Only walls remain standing as fires gut homes Friday, Sunday

Fires Friday evening and Sunday evening fought by Elkland Township fire fighters caused major damage to two homes.

The Friday fire, reported at 6:35, was at the home of Ray and Kim Smutek on M-53, between Deckerville and Shabbona Roads. Damage was estimated at at least $30,000.

The cause, according to Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski, was traced to a short in the wiring in the basement.

The Sunday fire, reported at 7:30, was at the home of Dallas and Dawn Englehart on Shabbona Road, west of Cemetery Road.

Fought in blizzard conditions, the loss was estimated at $25,000 to the house and $20,000 to the contents, which included $10,000 worth of antique furniture, radios, bottles and about 200 78 rpm records.

The shells of both homes remained standing.

The Smutek fire was discovered by baby sitter Tammy Hurley, 14, who smelled smoke.

She ran out to the barn, where Smutek was. He went into the home, down to the basement and when he opened the door, he later told firemen, it was full of smoke.

Tammy then called home, as both her parents, Roger and Janet Hurley, are members of the fire department. Unfortunately, she didn't hang up the phone. Mrs. Hurley couldn't call out then, so ran about three blocks to the fire hall -- her husband had the car at work -- to set off the alarm.

The fire, Pawloski said, went up through the walls and heating ducts, between the double roofs. When firemen cut holes in the roof with their gasoline engine driven rotary saw, flames shot out.

Lamotte Township firemen brought their tanker to the scene. They left about 9 p.m.

The Elkland fire fighters didn't get back to the fire hall until 10:15. About 7,500 gallons of water were used in fighting the blaze.

For the Smuteks, it was the third fire they have endured. The first blaze, in 1977, he said, destroyed their mobile home in Huntsville Trailer Park. Another fire, in 1979, heavily damaged their mobile home there, but it was repaired.

The family had lived in their home on M-53 about two years. The couple's three children are Joey, 7, Rebecca, 4, and Christopher, 2.

They are temporarily living in the home of Mrs. Smutek's parents, the Jay Smiths, on Main Street, Cass City.

Smutek said they lost everything except the clothes they were wearing. Friends gave them some clothes and they bought a few things, enough to get by until they knew what they were going to do.

Whether their house is rebuildable, he continued, will be determined by the insurance adjuster. The adjuster was to have visited the home Monday, but due to the snow, wasn't expected before Tuesday.

The family will probably rent a home for the interim, Smutek said.

ENGLEHART FIRE

A floating candle, a wick burning in cooking oil, was the cause of the fire in the Englehart home, according to Pawloski.

The candle was sitting on an end table in the living room. Mr. and Mrs. Englehart were in the basement and heard a "pop."

Englehart, who was sitting through the ruins Monday with his wife and some others, said the glass container holding the candle broke. The burning liquid then spread to the couch next to the end table.

When he got upstairs, the couch and wall behind it were burning. He and his wife had been in the basement not more than three minutes, he said.

Englehart said he ran at least a half-mile to the neighbor's to call the fire.

Cass City teacher dies in Friday crash

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Cass City school teacher Bonnie Lucille Bruner, who was killed Friday night in a traffic accident about four miles south of Vassar.

Miss Bruner, 30, had taught first grade at Campbell Elementary School since the fall of 1973.

Her principal, Jacqueline Freiburger, described her as "a very conscientious gal. She was very dedicated to her kids. She loved her job."

Saturday, Mrs. Freiburger and the mothers of two of Miss Bruner's students, Mrs. James G. Turner and Mrs. Gary Edzik, notified all of the students and their parents of the teacher's death. The principal visited the ones in person who did not have a phone. "It's a hard thing to do," she said, adding later, "I think some kids will need special help at school." The teacher had 31 students.

Cass City schools were closed Tuesday because of the snow. Had they been open, Mrs. Freiburger said, she and Supt. Donald Crouse had decided Campbell would be closed in memory of Miss Bruner. "It's going to be sad in our building for a while," she said.

A memorial fund has been established in honor of Miss Bruner, with the donations to be used to buy something for the school, as yet undetermined. Checks can be made out to Campbell Elementary School and should be designated for the memorial fund.

Miss Bruner had an apartment in Cass City, but spent week ends and summers with her parents near Clio, as her mother is seriously ill.

She was on her way there when the accident happened.

According to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, Miss Bruner was headed southeast on M-15, near Swaffer Road, when a vehicle going in the opposite direction crossed the centerline and slammed into her car.

The driver of the other vehicle, Roger F. Leach, 25, of Millington, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw, from which he was released Sunday.

The Millington and Vassar Fire Departments' "Jaws of Life" equipment was used to enable both drivers to be freed from the wreckage.

