Goal $14,000

Elkland-Novesta United Way fund drive begins

The 1981 Elkland-Novesta United Way fund drive began Tuesday evening with the traditional kickoff dinner at the Charmont for the volunteer solicitors.

The goal this year, according to President Jon Fahrner, is $14,000, up $500 from the goal the past two years. The drive ends Oct. 26.

The goal last year was exceeded by a comfortable margin with a total of $15,034 being raised. Individual contributions totaled $10,210; donations through payroll deductions, $2,925, and industrial gifts, $1,899.

The money was used to aid 12 local organizations and activities, plus pay for Christmas baskets for the needy. The Tuscola County United Way (UW) received $6,600 of the money raised locally, which was distributed to eight county programs or organizations -- most of which previously were aided individually by each local UW in the county -- and to Michigan United Way. The latter aided 25 state organizations.

Volunteers will be going door-to-door in Cass City and in the two townships. Employees at General Cable, Walbro, and Hills and Dales General Hospital will be able to donate through the payroll deduction plan.

Persons who are not contacted who would like to contribute can send their donations to the treasurer, Florence Karr, 5132 Penny Road, Cass City. Checks should be made out to the Elkland-Novesta United Way.

THIS WILL BE THE SECOND year for the Tuscola county UW drive, intended to reach persons who live in areas which don't have local drives. Those that have them, in addition to Cass City, are Caro, Vassar, Akron-Fairgrove and Reese.

The county drive raised $31,500 last year. Letters will be sent to businesses outside of the areas served by the local UW organizations, asking for contributions, according to Dale Deering, county board member and 1980 Elkland-Novesta UW president. Volunteers will later visit each business. County residents who work in other counties, if asked at work to donate to the other counties' UW organizations, can donate to the Tuscola UW by asking for a designation card in addition to their pledge card for payroll deductions.

If living in an area served by a local UW, their donations to the county organization will be considered a credit for their local organization. For instance, if the Elkland-Novesta UW must contribute $7,000 to the county UW but out-of-county contributions total $1,000, it will only have to give $6,000.

Persons living outside of Elkland and Novesta townships who would like to contribute to the county UW (and are not contacted at work) can send their contributions to Tuscola County United Way, Caro 48723.

SPEAKER AT THE KICK-off banquet Tuesday was Iris Tuckey of Schwegler Road, Cass City, past president of the Elkland-Novesta UW and Tuscola county UW, who is now a Michigan UW board member.

About 40 persons attended the dinner, paid for by the Pinney and Cass City State Banks.

In addition to Fahrner and Mrs. Karr, other officers of the local fund drive this year are Ruth Grassmann, vice-president, and Ronald Keegan, secretary.

Board members, in addition to the officers, are Dale Deering, Herbert Ludlow, Arthur Holmberg, Donald Englehart, Iva Hartwick, Florence Witherspoon, Elaine Crane and Dave Ackerman.

Organizations and programs which received funds from the 1980 fund drive were: Girls' Little League, $400; Arts Council, $500; Boy Scouts, $300; Girl Scouts, $500; Boys' Little League, $1,000; village park program, $1,500; Reading is Fundamental, $75; Rawson Memorial Library, $1,000; Michigan UW, $97; Deford Cub Scouts, $100; Babe Ruth League, $200; Cass City Cub Scouts, $150, and Christmas baskets, $870.

Expenses were: administrative, including supplies, $131; advertising, $81; state of Michigan, $10, and Anderson, Lynch, Nietzsche and Co. (accountants), $47.50. The balance on hand as of Aug. 27 was $3,698.

Money raised by the Tuscola county UW, including the $6,600 from Elkland-Novesta UW, was given to Red Cross, Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Catholic Family Services, Tuscola County Association for Retarded Citizens, Assault Crisis Center, drug treatment program, Lake Huron Area Boy Scouts, Mitten Bay Girl Scouts and Michigan UW.

Snover couple hurt in blast

A Snover woman remained in critical condition Wednesday morning and her husband was in serious condition at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, where they were taken after an explosion in their home Thursday night.

Injured were Stella Bowyer, 59, who is in the burn unit, and her husband, Nataniel (Joe), 62.

The explosion in their Clark Street home occurred shortly after 11 p.m., scattering debris as far as 100 feet away. The Sanilac County Sheriff's Department said persons within a five-mile radius of the home reported feeling the blast.

Mrs. Bowyer was reported to be watching television at the time of the blast, while her husband was in bed. An investigator from the Council clears way for bank expansion

The Cass City Village Council gave approval Tuesday evening to the first step needed by the Pinney State Bank to expand its facilities.

The council also pondered a request to extend the contracted completion date for the $6 million sewage treatment plant project from mid-December until June 18 of next year.

Bank President Robert Keating explained to the council the plans for the business. The present building will be expanded toward the west onto the space presently used for parking.

The council's involvement was required because the bank wants to build a drive-in banking facility.

Exactly where it will be hasn't been decided yet, but the entrance might be off Seeger Street. The bank owns one lot off Seeger, but needs more space than that, plus more parking to make up for what it loses.

At the request of the bank, the council approved a resolution surrendering its right to lease the parking lot that extends to Pine Street in that block, which the village presently leases from Mr. and Mrs. James Gross for $80 a month.

The bank will buy the lot from the Grosses. In addition, it is leasing the property at the corner of Pine and Oak Streets, owned by Leonard Damm. The house and metal storage building will be torn down and the space used for parking.

The bank also has an option to buy the house at the corner of Seeger and Pine, with the owner allowed to live there as long as she wants. Eventually, the house will be removed and that space will be used for parking.

The resolution approved by the council mentions that the Gross lot will be available for public use (minus the space needed for the drive-in) and Keating said all of the parking on the block will be available for use by the public.

He did not set a timetable, but indicated the project will be underway by next year.

TREATMENT PLANT

The council considered a request from the contractor on the waste treatment plant project, H.C. Weber Construction Co., for a 184-day extension from the Dec. 12 completion date contained in its contract with the village.

The reason is that employees of the manufacturer of some key electrical equipment for the plant were on strike for several months. The needed items are now to be delivered by Oct. 31 and take eight weeks to install.

The first phase of the plant will then begin operation, so that workmen can tear out the parts of the old treatment plant no longer needed to make room for the remainder of the new plant.

However, winter temperatures will make pouring of concrete, building roads and landscaping difficult, so a lot of work may have to wait until spring.

The contract with Weber, however, specifies that if the project isn't done on time, the firm must pay $1,000 per day of delay to the village. To get it, however, the village will probably have to get a favorable decision from an arbitration panel.

The village's attorney, Clinton House, who discussed the matter with the council, will now research prior arbitration cases involving contractors who were delayed because of strikes.

The question the council needs answered is whether it might cost more to seek a favorable arbitration ruling than it will gain.

The 184-day delay won't mean the contractor will have to be paid more. It will mean, however, the engineers, Hubbell, Roth and Clark, will have to be paid $60,000 more since they have to have inspectors there whenever any work is being done.

Weber Construction has had skeleton crews on the job during much of the strike.

The other alternative, Village President Bert Althaver explained, is to seek permission of the federal Environmental Protection Agency and state Department of Natural Resources, which are paying 75 and 5 percent, respectively, of the cost of the project, to pay the $60,000 out of contingency. Of the total project cost, $164,400 was earmarked for unplanned expenditures, of which only $15,136 has been spent so far.

If approval is obtained, it will only cost the village $12,000 (of the $60,000) as its 20 percent share of the project cost.

The less money spent out of contingency, however, the bigger the savings for local taxpayers, who this year are paying 2.5 mills for the treatment plant project.

Passage of millage top goal, school board decides

The number one goal for the Cass City School Board for the new school year is to get the millage passed next spring, it was decided by board members in a special meeting Monday night at the school.

The millage proposal was of overriding concern because without it most of the other goals of the board could not be implemented.

The goals include a system of evaluation for the superintendent, curriculum changes and improved discipline.

To get the millage campaign rolling, the board appointed Doty Scollon to head a committee.

She was appointed over the objection of Dr. E. Paul Lockwood, who asked if it was proper for the board to appoint someone to a millage passage committee. We were elected to represent the district and it voted the millage down in the past, he pointed out. After considerable discussion the appointment was made by a unanimous vote.

Curriculum improvements were suggested but they will hinge on the millage vote next spring. Dr.

Edward Scollon wants plans drawn that can be put into action as soon as money becomes available. For instance, he said, we should have plans completed to hire another band director to replace the one laid off in the money crunch.

Lockwood found support among trustees for his goal of better discipline in the Intermediate and High School. He referred to fighting and the lighting of firecrackers in the hall which he said he had observed.

He found less support for his request for a program for gifted children to graduate in three years of regular school time instruction. To graduate today in three years students would be required to take correspondence courses or evening classes at the school.

Better public relations were high on every trustee's list. Solutions to the problem varied.

