Greenleaf township accident claims life of Cass City man

Investigation is continuing into the Sunday accident that took the life of Robert Curtis Osentoski, 33, of 4251 Deckerville Road, Cass City.

According to the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department, Osentoski was a passenger in a car driven by Gary Spencer, 33, of 6410 Seeger Road, Cass City.

The car was southbound at 9:20 p.m. on Hoadley Road, between Seeger and Ritter Road, when it went out of control.

The small car skidded into a ditch, rolled over several times and ejected Osentoski and another passenger, Ray Howard Rolston, 41, of Ritchie Road, Gagetown. None of the occupants was wearing safety belts.

Osentoski was taken by ambulance to Hills and Dales General Hospital, where he died shortly after arrival.

Spencer and Rolston were admitted to the hospital. They were released the following day.

The accident remains under investigation, according to the sheriff's department, with some evidence having been sent to the state police crime lab for analysis.

Cass City police and Huron county sheriff's deputies assisted at the scene. Osentoski was the fifth person to die in a Sanilac county traffic accident this year.

Osentoski was born Sept. 20, 1947, in Cass City, the son of Curtis and Frances (Kubacki) Osentoski. He moved with his parents to Uby when a child.

He married Kathleen

Karges Jan. 8, 1972. After their marriage, they made their home in Cass City. He married Gloria Spencer Towler June 3, 1978, in Kingston.

Osentoski was employed by the Walbro Corp. for 13 years. He was a member of the Novesta Church of Christ.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, Daniel and Dennis of Port Neches, Texas, and Jody of Cass City; one stepson, Robert Towler of Cass City; one daughter, Shelley of Port Neches, Texas, and two stepdaughters, Valerie and Amy Towler of Cass City; his parents, of Uby, and four brothers, James Osentoski of Uby, Ronald Osentoski of New Baltimore, Arnold Osentoski of Owendale and Kevin Osentoski of Uby, and two sisters, Mrs. John (Janis) Carpenter of Decatur, Ala., and Mrs. Frank (Marie) Lasceski of Uby.

A wake service was held Tuesday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, conducted by Father Julius Spleet of St. John's Catholic church, Uby.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Little's, with Rev. Vern Lockard of the Novesta Church of Christ officiating. Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

Rene. Crouse on ballot School programs at stake in millage vote

Cass City School District voters will be asked Monday to approve two millage proposals.

Without both, sharp cut-backs in school programs will be necessary.

Voting hours at the high school will be from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. Voters will also be selecting two school board members from a field of six listed candidates, plus two running as write-ins. (See story, page 14.)

The first proposal listed is renewal of 12.9 mills that are expiring. The second is for an additional 3 mills. Both levies will be for one year.

The 12.9 mills will raise about $1,244,000 in property taxes and state aid, which is based partially on the amount of millage levied. That amount will make up about 37 percent of the district's budget for 1981-82.

For the present school year, Cass City levied 21.52 mills for operations (including the 12.9) and 1.34 for debt, the total of 22.86 mills being the third lowest levy of 14 area school districts.

The 1980-81 school general fund budget was $3,032 million and with salaries, utility costs, fuel, supplies, etc., going up every year, Supt. Donald Crouse feels it reasonable to assume that operating the same program will cost 10 percent more next year.

If voters only approve the renewal millage, according to him, expenses will exceed revenues by an estimated $318,000, even though the district plans to get by with two teachers less due to reduced enrollment. (Two teachers have resigned, so no layoffs are planned.)

If the added 3 mills is defeated, the school board can make up $190,000 of that loss by using up all of its fund balance, which is the money it will have remaining at the end of the current fiscal year, June 30.

Using up that balance, however, carries a penalty. At the end of the 1979-80 fiscal year, the district had $306,000 in the bank and still

He was reported in good condition Tuesday. According to his sister Sally, 14, he is not paralyzed. The purpose of the operation was to fuse some vertebrae and when he is released from the hospital, he will be wearing a neck brace for a long period. It isn't known yet when he will be released.

Also injured in the accident was Faron Alexander, a passenger, who was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital. Warju was immediately transferred from there to Saginaw General.

As of Tuesday, the accident report was still not available from the sheriff's department. According to Miss Warju, the pickup

July 4th festival plans underway

With only a few weeks left it's all systems "go" for the third annual Cass City Chamber of Commerce 4th of July Festival, according to the chairman of the event, Tom Herron.

The festival will begin Friday, July 3 at 7 p.m. with a sing-along led by the Irish Gaels Band of Detroit. The sing-along will be in the beer tent behind Charmont, which will also be open at 5 p.m. July 4, with "Windfall" appearing. The tent will be open until 1:30 a.m. each night.

Gloria Ouvre, in charge of the tent, could use some help, Herron said. Anyone interested should contact her.

The parade begins at 10 a.m. July 4. It will feature many Scottish bands, said chairman Mike Weaver, including the Windsor, Ont., Scottish Police Pipe Band and the Shriners Highlander Band. Other bands to march in the parade will be the Shriners Oriental Band, the Cass City High School Marching Band and hopefully, a polka band, he said.

Supreme Court on the Goslin territory property transfer from Owen-Gage to Cass City.

had to borrow $608,000 to pay its expenses until it started receiving its property tax revenue in December. That cost $21,600 in interest. The less of a balance, the more it has to borrow, so the more it has to pay in interest.

If the board chooses to use up the $190,000, it would still have to eliminate $128,000 in expenditures.

Even if the 3 mills are approved, Crouse figures funds will still fall short $30,000, which will have to be made up by either taking it out of the $190,000 or making some budget cuts.

FAILURE TO APPROVE the 12.9 mills renewal, of course, will spell disaster.

If that is approved, but the added millage is rejected, big cuts will have to be made.

The superintendent isn't prepared at this point to say what cuts might be made. "We have not sat down with the staff or board members to discuss what would happen."

He did point out that according to the latest calculation of the Michigan Department of Education, Cass City ranks 526th of 529 K-12 districts in the state in general fund expenditures divided by the number of pupils, "so if we're going to start talking in terms of reducing costs, it is going to affect the educational program."

It is safe to assume that severe cuts will mean some personnel will lose their jobs, since 73.29 percent of the district's general fund budget is used to pay salaries.

THE BOARD DOES have one safety valve in case either millage proposal fails. It can schedule another millage election prior to the start of school in September.

If that happens, however, Crouse said budget cuts will have to be planned before then, since there wouldn't be time to do so after the second vote and before the start of school, were the millage to lose a second time.

Naturally, he hopes a second vote won't be necessary. "Hopefully, people will say, 'Yes, we want the same type of program our children have been having,'" he commented.

IN ADDITION TO increasing costs, the Cass City district has also been faced with declining revenue from the state.

One reason is declining enrollment the past few years. The state aid formula is based on the head count; as enrollment drops, so does

Millage sought in Owen-Gage not enough to solve cash woes

Residents of the Owen-Gage township School District will vote Monday on renewal of 4.25 mills and an additional 2.25 mills, both for two years.

Passage of both proposals is imperative, according to Supt. Ronald Erickson, but

3 held in gun club break-in Three persons suspected of breaking into the Cass City Gun Club early Wednesday were being held at the Lapeer county jail at mid-morning.

The three, males 18 and 20 and a female juvenile, were taken into custody by Imlay City police after a routine traffic stop at 4 a.m. Inside their car, according to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, were found several cases of beer, candy, snacks and soft drinks.

The police found a Cass City address on one of the boxes so contacted the sheriff's department. A deputy began checking and discovered the break-in at the gun club, located on Englehart Road, south of Cass City. It is believed the break-in took place shortly after 3 a.m.

It was expected that warrants would be issued later Wednesday, charging the two adults in connection with the break-in.

As of Wednesday morning, a complete inventory of what was stolen and the names of the suspects were not available.

It was the latest of several break-ins at the gun club over the past few years.

they won't be enough to bail the district out of its financial difficulties. Their passage will only maintain the status quo.

The polling place is the Owendale Municipal Building. Voting hours are 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

In addition to the millage proposals, board members Leona LaFave of Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, and Joe Warack of S. Risky Road, Sebawaing, will be seeking election to new four year terms. Both have served on the board since 1975. They have no opposition.

Owen-Gage presently levies 21.5 mills for school operations, of which 4.25 are expiring. The total levy, assuming approval of the renewal, will bring in $846,394, based on the district's tentative 1981-82 budget. However, the state equalized valuation of the district isn't known yet, so for purposes of preparing the budget, Erickson "guesstimated" the SEV will be 7 percent higher than in 1980.

Owen-Gage also levied 3.9 mills debt retirement last year to pay for the high school addition, bringing its total millage to 25.4.

The 2 1/4 additional would bring in $88,576, based on the tentative budget figures. Without that, Erickson told the board in April, when it approved the millage requests, "You and I know our cash flow is so bad, we'd be out of business in January (1982)."

The figures do not include revenue from the contested Goslin and Elenbaum parcels. If they did, about $20,000 more would result from the 2 1/4 additional millage, according to the superintendent.

He wrote in his district's last newsletter that, "To eliminate our problem would take approximately 6 mills or $240,000 more revenue. We could also cut programs, teachers, athletics, band, bus transportation, field trips, etc., and need much less than the 6 mills to satisfy our cash flow problems."

He added, "Any of the above would probably defeat the purpose of what we have been fighting for, unless the cuts would not hurt our present program."

THUS THE 2 1/4 MILLS, though needed, won't be enough to solve the district's cash flow problem. According to Erickson, the cash flow deficiency will increase by another $120,000 next year. The added 2 1/4 mills will only allow Owen-Gage to keep going financially as long as it has this year, thus it will again run out of money in March or April.

The district is presently out of money except to pay the most pressing bills. Employees were last paid March 13. If the millage is approved, the district can go to the Municipal Finance Commission after the present fiscal year ends June 30 to seek permission to borrow money in anticipation of future property tax revenue. It is hoped money will be available to start reimbursing employees for their back pay in July.

The district is also seeking an emergency loan from the state.

What will get Owen-Gage out of its financial hot water, according to Erickson, is a ruling by the Michigan

Dad's training saves daughter

When Daniel Spencer of Mushroom Road, Deford, learned how to do cardiopulmonary resuscitation in 1973 he never imagined the lesson would someday save his daughter's life.

Friday, thanks to the instruction he received from U.S. Coast Guard members at Kingston High School eight years ago, Spencer was able to prevent the drowning of his two-year-old daughter, Tammy Ann.

Tammy, who had wandered over to neighbor William Palmer's home on Mushroom Road and fallen into his below ground swimming pool, was found in the pool by her mother, Rhonda

She was in the 4-12 foot deep pool for approximately 3-5 minutes before being found and revived.

"I leaned her forward and pressed on her belly until the water came out, then I just had to keep her warm and awake until the ambulance got there, the 'real relieved' father said.

Spencer never had to use the procedure before, but had seen it used on someone who was knocked out, he said.

Tammy is fine now, according to her father, but spent Friday night in Hills and Dales General Hospital for observation. She went home Saturday.

Sherry and Daniel Dennis

Sherry A. Spaulding of Cass City and Daniel N. Dennis of Mayville were married April 11 at the Mayville United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spaulding and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dennis.

Rev. Dale Brown officiated at the double-ring ceremony with Pat and Kerri Smith playing the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of organza with cluney lace and scattered tiny pearls. From an empire waistline, the gown, with a pleated A-line skirt, fell to a ruffled edge and ended in a chapel length train.

The fingertip veil with rolled edge was secured to a cluney lace headpiece.

She carried a cascade of pink and white daisies, carnations and roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Alane Bodeis, Mayville, friend of the couple, was maid of honor.

Lucy Keppinger, Unionville, friend of the couple, and Kristine Baker, Mayville, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore poly-knit pleated ruby gowns with removable chiffon capelets. The mother of the bride wore a mint green poly-knit dress with pleated skirt and the groom's mother wore a light blue celesta-knit dress with pearl trim at the neck and waist.

