

Fire loss at least $20,000

A faulty electrical outlet was the apparent cause of a fire that resulted in estimated damage of at least $20,000 to a Cass City home early Tuesday.

The home at the corner of Seeger and Huron Streets is owned by Dave and Barbara Bush.

"Near as we can figure," Elkland Township Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski, said after the fire, the fire started in a faulty electrical outlet in the living room.

The fire then worked itself up the wall to the upstairs, where most of the damage occurred.

Mrs. Bush said she and her daughter Michelle, 13, returned home at midnight and discovered the fire. Son John, 14, was at a friend's house at that time. The fire was officially reported at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Bush's husband, Dave, and their son Rusty, are presently in Virginia.

By the time firemen arrived, flames could be seen through the window of the upstairs bedroom of John Bush.

Firemen were at the scene until 2 a.m. and used an estimated 4,000 gallons of water in fighting the blaze.

It was raining heavily during the time firemen were there. "The rain didn't help at all," Pawloski joked later.

The majority of structural damage was upstairs, with the downstairs suffering extensive smoke and water damage.

Mrs. Bush and her daughter spent the night in neighbors' homes and John stayed with his friends.

Later Tuesday, Mrs. Bush, her children and friends and neighbors began to work through the rubble.

She also began to hunt for a house or large furnished apartment to rent.

Until she finds a place to stay, the insurance company will be paying for the family to stay in a motel.

Her children lost all their clothes in the fire. The insurance company paid for replacements Tuesday.

Mrs. Bush had numerous antiques in the home. She said most were spared, although some of the furniture would have to be refinished.

As of Tuesday evening, she had yet to fully determine what was lost and what was salvageable. The insurance adjuster was to visit Wednesday.

The home had been for sale. She plans to have it rebuilt and then probably move back in for a while, although the family is planning to eventually move to Virginia.

Owen-Gage seeks 2¼-mill hike; paydays may resume in July

The Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education Monday night decided it will seek an increase of 2¼ mills for operations in the June 8 school election.

It was announced at the board meeting that district employees have now missed two paydays (March 27 and April 10), probably will not be paid again until July and possibly later. "When" partially depends on the outcome of the millage vote.

Owen-Gage presently levies 21.5 mills for operations, of which 4.25 are expiring.

The decision on how to present the millage increase to the voters involved considerable discussion.

There was no debate over the additional millage.

"We've pulled a lot of rabbits, but I think we ran out of them," Supt. Ronald Erickson commented in recommending the 2¼ mill increase.

The district has gotten by on the millage it was levying by postponing payment of bills and sometimes employees in expectation that the Michigan Supreme Court will rule in favor of the district in the Goslin property transfer case, which would mean increased revenue for the district. "We've got to the point we can't hope for that Supreme Court decision anymore," he explained.

What was at issue was his recommendation that the board place on the June 8 ballot a single proposal for 6½ mills, 4¼ renewal plus 2¼ additional.

He argued that by having separate proposals, the renewal and the increase, that suggests to the voters that the district really doesn't need the added money. One mill with the present valuation will bring in about $40,000 a year, so approval of 2¼ mills means about $90,000 additional.

Board Treasurer Jack Brinkman took the opposite tact, that the 4¼ mill renewal is sure to pass, which would at least allow the district to exist for awhile.

Once the present fiscal year ends June 30, Erickson can go to the Municipal Finance Commission and ask for permission for the district to borrow money in anticipation of future property tax revenue.

With approval of the 4¼ mills, that at least will give Owen-Gage ammunition to present to the MFC in order to receive the okay to borrow the money.

Another argument in favor, though not mentioned until after the meeting, was that having the separate proposals makes it clear to voters that 4¼ mills is renewal and 2¼ is an increase. Lumped together, some might think the entire 6½ mills was an increase.

Erickson's response was that if only the 4¼ mills were approved, "You and I know our cash flow is so bad, we'd be out of business in January (1982)."

The board first voted on the single 6½ mill proposal for two years. The vote was Brinkman and Donald Cummins opposed and Patrick Goslin and Leona LaFave in favor.

With Joe Warack and Duane Ziehm absent, a vote by Board President Ronald Good was meaningless, as four votes are needed for passage.

After further discussion, the board voted on two separate proposals, 4¼ and 2¼ for two years each.

Brinkman and Cummins voted "yes" and Goslin voted "no." It was then Mrs. LaFave's turn, and she voted "yes," indicating she was doing so out of the need to approve something for the ballot. Good then added his vote in favor, so the separate proposals were approved 4-1.

It was acknowledged that

12.9 mills renewal

Cass City school seek 3-mill increase

The Cass City School Board voted to ask taxpayers for 12.9 mills renewal plus three additional mills for school operation in its regular meeting Monday at the high school.

With the allocated nine mills and .3 of a mill for debt the school's total tax next year would be 25.1.

The two tax proposals will be presented to the voters at the regular election June 8. The levies will be for one year.

Dick Albee who presented the data to the board said that there will be a projected deficit of nearly $350,000 next year without the 3 additional mills.

Each mill of tax raises just under $100,000. Those figures leave the school nearly $50,000 in the red for the next school year.

Despite the apparent shortfall the board is projecting a balanced budget if the millage is approved. Two teachers are retiring this year and present plans call for cutting the staff by two teachers.

One of the reasons that the cut in staff is mandated is because of declining enrollment. The school census has been down steadily in recent years and the administration is basing its finances on a decrease of 55 students again in 1981-82.

The number of students enrolled is vital because it is used as the basis for the computation of state aid for schools.

If the millage is approved the new levy will still be among the lowest in the state and the Thumb area.

Next to school finances the one area that has been a concern in the school more than any other is the school hot lunch program.

Supt. Donald Crouse reported that he attended a seminar concerning the program and reported that two companies specializing in school hot lunch management have programs that should be considered.

The companies take over the management. One of them operates in Millington and is well regarded, Crouse reported.

The new approach will be investigated by committee and then considered by the board.

SUMMER PROGRAM

The board authorized Tom Clair, music instructor, to conduct summer lessons for students. The school will pay $10 per student for eight half-hour lessons. Students will pay $25 for the course.

Last year the school paid $23.20 per student, but the financial crunch has resulted in the cutting of the school's participation.

OTHER BUSINESS

Mrs. Dorothea Quick, a teacher in the system since Sept. 1, 1963, announced her retirement in a letter to trustees.

The Operating Engineers have asked the Employment Relations Commission to order the firing of Donna Dorland. Mrs. Dorland refuses to pay union dues, preferring to donate an equal amount to charity.

The school's administrators still do not have salaries established for the 1981-82 school year. All of the other school employees are under contract for next year.

The administrators and the board are waiting for recommendations from the personnel committee, headed by Mrs. Thresa Burnette.

After re-advertising for bids for used doors, skylights, fluorescent fixtures and bus tires the board accepted the high bids from various persons.

The used equipment netted about $1,150, less advertising expenses in various media.

Tennis courts to be built this year

Don't get the tennis rackets out yet, or maybe it's better to play now while you still can.

The good news for Cass City tennis enthusiasts is that bids for construction of the four new courts in the village park were opened Tuesday afternoon. By fall and possibly much earlier, the courts will be ready for play, replacing the two dilapidated courts there now.

Of six firms that took out bid documents, only two submitted bids. The lower, with a base bid of $58,900 was Valley Asphalt of Saginaw. The other bidder, with a base bid of $71,473, was Frank Strausberg and Son of Oakley.

Bidders were also asked to submit prices on three alternatives. For removal of the existing tennis courts, Valley Asphalt bid $3,000; it had no bid for lighting (Strausberg's was $10,200), and for installation of a protective rail along the top of the chain link fence surrounding the courts, $750.

Cass City is receiving $30,800 in federal funds for the project, to be matched by an equal amount in local funds, which is to come from village revenues and donations. So far, $5,100 has been donated.

Installation of lights isn't eligible for federal funds, so whether they are installed, according to Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie, depends on how much money is raised in donations. The present lights there aren't considered adequate.

To save money, probably village workmen will remove the old courts.

The state Department of Natural Resources, through which the federal funds are funneled, must review the bids before one can be awarded by the village council.

It is hoped, LaPonsie said, the DNR will give its okay in time for the council to award the bid at its April 27 meeting.

After the bid is awarded, the only question remaining is when the courts will be ready.

Valley Asphalt's bid specified 120 days for completion, apparently to give it plenty of leeway about when it starts, since Strausberg specified 25 days, which presumably is the amount of time needed for actual construction.

It is presumed, of course, Valley Asphalt will get the bid.

LaPonsie said village officials will try to persuade the firm to start construction as soon as possible after it is awarded the bid, so that the new courts can be used this summer. While construction is underway, there won't be any courts to play on.

In addition to the village superintendent, present at the bid opening were Village President Lambert Althaver, Clerk Joyce LaRoche and architect Joe Sobczak.

'Drug bust' won't have much impact

The third "drug bust" in Tuscola county since November won't have much of an effect on reducing the amount of narcotics in circulation, according to the sheriff's department officer who coordinated the investigation.

"We probably haven't even made a dent in it," Detective Larry Walker commented Monday.

Prosecutor Artis Noel issued 29 warrants Thursday charging 23 adults with delivery of marijuana or LSD. One juvenile was also charged.

Most arrests were made Thursday night and early Friday.

Two more warrants were issued by the prosecutor's office Monday. One person charged was arrested and the other was expected to turn himself in voluntarily.

One of those plus one arrested last week were still in the county jail Tuesday afternoon, the rest having posted bond or been released on personal recognizance bond.

In November, 24 persons were charged with delivery of marijuana, LSD, PCE and/or PCPY.

In January, 20 persons were charged with delivery of marijuana and/or LSD.

Of those arrested in the November and January drug raids, all have pleaded or were found guilty or their cases are still in court.

PROCEDURE

As with the past massive operations, undercover police officers made buys of the narcotics, which led to the issuing of the warrants.

Different this time was that a woman officer, reportedly 18 or 19, recently spent 16 days posing as a student at Caro High School, where she made buys.

Walker said school administrators were approached by the sheriff's department to have her placed there. He added that Caro High School was "just the one we happened to pick on, but I wouldn't say it's any worse than any other high school."

The young officer was a graduate of a police training program and was a certified officer. All those involved in the purchase of the narcotics, Walker said, were hired by the sheriff's department specifically for the operation and were deputized.

He estimated about $1,000 was spent to make the purchases. The money came from the county and from private donations.