Trustees leaned towards publication of the school's informational sheet, "Newscaster" when they learned that the Cass City Boosters' Club would pay the expenses.

Booster President Bob Tuckey attended and said that the club needed the information about the school from the board and were willing to get the information to the voters if they did.

Most of the goals outlined were not new. Trustee Dick Albee's suggestion for investigation of computer bookkeeping and a more complete monthly financial statement received board acceptance and will probably be activated . . . if and when the money problem is overcome.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the board approved a request for a transfer of a grade student to the Caro school district and reviewed special education guidelines that need to be adopted to comply with governmental regulations.

Ex-Senator Rawson dies in Florida

Former State Sen. William Audley Rawson, 88, formerly of Cass City, died Sunday at his Pinellas Park, Fla., home of a heart attack.

He was born April 5, 1893, in Marlette, the son of William and Effie (Ronald) Rawson. He was one of the first persons to graduate from the then Michigan Agricultural College (now Michigan State University) agriculture short course.

Rawson married Mary Lena Day Dec. 22, 1914, in Cass City. They made their home on the family farm in Elkland township. She died in 1969.

He was Elkland township supervisor from 1931-36 and was state representative from Tuscola county from 1935-43. He served as floor leader in the House of Representatives.

Rawson was elected state senator in 1943 from Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties and served until 1947. He was a member of the ways and means committee.

He retired from political office to become a lobbyist for the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies and while in the position, he was instrumental in arranging a loan from Citizens Insurance Co. to the Cass City Development Corp. to finance construction of the first Walbro factory building.

In 1958, he and his wife established the Rawson Foundation, Inc., which gives one scholarship each year to a deserving Cass City High School graduate. The scholarship pays all tuition and fees for four years at Central Michigan University. More than 20 students have received the scholarships.

Financial support through the Christian Children's Fund for several orphans is also provided each year.

Through the trust fund, Rawson Memorial Library was established in 1970.

In Cass City, Rawson was a member of Trinity United Methodist church; member and past president of the Rotary Club; Farm Bureau; Grange; life member of Tyler Lodge No. 317, F&AM;

AUDLEY RAWSON

In July, 1971, he married Mildred Hutchinson in Lansing. They spent their retirement years in Pinellas Park, Fla. In Florida, he was a member of Hi-Twelve of Pinellas, Egyptian Temple Shrine of Tampa and Scottish Rite Consistory of Tampa and Pinellas Park.

Rawson is survived by his wife; three sons, Dr. Delbert E. Rawson, DDS, Cass City; Ralph Rawson, Maderia Beach, Fla., and Clare Rawson, Fort Worth, Texas; one daughter, Mrs. James (Elsie) Fessler, Trumbull, Conn., and one step-daughter, Mrs. Jan McManamey, Lansing; one sister, Mrs. Vera Bearss, Cass City; seven grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; six step-grandchildren, and one step-great-grandchild.

One daughter, Marie, two brothers, Evard and Glenn, and one grandson, William Rawson, preceded him in death.

The deceased will be taken from Little's Funeral Home at 11 a.m. Friday to Trinity United Methodist church to lie in state until the 1 p.m. funeral service. Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser will officiate.

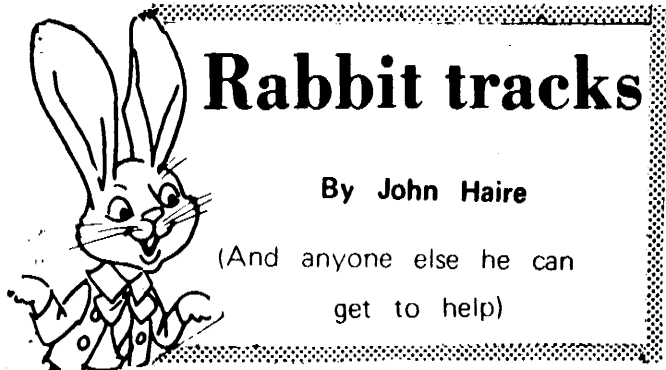

Burial will be in Elkland township cemetery.

A service was held Wednesday in Pinellas.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The travelling golf bag has finally been laid to rest but not before it rolled up a few bucks for Cass City Schools. It became available to the Cass City Boosters' Club through Harris-Hampshire Insurance Agency who came into possession through an insurance claim.

It was repaired by Bill Kritzman, cleaned and polished by Dick Wallace and offered as a raffle prize. The raffle netted $180.

Won by John Haire, it was sold to Dave Lovejoy for $25 donated to the Boosters. Lovejoy put it up again in a raffle Saturday. This raffle netted $150. It was won by Maynard Helwig, sold back to the group for $10 and auctioned off for $43 to Michelle Zdrojewski as a belated birthday gift for her husband, Ken. That's a net profit of $388 for the school.

Girls' basketball has finally arrived. This season one of the big metro papers is listing the top 10 girls' teams in the state in each of the four classes, A-B-C-D.

Visited Greektown again Sunday. It's fun even if you are like me and Greek food doesn't turn you on all that much. Wandering up and down the street and then gawking at the other diners while the obviously Greek waiter shouts, OPA!, and sets fire to a dish of meat is fun.

What's more it's inexpensive, too. Meals cost about $5 or $6 each in any of the myriad restaurants in the neighborhood.

Another word about downtown Detroit. Despite what you hear, the downtown section appears safe. That's the immediate downtown area, not several blocks away which still sends shivers down the spine when you wait for the light to change.

But in Greektown everyone walked up and down the street seemingly without a care in the world.

We saw several women walking alone in the area. This was at 12 noon and they were walking from a church about two blocks away.

Hills and Dales awarded first 2-year accreditation

For the first time, Hills and Dales General Hospital has received full two-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH).

Hospital Administrator Ken Jensen, who received notification last Thursday, described accreditation as a big plus for the hospital and community.

"It's a personal satisfaction as far as the administration and board of directors are concerned," he said.

A leaflet now available at Hills and Dales explains

Rotary seeking exchange students

The Cass City Rotary Club will sponsor a student abroad for the 1982-83 high school year as well as a few weeks in the summer of 1982 for other students.

Applications for students interested in spending a year abroad are being accepted by Wayne Dillon at Cass City High School.

Students from other area schools can apply to Tom Proctor or Gerald Prieskorn, both of Cass City.

After applications are received interviews will be conducted by the two program chairmen and all interviews are to be conducted by Oct. 15.

The Cass City Rotary Club is also looking for host families for a short-term exchange student from Brazil this summer.

To be eligible for the school-year exchange, a student should either be a high school sophomore or junior, a good student of good character.

The program is open to both boys and girls.

Cass City Rotary President is Ken Jensen, Cass City, and complete information about either the year-long or short term exchange programs are available from him or from Prieskorn and Proctor.

that, "Accreditation is professional and national recognition reserved for facilities that provide high quality health care. It means that our hospital has voluntarily sought to be measured against high professional standards and is in substantial compliance with them."

Of the approximately 7,500 hospitals in the country, Jensen said, 5,000 are accredited. Most that aren't are in rural areas.

The JCAH is a voluntary organization made up of representatives of the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Dental Association, American Hospital Association and American Medical Association.

Until now, the hospital administrator explained, Hills and Dales had only received one year provisional accreditation from the JCAH because of building and administration deficiencies, which should not be interpreted to mean the hospital was inadequate or poorly run.

The building deficiencies -- bringing the hospital into compliance with all the latest building standards for hospitals -- were all taken care of in the building program completed last year.

The administrative deficiencies involved not having written policies for everything from safety and sanitation to what to do in case of a bomb threat.

The first step in the certification procedure, Jensen explained, is filling out a 450-page questionnaire, which took 2 1/2 weeks, which asked everything conceivable there is to ask.

In July, a JCAH survey team spent a day at the hospital interviewing department heads, doctors, employees, staff, board of directors, and even patients. At the end of the day, the team sat down with the administration to discuss their findings.

The survey team included a doctor, nurse, hospital administrator and laboratory technologist.

The entire emphasis in the procedure is on patient care and the certification process is much stricter than state licensing requirements, Jensen explained.

The procedure has the benefit of pointing out various things the hospital can do to improve, Jensen said.

A year from now, it will have to undergo another self-analysis like the first lengthy questionnaire it had to fill out.

Hills and Dales had to pay the cost of the certification procedure, which was about $2,000.

The Haire Net

There probably wasn't a handful among the over 32,000 fans in Tiger stadium Sunday that didn't realize that the current baseball race is a synthetic, manufactured, money making event.

The three 12-year-olds that sat in the seats behind us with their baseball gloves waiting to "protect" us in case a ball came our way didn't. There may have been a few older fans in the same boat. That's all.

But you know something? I didn't care about the money that John Fetzer was making or the money that Steve Kemp was pulling down any more than those three kids in the row behind. You could count on one hand those that did among the 32,000.

