Only people make mistakes

Computer age has arrived in Cass City businesses, homes

By Sheila Gruber

Maybe you noticed it when you did your banking, bought a car, filled a prescription or visited your neighbor.

Or maybe you're one of the complainers. "I'm not a human being, I'm a number; they're taking over the world; it's those computers that are fouling everything up."

Like it or not, computer technology has arrived in Cass City and is here to stay.

Banks and large industries have been using computers for years, but within the last few years, small firms, professionals and even private individuals in the area have been purchasing computers.

What used to take four days to do by mail, Albee's True Value Home Center's computerized ordering machine does in 20 seconds.

The machine, which only measures 3-by-8 inches, is hooked into a computer in Chicago, which takes orders from each True Value store once a week, Lynn Albee said.

"The machine doesn't take a physical order at all, we just punch in IBM order numbers and quantity numbers and the computer takes the order through a phone line on Thursday mornings," he explained.

BUYING A CAR IN CASS CITY may involve more computer technology than the bank's check on your credit record.

Ouvry Chevrolet Oldsmobile will use a terminal to seal your car deal and the Harris-Hampshire Agency uses a mini-computer to figure out what your car insurance will cost.

"Every year we get more and more piled in paper work. With the computer, our time is more productive because it does the paper work and we have more time to spend with the customer," Dick Hampshire explained.

Programmed to ask the customer 15 questions about their car, driving record and the type of coverage they want, the computer can quote what the different insurance payments would be in five minutes. The same calculations would take an agent 30 minutes, Hampshire said.

In addition, the computer gives the customer and the agent a copy of the quotes on a printout sheet, which allows the customer to compare insurance costs from one agency to another.

The machine is "quite convenient," although Hampshire admits he doesn't know if it will ever pay for itself. The agency bought the diskette computer for $5,000 in February.

THE BARRAGE OF paperwork involved in selling a car is why Ouvry's have been using a computer terminal for four years.

A computer terminal, complete with a printer and a separate computerized billing machine, is used to do everything done within the car dealership, Gloria Ouvry said.

In all, seven different computer programs, tailor-made to Mrs. Ouvry's specifications, take care of the dealership. Everything from typing the forms for a car deal to parts inventory to payroll is done by the machines, which cost $1,200-1,500 a month to run (not including the cost of the terminal when it was purchased).

"We'd have to have two full-time people to do the paperwork for that amount, which we couldn't get for a salary that low," Mrs. Ouvry said, explaining 15-20 different pieces of paper are involved in one car deal.

The computer does displace people on the local level, Mrs. Ouvry admits, but on another level, it creates jobs.

The Ouvry terminal is connected, via phone, to a large General Motors computer with other dealers.

Because Ouvry's terminal is on the same line as all the other dealers now, they Seeger and Hill Streets will be kinder to vehicle suspensions due to action taken by the Cass City Village Council Tuesday evening.

The council authorized some needed patching, at a cost of $12,350.

Where the patching will be done, according to village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie, was based on observation and complaints received from residents.

Village workmen will cut out the bad areas, replace the sub-base, pack it down and then an asphalt contractor will lay new pavement.

LaPonsie hopes all the work will be done by the end of August. Since the paving contractor, Frank Strausberg and Son of Oakley, won't start until all the streets are ready, motorists may have to play dodgem for awhile. The $12,350 includes the cost of the work done by village crews and the paving.

Patching to be done on the east side of S. Seeger Street, all 7-feet wide, is as follows: north 460 feet from Garfield; south 70 feet from Third; north 100 feet from Third; south 55 feet from the alley north of Houghton, and 140 feet between Pine and the alley south of Pine.

Work to be done on N. Seeger will cover an area 7-by-204 feet on the east side of the street between Seed and Rose.

A total of 4,050 feet of patching, either six, 15 or 22 feet wide will be done on Hill Street, which runs between Church and Dale.

One area that won't be repaired is the intersection of Seeger and Main. Since Main is a state trunkline, LaPonsie said, the state Department of Transportation will have to pay for the repair and it says it doesn't have the money.

RECREATION

Applying of the filler layer, sealer coats and striping

of the tennis courts was to begin Saturday but has been delayed because of the rain.

Once the weather clears, it is expected it will take two weeks for the work to be completed and the various coatings to dry before the courts are ready for play.

The lights have been tested and all work. They will be activated by automatic timer set initially to have them on from 9-11 p.m.

Contributions at last count totaled $7,223 for the tennis courts. The Rotary Club is spearheading a drive to raise money to help pay for the courts.

Swimming pool hours were changed July 3 back to the 1980 hours after some complaints were received about the new hours, LaPonsie reported.

Parents didn't like swimming from noon-1:45 p.m., which interfered with their children's lunch. Some adults felt the 6-7:45 p.m. session was too soon after work.

The new hours are 1-2:45, 3-4:45 and 7-8:45.

Pool director Mike Richards claims, however, attendance has declined with the new hours.

LaPonsie said there never were any complaints about the old hours.

As of July 21, 8,025 had used the pool, an average of 211 per day.

The arts and crafts program is averaging 24 youngsters per day. Recreation equipment is being used by an average of 16 per day.

There have been 626 scheduled games played on ball diamonds in the park so far this year, compared to 501 for all of last year.

OTHER ITEMS

Tax bills were mailed July 9 and 10. As of July 27, $95,520 had been paid in real, personal and sewage treatment plant taxes, which is 29.02 percent of the taxes due. That compares with 20.1 percent the first month of collections last year.

The council approved payment of the first installment on the 40-year $1.2 million loan from the Farmers Home Administration to finance the local share for the sewage treatment plant. The payments will be made twice a year. Interest rate is 5½ percent.

The council authorized a

1,000 expected at all-school reunion

It will be a gigantic reunion Saturday for Cass City High School graduates, as they congregate at the Colony House on M-53 for the second all-school reunion.

As of Tuesday of last week, 875 reservations had been received and they were still rolling in, with Chairman Jack Esau expecting the total will exceed 1,000.

That should equal the turnout at the first reunion in 1976, which attracted 1,075.

Doors open for the 1981 version at 4 p.m. with dinner to be served at 7. Two bands will start playing for dancing about 9.

A program was attempted in 1976, but everyone was more interested in talking, so no attempt will be made this year. "The people themselves are the program," said Esau, a member of the class of 1935.

An effort will be made to seat those attending by class for dinner.

Reservations have been received so far from Florida, California, Massachusetts, Canada and North Carolina, as well as closer to Cass City.

It is estimated there are close to 5,000 Cass City High School graduates living, Esau said, of which, "Definitely, most of them live outside the Cass City area."

The best turnout at the 1976 reunion was from the classes from the 1920s, 30s and 40s, when classes were smaller so the students were more likely to know each other, plus many were retired, so had more time to travel.

The oldest living graduate is Ethel McCoy, who is in her 90s and living in California, who isn't expected to be able to attend.

Planning for the reunion started last fall, headed by a committee composed of Esau, George Cole, Fred Auten and Agnes Milligan.

There was a class representative for each class, starting with the class of 1921. Miss Milligan handled contacting graduates from 1920 and earlier.

"That is the hard thing, to track them down," Esau explained. "In fact, it's almost impossible to get them all." Invitations were mailed to those located.

The best way to locate graduates, he said, was for a few members of a class to get together, "then hash it over."

Also "about as good as anything," he said, was the ad the reunion committee ran in the Chronicle.

If enough interest is shown, according to Esau, there will probably be another all-school reunion in 1986, which will mark 100 years since the first class graduated from the high school.

Sheriff employees get 7% pay boost

Sheriff's department employees will receive a 7 percent pay increase in the first year of two-year contracts unanimously approved Tuesday by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners.

The increase is retroactive to July 1, when the old three-year pacts expired. The new contracts provide for negotiations on pay for the second year.

Two contracts are involved, which are the same except for some variation in language.

One covers Unit I—deputies, clerks, jail personnel, etc.—a total of 32 persons. Agreement with them was reached July 17 and the employees voted in favor of the contract Wednesday of last week.

Agreement with Unit II, the sergeants and lieutenant, was reached Friday. They approved the contract

Monday.

The 7 percent pay increase, according to Commissioner Donna Rayl, chairman of the board's personnel committee, will cost the county an estimated $50,000, including longevity pay, college incentive, Social Security and assuming the amount of overtime is the same as in 1980.

Athletics, jobs on line in Ubly school millage vote

A lot will be at stake, including athletics and jobs, when voters in the Ubly School District go to the polls Monday to vote on a millage renewal and increase for school operations.

To be voted on will be a single proposal for three years combining renewal of 3 mills and an increase of 2.41 mills. Ubly levied 19.78 mills for operations last year.

Polls at the high school will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

The special election was necessitated by defeat, 744-549, of the 6 mills on the ballot June 8.

Since that election, the district learned its state equalized valuation has increased 7.1 percent from last year, which allowed the school board to reduce the amount of millage it felt it needs, yet still bring in the same amount of revenue.

The 5.41 mills will raise $335,000 in property tax revenue.

The school board has already made some cutbacks, eliminating all summer programs and laying off school secretaries for four weeks.

Sixteen teachers were pink slipped in March. If the millage is approved, nine of them will be rehired. Not as many teachers will be needed because of loss of enrollment and to save money. If the millage loses, none will be rehired.

The reason for the needed additional millage, according to a school district newsletter, can be attributed to a loss of students, reduced state aid, and the increased cost of salaries, school supplies and energy.

In addition to the teachers, other staff members to lose their jobs in case of defeat will be one bus driver, one janitor, and four teacher aides.

In addition, should the proposal lose, the board has said it will close the Minden City Elementary School and end the shared time programs at the Catholic schools in Ruth and Parisville.

Also eliminated will be sports and field trips, and purchase of supplies will be kept to a bare minimum.

Some other cuts will also have to be made, according to Business Manager Mark Tenbusch, with the decision to be made after the millage vote.

The district started the 1980-81 school year planning to use up its $154,000 fund balance. It not only used that up, it went about $60,000 in the hole, due to receipt of less state aid than anticipated. The state reduced its aid due to the loss of revenue because of the recession.

The newsletter pointed out that the Ubly schools spent $1,492 per child during the 1979-80 school year, the latest for which statistics are available. That ranks it 513 from the top of the 529 K-12 districts in the state. The state average was $2,044 per child.

One mill equals $1 for every $1,000 assessed valuation.

A house worth $50,000 would have a state equalized valuation of half that. That means the homeowner would pay an additional $135.25 in property taxes, should the proposal be approved.

However, .8 mill debt retirement expired with last December's tax bills, which would reduce the above tax bill by $20, thus meaning an increase of $115.25 over last year, were everything else to stay the same.

Senior citizens (at least one spouse 65 and older) receive a property tax refund up to a maximum of $1,200 on a sliding scale, depending on their household income. If their income is more than $6,000, for instance, they receive a refund on all property taxes in excess of 3.5 percent of their income, up to the $1,200 maximum.

Farmers whose property is enrolled in the Public Act 116 program have their property taxes rebated when they exceed 7 percent of their household income.

The Ubly Board of Education will meet at 9 p.m. Monday in the high school library to analyze the results of the election.

BUMPER CROP -- This year's wheat crop, almost all harvested, was better than most years, with many fields yielding 60-80 bushels per acre, versus an average 55, according to Tuscola County Extension Director Bill Bortel. Harvesting a field along Cemetery Road last Thursday was Harold Little of Littleton Farms.

Kimberly and Thomas Smentek

Kimberly A. Hartwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Hartwick of Cass City, and Thomas J. Smentek, son of Mrs. Bernice Becker of Cass City, were married June 6 at the First Presbyterian church in Cass City.

Rev. Harry Capps and Rev. William O'Shea officiated at the afternoon ceremony, with Victor Prouse, cousin of the bride, as soloist.

The bride wore a gown of white imported chantilly lace and paint d'esprit, with a flared skirt flowing into a full length train. The gown featured a high neckline with capelet sleeves and accenting Venice lace and pearl beading.

