School levy loss 47, road millage clobbered

It was a bad day for millage proposals Tuesday. The request for three additional mills for the Cass City schools lost by 47 votes, 787-834, in a record turnout.

The Tuscola County Road Commission's two proposals, for bridges and roads, were both shot down by wide margins.

The only successful proposal was in Elmwood township, where a half-mill levy for five years for the township-village fire department was narrowly approved, 72-69.

The township proposal for 1½ mills for five years for improving roads was defeated, however, 82-52.

A total of 1,642 votes (21 were spoiled) were cast in the Cass City millage election for the one-year levy.

That was the most votes ever cast in a school election. With 4,074 voters registered, the turnout was 40.3 percent.

"We had a big turnout of people who voted and that's the will of the people," said a disappointed Geraldine Prieskorn, the school board president. "We'll have to live with it for a year."

"I was optimistic or hopeful is maybe the word I should use," she continued.

She had high praise for the committee which publicized the millage proposal and called persons to remind them to vote. Based on their efforts, she said she had been "hopeful the people realized the need."

No new action will be needed by the school board because of the millage defeat, since the budget it approved in June for the 1981-82 school year did not include the additional levy. If it had passed, it would have meant an additional $287,000 for the school district.

Without it, the board plans to use up its $190,000 fund balance, plus make numerous cuts.

On the chopping block are all athletics except for boys' and girls' varsity basketball, all extracurricular activities for which teachers are paid to supervise, class field trips, teacher workshops and one librarian position.

Purchase of supplies will be reduced, textbook purchases will be eliminated except for replacements and there will be no major expenditures for building maintenance and improvements.

The board does not have a board meeting planned prior to its regular Sept. 14 meeting date. It could meet before then, Mrs. Prieskorn said, if requested by any booster seeking to raise money for sports or other activities. So far, there haven't been any such requests.

The board has yet to set a policy on whether it will allow such fund raising efforts.

The board president was sure the board will not seek another millage vote prior to the regular school election next June. "Absolutely not," she said.

ROAD MILLAGE

The Road Commission had two proposals on the ballot countywide.

A half-mill for five years for improvement of township bridges and village streets was defeated, 1,546-1,011. The half-mill for five years for maintenance of township roads and village streets lost, 1,502-1,051.

Only 2,604 votes were cast, a turnout of slightly under 8 percent of the registered voters.

Interestingly, the turnout was higher in townships in which residents were also voting on the Cass City school millage, which required going to two places to vote.

In Elkland township, the turnout for the road millage was 26.2 percent. In Novesta township, 18.6 percent of the registered voters went to the polls.

In contrast, Denmark township, which has a couple of hundred more registered voters than Elkland, the turnout was only 3.7 percent.

In Elmwood township, which also had two township millage proposals, 15.2 percent voted.

The only township to approve both proposals was Akron. Proposal I, for the bridges, won, 69-34. The road levy, Proposal II, won 72-31. Proposal I was approved in Almer township, 64-49, but the other levy lost, 64-59.

In area townships, the votes were, with "yes" votes given first: Elkland, I, 220-311; II, 232-300; Novesta, I, 20-124; II, 22-120; Elmwood, I, 48-90, II, 50-87; Ellington, I, 18-47, II, 19-46; Kingston, I, 15-56, II, 17-54; Wells, I, 27-41, II, 30-38, and Columbia, I, 38-43, II, 38-44.

"I really did think it would be much closer than that," said Road Commission Chairman Grover Laurie of the result. "I thought we got it over to the people enough that they would see the light."

As for the very low turnout, he said, "I was just real disappointed there wasn't more interest shown in it." The Road Commission will meet this Thursday to discuss what happens next.

Laurie, of Hoppe Road, Cass City, didn't want to predict what will happen at that meeting, but did comment, "I wouldn't want to say when, but definitely, there will be some more cutbacks."

Sunday crash claims life of Deford area woman

A Deford area woman, Karen L. Mathewson, was killed late Sunday morning in a two-car collision on the Tuscola-Sanilac county line in which three others were injured.

Her husband, Gerald F. Mathewson, 39, driver of the car in which she was riding, was reported in serious condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital. The Mathewsons lived at 4463 Lamton Road.

The driver of the other car involved, David Hutchinson, 17, of 3918 N. Cemetery Road, Cass City, was reported in fair condition. His passenger, Charles McPhail, 13, of 6512 Deckerville Road, Decker, was released from the hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Mathewson, 33, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Donald C. MacNeil, Sanilac county deputy medical examiner.

The Sanilac County Sheriff's Department reported Hutchinson was eastbound on Shabbona Road and didn't see the Mathewson auto, southbound on Lamton, until it was in the intersection.

By then it was too late to avoid a collision and the Hutchinson auto struck the Mathewson car in the right front side. There are yield signs on Shabbona Road.

Elkland township firemen stood by in case of fire. Tuscola deputies and Cass City police assisted.

The 11:45 a.m. accident remains under investigation.

Karen Louise Mathewson was born Nov. 27, 1947, in Cass City, the daughter of Bruce and Patricia (Stockwell) Sherman.

She married Jerry Mathewson April 6, 1968, in Caro. Following their marriage, they made their home in the Deford area.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Alice Finkbeiner, Cathy Finkbeiner and Karen Mathewson, all at home; three stepdaughters, Donna Mathewson, at home, Mrs. Tammy Durrance of Georgia, and Mrs. Willard (Yvonne) Melvin of Florida; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sherman of Cass City; one sister, Mrs. Kerry (Carol Lynn) Ball of Caro; two brothers, Mike Sherman of Cass City and Daniel Sherman of Deford; her maternal grandparents, John Stockwell of Bradenton, Fla., and Mrs. Aura Teague of Cass City, and one step-grandson.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev.

All receive back pay

Non-teachers get 10% pay hike at Owen-Gage

Non-certified employees of the Owendale-Gagetown School District were granted 10 percent pay raises Monday evening by the school board.

The raises will be for the 1981-82 and 1982-83 school years. Supt. Ronald Erickson recommended the 10 percent per year increases because they are the same negotiated with teachers for the next two school years.

Highest paid of the non-certified personnel will be the district secretary-bookkeeper, $12,100 for the school year soon to start and $13,310 the year after. The one building secretary presently on the payroll will receive $8,214, then $9,035.

The head maintenance man and bus repairman will receive $12,903, then $14,193. Custodians' pay, based on longevity, will range from $8,316-8,558 the first year; $9,148-9,413 the second.

The head cook will receive $5,533 the first year, $6,068 the second.

Bus driver pay in 1981-82 will be $2,228 for those employed the first year; $2,613 in third and subsequent years. In 1982-83, the range will be $2,450-2,874.

Substitute teacher pay will be $32 per day this coming year; $35 the next.

In accepting the new pay schedule, the board reserved the right to make adjustments, should any employee be able to justify a further increase.

School starts Wednesday, Aug. 26, with a full day of classes.

BACK PAY

Erickson reported that $395,956 from sale of tax anticipation notes has been received ($956 being interest).

District employees have now received all their back pay. They had last been paid March 13.

Erickson didn't have a figure available on the total amount of wages that had been paid, but expenditures approved by the board for the past month totaled $362,462, most of which was for back pay.

"We might get through November," Erickson predicted, before Owen-Gage will run out of money again. Property tax revenue will start coming in about a month later and that should keep the district going until about April, when payless paydays will start again.

TEACHERS

The board accepted the resignations of music and band instructor Laura Witczak and home economics teacher Muriel Barr.

Mrs. Witczak has accepted a position as elementary music teacher in the Elkton - Pigeon - Bay Port District, where her husband teaches. She was at Owen-Gage three years.

In 1980, the high school band received a "1" rating at the district and state levels. This year, it received a "1" in districts and "2" in the state. The junior high band received a "1" in the districts and state.

Mrs. Barr has moved to Manistee with her husband, retired high school Principal James Barr.

The latter will be replaced by Bonnie Kleinau, who had been on layoff. She had been the high school counselor. She will now be teaching three home economics classes and counseling the rest of the time, with Principal Wayne Wright handling some counseling duties.

Erickson will check to determine if the high school's accreditation can be maintained with that counseling set-up. If not, some changes will have to be made.

A replacement for Mrs.

Witczak will be hired, preferably one who can also teach a foreign language.

One teacher remains on layoff, Vicki Rayl, who taught English and French.

OTHER ITEMS

The board approved renewal of a student accident insurance policy with Mutual of Omaha for $717.50 for the school year. The policy covers all students from the time they leave home in the morning until they return home, and includes dental coverage for sports.

Parents will be able to buy supplemental coverage for $14.25 per year per child to provide 24-hour coverage, plus an additional fee if desired for dental and eye-glass coverage.

Wright reported that average attendance at the fifth-sixth grade basketball clinic has been 12 students per day. "I think it's been somewhat disappointing." He had expected about 30.

"I think for the kids who have participated, it has been a benefit," Wright added. The Tuesday and Thursday clinics, two hours each day, started July 21 and end Aug. 20.

After a one-year trial the Cass City School Board voted 4-1 to abolish standing committees in favor of special committees when needed. The action was taken in a brief regular meeting Monday night at the school.

Two trustees were not present at the meeting. Theresa Burnette and Dick Albee were absent. It was Albee who instigated the committee system last year.

Voting in favor of committees was Dr. E. Paul Lockwood. Lockwood said that the system saved board members time and effort.

The majority view was expressed by J.D. Tuckey. He said that many times the committee recommendations to the board were not followed and committee members were often asked to make recommendations in areas where other members could serve better.

Supt. Donald Crouse has voiced reservations about standing committees since they were first proposed and placed into operation.

The board acted on non-union wages for personnel not previously reviewed. On the recommendation of Lockwood, salaries were increased about 10 percent for crossing guards and the school nurse.

The nurse will receive $12,330 yearly. The guard supervisor will receive $16.80 per day and guards were increased from $10.75 to $12.00 per day.

Increased 8 percent were teachers in adult classes for continuing education. Salaries will be $9.50 per hour.

One group of salaries not yet settled is the cooks, custodians and bus drivers.

The school and the union are now in mediation. Trustees Ben Hobart and Tuckey were appointed to represent the board in a session that was to be held Wednesday.

In another union activity the board appointed Crouse and Al Luce, the school's professional negotiator, to represent the board in mutual selection of an arbitrator with the Tri-County Teacher's Association.