Sunday was a glorious day even if the wind did gust to 40 miles per hour. Our Tigers were in town and the fight for the pennant was on.

Regardless of how it was contrived, the pennant race is real. The tension is there and just because Kemp is pulling down $200,000, don't think that he doesn't feel it.

Major league ball players with rare exceptions are competitive athletes. You rarely get to the majors unless you are.

I suppose if this were your first game you wouldn't notice anything different about the game Sunday than any of 162 others in a normal season.

But if you'd been in the stadium in September when the Tigers were 10 games out of first with 15 games left you'd know.

Aside from its merit as a game of skill, baseball keeps drawing the fans because it's a game of suspense.

Non-fans say that baseball is too slow, not enough action. But for the true baseball nut the action is at its peak when the potential winning run is at second and the pitcher is doing nothing but hitching up his pants and wiping his brow before stepping to the mound.

To really enjoy baseball you have to be a fan. A real fan. Baseball's no fun if you really don't care who wins.

Oh, I suppose there's excitement in seeing Kurt Gibson hit a tape measure drive out of the park. Or seeing an Al Kaline throw a man out at second with a picture turn and throw. But that's only the icing on the cake.

Baseball doesn't remain the national pastime on the professional level because of it.

What makes it go despite the commercial ramifications, the McDonald advertisements on the electronic scoreboard or the shifting of many of the top players for better salaries are the dyed-in-the-wool fans.

Guys like me that live and die with the Tigers, in first place or last. Bad or good.

Guys that leave with a warm glow when the Tigers win a big one like they did Sunday. Guys like me that already are making plans to come back.

Guys like me that are making John Fetzer, Tiger owner, richer than he already is and couldn't care less.

We're a hardy breed and no matter how they abuse us we absorb it all and remain to the bitter end, Tiger fans.

Chestnuts and memories

By Jim Fitzgerald

Today, according to the Reagan administration, ketchup is a vegetable, so gravy must be a beef roast. A mustard plaster is a hot dog, often eaten by baseball fans who want to get something off their chests. But what is a chestnut?

Amazingly, there are two chestnut trees in downtown Detroit, just a couple of blocks east of the towering Renaissance Center. They are the first chestnut trees I've consciously enjoyed since I was a boy. Discovering them amid the blacktop and bricks while walking on a recent morning was as surprising as finding a bus stop in a forest.

I picked up a chestnut and pricked my fingers as I freed the nut from the burr. It felt good. I rubbed the nut against my coat sleeve until it shone brightly brown, and then slipped it into my pocket.

"What are you going to do with that chestnut?" my wife asked.

"I'm going to use it to remember with," I said.

I grew up in a neighborhood full of chestnut trees in the 1930s. Every fall the ground was thick with fallen chestnuts. Kids competed to see who could collect the most bushfuls. We roasted the nuts in bonfires of leaves, just to hear them pop and crack, but never ate them. We didn't believe they were edible.

We carved holes through the chestnuts and strung them into necklaces and bracelets. A punctured chestnut could also be worn as a ring. Sometimes we threw chestnuts into the river or at the wheels of passing cars. But mostly we just shined the chestnuts, admiring the round, smooth ones, and we owned them.

I don't know when chestnut trees began to disappear, or why. I suppose they were hit by some disease. It just seemed like suddenly I went into the Army, and then to college, and then got a job and began feeding a family, and then looked around one day and noticed, my gosh, that there were no more chestnut trees, and no more chestnut jewelry.

By then, I was living in a different town, and I figured there might be something wrong with it. So I drove to my old neighborhood to see some chestnut trees. They were all gone. That was incredible. Most of the same houses were still there, lined along the same streets where we burned leaves and popped chestnuts. But I couldn't find one chestnut tree.

When I complained to a wise friend about this sudden loss of chestnut trees, he said it wasn't sudden. He pointed out that it had been 40 years since I'd worn a chestnut on my finger, and chestnut trees had been gradually disappearing for a long time, but I hadn't noticed because I was too busy paying the Master Charge bill. He said the reason I was finally missing chestnut trees, so many years after they'd mostly disappeared, was that my parents died and I was middle-aged but yearning to be a boy again, feeling good about owning a bushel of chestnuts.

I realized my friend was right, so I decided to put chestnuts out of my mind forever. But that was a few years ago, before I moved into downtown Detroit where, of all places, I found two chestnut trees and put a chestnut in my pocket and took it home to remember with.

I remembered more than carving holes in chestnuts. I also remembered a long-ago day when ketchup was a sauce. Today, according to the U.S. Agriculture Department, when poor school kids need a vegetable, they should eat ketchup, slapping the bottom of the bottle hard for extra nutrition. This is so the government can save money on feeding kids and spend it on guns and bombs.

Nostalgia is rose-colored. My chestnut days were during the Great Depression and surely not as sweet as I like to remember them today. Along with the chestnuts, I should remember the jobless men selling apples on corners. I should also remember that, since then, many nice things besides chestnut trees have disappeared while I was busy paying the Master Charge bill.

Some people think those awful Depression days are returning. If so, it's too bad there aren't as many chestnuts today as when I was young. President Reagan could ordain them apples.

comings, and other occasions. He plans on being active in the music ministry of the First Baptist church in La Salle. The La Salle-Peru Christian School, with 70 students enrolled, is a ministry of the church. Lloyd Streeter, former pastor of the Cass City First Baptist church, is pastor of the church. The deadline for payment of taxes was extended to Oct. 15, after which unpaid taxes will be turned over to the county treasurer for collection. So far, 92.6 percent of taxes, $304,930, have been paid. Dedication of right of way at no cost to the village of a 66-by-165 foot parcel owned by Wayne and Mary Rabideau was accepted. The property is north of where Hunt Street dead ends.

Now that Cass City has the right of way, it will be able to some day extend that street to connect with the streets in the Northwood subdivision. The council declined to take a position for or against the bills in the legislature that will raise gasoline taxes and license plate fees. The Road Commission had sought an endorsement, since passage of the bills means more money for it -- and also for the village -- for roads. It was announced the July 4 Festival netted $2,310 this year, the first time the Chamber of Commerce has finished in the black on the project. This was the third year for the festival. Gov. Milliken's latest budget cut, which was to be announced Wednesday, will probably cost Cass City $2,600 in its share of state income tax revenue. The council continued its discussion from last month about renting of the Cultural Center to a photography studio and to other businesses. It decided it wanted to talk to the permanent photographer in town before dispensing with the matter in October.

Judge seeks youth council

Tuscola County Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. has proposed formation of an informal youth services council to better serve youngsters in need and possibly to save taxpayers money. Kent sent a letter describing his proposal to numerous persons involved with youth, including school superintendents, sheriff and state police post commander, directors of social service agencies and departments, social and juvenile workers and district directors of the Boy and Girl Scouts, a total of 21.

The letters were sent Sept. 16. Kent said Monday he had received replies from about a third of the recipients and all were positive. He planned to wait another week for more replies, then schedule a meeting. In his letter, the county's juvenile judge said, "I suspect that each of you... and this court are all trying to deal with the problems of neglect, truancy and delinquency in our own ways and that we could be far more effective working as a team than individually. Therefore, I would like to propose that we create some sort of a Tuscola Youth Services Council. "Many times in the past, I have learned that one or more of your offices as well as this office have been involved in trying to deal with a youngster, often times without either of us being aware for a long time of the other's involvement." Kent is proposing an informal structure in which the participants would "simply identify problems concerning children and then identify the resources available to deal with those problems or search out ways of offering new services which are not presently available and which would meet the needs of those kids who now 'fall between the cracks'."

Lastly, the judge expressed the possibility that the council "may be the catalyst which could give rise to a privately funded... foundation aimed at the prevention and treatment of poor neglect and delinquency..." If enough money were available, he said, such a foundation might offer such services as tutoring, alternative education opportunities, job training, counseling and shelter or detention facilities.

HEALTH TIPS Stomach pains may indicate ills

By Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
American Medical Association

Ever have a stomach ache? Sure. Everyone gets an abdominal pain once in a while. There are hundreds of causes of abdominal pain, the American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care points out. Some are quite serious and require immediate medical care. If symptoms are severe, seek medical attention promptly. For stomach ache, never give an enema, laxative, medication, food or liquids (including water) without a doctor's order. It might make the problem worse or cause a complication. Appendicitis is an abdominal pain that presents a surgical emergency. The appendix becomes inflamed and infected and must be removed. Pain of appendicitis usually starts around the navel and later moves to the lower right part of the abdomen. Pain is not always severe. There may be fever, nausea and vomiting, diarrhea.

constipation, tenderness in the abdomen. Self diagnosis of appendicitis is impossible. The doctor's care is required, and delay in getting medical attention may cause the inflamed appendix to rupture. Of course, most stomach pains are not appendicitis. Mostly it's over eating, or eating heavy, rich, hard-to-digest foods. Or gulping chunks of food without proper chewing. Almost all children experience stomach ache at some time. Usually it is not serious if it lasts less than an hour and there are no other symptoms, such as fever, cough, headache, vomiting or diarrhea. If the pain lasts longer than an hour, or if the abdomen is tender to touch or feels rigid, seek medical help promptly. Do not give the child laxatives, enemas, medication, food or liquids. Abdominal pain in infants can be very serious and requires medical attention. If the child has diarrhea, is vomiting or has an abdominal swelling, acute emergency may exist.