Alan Bodeis, Mayville, friend of the couple, was best man.

Scott Dennis, Mayville, brother of the groom, and Jim Teeple, Mayville, friend of the couple, were groomsmen.

Ron Spaulding, Cass City, brother of the bride, and Duane Will, Vassar, friend of the couple, were ushers.

Over 400 guests attended a dinner reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Caro.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

If bad luck runs in threes don't call me to take your picture. Already this week two pictures have been zilched. When I grab a camera it's a game of Russian roulette. You never know which shot is going to be blank.

The first snafu occurred when Jim Bauer was receiving an award for his 25 years of service at Hills and Dales General Hospital. No flash, no picture.

After the fiasco with Bauer I attempted to take a picture of the winners of a contest sponsored by McConkey Jewelry.

Somehow the roll managed to be the one among all the film rolls we processed this year that was totally useless. The pictures of Tom Loomis and Kathy Perry were doomed ... but they did get the watches.

The older generation just can't hold a candle to the kids. Ralph Retherford, who has been playing golf now and then for about five years, whipped in a hole in one this week on the fifth hole at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

His dad, Phil, has been an avid golfer for 40 years or so and he's never been able to get an ace in his entire career.

Most of the persons that run for office are worthwhile citizens, many of them friends. When there are many candidates some choices have to be made.

That's why we ask the questions of the school board candidates and publish the answers. If you read the answers it may help in your decision making. Help you find the candidate, or candidates, that sees answers to school problems the closest to the way you see them.

We all have an advantage in grass-root elections like these that can't be enjoyed in general elections. We know, or know about, the candidates and can add this personal character appraisal to our judgement. But it's all meaningless if you don't vote.

Despite the competition and the important millage issues it's sure that only about half of the voters who are legally entitled, if they were registered, will cast a ballot.

Cass City seeks 3-mill increase

money from Lansing.

There were 1,963 daytime students attending the Cass City schools this year. Next year, Crouse is predicting 1,908, though there's no way to know until the school doors open come September.

The superintendent is projecting 1 mill will raise $96,449 next year in property tax revenue and state aid, based on the valuation of the district and the 1,908 students.

The district does not benefit from increases in valuation, he pointed out, because for every dollar it gains from increased valuation, it loses a dollar in state aid.

In addition, all school districts have suffered from the state's financial crunch. Both per-student and categorical state aid have been reduced from what the levels would have been were Michigan financially healthy. Cass City, for instance, lost $50,000 in transportation reimbursement for that reason.

ONE MILL EQUALS $1 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. A home valued at $60,000 has a state equalized value of $30,000, which means its tax levy would be $30 per mill. The 3-mill increase will cost the property owner an additional $90 per year in taxes.

Senior citizens, low-income persons and farmers whose property is enrolled in the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act Public Act 116) program may not have to pay that much, depending on their income and amount of property taxes. An explanation can be found on page 5.

Fourteen women attended the monthly meeting of the Baptist Missionary Society, Monday at the church.

The group met for an hour of work before the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Clyde Wells.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Timothy Teall, and prayer time for missionaries by Mrs. Lou LaPonsie.

A notebook containing pictures and information on missionaries the group helps support is in the making and each member was given the name of a missionary to write to for the information.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Lillian Hanby and Mrs. Ella Cump-

Firemen received the call shortly before 8:30 p.m. McNaughton said it had been last used about two hours earlier, but was left in a field because wires under the dash overheated.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist who saw smoke. The tractor was parked in a field off Crawford Road between Decker-ville and Mushroom Roads. Firemen were at the scene about a half-hour.

A resident with a special stake in the upcoming school election feels that most voters have already made up their minds. They know now whether they will approve both, one or neither of the requests. The salary boost to administrators would not really affect the outcome, he feels.

The facts don't support this theory. If that were the case, why did a millage that was turned down in Cass City pass the second time presented when there was little difference in the total vote?

Obviously someone changed their minds.

There was agreement with the school observer about the salary increases for administrators. The increases will be cited by many as the reason for not voting for the millage. That's the excuse, not the reason.

Raises to the administration totaled about $30,000. That's less than half a mill. If they were signed with the same salaries, district taxpayers would still be facing the same millage requests.

Salaries do account for 70 percent of the school budget. By far the biggest share of the expense is for teachers. The teachers' union used its clout to receive pay boosts of about 10 percent both this year and next.

With the raises, the school is still in line with salaries paid in the Thumb. About in the middle of the various districts' salary scales.

It's hard to ignore the one area where 70 percent of the money is spent, but we should.

The bottom line is not salaries, but how much it costs to run the district. Most everyone in the district should be aware now that we rank near the best in the state in the cost per pupil for education and in millage raised.

The record is good and those close to the school picture assume that everyone knows all about it.

The board and the administration may be making a mistake here. There has been little done to promote passage of the millage. There was a meeting of the candidates Monday but all these usually do is attract voters who already are staunchly committed to candidates and to a stand on the millages.

In the past, that's all that's been necessary to secure the funds needed to run our schools.

As a supporter of the millage, I hope this is enough again. I support it because I'm satisfied that our system is as good as any around the area at a cost that's less.

I'm also convinced that this time around an extra (missing) push is needed to secure the approval of hard-pressed taxpayers.

I hope I'm wrong.

"If It Fitz..."

Tergiversation

By Jim Fitzgerald

In search of virtue, I committed what, for me, was a tergiversation. I went to the doctor when I wasn't sick.

Tergiversation? Certainly. William F. Buckley Jr., syndicated columnist and one of the nation's best-known conservatives, recently wrote a column beginning with this paragraph: "The pressure on Japan that resulted in its agreement to limit the sales of its automobiles in the U.S. to a stipulated number is the first philosophical tergiversation of Ronald Reagan."

"Tergiversation" means to change your opinion with respect to a cause. Buckley's point was that Reagan tergiversated from the conservative cause when he supported "the notion that it is the business of government to tell an American consumer whose automobile he cannot buy."

A less erudite columnist might have written that Reagan flip-flopped. Spelling is tougher for sophisticated columnists, except when they create new words, and then they can spell them any way they want. George F. Will, another famous conservative columnist, created two words in reacting to the perfidy of his friend and hero, President Reagan.

Will was dismayed that Reagan would lift the embargo on grain to Russia. He called it "an act of Carteresque clumsiness" and a "Kissingerian mistake."

I wish I could write like that. I wish it would occur to me to write such things as "it was an act of Oswaldesque treachery and a Boothian horror to shoot the pope." I wouldn't enjoy writing such words, but it would make me feel virtuous, the same as going to a doctor when I'm not sick, which is what I started to tell you about in the opening paragraph.

I always feel virtuous whenever there's something I don't want to do, but I do it anyway because I know it's good for me. I feel virtuous when I go to the dentist or take a suit to the cleaners or stand in line to buy postage stamps or change the ribbon in my typewriter.

I don't like doing any of those things, but while I'm doing them, I don't feel bad. I feel good because I know I'm doing something my mother would have wanted me to do.

For example, I always make botch of changing a typewriter ribbon, getting ink on my hands and on pants I don't want to take to the cleaners. But I know the change will result in clearer words on my paper and easier reading for whoever has to read them, so I feel virtuous. And if I type such words as "tergiversation" I don't enjoy it because I must use the dictionary to make certain of the spelling and meaning. But I feel virtuous because I know it is morally excellent to use big words, otherwise William Buckley wouldn't do it all the time.

My latest tergiversation was to buck my lifelong opinion that I shouldn't go to the doctor unless I'm sick. I went for the first annual physical checkup of my life. I hate going to doctors, but everyone knows it is a good thing to have an annual physical, especially for bread-winners. There can be no one more virtuous than the man who feels in perfect health, and loathes being probed by strangers, but still submits to a physical checkup simply because his wife doesn't want to win her own bread.

She made my appointment with her doctor, telling his office staff it would be the first time a doctor examined me since I was in the Army. Later, I learned I was "the talk of the office" when I appeared and it became obvious that I wasn't a veteran of the Vietnam or Korean wars.

"You must have been in the big one, just like Archie Bunker," said the nurse as she pricked my finger. "Do you bleed a lot when you cut yourself?"

"I never cut myself," I said. I didn't like to brag like that, but I did it because honesty is virtuous.

It is true that I never peel potatoes or whittle sticks or move swiftly or do anything else to endanger my body. That's how I managed to stay away from doctors ever since my Eisenhoweresque days in the Army.

CASS CITY MICHIGAN

meeting held

"Parents must be positive advocates for their children," stressed Nancy Skinner at the Thumb Conference on Gifted Children held in Vassar May 30. Ms. Skinner, first president of the Michigan Association for Academically Talented and a member of the National Board to Improve Gifted Education, encouraged parents to be aware of their children's educational needs in and out of school. She stated parents must work within the school structure to have those needs met.

Parents and teachers attending the conference also discussed ways to influence educational decisions at the state and national levels. Judy Rau, teacher of the CPAT program for academically talented students in Caro, shared experiences in her program. Diane Tallman, teacher of the ACT I Room for academically talented students in Vassar, showed slides of activities in that classroom.

The Tuscola County Association for Gifted Children, sponsor of the Conference, is planning additional programs in the fall for those interested in the needs of "exceptional" children.

READ-A-THON -- The gymnasium and bleachers at Gagetown Elementary School were a quiet place all day Friday as students took part in the third annual read-a-thon. Students could read five minutes for each five cents collected, with $3 allowing them to read all day. There was $730 raised, all of which will be used to purchase books for the library. About 150 students took part.

THE AWAKENING

PEDALING AROUND

Almost perfect

By Mike Eliasohn

I have decided my new car is jinxed.

The first time I got in it was to back it out of the dealer's lot. That was on a Wednesday afternoon and as is always the case on Wednesday afternoons, I hadn't had much sleep the night before.

In addition to not being too alert, I was also paying attention to what the car was doing, rather than where it was going. If I had been going straight, I would have been okay, except I wasn't going straight.

Thus my first journey in my new Escort lasted no more than 20 feet before it was stopped abruptly by a parked pickup truck.

The resulting two dents in the left rear corner of my car cost $85 to get fixed, plus my insurance company had to pay the cost of getting the pickup fixed (not a new one).

Friday, May 22, I drove to Owendale to photograph the baseball game. I was about to stop my car when I decided it was too likely to be in the path of any foul balls knocked over the fence. I pulled up farther, so that it was past home plate.

I got out of my car and had walked no more than 10 feet when, "klunk." I now have a dent in my roof.

Other than an affinity for dents, I have few complaints about one of Detroit's latest answers to the Japanese. My car, by the way, not only is American made -- except for the Japanese transmission -- it is made in Michigan. My conscience is clear.

My major complaint is with reverse gear. To prevent accidental shifting into reverse, the mechanism is fitted with a very stiff spring for that gear.

The result is one needs a right arm like a gorilla to get the car to go backwards and if one doesn't have an arm like a gorilla, he or she will soon develop one.

Since arm wrestling is not my hobby, I wish the Ford engineers had developed an easier means of shifting into reverse. Other companies have for four and five speed transmissions.

Then there is the excuse for a glove compartment. As I expounded a few years ago, I am firmly convinced every car company has a secret committee that designs at least one stupid feature for every car.

For instance, when I wrote that column, my boss owned a Plymouth. Due to the location of the window crank, it was impossible to roll the window up or down without banging one's hand on the seat.

The stupid feature on the Escort is the 18-inch wide glove box door that hides a glove compartment only big enough to hold the owner's manual, plus maybe a map and a tire pressure gauge. Most of the "space" behind the door is occupied by a big duct.

Some enterprising company should manufacture a plastic box that fits over the transmission tunnel or a shelf to carry all the other goodies that normally go in the glove compartment.