The union is going to binding arbitration to determine if administrators are to receive credit on the seniority list at the school for time spent in supervision.

RESIGNATIONS

Three teachers submitted letters of resignation. They were Polly Bashore, high school English and publications; Denise Kling, English, and Tom Clair, high school band and intermediate vocal music.

Clair's position will not be filled if the millage failed to pass Tuesday. The band membership has dropped to 80 from a peak of 100, Crouse told the board.

An observer, Linda Marshall, asked the board to be sure to give present band director George Bushong aid and direction to improve the band's quality. The board voted, 4-1, to eliminate the position if the millage fails, Dr. Ed Scollon voted against eliminating the position.

Eliminating the position was one of three economy measures passed on the recommendation of Crouse. The others were the Chemistry II program and the opening advertisement in the Chronicle that informed parents of classes, teachers, school calendar and other information. The programs will be reinstated if the millage passed Tuesday.

OTHER BUSINESS

Three bids were received for bus insurance. The low bidder was Farm Bureau Insurance at $5,393.22 for the fleet.

The board adopted a policy prohibiting out-of-district students from attending Cass City unless written approval is received from the district where they live.

Exceptions are persons now attending Cass City and students living in areas in the process of transferring to the Cass City District. Students accepted pay $1 a year tuition.

Arson possible in barn fire

Arson may have been the cause of a fire that destroyed an unused barn late Monday night.

The barn was located at the southwest corner of Bay City-Forestville and Cemetery Roads. The Elkland Township Fire Department received the call at 11:47.

Owner of the barn was Robert Brown of Barrington, Ill.

Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski said the approximately 30-by-50-foot structure contained some old hay and straw, but wasn't being used.

It was insured for $6,000. Estimated loss was $7,500.

There was no electricity to the barn, and no obvious cause, Pawloski indicated, which led firemen to suspect someone may have started the fire.

The Oliver township (Elkton) and Elmwood township - Gagetown departments both brought a tanker to the fire.

Firemen were there about two hours.

BARN FIRE -- The barn at Bay City-Forestville and Cemetery Roads was already a total loss by the time firemen arrived late Monday night. It is thought it burned for quite a while before being discovered by a passing motorist.

Mary Ellen and Richard Walker

Mary Ellen Wood and Richard A. Walker were wed July 25 at Good Shepherd Lutheran church in Cass City.

Rev. Allen R. Fruendt conducted the candlelight double-ring evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood of Gagetown. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ila Walker of Cass City and the late Reginald Walker.

The bride wore an ivory crepe dress with embossed lace on the bodice and long cuffs to match. The boat neckline was accented by a cameo given to her by the groom. The fingertip length veil was also in ivory, with a Queen Anne style headpiece of embossed ivory lace and mother of pearl. The train was chapel length.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and deep pink carnations encircled in ivory lace and matching streamers, with a traveling corsage amidst the bouquet.

Matron of honor Joy Walker, sister-in-law of the groom, Reed City, wore a light pink chiffon dress with pleats, a long skirt and sleeveless bodice. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations and pink satin streamers.

Lori Walker, daughter of the groom, Cass City, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a singleknit long dress in crocus color, with a lace yoke and single row of pearl buttons accenting the bodice, with matching silk ribbons for a belt.

Wendy Walker, daughter of the groom, was also a junior bridesmaid. She wore a lime green long dress with white overlaide embossed lace, cap ruffles over the arms and matching silk ribbons accenting the waist.

Flower girl was Katrina Wood, Caro, daughter of the groom.

The McAlpine family reunion was held Sunday at Caro fairgrounds with 103 in attendance.

Families attended from Pontiac, Mt. Morris, Fostoria, Mayville, Saginaw, Sebewaing, Elkton, Uby, Kalkaska, Caro, Frederic, Argyle and Oklahoma. Many came for the first time.

Gerald McAlpine, Frederic, was elected president; Barbara Kunding Sebewaing, vice-president; and Ruth Willerton, Argyle, secretary-treasurer.

The 1982 reunion will be July 25 at the same place.

"If It Fitz. . ."

No free lunch!

By Jim Fitzgerald

Lately whenever a bunch of us is sitting around talking and the conversation turns to economics or to parking on HUD property, I always say the same thing: "There is no such thing as a free lunch."

I say this so people will know I'm no dummy.

Any dummy can explain the complexities of an economic policy that cuts rich people's taxes to make poor people happy. Any dummy can lecture on the economic implications of the fact that, despite the high cost of money, every store on the block is anxious to borrow millions of dollars in order to buy the Conoco station on the corner.

But that's humdrum stuff, and I leave it to the dummies. During economic discussions, I prefer to mostly listen and look wise, and when everyone else is done talking, I smile world-wearyly and say: "Everything you've said may be true, but don't ever forget that there is no such thing as a free lunch."

This is basic economics. Nothing is free. Someone must always pay the lunch tab. But you know that. "No free lunch" has become a cliché. Everyone uses it to explain the high price of living. It's simply a shorthand way of saying wealth can't be redistributed without nicking the source of the wealth.

The trouble is that most people won't refuse to eat a free lunch, even though they know there's really no such thing. They figure if they don't eat it, somebody else will, so they'd better get theirs while they can. That's how dams are built, congressional votes bought and welfare families extended. Not many people will skip lunch just to save someone else from paying for it.

However, I'm not discouraged. When talking economics, I continue to say there is no such thing as a free lunch. Admittedly, my audience usually reacts skeptically, but sometimes they quit eating lunch to listen. Every little bit helps, speaking of clichés.

So my wife certainly wasn't surprised when, while we were discussing the economics of parking our car, I told her there was no such thing as a free lunch. She said I should tell that to HUD. It won't do any good.

HUD, sometimes known as the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, owns 1300 Lafayette East, the Detroit apartment building where we live. HUD took possession when the original owners pooped out on a government-guaranteed loan, forcing taxpayers to buy some more free lunches. Currently, HUD is repaving the two parking levels in the high-rise basement, and hundreds of tenants must scramble for parking places on the street for eight weeks. Car thieves have welcomed the extra business.

Tenants in one-bedroom apartments are billed a monthly fee for basement parking, and naturally they don't have to pay it while their cars are evicted. But, for tenants of the larger apartments, the parking fee is included in the higher rent, and HUD has decreed there will be no drop in rent while there are no parking spaces provided.

"The manager said our parking space is free," my wife explained.

That's outrageous, of course. There is no such thing as a free lunch. My rent covers the cost of the parking space. It is ridiculous that people should pay as much for no parking as they do for parking.

"The manager said if we didn't have a car, we would still have to pay the same rent," my wife said.

Oh, sure. No one owns a car these days. Everyone rides a horse. And even if I didn't have a car, would the parking space that goes with my apartment remain vacant, or would management rent it to someone else and give me the money? The answer is obvious: There are no vacant spaces.

Parking spaces are the same as lunches: There is no such thing as a free one. Someone, somewhere, somehow, pays for it. At my apartment building, I am paying for a parking space, but I am not parking in it. Take a dummy to lunch. I'm available.

Visitors from Australia

Friendly people impress Morgans

Two visitors to Cass City proved once again that it's a small, small world and getting smaller.

The visitors are Denis and Rae Morgan of New South Wales, Australia, and their Cass City connection is through her daughter, Chris.

She is a nurse and met her husband while working in a hospital in Germany. He is Marty Yedinak, a name familiar to many Cass City-ans because his father was a well known coach at Cass City High School.

The Morgans are on a two and a half-week trip to the States and are the guests of the W.E. Walpoles in the community. They will visit their daughter and son-in-law in Colorado where they now make their home.

The couple is impressed by the friendliness of Cass City and envious of the rain that keeps everything green and growing.

We feel as if we have met most of Cass City while we were eating at the bakery in the morning, they said.

We've been all over Australia and in many countries and we've never encountered the friendliness that has been accorded us in Cass City, they said.

While rain and green grass is taken more or less for granted here it's not that way in New South Wales.

We've had the worst drought in history and the burn out is dreadful, they explained.

Farmers are losing cattle and are really up against it now.

This rain you get is just wonderful, you don't know how lucky you are, they said wistfully.

Bila assumes command of quartermaster battalion

Lt. Col. Ronald V. Bila has assumed command of the 260th Quartermaster Battalion at Hunter Army Airfield, Ga.

Bila graduated from Central Michigan University in 1962 with a BS Degree in political science. He received an MS degree in international law from CMU in 1974.

He was commissioned as a regular Army second lieutenant in the infantry in 1962. He was transferred to the Quartermaster Corps in 1964. He is also a graduate of the Army's Command and General Staff College.

Besides several stateside assignments, Bila has served in Germany, Korea and Vietnam.

He reported to Hunter Army Airfield from Washington, D.C., where he served three years at Headquarters, Department of the Army.

His decorations include the bronze star, meritorious service medal, joint services commendation medal, Army commendation medal, and Armed Forces occupation medal.

Bila will reside in Savannah, Ga., with his wife Elaine, sons Ronald and Bradford and daughter Lauren.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bila of Oakley.

Mich. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lounsbury of Cass City.

Roy Anthes was in the office highly indignant about that Chronicle ad showing our employees that was published recently. He wasn't alone.

What Anthes and others noticed was that Dorothy Haire wasn't pictured. She does half the work and wasn't mentioned, Anthes observed.

What Anthes and others didn't know is that when it became time to run the ad her picture disappeared. She swears she knows nothing about it.

What can I say, except that other than that picture she has her finger on everything around here down to the last paper clip.

At 1:30 p.m. Tuesday three of the four new tennis courts were in use. At 2:45 p.m. all four courts were in use and there were players waiting.

Unless the demand tapers off when the courts are no longer new it appears that it was recreation money well spent.

All of the Cass City School district residents who worked to try and secure a full school program in 1981-82 have to feel let down by its rejection by merely 47 votes.

Presumably that includes the school board which endorsed unanimously the request for the extra millage.

With a record vote cast, it's apparent that the school will have to operate without the needed funds.

It would be only human for board members to feel frustrated by the defeat. It's hopeful that the frustration will not carry over to the decision on whether or not to allow donations to reinstate cancelled programs.

Here's a plug for allowing any funded program to operate for the same reason that this paper strongly endorsed the millage . . . the kids deserve all the school programs that there is money enough to buy.