Top members feted by Farm Bureau

Tuscola County Extension Agricultural Agent Don Kebler was recipient of the county award for distinguished services to agriculture at the county Farm Bureau annual meeting last Thursday.

The dinner meeting at Caro High School attracted about 150 persons.

Kebler has been agricultural agent in Tuscola county 26 years, is a Farm Bureau member and a Mason.

Sally Campbell of Fairgrove was honored as the outstanding Farm Bureau individual.

Active in Farm Bureau activities and a 4-H leader for many years, she is a member of the County Women's Committee and has helped with various Farm Bureau dinners. She and her husband, Blenford, are members of the Farm Bureau state and national affairs committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Aven are assistant discussion leader and secretary respectively of their community action group, have worked in Farm Bureau promotional booths and are members of the state and national affairs committee. Aven is Gilford township supervisor.

The Roths are involved in various activities. He is Denmark township treasurer, is an elder in his church, is a member of the board of directors of Vassar Ambulance Service and Farm Bureau community action group. Mrs. Roth is immediate past president of the St. Luke's Hospital Guild and is president of the East Central District of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries.

The distinguished young farmer couple was Gregory and Lynn Mohr of Mayville. He operates a dairy farm with his father, Mohr, 22, is discussion leader and vice-president of his community action group and his wife, 20, is its representative in the county Women's Committee. He has received several leadership and achievement awards, including the Future Farmers of America American Farmer degree.

Jack Laurie

Michigan Farm Bureau Vice-president Jack Laurie of Dodge Road, Cass City, discussed three activities of importance to Farm Bureau members.

One is the organization's Agri-Pact, with members having donated $15,000, which was given to candidates in the 1980 elections. Agriculture has been recognized as one means by which Michigan can revive its economy. To help make that a reality, Gov. Milliken sponsored an agricultural conference earlier this year with recommendations as to how agriculture can be strengthened.

"Agriculture has been recognized as a major force, which we already knew it was," Laurie said.

He urged the audience to get involved in agriculture's new role. "If we don't take the ball... we're not going to get another chance."

Lastly, he encouraged those present to stay involved in Farm Bureau and get their neighbors involved.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions approved by the members included investigating the possibility of instigating a 911 emergency telephone number in Tuscola county and support for the proposed state constitutional amendment for appointment by the governor of supreme court and court of appeals justices and members of the governing boards of Wayne State University, Michigan State University and the University of Michigan. All are presently elected.

The members supported limiting sessions of the state legislature to six months a year and reinstitution of the state meat inspection program which ended Sept. 30. Mobile homes in trailer parks should be assessed for purposes of taxation as real property, instead of paying a $3 per month fee, and schools should be required to teach a course in the basics of government finance.

National issue resolutions were that Farm Bureau should lobby for a tax credit for self-employed persons who pay their own health insurance, interest rates should be reduced, food should not be used as a weapon in foreign relations, laws should be written prohibiting broadcasting of X-rated television programs and that the Farm Bureau should be prepared to take various actions opposing the animal rights issue if it becomes necessary.

OFFICERS

Plaques were presented to retiring board members John Borek Jr., Clifford, at-large; Raymond Partlo, Akron, district 5; and Thomas A. Young, Mayville, district 2.

Elected to fill their seats were Barbara Mohr, Mayville, at large; Jeff Monte, Fairgrove, district 5 (Akron, Fairgrove, Wisner townships) and Ronald Hampshire, Kingston, district 2 (Kingston, Dayton, Fremont, Koylton and Wells townships).

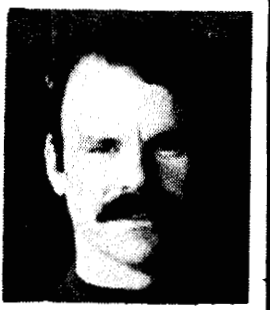

It was reported during the past year, 2,382 members were enrolled, of which 2,179 were renewals, which was short of the goal but more than in 1980.

Following the general meeting, the board of directors elected the following executive officers: David Sting, president, Unionville; Ken Hofmeister, vice-president, Gagetown; Mark Schiefer, third member, Vassar, and Loretta Kirkpatrick, secretary-treasurer. She and Sting were reelected.

PEDALING AROUND

Pick-up pick-me-ups

By Mike Ellasohn

Our eyes met as soon as she came into the crowded room.

All eyes in the room immediately focused on her. Long blonde hair, almond eyes peering from beneath her bangs. A tight dress with long slits up each side. If Bo Derek is a 10, this gal was a 14.

The crowd parted like Moses parting the Red Sea as she crossed the room, headed straight toward me. Her eyes peered from beneath her bangs as she looked up at me and said, "Most party chit-chat is superficial and boring. I'd like to get off that level and hear what you have to say about the Reagan administration."

Unfortunately, that never happened to me. Maybe it's because I don't get invited to parties. Of course, anyone throwing a party would never invite a woman like that. If a man were giving a party, he would like to keep her to himself. If the host were a woman, she wouldn't want the competition.

As a non-party goer age 36 and single, I am obviously not one to be giving advice about great pick-up lines.

I do have my doubts, though, about the effectiveness of the above mentioned line.

The person who advised using it was Ann Landers.

The letter writer was a woman who had trouble conversing with men as she was "no good at small talk." She asked Ms. Landers for "specific questions I can ask a man that will capture his interest."

If the man was not interested in politics, Ms. Landers suggested two others: "Nobody gets to where you are or accomplishes what you have by accident. Who in your life was the strongest influence? Who made the greatest impact?"

"I have three weeks vacation time coming but I don't know where to go. What is the best vacation you ever had?"

The trouble with those lines is they are too long. By the time the woman gets the first five or six words out of her mouth, the man will say, "Excuse me," and leave to go to the bathroom or something — unless she has long blonde hair and long slits in her dress.

Since most women aren't in that category (nor do most men look like Burt Reynolds or Robert Redford), shorter pick-up lines are needed.

The problem, of course, is that it is hard to judge a book by its cover. Just because a man has a beer in his hand and his stomach hangs over his belt doesn't mean he spends Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Monday (and sometimes Thursday) nights watching football on television. He might be a doctor and everyone knows doctors play golf.

So just because he has a pot belly and is holding a beer, don't automatically ask him, "How do you think the Lions will do this Sunday?" or, "Do you think Danielson has had it as a quarterback?"

Just because a man is skinny and has stripes on his shoes doesn't mean you should ask, "Do you prefer to jog in the morning or afternoon?" He may prefer playing chess or watching birds.

As for me, in case women reading this have wondered, here are some sure-fire pick-up lines. Ask them and I will follow you anywhere within reason.

"Do you think a Matt Asenmacher frame is better than a Schwinn Paramount? (That's a bicycle question.)"

"What do you think of the Avatar?" (Another bicycle question.)

"Would you like to go for a ride in my Porsche?" (Who wants to ride a bike when you can ride in a Porsche?)

Ubly native reassigned to Caro post

State police Trooper Cornelius D. Sweeney Jr. isn't coming home, but he's getting closer.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sweeney of 2331 W. Morrison Road, Ubly, has been reassigned to the Caro post, effective Oct. 11. He is presently at the Ithaca post, his first assignment since joining the state police in 1978.

Sweeney, 27, is a 1973 graduate of Ubly High School. He has degrees in law enforcement from Delta College and Ferris State college. He did construction work and was a policeman in Pigeon before becoming a trooper.

He and his wife, Kathleen, have three children, Matthew, 2, Cornelius III, 1, and Sarah, 1 week. They are presently looking for a house in the Caro area.

Cass City blood drive Wednesday

Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary is sponsoring a Red Cross blood drive Wednesday, Oct. 7, from 1-7 p.m. in the St. Pancratius Catholic church hall.

The Red Cross is short on positive blood. Also, due to donors having colds and the flu, blood donations are down. New donors are needed.

Anyone wanting to donate may contact Jane Mitchell, RN, at Hills and Dales, 872-2121, for an appointment or show up at the hall.

The U.S. exports more farm products than anyone else in the world. The production of one cropland acre in three goes overseas.

Heavy rainfall damages roads

The Cass City area was apparently spared from heavy damage to roads from the heavy rains that fell late Saturday night and early Sunday.

