BIG MAMA -- The first litter of "Chipper," an English springer spaniel owned by Mike Butcher, was a spectacular one. She gave birth May 3 to 16 puppies, one of which quickly died. An average litter is 4-8 pups. Mike, 17, is the son of Wayne and Martha Butcher of Vader Road, Unionville. Father of the purebred puppies was owned by Dave Luana of Cass City.

3-month delay leads to crash salary program

After almost three months of delay the Cass City School Board suddenly decided Monday night at its regular meeting that it was urgent that the salaries for the administration and the school secretaries be settled at once.

The action was taken after President Geraldine Prieskorn pushed the personnel committee to come to a decision.

Dr. Paul Lockwood mentioned that the amount of money available wouldn't be known until the millage question is decided.

Mrs. Prieskorn pointed out that the school never operated on the basis of making the employees subsidize the school system.

Supt. Donald Crouse told the board that he felt it was essential that the salaries be settled before the upcoming school millage election.

The voters should know up front, he said, what the money is going for. If we receive the millage and then adjust salaries the feeling may be that the salaries were raised just because the millage was voted.

The committee wanted a written evaluation of the teachers to grant merit raises rather than blanket raises. Crouse presented the board with a brief written summary of each Trustee Dick Albee said that he couldn't make a salary recommendation on the basis of "two sentences about each person."

Crouse then explained that they were taken from his file on each worker. If the board wants that, the employee has the right, if he desires, to have it aired in executive session, said the superintendent.

After the discussion the personnel committee, Dean Hoag, Ellen T. Burnette and Lockwood said that they would meet this week and a special meeting would be held Thursday, May 21, at 7:30 to vote on the recommendations.

SENIOR PHOTOS

Kirk Winter appeared to complain about the school policy of an official designated photographer. Seniors must have a picture taken by Powell Studio to be included in the year book. Sittings are $10 each and include proofs and a class composite picture. Powell takes candid shots four times a year for inclusion in the year book.

Winter said that he was speaking for students who would like to have the option of going to a photographer of their choice for pictures.

Principal Russ Richards said that the trouble with this is that without an official photographer pictures are hard to round up and come in many different poses, styles and shapes.

Pictures like these would increase the cost of producing the book and would eliminate a class composite picture.

A committee was formed to study the problem and will report at the regular meeting in June.

TV EDUCATION

Kathleen O'Donnell, continuing education director, explained a new education system to the board that would enable students to earn college degrees in general business, criminal justice and psychology.

The classes would be taught by Saginaw Valley College and hooked through a video display screen and cassette via rented telephone lines. Students would view the lessons on the TV screen and could lift up the phone and talk to the teacher or students in the class at SVC during the lesson period.

If the plan is adopted in Cass City it will be part of a circuit that includes the air base at Oscoda that already has the system.

The kicker in the proposed program is that it needs $13,000 to $15,000 to get off the ground. An attempt is underway to raise the money from industry and business.

There will be no charge to the school except an "in kind" cost of donation of the use of a classroom, O'Donnell told the board.

CURRICULUM

Albee reported the results of a curriculum study by a board committee. There were few changes recommended. The committee suggested that math should be increased from one year to two years and basic math stressed.

In social study no change was recommended with the exception of eliminating duplication from course to course.

The committee wants to see a course in public speaking offered for a semester and in English a better college prep course started.

The committee questioned a four-semester requirement for physical education but made no recommended change.

OTHER BUSINESS

Gail Nartker was released from her contract effective May 30 to take a part-time, year-around job in Sandusky. She is the librarian at the Intermediate School and a substitute will be hired to finish the school year.

Owen-Gage requesting emergency state loan

The Owendale-Gagetown School District is seeking an emergency loan from the state as insurance to keep the district operating.

Supt. Ronald Erickson told the school board Monday evening he has asked State Rep. Keith Muxlow, R-Brown City, to introduce legislation authorizing such a loan and the bill is now being prepared by the Legislative Service Bureau.

Asked after the meeting if the district could survive without such a loan, Erickson said it could, but then added, "I think."

Owen-Gage received a $75,000 loan from Lansing in 1978, the last $25,000 installment of which plus interest was repaid last month. It took several months from the time the loan was first requested until it was received, so if that happens again, it won't provide any immediate relief to the district -- if the loan is approved by the legislature. School employees were last paid March 13 and won't be paid again until July at the earliest. Payment then depends on voters approving the two levies totaling 6.2 mills June 8 and then the Municipal Finance Commission approving Owen-Gage's borrowing money in anticipation of receipt of future property tax revenue.

Erickson said he hasn't asked Muxlow for a specific amount for the state loan, explaining that he is leaving it up to the Legislative Service Bureau to figure out an amount. He did tell the board, "I think I'd like as much as we lost to Cass City" (in revenue from transferred property), but didn't state an amount.

BUDGET

The board approved a 1981-82 budget, in accordance with a new state law requiring a budget be approved prior to the beginning of the new fiscal year (July 1). Previously, it and other boards never approved their budgets until usually September.

The budget projects general fund property tax revenue at $934,970, plus $119,652 from the Goslin territory, based on both millage requests being approved June 8 (4.25 mills renewal plus 2.25 addition, total of 23.75 for operations). The figures compare with $791,023 raised for this year, plus $101,023 from Goslin, which wasn't received by Owen-Gage. (Taxes collected there went to the Cass City School District.)

Erickson projected the increase in valuation from last year at 7 percent.

Total local revenue is listed at $1,088 million; state revenue, $13,700; federal, $81,000, and special education, $7,000, for a total of $1.19 million.

General fund expenditures are listed at $1,066 million, which would mean an excess of revenue over expenditures of $123,934.

Passage of Proposal A May 19, the school millage vote June 8 and the awaited Michigan Supreme Court decision concerning the Goslin territory will all have an effect on school finances, so the budget approved Monday has to be considered very tentative.

A public hearing on the budget will be conducted later in the year.

OTHER ITEMS

More than 60 persons have applied for the position of high school principal, to replace retiring James Barr.

Erickson has interviewed 11 of the applicants, those

Proposal A tax cut or tax shaft, voters will decide Tuesday

By Mike Eliasohn

Tax cut or tax shaft?

That's the question Michigan voters must ask themselves in deciding how they will vote Tuesday on Proposal A, the tax reform proposal written by Governor William G. Milliken and the legislature.

Polls in township halls will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. Lamotte township is the only governmental unit in the area that also has a local proposition. (See sidebar story.)

The proposed amendment will do the following, according to the wording that will be on the ballot:

•Reduce by 50 percent, homestead property taxes used for operating schools and local governments. Reduction limited to $1,400 in 1981 and changed yearly as home values change.

•Reduce by 50 percent local individual income taxes on first $40,000 of taxable income.

•Make state return to local governments all funds lost by above reductions.

•Limit yearly property tax revenue growth to 6 percent by property type unless raised by local voters.

•Raise sales tax from 4 percent to 5.5 percent. (From 4 cents per dollar to 5 1/2 cents.) Raise must be returned to local governments and schools.

•Let farms and forests be assessed at use value.

•Give state lottery profits to school aid fund.

The effect of the proposal has to be examined two ways, on taxpayers and on governmental units and schools.

PROPERTY OWNERS

According to Citizens for A Tax Cut Now, "Virtually every homeowner and farmer in Michigan will receive a net tax cut under Proposal A."

According to its computations, a property owner with an income of $10,000 annually and property tax bill of $600, for instance, should save $60 on the average. That includes the effect of the increased sales tax.

A property owner with an income of $20,000 and property tax bill of $900 should save $180.

Taxpayers United Federation, a Proposal A opponent, points out that true property tax savings won't be 50 percent, however, because the reduction applies only to operating millage.

Cass City village homeowners, for instance, pay debt millage for the sewage plant, Cass City schools and Intermediate school district.

The tax break only applies to a person living in his home. It does not apply to a home he owns and rents out, to business and industry.

The existing property tax credit on state income tax returns for senior citizens, handicapped, low income and renters is improved.

According to Robert Craig of the Michigan Farm Bureau, reported in Michigan Farmer magazine, full-time farmers will be able to claim their home, adjacent and contiguous farmland and non-contiguous farmland, if unoccupied, for the 50 percent tax break. Full-time farmers are defined as those whose gross cash farm receipts exceed household income.

Those whose gross farm receipts do not exceed household income -- basically part-time farmers -- will be able to claim their farm

WONDERMENT -- The Artrain held fascination for persons of all ages. This particular section contained some old photographs showing immigrants, in connection with the "Immigrant Folk Art in the American Heartland" section.

'Went very well'

Artrain attracts 2,750; attendance down from '72

The Michigan Artrain departed in the rain Sunday, headed for Detroit, after having been visited by 2,750 persons during its six-day stay in Cass City.

Attendance would have been over 3,000 had a generator power failure Friday not required cancellation of tours for several school classes.