Just in case there is a ground-swell for programs and the board accepts the money, here's a pledge of $25 each for football, band, golf and, yes, Chemistry II.

The Haire Net

It's hard to feel sorry for the striking controllers in their dispute with the government. After all they were averaging $33,000 a year and were offered a wage boost that totaled 11.2 percent and turned it down.

Since the vast majority of the United States work force does not approach those wages, it's also certain that President Reagan's stand will be popular.

The hard line was surprising in the light of the concessions made to the postal workers to avert a threatened strike.

Looking at both issues, the question that comes immediately to mind is whether the chaos threatened by a mail strike was so great that the administration buckled while a strike by the controllers could be overcome, with great inconvenience, but without paralyzing the nation.

It's certain that the postal settlement didn't escape the eyes of the controllers and may have been a factor in the adamant stand taken by the members.

It's even more certain that the final outcome of the current dispute will be noted by every person working for the government.

Given the relatively few workers involved in this strike even if the outlandish demands of the union were granted in full, it would have little impact on inflation by itself.

Of far more importance will be the settlement in the auto industry next year and the settlements in steel, rubber and other basic industries when contracts are renewed.

If I were a member of the controllers' union I'm sure I would think that this situation is unfair.

In a way, of course, it is. Except that industrial unions do have a curb that's becoming more powerful every day. Members can power their way to unprecedented wage increases and benefits but they do it now at the very real risk of losing jobs.

The only curb on workers that are paid by our taxes is the loss of the right to strike.

When television scans the picket lines and the militant workers are quoted about never returning to work without a contract and leaders are placed in jail for contempt of court, I catch myself thinking of the rank and file.

How many controllers were caught up in the mob psychology of the event? How many would just as soon have settled but wilted under peer pressure?

And most of all, how many wives and families are wishing now that the contract had been settled and the regular income were again available?

It's certain that there are many and your heart goes out to them.

PEDALING AROUND

Getting killed

By Mike Eliasohn

I almost got my name in another part of the paper this week, in the accident reports.

Fortunately for the idiot driving a large motor home pulling a large trailer who pulled out in front of me from Downing Street while I was westbound on Main -- and for me -- I stopped.

In my years of photographing and writing about accidents, I know accidents don't always happen to the "other guy."

Some crashes are because the driver was drinking or had been up too long and fell asleep at the wheel, or was doing something foolish, like driving too fast, but often the victim is an innocent one, driving or riding (if a passenger) along, minding their own business, when something happens.

I don't expect this verbiage to change anything -- I'm not that naive -- but I cannot comprehend why persons do not wear their safety belts when they so obviously can save lives.

According to a 1979 study by the U.S. Department of Transportation, only one of nine drivers uses a safety belt, a decline of almost 25 percent from results of a study conducted a year earlier.

I have seen cars involved in fatal accidents so badly mangled that wearing of a seat belt probably would not have made a difference. But then there was the June 19 accident in which an Akron man was thrown from his vehicle after it struck a culvert. The car rolled on top of him and he was crushed to death. Stupid.

The Automobile Club of Michigan has released a study of accidents which occurred on holiday week ends during the past 15 years, during which it conducted its "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" campaign.

To quote from the report: "Almost all of the 522 drivers and passengers who died in summer holiday traffic accidents between 1970 and 1979 had safety belts available to them. An analysis of 1978-79 safety restraint use shows that of the 215 persons involved in fatal accidents where safety belts were available, 197 (92 percent) did not use them. Of those 197 persons who did not use safety belts, one-third (62) died."

Quoting further: "All data available indicate that drivers as well as passengers should 'buckle up' to survive a traffic crash with minimal or no injuries. . . . This single important step, buckling up, could drastically reduce the number of vehicle occupants killed and injured in crashes."

Most adults not only don't use seatbelts, they also don't believe in use of restraints for their children.

According to the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, there never has been a youngster age 4 years and under killed in a traffic accident who was properly secured in an approved child restraint.

During the period of the AAA study, 14 children died who probably would have lived had they been in proper safety seats.

Parents eventually won't have a choice regarding "buckling up" their children. A bill recently approved by the legislature and signed by the governor will mandate use of child restraints, starting some time next year.

The Auto Club not only advocated such legislation, it also supports legislation requiring use of safety belts in Michigan by all persons in moving autos.

Some persons own guns for protection. Some jog or do other exercise to stay in shape and presumably prolong their life. I doubt that anyone would not go to a doctor if he or she were seriously ill.

Why then do most persons, including most of those reading this, never bother fastening their safety belts in cars?

Estimate $11,000 loss in Stanley Asher home fire

A fire last Thursday morning that apparently started in a kitchen cabinet resulted in estimated damage of $11,000 to the home of Stanley Asher.

The home is on West Street between Main and Church.

Asher, who lives alone, said he had gone to a restaurant to eat breakfast and then was cleaning up his yard when a neighbor from across the street came up to him and told him his house was on fire. He had been out of the house about 45 minutes.

Elkland township firemen received the call at 9:25 a.m. They were there about 75 minutes. Elmwood township-Gagetown firemen assisted.

Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski, who made the damage estimate, traced the origin of the fire to a kitchen cabinet where Asher stored various cleaning agents and rags, but was unable to determine what specifically started the blaze.

The kitchen sustained most of the damage, much of it from the heat, which melted the plastic tiles on the walls. The majority of the damage in the home was due to smoke and water, not from flames.

Among the losses was a closet full of clothes. The insurance company paid for replacements.

Asher is temporarily staying with his brother, Manley, on Third Street. His house, which is for sale, will be repaired.

CAR FIRE

Damage was estimated at $100 from a car fire reported to the Elkland department at 8:13 p.m. Monday.

Owner of the car was Marvin Hobart of 4534 Oak Street.

The family had just returned from a trip, Pawloski said, when the fire started. They used a garden hose and had it extinguished by the time firemen arrived.

Cause, he explained, was a high pressure power steering hose which burst, spraying oil onto the hot engine.

FALSE ALARM

The fire siren sounded at 11:20 a.m. Monday for what turned out to be a false alarm at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Who or what tripped the alarm there was not determined.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Richard Spencer II, 16, of 2411 Hurds Corner Road, Cass City, was discharged Sunday from Hills and Dales, where he was taken following a 3:13 p.m. accident last Thursday.

Tuscola deputies reported he was northbound on Hurds Corner, south of Little Road, when he went into an S-curve in the wrong lane. A truck was approaching from the north.

Spencer turned sharply to the right and lost control. The vehicle went off the road, rolled over twice and

2 groups plan fund campaign

The Zonta Club of Cass City and Elkland township firemen will conduct a joint drive to raise funds to purchase a Jaws of Life rescue tool for the fire department.

A minimum of about $5,000 will be required. The hydraulic tool is used primarily in traffic accidents to pry apart the wreckage in order to extricate victims trapped inside.

The nearest such units now are owned by fire departments in Caro, Bad Axe and Sandusky.

The second meeting of Zonta officers and firemen Monday evening resulted in plans to conduct a raffle this fall.

That will only be a start as it is expected it will take a couple of years to raise the needed funds.

Representing the Zonta Club Monday were Florence Karr, Marie Roch, Donna Wernette and Betty Hurst. Fire Chief Dave McNaughton, Don Root and Dick Root represented the fire department.

Ouch! Mosquitos about average

When you're ready to relax, it is prime biting time for the mosquito.

Mosquitoes are most active about one hour before sunset and throughout the evening, according to Sally Narlock, executive director of the Saginaw-Bay Mosquito Control Commission. The insects are also active if the temperature or the humidity is high, she notes.

Aedes vexans, a late summer mosquito which breeds once every 7-10 days if there is sufficient water, is present in about average numbers in Bay county this year, Narlock says.

Harold Newson, Michigan State University professor of entomology, believes that the Michigan mosquito population is higher this year than last, partly because of the weather. Last summer there was more rainfall than usual. A mild winter followed, and then a temperate spring with no late frosts and precipitation.

He adds that his ideas on mosquito numbers are based on general impressions and not scientific fact, because there is no statewide reporting system.

Newson suggests purchasing one of the many varieties of insect repellents, wearing appropriate clothing (such as long-sleeved shirts) while camping or gardening, and spraying the yard with a hand-held fogger to keep mosquitoes away.

He also suggests regularly checking the yard to eliminate the places where mosquitoes breed. Any container or area that holds water for more than two weeks can serve as a mosquito hatchery, Newson says.

Old tires filled with rainwater, plugged storm gutters, wading pools, feeding troughs and bird baths are likely places for mosquitoes to breed. Bird baths should be flushed at least every week.

In rural areas, drainage ditches that hold water provide an excellent place for mosquito larvae. Proper irrigation and water control are two important factors in keeping the mosquito population down, Newson says.

Missionary Day draws 81 persons

The Bay Shore Auxiliary held its annual Missionary Day at the Bay Shore Tabernacle in Sebawaing July 31. Salem United Methodist church of Cass City was in charge of registration, with 81 persons from 24 churches attending.

President Virginia Ackerman gave the welcome and led in prayer. Geraldine Wittman of Caro spoke on "Perfection." Musicians were Debbie Ackerman, piano, and Pamela Dubey, organ. A special number, "It was His Love," was sung by Ms. Ackerman, accompanying herself on the piano.

Arlene Sheridan introduced the speaker, Rev. Arthur Lindsay of Casal Polocco, Italy. He said they deal with people who have never seen a Bible, that 80 percent of the Italians do not attend church.

He added that the three great needs of the mission field are prayer, workers and money.

An offertory piano duet was played by Kay Loomis of Cass City and Tammy Tibbits of Bay Shore.

Wilma Elenbaum gave the work committee report. The afternoon session began with election of officers:

President, Virginia McLellan, Kilmanagh; vice-president, Melva Elenbaum, Kilmanagh; second vice-president, Leah Haist, Pigeon; third vice-president, Inez Luce, Bay City; fourth vice-president, Barbara Krohn, Elkton; secretary, Sylvia Oeschger, Sebawaing; treasurer, Phyllis Jamieson, Sebawaing; nominating committee, Mary Ellen Miller, Pigeon; Dorothy Hedley, Elkton; work committee, Esther Yordy, Pigeon, chairman; Louise Buehrly, Cass City; Wilma Elenbaum, Pigeon; Mary Pieper, Pigeon; Joyce Loomis, Cass City, and Anita Voelker, Pigeon.

