

*Improvements months awayEconomic prospects still gloomy in area

By Mike Eliasohn

The return to work this week of 30 employees at the General Cable plant is the only bright spot in the still gloomy economic picture in the Cass City area.

The unemployment rate remains high and it appears it will remain so for the next several months. None of the industrial officials nor the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESOC) representative contacted by the Chronicle forecast any improvement in the near future.

The 30 persons recalled at General Cable, according to Plant Manager Henry W. Ardler, had been out of work since last summer. About 100 more are still on layoff.

Including the 30, the plant now has about 235 hourly and 58 or 59 salaried employees on the payroll. At full production, the plant employs 335-350 hourly workers.

Ardler doesn't think 1981 will be as bad as 1980, but said it is still too early to forecast when there will be a recovery. It depends on such factors as oil prices and interest rates and ultimately, how much communication equipment is installed by the telephone companies and other communication companies.

The Cass City plant makes various cables for communications, including coiled telephone cords.

On the other side of Garfield Street, Walbro Corp. President Lambert Althaver said, "I'm cautiously optimistic. I would like to think this year will be better than 1980, although the first quarter and probably the second won't show that."

He bases his cautious optimism on hoped-for new business mid-year within the carburetor and fuel pump groups and a gradual improvement in sales of its present carburetor lines.

Most depressed are sales of carburetors for outboard, lawn equipment and industrial engines, which are the main products in the Cass City plants, so a return to normalcy in those markets would be of the most direct benefit to the community. "I would hope to see a gradual increase over the year," Althaver said.

The Cass City and Caro Walbro plants normally have a total hourly work force of 400 or more, according to Director of Human Resources Don Tonti. The present payroll is about half that, with about 150 persons on layoff and 50 positions due to retirement or resignations unfilled. An afternoon shift was eliminated in Cass City.

STATISTICS

The unemployment rate in Tuscola county in December, the latest month for which statistics are available, was 16.8 percent, according to Charles Cramer, MESOC Caro branch manager.

He doubts that the rate has changed much since then.

The Tuscola unemployment rate is higher than the state average, which was 12.2 percent in December, compared to 12.5 percent in November.

The December unemployment rate in Huron county was 19.7 percent and in Sanilac, 18.3 percent. The December rate in Tuscola compares to 14.8 percent in November.

Adding to the gloom is that unemployment compensation recipients are exhausting their benefits at about the same rate as new persons are being added to the rolls.

In October through December, there were 1,078 persons receiving compensation at the Caro office who exhausted their benefits, which are paid a maximum of 39 weeks.

As of last week, there were 3,752 persons receiving benefits, compared to 3,927 a year earlier.

Retail stores are now laying off employees who have never been laid off before. One Caro supermarket has laid off five workers.

Layoffs from auto plants are starting to pick up again, according to Cramer, and "from what they're saying, there's going to be quite a few more layoffs."

The county's work force in November totaled 26,225 persons, both those working and those on layoff.

Of the 26,225, there were 9,479 employed in the county

(not including those in farming), which leaves 16,746 either working in other counties or unemployed. Normally, more than half of Tuscola's work force is employed outside of the county, primarily in manufacturing.

One result of the lack of jobs in the county and Michigan is a migration to other states, mainly in the south and west, to find work.

Cramer estimated about 500 persons registered at the Caro office left the county in the past year to find work in other states and the only ones who didn't get jobs were ones who got homesick and another who could have found work if he really wanted to. Both returned home.

He received a call last week from three Tuscola men who all got jobs working for a railroad in Colorado the first day they arrived in that state.

AUTO RELATED

When the auto business improves, so will business at Evans Products in Gagetown and Active Industries in Elkton, according to their plant managers. "Whatever happens to them happens to us," commented Active manager Roland Henne.

In good times, the plant employs more than 900 hourly workers. It presently has about 400 punching time clocks, and it has stayed at that number for most of the past eight or nine months.

The work force increased slightly for awhile in the summer, during model changeover.

Active makes stampings and assemblies for the auto companies, and kitchen and bathroom sinks. With fewer homes and apartments being constructed because of the poor economy, that part of the business is only about a third of normal, Henne said.

"Very bleak," was Carl Vandiver's assessment of the situation at Evans Products, which manufactures supply racks (materials handling equipment) for the auto industry.

There are only 15 hourly employees there now and the office staff and management, which normally numbers 13-15, is down to six.

From about March to August, 1979, there were 130 hourly personnel working at the plant in two shifts, but the number started declining after that. The most that were employed there last year, according to the plant manager, were 49 in May and June.

Evans is exploring the possibility of manufacturing new products in Gagetown. The problems are, Vandiver said, that the market for many potential products is depressed during the recession and many other companies feeling the economic pinch are also looking for new products to manufacture and sell.

In behalf of about 100 of its laid off employees, the firm applied several months ago for Trade Readjustment Act benefits for them, on the grounds its business was being hurt by the importation of supply racks from Canada.

The company was notified a few weeks ago by the U.S. Department of Labor that its application had been rejected. Vandiver said, because the effect of imports on its own business was nil.

DOG DAYS -- Sunday morning's snowfall made it a good time for a dog sled ride for Paul Bessler (above, left) and Mike Edginton, the owner of the dogs and sled. The two fastest and smartest dogs lead. The two strongest dogs are closest to the sled.

Duncans flee from extradition to avoid Sanilac prosecution

David and Florence Duncan are somewhere.

Sanilac county law enforcement officials would like to find them and bring them back for prosecution. They had Mrs. Duncan in their custody for awhile in January, but she disappeared while on bond.

She and her husband haven't been seen together in the county since they fled from prosecution there last May.

They once owned and operated the Thunder Road Speedway on M-53, a short distance north of M-81. The speedway now has a different owner and name.

Duncan faces a total of 18 counts of possession of stolen property, misrepresenting identity of a mechanical device (altering vehicle registration numbers) and embezzlement of mortgaged property (sale or attempted sale of property without permission of the party holding the mortgage).

The charges stemmed from execution of three search warrants in a large building on the speedway grounds, headquarters for a stolen truck parts operation.

Seized in the raids were more than $150,000 in trucks, parts and other equipment. The first search warrant was executed March 19 of last year.

Warrants charging Duncan weren't issued until early May, however, because of the extensive investigation required in order to determine true serial numbers. Shortly before the warrants were issued, he and his wife fled.

Mrs. Duncan hasn't been charged in connection with the stolen truck parts operation, but she does face two counts of welfare fraud and one of disposal of mortgaged property, in connection with a financed pickup, which was driven out of state without payments being continued.

ACCORDING TO SANILAC County Assistant Prosecutor James Young, the couple was located in Kentucky in August or September, and extradition proceedings started.

They were apparently stopped for a traffic violation but a check by authorities of the Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN) found they were wanted in Michigan.

The Duncans were arrested, but requested a hearing on their proposed extradition. They were released after posting bond.

Jan. 1, Mrs. Duncan appeared in Detroit to transact a real estate matter. Before she could slip out of the state, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, acting on a tip, took her into custody.

Sheriff's Department Detective Sgt. Donald Trowhill drove to Detroit that day and brought her back to Sandusky. She was arraigned before District Judge Richard Riordan Jan. 2 on the three charges against her.

Bond must be set in such cases and the judge set it at $15,000. Mrs. Duncan paid 10 percent of that amount with a bonding company and was released, to return for a preliminary examination Jan. 20.

According to Young, her attorney indicated David Duncan would turn himself in voluntarily.

THE DUNCANS' WORD wasn't trusted, he said, so the Kentucky authorities were requested to continue with the extradition proceedings.

That state issued its extradition warrants Jan. 15, but by then, the Duncans had fled again. No one knows where.

Mrs. Duncan didn't show up for her preliminary examination Jan. 20, so that means the county collects $15,000 from her bonding company, if it hasn't done so already.

Young said if they are ever picked up by police for any reason, since their names are on the LEIN, they will be taken into custody.

The maximum sentence Duncan could get if he is caught, according to the assistant prosecutor, would be four years on any of the changing serial numbers charges and five years for the possession of stolen property.

Prison terms in Michigan are served concurrently, not consecutively.

However, if Duncan is found guilty of enough charges, he could also be charged as a habitual offender. If found guilty of that, he could get life in prison.

He and his wife could also be charged for their fleeing from prosecution.

Teen charged in shooting death

A 15-year-old boy is being charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Jan. 26 shooting death of his brother in their Kingston area home.

The victim was Dane Lawrence Campbell, 11, the son of Lawrence and Patricia Campbell of Shay Lake Road, Koylton township.

He was pronounced dead at the scene of the approximately 7:20 p.m. shooting, which took place in the kitchen. The parents were away at the time.

Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel, who made the decision what charge to bring against the boy, said involuntary manslaughter is defined as intentional pointing of a firearm at another, and the ensuing death of another person.

There was, he said, no evidence of malice. If there had been, the charge could have been second degree murder. Malice is defined as the intent to cause the harm that resulted.

The boys' parents were to have brought him before Probate Judge W. Wallace

Kent Jr. Tuesday. Should the youth ultimately be found guilty by the judge, he could be confined to a state facility that would keep him separated from society, Noel explained. When he reaches his 19th birthday, under state law, he would no longer be under the jurisdiction of the probate court and would be set free.

The prosecutor could have petitioned the court to grant a waiver, so that the youth could be tried as an adult. However, under the criteria established in the state juvenile code, Noel didn't think he could get a waiver so didn't try.

According to the prosecutor, the investigation conducted by the sheriff's department found that the boys had been quarreling over a pipe used for smoking marijuana, which Dane had hid and would not give back.

That led to a scuffle and the person charged got a 20-gauge double barrel shotgun. He then loaded it with an empty birdshot shell and what proved to be a live slug and then shot the victim in the back.

STILL WORKING -- These women assembling carburetors at the Walbro Garfield Street plant are among the approximately 200 hourly workers still employed by the firm in Cass City and Caro. That's only half of the normal work force.

Summer start seen for prison camp

Construction of a state Department of Corrections work camp near Caro should begin this summer and be completed by spring of 1982.

According to department spokesman Kal Goddard, an architectural firm is in the preliminary design stage of preparing plans for renovation of the former residential facility on the Caro Regional Center grounds.

The building hasn't been used in more than 10 years. It is located between Washburn and Chambers Roads, across the Cass River from the main portion of the Regional Center.

The project will probably be ready for advertising for bids this spring, Goddard said, and with the time needed after that for construction firms to prepare their bids and for one to be awarded, "hopefully sometime in summer" construction will begin.

The spring, 1982 completion date is a "hopeful expectation."

The legislature appropriated $2.1 million for the facility about 11 months ago.

State Rep. Loren Armbruster, R-Caro, told the Chronicle his understanding was that after the money was appropriated, Gov. William Milliken issued an executive order, placing a temporary freeze on spending it because of the state's financial crisis.