"I think it went very well," said local steering committee co-chairman Holly Althaver. "My wish is that even more people from the area would have come."

There were 3,677 persons who toured the train during its four-day stay here in July, 1972. The train last week was open to the public Tuesday through Saturday, plus for invited guests at opening ceremonies Monday.

Despite the fact that the exhibits on the train are changed annually, ignorance of that fact may have deterred some persons from coming who saw the Artrain in 1972.

"I think the problem is, many persons think we're the same exhibit," said Artrain Operations Manager Beverly Ritchie. "A lot of people say, 'I've been to Artrain,' but that's not really true."

Mrs. Althaver also felt that was probably true.

As for how the two compared, she said a lot of persons commented they "liked it much better than in 1972." The feeling this year was the Artrain was like an art exhibit rather than a "world's fair exhibit."

Joan Krueger, the Artrain

gallery coordinator, said persons had commented to her that they liked this year's exhibit better than in 1972. "It's been positive," she said of the reaction.

The other local co-chairman, Karen Wallace, also felt the exhibit was better this year. She added, "The guides were better prepared and did a fine job."

"The help from local volunteers has been really good," Ms. Krueger commented. "It's been enthusiastic."

Mrs. Wallace did feel there was more enthusiasm expressed in 1972, when the Artrain was "new and different," however, enthusiasm grew this time "as the week rolled on."

There were more activities held in 1972 in conjunction with the appearance of Artrain, but that was in the summer, when more persons had more time to get involved.

THE EVENTS HELD this time in conjunction with the traveling art museum's visit were popular.

The musical programs Wednesday and Friday evening drew about 200 persons to the First Presbyterian church. The audience was enthusiastic both nights, Mrs. Althaver said, because of the quality of the performances and because most of the musicians were from the Cass City area.

The Evening with the Arts at the high school Monday evening, an annual event, drew its usual large crowd, that filled the bleachers for the opening band programs.

The exhibition at the Cultural Center of works of Thumb area artists officially drew 845 persons, including four classes, plus those who didn't sign the guest book.

Linda Eisinger, the chairman for the exhibit, said one comment she sometimes heard was, "I didn't know that they could do that," from persons viewing something done by a friend or neighbor, unaware until then the person had artistic talent.

ANOTHER COMMENT often heard was that they liked the local artists' exhibit better than the works on the Artrain, but that was "because they can relate to it more."

Mrs. Althaver heard similar compliments. "People are always more comfortable with what they know," she explained. "The other (on the Artrain) is a challenge."

"If It Fitz..."

Schlafly is a 'no'

By Jim Fitzgerald

Phyllis Schlafly would be pleased to learn that Michigan is leery about issuing auto license plates that say YES.

"It could be offensive to women's groups," said a spokesman for the Secretary of State's Office, explaining that "yes" could have a double meaning. He is afraid of "had" for the same reason.

Certainly. As Schlafly recently told a U.S. Senate committee, "Men hardly ever ask sexual favors of women from whom the certain answer is 'no.'" She was referring to pedestrian women. "When a woman walks across the room, she speaks with a universal body language that most men intuitively understand," Schlafly said. Her theory is that walking women who are sexually harassed usually get what they're looking for. She disapproves of these women who use body language to ask for pinches and propositions from men.

I'm sure she would also disapprove of motorist women who willingly drive across town with YES on their license plates. After all, what purpose could such a plate have, other than to tell male motorists that the woman at the wheel wants to be pulled over and ravaged?

Sure, there are those fanatical Women's Libbers who would suggest that a woman has YES on her license plate because her name is Yolanda Estelle Smith or because she is loan officer at a bank where all loans are guaranteed by the federal government or because she is trying to stamp out negativism.

Nonsense, of course. Such explanations of an obvious attempt to have curbside sex are as weak as saying a certain woman walks with her shoulders back and her chest out because she learned good posture when she was a Girl Scout. Everyone knows that a woman who walks like that is selling more than cookies. Virtuous women slouch. A recent survey of shoe repair shops proved conclusively that women with round shoulders never have round heels.

Naturally, a woman who wiggles when she walks will welcome a YES plate on her car, especially when she can't find a parking place and get out and wiggle. Such rolling advertising will give her instant rapport with intuitive men who use cars in their never-ending search for women to sexually harass. But what about women like Phyllis Schlafly?

That is what's worrying the Secretary of State's Office. By 1983, Michigan auto plates will have three letters, including vowels for the first time, along with three numbers. The secretary's office is scrutinizing those three-letter combinations, such as ASS, SAP, HAD and YES, that might have unacceptable connotations. Plates are sold haphazardly, so unless a scrutinizer rules otherwise, it will be possible for a round-shouldered woman to have YES on her license plate.

To contract the universal language on her plate, she will have to drive with her head out the window, shouting no. And you can bet that some extremely intuitive man will shout back: "Your lips tell me no, no, but there's yes, yes on your plate." And as quickly as that, an innocent woman will be sexually harassed without even getting a chance to get out of her car and prove her virtue by slouching.

Or what if one of Schlafly's shuffling followers gets a HAD plate? The poor woman will have to keep shouting out her car window that she hasn't been had. She can hardly be more explicit without risking her virtue, no matter how badly she slumps while shouting. Such an oblique message can hardly be expected to dissuade men who operate on intuition alone.

Obviously, license plates containing such blatantly sexually suggestive words as "yes" and "had" would cause terrible trauma for female drivers with virtue. It is to be hoped that Michigan's secretary of state, a man, will ban these two words. Such a wise action would prove that Michigan protects virtuous women who are forced to hide their sluggish hips from public view while driving.

It would also prove that a person doesn't have to be female to be as monumentally silly as Phyllis Schlafly.

Skill Center, Highland Pines dedication Sunday

Open house and dedication ceremonies will take place Sunday at the Highland Pines School and Tuscola Area Skill Center.

The facilities for training of handicapped students and teaching of vocational skills to high school students respectively opened last fall.

Open house in both buildings will be from 2-5 p.m. Guided tours will be conducted and most teachers will be in their classrooms to explain their programs to visitors. At the skill center, some students will give demonstrations.

Both buildings are operated by the Tuscola Intermediate School District (TISD) and serve students living in the nine local school districts in the county.

The buildings are located on Cleaver Road, north of M-81 on the east edge of Caro.

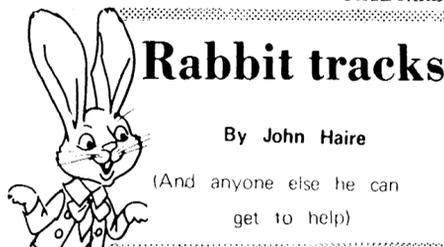

Dedication ceremonies at Highland Pines will take place at 2:30; at the Skill Center at 3:30.

Speaking briefly at both will be TISD Supt. Dr. Bruce Dunn and TISD Board of Education President Arnold Krummator and representatives of the architect for both buildings, Alden B. Dow, Architects, of Midland, and the construction management firm for both, Elzinga-Volker, Construction Managers, of Holland.

Main speaker at the Highland Pines dedication will be Shirley Swigles, special education consultant from the state Department of Education. Guest speaker at the Skills Center dedication will be Arnold Loomis, Department of Education vocational education director.

Refreshments will be served in both buildings. A student choir will perform at Highland Pines.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Best line heard about that expanding sink hole in Florida came from Bill Bonds, Detroit TV news anchorman. He said that the hole was growing and there is no known way to stop it... just like inflation.

Here's a nomination for the worst block of sidewalk in town. It's between Pine and Houghton on Oak on the east side of the street.

Trees and brush have grown over the walk in parts of that stretch, the alley where the walk goes is a mud quagmire and what sidewalk is left is broken and heaved by roots.

The wheels of bureaucracy and committees grind exceedingly slow.

This week I received two brochures and a record describing the beauty of Arizona. The information was requested, by a resident there, I guess, sometime in late February.

The Cass City School Board's policy guidelines don't appear to be worth the paper they are written on.

They are in effect only until the board decides to ignore them. Latest policy to be disregarded was one adopted last year that board members must have copies of proposed salary adjustments one week before a vote is taken.

That doesn't give the board enough time to get the facts before the voters before the election so the new policy has been rescinded... just like others before it that bit the dust.

Items stolen

Thomas J. Fritz, an employee of Trend Vendors of Cass City, reported to the sheriff's department May 4 that a microwave oven owned by the firm was stolen from the employee break room at Michigan Sugar Co. in Caro between May 1 and 4. It was valued at $200. Nasri Khoury reported to Cass City police Saturday morning that during the night the padlock on the freezer outside the Quaker Maid store had been cut off and 10-15 bags of ice stolen. The bags were worth 75 cents each.

Most folks in the conservative Thumb are dead set against Federal handouts such as those that are helping build the tennis courts at Cass City Recreational Park and the new waste water treatment plant at the Cass River.

