Thomas' Electric Oil. Monarch over pain.

Shabbona

Willing Workers met with Mrs. E. A. Phillips Tuesday.

Miss Grace Gotham and brother, Perry, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. S. Sharrard was bitten last Friday by a dog belonging to W. Haley.

Wm. McLaren is very sick with pneumonia. Dr. Truesdell is attending him.

Mrs. Mary McPhail-Williams and Miss Edith Atkins, of Flint, are visiting at Shabbona.

Mrs. Burt Loucks and two youngest children spent last week with friends in Oakland County.

Old Mrs. Wright died at the home of her son, Wm., north and east of Shabbona, Monday, the 18th inst.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wait, of Sanilac Centre, were pleasant visitors in and around Shabbona last week.

John D. Jones and Robt. Hoag left Monday for Newberry where they have each secured a position in the Insane Asylum.

Mrs. E. Travis received word Monday morning of the very sudden death

Sunday evening, of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ezra Travis, of Argyle.

Death has once more entered our midst and taken away one of Shabbona's oldest citizens in the person of Calvin Herrington, on the morning of the 24th inst.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Pingree, Rev. Jannett is the M. E. minister at Shabbona this coming year.

Fleet Mark is engaged to teach a school at Wellington, Mich.

R. Craig and daughter, Merle, attended the Vassar fair this week.

Mr. Harrington died very suddenly last Sunday. Funeral on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. Fox and son, George, visited at the former's parental home last week.

Every man owes it to himself and his family to master a trade or profession. Read the display advertisement of the six Morse Schools of Telegraphy, in this issue and learn how easily a young man or lady may learn telegraphy and be assured a position.

West Greenleaf, Andrew Seeger is filling his silo, this week.

Wm. Ballagh visited Stuart Ballagh Sunday.

Rev. Andrews preached at the town hall Sunday.

Mrs. F. Wright called on Mrs. H. Greenleaf Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pryke called at Fred Wright's Friday.

Willard Root and family spent Sunday at Harry Lee Pla's.

W. J. M. Jones, of Cass City, attended church at the hall Sunday.

John T. Jones called on Willett Wright, of Cass City, who is very ill, Saturday.

Edward Wright, who spent the summer in the Northwest, returned home last Wednesday.

Best for Children, Mothers, be careful of the health of your children. Look out for Coughs, Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough.

Novesta Corners, Cucumber harvest is over now. Jas. Rule has started a new barn.

W. E. Holcomb has another ditch job. Mrs. McLeish's youngest child is very ill.

Alex. Sangster's little girl is reported better. Mrs. S. Slack has the frame up for a new house.

Mrs. Millie Sangster continues in poor health. Mrs. Benedict is entertaining her mother and a niece.

Elmer Atwell has the contract of building the new church. Alex. Slack is building a new barn, and already occupies his new house.

Dewitt Lowe's little child has been very sick but is better now, we understand. Mr. and Mrs. Mason Leek, of N. E. Kingston, visited at Juno Horner's Sunday.

John McCaughs advertises a sale, beginning last Monday, Sept. 25th, and lasting one month. Discount on all goods except groceries.

Mrs. W. Weeks is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Alvah Caswell, of Crosswell, who reports an eight pound boy, who lately arrived at their home.

This neighborhood will give Cass City Fair one more trial this year. We are surely in hopes it may far surpass last year, as far as management and morals are concerned.

In the passing away of Mr. Herrington last Sunday morning, the community loses one of its pioneers. Much sympathy is expressed for the sorrowing wife and children.

Got off Cheap, He may well think, he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health.

Detord, On the 10th day of Sept., 1905, Ella Adelaide Crittenden died at Hubbard, Oregon, after an illness of some months.

Miss Belle Schell, of Wilmot, was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Dixon on Saturday and Sunday.

Lulu Rogers, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. G. E. Hopps, returned home on Saturday.

Mrs. Tillotson, who has been the guest of L. A. Maynard, returned to her home in Elsie, on Thursday.

There is great rejoicing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow King, over the arrival, on Friday, of a little daughter.

Mrs. St. Clair, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Bates, for some time, returned to her home at Sarnia, on Thursday.

On Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's parents, one mile east of town, Eugene Everett and Lottie Moyer were married. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

No Unpleasant Effects, If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is.

RUSSIANS REFUSE TO DRINK, Revolutionary Spirit an Aid to Temperance Cause.

The Russian people—that is, the Russian plain people—says a St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York American, have begun a new revolution against the government.

Are You Engaged, Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters.

Cumber, Robt. McRae did business in Cass City last week.

Rev. J. C. Gordon preached in Cumber last Sunday.

Mrs. S. Brown, of Uby, was in Cumber last Thursday.

L. D. Mills went to Tyre Saturday after a load of goods.

Mr. English, from Canada, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bradlin.

Miss Berden visited with Mrs. Mills Saturday and Sunday.

Miss N. Johnson visited Mrs. Mary Walters, of Cass City, Tuesday.

Mrs. John Somerville, who was very sick with a gripple, is better.

Mrs. M. Keechan, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. Law, in Cass City, is home.

Dame Rumor says there is to be a change in the postoffices in Greenleaf and Austin.

Alec Greenleaf, who has been working all summer at Jas. D. Tuckey's, north of Cass City, visited at his parental home on Sunday.

Mrs. Jas. Greenleaf is in Cleveland, Ohio, last week attending the funeral of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wallace Greenleaf, who died very suddenly on the evening of Sept. 18th.

When indigestion becomes chronic it is dangerous. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will cure indigestion and all troubles resulting therefrom, thus preventing Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar Cures all Coughs, and expels colds from the system by gently moving the bowels.

PONTIAC, OXFORD & NORTHERN R. R. PASSENGER TIME CARD. Trains run on Central Standard Time.

Table with columns: GOING NORTH, STATIONS, MIX. PASS. FRI. NO. 2, GOING SOUTH, STATIONS, MIX. PASS. FRI. NO. 4. Rows include Pontiac, Detroit, Toledo, etc.

KINGSTON, I. S. Ber man made a business trip to Detroit on Monday.

Naaman Karr was in Cass City on Thursday and Friday.

O. M. Carpenter, of Eames, was in town on business Tuesday.

James Van Wagoner, of Pontiac, was in town on business last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Karr, of Bay Port, visited at Naaman Karr's Friday and Saturday.

Vina and Roy McCool were the guests of their cousin, Beatrice Ealy, on Thursday.

Gordon Clark and Miss Lillian Cochran, of Marlette, visited at W. V. Hood's Sunday.

Miss May Seib left Friday morning for Saginaw, where she will attend Business College.

Lulu Rogers, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. G. E. Hopps, returned home on Saturday.

Miss Belle Schell, of Wilmot, was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Dixon on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Tillotson, who has been the guest of L. A. Maynard, returned to her home in Elsie, on Thursday.

There is great rejoicing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow King, over the arrival, on Friday, of a little daughter.

Mrs. St. Clair, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Bates, for some time, returned to her home at Sarnia, on Thursday.

On Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's parents, one mile east of town, Eugene Everett and Lottie Moyer were married. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

No Unpleasant Effects, If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is.

RUSSIANS REFUSE TO DRINK, Revolutionary Spirit an Aid to Temperance Cause.

The Russian people—that is, the Russian plain people—says a St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York American, have begun a new revolution against the government.

Are You Engaged, Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters.

Cumber, Robt. McRae did business in Cass City last week.

Rev. J. C. Gordon preached in Cumber last Sunday.

Mrs. S. Brown, of Uby, was in Cumber last Thursday.

L. D. Mills went to Tyre Saturday after a load of goods.

Mr. English, from Canada, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bradlin.

Miss Berden visited with Mrs. Mills Saturday and Sunday.

Miss N. Johnson visited Mrs. Mary Walters, of Cass City, Tuesday.

Mrs. John Somerville, who was very sick with a gripple, is better.

Mrs. M. Keechan, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. Law, in Cass City, is home.

Dame Rumor says there is to be a change in the postoffices in Greenleaf and Austin.

Alec Greenleaf, who has been working all summer at Jas. D. Tuckey's, north of Cass City, visited at his parental home on Sunday.

Mrs. Jas. Greenleaf is in Cleveland, Ohio, last week attending the funeral of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wallace Greenleaf, who died very suddenly on the evening of Sept. 18th.

When indigestion becomes chronic it is dangerous. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will cure indigestion and all troubles resulting therefrom, thus preventing Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar Cures all Coughs, and expels colds from the system by gently moving the bowels.

PONTIAC, OXFORD & NORTHERN R. R. PASSENGER TIME CARD. Trains run on Central Standard Time.

Table with columns: GOING NORTH, STATIONS, MIX. PASS. FRI. NO. 2, GOING SOUTH, STATIONS, MIX. PASS. FRI. NO. 4. Rows include Pontiac, Detroit, Toledo, etc.

KINGSTON, I. S. Ber man made a business trip to Detroit on Monday.

Naaman Karr was in Cass City on Thursday and Friday.

O. M. Carpenter, of Eames, was in town on business Tuesday.

James Van Wagoner, of Pontiac, was in town on business last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Karr, of Bay Port, visited at Naaman Karr's Friday and Saturday.

Vina and Roy McCool were the guests of their cousin, Beatrice Ealy, on Thursday.

Gordon Clark and Miss Lillian Cochran, of Marlette, visited at W. V. Hood's Sunday.

Miss May Seib left Friday morning for Saginaw, where she will attend Business College.

Lulu Rogers, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. G. E. Hopps, returned home on Saturday.

Miss Belle Schell, of Wilmot, was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Dixon on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Tillotson, who has been the guest of L. A. Maynard, returned to her home in Elsie, on Thursday.

There is great rejoicing at the home

The EXCHANGE Real Estate BANK. No expense to the Borrower.

NEW CONCEPTIONS AND FADS. In the Jewellery Line from the cheapest worth having to the very finest. Watch and Jewelry Repairing. T. L. TIBBALS.

Capricious Appetites abound just now. One wants not much meat but extra good meat... We think we can fill most any requirement. YOUNG & BENKELMAN.

J. F. HENDRICK, Cass City Jeweler and Optician. Gives special attention to fitting Spectacles and Eye Glasses Tuesdays and Saturdays.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET, John Schwaderer, Prop. Choice Line of Fresh and Cured Meats. Cash Paid for Hides and Pelts.

BLACKSMITHING. Of all kinds done with neatness and dispatch... Repair Work is a Hobby with us. Especial care with Horseshoeing.

"White Lily" Flour, is that it is so uniform and reliable is always easily obtained and is constantly good, while moderate in price.

Cass City Roller Mills. Ask your dealer for it. For Blending... Try White Lily and Ceresota, and you will be more than pleased with results.

Sheet Music at this Office. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure Digests what you eat.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Hathorn

CASTORIA
Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of Infants and Children.

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Dr. SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Licorice -
Nutmeg - Sassafras -
Ginger -
Cinnamon - Cloves - Mace - Peppermint -
Sage - Turpentine - Almonds -
Sugar - Wine -
Water -

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of Dr. J. C. Hathorn
NEW YORK.

35 Doses - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
The Centaur Company, New York City.

JEWEL STOVES

They have maintained supremacy in the face of world-wide competition for more than forty years.

