

Cass City board picks budget cuts should millage lose

The Cass City School Board announced Monday the cuts in the curriculum that will be instituted to balance the budget if the request for three additional mills for operation is not approved Aug. 11.

The cuts are designed to pare $83,000 and balance the school budget.

There were few surprises in the cuts other than the reinstatement of a school nurse which in the preliminary planning had been on the cut list.

Dick Albee, chairman of the curriculum committee, presented the budget and said that the recommendation was not to defer purchase of a school bus.

The committee felt the safety of the children was at stake and the increased maintenance cost together with the rising prices would make the cost greater down the road, Albee explained.

The cuts and the dollar amount estimated to be saved include:

Extracurricular activities requiring paid supervision $5,600 (band, all sports except boys' and girls' varsity basketball, FFA, library, debate, etc.)

Intermediate and elementary librarian $10,000
Supplies $5,500
Field trips $7,900
Athletics $45,000

The answer to another ticklish question is still to be determined. If the millage is not approved and booster groups come forth to pay the cost of pet programs should the money be accepted and the program reinstated?

There appear to be mixed feelings on the board. Supt. Donald Crouse outlined the approach used in a previous crisis where the board voted to accept all payments for any program and run the program as long as the money was available. The theory was that the students would be given as much of the full program as possible when money was available.

The second approach was that if the millage is turned down any money that would be donated should go into the general fund to be spent at the discretion of the board. This approach would probably dry up any attempts by booster organizations to raise funds.

Trustee Ben Hobart said the real answer was passage of the millage. That sparked questions from the audience about what could be done coupled with demands that the board take a leadership role in the upcoming election.

After much discussion the board appointed Elaine Proctor and Dotty Scollon as co-chairmen of the drive.

The two will co-ordinate the drive to get information to the voters. Hobart said that one of the keys is to let the people know that the cost of educating a child at Cass City, according to the last available information, was under $1,500 and was much lower than all but one of the districts in the area.

One of the first efforts in the drive will be two special meetings. The first will be at Deford School Monday, July 20, at 7:30 p.m. The second will be Monday, July 27, at Evergreen School at 7:30 p.m.

The superintendent, a couple of board members and members of the special campaign committee are scheduled to be present to answer questions and explain the school situation.

HOT, HUMID weather Monday sent these fishermen to the Cass River to catch the breeze and with luck, a pike. They are Ron Guinther, left, and Brent Szarapski of Cass City.

Shover man drowns in gravel pit near Argyle

Just four days after a 16-year-old Saginaw youth drowned in a gravel pit near Vassar, a 21-year-old Shover man drowned Wednesday, July 8, in a gravel pit, near Argyle.

Larry J. Crittenden, of 3623 Washington Street, was swimming at the Ferguson Gravel Pit, on Argyle Road, 2½ miles west of Argyle when another swimmer spotted him at the bottom of the 7-12 foot deep pond.

It was about 6:15 p.m. when the swimmer, snorkeling on an innertube, noticed Crittenden. Sgt. Cliff Kenny of the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department said.

Bystanders attempted to revive Crittenden before deputies arrived, but were unsuccessful, Kenny said, estimating the victim had been underwater 30-45 minutes before he was spotted.

Crittenden was pronounced dead at the scene by Donald C. MacNeil, D.O., a Sanilac county deputy medical examiner.

The pit, admittedly "less safe than a swimming pool,"

Seniority grievance denied by board

A grievance by the Tri-County Bargaining Association was denied by the Cass City School Board Monday in its regular session at Cass City High School.

The action paves the way

Prieskorn retained as president

The election of officers for the new year for the Cass City School Board was contested for the first time in several years.

Challenging incumbent Geraldine Prieskorn was Dick Albee, who was nominated by Ellen Burnette and supported by Dr. E. Paul Lockwood.

In the first vote a majority was not reached as Albee and newly elected trustee Ben Hobart abstained leaving the total at 3-2 for Prieskorn. Because a majority of the board is required to elect, a second vote was taken and this time Hobart voted for Prieskorn and she retained her office by a vote of 4-2.

Other officers elected included Lockwood, vice-president; Dr. Ed Scollon, secretary, and Albee, treasurer. Albee was opposed by Burnette and was elected by a 4-2 vote.

for the possible submission of the issue to binding arbitration.

What the union is grieving is the decision of the board to include administrators on the seniority list.

Leo Gengler, speaking for the union, said that he had nothing against the school granting administrators job security but felt that the union represented teachers only.

If a teacher were bumped from a job by an administrator returning to the classroom, the union would have to fight for the rights of the teacher, he added.

Supt. Donald Crouse replied that the basis for the action was in the contract which was approved by the union and in force last year and was not changed for the coming year. Last year administrators were on the seniority list.

If the union view prevailed the superintendent, high school principal and community education director would have no seniority rights at Cass City Schools and other teachers that came up through the system would have service credit stopped when they took administrative positions.

SALARY BOOST

The salary of Roland Pakonen, assistant high school principal, was not reviewed when other salaries were changed because it was not known if his position was to be cut. It was not so the board acted to grant him the same increase of $2,100 granted other administrators, bringing his salary to $26,600 yearly.

OTHER CHANGES

Curt Strickland of the Thumb National Bank appeared before the board to ask that the demand deposits of the school be granted to the bank that offered the best bid for school loans.

Our bank, he said, can be much more competitive if we know that our interest rate bid, if accepted, means that we receive the demand deposits, too. The board instructed the superintendent to institute the change in upcoming bank bids.

A significant change in the status of non-resident students was thrashed out by the board. Because of a change in payment by the state, tuition students not now attending Cass City School will not be admitted without special action by the board.

Students living in districts that have requested transfer to the Cass City district will be admitted.

The board would probably be willing to carefully consider any student from a family with siblings attending the school now.

Owendale-Gagetown employees are going to have to wait a bit longer before getting their first paychecks since March 13.

The school board accepted the bid Monday evening of the First National Bank of Bad Axe for a loan of $395,000 in tax anticipation notes at an interest rate of 13.5 percent. Cost to the district in interest will be $39,889, with the notes to be repaid by April 1 of next year.

The only other bid submitted in time for the 4 p.m. bid opening was that of Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Sebawaing at 13.625 percent interest.

The bad news, Supt. Ronald Erickson told the board, is that an official of the bank notified him after the bid opening that it will take about 2½ weeks for the loan to be processed before Owen-Gage has the money.

Once that happens, teachers and other employees won't receive their back pay in one lump sum, as the district's bookkeeper has to process each payroll separately, going back to March 28, the first payday missed.

In related action, the board approved a resolution requesting Attorney General Frank J. Kelley to rule on whether Owen-Gage can reimburse its staff for the interest on money they have borrowed during the payless paydays.

The Municipal Finance

Commission, prior to approving the district's request for permission to borrow the $395,000, said Owen-Gage couldn't pay the interest for its staff.

Erickson's latest estimate is that employees have borrowed $180,000 from Farmers and Merchants, at 15 percent interest.

GRIEVANCE

After considerable discussion, the board voted 6-0 to deny a grievance filed by the Owen-Gage Education Association in behalf of second grade teacher Rhonda Powers.

The grievance was filed against Elementary Principal William Britt for docking her a day's pay for taking a business leave day the day before Good Friday, which was a holiday.

The contract between the OGEA and school board prohibits taking a leave day the day before or after a vacation period.

Ms. Powers originally accepted the loss of a day's pay. The grievance was filed after Britt approved a business leave day for teachers Kay Erickson and Doris Billy May 22, which was the day before the start of the Memorial Day week end.

Britt said during the grievance hearing that when the request was made in early May for the leave day, neither he nor the two teachers realized May 22 was the day before the start of the three-day holiday week end.

"You already broke the contract," OGEA President Manuel Thies said to the board during the open hearing. "What we are asking for is equality."

A typical response of board members was that of Patrick Goslin: "If we broke the contract in the first place, I'd rather we patch that up, rather than breaking it again."

The board did that after voting to deny the grievance, by voting to require teachers Erickson and Billy to reimburse the district for the one day's pay each received for the business leave day they took May 22.

After the hearing, Ms. Powers said, "I'm thinking of it," when asked if she will appeal the board's action.

If she decides to proceed, the appeal must be filed by the Tri-County Bargaining Association, the contract bargaining agent for the teachers.

The contract specifies the next step in the grievance procedure is for the TCBA to ask the American Arbitration Association within 10 days to appoint an arbitrator to hear the grievance and make a decision.

ATHLETICS

Claude Stevens was appointed varsity basketball coach for 1981-82, replacing Phil Gray, who resigned the position after five years at the helm. He had replaced Stevens, who was coach for about 20 years before Gray.

He and Athletic Director Wayne Wright will select the junior varsity coach.

Wright, the new high school principal, announced there will be a fifth and sixth grade basketball program from 9-11 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays from July 21 through Aug. 20.

It will be in the Owendale gym the first two weeks, then switch to the Gagetown gym.

Instructors will be ex-Bulldog athletes Kirk Carolan and Jim Hendershot, now students at Central Michigan University.

The program is for boys and girls. Letters containing permission slips have been mailed to parents. They must be brought to the first session. Those who didn't get the permission slips can get them at the high school office.

Students unable to take part at the beginning can join later on.

The board voted to reimburse the athletic account for $3,034, the amount by which the account was overdrawn at the bank.

They also voted to put money from the general fund intended for such funds as athletics, student council, student newspaper, yearbook, etc., directly into the internal bank accounts.

The problem, Wright explained, is that in the past, careful watch wasn't always kept on which internal account money was spent from.

For instance, only gate receipts went into the athletic account, but purchases were made from it, such as for uniforms, which should have come out of the athletic budget within the general fund. That was the reason for the deficit.

Now, for example, the entire general fund appropriation for athletics will go into the internal fund.

ORGANIZATION

Officers elected by the board at its organization session prior to the regular meeting were: Ronald Good, president; Joseph Warack, vice-president; Leona LaFave, secretary; Goslin, assistant secretary; Jack Brinkman, treasurer; Duane Ziehm, assistant treasurer, and Don Cummins, legislative liaison. The only changes were Goslin and Ziehm, who switched positions.

Board meetings will remain the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m., alternating between Owendale and Gagetown.