Oh, they agree that we should take the money before it goes to someone else. But if they could vote to abolish programs of this nature it's a foregone conclusion that those programs wouldn't exist.

I'm with the majority there. You always get more for your tax dollar if it stays home instead of rushing off to Lansing or Washington and then comes dribbling back.

Ronald Reagan gets the plaudits for cutting back on these programs from conservatives. In many minds cutbacks in giveaways mean less taxes. That isn't necessarily so, of course.

If the money is merely switched from tennis courts to rifles here's one big enthusiastic vote for tennis courts.

Reagan hasn't convinced the smart money boys that his new supply side economics is the answer either.

Interest rates are climbing through the ceiling again and the cost of living has to escalate given the administration's handling of big oil. According to an article that appeared in the Detroit Free Press Monday, knowledgeable persons report that the oil companies have been granted everything that they asked for and some things that they didn't suggest but welcomed anyway.

It means billions of dollars in extra revenues down the road for the oil companies that already are wallowing in a glut of profits from the outrageous surge in oil prices.

Who pays? Who always pays? Talking about the profits of big oil doesn't strike a chord with families involved in raising kids, checking schools, earning a living.

It will hit home next winter when every home serviced by natural gas is projected to be paying a third to 50 percent more for fuel and farmers using propane will also feel the big oil bite.

One of the big gripes about the Carter administration was that there wasn't any policy on energy.

Now we have a policy. It's to give free rein to the big companies and let the consumer foot the bill.

Here's one vote for no policy rather than a policy like that.

PEDALING AROUND

No easy answer

By Mike Eliasohn

I was hoping once I had completed my article on Proposal A, my mind would be made up on which way to vote on it.

Unfortunately, it isn't. I am still confused.

My inclination is to ask, "What's in it for me?" and vote accordingly. If that is the way I vote, I will vote "no."

I do not own a house. My income has always been above the minimum needed to qualify for a rebate on my state income tax, which I would receive if my rent were too high in proportion to my income. I doubt that will change if Proposal A is approved.

What will change for me (and everyone else) is that I will pay more in sales taxes. I could be wrong, but it seems like Proposal A will cost me more money, not less.

That doesn't hold true for everyone. It appears the biggest beneficiaries will be farmers, excluding those whose land is enrolled in Public Act 116, and that is why the Michigan Farm Bureau is backing it so strongly.

It also appears most homeowners will benefit, though for the amount of turmoil and confusion Proposal A will create, there is the question of whether the relatively small saving is worth it.

For instance, a family with an annual household income of $20,000 and a property tax bill of $900, after paying higher sales taxes, will save an average of $180 a year.

That will buy some steak dinners or pay for a couple of trips to the dentist (depending on what he does when you're there), but it won't pay for a new car.

It appears likely passage of Proposal A will mean less revenue for schools and municipalities, because the state has to make up the $250 million shortfall it will incur from somewhere.

It might be good for some schools and communities to cut back, but I don't see where there can comfortably be such cutbacks locally.

The Cass City School District is almost at the bottom of the list statewide in general fund expenditures per pupil and everyone knows the money problems Owen-Gage is having.

It seems like in reading about other area school districts -- and the same probably holds true statewide -- the school boards are laying off teachers and seeking millage increases.

As for the village of Cass City, if it had a surplus of funds, it could repave all the streets that badly need repaving, and I don't see that happening.

It seems strange to me that one of the arguments raised against Proposal A is that because it will require the state to finance a larger portion of school budgets, the state will increase its control over schools.

I don't buy that argument. The state already has LOTS of control over our schools and contributes a sizeable amount of aid to most districts.

What is strange to me is that many of the persons who raise that argument are backers of the various Tisch Amendments, the third version of which is certain to appear on the ballot in 1982.

Tisch will also require the state to reimburse schools and local governmental units for lost property tax revenue, the same way as in Proposal A.

If Proposal A will result in more state control over schools, so will Tisch.

I think if the Tisch proposals were subjected to as much analysis as Proposal A, they would be just as confusing.

I don't feel there is as much fat in our government budgets as Tisch would have you believe can be eliminated, without cutting into what most persons think of as essential services.

As persons are finding out in Boston because of a tax slashing proposal approved by Massachusetts voters last year, some of the "fat" being eliminated includes policemen and firemen.

It seems like there must somehow be a way to come up with a tax reform proposal that is simple to understand and without all kinds of potential loopholes.

My own thoughts are that the property tax should be eliminated entirely and replaced with an income tax, which I feel would be much fairer.

As for Proposal A, I predict it will be defeated. Unfortunately, most persons' opinion of politicians is so low that they don't trust anything the lawmakers propose. Thus the feeling is that instead of it cutting taxes, the ultimate result may be higher taxes.

Driver charged in fatality

The Tuscola County Prosecutor, Artis Noel, issued a warrant Tuesday afternoon charging Richard K. Duke, 37, of Akron, with negligent homicide in connection with the March 22 traffic death of Laurel C. Miller.

He was expected to turn himself in at the Caro state police post to be taken to district court for arraignment.

Mrs. Miller, 36, of Unionville, was killed when passing a truck driven by Duke, which moved over into her lane and the vehicles made contact. The divorced mother of three children lost control and her car traveled 292 feet along the shoulder of the road before slamming head-on into a tree.

The 3:10 p.m. accident took place on Bay City-Forestville Road, about four miles east of Unionville. The prosecutor's office is alleging that Duke and Mrs. Miller, who were friends, were racing each other. The four persons in her car were injured. No one was injured in Duke's pickup, which contained two passengers, a son of Mrs. Miller and the brother of three children who were riding in her car.

Negligent homicide carries a maximum sentence of two years in prison. Issuance of the warrant, the spokesman said, couldn't take place until results of the autopsy on Mrs. Miller were available, and they weren't received until Monday. Cause of death, in non-medical terms, was bleeding to death.

Members of the class of 1981 are: Juliane Andrakowicz, James Ashmore, Peggy Berube, Cheryl Billy, Marcella Bruno, Jeffrey Crandall, Tina Wood Crandall, Daniel Dzielinski, Kristine Erickson.

Juana Flores, Scott Gaeth, James Glidden, Loretta Hahn, Leonard Hallock, Rebecca Howard, Kendall Howard, Scott Howard, James Kelly, James Kuhr, Jalaine Kundering, Robert LaFave, Dana Laurie, Darryn LaZar, Robert LaZar, Sherri Lesoski, Cheryl Mandich, Mary Mosack, Veronica Norcross, Debra Nowaczyk, David Ondrajka, Marie Radabaugh, Annette Rockefeller, Heidi Rockefeller, Tom Salcido, Karen Shanks, Debra Shope, Terri Sontag, Michael Sullivan, Deidra Thick, Bethany Thies, Paul Thomas, Kenneth Thomas, John Vargo, Timothy Wald, Richard Wald, Joseph Zaleski, Robert Zimmer, James Zuraw.

The valedictory address will be given by Cheryl Mandich and the salutatory address by Juana Flores.

O-G sets graduation ceremonies

Baccalaureate services for the 48 graduating seniors at Owendale-Gagetown High School will take place at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Gagetown Elementary School gym.

Rev. Wayne Wentzel of St. John's Lutheran church in Kilmanagh will give the baccalaureate message.

Commencement exercises will take place Thursday, May 21, at 8 p.m. in the high school gym in Owendale. Retired Wayne County Juvenile Judge James H. Lincoln of Harbor Beach will deliver the commencement address, entitled, "Your 45th Year Class Reunion."

Art festival May 23-24 in Bad Axe

The 15th annual Festival of Arts, sponsored by the Thumb Council for the Arts, will be held May 23-24 at the Huron county fairgrounds, Bad Axe.

Judging will take place Friday evening, May 22, with cash prizes and ribbons being awarded. There will be an art auction Sunday at 5 p.m.

No prosecution

Close case on 3 children who lost lives in refrigerator mishap

Investigation into the deaths of three Caro area children, found inside a refrigerator March 28, has ended.

"At this point, the case is closed," Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel said Tuesday.

The three brothers and sisters who died were Shannon Mazzola, who succumbed the same day; James, 6, who died April 2, and Kelly, 3, April 11.

The refrigerator was outside the home of their mother, Paula Mazzola, on Fairgrove Road, north of Caro.

Under Michigan law, it is a misdemeanor to abandon a refrigerator without first removing the locking device or the door. The maximum penalty for violations is 90 days in jail and/or a $100 fine.

No one who might have been responsible for leaving the refrigerator outside will be prosecuted, Noel said. "We feel there has been enough suffering in one family for a lifetime and would not warrant further public involvement."

The investigation took so long to complete, he explained, because police interviewed neighbors and waited a while before conducting a follow-up interview of Mrs. Mazzola.

The investigation was handled by the Caro state police.