Walker said law enforcement authorities had been interested in two of those arrested for sometime because they were bigger dealers, involving in selling narcotics to smaller operators.

Whether such drug busts continue in the future, the officer indicated, depend on whether money is available.

"That's always a possibility," was Prosecutor Noel's comment when asked whether such operations might continue. He added, "If you're dealing in drugs one should be extremely cautious."

The prosecutor echoed Walker's comments about the operation not having a major effect, because drug sales are so widespread. "The availability is there," he added, "I don't think we're different than any other community."

ARRAIGNMENTS

Following are those persons who had been arraigned as of Tuesday morning before Magistrate Donald Smith, the charge being delivery of marijuana or LSD, unless otherwise specified. The date and place of the alleged sale made to the undercover officer is listed.

Cass City High School announces top graduates

Valedictorian and salutatorian honors for the class of 1981 at Cass City High School have been announced.

Leading the class of 160 seniors are Mechelle Particka and Deanna Sawdon, who have accumulated perfect 4.0 grade point averages. They will be co-valedictorians at the May 28 graduation.

Salutatorian with a 3.927 average is Thomas Loomis.

Mechelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Particka of 4020 Cumber Road, Uby.

She is a three-year member of the National Honor Society and was an outstanding debater on the debate team which earned state finalist honors this year. Mechelle has also received many awards in forensics, participated in the school plays, and was a summer exchange student to Belgium.

She is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Argyle, sings in their choir, and has been quite active in the youth group. Her future plans include attending the University of Michigan or Albion College to pursue a pre-law or communications degree.

Deanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sawdon, 6550 E. Gilford Road, Deford, has been involved in school and community activities. She has been treasurer of the senior class, junior class secretary, statistician for the basketball and track teams, marching band and symphonic band member, and participated in many other class activities.

An Honor Society member for three years, Deanna was chosen to participate in a leadership camp this past summer.

She attends the Deford United Methodist church and plans to major in business administration at Northwood Institute.

Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loomis of Cedar Run Road, Cass City.

A three-year Honor Society member, he participated in football, basketball, and track, earning varsity letters in each sport. He attends Salem United Methodist church and is president of its youth group. Future plans include attending Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., to prepare for a degree in medicine.

Other students with a grade point average of 3.0 or better to qualify as honor students are:

Diane R. Bresky, Leah Rose Britton, Christine Marie Bruhrly, Darla Jean Crouse, Brian C. deBeaubien, Daniel Lee Dickinson, Carol Ann Dillon, Lori I.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

You give a little to get a little, says Athletic Director Roland Pakonen when asked about the proposed new athletic league.

Cass City loses valued competition with Bad Axe but gains USA as a league rival. One man's opinion: league competition between the Patriots and the Hawks is a natural too long delayed.

When the space shuttle entered the atmosphere and could be tracked using reference points familiar to all of us the tremendous speed of the flight became something understandable.

No matter how fast it circled the earth in space it wasn't real to me. But when it started moving over the Pacific the real awe of it all came alive.

Esther Volz celebrated her birthday last Thursday, Claire Leitch Friday, Barb Dorland Saturday and Sharon Mitchell Sunday.

All four are employed in the patient accounting office at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The four-in-a-row birthdays had been celebrated three years in a row. But that ends this year.

The four had to anticipate a little to make it this year. Mrs. Leitch retired Thursday but she celebrated anyway with her birthday cake one day early.

Peter is one of six members of a Rotary-sponsored study group from Argentina. He was hosted at a dinner Tuesday night. He told about inflation in his country which is about 85 to 90 percent a year. Interest rates are between 10 and 15 percent. . . a month.

Those are shocking figures. They come sharply into focus when related to the actual costs of goods.

Peter intends to take home a set of professional model golf clubs. We estimated that they will cost him about $350 here.

The same clubs in Argentina sell for about $1,100.

Good Friday services slated

The Cass City area Ministerial Association will conduct community Good Friday services starting at 1 p.m. at the Novesta Church of Christ, 3 1/4 miles south of Cass City on Cemetery Road.

The speaker will be Rev. Robert Taylor, pastor of the Cass City Missionary church for five years. His message is entitled, "The Triumph of the Cross."

The ladies' trio from the Novesta Church of Christ will provide special music. Several area ministers will also participate in the service.

An offering will be taken, with the funds to be used for a family seminar for the community.

THREE OF A KIND -- Those aren't Easter bunnies the daughters of Bob and Sherry King of 6608 Pine Street are holding. Robin, 4, in the center, holds the mother rabbit. Kristy, 8 (left) and Mardi, 7, hold her offspring. The mother is a California; the father was a Red Satin. The rabbits were raised by Bob King.

Flight of special interest to Shaws

The successful launch Sunday of the space shuttle containing astronauts John W. Young and Robert L. Crippen and its landing Tuesday were of special interest to Mr. and Mrs. Brewster (Bruce) Shaw of Pringle Road, Cass City.

Their son, Brewster Shaw Jr., will someday be piloting the space craft, which can land like an airplane.

Shaw, 35, an Air Force major, was accepted into the National Aeronautics and Space Administration astronaut program in January, 1978. He was an instructor at the test pilot school at Edwards Air Force Base in California at that time, where the shuttle landed Tuesday.

His mother told the Chronicle she had last talked to her son April 5. He was scheduled to depart for New Mexico, where he would be in case Young and Crippen had to land early (apparently at other than their designated landing area in California), although she was not exactly sure what his role was.

Shaw, his wife, Kathleen, and their three children live outside of Houston, Texas, where the manned space flight center is located.

"I'm sure they're all excited," Mrs. Shaw replied when asked whether her son was excited about the impending launch, after the many delays in the shuttle program.

The excitement extended

Scotty Wilson dies in Saginaw crash

An area native, Donald Scott (Scotty) Wilson, 39, of Marlette, was killed Saturday in an accident in Saginaw.

According to police in that city, he was southbound on Veterans Memorial Highway about 3 a.m. when his motorcycle went out of control and struck a utility pole. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw. He was on his way home from work at RWC Inc. of Bay City when the accident occurred.

Wilson lived at 2789 Lamotte Street. He was born Feb. 27, 1942, in Cass City, the son of the late Donald and Carolyn Wilson. He graduated from Owendale-Gagetown High School in 1960. He was a veteran of the U.S. Navy.

He was married in 1967 to Mary Romain in Lapeer.

He is survived by his wife; six children and stepchildren, Brian Wilson, Marlette, Anna Schroder, Holly, Mrs. Louis (Diane) Gregory, Bay City, Robert and Douglas Romain, Marlette, and Kenneth Romain, Brown City; eight grandchildren; two brothers, James and George Wilson, both of Gagetown, and a stepmother, Mrs. Millie Parker, Mayville.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Marsh Funeral Chapel in Marlette, Rev. Charles L. Bugbee of the Marlette Church of the Nazarene officiating.

Burial was in Marlette cemetery.

The Haire Net

Most of the reports about the shuttle launch quoted Americans as basking in the success of the United States over Russia.

Those less enthusiastic openly wondered about the extreme use of energy in a time of more or less crisis.

There were reports circulating that the only reason the funds became available was because the Pentagon felt the shuttle was necessary to maintain a military equality or supremacy.

If that is true, then it is the one program with real benefit from all that money poured into increased defense expenditures.

If the armed forces hadn't been behind the program, it might have been delayed, but never stopped. I submit that space exploration is as inevitable as day following night.

Humans being what they are, they are forever going to attempt to widen their horizons . . . in the space story both figuratively and actually.

So the only real question now is degree. How much is right to spend on space at the expense of the quality of life?

Most of us, knowing it's costly to be first in space, approve the program.

The space program has real benefits for all of us. Technologies learned at Houston are making life better every day.

That's a sharp contrast to the billions poured down the military rat-hole for an airplane that is obsolete before it rolls off the production line in any quantity.

There's a question I suppose about whether we need all these scientific advances. We could get along without on board computers on our cars to make engines more efficient and to tell us how many miles we can travel before our car runs out of gas.

Barring a nuclear holocaust, there's no more chance of that than there was to stop the car from out-dating the horse and buggy.

We may as well relax and enjoy it. Comforted with the knowledge that in this one quasi-military program at least we are going to get a few cents back on every dollar.

Big bucks 'Annie'

By Jim Fitzgerald

In 1945 I bought a 1937 Dodge sedan for $100. Last week I paid $119 for an evening at the theatre. I'd always wanted to take my grandchildren to see "Annie," the stage musical based on the comic strip. But when the play opened in Detroit, I didn't have any grandchildren. Fortunately "Annie" stayed in town long enough for my oldest daughter to get married and have three children and raise them to the age where they will keep their mouths shut in theatres.

OK, that's an exaggeration, just to see if Joe Nederlander is paying attention. He and his family own all the live theaters in the world, including Detroit's Fisher, and he has been lashed in the media recently for breaking a promise to replace "Annie" at the Fisher with Lauren Bacall.

Originally, Lauren was scheduled to move in March 5 in a much-heralded production called "Woman of the Year." Many playgoers bought season tickets so they wouldn't miss it, as well as a promised rerun of "My Fair Lady." Both bookings were canceled because, at the last minute, it was decided there aren't enough seats in the Fisher for the two plays to make enough money. I don't know why Joe Nederlander waited so long to count his seats. I guess he's been too busy making promises out of willow wisps.

But I'm not here today to heap more abuse upon the Nederlander empire. I'm glad their perfidy extended "Annie's" run long enough to accommodate the latest visit of my grandchildren. Whenever I attend a show advertised as "grand entertainment for the entire family," I like to hedge my bet by taking along an entire family. That way, if the show is actually grand entertainment for children, but not adults, I can ignore the show and watch the kids have a good time.

"It is fun to watch the enraptured expressions on children's faces when they watch other children perform on the stage," I said after seeing $119 worth of "Annie."

"Yes, you were really lucky to be able to take me," said my baby daughter, Ferd, who is 25.

Seven of us saw "Annie" for only $19 more than that Dodge sedan cost, but only three of us were practicing grandchildren. I sat in front of a woman who continually whispered into the ear of the little girl in the next seat. At intermission, I learned the child was visiting from a foreign land and the woman was translating "Annie" into Spanish for her. It was quieter in the Dodge.

