

Crawford guilty plea rejected

Eighty-three-year-old John A. Crawford may stand trial on a charge of second degree murder, following rejection Monday by Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn of his plea to the lesser charge of manslaughter.

Crawford is charged with second degree murder in connection with the Sept. 11 shooting death outside his Cartwright Road, Kingston, home of Samuel W. Ozorowicz.

The defendant's guilty plea Monday was in a plea bargain with the prosecution, in exchange for which the murder charge and one of possession of a firearm in commission of a felony would have been dropped.

A manslaughter conviction meant he could have received a sentence ranging from probation to 15 years in prison. A second degree murder sentence could range from one year in prison, plus two years for the firearm charge, to life.

The manslaughter charge read: "... did wound, maim or injure Samuel W. Ozorowicz by the discharge of a firearm... pointed or aimed intentionally, but without malice at said person, thereby causing his death."

Joslyn explained Tuesday he rejected Crawford's plea because he "factually pleaded to something that is not manslaughter."

The defendant had said in court Monday that his shotgun went off accidentally the first time when it was bumped by the swinging screen door as it went through the doorway. He said he fired it two more times in the air as Ozorowicz and the driver of the car, David Goff, were leaving.

Prosecutor Artis Noel didn't dispute the judge's decision, stating the "factual basis for that plea was not made."

He explained he was willing to accept the lesser plea because his understanding of the facts in the case -- that the gun was aimed at the car -- met the definition of manslaughter.

He also said Crawford's age was taken into consideration in negotiating the now cancelled plea bargain agreement with Crawford's attorney, plus avoiding a trial would save taxpayers money.

Unless there is a new development, Noel said Crawford will be tried on the original charge.

The defendant has been free on $25,000 surety bond since Sept. 22.

Working poor, students, vets among Reagan budget losers

By Mike Eliasohn

Uncle Sam stopped being all things to all people last Thursday.

That day was the start of the new fiscal year and the beginning of the new era in Washington. Although President Reagan has been in office since January, the government was still operating under a budget enacted by President Carter and a liberal Congress.

The new fiscal year is the first one under Reagan's philosophy, which Congress has approved, that the federal government should do less and its citizens more.

It will mean changes for many persons. The federal government won't be as generous in helping finance college educations. Veterans benefits have been reduced.

Fewer persons will qualify for welfare and food stamps, but that may backfire as the new eligibility rules reduce the incentive for recipients to earn some income on their own.

WELFARE

Those likely to lose Aid to Families with Dependent

Children (AFDC) benefits, according to the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) are recipients who have jobs but don't make enough to support themselves and their families above the poverty level.

It expects that by Feb. 1, at least 17,520 AFDC recipients will lose their benefits. In Tuscola county, according to county DSS Director Onalee Detwiler, probably 77 will be cut from the rolls.

She expects that 64 will have their benefits reduced.

Thirteen percent of the 236,659 AFDC recipients in Michigan have earnings from employment. Prior to Oct. 1, work-related expenses such as taxes withheld, cost of driving to work and union dues, plus $30 and one-third of the remaining net income were not counted in determining eligibility.

As of Feb. 1, the $30 and one-third of net income will be counted, which will mean an estimated 2.3 percent of the recipients in the state will lose all their benefits.

What the change does, Mrs. Detwiler explained, is remove the incentive for welfare families to earn some income. "I can see some people saying, 'Hey, I'm not going to work at all. That's unfortunate. It takes away the incentive to work.'"

The majority of clients won't be affected by the tighter eligibility requirements, however.

The average amount a family of four on AFDC

'Getting by' on welfare

Living on welfare requires keeping careful track of how every penny is spent, according to Mary Finch (not her real name), a Cass City mother of four who receives Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

"If they would cut anything, I would really be in a bind. We get by, but just barely."

Mrs. Finch, who is divorced, and her children, ages 3-11, live in an apartment. They receive $620 a month in AFDC and $119 a month in food stamps. (Based on the information she gave the Chronicle, the Tuscola County Department of Social Services said her benefits probably won't be reduced in the latest Reagan administration cutbacks.)

She receives child support from her ex-husband, which he pays to the Friend of the Court, not directly to her, which is deducted from the AFDC payments she receives.

Mrs. Finch prides herself on her careful shopping. "I can go into a store with $20 and come out with enough for a week. She also does a lot of canning."

Still, the $119 in food stamps is not enough to feed her family. "What I have to do is take whatever extra I need out of my (welfare) Please turn to page 14.

All districts lose enrollment

Loss of 110 students costly to Cass City

Loss of 110 students in comparison to last year's enrollment will cost the Cass City School District $22,400 more than was originally anticipated.

The district had expected to lose 70 students which was anticipated in the budget in lost revenue.

Had enrollment stayed the same, it would have meant $160,600 more than what it will now receive.

The number of students counted in the official "fourth Friday" count totaled 1,853, compared to 1,963 counted a year ago.

All schools in the state have to count their students on the fourth Friday after Labor Day, with state aid being based on those figures. Owendale-Gagetown enrollment dropped from 431 to 406, but since it doesn't receive per student state aid, it won't be affected financially by the decline.

Kingston lost 32 students, with 785 being counted Friday. The Uby schools lost 201, to 1,007 students this year.

Enrollment figures from all Tuscola county districts won't be gathered by the Tuscola Intermediate School District until later this week. Cass City Supt. Donald Crouse attributed the big drop in enrollment to four causes:

--Decline in birth rate, which has been affecting the district and all districts for the past several years. During the last few years, Cass City has been losing an average of 40-50 students per year. The 1980 enrollment loss, compared to 1979, was 62.

--Because of the lack of jobs, families have been moving out of the district, many to other states.

--A change in the state law, which now requires permission from home school districts for their students to attend other districts if the recipient district counts them for state aid. Cass City had 67 tuition students last year, of which 49 were from Owen-Gage.

--The start of the Deford Christian Academy this fall. The last time Crouse checked with the school, 15 students living in the Cass City district were enrolled there.

Crouse had based his 1981-82 budget on enrollment of 1,893 students, 40 more than the actual count.

The district received $1,461 per student in state aid last year and should receive slightly more this year. The loss in revenue over what was anticipated won't be 40 times that, however, because property tax revenue will be more than originally listed in the budget. The reason is that the Headlee millage rollback was less than anticipated, because increases in valuation were less than the inflation rate.

The result is the combined state aid and property tax revenue of $2,755,400 is $22,500 less than the amount contained in the budget. Total revenue, with federal aid, tuition, etc., added, is almost $3.05 million.

There isn't much the district can do to make up for the $22,500 loss, Crouse said, since the budget is already set for the year. Teachers are under contract for the year and utility bills must be paid with the result that the district may have a deficit at the end of the school year. "Most areas that can be modified already are," he explained.

UBLY

The loss of 201 students in the Uby School District, according to Business Manager Mark Tenbusch, is primarily due to the end of the shared-time programs at the Catholic schools at Parisville and Ruth as a budget cutting measure. There were 139 full-time equivalent students (counted for state aid) attending those two schools last year.

The rest of the decline can be attributed to the same factors as in other districts -- fewer births, families moving from the district, drop-outs.

Enrollment at the elementary level, grades K-6, is 443 this year (606 in 1980-81), junior high, 156 (same as last year), and high school, grades 9-12, 408 (431 last year). Those figures include special education students, listed separately last year, which totaled 15.

The big drop in enrollment, Tenbusch said, will cost the Uby schools $85,000 in lost state aid.

That is more than had been anticipated, said Supt. David Landeryou, because he had been hoping for enrollment of 1,050.

The result, he explained, will have to be more spending cuts from a "budget that is decimated to begin with." He expects the school board will have to revise the budget two or three times before the school year ends in order to hopefully keep it balanced.

KINGSTON

Enrollment in grades K-6 is 401 and 384 at the high school, for a total of 785, a loss of 32 from last year.

The enrollment decline, according to Supt. Robert Cameron, will cost the district about $30,000 in state aid, which was anticipated in preparing the 1981-82 budget.

OWEN-GAGE

Enrollment in each grade is as follows, with 1980-81 figures in parentheses: kindergarten, 23 (29); first, 27 (30); second, 29 (28); third, 32 (35); fourth, 31 (37); fifth, 39 (26); sixth, 33 (32); seventh, 31 (26); eighth, 26 (34); ninth, 35 (31); 10th, 34 (38); 11th, 38 (37), and 12th, 38 (48).

Disaster declaration ahead?

Area crop losses may warrant low-cost farm loan application

Efforts are underway to have Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties declared agricultural disaster areas, which would enable farmers to receive low interest Farmers Home Administration (FHA) loans to cover their losses because of rain damaged crops.

The first step, which has already been taken, was meeting of the emergency boards in the three counties, who ultimately have to ask Gov. William G. Milliken to declare their counties disaster areas.

If that is done, then the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block must give his approval in order for farmers to start receiving FHA loans.

The emergency boards include representatives of the Cooperative Extension Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), Soil Conservation Service, county emergency services directors and FHA.

In order for the emergency boards to apply for the disaster designation, according to Virgil Bouck, Tuscola county ASCS executive director, they must be able to show farmers suffered a 30 percent dollar loss in at least one crop.

Because it's too early yet to be able to document such losses in beans and possibly corn and sugar beets, all three county emergency boards are waiting a bit longer before applying for the disaster designation.

The Tuscola board met last Thursday and decided to wait 10 days before deciding to take further action, Bouck said.

The boards in Huron and Sanilac counties will meet again the end of this week or beginning of next week, according to their respective ASCS directors, Jimmy LaVoie and Herbert W. Clarke.

The Sanilac County Board of Commissioners Sept. 23 approved a resolution asking Gov. Milliken to declare a state of disaster exists in the county. Since Sept. 1, the resolution said, excessive rains had caused estimated losses of $7-8 million.

According to Clarke, the resolution doesn't have legal status since the emergency board must make the request, but it does serve as a warning to the state government of what is to come.

IF THE DISASTER designations are ultimately approved by Secretary Block, farmers will be able to take out FHA loans to theoretically cover their losses.

Being talked about, said FHA Tuscola County Supervisor Jim Chrysler, is an interest rate of 8 percent. The number of years the borrower has to repay would depend on the collateral he has -- real estate, etc.

The amount of loss, he cautioned, would be based on the 36-month average price for the crop. A farmer might figure his loss at $100,000, based on a price for corn of $3 per bushel, but the amount of the loan would be based on its three-year average price, which might be only $2.

RUMMAGE SALE Saturday, Oct. 17, Presbyterian church, starting at a.m. 14-10-13

Provisions are still tentative, but he didn't think there would be a maximum amount a farmer could receive, provided it is no more than the defined loss.

CHRYSLER WASN'T aware of any Reagan Administration imposed cutbacks in disaster funds, but said the program is being phased out over the next couple of years in favor of federal crop insurance. (Bouck said there is concern that because of crop losses in so many places, there may not be enough money to go around.)

Chrysler didn't know, once application is made (if it is made) how long it will take for the disaster declaration to be approved or rejected. In 1977, when there were heavy crop losses, also due to rain, application for the same status was made to Lansing Sept. 27. Approval was made in Washington Nov. 9.