Infection reported in Sanilac

An outbreak of Fifth Disease (erythema infectiosum, viral exanthem, slapped face disease) has been reported by the Sanilac County Health Department.

This viral infection is most commonly seen in children from 5-14 years of age and communicability of the disease is high within close contact groups, such as families and school rooms.

Diagnosis is based on physical findings and especially on the presentation of a red rash which occurs initially on the cheeks and runs together to give the face a "slapped" appearance. The rash then spreads to the extremities and takes on a speckled look. The rash may come and go for periods up to three weeks. Mild symptoms may occur and include headache, low grade fever, sore throat, and upset stomach.

Complications of the infection are extremely rare and control measures are not indicated.

In the event an obvious diagnosis cannot be made, it is suggested that patients contact their family physician or the health department for advice. It is suggested that children be kept home until the initial rash begins to fade.

Your Neighbor says

I'm voting 'no' on Proposal A

Nancy Whaley has some more studying to do about Proposal A before she goes to the polls Tuesday to vote, but as of now, she plans to vote "no."

As loyal supporters of the Owendale-Gagetown School District, she and her husband, George, "feel by lowering taxes, the government will step in and that won't be of benefit to small school districts."

Owen-Gage does not receive student state aid -- only a relatively small amount of categorical aid for specific programs -- thus gets most of its funds from property taxes.

Proposal A would reduce homestead property taxes used for operating schools and local government by 50 percent, with the maximum individual benefit being $1,400, and require the state to reimburse the local units for the lost property tax revenue.

Mrs. Whaley doesn't trust the state to do that without interfering. "We feel they're going to take over control. Who's to say what they are going to do the year after?"

"Yes, I feel we are paying plenty of taxes," she said. "I could see the need for a decrease in property taxes." She doesn't feel, though, that Proposal A is the right way to do it.

A licensed practical nurse, Mrs. Whaley has been employed at Hills and Dales General Hospital 11 years. She works in the obstetrics ward. Six of her children have graduated from the Owen-Gage schools.

She and her husband have a total of nine children, the youngest now in college, and two grandchildren. They live on Trumble Road, Gagetown.

Proschek addresses study club

The Gagetown Woman's Study Club met May 4 at the home of Hilda Koch with 11 members and one guest present.

Gladys Laurie gave a report on the bake sale held last month. Muriel Barr, scholarship committee member, reported it has received eight applications for the annual scholarship, to be awarded this month.

The county convention of the federation will be at Vassar May 30 hosted by the woman's club there.

The nominating committee submitted its slate. The group elected Hilda Koch as its new president and re-elected Elma Miklovich secretary.

Mrs. Miklovich gave an update on the club's annual rummage sale to be held the third week in June.

Program chairman Jackie Goodell introduced Eric Proschek, Tuscola county assistant prosecuting attorney, who spoke on the duties of a prosecuting attorney and the job of selecting a jury.

Special guest for the evening was Bernadine Jaymes of Vassar, who is the east central district president of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs, who gave a brief state of the county report and told about her duties.

The next meeting is the grand finale and will be held at the Charmont June 1 with Zora Walrod and Elma Miklovich as hosts.

Big Brothers and Sisters are needed

"We have 55 children on our waiting lists, all hoping they'll soon be matched with a Big Brother or Big Sister," says Connie Gamet, executive director of BB-BS of Tuscola county.

"Though we do recruit for volunteers year-round, Appreciation Week is the one time when we give it all we've got, try to make the entire community aware of this need, and at the same time thank the many volunteers who are already making a big difference in a child's life."

Appreciation Week, an annual event, is taking place this week with a theme of "Sharing a Child's Tomorrow." The activities and events scheduled to bring public attention to the program this week will emphasize the important role a Big Brother or Big Sister can play in a child's development.

"Many of the children we serve just need a little more adult attention than they're getting now. Sharing one hour a week with an adult, who cares and listens and tries to understand can give them the boost they need, at a time when it's most important," says Mrs. Grant.

"Everybody benefits -- the child, the family, the volunteer -- and the community. And the cost is a little time spent in friendship with a child. What other way do you know to do so much good in such a nice way?"

BB-BS of Tuscola county is one of 400 affiliates of BB-BS, a national non-profit organization founded in 1903. For more information, contact Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters in Caro at 673-6996.

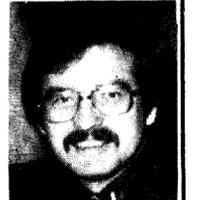

Progress in any field is achieved by people who do things that others have declared impossible.

There will be no admission charge but a freewill offering will be taken.

New books at the library

SEASON OF CHANGE, by Lois Battle (fiction). Jesamine Mallick struggles to find her own identity, lost in the years of blissfully serving her husband. Left a wealthy woman, Jesa half-heartedly pursues her interests in art as a "Friend of Young Artists," encouraged by her zany friend, Sally, until she meets Servorio, a promising young artist who calls up a passion for life and love that Jesa has never known. Servio's personality contrasts sharply with that of her Connecticut friend and neighbor, Josh, a down-to-earth, sincere, honest man also pursuing a new life. Thus unfolds the dilemma of choice for Jesa, a new love and new life.

BANNERS OF SILK, by Rosalind Laker (fiction). The story of a beautiful young French woman, who faces destitution but finds wealth and fame in the elegant fashion design world of Paris and Victorian London. Orphaned at 10, Louise Vernet attaches herself to a seamstress in the shop of one of the most fashionable couturiers in Paris. Soon in love with a dashing but faithless Frenchman, Louise finds herself with only a memory of her handsome Pierre. But good fortune again prevails as the famous and eminently respectable Charles Worth, the foremost designer in all of Parisian fashion, becomes her benefactor.

GOURMET COOKING WITHOUT SALT, by Eleanor Brenner (non-fiction). Each of Eleanor Brenner's elegant, kitchen-tested recipes is prepared with low-sodium products and a variety of spices and other flavoring agents in order to create a dish tantalizing to both eye and palate. The book also includes a list of the sodium contents of different foods, suggestions for particular brands of low-sodium products, and cross-index of herbs, spices, and wines indispensable to the low-sodium chef.

Banquet draws 162

One hundred and sixty-two attended the Salem United Methodist church mother-daughter banquet Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple. The meal was served by men of the church.

The committee on arrangements appointed by Mrs. Jude Patnaude, president of United Methodist Women of the church, were Mrs. Charles Tuckey, Mrs. Richard Gaffney and Mrs. Stanley Kirn Jr.

HEALTH TIPS

State laws protect rights of patients

Traditionally most of us have had a trusting relationship with doctors, hospitals and others in the medical profession. And in most cases that trust was justified because of their high ethical and professional standards.

But the increasing emphasis on individual rights has triggered numerous laws to assure that health care professionals recognize and honor the rights of patients.

Here are some of the essential areas in which laws and practices have developed in Michigan to protect the rights of you, the patient, while at the same time encouraging cost efficiency.

1) Generic drugs: Many times substituting a generic drug will provide the same curative results at a cheaper cost. Michigan law requires every pharmacy to post a list of the 100 most frequently prescribed drugs and their price to promote comparison shopping.

2) Elective surgery: patients have always had the right to a second opinion on recommended surgery in other than emergency or life-threatening situations. Physicians themselves will recommend another doctor for those who want a second opinion. County medical societies also have the names of doctors who can offer a second opinion on elective surgery.

3) Access to medical records: by law, each patient is entitled to review or copy his or her records from a doctor, hospital or other health care provider. This can be for the individual patient's use or for forwarding to a new doctor, hospital or nursing home.

4) Professional conduct: The State of Michigan has numerous regulatory boards and/or agencies within the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation to review complaints and assure professional standards.

These regulatory agencies review such complaints with the option of disciplinary action against the licenses of individuals and institutions.

As always when dealing with health care, you should listen carefully to your physician and follow his/her advice. However, you should also be aware that as a patient you do have certain rights protected under law. Your health is a matter of personal concern to you as well and the law will assist you in exercising your patient rights.

From "Know Your Michigan Law," by Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

In 1918 the tax bill was $59 — today it's $3,093

Back in 1918, there wasn't a Proposal A or a Tisch Amendment or Headlee Amendment.

Property owners back then may have complained about taxes being too high, but compared to today, 1918 looks like taxpayers' heaven.

That year is of significance, because that is the first year Elger Generous' father, Frank, paid taxes on the 80 acres of land on Hoppe Road in Elmwood township that he had purchased the year before.

Generous' wife, Margaret, recently uncovered tax bills dating back to 1918 when rummaging through the attic of their home, which dates back to before his father bought the property. Generous inherited the property in 1966, after his mother died.

The total tax bill in 1918 was $59.35, plus collection fee of $2.36. The 80 acres had a valuation of $5,300; the state tax was $14.58; county, $9.98; township, 5.54; road repair, $10.07, plus $16.85 for highway improvements, and school tax, $2.33.