Reunion Saturday

The Richards family reunion will take place Saturday at Stafford Park on the Lake Huron shoreline in Port Hope, starting at 10 a.m., with potluck meal at 1:30 p.m.

HEALTH TIPS Seven warning signs of cancer can save lives

By Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
American Medical Association

Many cancers are curable if found and treated promptly.

Early detection is largely up to you.

How can you determine when it is time to go to your doctor and ask him or her to check out your symptoms?

A pamphlet from the American Medical Association lists the American Cancer Society's seven warning signals:

- 1) Unusual bleeding or discharge.
- 2) A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
- 3) A sore that does not heal.
- 4) Change in bowel or bladder habits.
- 5) Hoarseness or cough.
- 6) Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
- 7) Change in wart or mole.

If any of these symptoms persists longer than two weeks, see your doctor. It might not be cancer. But these symptoms are a warning that an examination is needed.

What is cancer? During normal body growth and repair, cells become differentiated into the specific kinds that are needed for each organ or body function.

Under certain conditions not yet completely understood, some cells do not specialize in this way. They multiply in irregular and disorderly fashion and compete with normal cells for nutrition and space. These cell masses are called tumors.

Tumors that remain localized are benign, and may not be troublesome unless they interfere with some body function.

Tumors that grow rapidly and spread or destroy tissue are malignant tumors, or cancers.

Cancer is an unrestrained growth of abnormal cells. They spread by infiltrating adjacent tissue, by traveling through the circulatory and lymphatic systems to distant locations in the body, or by any combination of these. This growth will be fatal if not checked.

No infectious disease in Sanilac

There recently has been some anxiety created in Sanilac county concerning the possibility of an epidemic of encephalitis and meningitis, according to Dr. D.A. Smallwood, medical director of the county Health Department.

Three cases with headache, fatigue, and elevated temperature were presented at a local health facility and subsequently worked up for meningitis and encephalitis.

Tests considered routine in the work-up of such cases have indicated no evidence of any specific agent nor have these cases qualified under state guidelines for reportable infectious disease, he said. Furthermore, no local environmental factor was identified as a source of infection.

Individuals are urged to carefully consider these facts and if there is further concern or questions, contact the local health department.

Road tax revenues continue decline

Gas tax revenue for Michigan's transportation systems continued its decline during the second three-month period in 1981, compared to the year before.

The result was that some area governmental units will be receiving less for the April-June period than they did last year.

Revenue from the 11-cent per gallon tax on motor fuels fell 8.1 percent, but was almost totally offset by a 13.2 percent increase in weight tax (license plate) revenue. The latter was due, however, to the conversion last year from the March 31 expiration date for license plates to the owner's birthday.

The result was second quarter receipts into the Michigan Transportation Fund declined only .2 percent from 1980.

Because distributions from the fund are partially based on the number of miles of roads and the amount of gasoline sold within each governmental unit, not all are suffering a loss compared to the 1980 second quarter.

The Tuscola County Road Commission will receive $503,025, compared to $503,063 a year ago; Huron county, $432,721, down from $438,858, and Sanilac, $469,272, down from $471,296.

Cass City will receive $13,552, up from $11,583.

Amounts other area villages will receive 1980 second quarter payments in parentheses) are: Gagetown, $3,995 ($3,819); Kingston, $2,642 ($2,680); Owendale, $2,892 ($2,823); and Uby, $4,900 ($4,744).

After collection costs are deducted, the state highway system receives 38.4 percent of the transportation fund revenue; public transportation and railroads, 8.3 percent; county road commissions, 34.3 percent, and incorporated cities and villages, 19 percent.

For the first nine months of the 1980-81 fiscal year which started Oct. 1, fund revenues are down 14.5 percent from the same period a year earlier, due to less driving and more lightweight, fuel efficient cars being on the road.

Art Noel, Prosecuting Attorney, appeared before the board and presented a drug report.

Commissioner Rayl presented the following resolution and moved for its adoption. Seconded by Clark. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, Section 4 of Act 63 of Public Acts of 1981 allows the Board of Commissioners of each County to set a Uniform Fee Schedule for Vital Record Information, now

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that pursuant to said statute, the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners hereby sets said fees for Tuscola County as follows:

Section 4: (a) A search and including 1 certified copy of registration of a vital record, or an official statement that a record could not be located. $5.00

(b) Additional identical copies ordered at the same time $2.00

(c) Additional years searched in excess of three, for each year $2.00

(d) Verification of Facts previously delineated in Section 2881 (2). $3.00

said fees to remain in effect until such time as they are changed by this, or any succeeding Board, never to exceed the maximum set by State Statute.

FURTHER RESOLVED that the fees set forth above are reasonably related to the cost of the County Clerk in making the searches, including copies as applicable.

These fees shall take effect on the first business day following the passage of same.

Recess for lunch.

AFTERNOON SESSION - JULY 14, 1981
All members present except Commissioner Kennedy.

Department heads and elected officials met with the Board for their quarterly exchange of ideas and reports.

Motion by Wenta, seconded by Russell, we renew our agreement with the Dept. of Agriculture for the period July 25, 1981 to July 25, 1982 to complete the soil survey. Motion carried.

Commissioner Rayl presented the Claims and Accounts report.

A request was received from Ann Reimann, Account Clerk II in the Equalization Dept. for a leave of absence without pay, starting August 17th and ending Sept. 25th.

Motion by Rayl, seconded by Collon, the letter from Don Graf, Equalization Dept. Director approving the above request be received and placed on file. Motion carried.

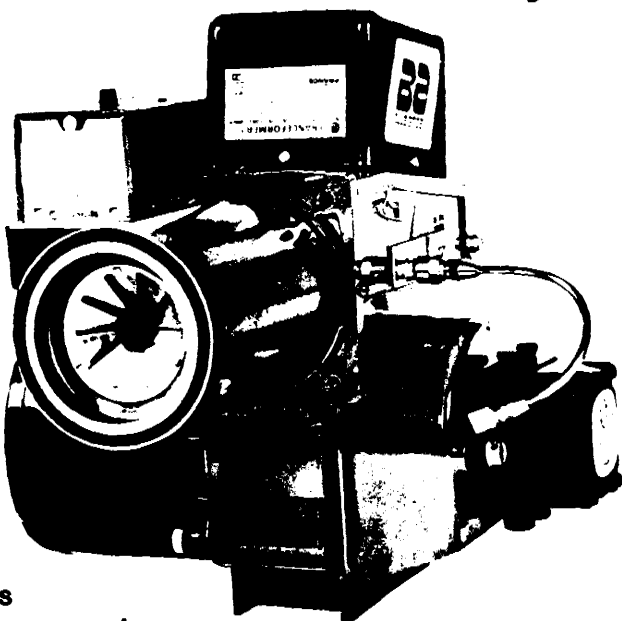

Motion by Rayl, seconded by Clark, that a thirty (30) calendar day leave of absence without pay be granted to Ann Reimann commencing on August 17, 1981 with a ten (10) calendar day extension ending on September 25, 1981 and further that a copy of this motion be given to her as her written authorized absence from work. Motion carried.

Motion by Rayl, seconded by Russell, that the 4th quarter payment for Child Care Probate Fund in the amount of $45,815.00 be transferred from the General Fund and that $25,000.00 be transferred from the General Fund to the Tuscola Co. Medical Care Facility Fund as the second quarter budgeted appropriation. Motion carried.

AROUND THE FARM Long boom sprayers

By Don Kebler

I think our bean growers will soon be using long-boom ground sprayers for controlling bean insects and diseases.

My reasons for this are based on several considerations:

1) There is a continuation or worsening of controllable insect and disease problems, based on the degree we have seen the last couple of years.

2) There is no change in the present pesticides or the cultural practice use of the same.

When I speak of long-boom sprayers, I am thinking of spraying 24 plus bean rows between rounds.

We may find that the dollar loss in beans, where the wheel tracks are, is less compared to the yield losses due to diseases and insects where poorly timed or no controls are made.

A sprayer of this type will allow the operator to wait for no one and do his spraying at a more opportune time. Also, because more than one application may be needed during the season, the operator can get the job done quickly.

Let me say here that regardless of who does the spraying, or what type of equipment is used, no bean insect or disease control has much success until the operator follows a most diligent program of field inspection.

Inspection alone is only part of it. One must know what to look for and when to effectively spray. Much of our spraying has been ineffective because it was done too late and not too early. I tend to find that either the problem is improperly identified or evaluated pesticide spraying is done for something not present, or for revenge after it's too late.

I feel that certain bean producers will become proficient in bean problem identification, problem intensity and situation evaluation. As such, they will endeavor to spray at the key time at the least cost for the least loss if it means doing it themselves with long boom sprayers.

Students at Blue Lake Arts Camp

Several area students are attending the fourth summer session, Aug. 4-16, at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, north of Muskegon.

Attending from Cass City are Tammy and Heidi Iseler, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Iseler; Margaret Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Brown; Scott Harding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Harding; Debbie Hurford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hurford; Suzy Scollon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scollon; Christopher Hurford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hurford; and Mark House, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton House.

Others are Laura Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn, Gagetown; Tracy Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Green, Snover; Brenda Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwartz Jr., Gagetown; and Chris Langenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Langenburg, Snover.

Those attending the session, primarily for high school students, can major in art, band, dance, jazz-rock ensemble, orchestra or piano.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This 12-year-old from Kingston would provide a rewarding experience for any man. He has been waiting a long time for a Big Brother. He enjoys bike riding, swimming and fishing.

This young girl from Akron is in need of a good female companion. She enjoys baking, swimming and making things. Wouldn't you like to make a young girl's day? Be a Big Sister.

This 16-year-old girl from Cass City enjoys sports and country-western music. She has a sense of humor and needs someone to talk with and have fun with. Why not volunteer?

This 15-year-old from Millington is in need of a special friend to talk with and share her time. Having no mother has made it difficult for her to learn some female type

FIVE YEARS AGO

A major burglary ring operating in the Cass City area has been broken, recovering between $4,000 and $5,000 in stolen merchandise from a Cass City residence.

Harry Little, retired owner of Little's Funeral Home, died at Hills and Dales General Hospital Aug. 6. He was one of Cass City's most active civic leaders.

Shelly M. Seurnyck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Seurnyck of Gagetown, was crowned Tuscola County Bean Queen, Aug. 5 in Caro.