The interest rate on FHA loans back then was 3 percent for up to $250,000; 5 percent for more than that. The Small Emergency Business Administration also made disaster loans back then, but that program has since ended, Chrysler said.

CONDITIONS such as these have led to preliminary efforts to have Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties declared agricultural disaster areas. This very wet corn field was photographed last Thursday morning on Cemetery Road, north of Deckerville.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Things that you might want to remember department: The post office will be closed Monday and there will be no mail delivery. No, it's not a strike, it's Columbus Day. That's a holiday, sir... if you work for Uncle Sam. The pheasant season doesn't close Nov. 10 as listed in the digest for 1981. It still ends at the traditional time, Nov. 11.

I suppose the trouble then was that nobody had a buck. If they did you could bring home a lot of groceries. Jim MacTavish brought in a list of market prices in Cass City on July 31, 1896, found tucked inside an old cookbook. Listen to this. Farmers were paid 57 cents per bushel for wheat. Corn brought 33 cents and oats were 15-16 cents. Rye sold for 24 cents and beans brought 60 cents. Potatoes were listed at 20 cents per bushel and apples went for 5-20 cents per bushel. Meat was a bargain. Hogs sold for 3 cents per pound and beef was 2-3 cents.

Henry Cooklin, 86, is from the old school. He's a self-made man who now spends the winters in Florida. He relates strongly to a story about a Texas farmer who refuses government handouts. He clipped the story and brought it to us. Perhaps Henry is so strong for individual hard work and against government hand-out programs because that's the way he operated in Cass City as a very successful businessman.

It's not much of a spectator sport but if you relate to cross-country racing Cass City is the place to be next Tuesday and Saturday, Oct. 24. Tuesday, the Thumb B Association meet will be held and Oct. 24 the State Regional class B and C races will be held. Cass City has a top runner, Greg Bliss, ready for the regional competition.

Tim Burke, conservation officer serving out of Caro, speaking in Cass City Tuesday said that one of the better programs that is helping the department is RAP (report all poachers). It's been working, he said, and it's needed. For several weeks now in Tuscola county, poachers have been shining deer. Burke says he thinks he knows who the violators are, but catching them is another matter. To report game law violators of any kind, residents can call the sheriff's department and the message will be relayed, Burke says.

Unionville man dies in crash near Silverdome

A trip to the Pontiac Silverdome Saturday evening by four Unionville men to see a truck pull turned into tragedy with the death of one of them shortly after they started home. Killed was Richard James Dillon, 29, of Colwood Road, who had worked at Marshall Distributing in Cass City for four years. He was reported dead on arrival at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. The accident occurred at 12:57 a.m.

Reported in fair condition there Tuesday afternoon were Dennis McNeil, the driver, Steve Orban and Kerry Borodychuk.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, their four-wheel-drive vehicle was headed north on M-24, north of Script Road, when it went off the road and rolled over.

He was born Jan. 14, 1952, in Cass City, the son of Leonard and Lois (Langley) Dillon.

Dillon married Diane Herman Nov. 25, 1978, in Gagetown.

He was a member of St. Agatha Catholic church of Gagetown.

Dillon is survived by his wife; his parents, of Unionville; one sister, Mrs. Randall (Linda) Colling, Cass City; his paternal grandmother and step-grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Freeman of Gagetown; one niece, Lesley Colling, and several aunts and uncles.

A wake service was to be held Wednesday evening at 8 at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral mass will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. Agatha Catholic church with Father Joseph Morales officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

STAN MORELL AND HIS 50 POUND SQUASH

Morells grow a lot on one acre

Stan and Ruth Morell like to do a lot with a little, at least when it comes to gardening.

Their one-acre garden not only produced a 50-pound Hubbard squash, plus a few more weighing at least 45 (20-25 pounds is normally considered good size), it also has produced or will produce a variety of other fruits and vegetables.

There are potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, strawberries, raspberries (190 quarts the first year) and will be peaches.

Forty peach trees were planted this past spring and he plans to plant 20 more this fall if he can get them.

The trees planted in the spring should produce their first crop next year, about a bushel per tree. When they reach maturity in 3-4 years, twice their present age, they should produce 3-4 bushels per tree per year.

The crops in the Morells' garden beside their house at Hurds Corner and Dickerson Roads are healthy. There are two reasons for that. "That's what care and water does," he said.

Morell, who retired last April, doesn't have to worry if it doesn't rain. The garden is irrigated. He turns the water on once a week if it doesn't rain.

The present garden dates back three years, to when Mr. and Mrs. Morell moved back here after having rented it out for several years while he worked outside of this area for Fuelgas.

Morell, 62, owned hardware stores in Cass City, Bad Axe, Gagetown and Akron before working for the bottled gas company for 22 years in retail sales and management.

The couple has generally been giving away what they couldn't consume, but next year, when they will start having peaches, they plan to go into business.

Morell looks on it as a challenge, to see what he can produce from his one acre. "I look at it, it's going to be a small business for me... just to prove in my mind it can be done."

"It's just a challenge to take it on and see if you can make a buck."

"If It Fitz..." Whistling in the dark

By Jim Fitzgerald

As the football game ended, with the Detroit Lions winning, a TV camera snooted into a private suite high up in the Silverdome and showed the team owner, William Ford, standing with two fingers in his mouth.

"That really gripes me," I said to my friend Ralph. "It's just not fair."

There is a lot of unfairness afoot in the world today. For instance, there is your tax dollar at work. Recently you paid whatever it cost for several federal employees to bug a Detroit restaurant table while a Democratic congressman and his party ate off it. When the congressman later learned of the bugging, and complained loudly, the FBI apologized, assuring him it was all a mistake and he was not the subject of an investigation.

So who was the subject? The FBI won't tell, of course, for fear of blowing an ongoing investigation. That is almost as good an excuse as protecting the national security. Whenever bureaucrats don't want to tell taxpayers how and why they are spending public money, they say the information must be withheld for the public good.

Horseleap, I don't like being treated that way by the people who work for me, spending my money. It's not fair for them to assume that all taxpayers are dumb jerks.

The popular assumption is that the restaurant bug was aimed at some alleged crooks who eat there regularly. Otherwise, the FBI wouldn't have known in which restaurant, let alone under which table, to put the bug. When the wrong people sat down, and the congressman yelped, the bumble became big news nationwide, in newspapers and on TV. If the people that bug was aimed at don't know by now that the cops are after them, and if they haven't yet switched restaurants, they are too stupid to believe.

Or is it possible that there were many bugs, and only the one under the congressman's party was discovered? Don't be silly. These are lean times and our government can't afford such widespread electronic eavesdropping in restaurants. Most of the people who pay the government's bills can't even afford to eat in restaurants, let alone monitor them for dropped eaves.

But we won't know for sure unless the FBI (or any other federal agency it might be shielding) is forced to explain its weird behavior. The only way the congressman and his dining companions can be cleared beyond a doubt is for taxpayers to be told exactly why their money was spent on the restaurant caper.

The greatest public good will be served if the public's gumshoe employees are required to prove there's not an Abscam agent hidden under every table in every town suspected of harboring a dissident opinion. Not only congressmen, but also innocent taxpayers shouldn't be forced to inspect the underside of drive-in trays for fear they are financing the invasion of their own privacy. It's only fair.

Which brings us back to unfairness at the football game and Lions owner William Ford with two fingers in his mouth. My friend Ralph said he agreed.

"It's not fair that ordinary slob taxpayers pay for the beautiful stadium so zillionaire William Ford can play with his toys in it, and he watches the game from a plush private suite while the slobbs can't afford tickets or must watch from crowded seats where idiots spill beer and throw smoke bombs," Ralph said.

"That's not what's unfair," I said. "What's unfair is that, along with all his money and expensive toys, William Ford also knows how to whistle shrilly by putting two fingers in his mouth and blowing. All my life I've wanted to do that, but I never could learn how."

"That is unfair," Ralph conceded. "Ford can afford to hire someone to do his whistling for him, but you can't."

Yes. And the last paragraph of a column should tie everything together and make an important point. That's why, in the interest of the freedom upon which this great nation was founded, I'm telling you I'd like to wake up under the table and whistle shrilly into an FBI bug.

It's time for Indian Summer. There will be Indian Summer, there has to be.

I need it. Not as much as the farmers, they have to have it. It's not an economic survival issue that I'm talking about although when the farms suffer all the Thumb suffers with them.

It's difficult to tell you about this special period in Michigan's seasons and why it is important.

Perhaps I shouldn't try. If you know what I'm trying to say there's no need to tell about it. If you don't it's doubtful if anything I can write can get through.

There's beauty of course. A bank of trees splashed in color against a hillside reflecting a waning sun is nature's masterpiece.

Wrapped up in Indian Summer somewhere is the knowledge that the days are numbered and the cold white blanket of winter is not far away.

You enjoy the days more because there are few remaining.

It's not a spiritual thing, but it's good for the spirit.

It's good if you drink it in from the window of your car or from the fairway of your favorite golf course.

Its beauty is its transience. If Indian Summer weren't surrounded by blustery winds and cold rain on one side and true winter on the other it wouldn't be much.

Those special days in fall are all wrapped up in forgetting the cares of the day. If you could stop the hordes of travelers that wend their way from the cities to wherever the color is at its peak, chances are that most would say they just love the beauty of it all.

But it's more than that for most. You can see the season change almost anywhere in Michigan. Cass City's Seeger Street is about as beautiful as any. If I lived in Detroit I'd probably be very satisfied to travel here and gawk.

But, really, seeing the color is just a part of it all. Getting away from everyday's minor trials, minor hassles is just as important. Maybe more so.

PEDALING AROUND

Living made complicated

By Mike Eliasohn

Money is something we can't live without. It's just that these days, living with it seems harder. I do have an advantage over many persons. I don't have to share my paycheck with anyone, so I can live comfortably. Unlike farmers, I don't have to worry about losing some of my income every time it rains (or during dry spells - remember those? - every time it doesn't rain).

But in these economic hard times, it seems like living has become more complicated for everyone. Take grocery shopping. It used to be all the smart shopper had to do was make out a list so she (and sometimes he) wouldn't buy "impulse" items that would add to the grocery bill.

Now, in addition to that, it's also necessary to get out the box of coupons and refund offers before going to the store. "One more box of raisin bran and I'll have enough purchase seals to end in for the $1 refund. Here's coupons for three different brands of margarine. Why am I saving this coupon for product X? I never use the stuff anyway."

I am firmly convinced that if the manufacturers did away with all coupons, they could lower the price of their products. (Which doesn't necessarily mean they could.)

I recall once, for instance, a cereal that had the coupon on the outside of the box, with the advice to tear it off before going through the checkout line. Why not just lower the price of the product by 10 cents and do away with the coupons. As long as there are going to be coupons and refund offers, however, it is foolish to not take advantage of them.

Then there are the new "no name brand" products, which are cheaper than even the house brands. Someone please explain to me how a product can be cheaper just because it doesn't have a fancy label? A gallon of bleach is a gallon of bleach. Why the difference in price?

What to do with "leftover" money also used to be simpler, as I was reminded last week when I was getting an explanation from a banker of the new tax-exempt all-saver certificates.