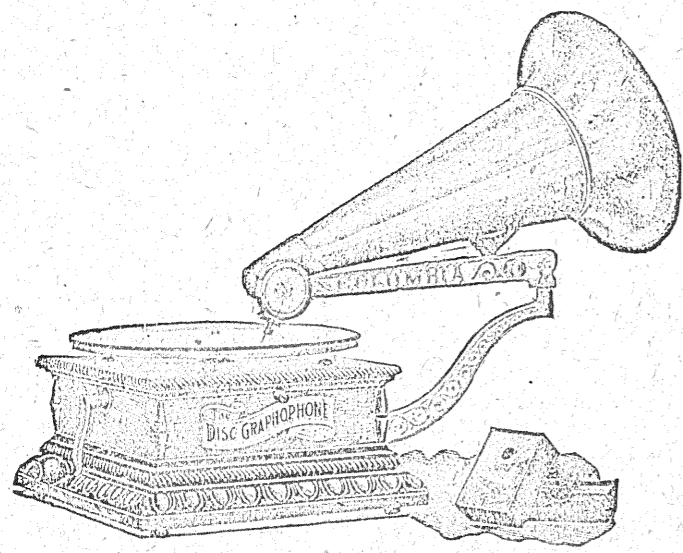

3,800,000 MADE and SOLD

You run no risk when you buy JEWEL.

N. BIGELOW & SONS.

Buy a Graphophone

For yourself, and have something always ready to entertain your friends when they drop in unexpectedly.

The New Improved AK Disc Model is becoming more and more popular and its price—$15—puts it within the reach of all.

Keep the Boys and Girls at Home

By providing plenty of good entertainment, such as the Graphophone furnishes—and at so low a cost.

Machines, Records and Needles always on hand, or special orders for records or repairs will be given prompt attention.

A. A. P. McDOWELL.

CASS CITY, MICH.

Enterprise Office—Seeger Street.

A LESSON IN MANUAL TRAINING

PRACTICAL POINTS FOR BOYS WITH AMBITION AND GENIUS.

How to Make a Hall Glass Frame—Good Practice in Planing, Sawing and Mortising—"Rabbit" for the Glass—How to Make It—Advantages of Hot Over Cold Glue—Sandpapering—Make First of Pine, Then Oak.

BY JAMES RITCHIEY, (Instructor in Woodworking and Pattern-making, Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago.) (Copyright, 1904, by Joseph B. Bowles.) (The interested reader is advised to clip this article for reference.)

As a means for further practice in planing, sawing and mortising, the small hall glass frame shown in Fig. 58 is recommended. In order that the frame may be square and correct in time, as shown at the left on C and also at the right on B.

After cutting the rabbit the entire length in this way, smooth out the chips with a wider chisel, and finish, as shown on the right end of C, and also in the greatly enlarged rail B. Now trim down the tenons on the inside edge to 3/8 inches, and the frame is ready to be glued together.

Glue.

Hot glue is the best for all purposes for which glue is used, because it dries more quickly, and also makes a stronger joint. For our present purpose any good cold glue, such as La Page's, will answer, but the frame must remain in the clamps much longer—at least 12 hours—while hot glue would set and dry in three to four hours.

Clamps.

For those who have not provided themselves with two or more carpenter's clamps, such as shown at A in Fig. 61, wooden wedge clamps must be made, and two will be needed for gluing up this frame. The wedge clamp consists of a bar of wood 30 inches or more in length, 4 inches wide and seven-eighths inch, 1 1/4 inches in thickness—depending on its length. On one end of this bar a block six inches long and of the same width and thickness as the bar, is glued size, each of the four pieces must be planed out of wind and true in all respects. The two side pieces are each 31 inches long, 4 inches wide and three-fourths of an inch in thickness. The two end pieces are each 11 1/2 inches long, and of the same width and thickness as the sides.

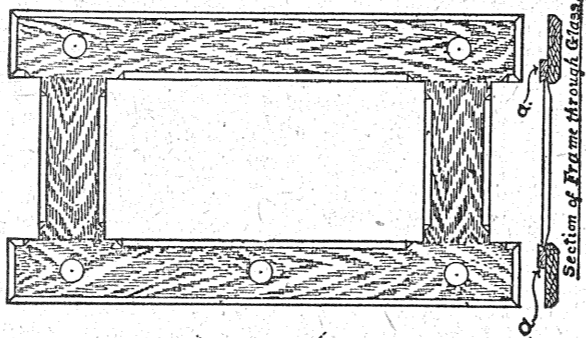

FIG. 61.

The mortises in the side pieces are 1 1/2 inches deep and five-sixteenths of an inch wide. The tenons on the two end pieces are 1 inch long, five-sixteenths of an inch in thickness. In Fig. 59 we have a working drawing on which all dimensions are plainly marked. At A in Fig. 60 one of the side pieces is shown with distances for mortises given, and here again we must impress on the beginner how necessary it is for him to stand at the end of his work, and hold the mortise chisel perpendicular to the edge of the piece being mortised; otherwise the frame will come together "in wind," and the joints will not be close fitting. Having made the mortise and tenons, the next step is to cut the rabbit for the glass.

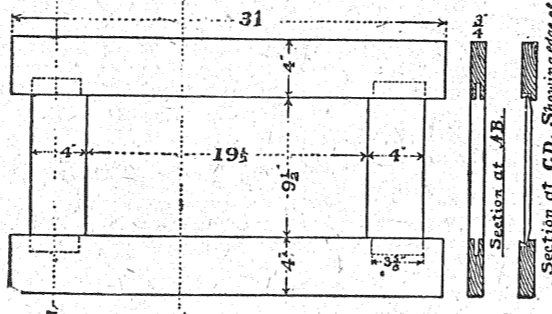

FIG. 59.

In the word rabbit, as here used, we have a carpenter's term, meaning a groove, or recess, cut into and near the edge of one piece, into which another piece is to be fitted. In the present case it means the recess cut around the inside of the frame on the back, in which the mirror will be fixed. It will be seen that while the mirror is 10 by 20 inches, the and in a pair of these wedge clamps, where it must remain until the glue is dry and hard.

After removing the clamps carefully plane off the front and back of the frame and sandpaper all parts smooth, after which it is ready to be finished with two or three coats of shellac.

Sandpapering.

To prevent the sandpaper from cutting the surface irregular, it must be held on a small block of wood. Pine is the best wood for this purpose. The block should be 4 inches long, 2 3/4 inches wide, and from three-fourths to 1 inch in thickness. The face of the block must be flat and smooth, which is best accomplished by laying a sheet of sandpaper on the work bench, or some other true surface, and rubbing the face of the block over it, changing its position often until the surface is correct. The sandpaper must never be fastened to the block in any way, as its position must be changed continually so as to bring every part of the paper in contact with the wood, which will also tend to prevent deep scratches in the finished surface. The sheets of sandpaper should be cut (never torn) into four pieces of equal size, the fourth of a sheet being the most convenient size for general use. To remove the chisel or file marks from bevels, curves or other parts of the work which are inaccessible to the sandpaper block, a strip of wood similar to that shown at E in Fig. 57 is used. This holder is flat on one side, and rounding like a cabinet wood file on the other. It has a saw cut about 9 inches long (the width of a sheet of sandpaper) and into this cut the edge of the sandpaper is inserted, and the paper is then wound around the holder, and in this way it can be used for polishing just as a file is used for the rougher work.

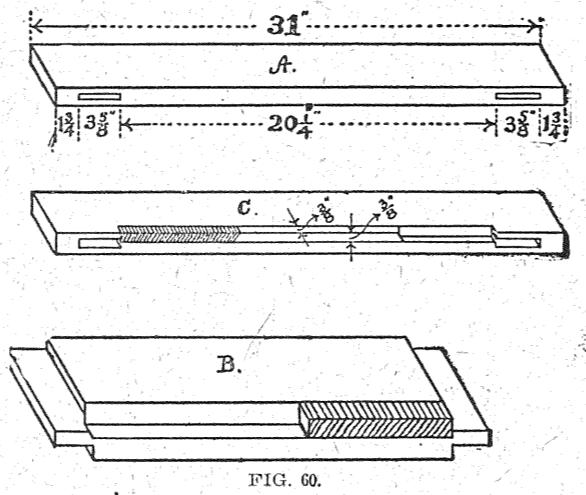

FIG. 60.

The hall glass described above may be greatly improved by beveling the corners, as shown in Fig. 63. The angle of the bevel should be 45 degrees, and the width of the surface of the bevel should in all cases be the same as the remaining surface of the edge. Our meaning is illustrated at D in Fig. 63, where the width of X is the same as that of the remaining surface, Y. If preferred, the angles may be made rounding instead of beveling, as shown at C in Fig. 64, but here, as in the case of beveling, the rounds must be stopped off in the same way as shown for the bevel in Fig. 63.

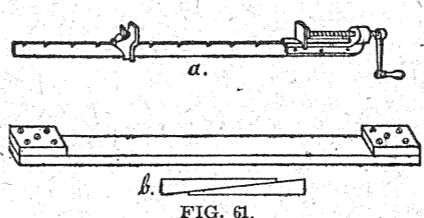

FIG. 63.

When the frame is beveled, or rounded, no rabbit should be cut in the frame for the glass, instead the rabbit is formed on the back of the frame by four strips of wood. These strips should be one and one-fourth inches wide and about three-eighths of an inch in thickness, and are glued and nailed on the back of the frame so that the space inclosed by them will be one-eighth of an inch larger all around than the size of the glass mirror. These strips are shown at A and A, Fig. 63, and also on the cross section B and C in Fig. 64.

When the mirror is placed in the finished frame it is held in position by means of small triangular blocks of soft pine as shown at E, E, E. in Fig. 63 enlarged cross sections, Fig. 64. These blocks should be about one inch in length, and glued to the frame rabbit, with one of the sharp angles of the triangle passing down past, and binding on, the edge of the glass. Place a block at about every three inches, and allow the frame to remain on its face until the glue is dry, after which a thin back or covering board is screwed on. This board must lap over on the frame, or rabbet strips, about one inch all around, and if one-fourth of an inch in thickness it should be screwed on with one-half or five-eighths inch No. 5 wood screws. As in the case of the hat hook strips, we would recommend that these hall mirror frames be first made of pine, for practice, and afterward of quartered oak.

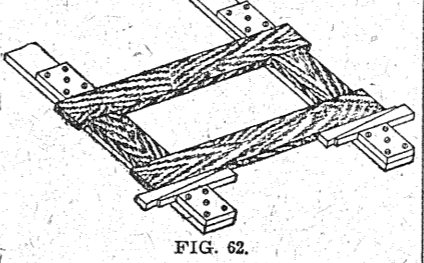

FIG. 62.

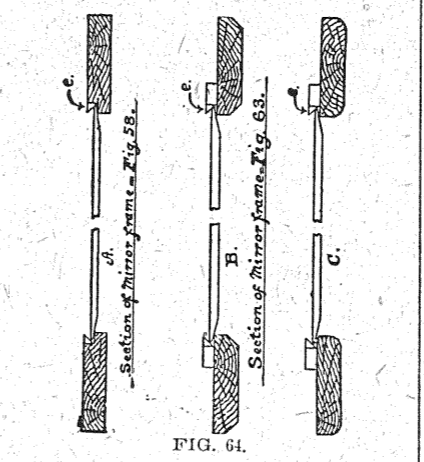

FIG. 64.

This hall mirror may be made larger if desired, in which case a glass 10 by 24 inches, 12 by 30 inches, or 12 by 36 inches will be of good proportions.

A New Joe Jefferson Story.

I saw Joseph Jefferson during the first week of his "Rivals" revival in 1880 at the Arch street theater, says a writer in World's Work. Ten years later, when I knew him personally, I found him of the stage as he was on a charming companion. The only example of his dry humor that I can now recall was the result of a slight incident which took place in Union square, before a store where the actor occasionally stopped to purchase painting materials. I was at his elbow as he alighted from his carriage, and as I saluted him, I said: "Buying paint for the country, Mr. Jefferson?"