Goddard said no one he had talked to in the corrections department was aware of any freeze on spending, but couldn't account for the delay, other than due to the normal planning process. Some money of the appropriation had been released for planning, he said.

The unfenced camp will house 80-100 inmates, all of whom will be within four years of their release date and classified as "low risk" or "next to low risk."

About half will work at DNR facilities, mainly state parks, within a 45-mile radius of the camp.

Of the remainder, some will work at the camp, some might attend classes (the staff will include teachers) and some might have regular outside jobs depending on the state of the economy.

Part of the $2.1 million will be spent to build a structure for the DNR to use at the camp, including an office, carpentry shop and vehicle repair facilities.

An addition will be added onto the residential building there now, constructed in 1915. When done, the structure is supposed to include individual rooms for the residents, laundry, cafeteria, gymnasium and other recreation facilities, visiting area and offices.

The camp is expected to employ about 20 persons, of whom 14 may be hired locally if they can pass the Civil Service test.

FIVE GENERATIONS -- Holding Edward George Schwartz III, 4 months, is his great-grandmother, Cecelia Lenda, 93, Caro. Seated next to her is her daughter, Josephine Schwartz, Gagetown. In the rear, left, is Edward Schwartz Sr., Cass City, and his son, Edward Jr., who is in the Navy, assigned to the USS Dwight D. Eisenhower, homeported at Newport News, Va., a nuclear aircraft carrier.

M. McLean dies at 84 in Calif.

Melvin Donald McLean, 84, lifelong resident of Snover, died Monday in Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, Calif., following a short illness.

He was born Jan. 25, 1897, in Argyle township, the son of James and Elizabeth McLean. He farmed in Argyle all his life.

Surviving him are two nieces, Mrs. Malcolm (Blanche) McIntire of Pacifica, Calif., and Dorothy Bunnell of Arlington, Va., and several grandnieces and grandnephews.

Two brothers and two sisters preceded him in death.

He was a member of the Argyle United Methodist church.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Friday at Hacker Funeral Parlor in Sandusky.

Rev. Emerson Arntz of the Argyle Methodist church will officiate. Burial will be in Elkland cemetery, Cass City.

Visitation will begin Thursday evening at the funeral parlor.

The fellow with a past sometimes attracts a lot more attention than the one with a future.

Presbyterians to install new officers

Installation of church officers will take place Sunday at the Cass City First Presbyterian church.

To be installed are members of the session: Betty Jo Agar, Richard Wallace, Anton Peters, Jessie Goodall and Agnes Milligan.

New members on the board of deacons will be Alma Hartwick, Alexia Cook and Elaine Crane.

Following the morning worship service, there will be an officers' orientation dinner at the Masonic Temple, served by members of Echo Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Expectant parent classes set

A new class in the expectant parent series will be starting this Thursday at 7 p.m.

There will be a series of seven classes, one per week, in basement Meeting Room A at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The following topics will be discussed:

- A) Male and female anatomy -- fetal growth and development.
- B) Body changes in the expectant mother.
- C) Nutrition and breast feeding.
- D) Labor and delivery -- breathing and relaxation exercises.
- E) Tour through the maternity department.
- F) New infant and mother.
- G) Infant care - family planning and contraception.

Couples are recommended. If a husband is not available, women should feel free to bring a relative or friend who can give support and encouragement at home and during labor. The classes will be presented with lectures, demonstrations, informal discussion and a variety of visual aides and film strips.

There will be a fee of $20 per couple. This is to be made payable to Hills and Dales General Hospital and should be brought to the first class. A doctor's permission must be given for anyone to take the classes. The forms are available in doctors' offices or may be obtained from the hospital and must be brought to the first class.

Everyone must pre-register prior to the start of the classes. For further information, contact Faith Fahrner, RN, at Hills and Dales, telephone 872-2121.

Tim Muz MSU grad

Timothy Muz graduated in December from Michigan State University with a B.S. degree in crop and soil science.

The 1976 graduate of Cass City High School is the son of Florence Schell of 3930 Elmwood Road and the late Michael Muz.

He presently is in Florida, seeking employment in agribusiness.

Tibbits heads Bay Shore church camp

The board of directors of the Bay Shore Evangelical United Methodist Camp near Sebawaing has appointed Lewis Tibbits of Cass City as its first full-time resident manager-director.

A home has been constructed on the grounds and Tibbits and his family, wife Geraldine and children Tammy and Todd are now living there. Their home on Houghton Street is being rented.

Tibbits was employed by the Tuscola County Road Commission for 15 years and for a while as youth director and assistant to the pastor at the Deford Community church.

The camp is owned by an association of several Methodist churches, including the two in Cass City, according to Mrs. Tibbits, a fifth grade teacher at Cass City Intermediate School. She plans to continue teaching there.

This winter, she said, her husband will be organizing retreats at some of the churches belonging to the association. After the camp is winterized, retreats can be held there.

The camp will also be developed for use for family camping in the summer.

Tibbits began his new job Jan. 5.

Craft Club to meet

The Deford Craft Club will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The project will be bow making. Members should bring 3-4 yards of ribbon and scissors. Hostesses will be Joan Merchant, Judy Rochelleau and Hilda Zajac.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Keith McConkey of Cass City left us a story clipped from a 1959 Detroit Free Press. The gist of it was the high cost of living. The budget for 1960 for the entire White House staff was $5.4 million. That probably wouldn't pay the cost of the secret service assigned to protect the president today.

It's all a matter of degree. It's not much today but compared to 1938 when the entire domestic staff received $85,000 it must have seemed a lot.

The real kicker is that 20 more years down the road today's cost will seem insignificant, too.

Persons with cable TV were able to catch a show on Channel 50 telling about psychic phenomena, supposedly documenting cases of mental telepathy, ESP and similar achievements.

I usually watch programs built about incidents that appear unexplainable any other way than psychic.

I watch, but I don't believe. Not that I say it's impossible, you understand, just highly improbable.

For instance one of the scenes showed a man using the powers of concentration to influence the roll of dice to come up "seven" more than the law of averages would allow.

The question I immediately ask myself is, if he can do it what is he doing on the show? If you could change the odds on dice as little as two percent you could get rich at Las Vegas.

Evidently things are a little tougher in Michigan than they are in Arizona. Three families from Cass City are contemplating a quickie vacation and want to go to Tucson.

Accordingly one of the group wrote the Chamber of Commerce about three weeks ago. About 10 days later another called for information and was assured it would be sent forthwith.

As of Tuesday all of us are still waiting.

Boating safety

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department has announced that boating safety classes began Monday and will be conducted for seventh and eighth graders in all county schools during the next six weeks.

The classes will be coordinated by Sheriff Paul

Berry and Deputy Wayne Newton, with Deputies Jeff Bagocius and Paul Strausz serving as instructors.

Boating safety classes are required by state law in order for children ages 12-16 to operate a boat by themselves.

WARPING -- Award winner Julie Vargo warps thread on a loom, the first step in weaving what will probably eventually be a wall hanging.

Julie Vargo wins art show honors

Cass City High School junior Julie Vargo has won two blue ribbons in the East Central Michigan Scholastic Art Awards competition, which qualified her entries for national competition.

Her award winners were a 15-by-18-inch pencil drawing of enlarged pencils, which also won a Hallmark honor award, and a color photograph, a double exposure of an antique tractor, which also won the Kodak Medal of Honor.

Winners among the 350 entries from 19 schools in seven counties were announced Saturday at the Hampton Square Mall in Essexville, where the entries will be on display through Sunday.

Miss Vargo is one of seven students from four schools whose entries received the top honors, thus qualifying them to compete in the 60th National Scholastic Art Awards competition in New York City this spring. Winners there will receive cash prizes and scholarships.

Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vargo of Schwegler Road. Her art teacher is Karen Wallace.

Another of Mrs. Wallace's students, Dave Shaw, a senior, won four gold keys at the show for his black and white photographs and an oil painting of an aerial view of a farm.

The gold keys are the highest regional award, with 62 of them being presented Saturday.

Staying in the neighborhood

By Jim Fitzgerald

When I was a little boy, my mother instructed me to stay in the neighborhood and not go wandering off to play in strange territory. Today, as a middle-aged grandfather, I still try to live by Mother's dictum, just in case I have to crawl home.

It helps to live in an interesting neighborhood, which I do. On a recent morning, for instance, my wife and I were breakfasting at the Clique, the short-order restaurant adjoining our neighborhood motel. In came a man who looked familiar, although he didn't walk like a duck. I stared, hoping to see him drink Red Rose Tea.

I will explain. The evening before, we had strolled three blocks to the Attic Theatre, the cultural center of our downtown Detroit neighborhood, to see playwright Gus Kaikkonen's marvelous comedy, "Time Steps."

In this play, several scenes are stolen by an actor who walks like a duck and monotonously mutters a song he learned from a Red Rose Tea TV commercial.

The actor's name is Herbert Ferrer, and that was him in the Clique. We had seen him in other Attic productions, including a stunning portrayal of a tortured homosexual in "Streamers," and we'd also seen him standing in the checkout line at the A&P. My wife suggested I should tell Ferrer how much we enjoyed his performances, but I didn't. Another thing my mother taught me was to never bother people when they're eating.

But that breakfast encounter did prompt me to reflect upon how interesting it is to live in a neighborhood where the audience can dine and shop with the stars.

Admittedly, the Clique isn't the Brown Derby, and Herbert Ferrer isn't Burt Reynolds, but show business is still better for me than it used to be. In the neighborhood to which I was confined as a small boy, my much older sister, Terrible Jean, staged dreadful theatrical productions in a garage, and if I didn't buy tickets, she would not only prevent me from dining, she would break my knees.

The Attic Theatre makes it easy for me to obey Mother. As theaters go, the Attic is pretty crummy, with decor by scaffolding and chairs from card tables. In New York City, it would be off-off-Broadway. But, for $5 at the intimate Attic, I've had a close look at better writing, directing, and acting than is often offered for $20 in much more elaborate theaters. "Time Steps," which is about what parents do to their children, and vice versa, is just like the Attic's latest example of what Burt Reynolds could do if he ate at the Clique.

Another reason it's pleasant for me to play near home is the Detroit Film Theatre in the Detroit Institute of Arts. There is no popcorn, but there are movies you can't see anywhere else in town. Last Friday I saw "The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter," a splendid documentary about how industry used women to help win World War II and then ordered them back into the kitchen. I love the humble feeling I get from seeing historical films that make me realize how stupid I used to be.

Those March of Time Films were propaganda used by the government to manipulate patriotism. Seen today, the films are so blatantly sexist they are laughable. But 40 years ago, the message was bought by many idiots, including me. No wonder Mother was afraid I'd wander out of the neighborhood and get run over by Burt Reynolds.