In 1929, with the valuation of the property $6,000, the total tax bill was $99.32, plus collection fee of 99 cents.

The bill in 1940 was not more, but less, $88.62, plus 89 cents collection fee. Perhaps because of the Depression, the valuation of the property had declined to $4,500.

The county tax was $25.52; school, $9; debt service at-large, county and township tax, $14.45; Carlton Drain special assessment, $14.79, and Sebawaing River special debt service tax, $24.86.

That was the last of the old tax bills Mrs. Generous found.

Their latest tax bill produced quite a contrast.

The property was valued at $81,600 and the taxes totaled $3,093.81, with collection fee of $30.94. Although the Generouses have to pay that much, they later receive a property tax rebate on their income tax as they are senior citizens.

The newest tax bill on their 80 acres breaks down as follows: county, $420; senior citizens, $16.32; Tuscola Intermediate School District combined (operating, special education, vocational education), $279.17; township combined, $129.87; Cass City schools operating, $1,756.42; school debt, $40.80; and Carlton Drain, $451.23. (It's only coincidence that millage was being levied in 1940 and 1980 for drain improvements; it hasn't been an annual tax all 40 years). Although he didn't have the tax bills available, Generous recalled that the total was still in the $300 range until the late 1960s, when it more than doubled in one year.

Although property taxes have gone up tremendously, he noted that the income off his 80 acres, now farmed by a son, has also increased substantially.

Grass fire

Elkland township firemen were called to a grass fire at 1 p.m. last Thursday on Ritter Road, west of M-53.

Trash burning inside a barrel fell or was blown out, setting the surrounding grass on fire. Only a small area burned before firemen had it out, within about 50 feet from the barrel.

Church fetes moms and daughters

"Showers of Blessings" was the theme for the annual mother-daughter banquet at the Novesta Church of Christ Friday evening. Pretty umbrellas decorated the fellowship hall and umbrella-shaped cakes centered the tables. The cakes were gifts to various mothers and daughters when Sharron Hartwick honored those outstanding in various categories. Approximately 140 attended. Pre-dinner music was provided by a group from Great Lakes Bible College.

Thelma Pratt gave the invocation following the welcome by Mrs. Vern Lockard. Following the meal, the group convened in the church auditorium where they heard Mrs. Mary Martha Hargrave, head of the music department of the college. Group singing was led by Barbara Englehart and a number presented by a trio, Wanetta Little, Joan Little and Mary Helen Pratt. Mrs. Mardell Ware gave the benediction. Men of the church served the meal.

Judge lauds writing talents

Dear Mr. Haire: Recently I had the pleasure of being one of the judges in a school writing project that you might be interested in, and in which people of the Cass City School District should be proud their children participated.

Children in grades three through six were asked to write a children's story book, to type or print the story, then bind it in booklet form. Added to the hours of work spent preparing the story book were many more hours spent illustrating the stories, although that was not required and they could have help with the art work. However, writing the stories had to be their own work.

Judging the work was long and a pleasure made more meaningful by the realization of the work the children put into their stories. Since originality was one of the requirements of the assignment, that probably was the foremost thing in my mind as I read each story. And I have come to one conclusion: Cass City has a large number of potential writers, if time can be found to develop their skills, and they want to do it enough to go through the rigors of learning to use words effectively.

The talent, the imagination, and the sense of ad-

"Moonies" solicit in village

The "moonies," members of the Unification church, were in Cass City this week soliciting money by selling flowers and possibly other items.

According to Police Chief Gene Wilson, the "moonies," named after the church's leader, Rev. Moon, are free to solicit as long as they remain in the business district. It would be a violation of the village ordinance to solicit in residential areas. Businessmen do have the right to order them out if they try to solicit inside stores.

Wilson said this is probably the third time the church members have been in Cass City, but it was the first time they notified him before starting soliciting. They talked to him Tuesday.

Title hopes dim for girls after twin bill loss

The Cass City Red Hawks split four Thumb B Association softball games during the week to dim hopes for a repeat of its league championship.

The Hawks defeated Marlette twice and lost a twin bill to Sandusky.

Cass City played without its ace hurler Shirley Fleming, an all-conference performer last season. She suffered a torn cartilage in the knee.

Padgett Randall pitched the Hawks to a narrow 10-9 decision in the opener against Marlette last Thursday.

Cass City came from behind to win. The Red Raiders touched Randall for five of their 10 hits in the first two innings to lead, 6-2. The Hawks charged back with three runs in the third and five more in the fourth to take the decision. Tena LaRoche led the Hawks with three hits in three tries.

Sophomore Jill Root turned in a winning performance for the Hawks in the nightcap. She was touched for 11 hits but was tough in the clutch. Her teammates backed her with an 11-hit attack and Cass City won, 11-8.

Shelly LaPeer was the big sticker for the Hawks with three hits and a walk in four trips to the plate.

The Hawks played one of their poorest games of the year in the opener of the doubleheader to lose a slugfest, 22-12, at Sandusky.

The game was close only through the first three innings when the teams were tied, 5-all.

In the fourth the Redskys turned it into a rout. The host team scored 17 runs and the game was called at the end of 4 1/2 innings with the "mercy" rule.

Sandusky combed Randall for 10 hits and picked up 12 more off reliever Root.

The nightcap was a better game but the results were the same. Cass City lost. The score was 9-6.

Randall went the distance and was touched for 12 hits. Sherry Stec was the leading Hawk sticker with two singles in four tries.

Only play-offs remain for boys

All the Cass City Red Hawk baseball team has to look forward to this spring is the pre-district tournament later this month.

The Hawks appear doomed to be at or near the bottom in the Thumb B Association race following three more defeats during the week.

The Hawks lost Tuesday, May 5, to Sandusky, 5-3, and then dropped a double header to Marlette last Thursday, 8-2 and 14-1.

Ray Ferris took the loss in the opening game. He walked five and gave up nine hits.

The game was actually decided in the first inning when the visitors scored three times on two hits and a walk.

Sullivan's double with two mates aboard was the big blow.

Jim Adkins, with two singles in three trips, led the Hawks.

The Red Raiders broke open a tight game in the fourth inning to win in a walk in the nightcap.

Todd Comment rolled along for three innings to hold Marlette scoreless while his teammates picked up a run.

In the fourth, Marlette scored four times. The winners added another pair in the fifth and turned the game into a rout with eight runs in the top of the sixth.

Cass City was able to garner just three hits off the slants of Herron.

O-G sweeps 2 from Port Hope

The Owen-Gage baseball team swept its first double header of the season last Thursday at the expense of visiting Port Hope, 10-0 and 8-1.

The first game was called at the end of five innings because of the 10-run margin mercy rule.

Randy Radabaugh, who has been pitching well all season but not getting the runs to back him up, got his first win. He's now 1-4. He struck out four, didn't walk anyone and gave up only one hit. He came close to pitching a no-hitter, Ray Finkel's double coming after two were out in the fifth inning.

Losing pitcher Pat Murphy gave up nine hits and four walks and struck out two.

Scott Gaeth hit a double and a single and Vince Salcido and Mark Furness each hit two singles.

Alan LeValley picked up the win in the 8-1 nightcap, to even his record at 3-3. He gave up one hit, walked four and struck out four.

Losing pitcher Neal Emerick was relieved by Joe Murphy. They combined to strike out four, walk four and give up 12 hits.

For the winners, Terry Muntz hit three singles; Gaeth, double and a single, and LeValley, two singles.

The two wins elevate coach Phil Gray's Bulldogs to 3-5 in the league, 4-7 overall.

Hawk band to play at Caro

Continuing in the tradition established by the Meet of Champions some nine years ago, two of the finest band units in Michigan's Thumb will be making appearances at this year's track and field event to be staged May 26, at Stamats Field in Caro.

The Cass City Red Hawk and Caro Tiger bands will provide much of the fanfare for the opening of this year's track extravaganza which, annually, attracts more than 4,000 spectators.

This year's meet will get underway with field events at 4 p.m. with running events getting underway immediately after the 7 p.m. opening ceremonies. Performing athletes will be attending from some 28 Thumb area schools, having already qualified themselves as champions by their performances during the regular track season.

This year's bandsmen have also proven themselves to be champions and will display their many talents in a half-hour concert beginning at 6:30 p.m. As the parade of champions circles the field to open ceremonies at 7 p.m. one unit will lead the procession and then team with the second band to perform the National Anthem as the meet begins.

This will be the 9th consecutive year that the Tiger Band has performed at the Meet of Champions, and this season the 80-member unit will bring a first-division festival rating into the performance, as well as a number of individual solo and ensemble winners.

The band is directed by Jerry Zeurcher, who is in his 15th year at Caro, with second-year assistant Kevin Cook at his side.

The Caro group will follow-up its performance at the Meet of Champions by participating in a number of school and community events, and will also perform on June 4 at Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio.