Fires during 1975 did a total of $402,990 damage in the Cass City area according to Elkland Township Fire Department. Hardest hit were one and two family dwellings.

The Owen-Gage Board of Education delayed a decision Monday on whether or not to close the St. Agatha building in Gagetown, pending final enrollment totals.

10 YEARS AGO

School costs crept higher for the 1971-72 school year this week following action by

Gospel group to sing at local church

A gospel concert with "The Singing Shells" will be held Wednesday, Aug. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Missionary church, 4449 Koepfgen Road, Cass City.

This group is made up of the Shelltrone family. They have traveled extensively throughout the U.S. and Canada presenting gospel music.

They furnish their own music using many instruments, such as piano, electric guitar, bass and cord-vox.

A free will offering will be taken.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

the Cass City School Board. While no new taxes were voted in this year, a 2½ mill tax levied last year and renewed in April will be fully levied. Last year the school levied just two mills of the levy.

Dave Little of Cass City showed the grand champion steer at Tuscola County 4-H and FFA Market Show and Sale Thursday as record prices were paid for livestock exhibited.

The Cass City Recreation Park will come alive with excitement, games and rides Aug. 14 as the service clubs finalize plans for the first Western Roundup.

The public swimming pool was reopened Aug. 7 and will remain for the duration of the season after being closed Aug. 3 by the state. The wading pool will remain closed.

25 YEARS AGO

Harry G. Miller of Cass City and Carmen W. Root of Deford will be among 221 students to receive degrees and certificates from Central Michigan College this summer.

A total of six new teachers this year will teach in Cass City. They are: Patricia Hall, Harold Erickson, Frank Walsh, Edward Johnson, Mrs. Ernestine Patterson and Mrs. Malvina Howarth.

Cass City won the Thumb

Babe Ruth League championship Friday by defeating Bad Axe at the Cass City Recreation Park.

The majority of merchants in Cass City still favor Saturday night opening hours, according to a straw vote now being conducted by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

35 YEARS AGO

The "one cow herd" of Mrs. George Kolb, who lives in Elkland township on the Tuscola-Sanilac county line, brought its owner a check for $20.30 for milk produced the first two weeks of July. Mrs. Kolb is in her 80th year and cares for the cow herself.

Betty Jean Bruce of Deford will represent Tuscola county in the canning judging contest at the state 4-H show at East Lansing September 3-4. She received this honor at the district meeting held at Lapeer Aug. 14.

Three hundred people visited the city park Saturday to witness the judging of purebred Shorthorn Hereford and Angus cattle and the awarding of prizes to their owners, boys and girls of the Cass City Livestock Club.

Footings have been poured for the municipal building at the city park which will house the new water softening machinery and other village equipment.

Insurance hotline gives help

Each month, 400-500 Michigan residents call the Insurance Information Hotline to ask questions or request help in solving insurance problems.

Sponsored by Michigan Association of Insurance Companies, the toll-free service was established to give consumers quick access to information on insurance. Callers also get assistance when they have difficulty with their own insurance company.

The toll-free number is 1-800-292-0712.

The Hotline is open weekdays, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Consumers most often call about car insurance. There is still a great deal of confusion about no-fault coverage and the new "essential insurance" law. Inquiries about homeowners insurance, claim settlements and premium costs also rank high on the list.

If Hotline personnel can't provide information or solve a problem on the spot, they get in touch with the consumer's insurance company. They have contacts with key people in the main office of all insurance companies, and can expedite handling of consumer inquiries. If there is a disagreement, the Hotline will ask the company to review and reconsider the matter.

More than one-third of Michigan's citizens receive some part of their income from agriculture... a $16.5 billion industry.

Barry was on a death mission when God turned his life around. He is presently the director of "Voice in the Wilderness" Prison Ministries, out of Charlotte, North Carolina. He will be conveying much of his personal testimony as he speaks each night. Everyone Welcome.

YOU CAN BANK on it!

Q. Our son, age 12, has just gotten his first part-time, paying job. I feel I should give him some pointers on handling money. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Young people should be introduced to the services of a bank by the time they start handling money on a consistent basis. Regular savings, even though small, prepare your teenager for greater future responsibility. Young people should have the freedom to control a passbook and make deposits and withdrawals. Later, they should be encouraged to open checking accounts to help them understand simple banking activities like making deposits, writing checks, and balancing the check book. Perhaps their first account should be a joint one with a parent or legal custodian. If you want to introduce your child to banking, see one of our officers. When they advise you about money management...you can BANK on it!

CASH facility receives accreditation

Caro Area Services for the Handicapped has received accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities.

There are 6,000 such facilities across the nation but only 450 of them are accredited.

There are more than 900 standards that must be obtained before accreditation is possible. A team of experts reviewed documentation dealing with every phase of the facility's operation.

"This is the second time that we have received a three-year accreditation. We obtained it in work activities, sheltered workshop, vocational rehabilitation and work adjustment training," said Ted Hull, CASH executive director. "Three years is the best that can be achieved and needless to say we are proud of the honor."

Colwood cops trophy in church league

Colwood United Brethren became the new champions of the Cass City Church League Thursday when they won the annual league playoffs at Cass City Recreation Park.

Colwood and the Shabbona Methodists tied in their division of the league and were awarded the regular season title by a flip of a coin.

In the other division the Cass City Catholics and Deford Community finished tied and the Catholics became division champs by winning a special play-off game.

In the league play-offs Colwood coasted through to win the championship trophy. Second was the Catholics, while Shabbona was third and Deford, fourth.

TOURNAMENT

A round robin tournament will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday among all church league teams.

Four games will be played nightly Thursday and Friday at 7:30 and 9 p.m. Saturday the action starts at 9 a.m. and runs continually until a winner is crowned.

The championship game will start at about 8:30 p.m. Saturday and the battle for the consolation championship will also be played at that time.

Juries convict 2; fail to agree on PCE delivery case

Two persons were found guilty by juries in trials last week before Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn. A third trial ended with the jury unable to reach a verdict.

Robert L. Partlo, 31, of Rick Road, Gagetown, was found guilty Wednesday of delivery of marijuana, of having sold the narcotic to an undercover police officer Oct. 8 in Caro.

Bond was continued and a sentencing date will be set.

Richard W. Case, 19, of 7118 Irish Road, Millington, was found guilty of larceny in a building.

Bond was set at $5,000 cash or surety and a sentencing date will be set.

He was found guilty of having stolen a compound bow and case from a garage in Vassar Jan. 26. The two-day trial ended Friday.

A new trial will be scheduled for Allen Popp, 33, of Gerou Road, Caro, who is charged with delivery of a controlled substance (PCE) July 9, 1980, in Ellington township.

Joslyn declared a mistrial Wednesday after the jury was unable to reach a verdict. The trial began Tuesday.

Rain plagues C-D districts in Cass City

The Lamplighter team of Sebawaing won the rain plagued district softball tournament over the week end at the Cass City Recreation Park with a 4-3 win in the championship game over Charmont of Cass City. Winning the Michigan Amateur Softball Association District 8 title advances the team to the regional tournament Aug. 21-23 at Corunna.

dustry, 4-1, to move into the finals.

Pitchers for the team were Dean Roller and Terry Houthoofd.

Charmont began its advance to the finals with a 1-0 win Saturday over Wolvline State Bank of Marlette, but then was detoured by McGraw Edison, 1-0.

That put the Cass Cityans into the losers bracket, where they downed Liberty Lanes, 8-5, and Sanilac Dairy Farms of Sandusky, 11-1.

Sunday, the team edged past Thumb National Bank, 1-0, and McMahan Auto Supply, 4-3, before a revenge game with McGraw Edison. This time, Charmont came out on top, 8-3, to advance to the finals.

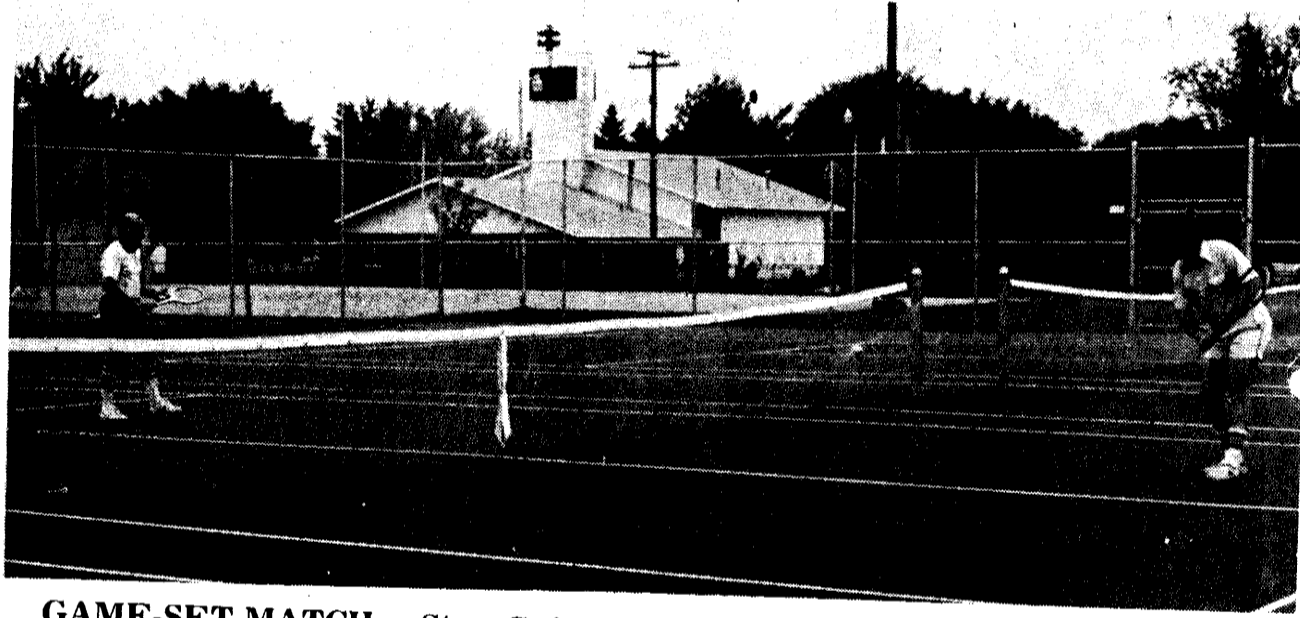

Pitchers for Charmont were Al Bosch, Doug Powers and Don Englehart.