"Annie" itched my conscience. It's about poor little girls forced to eat cold mush in a shabby orphanage. My grandchildren were saddened by the orphans' phony troubles. But I had to keep brushing away thoughts of the real world. Just that evening, on TV, I'd seen films of children starving horribly in Somalia. How much food would $119 buy for those unbelievably skinny children?

I comforted myself by remembering that Ann Landers was a member of the socially conscious group that gave $736,000 to Nancy Reagan to spend on refurbishing the White House. Ann knows a lot more than I do about people's troubles, and if she thinks the Reagans really need new carpeting in their home, I guess I can think my grandchildren really need a good time in the theater.

And it was a good time, for all of us. I watched the grandchildren glow as they watched "Annie," and I remembered that their mother glowed the same way 20 years ago when I took her to see "The Music Man." The best things in life are not only free, they are repeated, so it must be OK to spend too much money on them, no matter what happens in Somalia.

At least, that's my rationalization, and I'm stuck with it. When the grandchildren headed back across the state for home, they left behind several notes telling how much they loved "Annie" and Grandpa. I can't remember what happened to that old Dodge, but not even Lauren Bacall could make me forget how great it was to watch my grandchildren watch "Annie."

County property owners face another tax boost

Property tax valuations in Tuscola county will be getting an unplanned boost, due to a decision of the State Tax Commission.

Discussed by the county Board of Commissioners Tuesday was the STC's decision to add approximately $20 million to the county's state equalized valuation, as originally determined by the county equalization department.

What that boils down to is an increase of 3.36 percent in agricultural values, 4.25 percent in residential and 9.48 percent in commercial. It means an increase in property tax bills come December over the values determined by the equalization department, unless the trend is reversed in the May 19 statewide referendum.

The STC imposed increases were on top of the increases determined by the equalization department of an average of 6.31 percent for agriculture, 8.06 for residential and .53 percent for commercial.

The county board objected to those increases, so in December of last year, voted not to send the equalization report to the STC. The commission later presented county Equalization Director Donald Graf with a subpoena, forcing him to turn over the report.

It then conducted its own studies and based on its findings, ordered the increase. "We're going to take the state's figures," said Commissioner Royce Russell of Elmwood township, chairman of the board's equalization committee. "We don't have much choice."

The board will probably spread the required increase in agricultural and residential values countywide, but hasn't made a decision yet whether to impose the commercial increases countywide or in specific areas.

It will conduct a special meeting at 10 a.m. Monday, April 27, in the courthouse annex to discuss the matter. By a 4-3 vote Monday, the board decided not to allow package liquor sales in Tuscola county on Sundays. A recent change in state law allows county boards of commissioners the option of allowing such sales. Sale of liquor by the glass (in bars) is permitted.

Zabriskie's Market owner Bill Zabriskie of Watrousville appeared before commissioners to ask them to approve such sales.

Those voting not to allow them were Russell, Donna Rayl, Paul Nagy and Ben Collon.

Russell told the Chronicle

he heard from some merchants favoring allowing such Sunday liquor sales but had received several telephone calls from persons opposed.

Some other commissioners also heard from constituents opposing such sales.

Caro Village Manager Don Dugger reported to the board that the Human Development Commission has agreed to serve as the planning agency for the preparation of the countywide solid waste disposal plan. The HDC will be able to receive $5,916 in state funds to help pay for preparation of the plans.

Dugger, in behalf of townships and villages participating in preparation of the plan, asked the board March 24 to allow the court Planning Commission to serve as the design agency.

The board, having previously decided it wanted the county involve accordingly didn't want the Planning Commission involved either, so encourage Dugger to contact the HDC

Regular meeting Cass City Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held March 23, 1981 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present with the exception of Trustees Ware and Stahlbaum.

Alan Klico was present representing area churches to get the opinion of the Council concerning a Thanksgiving Memorial to be placed in the park similar to the one in Frankenmuth. The overall opinion of the council was agreeable, subject to design approval.

The minutes of the regular February meeting were approved as presented.

The February Financial Statement was reviewed. It was noted that the Village of Cass City will be receiving bids on April 14, 1981 for the Tennis Court Project. We will then seek bid approval from DNR in time for the council to award the bids at the April 27, 1981 meeting.

The Public Safety Committee reported that Village Attorney, Clinton C. House and Village Superintendent, Lou LaPonsie will be meeting with the FOP on March 30, 1981 for review of contract.

The Planning Commission received a zoning change request from Thomas Herron. The Planning Commission recommended that the Council approve Northwood Village No. 1 be changed to RA-1B and that under Article XV, Section 1500 of the zoning ordinance change the minimum floor area per unit from 1200 square feet to 1000 square feet. Leaving the remainder of the requirements under this article as is. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee McIntosh to accept this recommendation. Motion carried 4 years, 0 days.

It was reported that at the last meeting concerning Solid Waste Management Plan Act 641, 23 out of 34 Municipalities are to attend the next Tuscola county Board meeting to request that the Planning Commission coordinate plan development.

An annexation request was received from Kim and Jacqueline Glaspie of East Cass City Road. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee McIntosh to petition the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners to approve such annexation. Roll call vote - McIntosh - yea, Helwig - yea, Hampshire - yea, Rawson - yea. Motion carried 4 years, 0 days.

An authorization to act was received from Yeo & Yeo, Certified Public Accountants. A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee McIntosh to sign the Authorization to audit not to exceed $5,900.00 for January 1, 1981 through December 31, 1981 Motion carried 4 years, 0 days.

The Superintendent's report was reviewed.

Acknowledgement was made for the receipt of a contribution from Pinney State Bank in the amount of $1,000.00 to be used for the Tennis Court Project in the name of Horace Bulen.

A request was received from Village Attorney, Clinton C. House, that Mike Dennis be appointed as assistant Village Attorney as they have entered into a partnership. This request will be covered under appointments at the regular April meeting.

A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Helwig that the regular bills be approved for payment. Motion carried 4 years, 0 days.

A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee McIntosh that the bills in the amount of $280,984.00 to H.C. Weber Construction and the bills in the amount of $20,668.47 to Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Engineers be approved for payment. Motion carried 4 years, 0 days.

A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee McIntosh that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried 4 years, 0 days.

PEDALING AROUND

Wheels

By Mike Eliasohn

Spring has finally arrived and I should be out riding my bicycle.

Unfortunately, my one bike is so dirty and squeaky, I'm embarrassed to ride it until I give it the overhaul it desperately needs. I'm in the midst of changing the steering system on my other bike (both the bike and steering are unconventional), so that one is in pieces.

But for those of you who don't have those problems, I offer the following suggestions.

For starters, I venture to say at least 95 percent of the bicycles in Cass City are not maintained, other than to have air put in the tires.

Bicycles are no different than cars. Take care of them and they will last longer.

Unfortunately, there are lots of places to get your car fixed, but not so with bicycles. There are a few people around who do bike repairs on a part-time basis and some sell rebuilt bikes. The only full-time bicycle shop I know of in the upper Thumb is in Harbor Beach.

However, most parts of a bicycle are rather simple. Keep track of the order in which you take everything apart and you should be able to put them back the same way, so many persons should be able to do simple repairs themselves.

Bicycles, especially ones that receive heavy use, should be taken apart and relubricated once a year. Bearings and bearing cups and cones should be replaced if worn.

Simple repair parts are available in Cass City for bicycles sold here.

Brake cables must be removed from their housings and lubricated and if worn, replace the whole cable assembly. Oil the brake arm pivots and the hand lever pivots and put on new brake pads, if necessary.

For bicycles with coaster brakes, if it's necessary to push backwards on the pedals too hard to stop, take the hub apart (it's not that complicated) and put in new brake shoes.

A bicycle that won't stop or won't stop quickly can get the rider killed or seriously injured. Dragging one's feet on the ground (as I saw someone do Friday) is not an adequate alternative to brakes that don't work.

If the chain is rusty, replace it. If it's just dirty, soak it in fuel oil or kerosene, scrub it with an old toothbrush, hang it up to dry, and then oil it.

Replace broken wheel spokes and if the wheel needs truing, take it to a bike shop. Wheels are much less likely to get out of true if they are NOT RIDDEN OVER CURBS. If I had a nickel for every kid (and some adults) who rode their bike over the curb by the Chronicle, I could afford a Klein aluminum frame bicycle, which sells for about $4,000 (not $400), not that I want one.

If pedals are worn or all that's left is the axle shaft, buy new pedals.

Make sure all bolts are tight and that none is missing. A Cass City girl was injured last year, when, as I recall, the front brake of her bike fell off and jammed the front wheel, and she fell off.

The only jobs on a bicycle I take personally to a bike shop to do are wheel truing and repair of 3-speed hubs and freewheels (five-gear sprockets).

The advantages of riding a well maintained bike are that it's much safer, it's easier to pedal and it's cheaper to replace worn out parts than to buy a whole new bike.

There's a lot I didn't mention in this short space. Next time you're in the "big city," buy a manual on bicycle maintenance or in lieu of that, stop by your county extension office. 4-H for a nominal fee has several publications available on bicycling, including a couple on maintenance and repair.

After my column last week, Cass Theatre owner Dick Hendrick called me to clear up some misimpressions I had had.

Most small movie theatres, including the Cass, still use carbon arc projectors. Presumably the one at my junior high was replaced because it used odd size carbon arc rods no longer available.

The rods have to be changed a couple of times during a show and must be checked every once in a while for adjustment, which is why big city "multi-theatres" use automated projectors with a special type of bulb, which burns longer and doesn't require adjustment, thus reducing labor costs.

End of an era at hospital as Florence Karr retires

When Florence Karr first went to work for Hills and Dales General Hospital, there wasn't a Hills and Dales General Hospital.

This Wednesday was the last day of work for the hospital's most senior employee, who retires as finance director after almost 22 years there.

Mrs. Karr, 62, went to work there in early July, 1959, shortly after ground was broken for the new facility. She was the second employee. Administrator Oran Hudson being the first. He had been hired a couple of months earlier.

Before then, she was employed by Thumb Theatres, Inc., which owned the Cass Theatre, where her office was, and several other outdoor and drive-in theatres in the Thumb.

It was a full time job in the summer months, booking films for the many theatres and performing other tasks, but in the winter months, it was only part-time and she also did income tax work.

Hudson's office was above what was then Wood Drug. Also on the second floor was the office of attorney Donald McAleer. When the administrator of the hospital-to-be asked Mrs. McAleer, her husband's secretary, if she knew anyone he could hire as a secretary-bookkeeper, she recommended Mrs. Karr.