Depositories for school funds will be Farmers and Merchants, Community Bank of Bad Axe and First National Bank of Bad Axe.

Mrs. LaFave was reappointed as the board's representative to the Huron County School Board Association.

Benefits outweigh costs in three county 'drug busts'

DIRECTING THE DRIVE for passage of three additional mills for operation in the Aug. 11 special election are Dotty Scollon, left, and Elaine Proctor.

It cost Tuscola county $11,917 to arrest 65 persons for delivery of drugs.

Of the 65, 31 have pleaded guilty to felonies, two to misdemeanors and three were found guilty by a jury. One was found innocent and one trial resulted in a hung jury. The rest of the cases, as of July 2, are still pending.

The report on the undercover investigation which resulted in the arrests was presented Tuesday by Prosecutor Artis Noel to the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners.

The operation by the prosecutor's office and sheriff's department began in May of last year, with a large number of persons being arrested in "drug busts" conducted Nov. 6,

Jan. 27 and April 9.

The operating procedure consisted of undercover officers buying the narcotics, mostly marijuana, from dealers. Various sources then had to be checked to determine the names and addresses of the sellers, since that information wouldn't normally be learned during the sale.

Of the 19 persons who have been found guilty or pleaded guilty to delivery of marijuana, the average jail term imposed was 68 days, with an average fine of $653, court costs of $400, and probation averaging 2.89 years.

A total of $12,400 in fines and $7,600 in court costs were collected.

Fines go into a fund to be used by county libraries, as required by state law. Court costs go into the county general fund.

Five persons were guilty by plea or conviction of delivery of LSD, PCP or PCPY. One was sentenced to 3½-7 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson and the others drew an average term in the county jail of 98 days.

Fines totaled $2,900, for an average paid by the four who didn't go to state prison of $725. Court costs totaled $1,650, an average of $412.50. Probation averaged two years.

Investigation has cost the county in three ways.

Attorneys have had to be appointed for 31 defendants who could not afford to hire a lawyer. As of July 2, they had billed the county for a total of $2,681, an average of $223 for the 12 who submitted bills so far.

Wages paid to the undercover officers who made the buys totaled $10,266. They paid $1,650 to buy the drugs, for a total of $11,916.

Uncomputed has been the cost of the time spent by the prosecutor and his staff and sheriff's department detectives and other staff in conducting the investigation, making the arrests and prosecution.

To help defray the cost, various service clubs in the county donated a total of $1,250, plus $500 more has been pledged.

The county also collected $4,000 from one defendant who bought his car back, seized under a provision of the state controlled substances act. The person got his car back, prior to forfeiture and with the permission of the prosecutor's office. Three other cars were seized, which were turned over to the state.

Asked by the Chronicle if the program was financially worthwhile, Noel responded, "I don't look at it as money well spent, because it's not a business, but it certainly has been a benefit to the community."

He will present a final report to the county board after all cases are processed.

You can BANK on it!

Q. I've never felt that I needed a checking account, since the few bills I have I pay with either cash or money orders. The new interest-bearing NOW accounts seem attractive, however. Would there be any advantages for me to open a NOW account?

A. This question is best answered by reviewing your individual situation with your bank officer. There are several benefits you may want to consider. First, you will probably realize a savings on money order fees with a NOW account. Secondly, your NOW account will earn additional income through interest paid on the balance in your account, within your bank's rules. And, third, is the service your bank can provide simply because of the years of experience banks have had in providing comprehensive financial service.

"If It Fitz..."

Ignorant enemies triumph

By Jim Fitzgerald

This story might be called a modern tragedy. Two names have been changed, but nothing else.

Mary, a 24-year-old suburban housewife, first wrote to me last July. She'd recently given birth to twin boys, and one of them weighed only three pounds and had to remain in the hospital for five weeks. The total bill was more than $12,000, all but $249 covered by health insurance. Mary was peeved, but good-naturedly, because the hospital was threatening "legal action" if the $249 weren't paid within 10 days.

Her husband Bill's employer had just moved, forcing him to drive several hundred miles a week if he wanted to keep his job. They were already living on only $110 a week, and there was no pay raise to cover the added gasoline costs. Money was exceedingly scarce.

"I've sent the hospital $50 and I've repeatedly called and written them, begging to be given more time," Mary wrote, "but they refuse to listen, even though they've already received $12,000. We are honest people and intend to pay them every cent, with interest if they insist. But somehow baby food and formula seem more important to me than a $249 hospital bill."

A month later, after I'd written something about the outrageous cost of medical care, there was another note from Mary: "As of today, there is no change in our status as 'outlaws' with the hospital, although last week I mailed them $25 more. Tomato soup seven days running is not all bad. We enjoy acting like peasants now and then, anyway. It's so chic."

I'm not proud to admit I'm too lazy to answer most of my mail. But something about Mary grabbed me. We exchanged several letters, and I was always impressed by her merry attitude, no matter what her troubles, and by her genuine concern for other people's troubles.

Last fall I wrote a column about the ignorance of "normal" people who are afraid, for no good reason, to have mentally retarded neighbors. This prompted Mary to write me about how proud she was of her sister who struggled for 10 years to get a college education so she could work with the mentally handicapped.

"I don't know why my sister and I seemingly have more compassion than most other people," Mary wrote. "I can't recall anything my parents ever said or did to make us unprejudiced and unafraid. I only know we didn't sit around the dinner table talking about 'niggers' and 'retards' and asking someone to pass the salt all in the same breath. I have been in many homes where this kind of talk is common. It happens in the grocery store and at the gas station. Everywhere I go, there 'they' are. I call them my ignorant enemies."

Recently I was on vacation. When I returned, there was a two-week-old letter from Mary waiting. She'd written in response to a column concerning child abuse, and a funeral card was enclosed. Her husband Bill, 28, had killed himself with auto exhaust fumes.

Mary explained that a big reason for the suicide was Bill's childhood. He and his brothers and sisters had been abused and ultimately split up. Recently he'd been reunited with his siblings and was crushed to see they hadn't overcome their cruel background. They needed help, and Bill was dismayed that he was unable to give it to them; he could barely support his wife and children. He felt terribly inadequate. His depression, along with his boyhood scars, became more than he could handle.

I immediately wrote to Mary, expressing sorrow. That letter was returned to me last Monday with another funeral card. A note from Mary's mother said:

"I am sorry to have to inform you that Mary took her life in the same manner as her husband. We are still too grief-stricken to realize she is really gone. . . . We knew Bill's death hit her very hard, but hoped she would let time do the healing. But she hurt too bad to go on."

I never met Mary, and I'll never forget her. I'll never forget her ignorant enemies, either.

Prisoner arraigned on escape charges

John A. Rashotte's escape last Wednesday was a brief one, but he will probably have a long time to remember it.

Rashotte, 22, of Standish, was arraigned in district court Tuesday on charges of unarmed robbery, felonious assault, escape from jail through violence and possession of a firearm in connection with the escape.

Judge Richard F. Kern scheduled a pre-preliminary examination July 20 and pre-

Sanilac prisoner still loose

Police are still looking for Randy Mazzolini, the Sanilac county prisoner who eluded police and tracking dogs in an early morning pursuit July 7.

Several leads and the prisoner's previous record have led Sanilac county deputies to believe he is still in the area and possibly armed.

Mazzolini, of Sandusky, was serving time through the state work release program when he escaped, leaving a trail of three stolen vehicles across Sanilac and Tuscola counties.

The 21-year-old escapee and another prisoner, Tracy Sears, 24, of Deckerville, had originally stolen a pickup truck near Argyle, where a deputy sighted them heading west. The truck was stopped after a high-speed chase and Sears apprehended, but Mazzolini continued to flee on foot.

Heading southwest, Mazzolini stole another vehicle near Crawford Road, ran it into a ditch and continued on foot with police and tracking dogs from five different departments in pursuit.

At approximately 5:30 that morning, the prisoner is believed to have stolen another pickup truck near Deford, a 1976 blue Chevrolet with a woodgrain cover, which he may still be traveling in.

liminary examination July 24.

According to the sheriff's department, Deputy David Kennard had escorted the defendant to the Caro Family Physicians clinic on Montague Street for a physical checkup.

They were about to return in the department van when Rashotte complained his handcuffs were too tight. Kennard attempted to adjust them, then was overpowered and knocked to the ground in a brief struggle.

Rashotte escaped with one handcuff dangling and the officer's .38 caliber revolver. The incident took place about 4:10 p.m.

Rashotte then commandeered a car with four occupants and climbed inside. He got out of the vehicle a few blocks away, near the Michigan Employment Security Commission office on Green Street, and fled into the woods.

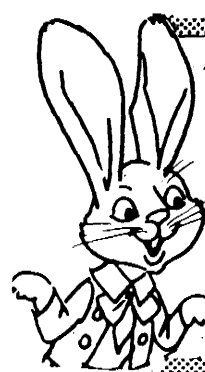

Deputies, village police and state police began searching. Sgt. Clifford Kenny of the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department and his tracking dog were brought to the scene.

The dog led the officers to a ravine near the Cass River, behind the Michigan Sugar Co., where the escapee was apprehended about 6:40 p.m. He still had the gun, but was reported to have offered no resistance.

Rashotte was in jail awaiting sentencing on charges of armed robbery and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony in connection with his using a sawed-off shotgun to rob Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gilmore of less than $100 Jan. 21.

He pleaded guilty to the charges June 1, in a plea bargain with the prosecution, in exchange for which a charge of breaking and entering in connection with the incident was dismissed.

Hotter than the discussion at the Cass City School Board meeting was the room in which it was held. Supposedly air conditioned, the board room just wasn't able to handle the roomful of people and temperatures in the high 80's.

While this corner doesn't buy the thesis that Chemistry II is any more important than a fall football or volleyball program, I join Trustee Dick Albee in commending Doug Grezeszak for a job well done.

He's spent a good deal of his summer vacation hammering out details of the new course, and getting 21 students interested in advanced chemistry borders on astounding.

However, when teachers throughout the system are on hold for supplies there's no way to rationalize making an exception here.

If equating a sports program with advanced chemistry has raised a few eyebrows let me point out that sports programs affect the whole community, as well as individual students for whom advanced chemistry is of no value.