The championship game was not without drama.

In the seventh inning, the Cass City team had the bases loaded with only one out. The second out came on a grounder hit to second base. The Lamplighter second baseman threw the ball to the catcher to force out the runner advancing from third. The final Charmont batter struck out.

Had the Cass City team won, it would have had to play Lamplighter again to determine the tournament district winner.

At the 1980 districts, Charmont won with the Lamplighter coming in second.

GAME-SET-MATCH -- Stan Guinther (left) and Chris Sherman hit the last volleys over the nets at the old tennis courts in the Cass City Recreation Park before they were torn up in May. # Reporter finds things in area missing in larger communities

By Sheila Gruber

Cass City. Boy, did my friends laugh when they heard my long-awaited summer internship stint was destined to be at the Chronicle.

"What could there possibly be to write about in a place like that," they joked. Cows dying, an occasional barn burning or maybe somewhere, by some fluke, a rooster that lays eggs?

And the social life. After three years of bar hopping in Mount Pleasant, how was I possibly going to survive week ends of "cruising" Main Street with "farmer boys?" my girl friends wondered.

I was teased for weeks and even after I moved into my Fourth Street apartment, with no heat, hot water or electricity for what turned out to be the coldest three days of May — I began to wonder if they weren't right.

As the days wore on, I found myself wondering some more.

Like the first time I was sent to a fire and all that was left was a slightly-charred lawn mower and several men, obviously surprised to discover I was not Mike Eliasohn. I had a tricky time figuring out who they were too — I kept looking for bright, impressive firemen's uniforms.

Then there was the time I found myself standing in front of the Chronicle, holding a mangled flash attachment cord in one hand and my bicycle chain in the other — while an entire softball team waited at the park for a certain photographer to show up.

But I managed to survive and now as I sit upstairs in the empty Chronicle office for the last time I realize I should be writing this for all my cronies back at CMU to read. The joke's on them because I discovered more about myself and the things that really matter this summer than any of them maybe ever will, and in Cass City, of all places.

Certainly I learned professionally — how not to misspell names or confuse places or parents, and how not to lay out an entire front page.

Sheila Gruber

Much more than those things, experiences I will carry with me throughout my career. I grew personally.

I found out how wonderful it can be to have some time to yourself after a year of being a surrogate-mother to 70 freshman girls as a resident hall assistant.

I found out that small town guys aren't any different than city guys and while The Station is not the Pub in Mount Pleasant, I can't complain too much about my social life (although my neighbors probably could).

I also discovered that no matter what the auto companies would like us to believe — you can certainly survive without a car, even when Mother Nature inevitably sends rain — everytime you load your dry laundry on the back of your bike to head home.

The best thing about my summer was the people I met. Some I maybe only met once, or even talked to over the phone. Others I got to know well and became close to.

From the secretaries who put up with my constant messages to the friends I drank beer with, there were very few times when I wasn't greeted with a smile and genuine caring.

Those are rare gifts, Cass City. Gifts which don't abound in Mount Pleasant or Fraser, two of my favorite places. But you've got them and I almost wish I could bottle them up and take them with me.

Because I can't, it will be hard to leave. But ending, like beginning, is part of growing and it is time to leave.

My friends can laugh all they want about a hokey, hick town and a newspaper that still reports who visited who, but I'll be back. Who knows... maybe I'll even bring some of them with me to see for themselves!

Good-bye Cass City and thanks for the welcome.

BEAN QUEEN—"Crown, sash. Everything is in place." Tuscola County Extension Agricultural Agent Don Kebler gives Teri Partlo a final inspection after crowning her Tuscola County Bean Queen last Wednesday at the county fair. The 18-year-old is the daughter of Dick and Sandra Partlo of Akron.

Commission combines 2 positions to save money

Two halves are better than two wholes — or at least are cheaper — the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners decided Tuesday.

The board gave a tentative okay to having county Veterans Affairs Counselor James McCann also assume the duties of emergency preparedness director.

The latter position is presently held by Frank Kroswek, who is retiring in September.

Combining the two jobs was recommended by the board's personnel committee as a move to save money.

The proposal was not without controversy.

"My opinion is if you get a half-time man, you're going to get a half-time job," commented board Chairman

Paul Nagy of Vassar. He felt both jobs, if done right, each require someone working full-time. "You're going to neglect one to do the other."

Commissioner Donna Rayl of Akron said that in looking ahead to the 1982 budget, the county may not be able to afford a veterans affairs counselor. "I think a half-time veterans affairs (counselor) will be better than none," (McCann's 1981 salary is $14,980.)

The federal government pays half of Kroswek's salary.

Commissioner Royce Russell of Elmwood township commented, "I think a lot of this civil defense is done at night... getting groups together so they know what they're doing." In case of a daytime disaster, he suggested, the counselor-coordinator's leaving his desk would be no different than a volunteer fireman leaving his job to go to a fire.

The commissioners, by informal poll, decided they will attempt the new split position for a trial period of six months.

Russell, a member of the board's personnel committee, said later McCann was consulted and is willing to try the position with his present staff (one secretary).

The veterans counselor felt for next year, however, he might need to add a part-time person to his staff.

Russell expects final arrangements, including a pay increase for McCann, will be completed at the board's Aug. 25 meeting.

In other action, the board increased the supplements paid to Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. and District Judge Richard F. Kern in order to take advantage of a new state law.

The law paves the way for the state to eventually take over funding and operation of the entire court system.

Kent received an increase in his supplement from $5,000 to $9,320; Kern from $6,420 to $9,320.

Raising the amount to $9,320 makes the county eligible for a state reimbursement of $27,500 to cover the supplements for those two judges plus Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, whose county supplement of $14,500 is above the state required minimum of $9,950.

What it boils down to is the three judges are receiving total county supplements this year of $33,140, of which the state will reimburse the county $27,500.

Kent's new 1981 salary will be a state mandated $29,950, of which the state pays 75 percent, the county, 25 percent, plus the supplement, for a total of $39,270.

Kern's salary is the same, the only difference being the state pays 100 percent of the $29,950 base pay.

Joslyn's salary consists of $33,275 from the state, plus $14,450 from the county, for a total of $47,725.

Recommend tax base sharing

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

Tax base sharing has been revived as a recommendation by an executive Task Force on Small and Rural Communities.

The concept provides for spreading new revenues derived from growth in the tax base in one area with other communities in the region. The concept was proposed once by Gov. William G. Milliken for metropolitan areas.

The original proposal was based on a successful model in the Minneapolis-St. Paul Region, but got nowhere in Michigan in the face of opposition from areas with rapid growth from officials fearful of regional government.

Unlike the original proposal's mandatory provisions for sharing growth in property values in one community among all communities in the region, this proposal would empower local governments to agree to share both the increased value of new development, as well as the costs of providing services to the developed areas.

Greg Main of Escanaba, chairman of the task force, said the idea was raised by a township official as a way to deal with pressures of annexation.

"We would leave political boundaries where they are and the jurisdictions where they are, but let the people make agreements," he said, announcing the recommendations of the task force.

The group said present annexation laws force adjoining jurisdictions into adversarial roles, with a city nibbling away at a township in which new development may choose to locate.

The task force further suggested development of suburban growth plans as a prerequisite for annexation or extension of public services. These plans would be written by officials from adjacent communities and would set guides for land use, extension services, etc.

On other local matters, the task force urged legislation to permit local units to impose new taxes upon voter approval, including sales and use taxes.

Other recommendations of the task force include establishment of a rural regulation review board to review regulations that may be deterring job creation, development of an agricultural preservation strategy, increased funding for forestry and active state promotion of rural economic development.

Also, establishment of a rail use plan for rural areas, coordination of human services on a county-wide basis, expansion of rural extension services, and development of pilot projects for nutrition education and family resources management.

After the report was released, Milliken said it will assist the state and local governments in understanding and managing the problems that accompany the shift of population into sparsely populated areas.

TAX CUT

Approval by Congress of a three-year $750 billion tax cut is very important to the Michigan economy, according to state Management and Budget Director Gerald Miller.

He said the state's economic forecasts and the 1981-82 fiscal year budget assumed passage of a sizable federal tax cut.

Without the tax cut, which begins with a first round Oct. 1 followed by another cut July 1, 1982, Miller said the state revenue forecasts for 1981-82 would have to be cut at least by $50 million.

"The key issue was getting it passed. The psychological effect is very important. On the basis that people know they will get a cut in October and another in July, they will be a little freer with what they do with their money," Miller said.

He added one possible use for some of that freed up money would be the purchase of automobiles, the Michigan economy's mainstay.

We could survive without television

The 15 residents of the logging town of Elk City, Ore., have had their television reception restored after a three-month absence.

The community's four antennas had been removed while the logging company that owns the forests surrounding Elk City conducted logging operations.

Devona Malkowski thinks she and her family could survive without television for three months. "Yes, I do think we could. I think the kids are watching too much TV."

Her children, Keith, 9, and Valerie, 5, both like to watch TV. Their mother said she and her husband, Roman, try to guide their youngsters' viewing habits. Children's shows, Mrs. Malkowski feels, "should have more educational stuff kids can learn from."

As for adult viewing, the housewife commented, "I don't think there's too many programs on that are good to watch."

She prefers comedies, of which there aren't too many on, she said, and old movies. She wasn't able to name any programs that she considers her favorite shows.

Her husband, who is employed at the Village Service Center, prefers news and other programs concerning real events. He doesn't care for sports, according to his wife.

Mrs. Malkowski feels many persons would get involved in other activities if they didn't watch television so much.

As for television commercials, she commented, a lot of them are "false advertising. That's what I think."

The Malkowski family lives on Seed Street, Cass City.

Tools taken from building near Deford

Felix Bandish of 1530 N. Kingston Road, Deford, reported to sheriff's deputies Wednesday, Aug. 5, that a building on his property had been entered by someone who pried off the hasp.

Taken were a set of box wrenches worth $50; socket drive set, $50, and 10 gallons of fuel siphoned from a tractor.

Wally Kappen of Kappen Sawmill, south of Deford, told deputies Aug. 3 that a total of 45 gallons of gasoline were siphoned from two old tractors and two trucks some time since noon the previous day.