He halted, and in those shrewd old eyes—Celtic eyes—was just a ghost of a twinkle.

"Better paint barns than the town, young man!" and he went into the shop for his tubes, brushes and canvas. It was characteristic of Joseph Jefferson.

Not Quite Certain.

In Aberdeen can be found a court official who is as good a type of canny Scott as one would meet anywhere. On a recent occasion an important witness failed to appear and the judge was furious.

"Why isn't he here?" demanded his honor. "It's his duty to be here. Where is he?"

The official, with true Scotch canny, replied: "Weel, I'll no say for that, but he's dead."

In Mizzioura.

"What does this picture represent?"

"That's Cousin Flo, who lives in Missouri."

"Why, I can't see anything but a blur."

"Well, you see, Flo had her daily chill just as I snapped the camera."—Cleveland Leader.

The Price of a Drink.

"Five cents a glass!" Does any one think that that is really the price of a drink? "Five cents a glass!" I hear you say; "Why, that isn't very much to pay." Oh, no, indeed, 'tis a very small sum. You are passing o'er 'twixt finger and thumb. And if that were all that you gave away it wouldn't be very much to pay.

The price of a drink? Let him decide Who has lost his courage and lost his pride

And lies a groveling heap of clay Not far removed from a beast today. The price of a drink? Let that one tell Who sleeps tonight in a murderer's cell And feels within the fires of hell. Honor and virtue, love and truth. All the glory and pride of youth, Hopes of manhood, the wreath of fame, Rich endeavor and noble aim— These are the treasures thrown away As the price of a drink from day to day.

The price of a drink? If you want to know What some are willing to pay for it go. Through that wretched tenement over there.

With dingy windows and broken stair, Where foul disease like a vampire crawls With outstretched wings o'er the moody brood, There poverty dwells with her hungry Wild eyed as demons for lack of food; There violence deals its cruel blow, And innocent ones are thus thrust To pay the price of another's thro.

"Five cents a glass!" Oh, if that were all, The sacrifice would indeed be small, But the money's worth is the least amount

We pay, and whoever will keep account Will learn the terrible waste and blight That follows this ruinous appetite. "Five cents a glass!" Does any one think That that is really the price of a drink? —Josephine Pollard in Kansas City Star.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Hathorn

Tectotalism Becoming Fashionable.

The Daily Mirror of London is responsible for the statement that "tectotalism" is becoming a fashion in some parts of London. Hotel proprietors and keepers of restaurants and public houses are all agreed on this point, but do not regret the change, as the profits on aerated waters are as large as those on intoxicants. One hotel manager said: perhaps Americans had set the fashion.

Dangerous and Criminal.

The saloon is treated everywhere, even under the loosest laws, as dangerous and criminal and as no decent and respectable business is dealt with. The tendency is to stricter regulation and more stringent laws. The saloon is the enemy of all good and over a rapidly increasing section of the United States is dealt with as it deserves.

The Moral Warfare.

Our fathers to their graves have gone; Their strife is past, their triumph won, But sterner trials wait the race Which rises in their honored place— A moral warfare with the crime And folly of an evil time. —John G. Whittier.

COFFEE STRENGTH PRESERVED

By Air-Tight Packages—Do Not Buy Loose Bulk Coffee.

Coffee that is sold in bulk loses its aroma, flavor and strength. Dust and dirt settle on it, and its purity is impaired. People should buy coffee only in air-tight packages.

The prudent housewife is interested in procuring for the household at all times a delicious, fragrant beverage. She should try one of these popular brands of coffee:

"Bancroft House," put up in one and two-pound air-tight cans, one pound 40 cents, two pounds 75 cents.

"Mo-Ka," put up in one-pound air-tight packages at a popular price.

These brands are the very best that can be produced. They are all selected pure coffee, cleaned and roasted in Saginaw, and are all packed in air-tight packages, thus preserving their full strength, freshness and flavor, and preventing the addition of dust and dirt, etc., to the coffee. These are important considerations to the thoughtful and careful housewife, which she will fully appreciate.

These brands are all ideal blendings of the purest coffees, selected carefully with reference to their drinking qualities, and each produces a pure, wholesome and delicious beverage.

They are put up by The Smart & Fox Co., wholesale grocers and coffee roasters, Saginaw, Mich. A single trial of "Bancroft House" or "Mo-Ka" Coffee, as taste or custom may indicate, will convince all that the well-known reputation of this house is behind the guaranty of uniform excellence and that the superior quality of these coffees fully bears out all that can be said in their favor.

TRAVELERS RAILWAY GUIDE
25 CENTS
158 ADAMS ST. CHICAGO

ATLAS SOAP
Absolutely the "BEST" for Family Laundry and Toilet Purposes. SAVE WRAPPERS and get PREMIUMS OF REAL VALUE. Ask Your Grocer for ATLAS SOAP. One of our many Premiums.

NEVERDULL JACK KNIFE. Steel Caps, Two Blades. 100 Wrappers and 2c. postage. Send for complete list of Premiums, FREE. Atlas Soap Works, Saginaw, Mich.

BANNER SALVE. The most healing salve in the world.

Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of money due on and secured by a certain mortgage bearing date, the 12th day of September, 1893, made and executed by Frederick Nyson to F. A. Herbert and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the County of Tuscola, Michigan, in Liber 87 of mortgages, on page 116, which said mortgage was on the 21st day of April, 1893, duly assigned by a written assignment made and executed by said F. A. Herbert to E. G. White and recorded in the Register's office aforesaid in Liber 100 of Mortgages on page 486, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due for principal, interest and taxes, paid by the assignee of said mortgage under the terms of said mortgage the sum of Two Hundred and Thirty-six Dollars and Forty-five Cents.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises at the front door of the Court House in the village of Caro, at public vendue to the highest bidder on the 2nd day of October, 1905, at one o'clock in the afternoon.

The said mortgage premises being all that certain piece or parcel of land situated and being in the Township of Nowesta, in the County of Tuscola and State of Michigan, known and described in said mortgage substantially as follows, to-wit: The southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section one (1) township number thirteen (13) north range eleven (11) east, which premises will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and the costs of foreclosure.

Dated this 6th day of July, 1905.

E. G. WHITE, Assignee of Mortgage.

BROOKER & COOKES, Attorneys for Assignee of Mortgage. 7-6-13

FORECLOSURE SALE.

Notice is hereby given that a mortgage dated the 15th day of November, 1891, was on the 15th day of November, 1901, executed by Joseph Wright and Emma Wright, his wife, to Frederick Traubnick and recorded in the Register of Deeds office in Tuscola County, and State of Michigan, in Liber 118 of mortgages on page 46, on the 5th day of November, 1901. That default has been made in the condition of said mortgage whereby the whole sum secured by said mortgage has become due, and is hereby declared to be due, according to the terms of said mortgage; and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage on the date of this notice, the sum of Three Hundred Sixty-seven and fifty-one hundredths Dollars. That under the power of sale in said mortgage contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, on Monday, the 30th day of October, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the Court House, in the Village of Caro, in said Tuscola County, and that said premises are described in said mortgage substantially as follows: The north half (1/2) of the southeast quarter (1/4) of section twenty four (24) in town twelve (12) north, range eleven (11) east, and will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, with the interest that may accrue thereon after this date, and the costs of foreclosure.

Dated August 3rd, 1905.

FREDERICK TRAUBNICK, Mortgagee.

J. B. BEVELL, Attorney for Mortgagee. 8-5-13

SAVE THE PENNIES

Ask the parents of some child what they think of this plan of saving for their children.

Cass City Bank

Established 1852

I. B. Auten, Prop.

C. W. McKenzie, Cashier

A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Money to loan on real estate

For sale or rent

80 acres in Greenleaf Township; gravel and clay loam; mostly improved. Good buildings; young orchard; well fenced with woven wire; good water. 7 1/2 miles east and one mile south of Cass City. Price and terms made known on application.

Jos. T. Wilson.

R. F. D. No. 3, Shabbona.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails to perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Kumble of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart troubles with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat

and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. Bottles only $1.00. Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

Prepared by E. O. DeWitt & Co., CHICAGO.

Sold by L. I. Wood & Co., Cass City.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE PATENTS

TRADE MARKS, DESIGNS & COPYRIGHTS &c. Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co., reference to specification without charge.

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Published weekly. Yearly subscription, $1. Sold by all newsdealers. MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York. Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

CASS CITY ENTERPRISE

A. A. P. McOWELL Publisher
CASS CITY, MICHIGAN.

In certain parts of Russia you do not need to scratch anybody to find a Tartar

At least one of the British royal family has distinguished himself; it was by eating jam.

Alice Hegan Rice of "Mrs. Wiggs" fame has started a bank. There's money in cabbages.

The circus, it appears, has been elevated. Now let all available energy be concentrated on the theater.

A man says the trusts have driven him to crime. Here is a hint to drunkards in need of a new excuse.

Existence is a fight against the storms of trouble, and Cupid is the fellow who hands out the life preservers.

Society, says a Philadelphia minister, is going wild. It may have misunderstood the appeal for a return to nature.

The war incident cannot be considered closed until Ruff'd Kipling has written one of his stirring poems about it.

When Maggie Fox of Minneapolis found her lost bustle containing $500, she was that much ahead and that much behind.

The mystery of what the baby speaks is solved. It is Esperanto, for it is spoken fluently and nobody can understand it.

Then there is the mortifying reflection that the astronomers on the planet Mars may have discovered our north pole ages ago.

As a New York boy has been held in $1,000 bail on a charge of stealing a watermelon the inference is that a colored man was on the bench.

Judging by the picture of the woman in the New Jersey jail who confesses to having four husbands, she must have been a hypnotist.

They have found a man in New York who has been married fifty times, and he has never applied for one of those Carnegie hero medals.

Masks for certain convicts have been advocated at a prison congress. There are many who would be in prison but for the masks they wear.

The smart young men of Newport have taken to growing mustaches, thereby setting a fashion that the poorest of young men can generally follow.

A captious New York editor finds fault with the design of the new $50 gold certificates. Most of us are too glad to see one to think of picking flaws in it.

The world's supply of sheep is rapidly diminishing, an official statement says. The supply of lambs for the speculative centers does not seem to have been affected.

It's a pity that the successful men who tell young men how to do it cannot be put in the running a second time. We wonder how many of them would hit it twice.

What a wonderful thing is the law! The New York judge who says he was within the law in banishing a woman from Gotham adds that the law cannot compel her to go away.

President Palma says that the day of his defeat would be the happiest of his life. Now we know why men become candidates when there is not the slightest chance of success.

The "surprise party" is the latest thing at Newport. Thus do the most complex products of ornate civilization suddenly revert to first principles. The donation party may come next.

"The stock market is a wonderful institution," says James J. Hill, the railroad president. "I know nothing about it." Most men are in the same condition, but few are willing to admit it.

The "hunger for righteousness" begins in English children at the age of 15, according to a London professor. And it is generally so well satisfied that most of them are never troubled with it afterward.

That pity is akin to love is proved by the fact that a shoemaker in New York state, with two wooden legs, advertised for a wife in the want columns and received 108 applications. Also, it pays to advertise.

When Mr. Rockefeller's wig was first announced the staff photographers of the New York newspapers filed all the trains for Cleveland. One of them caught it first, and his scoop is the biggest Gotham has recorded this year.

A steamboat man estimates the amount of cash spent by American visitors to Europe this summer at $17,505,027. We know who spent the $2 to go as far toward Europe as he could, but the other part of the figure is ridiculously small.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

VANDALS CONTINUE THE DESECRATION OF CEMETERIES.