Tuscola County Road Commission Clerk Jim Miklovic said crews fixed probably 15-20 washouts and other spots Sunday, of which most were in the northwest quarter of the county.

Some roads were washed out completely, with the worst damage occurring to Kirk Road between Dixon and Van Geisen Roads, south of Fairgrove.

The rushing water proved too much for a culvert underneath Kirk to handle and the result was a section of the blacktop road was washed out completely, leaving in its place an 8-9 foot deep ditch.

There were some other places where blacktop pavement was washed away almost to the center line.

Miklovic, who lives west of Caro, said his rain gauge recorded 2.8 inches of rain during the night. Some farmers in Juniata township (northeast of Vassar) told him they recorded 4 inches. The rain started falling about 10:30 p.m. and fell heavily until 3-3:30 Sunday.

The damage closest to Cass City that Miklovic knew of Monday was on Legg Road, between Kingston and Wilmot. The rushing water had washed away some of the earth around a bridge abutment. It was repaired Sunday.

The Road Commission crews had all roads passable by Sunday evening. Washed out paved roads, Miklovic said, will be allowed to settle for a few weeks where fill was applied, then cold patch asphalt will be applied. If the money is available, the repaired stretches will probably be repaved next year.

New books at the library

THE HORSEMAN'S WORD by Georgess McHargue (fiction). Leigh Powers discovers that part of growing up is becoming involved with others. Self-reliant and serious, with her whole life programmed around horses, Leigh travels to Scotland to take over her uncle's pony business after he becomes ill. The wild countryside and slow pace offer little to amuse her until she meets seemingly carefree Rob Tinto, and the two concoct a scheme to learn the secret word of the all-male society (with evil overtones) over which Rob's vicious uncle presides.

CUJO by Stephen King (fiction). When you're confronted with a rabid St. Bernard who may or may not be a reincarnated mass murderer returned to terrorize a Maine village, you can be pretty sure you're in the world of Stephen King. Fueled by a grisly imagination, the author aims to further gross out his fans with description after horrific description and with unrelenting details of a sinister, brutal force run amok.

DAISY, DAISY by Christian Miller (non-fiction). A lively, entertaining vision of the U.S. is provided by a British grandmother who rode her bike across the continent. From Yorktown, Virginia, to Portland, Oregon, Miller saw facets of America many U.S. travelers would have missed. Her amusing, upbeat tales of the disparate individuals who offered her lodging, rides, and advice (most often "you're crazy") are laced with interesting remarks on scenic views (Old Faithful, Williamsburg, St. Louis arch) and disasters (tornadoes, floods, hailstorms). A remarkable adventure is charmingly relayed.

Flu shots Tuesday at hospital

The Tuscola County Health Department is sponsoring free flu immunization clinics.

The first will be Tuesday at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The others will be Oct. 16 at the Golden Years Senior Center, 265 W. Snover Road, Mayville, and Oct. 23 at the Nazarene church, corner of Purdy and Dixon Roads, Caro. Hours at each will be 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

The flu vaccine this year will consist of inactivated trivalent preparations to protect against Influenza A-Brazil, A-Bangkok and B-Singapore.

Recommendations from the Center for Disease Control are that persons over age 65 plus persons who are at risk of serious consequences from the flu should receive flu vaccine.

High risk conditions for persons under 65 are heart disease, chronic disorders which affect pulmonary functions, such as asthma, cystic fibrosis or orthopedic disorders which impair ventilation, kidney disease, diabetes or other diseases which increase susceptibility to infection, or severe anemia.

Persons who are pregnant and have a "high risk" condition should consult their physician about the need for vaccine.

Agnes Milligan doing “just as I please” after 52-year career

After 52 years of working, Agnes Milligan has decided to take it easy.

Miss Milligan, 72, retired Aug. 31 after working as a bookkeeper at Erla's since September, 1964.

A retirement party attended by employers and employees was held in her honor Sept. 9 at Forbidden City restaurant in Saginaw.

Miss Milligan, who lives on Milligan Road, on the farm where she grew up, first worked seven years at Kenney's Creamery, a dairy store and grocery located in what is now the east end of the Ben Franklin store.

Then came 30 years at Townsend's Variety Store, now the location of Richard's TV, Appliance and Furniture, followed by her career at Erla's.

Asked why she didn't retire earlier, she said she enjoyed working. "Any place I worked, I enjoyed."

Miss Milligan is a member of the board of elders and recording treasurer at the First Presbyterian church and a Zonta Club member.

Now that she has retired, she plans to do "just as I please."

She has been to England and Scotland four times -- her parents came to this country from Scotland -- and she would like to go there again and to the European continent.

"I like to travel and just be home," she said.

RETIREE -- Agnes Milligan at her retirement party. The toy skunk was one of the gifts she received.

Letter to the Editor

No pity needed for Owen-Gage

Dear Mike:

This is in response to your editorial, "Owen-Gage's Future," in last week's paper.

The thrust of your article dealt on the aspects of our fine school district in a rather condescending nature. Poor little Owen-Gage, they're going down the tube! Is that it? Well, let me tell you that our proud school does not need pity nor do we want it.

Pity instead the welfare schools who depend so heavily upon decreasing State money. As you pointed out in your article in the same issue, the state only gave us $7,389 out of a budget of $968,290, or less than one percent of our total revenue. They can't cut us any further.

Pity the school that has so little communication with its constituency that they must resort to threats in order to pass millage. Sometimes it backfires, doesn't it?

Sure, our millage will be the highest in the area primarily because we can depend upon our constituents.

uency to pass it. We also pay enormous attorney fees because our district-wide votes to keep Owen-Gage intact have been overruled by the State Board of Education. The staff endures payless paydays because our tax base has been taken by surrounding districts.

Our obituary has been written time and time again over the last few years, Mike. However, we will continue to exist and we will not cut programs, sports, band, or make our little children walk a quarter or half mile during the winter. Our people have too much pride to allow it.

My prediction is that Owen-Gage will continue to thrive and we will watch the districts around us, who have not treated their parents and students as individuals, struggle to pass millage for even a skeletal program.

So, don't pity us, Mike. We will do just fine and watch the pendulum swing.

Sincerely,

Ronald G. Erickson,
Superintendent Owen-
dale-Gagetown Area

Tune given life in prison for murder

Randy Lee Tune was sentenced Monday to prison "for the rest of his natural life" by Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

A Circuit Court jury Sept. 3 found Tune guilty of the first degree murder June 4, 1980, of Tommie Lee Smith of Saginaw, while the latter was fishing in the Quanicasssee area.

When asked by the judge if he had anything to say, Tune, 23, of Buena Vista township, near Saginaw, said, "I'm not guilty."

In the first step of the appeal process, his attorney's motion for a new trial will be heard before Joslyn Monday. The attorney is Patrick Brady of Bay City, who represented the defendant at the seven-day trial.

A friend of Tune's family for 30 years, Louise Henderson of Bay City, has started a drive to raise funds for his appeal. She estimates at least $5,000 is needed.

Barring an overturning of the conviction on appeal, the only way Tune can get out of prison while he is still alive is if the governor commutes his sentence.

He still received credit, however, for the 160 days he served in the county jail since his arrest in April and the judge specified under no circumstances he is to be released without notification to the court. A life sentence for first degree murder is mandatory under state law.

Robert L. Partlo, 30, of Rick Road, Gagetown, was placed on three years' probation for delivery of marijuana Oct. 8, 1980, in Caro. A jury found him guilty of the charge Aug. 5.

He was also sentenced to 45 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served, fined $100 and assessed $250 court costs.

Patrick C. Hagen, 26, of 1612 E. Caro Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted delivery of marijuana April 4 in Almer township.

His plea was accepted. A sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

Thomas D. Chapman Jr., 18, of 9933 Center Street, Reese, was placed on three years' probation for attempted delivery of marijuana March 9 in Denmark township. He pleaded guilty to the charge July 28.

He was also sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served and serving of 20 days suspended to the end of his probation. He was fined $200 and assessed $150 court costs.

William M. Parrent, 22, of 2809 S. Quanicasssee Road, Reese, was placed on three years' probation for delivery of marijuana Jan. 17 in Reese. A jury found him guilty of the charge July 2. He was also sentenced to 100 days in the county jail, with credit given for 90 days served, fined $400 and assessed $500 court costs.

OTHER CASES

Charles R. Jones, 33, of 1651 E. Dayton Road, Caro, pleaded no contest Monday to writing of three non-sufficient fund checks March 14, drawn on People's State Bank of Caro. The checks totaled $251.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

William K. Duprey, 19, of Pontiac, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering Kitchen's Heating in Koylton township May 16.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

The judge found Kenneth Causey, 18, of Cottage 18, Caro Regional Center, competent to stand trial on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon (a knife) without intent to commit great bodily harm and assault with intent to commit criminal sexual conduct. The supposed incident occurred May 23 at the Regional Center.