Most of "Rosie" consists of interviews with five women who look back at the discrimination they suffered in the factories of 1941-45. But there is also footage excerpted from old March of Time films which were regularly shown in theatres during those years. They are a reminder it was once accepted public policy to regard women as nothing more than lace aprons and baby bottles, except during a wartime emergency when, perhaps the dear little dummies could be taught how to weld rivets, temporarily.

It just may be that Ronald Reagan may have the shortest honeymoon on record. That period when he rides the crest of victory and the euphoria built around the hopes of all of us. The hope that he can swing that magic wand and make things better than they are.

Tops on everyone's list is curbing inflation. No one really expects inflation to hit ground zero. Inflation that is countered by productivity would be regarded as a masterpiece of statesmanship.

One of the president's first steps has been to decontrol oil prices and the cost of gas is expected to increase by 10 cents a gallon, accompanied by a hefty increase in fuel oil.

Coupled with this are a 10 percent tax cut each year for three years, built in increases in the budget and increased defense spending.

There's no chance for a balanced budget this year and the forecast is 1983 before expenditures are balanced by revenues.

That's the timetable according to the administration and in the past, these predictions by the executive office have presented the brightest scenario possible and fallen miserably short of their goals.

The Reagan forces are pinning their forecast on increased productivity created by tax incentives and lessening of governmental regulations.

Given the state of the nation and especially the northeast, most voters are ready to try anything.

So there's going to be a period when the president can tap this good will while you and I watch and wait.

Wait to see how it all turns out. I'd guess that many of you are as pessimistic about this program as I am. It doesn't really add up. Cutting taxes with a deficit budget certainly has to mean more inflation.

What the new administration has going for it is that it's a different approach. It's apparent that what we have now isn't working, so we wait and hope.

But we've waited and hoped before and each time we appear to get tired of waiting sooner than we did before.

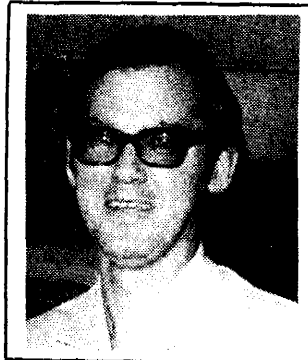

Maybe that's because television keeps us up to the minute on the progress, or lack of progress, in Washington and across the nation.

Maybe it's because after so many failures we get mad. Mad when we have it a little less good than we did the year before and see our hopes for a turn around blasted again.

The president should have a year or so to show some progress, but after that he'll be facing the nitty gritty just like his predecessors.

How he handles that will really determine if he's the man to lead the country out of the economic morass.

If he is, the honeymoon will never end.

Christner sentenced to 10-15 years for shooting his wife

Glen A. Christner, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the March 5, 1980, shooting death of his wife, was sentenced Monday by Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn to 10-15 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

He was credited with 335 days already served. A motion for dismissal of a charge of possession of a firearm in commission of a felony was granted.

Christner, 31, pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 2, at what was to have been the start of an expected 10-day trial. He could have received a life sentence.

Edna Christner was killed in the couple's home on M-46, south of Caro.

Also Monday, William P. Graham, 25, of 7824 Center Road, Millington, was placed on five years' probation for negligent homicide.

He was also sentenced to six months in the county jail, with credit given for one day served, with work release privileges granted. His driver's license was suspended and he is to attend a substance abuse program. He was fined $300 and assessed $200 court costs.

Graham pleaded no contest to the charge Dec. 1, in connection with the Oct. 4 traffic death of Dell J. Friday.

He was killed when his car was struck broadside by the vehicle driven by Graham, which had failed to stop at a stop sign. The accident took place east of Millington.

Funeral held for Dronsella infant

Michael Allen Dronsella, infant son of Dennis and Marjorie (Wood) Dronsella of Union Lake, died Sunday, Jan. 25, at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, three hours after he was born.

Surviving, besides his parents, are his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dronsella of Sebewaing, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood of Gagetown.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Wayne Wentzel of St. John's Lutheran church of Kilmanagh, where Michael's parents are members, officiating.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

Helen Ulfig funeral Thursday

Mrs. Helen K. Ulfig, 62, of Cass City, died unexpectedly Monday in her home in Cass City after suffering an apparent heart attack.

She was born Feb. 9, 1918, in Bloomfield township, Huron county, the daughter of Anthony and Lucy (Wruble) Swartz.

She and Ray Ulfig were married Aug. 28, 1938, in St. Joseph Catholic church, Rapson.

They lived in Detroit, Chelsea and Jackson and farmed in Sanilac county before moving to Cass City in May, 1980.

Survivors in addition to her husband, are two sons, Norman Ulfig of Jackson and Danny Ulfig of Cass City; one daughter, Mrs. Jack (Marlene) Wallace of Cass City; eight grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Al (Della) Briedrick of Detroit, Mrs. Leo (Gertrude) Susalla of Dearborn, Mrs. Norman (Eleanor) Messing of Bad Axe and Mrs. Lillian Mounds of Warren, and three brothers, Clarence Swartz and Eugene Swartz, both of Utica, and Ralph Swartz of Harper Woods.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Pancratius Catholic church, Cass City, with Father Joseph Morales officiating. Burial will be in Elkland cemetery.

Zinger Funeral Home, Uby, had charge of funeral arrangements.

A rosary was to be recited at the Zinger Funeral Home in Uby at 8 p.m. Wednesday by Rev. Stanley Kilar.

probation. He was fined $300 and assessed $150 court costs.

On a charge of use of marijuana, he was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, with credit given for three days served and work release privileges granted.

He was fined $50. He was arrested on the charge Sept. 10 in Arbela township.

He pleaded guilty to both charges Nov. 24.

Terry L. Hascall, 18, of 6076 S. Sheridan Road, Vassar, was placed on three years' probation for malicious destruction of property over $100.

He was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with credit given for four days served, and ordered to pay fine and costs and restitution of $500.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 15, involving damages done July 25 to a car owned by the Vassar schools.

Daryl W. Trongo, 22, of Port Huron, was placed on three years' probation for attempted larceny from a motor vehicle. He was sentenced to 70 days in the county jail, with the next seven Sundays to be spent in jail, credit given for three days served, and 60 days suspended to the end of probation. He was fined $500.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 1, in connection with the attempted theft of a radio from a car Oct. 29 in Mayville.

OTHER CASES

Roger Lee McKnight, 22, of 113 W. Bevans Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of malicious burning of real property (arson), in connection with the Jan. 5 fire at the Caro Area Services to the Handicapped building on the east edge of Caro. Damage was estimated at $70,000-100,000.

A plea of innocent was entered. Joslyn then granted the motion of McKnight's attorney to have his client sent to the Center for Forensic Psychiatry, Ypsilanti, for a forensic examination. Bond of $10,000 was continued.

John B. Johnson, 22, of 1980 Murray Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to criminal sexual conduct (3rd degree), the charge involving a 13-year-old girl Jan. 17 in Wells township.

His plea was taken under advisement, with a sentencing date to be set if it is accepted.

OTHER SENTENCES

William P. Pelton, 19, of Oakley Road, Akron, was placed on four years' probation for possession of PCPY.

He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with work release privileges granted, fined $500 and assessed $350 court costs. He is to receive drug counseling.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 15, in connection with sale of the drug to an undercover police officer Oct. 23 in Akron.

Wayne E. Phillips, 20, of 211 N. Unionville Road, Caro, was sentenced to eight months in the county jail, with credit given for 159 days served.

Phillips was convicted in March, 1979, of breaking and entering a motor vehicle, a semi-truck trailer near Caro in August, 1978.

He appealed and the Michigan Court of Appeals remanded the case to circuit court for resentencing, after which sentencing was delayed six months.

Craig T. Alexander, 19, of Clio, was placed on three years' probation for receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, in connection with possession of a stolen outboard motor July 28 in Arbela township.

A 30-day jail sentence was suspended to the end of

Novesta explores trash disposal

The Novesta Township Board is exploring options for disposal of trash from within the township.

The board was addressed Monday evening by Ray Hayes, a trash hauler from Almont. Hayes offers either individual pickup or can provide a large container to which residents could bring their trash. He then hauls the refuse to a landfill.

Various trash haulers in the Thumb charge townships from $80-200 per load to haul it to a landfill, he told the board, depending on the size of the load and the hauler.

It wasn't possible at the meeting to estimate what such a system might cost

Novesta, according to Clerk Nurse Kloc, because no one knows how much trash there would be to haul away.

Novesta presently pays $3.75 per township resident to Cass City to enable its citizens to use the village landfill, which is located in the township.

Supervisor Bill O'Dell said he will meet with the Tuscola County Road Commission to discuss the possibility of ditching and graveling two miles of Phillips Road north of Deckerville Road this year.

The board voted to pay $8,000 to the Road Commission, the final amount it owed for work done on township roads last year.

It was reported that 43 percent of property taxes have been paid so far, less than the amount paid by this date a year ago.

The board worked on the 1981-82 budget, for the fiscal year that starts April 1. It will be finalized at the March meeting.

PEDALING AROUND

Cake and crumbs

By Mike Eliasohn

One thing I learned early in my reporting career is never ridicule anyone's hobby or special interest.

What is ridiculous to one person is another person's passion.

That doesn't mean I am equally fascinated by everyone's hobby. I generally am not enamored of hobbies involving objects with four legs or objects with wheels or tracks designed to run off-road (unless on a race course) and objects that use bullets.

Of course, just because I may not be fascinated by your hobby, don't let that dissuade you from calling me and suggest I do a story about your particular passion.

When duty calls, I will be there and I may even be able to ask a few intelligent questions. Don't laugh, of course, if I ask some dumb ones.

I once had a blind date with a woman with whom it soon became obvious we had absolutely nothing in common. Her hobby was horses and as I recall, she owned a couple, so the only way to avoid an evening of silence was to talk about horses.

If I hadn't written a few stories about horses, it would have been very quiet.

The evening cost me $10 an hour -- the cost of driving her to a restaurant, eating the meal and paying for it and driving her home, which consumed 1½ hours. Fortunately, the dinner was good.

I'm tempted to add that women can make an interesting hobby, except for such above-mentioned strikeouts, but I won't, lest I be called a chauvinist pig. (Just don't call me a horse, or a part of one.)

I am also not enamored of cake decorators, though it is no fault of those who partake in the particular hobby.

I can't remember the woman's name, but she owned shops in Monroe and Dundee that sold cake decorating supplies.

To promote her business and cake decorating in general, each year she conducted a "cake expo," in other words, a cake decorating contest.

At the Monroe Evening News, it was a groan assignment. Whoever had to cover it each year groaned when he or she got the assignment. As low man on the totem pole the first year I was there, I got the assignment.

What I had to do was take a photo of the grand prize winner, to be announced at the Saturday evening awards banquet, and her cake.

"What time should I be there to take a picture of the winner?" I asked the aforementioned woman.

"Oh, about 9 o'clock," was her reply.

I arrived at the appointed hour, only to discover the contest entrants were just finishing their meal. When the awarding of prizes began, it soon became obvious what should have been obvious, the grand prize was awarded last, not first.