Her veil, secured to a cap, was accented with orange blossoms and pearl beading. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored daisies and baby's breath.

Connie Brink, Caro, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Michele Brink, niece of the bride, from Caro, and Ann Cunningham, friend of the couple, Grand Rapids.

They wore gowns of cotton floral print with rounded necklines, brief cap sleeves and empire waistlines, all edged in white scalloped linen.

John Smentek, brother of the groom, Cass City, was best man.

Groomsmen were Guy Hachstetler and Gary Millar, friends of the couple. Douglas Brink, brother-in-law of the bride, Caro, and Bernard Freiburger, brother-in-law of the groom, Big Rapids, were ushers.

A dinner reception honoring the couple was given at Colony House in Cass City.

After a honeymoon in Las Vegas, Nev., and southern California the couple is making their home in Danville, Ill., where the groom has been working.

The groom is a 1980 graduate of Purdue University with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering. The bride is a 1981 graduate of Ferris State College with a bachelor's degree in health services management.

Charlene and Jeff Romain

Charlene Slaughter and Jeff Romain were united in marriage June 6 in the Caro Church of the Nazarene with Rev. John Melish performing the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Slaughter of Deford. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Romain of Caro.

The bride wore a gown of Dacron polyester organza, fully lined in acetate taffeta, with stand up collar, front and back, ruffled trimmed yokes of lace, empire waistline, long illusion sleeves, trimmed with lace and full skirt with attached chapel-length train.

The headpiece matched the gown with lace and simulated seed pearl trim, fingertip length.

Bridesmaids were Julie Popp of Unionville and Bonnie Walrod of Cass City. Debbie Hess of Fairgrove was maid of honor.

Groomsmen were Rod Chambers and Ed Bennick. Jim Varney was best man. All are from Caro. Al Hallasz and Joe Miles were ushers.

The couple honeymooned at northern Michigan's Ausable River.

ENGAGED

Deborah Sowden

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sowden announce the engagement of his daughter, Deborah Lynn Sowden, formerly of Cass City, to David John Gourdoux of Union Grove, Wis.

Deborah Lynn was a 1978 graduate of Cass City High School. She is now attending Gateway Technical Institute in Kenosha, Wis., from which she will graduate in December.

The wedding will take place Aug. 15 at 2 p.m. A garden wedding is planned with reception following at the home of her mother, Mrs. Don Lovelace, 1003 92nd Place, Kenosha, Wis.

Kelly and Kelly Smith

Kelly A. Pobanz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Pobanz of Cass City, and Kelly W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Smith of Cass City, were married May 2 at St. Pancratius Catholic church in Cass City.

Deacon Lambert Kuhr officiated at the double ring afternoon ceremony.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a silk chiffon gown with Venice lace and chapel train hemmed in Schiffl embroidery. Bishop sleeves and a sheer high neckline completed the gown.

She carried a cascade of red and white roses, stephanotis, carnations and baby's breath with white picot streamers.

The bride's sister, Vickie Pobanz of Cass City, was maid of honor. Another sister, Ann Pobanz, friends Kelli Winter and Pat Otulakowski, all of Cass City, and cousin of the bride, Tricia Miller of Troy, were bridesmaids.

Bridesmaids' dresses were dusty rose Silesta knit with sheer yokes, high necklines and fitted sleeves.

The groom's niece, Rebecca Smutek of Cass City, was miniature bride.

Best man was Chuck Kapen, the groom's cousin from Cass City. Groomsmen, all from Cass City, were Kevin Smith, brother of the groom; Keith and Ricky Pobanz, brothers of the bride, and David Rabideau, cousin of the bride.

Approximately 400 guests attended the reception at Colony House, Cass City.

The couple is now living in Cass City.

Ready for the morgue?

By Jim Fitzgerald

Jack, one of my countless brothers-in-law, recently took a snapshot of me which, due to his inability to focus while sozzled, suggests that I have no chin. It is his intention, I am told, to have this extremely unflattering photograph blown up to the size of a football field and hung from the freeway overpass nearest my home.

This snapshot was taken at one of those fashionable parties where the only guests not thrown into the swimming pool are those wearing bathing suits. So I wore a bathing suit to keep dry. This was the first time my upper torso and legs had been exposed to sunshine since a blanket slipped as my mother was bringing me home from the maternity ward.

I was born smart, and one of the things I've always been smart enough to know is that prolonged exposure to summer sun originally causes painful sunburn, blisters and ugly peeling. Ultimately, repeated sunbaths give the bather's complexion the hue and texture of an old catcher's mitt. Also, there is convincing evidence that excessive sunshine causes mice to have cancer of the skin. I have never seen a mouse dumb enough to lie on the beach unclothed from noon to 6 p.m. in July, so you can imagine what happens to the skin of people who don't have the sense God gave a mouse.

Naturally, when brother-in-law Jack saw me in a bathing suit, he was jealous of my pristine whiteness. And when he was reminded that my walking route to work each day takes me by the county morgue, he said: "Jim had better move fast while passing the morgue or Werner Spitz will mistake him for a cadaver and perform an autopsy on him."

I'm not sure why I'm the victim of such undeserved abuse, but I think the reason has something to do with my magnificently full head of hair and my marvelously long, slim legs. Jack doesn't have enough hair to keep a one-tooth comb busy, and he runs out of legs just above the knees. Perhaps he didn't get that way until he passed his 60th birthday, but that was so long ago, no one can remember.

While running by the morgue the other afternoon, I chanced to ask myself this question: What have my brothers-in-law ever done for me? The most obvious answer is they have helped to make me more of one thing than any of the other things I am. Isn't that fascinating?

I am a son once, a husband once, a father three times, a grandfather three times and a brother four times. But I am an uncle 19 times on my side of the family, and once on my wife's side, which fortunately knows how to behave moderately. Three of my four sisters have five children each. The other sister has four kids. None of these nieces and nephews could have been produced without the aid of my brothers-in-law.

Whenever I list these statistics, someone always asks why one sister, Nancy, fell one child short of the other three sisters' production. My answer is that Nancy has another talent that more than makes up for her shortfall as a mother. She is the only one in our entire family, including offspring and in-laws, who can touch her nose with her tongue.

A few years ago, one of my brothers-in-law took my baby sister, Linda, to live in Texas. Last week, Linda brought her five children to visit their Uncle Jim. They thought I was their grandfather, which isn't surprising. My mother and dad spread their children over a wide span of years so the oldest kids could take care of the youngest kids while their parents went dancing. I knew how to change my sisters' diapers before I knew how to tie my shoes.

So now I have a five-year-old niece, Kristen, who looks exactly like her mother did at the same age. And when I squeeze Kristen today, I remember how nice it was to squeeze Linda 35 years ago. I like the continuity. Zero population growth may be environmentally chic these days, but there's still something to be said for large families, and I just said it.

There's probably even something to be said for brothers-in-law, even one who has photographic proof that I have no chin. So what? Does anyone out there remember Andy Gump?

Lisa and Brian Knoll

Lisa J. Frederick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherlock G. Frederick of Cass City, and Brian D. Knoll of Caro were married June 6 at the St. Paul Lutheran church in Caro.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Knoll of Vassar.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Pastor B.C. Foerster, with music by organist Lois Moslander.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered net with lace petite sleeves, fitted waist and a sweetheart neckline. Dimensional applique and seed pearls defined the bodice, with matching detail and a cathedral length train.

She carried a white bridal Bible with a bouquet of daisies, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Susan Knight of Cass City. Bridesmaids were Karen Wagg, Suzanne Nolan, both of Cass City, and the groom's sister, Denise Knoll, of Reese.

The bride's niece, Erica Frederick of Cass City, was flower girl, with Jeff Ross of Caro serving as ringbearer. The groom's brother, Keith Knoll of Vassar, was best man. Groomsman were Jeff Love of Detroit, Melvin Keinath of Frankenmuth and Dave Sherman of Grand Haven. Ushers were Stephen Frederick, Deford, brother of the bride, and Gary Schiefer of Frankenmuth.

A dinner reception honoring the couple was at the VFW Hall in Caro.

Following a honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula and Canada, the couple is making their home in Caro.

Thursday is always a red letter day. This week it will be especially gratifying.

Thursday is the day that the week's work on the paper is finished. Thursday is the day that usually means a half day off. Thursday is the day that work on next week's paper is not pressing. Thursday is the day that the deadline is as far off as it ever gets.

That makes it a red letter day. What makes it especially noteworthy this week is that Prince Charles will have finally been married and we'll all have a chance to read or hear something of real importance.

Better than that, something that may even be interesting.

This is written on Monday and already just about every conceivable detail about the bride and groom has been presented from every viewpoint... the men's, the women's and the various governments.

The marriage obviously titillates millions of Americans as well as most members of the British empire, although it probably doesn't do much for members of the Irish Republican Army.

If that's your bag, so be it. As the guy said, if everyone's tastes were the same the world would be married to my wife.

The trouble is that the media hype often attempts to generate excessive interest by giving the object of the moment more importance than it deserves.

From even my most casual reading, the conclusion is that the marriage is of real political importance not only to England but to the world.

The only importance that I really can see is that it gives England a chance to continue to have a succession of figureheads as head of state.

If the Royal Family were demolished tomorrow it wouldn't change the operation of the government one iota.

Decisions are made by parliament and the prime minister.

Kings in England have less real power than vice-presidents in the United States. How long has it been since you've thought about George Bush?

But at least Bush could take control if Reagan dies. If Margaret Thatcher dies, the king would still be the king, riding his royal chariot in parades while the real powers in the government take over.

The wedding is now over but we haven't heard the last of Charlie and Lady Di. If nature takes its course and an heir is soon expected we'll be caught again in all the hype about the upcoming heir to the throne.

And the new arrival won't have any more real significance than Wednesday's marriage.

And will be equally boring.

Any fisherman could have told him department. Stuart Merchant, Cass City, took his first fishing trip north with veteran Elmer Francis to fish for herring. He returned after several days of mediocre fishing to say that the day he left was the day the first starting biting. Welcome to the "you should have been here yesterday" club, Stu.

School boosters feel that the meetings explaining the millage held at Deford and Evergreen have been worthwhile despite relatively sparse attendance.

For that reason a similar meeting has been slated at Cass City High School Monday at 7:30 p.m.

In the previous meetings, we feel that voters have learned about the school situation, says School Board President Geraldine Priesskorn, and we have learned more of their concerns by the questions they have asked.

Despite the supply side economics endorsed by President Reagan and a promise of a balanced budget, you have to feel that the Wall Street experts are not convinced. Otherwise there would be a rush of money to lock in bonds now at historically high rates of return.

Maybe if $1½ trillion hadn't been budgeted for defense spending the 20 per cent prime rate would subside. Give me a few less guns and a little more butter on the table any day.

Who knows what $1½ trillion is anyway?

Someone explain it to me, please. From what I read the boom in oil in Michigan is based on deep wells reaching down 10,000 feet or so.

Last week a well at the James Tuckey farm was abandoned at 3,627 feet. A dry hole.

There have been several non-producers drilled at these levels in the area previously, none commercially successful.

Murphy museum open in Harbor Beach

Four plead guilty in Circuit Court

Four persons pleaded guilty to various charges when they appeared Monday before Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

Brian J. Woloshen, 17, of 1469 S. Colling Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted felonious assault, in connection with an assault with a shotgun on Worthy C. Tait April 20 in Indianfields township.

His plea was taken under advisement. A sentencing date will be set if the judge accepts the plea. Bond was continued.

David A. Ertman, 19, of 131 W. Burnside Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking without entry with intent to commit larceny in connection with the attempted break-in of a shed on Hooper Street, Caro, Feb. 23.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

Marla Kay Wilson, 23, of DeWitt, pleaded guilty to delivery of LSD May 8, 1980, in Caro.

Her plea was accepted and bond was continued until sentencing.

Linda B. Williams, 27, of Flint, pleaded guilty to attempted receiving and concealing of stolen property over $100, in connection with a stolen utility vehicle, the incident having occurred Feb. 16, 1979.

