LION'S SHARE -- There's a new member of the Mary Winter family, Sue Ellen, a five-month old lion he purchased from Lion Country Safari in Florida. With her is son Kent, 6. The lion eats 6-8 pounds of raw meat every other day and will reach full size of 250-300 pounds in two years. Winter, of Van Dyke Road, plans to keep the animal, which will be declawed, unless it gets too wild. If it does, he will give it to a zoo.

Neighbors revive tot from drowning

Thursday for what could have been a tragedy, when neighbors saved the life of 18-month-old Matthew Hennessey of Bay City.

The youngster's parents are ex-Cass Cityans Robert and Mary Hennessey.

Mrs. Hennessey and her son had returned home from shopping about 6 p.m. and were at the back door when she heard the telephone ring. She put the packages and her son down on the porch and went inside.

When she returned a short time later, she found Matthew had wandered off. According to Robert Hennessey, he may have followed the family dog. Mrs. Hennessey found her son lying face down in a pool of water which had collected on the top of the canve3 gover over the family swimming pool.

Her husband said she pulled him off, went inside and called an ambulance and then rushed to the nextdoor neighbor, Harold LaFave, for help. Her husband, an accountant, was still at work.

LaFave, 50, just out of the shower and clad in a bathrobe, and his son, Hank, '7, responded.

The child was still by the side of the pool when they arrived, Hank told the Chronicle.

The Bay City Central High School student had taken a mandatory health class his freshman year, which included first aid.

He gave directions to his father, who put his mouth over the child's mouth and sucked twice. LaFave spit out water. He then breathed once into the child, his son said, and Matthew started breathing.

LaFave, held the child upside down and water came out of his mouth.

The ambulance crew arrived just after that, about three minutes after they were called, but did not need to take any additional measures to aid the child's

Wisconsin was also explored as a place to relocate. "One evening we got together and voted where to go," he explained. The group first became interested in the Thumb when one of them responded to a for sale ad in an Indiana newspaper for a hog farm near Minden City. That farm wasn't purchased, but a visit to the area got the group interested.

It was a year ago in December that Osentoski Realty was first contacted about purchase of farms in this area. Osentoski eventually handled three sales and Realty World - Marshall and Associates of Marlette handled the three others. Five are being purchased on land contracts; one was purchased for cash.

Prizes galore await shoppers

There are prizes, prizes, prizes waiting for lucky Cass City shoppers during the next three weeks in the Spring Fling sponsored by the Cass City Retail Com-

Here's the way it works. All participating stores have numbers listed inside their store. On the front page of an inside section is a page ad with a number printed on it. That's your lucky number, no one else has it.

Just match your number with one of the numbers listed in the store and you win. While in the store register in the free drawing to win a $300 shopping spree with lucky bucks that spend like cash at participating stores.

One of the pleasant features of the Spring Fling is that if you don't win the first week you have two more chances.

On the next two Wednesdays, March 25 and April 1, a whole new series of numbers will be posted and new prizes given away.

So save your paper so you can show that you have a match with one in the store and walk out with a prize.

Crash puts DeLong in Iowa hospital

Cass City dairy farmer Don DeLong may be in a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, hospital as long as six weeks, recuperating from injuries suffered in a Tuesday, March 10, traffic accident in that community

DeLong, 54, of 3447 Englehart Road, was the most seriously injured of four Thumb area dairymen riding in a van that was struck head-on by a car. They were in Cedar Rapids attending a draft horse show and sale.

Letter to the Editor

Artrain visit needs support

Dear John:

Michigan Artrain is to visit Cass City for a second time. Already excitement is being generated about town. Because of the remarkable festival week end our community held in July of 1972, we have been looked upon as having the ability to create an interesting response to the challenge of what arts experiences are possible in a rural community. In workshops here in Michigan and throughout the West, Southeast and upper Midwest, our festival was used as an example and encouragement to communities. If a town of 2500 could manage to do so many things and do them well, it was surely possible for others with many more resources. The 1972 Artrain cused attention on arts experiences from all the disciplines with the exception of dance. It also opened the way to the development of continuing activity in the community - school residencies in dance, theater and painting; some pleasant major music festival, quite tact either of us listed below. unique in itself. We have had nine years of experience of which to be proud. Some may wonder how Artrain or any arts event can be justified during these difficult times. Perhaps experiences that make us happy and challenge our spirit are more important at such time than at moments when all seems to be right with our world. The creative spirit, which is part of everyone, is often what keeps us alive and growing as human beings. The Michigan Artrain brings a celebration of the creative nature at its best.

With this exhibit we will see examples of a variety of art traditions from regional folk art and fine needlework and design to Oriental landscapes and African handworked wood. Paintings from Europe and present works of Michigan artists are also included. There can be excitement generated in the broad vision of what has been created, the importance of the skill and vision of each artist, and the pleasure every visitor can have in enjoying this time here in our own community.

The Steering Committee is hard at work. Anyone who might wish to help is encouraged to contact those responsible for activities, guides, site improvement and the exhibits we will put together locally, as well as a presentation of the Vivaldi Gloria by a local choir.

School tours will take up a good part of the day hours; evenings will be devoted to the public. As more activities are firmed up, we will complete our program and publish it.

Funding such an activity locally is the responsibility the community wide Steering Committee. Letters requesting contributions are being sent to many, but anyone who wishes to help can contribute to the Michigan Artrain, Cass City Fund.

After ten years of existence, Michigan Artrain is really a Michigan treasure and deserves support of the people it serves - those of us the communities of the state. There is great need to keep the arts alive and concern is being expressed nationally because funding will have to come primarily from the private sector in

If you had to ask, it wasn't me that took that picture of the lion cub in this edition.

If something happens in the next couple of weeks, someone will be able to say, I told you so.

