

Tim Grassmann dies in Thursday accident

Wallace (Tim) Grassmann, 39, of Penny Road, Gagetown, was killed last Thursday when his car went off of M-53 and slammed into a tree.

The accident took place about 9 a.m. while the certified public accountant was on his way to Marlette, where he was in charge of the office of Yeo and Yeo, Certified Public Accountants.

According to Trooper Jerry Jensen of the Sandusky state police post, who investigated, Grassmann was southbound, 4 mile south of Argyle Road, when his car veered off the right side of the road for undetermined reasons.

The car grazed the right side of a tree, was launched off the embankment, severed a couple of small trees and then smashed into a tree about 10 feet above the ground. The vehicle came to rest at the base of the tree. It had traveled 370 feet along the shoulder of the road before becoming airborne.

There was no witness to the crash, which was discovered by a United Parcel Service driver.

Grassmann was pronounced dead at the scene

Grassmann was the fourth person to die in a Sanilac county traffic accident this year.

Wallace Richmond Grassmann was born in Sebawaug Aug. 19, 1941, the son of Wallace and Elizabeth (Richmond) Grassmann.

He married Ruth Karr Aug. 31, 1963, in Cass City. Following their marriage, they made their home in Mount Pleasant. They came to the Cass City area in 1965.

He graduated in 1965 from Central Michigan University. He was a partner in the firm of Yeo and Yeo, Certified Public Accountants, Saginaw, in charge of its Marlette office.

He was past president of the Cass City Lions Club, a member of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants and American Association of CPAs.

He was also a member of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association and the First Presbyterian church of Cass City. He was a partner in the Cass City Ambulance Service and secretary of the Hub Investment Club.

Grassmann is survived by his wife; two daughters, Suzanne and Krista, at home; one brother, Donald Grassmann of Millington, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Grassmann of Sebawaug. One brother, James, preceded him in death.

He was taken to the First Presbyterian church at 1 p.m. Sunday to lie in state until the 3 p.m. funeral service. Rev. Harry Capps officiated.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

THE CAR of Tim Grassmann was ripped open when it came in contact with a tree. The Gagetown area resident was pronounced dead at the scene following the 9 a.m. crash last Thursday. Car is shown suspended from a wrecker, after it was pulled up the embankment.

'Pot' easy to buy

Marijuana smokers in minority at high school

By Mike Eliason

Most Cass City High School students do not smoke marijuana.

Most, apparently have tried it.

For those who want to smoke it, it doesn't appear to be difficult to find marijuana to buy.

If marijuana smoking can be considered a problem, some students feel drinking alcoholic beverages is a bigger problem.

Those were among the findings of a survey of students conducted for the Chronicle by Ray Kloc, editor of the student newspaper, the Hawk Herald, and conversations by the Chronicle with a few students.

The survey, which had the approval of Principal Russ Richards, was circulated in study halls to students in all four grades, with a total of 47 responses from ninth graders, 28 from 10th, 35 from 11th and 42 from 12th.

The survey cannot be considered to have been a scientific sampling and there was no way to determine the honesty of the replies. From reading the replies to questions that required other than a "yes" or "no" answer, it was obvious some respondents were joking, though some of those may have been honest in answering the "do you smoke marijuana" question.

HOW MANY?

With that factor in mind, the totals showed 61 students who presently smoke pot, 71 who never smoked it and 20 who tried it and perhaps smoked it regularly in the past, but do not smoke it now.

Pot smoking appeared heaviest among 12th graders, according to the survey.

and lightest among ninth graders, however, the percentage of 10th graders who smoked was greater than the percentage of 11th graders.

Most of those who do smoke marijuana said they do so once a week. Some smoke more often, every day for instance, and some smoke only once or twice a month or less.

Although the heavy users smoke pot, as some said, "everywhere," and another said, "At school, home, parties, uptown, with friends," most smoking appears to be on week ends.

According to the two pot smokers interviewed over the telephone by the Chronicle, smoking by other than heavy users is usually done on week ends as a form of recreation.

According to them and the survey replies, smoking is often done at parties or in cars, often with friends and sometimes alone.

Marijuana is sometimes smoked at school, but usually outdoors, because the smoke has a very noticeable odor, which can be smelled in the hallways if smoking is being done in bathrooms.

BUYING

Some smokers, according to the survey, said they buy marijuana at school.

The two marijuana smokers interviewed by the Chronicle both sometimes sell the narcotic. Bob (not his real name) said he buys it in Bay City or in downtown Cass City. Buying it, he said, is pretty easy and requires knowing somebody who knows somebody.

Ralph (also fictitious) said he buys it from friends, who get it in Detroit or from their friends, who don't say where they get it.

The cost varies. The one pot smoker said a "dime bag" sells for $5-10 for home-grown marijuana and $10-15 for Columbian. From a dime bag, he makes 10 cigarettes, but a dealer selling the stuff makes 16-20 cigarettes from a dime bag.

The price usually mentioned by those in the survey was $1 a cigarette.

How many cigarettes does it take to get "buzzed," which seems to be the popular phrase? Ralph said with good quality marijuana, the effects of one cigarette will last about 2½ hours.

Bob can get high on half a cigarette, if good quality, but if homegrown stuff, it can take two or three cigarettes.

Pot smoking can mean spending big bucks for a high school student. Ralph, interviewed about a month ago, said he had spent about $600 so far this year. He consumed half of what he had purchased and sold the rest.

Because of the three large drug busts in Tuscola county during the last several months, none of which focused on Cass City, Bob said, "you kind of have to keep a low profile." He only sells marijuana to persons he knows and if approached by anyone he doesn't know, he says he doesn't have any.

WHY SMOKE?

Why do some smoke pot? "Because it makes you feel

Alcohol use more obvious problem at high school

Marijuana smoking has taken place in Cass City High School, but if anyone has been caught doing it, he or she hasn't been turned in to the administration.

"I've never had anyone turned in for smoking marijuana," said Principal Russ Richards.

Occasionally, marijuana smoke can be smelled in the bathroom or hallway, he said, but the persons who did the smoking weren't found.

Some students may turn up in school with bloodshot eyes or acting giggly from having smoked marijuana before the start of school, but that is hard to prove, according to the principal.

Narcotics use may affect students in another way, which is also hard to prove. "I think statistics indicate students who take part in the drug scene do have problems," with declining grades," he said.

"It (marijuana use) may be happening and probably is happening, but we don't notice it," Richards continued.

The same can't be said for alcohol use.

Drinking is most noticeable at dances and in the containers found in the parking lot after the dances are over.

'Getting too complicated'

Dr. Ballard takes down shingle after 35 years

A medical era in Cass City will come to an end May 30 when Dr. James H. Ballard, MD, hangs up his stethoscope for the last time.

He has been in practice here since 1946 and at age 64, has decided to retire.

"It's a complicated thing," he said in explaining his decision. "Basically, one of the things in medicine is getting too complicated, too hard to keep up with it."

He cited as an example angina, a symptom of hardening of the coronary arteries. Ten to 15 years ago, he explained, the only known treatment could be done in his office. Now there are a couple of complicated tests that can be performed to further analyze the condition and as a sometimes solution, a coronary bypass operation can be performed, which is becoming very common.

At the Chicago hospital where his son, Jim, works as a surgical assistant, there will probably be 500 such operations performed this year.

Another reason for his retirement is, "I resent a lot of the third party interference." Government regulations, Medicare and Medicaid and insurance companies all result in a lot of paper work and rules to comply with.

Finally, "It's not as much fun any more as it used to be."

A NATIVE OF DEARBORN, Ballard graduated from the University of Michigan College of Medicine in 1943. Following his internship, he entered the Army, worked as a doctor in Europe in World War II and was discharged in 1946.

He was familiar with the upper Thumb because his parents owned a cottage at Caseville. After his discharge, he and his wife, Dorothy, went to the cottage for a short vacation.

He came to Cass City to visit with Dr. Frank Morris "and he said, 'Why don't you stay in Cass City?'" and it looked good to me, so I did."

His first office was at Cass City Hospital, where Dr. Morris also practiced, though they were not in partnership.

Ballard stayed there until the 1960s, when the hospital was closed - Hills and Dales having opened - and moved to what had been Ed Baker's electrician shop on Weaver Street. He has been there since. Baker still owns the building.

DURING HIS 35 YEARS of practice here, the doctor has delivered 2,400 babies "plus or minus five, maybe." (His office assistant, Anna MacCallum, who has been with him 12 years, estimates the number is more like 3,000.)

Ballard remembers the first baby he delivered. Dr. Morris called him about 8 or 9 at night and told him there was a woman at the hospital who said she had eaten too much watermelon.

When he got there, he found the problem wasn't watermelon, but that she was about to give birth. When he asked her if she knew she had been pregnant, all she mentioned was the watermelon.

Three years later, he said, the woman returned and complained of pain in her ovaries. She was pregnant again.

BALLARD AND HIS wife have seven children. Steve, the youngest, is a student at Michigan State University. Jim, already mentioned, and John live in Chicago.

The others are Dorothy, in Connecticut; Kathy, Clarkston; Jane, Homestead, Fla., whose husband is a family physician, and Barbara, Ann Arbor.

The couple also has 10 grandchildren. Five of their children are married. Steve and John are the ones who are single.

BALLARD AND HIS wife have numerous retirement activities planned. "We've always done everything together."

There is sailing on their 41-foot sailboat "Naiad," which is often a family affair with children, spouses and grandchildren.

He will probably continue participation in Saginaw Bay Yacht Racing Association events - he was season champion in 1978 and 1979, when he had the same crew available for all the races - but doubts he will race in the Port Huron to Mackinac race again. He has been in it 11 times, with his best finish seventh in class and 22nd overall.

Woodcutting at their 2 acres near Sebawaug, where the Ballards have a cabin, is another project. "I'm one of those nuts who's got a (woodburning) stove."

There is his hobby of wood sculpture, taking pieces of wood with interesting shapes, sanding and varnishing them.

If his sons manage to talk him into it, he and they may be building a cabin on remote property he owns 69 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., accessible only by train and canoe. The log cabin there now has collapsed.

Judge rules Kingston must allow trailer park

Kingston can no longer prohibit the construction of a mobile home park within village limits, Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn ruled last Thursday.

The ruling brought an end to the seven-year conflict between Marshall Real Estate of Marlette, which wanted to build a mobile home park, and the village council, which denied the firm's application.

But with interest rates reaching 20 percent, the ruling may have come too late. "With economic conditions the way they are, it's questionable whether we'll be able to go ahead or not," said Jerry Marshall, of Marshall Real Estate.

Marshall had originally hoped to build a 30-50 site park on 40 acres of land already owned by the firm in the northeast corner of the village. The land, in the Kingsbury and Pine Street area, is zoned as residential. In 1978, the real estate firm petitioned the village to rezone the property for mobile home use.

The village conducted a public hearing and then denied the request. The following year, Marshall Real Estate filed suit, claiming the ordinance unconstitutional excluded mobile homes from the village, where there is a need for such housing.

AT THE TRIAL, HEARD by Joslyn in January, the village presented several reasons for denying the rezoning request. These included concerns over a depreciation in real estate values of homes close to the park, increased traffic, sewage and administrative problems caused by a sudden increase in population, and a belief that the area is better suited for residential home development.

Another reason cited by the village, represented by attorney Rand G. Smith, was that Kingston already had an area zoned for mobile home use. The area referred to is now being used by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for a hall and ball diamond, under a variance approved by the council in 1976.