I also don't care for the safety harness arrangement, which requires me to reach between the seat and the door, where the armrest gets in the way, to grab the buckle.

Since I always wear my seatbelt, I don't care for the buzzer that reminds me to fasten it. It doesn't buzz if I fasten it first, but I would rather start my car and let it warm up for a few seconds while I fasten my belt. The government regulators don't see it that way, however.

It seemed illogical to me why the fuel filler neck was put on the right side, which can make life difficult at gas stations.

The reason, I was told recently by a Ford engineer, is safety. The filler neck is less likely to be ripped off in an accident if on the right side.

Ford, of course, has had its problems with fuel spillage in accidents. Now it will probably get sued by a driver who had a head-on collision at a gas station as he was pulling up to the left side of the pump.

Novesta OKs

The Novesta township board gave its approval Monday evening to the granting of a Public Act 116 agreement to Martha Putnam. Mrs. Putnam owns 80 acres at 3295 Knoblet Road.

15-mill renewal sought by Kingston

Grieve is running for the first time.

The other board member whose term is expiring, Patricia Bruce, isn't seeking reelection.

Kingston is continuing its practice of having its residents vote on renewal of all of its extra voted millage every year. "That's our whole shot," Supt. Robert Cameron explained. "We vote every single year. If people feel we wasted it, they only have to wait one year."

Although the total of 15 mills is unchanged from last year, there is one difference. The past two years, there were 14 extra voted mills for operations plus one additional mill for parking lot improvements at the high school. This year, the entire 15 mills is for school operations.

There are nine allocated mills for operation, which would make the total 24 for running the schools. This past year, the district also levied 7 mills for debt retirement, making the total levied 31 mills.

One mill will raise approximately $26,000. Pay increases mandated by the third year of the contract with the Kingston Education Association (teachers) will cost the district more than that, about $30,000.

The district has had to cope with reduced revenue from the state because of the latter's financial crunch and reduced enrollment has also meant less state aid. It has been dipping into its surplus the last few years to help it get by.

Kingston will be saving some money next year by not replacing a teacher who is retiring and by elevating Joseph Peet, presently assistant principal in charge of the junior high program, to high school principal to replace the departing Lee Robinson, without hiring a new assistant. The decision concerning the principal is still tentative, however, pending approval by the school board.

If the millage is approved, Cameron said, and if the state comes through on the amount of state aid he is anticipating, Kingston should be able to get through 1981-82 without any layoffs or other cutbacks. "We're hoping, but we're not making any promises," he added.

Some will receive tax breaks

One mill equals $1 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. For instance, a home valued at $40,000 has a state equalized valuation for tax purposes of $20,000. That means for every 1 mill of additional tax increase, the homeowner will pay $20 additional in taxes.

Some may not have to pay that much, however.

Senior citizens (at least one spouse 65 or older) are entitled to a state income tax credit or rebate on a sliding scale.

Those with an annual household income of more than $6,000, for instance, must pay their property taxes equal to 3.5 percent of their household income, but receive a rebate or credit on their state income tax of 100 percent of their property taxes above that figure, to a maximum of $1,200.

Non-senior citizens are eligible for a credit or rebate of 60 percent of their property taxes in excess of the property taxes they pay equal to 3.5 percent of their household income. The maximum is again $1,200.

Farmers whose property is enrolled in the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act program have all of their taxes rebated which are in excess of 7 percent of their household income.

Ubly School District voters will be asked Monday to approve six mills for school operations for three years, three mills more than the levy that is expiring.

They will also be choosing one board member for a four-year term from a field of four candidates to replace Frank Peplinski, who is not seeking reelection.

Running are Martin R. Kubacki, Jurgens Road, J. Walter Walsh, Spencer Road, and Julie Mae Heilig, Union Street, all Ubly, and Terry Haupt, Charleston Road, Minden City.

Polls at the high school will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

The renewal and the three-mill increase are in a single proposal. Voters will not be able to choose one or the other. One mill will raise about $57,000, so passage of the proposal will mean about $342,000 for the district.

However, an 8 mill debt retirement levy has expired. Business Manager Mark Tenbusch pointed out, so the actual increase over what property owners paid last year will be 2.2 mills.

Last year, Ubly levied 19.78 mills for operations, plus the .8 debt levy, for a total of 20.58.

Failure to pass the millage, the school board has already stated, will mean drastic cutbacks in school programs.

It will mean 16 teachers, one bus driver and four aides will lose their jobs, Tenbusch said, plus elimination of sports, extra-curricular activities, field trips and the shared time program with the two Catholic schools in the Ruth area.

If the millage passes, he continued, the board still plans to lay off five teachers, partially to save money and partially because of reduced enrollment. No programs will be cut, but it will mean more students in some classes.

Should the proposal fail, the board will have the Kingston School District residents will be asked Monday to approve renewal of 15 mills for school operations and select two school board members from a field of three candidates.

Polling place at the high school will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

The lone incumbent seeking reelection to the school board is Louis E. Wenzlaff Jr. of Phillips Road, Kingston, who has served on the board 14 years and is currently its president. He is president of the Kingston State Bank. He has two children in the Kingston schools and one who graduated.

The other candidates are Janet M. Grieve of Cemetery Road, Kingston, material control manager and purchasing agent for Active Homes in Marlette, who has one child in school and one who graduated, and Wesley E. Scott, English Road, Silverwood, a supervisor at Pontiac Motor Division in Pontiac, who has three children in the Kingston schools. Scott ran unsuccessfully for the board last year; Mrs.

Funeral held for Mrs. Nugent

Iida P. Nugent, 94, a resident of Bingham township died Wednesday, May 27, at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, following a brief illness.

She was born Jan. 1, 1887, in Austin township, the daughter of John and Lucy (Leffler) Pettinger. Miss Pettinger and Warren Nugent were married June 1, 1910, at Cumber. Nugent died June 17, 1951.

Mrs. Nugent was a member of the Uby Presbyterian church; Ladies Aid Society of the church; a life member of Miriam Chapter No. 214, Order of the Eastern Star, Uby, and a charter member of the Huron County Farm Bureau.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Irwin (Elinore) Marquardt, Bad Axe, Mrs. Harold (Fay) Hanselman, Detroit, Mrs. Al (Carol) Niemann, Detroit, Mrs. Ephraim (Mary) Knight, Cass City, and Mrs. Ray (Florence) Osinski, Bad Axe; one son, John Nugent, Weidman; 16 grandchildren; 31 great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Mills, Oscoda, and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by one son, Lyle, five brothers, James, William, David, Chester and George, and two sisters, Bertha and Estella. Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at the Uby Presbyterian church, Rev. Robert von Oeyen officiating.

Burial was in Colfax cemetery, Bad Axe.

A memorial service was conducted Friday evening at the McAlpine Funeral Home, Bad Axe, by the Miriam chapter, OES.

HEALTH TIPS

Intelligent patients get better care

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
AMA

Being an intelligent patient may reduce your medical bills and help you obtain better health care.

Learning to work with your doctor is the beginning of the process, the American Medical Association points out.

First, choose a family physician. Make an appointment for an examination, so you can get to know him and he can get to know you. Then if you become ill or injured you will know whom to turn to.

There is a real advantage in going to the doctor's office, rather than attempting to get him to come to your home. It is to your advantage to be examined where all necessary equipment and allied health workers are present. It also saves money.

Before phoning for an emergency appointment, collect your thoughts and be prepared to list symptoms. If you brief the doctor properly, he may be able to give advice by phone. Or he may counsel you to come to his office. If there is a real emergency, he may suggest that you meet at the hospital.

Make the most of the medical time you are paying for in the doctor's office. Have in mind important facts about past illnesses, operations, and accidents. Have your questions ready, and do not apologize for asking.

Full information about your health is important to your well being. You go to the doctor for two things: his opinion and his advice. Be sure you are well satisfied on both counts.

Don't hesitate to ask about fees. Your doctor would prefer that you open the subject, since you are aware of your own financial situation, and he is not.

No one would dream of buying a pair of new shoes and throwing one of them away. Yet, some people leave their doctor's office with a prescription and some advice and do nothing about either. You've paid for the advice. Follow it.

Art show Saturday in Sandusky

The fourth annual Sandusky Arts and Craft Show will be Saturday at the park surrounding the Sanilac County Courthouse from 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Forty artists from the Thumb area will display and sell their works. Demonstrations will run throughout the day.

Craft and art displays will include pottery, weaving, spinning, oil paintings, stained glass, caning, tole painting, quilting, silk flowers, handmade dolls, ceramics, and soft sculpture.

The Sanilac Gymnastic Club will be doing a gymnastic demonstration. A Crafts for Kids tent will be available for children from 10-11 and 1-2. The Sanilac County Clown Club will be doing clown makeup for any would-be clowns. A puppet show is scheduled at 11 a.m.

In case of rain, the show will be held in the high school cafeteria.

ANNUAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF ANNUAL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF CASS CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS
TUSCOLA, HURON AND SANILAC COUNTIES, MICHIGAN
TO BE HELD
JUNE 8, 1981

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that the Annual Election of the School District will be held on Monday, June 8, 1981, in the High School Building in the Village of Cass City.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M.

At the Annual School Election there will be elected two (2) members to the Board of Education of the district for full terms of four (4) years ending in 1985.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS HAVE BEEN NOMINATED TO FILL SUCH VACANCIES:

Gregory W. Brown
Ellen T. Burnette
Ben Hobart
Louis Horner
Richard Maurice Shaw
Thomas Alden Sutter

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT the following propositions will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the Annual School Election:

I. MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Cass City Public Schools, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, Michigan, be increased by 12.9 mills ($12.90 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1981, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a renewal of 12.9 mills for operating purposes which expired with the 1980 tax levy)?

II. ADDITIONAL MILLAGE PROPOSITION

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Cass City Public Schools, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, Michigan, be increased by 3 mills ($3.00 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1981, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a separate proposal in addition to the increase submitted in Proposition I at this same election)?

All school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside are eligible to vote at this election.

I, Elgene Keller, Treasurer of Tuscola County, Michigan, hereby certify that, as of March 10, 1981, the records of this Office indicate that the total of all voted increases over and above the tax limitation established by the Constitution of Michigan in any local units of government affecting the taxable property located in Cass City Public Schools, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, Michigan, is as follows:

ROSE SOCIETY

The Thumb Rose Society met Wednesday, May 20, in the Ubyly Bank Building meeting room. Twenty members and guests were present.

Mrs. Mildred Kohout of Ubyly was elected vice-president. Following a presentation by Mrs. Sally Byarski, Bad Axe, the Society decided to plant and maintain a rose garden at the Huron Medical Care Facility park currently under construction. Twelve bushes will be purchased immediately and will be planted as soon as the area is ready. Additional bushes will be added as funds are available and as a site is readied.

To raise money for this project, a miniature rose sale was held Friday and Saturday, May 29 and 30 at the Community Bank in Ubyly and set Thursday and Friday, June 4 and 5 at the IGA Foodliner in Bad Axe. Donations in any amount will also be accepted by the Society for this garden.

A program was then presented on Spraying and Fertilizing. The June 7 meeting will be a potluck at 6:30 in the Ubyly Community Bank meeting room and will also include a program on how to show roses.

Zonta Club installs new secretary

The Cass City Zonta Club held its monthly dinner meeting at the Charmont May 19.

Toby Weaver was installed as secretary by Esther McCullough. A report was given on the District 15 spring workshop held in Port Huron. Betty Hurst, Shirley Buschlen and Edith Little attended.

Plans were formulated for a money making project at the Fourth of July celebration.

The next meeting will be held at the Charmont Tuesday, June 16.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

A 12-year-old from Vassar who enjoys fishing, swimming, bike riding and hunting is waiting for a Big Brother. With no male to spend time with, this boy is eager to have a man to share these interests. He would be a rewarding challenge for any man.