Her plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

Also Monday, Charles H. Lake Jr., 23, of O'Brien Road, Mayville, was sentenced to 24 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for delivery of marijuana. He was credited with 40 days served.

A jury found him guilty June 9 of sale of the drug May 13, 1980, in Fremont township.

William A. Noble, 18, of 3433 Clifford Road, Mayville, was placed on five years' probation for breaking and entering an occu-

Girl Scouts spend day in Frankenmuth

July 14, Girl Scout Troops 856 and 239 spent the day at Frankenmuth. Five adults, 15 scouts and one guest toured the city on the Bavarian Inn Bus, which included a stop at the famed St. Lorenz Lutheran church, the original building, which is now a museum. They also toured Bronner's, a brewery, had lunch at the Bavarian Inn, a rest stop at the Frankenmuth Scout lodge, school house square, various shops near the hotels and the recently opened historical museum.

Adults attending were Donna Monroe, Joanna Dohning and Sharon Francis, who also were drivers, and Karen Smith and Hilda Koch. Scouts attending were Ann Marie Lynch, Janet Koch, Jamie Spencer, Becky Emmons, Dawn Edzik, Connie Robinson, Darlene Monroe, Raine Smith, Leah DeRocco, Tracy Dohning, Amy Francis, Michelle Koepf, Heather Merchant and Joy Steadman.

Leah DeRocco of Troop 239 and Janet Koch of Troop 856 spent a week at Oak Hills Girl Scout Camp near Harrison in the early part of July.

Oak Hills is owned and operated by Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council and supported and maintained by United Fund and Girl Scout cookie sales.

$300 damage in vehicle fire

Damage was estimated at $300 to a car which burned Sunday evening.

Owner of the car was Gerald Batie of Grassmere Road, Bad Axe, who was driving on Ritter Road, 7 mile east of M-53. Elkland township firemen received the call at 8:50.

Fire Chief Dave McNaughton said apparent

cause was a fuel line leak leading to the carburetor.

Firemen used an extinguisher to put out the fire. Damage was confined to under the hood and a melted plastic grill.

At 5:40 p.m. Friday, firemen were called to a reported house fire on Elmwood Road, which turned out to be a false alarm.

The previous Friday, the Cass City ambulance was called to Bauer Candy Co. for a reported injury, which also proved to be a false alarm.

Cass City police are investigating, including the possibility both calls were made by the same youngsters.

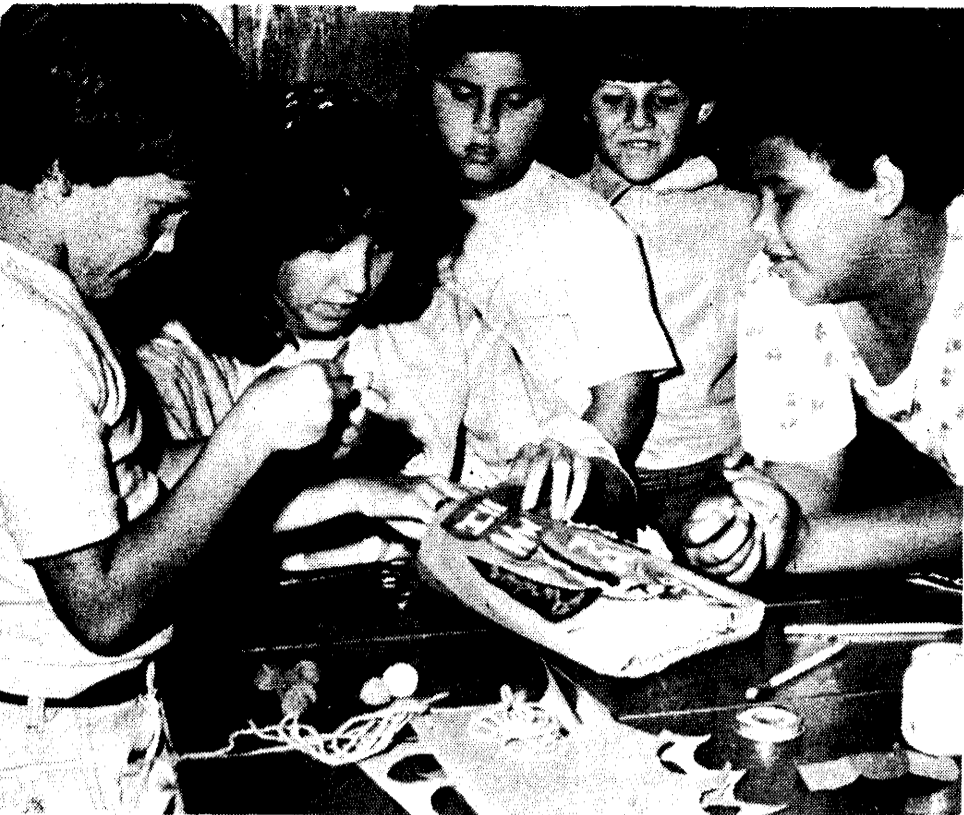

Friday, Joslyn found Daniel V. Brigham, 21, of 383 Unionville Road, Bay Port, guilty of having violated probation by possessing or consuming alcoholic beverages July 6. He was found innocent of having associated with a known felon.

Bond was continued and a sentencing date will be set.

The ex-Kingston resident was placed on 36 months' probation in December of last year for larceny in a building.

Tuesday, David G. Hempton Jr., 22, of 4615 Ball Road, Vassar, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for attempted delivery of marijuana March 25 in Fairgrove township. He was credited with 56 days served.

Hempton pleaded guilty to the charge July 13.

The pillow was made by Kenny Micklash, left, as part of the arts and crafts "Christmas in July" program at the park July 22. Watching, from right, are Stacy White, Tommy and Julie Czekai.

Woman arraigned in traffic deaths

A Sandusky woman, involved in the June 7 accident which took the lives of two Ubly children, asked the court July 20 to consider her under the Youth Training Act.

Appearing before Sanilac County Circuit Court Judge Allen Keyes on charges of negligent homicide and felonious driving was Diane Buniak, 20.

"She can be tried as an adult or put under the act, which allows me to send her to a corrective institution for three years or put her on probation for up to three years. The probation sentence could include fines and other stipulations," the judge explained.

At her arraignment, Keyes gave the probation officer permission to investigate the case and make a recommendation. Usually, it takes 3-4 weeks for the probation officer to do this, with the court then deciding if under the act, he continued.

The charges are a result of an accident east of Snover which killed Michelle L. Ertman, 10, and Penny M. McNeil, 2½ months, both of 3381 Huron Line Road. The children were passengers in a car being driven south on M-19 by Doris McNeil, 38, of Bad Axe.

Sandusky state police reported Ms. Buniak, heading east on Snover Road, failed to stop at the stop sign on M-19 and ran into the McNeil car.

will be eligible for an improved retirement program effective July 1 of next year. That will cost the county an additional $17,300.

The Fraternal Order of Police, which represented the employees in the bargaining, had sought dental insurance. They didn't get it and the health insurance plan will remain the same.

Employees will receive an additional half-day holiday, Christmas Eve.

The other major change involved vacation time, with employees receiving up to two additional days off a year. Those with the most seniority will receive 20 days' vacation a year.

The minimum vacation under the old contract was 10 days annually for those with 1-5 years with the department. The new pact provides 10 days for those who have worked 1-3 years, so everyone with more than three years will receive at least one additional vacation day.

There were also a lot of language changes in the new pacts, Mrs. Rayl said.

"It's as much as we could afford," she said of the new pact. "We wanted to be as fair with our employees as we could be and at the same time, didn't want to jeopardize our county's finances."

A concern to the negotiators for the county, she added, was setting or not setting a precedent for courthouse employees, whose contract with the county expires at the end of this year.

Among other action at the county board meeting Tuesday, commissioners approved expenditure of $2,650 for a new sink, dishwasher and cupboard top for the county jail kitchen.

Human Development Commission Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark spoke to the board about possible consolidation of the substance abuse program run by her agency in Tuscola, Lapeer, Huron and Sanilac counties with the one in St. Clair county.

Expectant parent classes set

A new class in the Expectant Parent Series will start Thursday, Aug. 6, at 7 p.m. at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

There will be a series of seven classes given once a week in the basement meeting room A.

The following topics will be discussed:

A) Male and female anatomy - fetal growth and development.

B) Body changes in the expectant mother.

C) Nutrition and breast feeding.

D) Labor and delivery - breathing and relaxation exercises.

E) Tour through the maternity department.

F) New infant and mother.

G) Infant care - family planning and contraception.

Couples are recommended. If a husband is not available, women can bring a relative or friend who can give them support and encouragement at home and during labor. The classes will be presented with lectures, demonstrations, informal discussion and a variety of visual aides and film strips.

There will be a fee, made payable to Hills and Dales General Hospital and should be brought to the first class.

A doctor's permission must be given for anyone to take these classes. The forms will be available in doctor's offices or may be obtained from the hospital and must be brought to the first class.

Everyone must pre-register. For further information, contact Mrs. Faith Fahrner, RN, at Hills and Dales, telephone 872-2121.

Vicki Alexander in Blue Lake Symphony

O-G student tours Europe

Vicki Alexander, an Owendale-Gagetown High School student, can't decide which European country she liked better.

"The Danish eat better, Norway has prettier scenery, but my favorite host family was in Sweden . . .," she said, laughing, "everybody asks me that."

Vicki, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, 3552 Farver Road, Owendale, returned July 14 from a four-week tour of the three European countries with Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp symphony orchestra.

She was one of 252 high school students who attended the camp, near Muskegon, who were chosen to participate in the camp's international exchange program. In addition to the symphony, in which Vicki played clarinet, a choir, jazz and concert bands toured the Scandinavian countries.

"We all went to the same places, but not at the same time. Sometimes our buses would pass each other," the student said, shaking her head at the "crazy driving over there."

The mother of one of Vicki's 10 host families drove on the sidewalk to pass some cars on the narrow streets, she said, remembering how scared she was at first. "They drive like nuts. In Sweden, we figured they were driving about 95 miles per hour."

TO PREPARE FOR THE 15-20 concert tour, the students practiced seven hours a day for a week at Blue Lake. "We had language classes and learned to sing songs in their native language as we left town," Vicki said, admitting they didn't learn to say much more than "yes and no."

One of the places the 97-member symphony performed at was the world-famous Tivoli Concert Hall in Copenhagen. The hall is part of Tivoli Park, which Vicki described as "like Disney World, but with a huge concert hall in the center. There were really pretty gardens with lots of fountains."

Students are selected for the program through an interview-audition process of students who attend the summer camp. Vicki, who's thinking about a career in music, was interviewed two years ago. Her 13-year-old sister, Carmel, a saxophone student, was at Blue Lake while she was in Europe.

"I made a lot of friends from all over. Most of the kids were from AAA, AA schools and here I am, Class D," she said. "But I guess it wasn't too much of a problem, since I was first chair," she added. There were 20-25 clarinet players in the symphony.

TO HELP PAY FOR THE experience, Owendale and Gagetown service clubs and merchants sponsored Vicki. "The Lions Club had a pancake breakfast for me, the Woman's Club and Band Boosters helped out and I got a lot of help from my grandparents and aunts and uncles."

Vicki learned about European history on her trip, visiting castles and hearing folklore about kings and queens.

"I learned a lot about the way they do things too," she said, citing some differences.

"They eat differently. They hold their fork upside down and shovel the food onto the fork with a knife."

One of the things Vicki liked about the countries she visited was their patriotism. "They have a lot more respect for their country than most people here. There are more flags and people don't throw trash around."

WHILE SHE WAS IN Norway, Vicki also learned how to predict the future.

On June 20, the sun stays up all night, she said, describing the Midsummer Festival. "Everyone wears folk costumes and dances around a Maypole. At night, we put seven different kinds of wild flowers under our pillows and whoever we dreamt about we're supposed to marry. I don't remember who I dreamt about . . ."