Describing the function of zoning as "planning a modern day community for continuance and growth," Joslyn ruled that the village ordinance is "void as exclusionary."

"A mobile home park is a statutorily recognized legitimate use of land," said Joslyn in his ruling, adding there is no area in the village which is zoned and may be used for a mobile home park.

ALTHOUGH THE RULING gives the village 60 days to "present to the court ...

an adopted amendatory ordinance in accordance with procedure," Marshall is frustrated.

"They've used my tax money to fight myself, to bar me from coming into town," said Marshall.

A mobile home park would be up now if he had not been "illegally barred in the first place," said Marshall, who is doubtful about beginning his project now with such economically uncertain times.

Plans for the mobile home park will not be made until the economy improves and interest rates go down, Marshall said.

The Kingston Village Council will discuss action to be taken as a result of the decision at its regular meeting June 1, Village President Arlo Ruggles said.

The village's attorney, Rand G. Smith, was unavailable for comment.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

It could just be that the next time a tournament is staged at Scenic Golf Course, Pigeon, Cass City golfers won't be invited.

A 3-person scramble was held Sunday and the winners were Newell Harris, Mike Richards and Dr. Paul Chappel.

The second place money went to Jim Champion, Clark Erla and Tom Craig. All of these golfers are from Cass City with the exception of Champion.

Jim lives in Florida but to natives once a Cass Cityan, always a Cass Cityan. He was born, reared and went to high school here.

Sheila Gruber, our summer intern from Central Michigan University, proves it's a small, small world after all.

At school Gruber is a resident advisor at a dorm and one of her "charges" is Debbie Fenton, a niece, who warned her about me, but she came anyway.

Memorial Day sneaks up on you these days. The holiday should be the 30th not a full week earlier. This is a sneaky way to remind you that with the Monday holiday all deadlines are moved up a day so the paper can come to you at the regular time.

Ron Erickson knows how to go first class on the golf course. He takes his own golf cart. Nothing unusual about that? Listen.

That cart is equipped with a horn and (are you ready for this) a television.

It's also equipped with a flashing red blinker light. If you've ever seen big Ron lash a golf ball hither and yon, you'll agree that the warning light is essential, essential, essential.

A peek at a Japanese custom was provided Rotarians and their wives Tuesday noon.

Yuko Ohashi, an exchange student living at Sebawaing, conducted a Japanese tea ceremony. The ritual dates back to the 16th century, she says.

The way Yuko presented it the ceremony was slightly Americanized. In Japan, the minimum time used to serve the tea is one hour.

Yuko did it in about 10 minutes.

Memorial Day activities Monday

The annual Cass City Memorial Day parade will begin at 10 a.m. Monday at the corner of Seeger and Main Streets.

Marchers will proceed down Main Street to the Elkland cemetery, where memorial services will be held.

Participating in the parade will be various local organizations, such as the Cass City High School marching band, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, nursery school groups and youngsters on decorated bikes.

Anyone interested in participating is welcome, and should meet in the parking lot behind the Gamble store, according to Dr. Delbert Rawson, village councilman in charge of this year's parade.

Immediately following the 30-45 minute parade will be a short memorial service at the cemetery's gravestone for the unknown soldier.

The service will consist of an address by Rev. Allen Fruendt, pastor of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church; music by the high school band, and presentation of a memorial wreath on the grave by a Gold Star Mother.

Concluding the traditional service will be a three-volley gun salute by area veterans and playing of "Taps," said Jack Esau, who will be master of ceremonies.

Mother-daughter banquet at church

Recent activities at the Deford Community church included a mother-daughter banquet in the fellowship hall, Tuesday evening, May 12. There were 185 who attended and enjoyed a program and fashion show following the dinner.

Friday evening, 85 youths attended a banquet.

Saturday, a number of youths from the church participated in a sports Olympics at Davison High School and brought back four trophies. Randy Gilliam was awarded a personal trophy for a basketball free throw and a team effort trophy was awarded in boys' volleyball and in a co-ed chariot race.

Sunday afternoon, 250 persons attended the formal dedication of the new addition to the church. Sunday evening, the congregation enjoyed a sacred concert given by Rev. and Mrs. Dale Sherry and Rev. and Mrs. Greg Reynolds of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Some folks worry about the worries they may have missed.

The Haire
Net

Here are the questions that have been floating down the main stem in Cass City and the area and the answers as seen from this perspective.

Q - Have you ever seen so many demands for donations and projects as Cass City has witnessed recently? Isn't that overdoing a good thing?

A - There's no doubt that there has been a glut of demands on residents. This month alone the Gavel, Lions and Rotary clubs have, or are about to, stage money-raising events.

That's not new. When the community was raising money for the hospital there was a fund raising event every other day, or so it seemed.

The other side of that coin is that as a community we've all benefited. The Gavel and Rotary Club's dedication to park improvement is self-evident. The Lions have staged their sight conservation program and aided nearly every local project that comes along.

We should remember that no one is hit harder than they can afford and no one is demeaned if they pick and choose what efforts to support.

Q - Okay, so you just returned from a couple days fishing in northern Michigan. How was it?

A - Great. Not the fishing, the trip. There is something outstanding about a day and a half spent on a trout stream. Especially when the weather was fine at Grayling at the same time it was 45 degrees and raining in the Thumb.

Actually, the fishing wasn't all that bad. Enough action to keep you interested.

Q - I suppose that's the reason why business in the north keeps on booming, booming despite the depression in the auto manufacturing centers?

A - Well, this is just a seat-of-the-pants feeling based on absolutely no evidence at all, but I have the gut reaction that business could be better than it is.

That's because of the attitude of the businesses when you come in. They genuinely appear to appreciate your patronage. That's a contrast to the reception a couple of years ago when people acted like it was a favor to take your money.

Q - So you don't think Artrain will be back or last long.

A - Well, I don't believe it will be back to Cass City, but it will last longer than I figured since tours are planned through 1984, according to Holly Althaver.

Q - I haven't heard much about the upcoming millage request for the school. What about it?

A - Well in past years the district has come yearly to the voters for tax dollars without too much advance publicity and most times they have passed. It's a new ball game this year as the district will seek a three-mill increase along with the renewal. The district does have a story to tell and it's the thought here that it had better start telling it if they want approval of the three additional mills as well as the renewal.

Q - Well, how about it, will the millage issues pass?

A - It's too early to tell. A lot depends on what happens between now and the election. At best it will be a tough row to hoe.

"If It Fitz. . ."

Dissaving in Lake Tahoe

By Jim Fitzgerald

"This is a good place to dissave," I told my wife. We were in Caesars gambling casino in Lake Tahoe, Nev., and had lost $20 to the slot machines in 15 minutes.

"Dissave" is my favorite new word. I learned it from Michael Evans, who is a Washington economist. He told Congress' Joint Economic Committee that "consumer surveys show that half the nation's households dissave on balance at a rate of about five percent."

A household that dissaves money spends more than it earns and goes into debt. This is the opposite of a household that earns more money than it spends, or disdebts.

You can probably remember when a household that spent more than it earned was described as losing ground. But "losing" is a negative word. It sounds much more positive to say the household is dissaving ground. And when dissaved ground is recovered, it is dislost. Tomorrow's children, picking coins off the street, will shout: "Finders keepers, disfinders dislaughers."

There is a mind exercise designed to help mentally sluggish people who have trouble understanding such words as dissave. These disforward people are advised to meditate while repeating a mantra concerning the true meaning of the word "dismantle." To dismantle is to take a center fielder apart. The mantra is "Mickey Dismantle."

Similarly, to discover is to pull back the blanket, to dissuade is to take off suede shoes, to dislodge is to exit from the Lodge freeway and to dispair is to split a pair of jacks.

End of English lesson.

Return with me now to the land of chance where it was decided that a good way to stop dissaving amid the slot machines would be to see a lounge act. Readers who don't frequent gambling casinos in Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas may be surprised to learn that lounges act. They don't do drama. Lounges act as a refuge for tourists who want to sit down but can't afford the main act.

Main acts are performed in huge rooms inside which hundreds of people who don't know each other share the same table and encroach upon each others' thighs while rising to give standing ovations in recognition of the rare talent displayed by waitresses who get an order right. Lounge acts are performed in little saloons which are usually comfortable because whenever a lounge act attracts large crowds, it is promoted to a main act. Many of today's best-known main acts used to be lounge acts. When Errol Flynn was alive, Ronald Reagan was a lounge act.

The evening we were at Caesars, the main act was Chicago and the cover charge was $30 per person, a dissaving price I wouldn't pay to see all of Illinois. We sat in the lounge where, for the price of our drinks, the act was the Four Freshmen. My youngest daughter was present, and after she explained that Chicago is a musical group, I also explained something. I said I'd often seen the Four Freshmen perform in Detroit when I was a college freshman myself. "That explains why they look so old," my daughter said.

Phooey on her. I like the Four Freshmen because they sing songs that can be hummed, which is my only musical talent. Young people today don't hum as they leave rock concerts, they reverberate. By coincidence, I'd done much humming on our U-turn motor trip toward Lake Tahoe, which included stops at Amarillo, Tex.; Gallup, N.M.; Flagstaff and Kingman, Ariz., and San Bernardino, Calif. My companions reacted doubtfully — even derisively — when I said I was humming a song about all those towns. They said there was no such song.

That's where the marvelous coincidence came in. At Caesars lounge, the first song the Four Freshmen sang was "Get Your Kicks on Route 66." Ah. It was immensely satisfying to watch my daughter as she heard our itinerary in rhythm and rhyme and was forced to admit her old Dad had been humming sense.

Life can be beautiful. I felt like a main act, or dislounge.

Some folks learn by doing — others by being done.

Hospital group new in Thumb

The Thumb Area Hospital Association (TAHA) is a new organization and a rather unique one.

Its members are Deckerville Community Hospital; Harbor Beach Community Hospital; Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City; Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe; and Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon. Two trustees, one member of the medical staff and the administrator from each hospital comprise the TAHA Board of Trustees.

A committee of the board, the program coordinating committee, consists of the five hospital administrators and meets monthly. The entire Board meets quarterly.

Purposes of the organization are to improve the quality of health care which can be achieved by cooperation among hospitals, develop cooperative programs, provide periodic meetings of hospital department heads, and provide educational programs for hospital trustees and administrators. Other purposes are to provide services by one hospital to one or more other hospitals; loan personnel between facilities; provide interim administrative support in the event of resignation, death or temporary absence of a hospital's chief executive officer; joint purchasing; inservice education; medical staff continuing education, and cooperative programs in infection control, safety, risk management and quality assurance.

One of the current top priorities of TAHA is "community orientation and education towards wellness," according to Ken E. Jensen, administrator of Hills and Dales, who is the chairman of the TAHA program coordinating committee (the administrators' group).

The chairman of the board of TAHA is Arnold Witherpoon, president of the board at Harbor Beach Community Hospital.

There are no paid executives in TAHA. Everyone is a volunteer. Each hospital picks up their share of program costs, which are significantly reduced because of the cooperative agreement.

Hearing slated on area plan for aging

The Region VII Area Agency on Aging will conduct one of four public hearings on its proposed annual implementation plan for 1982 in Kingston.