++++++

This little fellow from Akron is really anxious to have someone he can call his "buddy." He is seven years old, enjoys bike riding, swimming, and sports.

Could you spare the time?

++++++

This 15-year-old from Millington is in need of a special friend to talk with and share her time. Having no mother has made it difficult for her to learn some female type activities. She would like to learn to do ceramics and crochet, go camping, take walks, ride horses and play baseball. Why not give her a little of your time?

++++++

A special eight-year-old from Caro is anxious to have a Big Brother. He has special needs and enjoys hunting, camping and nature walks.

++++++

Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters is located at 129 E. Burnside, Caro 48723, telephone 673-6996.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE—THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1981

Romig takes telephone class

Gerald Romig, PABX repairman for General Telephone, recently completed a course in digital electronic systems at the company's training center in Muskegon.

The course prepares students for more advanced training in the field of digital electronic switching. Students interpret computer programs, define the sub-systems of a computer and learn to locate malfunctions in "logic" circuits.

Romig and his wife Muriel reside on Leach Street, Cass City.

D. Ertman finishes boot camp

Marine Pvt. Duane F. Ertman, son of Frank F. and Betty Ertman of 5627 N. Cemetery Road, Cass City, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Team work and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

Immunization clinics slated in Sandusky

The Sanilac County Health Department will conduct its monthly immunization clinics Tuesday, June 16 and 23, at its office at 115 N. Elk Street, Sandusky.

Hours both days will be 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-4 p.m.

A parent or guardian must accompany their child. They should bring a record of previous immunizations.

Ambition and ability are the ingredients that equip a person for working wonders.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

An open house will be held at the Mizpah Fellowship building to observe the 50th wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Surbrook of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Edzik Sr. of Cass City celebrated their golden wedding anniversary May 29 at the Wildwood Farms with a family dinner.

Formal approval for sale of Owen-Gage School district bonds to construct a new $1.675 million high school was withheld by the state Municipal Finance Commission. The action stalls all hope of beginning work on the structure in the near future.

Unless Title VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act is renewed by Congress, upwards of 300 Thumb area workers could face layoffs from their public service jobs by the start of 1977.

Calvin Ostrander, 17, of rural Cass City didn't settle for a run-of-the-mill job. He plans to work on a Great Lakes freighter from the beginning of June through December.

TEN YEARS AGO

Scott Guernsey was awarded the Paul Smarks trophy for athletic excellence at the Cass City High School all sports banquet held at the high school gym Wednesday.

Gov. William G. Milliken's five-year State Airport Plan recommends construction of a new turf airport at Cass City and a new turf airport in the Vassar area. It is part of a program with an estimated cost of $229 million.

Mrs. George Roch ended a long successful career with General Cable Corporation Friday, six months after her husband retired from the same firm after 25 years. The Rochs started the Cable plant in Cass City.

Thomas Ward has been named Central Office Supervisor for General Telephone's Cass City District office.

25 YEARS AGO

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Landon will be observed June 10, when an open house will be held at the Landon home.

The first driver training course ever offered in Cass City will start June 4. Students or adults over 18 wishing to enroll will be charged $35.

The village council refused a petition by Miss Maxine Loney Monday to move her Be-Lov-Lee Beauty Shop into her basement. Trustee B.F. Benkelman said that the ordinance specified that beauty shops belonged in the business district.

A plan has been developed to expand the Caro Farmers Cooperative Elevator by constructing a new plant at Akron.

35 YEARS AGO

A modern slaughterhouse and processing plant has recently been completed by Reed and Patterson one and one-half miles south of Cass City.

Oil was reached at a depth of 2,690 feet Friday on the Douglas Stilson farm in section 31, Elkland township, about three miles southwest of Cass City. The flow is 100 barrels a day.

Seventy members of the Cass City High School senior class will receive diplomas Friday.

Friday, May 31, residents of Cass City and adjacent territory are invited to attend the reopening of the Pinney Federated Store in Cass City. The store has been completely modernized and increased to almost twice its previous size by taking over the space formerly occupied by the Corpron Hardware.

Claude Wood funeral held Friday

Claude Lee Wood, 86, died Wednesday, May 27, at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility, where he had been a patient the past four years.

He was born Nov. 1, 1894, in Marlette, the son of Joseph and Sarah (Dove) Wood. He came to Cass City with his parents when he was a child.

He married Cecile Patterson in Caro Oct. 25, 1923. Following their marriage, they made their home on a farm in Ellington township. Mrs. Wood died Dec. 27, 1973.

He served with the U.S. Army Signal Corps in World War I, in France and Germany.

He was a life member of Tyler Lodge, F&AM, No. 317, of Cass City.

He is survived by one son, Robert Wood of Cass City; one daughter, Mrs. Carlton (Beatrice) Rondo of Caro; one brother, Ernest Wood of Northville, and five grandchildren. One brother, Herbert, and one sister, Edna, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Rev. Eldred Kelley of the Salem United Methodist church officiated.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

5 on CMU honors list

Five area students were among 1,069 Central Michigan University honor students for winter semester. These students are chosen from the top 10 percent of their academic class and carry grade point averages of no lower than 3.5. They are: seniors Scott E. Richards, Colleen A. Truener and Barb E. Tuckey, from Cass City; Marilyn K. Sage-man, Ugly sophomore, and from Snover, senior David V. Watson.

Your June utility bill may be the most important one you'll receive all year.

When you open the envelope containing your June utility bill you will find a very important booklet (or you might receive it as a separate mailing.)

It describes the new Michigan Residential Conservation Services program featuring a Home Energy Analysis.

The new service is offered by eight major Michigan utilities and meets the requirements of the Michigan Public Service Commission and the 1978 National Energy Act. It's available to all homeowners and renters who pay energy utility bills.

Even if you and your family are already conserving energy, the Home Energy Analysis can show you how to save more.

For a $10 fee, you will get a complete inspection of your home by an energy specialist from your utility. You will learn how effective your present insulation, weatherstripping, caulking and other energy cost saving measures are, and you will be provided with information on specific things you can do to reduce energy waste.

You also will receive a written computer analysis giving you estimates on how much recommended improvements will cost and how long they will take to pay for themselves. Information on contractors who can do the work, details on financing, tax credits and Home Weatherization Grants for low income persons also will be provided. After the work is completed, you may have it inspected by your utility.

Some of the recommendations may cost very little or nothing at all. Some you may be able to do yourself. Others will require the services of a contractor. In any case, the Home Energy Analysis puts you under no obligation to carry out any of the recommendations. However, you probably will want to do at least some of these, because now you will know a great deal more about how to make your home energy efficient.

Whether or not you decide to have a Home Energy Analysis, please read the booklet that comes with your June bill or by a separate mailing. It lists many things you can start doing right now to save energy and money. The booklet also tells you about assistance you can get from your utility to help you make your home more energy efficient—with or without the Home Energy Analysis. Lists of contractors and lenders, as well as do-it-yourself information also are available from your utility.

You can sign up for your Home Energy Analysis by returning the postcard in the booklet or by getting in touch with your utility. The sooner you sign up, the sooner you can start reducing energy waste in your home.

The Michigan Residential Conservation Services program is conducted through the utilities listed below. You can select any one of which you are a customer to perform your Home Energy Analysis.

Your Neighbor says

Social Security plan is the wrong approach

Nursie Kloc doesn't agree with President Reagan's plan to delay Social Security cost of living increases and discourage early retirement.

"Something has got to be done or the money is going to run out," Mrs. Kloc said, explaining it shouldn't be cut the way Reagan proposes.

Social Security payments should be made according to how much a person needs, she proposes, explaining there are too many people currently getting Social Security that don't need it. "I know rich people getting it," she said.

The Reagan plan to cut the amount of benefits a person can receive when retiring at 62, rather than 65, from 80 percent of full benefits to 55 percent doesn't seem fair to Mrs. Kloc.

"I think it should be left up to the individual, when they want to retire," she said, adding her husband isn't ready to retire and "I'll work as long as the Good Lord lets me."

For older people who have really planned on Social Security, a plan like Reagan's could be very disillusioning, she continued.

Mrs. Kloc, 59, and her husband, Stanley, 61, have 11 children and live at 6195 Severance Road.

Michael Rusnak dies at 92

Michael Rusnak of Gagetown died Monday at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility in Caro.

He was born September 21, 1888, in Rezenber, Slovakia -- now Czechoslovakia. Rusnak came to Pittsburgh, Penn., in 1906 and to Durand in 1909. In 1920, he came to the Gagetown area where he spent the rest of his life.

He was the oldest member of St. Agatha Catholic church of Gagetown and served in the U.S. Army during World War I.

He was married to Mrs. Elizabeth Drotar Goda Oct. 12, 1929, in Cass City, and following her death, to Mrs. Elizabeth H. Svecz Janek Oct. 19, 1962 in Gagetown.

Rusnak is survived by his wife, Elizabeth; two daughters, Mrs. Enoch (Rose) Osentoski of Cass City and Mrs. Raymond (Anna) Kubaicki of Uby; four stepdaughters, Mrs. Stanley (Margaret) Walters of Cass City, Mrs. Frank (Elizabeth) Csernyik of Caro, Mrs. Aaron (Mary) Weltin of Uby and Mrs. Mary Berland of Hammond, Ind.; seven stepsons, Joseph Goda of Detroit, John Goda and Paul Goda, both of Bay City, Frank Goda of Fresno, Calif., Steve Janek of Whiting, Ind., Joseph Janek of E. Chicago, Ind., and Michael Janek of Gary, Ind.; thirty-two grandchildren and thirty great-grandchildren.

A rosary was scheduled Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Little's Funeral Home in Cass City.

A mass for Rusnak will be conducted Thursday at 10:00 a.m. from St. Agatha Catholic church of Gagetown, with Rev. Joseph Morales, officiating.

Interment will be in St. Agatha cemetery, Gagetown.

A MOREL mushroom, 11½ inches in circumference is proudly displayed by its finders, Bill Kappen, 10 (left), Mark Kappen, 12. The boys found the mushroom in a patch of about 40 in the woods near their Bay City-Forestville Road home.

Food cooperative will open soon

A food buying cooperative, with the aim of enabling housewives to save on their grocery bills, is in the process of being organized in Cass City.

Peggy Houck, extension home economist for Tuscola and Sanilac counties, spoke to about 25 persons (only one of whom was male) last Wednesday evening at Rawson Memorial Library about food co-ops.

She discussed what they are, their principles and organization, and ways they obtain their food, such as buying from wholesalers, usually ones which supply restaurants, and from a co-op supplier in Ann Arbor.

The Cooperative Extension Service has received a grant to fund training in how to establish food co-ops. She stressed the extension service is an information resource, but it is up to the co-op members to make the decisions.

Co-ops are now operating in Marlette, Deckerville, Sandusky, Millington, Caro and Mayville in the upper Thumb and ones are being organized in Peck and Unionville.

The meeting at the library was organized by Theresa Suggen of 4619 Little Road, who first talked to some other women to gauge whether there was enough interest.

At the conclusion of the meeting, she and nine others volunteered to serve on an organizing committee.

Its next step will be to visit other co-ops, find places to purchase food and look for a place for the co-op to operate.

Once in operation, Mrs.

Readers meet

Members of the book discussion group met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. T. Donahue for a cooperative luncheon.

Books for the day were "Women and Anxiety" by Helen A. DeRossi, M.D., and "Your Second Life" by Gay Luce.

There will be no meetings of the group until September.

Suggen said, members will probably meet once a month to order the food and then some of them will meet a few days later, when the food has been delivered, to prepare it for pick up the next day. Tasks will be assigned on a rotating basis.

What food is made available through the co-op depends partially on what members want and what facilities are available for storing it. Meat and frozen foods, for instance, can't be ordered if no refrigeration is available.