While I say "no" to chemistry II if the millage isn't passed, I'd say "yes" to the program if an individual or a group feels strongly enough to find a way to raise the $588.92. If the money is available, why not? Our kids will pass through school just once and we should do whatever we can to give them the most we can.

The real answer for all school curriculum boosters is to pass the three mills for operation Aug. 11.

Anyone can help by calling the school or Dotty Scollon or Elaine Proctor, heads of the drive to acquaint voters with the facts. They'll put you to work.

In crises in the past, Cass City taxpayers have bit the bullet after they learned the need and compared our operation with other schools.

We still stack up among the best. School boosters would do well to get the story out and then abide by the final decision of the voters Aug. 11.

And run as much program as they can with whatever money is available including special donations for special causes.

The Haire Net

It wouldn't be surprising if before long my money and your money could be used to finance private schools.

That may be okay with you but I'd be against it even if I were a strong supporter of private or parochial schools which I am not.

Call it a tuition tax credit or whatever it all comes down to what it is, tax supported money for private schools which has been prohibited by the constitution . . . or at least what the experts previously have said is unconstitutional.

Given the changes underway in the Supreme Court and the likely appointment of two more justices by conservative Ronald Reagan, interpretations could change radically in the years ahead.

It would be a sad day for the United States if tax support were shifted from public to private schools.

Consider the plight of most school districts today and then try to figure how money could possibly be raised if 25 percent or so had no children in the school that was seeking millage for operation.

School support would melt faster than a snowball on the sidewalk in July.

Even if financing were no problem and money were everywhere for whatever type of educational system desired, private grade and high schools receive no endorsement here.

It may be true that students in private schools learn reading, writing and arithmetic better. Certainly it would be true in some of the schools.

If the basics are all there is for you, maybe a private school fills the bill.

I submit that there's more to school than the class work. And it's not sports or the numerous extracurricular activities that makes it more.

It's the mingling with students from all walks, all economic strata, all religious beliefs and, yes, those with no beliefs at all.

It's a big world out there and what better time to start getting into it than at school?

Short of schools where students walk in danger of actual physical assault, the melting pot of public education is something that every child should experience.

You can't experience it in a school where all the students come from roughly the same economic class, share the same views and are likely to have been lifelong acquaintances if not friends.

Students from public schools may not be as academically qualified as their neighbors from private schools but they will have received a much broader education.

Our public schools are full of faults but the system is better than any alternatives on the horizon today.

Boys end up in hospital after 'borrowing' car

Two teenagers who "borrowed" a car near Owendale Friday evening later found themselves in Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon.

Bad Axe state police reported that Frank Davila, 14, and his passenger, Daniel Cervantes, 13, both of Saginaw, were using the car of Frank's grandfather, Ignacio Davila of Maxwell Road, Owendale, without permission.

The car was southbound on Maxwell, north of Rescue Road, when it went off the west side of the road into the ditch and traveled 87 feet before hitting a tree stump. The car then traveled 79 feet and struck a boulder, bounced into the air and traveled 35 feet before landing upside down in the ditch. The accident took place at 7:20.

Davila was released from the hospital Saturday. Cervantes was reported in good condition there Wednesday morning.

Charles B. Mason, 20, of Deckerville, was treated and released from McKenzie Memorial Hospital in Sandusky after a 12:05 a.m. accident south of Cass City Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies reported he was eastbound on River Road and swerved to miss a deer coming towards him. His car crossed Cemetery Road and went off the east side.

Cass City police arrested Andrew P. Donnelly, 74, of 4445 Brook Street, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor after a 5:20 p.m. mishap Monday.

Officers reported he was pulling away from a parking place in the lot at the northeast corner of Pine and Leach Streets, turned too quickly and hit a parked car, then left the scene.

He was taken to the county jail in Caro and later released, pending appearance in district court.

Owner of the parked car was not named in the police report.

Deputies reported that at 10:20 p.m. July 6, Randall Severance, 18, of 6331 Severance Road, Decker, was westbound on M-81, east of Schwegler Road, when his car struck a deer.

At 1:15 a.m. Saturday, according to Cass City police, Richard G. LeValley, 20, of 6372 Fourth Street, was southbound on Koepfgen Road, north of Milligan Road, when he hit the brakes on his motorcycle to avoid hitting a deer and the machine tipped over.

Cass City board may borrow

OTHER BUSINESS

The board passed a resolution to borrow up to $740,103 for school operating purposes Sept. 4 if needed.

Rosemary Galloway, fifth grade teacher, resigned.

The board transferred $4,000 from the general fund to the hot lunch program to pay bills.

Doug Grezeszak told the board that 21 students were interested in taking a new Chemistry II course.

Because it would cost the school an additional $588.92 for instructional materials, the request was tabled until after the Aug. 11 millage election.

The question of how pictures will be taken for seniors for the yearbook was on the agenda, but not discussed because the student representative did not attend.

New Michigan history textbooks were authorized after Principal Russell Richards informed the board that new books were cheaper to buy than replacement of the older worn-out texts now in use.

has been used for years, according to Kenny. There was a near drowning there two or three years ago, but so far this has been the only drowning reported at Ferguson's, and Sanilac county's second of 1981.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crittenden of Snover was born Jan. 26, 1960 in Sandusky. He was a resident of Snover all his life, graduating from Sandusky High School in 1980.

Rev. David W. Peabody of the Free Methodist church at Laing, which Crittenden attended, officiated at the funeral service Saturday at Hacker Funeral Home in Sandusky. Burial was in Moore cemetery, Snover.

Crittenden is survived by his parents; two brothers, David and Kevin, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Jerry (Diane) Harvey of Flint, Mrs. Ralph (Linda) Bulgrien of Snover and Kerri Crittenden, at home, and his grandmother, Mrs. Irene Crittenden of Sandusky.

Tax workshop

Tax advice for small businessmen will be available July 23 and Aug. 18 in Saginaw.

Workshops, sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service, will be at the Multi-Purpose Center, 222 N. Warren, from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Rev. and Mrs. Paul Schember, missionaries with World Gospel Mission to Burundi, Africa, will be speaking at the Mizpah Missionary church, located three miles south of M-81 on M-53, Sunday morning in the 11:00 o'clock service. There will be a potluck dinner and time of fellowship following the service. They will also be speaking at the Cass City Missionary church, located at 4449 Koepfgen Rd., Sunday evening at 7:30 with a time of fellowship and refreshments following the service.

Paul and Kaylene Schember will be placed at Kayero in Burundi to do evangelistic work in the Buyaga area. Thousands of people inhabit the area and there are no churches of any kind. Plans are to enter three new areas and the Schembers are eager to assist in the effort.

Burundi is a small, scenic country with green rolling hills, landlocked in the center of Africa. Some of the ministries that World Gospel Mission uses to minister to Burundi's 4,100,000 people include: a literature ministry (operated in cooperation with other missionary societies) that prints most of Burundi's Protestant literature, a medical work that treats as many as 91,000 a year and a ministry of Christian education that touches students at all levels from vacation Bible school to seminary.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schember are graduates of Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky. Previous to Asbury, they both attended Kentucky Mountain Bible Institute, Vance, Kentucky. Mr. Schember also attended Emmanuel Bible College, Kitchener, Ontario.

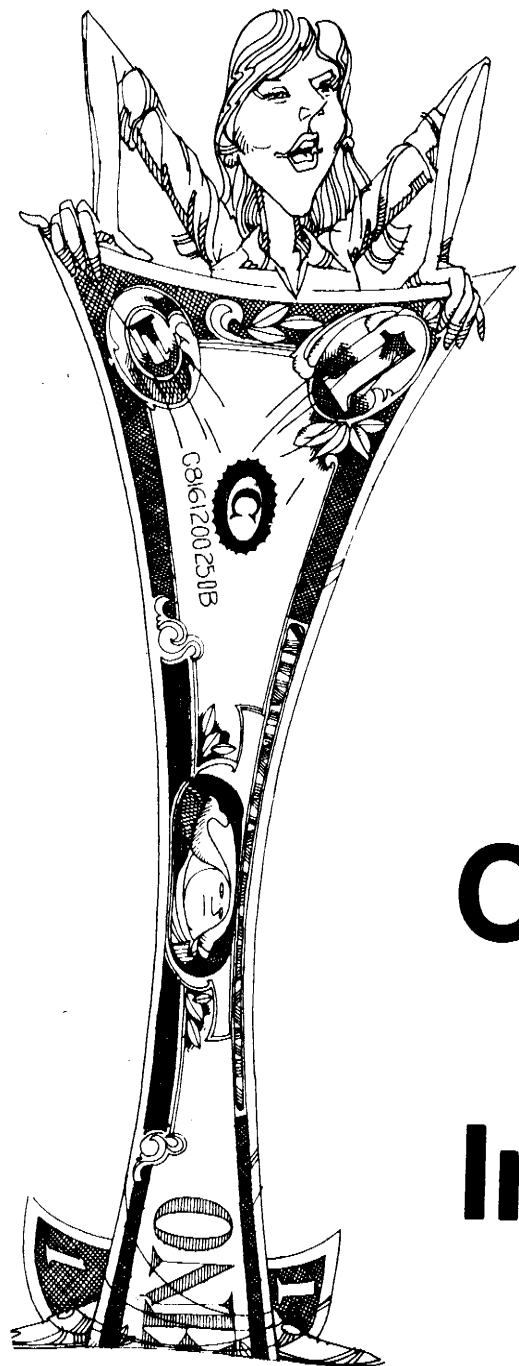

During his senior year at Asbury College, as well as the year following, Mr. Schember pastored two United Methodist churches. Later, he pastored the Rhodes Missionary church in Rhodes, Michigan, for five years. The Schembers have four children.

World Gospel Mission is an interdenominational missionary society with 335 missionaries and homeland personnel, working in seventeen areas around the world. International headquarters is in Marion, Indiana.

Pastor Ed Francis of the Mizpah Church and Pastor Robert Taylor of the Cass City church extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend the services. Adv.

PEDALING AROUND

Vacation rambling

By Mike Eliasohn

In contrast to last year's vacation, when I went to England, my destinations this year were less exotic. I went as far west as Grand Rapids last week and as far south as Monroe.

I came here in June, 1977. This year was the first time I went back to my old stomping ground of Monroe, where I labored for 2 1/4 years at the Evening News.