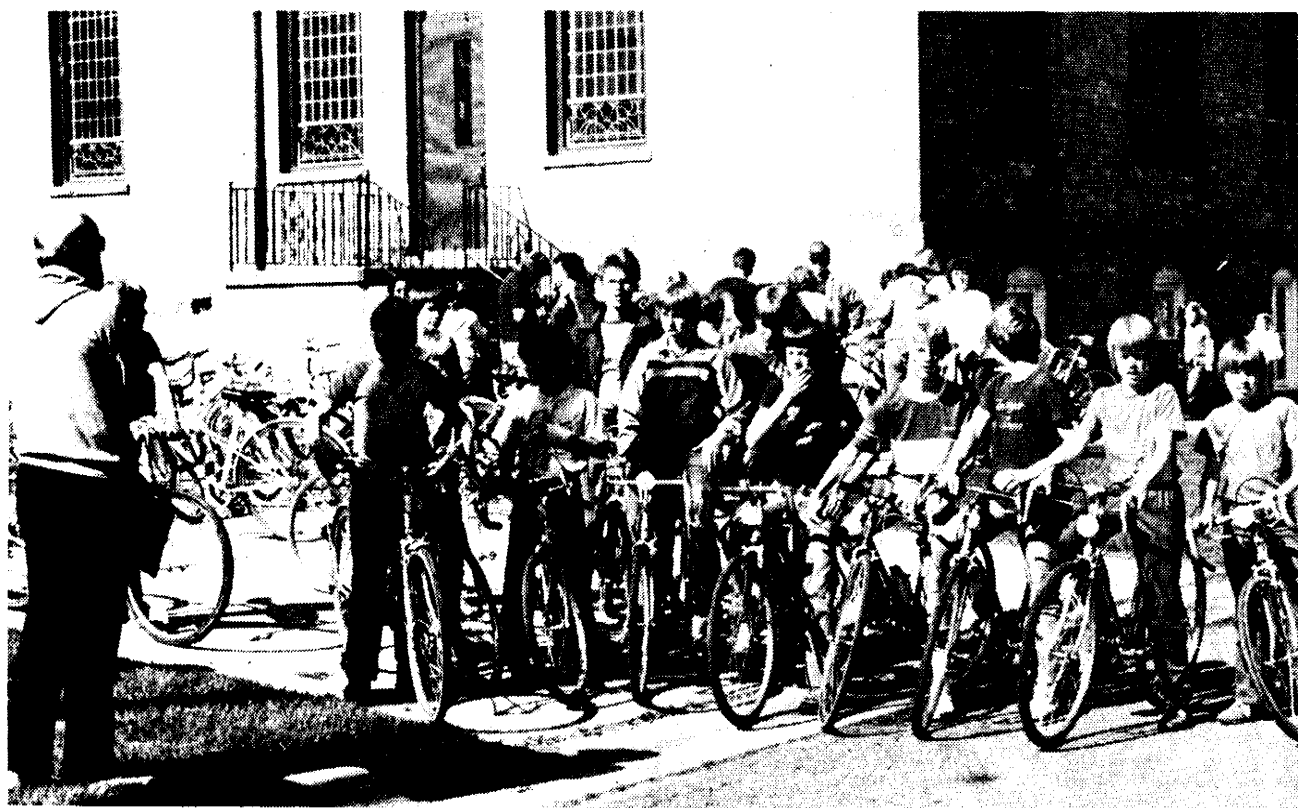

The hearing will be Friday, May 29, from 1:30-3 p.m. at the Kingston Veteran of Foreign Wars Hall, 3719 Ross Street. That is the site of the senior citizen meal program.

Last year, the agency developed a multi-year plan for fiscal year 1981-83, as required by the federal Older Americans Act.

Purpose of the plan is to identify the needs of older residents within the 14-county region and to outline the planning and service activities proposed by the office to address those needs.

The public hearings are sponsored by the agency to give interested persons the opportunity to voice their opinions about amendments to the plan and the proposed implementation plan for fiscal year 1982.

The other hearings will be in Beaverton, Bay City and Saginaw.

PEDAL PUSHERS -- Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser (back to camera) gives final instructions before participants start riding in Saturday's bike-a-thon to raise money for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Forty persons took part, with 35 miles being the farthest distance ridden in four hours. The amount raised will be known in 1½ weeks, after pledges are turned in.

The program will adjourn with the band playing the recessional, "Emblem of Unity." A reception line will be in the hallway near the cafeteria for graduates to meet parents, relatives and friends.

"Jungle Love" was the theme for this year's junior-senior prom, held Friday, May 1, with dancing from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. in the school cafeteria. The Gem Band provided the music.

PEDALING AROUND

Artrain impressions

By Mike Eliasohn

I am, for lack of a better term, an artistic slob.

The few times I have been to Detroit's Cultural Center, I have gone to the main branch of the Detroit Public Library and to the Historical Museum. I have yet to cross the street to visit the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Not that I am bragging. One of these years I will get to the art museum.

The only kind of art I like is the kind that looks like something I can recognize and the closer it is to reality, the more I like it.

The only painting I have hanging on the walls of my apartment is one my parents bought for me in Haiti or some other Caribbean country, no doubt churned out on a paintbrush version of an assembly line.

The visit here of Artrain was the third time I have had a chance to see it, the other times being in Lansing and Monroe in, as I recall, 1971 and 1976 respectively.

To be honest, I can't say I enjoyed this visit more than the other two -- I can't remember what was on the train the other two times.

Despite my limited artistic attention span, I did take a little time to go through the Artrain -- not a lot, but I did stop long enough to read some of the captions and closely examine some of the works on display.

The first stop on the train was a 7-minute audio visual presentation about the history of Artrain and of art. There were maybe 10 other persons viewing it when I was. It was a composite group, from youngsters to adult, male and female.

I had my camera with me, of course -- you didn't think I went there solely for pleasure, did you? -- and I figured after the program was over, I could take photos of some of them looking at the exhibits.

I never had a chance. By the time I stopped the first time to look at an exhibit, everyone else was out of sight. One of the guides further on commented about how fast they had gone past. I wonder why they bothered to go.

Then there were the parents going through the train with their child. They were looking at a Japanese print. "Do you know where Japan is?" they asked their youngster. If I were ever a parent, that's the kind of parent I would want to be.

The three exhibits I will remember, at least for a while, were the peacock fan, carved from a single piece of wood; the 1923 lithograph of evangelist Billy Sunday, standing on a tabletop expounding his message, and the pencil drawing of a carpenter. One had to look close to realize it was not a photograph.

One advantage of having the Artrain here was it offered an excuse for a showing of works by local artists -- not that an excuse should be needed.

I think it would be nice if a show like the one at the Cultural Center were held every year. There are a lot of good artists in this area, not all of whom had their works on display this time.

Perhaps that was the real lesson of Artrain, without trying to sound hokey: Art IS everywhere.

The card can be used by everyone. Free copies of TAHA's emergency medical card can be obtained by writing your name and address on a post card and mailing it to: Emergency Medical Card, Box 134, Cass City 48726.

The cards are also available at the information desks of Deckerville Community Hospital, Harbor Beach Hospital, Hills and Dales General Hospital, Huron Memorial Hospital and Scheurer Hospital. Requests can be made for more than one card.

New books at the library

MORE SCRAP SAVERS' STITCHERY by Sandra L. Foose (non-fiction). This book includes complete patterns (many full size) and full directions for making each of the over 50 projects suggested here. Most sewers' scrap bags should yield enough fabric for these easy-to-sew original designs, which range from lion pillows and Santa Claus Christmas stockings for the kids to unusual place mats, potholders, and a wreath of Christmas angels for the grown-ups. Some designs are strictly for decoration; others, like a pin cushion or a toddler's nap mat, are useful objects as well as interesting soft sculptures.

SISTERS AND LOVERS by Nicola Thorne (fiction). A rich, romantic period novel set in the reign of Queen Victoria, centering on three daughters of a wealthy man. One becomes a lady-in-waiting to the Queen; one falls under the spell of Florence Nightingale and goes to the Crimea with her, and one becomes involved with the radicals of the time and with the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood.

THE CB PICTURE DICTIONARY by Joan Murray (youth). Truckers have their own easy-to-learn lingo and here is a dictionary with definitions and light-hearted drawings for the "language" of citizens band radio. This book teaches young readers the meanings of the things truckers say over CB. It is a delightful and informative dictionary that will add enjoyment to any CB family's car travels and kids will love learning "truckerese."

Gifted child conference set May 30

A conference on gifted children is being held Saturday, May 30, at St. Francis X Cabrini Catholic church on Division Street in Vassar.

The conference, sponsored by the Tuscola County Association for Gifted Children, will be held from 10 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

The conference is designed to provide information for and communication among parents and interested people concerned about the educational needs of academically talented children.

The morning program will feature Nancy Skinner, first president of the Michigan Association for the Academically Talented and member of the National Board to Improve Gifted Education. She will discuss MAAT, parents' roles in their child's education in and out of schools, and the future of gifted education.

The afternoon sessions will include sharing with other parent groups from Tuscola, Huron, and Saginaw counties and mini-sessions featuring enrichment programs.

A pre-registration fee of $1 should be sent to Harriet O'Brien, 2445 O'Brien Road, Mayville 48744. Participants are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee and dessert will be provided. Call Mrs. O'Brien, 843-5470, or Diane Tallman, 843-6361, for more information.

Unless you are doing all you can, you are doing less than you should.

Your Neighbor says

Parents should spend more time with children

Kids would get into less trouble if their parents spent more time with them, is the opinion of Diana Schmidt.

"Everyone has to have a beginning and that's where it starts," she said. "If parents do their job, then the kids generally grow up to be respectable."

Too many parents, she feels, prefer to let their children spend too much time watching television. "That's a parent's cop-out. Set your kids in front of the TV and you know where he's at. It's a cheap baby-sitter, too."

Parents should spend more time with and be concerned about their children. "You only live once ... and you can never undo what already's been done."

Interfering with child raising, Mrs. Schmidt said, is that this is a "me society. Me first and you later."

When she isn't with her children, she said, "I've given my kids the feeling, 'I should be on my best behavior,' not to say they don't do anything wrong. Kids will be kids."

She admits sometimes parents can do everything right and their children will turn out bad and sometimes the opposite occurs.

Mrs. Schmidt said of children. "They're really smart. It's amazing what they know at such early ages."

She and her husband, John, have three children, Pam, 16, Lynn, 15, and Steven, 10. Schmidt is now working at a General Motors plant in Texas and the family will be joining him after they sell their Cemetery Road, Deford, home.

Mrs. Schmidt is a substitute school bus driver, Cub Scout leader and a Cass City Arts Council "picture lady" at the Deford Elementary School. She said she drives a school bus because, "I like kids."

Marcy Bruno receives scholarship

Marcella Renee Bruno is the first recipient of a $300 college scholarship awarded by the Bay Area Business and Professional Women's Club.

The Owendale-Gagetown High School senior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bruno of Wallace Road, Gagetown. She will be attending Ferris State College, Big Rapids.

The scholarship competition was opened to students from the Owen-Gage, Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port and Unionville-Sebewaing school districts, the area in which club members reside.

Marcy Bruno

About 30 students applied. Three finalists were selected, based on grades and financial need, according to Doris Bang, a member of the selection committee.

Other selection committee members were Maxine Kauffold and Janet Back. Each of the three lives in a different school district.

The three families were interviewed by the selection committee, who also talked to the girls' school counselors before selecting Miss Bruno.

The money for the scholarship, to be awarded annually, is raised by the club at its style show conducted each spring at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown.

Miss Bruno has also been named student of the month for April at her high school.

She will graduate Thursday in the top 10 of her class. She was inducted into the National Honor Society in her sophomore year.

She recently completed a major role in the all-school play. Her other activities include membership in Future Homemakers of America and Business and Office Education Club and she played volleyball for three years.