"Last" came sometime after 11 p.m., after the awarding of every conceivable prize for cake decorating (best decorated cake by a first year contestant under age 10, etc.) and a speech by the woman's husband about how happy he was when his wife gave birth to their first son after four daughters.

To add insult to injury, when the winner was announced, her grand prize winning cake was nowhere to be seen.

That was still at the exhibition hall several miles away, so Sunday morning I had to drive there to take a photo of the cake.

By the way, competition cakes are not edible. The decorative frosting is applied over a foam rubber form.

Amazing what one can learn.

CRUDE OIL -- Croswell teacher Dennis Buehlmaier used a beaker and two test tubes to demonstrate creating oil from garbage.

Energy Day draws more than 200 in search of 'cheap' heat and fuel

Heating a house for $271 a year.

Running a tractor or combine on sunflower oil.

Those were two of the topics discussed at the Thumb Family Energy Day Saturday afternoon at Cass City High School, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

The more than 200 persons who attended could each go to two of five presentations on various energy conservation topics. Each was presented twice. Two films about energy were shown to children.

Several businesses had various energy related products or exhibits on display.

Dr. Bill Stout, Michigan State University agricultural engineering professor, addressed the general session, discussing an "overview of energy today and tomorrow."

The problem is not that oil and gas will disappear, he said, "but the price will be higher and higher and the supply will be uncertain."

A major part of the problem, is an overdependence on imported petroleum. In 1979, the peak year for imports, the U.S. imported an average of 7.86 million barrels per day at an average cost of $18.67 per barrel, for a total of $53.5 billion.

In 1980, the average declined to 6.15 million barrels imported per day, but the price per barrel was higher and in 1981, it will be higher still.

Stout cited previous examples of disruption to the nation's energy supply, including the Arab oil embargo of several years ago, coal miners' strike and gasoline shortages in some areas of the country in 1979.

There are two ways to reduce dependence on imported petroleum and to minimize the effects of such disruptions, according to the professor, conservation and alternative sources of energy. "We need to evaluate the way we use energy."

Reduction in consumption, by using more economical cars and more multiple dwellings, etc., takes time, he pointed out.

Potential alternative energy sources include coal, wood, solar and wind power, nuclear energy, use of animal wastes to generate methane gas and water power.

In response to a question about the cost of installing energy conservation measures in a home, Stout responded that with cost of conventional heating fuels ever increasing, "It's going to be expensive to do nothing."

Another question concerned nuclear energy, to which he replied, "It is (would be) a mistake for the United States to unilaterally declare nuclear energy as something we're not going to develop."

His position, he said, was the same as that of the National Society of Professional Engineers, of which he is a member, that the risks associated with nuclear power are acceptable ones that can be dealt with.

VEGETABLE OIL FUEL

Stout was also the speaker at the session concerning use of vegetable oils as a fuel for diesel engines.

Such crops as sunflowers, soybeans and corn could be used for making fuel, but "the economics of most would be terrible."

Vegetable oil is about twice as costly as diesel fuel at present. The advantage, according to the professor, is that should diesel fuel be unavailable, vegetable oil could be used as an alternative. The possibility of a disruption in the supply of diesel fuel "in my opinion is very high."

Vegetable oil in terms of number of BTUs and other measures, is almost as efficient as diesel fuel.

The problems, according to Stout, are removal of gums and reducing its viscosity so that it will run in diesel engines.

Most of the research is being done in North Dakota and South Africa, using sunflower oil, with the aim of developing a process so that farmers can produce vegetable oil on the farm.

CHEAP HEAT

Dennis Buehlmaier discussed two means of cheap heat.

The Croswell school teacher designed and built an ultra efficient home on his property for his mother-in-law, which used three methods of reducing heating costs.

The basement, with poured concrete floor and walls, was built seven feet below ground, to take advantage of the zone of constant temperature, which in Michigan is about 8 feet below the surface and is 48-50 degrees year-round. Foam insulation was placed on the outside of the basement walls before being covered with earth.

Living room, kitchen and dining room windows all faced south, to take advantage of sunlight in winter to help heat the home. The garage was built on the west side to shield the living quarters from the wind.

The home was heavily insulated and triple-pane windows used.

Buehlmaier took temperature readings inside the house on a zero degree day before the furnace was installed. The coldest it got was 39 degrees. The basement never got below 45 degrees.

Heat is provided by an electric geo-thermal heat pump, which draws heat from water instead of from air. That necessitated installation of a second well.

For that reason, a geo-thermal pump wouldn't be practical in a town, where the homeowner has to purchase his water, unless, Buehlmaier suggested, it would be possible to obtain permission to run a line through a sanitary sewer to draw off the heat.

The result of his efforts was a 3,300-square-foot home which cost $271 for one year for heat and air conditioning and hot water for eight months, plus the cost of pumping the water.

The heating unit cost $9,000, $3,000 more than a conventional system, but with tax credits for energy saving devices, the cost was about equal.

Buehlmaier also discussed heat and heat storage apparatus (HAHSA) heating units.

The unit consists of a wood burning furnace inside a separate outside building. The furnace is embedded in sand, through which separate pipes run for hot water and for heat. The sand retains the heat.

A Fostoria man in the audience who installed such a unit said it reduced his electric heating bills from $217 a month to $47.

The other session topics presented Saturday were "woodstoves, chimney additives, add-ons and tune-ups," "stopping heat loss from the home," and "tax credits for energy improvements."

MICHIGAN STATE University agricultural engineering professor Dr. Bill Stout was the speaker at the Energy Day general session and later at the two smaller sessions on use of vegetable oil as diesel fuel.

Notice Of Date Change

The regular February meeting of the Cass City Village council will be held Tuesday, February 24, 1981, at 7:00 P.M. at the municipal building, 6737 Church Street; Cass City, MI 48726.

Joyce LaRoche
Village Clerk

Cost of copies going way up

Effective Monday, by decision of the state legislature, the cost of having certified copies made of certain records in county clerks' offices will take a big leap upward.

Affected are the rates for certified copies of birth, death, marriage and divorce records, plus some other services.

Single copies of the above, which are $3, go up to $10, with additional copies ordered at the same time increasing from $1 each to $3.

Searching through more than three years of records for a document, which is free in Tuscola county, will cost $3. Verification of facts, also free, will also cost $3. Delayed birth certificate applications, which cost $5, go up to $20. Correction or amendment of a vital record, now $15, goes up to $20.

The beneficiary of the increased rates will be county government, but that is not the reason why the legislature voted to put them into effect.

Tuscola County Clerk Elsie Hicks inquired in Lansing for the reasoning for the drastic increase. She was told the reason is that birth, death, marriage and divorce records can also be filed directly with the Michigan Department of Public Health in Lansing, and the record keeping division must be self-supporting. The large increases were necessary in order for it to break even.

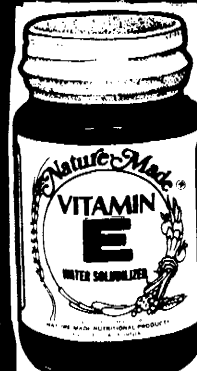

In order to keep fees uniform, they were increased by act of the legislature throughout the state.

Marriage license applicants receive a copy of their license as part of their $20 fee, which stays the same. No copy is made when birth, death and divorce records are filed, so those who need them will be affected by the increases.

Free films to be shown at library

Rawson Memorial Library will be showing movies on Monday nights from Feb. 9 through March 16.

The films will begin at 7:30 and last about one hour. No admission will be charged. All movies are family oriented. The library staff requests that children under age eight be accompanied by an adult.

The Feb. 9 movie will be "Yellowstone Cubs," in which lost little bears Tuffy and Tubby hunt for fun in Yellowstone National Park.

Diabetes class begins Feb. 23

The Tuscola County Health Department is set to start another year of diabetes classes.

Individuals with diabetes or interested in diabetes information may enroll in the five-week class. A new series of classes will be started in February, June, and September.

The classes cover such topics as the diabetic diet, eating in restaurants, using insulin, handling emergencies, and diabetes in general. These classes are a free service of the Health Department.

The next class will start Feb. 23 at 2 p.m. and will be held at the Health Department office on M-81, west of Caro. To register or for information on Diabetes, call the department at 673-8114.

Pre-retirement seminar set in Cass City

A seminar for persons planning to retire soon and their families, open to the public, will take place Saturday, Feb. 7, in the United Steelworkers Local 6222 hall in the Hahn Real Estate Building on Main Street, next to Veronica's Restaurant.

The seminar will be sponsored by the union local and Michigan United Labor, a United Way of Michigan agency.

Registration will be from 9-9:30 a.m. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will discuss Social Security from 9:30-noon.

At 1 p.m., a representative of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging will discuss its programs.

Tuscola County Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. will talk about wills from 2-3 p.m.

A representative of the Human Development Commission will discuss services for low-income families from 3-4 p.m.

Future films will be listed in the weekly library column in the Chronicle. A complete list is available at the library.

Milk output increases in December

December milk production in Michigan totaled 415 million pounds, up 2 percent from last year, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Production per cow averaged 1,045 pounds, up 25 pounds from a year ago. Cow numbers at 397,000 head were down 1 percent from December, 1979.

Producers received $14 per hundredweight (cwt.) for their milk in December, $1 above the previous year's price. Replacement milk cows cost an average of $1,280 compared to $1,100 a year ago. Slaughter cow prices fell to $43 per cwt., 9 percent below the 1979 price.

Total grain and other concentrates fed daily to Michigan dairy cows averaged 14.2 pounds with a value of $7.30 per cwt. as of Jan. 1. This compares with 15.7 pounds and $6.40 the previous year.

Nationally, December milk production totaled 10.4 billion pounds, 4 percent more than December, 1979. Production per cow averaged 958 pounds, 3 percent above a year earlier. Milk cow numbers averaged 10.9 million, 1 percent above last year.

Accumulated milk production for calendar year 1980 was 128 billion pounds, 4 percent above 1979 production.

Fluoride registration begins

Parents who wish to enroll their preschool children 3 years of age and up, kindergarten, second, fifth or eighth graders in the summer topical fluoride program should contact the Sanilac County Health Department at 648-2226.

The fee to cover costs of operating the clinic must be submitted along with the registration card.

The procedure consists of four visits to the fluoride clinic where the teeth are cleaned and fluoride solution is applied. This technique has been shown to reduce tooth decay by about 40 percent.

In addition to providing protection against cavities, the program offers a valuable dental experience with no discomfort for children.

Milk school next week in Sanilac

The Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a milking school Monday and Tuesday.

Monday, it will meet from 1:30-3 p.m. in the Sanilac county conference room, adjacent to the extension office in Sandusky.

Dr. Roger Mellenberger of Michigan State University will discuss milking procedures, equipment, mastitis control and somatic cell program, and cleanliness and sanitation. A veterinarian from the Deckerville Veterinary Clinic will discuss "A veterinarian looks at mastitis and how do we fight it."