Mrs. Karr, who wanted a full-time job year-round, accepted his offer.

She and Hudson moved their office to the hospital April 1, 1960, in order to avoid having to pay any more rent, although the hospital was still under construction.

Hills and Dales didn't open until Aug. 15 of that year. Mrs. Karr recalled that 15 patients were moved from Pleasant Home Hospital, with the first one to be moved being the mother of Dr. H.T. Donahue. Pleasant Home was then closed. The hospital was located on the site where the parking lot behind the Ben Franklin store is now.

The other hospital, Cass City Hospital, was closed several years later. The building on S. Seeger Street now houses the Regional Educational Media Center.

The new hospital was originally to be named Cass City Community Hospital, but the office soon started getting mail for Cass City Hospital and vice versa, so to avoid confusion, by the time it opened, it was changed to Hills and Dales. The name was selected in a contest.

MRS. KARR HAS HELD various positions over the years. She was secretary-bookkeeper originally, then accountant, office manager, controller, administrative assistant and for the past four or five years, director of finance.

Her job didn't always change, she explained.

CUTTING IN -- Florence Karr cut the cake at the reception held Friday in honor of her pending retirement as Hills and Dales General Hospital finance director. Hospital Administrator Ken Jensen is behind her. She was presented with various plaques and gifts at the reception, from the hospital and fellow employees.

Sometimes when a new administrator came in, he would reshuffle things a bit and she would get a new title, although her job didn't really change.

Present Administrator Ken Jensen is the eighth she has worked under, although one of those only served a few months as a fill-in administrator until a permanent one was appointed. Hudson, the first hospital head, left after two years for Arizona.

AS FINANCE DIRECTOR, Mrs. Karr is in charge of 21 employees. She is in charge of the office (administration and reception), purchasing, patient accounting (billing), credit and collection, keeping the hospital books, working with the auditors, preparing statements for hospital board meetings, and as a member of the administrative team, is on call every fifth week during non-business hours.

Hills and Dales presently has 167 employees, equivalent to 133 full-time. When it opened, it had 87, equivalent to 70 full time. The entire business staff when it opened consisted of Mrs. Karr, an accountant, receptionist-switchboard operator and one part-time office worker.

WHEN IT OPENED, THE average room rate was $8 per day in a ward, $10 for a semi-private room and $12 for a private room. The average rates now are $130, $140 and $150 respectively.

Why so big an increase? Inflation is one reason, but only a partial one. Patients now get "Better care, absolutely."

Not that patients got bad care back in 1960, but they benefit now from more specialists (doctors), modern medical equipment "and look how much more we can do in our lab." When the hospital opened, an X-ray machine cost $20,000. The hospital's new one cost more than $80,000.

Another reason for the increase in costs goes back to the increased staff and a big reason for that is the government.

Federally funded Medicare for senior citizens came along in July, 1966. "Paperwork tripled with Medicare," according to Mrs. Karr. Medicaid for the poor began in October of that year. More patients also have insurance. More paperwork requires more persons to handle it.

Government regulations and accreditation standards are tougher. The hospital must now have a social worker and a dietician on its staff, staff members must continue their education, which adds to costs, and the many documents that must be filled out to comply with the regulations means more paperwork.

HILLS AND DALES HAS seen financial hard times twice during its existence, according to its retiring finance director. "When we first opened, we had a real struggle for the first couple years." Loans from the Cass City State Bank enabled it to meet its payroll.

The other period when Hills and Dales ran in the red was in the 1970s, when federal controls didn't allow the hospital to raise its rates to keep up with increases in costs.

Mrs. Karr leaves with the hospital financially healthy. SHE LEAVES TO JOIN her husband, Preston, in retirement. He retired four years ago from farming and after working 12 years at Hills and Dales in maintenance.

KEITH ADELBERG

Adelberg new finance director

The new director of finance at Hills and Dales General Hospital, replacing the retiring Florence Karr, is Keith Adelberg.

He comes to Cass City from Saginaw General Hospital, where he was assistant controller. His main task was ensuring expenditures were in line with the budget. He was at the 450-bed hospital 11 years, having started part-time.

He has been at Hills and Dales four months and said he finds his new post more challenging and more varied.

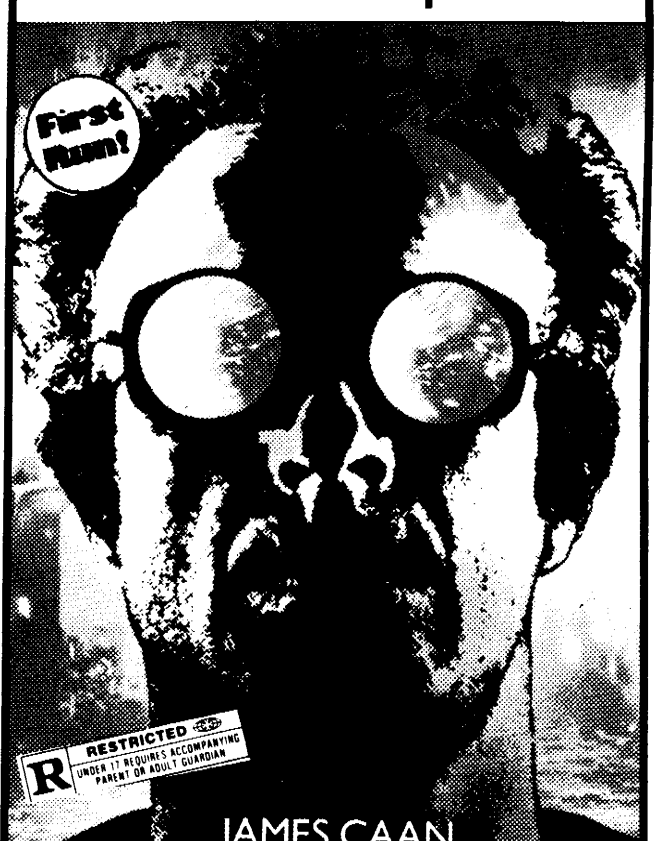

Adelberg and his wife, Sally, have two children, Christine, 9, and Julie, 7. They plan to move to Cass City after selling their house in Saginaw.

Caverly 'fair' after bike crash

Darwin J. Caverly of 5415 Rossman Road, Kingston, was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital, where he has been since an accident at 12:45 p.m. Friday. Cass City police reported he was riding a motorcycle on property behind the Walbro plant on Garfield Street.

He rode up on a pile of dirt, not realizing part of it had been removed by the village crews for use as fill. When he got to the top, he realized too late there was too steep a dropoff. He braked, but the cycle went over the edge and he fell 20-25 feet.

Police measured 28 feet of skid marks. They said Caverly injured his neck and one leg. He was given treatment at the scene by a Walbro nurse before being taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Peggy R. Frederick, 19, of 1495 Kingston Road, Deford, sought treatment from a Caro physician following a 4:45 p.m. accident Friday.

Sheriff's deputies said she was southbound on Dodge Road, south of M-81, when the right wheels of her car caught on the shoulder, pulling the vehicle into the ditch.

Leonard R. Sadro, 37, of 613 Soule Road, Uby, told Tuscola deputies he was southbound on Remington Road, north of Darbee Road, when a pheasant or some other bird flew in front of his vehicle. He braked, lost control due to the farm trailer he was towing, and his pickup went into the ditch.

The mishap occurred at 10:30 a.m. April 6.

THE BEDROOM OF John Bush, 14, bore the brunt of the damage when the home of his parents burned early Tuesday. The bedroom was on the second floor. (Story on page 1.)

Monthly mini-message
By Pastor T. W. Teall

Our President is shot; our economy struggles; violent crime is on the increase, especially in small towns; religious quacks fill TV time selling pseudo love and faith to the tune of millions of dollars each year; men are lovers of self more than lovers of God; evil is rampant; people are, for the most part, unthankful and disrespectful. There are growing attitudes of indifference, irreverence, and inconsideration for others. We have more imitation and less of what is real than ever before.

How are we going to get out of this mess? How can we as individuals in this the closing days of the twentieth century find peace of heart and stability in life?

Let me first say that it is no surprise to the serious student of the Word of God that this present world has gone haywire. The Bible clearly states "that in the last days (before Jesus returns) perilous (troublesome) times shall come." How very true this prophecy has become in our own day. But, again, I ask, "How can we have peace of heart, stability of life and purpose in these trying, troublesome times? How can we relieve the pressure and find a place of safety?"

Let me briefly share the opinions of some popular thoughts today and show their fallacy and then briefly propose THE answer.

Philosophy says: think your way out, but the greatest minds in our world have not the answers to bring peace on earth, good will toward men. Indulgence says: drink your way out.

Classes for expectant moms set

A new class in the expectant parent series will start this Thursday at Hills and Dales General Hospital at 7 p.m.

The seven classes will be given weekly in basement meeting room A.

The following topics will be discussed:

-Male and female anatomy - fetal growth and development.

-Body changes in the expectant mother.

-Nutrition and breast feeding.

-Labor and delivery - breathing and relaxation exercises.

-Tour through the maternity department.

-New infant and mother.

-Infant care -- Family planning and contraception.

Couples are recommended. If a husband is not available, women should feel free to bring a relative or friend who can give them support and encouragement at home and during labor.

The classes will be presented with lectures, demonstrations, informal discussion and a variety of visual aides and film strips.

There will be a fee of $20 per couple, made payable to Hills and Dales General Hospital and should be brought to the first class.

A doctor's permission must be given for anyone to take these classes. The forms are available in doctor's offices and the hospital and should be brought to the first class.

Those unable to obtain their doctor's signed permission in time for the first class may bring it to the second session.

Everyone must pre-register prior to the onset of the classes. For further information contact Mrs. Faith Fahrner, R.N., at Hills and Dales, telephone 872-2121.

O-G seeking millage increase be even longer.

Owen-Gage borrowed $343,000 last year. If allowed to borrow that much again, but not until August or later, should a second millage vote be required, Erickson commented "I don't think we could borrow enough to catch up with payless paydays." Its payroll is about $30,000 every two weeks.

The district missed one pay period earlier this school year and periods of payless paydays have become almost routine the last few years. When funds become available, the district has always reimbursed the employees and paid interest.

OTHER ITEMS

The board accepted the resignation with regret of Phil Gray as varsity basketball coach due to family obligations. He will continue as a teacher, assistant varsity football coach and varsity baseball coach and said in his letter, he would like to be considered for athletic director for next year, which isn't as time consuming.