TOURING the Scandinavian countries with the Blue Lakes International Symphony this summer taught 16-year-old Vicki Alexander about differences between Europe and the United States.

Ubly driver ranks 36th in national competition

Leonard J. Schumacher didn't win, but after having seen the mountaintop, he plans to try again.

The Ubly school bus driver and state school bus driving champion returned Tuesday evening, July 21, after having placed 36th out of 100 drivers in the National School Bus Safety Rodeo in Boston.

Schumacher, 39, of Wheeler Road, has been driving a bus in the Cumber area for the Ubly schools for seven years. He won the state driving title June 13 in Lansing, after winning the regional title May 9. He has competed three years.

The Automobile Club of Michigan, one of the state sponsors, paid for his gas, food and motel bill.

Schumacher, his wife, Myrt, and friends Louis and Rosalie Walsh departed for Boston Friday morning, July 17. They rode in an Ubly School District car.

They arrived in Boston in time for registration late Saturday afternoon.

"I didn't really know how it would be until I got there," Schumacher said.

He soon found out. Saturday evening, until about 10, was spent in a personal interview and taking the written examination. The test, he found, was based on Massachusetts driving laws.

Following a non-denominational service Sunday morning came the driving test, which took from about 9:30-5:30 for all the drivers to complete.

Some of the maneuvers required were different than ones Schumacher went through in Michigan, for instance, having to park the bus like a car, judging vertical clearance and a right turn following backing up, instead of a left turn.

The farmer and father of three also found himself at a disadvantage because the buses used had an oval mirror at the bottom of the outside rear view mirror, instead of the straight one-piece mirror he normally uses. "It gives a different view of everything because I'm not used to them," he explained.

The event, sponsored by the National School Transportation Association, ended with a reception, banquet and presentation of awards.

Schumacher enjoyed participating in the event and meeting with the other drivers, some of whom had been in the national competition eight times. "We met some beautiful, beautiful people."

Schumacher's understanding is that having won the state title this year entitles him to compete in the national rodeo in 1982, if he pays his own way. The event next year will be in Kansas City, Mo.

He prefers, of course, to make it to the nationals by again winning the state title. "I'm planning on it, but I got to have a little luck."

If he doesn't repeat as state champion, he may go on his own.

As for the National School Bus Safety Rodeo, "I know what it's all about now."

Banvel herbicide NOW between cropping for cleaner crops next season.

Banvel herbicide can now be applied after harvest to help control tough broadleaf weed problems before next cropping season* New label clearances allow you to put Banvel's control of tough annual and perennial broadleaf weeds to work for you against the toughest broadleaf weed problems: field bindweed... Canada thistle... blueweed and many more.

Apply Banvel as a broadcast or spot treatment to broadleaf weed problems after harvest but before a killing frost. Do not disturb treated areas for 7 days following herbicide application to give Banvel herbicide time to tackle problem weeds. A follow-up program of Banvel herbicide should be applied later in the season to control regrowth and newly germinated weed problems.

Banvel herbicide can also be tank mixed with 2,4-D and Roundup herbicide for between cropping control of troublesome grasses and additional broadleaf weeds. Follow label directions for application rates and crop rotation instructions.

Ask your agricultural chemical dealer about the Banvel herbicide between cropping program for your broadleaf weed problems. Banvel herbicide from Velsicol.

Banvel herbicide cleared for between cropping use only in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Indiana, Michigan, North Dakota, Oregon and Utah.

Tight races feature play in church loop divisions

With regular season play ending this week, in the church league, Deford Community church and the Cass City Catholics are leading the American Division and the Shabbona Methodist team is leading the National Division. Playoffs between the top two teams in each division to determine the league championship will be Aug. 6. In American Division action, the Catholics edged Deford July 14 nine runs to eight. Jack Groombridge recorded the win, Alvin McKee the loss and top hitters were: for the Catholics, Mike Stec, Jim Spencer and Rick Hollis; for Deford, Roy Hull, Scott Martin and Dave Heacock.

July 16, Groombridge recorded another pitching victory for the Catholics, beating the Methodists 7-4. Randy Kozan pitched for the Methodists, with Tim Fahrner the team's top hitter. Groombridge, Rick Hollis and Dan Ulfing were top hitters for the Catholics in the game.

Deford put themselves back into contention by chalking up two victories after their defeat to the Catholics.

Al McKee recorded the 9-7 Deford victory July 16, with Mike King taking the loss for Lamotte.

Pitcher McKee chalked up another win July 21, hitting an inside the park grand slam to lead Deford's 16-run attack against the Cass City Methodists. The Methodists scored six times, with R. Kozan, the pitcher, also leading the team in offense with two hits.

Colwood upset Division-leading Shabbona July 16 by a score of 15-13. Dale Smith pitched for Colwood, with Dan Smith, Dwayne Smith and Bob Tobey leading the victors in hitting. Randy Severance, Terry Hendrick and pitcher Tim Severance led the Shabbona offense.

Behind Smith's pitching, Colwood won again July 21, beating Cass City Missionary 5-3. Mike Wilson pitched for the Cass City team, giving up a home run to Greg Tomlinson. Jim Brown and Brian Schember led the losing team in hits.

The league has scheduled an all-star doubleheader Aug. 11 and round robin tournament Aug. 13-15.

Bowlers cop 1st prize of $3,000

For an investment of $20, John and Pat McIntosh took home $3,000.

That was the prize the Cass City residents won for first place in the 17th annual Scotch mixed doubles at Whyte Recreation in Pinconning. The $20 was the entry fee.

The tournament was conducted over 19 week ends and attracted a record 3,342 couples to the tiny eight-lane alley.

The McIntoshes, who live at 4409 Brooker Street, bowled June 27, the next day to last day of the tournament.

Their handicap score for six games of 1341 was 18 points better than the second place couple from Highland.

Their actual score for their games was 205, 205, 193, 211, 148 and 224, with the total of 1186 only four points less than the highest series rolled in the competition. Their handicap of 155 put them on top.

The McIntoshes had a hot night at Pinconning. John, who bowls Monday nights, carries an average of 176. Pat, who bowls Tuesday and Thursday nights, has a 163 average.

The McIntoshes own Thumb Welding Supply on Kelly Road. Mrs. McIntosh runs Brown's Party Store in Caro.

Most of their winnings, she said, are going for a new roof on their house.

Their win proves persistence pays. It was the ninth year the McIntoshes entered the tournament. Until this year, their best finish was seventh place the first year they entered, which won them $265.

Cass City swim team cops 16 firsts to defeat Caro

The Cass City swim team edged Caro July 26, 130-129, capturing 16 first places in the meet at the Cass City pool.

In the 10 and under division, Stacey Capps was first in the girls' breast stroke, swimming the 25 yards in 31.64 seconds. Mike Scollon swam the same event in 29.4

seconds to capture the boys' first place. Rusty Bush also won two first places, swimming the boys' 25 yard backstroke in 22.84 seconds and being the division's top diver.

For 11 and 12 year-olds, Mark Hirn was the big winner, placing first in the boys' 50 yard backstroke (49.6), 50 yard freestyle (36.57) and 50 yard breast stroke (49.03). Lisa Hirn swam the girls' 50 yard breast stroke in 51.11 to also finish first.

Two of the division's relay teams finished first. In the 100 yard freestyle relay, Jennifer Davis, Tim Davis, Donny Herron and Katy Scollon placed first with a 1:20.62 swim and in the 100 yard medley relay, Jennifer Davis, Lisa Hirn, Meg Brown and Kathy Connolly came in first with a 1:26.93 swim.

First place winners in the oldest division, those 15 and up, were Chris Langenburg, who swam the 50 yard boys' butterfly in 1:15 and the 50 yard backstroke in 46.34; Susie Scollon, who swam the 50 yard girls' backstroke in 50.91 and the 50 yard freestyle in 34.0; Sam Kapian for a 44.5-second swim in the boys' 50 yard breast stroke and the 200 yard freestyle relay team of Susie Scollon, Michelle Bush, John Bush and Sam Kapian (2:18.43).

Other Cass City place winners were:

--10 and under: Bobbi Fischer, second place in the girls' breast stroke and freestyle; Rusty Bush, third place in the boys' breast stroke and Katy Scollon, Bobbi Fischer, Rusty Bush and Stacey Capps, second place in the freestyle relay.

--11 and 12-year-olds: Tim Davis, second place in boys' freestyle and breast stroke; Tim Albee, second place in boys' backstroke; Donny Herron, third place in boys' freestyle and breast stroke; Lisa Hirn, second place in girls' freestyle and Lana Harris, third place in diving.

--13 and 14-year-olds: Michelle Bush, second place in girls' freestyle and third place in diving.

--15 and up: Scott Hurford, second place in the boys' breast stroke; John Bush, third place in the boys' breast stroke and Meg Brown, second place in the girls' backstroke.

The team will be hosting an invitational swim meet Sunday at 5:15 p.m. with teams from Caro, Marlette and Bay City.

They will also host a swimathon Aug. 12, with proceeds going to muscular dystrophy and team expenses. It will start at noon and anyone interested in swimming can pick up pledge sheets at the pool.

Appoint 20 to policy group

Twenty Michigan farmers have been appointed by Michigan Farm Bureau Elton R. Smith to serve on the organization's state policy development committee.

The committee, under the leadership of MFB Vice-president Jack Laurie of Dodge Road, Cass City, will coordinate the process of developing policies which will guide the state's largest farm organization in its activities during the coming year.

Members of the committee are charged with the responsibility of studying and correlating all recommendations submitted by the organization's 69 county Farm Bureau units and various commodity advisory committees.

During the process, they will meet with experts in various areas to gain background knowledge on the policy recommendations, then compile the proposals and present the package to voting delegates at the Michigan Farm Bureau annual meeting in Grand Rapids, Dec. 1-4.

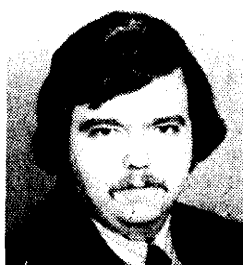

Recommendations adopted by the delegates dealing with state affairs become the policies of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Those involving national affairs are forwarded to the American Farm Bureau Federation, where the same process will be repeated at the national convention in January.

Recommendations adopted at county Farm Bureau annual meetings, held throughout the state during September and October, which deal with local issues, become the policies of the county units.

The state committee will meet with farm leaders throughout the state at a conference Aug. 20 in Lansing, where issues affecting agriculture will be reviewed.

200 Sanilac families in survey

In the next few days, approximately 200 farm families in Sanilac county will have received a survey questionnaire from their local Cooperative Extension Service offices.

Sanilac county is just one of nine counties that will be taking part in the farm family needs assessment survey.

Approximately 1,800 families in the east central and Thumb regions are being surveyed. Farm families were selected from Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service membership lists.

Results of the survey will help determine program emphasis and offerings for farm families within the Cooperative Extension Service and highlight the need for any changes to better serve the members of these families.

Dick Erla roast

Democrats and friends honor Cass Cityan at banquet for party work

Tuscola County Democrats and friends of Dick Erla of Cass City joined together Saturday evening at the Sveden House in Saginaw to roast him.

Congressman Robert Traxler gave his personal tribute to Erla, pointing out the many contributions over the past years that he has made to the Democratic Party.

Erla was chairperson of the Tuscola County Democratic Party when Traxler first ran for Congress.

He also was a candidate for the State Senate in 1960 and is currently a member of the Democratic Executive Board of Tuscola county.

U.S. Senator Donald Riegle and Carl Levin sent letters of appreciation to Erla honoring his contributions to the party.

asked by the Board of Education Aug. 11 will not cost senior citizens anything.

They will get it all returned through the Homestead Property Tax Credit. If any homestead property tax were received in 1980 at all, the 3-mill increase would probably all be refunded.

I am a senior citizen and am voting for the increase because good schools are the backbone of any live wire community and certainly are a big factor in maintaining property values.