Tuesday, the school will move to the field. From 10 a.m.-noon, participants will be at the Don Chard Farm, 1½ miles north of M-46 on Arnold Road, looking at a parlor set up. From 1:30-3:30 p.m., they will be at the Galen Nesbit farm, a half-mile north of M-46 on Freiburg Road, to look at a stanchion barn set-up.

Student of the week

Mike Bills, an eighth grader, is student of the week at Cass City Intermediate School for the week of Jan. 26.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bills of Maharg Road.

Hog class at Frankenmuth

The Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service swine short-course for the region will be Feb. 12, 19 and 26 at Zehnder's Restaurant in Frankenmuth.

Topics covered will be production and marketing, energy conservation and herd health maintenance.

For more information, contact the county extension office.

Armbruster committee v-chairman

State Representative Loren S. Armbruster (R-Caro) has been named Republican vice-chairman of the House Committee on Public Works for the 1981-82 legislative session.

The fifth-term legislator has been named to the committees on Liquor Control and Conservation, Environment and Recreation, both of which he served on during the last term, and for the first time, to the Agriculture Committee.

"Since I come from an agricultural background, I am very pleased with my appointment to the Agriculture Committee," Armbruster said.

"I was also happy to be re-named to the three committees on which I served continuously since being elected in 1972," he added.

Tillage comparisons

By Mike Score
Tuscola County
Extension Agricultural Agent

Many producers in the special project area have adopted new erosion-control tillage systems with expectations of noticeable fuel savings in field operations. Moldboard plow operations require approximately 3.5 gallons of diesel fuel per acre.

Chisel plows and disks should use between one-half and three-quarters of a gallon less per acre in comparison to the moldboard.

With the adoption of new tools for primary tillage and no additional secondary tillage, producers expected to save 50 to 75 gallons of diesel fuel per 100 acres in seed bed preparation.

Fuel savings are often not realized for several reasons. Poorly tuned engines and dirty filters decrease tractor efficiency. If tractors are not properly weighted to pull a load, excessive wheel slipage will result in extra fuel costs.

Another energy eater of a similar nature is the mismatch of implement size to tractor horsepower. Low field operation efficiency including excessive turning, overlapping and stopping will reduce the fuel saving benefits of conservation tillage implements. Finally, implement alignment and adjustment must be proper to realize maximum operational efficiency.

By combining operations and keeping these points in mind, producers should get more satisfaction from their tillage tool, and with a concentrated effort, may pay for their trip to Florida with money saved in production operations.

Drainage meeting in Sandusky

The Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service and area drainage contractors are sponsoring a drainage and water management meeting.

It will be Thursday, Feb. 12, at the county conference rooms in Sandusky, starting at 9:30 a.m. with coffee.

Area drainage contractors are sponsoring the refreshments and noon lunch. The contractors also will be helping with the program.

James A. Koski, Saginaw county drain commissioner, will be one of the featured speakers. One of the members of the State Special Task Force on Drainage Ditch Revisions, he will be discussing these prepared revisions.

Another feature will be the Pros and Cons of 3-inch tile, 4-inch tile and the new Arch-flow. A panel will discuss sub-surface irrigation and its place in Thumb agriculture.

Some folks seem to think that the only way to make the most of everything is to live a double life.

Jaycees seeking members

The Cass City Jaycees will conduct a membership recruitment night Thursday, Feb. 12, in the basement of the Charmont.

Michigan Jaycees President Greg Merritt will be guest speaker.

The club is open to men between the ages of 18 and 36. Interested persons can bring anyone with them, male or female, to the membership night program, according to club President Jim Turner. There will be no obligation to join.

The Cass City Jaycees were formed in February, 1979, with the aid of the Elktion Jaycees, and currently have 39 members.

Jaycees are part of a local, state, national and international organization, dedicated to serving their communities, while at the same time having fun and the opportunity to develop themselves and meet other persons, according to Turner.

The local club has conducted several community projects, including jelly sales, softball and golf tournaments, pig raffle, giant colorbook sales, distribution of red ball stickers for fire safety, and entered a float and operated a concession stand at the July 4th celebration.

Money from the projects has aided such organizations as Hills and Dales General Hospital, Elkland Township Fire Department, Special Olympics, Cass City Preschool Nursery and for purchase of Christmas food baskets.

Men interested in Jaycees but unable to attend the meeting can call Turner at 872-2474 after 6 p.m.

Zmierski top sailor on ship

Michael Zmierski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zmierski of Cass City, has been judged "Sailor of the Quarter" for outstanding performance, professionalism, concern for shipmates, leadership and dedication to the Navy.

Zmierski is serving aboard the USS MacDonough stationed out of Norfolk, Va. He is serving in the shipboard engineering field as a boiler technician.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. Donald Wernette, Cass City, has been appointed to a four year term on the Sanilac County Board of Canvassers.

Petitions bearing 87 signatures were presented to the Gagetown Village Council Monday evening, protesting topless dancing at Bennett's Bar and Hotel.

The odd-year graduates defeated the even-year graduates of Cass City High School Saturday night in the annual alumni game, 95-85, but the real winner was the Varsity Club, which netted $160.

Alan Crouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crouse, Cass City, was one of 50 recipients selected from among 200 candidates to be awarded President's Scholarships for 1976 at Eastern Michigan University.

TEN YEARS AGO

An all-time record vote may be recorded March 8 in Cass City when voters will decide whether bars will be allowed to serve liquor by the glass.

The Elkland Township Fire Department held its annual election of officers Jan. 28. Reelected were Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. and Assistant Chief, Dick Root. Others elected were Ed Bergman, first captain; Jim Jezewski, second captain; Dave McNaughton, secretary, and Dean Toner, treasurer.

Trustees of Rawson Memorial Library have asked the Cass City Village Council to consider helping the facility financially this year.

A total budget that will reach more than $300,000 is in store for the village of Cass City as the cost of running the community continues to leap upward.

25 YEARS AGO

Cadet Captain Donald Nye, commander of the Cass City Civil Air Patrol squadron, received his observer's wings at an assembly of the Thumb group personnel.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morell of Cass City are now in business in Akron, following their purchase of a hardware store owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Achenbach of Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schwaderer left last Thursday for a two-month stay in Florida.

A change in administration of the Elkland Township Fire Department was voted at the regular meeting. Elected chief was Howard Ellis; assistant chief, Ed Baker; treasurer, Fritz Neitzel, and secretary, Morton Orr.

A-2c Richard J. Wald arrived in New York Sunday morning from Paris. He is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. David Durst and family and will arrive home Tuesday.

35 YEARS AGO

Dr. Herbert L. Nigg arrived in Cass City Monday and will be associated with Dr. H.T. Donahue as a partner with offices in Pleasant Home Hospital.

Cass City debaters progressed to the district elimination tournament by virtue of four victories at Millington Monday, Jan. 29.

Stanley Morell of Bad Axe has purchased the Kettlewell three-story business block on W. Main Street, two doors east of the Elkland Hall, and expects to occupy it about May 1 with a stock of hardware and other merchandise.

At the annual meeting of the Tuscola county chapter of the American Red Cross, Frederick H. Pinney of Cass City was elected treasurer.

Girl Scout Troop 856 keeps busy

Girl Scout Troop 856 has been busy this past few weeks.

Jan. 21, the girls went bowling at Charmont and had refreshments afterwards. Jan. 29, the Junior Girl Scouts played volleyball at Campbell Elementary School.

Leaders Hilda Koch and Judy Profit attended a Girl Scout cookie meeting at the Holiday Inn in Midland.

The troop was to have met this Wednesday with Ranie Smith bringing the refreshments.

H&R BLOCK TAX TEST

Question No. 9

Income averaging can save you money. But only if you make more than $30,000 a year.

☐ True ☐ False

What you don't know about income averaging could cost you money.

H&R Block knows that no matter how much you make, if your income went up substantially last year you may be able to income average. We'll take advantage of this if it's to your benefit. The answer is FALSE, since there is no minimum amount of income required to qualify.

New books at the library

Jim Fixx's SECOND BOOK OF RUNNING: THE ALL-NEW COMPANION VOLUME TO THE COMPLETE BOOK OF RUNNING (non-fiction). With the explosion of the jogging craze and recent medical and psychological studies into running's benefits and hazards, Fixx finds there's room for expansion and improvement in the advice he gave in his first book. Along with new "irrefutable" evidence that running is good for physical and mental health, Fixx gives further information on racing, distance running beyond the marathon, women runners, extremely young and extremely old runners, diet, and the social significance of the jogging boom.

THE FATE OF THE DOLLAR, by Martin Mayer (non-fiction). Mayer emphatically explains how the U.S. dollar reached its present state of malaise. Opening with a description of the disproportionate monetary goodwill practiced by the U.S. after World War II, the author goes on to specify the economy's rickety trip from the Eisenhower administration through that of Jimmy Carter. Economic fluctuations are described and are shown to be directly linked to national and international politics. While the material is dense, the smooth style clarifies it considerably. An enlightening work by the author of "The Bankers."

AGAIN CALLS THE OWL, by Margaret Craven (non-fiction). A rich memoir in which Craven recalls her evolution as a writer, beginning with her years at Stanford and ending, rather abruptly, with remarks about the publication of her book based on childhood recollections. Whether Craven is conjuring up images of a younger self gouging her way out of a swimmer's stranglehold at school, or later sitting at the deathbed of a beloved editor, or researching at age 69 the people and Canadian wilderness that became the background of her highly acclaimed novel "I Heard the Owl Call My Name," her fine, spare writing reveals a woman of sensitivity, forthrightness, warmth, and talent.

Monday evening, Jan. 26, members of the RLDS church held a going-away party for Alan and David Dorman at the annex. A potluck supper was served at 7:30 and a program held. Gifts were presented to them. Alan enlisted in the Air Force and left Jan. 28. David also enlisted and will go Feb. 5 in the Army. They

Muxlow on four House committees

Newly elected State Rep. Keith Muxlow (R-Brown City) has been named vice-chairman of the House Committee on Tourist Industry Relations for the 1981-82 session.

In addition, he was appointed to the Agriculture Committee, State Affairs Committee and Urban Affairs Committee.

All proposed bills are referred to at least one committee, where they are studied by the panel's members. Legislation can be altered in committee, thereby giving legislators a great deal of influence over bills scrutinized by their committee.

For a bill to become law, it must be approved by a House committee, the full House, a Senate committee, and the full Senate. The governor then must put his signature on the legislation within two weeks after he receives it.

Muxlow's district includes all of Huron and Sanilac counties.

PIONEERS

The Pioneer Group met Thursday, Jan. 22, at the RLDS church annex. A 12:00 o'clock dinner was served with 22 present. A local program was given.

The next meeting is Feb. 26 for a pancake and sausage dinner at noon.