DETROIT HAS A TYPHOID FEVER EPIDEMIC OVER WHICH DOCTORS WRANGLE.

THE PERE MARQUETTE HAS A FEW ACCIDENTS WHICH DELAY TRAFFIC.

Destroy Tombstones.

Taking advantage of the withdrawal of armed guards at daylight Sunday morning, vandals successfully raided the Catholic church cemetery in Negaunee, destroyed the monuments, tombstones and crosses, creating a financial loss that exceeds $3,000.

The gang went to the extent of opening graves. The destruction was very complete. Scarcely a monument can be found in the whole cemetery which is not disfigured in some manner. The broken portions of tombstones and crosses were thrown in one heap. The debris makes a large mound.

Incensed at the wholesale depredations of the past two weeks, scores of Roman Catholics have armed themselves and in company with the authorities are searching for the marauders. Feeling is running very high. So infuriated are the citizens that bloodshed is certain should members of the gang be detected in a cemetery. The damage done by the vandals follows:

Ontonagon Falls $ 500
Peshigo 500
Birch Creek 500
Escanaba 4,000
Gladstone 1,500
Negaunee 3,000
Total $10,000

Typoid Fever Cases.

Several Detroit physicians are quoted as having said the city is in the throes of a fair-sized typhoid fever epidemic, that the number of cases is alarming and that their increase is a warning, but Health Officer Kiefer makes emphatic denial to the declaration.

There are a number of typhoid cases in Detroit, but there is no reason for alarm, said Dr. Kiefer. "Absolutely no reason for alarm. The city's water supply may or may not be the cause of their presence. The department of health is taking every precautionary measure to prevent increase of cases, but this is always done. A pound of precaution is worth a ton of cure. The statement that there have been thus far in September four times as many cases as in the entire month of September of last year is a gross exaggeration."

Pere Marquette Accidents.

A freight truck at Alexis, 15 miles south of Monroe, Saturday, entirely blocked traffic on the Ann Arbor road and caused the Pere Marquette to send its trains from Monroe to Toconogon over narrow-gauge tracks.

This is the second time this week that the Pere Marquette traffic has been tied up. Three days ago there was a wreck south of Monroe. Two hundred passengers going north on No. 92 Pere Marquette train from Muskegon over narrow-gauge tracks.

While Louis Conroy and wife were in Yale, Saturday, their home, situated two and one-half miles north of here, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $1,000.

James Sischo, living north of Yale, had his home destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. Loss, $1,000. This makes the fourth fire in this vicinity in the last two days.

Explicit and Severe.

"For a court to stamp such a relationship with the seal of matrimony would be a disgrace and tend to the destruction of morality and destroy the sacredness of the marriage tie." These were the strong words of Judge Law, of Port Huron, in dismissing the suit of Marion Montross against James Montross, asking for the legalization of her alleged common law marriage to Montross. According to the finding of facts in the case, the woman came from Bay City in 1901, and posed as Montross's wife, and in her petition claimed to have been forced by her putative husband to the life of shame.

The Porter Screen Co., of Burlington, Vt., the screen door and window trust, has secured control of the Laverack Screen Door Co., of Owosso. The trust's agent bought control by paying 50 cents on the dollar. Now the minority stockholders are wondering where they will come in.

Mrs. Harriet Barnett Reed Pierce, last year, must go back to serve his 96th birthday at Waltham, Mass. Mr. Reed in 1832 married Rev. John D. Pierce, who became state superintendent of public instruction for Michigan and who drew up the plans for the University of Michigan.

State Taxes.

The state tax levy and apportionment for 1905, according to a statement sent out by the auditor-general, will amount to $8,869,724.67. Wayne county pays the largest state tax—$728,286.06. Houghton county is second, paying $343,299.83; Kent county third, $220,627.74. These three counties bear one-third of the entire tax burden of the state.

The purposes for which taxes are to be raised are as follows:

University of Michigan, $416,525; State Agricultural college, $227,510; State Normal college, $122,850; Central Michigan Normal college, $96,565; Northern State Normal college, $48,000; Western State Normal school, $31,108; Michigan College of Mines, $100,000; State library, $13,000; Soldiers' home, $224,500; Income for the Feeble Minded and Epileptic, $119,825; State Public school, $54,857; State Public School, $2,064,531; School for the Deaf, $101,925; School for the Blind, $41,350; Employment Institution for the Blind, $29,230; Michigan Asylum for the Insane, $39,500; Eastern Michigan Asylum for Insane, $10,600; Northern Michigan asylum, $16,300; U. P. Hospital for the Insane, $31,300; State Insane asylum, $14,250; State prison, $46,630; Michigan Reformatory, $7,000; branch prison at Marquette, $12,000; Industrial School for Boys, $91,200; Industrial School for Girls, $78,101.40; state board of fish commissioners, $40,290; adjutant-general, history and information, $1,100; state dairy and food commission, $25,000; State Dairymen's association, $300; board of library commissioners, $800; Michigan National Guard, $125,500.80; Michigan Naval Brigade, $16,866.77; state weather service, $1,000; State Agricultural society, $1,500; forestry reserve, $7,500; geological survey, $4,000; Pioneer and Historical society, $4,000; state highway department, $30,000; Louisiana Purchase exposition, $1,080; Macomb monument, $5,000; Soo semi-centennial celebration, $15,000; Vicksburg Military park commission, $10,000; State Sanatorium for Consumptives, $10,000; current expenses of prisons, $120,000; current expenses for insane asylums, $724,865.17; general expenses, $700,000. Total state tax, $8,869,724.67. The levy by counties is as follows:

Table listing state taxes by county: Alcona, $3,187.76; Alcona, $3,430.00; Alger, $6,014.61; Alger, $6,226.78; Alcona, $1,484.97; Alcona, $1,529.78; Antrim, $13,486.78; Antrim, $13,934.27; Arenac, $5,231.73; Arenac, $5,396.25; Baraga, $5,629.73; Baraga, $5,833.35; Barry, $6,782.13; Barry, $7,036.54; Benzie, $4,942.81; Benzie, $5,125.25; Benzie, $7,846.81; Benzie, $8,125.25; Berrien, $7,584.25; Berrien, $7,846.81; Branch, $9,729.24; Branch, $10,000.00; Calhoun, $5,231.73; Calhoun, $5,396.25; Charlevoix, $10,239.59; Charlevoix, $10,529.78; Cheboygan, $11,204.51; Cheboygan, $11,529.78; Chippewa, $5,231.73; Chippewa, $5,396.25; Clare, $5,231.73; Clare, $5,396.25; Crawford, $5,231.73; Crawford, $5,396.25; Delta, $5,231.73; Delta, $5,396.25; Dickinson, $5,231.73; Dickinson, $5,396.25; Eaton, $5,231.73; Eaton, $5,396.25; Genesee, $5,231.73; Genesee, $5,396.25; Gladwin, $5,231.73; Gladwin, $5,396.25; G. Travers, $5,231.73; G. Travers, $5,396.25; Grand, $5,231.73; Grand, $5,396.25; Hillsdale, $5,231.73; Hillsdale, $5,396.25; Houghton, $5,231.73; Houghton, $5,396.25; Howell, $5,231.73; Howell, $5,396.25; Ingham, $5,231.73; Ingham, $5,396.25; Ionia, $5,231.73; Ionia, $5,396.25; Isabella, $5,231.73; Isabella, $5,396.25; Jackson, $5,231.73; Jackson, $5,396.25; Kalamazoo, $5,231.73; Kalamazoo, $5,396.25; Kalkaska, $5,231.73; Kalkaska, $5,396.25; Kent, $5,231.73; Kent, $5,396.25; Keweenaw, $5,231.73; Keweenaw, $5,396.25; Total, $8,869,724.67.

MICHIGAN ITEMS.

The whortleberry crop near South Branch is enormous this year.

A Fenton man brought 1,200 sheep from Montana for the local market.

John Louter, a Bay City painter, despondent, because his wife sought divorce, ended his life in the river.

Wm. Deeter and August Miller of the Deeter house, at Metamora, have purchased the Hoard house, an old landmark.

The Grand Trunk car shops in Port Huron are to be extensively enlarged, affording employment to 300 additional men. The force at present numbers 400 men.

Dr. Scott F. Hodze, the Detroit prisoner at Jackson for an indefinite term of six to nine years, has been assigned to a clerkship in the office of Dr. H. A. Haynes, a job which requires ability, and carries privileges not accorded shop workers.

D. E. Hampton, the Marquette prison ex-convict, who told such harrowing stories of cruelties toward prisoners recently, was in Lansing to see Gov. Warner, the governor was not there and he will try again.

Louis R. Morton, a wealthy lumberman of Duluth, was married at Pontiac by Rev. G. W. Jennings to Miss Carrie M. Mellon, of New York. Neither had friends or relatives here. Their honeymoon will be spent in an automobile tour.

Mrs. Lauretta Beggs, of Port Huron, widow of A. S. Beggs, who lost his life trying to save lives in the St. Clair tunnel accident in October, 1904, when four others were suffocated, is suing the St. Clair Tunnel Co. for $30,000 damages.

For a long time a disagreement had existed between Joseph Sullivan, an old-time lumberman of Lucerne, and Jack Monroe, a woodman. They met and an altercation followed in which Sullivan was seriously stabbed. Monroe is now in jail at Mio.

It has just been learned that Geo. Beebe, a former city treasurer of South Haven, was accidentally killed in a small town in Texas. Beebe disappeared over ten years ago after having become entangled with local Odd Fellows' funds.

Co-eds in Albion college are all in a flutter. Mrs. Helen Knappen Scrips, the president, will not allow any of them to rent rooms on the ground floor, not even in the best homes in the city.

Convict Edward Huntley, who became vicious when imprisoned in Jackson and was transferred to Marquette prison, where he was paroled last year, must go back to serve his unexpired sentence, and it will now be 1907 before he can have his freedom. A week ago Huntley went to Jackson and on being ordered to quit the town by the police he became drunk and has since been in jail.

NEWS OF THE WORLD

CRUEL WORK BY JAPANESE IN THE ISLAND OF SAKHALIN.

COVERT THREATS ARE MADE AGAINST KOMURA AND TAKAHIRA.

THE FAMINE DISTRICTS IN RUSSIA ARE TO BE RELIEVED.

Ruination Forced.

The authorities in St. Petersburg have received official reports from the Siberian coast to the effect that the Japanese are pursuing measures which promise to result in the ruination of the inhabitants throughout the island of Sakhalin, north and south.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

The Japanese are forcing the people to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices, and are forcing them to sell their property at very low prices.

United States Insulted.

Mr. Quesada, the Cuban minister at Washington, expressed himself in the most derogatory terms against the outrage perpetrated on the American consulate at Cienfuegos, by the throwing of filth on the coat of arms over the entrance to the building, and said that the Cuban government will deal with the matter in the most energetic way.

The case at the state department and personally handed to the acting secretary of state a copy of a cable message he had received from Senor O'Farrell, secretary of state of Cuba, saying:

"This must not be interpreted as a demonstration of hostility on the part of the Cuban people towards the American people, but as an isolated act, due to a criminal mind, to the end of creating difficulties to the government."

Tokio Is Calming Down.

The public is daily becoming more impatient for the withdrawal of the order proclaiming Tokio under martial law. The list of papers suspended since the urgency ordinance was passed includes nine published in Tokio and thirteen published elsewhere, five of which were resuspensions.