The four gas caps were missing, some of them hard to replace. Total loss was estimated at $90.

William S. Wagner, caretaker of a home at 2667 Warner Road, Deford, reported to deputies early July 26 that a pickup came up the one-eighth mile long driveway at 2:30 a.m., rammed the 16-foot fiberglass garage door twice, then left. There were three or four occupants inside.

Owner of the home is Carl German.

Letters to the Editor

Rep. Armbruster: salaries too high

Dear Mike:

With reference to your recent column, you noted a previous news release by me wherein I criticized the administrators of the City of Detroit getting unusually high wages.

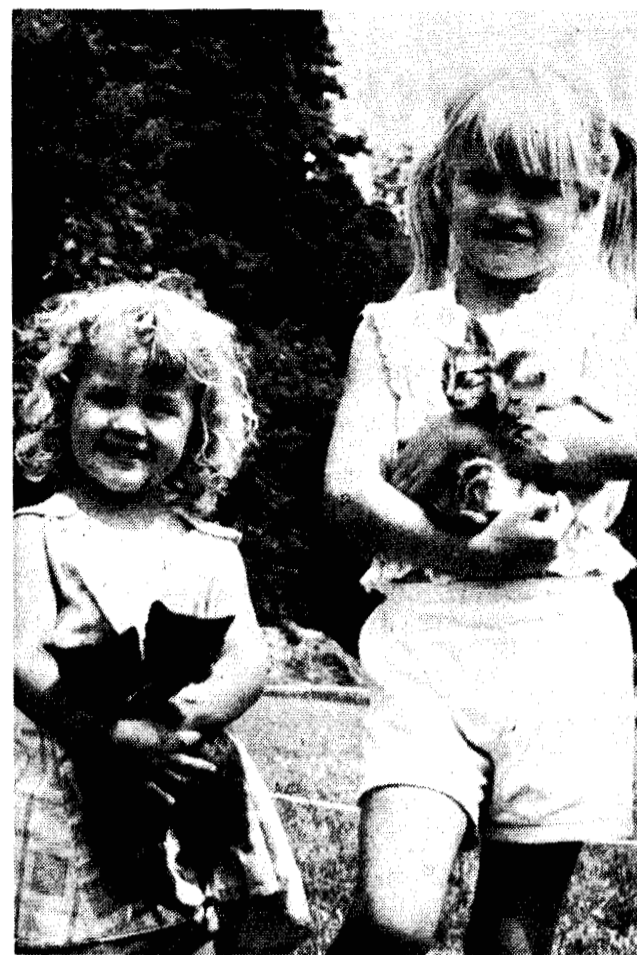

In that regard, yes, Mike, I too am just as perturbed about the high wages that have been offered to MSU

Board President Cecil Mackey. It, too, is out of line.

And, while I'm on the subject, some of our local school administrators are also being paid a salary, including all fringe benefits, that approaches the $50,000 per year mark.

Sincerely yours,

Loren S. Armbruster
State Representative

Corrects error in Alexander story

Dear Sirs:

I'm writing concerning your article in your July 30th issue about Vicki Alexander (O-G student tours Europe).

I don't know who the interviewer was, but they printed some wrong information and it's got a few people upset — including me!

I'm her mother and at the time of the interview I was on my honeymoon and not there to see what was put down on paper. My daughter informed me that she was not asked anything about her parents or where they lived.

But somehow, somebody took it upon themselves to print, "Vicki, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, 3552 Farver Road, Owendale." This is not true and has not been so for six years! John Alexander is remarried and lives at 103 W. Sebawaing Street, Sebawaing — and I am remarried, Mrs. Joan Setula, and I live at 1767 Wetters Road, Kawkawlin, Mi. She was staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fahrner at 3552 Farver Road, Owendale, at the time of the interview.

I don't know if there's any way of correcting this error in another issue or what to do, but I just wanted you to know that there was a misprint! I'd like it corrected if at all possible.

Mrs. Frank (Joan) Setula
Kawkawlin, Mich.

Banvel® herbicide NOW between cropping for cleaner crops next season.

Banvel herbicide can now be applied after harvest to help control tough broadleaf weed problems before next cropping season.* New label clearances allow you to put Banvel's control of tough annual and perennial broadleaf weeds to work for you against the toughest broadleaf weed problems: field bindweed... Canada thistle... blueweed and many more.

Apply Banvel as a broadcast or spot treatment to broadleaf weed problems after harvest but before a killing frost. Do not disturb treated areas for 7 days following herbicide application to give Banvel herbicide time to tackle problem weeds. A follow-up program of Banvel herbicide should be applied later in the season to control regrowth and newly germinated weed problems.

Banvel herbicide can also be tank mixed with 2,4-D and Roundup herbicide for between cropping control of troublesome grasses and additional broadleaf weeds. Follow label directions for application rates and crop rotation instructions.

Ask your agricultural chemical dealer about the Banvel herbicide between cropping program for your broadleaf weed problems. Banvel herbicide from Velsicol.

Banvel herbicide cleared for between cropping use only in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Indiana, Michigan, North Dakota, Oregon and Utah.

Lightning

No place is absolutely safe from lightning, but being in an enclosed car is your best safety bet, according to an expert with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

Meteorologist Richard E. Hallgren, a specialist in severe weather occurrences with NOAA's National Weather Service, explains that lightning striking an enclosed car usually travels along the outer metal skin of the vehicle and then jumps to the ground.

It's not the car's rubber tires that insulate you from the lightning, but the vehicle's metal shell, which diverts the lightning's killing amperage.

Rain keeps down attendance at 100th Tuscola County Fair

Rain put a damper on the 100th edition of the Tuscola County Fair last week.

Until the rains came Friday and Saturday, according to Fair Manager Walt Jackson, attendance was comfortably ahead of last year's pace.

The result was total attendance for the week was only slightly ahead of last year. Paid admissions totaled 16,905, plus 484 season passes, for a total of 17,389.

That compared to 16,150 general admissions last year, plus 361 weekly passes sold. The 1980 fair was also hampered by rain.

The last good year was 1979, when there were 17,223 admissions plus 459 passes sold.

The rain was especially costly, Jackson explained, because it fell on the two days that usually draw a large attendance.

Total grandstand attendance for the week, not including the Monday evening country music show, was 6,525. Promoters of the country show handled the ticket sales and attendance figures weren't available by Monday of this week.

Turnout that night appeared good, Jackson said, but wasn't for the grandstand shows the next two nights. Tuesday evening was a talent show, including music, and Wednesday evening was a performance by a musical group from Oakland University. Three nights, he commented, "I think was too much."

As a result, he feels harness racing next year may return on one or two evenings. This year, it all took place in the afternoon, a change from past years.

The free tent entertainment each day, in connection with the centennial, he commented, was "sort of nice, but I think it stole from the grandstand." Despite that, it might continue.

Jackson doesn't feel there will be another parade. The Sunday evening "parade of progress" to celebrate the fair's centennial drew 471 paid admissions and complaints about there being a charge to sit in the grandstand. The parade didn't have many participants, which was another cause for complaint. Efforts to get a high school band to march were unsuccessful.

Any fair has lots of winners, but some don't know it yet. Centennial buttons were sold at the fair, each of which had a number.

Five numbers were drawn each day, with each winner receiving a $5 prize. Of the 30 daily winners, two numbers are to be drawn with each receiving a $100 savings bond.

However, as of Monday, only eight of the 30 had claimed their prizes. Persons who would like to check their button number to see if they won can call the fair office at 673-2161. It will be open until mid-afternoon Friday and the first couple of days next week.

Winners from Cass City area 4-H clubs are as follows. They received blue ribbons unless otherwise indicated.

At Sanilac County Fair

Area 4-H's sweep livestock show honors

4-H'ers from the northwest corner of Sanilac county took home the banners for the top animals at last week's Sanilac County 4-H fair.

It was a very good week for the family of Dale and Audrey Leslie of 3204 Leslie Road, Decker.

Daughter Ann, 12, had the grand champion steer, a 1,225 pound Angus-Simmental. She also won the novice beef showmanship class.

Jim Bader and Sons of Sandusky purchased the animal at the Thursday evening livestock sale for $1.65 a pound.

Her brother, Bob, 18, had the reserve champion steer. McDonald's Restaurant of Sandusky bought the 1,175 pound Angus-Chianina for $1.05 a pound. At the Tuscola county fair, Leslie, as a member of the Cass City Future Farmers of America, had the grand champion steer and won beef showmanship.

Brother Al, 13, had the champion medium weight steer, a 1,090-pound Hereford-Simmental. Hale Insurance of Deckerville bought it for 80 cents a pound.

The Leslies are members of the Evergreen Guys and Gals.

Members of that club also had the top market lambs. Becky Severance, 13, had the grand champion, which was also judged champion homebred and fourth in rate of gain.

McDonald's Restaurant of Sandusky paid a very high $5 for each of its 120 pounds. Her grand champion also formed half of the grand champion pen. The other lamb, weighing 115 pounds, was purchased for $2 a pound by Marlette Livestock Auction.

Becky, who has entered sheep since age 8, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Severance of 5899 Severance Road, Decker.

Scott Marshall, 9, had the reserve champion lamb in his first year of competition. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Marshall of Hadley Road, Cass City. Beagio's Pizza of Marlette and other communities bought it for $3 a pound. It weighed 112 pounds.

Linda Adam of Snover, a member of the Lucky Stars 4-H Club, had the champion individual market hog and the champion pen of hogs. Todd Janowiak of the Argyle Sox 4-H Club had the reserve champion, champion homebred and won novice showman.

Winners from area 4-H clubs are as follows. Blue ribbon winners from the Evergreen Guys and Gals will be listed next week.

Seek to abolish tax

A petition drive has been launched seeking a vote on an amendment to eliminate business taxes and cut income taxes while protecting funds for schools, local government and public and mental health.

Dick Jacobs of Grand Blanc, leader of the drive, said the amendment is needed in order to restimulate the state's economy.