Your Neighbor says

Gas price increase will boost inflation

President Reagan's decision last week to immediately remove all remaining controls on the price of gasoline didn't meet with approval from Garland Fox.

He doesn't think it was a good idea "because it is another handle on inflation and this is what caused our inflation in the first place, the increase in (the price of) gasoline."

Predictions as to the effect of Reagan's action vary, depending on who is doing the estimating, but one forecast was a 3-5 cent increase in the price of gasoline over the next few months and 8-13 cents by the end of this year. Heating fuel oil price increases would be similar.

One of the arguments in favor of the price increase is that it will encourage the oil companies to explore for more oil. Fox doesn't feel they need more incentive, "not when they're making billions of dollars of profit already."

Reagan's executive order raised the price of domestic crude oil from an average of about $36 a barrel to the world level of $39.40 for a 42-gallon barrel.

"How can they charge the OPEC price for oil that is drilled in Michigan and in

Philathea class has sleigh ride

The Philathea class of the Baptist church had a party Saturday at the home of Dick and Loraine Enos, with 28 persons attending.

After a sleigh ride, the group enjoyed a chili supper.

Bob Britton, class president, conducted a business meeting and Ed Connell, instructor, gave a devotional talk on the 92nd Psalm.

Elwyn and Linda Helwig and Stan and Melva Guinther volunteered to plan the next class party, to be held in March.

Kiss your baby to detect cystic fibrosis

When is a kiss not just a kiss?

When it's used to detect Cystic Fibrosis.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation has launched a statewide educational project, "Kiss your baby," for the week of Feb. 8-14.

Purpose of the venture is to alert parents to the symptoms of Cystic Fibrosis and other children's lung diseases in the hope that early diagnosis and prompt treatment (an essential element in lengthening the life span of children and young adults with CF) will result.

One of the symptoms of Cystic Fibrosis is an extremely salty taste to the child's perspiration, which can be detected by kissing or tasting them on the forehead.

Other symptoms include: (1) recurrent wheezing, (2) persistent coughing and excess mucus, (3) pneumonia more than once during childhood, (4) excessive appetite, but poor weight gain and (5) clubbing (enlargement) of fingertips.

Parents who feel their child may have CF should consult their physician.

"It is estimated that respiratory problems in children take up to 70 percent of a pediatrician's time and are the leading cause of chronic absenteeism from school," said Jerry Dambro, president of the Greater Michigan Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

"Furthermore, Cystic Fibrosis is second only to cancer in the number of young lives it takes and one-third of the victims of this disease are not yet diagnosed.

Cystic Fibrosis is an inherited disease for which there is neither a cure nor control. In CF, a thick, sticky mucus clogs the lungs and airways creating breathing difficulties, high susceptibility to infection and lung damage. The

see new heat permanents

The Thumb Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Affiliates held its monthly meeting in Cass City Jan. 26.

The state beauty and barber inspector has been returned to the area due to the letters sent to Lansing protesting license fees being put in the state general fund.

Kern's Beauty Shop sent three stylists to the meeting to present the latest innovation in heat permanents to 17 members present.

Coffee and donuts were served. Next meeting will be Feb. 9 at Helen's Beauty Salon. All licensed cosmetologists are invited to join.

Life would be a whole lot tougher if every work day made a person as tired as a holiday.

Ex-Holbrook resident Lloyd Hill dies

Lloyd Hill, 54, of Brown City, died unexpectedly Jan. 21 at Marlette Community Hospital.

He was born Feb. 10, 1926, and raised in the Holbrook area. He had been a Brown City resident since 1962.

Hill and Deloris Sontag were married Nov. 6, 1949, in Sandusky.

He had served in the U.S. Navy in World War II. He was employed as a journeyman welder in Flint.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, Clifford of Melvin and Roy and Michael, both of Brown City; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Darling, Marlette, and Mrs. John Kelly, Cass City, and two grandchildren.

A son, Timothy, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Jan. 24 at Carman Funeral Home, Brown City, with Rev. Stanley Wingard of the Brown City First Baptist church officiating.

Burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

Number of state farms unchanged

The number of Michigan farms in 1980 remained at 66,000, unchanged from a year earlier. However, farm numbers in 1981 are expected to decline by 1,000, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Total land in farms is estimated at 11,400,000 acres and has held steady since 1976.

The definition of a farm includes all places that sell or normally would sell $1,000 of agricultural produce.

Michigan farm numbers for 1974 through 1980 have been revised upward, based primarily on data from the 1978 Census of Agriculture.

Cass City unimpressive in overtime games

Hawks need Caro upset to stay in race

If the Cass City Red Hawks are to have any chance at all of successfully defending their Thumb B Association crown a win Friday when league leading Caro comes to town is essential. And the way the Hawks have been playing recently Cass City will rank as decided underdogs against the Tigers. Tuesday night at Harbor Beach, Cass City was forced into double overtime to defeat the Pirates, 85-71. The Hawks were paced by Craig Tonti who poured in 36 points in the lengthy contest, but it was the work of unheralded Ray Ferris that enabled the Hawks to pull it out.

Ferris, the sixth man this season, has made important contributions to the team, but none as significant as his performance against the Pirates.

In the first overtime period Ferris hit two jumpers from the side of the key to counter a couple of buckets by Duane Lange. Tonti scored on a break away and the Pirates countered to make the score 71-71 as the first overtime ended.

Ferris continued his point production as he sent the Hawks in front by sinking both ends of a one and one. Moments later a steal by Tonti for a bucket placed Cass City in front by four.

After that it was a parade of foul shots for Cass City and the Hawks converted every one of them to win going away, 85-71. In the second overtime Harbor Beach failed to score.

It was a nip and tuck game all the way. Cass City jumped out to an early lead although the team played poorly allowing the Pirates several fast breaks for easy buckets.

In the quarter Todd Comment picked up his third foul. He sat on the bench for the second quarter, returned to the game at the start of the third quarter and fouled again.

He returned in the last of the fourth quarter and played only a minute or so and left the game. In all he played just a little over a quarter.

In the second period the Pirates pulled ahead. The lead varied from six to two points. Tim Sontag scored three buckets from close-in to keep Cass City within range.

At the half Harbor Beach had a five-point, 36-31 lead. That lead was maintained until midway in the fourth quarter when Cass City took the lead for the first time since early in the game, 55-53.

The rally was paced by Tonti who poured in baskets from all over the floor.

The lead see-sawed after that. With 23 seconds left in the game the score was tied. Darryl Wehner converted two free throws to send the Pirates in front, 65-63.

With just seven seconds left the Hawks worked the ball in to Sontag who scored to send the game into overtime.

Cass City's scoring was headed by Tonti, 36 points and Sontag with 24. Ferris scored 12 points and eight of them came when they were needed most.

Harbor Beach was paced by Lange who scored 29 points on jump shots and driving lay-ups.

LAKER GAME

Cass City's chances for at least a share of the Thumb B Conference championship were dealt what probably will be a fatal blow, at Laker High Friday.

The Hawks bowed to the Lakers in overtime, 62-60.

The story of the game was told on the boards. The Lakers dominated the offensive and defensive boards. The green and white gobbled up 39 rebounds to 31 for Cass City and on the offensive boards held a 15-10 advantage.

After a nip and tuck first half with neither team able to take command, the Lakers looked as if they might take control in the third period.

The hosts ran up a six-point lead at the end of three quarters. But the Hawks were far from through. They closed the gap to two points and Craig Tonti's two free throws with 12 seconds left tied it.

The Lakers could have won it in regulation but Bryan Chisholm missed a pair of free shots with only 4 seconds left.

In the overtime the Lakers scored the first two baskets. Todd Comment hit from the corner to close the gap to a basket.

The Lakers went in front by three points with a free throw. Comment closed the gap with a basket from the corner.

A turnover resulted in a Laker basket and Cass City trailed 61-56 with just over a minute to play and it looked like it was all over.

But Tonti made good on two foul shot tries and scored a moment later on a short jump shot after a steal and there was only a point difference with about a half minute left.

Wichert then sank one of two foul shots to stretch the lead to two points.

Cass City had a final chance to tie it up again but the shot missed and when the Lakers grabbed the rebound it was all over.

Tonti led all scorers with 21 points. Comment added 19 and Tim Sontag netted 12. For the Lakers, Wichert and Bryan Chisholm netted 15 each and Jim Weidman scored 13. Cass City hit 25 of 58 shots from the field for 42 percent while the Lakers converted 27 of 60 for 45 percent. Cass City was excellent from the free throw line with 10 of 13 while the Lakers converted just 8 of 17.

The Cass City JV's lost another in the preliminary, bowing to the Lakers in a low scoring game, 36-20.

Hawk wrestlers eye loop crown

Cass City High School wrestlers have stamped themselves as the squad to beat in Thumb B Association competition this year.

The Hawks are 5-0 in the league and 9-0-1 in all dual meets. The league record counts for half of the points in the league race.

The Hawks kept their undefeated string going last Wednesday with a 37-30 decision over Marlette, annually one of the top wrestling schools in the Thumb.

Wednesday the Hawks were to have faced Vassar at Cass City in the final dual meet in the conference.

Results of the Marlette match:

98-pounds - Jeff Papp pinned Dan Clothier, M, 2:14.

105-pounds - Dari Wright, M, pinned Steve Smith, CC, 3:41.

112-pounds - Mark Reed, M, won by forfeit.

119-pounds - Tim Wendt, M, decided Paul Brown, C, 9-4.

126-pounds - Mark Dolecki, CC, superior decision Adam Noyes, M, 14-0.

132-pounds - Clayton Harmer, CC, superior decision Tom Noyes, M, 14-0.

138-pounds - Blake Fisher, CC, won on overtime criteria Keith Huber, M, 8-0.

145-pounds - Ken Huber, M, pinned Steve Steely, CC, 1:01.

155-pounds - Brad Hayward, M, won on overtime criteria Bob Sawdon, CC, 9-9.

167-pounds - John Warju, CC, pinned Joe Sanders, M, 1:28.

185-pounds - Matt Kraft, M, won by disqualification over Rob Lawrence, CC.

198-pounds - Doug Sowden won by forfeit.

Heavyweight Jim Jensen, CC, pinned John Massogla, M, 3:05.

DISTRICT MEET

The district wrestling tournament will be held at Cass City Saturday, Feb. 14. Among the top Class C teams to compete will be Montrose, New Lothrop, Flint Bently and Flint Bendle. Wrestling starts a 11 a.m.

STATISTICS

Among wrestlers participating in 10 or more meets, Jim Jensen, heavyweight, has the best record, a mark of 15 wins and one loss. Close behind are Clayton Harmer (12-2) and Phil Harmer (8-2).

Other records established were: Jeff Papp, 10-6; Steve Smith, 3-8; Paul Brown, 12-5; Mark Dolecki, 12-6; Blake Fisher, 12-6; Steve Steely, 2-8; Bob Sawdon, 12-7; John Warju, 9-4; Doug Sowden, 11-6; Shawn Papp, 12-4.