We moved to Cass City four years ago and the main thing that attracted us was the progressiveness of the community. I urge a yes vote Aug. 11.

O'Dell: duty to question dumps

Dear Mike:

I feel good that you mentioned an "observation" in your weekly column, on Novesta township in last week's Chronicle.

Perhaps you were a little short for a filler to write about or maybe you thought, by the article, that you might just get a "rise" from the officials of said township regarding our "inconsistency," as you put it, in the county waste disposal plan.

If the latter happens to be the case, then this is a good time to speak up for our township and expose a public situation. Our local people need to know the true facts as it concerns them and as they develop.

Mike, you mentioned the March meeting where I voted against participation in the plan. Very good! But let's go back to the February meeting where the plans by the state legislature and the Department of Natural Resources were first introduced. Evidently you were not there at that meeting.

The new state law in regard to Waste Disposal placed this matter out of the hands of local authorities and assigned the waste responsibility to a county level, suggesting it be controlled by county government.

Also at that meeting, the DNR and state recommended along with the county control that a preferred common site be established for ONE disposal, county wide. Two hundred acres was suggested size of the landfill area. This meeting was well represented from all over the county.

A vote was taken by those present to proceed along this line of thinking. The vote was unanimous. Yes, Mike, "yours truly" voted to support this program. Also at this time another study session was set up for the month of March, which you refer to in your article of last week, and in which you charge the Novesta Township Board with being inconsistent.

Well, the March meeting was something else, Mike. "You were there." We, the township officials, were informed the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners wanted to "wash their hands of this responsibility," namely the county waste disposal program. Neither did said board take any action to set up a disposal committee to assume the leadership development through the county Planning Commission and subject to our county government.

Hence, the March meeting became a whole new ball game. It was decided at this meeting that a county committee of representatives from townships, business people, disposal haulers, etc. of 13 members be nominated and be elected at the following April meeting.

This committee or commission would control and augment the whole program. Don Duggar was temporary chairman and was appointed representative of the Caro landfill. Two members from the Village of Cass City were appointed. Even though one of the landfills of the county located in Novesta township, no consideration was given Novesta for representation on that board. I can only assume this happened because I could not favor the trends that were developing in the whole program. That is, instead of county government control and a common 200-acre site, the discussion turned to using the two present sites under this new committee.

Now, the Novesta Township Board is concerned as to what the present and future development will do to people of our township and other townships around us and even to the people of the village of Cass City. I believe it is a common problem for all of us locally to start asking questions and demanding some clearcut answers.

As to the immediate future, we have two licensed landfills in the county, which can and will be used by commercial haulers, and there is nothing to stop haulers coming in from distant areas.

Not only our duty to decide on current problems in the township, but to be alert to the future circumstances. Already we read in our daily papers too many reports on serious water and soil contamination throughout mid-Michigan and the opposition being put forth to stop it in many cities and localities.

I believe I heard of some contaminated wells, recently, in the Cass City area. I know that much has been said about the problem in the Bad Axe area.

So Mike, be it as it is, I've tried to answer your problem. Now you can draw your own conclusion.

Thank you,

Bill O'Dell
Novesta Township Supervisor

Baseball strike disgusting

Dear Editor,
I am disgusted because the baseball strike has been hanging on so long.

I have been a Tiger fan for a long, long time.

The two sides should get together and settle this because it is not good for baseball. The fans are all upset because there isn't any baseball.

The players and management should be ashamed of themselves.

I'm with the Tigers all the way.

Leader Dogs for The Blind®

"For Whither Thou Goest"

Following are portions of an article written by Steve Hannah which appeared in The Milwaukee Journal. It's a story of humor, courage and learning to cope when all suddenly goes dark.

For the newly blind, putting life back in perspective can be trying. But not entirely without humor.

Susan Mancil, 32, who has seen only darkness for the last two years and will see nothing else for the rest of her life, went to a softball game with her husband one recent evening. Afterwards, accompanied by friends, they stopped for a beer at a tavern in Auburndale.

"I had Bear, my Leader Dog, with me and was wearing dark glasses, when we walked into the place. There was a drunk sitting at the bar. He wanted to know what that dog was doing in the tavern.

"Somebody went up and explained to him, very quietly, that I couldn't see, that Bear was my eyes. He obviously had a few too many because it didn't seem to compute.

"Anyway, he kept it up, asking in sort of a loud voice, 'What's that dog doing in here?' Finally, he was on his way out and he stopped and asked me. I told him that I could not see, that Bear was a Leader Dog.

"He must have looked at Bear, then back at me, but he was so drunk that he still couldn't make the connection. Finally, he said, 'Well, if you'd take those darned dark glasses off, you probably could!'"

Sue Mancil laughed when the drunk said it then, and she laughs, perhaps harder, when she retells the story today. But it has not been easy - this transition from seeing blue skies and full moons and autumn colors for 30 years - then suddenly only darkness.

Sue has had Bear, the Leader Dog she acquired at Leader Dog School for the Blind in Rochester for a year.

Sue sees only darkness in this second summer of her second life.

"It's just exactly like having your eyes closed. Sometimes I'm resigned to it, but other times... like I'll wake up in the morning and my eyes will be opened, but it's the same as when they're closed.

"My friends who have been blind since birth say it's better to never have seen this thing called a blue sky or a pink dress or a newborn baby. They say it's worse for me, if these things are so beautiful, to have seen them before but never again.

"But I don't feel that way. One girl asked me what it's like to see snow - can you imagine that? I'm glad I saw all those things. Now when someone says blue sky or green leaves, I get a very clear mental picture. I'm glad for that.

"I'm learning to cope. Don't get me wrong, I'm not happy to be suddenly blind. I'd give anything not to be blind.

"But, I'm happy now. And every day I'm learning to be happier."

Computers in Cass City businesses

don't get the service they used to three or four years ago when fewer dealers were using it and the paperwork is still taking longer than it should, she explained.

"A friend of mine who has a dealership in Indiana just installed an 'in-house' system, so I'm going to look at his to see if we should consider getting one." An in-house system would alleviate a phone connection to another computer and put the entire system at Ouvry's.

THE VILLAGE'S TWO drugstores both use computer systems to keep their records and help with the ever-increasing paperwork.

"It comes down to a decision of either having someone doing bookwork, which they hate, all day or getting a computer to do it faster and more efficiently," said Tom Proctor of Old Wood Drug.

Both Old Wood and Coach Light Pharmacy lease terminals through a Pennsylvania computer firm that specializes in pharmacies.

When a customer has a prescription filled, a file is started in the computer with general patient and insurance information, prescription number, doctor and number of refills. The account is continued with each additional prescription and filed by family.

With this system, Pharmacist Steve Eyer of Coach Light said, the paperwork which the customer doesn't see but which takes so much time, is alleviated.

The terminal, complete with a printer called a "Dewriter," prints the customer's receipt, prescription label, insurance forms and a copy for state records on certain drugs and the pharmacist's records.

Besides the obvious time advantages, the system's printout tells a customer how many refills he has left automatically and can, at any time, give a customer a total amount spent on prescriptions for tax purposes.

Before the use of computers, individual insurance forms had to be filled out by hand for each prescription, mailed to the company and weeks or months later, the druggist was reimbursed. Now Eyer explained, the insurance code is typed into the terminal at the drugstore with each prescription, and the computer firm sends the information to the insurance company, who reimburses the druggist quickly and more efficiently, without any hand billing.

THIS TREND TOWARDS

increasing medical insurance and the accompanying paperwork has also led to the use of computers in medical offices.

Paul R. Chappel, DDS, paid $12,000 a year ago for a terminal specially programmed for medical office use.

In the dentist's office, the computer stores all the patients' accounts — 250 accounts per diskette, with six already filled, assistant Chris Diegel said.

The computer prints out billing statements, insurance forms, receipts and individual records for the two dentists and hygienist in the office and individual insurance tallies which tell a patient how much they have spent and how much coverage they have left. The machine even gives the office a list of patients who are due for cleanings or check-ups each month, she explained.

"THE COMPUTERS ARE very accurate — as long as what you put on it is accurate," Chappel said.

Most of the businessmen and women questioned agreed.

"The myth that computers make errors bothers me because they still depend on people. If people program wrong, they'll be wrong," Mrs. Ouvry said, explaining, "people are afraid of them because they look so complex."

Problems and errors reported by the computer users were due to telephone and electrical malfunctions, causing problems which at first appear to be the computer's fault.

Power surges from Detroit Edison for instance, damaged diskettes in Chappel's computer before they discovered the source of the problem. Some computer systems require separate outlets and cannot run on alternating electricity normally used in homes.

Other errors discussed by the owners were "human" ones, usually made by employees when they first began using the computers, but never very serious.

Most of the companies selling or leasing the computers have their representatives train the employees, spending a day to help familiarize them with the machines and remaining available for questions and service calls.

COMPUTER QUOTES -- Insurance agent Dick Hampshire uses a computer to quote insurance prices to his customers.

Two area homes boast computers

In most homes, including those in Cass City, computers are still more the exception than the rule.

Schneeberger's has sold two computers for home use in the last two years.

Kanji Niwa of Caro purchased a basic television-size computer for $600.

"Hardware (computer) doesn't depreciate, so it's worth the investment, he explained. Since he purchased the unit, Niwa has added various expansion systems and memories, making the system equivalent to a $12,000 "store model."

An engineer at Walbro, Niwa has been interested in electronics since he was a child and has programmed the computer for home financing use.

The computer could be programmed for just about anything from figuring gas mileage to plotting his children's growth rate, he said.

CHRISTOPHER SHERMAN of Cass City purchased a computer for $850 a year ago.

"I had to have a toy," the accountant-programmer for General Cable explained.

The computer runs on cassette tapes, although Sherman would like to get diskettes and a printer. "I could go hog wild for about another $5,000 if I wanted to."

Some of the programs he and his family use were purchased like a household budget management program and a science fiction game.

Others, like the math program for 7-year-old Heather, Sherman writes himself.

"Everyone thinks programming is so hard, it's really not. All you do is figure out what you want the program to do and after that it's a step by step process," explained Sherman, who has been working with computers for three years.

The mathematics program quizzes his daughter's skills in adding, subtracting and multiplying, with easy, medium and hard problems. Heather, going into second grade, has been adding and subtracting three-digit numbers on the computer already and enjoys the educational program, her father said.

The computer also has a stock portfolio and selection program, a check file that tells Sherman which checks are outstanding and another program that keeps track of his bowling league averages.

The father of two is now working on a spelling program which will use the "flash card" technique on the computer's screen.

WHEN PEOPLE HEAR the Shermans have a computer, "they don't know what to think," Sherman said, explaining there is a stigma attached to the "all powerful" computer.

Most people are interested in the system and how they could use it, Mrs. Sherman said, admitting she thought her husband was crazy at first.

Now, Mrs. Sherman is preparing to begin a program in accounting and computer programming herself at Delta College. "I realized how much computers are used in accounting," she said.

Sherman has "always been interested in computers" but learned the most through "trial and error."

Lounsbury-Dean reunion

Eighty-one attended the annual Lounsbury-Dean reunion Sunday in the Cass City park.

Coming from the greatest distance were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Quinn of Mesa, Ariz.

Eldest of the Dean family present was Rollo Darbee of Caro. The youngest was Catherine Scott of London, Ont.

Cecil Barriger of Cass City was the eldest of the Lounsbury family. The youngest were Nicole Wilkenson of Saginaw and Sally Finkbeiner of Cass City.

The 1982 reunion is planned for the fourth Sunday in July in Cass City.

Don Koepfgen graduates under water

Don Koepfgen of Cass City is ready to begin a new career — under water.

Koepfgen, son of Mrs. Ken Maharg of Koepfgen Road, has just completed an 11-week course at the only commercial deep sea diving school in the world.

Located in Oakland, Calif., the Coastal School of Deep Sea Diving teaches techniques such as underwater construction, welding and burning, rigging, demolition, use of pneumatic and hydraulic tools and explosives in marine and salvage work.