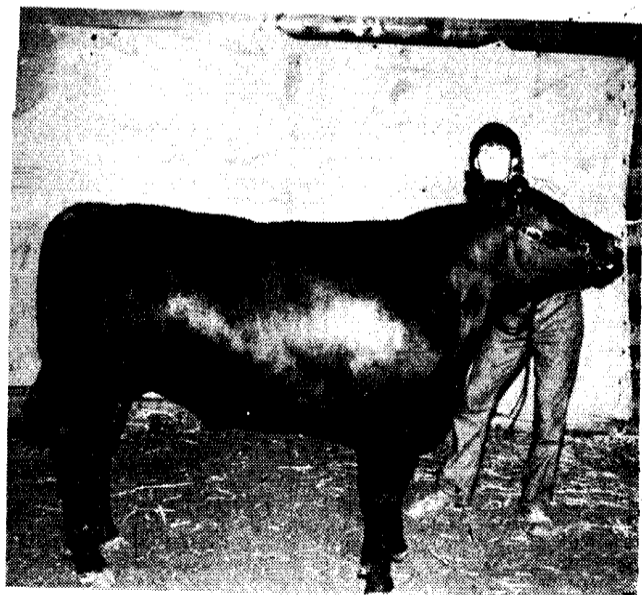

Because of the deep cuts in revenue and the restrictions against cutting appropriations in specified areas, the proposed amendment would probably mean dramatic cuts in welfare programs.

Other large spending areas not protected include prisons and natural resources.

The amendment would cut income tax rates from 4.6 to 4 percent while increasing the personal exemption by 40 percent and providing further increases in the exemption tied to cost of living increases.

Further, the amendment would repeal the Single Business Tax and prohibit any successor taxes. Any new and increased taxes would have to be approved by a majority vote of the people.

Hikes in fees, tuition and user charges would be limited to any increase due to the rate of inflation. Separate funds would be created for operation of K-12 schools, institutions of higher education and school retirement.

RESERVE CHAMPION -- Bob Leslie, 18, had the reserve champion steer at the Sanilac County 4-H Fair.

50-year class reunion held at Fleenor home

The Cass City High School class of 1931 conducted a reunion Saturday, Aug. 1, prior to the all-school reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fleenor of 4260 Woodland Ave. entertained 27 persons at the 1 p.m. luncheon.

There were 14 graduates present from a graduating class of 44.

Six of those present attended school together from kindergarten through high school. They were Ray Fleenor, Deloris (Sandham) Green, Caseville; Audrey (Bliss) Pinney, Tawas City; John Morris, Cadillac; Elizabeth (Seed) Jazwiak, Bay City, and Clarence Merchant, Cass City.

The other graduates present were Norman Carpenter, Sterling Heights; William Batrel, Flint; Marwood McBride, Bad Axe; Effie (Allan) Hildinger, Caro; Lorna (McRea) Karr, Grosse Pointe Woods; Lillian (Ward) Hanby, Cass City; Bernice (Gage) Wiltse, Owosso, and Janet (Allured) Frazier, Athens, Ga.

Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Fleenor of Chelsea, Ray's brother, were guests. Dr. Fleenor is a member of the class of 1919.

The class of 1931 plans a 55th year reunion in 1986.

Kingston okays mobile homes

The Kingston Village Council Aug. 3 decided not to appeal a court ruling requiring establishment of an area zoned for a mobile home park.

In compliance with Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn's ruling, the council voted to rezone the acreage involved in the suit to permit its use for a mobile home park.

The firm that had brought the suit, Marshall Real Estate of Marlette, owns 40 acres in the northeast corner of the village, which had been zoned residential.

Jerry Marshall has plans for 30-50 mobile home sites on the property, but building of the park depends on improvement of the economy.

Joslyn originally ruled May 14 that Kingston's zoning ordinance was exclusionary by not providing a site for mobile homes. July 27, he enjoined the council from enforcing its zoning ordinance against construction of the park.

the others don't matter.

Sir:

Yours,
BILL MYERS

We have noted in the telephone directory that several residents of the town who have been soldiers have their titles hooked onto their names. There are some generals, some admirals and such noble ranks, and I am impressed.

Would it be asking too much to have my own rating in the 1982 directory? I was in the Coast Guard in World War II as a boatswain's mate second class. That is one step above a coxswain, but several light years away from an admiral.

It was known as a "right arm rating," though, distinguishing us from the gang in the engine room and the office boys, such as yeomen, who wore their rating badges on the left arm. Or maybe it was the other way around.

I never fired a shot in anger, or even good naturedly, because I didn't have a gun. My contributions to the war were so insignificant that the captain of our ship once remarked the war would have been over several days sooner if I had just stayed home.

You don't need to spell out the whole rating, just print it: Myers, William A. BM2C. Coast Guard and Navy people will understand, and

2 women under test for first posts with Elkland fire fighters

The Elkland Township Fire Department has two new auxiliary members who hope to, become qualified firefighters in the next few months.

Like all new firefighters, they are being trained -- "tested" -- by the regular firefighters before being voted in as regular members.

Unlike the others, when they were in training, all eyes are on the new trainees to see if Tuscola county's apparent first women firefighters can "prove themselves."

Janet Hurley, 37, and Sue Finkbeiner, 19, joined the department as auxiliary members last month, breaking the all-male tradition.

"They have been against women being in the department for years, but I wanted to do something to help others, for the community," Mrs. Hurley said.

The women's liberation movement doesn't really have anything to do with either woman's decision, they said, although legally they realize they could have fought any kind of ban.

Concern for others is the reason Miss Finkbeiner, a Cass City Area Ambulance Service driver, wants to be a firefighter. "It's a learning experience," she said, explaining they, like all new firefighters, have to "prove themselves."

REACTIONS TO HAVING women in the department have been mixed, the women are the first to admit.

"Some of them said we won't last, if we can't hold our own," Miss Finkbeiner commented.

Rules and regulations are the same for everyone, Mrs. Hurley said, explaining a firefighter in the Elkland Township Fire Department is representing the community. "If we mess up, it's the same as when they mess up, and one person can ruin it for everybody."

Both admit to feeling a little more pressure than usual.

"We have to protect ourselves, 'make good' to prove we can and maybe open the door for others," said Miss Finkbeiner, who will begin training to become an emergency medical technician this fall.

Other women, working for the Cass City Ambulance Service as emergency medical technicians, have helped pave the way for the two new firefighters, Fire Chief Dave McNaughton said.

"There were some mixed feelings," he said, concerning his fellow firemen's attitude toward women joining. Several years ago when a woman was interested in joining the department, "it was kind of discouraged. It was something new at that time." More and more paid (full-time) fire departments have women members now, he added.

Don Finkbeiner, Sue's father and an Elkland township firefighter, was all for the two women joining, according to Miss Finkbeiner. "He wanted us to be one of the first (women). He was behind us all the way."

Roger Hurley, Janet's husband and another member of the fire department, sees "no reason why they can't be firefighters. A lot of women are joining departments. It's just kind of a shock in this area."

ORIGINALLY, HURLEY said, the department planned to start a women's auxiliary which would handle benefits, community projects and cooking -- but not fight fires.

The addition of women to the department was a "gradual thing," McNaughton explained. "The climate has just changed that much over the last four or five years. The guys are willing to accept some help."

Now that women have been accepted as auxiliaries, the question is: how much and what kind of help is being accepted?

According to the chief, women will have to do the same jobs as men, including going up on a roof and dragging other injured firefighters out of burning buildings when it's necessary.

"We don't want to be treated any differently," Mrs. Hurley said.

So far, as auxiliaries, the women have had several experiences of, as Mrs. Hurley describes it, "mind over matter."

"Yesterday I had to climb to the top of the tower (that holds the fire bell) and hang the hoses," she said, adding, "I just didn't look down."

Miss Finkbeiner, who describes herself as "just a plain tomboy," has worked side by side with the other firefighters in three fires so far. "It's just a matter of concentrating on what you're doing, learning from the men and taking orders. Somebody needs help and you have a job to do," she said.

AUXILIARY MEMBERS of the department only fight in a fire when they are asked to by regular members and there is enough equipment.

They don't really have their own uniforms yet, Mrs. Hurley explained, but use extra things not being used by the regulars.

Since Mrs. Hurley is slightly under five feet tall, she hasn't had all the necessary equipment to go to a fire yet. Instead, she often helps run the radio, makes phone calls, washes hoses, cleans the trucks and whatever else is needed.

The idea behind joining the department was "for Janet to operate the radio," her husband said, explaining she used to come down and help out long before she joined the auxiliary.

"There's certain things they won't be able to do, so their duties will probably be limited," Hurley said, adding, "Janet's so small."

Mrs. Hurley admits the men are stronger. "Some of them can hold the hose without a back-up, where we have to have a back-up."

But there's always something to do at a fire, so the women aren't too worried about what their specific jobs will be.

"They joke about my height, but as long as I can handle my job... you just can't let them walk on you," said Mrs. Hurley.

When they are teased, the pair has learned to "just stand your own ground and come back stronger," Miss Finkbeiner said.

ACCORDING TO DEPARTMENT rules, auxiliary members are on probation for six months, receiving

"on-the-job" training. After the first probation period, the "regular" members vote whether to accept the auxiliaries.

If the women, like anybody else, don't prove themselves as auxiliaries, then the department can vote to not admit them as regular firefighters.

Once an auxiliary member is admitted as a regular, he or she is put on a year's probation and required to complete 66 hours of training at various locations, an eight-hour driving course and a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation course, Mrs. Hurley explained.

Because the department can only have 23 firefighters, it may be "quite some time" before there is an opening for one of the women, her husband said, recalling he waited three years.

ONE OF THE BENEFITS of allowing women to join the department will be to help alleviate the daytime shortage of firefighters, McNaughton said.

"It would be nice to maybe have some kind of swing shift, with more women able to go during the days when men are working," suggested Mrs. Hurley. "I think in Sanilac county they do something like that, with a special department of women firefighters who call themselves the 'Firebelles'.

So far, the women haven't had too many problems. "They're really a nice bunch of guys," said Mrs. Hurley, "like a family with everyone watching out for each other."

A few of the firemen wives have wondered what going on when Mrs. Hurley starts calling them in for late night fires though, she admitted, laughing.

ALL ABOARD the Elkland Township Fire truck are Janet Hurley, front, and Sue Finkbeiner. The two women are training to become Tuscola county's first women firefighters.

4-H QUEEN AND KING of the Sanilac County 4-H Fair last week were Julie Gierman and Alan Adam, both members of the Lucky Stars 4-H Club. Julie is the daughter of Jim and Janice Gierman, Decker Road, Marlette; Alan is the son of Wayne and Faye Adam, Snover Road, Snover.