The 43-member Cass City symphony band under the direction of Tom Clair will be performing at the meet fresh from a successful district festival performance and on the eve of a number of year-ending events in their school and community.

Deford Community church dedication rites Sunday

The Deford Community church is still growing, but in spirit is still a little country church, according to its pastor, Rev. Gerald Rodgers.

Dedication services take place Sunday for the new 600-seat auditorium at the Kingston Road church, a short distance south of Decker-ville Road.

The church was founded in November, 1971. Services were held in the Deford Elementary School gym until its new building was ready in July, 1972. An addition was added in 1974.

Planning of the new addition began about three years ago and ground was broken in August of last year.

The addition contains the auditorium and baptistry, which the church did not have before, and six changing rooms for persons being baptized, new offices for the pastor, church office and work room, bathrooms and large corridor where parishioners can mingle after services.

Upstairs over the offices and corridor are a large Sunday school room (other Sunday school rooms are in the old building), office for Rev. John Motter, assistant to the pastor, control room for the auditorium speaker system and where the tapes of the church's radio programs are prepared, and storage.

The old auditorium, which seated 300, is now being used as a multi-purpose room for athletic events, wedding receptions, etc. Folding chairs were used in the old auditorium, because the intent when it was built was that the church would continue to grow in membership and a new auditorium would eventually be needed.

The new facility has permanent pews with seating for 600. With folding chairs added, plus the permanent seats for the choir, total capacity is 750.

Average attendance in 1980, according to Rev. Rodgers, was 385, with children through third grade divided among three junior services held elsewhere in the building.

The new auditorium was first used March 29. April attendance averaged 435, with about 85-90 of those attending junior services, now for children through the first grade.

The new auditorium relieves overcrowding, according to Rev. Rodgers, and also allows the church to grow. "We intend to try to reach new people to share the gospel with them."

Despite the fact Deford Community is probably the largest church in the Cass City area, he said, "We work mighty hard at staying little, even though we're growing."

As an example of the spirit the church tries to maintain, he told of a visitor who came up to him after a Sunday service in which a special effort had been made to attract as many persons as possible. There were 716 who attended. The woman told him, "It sure is nice to go back to a little country church again."

DEDICATION

Morning services Sunday will take place at 10, as usual, followed by Sunday school.

There will be an open house for the public at 2 p.m., followed by formal dedication services at 3. Rev. William Hessey of Fort Wayne, Ind., director of home ministries for the Missionary Church will be the speaker.

Sharing a special message and music will be Rev. Dale Sherry and Rev. Greg Reynolds. Rev. Sherry was the first pastor of Deford Community, from November, 1971, to June, 1977. (Rev. Rodgers came in July of that year.) He presently is minister of music at Aboite Missionary church, Fort Wayne. Rev. Reynolds is minister of youth and music at a Wesleyan church in the Fort Wayne area.

The two ministers will present a gospel concert at the regular 7 p.m. service Sunday.

CONSTRUCTION

The addition cost about $230,000, including furnishings and bricking the old building, in place of the original wood siding.

The building is being financed by loans from a Cass City bank, some church members and the Missionary Church in Michigan, large contributions from some members, plus fund raising which began when planning for the new building started.

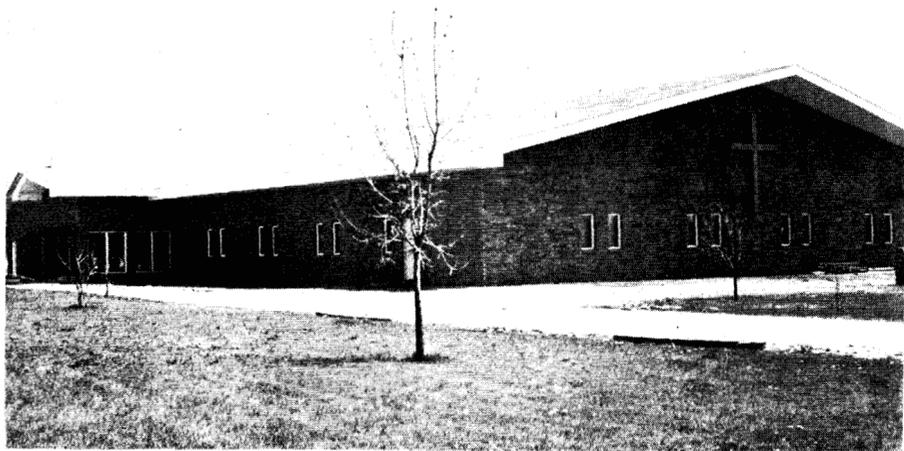

The addition was designed by Gary Seize of Goodells, an architect who specializes in design of fundamentalist churches.

The church hired Robert Sweeney of Uby to oversee construction, with member Ken Klinkman as the on-site manager. Three church members were hired full-time to work on the building, others were hired part-time and some donated some of their time.

Contractors were hired to lay the brick, tile ceiling, erect the structural steel, plumbing, heating and electrical work.

The new building, well insulated, and the old one are heated with fuel oil. Only minimum temperature will be retained when not in use. The office area is heated separately with electric heat.

EXTERIOR VIEW of the new auditorium of the Deford Community church. Included in the construction were new entranceways. The project cost about $230,000. Dedication ceremonies at the Kingston Road church will take place Sunday.

Okay village annexation

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday approved two annexation requests to Cass City, both on Main Street at the village limits.

Annexed were the Harris-Hampshire Agency property and the home next door to the west, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kim Glaspie.

Road Commission Engineer Bob Wellington presented to the board the list of critical bridges for which he has applied for federal and state funds to pay most of the cost of rebuilding.

Included were the following primary road bridges: Elmwood township, Bay City-Forestville, east of Jacob; Novesta, Cemetery, south of Shabbona, and Kingston, Kingston Road, north of Legg.

Local road bridges include: Elkland, Reed Road over the Cass River; Elmwood, Dickerson, east of Dossier, and Kingston, Mushroom, west of Crawford, and Rossman, east of Cemetery. The Road Commission usually receives funds for only a few bridges of the many for which it applies for funds each year.

The board was represented at the State Tax Commission meeting in Lansing Monday to protest the STC's imposition of an additional $21.03 million to the county's 1981 valuation.

All that happened was the STC set this coming Monday at 10 a.m. as the time it will hear commissioners' reasons for their objections.

The board was informed an arbitration panel has ruled that Deputy Arthur Adam is entitled to 17 days back pay. Then Sheriff Hugh Marr suspended the deputy for 22 days without pay last year after a prisoner escaped from the county jail while Adam was on duty. He appealed and the arbitration panel ruled the punishment was excessive.

$1 hour pay boost okayed for firemen

Elkland township firemen have received their first pay raise since 1975, the township board having voted Monday evening to increase their pay from $3 per hour when at fires to $4.

Firemen are also paid $20 every three months for cleaning the fire hall, attending meetings, maintaining equipment, etc. That payment didn't change.

The board authorized replacement of the electrical system on the pumper truck, expected to cost from $700-$1,000. Quotes are being obtained for replacement of the water tank on the tanker truck. The present tank leaks.

The board has sent a letter to the Novesta Township Board in response to the latter's protest of Elkland's increasing the fire protection fee it charges townships from $150 per section annually to $175. The increase, approved April 13, was the first in three years.

The letter points out the increase was needed to cover the cost of the pay raise granted to firemen and increasing cost of fuel, repair parts for fire trucks and heating the fire hall, according to Clerk Carol Ware.

The Novesta board felt the increase was too much to impose all at once. It raised the fee it must pay for its 36 sections from $5,400 yearly to $6,300.

In other action, the Elkland board approved graveling of two miles of Milligan Road, between Koepfgen and Dodge Roads, to be done this year by the Tuscola County Road Commission at a cost of $15,000.

It gave its approval to a Public Act 116 (Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act) agreement for 77 acres belonging to Laurence Ziehm in Section 8.

Elkland township and Cass City will again cooperate in putting on the Memorial Day parade and grave-side services, which will be May 25.

Installation of used but in better condition entrance doors to the garage portion of the fire hall were approved, at a maximum cost of $75 each for two doors.

Election inspectors for the May 19 special election were appointed.

Students display work at Authors Conference

Cass City High School was the site Saturday for the annual Young Authors Conference, sponsored by the Thumb Area Reading Council.

Each of the 11 participating schools conducted a competition for students in grades 1-6, or fewer grades if they chose, with participating students writing books, decorating them and binding the pages together. Judges at each school selected the top 10 who were eligible to go to the conference.

Participating schools were Cass City, Kingston, Our Lady of Lake Huron in Harbor Beach (which sent five students), Pigeon, Unionville-Sebewaing, Vassar, Akron-Fairgrove, Bay Port, Caro, Elkton and Harbor Beach.