It's always interesting, in addition to visiting friends, to see how places have changed.

The big change since I left is the massive steel mill at the Port of Monroe, which was only in the planning stages when I left.

It employs 300 persons, according to the reporter who replaced me at the Evening News. Unfortunately, more jobs than that have been lost in the Monroe area since I left.

The big paper mill on the east end of town is closed and is apparently being torn down.

La-Z-Boy still has its headquarters in Monroe, but no longer makes any of its reclining chairs there, apparently because of high labor costs.

Years before I went to Monroe, Monroe Auto Equipment closed the last of its shock absorber plants there. All that is left is its multi-million dollar headquarters building south of town.

When I left Monroe, the planning was almost done for a downtown development project — new store fronts, trees, riverfront walkway, etc.

The store fronts weren't actually to be new. The intent was to remove the modern store fronts and restore the exterior of the buildings to their original turn-of-the-century appearance.

Unfortunately, all that has happened since I left is that a few store fronts have been sandblasted. Other than that, the downtown looks as run down as ever, though a $500,000 improvement project of tree plantings, benches, etc., has been announced, to be half-paid by the merchants and the rest by the city.

There apparently never will be a river walkway, unless the Reagan administration becomes generous.

Fortunately for downtown Monroe, plans for a fancy shopping center outside of town have been put on indefinite hold because of the poor local economy.

There have been other changes — a new city hall, an almost completed new county jail, replacing the present dungeon, and a new headquarters for the savings and loan, constructed outside of town.

It was, of course, good to see friends again whom I hadn't seen in four years. Some lives have changed more than others during that time.

The reporter whose desk was behind mine in Monroe has since gotten married, moved to Grand Rapids and had a child. The child was alright when I visited, but I was afraid of being attacked by their dog. It was almost as big as I was.

Grand Rapids was my first stop. From there, I went to Niles to visit the owner of a 1952 Morgan 3-wheel car, the third to last one built.

Unfortunately, he wasn't quite done with restoring it yet, and won't complete it until after he moves to Florida shortly, so I didn't and won't get a ride.

However, in Dearborn, my last stop, I did get to ride a 1920 or '21 Hesperus Werke, a German made bicycle with lever drive. The levers are in front of the rider and he pushes them back and forth with his feet in order to go forward, instead of pedaling in a circular motion.

Obviously, the Hesperus Werke was not a big success, otherwise this column would be entitled "pedaling back and forth" instead of "pedaling around."

Weber 'mute' in break-in; juries find 2 men guilty

A St. Clair Shores teenager, charged with breaking and entering of the Cass City Gun Club June 3, stood mute Monday at his arraignment in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Judge Patrick R. Joslyn entered a plea of innocent for Robert F. Weber, 18, and scheduled a pretrial hearing Aug. 3. Bond was continued. Also charged in connection with the break-in was Jody L. Miller, 21, of St.

Clair Shores, who pleaded guilty July 6 to larceny in a building and is now awaiting sentencing.

Beer, candy, snacks and soft drinks were taken in the early morning break-in.

In other cases Monday: James E. Freeman, 17, of 2275 Blackmore Road, Mayville, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building in connection with the theft of various items April 20 from a Mayville variety store.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

At a pretrial hearing, David G. Hempton, 22, of 4615 Ball Road, Vassar, pleaded guilty to attempted delivery of marijuana March 25 in Fairgrove township. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

Gary L. Jacques Jr., 19, of 388 Gilford Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to delivery of LSD Feb. 3 in Caro. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

In a plea bargain with the prosecution, in exchange for the guilty plea, a charge of delivery of marijuana Feb. 20 in Caro will be dismissed.

Larry J. Overfield, 30, of State Street, Caro, was placed on three years' probation for delivery of PCE May 16, 1980, in Caro.

He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with work release privileges granted and 45 days deferred until the end of probation. He was fined $500 and assessed $300 court costs.

Clayton J. Fox, 39, of 5240 Leix Road, Mayville, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of a building over $100, but his plea was refused. He attempted to plead guilty to damaging Ruby's Yarn and Fabric Shop in Caro March 1, which is Count I. In Count II, he is charged with malicious destruction of a building over $100 the same day at Buckley's Shoes in Caro.

In a separate charge of malicious destruction of a building over $100, he is charged with damaging Ruby's Yarn Nov. 9, 1980, in Caro.

His trial on the charges is scheduled July 21. Joslyn found him competent Monday to stand trial.

JURY TRIALS

At the conclusion of a three-day trial, a jury last Thursday found Lloyd P. Putnam, 51, of 723 N. Water Street, Vassar, guilty of criminal sexual conduct (1st degree).

Jensen heads club, Olson made 'fellow'

Cass City Rotarians and Rotary Anns feted Fritz Olson and saw a new president inducted for the 1981-82 year at a dinner meeting at Sherwood-On-The-Hill in Gagetown Tuesday, July 7.

Olson was made a Paul Harris Fellow through donations of $1,000 by his family to the Rotary Foundation.

Through the efforts of the Olson family the Cass City club has become a 2,000 percent club. That means that $200 has been given per member of the club to the Foundation, Tom Proctor, who announced the award, said.

Olson is the fifth member of the club to be named a Rotary Fellow. Others previously named are Proctor, M.B. Auten, Jim Bauer and Dick Erla.

When accepting the award, Olson said that he had been a member of three Rotary Clubs and was happy that the award came when he was a member in Cass City.

"I've said this many times before," Olson said, and I don't want to kick a dead horse, but once again let me say this is the finest club that I have been a member of."

Olson also asserted that he had spent much time on Rotary activities and enjoyed every minute of it as he turned the club over to the new president, Ken Jensen.

Jensen then recounted the activities and achievements of the club under Olson's direction including spearheading the drive to raise money for the new tennis courts and the completion of the Rotary exercise trail.

Besides Jensen, other new officers of the club are: Aime Ouvry, vice-president;

Bob Ashmun, secretary; Phil Keating, treasurer, and Bert Althaver, sergeant-at-arms.

Road hearing held

Improvement projects planned for Cemetery Road should begin before winter, Tuscola County Road Commission Clerk Jim Miklovic said.

"The commission will proceed as Kingston Township Board directs us," said Miklovic, explaining the township is primarily funding the project.

Public hearings, mandated by state law, were held July 2 on the proposal to grade, add uncrushed gravel and do drainage work on three different sections of Cemetery Road. Only a few people attended the hearings and no objections or suggestions for change were raised, according to Miklovic.

"Everything went real smooth," he said, adding he expects work will begin in late summer or early fall of this year.

The township will pay for the work, to be done on sections of Cemetery Road between Bevins and Chapin, Mushroom and Chapin and Gilford and Mushroom Roads. The Road Commission will pay the fringe benefits for its employees doing the work.

The township board will be preparing cost estimates of the work to be done to decide how much work it can afford to have done.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City Schools and Cass City Village have reached a formal agreement on a lease for the use of football, baseball and softball facilities at Cass City Recreational Park. After 2 years of negotiations on the lease, the school can continue work on the lights which cost just under $70,000.

Mrs. Lee Rabideau was one of the first customers to purchase a Cass City Bicentennial button when they went on sale Friday.

A malfunction in the new village siren, making the supposedly different wails all sound the same, was discovered last week. The siren will be raised three feet from its present height on top of the Elkland Township Fire Hall to correct the malfunction.

Steve Eskilsen pedaled his way 500 miles from Boston to Washington, D.C., recently as a member of a Campus Life tour.

TEN YEARS AGO

A senior citizens club isn't exactly launched, kicked off or plunged into formation. It just sort of eases into motion, little by little until a lively over 65 group meets for potluck, card-playing and socializing. The Cass City Senior Citizens Club was formed July 8 at the Cass City park.

Two hundred and thirty-six of approximately 12,000 registered voters approved a one mill levy for five years Monday to fund a new fire and township hall by a vote of 181-56.

Members of the Cass City Teachers Association and the Cass City School Board ratified contracts for the new school year calling for an increase of about seven percent in the cost of instruction over the previous year.

Raises of 10 percent for secretaries and hourly employees not represented by the union and from 10 to 20 percent for administrators were agreed to Monday by the Cass City School Board, meeting in a session closed to the press and public.

25 YEARS AGO

Lester Ross was elected to another term on the Cass City school board in the annual election. All officers were reelected to the posts they held last year. Officers are L. Ross - president; Mrs. H.T. Donahue - treasurer; Dr. D.E. Rawson - secretary, and Luke Tuckey and James Gross - trustees.

Members of the Cass City Gavel Club were working far into the night Tuesday to bring tile for drainage of the track at the Cass City Recreation Park.

Opening Cass City stores on Friday nights and closing on Saturday nights was heatedly discussed Monday at a meeting of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

The Tuscola county troop of senior Girl Scouts returned Tuesday from National Roundup at Milford.

35 YEARS AGO

Elizabeth J. Hudson was one of four students from Tuscola county who achieved perfect records during the spring term at Michigan State College.

The Tuscola County Red Cross chapter will start its water safety program at the Cass City swimming pool this summer.

Wahjamega church sets anniversary

The Wahjamega Country church, 2551 Center Road, Caro, will celebrate its 40th anniversary this week end.

Speaker at the 10:30 a.m. service Saturday will be Rev. Patrick Neff. There will be a chicken and ham dinner at noon and programs throughout the afternoon, ending with the 6 p.m. vespers service with Pastor Gary Merillat.

Rev. Clair Purcey and Rev. Bert Phelps will speak at the 10 a.m. service Sunday and Rev. Allen Stebbins at 11 a.m. There will be a fellowship dinner at 1 p.m. Pastor Robert Hazen will conduct the 7 p.m. service.