Miss Bruner was dead at the scene.

The accident, reported at 9:52 p.m., remains under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Pinney merging with Midland bank

The merger of the Pinney State Bank with Chemical Financial Corporation, a holding company for eight subsidiary banks was announced Tuesday by Chairman Frederick H. Pinney of Cass City and Robert B. Bennett, Chairman of Chemical Financial Corporation of Midland.

Pinney said that the merger will have no effect on personnel and the bank personnel will remain unchanged. The board of directors will remain unchanged except for the addition of a representative from Chemical Financial Corporation. Pinney Bank will become a wholly owned subsidiary. Terms of the agreement provide that Chemical will exchange shares of its $10 par value common stock for shares of the Pinney Bank capital stock based on the relative book value of each Dec. 31, 1981.

Chemical will issue between 45,000 and 50,000 shares of common stock to complete the merger.

Total assets of the Pinney Bank Dec. 31 were $22,966,000.

Bennett and Pinney said that the affiliation will increase the Pinney Bank's capacity to serve its customers. Chemical Financial Corporation assets Dec. 31 were $592.3 million. It is the parent company of Chemical Bank and Trust Company of Midland.

Other banks are headquartered in Albion, Augrees, Clare, Gladwin County, Lake City, Marshall and Stanton.

The eight subsidiary banks provide service through 43 banking offices in 14 counties.

CFC Data Corporation, Midland, is a wholly-owned data processing subsidiary of Chemical Financial Corporation.

Merchants take look at revitalizing downtown

A revitalized downtown Cass City could be in the offing, with the first step having been taken last Wednesday evening.

At the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce, architect Donald E. Morgridge, director of the Gaylord branch of MJK Architects, Engineers, Planners, appeared to show slides of what his firm has done in downtowns of other communities.

Of about a dozen downtown merchants invited, only five were present, plus a few others including chamber president and builder Tom Herron, village and Walbro President Lambert Althaver, and village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie.

The lack of turnout didn't bother Morgridge, who appeared without charge. "I'd rather work with a half dozen people who believe in their town than 100 people with 50 of them doubters."

What his firm does is work with photographs of downtown buildings and a suggested theme and draw a new exterior design for each one to fit the theme. For the service, it charges $2 per linear foot of building.

For instance, MJK is presently working in Sandusky, where a "gaslight turn of the century theme has been selected." The city government is paying the cost of the planning, will plant trees and install gas lights in the one block test area and has said it won't boost property tax assessments on the improvements. (The state could impose a factor, however, which would boost all assessments on businesses an equal percentage.)

Rogers City is on Lake Huron in the northern lower peninsula. Large lake freighters dock there to pick up loads of limestone, so merchants there selected a nautical theme.

THE TOWN THAT PERHAPS started the idea of having a theme is Gaylord in northern lower Michigan, where remodeling of stores to fit a "Swiss Alpine" theme began 13 years ago.

Morgridge showed slides of buildings in that town before and after they were remodeled. He pointed out that the conversions weren't all done at once. Some merchants held out until the last year or two before doing any remodeling.

The cost of remodeling varies greatly. A new front was put on the movie theatre there for $2,500. A car dealer's new building cost $60,000 to have the Alpine look for the showroom over what it would have cost for a regular building.

Roads are plowed, new storm awaited

By Mike Ellasohn

Monday and Tuesday were the lull between the storms, but it allowed road crews to get snow off the roads and homeowners to get out of their driveways.

The snow storm which began Sunday afternoon meant long hours for those who drive the snow plows.

In Cass City, village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said Department of Public Works employees worked 14 hours Monday, starting at 4 a.m. and 11 hours Tuesday. One man worked from about 9 p.m. to midnight Sunday in an attempt to keep main streets passable.

He figured Tuesday afternoon they would be done Wednesday clearing away the remaining mounds of snow, unless the anticipated storm did come Wednesday.

All but a few scattered roads in Tuscola County had at least a single lane plowed down them by Tuesday morning, according to Road Commission Clerk Jim Miklovic.

The untouched roads were to be plowed that day, then work was to start on widening the path on the primary roads and some local ones.

Crews Sunday mainly worked on state highways. Monday, they started before 7 a.m. and some worked until 8 p.m.

In Sanilac County, Road Commission Engineer-Manager Jack Kineman said all roads would be passable by the end of the day, plus work would begin on widening.

SNOW DAY -- Using mechanical means Monday morning (right photo) to get rid of the snow behind Dr. Richard A. Hall's clinic at Church and Oak Streets was Jim Smithson. Lloyd Schinnerer used a shovel to clear his Pine Street driveway, but the Cass City High School teacher had lots of time. Schools were closed Monday and Tuesday. About 6½ inches fell, but drifting made it seem much higher.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

There was a larger than usual crowd last Wednesday at the Delta-St. Clair community college basketball game. That's because a few carloads of Cass City fans trekked to Saginaw to see Todd Comment play.