Koepfgen, now an underwater construction worker, will be going to Korea to work on a crew there building a harbor. After that project is completed, he said he may remain in the Far and Middle East for a while working, or continue his education.

Don Koepfgen

"There will be a lot of work there because of the Suez Canal and the hurricanes they get," Koepfgen said.

Some day, the diver would like to complete work on the bachelor's degree he started at Northwestern Michigan University in Traverse City.

The field of research and development, especially whales and dolphins, is the area of study Koepfgen is interested in.

Bad Axe fair starts Sunday

The 113th annual Huron County Fair is expected to draw about 45,000 people to Bad Axe Aug. 28.

Daily events will be:

SUNDAY: A rodeo at 2 p.m. and four-wheel drive pull at 7 p.m.

MONDAY: The 4-H Horse Show at 9:30 a.m. followed by light and heavy horse pulling in the evening. The light pulling will begin at seven, with the Bean Queen crowned between pullings.

TUESDAY: "Kids Day" will feature harness racing at 5:30 p.m. and an evening of entertainment beginning at 7 p.m. with the 4-H Talent Show. After the show, the 4-H King and Queen, Senior Citizen King and Queen and "Queen of Queens" will be crowned, with the Pigeon Men's Community Chorus performing. A tug-o-war is also slated for the evening.

WEDNESDAY: Open class judging, livestock sales and harness racing are scheduled for the day with a tractor pull in the evening.

THURSDAY: During the day, an open class horse show, 4-H and open class dairy shows and harness and wagon racing will be featured with the Trans Canada Thrill Show beginning at 7:30 p.m.

FRIDAY: Pet, poultry, rabbit and draft horse shows will be held in the morning of Senior Citizens Day with a rose show running all day. At 2 p.m. there will be harness racing with free admittance to the grandstand for senior citizens and at 7 p.m. a demolition derby.

SATURDAY: The final day will begin with a 4-H dog show at 10 a.m. followed by children's games and pony pulling. The fair's final event will be a tractor pull at 7 p.m.

Vargo photograph in national display

The photography and artwork of Julie Vargo, 16, of Cass City is part of a display scheduled to appear in New York City next week.

The display, which will tour the country in the next 18 months, includes a photograph and pencil drawing done by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vargo Jr. of 4801 Schwegler Road.

The photo is of an antique John Deere tractor. "One day I just went out to finish a roll of film and decided to try double exposure. I had been reading about it in a magazine," she said, explaining the tractor was kind of a joke in the family. "It was supposed to be my tractor, but my dad always used it. I decided to take a picture of it and it just turned out."

Julie entered the photo in a show in Bay City, sponsored by Scholastic and Kodak, winning a Gold Key and Regional Medallion of Excellence. Only 59 medallions were awarded nationwide, giving Julie the honor of displaying her work in the exhibit.

Also on display in the exhibit is a drawing of the high school senior did of pencils. The drawing is hard to explain, but it's like looking down at a bunch of pencils, lying flat, she said.

"My art teacher (Karen Wallace) told me to go home during Christmas break and do something original. The pencil drawing was the first thing I did," Julie said, explaining she had been looking at pictures in magazines for ideas to use in her advanced art class until then.

The drawing earned her another Gold Key, a national Hallmark Honor Prize and another berth in the show which is now being photographed for a film strip.

Julie, who has been drawing since she was very young, is a 4-H member who participates in many shows with knitting and home design as well as photos and drawings. She is now preparing for the Tuscola County Fair, after winning four blue ribbons and two best of shows in Vassar two weeks ago.

Oddly enough, the artist has no plans to make her hobby a career. "It's too iffy and I like to do it when I feel like it, not because I have to."

Julie would like to attend Michigan State University after graduation, studying either animal technology or computers.

You can BANK on it!

Q. Before we can start an effective plan for building a regular savings account, we need to set some realistic goals for our savings. Just how much money should a family have in their savings account?

A. Frankly, there is no general answer that fits everyone. It depends on the specific situation of the individual family. For instance, if your immediate goal is to be able to buy your own home within say three years, then the down payment can be a major factor in determining the amount which should be deposited in a savings account each month. If you are simply trying to determine how much should be set aside for emergencies, this too can vary from one family situation to the next depending on individual circumstances. Not long ago the basic "rule-of-thumb" was that the family savings account should be maintained at no less than three months living costs. Now many authorities on financial planning are strongly recommending that for safety's sake this should be expanded to an amount equivalent to four to six months living costs.

Your Neighbor says

Fuss, fuss, fuss over royal wedding

Charyl Gilliam of Deford doesn't understand what the big fuss about the royal wedding is all about.

"I think they should just let them have their wedding and not make it so public," Ms. Gilliam, of 274 Froede Road said.

The wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana was scheduled to have been broadcasted early Wednesday morning, but Ms. Gilliam won't be watching. "It's not worth getting up that early for (5 a.m.)," she said, admitting some people probably are interested.

"Everybody wants to see how they'll go all out, but not as many people are as interested as it seems," the student explained.

A wedding takes a lot of planning, especially one like that. All the publicity though doesn't make it personal at all for the couple, she continued.

Some girls may look up to Lady Diana as an idol, Ms. Gilliam said, getting their hair cut in the same style and watching what she wears.

"I suppose if you keep up with it all you could idolize her," she said, admitting, "I don't."

Ms. Gilliam also doesn't quite understand how 20-year-old Lady Diana can marry the 34-year-old Prince. "I wouldn't be interested in an older man like that."

A senior at Spring Arbor College near Jackson, Ms. Gilliam has just returned home from summer session. In a few weeks the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gilliam will return to college where she is studying elementary education.

Two students headed for overseas

Two Cass City High School students are packing their bags in preparation for a year of study as exchange students.

Both students will leave Aug. 21 to begin the Rotary Club sponsored program which places students with three to five host families over a one-year period in a foreign land.

Katha Cleland, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cleland of Germania Road, Uby, is going to Keuruu, Finland, where she will begin the eleventh grade.

Admitting her Finnish is "not very good," Miss Cleland said she has been corresponding with her first host family, whose daughter will be studying in the United States while she visits Finland.

Rob Albee, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Albee, is expecting to eat "a lot of seafood and lamb chops" in Australia, where "sheep outnumber people 50 to 1."

His first host family lives in Kings Cliff, Queensland, where he will probably stay for three to five months. Albee is also a junior in high school.

Taking Stock

First of two articles

"Tax Shelters" was the topic. The seminar was conducted by Richard DuPuis of Dean Witter's office in Boca Raton.

I was among the ones attending to learn how to pay less income tax.

Rick talked about several channels to lower taxes:

1. Deferred annuities. Your money earns interest over the years, but you pay no taxes until the annuity matures and you start drawing it out.

Nothing new about this, except the current interest rates of 15.5 percent for six months or 13.85 percent for three years are mouthwatering.

2. Oil and gas drilling programs. Nothing new here, either, but ones handled by Dean Witter are screened by this large brokerage house, which spends over $100,000 in a year just in researching the various "programs" offered.

You can write off 100 percent of your investment in two years. So if you're in the 50 percent tax bracket, you have recovered half your money in tax savings, said DuPuis.

But it takes you two years to do it; meanwhile your money has produced no other return. I think you ought to figure what your money would have brought you in two years in a traditional investment.

After two years of quick write-offs (and no income), then the drilling program begins to pay off over maybe 10 more years. Since your investment is spread over several wells, some are likely to be producers.

In the past, the programs marketed by Dean Witter have averaged a 3 to 1 return for the investor's dollar in the typical 12-year span before the oil is gone. The income from the oil is 80 percent taxable, the other 20 percent being the depletion allowance.

3. Real estate partnerships. These plans are mostly of the limited partnership type. Minimum investment is $5,000 usually.

Hottest thing in the field now, said DuPuis, are storage warehouses, both mini's and standard size.

"Studies show they'll pay out with 35 percent occupancy," said the speaker. "Yet average occupancy is now 95 percent. Rents are typically titled 10 percent a year, and tenants don't object because it would be too much bother to move all their stuff.

"You have the advantage of deductions for depreciation, taxes and mortgage interest. And of course we know inflation will add at least 10 percent a year to the value."

Return on your investment depends on the individual project. Best see DuPuis on this one, or your broker, if it's not Dean Witter. Other major brokers manage similar real estate limited partnerships.

Like the other tax shelters, they're designed for the big income people. If your tax bracket is under 50 percent, the shelters lose a lot of their shine.

The real estate ventures are touted as a sure way to increase your wealth, because "real estate goes up every year in price, and has always increased more than the rate of inflation."

Well, this old-timer can think of 20 years, from 1930 to 1950 when farm land in Michigan never moved up a dollar. In another field, I bought a house in 1939 at the same price the owner had paid for it in 1920, and after two more lots and many improvements had been added.

Admittedly, prices are shooting up fast in south Florida—but I wonder if the inflated prices aren't discounting some gains for years ahead.

Nobody knows how long the price surge will last. Remember 1974 when condos stood empty all over Broward—17,000 of them at one time? Remember in February when the prophets were saying there'd be $2 gasoline by year-end. It's six cents cheaper now than when the forecast was made.

If you do want to take a fling in oil and gas drilling, certainly the avenue is through one of the major stock brokers.

They'll keep you out of the hands of the swindlers, although they can't guarantee every well will be a gusher—or hit anything but salt water.

The same in real estate deals, which is a pretty sophisticated field, where you need all the expert management you can find—see one of the big stock brokerage firms.

Kloc-Smentek reunion

The Kloc-Smentek annual reunion was held Saturday at the Cass City Gun Club with 68 members and six guests attending.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Tillie Kloc, 92, of Deford. The youngest was Jessica Ellen Ertman, six weeks, daughter of Dave and Jeanette Ertman of Deford.

Officers elected for next year were Floyd Kloc, chairman; John Smentek, co-chairman, and Julie Braunter, secretary-treasurer.

Members and guests attending were from Cass City, Deford, Kingston, Livonia, Franklin Village, Lathrup Village, Redford township, Riverview, Southfield, Buffalo, N.Y., East Lansing and Romeo.

The 1982 reunion will be the last Saturday in July at the same place.

4 Cass City businesses damaged by shots

Shots were fired into the windows of four Cass City businesses during the week end.

The holes were made with a BB or pellet gun and all the incidents were reported to village police Monday morning. Police believe the shots were made by someone in a passing car or cars.

Aime Ouvry reported there was one hole in an east side window of his auto dealership and one in a south side window, the shots having been fired sometime since 1 p.m. Saturday. About a week earlier, another window had a hole shot in it.

The other damage was done in town. Floyd Luetke reported there was a total of five holes in two windows at L & S Standard, done some time since 2 p.m. Sunday.

Fred Martin told police there were three holes in one window at Cass City Sports and one in the other window, plus one hole was found in a window in the adjacent Kritzman's Clothing Store window. The shots were fired some time since 5 p.m. Saturday.

ITEMS STOLEN

Clarence (Bud) Schneeberger reported to Cass City police Saturday that a color television and electric clothes dryer were stolen from Schneeberger's store's loading dock July 9.

Both were still in their packing crates. The TV was valued at $477; the dryer at $210. They had been unloaded from a truck and were sitting on the dock until they were moved inside. The dryer had been damaged.

It is believed the appliances were taken by a semi-truck driver, who had unloaded some carpet and was believed headed for California, or someone driving by in a pickup or van.

A report was made to Caro State Police Tuesday morning that a green 1981 Ford van, license number TPN 810, was stolen from the Kingston Teen Ranch, south of Kingston, about 2 a.m. that day.

It was believed taken by two residents of the ranch, ages 14 and 15, who were from Garden City and Flushing, who were missing from the ranch.

IT'S GENUINE -- "Denver Starduster" gives his sniff of approval to the $100 check Colleen Whittaker, treasurer of the Junior Wranglers 4-H Horse Club, presented to village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie last week. The club's donation is to be used by the village for the park, which has been the site of the club's horse show for nine years.