New books at the libraryA KILLING SEASON by Barbara Brenner (fiction). Her hand still scarred from the fire that killed her parents more than a year ago, Allie Turner, lonely and afraid, seeks solace in the woods. There she finds, and comes to know and love, the wonderful bears. When the fall hunting season opens and Allie's brother kills Papa Bear, her favorite, she turns her rage on Don Bridges, the young wildlife biologist who calmly records the kill. Don challenges her to come along on his rounds. These idyllic moments in the field change Allie's life, as she revels in the chance to be close to the bears, finds growing confidence in her talent as a photographer and gains the strength to establish her own identity.WHEN ELVIS DIED by Neal and Janice Gregory (non-fiction). When Presley died at age 42 Aug. 16, 1977, a media extravaganza was sparked in Memphis and spread like a tidal wave over the globe. The authors, members of U.S. congressional staffs, engage in an earnest and intelligent inquiry into the fantastic scramble that ensued among newspapers, radio, and television for the most-news-in-a-hurry. How the Presley myth was interpreted in the day, following his death is also investigated. The "media fascination with Elvis" poses questions about popular culture that the Gregorays answer comprehensively.THE LORD GOD MADE THEM ALL by James Herriot (non-fiction). Herriot recalls his return to his country veterinary practice following his RAF service during World War II. Senior vet Siegfried Farnon and other engaging characters from earlier memoirs like "All Creatures Great and Small" reappear in Herriot's wonderful anecdotal tales about keeping the Yorkshire farm animals and house pets healthy. The author intersperses diary entries from two adventurous excursions as a medical attendant escorting sheep to Russia and Jersey cows to Turkey. While these travels took place in the 1960s and so do not logically fall in with the postwar memories, they add a lively touch to the intriguing adventures at home.ANNOUNCING*HITE PHOTO "BLOOPER BUY BACK" Guarantee.*We'll buy back any print or prints you don't like no matter what the reason.

Area multiple sclerosis group forming

The Michigan Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society is interested in forming a REMS group in the Huron-Tuscola county area.

Throughout the state, MS patients and their families have organized into groups that are identified as REMS (Recreation and Education for Multiple Sclerosis) groups.

The REMS groups can be a place where MS patients and their families meet regularly to discuss mutual problems, to hear about the latest in research, treatment and health management and to participate in recreation and cultural activities.

Anyone interested in joining such a group can contact Bob Sturm, 25 Learman Road, Bad Axe 48413.

Multiple Sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system that strikes persons between the ages of 15-50. As yet, the cause, prevention and cure are unknown.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Michigan Chapter, is a United Way of Michigan Agency.

HEALTH TIPS

Counting calories important to health

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
AMA

Calories do count, folks. You need calories to sustain health. But the intake must be limited to needs or you get fat.

Think of calories as fuel—the fuel that is used to keep you alive, alert and moving. If you take in more fuel each day than your body can use, the excess is stored as fat.

Most people leading moderately active lives need about 15 calories per pound to maintain their weight. If you want to stay at, say, 150 pounds, you can eat foods containing 2,250 calories each day. That's 150 multiplied by 15.

If you're well above your ideal weight, you'll have to cut back on calorie intake and use more of the stored fuel to lose. There are approximately 3,500 calories in each pound of stored fat. So, to lose one pound a week, consume 500 fewer calories each day. For the 150-pounder, this would be a total daily intake of 1,750.

Or, if you want to lose two pounds each week, cut back by 1,000 calories less than the amount needed to maintain weight.

It usually is unwise, says a pamphlet from the American Medical Association, to try to lose more than two pounds per week because rapid weight loss may leave you tired and vulnerable to illness.

If your plan is to go on a crash diet, lose weight quickly, and go back to those thick milkshakes and 12-ounce steaks, you are probably going to have lifelong weight problems.

Taking off weight and keeping it off means a changed approach to eating and exercise habits for the rest of your life.

This is why the crash diets all fail in the long run. You can take off pounds quickly on many fad diets, but those pounds go right back on again when normal eating is resumed.

If you are obese or have had a weight problem for years, see your family doctor before launching any do-it-yourself diet. Some heavy people have unsuspected illness.

Organizers, dealers pleased

Over 1,000 at Severance farm for forage production demos;

An estimated 1,000-1,500 farmers were present Tuesday, July 7, for the Thumb Forage Day on the Severance farm in Evergreen township.

Although the extension agents who planned the event were hoping for 2,000, according to Sanilac County Agricultural Agent Mark Stephenson, the number that did turn out was far greater than the two prior forage days held elsewhere in the state. Two more have since been held.

"We felt it was quite successful," he said. "I think a lot of people who went there got a lot of information and ideas."

The idea of the regional forage days was to show farmers ways to improve forage production, as well as to encourage growing of hay for livestock feed.

Two license plates were spotted from Ohio, plus there were farmers there from Ontario, as well as from all over the Thumb, including St. Clair and LaPeere counties.

Reaction heard from farmers was positive, Stephenson said, and many indicated they would like to see another forage day. He feels that may be a possibility in a few years.

One demonstration that especially impressed the farmers, he said, showed how alfalfa seeded with a companion crop of oats reduced yields. That has been a traditional practice, as a way to keep down weeds, but with modern herbicides, such a practice is no longer necessary.

As for the many implement, seed, fertilizer and herbicide dealers who had displays, he commented, "I think they were quite pleased with it."

"We thought it was terrific," commented Lloyd Severance, who with his sons Art and Les provided the approximately 65-acre plot for the exhibition and did the planting and assorted other tasks.

The field at Robinson and Decker Roads is about three miles from their main farms on Severance Road.

He said he and his sons were well-pleased with the exhibits and the turnout. "The machinery dealers seemed to be happy, that was the impression I got," he added.

Everything went smoothly, which doesn't always happen when that many persons are present, Severance noted.

One of the big crowd pleasers was the horse-drawn wagons, driven by brothers Clair and Clark Auslander, who transported persons around the grounds all day for free.

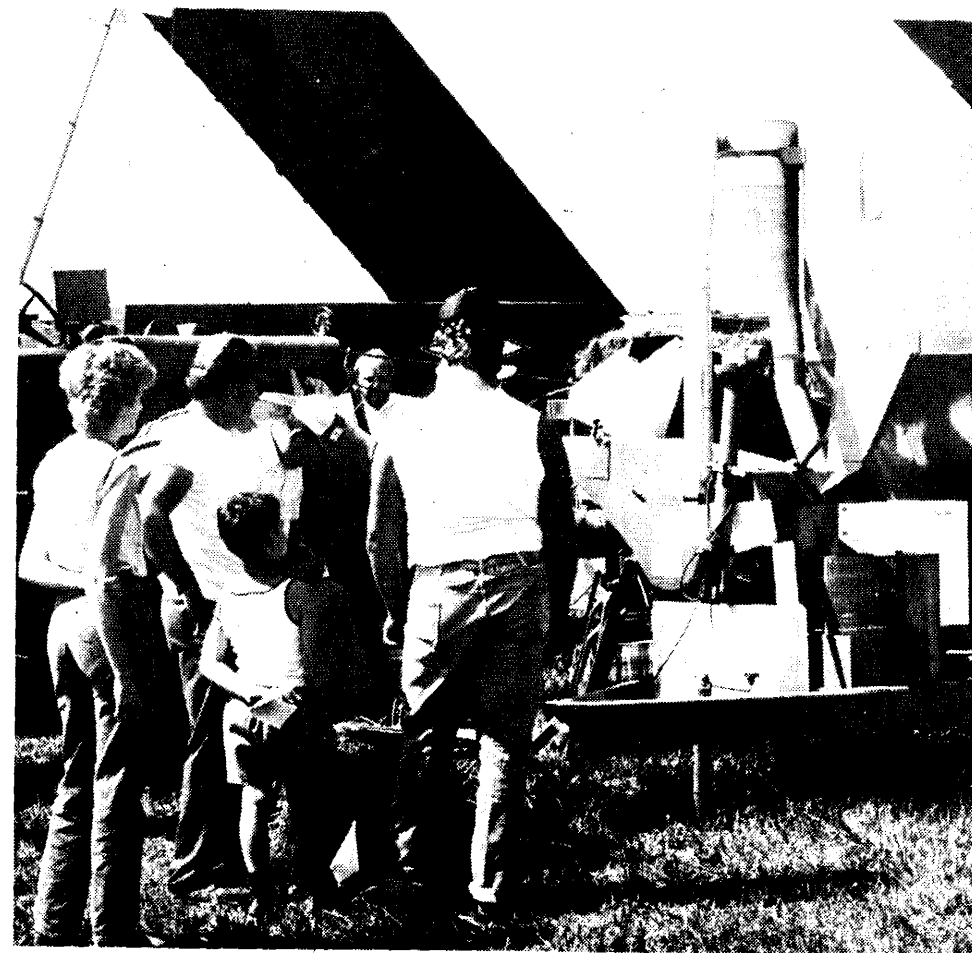

They were among the many volunteers who helped put on the event, which included members of the Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club.

The event was also a boon for the Shabbona United Methodist church, which sold food. The most popular item on the hot day was lemonade.

The Severances were left with one pleasant souvenir. They got to keep all the hay harvested during the day. The yield from 40 acres went into a mammoth plastic bag, about 10 feet in diameter and more than 100 feet long.

The bag is airtight and keeps the moisture in and oxygen out, so the hay doesn't spoil, duplicating what a vertical silo does.

Severance said there was quite a bit of interest shown in the process, which was demonstrated by a dealer who sells the equipment and bags.

THE LATEST in farm forage equipment drew the attention of an estimated 1,000-1,500 spectators at the Regional Forage Day July 7 at Severance Farms in Evergreen township.

CONTRAST -- In contrast to the modern farm equipment on display, brothers Clair and Clark Auslander transported spectators around the Forage Day grounds on their horse-drawn wagons.

DEMONSTRATIONS -- Implement dealers had their latest equipment on display and working in the fields at the Forage Day.

Szostak earns U of M degree

Walter G. Szostak Jr., of Kingston, was recently awarded a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan-Flint. During his last semester he carried a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

The 1975 graduate of Kingston High School plans to continue his education at Michigan State University or Central Michigan University, working towards a master's degree. Eventually, Szostak would like to work in corporate management, in the field of finance or information systems.

Elkland twp. street work approved

Crushed stone will be put on three streets located just outside the southwest village limits, the Elkland Township Board decided Monday. The stone will be spread on West, Leach and Elizabeth Streets at a cost of $4,200 to the township, according to Carol Ware, township clerk.

The board discussed what to do about the leaky fire department tanker truck, but did not take any action. "We're waiting to see which route is best to go," Mrs. Ware said, the choice being whether to repair the leaks or get a new tank for the truck. The alternatives could cost the township from $8,000-15,000.