License plate offices closed four days

All Department of State branch offices will be closed four days over Memorial Day week end.

The closure Friday complies with the Governor's directive furloughing all state employees without pay. Monday is Memorial Day.

All driver licenses and most passenger vehicle registrations now expire on the vehicle owner's birthday.

HEALTH TIPS

Remedies available for hay fever

Hay fever will torture many people this spring.

So much of the suffering could be avoided but most sufferers still fail to take full advantage of the available remedies, note Michigan specialists in allergies.

The most common causes of hay fever and asthma are pollen, molds and insect particles, the doctors point out. There are several seasons. Hay fever in spring, in April and May, is caused by the pollen of such trees as maple, elm, poplar, birch and oak.

The midsummer season is caused by grasses, such as timothy, bluegrass, Bermuda and Johnson.

Fall hay fever, which is responsible for the most frequent and severe suffering, is produced most often by the ragweeds.

Weather makes a difference. When it is sunny, hot and windy, there is a greater amount of pollen in the air and hay fever symptoms are severe. Cool, cloudy and rainy weather diminishes pollen. A change in climate, however, is far from a cure all. You may escape one allergin only to find others present.

The most effective preventive treatment for severe hay fever is regular injections (in tiny doses) of solutions of pollen or other allergin-producing substances. As the doses increase, say doctors, the antibodies become sufficient to counteract the harmful substance.

A few people may get some relief in three or four shots, but desensitization is not a quick process. It generally takes weeks or months to note results.

AMA Drug Evaluations, the American Medical Association's manual for physicians, points out that antihistamines are effective in the management of hay fever symptoms.

Approximately 70 to 95 percent of patients experience some relief from runny nose, sneezing, and watery, swollen eyes. There are long-acting preparations that can be taken at bedtime to control the more severe symptoms that are usually evident in the early mornings, the AMA book says.

Therapy with antihistamines should be started at the beginning of the hay fever season while pollen counts are still low. If therapy is delayed, the temporary use of an aerosol corticosteroid preparation may be required to control symptoms.

For a free pamphlet on hay fever and its complications, write to the Michigan State Medical Society, 120 W. Saginaw, East Lansing 48823. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Soil week celebration next week

Soil Stewardship Week will be held nationwide May 24-31, according to Albert Ruggles, chairman of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District (SCD).

Since 1955, Soil Stewardship Week has been recognized in millions of churches and schools across the nation. It is designed to focus on the nation's natural resource problems and to consider ways to solve them.

"This country must, at whatever cost, maintain the capacity of the land to produce food and fiber," cites the National Association of Conservation Districts. NACD sponsors Soil Stewardship Week in cooperation with the nation's 3,000 soil and water conservation districts.

"With our own population at 220 million and growing and with many regions of the world depending on the United States to supplement their food supply, the need to maintain our productive capacity becomes increasingly apparent," according to NACD.

This year's event focuses on "Society's Pressure Points" as its theme and covers such topics as soil and water conservation, urbanization, and loss of prime farmland.

Twenty-seven churches in the Tuscola SCD have requested over 5,000 bulletin inserts to be used in this year's observance.

About 120 persons made the trip in two chartered buses.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Cass City Education Association and representatives of the school district eased into serious negotiations Monday night as a school calendar for the 1971-72 school year became a real bargaining issue for the first time. Members of the Cass City First Baptist church broke ground Sunday for a new $100,000 addition.

Revival services will be conducted at the Church of the Nazarene, 6538 Third Street, Cass City, beginning Tuesday and ending Sunday, May 31, with a rally.

Rev. Harold L. Myers and family from Grand Rapids will be present each evening. Services will begin at 7:30 each night, except Sunday, when they will begin at 7. There will also be a prayer service each night at 6 and Sunday at 5:30.

They travel as a team, with Mrs. Myers playing the Chordovox, an instrument which combines accordion and organ sounds. The two boys, Todd and Tony, sing along with their parents.

Winter wheat survives in good condition

As of May 1, Michigan wheat had made it through the winter in good shape, with less than normal winter kill, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Production of winter wheat is forecasted at 35.26 million bushels, virtually unchanged from a year ago. A two percent increase in acreage for harvest has been offset by an expected one bushel decline in yield from last year's record state average of 44 bushels per acre.

Nationally, winter wheat production is forecasted at a record high of 2.08 billion bushels, 10 percent more than last year's production of 1.89 billion bushels.

3 county parks begin new era

The three Sanilac county parks are now open for the season.

It marks the beginning of a new era for the county parks.

Until this year, the parks had been managed by the county Road Commission.

They are now operated by the new Sanilac County Parks Commission, and its full-time director, Kim Copeland.

Copeland is a 1975 graduate of Cass City High School and a March, 1980 graduate of Michigan State University with a B.S. degree in park and recreation resources, with emphasis on park administration.

The park closest to Cass City is No. 3, on M-53 on the Cass River, 3½ miles south of M-81.

Its features include picnic area, shelter, restrooms, ball diamond, playground equipment, open areas for games, a scenic drive through the woods and a view of the Cass River.

Copeland is hoping to attract more business for Park No. 1, the only revenue producing park of the three.

The park is located on the shores of Lake Huron, off M-25, about 1¼ miles south of Deckerville Road.

There are facilities there for overnight camping, for both tents and recreation vehicles. Electricity hook-ups are available. The campgrounds are open to the public, with Sanilac county residents receiving a discount on the camping fee.

Features include a beach, boat launching ramp, showers, store, nature trails, ball diamond, open space, playground equipment and picnic facilities.

Most of the revenue to support the county park system comes from an appropriation from the county Board of Commissioners.

They and Copeland understandably would like to increase business at No. 1, which would mean less support having to come from taxpayers.

The third county park is No. 2, 3½ miles north of Lexington on M-25 and the Lake Huron shoreline. In addition to facilities similar to the other parks (except for the camping), it also has tennis courts.

Copeland started working last summer for the park system as manager of park No. 1. He still has that responsibility, and resides in a home there, as well as being director of all three parks.

The Park Commission's only other full-time employee is Al Hawks, in charge of maintenance, who lives at Park No. 2.

There are also a maximum of eight or nine seasonal employees, paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act youth program funds, and some working off their general assistance (welfare) payments.

The three parks will close Oct. 31.

MOVING IN -- Al Hawks, left, and Kim Copeland, maintenance man and parks director respectively for the Sanilac County Parks Commission, were moving picnic tables into the shelter at Park No. 3 last Thursday.

Homemakers honored with scholarships

The Sanilac county chapter of Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers (MAEH) held its annual awards night May 12 at the county conference room in Sandusky.

The awards night was planned and directed by Velma Cleland, Uby; Eileen Riess, Snover; Grace Brill, Sandusky; Marguerite Wischman, Juhl; Lois Beck, Palms; Marion Gray, Decker, and Nancy Jones, Deckerville.

Cultural art winners, who will exhibit their projects at Michigan State University in state competition, were Elizabeth Dale, Shirley Kramer, Darlene Davis, Penny Hooper, LuLu Reinelt, Sara Lee Thompson, Marion Spencer, Marguerite Krause and Bertha Hooper.

The group award for county achievement and programming was presented to the Greenleaf Extension group. The group was involved in community development emphasizing public policy, family resource management and family unity.

The Shabbona Extension group received the traveling MAEH banner for highest percentage of member attendance to the county function.

Mother-daughter fete held

The annual mother-daughter banquet was conducted in St. Agatha's Catholic church hall in Gagetown May 8.

More than 80 mothers and daughters enjoyed smorgasbord supper.

Prayer was given by Father Joseph Morales. The tables were decorated with red geraniums.

Toastmistresses for the evening were Mrs. Alva Pitcher and Mrs. Pauline Reehl.

Julie Hrycko gave the toast to the mothers and Mrs. Carol Hrycko answered with the toast to the daughters.

Lynetta Allen gave the toast to the grandmothers and also a reading on how Mother's Day came to be.

The musical program consisted of a piano solo by Karen Goslin, a cornet solo by Troy Reehl, a piano solo by Heather Merchant, a flute and bell duet by Kendra Reehl and Clayton Hobart and a musical ensemble of Tina and Marsha Lopez, Cindy, Marcie and Craig Enderle, Charlene Goslin, Kathy and Janet Warack and Kendra Reehl, under the direction of Julie Enderle.

Gifts were awarded to Mrs. Michael Pisarek Sr. for having her birthday closest to May 8; Mrs. Joseph Warack for having six daughters present and also for having the youngest daughter present, and Mrs. William Ashmore for having the most daughters-in-law present.

Father Morales was awarded the door prize.

The value of money depends on who is spending it.

Suspect caught in motor home break-in

John E. Blades, 18, of 6483 Merchant Road, Cass City, has been charged with breaking and entering a motor vehicle and larceny in connection with the break-in of a motor home in Cass City.

Michael Shaft of 6549 Main Street called police at 11:10 p.m. Saturday to report that a neighbor had just caught a person breaking into his (Shaft's) motor home.

Missing were a citizens band radio valued at $175; compass, $15; sewing kit, $2, and frame for a clock, $2. In an attempt to remove the radio, the dash had been damaged.

Police found the stolen items in the custody of the suspect or close by.

Blades was taken to the county jail in Caro. Monday in district court, he waived examination and was bound over to circuit court, where arraignment was scheduled June 1. Bond was set at $5,000 cash or surety.

A 16-year-old girl will be petitioned into probate court, charged with the April 19 theft of $450 from The Station cash register.

Cass City police received information that the girl had taken the money, which led to her being questioned last Thursday and subsequently charged.

The money was taken on a Sunday morning after the door to the Main Street tavern was accidentally left unlocked.

CAR STOLEN

Jeffrey A. Spry of 5204 Deckerville Road, Deford, reported to Cass City police at 1:05 a.m. Saturday that his car had been stolen from the Thumb National Bank parking lot. It had been seen about 1½ hours earlier. The car had been locked, but the window was partly open and keys were in the glove compartment.

Spry called the police back at 11:30 that morning to report someone he knew had discovered his car abandoned on Phillips Road.

The driver's door window had been broken, right rear tire cut, the radiator was dry, there was oil over the fender wells, the AM-FM radio was missing from the dash, the gas tank was three-quarters empty and the car wouldn't start.

Investigation is continuing.

OTHER ITEMS

Randy A. Ensign of 5305 Dorrance Road, Kingston, reported to Caro state police that at 2 a.m. Saturday, when he was stopped for the stop sign on Deckerville Road at Railroad Street in Deford, a pickup stopped alongside.

The driver got out, kicked out the driver's side window of Ensign's car, then got back in his truck. The pickup followed Ensign to Kingston Road, then turned onto a side street.

The suspect was described as a white male with red hair, wearing boots and a cowboy hat and driving a gray Chevrolet pickup.

Damage to the car window was estimated at $100. Brenda Thane of 3677 Cass City Road, Cass City, reported to Caro troopers Saturday afternoon that a Huff 10-speed bicycle was stolen from her garage sometime since May 12. It was valued at $100.

Gregory Darr of 6253 Bay City-Forestville Road told Cass City police Friday that while his car was parked in the Cass City High School lot May 11 and 12, damage was done to his car. The chrome strip at the top of the windshield was loosened and two marks were put in the driver's door.

Village police at 11:45 p.m. May 12 arrested Dennis A. Luetke, 32, of 4405 Oak Street, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor after stopping his car on Seventh Street, west of Seeger.

He was released from the county jail the next day after posting $100 bond. Arraignment before District Judge Richard F. Kern is scheduled Tuesday.