That's because I broke the chain. I received a chain letter (unsigned) that said unless I sent 20 copies of the letter I am doomed to bad luck. On the other hand if I did as I was instructed all kinds of good things were sure to come my way. This letter is better than many I've received. It doesn't ask for any money.

Jim Baker has been a scout leader in Cass City for 10 years. He's stepping down next month, but he leaves a scout program that is alive and well in Cass City. There are plenty of parents in the community that owe Jim a very big thank you for that. Perhaps you should tell him so.

A bright note. Jim's quitting at the local level, but is keeping a couple of jobs at the district level. You might say he's following in his father's footsteps. Ed Baker is one of five Cass Cityans to earn the Silver Beaver award, the highest in scouting for adults.

The other four are Ray Fleenor, Keith McConkey, Curt Hunt and the late Horace Bulen.

Next Friday, Saturday and Sunday Cass City High School will host the Michigan Industrial Education Society Region-

Region 11 and 12 are to be represented here and Dave Hoard, chairman, has been showing slides around town showing what it's all about.

You wouldn't believe how good they are unless you saw some of the projects completed by the kids.

So why don't you? The awards fair is open Saturday, March 28, 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. or Sunday, March 29, from 12

Youth starts Cass City school fire

Classes at Cass City Intermediate School Thursday started late due to a fire in a student locker that resulted in evacuation of the build-

The fire on the second floor was discovered about 8:20 a.m., shortly before the start of classes, by sixth grade teacher Kathreen

Although the Elkland Township Fire Department was called to the scene, its services weren't needed as Principal Robert Stickle had used a fire extinguisher to put out the flames. He said the flames coming out of the locker were 3-4 feet high.

According to Cass City police, Mrs. Iseler saw the boy in the locker. When he saw her, he ran up to the third floor, where she found him in a study hall room. She was taking him to the principal's office when she spotted the fire.

The boy, 14, was later interviewed by Police Chief Gene Wilson, with Stickle and Fire Chief Dave Mc-Naughton present.

He gave no reason for starting the fire, according to the chief, other than that he and some other boys were "playing around." A cigarette lighter was used to start it.

Wilson will seek to have the prosecutor's office petition the youth into probate

The locker, which did not have a lock on it, was used by a student other than the one who started the fire. The student whose locker it was lost a coat, tennis shoes, two sweaters, a sweatshirt, books and papers in the blaze. Damage was done to the wood trim was apparently selected at random by the arsonist,

Students were kept outside of the building for about 45 minutes. They were out-doors for the first few minutes, then spent the rest of the time in the Campbell Elementary gym.

Thumb Hairdressers and Cosmetologists met Monday in Cass City.

MaryAnn Wilson, member of the Michigan Hair Fashions Committee, Coiffure Group and also Bay City Hairdressers and Cosmetologists, was guest artist.

She also said permed curled hair is an important fashion ingredient again. The new look is called Lighting Hair and has flashing curls, waves and lines.

It's been a while now since there's been a report here about the questions you've been asking and the answers as seen from this perspective. Topics swirling around the main stem include:

Q - Taxes on homes have gone up 11 percent on the average in town because of assessments. increased What for?

A - The increase in assessment is mandated by the State. However, the mill rate is not. If they wanted to the village could reduce the millage to equal the 11 percent raise in valuation. So could the county. They Certainly government is plagued by the same inflationary pressures that face us all. But the truth is that when extra money is available ways are found to spend it. At the board of review meetings I heard more than one taxpayer muttering about how Tisch was right.

Q - There's no question that in Michigan we are in a depression. Can Cass City and other small communities in the Thumb survive and prosper in these times?

A - There isn't a businessman in any town that isn't asking himself the same question. If you judge by history, towns like Cass City weather the bad times better than their big city cousins. From what I hear I suspect that business isn't all that bad now, but the news from the metro area is so depressing it's hard not to be concerned.

Cass City, and the Thumb has been hurt by a reduction in employment in area factories. To a lesser extent we've been affected by the auto lay-offs because a percentage of our residents work in the city and drive to work. The reduction in overtime pay has cut incomes for these families, too. All in all, though, most of us are doing okay out here in the sticks. We'll do okay, as always. Q - Now that the basketball season is winding down and will be over after this week end on the high school level, do you like it like you used to? A - For me there's nothing better to do as a spectator than watch high school basketball between two evenly matched teams.

it concerns kids

years it's even greater. It's a concern that there isn't more student interest. Cass City lags behind other area schools in student attendance at the game.

you've followed over the

We more than make up for it with community support. However, the real test may lie ahead when we no longer have championship outfits, a very real possibility next

Q - What about the proposed tennis courts at the City Recreational Cass

A - All systems are go but we still haven't raised a dime from the general public of the $30,000 needed. There's going to be a real crunch on pocketbooks this spring, not the least will be for our schools, but that's a story in itself and we'll get into it later.

You'd think that the chances would be bleak for raising money for the courts now unless you looked at past results. Somehow, money for these kinds of things have been scrounged out in the past and I believe will be raised again now.

"If It Fitz..." 5° hot fudge sundaes

By Jim Fitzgerald

At hand is a letter from a woman asking if I remember when she dropped chestnuts on my head. She also asked: "Do you remember the Fourth of July parades and the flags and veterans passing, and the resultant glow we felt? Barnet's fivecent hot fudge sundaes? Henry's corner store?"

I remember all those things: I grew up in Port Huron in the 1930s, in a neighborhood full of chestnut trees. One of the neighbors was a girl nicknamed Winx who played baseball better than most boys, especially me. She and my barely younger sister hid high up in chestnut trees and bombed people passing be-

Winx wrote the letter. She is now Winnifred Daignault, a teacher living in Williamston, Mich. It is at least 40 years since I have seen her or eaten a five-cent hot fudge sundae.