In other action, the board approved the selection of election inspectors for the special county election Aug. 11.

Woman charged with negligence

A Sandusky woman, involved in the June 7 accident which took the lives of two Uby children, has been charged with negligent homicide and felonious driving.

Diane Buniak, 20, was arraigned in Sanilac County District Court Monday on two counts of negligent homicide and one count of felonious driving.

The case was waived to Sanilac County Circuit Court, where another arraignment date will be set. The charges are a result of an accident east of Snover which killed Michelle L. Ertman, 10 and Penny M. McNeil, 2½ months, both of 3381 Huron Line Road. The children were passengers in a car being driven south on M-19 by Doris McNeil, 38, of Bad Axe.

Sandusky state police reported Ms. Buniak, heading east on Snover Road, failed to stop at the stop sign on M-19 and ran into the McNeil car.

Correction

It was incorrectly printed in last week's Chronicle that Gageton Village Council had accepted a bid from Cove's Sanitation of Bad Axe for $375 a month. The accepted bid was $3.75 a month.

Provincial House resident questions news judgement

Dear Mr. Haire,

In the name of the dozens and dozens of people who planned, created, labored, loved, cooperated in making the sunny float for Provincial House and who contributed to the success of the 4th of July festival, I write, asking, "Why didn't you acknowledge our trophy-winning parade contestant with a write-up and a picture?" We eagerly opened our Chronicles (many subscriptions and purchases of your paper) only to be severely disappointed. When we had a Mother-Daughter banquet (that itself, newsworthy in such an institution) your photographer took an excellent picture of one mother with four daughters present. You refused to print the picture on the grounds that these were not Cass City residents. I ask you - were the Scottish pipers Cass City residents? Are you consistent? You printed their picture!

Our events are of interest to many areas - Cass City and the state of Michigan. We question your judgment.

A resident at Provincial House

Sanilac 4-H group goes to Washington

Citizenship - Washington Focus was quite an experience for the 15 young people from Sanilac county who participated in the program conducted by the National 4-H Council on behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Those who went were: Alan Adam, Alan Fry, Julie Gierman, Suzanne Hirsch, Carol Kietzke and Linda Tomlinson from the Marlette area; John Agar, Merilee Leslie, Teressa Woodward and Renee Ziemba, Cass City area; Karen Cutler, Carsonville; Jeff Janowiak and Charles Medcoff, Deckerville, and Holly Westbrook and Keith Langenburg, Crosswell.

The program is designed for youth to learn more about their rights, responsibilities and heritage as American citizens.

They learned by visiting the Gettysburg battlefields, the monuments and the memorials, Arlington National cemetery and the large Washington Cathedral. The group also visited the Supreme Court, Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution, White House and the Washington Zoo.

They attended a play at the Kennedy Center of Performing Arts.

The 4-Hers learned by participating in workshops, using voting machines and talking to representatives of federal agencies and organizations.

The Sanilac 4-H Council gave financial help to make the trip possible.

Bean meeting in Lansing

A Michigan Bean Commission meeting, originally scheduled to be held in Caro July 21, will be in Lansing. The meeting will be at 11 a.m. in the Harley Hotel, located at the Jolly Road exit of I-96.

The sight of it turned my stomach. I've seen it before, but not for some time. The reminder of it caused me to realize how empty some people's lives really are.

The incident of which I speak took place while our family was on vacation recently. At a small campground in northern Ohio I was reminded of Devastation, Demoralization and Degradation of drugs.

There in the public restroom stood a young man about seventeen preparing his fix for the day. His arm had tracks that gave evidence of months, maybe years of abuse.

That caused me again to realize the drug dependent society in which we live.

The Bible in the Book of Revelation, Chapter nine, forecast that in the last days "Sorceries" will increase.

The word sorceries is the Greek word "Pharmesuo" from which we get our English word pharmacy. I believe this text foresees the abuse of chemicals that we call drugs.

Our whole society becomes more expecting of artificial stimulants year by year. Television has bombarded us with the fact that 800 MG is much better than 650 MG, suggesting you get all you possibly can.

Those of us living in small communities tend to label the drug problem as something unique to metropolitan areas. However, a recent Detroit Free Press article stated that one of every four youths in rural communities have used drugs. Recent police busts here in the Thumb bear this out.

In addition to all these alarming considerations is the fact that there is hardly any home that isn't affected by America's most popular drug, alcohol.

Fifty percent of all traffic fatalities involve this drug. Enough of the description of our day. My concern is: "Why do intelligent people use drugs?"

The answer I believe has to do with a dissatisfaction in life as it is. The need for so many to escape life rather than live life. It points us again to the fact that we are not sufficient in ourselves. That we need a personal relationship with the one who is the creator and sustainer of all life.

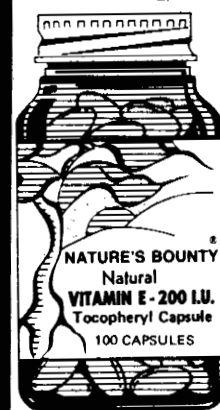

Drugs can lessen pain, can make you sleep, change your mood and make what is bad seem good but drugs can't bring peace, rest of soul, joy or change reality. My friends, only Jesus can satisfy your soul.

Your Neighbor says

Woman Supreme Court Justice is "great"

Carol Stoeckle of Cass City thinks the recent nomination of a woman for Supreme Court justice is "great."

"As long as she's qualified," Mrs. Stoeckle stipulated, "and from all I've heard, she's well qualified."

The nomination of Sandra O'Connor is, for Ronald Reagan, fulfilling a campaign promise. She predicted the act will help the President politically.

Having a woman seated on the high court will "give the court a good viewpoint," said Mrs. Stoeckle, who thinks the nomination will be approved by the Senate without much trouble.

"But I don't think it will make much difference on issues like ERA and abortion, just because she's a woman. There's a lot of men who would take the same stand," she explained. Mrs. O'Connor has been perceived by many as supportive of abortion and the Equal Rights Amendment.

While women may not see an immediate change in issues like ERA and abortion, this break in the all-male court tradition will be "encouraging" for women. "Especially if she does a good job, it will give women more creditability for higher level jobs," predicts the housewife, mother and dairy farmer.

"As they said on the news, it's a wonder they haven't found a woman qualified for the post sooner."

Mrs. Stoeckle and her husband, Mark, live with their four-month-old son at 5776 Schwegler Road, where they operate a dairy farm.

Appeals court reverses ruling

Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel will ask the Michigan Supreme Court to overrule Monday's state Court of Appeals decision which reversed the conviction of a former Caro minister charged with molesting a teenage girl.

The three-member appeals court unanimously ruled there was not enough evidence to justify the fourth degree criminal sexual conduct conviction of Millard Loftis, 59, former pastor of the Caro Church of Christ.

His conviction in Tuscola County Circuit Court in August, 1979, was four years after the alleged incident took place. He was assessed $400 in fines and costs and placed on three years' probation. A six-month jail term was deferred.

"We will request a Supreme Court hearing," Noel said. "What's the probability of convincing 12 jurors of his guilt four years later if we didn't have a strong case?"

The incident allegedly occurred in August, 1975, when Loftis, his 8-year-old daughter, and the girl were traveling in his van.

The girl, who was 14 at the time, claimed Loftis fondled her while his daughter was out talking with one of the congregation members.

Loftis denied there was a van trip that day, claiming instead he was present at a church-sponsored swimming party.

The court said the girl did not tell her family about the episode until a year later and made no report to the police until 1978. When the case went to trial, she was a freshman in college.

In its decision, the court said Norman A. Baguley, then Tuscola county circuit judge, failed to give the jury adequate instructions as to what constitutes force and coercion, key elements of criminal sexual conduct.

It also concluded adequate force was not used.

"It is clear from the common definitions and usage that mere touching does not amount to the physical force or physical coercion contemplated by the statute," the court said.

"This court is . . . of the opinion that there was insufficient evidence of the necessary elements for the jury to find defendant guilty of the crime of criminal sexual conduct in the fourth degree."

Noel said the prosecution used the "common definition" of force, meaning "whatever force is necessary to accomplish the act."

Kingston home damaged

Joseph Nickens of 4094 S. Kingston Road, Kingston, reported to sheriff's deputies Thursday his house had been entered.

The drapes in the living room were cut, the love seat was cut and ripped and a screen was bent. Damage was estimated at $800.

Entry was gained by prying open a window, with the intrusion having occurred between 2:10 p.m. Wednesday and 5 a.m. Thursday.

Deputies arrested Dennis J. Pond, 38, of Jackson, on a charge of reckless driving at 8 p.m. Saturday, after his eastbound car was seen being driven erratically on M-81, west of Cass City. His car was stopped in front of the Hahn Real Estate building.

He was taken to the county jail, where he was released the following day on bond, pending appearance in district court.

Scrap paint catches fire

Quick action by the Elmwood Township-Gagetown Fire Department averted what could have been a serious fire last Thursday at Evans Products in Gagetown.

Fire Chief Chuck Wright said spontaneous combustion due to the high temperature and humidity that day started a fire burning in a metal tub full of scrap paint, paper, etc.

The fire was spotted by a neighbor and reported at 8:57 p.m.

Had the fire gone unnoticed for too long, Wright said, the paint might have exploded, possibly resulting in a serious fire, since the approximately 4-by-4-foot tub was right outside the rear door of the building. Firemen were there about 45 minutes.

Modern buildings, farming with horses

Little finds Poland land of contrasts

Poland is a land where many farmers still farm with horses and it can take 45 minutes of standing in line to buy an ice cream cone.

It is also a land of unique architecture and landscaping and it is for that reason that Kurt Little spent several weeks there this spring. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Little of 5178 Kelly Road graduated from Michigan State University in June with a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture. His last term was spent way off campus as one of a group of 14 students and one professor studying landscape architecture in Poland. That was preceded by a 10-week class on campus to prepare, including learning a little Polish.

The group left March 27. After the class ended, he and a classmate spent two weeks visiting West Germany, Amsterdam, Brussels and London. He arrived home June 19, after having missed his commencement ceremonies.

The question the 1977 Cass

City High School graduate was asked most often by friends and family was, "Why Poland?"

"Everyone asks that," he said. The answer is that Warsaw, where the group spent several weeks, was substantially rebuilt after World War II. Many old buildings were rebuilt and new ones were constructed.