Leaders laud Artrain visit

Dear John:

The Artrain Steering Committee and the Cass City Arts Council were pleased to host Michigan Artrain in Cass City during the first week of May. The return of Artrain made possible a resurgence of pride in our local artistic endeavors and a greater appreciation for the genius of great art, both visual and musical.

There was a natural outpouring of enthusiasm. Everyone who gave of his talent, time, energy or financial support must feel the reward of being enriched for having given of himself, as well as the pleasure of being acknowledged as a community resource in the arts.

There was fine cooperation from all sectors of the community -- business district, the community schools, the village, local industry, a church choir, the library and many local residents -- as well as musicians and visual artists of the Thumb.

Artrain continues to make possible a dual response in communities as it travels the state and the region with its present exhibition. It draws attention to the creative genius that came with the immigrants from all parts of the world to America, bringing their traditions, their creativity and their need for a tie to their past.

World traditions and the influence of changing thought about the landscape and human form seemed so much more interesting as comparisons were drawn about the French Barbizon painters, the Japanese Ukiyo and American Hudson River school of painters. As the 20th Century innovators were influenced by newly discovered primitive art, so are our present artists being changed by a new landscape. All of these threads were woven into a most interesting experience for those who wished to think and be challenged.

GK Tech merger completed

The Penn Central Corporation (PCC) and GK Technologies, Inc., parent company of General Cable, announced that as a result of a merger of GK with a PCC subsidiary, PCC now owns 100 percent of the voting stock of GK.

The merger was consummated following approval May 14 at a special meeting of GK shareholders. Prior to the merger, PCC held approximately 92 percent of the GK voting stock, which it acquired in a cash tender offer in March of this year. Under the terms of the merger, the holders, other than PCC, of GK common and convertible preference stock will receive in cash $50 and $59.50 per share, respectively.

Steak tip

When selecting a beef steak to broil, be sure that it is at least 1 inch thick, says the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Thinner steaks are apt to be done before they are brown and therefore are usually best panbroiled.

PEGGY BRECLAW IS THE NEW Tuscola county 4-H youth agent. Due to limited funding, she will be working only part-time (60 percent), with hopes the job will become full-time this fall. A native of Dickinson county in the Upper Peninsula, she was a 4-H program assistant in that county from 1977 until receiving her new appointment. She is a 1975 graduate of Michigan State University.

Family planning funds in danger

The two family planning programs in the upper Thumb have plenty of customers but the funds that support them are in danger of extinction.

The program operated by the Tuscola County Health Department served 496 persons in 1980, according to Director of Nursing Carol Hrycko, RN.

Through April of this year, 259 had been served, an increase of 57 percent over the first four months of 1980.

She attributes the increase to word of mouth advertising and the state of the economy -- couples not able to afford more children and making use of the program because it is cheaper than going to a doctor.

Thirty percent of those served in 1980 were 17 and under; so far this year, 29 percent.

The family planning program in Huron and Sanilac counties is jointly operated by Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe and McKenzie Memorial Hospital in Sandusky.

The program is presently serving more than 800 persons, according to Director Louise Blasius, of which under one-third are 17 and under.

Patients are charged on the basis of ability to pay. Those 17 and under, because they are at high risk medically when pregnant, are not charged.

Most of the money comes from Washington, funneled through the Michigan Department of Public Health, and it is those funds that are in danger of extinction.

According to Don Pangborn, chief of the MDPH Family Planning Program, the Reagan administration has proposed lumping family planning funds together with funding for 20 other health-related programs and then cutting the total amount by 25 percent. That would be for the fiscal year that starts Oct. 1.

It would then be up to each state to decide how to spend that money. The fear is, he said, that once the money goes to the states, they will find uses for it other than family planning.

To prevent that from happening, a bill has been introduced in Congress to reauthorize the family planning program for 1981-82, which means the money would have to be specifically spent for that purpose.

The money that goes to county family planning programs is not entirely from Washington. About 75-80 comes from that source and the rest comes from the state.

"We feel very strongly, family planning is a preventative health program," Pangborn commented. Maternal deaths are reduced because of it and mothers have healthier babies when they do want children.

According to Mrs. Blasius, for every $1 spent in family planning, $2 is saved the next year in welfare costs. That was a statistic she recalled from a seminar she attended.

SERVICES

The two upper Thumb programs are similar, with clinics where women are examined by a doctor and counseling.

In Tuscola county, at the twice-a-month clinics, women are examined by a doctor on their first visit, annually, and if they have any problems. The doctor can prescribe birth control devices.

Teenagers (17 and under) do not need parental consent to obtain counseling, but do need it to be prescribed birth control devices.

Mrs. Hrycko suggests teenagers who want family planning services, even if they know they cannot obtain parental permission, to come see Ms. Kirby.

The program doesn't deal just with pregnancy prevention. Ms. Kirby does a lot of pregnancy testing for women who want to have a baby. She conducts classes about birth control methods, physiology, breast examinations for cancer, etc.

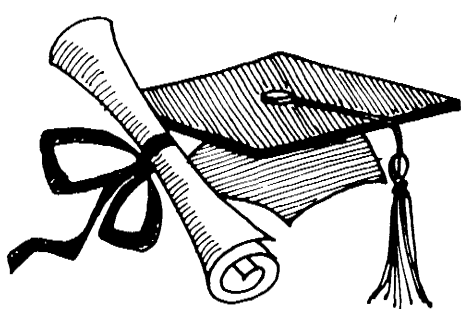

For women who are pregnant, but didn't want to be, she counsels them on the various alternatives, which for single women are marriage, single parenthood, adoption and abortion.

The program isn't just for women. Since she started the job last September, Ms. Kirby has advised a couple of men about sterilization.

The nurse, who has a master's degree in guidance and counseling, only works 3 1/2 days per week. If the funds were available, she said, she could easily keep busy five days a week.

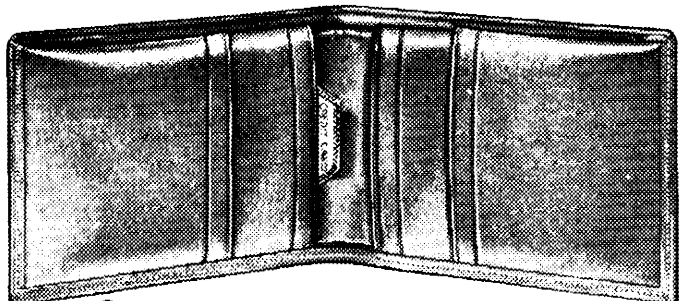

And if there were no program, she commented, "We might have more babies to pay for on welfare and more teenage pregnancies."

Carrie Lautner stunning Thumb track world

It's possible that Coach Craig Weaver and other track fans get a lot more excited over the performances of Carrie Lautner than she does.

For the pert, attractive 98-pound brunette track is fun but it's not the end all, it's not even her favorite sport. That's reserved for basketball where her quickness and native athletic ability shoved her into the starting line-up.

As good as she is and promises to be with the round ball it's doubtful if she'll ever receive the awards and acclaim that's come her way this spring as a sophomore in track where she's won just about every honor in sight. With just two major tests left, the Meet of Champs in Caro next week and the State finals May 30, there isn't much left for her to accomplish.

She was the athlete of the meet in the Thumb B Association conference meet and the Meet of Champs at Bad Axe. She owns the school record in the mile and half-mile and won every Thumb meet she's entered.

Lautner seems unimpressed by it all. She had to think awhile before deciding that breaking the mile record was probably her most exciting moment.

The way she said it you might have thought that breaking school records was just another one of those oh hum things and maybe when you consider how easily she did it, it was.

For this is Carrie's first year in track. As a freshman she played softball last year and ignored track. It makes you wonder what would happen if she was not a rookie.

Athletics have been a part of Carrie's school career from the start. She played JV volleyball and was on the gymnastics team as a freshman. You have to believe that running comes naturally for her. She doesn't have any special training regimens... when the team practices, she practices... and then only.

It's possible that her athletic ability comes naturally. Her father, Hugh, played sports, but did not participate in track.

There are still a couple of goals waiting out there for Lautner, if not this year, maybe in 1982 or 1983.

After all, a girl from Yale entered in the Caro meet has a better time in the mile and she did finish second at Central Michigan. And there is the State finals and all those excellent runners yet to face.

Does she have any goals... like setting a new State record to go with her other marks?

Yes, says Carrie, I just hope I don't get any worse.

CARRIE LAUTNER displays two of her awards. The sophomore track star has been named athlete of the meet at each Thumb event she has entered.

Hawk girls need win at Vassar for loop track title

The dual meet track season ends for the Cass City Red Hawk girls Friday at Vassar and the final meet of the year is the most important of the season following the Hawks' championship effort in the Thumb B Association conference meet last Wednesday.

Cass City needs only a win or a tie to win the league title this season. A loss would make them co-champions.

The Hawks placed first in five of the 16 events paced by Carrie Lautner. Lautner won the 800 meter run in 2:25.64 and the 1600 meter run in 5:24.57 and was declared female athlete of the meet.

Michelle Fahrner won the 400 meter run in 1:00.47 and the victories in two relays pushed them to the top. Cass City won the 800 meter and the 1600 meter relays.

Cass City scored 87 points. Other team results were: Bad Axe, 84; Marlette, 79 1/2; Vassar, 68 1/2; Caro, 55; Sandusky, 38; Lakers, 29; North Branch, 24.

Important points were earned by other Cass City competitors. The 400 meter relay team finished second and Lori Hurley placed second in the 3200 meter run in 12:33.58. Hurley also finished third in the 1600 meter run in 5:39.07; Tammy Stimpfel was fourth in the 400 meter in 1:03.54 and Bonnie Smerdon was fourth in the 800 meter in 2:34.97.

Merilee Leslie finished fifth in the 800 meter run in 2:38.69. Christi Deering earned a sixth place in the 3200 meter run with a time of 13:27.4. Jamie LaRoche was fourth in the long jump, 15'7 1/4".

MEET OF CHAMPS

Cass City had one first place winner at the Huron Meet of Champs Monday. It was Lautner who won both the mile and 880 runs and was named most valuable woman athlete of the meet.

Medals were awarded to the first three places and Cass City track members earned five medals in addition to the ones collected by Lautner.

Lori Calka was second in the long jump and Lori Hurley was second in the two mile.

Jamie LaRoche was third in the long jump and Tammy Stimpfel was third in the 440. Leslie was third in the 880-yard run.

O-G qualifies for pre-district

Owen-Gage gained a split in baseball at home against Caseville Tuesday, leaving both teams with 4-6 marks in the North Central D League.

The Bulldogs won the opener, 5-3. Winning pitcher Randy Radabaugh tossed a two-hitter, striking out six and walking seven.

Losing pitcher Bob Tennant gave up eight hits, one walk and struck out two.

Jim and Dan Glidden each hit a double and a single, Radabaugh had two singles and Terry Muntz had two singles and three RBIs.

The Eagles took the nightcap, 7-6.

Winning pitcher was Mike Dufty, in relief of Chris Murock, who started, and Kirk McCormick. They combined to give up nine hits and five walks and strike out one.

Losing pitcher Jim Kuhr pitched the final three innings, in relief of Alan LeValley. They combined for four walks, four strikeouts and six hits.

LeValley hit a double and a single; Radabaugh, two singles, and the two Gliddens each had a double.

The Bulldogs, now 6-8 overall, were to host Kingston Wednesday and host North Huron Saturday, both makeup games, and Akron-Fairgrove Friday in the pre-districts.