At the time of the outbreak of popular indignation occasioned by the intervention of three European powers at the close of the war between Japan and China the cases of papers suspended exceeded 200, ten of which were in Tokio.

The ratification of the treaty of peace will take place in Washington, it is probable that this will be done in the White House, as a compliment to President Roosevelt.

Prinze Louis, of Battenberg, will visit Washington Nov. 2.

Starving workmen in Spain threaten to sack and burn shops.

Western floods caused the Santa Fe railroad a loss of more than $2,000,000 in the fiscal year just closed.

President Harper of the University of Chicago has undergone another operation, the third since Jan. 1.

Chicago union freight handlers have voted to accept the old wage scale and the proposed strike is off.

Theodore Roosevelt, jr., has passed his Harvard entrance examination and will enter the university within a week.

O. C. Barber, the "match king," will build in Akron, O., a $500,000 duplicate of the famous Church of the Madeleine, Paris.

Minister Takahira, who leaves soon for Japan, will probably never return. An old saber wound is giving him much trouble.

Sewer diggers at La Crosse, Wis., have unearthed the skeleton of a prehistoric man eight feet tall. The skull is an enormous affair.

Thomas F. Hogan, weight 500 pounds, married Miss Helen Fitzgerald, weight 100, at Tarrytown, N. Y. "It was a case of love at first sight," said Hogan.

Sacred manuscripts, written on leather used to repair old shoes in the time shortly after Christ came on earth, have been unearthed in a city in Turkistan, Asia.

Bishop Mora of Hidalgo, Mexico, recently celebrated mass 1,500 feet beneath the earth's surface, at the bottom of a silver mine which had been worked for centuries.

Because a mine mule hadn't enough to eat, 125 Ferris-Hunter miners went on strike, but returned when "Maud" was promised three square meals hereafter.

"Iron Hand" Dooley, the first police captain who ever succeeded in scaring the evil doers of Coney Island, has been transferred to the command of New York's "Tenderloin."

Civilian physicians will not be permitted to officially examine army recruits after September 30, owing to unsatisfactory results. Their combined fees reached an average of $60,000 a year.

Police in Salt Lake City found in one room a dead Chinese sitting bolt upright on a cot, another Chinese insane, and lying on the floor, Eddie Merole, a white acrobat, apparently dying of opium poisoning.

The Theosophical society, in national convention in Chicago, has an attendance of 4,100 delegates from Mexico, Canada and the United States. Alexander Fullerton has been elected general secretary and treasurer.

A Glendora, N. J., farmer has been using an auto horn to call his chickens at feeding time. It worked very well until Mr. Ackerman of Asbury Park, in scorching past the man's farm, let out a series of "toots." All the chickens rushed out, and 17 were crushed to death by the car.

A $2,500,000 hotel to be called the Plaza will be erected on the west plaza of Central Park, New York. It is to be an eighteen story edifice, with a facade of brick trimmed with limestone and terra cotta, and having a mansard roof. It will front 200 feet on Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets respectively.

The czar's commission has elaborated the conditions governing the representation of the people of Poland in the national assembly. The voters will be divided into three classes, the first to be composed of landed proprietors, the second of members of cantons owing from 3 to 20 acres and the third of urban electors. Thirty-six members will be returned from Poland.

The entire oil and commercial quarters of Balahain, Sabunto and Nomani have been wiped out by fire, and the inhabitants remaining behind were massacred and thrown into the flames.

To attain the realms of the ideal a wife must be absolutely truthful to her husband; she must look her best at all times; she should never criticize her husband, nor be a scold, and she should realize she was created to be subject to him. These are the attributes of "The Ideal Wife," as given by his congregation by Rev. Richard A. Morley, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Oak Park, Chicago.

NEWS OF THE NATION

TO ELIMINATE EUROPE IS PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

UNCLE SAM CANNOT ALLOW AN UPRIISING OF THE CUBAN PEOPLE.

THE TERMS OF SEPARATION OF SWEDEN AND NORWAY ARE SETTLED.

South American Policy.

President Roosevelt is said to be preparing a message to congress in which he will declare for a new policy by which the United States can be assured of a permanent peace with Europe. It deals with a proposal to make the United States virtually the guardian for all the republics in the western hemisphere, with no European interference in the affairs of Latin America.

The rough draft of the message has been read over to Senator Lodge and Ambassador Choate by the president, the general tenor being some definite arrangement by which all disputes between the United States and foreign powers are to be settled by arbitration.

As to the republics south of this country, he wants a policy of benevolent guardianship to be adopted. If they try to repudiate their honest obligations, or willfully and maliciously involve themselves in disputes with foreign powers, it is to be the duty of the United States to interfere.

In such a case the offending states will be forced by the United States to make due reparation, either by money payments or other atonements, to satisfy the offended European power.

In cases where foreign powers are aggrieved, they must not invade any American state. But, if they cannot obtain redress, this means being denied to them, it will be the duty of the United States (under the new proposed policy) to obtain redress for them and within a reasonable time.

The Cuban Troubles.

Nowhere are the ugly developments in connection with the Cuban presidential campaign watched with a keener interest than in Washington. The series of disorders, which culminated in the bloody fight at Cienfuegos, has been the subject of number of conferences between high officials of the navy and war and state departments and by special direction of President Roosevelt he has been kept in close touch with the Cuban situation.

Under the Platt agreement, the United States is empowered to send troops to Cuba should it become necessary for the preservation of order. It has been evident for some time that such a condition would probably arise as to call for such action and the United States is fully prepared to fulfill its obligations, without loss of time.

Noblesse Oblige

As the ladies and gallants of Florence
Beguiled the black days of the plague,
Telling tales to forget the abhorrence
Of the specter horrific and vague;
So we in the City of Pleasure,
In the Carnival place of the land,
Shall know to misfortune's full measure
And true to our colors shall stand.

As the good that the days have provided
We took in the joy of our hearts,
Our loyalty never divided,
In woe we are true to our parts.
No meaning nor any complaining
Shall tell of the sorrow we spend;
Our fathers' traditions maintaining,
We take what the Heavens shall send.
—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE MOSQUITO'S BITE

BY HAYS BLACKMAN

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

The bank had failed and all that Dr. Maguire had in the world was swept away in the failure—literally all, for with the savings of his young manhood went the hope of making a home for the girl he loved. If it had been an honest failure, a money panic or anything save a defaulting cashier, it seemed to the doctor that he could better have borne it. But to feel that his work and his economy had gone for naught, that the savings of the hard years of his profession and the hope that had lightened the work were gone, while another man had gotten away in peace to live with the woman for whose pleasure this theft had been done, was maddening. The papers made the sensation of a day of the departure of the cashier and the woman who went with him. Then the depositors who had lost went back to their work forgotten but not forgetting.

Dr. Maguire gave up his practice in his home town in Missouri where there were memories to haunt him and where the accumulation of riches was slow, and went down to an unhealthy little spot in Louisiana where disease was always present and where medicine was a profitable profession. He prospered and again he began to hope that some day the fever and the girl would be his.

One day—it was in July and the mercury registered a temperature seldom reached back in Missouri—the papers began to be full of rumors of the yellow fever. The plague was stealthily creeping across the South. The next day the rumors had become facts and from a city plague-ridden the ignorant masses were beginning to flee. On the third day two refugees came into the town where Dr. Maguire had taken up his abode. They were Italian laborers, and one man was sick when they reached the place. Before night the town had established a quarantine station and the two Italians were held there. The one was in the clutches of the fever, and the other so badly frightened that he easily fell a victim to the disease. The first man died and the second followed his example, but not before the town, in spite of all precautions, had become another of those pest centers whence the line of the plague swept steadily onward, like the creeping evil of a prairie fire through dry grass.

Thenceforth there was work for the doctor's hands. Early and late through the fever-fretted town he went to his errands of mercy. He had given but little study to the fever, but now, with ample opportunity for study afforded him he was too busy bringing healing or closing the eyes of the dead to give time to experimenting with the bites of mosquitoes, or the danger of infection through contact with the disease.

One evening the doctor went in answer to a summons to a house without the town. The place was a lonely one, five miles from the city, just within the cordon that the quarantine had drawn about the town. Evidently the house was the home of people of wealth. It was a handsome structure, but it was seemingly deserted.

"Tell me his name."

The doctor found in an upper room a woman dying of the plague. Before the end came that night she was able to tell the doctor something that he had long wanted to know. Little by little she whispered her story. She had left the North with a man who had done much evil for her sake. He had a ravened trust reposed in him. He was a thief and a fugitive from justice. They had lived there very quietly to avoid discovery, so quietly and so alone that they had not known of the coming of the fever until the quarantine lines had been drawn around them. The man was a craven coward, shuddering in fear of the disease and when the woman had shown symptoms of the plague he fled, leaving her to die alone. She pined, apparently unable to go on. "His name," Dr. Maguire urged, "tell me his name." He shook the dying woman roughly, all else forgotten in the eagerness that was upon him. She roused sufficiently to whisper the name. And the doctor knew that his revenge was near. Somewhere, in the vicinity of the town, with the quarantine lines drawn tightly about him, caught like a rat in a trap, was a man who fled from a town in Missouri with the savings of his neighbors and his friends. Dr. Maguire was almost happy as he rode back to town.

"If you die, I shall have given you what you deserve."

Skirting the streets of the plague ridden town a man crept, hiding in dark corners, crawling along the ground, terrified at the death that threatened old and young, nor spared for prayers and promises the man who feared to die. Dr. Maguire, riding in late that night, almost overrode the crouching figure. And when he had stooped from his saddle to set the groveling wretch upon his feet he knew who it was that crawled in the dark. His revenge was at hand. The default, too, recognized the doctor. And in Dr. Maguire's eyes he read that the time of reckoning was at hand. He fell on his face at the doctor's feet, all manhood fallen from him, leaving him only a groveling, frightened, abject thing that crawled in the dust. "Mercy," he begged, his face hidden.

"Mercy," the doctor repeated. "Did you think of mercy when you robbed men and women of their all, when you stole the widow's mite and left orphaned children to go hungry? Did you think of mercy when you blasted a man's hopes and left him hard and merciless and with the passion of revenge eating at his heart? Mercy for such as you? Never! And the woman for whom you sinned—you could not even keep faith with her. You deserted her when she was dying and left her to meet the end alone. Mercy? I am going to kill you like the dog that you are. It's what I have been wanting to do these many months."

The man at his feet licked the dust and tore his hair with impotent fingers. "My life," he begged again. "Spare my life. Only let me live. I'll give the money back to you."

Dr. Maguire smiled a diabolical smile. "So be it," he said. "You shall have your life since you are so fearful of death. I will give you a chance. You shall try your luck with fate. They say that the mosquito's bite breeds the fever. For me, I do not know. But you shall take the chance. We'll let the mosquito bite you, and if you live well and good. But if you die, I shall have given you what you deserve."

He drew the cowering fugitive roughly to his feet and with his horse's bridle thrown across his arm he descended the street to the office of a fellow physician who had been experimenting with the mosquito theory. The fugitive saw the doctor place one of the mosquitoes near and nearer his arm. He turned his head away, shivering. There was the sharp sting of the insect's bite, and the fugitive slipped to the floor in a faint.

The doctor kept his enemy with him in the days that followed, watching the man's every movement. In due time the fever developed. Dr. Maguire seemed surprised that it should be so. The patient was hysterical with fright. He had worked himself into a frenzy of fear and so had made himself an easy prey to the plague. And he died, died of the fever in his worst form.