Additionally, a lot of high rise housing is being built to cope with the severe housing shortage, which uses open areas between buildings for recreation, playgrounds, etc. The way in which the land is used for buildings and people is of interest to landscape architects.

The housing situation in Poland makes the problems caused by high interest rates in this country seem almost insignificant. A newly married couple over there, Little said, has to wait an average of 10 years before they can get an apartment. Until then, they have to live with relatives.

AFTER THEY FINALLY get their apartment, they may not be able to call anyone to invite them over. Many families don't have telephones. "Production isn't keeping up with the people at all," he said.

One attempt the government is making to cope with the housing shortage is construction of a massive high-rise apartment complex outside of Warsaw named Ursynow. Supposedly the biggest such development in Europe, when it is completed, it will house 150,000 persons. Many of the buildings are finished now and families are living there.

The MSU group studied seven weeks at Akademia Rolnicza, a Warsaw university which offers a program in landscape architecture. Ursynow could be seen in the distance. "We could look out the window where I was staying and it was a solid concrete mass."

The use of open space, the main item of interest to the landscape students, has worked well with smaller developments and in the old areas of Warsaw, which feature large open plazas, but not as well at Ursynow.

The MSU students studied such building sites and use of open areas, in both the old and new Warsaw, listened to lectures (through interpreters) by building designers and did some theoretical design projects.

LITTLE SAID HE AND his fellow students "probably gained more from the social aspect. If anyone thinks they have it bad in the U.S., all they have to do is go to Poland for a while."

For instance, coupons are needed to buy meat, butter and cheese. Often in restaurants, menu items were few and no butter was available. The students lived in university housing. There was enough food to eat on campus, mainly meat, green beans and potatoes, "but it all tasted kind of the same."

Long lines are a rule of life, for instance, the aforementioned 45 minutes to buy an ice cream cone.

The Cass Cityan recalled the time he waited a half-hour in line to buy a waffle with strawberry jam on it, a confectionary item in Poland. When there were only 3-4 persons in front of him, those waiting were told the seller had run out.

IT IS, OF COURSE, IMPOSSIBLE to ignore the political situation in Poland.

Just before the group's departure, there was speculation the Russians might invade Poland. "I think some of the students felt a little uneasy at times," Little said.

He explained the MSU Office of Overseas Studies kept a careful check on the situation before departure and had assurances should there be trouble after the students got there, they could fly out right away.

The day before the group left, a planned nationwide strike was canceled, which eased tensions.

In Poland, Little found opinions expressed openly, though more so by students than the older generation.

Everyone he talked to supported Solidarity, the nationwide workers' union and a lot of them felt it was the most important thing in Poland. "They're willing to fight for their beliefs."

Although the union has support, that doesn't mean the population wants to revolt. "From the students I talked to, they say they don't want to overthrow the Communist government, but they do know it could be better than it is now."

IN ADDITION TO SEVEN weeks in Warsaw, the students spent several days each at Gdansk in northern Poland (site of the shipyard where the workers' strike led to the forming of Solidarity), visiting cities in southern Poland, in Budapest, Hungary, and in Vienna, Austria.

In the countryside, he commented, "It was surprising to see all the people farming with horses."

This fall, Little will enter the University of Michigan to study for a master's degree in urban planning, with the aim of getting a job eventually with a city planning department.

As mentioned, he and a friend ended their trip with a tour of western Europe. In contrast to the happy people he saw there, in Poland, he said, "you don't see people smiling a lot. They seem a little bit depressed."

SOLIDARITY — Kurt Little holds the Solidarity T-shirt and calendar he brought back from Poland. Another purchase was the thick book at left about the country. The union "souvenirs" weren't supposed to be taken out of Poland, but no one checked when he left.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT — A view of Ursynow, the government housing project on the outskirts of Warsaw which will eventually house 150,000 persons.

THIS STREET SCENE was photographed by Kurt Little in Gdansk, the port city in northern Poland on the Baltic Sea.

Social Security covers most farm workers —Performs agricultural labor for an employer 20 or more days during the year for cash wages figured on a time basis — by the hour, day, week, or month.

If either of these tests is met, all of the worker's cash wages are covered and Social Security taxes must be withheld from the worker's pay, Ms. Ludwig cautioned.

If the worker is part of a crew and the crew leader pays the workers, he or she is the employer and is responsible for making Social Security reports and deducting taxes.

The employer must keep a record for each worker, showing name, Social Security number, amount of wages paid, and amount of taxes withheld. In addition, the employer is responsible for reporting the wages, sending the taxes collected to the Internal Revenue Service and for preparing a W-2 form (Wage and Tax Statement) for each employee.

Play-off needed to determine league champs

The Lions and the Braves ended the girls' little league season with identical 8-2 records, setting the stage for a play-off game Wednesday.

The game, at 6 p.m. on the softball field, will determine the season championship with medals going to members of both the first and second place teams.

The Lions finished off regular season play with a win over the Cubs Monday, while the Braves added two wins to their record early last week.

The Reds finished their season with two losses. Tuesday, the Hawks beat the Reds and July 7, the Tigers beat the Reds. Scores for both games were unavailable.

The Braves slammed six home runs July 6 to score 32 times against the Hawks seven. Becca Prieskorn was the winning pitcher, with L. Messing recording the loss. Julie Smith had two home runs and Ann Polk, Becca Prieskorn, Lisa Benitez and Jean Weaver each had one. Leading hitters for the injury-plagued Hawks were Kelly Deering, Michelle Gafner and Lana Harris.

Braves bats were hot again July 8, as they clobbered the Cubs, 20-6. Becca Prieskorn struck out six to record the win and Colleen McIntosh pitched for the Cubs. Becca Prieskorn, Lisa Benitez and Julie Smith all slammed four-baggers for the Braves.

3 hospitalized in Jaycee softball tourney at park

Injuries plagued the Jaycees-sponsored Round Robin softball tournament last week end with three men rushed by ambulance to Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Duane Hogan, of Reese, catching for a Frankenmuth team, collided with another player at home plate, injuring his elbow. He was taken to Hills and Dales and then transferred to a Saginaw hospital where he was treated and released, but will "probably be out for the rest of the season," according to Jaycee chairman of the board Jim Turner.

Francisco Mar, of Flint, and Dennis Karr, of Uby, were both injured in a game between Cass City's McMahan team and Big "D" Party Store, from Flint.

Mar dislocated his shoulder after tripping over another player's foot in a bunt play at first base and Karr, an umpire, cracked his collar bone when he was hit with a foul tip. Both men were treated and released from Hills and Dales.

A Flint team, Jane's Monogramming, emerged as winner of the tournament, with McMahan Auto of Cass City finishing second and Big "D" Party Store of Flint, third.

Tim Johnson, of Cass City, was named the Most Valuable Player of the tournament, playing for McMahan Auto, and a Flint man, Dan Rice of Jane's Monogramming, was named Most Valuable Pitcher.

Trophies were awarded to the first place team and individuals, second and third place teams, most valuable player and pitcher.

Ten teams from Bay City, Pigeon, Flint, Saginaw, Frankenmuth and Cass City competed in the fast-pitch tournament which began Friday evening and ended Sunday afternoon.

15 area teams in tourney

Fifteen area softball teams will be playing in Cass City's first women's softball tournament this week end at the park.

The tournament, being sponsored by girls' little league, will include teams from Lapeer, Saginaw, Caro, Gagetown, Uby and Cass City.

Ten of the teams will play a double-elimination slow pitch tournament while the other five teams will play a fast-pitch round-robin tournament.

Games will begin Friday at 7 p.m. and run through Sunday afternoon, with trophies awarded to first and second place teams, most valuable player and individuals.

All Saints again tourney champs

For the second straight year Bay City All Saints is the champion of the Cass City recreational basketball tourney held Friday and Saturday at Cass City High School.

The Bay City quintet won the title by breaking open a close game with SS Peter & Paul of Saginaw in the fourth quarter to win easily, 86-64.

All Saints was in mid-winter form as Coach Lefty Frantz' team has played 24 games this summer.

Coach Ron Nurnberger said that Cass City had three of its better games this summer while winning one of three games.

The coach was pleased with the passing and the defense of the Hawks but is still searching for more offensive punch.

All Saints waltzed through the three-game competition with ease, defeating Bullock Creek, 90-54, Capac, 76-56, and St. Pete's.

Cass City's victory came over Bullock Creek, 59-57, and the two losses were by a total of seven points.

Hitters active in church loop

Deford Community church, the Catholics and Colwood United Brethren each chalked up two wins last week in church softball league competition.

Even pitcher Mike Wilson's home run couldn't help Cass City Missionary July 7 when Deford trounced them, 12-5. Al McKee was the winning pitcher and also led the team offensively with three hits. Ed Stoutenburg, Jeff Parsell, Steve Martin and Chuck Rodgers all had two hits apiece for Deford, with Phil Tuckey leading the Missionary team in hitting.

McKee pitched another winner July 9 against Shabbona. Deford scored eight times in the game against losing pitcher T. Severance, with Shabbona scoring only five runs. Roy Hull, Dave Heacock and Chuck Rodgers led Deford in hitting, with R. Severance and G. Tatgenhorst leading Shabbona.

July 7, the Catholics edged Lamotte, 8-7, with Jack Groombridge striking out eight for the win and King pitching for Lamotte. Leading hitters for the Catholics were Groombridge, Rick Doerr and John Spencer.

Groombridge pitched again July 9 when the Catholics slugged their way to a 17-7 victory over Missionary. Spencer and Groombridge again led the offense against Missionary pitcher Mike Wilson.

Colwood slammed Thumb Christian Academy, 16-7, July 7. Dale Smith pitched for Colwood and D. Hoag for the Academy, with Lowell Smith hitting a four-bagger and Dan Smith and Chuck Kastraba each getting two hits for the winning team.

Colwood bats were hot again July 9 as the team whipped the Baptists, 36-8. Jim Hanby was the losing pitcher with Dale Smith recording another win. Taking Stock

San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Brother Willie:

A year ago you wrote me giving a list of the top choices of stocks for 1980 by the top financial analysts. You bet me a case of Geritol that the bond averages would do better.

My question: How did the stocks do? Much better than your old bonds, I am sure.