In the good old days, one's basic choices, unless they wanted to get involved in the stock market, was to put money in their savings account at the bank or savings and loan. If they had some money they weren't going to need for a year or two, they could invest in a certificate of deposit, which paid a higher rate of interest.

So what if savings accounts only paid 4 1/2 or 5 percent interest. The cost of living was only increasing 3 or 4 percent a year.

With double digit inflation, all that has changed. Keeping all your money in a savings account is like betting on the Detroit Lions to win all their games.

But where to invest? There are all saver certificates and money market certificates. Certificates of deposit and mutual funds. Corporate and utility bonds and the stock market.

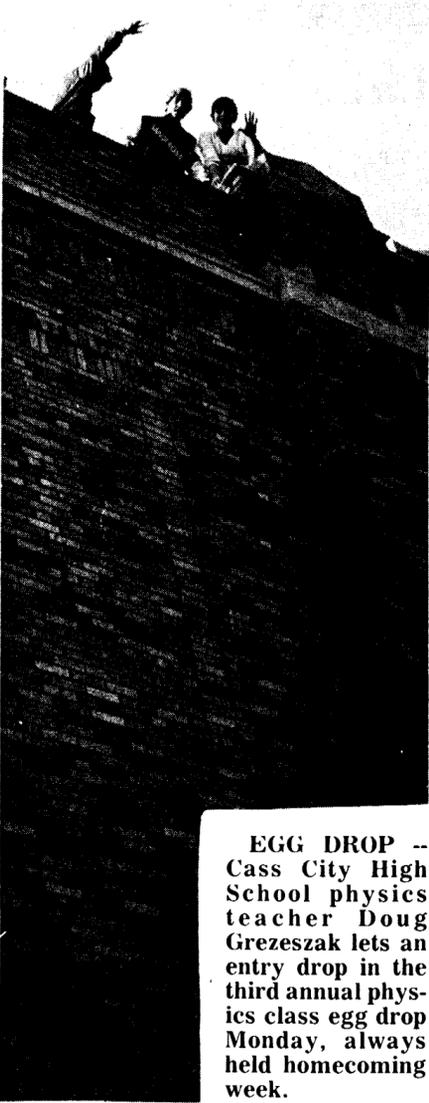

Of course, inflation and Michigan's rotten economy have eliminated that problem for some persons. They have enough trouble finding enough money to live on. Where to invest their money isn't something they have to worry about.

Have you ever wondered why something wasn't in the Chronicle that should have been? It may be that no one told us about it.

If you ever know of anyone or anything that would make a good feature story, photo or news article, please give me a call.

I confess on occasions I have not followed up on a suggestion, sometimes because I don't care for it and sometimes because I don't get around to it, but that is the exception.

EGG DROP -- Cass City High School physics teacher Doug Grezeszak lets an entry drop in the third annual physics class egg drop Monday, always held homecoming week.

One injured in Sunday mishap

One person was injured in a 12:45 a.m. accident Sunday east of Cass City.

Treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital was the driver, Phillip O. Harmer, 17, of 1935 N. Dodge Road, Deford.

The sheriff's department reported his passenger, David H. Moore, 15, of 6359 Robinson Road, Cass City, was also taken to the hospital, but it had no record of his receiving treatment.

Deputies said their vehicle was eastbound on M-81 and Harmer was going too fast when he turned left onto Schwegler Road. Their car went into the ditch at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Harmer was ticketed on a charge of speed too fast for conditions.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

George Frank of Cass City reported to village police that his car was struck by another vehicle while it was parked at the Charmont from noon-12:20 p.m. Sunday. The hit and run vehicle was maroon.

Cass City police reported that at 3:20 a.m. last Wednesday, Antoinette Martinez, 21, of 6432 Main Street, was northbound on M-53, north of Ritter Road, when a deer ran into the left side of her car.

Ray Armstead Jr. of Cass City told police Saturday afternoon a hit and run driver had damaged his car while parked in the village lot at Pine and Leach Streets at 10:30 p.m. Friday. Driver of the other car involved was later identified as Jon D'Addezio of Hurds Corner Road, Caro.

Larry K. Becker, 29, of Fairgrove, was westbound on Cass City Road west of Hurds Corner Road, at 11 a.m. Thursday, Caro state police reported, when his car hit a deer.

At 7:10 a.m. Monday, troopers said, Kanji Niwa, 30, of Caro, was headed northeast on M-81, northeast of Dutcher Road, when his auto collided with a deer.

William L. Humpert, 34, of 6379 Fourth Street, Cass City, was eastbound on M-81, west of Schwegler Road, at 12:20 a.m. Saturday when his car hit a deer, deputies reported.

UNSCRAMBLED -- Shar Beddow unwraps one of her eggs to see if it survived the fall. It and her other egg did. Her foam rubber packaging is shown below. Entries had to weigh a minimum of 1 kilogram (2.2 pounds). Winners in the packaging design exercise attend a pizza party.

COMING VERY SOON Walt Disney's Newest Comedy "The Condorman"

Church celebrating 125 years

Members of the Sutton-Sunshine United Methodist church Sunday will be celebrating 125 years as part of the Cass River Circuit.

The program will begin with the regular 11 a.m. service with District Superintendent Rev. Robert Horton as speaker.

A potluck dinner will be shared at 12:30 p.m. The program will continue at 2 with reminiscing when the Sutton, Sunshine and Remington churches began. Sutton-Sunshine is a merger of those three churches, plus the Abke Charge, which never had its own building.

The present church building, originally the Sutton church, is about 100 years old. It is located at Dutcher and Colwood Roads in Ellington township.

Non-church members are invited to Sunday's celebration.

Painting the house? Coat door hinges, knobs, lock latches and other hardware with a coating of petroleum jelly to reduce scraping afterward.

John Block to speak to farmers

Farmers and agri-businessmen will be meeting at the Colony House near Cass City Wednesday, Dec. 16, to hear U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block discuss "Agriculture in the 80s."

This year marks the seventh annual Thumb Agriculture Day to be sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties, according to Lee Warschewsky, extension livestock agent for the Thumb area.

The all-day program includes commercial exhibits, including seed, chemicals, equipment, buildings, feed, fuel, finance, and related farm services. More than half of the exhibit space has already been reserved by local and state-wide businessmen. This event has drawn capacity crowds for several years.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

For the first time in at least 25 years, the number of students attending schools in Tuscola county declined, a report from the Tuscola County Intermediate School indicated this week.

Melissa Smith, Julie Helwig, Brenda LaPeer, Amy Erla, Beth Erla and LeAnn LaPeer are members of the Cass City High School homecoming court. Out of these six girls one will be chosen homecoming queen.

Five 10-year employees were honored by Hills and Dales General Hospital. They are Phyllis Linderman, Anita Lopez, Robert Hutchinson, Elizabeth Knowlton and JoAnn Brown. Rick Szarapski, 15, of Cass

City was one of the rare bow hunters to bag a buck.

Trophies and prizes were presented to a host of women golfers during the Rolling Hills ladies' awards banquet. Flight winners were Harriet Richards, Kathy Tuckey, Ann Henderson and Linda Bennett.

TEN YEARS AGO

Fay McComb was low bidder with a figure of $87,495 for construction of a new Elkland Township Fire Hall. Bids were opened Monday night at the township hall.

Debbie LaFave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul LaFave of Gagetown, was crowned Farm Bureau queen during the organization's annual meeting in Caro Saturday evening.

With the opening of the deer season a little more than a month away, the status of the antlerless deer hunting season in Tuscola county is still a little fuzzy.

Steve Selby, 16, became the first junior league bowler of Cass City to bowl a 600 series when he bowled games of 197, 221 and 182 Sunday night at the Cass City Lanes.

The Elkland-Novesta Community Chest will hold its kick-off dinner Monday, Oct. 18. This year's goal is $10,500.

25 YEARS AGO

Cass City Floral, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Clara, announced its grand opening at its new location at 4391 Leach Street in Cass City.

Cass City manufacturing Co., which started in Cass City a little over a year ago, has increased its production about 1,000 percent since coming to the village, according to Manager R.L. Basset.

Behind the brilliant running of sophomore Forrest Walpole, the Cass City Red Hawks roared to a 27-13 victory over Crosswell-Lexington.

The Christmas pageant will be held again this year in the village under the direction of the newly formed Cass City Area Pageant Association.

The Novesta Community 4-H Club held its regular monthly meeting at Crawford School. Officers were elected.

35 YEARS AGO

A barn and silo on the A.H. Henderson farm in Novesta township and a residence on the Daily Creason farm in Elkland township were destroyed by fire during the past week.

Monday evening, a dinner was enjoyed at the Methodist church by the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Audrey Rawson was chairman and Mrs. Charles Bigelow, hostess.

A "Womanless Wedding" is a play being held at Cass City High School. Fifty-five local men are in the cast.

Junior and misses dresses are selling for $4.98 at Gamble's.

Playing at the Cass Theatre are "Inside Job" and "Somewhere in the Night" starring Nancy Guild. She rhymes with "wild."

At the A & P, cauliflower is 19 cents a head, donuts are 19 cents a dozen and ketchup is 24 cents for a 14-ounce bottle.

Rites held for James O'Rourke

James Michael O'Rourke, 76, a lifelong resident of the Gagetown area, died Friday at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe.

He was born Feb. 24, 1905, in Grant township, the son of Daniel and Mary (Quinn) O'Rourke.

He married Nina Munro in November, 1941, in Gagetown, at St. Agatha's Catholic church with Msgr. John McCullough officiating. Mrs. O'Rourke preceded her husband in death.

O'Rourke was a member of the church.

He is survived by one son, U.S. Air Force Major James Daniel O'Rourke, Omaha, Neb.; five sisters, Sister Patricia Marie of Adrian, Mrs. Paul (Eleanor) Hunter of Southfield, and Mrs. Douglas (Vernita) Comment, Nellie O'Rourke and Mary O'Rourke, all of Gagetown, and several nieces and nephews.

A rosary was recited Sunday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral mass was conducted Monday morning at St. Agatha's with Father Joseph Morales officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This 12-year-old from Caro has been waiting for a Big Brother for a long time. He is a very nice boy and he enjoys all sports, bike riding, fishing, archery and swimming. Why not give this child a try?

A nice 9-year-old from Cass City is anxious to have a Big Brother. He enjoys swimming, roller skating and indicates he'll try just about anything. Stop and think about sharing some of your time with him.

This 15-year-old from Caro is in need of a one-to-one

HEALTH TIPS

Good eyes needed for good hunting

Hunters who came home empty-handed last season ought to check out their eyes before taking to the woods this year, says the former president of the Michigan Optometric Association.

According to Dr. Owen R. Dueweke, many hunters have vision problems that interfere with their sport. "Often, the problems are not noticeable in daily living but in a sport that requires great precision, they can make a difference," he said.

Hunters need sharp, clear distance vision for spotting game; clear focus both near and far for sighting; fast and accurate depth perception for judging distances between themselves and their prey; good side vision, and effective color vision.

Dueweke said it is a good idea for all hunters to have a vision examination as part of the preparation for hunting. Vision changes are subtle and often go unnoticed.