Barnet's was a nearby drugstore, in the same block as Henry's, a small grocery store. Henry's sold "grab bags" for one cent each. A kid never knew what was inside a grab bag until after the transaction was completed. Usually it was several pieces of hard candy, left over from last Christmas, stuck together in one irreversible lump. Packaging is more sophisticated in today's supermarkets. That much candy is still worth one cent but must be purchased in $5 worth of wrapping:

Once my grandmother sent me to Henry's for 10 cents worth of potatoes, and it took me two trips to carry them home. Honest. But, more than cheap potatoes, I remember Barnet's fivecause I not only ate them but sold them.

My first real job, at age 14, was behind the soda fountain in Barnet's. There were also 15-cent hot fudge sundaes, but not many people had that kind of money in 1940. Most customers ordered the nickel size. I made them with one large dip of ice cream, a dollop of hot fudge spooned from an electrically heated crock and a sprinkling of ground nuts. All for five cents. Could the Reagan administration bring back the fivecent hot fudge sundae? The theory behind supply-side economics is that a cut in income tax won't fuel inflation because people won't buy $2 hot fudge sundaes with their added take-home pay. They will put it in the bank, thus furnishing more funds for moguls to borrow at lower interest and invest in capital improvements which will increase productivity which will create more jobs which will be filled by people who will be more productive because they'll be so thrilled about the higher take-home pay which gives them more money to put in the bank. This increase in employment will generate more tax revenue, enabling the government to cent sundaes. That's be- make poor people rich by slashing welfare costs while building more nuclear weapons than the dirty Russians ever heard of. Thus, with a preposition, ends today's lesson in economics. Sorry, but there is no chance of supply-side economics bringing back the five-cent hot fudge sundae, even without ground nuts. But that's acceptable. There is also no chance of Ronald Reagan bringing back 1940 wages - Barnet's paid me 20 cents an hour to make those sundaes. I would settle for never again having to pay more for a sundae than for a gallon of gas.

In her letter that started all this hot-fudge remembering, Winx Daignault implied that an American flag on parade today doesn't produce the glow in citizens that it did 40 years ago. President Reagan thinks supply-side economics will bring that glow back.

I think he's selling a grab bag. Cross your fingers and hope. I hope there really is some way a cut in the income tax can help people with no income. And I hope Reagan is right in thinking workers will save added take-home pay. I think they're more likely to use it to pay for sundaes they brought last year on credit.

band gets average rating

The Cass City Intermediate School band received a 3 rating in the district band festival March 7 at North Branch.

A 3 rating is considered average, according to band director George Bushong. Thirty-seven eighth graders took part.

- Judging was based on performance of three numbers rehearsed in advance and two sight read numbers, not seen before, for which the band was given seven minutes to prepare.

Approximately 65 students from Cass City, Kingston, Caro and Port Hope High Schools attended the first annual Youth Authors and Writers Seminar Friday at Kingston High.

Sponsored by the Thumb Area Reading Council, its aim, according to Cass City English teacher Dennis Meck, was to encourage stu-dents interested in writing and to enlighten them about various types of writing and potential careers.

The morning program began with students given a choice of 10 50-minute programs to attend, presented by various experts. Each program was repeated, so students got to see two of them.

The topics presented were commercial art, broadcasting, radio interviewing, graphic arts, journalism, news reporting, use of the computer, use of videotape equipment, fi-nance and banking, and poetry reading and writing for profit.

The final program was attended by all the students. Grindstone City poet and writer, printer, and University of Michigan instructor Ken Mikolowski showed examples of his printing and Unlike painting on canvas, where the paint can be applied in layers, after each thin layer of paint on china, the object must be fired in a kiln to bake the paint into the surface. To darken colors or bring out contrast, requires multiple layers.

In contrast to her other art projects, which she finds relaxing, she finds she must be relaxed before she starts china painting, because it is more difficult and precise. She feels that as she grows more comfortable with the art form, it won't be as tension filled.

MRS. JOHNSON IS slowly moving into doing art for pay. Most of what she had done up to now she kept or gave away.

Seniors end great careers

Hawks bow in final seconds to Hamady were eliminated in the openthe state basketball tournament Wednesday in a game that was not decided until the final minutes of play.

The Cass City Red Hawks Caro High School. The loss pened. It started when Leon was particularly frustrating the game.

IT'S ALL OVER - Coach Ron Nurnberger shakes hands with Todd Comment in the final seconds of the game. It marked the end of a brilliant 3-year varsity career for the Hawk senior. Moments later he did the same for Craig

Tonti, the all-time one season scoring champion for Cass

White, 6-5 center for Haming round of the regionals of to Cass City fans because of ady, was charged with a a bizarre bit of officiating in technical foul for hanging on the crucial final moments of the rim after an attempted dunk shot.

Most fans left the gym At the same time Larry The Hawks were defeated after it was all over still not Scott called a personal foul by Flint Hamady, 59-52, at knowing what had hap- on Cass City although the whistle sounded considerably after the dunk shot attempt. After much discussion

Hamady went to the line and the player missed the first of an evident one and one foul attempt. Time was out because Cass City still had a technical foul to shoot.

However, Scott then said because he was discussing the play with the other referee while the Hamady player was attempting to shoot, the shot that was taken and missed didn't

Given a second chance, Hamady sunk both tries for two points. When Cass City missed the technical, the two points swelled the Hamady lead to four points and enabled Coach Howard Conrad's team to play control basketball?

The game started as if Hamady wasn't going to have to worry about foul shots or anything else. Behind the accurate shooting and ball handling of Bill Harris, an outstanding guard, Hamady jumped out to a 20-14 first quarter lead. Harris netted 10 points in the opening period. Cass City's scoring was shared by Todd Comment and Craig

The Hawks made a comeback in the second quarter as Harris went to the bench with three fouls. The Hawks had pulled to within three points when Tonti picked up his third foul and was benched.