Clayton Harmer leads the team in pins with 10, one ahead of Shawn Papp, 9.

Jensen and Sowden have eight pins each while Paul Brown, Phil Harmer, Jeff Papp and John Warju have seven each.

3 teams tie for lead in recreation league

The Cass City Recreation-Basketball League season is at the half way mark and the race for the regular season toga is tight, tight, tight.

It's tight because Stevenson's Insurance knocked off previously undefeated People's State Bank, 83-65, last Wednesday, to create a three-way tie for the lead.

Stevenson's bounced out with big margins in the second and third quarters to win it. The teams played to a 14-all tie in the first period but the winners moved to a 37-30 halftime lead behind Mark Green's eight points and Rick Tuckey's six.

The big third quarter showed the Insurance men's margin to 61-44 and they coasted in from there. Green, 28, Mark Gainsforth, 22, and Tuckey, 20, led Stevenson's while Dirk Sutherland, 18, and Jeff Knox, 10, were in double figures for the losers.

In the second game Shetler's topped McMahan's in a low scoring game, 50-43, to tie for the league lead.

It was a surprisingly tough win for Shetler's. The winners trailed at the end of the first quarter, 7-6, and led 19-14 at the intermission in the see-saw game.

McMahan's charged back to tie it at the end of three periods but Shetler's tucked away the win in the last period behind Paul Beachy's nine-point splurge.

Beachy had 17 points for the night and Jack Paul contributed 10 for Shetler's. Leon Kanieczwski scored 20 for McMahan's.

In a battle of second division clubs Thursday Char-mont had little trouble topping winless Erla's, 84-42.

The Foodmen showed improvement but not enough to get into the win circle. Char-mont moved out to a 17-8 first period score and never looked back. At the half it was 35-20 and after three quarters the margin was 29 points.

Tim Severance led the winners with 20 points. Others in double figures were Clyde Weir, 14, Al Romig, 12, and Dave Doerr, 12. For the losers Chuck Hendrick netted 18 and Dan Ulfig, 10.

In the last game of the week Thursday, Hillaker's Auctioneers had little trouble with Caro Plumbing & Heating as they posted an 85-51 decision.

Hillaker's set the tempo for the game with a 19-8 first period advantage. At the half, it was 41-23 as Marty Zawilinski netted 10 of his 16 points in the first two periods.

Dave Zawilinski paced a big 26-10 margin for Hillaker's in the third period and the winners coasted in from there.

Roy Calahan, of Hillaker's, 26 points, led all scorers. The Zawilinskis netted 16 each and Joe Hillaker added 10. Pat Hagen, returning to action after recovering from a serious eye injury, paced the losers with 16. Craig Miles netted 11.

O-G splits league tilts with Kingston and Peck

Owen-Gage gained a split in week-end basketball action, downing Kingston Friday night, 61-49, and losing to Peck Saturday night, 61-47. Both games were played at home.

The Bulldogs now stand at 3-6 in North Central D League play, 4-10 overall.

Coach Phil Gray's Bulldogs had a surprisingly easy time Friday, leading the Cardinals by seven points after the first eight minutes, by 14 at the half and by 18 at the three-quarter mark.

Kingston only narrowed the gap late in the fourth quarter when Gray emptied his bench.

Owen-Gage made 22 of 51 floor shots, 43 percent, and 15 of 22 from the charity line, 68 percent.

Top scorers were Terry Muntz with 22 points and Jim and Dan Glidden, each with 15.

The Cardinals connected on 23 of 59 field goal attempts, 39 percent, and -- where the big difference came in the game -- three of nine shots from the charity line.

Jason Koehler scored 24 points.

Jim Glidden grabbed 15 of his team's 35 rebounds. The Cardinals pulled down 31.

Kingston won the junior varsity game, 56-41.

Score by quarters:

PECK GAME

Owen-Gage led at the end of the first quarter, but it was downhill after that as the Pirates pulled away for the final 61-47 margin.

Terry Muntz led the Bulldogs with 18 points and 11 of his team's 31 rebounds. Randy Radabaugh dropped in 10 points.

The team made 15 of 46 field goal attempts, 33 percent, and 17 of 23 charity tosses, 74 percent.

Steve Fletcher scored 17 points for Peck, Pat Garvey, 12, and Dale Seddon, 11.

The Pirates connected on 20 of 72 field goal attempts for a meager 28 percent, and collected 21 points out of 35 tosses at the charity line, 60 percent. Twenty-seven of its free throws were in the second half.

The team collected 35 rebounds.

The Bulldog JVs gained their third win of the season, 40-28.

Friday, Owen-Gage plays league leading North Huron at Kinde. Tuesday, it travels to Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

Score by quarters:

O-G girls roll to victory

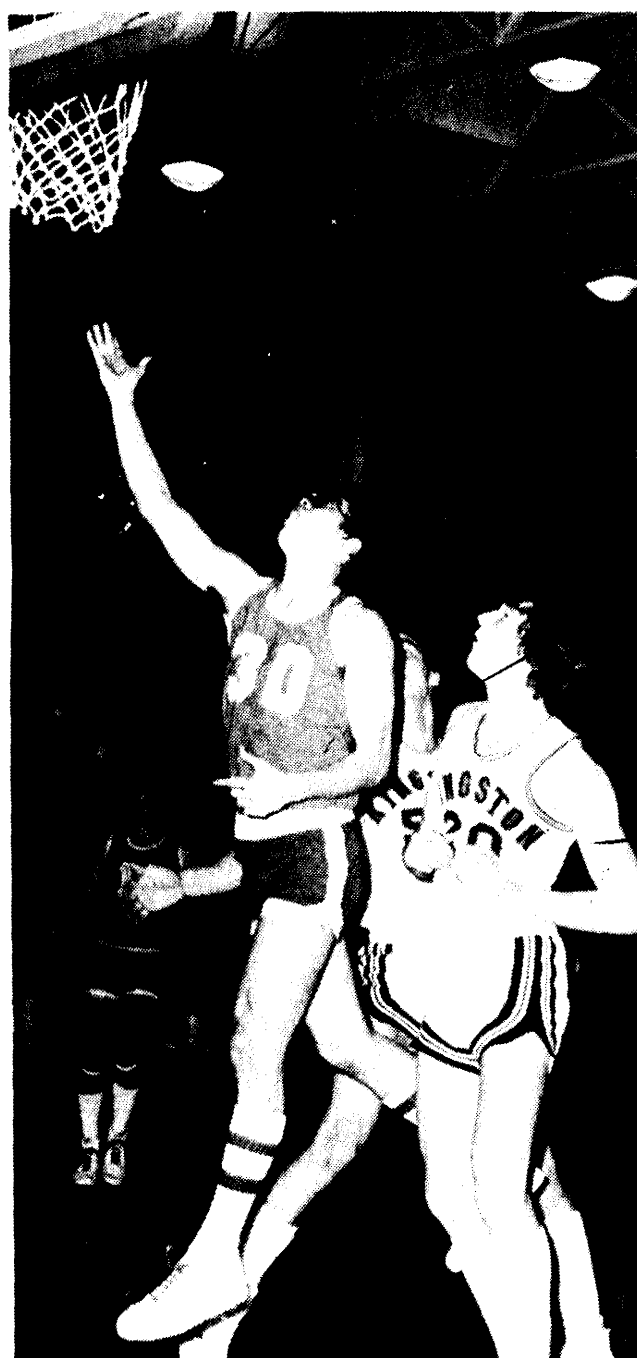

Owen-Gage opened its defense of its North Central D League title with a win Monday evening at Caseville.

The Bulldogs won the first match, 15-12, 15-12. Becky Howard had six ace spikes and 11 good spikes. Kris Erickson scored 12 points and Julie Andrakowicz, nine.

Owen-Gage was victorious in the second match, 15-6, 15-2. Howard had six ace spikes and three good spikes. Andrakowicz scored seven points and Howard and Cheryl Mandich, six each.

The Bulldog junior varsity also won, 15-5, 17-15.

Coach Judy Campbell's squad entertains Peck Thursday and Ubyl Monday, the latter a non-league contest.

WHITHER THOU GOEST -- For a brief moment, Jim Glidden can only wonder whether his shot will go in, as does Kingston's Jason Koehler. Glidden scored 15 points in the Bulldogs' win.

Several crashes caused by icy road conditions

Icy roads were a contributing factor in many area accidents during the past several days.

The most serious involved Jeffrey E. Guigar, 21, of Freiburg Road, Ubyl, who was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Tuscola county deputies reported he was eastbound on Bay City-Forestville Road, west of Cemetery Road, at 10 p.m. Sunday when he lost control of his car.

The vehicle went off the south side of the road, rolled over in the ditch and came to rest on its wheels.

Guigar was ticketed by officers on a charge of careless driving.

Cass City police reported that at 5:35 p.m. Friday, Rose Ann Guinther, 44, of 6397 Seventh Street, was southbound on West Street, failed to yield at Sixth Street, and her car was struck by a westbound vehicle.

Driver of the other vehicle was Donald R. Puskas, 32, of 6362 Sixth Street.

Ms. Guinther, who was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield, may have received minor injuries, officers reported, but didn't require hospital treatment.

At 8:30 a.m. Jan. 27, village police said, Joyce K. Kaplan, 37, of 6915 Gilford Road, Deford, northbound on Seeger Street, was stopped for the red light at Main Street.

The car behind her, driven by Brenda Izydorek, 17, of 3120 Decker Road, Decker, couldn't stop in time because of the icy roadway and slid into the rear of the Kaplan car.

At 9:40 a.m. that day, officers said, Roger F. Vollmer, 26, of Pigeon, northbound on Weaver Street, stopped for the stop sign at Main.

Kirby S. Merrell, 22, of Milford, turned right from eastbound Main, went wide on the icy corner and collided with the Vollmer vehicle.

Deputies reported that at 7:55 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 28, Jeanette Green, 19, of Caro, was turning right from M-81 onto Cass River Drive, northeast of Caro.

The auto behind her, headed northeast, couldn't stop in time, due to extremely icy conditions, swerved, but still ran into the right side of her car.

Driver of the other car was Sherri R. Powell, 21, of 3461 Phillips Road, Kingston.

At 9:02 p.m. that day, according to deputies, Thomas J. Osantowski, 29, of 6673 Severance Road, Cass City, was southbound on Cemetery Road.

He lost control on the icy surface at Kelly Road and his vehicle went off the east side of the road. It ran over a General Telephone service box before going into the ditch.

Thomas M. MacMillan, 20, of Bad Axe, was cited by Caro state police on a charge of failure to yield after a 10:10 a.m. mishap last Thursday.

He was driving a garbage truck, parked on the west shoulder of Dodge Road, facing south, to pick up a load of trash. Troopers said he then pulled onto the road and started to turn left onto Penny Road. A southbound auto then ran into the left side of his truck.