"Of course, we can't guarantee a successful hunting trip," he said, "but if there are any vision problems, they can be corrected. Then you can go on your hunting trip fully equipped to do your best."

Dueweke reminded hunters to wear hunter orange clothing to make themselves highly and safely visible to others under all weather and light conditions.

He noted that since most animals are color blind, it makes no difference to them what color hunters wear. But to other hunters, it means a great deal in helping to prevent accidents.

You can BANK on it!

Q. I understand a bill has passed Congress which permits a new savings certificate option. Can you tell me anything about it?

A. Yes. The United States Congress recently passed what has been called the "All-Saver's Bill". Essentially, the bill permits banks to issue a new, one-year savings certificate, enabling savers up to $1,000 in interest... free of federal income taxes. The $1,000 doubles to $2,000 for couples. Currently, of course, the exclusions are $200 for a single tax payer, and $400 for couples on earned interest, effective on next year's returns. The All Savings Certificate is available to savers as of October 1, 1981 and is a real plus to all of us interested in saving interest tax free.

New books at the library

YESTERDAY'S STREETS by Silvia Tennebaum (fiction). This generational epic follows the doom-ridden fortunes of the Jewish Wertheim clan as their comfortable bourgeois existence in Germany is torn asunder by the horrors of World War II. When the close family circle begins to fall apart and the Wertheims' lives are uprooted by the approaching Holocaust, their individual destinies are fated to be played out in foreign exile—Switzerland, France, the U.S. — or by extinction in Nazi death camps. The ties and relationships still binding the family members together, however, survive both personal struggle and world upheaval.

GOLDENEYE by Malcolm Macdonald (fiction). In 1919 a young woman leaves her Scottish home to embark on a transoceanic journey and begin a new life in Canada. A full schedule of aspirations to be fulfilled, challenges to be met, and treacheries to be exposed is in store for Catherine Hamilton. Earth-shattering events and storms of passion unsettle the way, but Catherine sails through the experiences with aplomb and appropriate emotional intensity in an admirable and entertaining style.

THEY SHOOT CANOES, DON'T THEY by Patrick F. McManus. McManus could make an inveterate party-waist laugh, with his comic tales of the outdoor sporting life. Here are 25 more stories of camping, hunting, and fishing adventures and misadventures - the first collection since "A Fine and Pleasant Misery," each one touched by McManus' delightfully tilted perspective and uproarious turns of phrase. Yet even as he spoofs, McManus celebrates the ways of unregenerate lovers of the outdoors.

Family movies for 7:30 p.m. Monday are "Mighty Moose and the Quarterback Kid" (boy plays little league football only to please his father who hopes his son will become a great professional), "Pigskin Capers" (Little Rascals comedy) and "Guns - Be Safe, Not Sorry" (proper use of guns).

Your Neighbor says 'Everything a clue' in tracing roots

Lawrence Wright started tracing his family's roots after his grandfather, William Wright, died in 1969, leaving behind an ancestral chart with a lot of gaps.

He started in earnest in 1973, when he took a correspondence course in genealogy.

"There are people who have done it on their own," he said, but he recommends taking a class to learn where to look.

The farthest Wright has traced any of his ancestors is back to the Huguenots (Protestants) in France in 1653. He has uncovered evidence suggesting some ancestors were from Spain.

Tracing one's family tree requires examining such "proofs," as they are called, as census, birth and death records, tax rolls and family Bibles. In the latter were often recorded births, weddings and deaths.

In his search, Wright has been to Canada (near Toronto), visited many cemeteries, had persons check family Bibles for him in Kentucky, and obtained needed records by mail from England and France.

"Everything is a clue," he said. "You got to be part detective in all this."

Wright's first relative to move to the Cass City area was his great-great-grandfather, Philip Wright, who received some land as a reward for having fought in the Civil War.

"I'm doing this just for fun to find out who my ancestors were and where they came from," he said.

Wright teaches history, government, speech and English two days a week to inmates in the Tuscola county jail. He will be teaching a Cass City Community Education genealogy course this fall if enough students sign up.

He and his wife, Karen, have three children, twins George and Jason, 3, and Allison, 1. The family lives in Huntsville Trailer Park.

On Aug. 10, there was a multi-county conservation tillage field day at the Paul Findlay farm north of Caro. Plots shown at the field day were corn, sugar beets and dry beans under several tillage systems.

The dry bean crop was hand harvested in early September for a yield estimate. The yields from the plots were reported Sept. 23. The beans in the fall chisel plowed plot yielded highest out of the seven tillage systems and no-till beans yielded lowest.

Producing quality beans is as important as producing high yields. Quality beans increase the market potential of our bean crop and result in higher return for our bean growers. The beans harvested from the tillage plots were graded, with results as follows: pick is listed first, followed by yield.

Full chisel plowed wheat stubble, 6.7, 13.8; fall plowed with ryegrass, 4.5, 13.1; fall subsoiled wheat stubble, 5.8, 12.5; fall moldboard plowed, 4.5, 11.3; fall plowed with oat cover, 5.0, 10.6; fall disked wheat stubble, 11.5, 8.8, and no-till into wheat stubble, 4.5, 4.4.

In looking at the pick figure in the information, the number that should stand out is 11.5. The high pick was a result of water damage on disked ground. The rains received this year in August and September could not move through the compacted zone created during disking operations.

Two of the seven bean plots were graded prime. Again, the primary reason for low quality was water damage from late season rains.

Yield data is not based on replicated research; however, it does indicate that several tillage systems can lead to yields greater than or equal to conventional tillage system yields.

Cancer unit drive nets $39,000

Board members of the Tuscola County Unit, American Cancer Society, met Sept. 28 in Caro with Ethel Young presiding.

Betty Kochalka reported $731 has been received as memorials. Cook book sales are going well. Books are available from Helen Lorenzen in Cass City and Betty LaFave in Caro. The unit is presently assisting 26 patients, 12 of whom are new since the last meeting.

Anita Harrand, education chairman, told of materials available. She will speak to groups and clubs and provide film and literature for schools. She may be reached at the Tuscola County Health Department.

Beginning in November, the board meetings will be at 1 p.m. on the fourth Monday at the Health Department, at least for the winter months.

The Oct. 26 meeting will feature the crusade round-up and victory potluck dinner. All crusaders are invited to help celebrate the crusade victory, having reached an all-time high of more than $39,000.

The 6:30 p.m. dinner will be at the Sacred Heart School in Caro. Bring a dish to pass and your own table service. A program is planned.

Division Representative Jean Gibson discussed material for the Great American Smoke Out, when all smokers are asked to quit for at least that one day.

New wheat program announced

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block has outlined the U.S. Department of Agriculture's reduced acreage and conservation plans for the 1982 wheat crop, contingent on Congress passing a new farm bill which authorizes the actions.

Block said farmers who wish to become eligible for price support loans, target price protection and the farmer-owned reserve program must comply with all reduced-acreage requirements. There will be no payments for reduced plantings, Block said.

Participating farmers must reduce their acreage of wheat planted for harvest by at least 15 percent from their established wheat acreage base. The base will be the 1981 planted wheat acreage adjusted in cases where there is a regular crop rotation for wheat, he said.

Secondly, farmers must devote to conservation uses an area equal to 17.65 percent of their 1982 wheat acreage planted for harvest.

Bun Collins dies Sunday at age 70

Bun Cleophas Collins, 70, of Deford died Sunday at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City.

He was born April 10, 1911, in Heber Springs, Ark., the son of John and Alice (Nichols) Collins.

Collins married Gladys Boyd Dec. 25, 1931, in Velonia, Ark. After their marriage they made their home in Arkansas, Louisiana and Pontiac, before coming to Deford in 1970.

He was a member of the Novesta Church of Christ.

Collins is survived by his wife; two sons, John Collins of Oden, Ark., and Thomas Collins of Deford; three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Thelma) Tackett of Oden, Mrs. Lorene Cauley of England, Ark., and Mrs. Christine Wilson of Jackson, Miss.; two brothers, Bren Collins of Dallas, Texas, and Payton Collins of Pontiac; two sisters, Mrs. Lottie Johnson of Panama City, Fla., and Mrs. Mary Brown of Three Lakes, Wis.; 11 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren. Three sisters and two brothers preceded him in death.

Collins will be taken from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, at noon Thursday to the Novesta Church of Christ to lie in state until the 2 p.m. funeral service. Rev. Vern Lockard will officiate.

Burial will be in Novesta cemetery.

A lump of butter or a tablespoon of cooking oil added to the water cooking rice, noodles or spaghetti will help prevent sticking and boilovers.

Reading workshop

The Thumb Area Association for Program Specialists is conducting a workshop Wednesday, Oct. 14, for parents of children enrolled in elementary school Title I reading programs.

The workshop will run from 9 a.m.-2:45 p.m. at the Uby Heights Country Club.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Linda M. Clinard, a Michigan State University "distinguished lecturer" and an education and reading consultant. She is the author of the book, "The Reading Triangle," for parents. Her topic, from 9:30-10, will be "Let's put reading into focus."

The rest of the day, in addition to lunch and a book fair, will be divided into four 45 minute workshops, each repeated four times so participants can attend all of them.

Topics will be "importance of parents as models,"

"developing good study habits," "putting reading into action" and "parent volunteers - bucket brigade."

To register, parents should contact their child's Title I reading instructor at their elementary school. A fee will be charged for the workshop. Cass City Title I instructors are Marilyn Peters, Campbell; Donna Hurley, Intermediate, and Marion Binder, multi-building.

Student of the week

Student of the week for the week of Sept. 28 at Cass City Intermediate School is Deb Sawdon.

The eighth grader is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sawdon.

81-R-19

Commissioner Wenta presented the following Resolution and moved for its adoption. Seconded by Rayl and copies be sent to Governor Milliken, Senator DeGrow, Representative Armbruster and the Michigan Association of Counties and all 83 counties. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

CONCERNING FUNDING OF PERMANENT WARDS OF THE STATE

WHEREAS, Tuscola County Juvenile Court commits all minor children who are permanent wards of the Court to the State of Michigan under the Michigan Children's Institute Statute as provided in Act 220; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County has no control or say in the permanent planning for these children; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County has no control or say as to the total cost of care for these children; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County must pay 50% of the total cost of care for these children until the child either is adopted, has attained the age of 19, or dies;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that Tuscola County urges the Governor and Michigan Legislature to provide for the State of Michigan to assume 100% of the cost of care for all permanent wards committed under Act 220 by the Juvenile Court one year after the date of commitment.

81-R-20

Commissioner Wenta presented the following Resolution and moved for its adoption. Seconded by Collon and copies be sent to the State Department of Social Services, Governor Milliken, Senator DeGrow, Representative Armbruster and the Michigan Association of Counties and all 83 counties. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

CONCERNING CHILD CARE FUND COLLECTIONS AND REVENUES

WHEREAS, Tuscola County through the Juvenile Court has provided administrative and technical staff to collect Child Care Fund revenues to reimburse the State and Local Child Care Fund; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County has provided 100% of the cost for the collection of Child Care Funds; and

WHEREAS, the State of Michigan receives 50% of the total revenues collected for the Child Care Fund without any cost to the State;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that Tuscola County urges the Michigan Department of Social Services to promulgate rules that would allow the local Counties to keep 25% of all revenues collected for Child Care Fund reimbursement to offset the administrative cost of collecting revenues, said monies to be placed into the County General Fund; and, the remaining 75% of revenues would be divided equally between the State and the County.