With their leading scorer and playmaker on the bench Cass City played some of its finest basketball to not only hold its own but to forge in front at the half, 34-33.

Tim Sontag made eight of eight chances from the foul circle and added a field goal for 10 points in the second quarter to pace the attack.

With both Harris and Tonti on the bench the two teams battled on near-even terms in the third quarter as Comment hit four buckets on set shots and short jumpers.

In the fatal final period Hamady turned the tables on Cass City which has lived all year on success from the

The Hawks outscored the Flint quintet from the field, 6-4, but Hamady made 13 of 15 foul shots to ice the game.

Coach Ron Nurnberger said that several seniors played their finest games. Phil Zawilinski was credited with a good defensive job on Bill Harris and also made a key drive for a bucket.

Sontag rebounded well against much larger opponents while scoring 14

Comment led all Cass City scorers with 22 points and hauled down 15 rebounds. In addition he held big Leon White to just three points. In little more than half a game, Tonti scored 12 points.

Harris led Hamady with 22 points including six for six from the foul line in the crucial last period.

If Joe Hillaker hadn't fouled out in the last quarter it's likely that the Cass City Recreation League race would have been all knotted with a game to go.

But Hillaker did foul out and Shetler's came from behind last Wednesday to register a 62-60 decision over Hillaker's Auctioneers and keep a game lead on the field with a game to go.

It looked as if form was to be followed in the early when Shetler's bounced out to an 18-12 first quarter lead.

But the Auctioneers bounced back in the second quarter to lead by a point at the half. Behind the rebounding of Hillaker and the shooting of Roy Calahan, Hillaker's stretched the lead to 48-43 at the three quarter mark only to have the leaders pull it out in the final eight minutes.

Paul Beachy, 19 points, and Jack Paul, 13, led the winners while Calahan scored 28, Dave Zawilinski, 12, and Hillaker, 11, for the Auctioneers.

In the nightcap, Mc-Mahan's ripped off to a 22-4

12-3-19-3 Card of Thanks

WE WISH TO thank the General Cable employees for making our last day at work so enjoyable. Also, our children for the fine retirement dinner. Thanks everybody! John and Marge Zawilinski.

I WOULD LIKE to thank everyone who sent cards and flowers and visited me while was a patient in the hospital in Cass City. Also thanks to Dr. Donahue and all the nurses for their wonderful care. Bless you all. Nina Gibbard. 13-3-19-1

THE FAMILY OF Wallace Laurie wishes to thank their relatives, neighbors and friends for their kind deeds; the Tuscola County Medical Center for the excellent care; Rev. Myra Sparks for her many visits and consoling words she extended and also thanks to Little's Funeral Home.

WE WISH TO express our thanks to all who were so helpful and kind during our father's and husband's illness, especially to Fran Kehoe. Also, thanks to friends, relatives and neighbors who were so thoughtful during the time of our sorrow. The family of Harold Murphy. 13-3-19-1

THE FAMILY OF Wilma Wentworth Didier wish to express their sincere appreciation for all the kindnesses and concern shown during their recent bereavement. Our gratefulness to the Little Funeral Home, those who sent floral contributions, as well as those who had a part in the memorial service and the ladies of the Novesta Baptist church who prepared the luncheon.

THE FAMILY OF Jim Champion would like to express our gratitude and deep appreciation to friends, relatives and neighbors for their support and kindness at the time of his death. A special thank you to Rev. Harry Capps for the beautiful sermon and prayers and the ladies of the church for the delicious luncheon. Also thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Little for all they did to help. God bless all of you, you'll not be forgotten.

2-car crash sends 5 to hospital

An accident east of Millington Thursday sent five persons to hospitals, four of them from Gagetown.

Reported in fair condition Wednesday morning at St. Joseph Hospital in Flint were Lawrence Langlois, 53, of 6053 McGregory Road, and James Rabideau, 51, of Hobart Road, both Gage-

They were passengers in a car driven by Lawrence's brother, Richard Langlois, 51, of 6121 McGregory Road, who was treated and released from St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, along with the third passenger, another brother, Harold Langlois, 55, also of 6053 McGregory.

The driver of the other car involved, Karl Dahlstrom, 22. of Millington, was treated and released at St.

According to Millington police, Dahlstrom was southbound on Sheridan Road, near Hamlin Drive, at a high rate of speed and was

Board evaluates D. Crouse

Continued from page one would be hard to replace if he left, Scollon said, and he takes criticism well. He also has handled ticklish situations with the public at board meetings well. "I've seen him defuse some explosive situations," Scollon said. He has the answers to questions about the school when we ask them.

Where Scollon would like to see improvement is in communication with teachers, administrators and the public. He felt that the superintendent could be more courteous at times and should be more visible in the school.

Scollon would like to see the academic standards raised, especially in the college prep course.

Geraldine Prieskorn pointed out that the district was paying less for the work of the superintendent's office than other area schools. I checked five near-by districts, she said, and all have assistant superintendents. She also said that it's not generally known that the superintendent has never taken all of the vacation time that he was authorized. She gave the superintendent high marks for legislative knowledge and financial

Like others she would like to see an improvement in public relations and have the superintendent visit more parts of the school and classrooms on a regular She urged that the superintendent talk with people about the school and try to get more community involvement in school affairs.

Crouse then asked board members to think about what areas should receive attention first and to establish measurable yardsticks of the results desired.

Although additional families were interested in moving here and came here and looked, they decided to stay in Indiana for now. He expects a few more families will move to this area as farms come on the market.

The six that were purchased, according to him, were all listed for sale. Some whose farms farmers weren't for sale were asked by realtors if they were interested in selling, which led to rumors about large numbers of Mennonite families moving here and may Patricia J. The Mennonites trace their origins back to 1525 in Switzerland.