New family doctor for village

A new general practitioner, Leon R. Miral, DO, will be starting practice in Cass City about Aug. 10.

The osteopath is presently in private practice and industrial medicine in Detroit and is moving here to get away from the big city, according to Hills and Dales General Hospital Administrator Ken Jensen.

Miral's office will be in the Hills and Dales Medical Center across from the hospital, in the space recently vacated by Dr. Hoon K.

Jeung, MD.

Miral was born in Detroit in 1937 and graduated from the University of Michigan in pre-medicine in 1962. He is a 1966 graduate of the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine and interned at the Michigan Osteopathic Medical Center in Detroit.

He is divorced with three children, Beth, 19, a pre-medical student at Michigan State University, Lance, 18, and David, 14.

Jensen said the hospital is negotiating with another general practitioner, an MD, to establish a practice in the clinic on Weaver Street that was occupied by Dr. James H. Ballard, MD, who retired May 30. Hills and Dales has purchased the building from Ed Baker.

After that, Jensen hopes to recruit two more family doctors, one whose office would be in the Deford-Kingston area and the other in the Owendale-Sebewaing area. Both would be on the Hills and Dales staff.

Plane catches wires

A crop dusting plane flew a bit too low early Friday evening and brought down some electric lines along Lamton Road, north of Severance Road.

The plane's landing gear caught the lines, which brought them down. The plane did not crash.

blocked off the road until utility crews could repair the damage.

According to Tuscola County Deputy Wayne Newton, residents in the area

The name of the pilot of the plane was not immediately known.

In Novesta township

2 original buildings on centennial farm

Draft horses still work the fields on one Cass City area farm — just as they did a century ago.

The Novesta township farm owned by Martha

(Knoblet) Putnam of 3295 Knoblet Road, has been designated a Centennial Farm by the division of Michigan history of the Michigan Department of State.

Originally purchased by Mrs. Putnam's grandfather, Edward Knoblet, in 1881, from Francis Palms and William Yawkey, the farm has been owned by the Knoblet family for 100 years.

Today, her husband, Walter, exercises his six draft horses by working a field of corn, part of the 80-acre original farm which she owns. Fred Knoblet, Martha's brother, farms the rest of what has grown to 270 acres.

The farm, located about five miles southwest of Cass City, was purchased by the then 20-year-old Knoblet and rented out until July of 1889, when he married Anna Bomberg of Huron county and moved from Caro to the farm house.

The couple moved the home, which is still standing, from down the road and built a barn, also still part of the farm. Mrs. Putnam and her husband live in the house.

"Three years after he bought the farm, he had to go back and pay the back taxes. He couldn't read and didn't know he owed money," Mrs. Putnam said, recalling stories she heard about her "pioneering" grandfather.

"Anna painted all the boards for the barn on the ground, before they built it. They were both workers."

Edward Knoblet, who was born and raised in Tuscola county, and his wife had three children, Rinerd, (Mrs. Putnam's father), Ethel (Mrs. Herbert Layman) and Emma, who died in infancy.

While Rinerd attended school, he helped his father farm and brick in the house, bringing bricks in each day from the brickyard in town.

DURING WORLD WAR I, Rinerd was a mess sergeant stationed in Waco, Texas, where he married Mabel Klemmer in 1918. She was born in Hanover, Ont., but moved to Elkton as a young child.

Following the war and a two-year teaching stint in Deford, Rinerd took over the farm. His four children, Martha, Ruth, Fred and Charlotte, became the second generation of Knoblets to be born in the house.

Martha (Mrs. Archie Dorman) now lives in Snover. Charlotte (Mrs. John Lockwood) lives in Caro.

"Grandpa (Edward Knoblet) and Grandma moved into town, but Grandpa missed the farm too much so they bought a house on Kelly Road," Mrs. Putnam recalls. She was eight years old when her grandfather died in 1932.

Fred Knoblet and one of his three sons now harvest wheat, corn and beans on the farm which also housed dairy and beef cattle at various times during its 100-year-history. He and his wife Eva and family live nearby on Kelly Road.

TO QUALIFY AS A state centennial farm, the Putnams had to go through an application process, proving the farm has been in continuous possession of the Knoblet family since 1881.

Both the house and barn are original buildings, Mrs. Putnam said, explaining a tornado in 1954 took the roof off the barn. "It was re-roofed and I use it some now," said Walter Putnam. Rinerd, like his father, believed every community should have a church and helped to build the Riverside Church of God on land donated by his father, said Mrs. Putnam, an elementary school teacher in Caro. She and her husband have been married nine years. Hoping to keep the farm's original 80 acres as farmland, Mrs. Putnam has listed the land under Public Act 116. The act protects the land against sale for commercial use for 10 years.

"I wish my father could have lived to see this," she said, pointing to the historical marker. "He really wanted to." Rinerd Knoblet died in 1977.

ANNA KNOBLET, wife of Edward Knoblet, who purchased the farm in 1881, in front of the home which is still standing on Knoblet Road.

CENTENNIAL FARM OWNERS, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Putnam display the plaque that was presented to them by the Michigan Historical Division.

KNOBLET FARM in about 1910. The barn was re-roofed in 1954 after a tornado tore off this roof.

No stopping mobile homes in Kingston

Plans by Marshall Real Estate of Marlette to construct a mobile home park in Kingston cannot be obstructed by village zoning ordinances any longer, Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn ruled Monday.

The plaintiff, represented by Forrest Walpole, asked the court to enter judgement enjoining the village from enforcing its zoning ordinance against construction of the mobile home park on 40 acres of property owned by Jerry Marshall. The property, located in the Kingsbury and Pine Street area, has been zoned for residential use, prohibiting Marshall from building a 30-50 site park there.

Since the original Joslyn decision May 14 which prohibited Kingston from banning the park because the ordinance was "exclusionary," the village has not amended its zoning laws. "The village has ignored the court's procedure designed to accommodate the village's needs. Having failed even to appoint a valid amendment, the village is not deserving of further special consideration," Walpole said in his argument.

The village had voted June 1 to file for a new suit against the real estate firm, but the required 60 days had passed, allowing this decision to "restrain" the village from doing any act to prevent the mobile home park

Auto-Owners for Executive Umbrella Liability Insurance

If you're taken to court, you're liable to lose your shirt.

So you should know about Auto-Owners' Executive Umbrella Liability Insurance.

You'd be amazed at how little it costs to purchase $1,000,000 of additional liability protection. Including attorney's fees for defense.

If you're in an executive or similar position, talk to us at Auto-Owners. Why wait until you're over a barrel?

I wanted a puppy, but Dad said we needed a woodchuck.

The "woodchuck" Dad was talking about was our new Woodchuck Wood/Coal Furnace. It's one of the largest selling furnaces in the country...and for a good reason. The quality of the Woodchuck add-on supplementary heating system stands unequalled in the industry.

Meat inspection - second of two parts

New law may hurt consumers

State meat inspectors aren't the only ones who will be hurt by the switch to federal inspection, say three local inspectors. Consumers also will suffer.

The three inspectors, Tom Lounsbury, Harold Guinther and Ed Paladi are among approximately 120 inspectors affected by the change-over, which takes effect Oct. 1. Lounsbury is in his 10th year of inspecting, Paladi, 12 years, and Guinther, 14 years.

"What it all boils down to with the federal inspection," Paladi said, "is the consumer is going to get the shaft."

For starters, Michigan law doesn't allow inclusion of pig snouts, ears, lips and stomachs in hot dogs and sausage. Federal standards do.

Some Michigan packers may still stick to the state standards.

Paladi explained consumers may end up paying as much for the meat meeting the federal standards, but they won't be getting as good quality.

Federal inspectors also won't be enforcing Michigan's PBB law which allows no more than 20 parts per billion of PBB in meat. Federal standards allow 300 parts per billion.

THE INSPECTORS, however, are more concerned about what might happen at custom slaughterhouses.

Under Michigan law, whenever an animal is slaughtered, an inspector must be present.

Custom houses slaughter animals brought to them by customers for their own use. That may be a farmer, or a consumer who had purchased an animal (or part of one) from a farmer for slaughter.

Under federal law, slaughterhouses that only do custom work won't have an inspector present when they do slaughtering. They will only be subject to a sanitary inspection maybe once or twice a year.

THAT LEAVES THE way open for abuse by, in the words of Paladi, "probably the 2 percent on the shady side."

There will be nothing to stop shady operators from butchering animals that have died, or ones with diseases or loaded with antibiotics.

All three can tell stories about animals that would have ended up on the meat counter had they not been at the slaughterhouse to stop it.

Custom houses are supposed to stamp custom slaughtered meat "not for sale," but without an inspector present, bad meat could be ground up for hamburger and sold over the counter and no one will be the wiser.

Even for an honest operator, Lounsbury pointed out, "Without an inspector there in a custom exempt plant, there are a lot of things that could slide by the owner."

Meat inspectors, for instance, feel the liver and cut into lymph nodes to check for disease, something presumably the slaughterhouse operators won't be doing. "There might be some things (disease) he can see, but it's got to be staring him in the face," he explained.

Ending of the inspection program will save Michigan $1.5 million, money which easily could have come from elsewhere, the inspectors said. There was $800,000 spent for the Pontiac Silverdome, for instance, and millions for Detroit.

What's more important, Paladi asked, a program which benefits all of Michigan residents or some of them? "We're not just fighting for our jobs," he said.

THE THREE ATTENDED a meeting in Detroit July 13, at which state inspectors were briefed by U.S. Department of Agriculture officials about what might happen.

According to Paladi, the main thing they learned is they won't know anything definite until September.

The USDA must first inspect all Michigan meat plants to determine how many inspectors it will need and what assignments they will perform. It doesn't expect to have that done until September.

The federal officials did not say all the state inspectors will get jobs with Uncle Sam.

Because of plant closings and others going custom exempt (see main story), Guinther predicted, "A year and a half from now, I dare say we'll be lucky if 50 percent of us have a job."

THE INSPECTORS aren't too happy about what they will be paid by Uncle Sam.

As state employees, meat inspectors reach the top of the pay scale, presently $9.58 per hour, after four years.

Federal inspectors, however, are paid according to the assignment they perform, which means they aren't all paid the same, even those who have the same number of years of service.

Should they start at federal pay grade GS-5, and some might, the pay is $5.90 an hour. GS-7, where probably most will go, pays $7.30 at step 1 (there are 10 pay steps for each pay grade) and GS-9, which a few might make, starts at $8.94.

In contrast to the quick rise to the top in the Michigan Civil Service, it can take 18 years to reach the top of the pay scale within an individual pay grade.

GUINOTHER SAID THEY were told their new assignments will be within commuting distance of their homes, but there was no guarantee.

Paladi pointed out federal employees are considered nationwide employees, thus they could be reassigned elsewhere.

The state inspectors have until Aug. 12 to apply for jobs with the USDA. Lounsbury, a chief steward for the Michigan State Employees Association safety and regulatory unit, said he knows of none so far who have applied.

Making that decision more difficult for the three local ones is all own their own homes and their wives all have jobs.

Guinther feels he might not have a choice, but to sign on with Uncle Sam. "Who in the h--- wants to hire a 57-year-old meat inspector (for another job)?" he asked.

Sanilac fair calendar full for 50th year

Plans for the 50th annual Sanilac County 4-H Fair in Sandusky are made and 1,500 4-H'ers are making last-minute preparations to exhibit their projects.

Judging begins Friday, with the first event Sunday. The fair ends Saturday, Aug. 8.

An estimated 4,500 4-H projects as well as many special exhibits in celebration of the fair's golden anniversary will highlight the week's events, fair board secretary Cindy Pfaff said.

Organizers are hoping to top last year's 30,000 crowd with a wide variety of grandstand entertainment for all tastes, from gospel to rock music.

Side attractions should offer something for everyone too, Ms. Pfaff said, citing Elsie the roving cow, 4-H clowns and the Commission on Aging's blood pressure checks as some of the attractions.