Once the committee is done with its organizing efforts, another meeting will be held to determine if there is enough interest to proceed.

Miss Houck said a minimum of 25 families is needed to make a co-op economically feasible.

Sanilac seeks ex-POWs

The Sanilac County Department of Veterans' Affairs is seeking names of all former prisoners of wars now residing in Sanilac county.

Contact the office by calling (313) 648-2383 or address a card or letter to 61 West Sanilac Street, Sandusky 48471.

Holbrook church plans Bible school

A vacation Bible school for families will be held from Sunday through Friday at the Holbrook Baptist church on Germania Road, three miles north of Cass City Road.

The services will be conducted by E.F. Marquardt, (Chief Eagle Feather) of Battle Creek. Marquardt is a ventriloquist, and will have his dummy "Sparkie," to help tell Bible stories.

The school will also include memory work, contests and quizzes and will begin at 7 p.m. each evening.

Office break-in third in 3 years

The Hills and Dales Medical Clinic on Hill Street was broken into for the third time in three years Thursday night or early Friday, with little taken.

The offices of Dr. Hoon K. Jeung and Dr. Sang H. Park were broken into sometime during the night, according to Cass City Police, by a person or persons using pry bars. One pry bar was used to enter the building through an outside door in the southeast corner, and the other bar was used to enter the reception area of the two doctors' offices.

In both offices, the receptionists' desks and various cabinets were searched, with the suspect probably looking for money. No money was found in either office, although the rooms were "ransacked," a door damaged and some drugs taken.

In Dr. Park's office, a bottle of Demerol and an unknown number of birth control pills were taken from one cabinet.

A bottle of Tylenol was taken from Dr. Jeung's office and possibly some medication from the pain kill section of a cabinet, whose contents were found spilled on the floor.

The three burglaries each year have occurred in the spring.

OTHER ITEMS

Gordon Wright of 5757 Denhoff Road, Kingston, reported to deputies Saturday that tools worth $200 were taken from his shed the previous evening. Taken were 17 regular wrenches, two crescent wrenches and one hacksaw.

Henry J. Bastian of 3127 Cemetery Road, Kingston, told deputies May 26 a 10-speed bicycle worth $150 was stolen April 16. He hadn't reported the theft earlier because he first thought a neighbor maybe had it or his daughter had left it at a friend's house.

William D. Youngblood of 6282 Pine Street told Cass City police May 26 that someone put an 8-inch cut in the driver's seat of his car the previous day. Damage was estimated at $50.

Charles Beckett of 6568 Pine told officers last Thursday that at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, someone threw a stone through a window of his house. Damage was set at $20.

Regular meeting of the Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held May 26, 1981 at 7:30 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present with the exception of Trustee Ware.

A recommendation was received from the Planning Commission to amend Ordinance No. 70. The Village of Cass City Zoning Ordinance, to rezone Northwood Village Subdivision from RA1 to RA1B. This amendment would reduce minimum floor area per unit requirements from 1200 square feet to 1000 square feet. A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire and supported by Trustee McIntosh to authorize the amending of Ordinance No. 70 as presented. Roll Call Vote: Helwig - yea, Stahlbaum - yea, Hampshire - yea, Rawson - yea, McIntosh - yea. Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays.

The Park and Recreation Committee reported that the pool is filled and now being filtered. The start-up goal of the Village is for the week end of May 29th. The committee recommended that the pool charges remain the same as last year.

The Superintendent's report was reviewed and accepted. A letter was read from the American Water Works Association congratulating Ed Anthes, Village Water Superintendent, on the safety record of the Water Department.

The landfill received a good report from Leonard Zelewski of DNR and Ed Kimbrow of Tuscola County Health Department upon reviewing the site. It was reported that a "Letter of Intent" has been filed with DNR for the Solid Waste Management Plan for Tuscola County. A rough draft of the plan is presently being worked on.

A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Rawson that the regular bills be approved for payment. Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays. A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bills in the amount of $427,489.65 to H.C. Weber and $23,409.12 to Hubbell, Roth and Clark be approved for payment. Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays.

A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays.

Sheriff asks citizens' help

Tuscola County Sheriff Paul Berry is asking homeowners to help law enforcement officers protect their property while they are away on vacation.

To help prevent breaking and enterings, the Sheriff's Department is asking homeowners to notify it, their local police department or state police in writing when they will be on vacation.

The information needed is name, address, village or township, home telephone number, phone number of place where they will be staying, date leaving and returning, additional information, such as lights and timers, and name and telephone of neighbor or other person close by who can be notified in case of emergency.

The information should be mailed or dropped off at the sheriff's department, local or state police just prior to leaving and officers can then check the property while on routine patrol.

Homeowners are asked to notify the police agency upon their return.

"Through this public service, hopefully we can help to reduce the number of breakings and enterings to residents while on vacation," Berry said.

Craft Club meets Monday

The Deford Craft Club will meet Monday at the Novesta Church of Christ for a potluck dinner, followed by an evening of bowling. Members should bring a dish to pass.

It will be the last meeting until fall.

New books at the library

CATHEDRAL by Nelson DeMille (fiction). In a spine tingling race against time, the New York police must stop a group of terrorists from blowing up St. Patrick's Cathedral and murdering their hostages. One of the hostages is beautiful Maureen Malone, a former terrorist who now wants political grievances settled by peaceful means. The leader of the terrorists, Brian Flynn, is Maureen's former lover.

THE ZOO THAT NEVER WAS by R. D. Lawrence (non-fiction). The author and his wife did not set out to become keepers of a wild menagerie on their farm in Canada, but that is precisely what happened. Their first wards were two baby raccoons, found by the side of the road. In the following months, other orphaned, injured, or abandoned animals joined the Lawrences - a pair of otters named Slip and Slide, Spike the porcupine, Manx the lynx, wounded in a trap, Sir Francis, the wood duck drake rescued from a snapping turtle, and many more. This account of their experiences with wild creatures is as filled with scientific lore as it is with humor, warmth, and adventure.

THE ASTOR FAMILY by John D. Gates (non-fiction). Entrepreneurs, politicians, soldiers, scions of society - the Astors have been vitally involved in various aspects of this country's history for over 200 years. In this first comprehensive biography of the family, Gates brings the Astors alive as individuals, giving us a clear look at the influences that directed each of their lives, as well as their individual and collective fortunes. The book gives a privileged look at this great family's intimate affairs and their legendary impact on the political and economic life of the United States.

Fred Matthews

Write-In Candidate

Cass City Board of Education

I am seeking a position on the board of education in order to give the people in the southeast and south part of our district representation.

Of our present 7 member board, 5 live inside the village limits, the other 2 live just outside the village limits. Is this fair representation? I hardly think so.

If elected, I am going to spend time at both Evergreen and Deford schools to give you representation on the board. The areas of Evergreen and Deford make up approximately 20% of the total tax base of the Cass City system. Isn't it time we have a voice in the management?

Sincerely,
Fred Matthews

Hawks bow in districts to Dubbs led Lakers, 4-1

Cass City bowed out of the State softball tournament Friday as junior Cindy Dubbs and Laker High defeated the Hawks, 4-1 in the regionals at Mayville. It was the third time this year that the Lakers have topped the Hawks. Jill Root pitched well enough to win most games. She was touched for six hits but held the Lakers to no earned runs. Dubbs also allowed six hits, but kept them well scattered. The Lakers combined a couple of hits with two errors in the fourth inning to score three runs and break a scoreless tie. The Hawks got one run back in the fifth on a hit by Root and a RBI single by Sherry Stec but that was the end of Cass City's offense. The Lakers got another run in their half of the fifth and coasted to the regional championship.

The Lakers beat USA in nine innings to reach the finals. Cass City got into the title game with a 7-6 decision over Uby. It was a nip and tuck game all the way. Cass City scored a run in the first and two more in the third. Uby netted a pair of runs in each of the third and fourth innings to take a one-run lead.

The Hawks bounced back to tie it in the fifth as Tena LaRoche opened with a single and went around.

Cass City took the lead in the sixth when Shirley Fleming got on on an error and scored when Root singled.

The Hawks scored twice in the seventh to counter a pair of tallies by Uby to win.

Shirley Fleming went the distance and was racked for 13 hits but was tough in the clutch. Cass City was led at the plate by Shelley LaPeer who was two for four, the only Hawk with more than one hit.

Carrie Lautner shows way as girls establish host of new records

Led by Sophomore Carrie Lautner, who smashed her own school record on the way to a state title in the 1600 meter run Saturday, Cass City Red Hawk girls established a host of new school records this spring.

Lautner posted a 5:08.5 in the mile and also placed fifth in the 800 meter event with a time of 2:23.6. Due to her efforts Cass City scored 12 points and finished in a tie for 12th place in the finals.

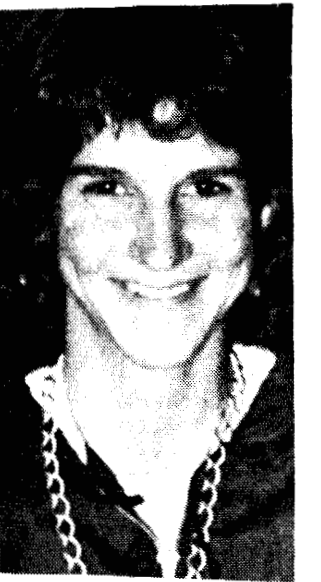

In addition to Lautner several other girls established school records.

Lori Hurley's 12:25.3 was a new mark in the 2-mile and Traci Green broke the record in 220 with a posting of 28.44.

Jamie LaRoche long jumped 15 feet, 11 inches to set another record.

Renae Stimpfel, LaRoche and Lautner combined for a record in the mile relay in 4:15.9 and the 800 relay team of Theresa Harmer, Green, Lori Calka and Michelle Fahrner set a new mark of :34.11.

O-G girls roll to regional softball play with 2 wins

It's on to the regionals for Owen-Gage, winners Friday of the district softball title for the fifth time in six years.

Coach Judy Campbell's team, North Central D League champions six years in a row, defeated North Huron in the semi-finals, 6-4, then downed Peck in the finals, 20-9. The districts were at Caseville.

The Bulldogs now play Pontiac Catholic at 10 a.m. Saturday at Flint Genesee. A win puts them in the regional finals in the afternoon.

Winning pitcher against the Warriors Friday was Becky Howard, who struck out nine, walked five and gave up eight hits.

Losing pitcher Laurie Peyok surrendered seven hits, walked nine and struck out three.

Karla Kretschmer hit a double and a single for the winners, Heidi Rockefeller connected for two singles and Howard and Terri Sontag each had a double.

Peck defeated Decker-ville, 10-8, to advance to the finals, where they proved no match for the Bulldogs.

It didn't look that way for awhile, however. Owen-Gage was only ahead 8-7 in the fifth inning when Campbell pulled Dana Laurie off the mound with one Pirate on base and no outs.

Laurie, who got the win, gave up two hits, six walks and struck out six. Howard, who got the save, surrendered two hits, four walks and struck out three.

Losing pitcher Colleen Foley was relieved in the bottom of the sixth by Diane Seddon. They combined to give up 13 hits, nine walks and struck out one. Laurie belted two singles and a double; Rockefeller, two singles and a double; Howard, a single and a double; Julie Enderle, single and a triple, and Sontag, two singles.

The one sour note was Kretschmer pulling a knee ligament in the second game, which makes her doubtful for Saturday's regionals.

The two wins elevate Owen-Gage to a record of 19-1 for the season.

NORTH HURON

The Bulldogs finished the North Central D League season at home last Thursday with two wins over North Huron, giving it sole possession of first place at 19-1.

Caseville, the only team to beat Owen-Gage this season, finished second at 11-3.

Owen-Gage won the opener, 8-6.

Dana Laurie picked up the win, striking out eight, walking seven and giving up five hits.