Dr. Maguire's friend, the physician who was interested in the mosquito theory, rubbed his hands complacently. "This gives the experiments absolutely in my opinion," he said. "The man had positively no symptoms of the disease. Its development and his subsequent death were due to the bite of the mosquito." Dr. Maguire smiled strangely. "What would you say," he said slowly, "if I told you that the man was not bitten by a mosquito? At the last moment, when he turned his head aside as I held the insect above his arm, I thrust the point of a pin into the flesh instead of allowing the mosquito to bite him. The man died of fright, pure and simple. Or else he took the fever from infection. The woman had the plague, you know, when the man fled from her."

PROPER CARE OF HEADGEAR.

How Hats May Be Worn Long and Always Look Well.

No article of dress becomes shabby so quickly, for want of a little care, as a hat; light, air and dust all tend to turn it brown, if it is exposed to their influences; it ought therefore to be kept in a hat box whenever it is not in use. On ordinary occasions a soft brush should be used. When the hat is wet it should never be wiped with a pocket handkerchief (unless a clean one is specially used for that purpose), but the superfluous moisture should be taken off with a dry soft cloth.

If it has received only a partial sprinkling, and a rough mottled appearance is left, dip a hat brush lightly in cold water and pass it gently round in the same direction as the nap.

When all parts are uniformly damp, take a hard brush, and with that bring the nap to its former state of evenness; then lay the hat on its side on a clean cloth for the night to dry.

After it has been brushed with the ordinary hat brush next morning, it will look little the worse for the wetting it has undergone. The better the quality of the hat, the more times may this be repeated without injuring it. Brushes or instruments may be removed by warming the hat (by steam is preferable) and taking them out with a hot iron. Any attempts to restore the shape by other means will probably result in cracking the hat.

Gloss may be removed, when after some wear the nap becomes dull and gray looking, by brushing with a hot brush, or, better, by gently pressing a three times round in the direction of the nap, ordinarily heated, two or three times.

Pure Obstinance.

A little girl who reads nature books, studies natural history and is devoted to pets, was discovered holding bunny in her lap, trying to direct his attention to a book that she had and ever and anon boxing his long ears busily. Auntie was shocked, of course, and inquired what was the moving cause of such cruelty.

"He's so stubborn," replied the little teacher.

"A rabbit stubborn! Why, child, I never heard of such a thing. What is he stubborn about?"

"I'm trying to teach him the multiplication table, and he just won't try to learn, nor even say it over after me. Now, you say it, sir. Three times two are six—three times three are nine."

But the rabbit didn't say it, and again auntie inquired into her little niece's conduct, as two or three more cuffs were administered to the poor creature's all too convenient ears.

"Why, auntie," explained the girl, "the books all say that rabbits multiply faster than any other animals, and this obstinate little creature won't even go through the three times three with me."—Lippincott's.

Had Faith In It.

Admiral William G. Buehler, at a dinner at Hot Springs, Va., said of a Philadelphia editor:

"He is a good man, an enthusiast. His paper prospers because he believes in it, because he has faith in it."

"And what faith in it he has! He reminds me of the Yankee with the accurate watch."

"This Yankee, an elderly man, had a watch that for thirty or forty years had never once gone wrong. Hence he boasted about it at all times.

"With a guest from Boston he rose one August morning to see the sun rise, and as they waited for his rising the Yankee kept consulting first his watch, which was in his right hand, and then a farmers' almanac, giving the sun's schedule, which was in his left.

"There was a long wait in the pale, vague dawn. Then, tapping his watch with his forefinger, the Yankee said: 'If the sun ain't over that hill in a minute and a half he'll be late.'—Buffalo Inquirer.

Will Return for Cincinnati Festival. Sir Edward Elgar, the composer, who sailed recently for Europe, will return to this country next spring to serve as one of the conductors of the Cincinnati Hay Biennial festival. This is the result of a series of negotiations conducted by the Cincinnati Musical Festival association. An important clause in the agreement provides that the well-known English composer is not to appear as conductor elsewhere during this visit.

Rumors and Roomers.

"I just heard of a fellow who took a room up at that big hotel," said the first stroller man, "and when he got a chance stole a lot of money from the other inmates."

"Yes," said Jokeley; "another case of a bad 'pomer gaining currency."

Lord Minto's Fine Home

(Special Correspondence.)

The origin of the Elliotts, the name-stock of the Earls of Minto, is hidden in the mists of antiquity. Their fame stands secure as Border reivers, whose warlike song, "Wha daur meddle wi' me?" yet stirs the imagination as in the years of long ago it roused the clansmen to the gathering of "Little Jock Elliot." The first Elliot came over to Britain with William the Conqueror. He spelled his name Aliot, and the orthography of his descendants was as weak; we read of Aelwold, Dalliott, Elliot, Elewald, Elyoth, Elwaud, and, mayhap, fifty other different settings ere we come to Elliot.

The present Minto House was built during the lifetime of the fourth Sir Gilbert Elliot, who for his services as governor general of Bengal, was created first Earl of Minto. It was finished during his seven years' absence in India. He never lived to see it.

An Interesting Dwelling.

Minto is situated on the north side of Teviotdale, in the midst of a district steeped with historical glamor; Branksome Tower and Goldielands lie up the water, Ancrum Moor and Jeddart farther down, six miles to the westward is Hawick, and Denholm village, the birthplace of John Leyden, lies at the foot of the dark-browed Rubieslaw, two miles from its door. Surrounded by undulating parks and woodlands, the house lies at the back of Minto Hills; eastward it is belted by the wooded crags of Minto; southward the braes ripple into Teviotdale, and then rise to "Cheviot mountains blue."

It is cool in the wainscoted hall where dark beams cross and recess the white plaster ceiling. The Minto arms are carved on the high mantelshelf. An Elliot's portrait looked down from above a heavily carved Flemish cabinet. The flagstaffs and colors of the Border regiments that were raised to oppose Napoleon's threatened invasion in 1813 flank each side of the doorway into the inner hall; Jeddart staves and lances hang crossed behind targets and shields on the wall. From the front hall we turn to the left, through the north ante-room, where "grandmother" chairs and Chippendale settees are covered with old gold brocade, and a golden eagle keeps watch above the latticed bookshelves.

The Countess of Minto.

The roof of the dining room is white Gesso work with molded garlands of wheat and pomegranates. There are wheat ears and ivy carved on the granite jambs of the fireplace, and above them hangs Grant's life-size painting of the second Earl of Minto.

Lord Minto's Library.

Underneath is the Terrace library, low-roofed and paneled, lined with books, with low-silled windows opening to the green grass outside. From the south ante-room where hangs a portrait of Scott, by Raeburn, we pass into the drawing room. Among the pictures hang two cases of the Minto miniatures—many of them are set in pearls and precious stones—number over 100. Among them is a portrait of Marie Antoinette, which was given by Mirabeau to the first Lord Minto; another is of Napoleon; a third is of Queen Caroline, who gave it to Hugh Elliot when he acted as ambassador at Naples.

The Earl of Minto.

The paneling of Lord Minto's study is part of the paneling of the old Law Courts, Westminster. The oak pillars at the fireplace are wreathed with carved boughs of fruit. Low carved bookcases are on each side of this fireplace. Above the left-hand bookcase is a painting of Lord Nelson, taken from life at Dundee for Hugh Elliot. Before it lies a cutlass from the Battle of Copenhagen, and the captain's sword of one of the battle-ships boarded and taken by Nelson at Cape St. Vincent, 1797. Nelson gave his sword to a Lord Minto after the battle.

The quaint ceiling of dark-grained wood is outlined with bamboo. In one cabinet is a collection of carved ivory figures, another cabinet is inlaid, willow pattern, with mother-of-pearl. Tables are covered with curious weapons and ornaments. In the passage by the door is a rack filled with swords; some from Egyptian battlefields, some from Afghanistan, some from Turkey; the rust-like stains of blood show still on an Afghan blade. Along the passage walls hang bows and arrows, moccasins, boomerangs, long snow-shoes, ice axes; an Indian chief's grand feathered "pow-wow" hangs near two coats of embroidered chamois skin—one Lord Roberts wore in the Afghan campaign, the other was Lord Minto's in the Louis Riel rebellion.

Glimpse of Minto House.

A Noted Spot.

Half an hour's walk over the rising parkland and through a wood of great larch trees brings one to the foot of Minto Crags, to "where Barnhill ne'd his bed of flint." Barnhill was a noted thief in his day, and these picturesque crags came in handy as his citadel. Worthier men than Barnhill have occupied Fatlips, Castle, and as brave eyes as his have gazed out from this rocky perch above the Teviot as the warred for the lighting of the beacon or the dawning of the day. This peel-tower was destroyed by Hertford in his raid of 1545. It was a ruin until 1851, when the present Earl of Minto's father rebuilt it in a manner as near the old style as possible. Within are four rooms, one above another. The first has been left with its original earthen floor, but the others are lined and roofed with wood; the third room is a museum, the highest an observatory.

At the west end of the corbie-stepped gables on the green sward close to the wall are three cannon. All have been captured by Elliotts. One was recovered in deep water off Pitcairn Island by Capt. Russell Elliott—it had belonged to the mutineers of the Bounty. Admiral Elliott won the next in 1760 in a naval action off the Isle of Man; the other was captured by Col. Sir Gilbert Elliot on the parapet of the Redan at Sebastopol. Cannon and rocks and old gray walls! What thrilling tales lie hidden within their keeping.

Bosworth Not Ideal to the Bears.

Attorney Charles W. Bosworth & Co. is telling a good story on himself, says the Boston Herald. Mr. Bosworth was the Fourth of July orator at the exercises held at Forest Park this year. Owing perhaps to the fact that the day was very warm, and his audience drowsy, Mr. Bosworth was keenly aware that most of his hearers were not paying much attention to his remarks.

Down in front, however, he noticed two youngsters looking intently at him, and evidently drinking in his every word. In his joy at the interest of these two patriots, he livened up perceptibly, and, speaking directly to the boys, delivered some splendid oratorical phrases in their decoration. Just in the middle of a pause made for the purpose of impressing his youthful hearers with the weight of the sentiments he had just pronounced, he heard one little fellow say to the other: "Oh, h—l, let's go down and see the bears."

Miss Ada Rehan's Many Roles.

Between the years 1874 and 1898 Ada Rehan was seen in more than one hundred and sixty-five roles. These parts differed in their natures as widely as Camille and Nisbe in "A Night Off"; Aouda in "Around the World in Eighty Days" and Cordelia in "King Lear." Small wonder that sible Miss Rehan is the most finished and artistic actress in a country where few "stars" can boast of having appeared in a score of plays during the whole course of their lives. There has not been one season in Miss Rehan's career in which she has confined herself to a single part, and that though failures were far between at Daly's.

Vacant Lots for Playgrounds.

Mayor Rose of Kansas City, Kas., has requested owners of vacant lots in that city to allow children to use them as playgrounds.

RACED FOR HUSBAND

QUEER CONTESTS THAT HAVE PRECEDED MATRIMONY.

With Bullocks as Steeds Portuguese Damsels Sought to Win Prize—One Happy Pair Married at the Winning Post—Not All on the Square.

The joint birthday of King Carlos, of Portugal, and his consort was celebrated at a village near Braga in a novel way. A handsome young farmer named Coelho, for whom several local beauties had long sighed in vain, determined to sacrifice his freedom by offering himself as a prize to her who should be successful in a bullock race.

Several handsome peasant girls appeared at the starting post, riding bareback on bullocks with decorated horns and tails. A capital start was effected, but ere half the distance had been traversed the favorite was thrown and displayed her chagrin by seizing the tail of the second bullock in an endeavor to impede a rival's progress. This resulted in an unpopu- lar competitor coming in first, whereat the onlookers were so disgusted that they ducked the judge in a pond.