PORT HOPE

Owen-Gage qualified for the pre-districts last Wednesday by downing Port Hope, 16-2.

Randy Radabaugh pitched the first four innings to pick up the win and was relieved by Jim Kuhr in the final round. The game ended after five innings because of the 10-run mercy rule. They combined to walk three, give up five hits and strike out six.

Losing pitcher Neal Emerick went the distance, surrendering 16 hits, two walks and striking out one.

Top hitters for the visiting Bulldogs were Jim Glidden, three singles; Terry Muntz, two doubles and four RBIs; Scott Gaeth, Vince Salcido and Dan Glidden, two singles each, and Radabaugh, a single and a double.

Blue Star Todd Schuett collected a double and a single.

The win puts coach Phil Gray's Bulldogs into the pre-districts Friday at home against Akron-Fairgrove.

Hawk softball team coasts to win in 1st tourney game

Cass City moved into district tournament play last Wednesday with an easy 13-2 win over Marlette at Cass City Recreational Park. The Hawks will play Friday at Bad Axe at 4 p.m. In case of rain the game is slated Saturday.

The Marlette game was called after 4½ innings as Cass City used a big 10-run fourth inning to break open a tight game.

At the end of three innings the score was tied, but in the fourth 14 batters paraded to the plate to turn the game into a run-away.

Jill Root went the distance for Cass City and allowed eight hits but kept them well scattered.

Padgett Randall picked up two hits and a walk in four tries to lead Cass City. Six others were each credited with one hit.

DOUBLE LOSS

The Hawks bounced back to win over Marlette after suffering a double loss to Lakers the day before in Thumb B Association competition.

There was a reason that Cass City lost both games and it is spelled Cindy Dubs. The ace Laker hurler pitched both ends of the twin bill.

In the second game she allowed six hits and three runs to register a 7-3 decision. Hawk hurlers Randall and Jill Root allowed just five hits but five walks and a couple of key errors made the difference.

In the first game Dubs was even more effective. She limited the Hawks to just three hits as the Lakers posted a 3-1 decision in a tight game.

All of the winners' scoring came in the first two innings. Two of the first three Lakers to bat picked up two hits and later scored before Root settled down.

Root allowed another run in the second and then blanked the visitors the rest of the way.

But by that time it was too late. The best Cass City could do was a run in the second on base hits by Tena LaRoche and Beabe McLachlan.

REESE GAMES

The Hawks lost their third regular season game in a row in the opener at Reese Monday but came bouncing back with a win in the nightcap to get ready for Friday's tournament battle at Bad Axe.

In the first game, Reese racked Root and Shirley Fleming for 10 hits on the way to an 8-5 decision. Fleming is returning to action just in time for the important district games Friday.

After a slow start the Hawks counted three times on three hits in the fourth and took a lead for the first time in the game with a pair of tallies in the fifth on just one hit.

But Reese charged back with four runs in their half of the inning to salt away the game.

The Hawks were led by Sherry Lefler with two hits. In the nightcap Cass City had its hitting shoes on and pounded out an 11-8 decision. Randall started and pitched three innings, giving up seven runs and five hits.

Fleming came on in relief and allowed a hit and a run in the fourth and then blanked Reese the rest of the way.

Title express on track, but O-G loses 1st game

Owen-Gage lost its first softball game of the season Tuesday at Caseville.

The Eagles won the opener, 15-10, with winning pitcher Michelle McCormick giving up six hits, walking 14 and striking out seven.

Losing pitcher Dana Laurie surrendered eight hits, walked nine and struck out four.

Becky Howard hit two singles for Owen-Gage.

Howard was the winning pitcher in the 12-11 nightcap, striking out four, giving up five hits and walking 12.

Losing pitcher Kathy Briesmeister issued six walks, struck out three and gave up seven hits.

Howard hit a single, double and a triple.

The Bulldogs, now 11-1 in the league and 14-1 overall, host Akron-Fairgrove Friday afternoon in pre-districts and play a makeup game with North Huron at Gagetown starting at 10 a.m. Saturday.

PORT HOPE

Owen-Gage qualified for the softball pre-districts by downing host Port Hope last Wednesday, 18-7.

The win elevated coach Judy Campbell's Bulldogs to 11-0 for the season.

Winning pitcher Dana Laurie struck out six, walked 10 and gave up four hits.

Shirley Koglin took the loss, striking out two, walking five and surrendering 15 hits.

Heidi Rockefeller led the Owen-Gage offense with three singles. Laurie and Karla Kretschmer each collected a double and a single and Becky Howard and Julie Andrakowicz each had two singles.

The Bulldogs will now face Akron-Fairgrove in the pre-districts.

KINGSTON

It wasn't worth coming into the rain for the Cardinals last Thursday as home team Owen-Gage won both games to remain undefeated in North Central D League

Card marathon week-end softball tourney in village

Osentoski finished second in a tournament held in Reese last week end. After losing its first game, the team came back to win three games on Saturday and two games again Sunday. After losing to Cummings Diesel Friday night, they were defeated by Cummings again Sunday in the championship game 2-1 in 10 innings. Ken Martin did an excellent job pitching for Osentoski, appearing in all seven games. He pitched a total of 38 innings allowing four runs and striking out 40. Martin also did a fine job at the plate accounting for both RBIs in a 2-1 win Saturday and hitting a home run and having two more RBIs in a 4-3 win Sunday. Mike Rea led the hitting attack with a total of 10 hits throughout the tournament, followed by Scott Hartel with 8 hits.

Osentoski will sponsor its 3rd Annual Round-Robbin Memorial Week-end Tournament this week end at Cass City with ten teams competing for the championship trophy. There are three local teams entered: Osentoski, Charmont and McMahan Auto Supply. Four teams from Flint: The Misty, Big D Party Store, Cozy Corner and Flint Merchants are also entered in the competition. Last year's champion, Bay City Towing, Walt's Place from Cadillac and Francisco Market from Birch Run round out the entries.

Play will begin Friday night at 7:30, continue all day Saturday starting at 11:00 a.m. Sunday games will start at 10:30 a.m. with the championship game beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Save on meat
Consumers have an opportunity to save when they buy subprimal meat cuts, says the National Live Stock and Meat Board. By buying larger cuts and dividing them into retail cuts at home, consumers can save on their meat bill. Bulk meat purchases are generally priced less per pound because fewer labor costs are involved.

7 Hawks qualify for state finals

Cass City will send seven persons to compete in the State track meet at Clare May 30 following regional competition at Carrollton High School Saturday.

Boys to compete are Brian deBeaubien, third in the shot put (44-10), and Greg Bliss, third in the 2-mile with a 9:46.09 which is a new school record.

Girls that qualified were led by Carrie Lautner, who was first in the mile with a new school record of 5:14.6 and second in the 880 with a 2:20.9, another school record.

The mile relay team of Lautner, Tammi Stimpfel, Jamie LaRoche and Michelle Fahrner was third. Fahrner also qualified in the 440 where she finished second.

Three other school records were set. LaRoche finished fourth in the long jump with a record leap of 15-11 and Lori Hurley set a new school mark in the two-mile with a time of 12:26.4.

A school record was recorded in the 880 relay by Harmer, Tracy Green, Lori Calka and Fahrner.

Also earning medals were Bonnie Smerdon, sixth in the 880, and Tammi Stimpfel, sixth in the 440.

To qualify for state competition contestants must finish third or better.

Cass City cops Vassar twin bill

Cass City's baseball team split four games played during the week with a double-header win over Vassar in Thumb B Association competition and a double loss to Reese in non-conference play.

Thursday the Hawks topped the Vulcans in the first game 14-9. The Hawks banged out 10 runs in the first two innings and coasted to the win. Ray Ferris cracked a home run and a double to lead the attack.

In the nightcap Jim Adkins pitched a strong game to win a well played game, 3-2. The game was tied 1-1 going into the last inning. Cass City scored a go-ahead run and Vassar tied it again on a home run by Birk.

Neither team was able to score until the 10th inning when Craig Tonti lashed a double and was driven home by Ferris for the winning marker.

It was a different story at Reese. The Hawks lost the opener, 4-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Purman.

Reese won the game with a three-run outburst in the fourth inning to whip out a 2-1 Cass City lead.

Reese made two walks and two hits count in the rally. The longer the game went, the stronger Purman became. He struck out the side in the final inning.

Reese received some more outstanding pitching in the nightcap as Rohn limited Cass City to just four hits to take a 2-1 decision.

advancing in the State tournament went glimmering last Wednesday when they lost to the Mayville Wildcats 7-1.

The host team pounded out four runs in the first two innings and that was enough for Ed Wasselewski, who pitched a four-hitter.

Cass City scored its only run in the fourth as Brad Hartel laced a double and came home on Randy Severance's base knock.

Ray Ferris was touched for 11 hits and took the loss.

LAKER SPLIT

The Hawks split a pair of games with Lakers Tuesday, May 12, losing the opener, 2-1, and bouncing back to take the second game, 3-1.

It was a tough loss for Todd Comment to take as he limited the visitors to a single run in the regulation distance only to lose in the seventh when the Lakers pushed across a run on two hits.

Jim Adkins had better luck in the second game. His teammates backed him with three runs in the first two innings and he held the Lakers to a single run in the last inning to record the win. The two-hitter was Cass City's best mound effort of the season.

Cass City was able to pick up only four hits but three of them came in the first two innings and were combined with two walks and an error that provided Adkins with all the runs he needed.

William Miracle West Point bound — he 'just likes the Army'

It soon will be Cadet William Miracle.

The Kingston High School senior has been nominated to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.

It marks the culmination of a long time dream for the 17-year-old, who said he thought about attending the training academy for Army officers since first hearing about it when he was a small child.

He looks upon the Military Academy as "the best all-around challenge as far as athletics and everything."

As for why he chose West Point over the other service academies, Miracle explained, "I just like the Army, plus there's a lot of tradition." The oldest of the three military academies was founded in 1802.

He received notice in the mail of his appointment by U.S. Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., May 11 and since then, "I've been real excited. Everybody says, 'Congratulations.'"

At the high school awards assembly Friday, Lt. Col. Paul Begick, U.S. Army Reserve, a Bay City resident and West Point graduate, presented Miracle with official notice of his appointment.

The senior credited Begick and Army recruiter Phil Bovine in Caro with helping him clear the many hurdles necessary for him to apply and eventually be appointed. Normally, the application process starts in the junior Page is a certified management accountant and is a member of the National Association of Accountants, and the Institute of Management Accounting. Prior to joining Ex-Cell-O, he was the plant controller at General Cable in Cass City.

Page, his wife, Patricia, and their two children will relocate to the Brighton area from Cass City. He was raised in Dixon, Ill.

The Packaging Systems Division is one of over 50 Ex-Cell-O plants in the United States. ## Student of the week

Carol Lockard, an eighth grader, is the student of the week for the week of May 11 at Cass City Intermediate School.

She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Vern Lockard of Cass City.

year. Miracle was going to apply then, but changed his mind.

By his senior year, his mind was made up, he wanted to go to West Point, but usually by then, it is too late to apply.

Sgt. Bovine informed him, however, that the Military Academy in January had started a late entry program. There was still hope.

As one of the top 10 graduates at Kingston, with a better than 3.5 grade point average, his grades were good enough. His score on the American College Test was better than minimum required.

He also had to pass a rigorous physical aptitude test -- lifting weights, ball throw, shuttle run, etc. -- and an intensive physical examination, which he had to go to Chicago to take.