There are now many different Mennonite groups. The Whisler group, according to Martin, has churches in Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri, New York and Canada

The Amish broke off from the Swiss Mennonites before coming to America. About two-thirds of the Amish in this country have rejoined the Mennonites, leaving about 70,000 Old Order Amish, who maintain a horse and buggy culture, according to "Mennonite Life," by John A. Hostetler. ` Mennonites diversity, possess a single idea," Hostetler wrote. "That idea is Bible-centeredness. In fundamental belief. Mennonites are agreed. They profess a simple piety of obedience, simplicity and love."

To Mennonites, church and family come first. They prefer not to get involved in worldly events, except for various humanitarian efforts, such as helping communities clean up after torhurricanes and nadoes,

For instance, the families moving here will be selling their milk to Kraft and the dairy in Sebewaing, because they don't have to be members.

Mennonites prefer not to belong to such organizations as Michigan Milk Producers Association or Farm Bureau, Donald's father, Monroe (Junior) Martin Jr. explained, because if they get too involved in outside organizations, it tends to "drown out" their activities

The same reasoning applies to their school. Until about 15 years ago, Junior Martin explained, their children went to public schools.

In order to protect their children from such influences as alcohol, drugs and sex, their church started its own school, which now has about 150 students. The families that have moved here have hired a teacher for the rest of the school year and hired another one, from their school in Ohio, for all of next year. There will be about 17 students come fall, with classes probably held in the basement of one of the homes. The teacher is certi-

38-year-old building home

Palmer retires after 22 years in navy

Leo Palmer has retired and is now completing his retirement home.

But at age 38, he is looking for a job.

of Crawford Palmer, Road, Cass City, retired in February after 22 years in

He joined the Navy Reserves in 1959 while a student at the then Unionville High School and went on active duty in August, 1961, after graduating.

His first assignment was as a jet turbine helicopter engine mechanic at Quonset shops at Navy Reserve air stations. Palmer was a member of the active reserves on fulltime duty, with a major responsibility being working with and training reservists, the so-called week-end war-of helicopters.

From 1963-67, he was at Glenview, Ill.; 1967-70, Twin Cities, Minn.; 1970-75, Selfridge Air National Guard Base and Naval Air Station, at Mount Clemens; February, 1975-December, 1976, Alameda, Calif., and then back at Selfridge until his retirement.

The advantage of serving in the active reserves was that assignments are usually stateside. The disadvantage was that he didn't receive the reenlistment bonus that those in the regular Navy received.

Palmer was a chief petty officer for more than 10 years, equivalent to a sergeant first class in the Army. At Selfridge, he was an aircraft maintenance chief and did quality assurance. stay in the air 12 hours. them," he said of his experiences with the week-end warriors. "Your reserve people are as good as you are willing to teach them. They're out there to do a job and learn something."

PALMER CHOSE TO REtire for several reasons, one of them being that active reservists aren't encouraged to stay in beyond 20 years, in order to make way for others to be promoted. Staying in probably would have meant transferring to the regular Navy.

He didn't want to stay in for 30 years, as presumably it would have been harder to find a job at age 46 than at 38. Also, getting out now means his children will be able to finish high school in

He and his brother Ronald, who lives south of their parents on Crawford, used the family-owned sawmill to saw all the lumber for the house. Leo had helped Ronald build his house.

Cutting of logs for the house began in the winter of 1976. Construction began in April, 1979.

Construction continued on week ends and while on leave. Palmer had help from his family, brother, father, father-in-law, Harold Phillips of Unionville, and some of his Navy compatriots.

The house, which he designed himself, has four bedrooms, two bathrooms, kitchen, living laundry room and garage.

Palmer did his own wiring, plumbing and mixed the cement. The only job he is going to pay someone to do is to lay the carpeting and linoleum.

Although the family is living in the house, he figures it will be fall before it is done, except for some minor finish work. As of a couple weeks ago, the family was living downstairs while he was completing the upstairs bedrooms.

Building his own home makes it possible to own what he could not afford to buy. "It's just a lot of work," he said of the experience.

HAVING SERVED MORE than the minimum of 20 years, he receives a Navy pension equal to half of his base pay at his highest rank. That works out to $600-700 a month, which obviously isn't enough to support a family on, thus he is looking for a job. He is not eligible for unemployment compensa-

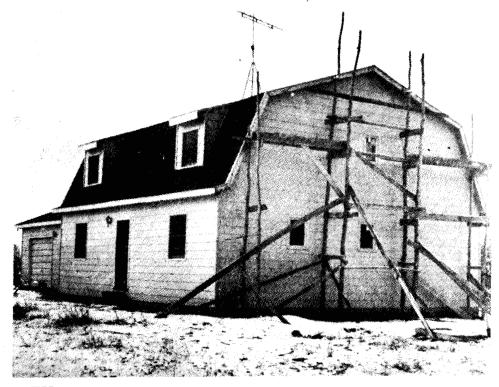

Palmer has a variety of skills. From his many years in the Navy, he has management experience, machinist training and can repair turbine and piston engines. As a sideline, he has overhauled auto engines and transmissions. He also has the skills used in building his house.

Unfortunately, this isn't the best time to be looking for work, and so far, he hasn't been able to find anything. If he can't obtain work soon, he said, he may do odd jobs and some farming this Though Palmer is looking for a job, he knows of one for men and women about 20 years younger than he. "I would think for the average high school kid who's not sure what he's going to do, I think a tour in the military would be a good thing to do.

He, of course, is prejudiced toward the Navy and must be a good salesman. He has three younger brothers, an although none made it a career, all served in the

HEALTH TIPS

Eating can be hazardous to health

Frank Chappell Science News Editor

The food you eat sometimes can make you sick.

The nation's foremost food hazard, says a pamphlet from the American Medical Association, is food poisoning. Faulty food-handling practices in the home and at food service establishments are the major contributory factors.