Kissed His Bicycle Bride Fondly.

New Brunswick was the scene, four years since, of a bicycle race over a course of two miles, between a couple of girls who were rivals for the affections of an eligible swain. The prize himself, with a parson by his side, took his stand at the winning post, and no sooner had the winner, Miss Nellie Donnelly, passed the goal than the ceremony was performed, the groom kissed his bride fondly, and the newly married couple left the ground amid the acclamations of the large crowd that had witnessed the contest.

To run to a point some hundred yards distant, there to change dresses for others laid in readiness on the ground, and to return to the starting point, was the trial undertaken last year at Brussels by some half dozen women to decide which should wed a man who had offered himself as a prize to the winner. On the word being given, one at once dropped to the rear and jogged on quite unconcernedly, for she was aware that the sleeves of the dresses laid out for her rivals had been sewed up. The confusion subsequent on this enabled her to win the race and the prize, who, it is more than likely, was well aware of the ruse.

The keeper of a Havre restaurant some eight years back offered himself as a prize to be run for in an obstacle race by young women. Here, too, suspicion pointed to the result having been previously arranged, for the last difficulty to be overcome consisted of wriggling between two bars so close together that none but the slimmest could pass. Six out of seven competitors were thus put out of the race, which was won by a wisp of a girl, who, negotiating the narrow space with little trouble, carried off Boniface, in accordance, probably with that wily man's intention.

Equally perfidious was the conduct of a young Englishman, who some years back offered his hand and fortune as first prize for a sack race, over fifty yards, to be competed for by girls under 25 years of age. At the goal he stood ready to surrender himself to the winner, but when he recognized in the leader a gaunt woman of notorious temper his courage failed him and he fled. The balked woman threatened both law proceedings and personal chastisement, but was at length mollified by sufficient money to set her up in business.

The Worthy Boniface.

Cyclists as Policemen.

In order to aid the police in maintaining order on the occasion of a recent motor race, the authorities of the town of Rezemberg, Germany, compelled all local cyclists to enroll themselves among the police.

MAORI NOTIONS OF CHIVALRY.

Treachery Had No Place Among Fast-Dying Race.

Sir Richard Tangy in the Sunday Magazine has some good stories to tell about the Maoris of old colonial days. Unlike the American Indians, they were not in the earlier wars with the settlers a treacherous race; they even went so far as to send notice to a settlement before attacking it, and, more Christian than the Christians in some respects, would not fight on Sunday. Nor were they slow to credit their foes with a certain nobility of sentiment by which they were themselves animated; this was well illustrated on the occasion of the storming of one of their fortified "pahs" or villages, by the British. The Maoris, finding themselves running short of ammunition, detailed a number of their boys to pick up the British shells as they fell into the pah with instructions to extract the fuses before they exploded. In this they were occasionally successful, and emptying the shells replenished their stores. The Maoris thought that their chivalrous British, judging from the shattering fire, that they were short of ammunition, took this means of supplying them. On another occasion the Maoris refrained from attacking a British detachment until they had disengaged themselves from a bog in which they were floundering.

MUCH PUZZLED OVER PORCELAIN

Chinese Product Medieval Europe Could Not Understand.

China men have been exporting their porcelain to the west for at least a thousand years and probably longer. Medieval Europe could make nothing like porcelain, and therefore regarded it as a magical product endowed with uncanny powers. It was said, for instance, that a porcelain cup would break if poison were poured into it. Travelers declared that porcelain was composed of various substances which after being tempered were hidden in the ground for ages before being fit for use. Even so erudite a man as Sir Thomas Browne, writing in the later seventeenth century, was "not thoroughly resolved, concerning porcelaine or china dishes, that according to common belief they are made of earth." The secret of the true Chinese porcelain was first discovered in Europe a generation later by the German chemist Bottinger, the inventor of what is now known as Dresden china.

Centenarian's Bill of Fare.

About sixteen months before his death (at 101) Senator David Wark of Frederick, N. B., wrote a letter about his way of living: For breakfast, he said, he had oatmeal porridge and milk, to which he had always been accustomed, with a slice of plain bread and a cup of black tea. For many years he had eaten neither beef, mutton nor pork, but took a little fish or fowl at 1 o'clock, with another cup of tea. At 6 o'clock a slice of bread and a cup of tea once more constituted his evening meal. He ate neither pie nor pudding and drank nothing stronger than tea.

Health Hint.

"Sir," says the lady with the lorgnette to the gruff old doctor, "I do not appreciate the way in which you speak to me, as if I were one of the common herd. And you have kept me waiting for an hour. I wish you to know that I have blue blood in my veins."

As Clear as Mud.

They met on a bridge. Each held out his hand, and they shook, and instantly realized that they were utter strangers. Had not one of them been a genuine Hibernian the situation might have been embarrassing. "Begorra, that's quare," says he; "when we wor so far off that we couldn't see aich other, I thought it was you an' you thought it was me, and now we're here together, begob, it's nayther of us."

A Brave Woman.

A woman may flee at the sight of a mouse, but when real danger arises suddenly she is often as courageous as the most resourceful man. A young lady, attacked by a mad dog on the golf links stood steady while the brute rushed at her, and striking with an iron club just at the precise moment, hurled the dog dead upon the grass. She broke its neck with one swinging blow.

Money.

Boil down your wants until you boil 'up your energy and get your income in advance of your expenses. The ability to do hard work and keep at it is wealth in itself. To be accurate and follow the orders of those who pay for the work is a source of executive skill. To know how to work is a trade and a profession combined.—Earl M. Pratt.

Meanings of Various Colors.

Pink is the color of love, youth, pleasure and health, while green denotes hope and joy. Violet stands for faith, while orange, being the color of the god of marriage, Hymen, the brides of yesterday wore orange-colored veils, and were not allowed to pronounce their vows unless enveloped in the folds of this veil, or "flammeum," as it was termed. Orange also means divine inspiration and poetry, and was, therefore, the color of the muses. Purple, of course, has always stood for empire.

PICKLING SEASON

Tumeric,
Curry Powder,
Mustard Seed,
Celery Seed,
Spices,-- whole and ground.

We aim to buy nothing but the best pure spices.

60 grain White Wine
...Vinegar...
for pickling.

Full Line of Groceries Always Fresh.

Highest market price paid for butter and eggs.

H. L. HUNT.

SOCIALISM.

The Cass City Socialist Club has made arrangements with this paper for the use of a half column weekly, in which they will endeavor to explain Socialism. The editor is in no way responsible. Any subscriber to the Enterprise may ask questions in regard to Socialism, to be answered in this column. Conditions—Write questions in plain language, to the point, and sign full name. Address: "Socialist Club, Box 1, Cass City."

Letters to an American Farmer.

BY CLAYTON J. LAMB, OF DRYDEN, MICHIGAN.

1. Modern conditions are rendering the farmer insecure and his life one of hard toil for the enrichment of others. Socialism the remedy.

DEAR BROTHER JO:—You ask me why you, a substantial Nebraska farmer, owning several hundred acres of good land, with cattle on your two-score hills, or why I, a fairly well fixed Michigan farmer, should be a Socialist, or even be interested in the subject. There are very many reasons why we should be Socialists—too many to tell in one letter—and I am going to try to show you if it takes a half dozen.

Farmers naturally divide into four varieties, according to their modes of operation:

1. Capitalistic farmers. These are usually bankers, brokers, or other business men living in the towns. Strictly, they are landlords, more or less wealthy, who do their farming by proxy. They assist to farm the real farmers. Their capital makes them bosses who control means of production which others must use in order to live.
2. The "operative" farmers. These own their own farms and work them in person, hiring help as needed. They own their own means of production, take their own business risks, and usually work harder and longer hours than the average hired man. They are part capitalists and part workmen. As capitalists they receive rents, profits, and interest, and to the extent of these receipts they are exploiters of labor. In turn they, as laborers, are exploited by themselves and other capitalists. In modern commercialism they are financially weak, almost entirely unorganized, and very largely at the mercy and service of the capitalist class. To this variety of farmers you and I belong, and I particularly desire to show you how Socialism would improve our and their financial condition and social status, as well as that of all other varieties of farmers, not excepting the real capitalist farmers and all other capitalists, and all other workmen.

TWELVE THOUSAND DRINKS.

And Every One Injurious, According to a Famous Bartender.

Emil Nécaille, for thirty-two years the most famous bartender in New Orleans, has compiled a book in which he sets forth the drinks of the world, says the Chicago Tribune.

Nécaille has listed 843 American drinks—or naturalized drinks—that are worthy of place in his book, whereas he has an array of 11,754 mixed and straight drinks that, so far as he can find out, have never been served in the United States.

To add to the value of the compilation, which has taken twenty-six years of work and research, of correspondence with governments, with travelers, with bartenders in other countries, Nécaille adds a note in which he says that every one of the drinks he describes is injurious to a greater or lesser degree and each one aids in the degeneration of the peoples who use them.

Nécaille awards to the Russians the doubtful honor of being the greatest drunkards and the most cosmopolitan drunkards.

"Russia," says Nécaille, "is the greatest drinking country in the world. The Russians drink more violent spirits than any other nation, and they have a greater assortment of drinks, despite the fact that vodka supplies the place of wine, beer, whisky and brandy with the great mass of population.

"But the Russians must yield to the Georgians, their dependents, in amount drunk per capita. The Georgian is never sober from birth to death and manages to keep in this condition on wines. Men and women are always befuddled, caused mainly by a mixture of other with light wines."

Iceland follows as a nation of drunkards. They drink everything known, importing from Sweden and from America and England. Fermented vinegar, sweetened with sirup, with a dash of brandy, is one of the favorite drinks. The Icelanders have a drink concocted from the glands of the whale that is terrific in its effect, although only ten drops are used in a glass of sweet wine or sweetened water.

Numerous and Worthless.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago, discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases. DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This salve rises to the surface, and its worthlessness counteracts. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. Sold by L. I. Wood & Co., Cass City, F. A. Francis, Kingston.

Be sure to hear the Canadian Colored Jubilee Singers at the Opera House during the Fair.

See A. A. Hitchcock for Dress Goods.

Training a Cow.

T. P.'s London Weekly relates how Major Miles Mahony of Ballyduff was amazed one morning to see from his bedroom window a little lad driving a cow back and forward again and again over a ditch and through a fence on his land. Hurriedly completing his toilet, he rushed out to question the little trespasser. "What are ye after with that cow? Is it to kill the beast ye want?" "Kill her! Shure, it's to keep her alive I want." "Keep her alive?" "Shure, it's teaching her to get her own living I am. There isn't a ditch or fence in the barony that'll hold her in arther I've done wid her." Then the major understood. The cow, in fact, was being taught to trespass in search of her own living.

Stonewall Jackson's Looks.

Stonewall Jackson's form was tall, gaunt and angular. His feet and hands were large, and his walk was singularly ungraceful. He always spoke quickly, in short sentences devoid of ornament, but to the point. A habit of "bating" his eyes added no little to the peculiarity of his appearance. His eyes were gray and ordinarily dull and expressionless, but when excited by drill, which always seemed to rouse him, especially when charges were fired, the whole man would change, as if he were transported by the roar of the guns to the exciting scenes of an actual field of battle.—Thomas M. Semmes in Century.

A Laxative Cough Syrup.

"A cold or cough nearly always produces constipation—the water runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. It meets and corrects the above conditions, by acting as a pleasant cathartic on the bowels—expels all colds from the system and cures all coughs, croup, whooping cough, LaGrippe, bronchitis, etc. L. I. Wood & Co., Cass City, F. A. Francis, Kingston.