Joslyn's ruling followed an examination of the defendant conducted by a private psychologist. He granted a defense motion to remand the case to district court for preliminary examination. Bond was continued.

John A. Brock, 23, of 5350 Lange Road, Sebawaing, pleaded no contest last Thursday to resisting and obstructing a police officer and driving under the influence of liquor.

The pleas were in connection with an incident Sept. 4 involving a Unionville police officer.

His pleas were accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

JUDGE KNOBLOCK

Brian S. Huizar, 21, of 4195 Elmwood Road, Akron, was sentenced Friday by Huron County Circuit Judge M. Richard Knoblock to six months in the county jail in Caro with credit given for 34 days served.

Huizar pleaded guilty Aug. 19 to conspiracy to receive and conceal stolen property in connection with possession of two stolen snow tires Jan. 27, 1978, in Akron.

Huizar had pleaded guilty once before but then appealed on the grounds he did not understand the implications of his plea. The appeals court ruled his case should be sent back to circuit court for a new trial and that he should be allowed to withdraw his guilty plea.

After receiving a new explanation, he decided to plead guilty.

Knoblock heard the case, Joslyn having disqualified himself as he was prosecutor when the case first came up.

Woman charged in traffic death

A Caseville woman has been charged with negligent homicide in connection with a March 24 traffic accident in which a Gagetown man was killed.

Helen Kraft, 69, was expected to be arraigned in district court in Bad Axe this week. The warrant charging her was authorized by Prosecutor Karl Kraus Monday.

Killed was Jeffrey M. Davidson, 31, who was a passenger in a car driven by Michael M. Particka, 30, of Owendale.

The accident took place on Caseville Road, about 2½ miles south of Pigeon, when her southbound car collided with the northbound Particka auto. The warrant charges her with having operated her car in a negligent manner by driving left of the centerline and driving under the influence of liquor.

Argyle senior citizens meals start Monday

A meal program for senior citizens in the Argyle area begins Monday in the St. Joseph Catholic church parish hall in that community.

Meals will be served Mondays and Wednesdays at noon. Persons planning to attend should come about 11:30.

The program is sponsored by the Thumb Area Commission on Aging and is being subsidized out of the .2 mill levied in Sanilac county for senior citizen activities.

There will be activities planned in addition to serving of the meals.

Participants must be at least 60 or if married, at least one spouse must be that age. Suggested donation per meal is 75 cents. Guests who do not meet the age requirement must pay the full cost of $2.70.

Reservations must be made by 8:30 a.m. the day of the meal by calling meal site manager Marjorie Wheeler, (313) 672-9636, or 658-8667. After the first time, it will be possible to make reservations at the meal site for the next meal.

Commission on Aging Nutrition Director Joan Andrakowicz is expecting about 30 persons will take advantage of the meal program. The hot lunches will be prepared at the meal site in Harbor Beach and then brought to Argyle, as that is cheaper than hiring someone to prepare them at Argyle.

Deer-car accidents jump as bow hunting season nears

The archery deer hunting season starts Thursday, but a lot of deer didn't live to become hunters' targets as car-deer accidents were numerous in the area during the past several days. Not all the deer died in the collisions.

The following such accidents were reported, investigated by Tuscola sheriff's deputies unless otherwise noted:

Robert E. Barkus, 48, of Fostoria, while southbound on Hurds Corner Road, north of E. Dayton Road, at 10 p.m. Monday. Caro state police investigated.

Florence E. Karr, 63, of 5132 Penny Road, Cass City, while northbound on Dodge Road, north of Hoppe Road, at 8 p.m. Monday.

Jacque Renee Zawilinski, 31, of 4470 Krapf Road, Cass City, while westbound on M-81, near Schwegler Road, at 4:25 p.m. Monday. After the impact, she lost control of her car and it went into the south ditch.

Lawrence P. Harper, 40, of 4205 Little Road, Cass City, while eastbound on Elmwood Road, east of Dodge Road, at 6:55 a.m. Monday.

Dale A. Jaynes, 37, of Marlette, at 2:35 a.m. last Thursday while westbound on M-46, west of Phillips Road.

Luis J. Salas, 27, of 4266

Oak Street, Cass City, at 10:30 p.m. Sept. 21, while southbound on Doerr Road, north of Elmwood Road. Cass City police investigated.

Wayne D. Robinson, 28, of Caro, while eastbound on Riley Road, east of Pierce Road, at 9:40 p.m. Sept. 20.

Randall P. Adamczyk, 22, of 2275 Adamczyk Road, Kingston, while southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Rossman Road, at 7:02 a.m. Sept. 18.

DRIVERS CITED

Joseph G. Grouzard, 40, of Glenwood Drive, Caro, was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicants and open intoxicants in a motor vehicle after a 5:30 p.m. accident Monday.

Cass City police reported he was westbound on Main Street when his car went over the north side curb and hit a utility pole at the Weaver Street corner.

He refused medical treatment for a cut on his nose and was taken to the county jail in Caro. He was later released after posting $100 bond, with arraignment before District Judge Richard F. Kern scheduled Oct. 13.

Gloria J. Powell, 36, of 5506 E. Deckerville Road, Deford, was ticketed by Caro state police on a charge of driving on the wrong side of the road following a 3:10 p.m. accident Monday.

A passenger in her car, her daughter, Jessica, 3, received minor injuries but didn't require hospital treatment.

Troopers reported the Powell auto was eastbound on Shabbona Road, west of Dodge Road, went over into the other lane and collided with a westbound auto.

The driver of the other car, Betty L. Billings, 50, of 4675 Shabbona Road, Cass City, was ticketed on a charge of no proof of registration.

Randall J. Hicks, 18, of 4010 Lamton Road, Decker, was ticketed on charges of failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead and minor in possession of alcoholic beverages after an 8:15 p.m. accident Friday.

Cass City police reported he was eastbound on Rose Street, west of Ale Street, and was pulling off the traveled portion of the road in order to park. In doing so, he started to pass another car, which was on his left side, and hit it in the right rear.

The other driver involved was Kevin J. Laursen, 16, of Pigeon.

Julia Lee Larkin, 22, of 3140 E. Deckerville Road, Cass City, sought her own treatment after an accident at 12:30 a.m. Friday.

Caro state police cited her on charges of violation of the basic speed law and failure to report a personal injury accident in connection with the mishap.

They reported she was northbound on Phillips Road, north of Riley Road, and went off the west side of the road. Her car went into a ditch and rolled over 1 1/4 times, landing on its side.

Ricky Lee Hartwick, 22, of Cass City, was ticketed by village police on a charge of failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead following a 10:03 p.m. accident last Thursday.

Officers reported he was turning right from eastbound Main Street onto West Street when his power steering malfunctioned. The vehicle went wide and collided with a northbound car halted at the stop sign.

Driver of the other car involved was Rebecca L. Tait, 23, of Gilford Road, Caro.

Richard E. Seidler, 23, of 4002 S. Plain Road, Kingston, sought treatment from a physician following a 5:45 a.m. accident Sept. 18.

Deputies reported he was westbound on Millington Road in Arbela township when his car went off the west side of the road and struck a tree. He told officers he apparently fell asleep.

Seidler was ticketed on a charge of careless driving.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

A Cass City police car suffered a damaged grill in an accident at 6:56 p.m. last Thursday.

Sheriff's deputies reported officer Phil Klaus parked behind the car of John D. Zmierski, 18, of 6910 Greenland Road, Cass City, in the football field parking lot in order to question him regarding a police matter.

Zmierski didn't look backwards, put his car in reverse and backed into the police car.

A load of beans was spilled in a mishap at 9:15 p.m. Thursday.

Charles M. Stevenson Jr., 24, of 4774 Lamton Road, Cass City, told deputies he was following a combine westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road, east of Remington Road.

He said he didn't realize his truck was going off the pavement until it was too late. Due to the soft shoulder, it went into the ditch and rolled over onto its side, spilling its cargo.

TIGHT SQUEEZE -- Some branches had to be trimmed in or from trees on Houghton Street in order to move the former First Baptist church parsonage to its new home on Kelly Road. The new owners are Mr. and Mrs. Rick Sugden. Anthes Brothers of Gagetown did the moving.

Two thefts reported to area police departments

A $1,200 motorcycle was stolen from a Deford area home Saturday night, but was later recovered.

Scott E. Beutler of 6510 Deckerville Road told sheriff's deputies it was stolen at 10 p.m. He said he got in his car and spotted a suspicious vehicle which he had seen go by his house before. He gave chase westbound on Deckerville through Deford at high speed.

Beutler saw it go south on Phillips Road and then east on Gilford before losing sight of it.

The motorcycle was later found in a corn field within a mile or two of his home, but no further information was available.

Tuscola deputies and Department of Natural Resources officers were called to assist Sanilac county deputies in Snover early Sunday.