Present Athletic Director James Barr, the high school principal, is retiring. Gray was basketball coach five seasons, preceded by four seasons as junior varsity coach.

Speaker at the May 17 baccalaureate will be Rev. Wayne Wentzel of St. John's Lutheran church, Kilmanagh. Retired Wayne County Juvenile Judge James Lincoln of Harbor Beach will speak at the May 21 commencement.

Elementary Principal Bill Britt reported 20 students were enrolled at kindergarten round-up Monday.

Usually, another six or seven enroll during the summer. There presently are 28 kindergarteners.

Sandra Parks, a substitute in the district, was hired to teach third grade until the end of the year, replacing Kay Nguyen, who is on maternity leave.

March student of the month is senior Cheryl Mandich.

Students hold exchange day

Cass City Intermediate School students participated in an exchange last week with students from other schools.

Wednesday, they hosted students from Akron-Fairgrove, Caro, Lakers, Marlette, Sandusky and Unionville-Sebewaing.

They were welcomed by Principal Robert Stickle, counselor Gene Lukshaitis and student council members.

The guests were served lunch, given a tour of the school and attended a student council meeting.

Thursday, Cass City students attended the following schools:

Akron-Fairgrove -- Meg Brown, Annette Stachura and Colleen Irer.

Caro -- Peter Walpole, Greg Erla and Carol Lockard.

Sandusky -- Brian Beecher, Katie LaBelle and Jeff LaBelle.

Unionville-Sebewaing -- Robbie Nicholas, Beth Tuckey and Nan Bullock.

Lakers -- Jean Weaver, Jeff Smithson, Heidi Iseler and Debbie Sawdon.

Marlette -- Jim Rabideau, Ken Mikolon, Shelly Nicholas and Tracy Grindy.

The students were all nominated by their teachers.

They exchanged many ideas with the students from the other schools and found the day to be very profitable, Lukshaitis said.

Hawk nine still looks for first win after 3 games

It could be a long season for the Cass City Red Hawks if the first three games are an indication of things to come.

Coach Don Schelke's defending Thumb B Association champions lost their first three games of the season.

Tuesday, April 7, the Hawks bowed twice to Frankenmuth. In the first game the Eagles rallied for four runs in the fifth to take an 8-5 decision. The Hawks were paced by Willard Burdon with three hits in three tries and Jim Adkins with 2 for 3.

The nightcap was a tight well-played game as the Eagles chalked up the win 4-1 behind the one-hit pitching of Beller. The Eagle hurler had a no-hitter going into the last inning when a single by Craig Tonti with two away spoiled it.

In another non-conference tilt Monday the Hawks bowed to Mayville, 8-2.

Ray Ferris was unable to find the plate for the Hawks as he issued 10 walks to go with four hits to take the loss. Ferris struck out six.

The Wildcats salted away the game with three-run outbursts in the third and fifth innings.

14 Thumb Schools involved

Board okays new league for Cass City in 1982-3

Under study for at least two years, a new 14-team, two-division league needs only the approval of the various school boards to be activated.

The new conference would start operations in the 1982-83 school year.

Cass City would be in the west division. It includes USA, Caro, Lakers, Vassar, Reese and North Branch.

The East division would include Mayville, Bad Axe, Harbor Beach, Ubly, Sandusky, Marlette and Brown City.

The Cass City board approved the merger Monday night. Other boards will consider it as they meet.

Plans call for cross-over games between the two divisions to maintain traditional rivalries. In football the divisions will participate in a play-off at the end of the season with each school playing the school in the opposite division that finishes in the same position within its division.

If any of the 14 schools withdraw or fail to join the Thumb B Association will continue to operate.

Mayville bows to Hawk track teams

Cass City's boys and girls won dual track meets Friday at Cass City as the boys edged the Wildcats, 82½-72½ while the girls steamrolled to victory, 117-22.

There were no double winners among the boys but the Hawks' depth proved decisive. The visitors split first place finishes, but Mayville won the two relays, important points in dual meets.

The girls had no such problems. Paced by Carrie Lautner and Michelle Fahrner, who each were double winners, and Tracy Green, who won three events, Cass City swept 15 of the 16 first places.

The girls' winners were: High jump, Fahrner, CC. 4-8.

O-G baseball 9 splits first games

Owen-Gage began the 1981 baseball season Monday by splitting with visiting Deckerville.

The Eagles won the opener, 4-2, with the pitching of Terry Allard, who struck out nine and walked four.

Losing pitcher Randy Radabaugh struck out seven and walked none in his five innings on the mound. Jim Kuhr came on in the sixth and struck out two and walked none.

The Bulldogs collected seven hits and made one error. Leading hitters were Mark Furness with two singles, Dan Glidden and Alan LeValley, each with a double, and Jim Glidden with a triple.

Tom Hall hit a double and a single for the winners.

Owen-Gage won the nightcap, 4-3, called after five innings because of the cold. Winning pitcher LeValley didn't allow any Eagles to reach first base in his 4 2/3 innings. He walked seven and struck out six. Kuhr got the last out, giving up one hit before doing so.

Losing pitcher Tom Hall walked two, struck out four and gave up three hits.

The Bulldogs made three errors; Deckerville, one.

Owen-Gage's three hits were all singles, as was its opponents' one hit.

The double header was originally scheduled last Thursday, but was postponed because of rain. The Bulldogs don't play again until April 27, when they open their North Central D League schedule at Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

O-G girls take 2 from Eagles

Deckerville, which joins the North Central D League this fall, got a taste Monday of what the softball competition will be like.

Host Owen-Gage gave the Eagles a licking in both games, 8-6 and 15-8.

Dana Laurie was the winning pitcher in the opener, striking out seven, walking five and surrendering seven hits.

The Bulldogs managed the win despite only one hit, a second inning single by Karla Kretschmer.

Losing pitcher Sue Colesia walked 10 and struck out four.

Top batter for Deckerville was Laurie Fletcher with a double and a single.

In the 15-8 nightcap, Becky

Howard and Jackie Kain combined to give up two hits and eight walks. They struck out five.

Losing pitcher Shirley Welsh started, with Sue Colesia coming in relief. They allowed a total of 10 hits and nine walks.

Top Bulldog batters were Joan Mosack with a triple and a double, Howard with two doubles, Julie Andrakowicz with a double and a single and Kretschmer with two singles.

Connie Leibinger hit two triples for the Eagles.

The Bulldogs have a junior varsity game against Unionville-Sebewaing Monday and open the league season April 27 at Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

Hawk softball team sweeps 2 twin bills

When Shirley Fleming is on the mound and your team cracks out nine hits and 15 runs it's a lead pipe cinch you will win. And win the Hawks did, 15-3, in the opening game of the season Tuesday, April 7, against Frankenmuth.

While Fleming is an all-conference pitcher, the Hawks did even better in the nightcap with Padgett Randall on the mound as they collected 8 hits again to win 12-1.

Fleming pitched a six hitter and Randall a four-hitter.

In the opener Fleming received all the support she needed when the Hawks scored five times. The hitting was fairly well divided as Shelly LaPeer, Beth Sieradzki and Karen Nurnberger each collected a pair of safeties and three others had one hit each.

In the nightcap the Hawks were led by Kris Proctor and Sieradzki with two hits each. One of Sieradzki's blows was a triple.

The Hawks made it four in a row in early spring games with decisions over Mayville Monday. The Hawks won the first with ease behind Fleming, 10-0, and then rallied to take the nightcap, 16-15.

Fleming helped her own cause with three hits in four tries in the opener while Sieradzki again collected two hits.

Fleming allowed five hits and was tough in the clutch as she whitewashed the Wildcats.

It was a different story in the nightcap. Mayville jumped all over starter Tena LaRoche with four runs in the first. She was relieved in the second by Fleming when the Wildcats scored eight times.

The Hawks stayed in the game with three runs in the first and six in the second. Fleming allowed just three runs the rest of the way and a two-run rally in the final inning pulled it out for Cass City.

Sieradzki, LaPeer and Fleming led the Hawks at the plate with 3 hits each.

Girls post close win over Lakers

In a very close match, the Cass City Red Hawk girls topped the Lakers Monday, 77-69.

With only the mile relay left, worth five points, the Hawk girls led by just three points, 72-69.

Dual individual winners for Cass City included Lori Calka, 100 and 220-dashes, and Lorie Hurley, mile and 2-mile runs.

The winners and the times and distances were: Shot put, Hammel, L. 27-3.

Discus, Barry, L. 78-2.

Long jump, Hagg, L. 14-8.

High jump, Krieg, L. 4-10.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This 12-year-old from Caro has been waiting for a Big Brother for a long time. He is a very nice boy and he enjoys all sports, bike riding, fishing, archery and swimming. Why not give this child a try?

Having to grow up without a father has been difficult for this shy little seven-year-old. He lives in Vassar and would like a Big Brother to "teach him things." He likes active things and enjoys the outdoors.

Six years old and very friendly best describes this boy from Reese. He loves trains, and would really like a Big Brother to share his interests with him.

Being 12 years old and having no father can be difficult. This boy from Sebewaing would enjoy spending time with someone who likes fishing, roller skating, ball playing, and just having fun. Why not give some of your time?

3 sentenced to prison by Circuit Court Judge Joslyn

Three men were sentenced to the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson when they appeared Monday before Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

William T. Peplinski, 32, of Frankenmuth, was sentenced to 3-20 years for criminal sexual conduct (1st degree), to which he pleaded guilty Feb. 9. He was charged with having committed a sexual act with a girl under age 13 Aug. 17 in Ellington township. He was credited with two days served.

Stolen pickup recovered in Lapeer county

Dean E. Sarles of 5260 S. Kingston Road, Kingston, reported to sheriff's deputies last Wednesday that his pickup truck had been stolen from the commuter lot at M-24 and Treasurer Road, east of Mayville.

The truck had been parked there since 4:20 a.m. Sarles returned at 2:25 p.m. The vehicle had been locked and the keys were not in it.

The pickup was found by police authorities Saturday in Lapeer county. Further information wasn't available.

Rodney L. Caughel, 25, of 5449 Hanes Road, Vassar, was sentenced to 5-14 years for forgery, to which he pleaded guilty March 23, to having forged a check for $75 Dec. 5. He was credited with 89 days served.

Everett F. Nicholas, 28, of Clio, was sentenced to 26-48 months for malicious destruction of property over $100, in connection with an incident Oct. 5 in Arbela township. He pleaded guilty Feb. 17. He was credited with one day served.