Salmonella infection affects more than a million Americans each year. The organisms are found most frequently in raw animal products - meats, poultry, eggs. They multiply at temperatures above 45 degrees. Refrigeration or freezing retards growth. Cooking destroys the organisms in the food.

To avoid salmonella, use hot, soapy water to wash utensils, cutting boards or counter tops that have been in contact with raw meats, poultry and

Thaw frozen meats in the lower section of the refrigerator, not at room temperature. Stuff poultry just prior to cooking. Use a meat thermometer to avoid undercooking Refrigerate leftovers and promptly reheat thoroughly before serving. Use clean eggs without cracked shells.

Staphylococcus organisms also cause food poisoning. The staph toxin, unlike bacteria, is not destroyed by cooking. Foods that support staph include ham, creamfilled pastries, custard, egg dishes, gravies, stuffing and meat and poultry dishes.

A person with a skin infection or infectious disease should not prepare food. Avoid coughing or sneezing over food.

Staphylococcus poisoning brings nausea, vomiting, stomach cramps and diarrhea within six hours after eating the contaminated food. To avoid staph poisoning, do not keep susceptible foods at room temperature or at warm holding tempera-

Homestead tax limit extended

The Thumb Area Commission on Aging reports that there has been an important change for senior citizens in the time limit they have to file for the Michigan Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Seniors and other taxpayers now have four years instead of two years to file for property tax credits. The extended time period went into effect Jan. 29.

The effect of this bill is that persons who were eligible but did not claim property tax credits in 1977 and 1978 may still do so.

Any Senior Citizen who feels they may be eligible to file for the tax credit may receive assistance in filling out the forms at the Thumb Area Commission on Aging offices in Caro, Bad Axe or Sandusky.

Tillage terminology

By Mike Score Tuscola County Extension Agricultural Agent

As new technology is introduced into production of agriculture, definitions of terms are often confused.

It is important that producers realize the distinction between minimum, reduced, and conservation tillage systems. Without a proper understanding of these terms, communication about tillage operations makes little sense.

Conservation tillage systems can also be minimum and/or reduced systems. Conservation systems involve leaving crop residues on the soil surface over winter and spring months to reduce excessive soil erosion.

The special project which is ongoing in parts of Tuscola and Huron County involves a study of the economic impact of conservation tillage systems.

A field utilizing a conservation system can be easily identified as you drive past by the corn, soybean, or small grain residue on the soil surtace.

These tillage systems require special machinery and a more intensive management effort on the part of the farmer. Benefits of high yields in corn production could be offset by weed, insect, and labor costs if producers do not keep a close watch on their fields. This is also true of conventional tillage systems.

Governor William G. Milliken has declared Michigan's best hope of getting out of economic difficulties is for President Reagan's tax and budget cutting plans to be enacted by Congress.

Speaking upon his return from meeting with the nation's governors and the President, Milliken said Congress just "chipping away" at the proposals will delay the state's economic recovery.

'The President intends fully to go ahead with his program and I believe in it. If there is a better plan, let's hear it," he said. Upon Reagan's revealing of the plan before a joint session of Congress, there were concerns from some Michigan officials that the proposals could hurt several state programs, especially the mass transit plan for the Detroit area. But Milliken said the transportation plan is still alive under some circumstances. He declined to name those circumstances, however The governor also said urban development action grants "still have some flexibility.'

"The best thing for Michigan is to have the President's program succeed, so that we can get the jobs in this state, and bring down the high inflation and interest rates," Milliken said.

He added the President's program is a comprehensive approach, but if opponents begin to chip away at the program, that will take time and hurt its ability to help ial education losing $7 milthe state.

ON ANOTHER FRONT, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel said the proposed education budget cuts by the President will significantly hurt education quality in Michigan, especially when viewed in light of state budget cuts forced by the economic downturn.

Runkel said he has asked U.S. Secretary of Education Terrel Bell to give Michigan special consideration and added the secretary was very receptive to Michigan problems.

Runkel said the state merits special consideration because the economic situation is not duplicated anywhere else in the country.

THE STATE'S TOP school administrator said he was particularly concerned about the impact the cutbacks will have on urban schools, as funds are not only cut 20 percent across the board but are also changed from a system of targeting the funds to specific programs (such as vocational education, the educadisadvantaged, etc.) to one of block grants.

Because urban schools receive more benefit from many of the targeted programs, they will probably be hurt more by the cuts, he therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection lee of four per cent which shall be a minimum of $1.00 as provided by Section 211.59. C.L.

1970, as amended, and (d) $5.50 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned.

4. That all of the aloresaid taxes, interest and charges are valid delinquent and unpaid.

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the inon-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule and expenses so extended in said schedule and expenses so extended in said schedule. Interest, collection fee and expenses so ex-tended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a pre-ferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:
a That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended.

upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended.

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgement in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained, and the amounts listed in the collumn headed "aggregate" shall constitute the amounts adjudged against the said several parcels, unless so amended by this court:

c. That said judgement provide that in detail of the payment so ordered of the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be solid as the law provides.

d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.

"The majority of patient ailments can be substantiated through laboratory tests," explained Jon Fahrner, director of professional services at Hills and Dales.

In addition to being in charge of the lab, he also oversees the respiratory therapy, physical therapy, X-ray departments and the "We kind of like to think of ourselves as one of the right hands to physicians," Fahrner said of the role played by medical technol-

One basic reason is that, "There are so many symptoms that are the same for a lot of problems."

For instance, if a patient complains of a rundown feeling, it may be because of improper diet or lack of sleep. But it may be because of high or low blood sugar, anemia, a thyroid condition or some other factor. The doctor orders a blood test from the lab, which provides the answer.

Certain tests for cancer can be done from blood

Usually, the basic test provides only a partial answer. In a majority of cases, Fahrner explained, other tests must follow to substantiate what the original test results revealed.