Losing pitcher Laurie Peyok surrendered three hits, walked six and struck out two.

Becky Howard belted a home run and a single.

Howard picked up the win in the 13-3 nightcap. She gave up four hits, walked seven and struck out five.

Peyok was again the loser, giving up nine hits, four walks and striking out two. Laurie and Howard each batted two singles.

Howard top

All-conference ball player

Owen-Gage's Becky Howard was the only unanimous selection on the North Central Thumb D League all-conference softball team, selected by the coaches.

Others named to the first team were Michelle McCormick, Dee Dee Dubey, and Peggy Wilfong, Caseville; Colleen Foley, Mandy Bullis and Diane Seddon, Peck; Julie Parks, North Huron; Dinah Kriewall, Fort Hope; Carol Draggoo, Carsonville-Port Sanilac, and Tracy Barriger, Akron-Fairgrove.

Bulldogs named to the second team were pitcher Dana Laurie and catcher Terri Sontag.

Seek items for benefit foster children auction

New and used items are currently being sought by the Tuscola Foster Parent Association for an auction to be held at the Caro fairgrounds.

The Foster Parent Association, formed in 1977, is a non-profit group of about 25 couples in Tuscola county who have opened up their homes to foster children, said Beth Morlock, the group's secretary.

"I think a lot of people have the impression foster care is money making, and it's not," Mrs. Morlock, of Akron, said. The state pays only basic care costs. Any extras that most children have are handled by the family, she explained.

Onalee Detwiler, director of the Tuscola County Department of Social Services, agreed. "It's an act of love, not money making."

According to Mrs. Detwiler, there are presently 95 children in foster care homes in Tuscola county. There are 67 licensed homes with space for 152 children if all the homes are filled. More homes, especially for teen-agers, are still needed, she said.

By hosting the auction, the association is "kind of expanding its horizons a little bit," said Mrs. Morlock, explaining they've previously had rummage sales.

Along with providing for the basic costs of caring for a foster child, the state provides $10 apiece for Christmas gifts for the children, which, according to Mrs. Morlock, "doesn't go too far."

The group hopes to help supplement that with proceeds from the auction, as well as earning funds to provide training opportunities for foster parents. In the past, the money it has raised has mostly been used to send foster parents to training workshops.

The auction is scheduled Sunday, June 14, at 1 p.m., with Dave Osentoski as auctioneer.

"So far we've had a real good response," said Cheryl Chorbha, chairperson of the event, who admits she's "kind of surprised."

Anyone interested in donating items for auction should contact Mrs. Morlock, at 691-5581, or Mrs.

Chorbha at 761-7398. The group welcomes all items except clothing and donations are tax deductible.

Meal program open to Sanilac seniors

Sanilac county senior citizens can now eat at the Sanilac County Council on Aging meal site at the First Presbyterian church in Cass City.

The program for those 60 and older (and their spouses, even if under 60) began April 27. Until now, it has only been open to Tuscola county residents because it is being subsidized by the .2 mill levied in the county to support senior citizen activities.

The meal site is now open to Sanilac residents as the Sanilac County Council on Aging Monday approved reimbursement to Tuscola for the meals eaten in Cass City by its residents. Sanilac also levies .2 mill for senior citizen activities. (Huron county does not.)

The church is open at 11 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, with serving of the meals starting at noon. For reservations, call 872-4270.

21 attend Golden Rule class meet

Twenty-one members and two guests attended the May 28 meeting of the Golden Rule class of Salem United Methodist church, held at the church. The meeting started with a potluck supper.

Devotions were led by Evelyn Tuckey.

Clayton Turner presided over the business meeting. Cards were signed to be sent to sick members Roy Leino and Helen Bartle.

Members participated in a game "Travel Around the World" under the direction of Esther McCullough.

Weather permitting, the June meeting will be held at the village park.

Hard work earns state title

Patnaude vaults to top for O-G

Jim Patnaude achieved a lofty goal Saturday.

The Owendale-Gagetown junior won the state Class D pole vault title at Caro with a vault of 13 ft., 7 in.

He actually won the title with a vault of 12 ft., 10 in. on his second attempt at that height. The best anyone else could do was 12½ ft.

Patnaude then went on to try to set a new state D meet record, presently 13 ft., 10½ in., set at last year's meet, in which he finished third.

He cleared 13 ft., 7 in. on his third attempt and then had the bar moved up to 13 ft., 11 in., but missed on all three tries.

Patnaude's best this season was 13 ft., 9 in. at the Thumb Meet of Champions May 26 at Caro.

His third place in last year's state meet is the only time he has lost a high school meet in two years.

The son of Richard and Sally Patnaude of Colwood Road, Gagetown, has been vaulting since the summer before he started eighth grade.

What got him interested was, "My cousin was a pole vaulter and he was doing pretty well his junior year and I got interested through him."

The cousin was Ron Ross, who vaulted 13 ft., 3 in. his junior year at Reese High School, when Patnaude was a seventh grader.

"I wasn't very good at it, but I stuck with it," the 16-year-old said of his early efforts. In eighth grade, his first year of competition, his best was 9 feet. In ninth grade, he topped 11 feet and last year, his best was 13 ft., 3 in.

HIS COUSIN WAS "THE first person to show me anything." Since then, most of what he has learned has been by studying the few books written on the subject of pole vaulting and films of himself and of world class vaulters.

"World class vaulters jump higher because they've mastered all the techniques," he explained, plus they have the advantage of size and speed. The world's record is 18 ft., 11½ in., set by a Polish vaulter at the 1980 Olympics.

The state champion is 5 ft., 10 in. tall and weighs 152 pounds. Ideal for a vaulter is 6 feet and up but not real heavy.

Patnaude received some advice from Bill Heffelfinger, who cleared 14 ft., 8 in., when a senior at Vassar High School in 1978. He still receives advice from Heffelfinger's father, Eugene, whom, he said, has a good technical mind for vaulting.

He also gives a lot of credit to his parents. "If my parents didn't take an interest, I don't think I'd get as far as I've been getting," he said.

HAVING A POLE vaulter in the family is a bit more involved than having, for instance, a flute player. Patnaude's 15-foot vaulting poles cost $130 and up and he has five of them (plus three more, which he has broken).

In the yard is a paved runway and concrete pad for the foam rubber landing pit, borrowed from the high school. Patnaude gets to keep it at his home when it isn't needed at school.

He also has a trampoline to work out on.

Patnaude starts practicing outdoors in April and keeps at it through fall. He practices a minimum of three days per week, from 1½-2 hours each time.

During winter, he manages a few practices indoors at Saginaw Valley State College and this past winter, took part in seven indoor meets at the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University. He plans to attend at least two meets this summer.

POLE VAULTING IS Patnaude's only sport at Owen-Gage. He tried out for football in ninth grade, but separated his shoulder and since then has stuck to vaulting.

O-G ends with loss

The Owen-Gage baseball team ended its season at home last Thursday with two losses to North Huron.

The result tied the Warriors for first place in the North Central D League with Carsonville-Port Sanilac at 11-3, while Phil Gray's Bulldogs finished in sixth place at 5-9. They were 7-12 overall.

North Huron won the opener, 13-4, with Jon Binder taking the win, with relief help from Randy Dickinson. They combined to strike out eight, walk one and surrender six hits.

Taking the loss was Randy Radabaugh. He and reliever Jim Kuhr surrendered a total of 14 hits, while walking four and striking out only one. Jim Glidden belted a triple for the Bulldogs.

Binder aided his team's cause with a home run and a single.

North Huron won the nightcap, 6-2, with Dickinson taking the win and Bill Marentette getting a save. They struck out six, walked two and gave up four hits.

Alan LeValley went the distance for the Bulldogs. He struck out two, walked five and gave up eight hits.

Scott Gaeth hit a double for Owen-Gage.

Binder again led the Warriors with a double and a single.

Final league standings are as follows:

	W	L
North Huron	11	3
Carsonville-PS	11	3
Peck	8	6
Akron-Fairgrove	7	5
Kingston	6	8
Owen-Gage	5	9
Caseville	4	10
Port Hope	2	10

O-G pair all-star selections

Jim Glidden and Scott Gaeth of Owen-Gage have been named to the North Central Thumb D League all-conference baseball team, selected by the coaches.

Glidden was named as a catcher and Gaeth as a fielder.

Others on the first team were pitchers Steve Fletcher, Peck, and Jim Crosby, Akron-Fairgrove, and fielders Jon Binder, North Huron, the only unanimous selection, Jason Koehler, Kingston, Pat Garvey, Peck, Brian Rayl, A-F, and Kirk McCormick, Caseville.

Bulldog pitcher Randy Radabaugh was named to the second team.

He has had some injuries in vaulting, the most serious of which was in the summer before ninth grade, when he almost lost his ear.

He was practicing at home after it had rained and the runway was wet. He started down the runway, changed his mind and put the pole down. The pole stopped but he didn't. The end of the pole caught his ear and it required some stitches to mend it.

Patnaude would like to top 14 feet before the summer is over and an obvious goal is another state title -- and the record -- next year. He would like to earn an athletic scholarship to college.

"I'm going to go as far as I can," he said.

Glidden fourth in state run

Jim Glidden finished his outstanding athletic career at Owen-Gage with a fourth place finish in the 200 meter dash at the state Class D track meet Saturday at Caro High School.

His time was 23.32 seconds. The winner, Brian Burger of Reading, finished in 22.85.

It was not the best of days for Glidden. He finished first in his heat in the 100-meter dash, but in the finals, he was twice accidentally bumped by a runner in an adjoining lane, lost his stride and didn't finish.

His sole consolation, according to his father, Dick, the Owen-Gage track coach, was that the runner who did the bumping didn't place.

Glidden also qualified for the long jump in the May 16 regionals, also held at Caro, but bruised his heel in his final jump at that meet, and wasn't able to compete in that event Saturday.

Owen-Gage's other entry in the state meet, the 400 meter relay team of David Ondrajka, Lennie Hallock, Dan Glidden and Scott Gaeth, ran too slow in a heat race to qualify for the finals.

Kingston High School had three competitors place in the state meet.

In the team standings, the Bulldogs tied for 10th with Britton-Macon with 10 points.

Marvin Wolak took fifth in the discus at 142 ft., 1 in.; Jill Barden finished third in the 800 meter run at 2:24.15, and Deb Cummings was third in the high jump at 4 ft., 10 in.

JIM GLIDDEN

Gaeth, Glidden top athletes

Scott Gaeth and Jim Glidden were each presented with the Bulldog Athlete of the Year Award at the Owendale-Gagetown High School athletic banquet last Wednesday in the Gagetown gymnasium.

The awards were presented by coach Phil Gray, who served as master of ceremonies.

He presented varsity basketball awards to 15 players and certificates to the two statisticians. The most valuable player award went to Jim Glidden and most improved to Dan Glidden.

Varsity baseball awards were presented by Gray to 12 players, with the most valuable award going to Gaeth and most improved to Terry Muntz.

Coach John Osterland presented junior varsity awards to 13 players. Dean Roller gave junior high basketball and track awards to 30 participants.

Cheerleader advisor Vicky Rayl presented awards to the varsity, junior varsity, eighth grade and seventh grade cheerleaders.

Coach Judy Campbell presented junior varsity volleyball awards to nine players and varsity volleyball awards to nine players. Most valuable player awards went to Becky Howard and Julie Andrakowicz.

She presented softball awards to 14 players with Becky Howard and Dana Laurie being named most valuable.

In the absence of girls' track coach Cindy Smigill, Miss Campbell presented awards or certificates to 10 team members.

Boys' track awards were presented by coach Richard Glidden to 17 team members.

Twenty-six seniors were presented with special plaques by Phil Gray.

Invocation before the potluck supper was given by Dana Laurie. Jim Kuhr gave the benediction.