81-R-21

Commissioner Wenta presented the following Resolution and moved for its adoption. Seconded by Clark and copies be sent to the State Department of Social Services, Governor Milliken; Senator DeGrow, Representative Armbruster, the Michigan Association of Counties and all 83 Counties. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

CONCERNING CHILD CARE FUND

WHEREAS, MCLA 400.117A(4) requires the Department of Social Services to reimburse the Counties 50% of their expenditures in Child Care Fund; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County has consistently funded its total share of the cost of care for services to neglected/abused and delinquent youth found in this County; and

WHEREAS, the State of Michigan through the Office of Children and Youth Services has indicated a maximum of an 8% increase for 1982 in the State share of the Child Care Fund; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Social Services has allowed private placement agencies and public institutions to increase their individual rates by an average of 24% during 1981; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Social Services has allowed the Genesee Regional Detention Center to increase its individual rates by 50% during 1981; and

WHEREAS, the Office of Children and Youth Services has placed a "CAP" on local Child Care Funded Services, but not on State Ward Chargeback Services provided by the State; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County has made an effort to collect reimbursements from parents for services provided at the local level and for state wards; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County has funded the total cost of collecting these Child Care Fund Revenues while the State of Michigan benefits at 50% of the total collections without any administrative cost to them; and

WHEREAS, Tuscola County is being severely penalized by the State of Michigan for making an effort to collect revenues by deducting these revenues from the total Child Care Fund reimbursement formula; and

WHEREAS, funding for Child Care Services should be one of the highest priorities of the State of Michigan;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that Tuscola County urges the Governor and the Michigan Legislature to fund local Child Care Fund Services at rate of 50% of total expenditures.

81-M-233

Minutes of August 25 were reviewed.

Motion by Russell, seconded by Kennedy, the minutes be approved as printed. Motion carried.

EXTENSION

The Shabbona Extension Group's first fall meeting was held Monday evening, Sept. 28, at the Shabbona RLDS church annex. Mrs. Ryerson Puterbaugh and Miss Marie Meredith were co-hostesses. Twelve members and one visitor, Mrs. Andy Hoagg, attended. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Arlie Gray, chairman. The flag pledge and women's creed were repeated in unison. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Miss Meredith. She also told about the County Extension Tour in September. Plans were made for meetings for the coming year with regard to hostesses and those who take lessons Oct. 15 in Sandusky. Mrs. Clark Auslander demonstrated how to make wreaths and other crafts. Lunch was served by the hostesses. The next meeting will be Oct. 28 with Mrs. Jim McIntosh. The lesson will be on casserole cookery. Roll call will be to bring a casserole recipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cardwell of Daytona Beach, Fla., were Tuesday overnight guests of her sister and husband and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming and family. Mrs. James Fleming of Decker was a Wednesday caller to see the Cardwells. Mrs. Merle Waun of Clio spent from last Saturday till Tuesday visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil VanNorman.

Paul Murray dies Sunday at age 82

Alex Paul Murray, 82, a lifelong resident of Sanilac county, died Sunday at Provincial House, Cass City. He was born Nov. 22, 1898, in Watertown township, the son of Anthony and Sarah (Ayotte) Murray. Murray married Sarah Ball May 14, 1924, in Cass City. She died March 24, 1934. Aug. 16, 1952, he married Mrs. Marie Sullivan in Cass City. They made their home in Evergreen township. He was a member of St. Pancratius Catholic church of Cass City, and the Farm Bureau. He is survived by his wife; three sons, A.J. Murray of Williamston, Dr. Alex Murray of Bay City and Alfred Murray of Battle Creek; one brother, George Murray of Lapeer; 14 grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. One daughter, Loraine Maurer, six sisters and four brothers preceded him in death. A rosary was recited Tuesday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City. Funeral mass was conducted Wednesday morning at St. Pancratius, Father Joseph Morales officiating. Burial was in Freiburg cemetery, Austin township.

Mark Moore finishes Navy basic training

Navy Seaman Recruit Mark D. Moore, son of Bob and Donna Dunn of 4730 South Street, Gageton, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields. Included were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. A 1981 graduate of Cass City High School, he joined the Navy in June.

Smith passes registered nurse exam

Thomas Smith has passed his State Board of Nursing examination. The spring, 1981, graduate of the Saginaw Valley State College School of Nursing is the son of Richard and Mary Smith, 3388 E. Cass City Road, Cass City.

Smith is living in Saginaw, where he is working full-time at Steering Gear and part-time as a registered nurse at Saginaw General Hospital.

Two on SBI summer term dean's list

Alice Spencer and Suzanne Spencer, both of Cass City, have been named to the dean's list at Saginaw Business Institute for the summer term.

Alice is enrolled in the medical secretary program; Suzanne in the executive secretary program.

To be named to the dean's list requires a minimum 3.5 grade point average.

The first clock with a pendulum was invented by Christian Huygens of the Netherlands in 1656.

NEW PORTRAIT -- The family of Audley Rawson, who died Sept. 27, donated a portrait Friday of him and his late wife, Mary, to Rawson Memorial Library. It replaces one of Mrs. Rawson, who died in 1969.

St. Jude fund raiser Oct. 23-30

Charmont Lanes has agreed to sponsor the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Bowl For Life" bowl-a-thon, to raise funds to support the hospital. The hospital, founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, opened its doors in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases in children, such as leukemia and other cancers. St. Jude is non-sectarian and free of charge to all patients.

Local chairman of the bowl-a-thon, Oct. 23-30, is Dorothy Zimmerman.

The acre was originally the area a yoke of oxen could plow in a day.

Funeral set Thursday for Lela Hall

Lela Irene Hall, 65, of Gagetown died Monday at Hills and Dales Hospital. She had been in ill health. She was born June 1, 1916, in Greenleaf, Sanilac county, the daughter of Kenneth and Sarah Ann (McLellan) MacRae.

Miss MacRae married Alvin Hall Sept. 18, 1943, in Cass City. He died March 17, 1947.

Mrs. Hall is survived by one son, Dr. Richard Hall of Cass City; five sisters, Anna Marjorie MacRae of Highland Park, Christina Alexandria MacRae of Bad Axe, Mrs. Lorna Belle Karr of Grosse Pointe Woods, Dr. Thelma June MacRae of Gagetown and Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Kelly of Detroit; four brothers, Dr. Kenneth Ivan MacRae, Calvin William MacRae, and Farquhar Bruce MacRae, all of Cass City, and Archibald Raymond MacRae, Detroit; three grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews. One brother, Dr. Leonard Douglas, and one sister, Dorcus Evangeline, preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 p.m. Thursday at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Eldred Kelley of the Salem United Methodist church, Cass City, and Rev. James B. White of the Advent Lutheran church, Southfield, officiating.

Burial will be in Elkland cemetery.

Court denies new trial for Randy Tune

Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn Monday denied the motion of the attorney for convicted murderer Randy Lee Tune for a new trial, thus clearing the way for an appeal to the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Attorney Patrick Brady's arguments included the influence on the jury of it being sequestered during the trial, supposed concern by some jurors about possible racial revenge against them following the trial, a ruling by the judge concerning admission of a hospital record into evidence during the trial and Joslyn's not submitting his theory of the case in writing to the jury.

The jury Sept. 3 found Tune guilty of the June 4, 1980, first degree murder of Tommie Lee Smith near Quanicasssee. He was sentenced Sept. 28 by Joslyn to life in prison.

OTHER CASES

In other cases Monday before the judge:

Diana D. Zagorski, 39, of 4308 Leach Street, Cass City, was placed on three years' probation for attempted larceny in a building. She pleaded no contest to the charge June 22, to the attempted shoplifting of a telephone from Fisher's Big Wheel store near Caro March 7.

She was also sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, with work release privileges granted, fined $100, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay $30 restitution.

Marty T. McLellan, 17, of 1727 Luder Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering a motor vehicle, a motor home Aug. 22 in Caro.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Oct. 19. Bond was continued.

Edward W. Davis, 21, of 6918 Caine Road, Vassar, and Gerald R. Russell, 23, of 121 E. Maple Street, Vassar, both stood mute to charges of possession of phenobarbital Sept. 3 in Vassar township.

Pleas of innocent were entered for both and pretrial hearings scheduled Oct. 19. Bond was continued.

Larry W. LaPratt, 35, of 9850 Belsey Road, Millington, pleaded no contest to resisting and opposing a police officer, state police Trooper James Simons while the latter was attempting to maintain peace March 23 in Arbela township.

LaPratt's plea was taken under advisement. A sentencing date will be set if the plea is accepted. Bond was continued.

Caro state police were called to the Crossroads Restaurant, M-53 and Bay City-Forestville Road, Sept. 24, to investigate a break-in there. Taken were $85 from

Novesta okays road work

The Novesta Township Board Monday evening voted to have the Tuscola County Road Commission apply a 2-inch stone base, with gravel on top if possible, on Dodge Road between Deckerville and Gilford Roads.

Cost is not to exceed $1,000. The gravel will only be applied if the total cost is under that amount.

Township Clerk Nurse Kloc said the section of road was graveled about 1 1/2 months ago but the heavy rain since then washed away the gravel.

The board voted to pay the Road Commission $7,000 as its last installment for paving two miles of Severance Road in 1980.

The application of Naomi Anderson of 6191 Shabbona Road to operate a foster care home was approved. The county Department of Social Services must also approve the license. It was reported at the August meeting she planned to provide care for two or three older persons.

A Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreement for 82 1/4 acres owned by Babich Title Co. in Section 8 was approved.

The board approved sending letters to two township residents to remove junk cars from their property within 30 days, in compliance with township ordinance.

COLLEGE GRANTS

Under the old rules, anyone could apply for a guaranteed student loan.

The new rules require students from families with annual income of $30,000 or more to prove financial need. If granted, the loan can only cover the difference between what the family can contribute and what the student needs.

Under the program, students borrow the money from a bank or other financial institution at an interest rate of 9 percent, to be repaid after the student finishes college. The government subsidizes the loan rate and guarantees repayment should the borrower default.

The new rules require repayment of $50 a month, instead of $30, so the government won't have to subsidize each loan as long. When students receive the loan, they will pay a 5 percent origination fee, deducted from the amount of the loan.

Uncle Sam also gives money directly to colleges and universities for loans to students who could show financial need. The interest rate on those, called direct student loans, as of Oct. 1, jumped from 4 to 5 percent.

Karl Streiff, director of financial aid at Delta College, sees the changes as allowing those in need to still get the aid they need while eliminating the boondoggle that allowed enterprising students not in need to invest their 9 percent guaranteed loans at higher rates of interest and make money.

14 attend meeting

Fourteen women attended the Monday evening meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society at the church.

Presiding over the meeting was Mrs. Clyde Wells. Members voted to take a special offering at the November meeting to purchase meat for children at the St. Louis, MI., home. Mrs. Jim Perry and Mrs. Lou LaPonsie reported on the Women's retreat held at Lake Ann which they attended.

Prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. LaPonsie. Diane Ramsey led devotions, using "Giving" as the theme.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Fay McComb and Mrs. Stanley McArthur.

Pam Ross presents Gagetown

okays hours

The Gagetown Village Council Monday evening established Halloween trick-or-treat hours from 6-7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31.

It also gave permission to Mich. Bell Telephone Co. to install new cables underground.

He described the any-takers student loan policy as a "dangling carrot resulting in every Tom, Dick and Harry with any brains at all getting one of those."

The liberal loan policy was in effect two years. During the first year, he said, the number of guaranteed student loans at Delta doubled.

During the past year, guaranteed student loans to Delta students totaled $1 million. Direct student loan funds, supplemented by college funds and loan repayments, totaled $200,000.

The state also has a student loan program, with requirements and interest rate the same as the federal guaranteed student loan program.

VETERANS

There are several changes in veterans benefits, according to Tuscola County Veterans Affairs Counselor James McCann.

Veterans Administration (VA) hospitals will still provide free care to vets over 65, those who are on Medicaid or military pensions and those whose ailments are service related.

Those who don't meet those criteria have always had to sign a "poverty oath" that they could not afford to pay for medical service elsewhere in order to receive treatment.

The VA never bothered to check whether those signing were truly in need, McCann said. Starting Jan. 1, however, veterans will need proof of income and that they don't have insurance to receive treatment.

The VA previously paid a $300 burial benefit, plus $150 for the plot, for a deceased wartime veteran honorably discharged, not buried in a military cemetery. The new payment is $150 total for all eligible veterans.

The county also has a $300 burial benefit for deceased veterans who leave an estate of less than $25,000 not including a homestead.

Discharged veterans have one year to receive dental work from the date of their discharge, or to apply to have it done, paid for by the VA. Now they must apply within three months of their discharge.

The VA previously paid 70 percent of correspondence school tuition. Now it will only pay 30 percent. Payment of tuition for veteran taking flight training was eliminated Aug. 1.

Other regulations regarding education benefits stay the same.

Family must scrimp on welfare budget

check for food."

The furniture in her $175 a month apartment was purchased used. Mrs. Finch frequently shops at rummage sales for clothing and other items her family needs. Sometimes, people give clothes to her family.

Still, her budget is tight. "Right now I have a dollar left in my checking account. That's all," she said Friday. Her next welfare check arrives this week.

HER CHILDREN understand sometimes the family has to go without. "They understand there are times when we just can't go out and spend."

Mrs. Finch tries to have some money available in case her children need something for school, but there have been times when they wanted a book or some other item and she had to tell them, "I just didn't have the money."

There are occasions when the family can splurge and go out and buy a pizza "but that's only if the bills are paid."

To make sure the bills are paid, "I have my checks made out a month ahead of time."

She added that wintertime is harder on her budget, since the lights are on longer and there are also heating bills.

MRS. FINCH DOES NOT own a car and depends on her boyfriend or sister for transportation if she can't walk to where she is going.

Her three-year-old has been in the hospital twice for health problems and a son has to visit an ear specialist in Saginaw. Medicaid pays the bills. "If we didn't have Medicaid, I'd really have a rough time."

Mrs. Finch doesn't have a job. The DSS hasn't encouraged it, she said, as long as she still has a child not in school. (That was confirmed by county Department of Social Services Director Onalee Detwiler.) Plus, she noted, jobs are hard to find these days.

She also pointed out that income from a job would have to be more than what she receives on AFDC, otherwise she wouldn't be ahead financially.

Present federal regulations allow AFDC recipients to keep $30, plus one-third of what they make, without reducing their benefits. As of Feb. 1, all earned income will be counted, thus will reduce benefits.

ALTHOUGH MRS. Finch apparently won't have her future benefits reduced by the Reagan administration imposed changes, they were cut this summer.

Her monthly AFDC allotment was cut this summer from $632 to $620, because of a state imposed reduction (AFDC is funded 50-50 by the state and federal governments) and her food stamp check was cut from $139 monthly to $119, which was a federal cutback.

Mrs. Finch has been on welfare three years, but hasn't found herself stigmatized. "Nobody seems to say anything. I've had people tell me they think I'm doing a good job."

What she receives now is enough to keep her children nourished. I have to scrimp, but they can have the orange juice, the things they really need.

She feels if her benefits were reduced, living would be more difficult. "We probably can manage, but it's going to be tougher than it is now."

Mr. Farmer

Education was cheap

No dictionaries in most one-room schools

During the 1980-81 school year, the Cass City schools spent more than $3 million to educate almost 2,000 students.

Times have changed. One hundred years ago, education was much simpler and cheaper.

For the school year that ended Sept. 1, 1879, the Cass City schools had 112 students and spent a total of $1,021.94.

Nowadays, that would only be enough for a few weekly paychecks. Back then, however, everyone worked cheap — especially women. The male teacher and principal, Homer E. Gordon, was paid $325 for the year. The woman teacher, Sarah Dickinson, received only $180.

The information comes from annual documents that local school districts had to fill out each year, which they apparently had to file with the state.

The documents listed names and ages of students, teachers and pay, income and other information.

Cass City Area Historical Society President Jack Esau has a set of reports for 1879 and 1880 for all the school districts in Elkland township. They were given to him by Leonard Striffler, who got them from his father, Solomon Striffler, who had been an officer in school district No. 4.

There were, at one time, five districts within Elkland township, all of the one-room variety until Cass City expanded.

District 1 was organized April 16, 1860. It covered an area two miles east and west of Cass City and one mile north and south.

In March, 1863, the boundaries were revised to the nine sections in the southwest corner of the township.

According to a history of the district written by Robert Dilman for the Historical Society newsletter in 1978, the children in District 1 apparently continued to attend school in Cass City until 1872.

In September, 1871, the school board voted to purchase a 1-acre site 1 3/4 miles west of town.

The frame school was to be 24-by-30 feet and be ready for the summer session, which started in June, but it apparently wasn't completed until late in 1872. The land was purchased and cleared for $60. It cost $205 to construct the school, plus $20 for a stove.

In those days, school ran for 2-3 months in winter and 2-3 months in summer, to allow children to help with the farm work in spring and fall.

The District 1 school was eventually named Dilman School after James Dilman, whose residence was closest to it and who had eight children attend there. Dilman was elected a director of the school district in 1873.

The present brick schoolhouse that stands at the corner of M-81 and Spence Roads was built around 1900.

The last year children attended school there was in 1950-51, with Roselyn Joyce Barber as the teacher. After that, the children attended school in Cass City.

The furnishings were auctioned off in 1955. Residents of District 1 voted in April, 1957, to merge the district with Cass City.

The building is now owned by Edward Golding Sr., a member of the school board when the district was dissolved, who lives next door.

OTHER DISTRICTS

District No. 2 in Elkland township was organized April 23, 1860 and consisted of the nine sections in the northeast quarter of the township. The nine sections in the northwest section became District No. 3 in April, 1862.

District No. 4, the nine southwest sections, was designated in March, 1863. It was at that meeting of the township school inspectors that they also revised the boundaries of District No. 1 to comprise the nine sections in the southwest quarter.

District No. 5 consisted of Cass City and a mile in each direction from the center of town. It was created in April, 1869.

The school locations, other than No. 1 (Dilman), were as follows: No. 2 (Bird) was on Bay City-Forestville Road, 1 1/2 miles east of Cemetery; No. 3 (Winton) on Bay City-Forestville 1 1/2 miles west of Cemetery; No. 4 (Wright), at the southeast corner of Schwegler and Reed Roads, and No. 5, Cass City. The Winton and Bird schools are still standing.

The History of Tuscola and Bay Counties, published in 1883, reported that in September, 1876, the township board appointed John Randall as township superintendent of schools.

The Sept. 4, 1882, report of the township school inspector, according to the history book, said there were five whole districts and one fractional one (most of the district in an adjoining township), in Elkland and six schoolhouses (two were in Cass City), one having burned in September, 1881. There were 439 school age children in the township, of which 372 had attended school during the past year.

Like in Cass City, education came cheap in those days. The state report for District 4 dated Sept. 22, 1879, listed 51 students, ages 6-19, and total expenditures for the year ending Sept. 1, of $249.89.

Both teachers were women. The one who worked five months received $112.50. The one who worked three months got $60.

A question on the form asked if the school had a dictionary, globe and maps. The answer was "no" to all three. Esau, who has the old records, said most of the schools didn't have those items. Cass City had a dictionary, but no globe or maps in 1879.

The fate of the rural school districts within Elkland township paralleled that of the Dilman school.

The Chronicle reported Feb. 17, 1956, that a new state law required that by July, 1957, school districts either had to operate their own school within the district or consolidate with the district that their pupils were then attending.

In February, 1976, all four rural school districts in Elkland township (plus seven others in other townships) were sending all their pupils to Cass City.

Residents of all 11 voted in March and April of the following year to merge with Cass City, rather than reopen their own schools.

CASS CITY SCHOOLS

The first school in Cass City, built of logs, was constructed at Main and Seeger Streets, on the present site of Old Wood Drugs.

The lot was sold prior to 1869 as the site for a hotel. School was temporarily housed in a building approximately where Kritzman's Clothing Store is now.

Sometime between 1870 and 1876, a frame school was built on Seeger Street. Increasing enrollment led to use of an additional building across the street.

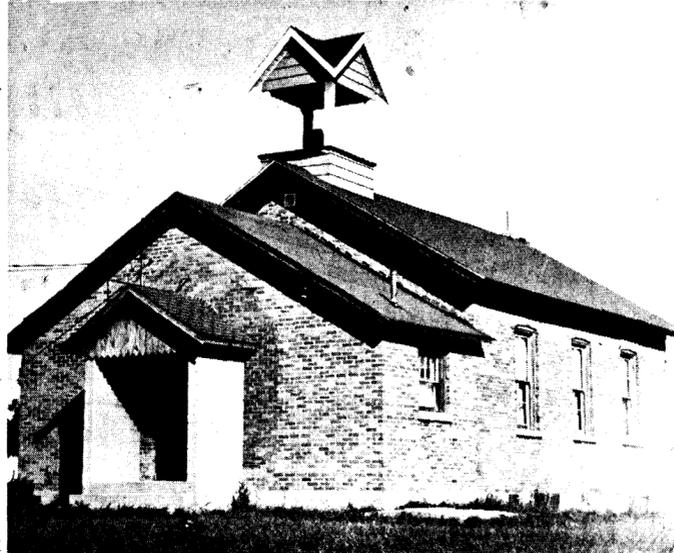

In 1884, a brick school house was built to the north on what is approximately the lawn of the present Intermediate School. The first high school class of nine students graduated in 1887. An addition was added in 1897.

The intermediate school was built in 1926 and until 1949, housed all 13 grades. The first section of what is now Campbell Elementary School was built in 1950. Three additions have been added since.

The high school opened in January, 1968.

WRIGHT SCHOOL was located at Schwegler and Reed Roads and was last used for classes in the spring of 1945. The late Mitchell Holik bought it about 20 years ago and moved it 1 1/4 miles east to his property on Reed Road, and removed the brick. It is now owned by his widow, Muriel. The cornerstone is shown in the inset.