For instance, if a person is past five years. icteric (yellowish), the basic

The majority of tests are done with blood samples. Urine samples can reveal pregnancy, hormone levels, glucose, kidney problems, etc., stool samples can be tested for parasites and signs of internal bleeding, and sputum (saliva) is used for obtaining bacteria cultures to check for infections.

FAHRNER IS IN HIS 16th year at Hills and Dales. When he started there, there was only one other medical technologist in a lab a third the size of the one now.

In addition to him, there are now five other medical technologists on the staff, a full-time and one part-time laboratory attendant. A visiting pathologist (MD) performs biopsies, autopsies and consults with other

The lab is staffed from 6 a.m.-10 p.m. weekdays, 6 a.m.-2 p.m. week ends (soon to be 6-10) and a technologist is on call the rest of the time.

The lab in 1980 performed 78,000 tests and saw a total of 18,000 in-patients and outpatients. Although the majority of tests are done on patients in the hospital, the number of tests done on outpatients has doubled in the

A BIG CHANGE FAHRner has seen in his more than 15 years, in addition to the increase in staff and tests performed and in quality control procedures, has been in automation of testing equipment.

The hematology machine, for instance, from one tube of blood, can perform eight separate tests and print the results on a card in about 30 seconds

Two of the tests are counting red and white blood cells. Previously, that had to be done manually under a microscope, which took a lot more time.

Progress doesn't come cheap. The machine cost $20,000.

Cancer drive needs

The 1981 Regional Cancer Crusade Kickoff was held at the Sarvis Ford Center in Flint Saturday.

volunteers

There were approximately 150 persons in attendance at the workshop and luncheon. Among those from the Cass City area were Mr. and Mrs. Don Lorentzen and Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Perry. Theme of this year's crusade is "You Are the Key to Open Doors.'

The Tuscola county unit kickoff is Monday at the Sacred Heart parish hall in Caro. Participants should bring a dish to pass and table service. The time is 6:30 p.m.

Volunteers are needed to help in the annual fund drive. Interested persons are invited to attend this meeting.

Anyone desiring to help in the door-to-door campaign may call Joan Wendling at 673-6469 in the Caro area and Ione Perry at 872-3016 in the Cass City-Gagetown area.

BEING A SMALL HOSpital, the Hills and Dales lab obviously isn't as fully equipped as a large one.

Again, it's modern technology to the rescue. The hospital contracts with a private laboratory firm, Metpath, which makes daily pickups of lab samples and surgical specimens (tested for cancer) and takes them to its lab in Saginaw.

Test results come back to Hills and Dales via teletype. For tests that can't be performed in Saginaw, the samples are flown by Metpath to its main lab in New Jersey and Hills and Dales usually has the results in 24

Metpath has machines, Fahrner explained, that can perform 20 tests with a push of a button. If done in the hospital lab, each test would require elaborate preparation akin to preparing a

Hills and Dales also does some tests for Caro Community Hospital for which the latter does not have the equipment and vice versa.

FAHRNER FINDS MEDIcal technology "very interesting and challenging. There's always something new and interesting."

For students interested in it as a career, there are many specialties to choose from, such as blood cells, coagulation (blood clotting), bacteriology, mycology (fungus infections), chemistry, blood banking and parasitology (parasites).

Becoming a medical technologist requires four years of college, one-year internship and then passing a written registry exam.

There is a shortage of persons in the field, Fahrner said, because of a shortage of places to intern. Becoming a medical technologist has one additional BLOOD COUNT -- Jon Fahrner, Hills and Dales director of professional services, inserts a vial of blood into the hematology machine which performs eight different tests, including white and red blood cells, in about 30 seconds.

A Harvard School of Pub- suggested lic Health study, released last week, has linked coffee drinking with cancer.

Based on a study of 1,011 patients with cancer and other diseases, the researchers found persons who drank one or two cups of coffee per day were 1.8 times as likely to get pancreatic cancer as those who don't drink coffee and those who drank three cups increased the likelihood they would get the disease by 2.7 times. Cancer of the pancreas results in about 20,000 deaths each year.

Results of the survey won't deter Joe Viney from drinking his average of four cups of coffee per day, however. "Heavens, no," he

"If you took seriously what everyone says will cause cancer, we'd be in rough shape.'

Viney, who is in the logging and firewood business, usually drinks his four cups in restaurants and while working in the woods. He seldom drinks coffee at home and usually drinks milk with his meals. He joked that milk may be next on the cancer-causing list.

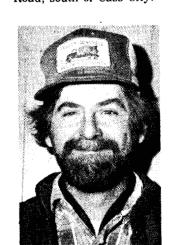

"I think it's just something to make news," he said of the report linking coffee drinking and cancer. He researchers should be working on more important matters.

'Look at how many hundreds of years people have been drinking coffee and you don't see them dropping over dead.'

Viney mentioned earlier reports linking soft drinks with disease and commented that concerning the supposed dangers of drinking coffee or soda pop, "Probably the odds are more, you'll get hit by a funding

The Human Development Commission will hold its 15th annual meeting Friday.

The meeting will begin with a luncheon at noon at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Ryan Road, Caro.

Featured speaker will be Mel Larsen, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. The public is invited to attend, with the program beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Immediately following the program, HDC will host an open house for the guests at its new office at 429 Montague Street, Caro, from 3:30-

Open house for the public will be from 1-4 p.m. Sunday. Interested persons unable to attend Sunday can tour the building Friday.

The HDC's administrative offices were located above Dyer's Jewelry Store in downtown Caro, with the program operations office located above the former EvenKnit Dress Shop.

Because of a law which made it mandatory for state and federally-funded agencies to become barrierfree, HDC had to seek other office facilities. Negotiations between the village of Caro and HDC resulted in the village purchasing the former Caro Lumber Yard property with HDC securing the necessary funding to renovate the building for office space and a neighborhood center. The village utilizes the remaining space for DPW storage.