MacMillan told officers he looked in his rearview mirror before turning but the car may have been in his "blind spot." Driver of the car was Laurie J. Bursick, 24, of Sebewaing.

At 9:15 a.m. Friday, according to Cass City police, Peggy C. Ulfig, 27, of 6609 Seed Street, was facing north in a private drive, ready to turn onto Main Street.

Myung Hee Park, 32, of 4830 Crestwood Circle, turned from Main into the icy driveway and her car ran into the Ulfig vehicle. The drive was east of Woodland Avenue.

Village police reported an accident at 11:18 a.m. Monday involving a village-owned truck, driven by Russell Bradley, 35, of 4207 Sherman Street.

They reported he was westbound on Church Street, stopped at Oak, then proceeded across the intersection and his truck was struck by a southbound auto. Bradley said he didn't see the car approach.

Driver of the auto was Jerri Ann Kitchen, 20, of 4661 Oak Street.

Soil district plans contest

The Tuscola County Soil Conservation District (SCD) and the Michigan Association of Conservation Districts are sponsoring a youth soil and water conservation poster contest.

They and the Michigan State Grange are also sponsoring a scrapbook contest. Theme for both contests is "Soil Gives Life." Entries should describe the relationship between living things and the soil, especially how humans fit into the relationship. They and many other living things depend on a thin layer of productive soil for food, fiber and therefore, life itself.

Divisions for the poster contest are: I, first and second grade students; II, grades 3-4; III, 5-6, and IV, 7-8.

Posters will be judged at the local level. The top two winners in each division will receive an award from the local district and their entries will be submitted for statewide judging. Creators of the three best entries in each division at the state level are awarded a plaque.

The same provisions for giving of awards apply to the scrapbook contest. The divisions are: I, grades 3-4; II, 5-6, and III, 7-8.

The deadline for submitting entries to the Tuscola Soil Conservation District office, 852 S. Hooper Street, Caro, is March 31.

Entry form listing name, address, division and conservation district must be attached to the back of each entry. The forms are available at the office and may be obtained when the entries are brought in.

Poster entries must be at least 8 1/2 by 11 inches in size and not larger than 12 by 18. Choice of materials is up to the entrant.

Entries will be judged on the basis of originality, appropriateness to the theme, clarity, visual impact and overall appearance.

In the scrapbook contest, all pictures, drawings, charts and graphs must have appropriate explanations and/or captions and sources noted. Photos taken by the entrants are encouraged.

For more information, call the SCD office at 673-8174.

O-G flu outbreak curbed

Cancellation of classes Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week in the Owendale-Gagetown schools because of an outbreak of the flu had the desired effect.

Tuesday of last week, the last day classes were held, about 60 students of the 200 at the high school were absent. Tuesday of this week, only about 20 were out of school.

A similar drop in the absentee rate was reported at Gagetown Elementary School, where 66 were absent the final day of school last week, compared to 25 Tuesday of this week.

Letter to the Editor

Senior citizens need meal site

To the Editor,

I feel the Cass City Village Council and/or Chamber of Commerce should find a place for the senior citizens of Cass City to use for meals three days a week. I was embarrassed to read an article on "Cass City unable to find a place" for our senior citizens to meet that is barrier free, thus no meals.

I voted for this additional tax to provide these meals. It appears that all are receiving it in our county now except Cass City.

This article stated that besides the meal, the group would like to remain a couple of hours for visiting. It seems someone could be hired for up to 6 hours a day to prepare these meals.

I realize the schools cannot provide this space as all cafeteria rooms become study halls or physical education facilities as soon as lunch is over.

However, what about our fire hall? It is a township hall. It is only used for voting and night meetings of firemen. Could it be utilized?

Or an empty store downtown? Or our Cultural Center with a back entrance that could be made barrier free? What about a restaurant? Could this money that would go to a cook for six hours be used for someone that is already in the food business?

There must be an answer somewhere. What about our library? This is a nice barrier free building that just recently added an addition.

Three days a week for three or four hours of use should be available. Do all church halls have steps to climb?

We have many things to be proud of in our community but here is a need we must meet or else we should hide our heads in shame. I hope people reading this letter will bombard our village council and Chamber of Commerce people with ideas. A place must be found.

Name withheld upon request

Editor's note: A better place to "bombard" with suggestions is the Thumb Area Commission on Aging office, telephone 872-4361.

Its nutrition director, Joan Andrakowicz, said Tuesday the search for a suitable location is continuing, with more thought being given to the possibility that it will have to be in a church outside of town, due to the difficulty in finding an in-town location.

Gagetown Boosts renter water deposit

The Gagetown Village Council Monday evening boosted the deposit required of renters in order to get their water turned on from $20 to $25.

The deposit is applied against any unpaid portion of their water bills when they move out. If the bills were paid, they get the deposit back.

The $20 hadn't always been enough to cover the amount of unpaid bills, according to Village Clerk Elery Sontag, hence the increase.

The council approved an emergency preparedness ordinance, which will be published in the Chronicle. It also okayed purchase of two tires for the village's tractor.

Council members began discussing the budget for the 1981-82 fiscal year, which starts April 1.

Troopers probe beer can theft at gun club

"The Case of the Empty Beer Cans."

It will never rank with a Perry Mason mystery, but Caro state police are investigating the theft of 30 cases of empty Pabst Blue Ribbon cans from the Cass City Gun Club on Englehart Road.

The theft occurred some time between 4 p.m. last Wednesday and 9:25 a.m. Thursday. It was discovered by club member Martin Twork of 6674 Severance Road.

At 10 cents per returnable can, the empties, if redeemed, were worth $72. The thieves also took one case of Pabst which they had to empty themselves, worth $8.

Entry to the building, according to troopers, was gained by prying a panel from a wood door.

Howard Luana of 6425 Mushroom Road, Deford, reported to sheriff's deputies Jan. 27 that two Stihl chainsaws were stolen from a shed behind his home that day or the previous one.

The 16-inch chainsaw, complete with case, grease gun and filer, was worth $325. The 12-inch saw was worth $75.

John E. Sedlak, of 4102 Clothier Road, Kingston, reported to Caro state police Jan. 25 that a citizens band radio worth $65 and combination 8-track tape player and FM radio, $100, were removed from his pickup while parked at the Kingswood Inn on Phillips Road the evening of the 24th.

Entry was gained to the vehicle by chipping away a piece of the vent window, using a wire or another object to unlatch it, then reaching in to open the door.

Larry Turnbull of 4956 Little Road reported to Caro state police last Wednesday evening that about 10 gallons of gasoline were siphoned from the Cass City school bus he drives while it was parked by his house.

He scared away the person who had been siphoning it, who got away.

Dogs the way to go over snow, says local 'musher'

What has two tracks, 32 feet and never runs out of gasoline?

The answer is Mike Edginton's dog sled, pulled by eight dogs.

This is the fourth year the Cemetery Road, Cass City resident, has engaged in dog sledding, but his first with eight dogs. Next year, he plans to start racing with the animals.

Edginton first got interested in dog sledding when living near Atlanta in northern lower Michigan and used an Alaskan malamute to pull a toboggan loaded with rubbish to the dump.

That led to the purchase of a dog sled and more dogs.

Holmberg addresses AAUW

Arthur Holmberg spoke on the subject, "Big and Little," at the Jan. 27 meeting of the Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women in the high school library.

Holmberg, former Cass City High School principal and science teacher unfolded the mysteries of the composition of all matter and air. Using many objects and visual aids, he gave insight into what things are really made of.

A short business meeting was conducted by President Barbara Tuckey.

Members were reminded that the Artrain will be coming to Cass City in May, and urged to cooperate in the community effort.

The president also announced that the Detroit Theatre will present two performances of "Great American Band Wagon" at the Cass City Intermediate School. Members are welcome to attend, since the branch sponsors the event along with the school.

Free books will be distributed by Ann Craig and Dotty Scollon to the students in the second grades of the Deford and Evergreen schools in February. This is a continuing activity of the branch in cooperation with the national RIF (Reading is Fundamental) program.

Ann Elliot of Lapeer was a guest of Barbara Stickle.

Lucy Auten, Kathy Tuckey and Rita Coe were hostesses.

Edginton and his family later moved to Pontiac, then moved to their mobile home south of Kelly Road two years ago when there got to be too many dogs for the urban environment, though that wasn't necessarily the only reason.

He and his wife Carol have two children, Michael, 5, and Heather, 6 months.

Edginton, 27, works at Pontiac Motors in Pontiac. The dog portion of the family numbers 10, Malamutes, Russian Samoyeds and Siberian huskies.

THIS IS THE FIRST winter he has had more than five dogs. Sunday was the first day that he used eight dogs, having just acquired an eight-dog harness as well as a new sled.

The new sled is a cross country freight sled, which can carry two seated persons. The shorter racing sled he owns has room for only one.

He and his brother-in-law, Paul Bessler, who helps him with the dogs, traveled to Deford and back.

The farthest they have traveled is 20 miles, which took about 5½ hours, including a stop for lunch.

Sled dogs can travel all day, if at a slow steady pace. On ice, they can hit a top speed of 15-16 miles per hour. In wet snow such as on Sunday, top speed is about 10 mph.

In the types of races Edginton will be entering next winter, short races may be 5-7 miles, for which participants can use three or more dogs. Long races may be 30 miles on a Saturday and another 30 on Sunday, with 10 or 11 dogs used to pull a sled. Only one man rides in races.

AS FOR HOW THE DOGS feel about all the exercise, Edginton said, "This is what they live for. They love it."

The dogs don't require any real advance training before being hooked to the harness, but the more time they spend together in harness, the better they work together as a team. The hardest thing to teach them is to make turns, he said.

He yells to the dogs, "hike," to get started, and "whoa" to get them to stop. Another common term used for starting is, "let's go."

Dog sled racers refer to themselves as "mushers," but he has yet to hear anyone yell, "mush," to get their dogs moving.

Due to their heavy coats, sled dogs don't do much in summer except loaf. Training starts in the fall, when they pull a three-wheel cart over trails.

HIS 10 DOGS CONSUME about 50 pounds of high-protein dog food a week, but in terms of total expense, he doesn't think his hobby costs much more than a person spends who goes bowling every week.

Dog sledding is also a good family activity, Edginton feels, although his children, due to their young age, have only been able to go for short rides.

The nearest "musher" that Edginton knows is in Frankenmuth and the fact that there aren't too many dog sledders is appealing to him. "It's something different."

Interest in the sport is growing, however. The big Michigan dog sled races of the winter were Jan. 24-26 at Kalkaska, which he attended, and many potential dog sledders were there asking "mushers" questions.

Dog sledding is 4,000 years old, according to Edginton, but many traditional dog sledders, the Eskimos, now use snowmobiles.

The Cass Cityan owns a snow machine, but says, "I'd rather drive my dogs than my snowmobile any day."