DILMAN SCHOOL at Cass City and Spence Roads was built about 1900, last used as a school in 1950-51, and is now owned by Edward Golding Sr.

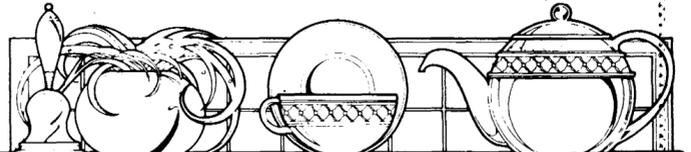

WINTON SCHOOL ON Bay City-Forestville Road, 1 1/2 miles west of Cemetery Road, for the past 16 or 17 years has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vandiver. The portion in the rear is the original school. A lengthy addition was built perpendicular to and in front of it by the Vandivers.

Many use sign language

Sign Language is the fourth most frequently used language in the United States, after English, Spanish and Italian.

More than two million people know some form of Sign Language. Assistant professor William Newell of the National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID) at Rochester (N.Y.) Institute of Technology (RIT) says, "Linguists now categorize Sign Language as a language. Studies have revealed fascinating details about its structure which were unknown until very recently." While NTID faculty at RIT must learn Sign Language along with other techniques for enhancing communication with deaf students, training in the language is optional for deaf students.

MIKE OTULAKOWSKI of Kelly Road, Cass City, shot this 7-point, 170-pound buck at 5:30 p.m. Friday, the second day of bow season, southeast of Cass City. He tracked the deer until midnight and then found it after an hour more of searching Saturday morning. It was his fourth with a bow. He has shot eight or nine with a gun.

MARK GUINThER, 19, of Oak Street, Cass City, shot this 7-point, 150-pound buck at 6:30 p.m. Saturday near Argyle. His first shot with a bow, he has shot two previously with a gun.

Owen-Gage extends Kingston's long losing streak — hosts A-F Friday

Owen-Gage won its first North Central Thumb D League game of the season last Friday night with an 18-14 win at Kingston. For the Cardinals, it was another night of frustration. The team hasn't won a game since the 1978 season. The Bulldogs play host this coming Friday to Akron-Fairgrove, picked by many pre-season prognosticators as the favorite to win the league title. The team is Owen-Gage's big rival and, said line coach Phil Gray, "They're big." The Vikings' one league loss this season was a 3-0 overtime decision to Deckerville.

Although Owen-Gage edged by Kingston, the Bulldogs totally dominated the offensive statistics.

The victors gained 116 yards in 38 carries on the ground and 151 in the air for a total of 267. Stan Andrakowicz did all the throwing for the Bulldogs, completing six passes of 18 attempts with two interceptions.

In contrast, Kingston only managed 67 yards, 52 of them on the ground in 36 carries and 15 in the air. Darren Mathews completed two of 12 passes, with three being intercepted.

Owen-Gage made eight first downs; Kingston, seven.

The first touchdown came on a 17-yard pass in the first quarter from Andrakowicz to Dan Glidden. The kick for the extra point was low.

The Cardinals evened the score in the second quarter on a two-yard run by Ron Mouton after he blocked a punt on the previous play. The pass attempt for two more points was incomplete.

Owen-Gage made the half-time score 12-6 on a 51-yard pass play from Andrakowicz to Glidden. The kick for the extra point was no good.

The third period was scoreless.

The fourth was a wild one. The Bulldogs' final points for the night came when Glidden intercepted a Mathews' pass and scampered 17 yards to the goal line with about eight minutes left. The attempt to run the ball over for two more points was stopped short.

Thoughts that Owen-Gage may have put the game on ice didn't last long as Greg Wenzlaff grabbed the Bulldog kickoff and ran 66 yards to score. Mathews then passed to Duane Overaitise for two points.

With about six minutes left, the Cardinals recovered an Owen-Gage fumble on their (Kingston's) 30 yard line. On the next play Kingston fumbled and the Bulldogs recovered.

The team then got the ball to the Kingston 10 yard line before Andrakowicz' pass was intercepted. He later threw another one, but the Cardinals couldn't take advantage of either.

Top ground gainers for the Bulldogs were Lee Gettel with 89 yards in 17 carries and Alan LeValley with 44 yards in eight carries. LeValley and Nick Swaistyn each made eight tackles.

Ron Mouton led the Cardinals with 40 yards in 15 carries. Greg Wenzlaff made 10 tackles.

Owen-Gage fumbled three times and was penalized six times for 50 yards. Kingston fumbled twice and was penalized four times for 24 yards.

Many miraculous escapes

Wind whipped flames devour Bad Axe buildings

By Emma Ackerman
Part VI of a Series

From the 1881 disaster came many stories of miraculous escapes and unbelievable tragedies.

One man put his wife and children in a field for safety, then returned to the house momentarily. He was cut off by the flames so that he could not return to his family for 24 hours. When he did, he found them dead. The house was not burned.

A hunter skinning a moose near Elkton was suddenly surrounded by fire. He crawled inside the carcass, pulled the skin tightly around him and remained safe while the fire cooked the outside of the animal.

One newspaper carried an account about the Thornton family of seven, at Richmondville, who sought shelter in a well. They were all suffocated and when found, they all lay in a heap in the water, their hair scalded off and parts of their bodies scorched and apparently cooked.

At Verona Mills, a man and wife were both found dead at the foot of a tree. The woman had partly delivered a child, dead also.

William Humphrey, a mail carrier between Mar-lette and Bad Axe, was trapped by flames midway on his route. Unhitching the horse from the wagon, he attempted to turn back on horseback. The horse returned minus the rider and mailbag.

Humphrey's burned body was found some days later in one place, the partly burned mailbag in another location.

A correspondent for the Huron County News described the swift approach of the flames on Monday in the Bad Axe vicinity.

"The wind had continued to increase since Sunday. By 2, smoke was seen west of the village. Within minutes, darkness closed in as dense clouds of smoke and flames rolled overhead, then dropped to the ground devouring virtually everything in their path. Within a half hour, almost the entire village was in flames; the heat was so intense that it was practically impossible to breathe. Many residents rushed for cover to the courthouse, the only solid brick structure in the town, which they fought desperately to save.

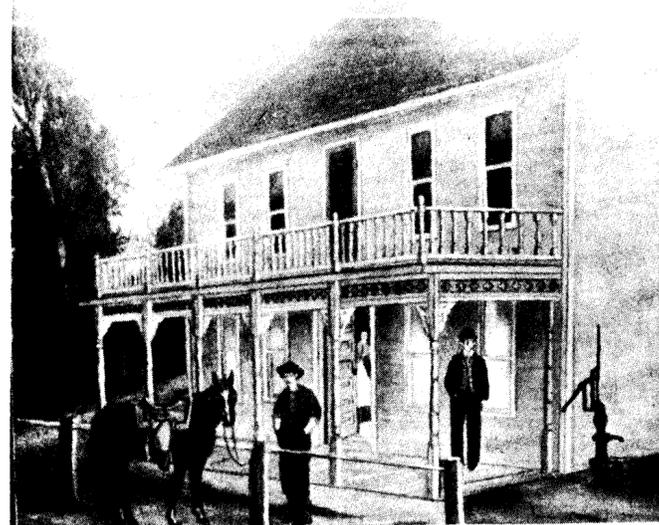

Those who did not make it to the courthouse escaped through a clearing east of the village where they dug trenches for the women and children, covering them with boards and wet blankets. Two hours later, only 14 buildings were

The Huron Tribune, a fire victim, published its paper from the Huron County News office at Port Austin for the following two weeks, until new supplies and office space became available.

The Sand Beach correspondent reported that Monday morning started as a beautiful calm day with no sign of what was to come. About noon, heavy winds suddenly appeared, bringing clouds of dust, smoke, and cinders. By 3, no night could compare with the blackness of the hour. The roaring, hissing, and booming of falling, burning timber was deafening.

The village, deluged with a storm of burning cinders, seemed doomed when suddenly a dead calm set in, followed by a stiff lake wind from the northeast, saving it from certain destruction. Thursday morning, the first train reached Sand Beach since the fire, bringing with it a number of bodies picked up along its tracks.

"ZINGER'S HOTEL, PARISVILLE" — Is still standing at the corner of Parisville and Atwater Roads. It is now the Parisville Hotel. On Sept. 5, 1881, it was reported, it was so dark by noon that the lamps in the hotel had to be lit. By 2:30, there was a solid wall of flames sweeping in from the west, 50-100 feet high. It's homecoming time

Hawks edged by Tigers, entertain Bad Axe Friday

It's homecoming time at Cass City Friday and the Red Hawks are hoping to break a two-game losing streak against the Bad Axe Hatchets in a game that

Jim Adkins - Red Hawk of Week

Jim Crickon - back of week rates as a toss-up.

The problem for Coach Don Schelke will be to regroup his charges after last Friday's tough loss at Caro, 22-17.

A quirk in the schedule pitted the Hawks against the two strongest teams in the Thumb B Association on successive weeks.

Although Bad Axe is 2-1 in the league and Cass City is 1-2, the game rates about even.

One conference foe the two teams have met this season is Vassar which bowed to Cass City 14-6 and to the Hatchets, 8-6.

If the Hawks can move the ball as well against Bad Axe as they did at Caro, chances are it will be a pleasant homecoming for Cass City fans.

The Hawks charged out in front in the first quarter. A drive was capped by a pass from Jim Crickon to Joe Decker that covered 31 yards. Crickon ran for the extra points.

Caro evened the score in the second period. Hartman dove over from the two. A pass was good for the extra points.

That's the way it stayed until just before the half ended.

Cass City started a drive on the Caro 41. Big play in the series was a pass from Crickon to Horner for a first down on the 15.

After the Hawks were held for three downs Paulo Leme came and booted a 28-yard field goal with three seconds left in the half and the Hawks led at the intermission, 11-8.

A hint of things to come was evident on the second half kick-off. The Tigers took the boot and used a reverse to charge to the Hawk 30.

From there power football took it over. Hartman charged around right end from the five for the score. Kevin Gosson plunged for the extra points.

The Tigers applied the clincher early in the fourth quarter.

With third and long yardage, Steve Cooper found Eric Spaulding all alone in the left corner of the end zone for the TD. The play covered 28 yards.

Cass City kept trying and cut the margin to five points on the strength of a Crickon pass to Horner but it wasn't enough to top the co-league leaders.

Greg Hutchinson led the Hawk runners with 66 yards in 12 carries, mostly on power plays through the center of the line.

Jim Adkins with 14 tackles, was the leading defensive player and was named by Schelke as Red Hawk of the week.

For Caro, Hartman picked up 46 yards in 19 tries.

Girls top Caro

Hawk cagers bow to powerful USA

The Unionville-Sebewaing Patriots showed why they are the third ranked class C team in the state Tuesday night by rolling over the Cass City Red Hawks, 70-42.

Visiting USA had too much of everything for Cass City. Too much height, too much experience and above all too much quickness.

Cass City did manage to hang close for the best part of the first quarter. After the visiting Patriots had bounced out to a 10-4 lead with 5:08 left in the first quarter, the Hawks used some sharp passing for close-in shots to close the gap to two points.