The gate will open at 9 a.m. during fair week, with admission $1 for adults and children under age 12 free. Parking will be free.

Midway rides will begin at noon, Monday through Saturday. Two special pay one price (POP) days, Tuesday and Thursday, will allow the ticket bearer to ride carnival rides all day.

Two special "Children's Days" are also scheduled, Wednesday and Friday, with carnival rides at reduced rates from 1-6 p.m.

Major events by day are as follows:

FRIDAY: Non-perishable 4-H and FFA projects will be judged from 9 a.m.-2 p.m., with open class and senior citizen projects judged at 1 p.m. Among the entries judged will be conservation, animal science, handicrafts, electrical, automotive, photography, personal appearance, family living, educational, teen leadership, recreation and special education projects.

SUNDAY: A B-Bar-J rodeo show is at 3 p.m. A gospel sing is at 7:30, featuring the Calvarymen.

MONDAY: Tractors, 4-H horses and ponies, 4-H and FFA foods, horticulture, crops and entomology will be judged from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. At 1 p.m., open class entries in these categories will be judged. Judging of litter barrels will be at 5 p.m.

The B-Bar-J Rodeo show will be at 8 p.m.

TUESDAY: Judging of 4-H horses and ponies will continue at 9 a.m., with the pleasure, horsemanship and fun classes, followed by 4-H hog and lamb judging.

At 11 a.m. the tractor operation contest will be held, followed by the pony pull at 2 p.m. and 4-H judging of dogs at 6.

The pony pull will continue as part of the grandstand entertainment at 6 p.m. 4-H'ers and their leaders will be admitted free Tuesday night with the proper passes.

At 7:30, the 4-H king and queen will be crowned as part of a special anniversary program. The program will also include original exhibitors in the fair's 50-year history, a special senior citizen's day event.

The evening program will end with the horse pull at 8.

WEDNESDAY: At 9 a.m., judging will begin with beef and poultry, with dairy entries at 3 p.m., rabbits at 5 and 4-H dairy goats at 7. Special Children's Day events will be an appearance by Ronald McDonald at 3 p.m. in front of the grandstand with his "Miles of Smiles" program and a bike drawing at 6 in front of the fair office.

A four-wheel drive pickup pull will be the evening program at 7.

THURSDAY: All dairy entries will be judged, beginning at 9 a.m., followed by public speaking judging and livestock demonstrations at 10.

The small animal, 4-H and FFA livestock sales, held in the arena, are expected to surpass the over $83,000 record set last year.

Auctioneer Jim O'Connor will start the small animal sale at 5:30 p.m., selling rabbits, goats, veal calves, feeder calves and poultry in that order.

At 6:30, the 4-H and FFA sale with auctioneers Clare Waite and Don Moore will begin. On sale will be swine, sheep and beef, in that order. A demolition derby, sponsored by the Sandusky and Burrville Lions, will be the evening program, with large numbers of cars expected to compete for the over $400 in prize money and trophies. The event will begin at 8.

FRIDAY: Judging of 4-H fun class and sportsmanship horses will begin at 9 a.m., with sweepstakes showmanship judging and tabulation at 10 and livestock judging at 3 p.m.

A bicycle rodeo at 1:30 p.m. and another bike drawing at 6 p.m. will highlight the second children's day.

The evening program will be the annual tractor pull at 7, interrupted by the Bean Queen contest at 8.

SATURDAY: Final judging will be of the open class horse show at 9 a.m., with exhibits released at 3 p.m.

The fair will culminate in a "battle of the bands"

New books at the library

THE DECLASSIFIED EISENHOWER by Blanche W. Cook (non-fiction). Although Dwight D. Eisenhower served nearly all of his professional life as an Army officer, he was actually an anti-militarist and peace-loving man who believed that war was an outmoded strategy. Upon taking political office, he proceeded to establish a foreign policy aimed at permanently securing international peace. This book provides a unique look at one of the most undervalued and misunderstood statesmen of the 20th century.

KEEPING PARENTS OUT OF TROUBLE by Dr. Dan Kiley (non-fiction). A no-nonsense guide to being an effective parent, combining discipline and loving toughness to help your kids learn the self control necessary for their survival and success and for your sanity. Step-by-step, it guides both parent and child through the problem areas — disruptive behavior, drugs, peer pressure, drinking, lying, theft, cheating, sex, leaving home, work, money — to a workable balance of authority, will power and responsibility.

COAST OF FEAR by Caroline Crane (fiction). On a sight-seeing trip to the French Riviera, Jessica Hayden pays a sympathy visit to the family of a friend who was killed by a mugger while in the U.S. Strange happenings soon make it clear that the course of her friend's death was more than a senseless killing and Jessica is somehow involved, although she doesn't know how or why. In a search for the truth she is torn between two men as she desperately looks for help from a nightmare of violence.

VA spends $6 million in Michigan

The Veterans Administration spent $599.92 million in Michigan during fiscal year 1980, according to Gordon Clowney, director of the VA regional office in Detroit.

In Tuscola county, the VA spent $1.9 million, of which compensation to disabled veterans and pensions to older veterans in need amounted to $1.46 million.

In Huron county, the total spent was $1.32 million, of which slightly over $1 million went for compensation and pensions. In Sanilac county, the respective figures were $1.2 million and $921,060.

Expenditures for educational benefits to Vietnam era veterans and other training programs in Tuscola amounted to $295,263, $186,549 in Sanilac, and $203,977 in Huron.

The VA spent $151,152 for insurance and indemnities in Tuscola, $95,499 in Sanilac and $104,420 in Huron.

Hunter safety class set

The Caro Community Services Office and Caro Gun Club will offer the hunter safety training program in August.

This instruction is necessary in order to receive a hunter safety certificate and to purchase a hunting license in Michigan. This class is open to all students who will be at least 12 during the hunting season, and up to 16 years of age.

The class is scheduled Aug. 10-12-13-14 from 6-9 p.m. All class meetings will be at the Gun Club located on Gun Club Road.

To register, call 673-3166, extension 241.

Mrs. William Jones, Shabbona Extension Council member, announces that the Shabbona day to work is Aug. 5, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Members should bring bazaar goods to Mrs. Arlie Gray Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Wilfred Turner and Mrs. Bruce Kritzman of Cass City visited Lillian Dunlap of Caro Monday.

Mrs. Karen King and daughters and Mrs. Frank

Dawn Harris new home economist

Dawn A. Harris of Dansville has been appointed as Cooperative Extension Service home economist for Sanilac and Tuscola counties, effective Aug. 1.

The appointment is subject to the approval of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

She will have the responsibility for conducting the extension family living education program in the two counties, concentrating on family and community growth and the areas of health, food and nutrition, human development, housing, public affairs and resource management.

She will also work with representatives of other human service organizations and agencies to coordinate and develop joint programs for the benefit of local residents.

Mrs. Harris obtained her bachelor's degree in home economics education from MSU this year. Since 1977, she has been a departmental aide for the Michigan Association of Future Homemakers of America.

She replaces Peggy Houck, who was recently married and has been re-assigned as extension home economist in St. Clair county.

Telephone equipment installed

Additional central office equipment has recently been added to the Cass City exchange, according to Les Moench, northeastern division manager for General Telephone Co.

The $50,000 addition provides for the replacement of two existing carrier systems consisting of 48 carrier channels, plus 12 additional channels for future growth.

This new equipment provides for a better quality transmission and requires less maintenance than the two systems being replaced, he explained.

Diabetic cooking class set

A cooking class for diabetics and those who prepare meals for diabetics will be conducted Wednesday, Aug. 12, at Arthur Hill High School, 3115 Mackinaw Street, Saginaw.

The class is recommended by Bonnie Johnson, registered dietician at Hills and Dales General Hospital, for those "who realize the importance of diet in treatment of the disease."

Two separate sessions will be held, from 8:30 a.m.-2 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

The classes are sponsored by the Saginaw Community Diabetes Education Program, made possible through the Saginaw Veterans Administration Medical Center and Michigan Department of Public Health. For more information, call 793-2340, ext. 402.

The class will provide experience in working with the diabetic diet and in preparing meals for the diabetic.

Cass City earns AAA safety award

Cass City received an American Automobile Association Pedestrian Safety Citation during the 42nd annual Pedestrian Safety Inventory, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Cass City won the award in the under 10,000 population group by going eight straight years without a pedestrian fatality. Village officials will be presented a plaque in August.

In all, 68 Michigan communities were lauded by AAA. Nearly 2,800 cities and 27 states competed in the nationwide program and 276 awards or citations were presented.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City's bicentennial celebration drew thousands of spectators for a bee hive of activities. Among the activities were a parade, cantata and fireworks.

Argyle's post office marks its 100th anniversary this year. Postmaster Virginia Greenlee announced.

It will cost $7,500 to light up two new softball diamonds at the village park. The Cass City village council has agreed to spend the money to move light poles and lights from the football field to the diamonds in the east side of the park.

The Cass City pool dedication ceremonies were held at the Cass City village park. Following the ceremonies area residents enjoyed two free days of swimming.

TEN YEARS AGO

The 10-member Harvey McCreedy family of Dickerson Road was left homeless as a result of a fire that swept through their home late Monday.

The village of Cass City owns a park it never knew it had. The land fronts along the Cass River, running for some 700 feet west of the railroad bridge and is directly across from the village's waste treatment plant.

Young men of Cass City voted last Thursday to organize a Jaycee chapter in the village.

Plans for selling beer at the park were temporarily sneaked Tuesday night after an orderly meeting in which representatives of the pro and anti-beer forces crowded the council chambers at the Municipal Building for a regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council.

Frank Lester, Cass City's oldest resident, will celebrate his 104th birthday Sunday.

25 YEARS AGO

The seventh annual free homecoming will be presented Thursday, members of the Chamber of Commerce announced. Final details have been completed in readiness for the largest feature-packed event to be presented in the community.

The last formal event of the recreation season was held last week when an estimated 50 children enjoyed a water carnival at the Cass City pool.

Roy N. Wagg of Cass City is the new member of the Farmer Home Administration County Committee in Tuscola county.

Evidently there is little interest among the majority of shoppers in the Cass City area over closing hours of local stores. Only 21 votes were cast in the recent Chamber of Commerce survey-election.

35 YEARS AGO

Twenty-eight employees of the Ripley Manufacturers Co. were guests of the company at a chicken dinner.

HEALTH TIPS

Medical treatment can help curb acne

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
AMA

Something can be done about acne.

But beware the promise of a guaranteed cure. There are many, many approaches to treating the unsightly blackheads and pimples. But no one can promise a cure.

Acne is a common skin problem that affects most people to a varying degree and for a varying period during the teen years. But adults also can have acne.

Waiting to outgrow acne can be a serious mistake. Treatment by a physician can prevent the development of pitted scars and may improve appearance.

An American Medical Association pamphlet points out that basic research on the causes of acne links its occurrence to the biological changes that take place as young people mature.

While acne usually clears after several years even if untreated, much can be done to minimize disfigurement. Treatment is a continuing process if the disorder is to be controlled successfully.

Acne is not caused by dirt, but the sufferer may be told to wash frequently to cleanse the face of skin oils and hold down the formation of blackheads and pimples.

Acne is not primarily a dietary disease, and authorities vary on the importance of diets in control of acne. One thing is certain: following the strictest diet will not by itself, clear your skin.

Some people, however, find that their acne becomes worse when they eat small amounts of certain foods, particularly chocolate and fats.

Many nonprescription creams and lotions are available at drugstores. These may be of some benefit. Be certain to read the instructions and follow them.

Your doctor may make specific dietary suggestions. He probably will prescribe a preparation to be applied to your skin to help reduce oiliness and produce mild peeling.

He may open inflamed lesions, and he may remove blackheads. Your doctor will most certainly warn you against picking, scratching, popping and squeezing.

Antibiotics often are prescribed for inflammatory acne. They reduce the bacteria in the skin. Anti-inflammatory cortisone-like drugs sometimes are prescribed.

No matter what the treatment, proper skin care by the individual is highly important.