In other cases Monday: William H. Kern, 42, of Bay City, pleaded guilty to felony non-support, to being more than $23,620 in arrears in making child support payments, dating back to February, 1973.

His plea was taken under advisement, with sentencing if the plea is accepted deferred one year.

Melvin W. Spencer, 34, of 2147 W. Caro Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to criminal sexual conduct (1st degree). His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

He was charged with having committed a sexual act with a girl under age 13 Feb. 21 in Indianfields township.

Larry S. Putnam, 24, no available address, pleaded guilty to violating probation. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

He was placed on 60 months' probation in June, 1975, for breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling.

Clayton J. Fox, 29, of 5240 Leix Road, Mayville, stood mute to two charges of malicious destruction of property over $100, in connection with damage done Nov. 9 at Ruby's Yarn and Fabric Shop in Caro.

Pleas of innocent were entered and pretrial hearing scheduled May 11. Bond was continued.

Anthony Buchinger, 20, of 3099 S. Quanicassie Road, Reese, was placed on two years' probation for attempted delivery of marijuana. He was sentenced to 45 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served, fined $450 and assessed $350 court costs.

He pleaded guilty to the charge March 2, to attempted delivery of the narcotic Oct. 16 in Reese.

Nicholas C. White, 21, of 2380 Tin Bill Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to three years' probation for delivery of marijuana. He was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, fined $600 and assessed $350 court costs.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 16, to having sold the narcotic to an undercover police officer in Caro in August.

William Hessling, 18, of Birch Run, stood mute to a charge of unarmed robbery. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled May 11. Bond was continued.

He is charged with robbing David Hunter March 20 in Millington.

A circuit court last Thursday, at the conclusion of a three-day trial, found Stanley M. Spencer, 38, of 1571 Colwood Road, Caro, innocent of criminal sexual conduct (4th degree).

He had been charged with an incident Feb. 4, 1980.

Tuesday, Gregory Welch, 22, of 240 E. Grant Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to delivery of marijuana Oct. 23 in Caro. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

Mutual Savings loans increase

In its 93rd annual report of operations, Mutual Savings and Loan Association headquartered in Bay City, reported net home loans and contracts in 1980 increased 7.08 percent or $26,184,637, while total savings in-

Levi Helwig

Helwig enjoys working hard

Having trucked cattle from farms to stock yards most of his life, Levi Helwig says he derives his greatest pleasure from hard work.

"I'd much rather take a shovel and do some work than sit around," he said.

At age 85 and now a resident of Provincial House, Helwig isn't able to pick up a shovel any more, but still tries to keep busy.

He and his wife, Catherine, moved there five years ago, after Helwig, who suffers from arthritis and rheumatism in his legs, could no longer care for his wife at their Cass City home. Mrs. Helwig is blind and has other health problems.

The couple has been married 25 years. They have 11 children from previous marriages. Asked how many grandchildren he has, Helwig replied, "So many I can't count them anymore."

Hard work and religion have been equally important in life. He hasn't missed the weekly religious services since going to Provincial House, and also attends Bible studies.

Helwig has done painting on the Provincial House float that won a first place award the past two years in the Cass City 4th of July parade, and plans to do so again this year.

He also rode on the float the past two years. "I enjoyed it immensely," he said.

WORK BOTH WAYS

It's hard to believe but some folks are ruined because they can't get credit and others because they can.

Auxiliary sends gifts to vets

Fourteen members and one guest attended the Monday evening meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Alvin Guild. Co-hostess was Mrs. Eva Bair.

The unit sent eight handkerchiefs and scarves and Mother's Day cards to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Battle Creek for the Mother's Day gift project.

Mrs. Rosella Cherry will present the foreign relations program at the May meeting at the home of Mrs. Lilal Wilhelm.

A white elephant sale following the business meeting netted $28.70 for the unit treasury. The door prize went to Rosella Cherry.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

It's usually the pickled driver who causes the accidents -- to say nothing of the traffic jams.

Elkland increases fire rates

The Elkland Township Board Monday evening raised the standby fee it charges townships which contract with it for fire protection.

The fee, the first increase in three years, was raised from $150 per section to $175 annually.

Affected are Novesta, Greenleaf, Grant, Evergreen, Ellington, Wells and Kingston townships. Novesta is the only one for which the Elkland department provides fire protection for the entire township. In Wells and Kingston, it covers only a few sections each.

The board approved granting of a Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreement for the 66.8 acres of Harold and Karen Wills on Grassmere Road, north of M-81.

Among other items discussed were roads, but no action was taken.

Every day is payday for the fellow who enjoys his work.

Card of Thanks

I WOULD LIKE to thank Dr. Donahue, Dr. Isterabadi, the great nurses on first floor for their excellent care; the Respiratory Therapy Department, the many plants, flowers and cards. Special thanks to Pastor Rodgers, Pastor Motter and Pastor Gelatt for their many calls and prayers. May God bless each one. Vera MacTavish. 13-4-16-1

WE WOULD LIKE to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their prayers and expressions of kindness offered during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. Wayne Thomas and members of the Sutton-Sunshine church for all their comforting words and prayers and to the ladies for the preparation and serving of the lunch following the funeral service. Appreciation is extended to Fern McCreey and Phyllis Findlay for the beautiful music; to the Tyler Lodge for the Masonic memorial service, and to Little's Funeral Home. We are sincerely grateful to all who sent food, flowers and memorial offerings; to those who called on our beloved husband and father during his illness; to all those who called at the Funeral Home, and to the doctors, nurses and staff of Provincial House at Cass City. Your thoughtfulness will be long remembered. The family of Ernest Beardsley. 13-4-16-1

By Bill Myers

Taking Stock

I called the Circulation Department of the Boca Raton News the other day. A pleasant voice, identified as that of Esther Weingarden, answered.

After telling her my woes of not getting the News on several occasions, I told her my name and address.

"Are you the Bill Myers who writes for the News?" "Yes," I answered, beaming.

"I read your columns but most of the time I don't know what you're talking about. Why don't you write more clearly and concisely?"

That shook me a little and I told her I'd try. I then sought to regain the offensive; I said she in turn should see that I get my paper each night.

Mulling over Esther's question, I guess my answer is that to write more clearly and concisely would mean more work, and it's only patriotic to conserve energy.

Two great faults of most writers and speakers: Their words are too big and their sentences are too long. They seldom get to the point, and they don't know when to quit, if they ever do get there.

A Clear-Writing Institute has made up a Fog Index. It grades murky writing by this formula:

1. Find the average number of words per sentence in a sample maybe 200 or 300 words long.

2. Figure percentage of words with three or more syllables. Don't count verbs that are three syllables because of adding -es or -ed. Proper names don't count.

3. Add average sentence length to percentage of big words. Multiply by .4. Result is number of years of schooling needed to understand the sample.

I applied this formula and came up with a Fog Index of

7. Seventh graders can read and understand this level.

Now let's take a sample from the letters column of the Wall Street Journal, written by Professor Jerome Sterstein of Brooklyn College:

"That you and Mr. Reagan seem to find the states' rights philosophy of its most ardent apostle, the Democrat John C. Calhoun, more congenial than the views of Lincoln is a depressing commentary about the direction the Republican Party appears to be heading under its present leadership."

"Clearly, the economic, social and political challenges America faces in the 1980s cannot be met by reviving discredited constitutional interpretations that have historically served not to advance liberty or to revitalize national purpose but to justify and protect such evils as slavery, racism, secession, segregation, lynching and child labor. Is this really a philosophy that you and Mr. Reagan want to be identified with?"

Fog Index is 22.8. This means you would need 22.8 years of schooling to grasp easily what the professor was writing. More than 10 years of college. Why, that's more than a favorite niece of mine, Suzi Russell, managed before she finally left school at age 27.

Maybe it's part of the college design. You have to stay there until you are middle-aged in order to understand what the profs are saying.

Father Martin tells Cass City group

Families of alcoholics need help, too

An alcoholic, according to Father Joseph C. Martin, is like the airline pilot who announced to his passengers that he was lost but wherever they were going, they were making good time in getting there.

An alcoholic, he said, has no idea where he is going but he's getting there quick.

The nationally known expert on alcoholism spoke Saturday night to an estimated 400 persons in the Cass City High School gym.

The Maryland priest spoke as part of a tour, organized by his Michigan supporters, to raise funds for Father Martin's Ashley, a planned center for treatment of alcoholics and education of professionals who work with alcoholics, to be built in North Carolina.

At least $1,800 was raised Saturday, of which about $1,650 went to him for his planned center, the rest for expenses.

His one-hour speech, delivered without notes and interspersed with humor, was aimed mostly at those who have or had alcohol problems, either directly or as a member of a family in which there is an alcoholic.

His thesis, he explained, was that non-alcoholics living with alcoholics become just as sick and also need treatment.

Father Martin spoke often of love. "In an alcoholic home, an alcoholic cannot love because to love, you have to be free."

"Love is functioning for the well being of another."

"To me, love is to give. I don't mean things."

"The surest way to kill love is to smother it to death."

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN an alcoholic gets well if the family does not receive treatment, is that the hatred remains.

It is necessary for the entire family to be treated in such instances, he stressed, citing as an example, former President Gerald Ford, who spent two weeks at the Navy hospital where his wife, Betty, was being treated for alcoholism.

Among problems that can occur in the alcoholic home, he mentioned, are the father who is jealous of his daughter because of her loving relationship with her mother, the mother who smothers her children in love, the father who shows up drunk at his daughter's graduation, the husband who beats his wife, incest, and child abuse.

The military has been finding that in four of five child abuse cases involving service families, alcohol is involved.

He stressed that parents should not try to hide alcohol problems from their children because the children know anyway. He cited the example of a five-year-old girl whose kindergarten teacher asked her students to draw a picture of Mother's Day of something that made their mothers happy. The girl drew a picture of a martini glass.

FATHER MARTIN, 56, a recovered alcoholic, is on permanent assignment by the Archdiocese of Baltimore to do his alcoholism work.

He has lectured and served as a consultant for the Armed Forces in this country and overseas, has participated as a faculty member or guest lecturer for schools of alcohol studies throughout the country, and has lectured at rehabilitation centers, hospitals and for other agencies in all 50 states. His films are widely used in alcohol treatment programs.

He hopes to get his treatment program for alcoholics started in Maryland by the end of this year, he said after his lecture Saturday.