That was as close as Cass City was to get. USA turned on the pressure with a full court press and some tough, close defense to move in front 18-13 at the quarter.

The team changed baskets starting the second quarter and then the roof fell in for Cass City. Outrebounding Cass City on the boards, forcing turnovers with a pressing defense and running the fast break to perfection, the undefeated Patriots held Cass City to just one basket in the next seven minutes while running up a 37-17 lead at the intermission. After that it was simply a matter of finishing out the game.

Kim Adam, 15, and Jan Tietz, 12, led the balanced USA scoring. Carrie Lautner, 8, was high for Cass City.

Cass City shot well from the field with 18 for 42 for 43 percent. There were only 6 of 15 from the charity stripe for a poor 40 percent.

The Hawks return to Thumb B Association play Thursday night when the Bad Axe Hatchets come to town.

SPLIT GAMES

Although Cass City will not be a threat this season in the Thumb B Association race, the Hawk girls have shown steady improvement over the season.

The improvement showed in a 43-27 loss to Frankenth last Wednesday and a league game Thursday at Caro where the Hawks notched a 53-45 decision.

Against the Eagles, Cass City was in the game for three quarters before suffering its worst 8 minutes of the season to account for the one-sided Muth victory.

The Eagles outscored Cass City 15-1 in the final frame. Before that it was a contest. Cass City trailed by 8 after the first quarter and cut the margin to four at the intermission, 18-14. At the end of the third period the Hawks trailed by just two points.

Mary Duff of Frankenth scored 15 while Cass City was led by Carrie Lautner with 8 and Jill Hutchinson and Lori Calka with six each. Calka also snagged 7 rebounds to lead the team. Jill Hutchinson and Michelle Fahrner netted six each.

Coach Lloyd Schinnerer said that the team played three fine quarters before fading in the final 8 minutes.

Against Caro the Hawks went in front early and stayed there to score an initial win in the conference. The Hawks jumped off to a four-point lead in the first quarter and stretched it to 8 with an 18-10 advantage at the intermission.

Caro cut the lead in the third period but the Hawks stiffened in the crucial final period to take the win.

Lautner had a big night from her guard position with 18 points. Jill Hutchinson played a key role with 12 points and 13 rebounds. Kris Proctor added 10.

For Caro, Sue Dost, 16; Tanis Sawyer, 11, and Robin Diaz, 10, were in double figures.

Cass City's record is 2-6 overall and 1-2 in the Thumb B.

JOY ROOT missed this try in the second quarter. Stacy Holland, left, and Dawn Engelhardt were ready for the rebound.

O-G just misses cage win

Owen-Gage came close to winning its first basketball game this season, but fell short at Akron-Fairgrove last Thursday, 32-30.

A dismal second quarter spelled the difference, as coach Judy Campbell's Bulldogs could only score two points, to fall back at half-time, 20-8.

Julie Enderle led Owen-Gage with 16 points. Joan Mosack pumped in 10 points and grabbed 24 rebounds. Vicki Alexander had 12 rebounds. The team shot 14 of 74 from the floor, 19 percent, and two of 12 from the free throw line, 17 percent.

Linda Rutkowski's 10 points were tops for the Vikings. The team connected on 15 of 60 field goal shots, 25 percent, and two of nine charity tosses, 22 percent. Top rebounder was Sue Willett with 12.

The Bulldog junior varsity won its third game of the season, 19-16.

The Bulldogs resume action Tuesday in a non-league contest at Uby.

Solons debate higher interest rates on loans

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

Rep. H. Lynn Jondahl (D-East Lansing) has called for individuals and consumers to mount a "forceful lobby" to stop the move. He said so far consumers have not been an effective voice in the legislative debates on increasing the interest rate ceiling. People apparently think the debate on interest rates simply takes place on the federal level and do not realize the pressure being levied by the credit industry lobbyists, Jondahl said.

Legislators will probably not find it politically attractive to take off all limits on interest rates, he said, but may tie the limits to a floating level — such as the interest rates on six-month treasury bills.

If such a level results in interest rates on most consumer loans of 20 to 22 percent, that is "not reasonable," he declared. State law now sets fixed interest rate ceilings at a variety of levels.

Rep. Patrick Harrington (D-Monroe), chairman of a special house subcommittee on interest rates, said committee members will likely approve a compromise tying limits to the treasury note rates, but no decision has been made on how much higher than the treasury notes interest rates could go.

Governor William G. Milliken, meanwhile, indicated he was opposed to lifting all caps on interest rates, but said he may support some sort of floating interest rate limit.

Increasing interest rates will not help Michigan's economy, Jondahl said, because they discourage people from purchasing major items such as houses and cars — both vital to the state economy.

"No one is calling up or writing to say: 'I want to buy a house but the mortgage rate is too low,'" Jondahl said.

He noted a study of Arkansas consumers by Purdue University which showed that credit is highly available there. Arkansas has a limit of 10 percent interest on consumer loans.

That disputes, he said, credit industry officials who argue that only by raising the interest rates will credit become available.

LEAST VIOLENT

A study on the state's halfway house system and the Department of Corrections indicates the state is doing a good job in releasing the least dangerous offenders back into society.

Corrections Director Perry Johnson said according to the research, which is still ongoing, persons given special paroles or paroled on their minimum sentences are less likely to commit a violent felony than those paroled after serving their minimum sentences.

Some 13 percent of those paroled after serving their minimum sentences were convicted of a violent crime within one year after their releases, whereas only two percent of those who were paroled through halfway houses were convicted of a felony.

"This state has successfully developed and uses the tools to make reasonably accurate decisions about an offender's risk to the community. I consider development of these prediction techniques the most significant accomplishment of this department during my nine years as director," Johnson said.

The study was based on some 1,100 people released in 1978 and Johnson said the state's ability to keep violent criminals in prisons, while allowing the least violent to go through halfway houses, has saved the state taxpayers "the cost of about four prisons."

2 boys caught for breaking house windows

Two boys ages 16 and 14 are believed responsible for breaking several windows in Cass City late Friday, resulting in estimated damage of about $1,500.

The two boys, from Bay City, were caught by village police after the second incident was reported. They were turned over to their parents and were to be questioned by a village officer Wednesday before deciding whether to petition them into probate court.

Kenneth Copeland of 4675 Hunt Street reported to police at 11:19 p.m. that he had heard a noise at 11:05 and discovered a storm window in his home was broken. Ten minutes later he heard another noise. The inner pane of the same window was broken.

He went outside, saw two boys and started chasing them. He found them hiding in a tree near 4645 Hunt and they ran off.

When police arrived, they found one boy walking down the street. He was apprehended and while they were talking to him, the other boy walked up. Copeland identified him as the other subject.

Prior to then, at 11, Linda R. Regnerus of 6433 Church Street reported to police someone threw a rock through her front window at 10:45.

Shortly after noon Sunday, Jack McDaniel of Bay City, owner of the home at 4645 Hunt, called police to tell them six windows there had been broken, five double pane windows and one picture window, 5 ft., 5 in. by 6 ft.

While police were investigating that complaint, they discovered a window of the home of Dr. K. Ivan MacRae, 4676 Huron Street, had been broken. Two other windows were kicked in but didn't break.

Police Chief Gene Wilson said it is assumed the two boys, who were visiting relatives in Cass City, broke all the windows, but that hasn't been proven.

Other than the Regnerus window, the "weapons" used were feet, hands and sticks.

OTHER ITEMS

Air was let out of two tires of a Cass City police car while it was parked at the Charmont Friday night. The incident was discovered at 10. The car was back in service 20 minutes later.

Cass City police arrested Bernard G. Desgrange, 60, of Pontiac, on charges of driving with license suspended and operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor after stopping his car at 2 a.m. Friday after it was seen being driven erratically. His car was stopped on Main Street at the east village limits.

Desgrange was released from the county jail Monday after posting surety bond. His pretrial before District Judge Richard F. Kern is scheduled Nov. 3.

At 2:15 a.m. Saturday, police arrested Patrick R. Powell, 23, of 5751 Canboro Road, Owendale, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor, after stopping his car on Cemetery Road, north of Milligan Road, after it was observed crossing the centerline.

He was released from the county jail later that day after posting $100 bond. Arraignment in district court is scheduled Oct. 19.

Gretchen Shebel of 6379 Fourth Street, a teacher at Cass City High School, reported to village police Monday that the rear view mirror of her car was bent during the day while parked in the school lot. Damage was estimated at $50.

State library plan finished

Broad powers to plan activities for all Michigan libraries and adequate financing were among the recommendations for the State Library in a report from a special task force of the Michigan Library Association.

Frances Pletz, executive director of the association, declared that whatever can be done to improve the library's services to state government and other libraries should be done, even if that means making the library a separate state agency.

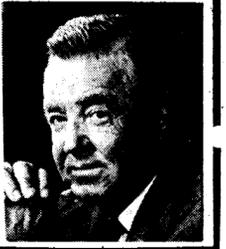

The report makes 22 recommendations for improving the library.

It, however, does not specifically endorse pending legislation in the state Senate which would take the library from the control of the State Board of Education, but added those bills could be necessary to insure "adequate authority, status and support."

Pletz said it would take over $4 million to run the library properly. Current funding is $2.15 million, most of that coming from the federal government.

Taking Stock

An old friend stopped me at the end of a golfing round the other day and wanted to talk about a couple of property deals he was involved in. Let's call him Fred.

"I think I'm going to get my price for my building," he said. A hundred thousand. I've got a down payment."

"What are the terms?" "Eight years at 11 percent, and then a balloon payment of $35,000 for the balance."

Figuring the buyer would have to pay 16 percent for a mortgage at the bank, he was really getting a 5 percent saving on the balance each year.

The first year, for example, the buyer would save $5,000 (5 percent of $100,000) over a bank loan. In the following seven years, as the principal got paid down, the savings would be less — say an average of $3,000 per year.

The buyer has got himself a bargain interest rate, and will save around $25,000, or a fourth of the purchase.

But Fred was happy. He "got his price" of $100,000. Or did he?

Fred felt so good about this sale that he considered selling off a piece of rental property that was netting him $16,000 a year. Gross revenue was $20,000 annually.

"But I won't let it go for less than $200,000," said Fred.

I suggested gently that he could let it go for $150,000 and be considerably better off than he was now.

"Take the $150,000 and put it in some telephone bonds 16 percent. You'd get $24,000 a year. No muss, no fuss no worry about rents. That's half again as much as you're making now."

"But I want to get $200,000 for it." "So maybe he will, and I hope he does. But I suspect it will be at the cost of extending bargain rates for interest. In that end it will be that he won't get as much as he would by selling for cash at a much lower price and re-investing in bonds at today's sky-high rates.

There are a lot of real estate sales being made today with deals like the one I've described. The sale figure reported is actually unreal. When Fred claimed he had made a sale a $100,000 with an 11 percent mortgage, he was really getting no more than $75,000 at the going lending rate of 16 percent.

Except for such super heated areas as southeast Florida and Houston, real estate is no longer the sure-to-grow investment. National figures I saw recently had residential prices up a little over 10 percent for the year. With corporate bonds yielding 15-16 percent, the increase in property value had to equal that, or you're falling behind.