HE PASSED ALL THE tests but still had to receive an appointment from a member of Congress.

He wrote in March to U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, and Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., but they had already made their allotted number of appointments for the year, and to Sen. Riegle.

He didn't hear anything from Michigan's senior senator until he received the letter Monday notifying him of his nomination.

Miracle is the son of Bernice Miracle of Shay Lake Road, Kingston, and Nelson Miracle of Bridgeport. He has an older brother

Dr. Ballard announces retirement

Ballard also plans some fishing, something he hasn't had time to do the past few years.

He and his wife will stay in their Huron Street home.

HE PLANS TO KEEP track of what is happening in the medical profession by reading the journals, but despite being urged to do so by some of his long-time patients, won't maintain a part-time practice in his home. "I figure it can't be half-way. I'm making a clean break."

Some of his patients have gone to him ever since he came to Cass City. "Some of them feel pretty bad" (about his retiring), he said.

Although it won't be quite the same, there is one general practitioner moving to Cass City this summer and possibly a second one, so his retirement won't cause a hardship in terms of the medical needs of the area.

Ballard admits after he closes his office door for the last time May 30, he will miss the practice of medicine. "I'm afraid I will, but I won't miss it like I would have 10 years ago. It's changed."

He has no regrets about his having come here 35 years ago. "I've been happy ever since I've been in Cass City."

and sister and a younger brother and sister.

"They're all pulling for me," he said of his family. They all know how much I wanted to get in. They want whatever is best for me."

MIRACLE HAS HAD AN outstanding high school career. He has been student council president two years and was a student council representative in ninth and 10th grades. He has been a National Honor Society member since 10th grade.

He was on the football team four years, the last two of which he was named to the North Central D League all-conference team and received all-state honorable mention.

He has also been on the track team four years and has been on the baseball team this year and in ninth grade.

He will depart in July for six weeks of basic training, the same as all GIs undergo, before starting classes at West Point. He has been told he won't be home until Christmas.

He will be paid while attending West Point.

Ahead of him lies four years at the academy and a minimum five years as an Army officer. "After nine years, I'll probably be so used to it," he said, he will probably make the military a career.

He has been warned by

some who have attended West Point to not be disappointed if things don't work out. Some who start flunk out and some decide a military career isn't for them.

But those thoughts haven't occurred to Bill Miracle. "That's all I have on my mind is making it. I haven't even thought about dropping out."

Area reps at state conference

The Michigan Future Homemakers of America held its 35th annual leadership conference at Western Michigan University, April 29 - May 1.

Representatives from the Owendale-Gagetown High School chapter were: Vicki Alexander, Lori Jo Wissner, Beverly Zaleski, Marschelle Levine, Helen Volz, Michelle Schwartz and Tammy Mandich.

The conference theme was, "Dreams Awaken! Chance Be Taken!" and focused on the goal of emphasizing the importance of self worth and exploring the unlimited possibilities in tomorrow's society.

Darryl Thomas, an instructor of family life at WMU, spoke to the members about discovering and developing their potential qualities. After discovering their qualities, teenagers needed to be encouraged to strive to fulfill their dreams and goals.

Dr. June Sears, Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service home economist, brought this point across to the participants.

Dr. James Kern, a human relations consultant from Laramie, Wyo., encouraged the members to fulfill their dreams and realize that everything is within their grasp.

Lori Jo Wissner and Vicki Alexander served as voting delegates.

Michelle Schwartz took part in the roll call of chapters, and Tammy Mandich participated in the connection team for reporters. Marschelle Levine, Helen Volz, and Beverly Zaleski competed in senior team demonstration by doing a puppet show about foods and nutrition, for which they received a first rating.

It's 120% in Brazil

Inflation almost nothing to Paulo Leme

The inflation rate in the United States last year was 13.5 percent.

Brazilians wish they had it so good. Their cost of living is going up 120 percent a year.

A refugee for a year from the land of really high inflation is Paulo Gomes Leme Neto, or Paulo Leme for short. ("Neto" means he has the same name as his grandfather, somewhat akin to "junior" in the U.S.)

The Rotary Exchange student arrived in Cass City in February and until Saturday, had been living with the Lynn Albee family on Spruce Drive.

He is now living with the Marv Winter family on Van Dyke Road and in September, will be moving in with the Louie Horners on S. Seeger Street. He will return home in January.

Leme lives in the city of Barra Bonita, a city of 28,000 whose economy is based on the massive sugar cane mill which employs 15,000 workers. His father is a medical doctor who is employed in the mill's hospital, which provides free medical care for the employees. His mother is a part-time teacher.

The mill produces sugar and alcohol fuel. It is the latter that may help reduce Brazil's skyrocketing inflation.

The reason for the drastic increase in the cost of living, Leme explained, is because Brazil is spending too much for imported petroleum and technology, and is borrowing too much money from foreign countries to pay for it.

Unlike the United States, purchase of imported consumer goods isn't much of a problem. Most such items are manufactured in Brazil, though many companies are foreign-owned.

Not surprisingly, wages don't keep up with inflation. "Inflation is a big, big problem to Brazil," Leme commented, "but it's too hard to stop in a short few months."

PART OF THE ANSWER is the use of alcohol fuel, such as produced at the plant in his home town, to reduce dependence on imported oil.

All gasoline sold in Brazil contains 30 percent alcohol and cars are being sold which run on pure alcohol. There have been problems with the use of pure alcohol, he explained, because of corrosion in the fuel tank and water in the carburetor.

Gasoline (with alcohol) costs about twice as much as it does in the U.S., but pure alcohol is about half the cost of gasoline.

The 18-year-old is interested in motor vehicles because when he returns to his native country, he wants to go to college and study mechanical engineering.

His hobby is short-wave radio and before he goes home, he would like to get together with some ham radio operators.

WHEN HE GETS HOME,

having completed his high school education in Brazil, he will begin studying for the very difficult college entrance exams, necessary to get into either the free government universities or the private ones which charge tuition.

Many Brazilian students after finishing high school attend private schools for up to a year which prepare them to take the exam.

Since the exams are given only twice a year, in January and mid-year, Leme will probably enter the "cram school" until he takes the mid-year exam.

Students who fail the exam are allowed to take it again.

At Cass City High School, Leme has been taking chemistry, physics, math, American government, two English classes and typing. Although much he has learned is a repeat of what he had in Brazil, though in a different language, "sometimes I get a little more here."

He has been a member of the track team, running the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes.

Leme studied English in Brazil for three or four years, but the emphasis was on grammar, not on conversation. As a result, "When I came to the U.S., I didn't speak nothing. I only had a little notion in words."

THIS IS HIS SECOND trip to the U.S. In 1974, he spent 12 days in this country with a group of similar aged boys. "After this date, I think I always want to come to the U.S."

This time around, he is finding the trip more enjoyable "because you know so much more and can talk about your country to other persons."

He is the oldest of four children. Staying in his home at present is an exchange student from California, who returns to the U.S. in early July.

Leme, who so far has visited Chicago, Detroit, Windsor and Ohio, will be traveling to California this summer to visit the aforementioned exchange student, plus a Brazilian friend, who is a Youth for Understanding exchange student there.

He has noticed several differences here. Where he lives in Brazil, the coldest it ever gets is about 40 degrees F.; the hottest, more than 100 degrees.

Brazilian food is usually salty or sour. American food, he said, "is too sweet for me."

School is different. In Brazil, though there are five classes per day, school runs only a half day and students stay in one room while the teachers move from room to room.

Once the crops start growing in this area, there will be another difference. In contrast to the variety grown in Michigan, where he lives in Brazil, one can drive for miles and miles and see only sugar cane.

PAULO LEME, Rotary exchange student from Brazil, stands next to the flag from his country.

Three-car crash occurs in village

A three-car accident was reported in Cass City at 3:30 p.m. May 11.

Village police said Krystal Kay Isa, 17, of 7776 S. Cemetery Road, eastbound on Main Street, started to turn left onto Sherman Street.

She turned into the path of a westbound auto, driven by Roger J. Campbell, 52, of Saginaw, which ran into her car, pushing it into an auto headed south on Sherman, which was halted at the stop sign.

Driver of the other vehicle was James L. Jezewski, 40, of 4190 Sherman Street.

At 8:45 a.m. May 12, sheriff's deputies reported, Glenn L. Wilcox, 27, of 1301

Clothier Road, Kingston, started to back out of a driveway north of Curtis Street in Kingston and backed into a car parked behind him. Owner of the parked auto was C and C Mobile Home Sales.

Cass City police reported that at 12:15 p.m. last Wednesday, Gertrude E. Czeszewski, 72, of 5136 Van Dyke Road, was exiting the Erla's Food Center parking lot, failed to see a car eastbound on Church Street that had just exited the lot from another driveway, and the vehicles collided. Driver of the other auto was Bruce L. LeValley, 29, of 4225 Sherman Street.

At 3:05 p.m. that day, police said, Joyce E. Haley, 36, of 8055 Hadley Road, backed out of a parking place in the General Cable lot into the right side of another car that had just backed out of a parking spot. The other driver was Gerald R. Nicholas, 45, of 3775 S. Maxwell Road, Owendale.

The right-rear section of Carolyn Ware's car, parked in Erla's Food Center parking lot, was hit Monday by Earl F. Reinelt, 84, of Deckerville.

Police said Reinelt turned too sharply when pulling into a parking space in the lot and hit the parked car. Owner of the parked car was Carolyn Ware, 4653 Hospital Drive.

ELLINGTON TOWNSHIP voters used their new computer punchcard voting system for the first time Tuesday. It is being demonstrated by election official Sharon Vandembossche. It took 9½ hours to count the paper ballots after the November, 1980, election. The computer will be able to count such ballots in about one hour.

Solons to talk about business

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

Legislative leaders and the governor's office are preparing for possible summer-long meetings that could result in a series of recommendations for legislative action in the fall to help improve Michigan's business climate and increase jobs in the state.

The proposed discussions could incorporate work already being done by such groups as the governor's high-technology committee and small business conference, along with legislative study committees.

The discussions will also examine ideas from other business, labor and academic officials in an effort to develop practical, potentially successful ideas.

Job development was a high priority for all four legislative leaders, House Minority Leader William Bryant (R-Grosse Pointe Farms) said, and there are high hopes that the Legislature's fall session could result in positive laws for business and jobs.

But there should be discussions to "winnow out impractical ideas, things that haven't worked in other places" before the Legislature returns for the fall session.

Sen. Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentwood), the Senate minority leader said these discussions could "roll together all the ideas of the high-tech committee, the small business conference, the full employment plan and come up with some definite ideas for the Legislature."

However, to date, very few concrete ideas about a summer conference, other than the leadership's commitment to meet, have been made.

The meetings are not expected to be the quadrant approach consisting of legislative leaders and the governor hammering out differences and then making a proposal to members of the Legislature to concur.

Neither would it necessarily be an economic summit among government, business and labor.

Other officials from different areas, including universities, would be a part of the process and Bryant said that legislative staff could study the different ideas proposed from their cost and practicality.

"We've got to have one thing going on instead of the governor doing his things and Republicans doing theirs and Democrats doing theirs," Bryant said.

SEX EDUCATION

School sex education courses, made optional by a 1976 state law, cannot be taught in required classes, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has ruled.

He said the law specifically prohibits sex education from being a school requirement and added that the Legislature used the words class and course interchangeably.

He issued the ruling in response to a school district's inclusion in an 8th grade home economics class a unit of sex education. Students were excused from the sex education unit at the request of the parent or guardian.