According to HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark, "We have utilized various funding sources, CETA laborers and recycled materials to make the facility a viable and

ANSWER AS A MAN by Taylor Caldwell (fiction). In the first century, a spirit of expansive decadence invades the town of Belleville, Penn., as a magnificent pleasure-dome of a resort hotel rises against the sloping hills. Ipswitch House is the dream and glory of Jason Garrity, but it too soon becomes the pawn of cynical and dangerous elements dedicated to wrestling control from the man whose vision built their own fortunes GOING WILD: ADVENTURES OF A ZOO VET by David Taylor (non-fiction). Taylor learns how to embalm spaniels, remove cataracts from a baby zebra, anesthetize a giraffe, and inoculate a killer whale named Cuddles, all in the course of his practice as an international consultant and zoo veterinarian. The author writes humorously of his experiences yet his authentic concern and affection for all animals are visible throughout. Photographs of some of Taylor's more famous patients are included.

THE TERA BEYOND by Malcolm MacCloud (fiction) Jawn, a brilliant high school senior, thinks he has a great idea for a final term paper in biology. He has discovered that there are two basic kinds of bacteria on his planet, and that the two seem to have developed independently. His biology teacher is horrified when Jawn reveals his subject and insists he choose another topic. Jawn refuses, despite the threat that the government's secret service will inter-

Annual Huron Florida picnic draws 350

The 21st annual Huron County Picnic was held at Beall Auditorium in Bradenton, Fla., Saturday, March 7, starting with a potluck dinner at noon.

Emily Hazel, Carolina Fealko and John Prieskorn registered 350 members and guests.

Dr. Willard Haist of Pigeon gave the invocation. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by President Mike Klemmer.

Group singing was led by Erma Seaty, accompanied by Eleanor Schultz at the piano.

Greetings and congratulations were extended to all couples married 50 years and over: Tom and Hazel McNabb, married 63 years; Ed and Grace Smith, 53 years, and Ray and Fern English, 51 years, all of Bad Axe.

The oldest lady present was Mrs. McCosky, 92, and man, John Petoski, who turned 89 that day.

Thirty bags of Florida oranges and grapefruit were distributed among winners.

Election of officers was held with the following elected: Mike Klemmer of Elkton and Sarasota, president; James Colgan of Elkton and Sarasota, treasurer, and Carolina Fealko of Harbor Beach and Palmetto, secretary.

The next Huron County Picnic will be at Beall Auditorium, 2310 14th Street, Saturday, Bradenton, March 5, 1982.

Monthly minimessage

By Pastor T. W. Teall

Be honest! It is really a matter of where you place your faith. I cannot prove scientifically creation; nor can anyone else prove scientifically evolution. As explanations of the origin of the universe, both require faith. We have never seen creation take place and no one has ever seen evolution take place either. I believe in the creation of the universe by a sovereign God and have placed my trust in Him and what He has said. Others believe in the evolution of the universe and have placed their faith in the reasonings of man.

It may interest you to know that there is not one scientific fact that is in conflict with the Bible. There is, of course, a major conflict between what the Bible says and the evolutional theory.

Please note the basic differences as they were contrasted recently in a publication dealing with evidence of creation from science and Scripture.

1. Creation involved the wise, intelligent mind of the Creator. Evolution has no intelligence working behind it, whereas Creation does.

2. Creation was purposeful. In evolution, life has no purpose or goal; life has progressed haphazardly. In Creation, however, life has purpose and a goal.

3. Creation was orderly and planned. In evolution, life began by chance in an unplanned fashion. In Creation, life began in an orderly fashion, an evidence of planning.

4. Creation involved sudden, direct action by God. In evolution, life developed during a long, gradual process. In Creation, life appeared suddenly by God's direct action.

5. Creation is viewed as valuable. In evolution, life has no value, whereas in Creation, God said His work was both good and valuable.

answers to some of the most basic questions concerning life and origin.

2. Christians who hold to the Bible as God's Word need not fear or be intimidated by any presentation of scientific fact.

3. Those who cast our Christians, who hold to creation, as ignoramuses are ignorant themselves of seientific fact and the laws of scientific investigation.

4. Creation is a must for the Christian or the whole Bible is invalid! H.G. Wells, author of "The Outline of History," wrote: "If all animals and man evolved then there were no first parents, no paradise, no fall. And if there had been no fall, then the entire historic fabric of Christianity, the story of the first sin, the reason for an atonement collapses like a house of cards.' I think most Christians realize that evolution will be taught and promoted in general by the majority of scholars in our day. How ever, I do believe that the majority should be honest and not promote theory as fact nor eliminate other theories from being taught as viable options.

Craig Pearson, in the February issue of a teachers' magazine called "Learning" makes an excellent point when he says: 'Public education tends to become less and less diverse, and it's because they're using the approach that anything religious can't be in public education. I think that anything irreligious shouldn't be in public education. But if you take both out, what have you got

Anyone who desires to be counted upon as honest in regards to this matter can feel free to call upon me for further resources expounding the creation viewpoint. We will meet honesty with honesty!

EL TARI

Mel Tari brings a report of God's marvelous acts in Asia. Born in the Village of Niki-Niki, on the Indonesian Island of Timor, he grew up the third of ten children. Just out of high school, he turned down a full seven year scholarship to Moscow University. He was caught up in the power of a Holy Spirit Revival!

Mel's message is of simple and childlike faith in the Word of God. He relates his first-hand experiences of miraculous healings, raising from the dead, and walking on water.

These and many more experiences are contained in two best-seller books by Mel, "Like A Mighty Wind," and "The Gentle Breeze of Jesus."

A living testimony of the power of the Holy Spirit, Mel is now actively involved in spreading the Good News, that through humility, obedience, and devotion to Jesus Christ, God's Promises are for you right here and now, for you and for me, to His glory.