Once the money is raised to construct the building for the treatment center in North Carolina, on land donated by the Ashley family (hence the name), the program will be moved there. The planned first phase of Father Martin's Ashley is a 50-bed treatment center, at a cost including site improvements, of more than $2 million.

The priest made two speeches in Saginaw Thursday; Friday was in Edmore for an industrial workshop, then spoke in Pontiac and Flint; was in Port Huron Saturday before coming to Cass City, and spoke in Bay City Sunday morning before flying to New Orleans for a 6 p.m. appearance at the National Council on Alcoholism convention.

HE URGED THE RECOVERED alcoholics in his Cass City audience to not abuse their membership in Alcoholics Anonymous, which he described as "this wonderful fellowship -- to which I belong."

He mentioned the woman who spoke to him after he addressed an Al-Anon group, who told him she wished her husband would start drinking again. The reason was that sober, he would go to the "gates of hell" to help a drunk, but she couldn't get him to go to a PTA meeting.

He suggested that two or three AA meetings a week should be enough to keep a recovered alcoholic in good health, and two more if he or she is helping someone else, but two nights a week should be set aside to spend with their family, with nothing allowed to interfere.

Father Martin closed with the story of the optimist and pessimist.

A psychologist locked a pessimistic child in a room filled with games, toys and ice cream. An hour later, he returned to find the child had not eaten the ice cream because he was afraid he would get sick and hadn't played with the games and toys because he was afraid he would break some and get into trouble.

The psychologist locked the optimistic child in a room filled with horse manure. He returned an hour later to find the child whistling and shoveling "because with that much manure, I know there has to be a pony in there somewhere."

"I hope till the day I die," the priest concluded, "I will be whistling and shoveling and if you don't have a shovel, get one."

He received a standing ovation.

Science club tours Toronto

It was a long but fruitful week end for members of the Physics-Chemistry Club, students in those subjects at Cass City High School, who went to Toronto March 28-29.

Club members had washed cars and sold candy, school spirit buttons and Christmas gifts in order to raise $1,600 to defray the cost of the trip. In addition, each student paid $63, which covered everything except a few meals. Forty-four students and three chaperones went.

Departure time by chartered bus was at 5 a.m. Saturday, the trip to Toronto taking about five hours. The group arrived home at midnight Sunday.

After arrival in Toronto, according to club advisor Doug Grezeszak, the physics and chemistry teacher, club members had time to go shopping or swimming in the hotel pool. They saw a movie about Toronto.

After dinner, the group went to the CN Tower, the tallest free standing structure in the world. The group went to the lower observation level, 1,135 feet above the ground, and some went to the upper level, 1,467 feet high. They saw a film about how the tower was built.

Sunday's activities began with a tour of the 99-room Casa Loma Castle.

The rest of the day was spent at the Toronto Science Center, the main purpose for the trip. The group only had five hours to spend there and it's not possible to see everything in a day. Grezeszak noted, if time is to be spent studying the many exhibits. Even so, he noted, "It was very educational for the kids. They really learned a lot."

The club, which is officially independent of the school, may make such a trip an annual event. Grezeszak said, possibly alternating between the Toronto Science Museum and Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago.

The teacher, his wife, Lori, and the mother of student Carol Dillon were the chaperones on the trip.

Third child dies of suffocation

The last of three children found inside a refrigerator March 28, 3-year-old Kelly Mazzola, died Saturday at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw. She had been in critical condition since the incident.

Her brother Shannon, 5, was dead on arrival at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw, where he was taken immediately after they were discovered inside the 3-by-3-foot space, and brother James, 6, died April 2 at St. Luke's.

The three were found inside the refrigerator, which was outside their home north of Caro, by Caro state police. They had disappeared two hours earlier while playing.

Paul Wolak graduates from MSU

Paul Z. Wolak graduated from Michigan State University at the end of the winter quarter with a B.S. degree, majoring in packaging.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolak, 2083 S. Kingston Road, Kingston, and a 1976 graduate of Kingston High School.

He will be starting employment with International Paper Co. in Middletown, N.Y., in mid-April, working in experimental packaging.

Helping you say it right.

An incredibly poor country

Elmer Francis helps build church in Haiti

TYPICAL DWELLINGS in Haiti, such as this one, are built of cement or mud blocks, with a dirt floor, and as can be seen, are very small. Cooking is done outdoors.

METHODIST CHURCH -- This was the church at Guimney where the Michigan Methodists added the gables, poured the floor, built pews and performed some other tasks.

Elmer Francis has built many buildings in his life, but his most recent construction project was like no other.

The Cass City builder was in Haiti Feb. 17-March 5, working with fellow Methodists completing construction of a church there and working on other projects.

Haiti is an incredibly poor Caribbean country, population about 5 million, located on the western third of an island it shares with the Dominican Republic, east of Cuba.

The average wage is only $180 a year. On the trip, Francis said he talked to persons who had been in Africa, Bangladesh and Cambodia, and all said Haiti was the poorest.

The Cass Cityan was one of 16 persons to go on what was termed an "adult work camp experience," organized by Rev. Harry Brakeman of the Ogden United Methodist church, southeast of Adrian, who with his wife had been on four previous mission trips to the country.

The Brakemans stayed in Haiti for a second mission trip with 13 people, who were there March 5-19.

Francis first heard about the trip in September and decided he would go if his fellow members of the Trinity United Methodist church would pay his way.

He was accepted for the mission Oct. 25 and by Nov. 28, $1,100 was raised. Of that, $750 paid the cost to send him to Haiti, with the rest being used for purchase of materials and food.

The Brakemans learned through experience that the typical Haitian diet isn't kind to American digestive systems, so the group took along their own canned and dried foods.

Prior to departure, the group met twice at a church in Brighton for orientation.

In Francis' group was one other builder and the man's wife, a farmer and his wife, a federal employee and his wife, utility warehouse supervisor and his wife, an environmental engineer and his wife, one other minister (in addition to Brakeman), SOUVENIRS -- Among souvenirs Elmer Francis brought home from Haiti are these hand carved statues and plant stand, which unfolds. The Pine Street resident and his wife, Janet, have five children, two still living at home.

electrician and a factory worker. Two of the women were registered nurses and spent their time treating Haitians.

All were from the Detroit United Methodist Conference, which consists of the eastern half of lower Michigan and all of the Upper Peninsula.

Base of operations was a Methodist lay training center at Petit Goave, about 40 miles from Port-au-Prince.

From there, it was about 45 minutes by four-wheel-drive vehicle on the Haitian version of a road to the mountainside settlement of Guimney.

THE MAJOR PROJECT during the two weeks was completing the church constructed the previous year by a group from Kentucky.

The Michiganians poured the concrete floor, put in the gables, built 36 pews, 20 feet of communion rail, the pulpit, and hung five doors.

Although the church is only 26-by-32 feet, it has 280 members.

For the church at Fond Doex, 14-by-26 feet with 160 members, the group built 15 pews, 10 feet of altar rail, pulpit, repaired the windows and two doors. One member of the group spent his time making communion trays.

The pews were built at the training center, where there was electricity, with final assembly at the site.

The group that followed built pews and finished the office building at the training center.

As might be expected in a land so poor, the main form of transportation was walking. At Guimney, for instance, cement blocks and bags of cement were carried the final distance. "I saw one woman with two cement blocks on her head," Francis recalled.

He left behind in Haiti some hand tools, carpenters' aprons, clothes and tennis shoes.

HE AND THE OTHER members attended five religious services while there in Haiti, with never fewer than 60 persons present.

He found the people in that nation very religious. "When all you've got is food to eat and God, you put forth a lot of effort," he explained.

Services are similar to those in this country, except they are much longer, about 1 1/2 hours, and conducted in Creole, a mixture of African languages and French. The latter is the official language.

The major religion, according to a leaflet describing the trip, is Voodoo, not black magic, but a folk religion "with its liturgy established in a series of complex ritual drawings, songs and dances, accompanied by the rhythm of sacred drums."

The Michiganians visited the oldest Methodist church in Haiti, founded in 1860, which overlooks Port-au-Prince. The Methodist church is the fastest growing religion in Haiti, according to Francis.

Most Haitians are farmers, with major crops being bananas, corn and sweet potatoes. The group visited the nation's agricultural experiment station, where one project is to crossbreed the small native cattle with American ones to increase their size. In addition to cattle, goats were common and oxen were seen as work animals and donkeys for transportation.

The final 1 1/2 days were spent in Port au Prince, where visits included a children's tuberculosis hospital, Baptist mission and market bazaar.

FRANCIS, WHO DOES commercial construction, home building and remodeling, noted there doesn't seem to be any middle class in Haiti. There are a few who are very rich, but the rest are very poor.

"I probably was in cultural shock," he said of his experience. "It didn't really bother me until I got back."

Haiti has a severe economic problem, he continued, "but there isn't much one can do about it."

What is needed there, he feels, is illustrated by the old proverb: "Feed a man a fish and he will eat for one day, but show him how to fish and he'll eat forever," and that's what we have to do in Haiti."

Francis is willing to do his part. "I will go back if the opportunity arises."

Sanilac to pay late taxes

Taxing jurisdictions within Sanilac county are owed a total of $2.48 million in delinquent taxes.

They will be reimbursed for that amount about mid-May from the county's delinquent tax fund, according to county Treasurer Ken Rhead.

The county sells bonds in order to obtain the money to reimburse the taxing units, which have the benefit of not having to wait while delinquent taxes trickle in. The county then collects the overdue taxes and the penalties for late payment.

The Cass City School District, for the portion of its territory in Sanilac county, is scheduled to receive $51,082 from the fund; the Ubyl district, $55,695.

Argyle township will receive $1,646; Austin, $3,630; Evergreen, $1,921; Greenleaf, $2,520; Lamotte, $1,607; and Moore, $2,377.

Alan Dorman finishes Air Force training

Airman Alan L. Dorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill R. Dorman of 1624 Van Dyke Road, Decker, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the weather service field.

Two receive business scholarships

Two area high school seniors are recipients of $1,200 Michigan Business Schools Association scholarships to Saginaw Business Institute.

Danette Loeding, who attends Cass City High School, will enroll in the data controller program. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loeding of 4407 Deckerville Road, Snover.

Judith A. Ezakovich, who attends Caro High School, will be enrolled in the receptionist-typist program. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Ezakovich of 2311 Hurds Corner Road, Cass City.