"The Legislature has expressly provided that parents have a right to review the contents of any course in which family planning or reproduction health are discussed before they exercise the right to have their child excused from the class. School authorities may not avoid the effect of (the law) by including any sex education instruction in a required class," Kelley said.

Around the Farm Monitoring runoff

By Mike Score
Tuscola County
Extension Agricultural Agent

The metal boxes and spinning devices in Dick Starkley's corn field at Fairgrove and Vassar Roads are not part of the space shuttle program or any national defense project.

They have drawn quite a few questions from passers-by, however, and an explanation is in order for anyone who has questions regarding the monitoring equipment.

The equipment is set up as a part of the special project which compares conservation and conventional tillage practices in Huron and Tuscola counties.

It is used to collect runoff samples from fields where conventional and conservation practices are being used. Collected samples are analyzed for nitrogen, phosphorus and sediment concentrations.

Researchers from Michigan State University are looking at sample test results to see if conservation tillage practices result in a reduction of water pollution from non-point agricultural sources.

Other data collected at the site includes relevant weather information such as daily temperature, wind speed and direction and precipitation.

Criminal cases up in April

Criminal complaints recorded by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department in April totaled 601, up from 559 in March.

The greatest number, 167, involved traffic (accidents, reckless driving, etc.), followed by vandalism, 68; larcenies, 56; domestic problems, 45, and suspicious vehicles, 40.

There were 223 tickets issued for traffic violations, of which 79 were for speeding, 30 for parking violations and 29 for defective equipment.

Patrol cars were driven 41,939 miles during the month and consumed 3,846.5

gallons of gasoline (10.9 miles per gallon).

The county jail took in 149 inmates, of whom 11 were female, and released 159.

Caro state police made 10 arrests in April, of which seven were for traffic violations.

Cass City police made one arrest, for disturbing the peace.

The number of criminal complaints and accidents recorded in area townships and villages in April were as follows:

Taking Stock

Art Kudner was a country boy from my home town of Lapeer, Mich. He went to the city and made good as an advertising man. The agency which bore his name handled such accounts as Buick and Listerine.

"Little people use big words," Art said. "The important words are little ones — Love, Life, Sun, Stars Sky, Death, Fear, Hate, Greed, War, Food, Sleep, Home, Family, God, Soul, Truth."

Here is a list of fancy words and phrases that make for foggy writing, followed by shorter words or phrases that mean the same thing. They are ever so common in business letters and in business and government talk. We've all been guilty of using them.

While we're talking about words — do you know what "avuncular" means? It has been applied fittingly to Walter Cronkite. Go look it up, and you'll remember it.

And speaking of Walter Cronkite, that leads us into the shoddy performance that his successor Dan Rather turned in after the Reagan shooting.

With no basis except a wild rumor, Rather broadcast that James Brady, The White House press secretary, had died from his wounds in the shooting.

Later, Lyn Nofsinger of the White House staff came on the air to say it wasn't so. Certainly he knew what he was talking about, yet Rather pompously said, "While Mr. Brady's death has been denied, we s... do not know if it is true that he is alive."

Somehow you assume a man is living, until you have proof otherwise. (Incidentally, a false report of a man's death is libel per se.)

Lack of facts wouldn't bother Rather, whom you'll recall at the national Republican conventions standing at the mike and reciting three reasons why Jerry Ford would shortly be named vice-presidential nominee. This was a few minutes before Mr. Reagan appeared and announced that Bush was the man. You listened in vain for some admission of error from Rather.

When CBS named him to take Cronkite's place, I could only say:

I'd Rather, Dan,
Your name was Mudd

Lee Robinson leaving Kingston

Lee Robinson, Kingston High School principal of five years, is leaving the area to accept a new challenge.

In one month he will move to Bergland, a small Upper Peninsula community on Lake Gogebic where he will serve as superintendent of schools.

"I thrive on challenge," said Robinson, describing his new job as administrator of the Class D district a "new challenge."

Robinson, former assistant principal and teacher in both Kingston and Harbor Beach, is excited about initiating education concepts in the growing town of Bergland similar to those of Kingston.

"I want to instill a total atmosphere of school pride," said Robinson, 34, whose theme in the one-school district will be "quality over quantity."

Specifically, the new superintendent will be "seriously" looking at all policies — from attendance to discipline, and possibly revamping the curriculum.

Robinson, with wife Betty, and daughters Allison, 2, and Heather, 11, will make the 520-mile-trek to his new home in the "walleye capital of the world" in the middle of June.

The board has not yet made a decision on a replacement for Robinson.

Computers monitor patients

When you or someone you know is in the hospital, it can be nice to know a nurse knows immediately when you need her—even if she's in another patient's room.

It's done with computerized monitors that permit a nurse at one patient's bedside to check on all other patients in the same ward.

Composed of a central station and bedside satellites, this system can reduce a nurse's trips between the central station and rooms by 50 percent, thus helping combat nurse fatigue, a big problem in intensive care and coronary units, hospital officials explain.

Marijuana smokers minority at school

good — get the buzz on," wrote one 12th grader. "It helps you forget problems for awhile. It's funny to get high, especially with friends. It's a neat trip trying to act straight in school — but a riot!"

A 10th grader who doesn't smoke marijuana any more said, "I'm tired of it. It made me lazy and not want to do anything. It also changed my personality."

A ninth grader who hasn't tried the narcotic said, "My parents would not want me to. Nothing comes out of it but hurting yourself. My friends don't. I've seen people hurt themselves and I don't want to get into that kind of situation or act. It does nothing for you in the long run."

The ninth grader vehemently opposed legalizing sale of marijuana "because when marijuana is illegal, it makes people take that extra effort or thought to get it or take it, so it may discourage at least one person in the long run. Even just one person is great to discourage. That one person counts."

Marijuana has been found beneficial for persons suffering glaucoma or undergoing certain types of cancer treatment, as a means of lessening pain, and some students thought it should be legalized only for such medical purposes.

Others thought it should be legalized without any restrictions. "They sell cigarettes. If people want to get buzzed, they should be able to smoke pot," an 11th grader wrote. "They certainly can drink."

DRINKING

Drinking may be more widespread than marijuana smoking. A survey taken by Kloc for the Hawk Herald in January of 100 seniors found 78 percent drink, of whom 21 drink about twice a week, 14 five to ten times a week and nine more than 10 times a week.

Satellites measure movement on earth

George Washington, who was a surveyor before he was President, would be impressed.

Long distance surveying with satellites has made it possible to achieve the first direct measurement of movement between two of the earth's continent-size tectonic plates.

Made with laser survey instruments, triangulated by earth-orbiting satellites, the tectonic plates study was conducted by a team of scientists from NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center and the Maryland-based Washington Analytical Services Center (WASC), a subsidiary of EG&G, Inc.

In a project called SAFE (San Andreas Fault Experiment), the laser rangefinders proved accurate to an incredible 10 centimeters. This accuracy allowed geophysicists to make geodynamic measurements of the time-varying behavior of the earth's crust.

A site between Quincy and San Diego, Calif. was measured. The two cities lie on opposite sides of the San Andreas fault and a contraction of about 9 centimeters per year was observed, suggesting movement of a similar magnitude along the plate's boundary.

Most of the world's major earthquakes occur at plate boundaries. The speed of this large-scale movement gives a measure of the stress built up at places, such as San Francisco, where the fault is locked.

Future phases of the experiment will tell if the motion is uniform and whether the San Francisco strain can also be measured with this technique.

YARDSTICK

The measure of a man's intelligence is his ability to determine when he is in the wrong.

Ralph, the pot smoker, said drinking is a bigger problem in Cass City, and that teenagers can easily obtain booze, either buying it in stores, from other persons or getting it at home.

Both he and Bob thought pot smoking and drinking are done partially out of boredom and that their use would decline if there were a recreation center such as a roller rink or place with pinball machines for teens to gather. "There's absolutely nothing to do in this town," Ralph said.

Be it smoking pot or drinking alcoholic beverages, what a student does apparently depends on what his or her friends do.

Bob said there isn't pressure in school on non-smokers to begin smoking pot, that the attitude is, "It's their choice."

A non-smoking senior girl made a similar comment to the Chronicle, adding that at least there wasn't pressure on her to conform.

But within certain groups, there may be pressure. An 11th grader who has given up pot smoking, said she or he (sex of the respondent wasn't asked) started smoking at age 13 because of "peer pressure. Not wanting to be left out."

Alcohol use more obvious problem at high school

When students show up drunk at dances, the principal said, the policy is for the policeman at the dance to take the student home. The disciplinary measure that follows is to bar the students for a time from future dances.

The school tries to keep disciplinary measures in connection with extra-curricular activities separate from measures involving what happens in school.

Student drinking problems have declined noticeably since Michigan voters in 1978 raised the legal drinking age from 18 to 21.

When the legal age was 18, Richards said, the school was involved with an average of one drinking incident a month.

Although there have been "some" problems at dances this year, he has yet to have a student caught in school drunk or drinking.

Should a student be caught drinking or drunk before the school year ends, he or she will encounter a change. The previous policy was that the student's parents were called and asked to take their child home. Once the student was sober, he could return.

It was decided that policy was ineffective, the principal said, so the new policy is now the same as for smoking in school: three days suspension for first offense, five days for the second, and 10 for the third.

Since consumption of alcoholic beverages by a minor is a violation of the law, as is smoking marijuana, the police can be called in in either instance.

He does have some latitude, he explained, so whether the police will be called for either type of incident must be decided on case-by-case basis.

INTENSIVE LABOR — Members of the obstetrics department at Hills and Dales General Hospital, including Faith Fahrner, RN (in rear) and Barb Stein, LPN, have been donating their time to wallpaper five rooms in the department. Another new attraction in obstetrics is the "dinner for two," a deluxe meal for mothers after giving birth and a guest, complete with candlelight and wine.

Tax Commission to rule

Decision near on county valuation

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners and taxpayers should know Tuesday whether the State Tax Commission has added $21.05 million to the county's valuation, which would mean higher taxes for property owners.

The STC is attempting to impose the increase, based on studies performed by its staff of property sales and appraisals. The $21.03 million would be added to the valuation as determined by the county Equalization Department, making the new valuation $572.799 million. The figure represents half of the determined true market value of all property in the county.

County officials were in Lansing Monday to argue before the STC why the increase should not be imposed.

Presenting most of the county's arguments was Prosecutor Artis Noel. Also present were Equalization Director Donald Graf and county Commissioners Royce Russell and Ken Kennedy.

In contrast to some past appearances before the STC, Russell said, "We all felt quite comfortable we didn't talk to deaf ears."

The STC had some additional questions, so the county representatives will be returning to Lansing Friday to present the answers.

According to Graf, he and his staff will be recategorizing some items so that the information is easier to understand, with emphasis on data from the areas where the STC staff conducted their studies.

The STC Tuesday will present the final state equalization figures for all 83 counties, so Tuscola will know then whether the STC agreed with its staff and imposed the higher valuation or granted the county's appeal.

If the county loses, the Board of Commissioners may choose to appeal that decision to the state Court of Appeals.

The commissioners, who normally would have held their next meeting Tuesday of next week met Tuesday of this week instead.

Other than hearing committee reports, the main item of business was hearing a report from Thumb Area Commission on Aging Director Ron Cassie on how the $2 mill being levied in Tuscola county for senior citizens activities is being spent.

Misplaced confidence is one of the hardest things to find.

Charles Becker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Becker of Uby, recently graduated with top honors from the Oklahoma Farrier's College in Sperry, Okla.