While I certainly have no need for Geritol, it might pep up my daughters so send it along. Pack it well; it has to get over the Rocky Mountains.

Your ever-lovin' BABY SISTER

Boca Raton, Fla.

Dear Baby Sister:

A pachyderm would envy your memory.

The list of stocks included 30, but I have figured up just the first 15, a good enough sample. Here they are:

	1980 Start	1980 End	Change percent
N.W. Airlines	27.5	23.5	-14
Gen. Motors	50	45	-10
Snap-on Tools	27	20	-26
Western Bancorp	31.5	36	14
Anheuser Busch	27.5	27.5	—
Viacom	38	55	45
Dow Chemical	32	32	—
Cont'l. Group	28.5	32.5	14
Avon Products	39	34	-13
Merk	73	85	17
Black and Decker	23	18.5	-20
Westinghouse	20	29.5	47
Intel	33.5	40	16
Ralston-Purina	11	10.5	-5
Procter & Gamble	74.5	69	-7
Average Percent Change:	3.8 percent

Note that the top experts' picks were up only 3.8 percent on average, while the market, measured by the Dow average was up 14.9 percent. Seven were down, six up, two unchanged.

I did quite poorly, especially considering I am the eldest child and supposed to be smarter than you and that other sibling, Bob.

Bonds were down about 10 percent.

I am shipping the elixir UPS collect. I really didn't mind buying the stuff for I felt obligated to Lawrence Welk for bringing that cute little Mexican girl into our living room every Saturday night.

Your beautiful bro. Bill

"EASY AROUND THOSE CURVES," Ron Nurnberger, driver education teacher, tells practicing student John Kulinski.

1st of a two-part series

Driver's ed focuses on attitudes for 25 years

By Sheila Gruber

Driving is a privilege, not a right, prospective drivers are often told.

For a quarter of a century, the Cass City schools have been working to prepare students to accept the responsibility that goes along with that privilege, through a driver education program.

On June 4, 1956, with a shiny new Chevrolet parked outside, the first driver education class began in Cass City, taught by Robert Stickle, then a teacher in the high school.

His students were mostly ninth and tenth graders, 15 years old and anxiously anticipating their 16th birthday and the feeling of freedom that comes with a driver's license.

The class was in preparation for a state mandate, effective Jan. 1, 1957, requiring 16-18 year olds to complete driver education before getting their license, Stickle explained.

The mandate was an amendment to an earlier state law, passed in 1949, requiring school districts to make a driver education program available. Then, most of the programs were part of the regular school day with no real requirements, according to Richard E. Clafin, a driver education consultant from the Michigan Department of Education Safety and Traffic Program.

In 1955, with both state mandates looming over their heads, school administrators across the state began setting up driver education programs to be conducted after school and during summer vacation.

"Nobody had any background in it then," Stickle said, explaining workshops were set up to get started. Stickle attended a summer workshop at Michigan State University, fulfilling the three-hour requirement necessary to teach drivers' education at that time.

STICKLE, WHO WAS INVOLVED with the program in Cass City for its first 10 years of existence and is now principal of the Cass City Intermediate School, "doubts" driver education has changed much. "We basically taught the same things. The emphasis has always been more on safety and attitude, with skills kind of secondary."

The Michigan Department of Education, in a formal letter to instructors, says the major goal of driver education is "to prepare a safe and efficient driver, who is capable of adequately participating in today's complex traffic society."

Instructors work to reach that goal through a combination of classroom instruction and driving practice.

"There was a time (1965-66) when the Cass City program built up so much that I was working 60 hours a week to get the students through," said Stickle, who was the program's only instructor until 1961. Classes were held in the summer, except for a short period when the district had after school sessions, with each student required to spend 30 hours in the classroom and six hours behind the wheel.

Those hour requirements, which according to Stickle, Cass City has followed since the program began, are also a state requirement.

DISTRICTS NOT COMPLYING with these and other state laws risk losing state aid for driver education.

In addition, according to a Feb. 28, 1980 opinion of Attorney General Frank J. Kelly, a court order may be brought to compel a board of education operating a high school to provide driver education courses to eligible students as required.

The time requirements have just been changed, Clafin said.

The governor has authorized the education department to move to a more competency based program. Instead of insisting on each student putting in their 36 hours, whether they need it or not, students will be tested to see what knowledge and skills they already have, with programs designed on an individual basis, he explained.

"Some students may come right out of the program. Others may need only classroom instruction, or only driving practice," the consultant explained.

FOR CASS CITY AREA students, the new program, scheduled to begin within six months, could make a big difference according to Ron Nurnberger, one of the district's four driver education teachers. "Some farm kids are good drivers, but need experience driving in the cities and on expressways."

"Every year I find more and more kids haven't driven at all, and they have a more difficult time. There's a night and day difference between the non-drivers and those who have been raised on a farm," the teacher said, admitting the beginners are sometimes better because they don't have as many bad habits.

"Students are usually pretty nervous at first, so I take them out into the parking lot for awhile to help them build their confidence up."

Then, students usually drive two or three hours around town, practice parallel parking and other basics before going to Bay City or Saginaw for city experience.

Nurnberger, who has been teaching driver education for seven years, tries to spend half of the required driving time in the city.

LIKE 85-90 PERCENT OF the state's school districts, Cass City only offers driver education during the summer. Two different sessions are offered, each lasting four weeks, with classes being held in the morning and driving in the afternoon. Each teacher has about 25 students a session, with almost 200 completing the program each year.

The classes are from 7-9 a.m. for the first three weeks of each session, and include state-approved textbooks and the Highway Safety Department booklet, "What Every Driver Should Know." Students are tested on the material, preparing them for the tests they will take to receive their certificates and eventually, their licenses.

Although students know the rules "pretty good" by the time they complete the course, they are not completely ready to drive. They have only learned the fundamentals, to be able to drive with their parents, said Nurnberger, describing the "misconception" many people have that the certificate means they are ready to drive.

"Whether they are ready or not is something to be determined by the parents or guardians."

NEXT WEEK: Is Driver Education worth the cost?

25 YEARS AGO, Bob Stickle taught the first driver education course in Cass City.

Tuscola men cited for helping law

Two Tuscola county men were honored Monday for their efforts which led authorities to the arrests and convictions of two felons.

Plaques of appreciation were presented by Prosecutor Artis Noel to Ronald Linzner of rural Cass City, and Joseph Miles of Caro. Area law enforcement agents attended the ceremony in the Jaycee Building at Caro.

Linzner was cited for "tracking down" Clifford Billings, 63, Noel said, which aided in his conviction.

Billings, whose prison record dates to 1938 for convictions of burglary, auto theft, kidnapping and assault with intent to commit less than murder, was sentenced Dec. 15, to 5-to-10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for breaking and entering.

The prosecutor said Linzner found unusual tire tracks following a break-in of his building on E. Dutcher Road, Ellington township, in August, 1980. He followed the tracks which led him to his stolen property.

Billings was ultimately sentenced for another break-in, which occurred in March, 1980. Billings having pleaded guilty in exchange for dropping the charge in the Linzner break-in. Billings was linked to some 15 break-ins in the rural areas of Cass City and Kingston over a period of about six months, Noel said.

Miles was cited for "his physical effort in capturing" an accomplice in a burglary at a Caro business July 20, 1980.

According to Noel, Miles was stopped at a traffic light at Frank Street and saw a man inside L & B Decorating and another standing outside the building as property was being removed. Miles reported the incident to a patrolman and as police arrived, two men fled on foot.

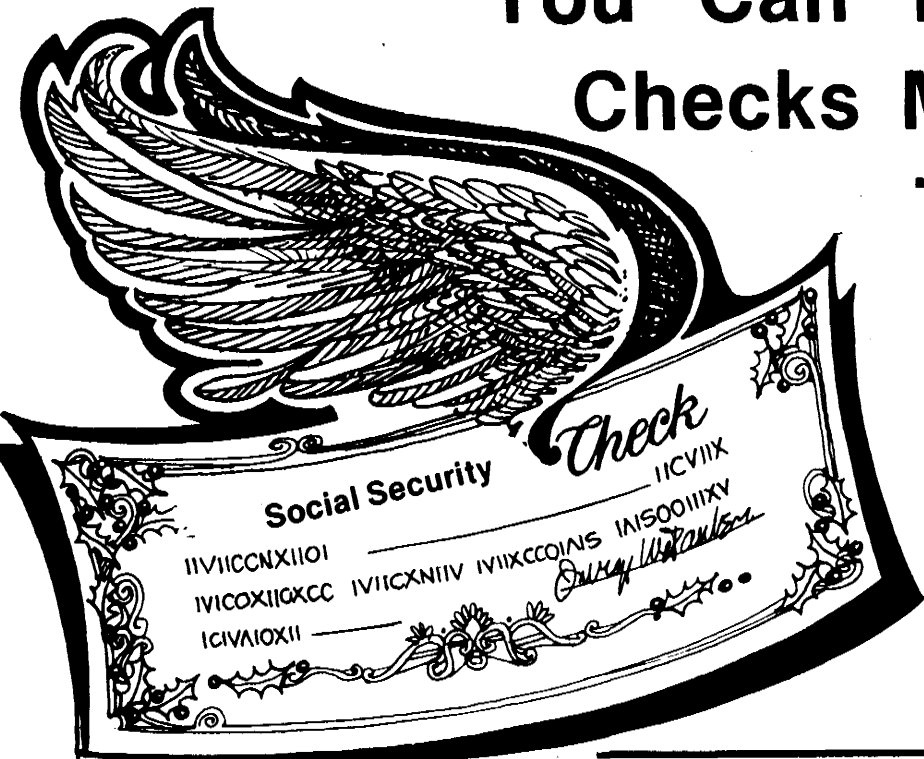

Police arrested Joseph Mannarino, 27, of Caro, at the scene while Miles chased David Popp, 27, of Houston, Texas, a short distance before tackling and subduing him. Police arrived shortly after.

Both men had previous prison records, Noel said. Mannarino was sentenced April 27 to 3½-to-10 years in Jackson prison, while Popp was sentenced Jan. 26 to 4-to-10 years.

Linzner and Miles also will be presented with letters of appreciation by the Fraternal Order of Police and the Caro Lions Club.