A sheriff's department spokesman in Sandusky said about 300 kids were at a party in and around a house in Snover but were dispersed without trouble. No arrests were made. The call for assistance was made at 1:14 a.m.

Cass City police were also called but were told their help wasn't needed while on the way on M-53.

Robert E. Eiber, an employee of a contractor at the Cass City wastewater treatment plant project, told Cass City police Monday morning that a water pump belonging to his employer was stolen from a large tank by cutting an electrical cable and hose. It was taken some time after 9 p.m. Sunday.

Village police took David Teenier, 31, of Saginaw, into custody on a charge of driving with license suspended after stopping his car on M-81, east of Koepfgen Road, because of a loud muffler and no light over his license plate. The arrest was made at 10:35 p.m. Monday.

As of Tuesday afternoon, he was still in the county jail in lieu of posting 10 percent of a $3,000 bond. Arraignment before District Judge Richard F. Kern is scheduled Oct. 5 if he doesn't post bond; Oct. 13 if he does.

Hugh D. Bulla of 2004 E. Deckerville Road, Ellington township, reported to sheriff's deputies that at 12:30 a.m. Sept. 22, someone smashed the windshield of his car, parked in his driveway, by throwing a piece of cement block at it. Damage was over $100.

John Cabala of Vassar told Caro state police that between 9 and 10:25 p.m. Saturday, someone made two cuts in his spare tire, apparently with a knife, while his van was parked at the auction house in Deford.

The spare was mounted on the rear of the vehicle. Two cuts were also made in the vinyl cover over the tire. Damage was $60.

Cass City faces Caro

Lakers top Hawks in battle for loop lead

The Cass City Red Hawks suffered their first defeat of the year Friday, bowing to the Lakers, 22-0, and things don't promise to get any easier this Friday at Caro.

The Caro Tigers, undefeated in the league and a pre-season favorite to take it all, will be favored over the Hawks.

But over the years that hasn't meant much when Caro meets Cass City. Upsets have been the rule rather than the exception between the two schools.

Although last Friday's game played in a light rain most of the night was very physical, the Hawks escaped with only minor cuts and bruises.

The Lakers are big and play a power football game. Besides sporting a hefty line the Green and White backs are also big and mobile.

Many observers feel that the Lakers could have the most talent on the Thumb B Association this season, although that probably won't be decided until the Lakers meet Caro.

Neither Caro nor Lakers is so strong that an upset couldn't be in the making along the way for each school.

But it wasn't a night for upsets last Friday. Cass City held the Green Machine in check for the first quarter with a determined stand after the Lakers had moved for a first down on the Hawk 10.

But it was only stemming what proved to be an irreversible tide. Early in the second quarter another Laker drive stalled on Cass City's 22-yard line when Dave Osentoski made a hard tackle when the Lakers had a fourth down with 2 yards to go.

Because Cass City's offense was unable to move the ball, the defense was on the field most of the time and the Lakers finally moved into pay dirt late in the period.

The drive started on the Laker 39 and the visitors picked up three straight first downs with power football to move to the Cass City 20.

A pass to Jim Weidman picked up 14 and a first on the Hawk five. From there Brad King bulled through the center of the line for the score. The kick was good.

Moments before the half ended the Lakers recovered a Cass City fumble on the Cass City 12-yard line and powered to the five. A last play before the half was stopped by Cass City on the two.

The second quarter marker proved to be enough for the win but the Lakers added two more in the last half anyway.

Scott Kuhl capped a drive with a run of 22 yards in the third period. The extra points play worked and the Lakers were in the lead, 15-0.

The final score of the game came in the last quarter when Brad Farver found Weidman on a 20-yard pass play. The extra point kick was good.

Osentoski led the team in tackles with 13 including five solo efforts. Joe Decker played a strong defensive game with 11 tackles, five unassisted.

Darryl Hoag was the leading Cass City rusher with 67 yards in seven tries. King led the Lakers with 163 yards rushing.

DARRYL HOAG slipped away for a good gain on this play in the first quarter, one of the few times that the Cass City offense was able to move the ball against the Lakers last Friday.

O-G girls still seeking first cage win of year

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team is still having its trouble. It lost its sixth straight game Tuesday night to Peck, 43-27.

Joan Mosack was high scorer for the Bulldogs with eight points. The team shot 12 of 61 from the floor, 20 percent, and made three of 13 free throws, 23 percent. Lori Jo Wissner grabbed 18 rebounds.

The visiting Pirates connected on 18 of 77 shots from the floor, 23 percent, and seven of 17 free throws, 41 percent. Top scorer was Coleen Foley with nine points.

The Owen-Gage junior varsity won its second game of the season, 25-20.

Owen-Gage plays Thursday at Akron-Fairgrove and then doesn't play again until Oct. 13.

The visiting Warriors opened up a 17-point lead by the end of the first quarter, 23-6, then cruised to an easy victory over Owen-Gage last Thursday, 48-36.

In double figures for the Bulldogs were Julie Enderle with 12 and Joan Mosack with 10. The latter collected 14 rebounds. Karla Kretschmer grabbed 10. The team connected on 16 of 65 field goal attempts, 25 percent, and four points out of 14 tosses from the charity line, 29 percent.

North Huron, led by Mary Kennedy with 14 points and Barb Irwin with 11, was 22 of 71 from the floor, 31 percent, and four of 10 from the free throw line.

The Warriors won the junior varsity game, 24-14.

The rotary washing machine was patented long before such machines were electric. Hamilton Erastus Smith gained a patent for a device which used a hand crank, causing a perforated cylinder within a wooden shell to revolve, turning and washing clothes at the same time.

A sad homecoming

Kinde crushes O-G in North Central grid tilt

Homecoming at Owen-Gage Friday night was a gloomy one for the Bulldogs as they were overwhelmed by North Huron, 40-8.

Coach Arnie Besonen's squad is hoping for better things this coming Friday when they journey to Kingston, which hasn't won a game since 1979. The Cardinals were embarrassed by Peck Saturday, 53-0.

Owen-Gage was handicapped in the drizzle against North Huron by the loss of some key players to injuries prior to the game or the flu, but the main problem, according to line coach Phil Gray, was, "We didn't play well."

The team had trouble stopping fullback Wally Baranski, who carried the ball 26 times for 107 yards, and tailback Al Drake, who advanced 105 yards in 21 carries.

The 6-foot, 190-pound Baranski opened the scoring on a 28 yard run in the first quarter. The kick attempt for the extra point was blocked.

The roof fell in for Owen-Gage in the second quarter, when the Warriors picked up 20 points, starting with a 2-yard run by Baranski. The kick attempt was blocked.

Bob Heinrich added six more on a 32 yard pass from Drake. The PAT kick was wide.

Baranski gained his third TD after he intercepted Stan Andrakowicz's pass and scampered 16 yards to the goal line. Drake then ran with the ball for two more points.

A blocked punt by Nick Swiastyn about a half-minute into the fourth quarter set up the Bulldogs' lone touchdown, with Lee Gettel scoring on a 42-yard run. Andrakowicz passed to Dan Glidden for two more points.

Baranski scored his fourth and final touchdown for the night on a one-yard run. The point after kick attempt was blocked.

Drake added the final eight points on an eight yard run and then running the ball in for the PAT.

North Huron gained 232 yards in 59 carries. In the air, it collected only 33 yards on two completions of nine attempts. The team made 12 first downs, fumbled twice and was penalized six times for 60 yards.

The Bulldogs had a tough night against the Warrior defense, gaining only 118 yards in 24 carries. Andrakowicz passed for 66 yards on eight completions of 22 attempts, but had four passes intercepted. Gettel was the top ground gainer with 97 yards in 10 carries.

The Bulldogs fumbled twice and were penalized eight times for 60 yards.

Defensive standouts for the home team were Swias-tyn, with nine tackles, two blocked points after touch-down kicks and the blocked punt, and Gary Erickson with 11 tackles.

Baranski made six tackles and two interceptions. Dino Ignati had six tackles.

LEE GETTEL scored Owen-Gage's lone touchdown Friday night on this 42 yard run in the fourth quarter. Trying to stop him is North Huron's Randy Miller. The touchdown came with 11:16 remaining.

All Saver Certificate

You will be hearing a lot about this - a new one-year savings program that all banks will be offering commencing October 1st.

An investment for the depositor which pays non-taxable interest.

The rate changes on a monthly basis, but for October 1st, 2nd and 3rd it will be 12.61 per cent per annum. On October 4th it will change. (On October 2nd we will know what the rate will be on October 4th.)

Basically, the only thing you have to determine is your tax bracket.

For October 1st, 2nd and 3rd

If you are in a 25% tax bracket, you would have to invest so as to earn 16.8% of taxable interest to equal 12.61% of non-taxable interest.

If you are in a 29% tax bracket, you would have to invest so as to earn 17.7% of taxable interest to equal 12.61% of non-taxable interest.