The contest in the Cass City schools was open to students in grades 3-6, with the top 10 being selected from 200 entries, according to reading teacher Marilyn Peters. The winners are pictured in the photo. The judges were Margaret Brown, Ann Craig and Mary Albee, all non-teachers.

The Kingston winners were Nathan Cassie, Scott Corlis, Harold Dandron, Alex Favazza, Jim Fourman, Erika Grubba, Michelle Kasdorf, Shari Nelson, Becky Raymond and Danny Wenzlaff.

During the morning, students could attend four different sessions. Children's author Carol Farley of Mount Pleasant told about the books she has written. Her three hints for writers were read a lot, wonder a lot and write a lot.

Cass City elementary art teacher Trudy Muszynski conducted art workshops.

Tom and Shirley Claar of Bad Axe presented a puppet show.

The fourth session the young authors could attend was entitled "sharing," an opportunity to exchange ideas.

Following the morning programs, those attending ate lunch and received awards for the books they had written.

Glaspie opens law office

Kim Glaspie, a native of Cass City, has entered business in the community, according to an announcement made this week by Club-uesch Associates.

The new law firm will open at the corner of Leach and Main Streets. Glaspie who has been working with the firm in Pigeon says that he will spend most of his time in the Cass City office. Glaspie graduated from Cass City High School in 1973 and from University of Michigan in 1977.

He received his law degree from Thomas Cooley Law School in Lansing in May, 1980.

Accident round-up

2 injured in 3-car crash

Two persons were reported injured in a three-car accident at 3:10 p.m. Sunday near Caro.

Treated and released from Caro Community Hospital was Audrey Kuck, 42, of 4767 N. Cedar Run Road, Cass City, a passenger in a car driven by her son, Gregory, 17. He was reported to have also been injured, but apparently didn't need hospital treatment, as the hospital had no record of his being treated there.

According to Caro state police, Kuck was headed northeast on M-81, northeast of Cass River Drive, when he saw the car in front of him slow. That vehicle was driven by Chester Kulinski, 64, of 4918 Lamton Road, Cass City.

Kuck was unable to stop in time and his vehicle ran into the rear of the Kulinski auto.

In turn, the Kulinski car was shoved into the rear of the car in front of him, which had slowed to make a left turn. Driver of the third car was James J. Karakas II, 16, of Detroit.

Kuck was ticketed on a charge of violation of the basic speed law (too fast for conditions). It was raining at the time.

At the same time Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported Charles C. Pockrandt, 18, of Bay City, was headed southwest on M-81, northeast of Elmwood Road.

He was passing another car when he spotted a car coming towards him. To avoid a collision, he steered onto the south shoulder. His car knocked over a traffic sign and natural gas pipeline warning sign, then went off the shoulder of the road.

The other two vehicles did not stop, so were not identified.

Katherine Jo Tyo, 17, of 3853 Cemetery Road, Cass City, was ticketed by Caro state police on charges of making an improper turn and leaving the scene of an accident after an 11:15 p.m. accident last Thursday.

Troopers reported Randall Severance, 18, of 6331 Severance Road, Decker, eastbound on M-81, west of Schwieger Road, was passing the Tyo auto. As he was doing so, she put on her left turn signal, started to turn left and ran into the side of the Severance auto.

At 8:20 p.m. Wednesday, May 6, deputies reported, a car left running in front of 5878 Bruce Street, Deford, slipped out of the automatic transmission parking gear, crossed the road backwards and ran into the post office.

The person who had just parked the car was Kathy Ann Sapien, 24, of 5282 Bruce Street.

Brian T. Hunter, 17, of 4701 Hospital Drive, was southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Milligan Road, at 9:30 p.m. Friday, Cass City police reported, when his car struck a deer.

At 12:30 p.m. Saturday, village police said, James Nicol, 19, of 7314 Deckerville Road, Deford, and Terry O. Hendrick, 25, of 5800 Decker Road, Decker, were westbound on Main Street, east of Nestle Street.

Officers said Nicol tried to turn right from the left lane and in moving to the right, collided with the Hendrick auto.

Village police reported that at 8:10 a.m. Monday, Yvonne M. Burleson, 56, of 6662 Seed Street, northbound on Oak Street, stopped at the stop sign at Main, then pulled into the path of a westbound auto which hit her car broadside.

Driver of the other car was Ronald L. Dragger, 24, of Caro.

Set Mayor's exchange programs

As has been the case the past few years, Ubyly will be the only area community participating in mayor's exchange as part of the Michigan Week activities next week.

Ubyly will be exchanging visits with Birch Run, a community of more than 900 persons about midway between Flint and Saginaw.

Monday, a delegation of 13, led by Village President and Mrs. Earl Longuski will spend the day in Birch Run.

Wednesday, May 20, a delegation of 14 from that community, led by Village President Robert McConnell, will return the visit.

The visitors will be met at 9 a.m., with flag raising at the village park scheduled at 9:15.

The public is invited to meet the visitors at a coffee half-hour at 10 at the Community Bank.

Gagetown will be the host village Wednesday, May 20, for the annual dinner held in conjunction with Michigan Week for officials from that community. Owendale, Sebewaing and Pigeon.

The annual dinner for officials from Gagetown, Owendale, Sebewaing and Pigeon will start at 6 p.m. at Sherwood on the Hill, with cocktails at 6 and dinner at 7. About 50 persons are expected to participate.

Taking Stock

Starting at age 22, jog one hour a day until you are 70. You will do great things for your body, assuming it hasn't been chewed up over the years by vicious dogs along the jogging path.

You will live two years longer. Think of that!

Two extra years.

You will also have spent two years of your life jogging.

Since the feet play quite a vital part in this sport, or ordeal, depending on your viewpoint, we talked with the smart and able Dr. Murray Goldstein, Boca Raton podiatrist. (We used to call them foot doctors.)

Dr. Goldstein says jogging is just great as far as he is concerned. It brings in lots of patients. Not just with foot problems but with aching knees, which is out of his territory.

"In jogging, like walking, you come down on your heels first," he says. "It's an awful strain, and especially on blacktop or concrete."

"Most of the gung-ho crowd tend to overdo jogging. They figure if five miles is good then 10 has to be twice as good."

"Personally I think an hour's brisk walk is every bit as healthful as jogging — and a lot easier."

Incidentally, Murray says you don't need to spend $45 for a pair of jogging shoes.

"They're all made in Hong Kong," he says. "Some of the uppers are a little better, but the basic shoe — the part that matters — is practically the same in the ones you get at K-Mart for $10."

Backing up Dr. Goldstein's views is Dr. Charles Gudas, director of podiatric education at University of Chicago Medical Center. Dr. Gudas is a marathon runner himself, by the way.

He says over half the 20 million joggers in America suffer some kind of a jogging-related injury every year.

"On the average, a runner's feet and legs absorb three times his body's weight with each stride," he says. "Injuries are almost inevitable."

Commonest injury, says Dr. Gudas, is to the knees. "Not torn ligaments or cartilage like football players. Runners' bad knees are usually the result of friction within the joint. This is painful; some runners always hurt."

Next most common is flat feet. You can tell if your feet are flat by standing on the bathroom floor and trying to insert a finger under your arch. If it won't fit you need arch supports when you run. If your feet still hurt, take up bicycling.

Dr. Gudas prescribes a 15-minute session of stretch exercises before running.

Over the course of this 48-year period of jogging we referred to earlier, 15 minutes a day is 182.5 days altogether, commonly known as six months, of your life you spent stretching.

There must be something better than stretching to allot half a year of your life to. Personally, I favor a six-second stretch combined with a yawn and the announcement:

"About time for bed, eh?"

Tax meets set

The Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring public meetings in Sanilac and Tuscola counties to explain Proposal A.

The meeting at the county conference room, 37 Austin Street, Sandusky, was to have been this Wednesday, starting at 8 p.m. Speaker was Lynn Harvey, district extension agent for public affairs.

The meeting in the Caro High School multi-purpose room will be at 8 p.m. Thursday. Speaker will be Bob Smith, Michigan Farm Bureau legislative liaison.

Proposal A explained

home and all adjacent and contiguous land. Proposed limitations on the number of acres that would qualify and the requirement that the owner would have had to have lived there at least 10 years were dropped by the legislature.

Farmers whose land is enrolled in Public Act 116, the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act, won't gain the first year from passage of Proposal A, but could benefit from the 6 percent annual cap on property tax revenue growth.

That cap, incidentally, is by class. A homeowner's property taxes could increase by more than 6 percent, for instance, as long as revenue from all the residential property in a township doesn't increase more than 6 percent.

Farm Bureau is backing Proposal A partially because of the requirement that farmland (and forests) be assessed at their use value, instead of what the land is worth if it were sold. Apparently, the mechanics of how that will work hasn't been worked out yet. According to Craig, a study conducted in Iowa showed that changing to use value assessment resulted in a reduction in farmland assessments of from 30-70 percent.