Awarding of the scholarships is based on academic performance through the junior year.

Free camp for children with asthma

The American Lung Association of Michigan is accepting applications now through May 11 for its free summer camp for asthmatic children.

Enrollment is limited to 65 children ages 9-13, and recruiting is being done throughout the state of Michigan.

The association's Camp Sun Deer will hold its second annual camp session from June 28 through July 4 near Clear Lake in Dowling, which is 10 miles north of Battle Creek.

Purpose of the camp is to provide an active camping program for children with significant asthma who because of their disease might never get to enjoy a regular camping experience. Most camps do not have adequate medical personnel to handle the special complications of asthma.

Anyone interested in applying to Camp Sun Deer, contributing to its support, or volunteering during the camp week can call the American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5979.

Library slates movies during vacation week

Rawson Memorial Library will show movies two days during spring vacation next week. Starting time is 1:30 p.m. both days.

The three movies Monday will be: "Navajos - Children of the Gods," a Disney film that explains how every aspect of the Navajo's way of life is spiritually related, unchanged by time and undisturbed by progress.

"Sports Snafus" presents funny moments from hundreds of sports events, including baseball, football, hockey and track.

"Boxing Gloves" is a Little Rascals comedy with Alfalfa battling the Masked Rival in a fight he thinks is rigged. Total time of the three films is 53 minutes.

"Johnny Tremain" will be shown Thursday. The Disney film tells the adventures of a teenager involved in the Boston Tea Party and Revolutionary War battles at Lexington and Concord. The film is based on Esther Forbes' popular novel. The movie is 80 minutes long.

Homemakers tour going to Ontario

The Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers is sponsoring an international bonanza tour to Elmira, Ontario, Canada, with a high-light stop in London, Ontario.

Total cost is $22 a person. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Marguerite Krause in Snover at (313) 672-9289. Reservations are open until April 20.

The tour agenda includes Brox's Old Town Village in Elmira, and viewing the Ontario Mennonite heritage with a side stop at the Eldon House and the London Art Gallery in London. Eldon House has a unique collection of historic English antiques.

The tour price includes transportation, luncheon, and tour fees, but not the evening meal. The tour was planned by members of the Snover Extension group.

HEALTH TIPSKnowing health norms is importantFrank Chappell
Science News Editor
AMA

How do you know when you're sick?

Foolish question. We feel bad when we're sick.

But there are degrees of illness, all the way from minor discomfort to severe illness. Knowing what some of the body's norms should be will help in determining when the body is seriously off pattern.

Individual temperatures vary. A slight fever in one person may not be a fever at all in another. Temperatures and pulse rates are different for children and adults.

The average normal temperature taken by mouth is 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit (37 degrees Centigrade). Rectal temperature usually is one degree higher.

To find out what is normal for you, take your temperature when you know that you are not sick, at the same time of day, each day for several days. If your temperature varies slightly from 98.6, write it down by your name on the family medical chart, and on the medical ID card in your wallet.

The average normal pulse rate for an adult at rest is 70 to 72 beats per minute.

The American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care points out that individual pulse rates vary, and can be either higher or lower than average.

To find your normal pulse, place the fingertips of your second and index fingers of one hand at your wrist just below the thumb on the palm side of your other hand. Count the pulsations for 60 seconds. This is your pulse rate. Be sure to do this when you are restful and quiet.

Pulse rates in children vary according to age. The average for a newborn infant is about 120 beats per minute. A child's pulse rate can be anywhere from 60 to 90 beats per minute. The older child has a rate of 80.

Fever, nausea and headaches may or may not indicate something serious. If any of these symptoms persists for several days, medical attention should be sought.

Group visits exchanges in Chicago

A busload of Sanilac county farmers and their wives recently returned from visiting Chicago's marketing exchanges.

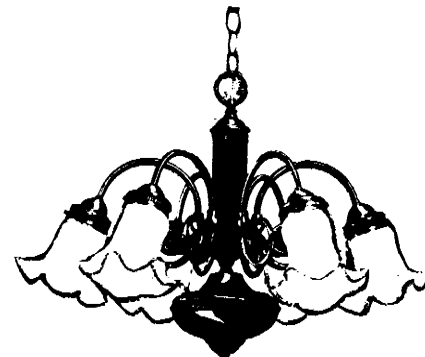

The trip was the summary of a marketing alternative short course. The three-day class was conducted by the county Cooperative Extension Service and Michigan State University agricultural economics department.

Among those attending were Alan Gerstenberger of Snover and Ron and Ruth Shaw of Decker. A total of 26 farmers and wives took the class. Regional extension farm management agent William Hamilton made the arrangements and accompanied the group.

The group toured the Chicago Board of Trade and Mercantile Exchange. They attended briefings and meetings at both locations to learn how the trading of fortunes and hedging influences farm commodity prices. They saw firsthand how a commodity order to buy or sell is handled.

Each individual was able to visit with a broker and his brokerage firm.

A highlight was being permitted to go onto the trading floor at the Mercantile Exchange and experience how a unit is bid and traded and the handling of each transaction.

Your Neighbor says

Television news is inadequate

In a magazine interview published around the time he retired last month, Walter Cronkite criticized local television news as often shallow, superficial and with style given more importance than substance.

He also expressed concern that more and more Americans depend on television as their source of news.

"It's a great guide to the day's news," Cronkite said, "but we cannot cover in depth in a half-hour many of the stories required to get a good understanding of the world."

Lawrence Bruno, who watches television news and reads newspapers agrees. "They just hit the high spots," he said of TV. "You have to read the back of the paper to get the rest of the story."

He describes newspapers as "my main source of information." As for television, "Thirty minutes is not enough time to tell a story."

The network evening news program he watches is ABC, because it has more film coverage. For local news, when he's home, he watches Channel 5 (WNEM), though not because he feels it does the best job. "I look for the mistakes and it's funny."

When he's working in Port Huron, he watches news on the Detroit stations from 5-7:30 p.m.

He pretty much reads newspapers from cover to cover and has a fascination for stories buried on the inside pages. "The ones that don't make the front page news. That's the ones that get my interest."

Bruno and his wife Clara have three children, Marcy, a senior at Owen-Gage High School, Kimberly, an eighth grader, and Richard, who attends St. Clair Community College. The family lives on Wallace Road, Gagetown.

A member of Boilermakers Union Local 169, Bruno is presently working on installation of an air pollution control precipitator at the St. Clair Detroit Edison power plant at Port Huron.

Benkelman funeral held

Harold Leroy (Sime) Benkelman, 83, of Cass City died Wednesday, April 8, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

He was born Nov. 27, 1897, in St. Francis, Kansas, the son of Benjamin F. and Minnie (Jesse) Benkelman. He returned to Cass City as a mail child with his parents. They made their home on the family homestead farm.

He married Isabel Fletcher Sept. 14, 1918, in Detroit. Following their marriage, they made their home in Sandusky where he was an auto dealer. They later moved to Cass City where he was employed as equipment superintendent by the E.B. Schwaderer Construction Co. and then the Tuscola County Road Commission until his retirement.

He served with the Army Air Corps during World War I. He was a member of the Salem United Methodist church of Cass City and a life member of Custer Lodge No. 393, F and AM, Sandusky.

Benkelman is survived by his wife; two sons, Bill Benkelman of Bloomfield Hills and Robert Benkelman of Caro; six grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; one brother, Benjamin F. Benkelman of Clearwater, Fla., and two sisters, Mrs. Eustis Ball of Clearwater, and Mrs. Lois Pease of Pompano Beach, Fla. One sister, Ruth, preceded him in death.

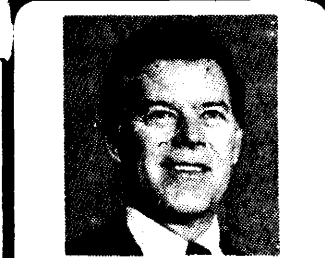

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Eldred Kelley of the Salem United Methodist church officiating.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Student of the week

Debbie Cortimilia is student of the week for the week of April 6 at Cass City Intermediate School.

A seventh grader, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cortimilia of Cass City.

Eastern Star group drapes charter

Following the formal opening of the Echo Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, meeting Wednesday evening, April 8, the charter was draped in memory of Gertrude Falkenhagen and Ernest Beardsley.

Three candidates were elected to receive the degrees of the order with exemplification Wednesday evening, April 15. A card party was announced for April 25. Reporting for the sunshine committee were Betty Greenleaf and Bernadine Good.

Members who have April birthdays were honored when refreshments were served in the dining room following the meeting.

Very few things worth having can be had for the asking.

Announcement was made that the OES Thumb Association spring meeting will be May 2 at Decker. Huronia chapter members of Bad Axe will be guests at the May meeting of Echo chapter.

Fifteen officers answered roll call, with Esther McCullough, Marie Jetta and James Karr substituting for absent officers.

THE COMPLETE BEGINNER'S GUIDE TO STEREO, by Richard B. Lytle (non-fiction). Includes everything a beginner should know about the technical and more complex parts of hi-fi stereo equipment, from loudspeakers, FM tuners, antennas, tape decks, quadrophonic sound, and systems planning. Armed with this information, readers will be able to decipher a manufacturer's list of specifications like pros and make better and less expensive choices when buying stereo equipment.

Richard Simmons' NEVER SAY-DIET-BOOK, (non-fiction). Exercise, proper nutrition and a positive attitude are the familiar keystones of Simmons' lifetime plan. The difference in this book is Simmons' humorous straight-talk designed to break down readers' self-defensive fallacies. Beneath the humorous patter there are some good ideas: A mandatory morning and evening exercise regimen, a sensible food plan based on volume rather than gimmicks and some realistic mental routines using positive suggestion.

CITY KID, by Mary MacCracken (non-fiction). At age 44, a gifted teacher of emotionally disturbed children and writer ("Lovey" and "Circle of Children") returns to school to secure her certification. Dismayed by the emphasis on theory and methodology taught for the most part by pedants and martinets, she eagerly grasps a slum school's offer to tutor Luke, a seven-year-old streetwise truant, thief and arsonist. With infinite patience she breaks down his hostility, gaining his trust and redirecting his energies into constructive channels. This moving, wise and wryly humorous first-person account of a teacher's struggle to retain her imaginative and loving approach to students despite the insensitive educational system, and to save a child from being destroyed by the same system, could benefit many educators and school officials who have forgotten that caring is a prerequisite to effective teaching.