WINNING VAULT -- Jim Patnaude of Owen-Gage cleared 12 ft., 10 in., on this vault, his second attempt Saturday, which was enough to win the state class D title as no one else did better than 12½ ft. He went on to clear 13 ft., 7 in.

JIM PATNAUDE holds the medal and certificate he received for winning the state Class D pole vault title Saturday at Caro. He is the first Owen-Gage athlete to win a state track title.

INDIAN DAVE

Memorial marker for Indian Dave to be unveiled

American Indians will be among those present Saturday to pay tribute in Wisner township to the legendary Indian Dave, wigwam resident of the upper Thumb for over 60 years.

The tribute will be part of the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of a Michigan historical marker, placed at the site of Indian Dave's grave in Wisner cemetery. The ceremony will start at 10 a.m. The cemetery is on M-25, a short distance east of Bradleyville Road.

The memorial service will be the culmination of research about the legendary Indian who roamed this area until his death at approximately 106 years of age in May, 1909. Anne Hallock of Sebawaing and Dorothy Dinsmore of Reese are among those who have researched the Chippewa descendant and are currently writing a book about him.

Included in the service will be Indian fire rituals and prayers, led by Chief Little Elk (Eli Thomas) from the Mount Pleasant reservation and Edmund P. Fisher, a descendant of Chief John Okemos and Chief Cheebak.

"Snake" and "wild goose" dances will be performed by Unionville-Sebawaing High School students and Principal Richard Green, with Fisher explaining some of the traditional dances and ceremonies.

The school's band will play the national anthem, sung by Liza Stoddard.

The original Battelle Methodist church, whose pastor performed the wigwam funeral service for Indian Dave in 1909, will send the pastor of Gilford United Methodist church as a representative to give a brief message.

According to Mrs. Hallock, her research has shown that other Chippewa Indians from the area are buried in Wisner cemetery. Using that and other information which she and Mrs. Dinsmore have collected from both living relatives and official documents, she will honor Indian Dave and other Indians with a poem at the ceremony.

The marker, purchased with funds raised by Mrs. Hallock and others interested in the Indian's history, will be unveiled at the service by Jerry D. Roe, chairman of the Michigan Historical Commission from Lansing.

History buffs and experts who have been involved in collecting information on Indian Dave "Stocker" Davis have been invited to the event, as well as representatives of Michigan's Indian tribes and the public.

William Zehnder Jr., of Frankenthuth, an expert on the Frankenthuth Chippewa Mission of a hundred years ago, and Rev. Ronald Brunger, a representative of the commission on archives and history of the Detroit United Methodist conference will be among experts there.

Representatives of native American groups in Mount Pleasant, Saginaw, Caro, Pinconning and Genesee have been invited, Mrs. Hallock said. Included in this group is Hazel Silas Lavoie, a descendant of John Mc-Squano and Jane "Ne-gon-e-gaw quay" Squanda, who will also speak.

Anyone interested in attending the event is invited to dress in Indian costume and bring a sack lunch and blanket she said. Indian wares and fried bread will be on sale.

Caro man sentenced to at least 2½ years on drug charge

Eight persons appeared before Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn Monday on drug related charges.

Wayne Phillips, 20, of 211 Unionville Road, Caro, was sentenced to 2½-7 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for delivery of LSD. He was credited with 126 days served.

He pleaded guilty to the charge May 4, of selling the drug to an undercover police officer Jan. 20 in Caro.

Matthew Bierlein, 19, of 8964 Wilder Road, Reese, was placed on two years' probation for delivery of marijuana Dec. 4 in Reese. He pleaded guilty to the charge April 6.

He was also sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served and work release privileges granted as recommended by the probation department. He was assessed $250 court costs.

Scott D. Ledtke, 19, of 9816 S. Fairgrove Road, Reese, was placed on two years' probation for delivery of marijuana. He was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served and 30 days suspended to the end of his probation. Work release privileges were granted. He was fined $1,000 and assessed $200 court costs.

He pleaded guilty to the charge March 23, to selling marijuana Nov. 1 in Reese. Gregory Welch, 23, of 240 E. Grant Street, Caro, was placed on three years' probation for delivery of marijuana. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail, with credit given for one day served.

He was fined $1,000 and assessed $200 court costs. He pleaded guilty to the charge April 14, the offense having occurred Oct. 22 in Caro.

Dwaine A. Proper, 20, of 3778 N. Main Street, Akron, pleaded guilty to delivery of PCPY Oct. 23 in Akron. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bernard M. Urbany, 18, of 9510 Center Street, Reese, pleaded guilty to attempted delivery of marijuana Jan. 13 in Denmark township. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

Gary Lee Jacques Jr., 18, of 388 Gilford Road, Caro, stood mute to charges of delivery of LSD Feb. 3 and delivery of marijuana Feb. 20, both in Caro.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled June 8. Bond was continued.

Eleanor M. Hillaker, 28, of 3280 W. Gilford Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of delivery of LSD Dec. 3 in Caro. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled June 22. Bond was continued.

ROBBERIES

John A. Rashotte, 22, of Standish, pleaded guilty Monday to armed robbery and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

He is charged with using a sawed off shotgun to rob Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gilmore of Vassar township Jan. 21 of less than $100.

His guilty plea was part of a plea bargain with the prosecution, in exchange for which a charge of breaking and entering in connection with the same incident will be dismissed.

William Hessling, 18, of Birch Run, pleaded guilty to attempted unarmed robbery, in connection with the robbery of money from David Hunter March 20 in Millington.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

OTHER CASES

Brian J. Woloshen, 17, of 1469 S. Colling Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted felonious assault, in connection with an assault with a shotgun on Worthy C. Tait April 20 in Indianfields township.

His plea was refused and a plea of innocent was entered on charges of felonious assault and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony in connection with the incident. Bond was continued and a pretrial hearing will be scheduled.

Dean Keyser, 18, of 3036 Warner Road, Cass City, was sentenced to one year in the county jail, for malicious destruction of property over $100. He was credited with two days served.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 2, 1980, after which sentencing was delayed nine months.

He was charged with damaging two tractors and slashing bags of Atrazine May 30, 1980, that belonged to Jesse J. Bruce Jr. of Barrons Road, Deford.

In connection with the same incident, Danny Keyser, 21, of 5303 Cumber Road, Uby, pleaded guilty in district court June 16, 1980, to a charge of larceny under $100, for the theft of fuel. Sentencing was then delayed one year.

In district court Monday, Judge Richard F. Kern granted a prosecution motion to dismiss the charge, the prosecution motion stating that "according to the probation officer, he has been an excellent citizen during the past year."

You can Bank on it!

Q. After the interest rate peaked at about 20 percent, then started down quickly, I thought it would keep going down until the overall economy turned around. Since then, we've seen interest rates start back up. What triggered the new increase?

A. When a large number of borrowers are seeking funds from banks the money supply tightens. There is less available. Banks pay a higher rate for their money and have to charge a higher rate of interest. At some point on the economic scale these increased rates cause the demand for money to drop. Supply slowly catches up with demand and the rates begin to go downward. This supply and demand cycle is the basic factor determining overall interest rate fluctuation. Other factors affecting interest include inflation, credit worthiness of the individual or business and the term of the particular loan.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Cause of death was incorrect parents say

To the Editor:

This letter is concerning the article printed in the May 28 issue of the Cass City Chronicle about the death of Erika Stempfle.

The cause of death printed in the paper was incorrect. According to the Sanilac County Medical Examiner, Dr. D.A. Smallwood, Erika died of asphyxiation due to a possible grand mal seizure. This letter is being written because my wife and I have suffered a great loss in the death of our daughter and feel if you wanted to write an article about our daughter the reporter should have come to us in order that correct information and facts would have been printed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawkins

Women honored at meeting

Thirty women were present Monday evening when the United Methodist Women of Trinity church met at the church. A dinner was served by group five with Pauline Hulbert and Midge Thompson.

During the business meeting, Betty Crandell and Jennie Deneen were presented with membership pins in recognition of their outstanding service.

The program, "Lord I want to be a Christian," was presented by Shirley Karr and Joan Merchant in dialog and music.

Mrs. Helen Baker then conducted a memorial service in memory of Clara McConkey and Vania White.

The group's next meeting will be Aug. 31.

Change in Social Security

Certain retired self-employed persons - mainly insurance agents and farmers - will benefit from a recent change in the law, according to Susan Ludwig, Social Security field representative in Saginaw.

The change concerns the definition of income which counts for the annual earnings test, the measure used to decide if a person is retired.

Under the old law, all of the income a self-employed person received in a year counted under the annual earnings test, even if part of it was actually earned before that year.

Under the new law, income received in a year after the year a self-employed person becomes entitled to Social Security retirement benefits will not affect benefit payments if it is earned after the month of entitlement.

Ms. Ludwig said that since this provision is effective for taxable years ending after December, 1977, some self-employed people will be due benefits that were withheld for 1978, 1979, or 1980.

"We cannot identify the people affected by this change in the law," she said. Therefore, anyone who thinks he or she may be affected should get in touch with the Saginaw Social Security office, at the corner of East Genesee and North Warren Streets.

The person should bring his or her self-employment tax returns for 1978, 1979, or 1980 and any other information available.

With this information, Social Security can decide if any back benefits are due. If benefits are due, they will be paid after the decision is made.

This change in the law does not affect any tax liability. It applies only to earnings for the annual retirement test.

Anyone having questions about the change in the law should contact the Saginaw office, telephone 771-1010.

driven by her brother, rolled over three times. The accident took place on Warner Road, southwest of Cass City.

What saved the two occupants, she has been told, was the rollbar behind the cab, which kept the roof from collapsing completely. Neither occupant, both Cass City High School seniors, who were to graduate two days later, was thrown from the vehicle.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

Deanna and Janey Powell, 10 and 8 respectively, of 350 Froede Road, were treated and released from Hills and Dales following a 12:30 p.m. accident Sunday.

According to the Tuscola sheriff's department, they were passengers in a car driven by Pastor John E. Lange, 27, of 3454 Lamton Road, Decker.

Deputies reported he was northbound on Cemetery Road, north of Deckerville Road, and tried to go around a vehicle that was backing out of a driveway, but it backed into his auto.

Driver of the other car was Arthur A. Hartwick, 72, of 1771 N. Cemetery Road, Deford, who was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

Lange was ticketed on a charge of improper license plates.

Kevin D. Loeffler, 21, of 6824 McElowney Road, Gagetown, sought his own treatment after an accident at 10:45 p.m. Saturday.

He told Caro state police he was westbound on M-81 and slowed to turn right onto Cedar Run Road. As he started to turn, a car that was improperly in the northbound lane started to turn onto eastbound M-81.

Loeffler took evasive action and his motorcycle tipped over. The driver of the car did not stop.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Caro state police arrested Claude Harry King, 76, of 4792 State Street, Gagetown, on charges of driving under the influence of liquor and failure to report a property damage accident after a mishap at 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

According to troopers, witnesses said his vehicle backed out of a parking place on the east side of Lincoln Street. The driver then made a wide U-turn at the five-way intersection and his car struck the utility pole and traffic sign at the northwest corner of Gage and State Streets. The driver then left the scene.

King was taken to the county jail in Caro. He was

Fire damages empty house in Gagetown

Damage was estimated at a "couple of thousand dollars" from a fire in a vacant house on Lincoln Street in Gagetown Thursday evening.

The sheriff's department is investigating to determine a cause.

Owner of the home is Joe Salcido. The fire occurred in the northeast corner of the home and was extinguished by Elmwood township Gagetown firemen in about a half-hour.

released the following day on bond, pending arraignment in district court.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Cass City police reported a two-vehicle accident at 5:05 p.m. Friday.

Kathleen R. Mika, 41, of 4556 Green Road, northbound on Seeger, had stopped to turn left onto Church Street. Police said she failed to see an approaching southbound car because of a southbound mail truck that had stopped in order to turn east onto Church. She started to turn and collided with the southbound auto.