25%	—	16.8%	39%	—	20.7%
29%	—	17.7%	44%	—	22.5%
33%	—	18.8%	49%	—	24.7%

Naturally, there are other considerations:

- Early withdrawal penalty,
- Conversion of 6-month money market certificate to the All Saver Certificate without penalty,
- Exemption is for a total of $1,000.00 for an individual or $2,000.00 for a married couple filing jointly (not per year),
- All Saver Certificates are to cease being offered as of December 31, 1982,
- Exemption applies to both Federal and State income taxes,
- All Saver Certificates are insured the same as any deposit.

Flames leaped through air like a bouncing ball

By Emma Ackerman
Part V of a series

Everywhere the heat was intense and the air heavily charged with gases, causing the flames to sometimes leap through the air, then settle to the earth, leaving unburned areas here and there.

One Huron county resident described the freakish condition eastward from Bad Axe, "The onrushing flames would leap high into the air, descend to the ground like a bouncing ball, burn everything before them, and then rise for another leap." Another writer also called attention to this strange condition in his article. He noted that as the fire built up in intensity, it created its own drafts that were more vicious and tricky than the wind itself. In reality, it was a fiery storm.

The intensity of the wind and the speed with which the flames traveled could best be described as tornado-like. Trees were uprooted, roofs of buildings flew through the air, people were lifted off their feet and hurled to the ground again. Sgt. William O. Bailey in his report stated that, "Large boulders were rolled along the ground as if they were pebbles." Flaming balls of punk rained out of the blackened sky into villages and fields, setting new fires on every side.

One woman rushed her children to a well already surrounded by several people. She covered them with loose dirt, then poured water over them as well as over herself. After the danger had passed, her dress was pock-marked with holes, as sparks showered over them.

The areas along the Saginaw Bay were untouched by the fire as the cool winds swept in from the water toward the hot air on shore. On the western shore of Lake Huron, cinders falling from the spark-loaded atmosphere, caused the water to become a lye solution, making it necessary to go down several feet under the surface to get drinking water. Sailors on the lake, seven miles out, reported that they felt the heat of the fires on their faces and that navigation was made difficult by the intense smoke.

FOR MANY, MANY years the Cass City State Bank and the Pinney State Bank have been co-sponsors of the dinner for Elkland-Novesta United Way volunteers. Presented at the kick-off dinner Tuesday evening by President Jon Fahrner was the organization's award for outstanding service to bank representatives Fred Pinney, left, and Art Randall, right.

UNITED WAY PRESIDENT Jon Fahrner explains the fine points of the annual drive to the volunteers at the kick-off dinner. About 40 persons attended.

Stony Creek dispute resolved

Both sides are claiming victory in a recent board of review decision in Sanilac county regarding payment of $30,827 for the Stony Creek Drain cleaning project in Evergreen and Lamotte townships.

At issue was Drain Commissioner Stuart Armstead's assessment against the county of that amount. The county Board of Commissioners appealed to the review board.

The three-member board ruled that the county had to pay right-of-way and excavation costs for setback of the drain along Deckerville Road, $17,900, plus 38.52 percent of a $12,926 bill ($4,979) paid to the contractor who had to wait until the lawsuit involving the project was settled in January, 1980, before he could start work.

Armstead claimed the board of review's decision was a victory for the property owners, since the county will be picking up most of the disputed tab. Sandusky attorney Donald Teeple, who represented the county board, claimed the opposite, that the commissioners won since the review board ruled the county wasn't responsible for the full amount Armstead had assessed against it. "Our contention was we should have to pay something but not 100 percent."

Both could appeal the decision to circuit court. Both said they won't.

Clearing of the approximately eight miles of the Stony Creek Drain and its branches, mostly in Evergreen township, took place in 1980 at an approximate cost of $200,000.

The county's 38.52 percent share for the payment to the contractor for the delay is the same percentage as Armstead's 1978 apportionment of costs for the project. The rest of the $12,926, Armstead explained, will also be the same percentages as originally assessed: property owners, 38.92 percent; Evergreen township, 19.75; Lamotte, 2.2, and state Department of Transportation for benefits to roads, .61.

Property owners who benefited from the drain cleaning project will be billed for the new assessment on their December tax bills. Their December, 1980, tax bills contained the last of three annual assessments for the original cost of the project.

THE LAWSUIT THAT caused the delay -- the project originally would have been completed in 1979 -- was filed by the county Road Commission against Armstead. It claimed all drains had to be set back 26 feet when running parallel to roads.

Sanilac Circuit Judge Allen E. Keyes ruled it had to be set back that distance for three-quarters of a mile along Deckerville, east of Hoadley Road, but elsewhere only had to be set back 16½ feet, which Armstead wanted.

Teeple claimed Armstead could have saved the almost $13,000 had he obtained written permission of the Road Commission, as required by state law, before proceeding.

Armstead claimed the Road Commission would have filed suit anyway since it also wanted the 26-foot setback along non-primary roads. Armstead won on that issue.

His motivation in wanting to keep the drain in its original location along Deckerville was to save money, he said, plus the drain had been there since 1902. Deckerville didn't become a primary road until 1960.

THE RESULT OF HAVING to move the drain back was the $17,901 the review board said the county had to pay for the additional right-of-way and excavation costs.

Armstead claimed the ruling upheld his position. "The only item the review board disagreed with was the cost of the delay, but it agreed 100 percent on the cost to set the ditch back."

Teeple responded that the review board had said in its ruling that Armstead's assessments in the Stony Creek case were "in manifest error and inequality" and that it had no power to lower assessments, only to switch assessed amounts from one category to another.

Taking Stock

Columnist Jack Anderson, in one of his so-called exposes, recently revealed that banks charge less than the prime rate to some customers.

An evil thing, charged the crusading journalist.

"After spending half my adult years around a bank as a director and later as a senior officer I am as quick as anyone to criticize the institutions."

I also like to defend them when they are maligned unfairly.

The dictionary defines the "prime rate" as "the most favorable rate of interest available on loans from banks."

Not so, Mr. Webster.

Most loans made by a bank are lower than prime. At this writing "the prime" is around 19 percent. Mortgage loans are made around 15 percent. New car loans, translated into simple interest rates (not the add-on type) are about 16 percent.

Certainly these categories are not for the fat cats. Just ordinary people get mortgage money and car loans.

Jack Anderson overlooks these loans because it would spoil his story.

What, then, does the prime rate apply to -- and does it mean anything?

Actually it is used as a reference point for certain commercial loans, usually advance commitments. A developer wants to put up some buildings. He has to get a promise of construction money to finance the buildings. When he "takes down" the money, as the project goes along, interest rates may have changed a lot. So the rate is pegged to the prime, say prime plus 3 percent.

It's used again as a reference point for straight commercial loans to businesses. A merchant wants to borrow to stock up with goods for the season. His buying for winter is done in mid-summer, but the goods don't arrive until fall. He wants to know what money will cost him when the invoices come in.

The banker quotes him "prime," "one under prime," "one over prime," and the figure depends on the customer. Does he keep a good-sized balance in the bank? Is he a long-time customer with a good record for paying promptly? Does he have a going business that is making money? Is he a customer in other departments of the bank, such as the trust department? What is his net worth? How long has he lived here? And so on and so on.

If your answers were favorable to all these questions, wouldn't you expect a little better treatment? It adds up to the fact that you're a better risk.

When bonds are sold they are graded as to quality -- AAA, AA, A, BBB, and so on. The higher quality ones get better rates.

When Boca Raton, for example, comes to the public for a loan (commonly called a bond issue) it pays less interest than Deerfield Beach, an adjoining town, because it is regarded as a better credit risk. In the other direction, the state of North Carolina, with a AA bond rating, would pay still less interest. This isn't evil. It's a fact of the credit markets.

Persons like Anderson who like to hop on banks should remember that this is a fiercely competitive business. The product, money, is identical, so there are only two things left to brag about -- rates, and service. And mostly a customer just wants money, without the frills. And he goes where it's cheapest.

Damage $1,000 in house fire

Damage was estimated at $1,000 in a house fire last Wednesday afternoon in Elmwood township.

Damaged was the Pete Venema home on Hurd Corner Road, south of Cass City Road.

Elmwood-Gagetown fireman Fred Sullivan said no ashes had been removed from the fireplace earlier in the day and placed in a container outside the home.

The wind stirred up the ashes, some of which were still hot, and started the vinyl siding of the home burning.

A motorist driving by Floyd Soldan, spotted the fire. A neighbor, Ken Martin and some others using a garden hose had most of the fire out by the time firemen arrived.

Firemen extinguished the fire which was still burning in the eaves and ventilated the home to exhaust the smoke.

The siding, window molding and sheeting underneath were damaged and the roof singed, Sullivan said.

American farmers now produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than their fathers did.