Although Proposal A increases the sales tax by 1/2 cents per dollar, most items farmers must purchase for their farm operation are exempt from sales taxes.

For citizens at large, one estimate is a household with $20,000 a year income will pay $105 a year in increased sales taxes; $35,000 a year, up to $150 a year. The amount varies, of course, depending on how much a family spends.

A rule of thumb in computing the added tax burden is that one-third of a person's income is subject to sales tax. If the income is $15,000, he spends one-third of that, which is subject to the tax. Four percent of that equals $200 paid in sales taxes, an increase to 5 1/2 percent raises that to $275.

The sales tax is considered regressive. The lower one's income, the more they pay in sales taxes.

He pointed out that allocating all lottery proceeds to schools won't mean more money for schools, since the legislature will presumably appropriate an equivalent amount less from the general fund.

If passage of Proposal A requires cutbacks in the Cass City schools due to less revenue, making such cutbacks won't be easy. He cited statistics from the state Department of Education that Cass City ranked 526th of 529 K-12 districts in the state in 1979-80 in total general fund expenditure per pupil. "There just is not much fat that can be cut."

The village of Cass City faces the same difficulties as do school districts if Proposal A is approved. Of the village's 1981 general fund budget of $452,000 (plus $48,000 in savings), $103,700 is expected to come from Lansing.

If the legislature reduces state aid to municipalities in order to have enough money to pay the 50 percent property tax reimbursement, that means Cass City will have to make reductions somewhere.

No taxing unit knows yet the effect of the 30 percent reduction in property taxes on homesteads, because it isn't possible yet to know how much of their property tax revenue comes from homesteads.

Money from Lansing presently makes up about 38 percent of the school budget. If the district loses state aid, it presumably will have no choice except to ask voters for more millage.

An additional handicap to schools, Crouse pointed out, is that there will not be reimbursement for revenue lost because of the 6 percent cap on property tax revenue growth. School districts will be allowed to ask voters to do away with the limitation, to allow them to benefit from rising property values.

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson has doubts that the state will reimburse school districts for the entire amount lost because of the 50 percent reduction. "I think anytime you give 50 percent of our money to Lansing, we won't get it back."

Some educators have expressed concerns that with districts more heavily dependent on Lansing for their money, it will result in increased state control over schools.

But with so much of the district's money now (38 percent) coming from Lansing, Crouse doesn't feel passage of Proposal A will make a difference in state control.

Effects

Proposal A requires the state to reimburse local governmental units and schools for lost property and local income tax revenue.

It is estimated it will cost the state $250 million more to make those reimbursements than what it will take in from the increased sales tax and save from reduced property tax credits due to the property tax cut.

That money has to be made up somewhere, and some of it is likely to come out of the pockets of schools and local governmental units.

Cass City School Supt. Donald Crouse pointed out that although Proposal A requires the state to reimburse school districts for lost property tax revenue, it doesn't require the state to maintain its present level of state aid.

Money from Lansing presently makes up about 38 percent of the school budget. If the district loses state aid, it presumably will have no choice except to ask voters for more millage.

If passage of Proposal A requires cutbacks in the Cass City schools due to less revenue, making such cutbacks won't be easy. He cited statistics from the state Department of Education that Cass City ranked 526th of 529 K-12 districts in the state in 1979-80 in total general fund expenditure per pupil. "There just is not much fat that can be cut."

The village of Cass City faces the same difficulties as do school districts if Proposal A is approved. Of the village's 1981 general fund budget of $452,000 (plus $48,000 in savings), $103,700 is expected to come from Lansing.

If the legislature reduces state aid to municipalities in order to have enough money to pay the 50 percent property tax reimbursement, that means Cass City will have to make reductions somewhere.

No taxing unit knows yet the effect of the 30 percent reduction in property taxes on homesteads, because it isn't possible yet to know how much of their property tax revenue comes from homesteads.

Money from Lansing presently makes up about 38 percent of the school budget. If the district loses state aid, it presumably will have no choice except to ask voters for more millage.

An additional handicap to schools, Crouse pointed out, is that there will not be reimbursement for revenue lost because of the 6 percent cap on property tax revenue growth. School districts will be allowed to ask voters to do away with the limitation, to allow them to benefit from rising property values.

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson has doubts that the state will reimburse school districts for the entire amount lost because of the 50 percent reduction. "I think anytime you give 50 percent of our money to Lansing, we won't get it back."

Some educators have expressed concerns that with districts more heavily dependent on Lansing for their money, it will result in increased state control over schools.

But with so much of the district's money now (38 percent) coming from Lansing, Crouse doesn't feel passage of Proposal A will make a difference in state control.

He pointed out that allocating all lottery proceeds to schools won't mean more money for schools, since the legislature will presumably appropriate an equivalent amount less from the general fund.

Artrain stimulates artists

Mrs. Wallace saw a benefit in persons preferring what was displayed in the Cultural Center and in some downtown store windows, that "that was the aim, to stimulate local talent and bring it out."

The appearance of Artrain and the local exhibits stimulated some artists who up to now have worked in private to come out of the closet, so to speak. "I do this and I do that," were the types of comments she heard from some artists once they saw ent has recommended five finalists, who will be interviewed by the board at the high school Monday. If the board doesn't like any of the five, there will be more interviews conducted.

Senior class advisor Manuel Thies reported to the board that only seven seniors are going on the class trip, June 7-14, at a cost of $580 each, which includes airfare, lodging, all meals and admission tickets.

There was considerable discussion why only seven out of a class of 48 are going.

Part of the problem, Thies said, was too many students aren't paying their class dues, starting in the ninth grade. Because there isn't enough money from dues to pay for class activities, much of the money from fund raising projects, which is supposed to help defray the cost of the senior trip, must instead be used to help support the class activities.

Suggested remedies included having class advisors make sure all students pay their class dues.

Eight of the district's 10 buses passed the recent state police inspection. The two that didn't pass have since been repaired.

The board approved a resolution opposing Proposal A, which will be voted on May 19.

April student of the month was Marcella Bruno, a senior.

GREEDY

"I think Cass City has a good reason to hold its head high and be proud of what happened here," Mrs. Althaver said.

People who have a little and want less are happier than those who have a lot and want more.

Lamotte to seek approval of liquor

One by one, they fell by the wayside.

Only Lamotte township will have a ballot proposal in conjunction with the May 19 statewide election on Proposal A.

The proposal will read: "Shall the Lamotte Township Board allow the use of intoxicating liquor and alcoholic beverages on township property by persons renting the property for private parties?"

The same proposal was on the ballot a few years ago and was defeated.

The township board put the proposal on the ballot for two reasons.

Rental of the township hall may increase if alcoholic beverages are allowed and despite the fact their consumption is presently illegal, alcoholic beverages are often drunk at parties and receptions there.

At the Grant township annual meeting, it was decided to seek 1 mill for five years for roads, a proposal that has been defeated four times before.

The next time the township board met, however, it was too late to put the measure on the ballot. According to township Supervisor Helen Ellicott, the proposal will probably be scheduled sometime later this year at a special election.

The Tuscola County Road Commission did have two proposals scheduled May 19, a half-mill for road maintenance and a half-mill for bridges, but later changed its mind and had them withdrawn.

Treated Lumber for Decks, Patios & Fences

Most softwood lumber species may be treated to keep out moisture, retard decay, and resist insects or fire. Because treated lumber can substantially increase the life of buildings in which it is used, the additional cost can be easily justified.

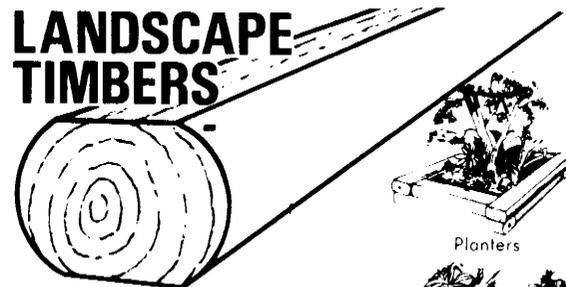

Two basic techniques are used to treat lumber chemically in order to achieve these properties.

In the coating method, preservative chemicals are applied by dipping, spraying or brushing on the surface of the lumber. Even though two coats of preservative are normally applied in this manner, chemicals are not forced into the interior wood fibers.

Pressure treating forces chemicals deep into the cells of the wood. This process gives the deepest, most uniform penetration of preservatives.

A few suggested applications for pressure treated lumber are: sills, plates, and furring strips in contact with masonry foundation. Three broad classes of preservatives are used in the pressure treating process.

- Creosote, the oldest wood treatment technique, has a coal tar base.
- Pentachlorophenol, an oil-mineral spirits based treatment, is used in many exterior applications. Some odor is connected with this treatment method, which is popular for agricultural and fresh water resistant situations.
- Waterborne salt treatments are applied to lumber that will be used in the home. Lumber that is treated in this manner is odor-free and can be readily painted.