Driver of the other car was Barry Lapp, 17, of 3700 Cemetery Road. Driver of the mail truck was Sayre Nichol of Saginaw.

Village police reported that at 1:15 p.m. last Thursday, Maryette Ann Briggs, 27, of 4195 West Street, backed into a vehicle in the parking area in front of the municipal building on Church Street. Owner of the parked vehicle was Arrowhead Builders.

At 3:20 p.m. Friday, Cass City police said, Joel H. Palmateer, 20, of 3751 E. Caro Road, was northbound on Englehart Road, north of Severance Road, when he lost control and his car went into the east side ditch.

At 12:50 p.m. May 26, according to deputies, Wendy Ann Kelley, 19, of 6632 Houghton Street, Cass City, was northbound on Cemetery Road, south of River Road, when she swerved to miss a dog. She lost control of her car and it went into the west ditch.

CAR-DEER

Cass City police reported that at 12:55 a.m. May 26, Kenneth R. Harris of Greenland Road was westbound on M-81, west of Crawford Road, when his vehicle collided with a deer.

At 8:10 p.m. last Thursday, they said, Joseph W. Parrott, 56, of 3121 N. Dodge Road was westbound on M-81, also west of Crawford, when his vehicle hit a deer.

Caro state police reported that at 6:20 a.m. Sunday, Roy W. Davis, 70, of Bad Axe, was westbound on M-81, this time east of Crawford, when his car hit a deer.

Young Author Day held at Campbell

The second annual Young Author's Day was held Monday at Campbell Elementary School, intended to encourage creativity and language skills of the students.

Youngsters in grades 1-4 were invited to write books and about 200 did so. The best in each grade were presented with a certificate at the assembly which ended the day's activities. All others who wrote a book also received a certificate.

Although the purpose of the day was to honor the authors, all students in grades 1-4 attended the workshops.

Special guest was Carol Fenner of Battle Creek, author of five children's books, plus articles on the subject of writing for children. She recently received a Michigan Council for the Arts grant to help her continue her writing. She spoke at the opening assembly for all the children, plus two workshops for smaller groups.

Students had a choice of workshops they could attend, which took place from 10:15-11 a.m., 12:30-1:15 p.m. and 1:30-2:15. Workshop topics included choral reading, photography, cooking up a story, the "Fat Cat Puppet Show," act out a story, newspaper writing, shadow pictures, story telling, radio drama, journal writing and fingerpainting.

Workshops were conducted by teachers and several volunteers. Several parents also helped in conducting the day's activities. Co-chairmen were reading teacher Marilyn Peters and elementary librarian Donna Emerson.

Judged the outstanding authors from each grade were:

First — Dana DeLong, Catherine Coe, Angela Gruber, Amy Ross, Ken Santos, Jeff Schember, Ronnie Miller, Mya Pakonen, Diana Loomis.

Owen-Gage seeks 2.25 more mills money. As soon as Cass City pays us, we'll be okay," he told the Chronicle.

With or without the money from there, Erickson isn't predicting specifically what cuts may lie ahead next year. "We don't threaten our people. They're all knowledgeable of the situation here."

ONE CUT THAT HAS ALREADY been made is the school board "pink slipped" five staff members in March for the 1981-82 school year, two elementary teachers, two at the high school, plus the counselor.

The cuts, according to the superintendent, reflect a decline in enrollment.

How many staff members actually lose their jobs depends on approval of the millage, of course, plus how many other staff members leave for other reasons.

When all is said and done, Erickson is predicting Owen-Gage will have 3½ fewer teachers than it did this year — the half because there will be a need for only one kindergarten session next year, based on expected enrollment.

The layoffs and increased millage, he concluded, will alleviate the district's cash flow problems, but not by much. "We take each crisis, one at a time."

Some property owners, especially senior citizens, may not have to pay the entire amount of the tax increase, if approved, in that they will receive a rebate on their state income taxes. That is explained in the article on page 5.

Lutherans hold picnic

A potluck picnic, held at the park pavilion Monday evening, was the final meeting of Good Shepherd Lutheran Ladies Aid until fall. Nineteen members attended.

The group plans a rummage sale in August and the cookbooks will soon be for sale.

In charge of the picnic were Mrs. Jackie Guinther, Mrs. Barb Koepf and Mrs. Lucille Stine.

Second — Julie Baker, Peter Kappen, Tracie Hightower, Harlan Browne, Dennis DeLong, Steven Tuckey, Jeff Jeung.

Third — Paula Merchant, Sharon Rosenstangel, Scott Dillon, Michelle Kelly, Tim Rutkoski, Patricia Bouck, Pam Goodall, Steven Bills, Stacy White, Wendy Weaver. Honored for their illustrations were Tammy McNeil, Alex Lukshaitis, Traci Haas.

Jim Bauer honored by hospital

Jim Bauer was honored Wednesday, May 27, for his 25 years of service at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Bauer was awarded a plaque commemorating his long service by Ken Jensen, hospital administrator, in the highlight of the dinner meeting held at Sherwood-on-the-Hill in Gagetown.

Attending were former and present members of the hospital board, the medical staff at the hospital and their spouses.

Jensen outlined the thousands of hours of service Bauer contributed to the hospital and his role in fund raising drives and the handling of community relations.

Accepting the award, Bauer said that he has enjoyed every minute of his work on the board and the reason he is quitting is that he feels it is time for youth to take over.

Bauer is president of the board and will end his hospital career June 9 when his current term expires.

Gagetown applies for FHA loan

Gagetown will apply for a Farmers Home Administration loan to finance its approximately $600,000 share of the proposed sanitary sewer and sewage treatment system.

The village has been awarded a federal grant of $1,177,800 and a state grant of $78,250 for the project, but it must pay the rest of the cost.

The FHA loan, if it is obtained, will finance the local share at an interest rate of 5 percent, with the loan to be repaid over 40 years. However, the Reagan administration is proposing eliminating the FHA loan program.

Having to borrow the money from lending institutions, due to higher interest rates and shorter payback period, isn't feasible, Village President Bill Downing said, because of the limited financial resources of the village and residents.

The village council held a special meeting May 26 with a representative of its consulting firm, Edmonds Engineering Inc. of Bay City, to discuss the situation.

Edmonds is preparing the FHA loan application, which may be submitted this week, Downing said.

The council met the following night to conduct a public hearing on whether it should amend the zoning ordinance to permit use of the former Comment garage on Lincoln Street for an auto body repair shop by its new owner.

No objections were made and the amendment was approved.

Council members conducted their regular monthly meeting Monday and approved purchase of a new weed trimmer for $369.

Kenneth Orton was granted permission to sell ice cream from his truck in the afternoons.

There was $1,013 transferred from the major street to the local street fund.

Discussion included some property in Gagetown that needs to be cleaned up.

AAUW elects new officers

The May meeting of the Cass City Branch of the American Association of University Women was held last week in the high school library.

The meeting began at 6:30 with a potluck dinner. Neva Zinnecker was a special guest. Malvina Profit and Donna Wachterhauser were hostesses. Barbara Tuckey gave the invocation.

After dinner, Sharon Dunn was elected president and Kathy Tuckey, secretary.

They will take office July 1. Geraldine Prieskorn explained the need for the millage proposals in the June 8 school election. She also talked about an electronics blackboard system to be sponsored by Saginaw Valley State College this fall.

High schools can avail themselves of the new concept of continuing education by the purchase of special equipment. More information concerning this project will be available later.

Mrs. Tuckey reported on the state convention held in May in Traverse City. She also highlighted important legislation now being considered at the state and national levels.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mary Brown, retiring secretary, presented Barbara Tuckey, retiring president, with a tribute for her leadership and many contributions to the group during her term of service.

A book in her honor will be placed in the Rawson Memorial Library.

The meeting was adjourned to the speech auditorium for a special program. Members of area square dance clubs presented a demonstration of square and round dancing.

Floyd Huett of the Cass City Town and Country Square Dance Club was the caller, and also gave an explanation of the background of this type of dancing.

The dancers taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thompson, and Mrs. Floyd Huett of the Town and Country club, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Amend, Mr. and Mrs. Fin Burk, and Jim Burk from the Caro Rocking Eights Square Dance club.

Marilyn Erla was in charge of the program.

Taking Stock

Those water filters you put on your tap to "purify" your drinking water ... Bottled "spring" water ... Distilled water ... All great for you. Right? Wrong.

And besides not being beneficial to your insides, they're darned expensive and unnecessary.

All this came from an evening of visiting with George Symons, a "water engineer" of Larchmont, N.Y., who has spent a lifetime in the field. He edited the trade publication on water management, he contributes to the magazine still and does consulting work all over the United States.

"There's nothing wrong with tap water in Florida," he said. "It is properly treated and chlorinated. If the chlorine flavor sometimes is objectionable, put a jar of water in the refrigerator, or just ice it."

"Sitting in the refrigerator isn't so important. The idea is to cool it; that removes most of the chlorine taste."

"Spring water? What do you know about the spring? What do you know about the conditions in the bottling plant?"

"Your city water out of the tap doesn't go through all this handling process, you know. Much less chance of contamination."

Part of the group listening to Mr. Symons were Dr. and Mrs. Max Crispin of Palm said it displayed a wide variety of talents and skills and it didn't take much coaxing to get most of those people to come back.

There is a registration fee required to obtain a 10-by-10-foot square space, Mrs. Herron said, and anyone interested should contact her at 872-2217.

OTHER EVENTS slated for this year's "very organized" festival, are pet show at 1 p.m. in the park and a bingo tent to be open all day July 4, Herron said.

The annual softball tournament, chaired by David Osentoski, will begin the evening of July 3 and teams wishing to enter should contact him.

Another addition to this year's program is a home run derby, which will run from 1-5 p.m. July 4, and is being run by Bill Klinkman.

There will be plenty of food and concession stands too, according to the chairman, with the Rotary Club planning a 7 a.m. breakfast and the Lions Club sponsoring a chicken barbecue after the parade.

Beach. Their daughter Emmy had given them a filtering device to fit on the tap in the kitchen.

"Isn't that a good thing?" asked Mrs. Crispin.

"It might be worse than nothing," said Mr. Symons. "The filter clogs up sooner than the company claims. Most people don't change it often enough. When it clogs up, bacteria in the water supply find it a cozy place to multiply. The few bacteria in the tap water, if you leave it alone, are not significant. But when you let them multiply for weeks or months, that's something else."

I chimed in and asked: "What about distilled water? Is there a reason not to drink it?"

"Some think it might leach out natural salts already in your body," answered Mr. Symons, who then turned to Dr. Crispin and asked, "Think that's important, Max?"

"No," said Dr. Crispin.

"Then there's no reason NOT to drink it," he said, "except that it tastes flat. And the fact that it's pure is no reason to buy the stuff, either. Tap water is good enough. Save your money."

I asked Mr. Symons about the recent television program on "60 Minutes" which showed man-made ponds that came into being when the soil and rocks were removed atop the Biscayne aquifer. Dan Rather, with his usual look of alarm, said such ponds in the residential areas opened the aquifer to pollution, and the aquifer, as you know, is the source of drinking water in South Florida.

"Unless sewers of toxic chemicals from industry plants go into these ponds, or septic tanks overflow into them, an open pond itself doesn't get polluted."

"These television shows have to hype up these things to get you excited," he said.

Footnote: Mr. Symons' wife, Virginia, and I had a great common bond. We both drink Postum regularly, and have for years.

"General Foods tried to discontinue it," she said. "Postum drinkers of America rose up and wouldn't let them."

Bully for them. There's hope for us purists yet.

(If you don't know what Postum is, it is a food product developed by the Post Co. of Battle Creek a million years ago. Some, with insensitive tastes think it is roasted sweeping compound.)