Wants Alcohol Horrors Taught.

The New York state central committee on scientific temperance instruction in the public schools has published a protest against the recommendations of the committee of the New York State Science Teachers' association concerning the teaching of temperance physiology in the public schools. The protest argues for the retention of New York's present law. It says that last year 15,000 physicians of Great Britain petitioned that similar instruction be introduced in their schools. The central committee maintains that a canvass of the parents of all the counties of the state proved the beneficial effect of the teaching.

Attacked by a Mob.

and beaten in a labor riot, until covered with sores, a Chicago street car conductor applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was soon sound and well. "I use it in my family" writes G. J. Welch, of Telesha, Mich., "and find it perfect. Simply great for cuts and burns." Only 25c at E. Ryan's Drug Store, Cass City; F. A. Francis, Kingston.

White Specks in Butter.

Carelessness in warming cream is responsible for the white specks which are sometimes found in the butter, writes a correspondent of National Stockman. If the cream becomes too warm, it separates or "wheys off" exactly the same as sour milk does in the process of making cottage cheese. The sour milk becomes curd; then, when the butter comes, this curd, in fine particles, is found incorporated with it—a very annoying state of affairs, and all owing to carelessness. When this is allowed to occur, the only thing to do is to strain the cream before churning.

ARE YOU WRETCHED IN BAD WEATHER?

Keeping the Kidneys well has Kept Many People Well.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys.

John Bunn, of 7th street, Three Rivers, Mich., says: "I had kidney complaint for so many years that it seems strange how Doan's Kidney Pills did me much good. Besides discolored and excessive kidney secretions which greatly disturbed my rest night, my back caused me a great deal of suffering, for there was never a minute that I did not feel some pain there. The least cold I caught always settled on my kidneys and made the trouble worse. I got one box of Doan's Kidney Pills but by the time I had finished it I could see a marked improvement in my condition. I am satisfied that they are a good remedy and I am glad to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LINER COLUMN.

Advertisements will be inserted under this heading at the rate of one-half cent per word for each insertion; no charge less than 10c.

ANYONE wishing to procure a guitar made by the late Oscar Lenzer, Sr., may have their choice of two, all that remains in stock at Lenzer's Furniture Store. 9-23-1

A few choice white Plymouth Rocks for sale at a bargain. Also two poultry exhibition Coops and a Root Cutter for poultry. What have you to exchange. A. A. P. McDowell.

FARM of 164 acres for sale. Good land, easy terms. First rate farm buildings. Will sell from 80 acres up. Three fourth of mile west of village limits. Might take small farm in exchange. For particulars apply to JAMES MACARTHUR. 8-31-e. o. w. -3

FOR SALE—22 acres east fractional half of north-east fractional quarter of town 13 north of range twelve east. Well drained, best of soil. For particulars apply to MARY D. McDONALD. Fairplay, Essex Co., Ont. 9-14-29*

FOR SALE—Two cows, one nearly new milk, J. S. PARROTT. 9-14-4

FOR SALE—550 bush good work horse 8 yrs. old. Well chested. Also known as pea harvester factory for sale or rent. 8-31-17 A. D. MEAD.

FOR SALE—Two farm horses. 8-31-e. o. w. -3 JAMES MACARTHUR.

MONEY TO LOAN—On real estate security, without any bonus. Will receive partial payment at the end of any year. E. B. LONDON. 1-2-1

TRAYED—From my enclosure, on Saturday, 10 Sept. 23rd, a brown faced ewe. Anyone knowing its whereabouts please inform. 1-2-1 GEO. H. HITCHCOCK.

TRAYED—To my premises, 3 miles north 5 1/2 miles east of Cass City, on Sept. 21st, a sorrel horse. Owner may have same by proving property and paying charges. ERNEST S. HILLMAN. 9-14

TO RENT—Rooms over A. W. Traver's store. Enquire of W. J. FROST. 9-14-4

WE will undertake to furnish you any piece of Popular Music you wish at the right price. If we haven't it in stock we get it here quick. A. A. P. McDowell, Enterprise Office.

ROOMED HOUSE, with two lots, good barn and all kinds of fruit for sale. Corner of Sherman and Houghton Streets, Cass City. 8-7-4 HENRY PHILLIPS.

GRAND BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY.

For several persons of character and good reputation to learn newspaper advertising business; liberal pay while learning. Salary $12.00 to $25.00 per week. No advance fee required. Excellent opportunity for ambitious persons. Address Room 401, The Bible House, 1010 1/2 Block, Chicago, Ill. 8-17-6

Ostrander's Closing Out Sale

Still Continues.

Bargains!

Bargains!

Come at Once.

CARPETS

COATS AND FURS

Are what we want to talk to you about. We have as fine a line as was ever shown here. A varied lot of styles to choose from. Children's, Misses' and Ladies' Coats; also Men's Fur Coats. We can show you that has such favor this season—the tight-fitting and the part-fitted coat, all in good style and color, ranging in price from $5 to $25. Furs from $1.00 to $35.00.

The New Empire Coat

Dress Goods Department.

Was never better filled with an Up-to-date Line than now. We have everything to make up a Dress or Suit—Velvets, Silks and Trimmings.

Our Shoes are Money Savers.

A Fine New Line of Dress Shoes for Men, Women and Children. Also heavy winter goods.

Produce Taken. Phone No. 77.

A. A. Hitchcock.

Opera Block.

UNDERWEAR

Why not Buy ??

...a nice new...

TOP BUGGY, SURREY, OR SPRING WAGON?

Before the Fair. We have a nice assortment on hand now and offer some Special Bargains for the month of Sept. Also remember that we have everything in PLOWS, HARROWS, DISC ROLLERS, DRILLS, ETC., ETC.

Come and see us....

STRIFLER & MCDERMOTT

SHEET MUSIC

Complete McKinley Edition 10c. Sheet Music; also newest Popular Music at 25c.

Instruction Books

For the Organ, Piano, Violin, Guitar and Mandolin.

...POPULAR MUSIC...

The newest musical productions kept on hand and sold at one-half the list price. Among the latest are:

"Cleopatra Finnegan," an Afro-Celtic Intermezzo.

"Poppies," a Japanese Serenade.

"Silverheels," an Indian Intermezzo Two-step.

"Violette," a March Song hit.

"In Dear Old Georgia," same author as "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

....Only 25 cents each....

A. A. P. McDowell

At the ENTERPRISE Office, Seeger Street.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Will positively cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

strengthens the urinary organs, builds up the kidneys and invigorates the whole system.

IT IS GUARANTEED

TWO SIZES 50c and $1.00

SOLD AND RECOMMENDED BY All Druggists, Cass City, F. A. Francis, Kingston.

Passed Stone and Gravel With Excruciating Pains

A. H. Thurnes, Mgr. Willis Creek Coal Co., Buffalo, O., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pains. Other medicines only gave relief. After taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust, like fine stones, etc., and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE has done me $1,000 worth of good."

No Other Remedy Can Compare With It

Thos. W. Carter, of Ashboro, N. C., had Kidney Trouble and one bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE effected a perfect cure, and he says there is no remedy that will compare with it.

Wants Alcohol Horrors Taught. The New York state central committee on scientific temperance instruction in the public schools has published a protest against the recommendations of the committee of the New York State Science Teachers' association concerning the teaching of temperance physiology in the public schools. The protest argues for the retention of New York's present law. It says that last year 15,000 physicians of Great Britain petitioned that similar instruction be introduced in their schools. The central committee maintains that a canvass of the parents of all the counties of the state proved the beneficial effect of the teaching.

Attacked by a Mob. and beaten in a labor riot, until covered with sores, a Chicago street car conductor applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was soon sound and well. "I use it in my family" writes G. J. Welch, of Telesha, Mich., "and find it perfect. Simply great for cuts and burns." Only 25c at E. Ryan's Drug Store, Cass City; F. A. Francis, Kingston.

White Specks in Butter. Carelessness in warming cream is responsible for the white specks which are sometimes found in the butter, writes a correspondent of National Stockman. If the cream becomes too warm, it separates or "wheys off" exactly the same as sour milk does in the process of making cottage cheese. The sour milk becomes curd; then, when the butter comes, this curd, in fine particles, is found incorporated with it—a very annoying state of affairs, and all owing to carelessness. When this is allowed to occur, the only thing to do is to strain the cream before churning.

ARE YOU WRETCHED IN BAD WEATHER? Keeping the Kidneys well has Kept Many People Well. Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys.

John Bunn, of 7th street, Three Rivers, Mich., says: "I had kidney complaint for so many years that it seems strange how Doan's Kidney Pills did me much good. Besides discolored and excessive kidney secretions which greatly disturbed my rest night, my back caused me a great deal of suffering, for there was never a minute that I did not feel some pain there. The least cold I caught always settled on my kidneys and made the trouble worse. I got one box of Doan's Kidney Pills but by the time I had finished it I could see a marked improvement in my condition. I am satisfied that they are a good remedy and I am glad to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LINER COLUMN. Advertisements will be inserted under this heading at the rate of one-half cent per word for each insertion; no charge less than 10c.

ANYONE wishing to procure a guitar made by the late Oscar Lenzer, Sr., may have their choice of two, all that remains in stock at Lenzer's Furniture Store. 9-23-1

A few choice white Plymouth Rocks for sale at a bargain. Also two poultry exhibition Coops and a Root Cutter for poultry. What have you to exchange. A. A. P. McDowell.

FARM of 164 acres for sale. Good land, easy terms. First rate farm buildings. Will sell from 80 acres up. Three fourth of mile west of village limits. Might take small farm in exchange. For particulars apply to JAMES MACARTHUR. 8-31-e. o. w. -3

FOR SALE—22 acres east fractional half of north-east fractional quarter of town 13 north of range twelve east. Well drained, best of soil. For particulars apply to MARY D. McDONALD. Fairplay, Essex Co., Ont. 9-14-29*

FOR SALE—550 bush good work horse 8 yrs. old. Well chested. Also known as pea harvester factory for sale or rent. 8-31-17 A. D. MEAD.

FOR SALE—Two farm horses. 8-31-e. o. w. -3 JAMES MACARTHUR.

MONEY TO LOAN—On real estate security, without any bonus. Will receive partial payment at the end of any year. E. B. LONDON. 1-2-1

TRAYED—From my enclosure, on Saturday, 10 Sept. 23rd, a brown faced ewe. Anyone knowing its whereabouts please inform. 1-2-1 GEO. H. HITCHCOCK.

TRAYED—To my premises, 3 miles north 5 1/2 miles east of Cass City, on Sept. 21st, a sorrel horse. Owner may have same by proving property and paying charges. ERNEST S. HILLMAN. 9-14

TO RENT—Rooms over A. W. Traver's store. Enquire of W. J. FROST. 9-14-4

WE will undertake to furnish you any piece of Popular Music you wish at the right price. If we haven't it in stock we get it here quick. A. A. P. McDowell, Enterprise Office.

ROOMED HOUSE, with two lots, good barn and all kinds of fruit for sale. Corner of Sherman and Houghton Streets, Cass City. 8-7-4 HENRY PHILLIPS.

GRAND BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY. For several persons of character and good reputation to learn newspaper advertising business; liberal pay while learning. Salary $12.00 to $25.00 per week. No advance fee required. Excellent opportunity for ambitious persons. Address Room 401, The Bible House, 1010 1/2 Block, Chicago, Ill. 8-17-6

DYSPEPTICIDE The greatest aid to DIGESTION.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers The famous little pills.