The former Cass City star didn't disappoint them as he led his team in scoring.

Another graduated basketball star now playing for Oakland University had a once-in-a-lifetime experience the other day. He's Craig Tonti and his experience had nothing to do with basketball.

He was one of the helpers at the super bowl and spent the game in the press box much of the time visiting with O.J. Simpson.

By Tuesday things were about back to normal following the storm. Monday morning was quiet. Kritzman's Clothing didn't open until noon and Sommers' closed for the day.

According to most folks along the main stem they didn't miss any customers.

SHED FIRE -- All that was left was a pile of burnt logs after fire destroyed the shed of Larry Turnbull on Little Road last Thursday morning.

Fire destroys storage shed, dog escapes

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a 15-by-20-foot storage shed last Thursday morning.

The shed was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Turnbull, who were asleep at the time as they work a night shift. A neighbor spotted the fire and called it in to the Elkland Township Fire Department at 9:40 a.m. By then, the shed had already collapsed.

The shed was located behind the Turnbulls' home on Little Road, west of Dodge Road.

Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski estimated the loss at $1,200. The shed contained firewood, a bicycle and some miscellaneous items.

A dog who was chained to the shed escaped, apparently when the wood the chain was fastened to burned away.

Although a cause was undetermined, Pawloski said the fire may have been started by some still hot ashes from the fireplace which were dumped close to the shed.

Fire fighters were there about one hour.

County, employees negotiate contract

Negotiators for Tuscola County and the union representing courthouse employees reached tentative agreement on a new contract Friday.

Details of the agreement, including its length, won't be made public until after -- and if -- it is ratified by the employees and county Board of Commissioners.

The employees belong to Local 2697 of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO. The union representative, Rick Kloor of Flint, said members were to meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday, weather permitting, to discuss and vote on the contract. Between 50 and 60 are affected.

If they approve it, the county board will consider it at its meeting Tuesday of next week, according to the chairman of its personnel committee, Donna Rayl of Akron.

The Friday negotiating session, the fourth since negotiations began Dec. 10, lasted about 2½ hours, she said.

The county negotiating team was headed by Caro attorney Thomas Abbey. Also serving on it were Mrs. Rayl, the other personnel committee member, Royce Russell of Cass City, and "sitting in," county Personnel Administrator Jackie Larson.

Kloor was the chief negotiator for the union. Also serving on the negotiating team were local President Sandra Singer, district court clerk, and three other employees.

The previous contract between the county and union expired Dec. 31. Employees have continued working under its provisions since then.

After the old contract was approved, there was a protracted dispute whether probate court employees were covered by it. The county board said they were, and the probate court employees, the probate judge and the union said they weren't. A compromise was eventually reached.

Mrs. Rayl said the tentative agreement includes the probate court employees. "I don't anticipate that problem," she replied, when asked if that dispute might reoccur.

"If It Fitz..."

Nuclear disarmament

By Jim Fitzgerald

Editor's note: This column was written by Jim Fitzgerald prior to the fund raising event he refers to, which took place last Sunday.

The least I can do is jump up and down and holler that everyone should go see Rocky and Bullwinkle at the Cass City Cinema in downtown Detroit this Sunday.

The cartoon show is a fund raiser for the Detroit Area Nuclear Freeze Campaign. "The campaign needs a little levity," explained Kathleen Conway, a campaign officer.

"We are collecting signatures to place a question on the ballot in November that would tell President Reagan that the people of Michigan want a mutual, bilateral moratorium, or freeze, on the testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons," Conway explained. "This is part of an international effort; similar campaigns are being conducted in over 40 states. To get on the Michigan ballot, we must collect 230,000 valid signatures by May 26. If sheer determination and energy will do it, then we will be winners."

The Conway message was part of the gratifying response to a recent column saying that if I really loved my grandchildren, I'd never stop jumping up and down and hollering for nuclear disarmament today, in the please-dear-God hope that they won't be bombed tomorrow.

It is encouraging to learn so many of you agree nuclear disarmament is the most important issue, and all other problems are mere footnotes by comparison. (Although if jobless families are currently more afraid of new federalism, I understand.)

Particularly encouraging was a note from David

Ehrlich, a Grosse Pointe Park law student. He said for some time he'd been planning to get involved with the Center for Peace and Conflict Studies at Wayne State University, but just never got around to it.

"Your article pushed me over the edge and was the last in a series of pressures, internal and external, to actually do something," he said. "So today I called up the center. Thanks."

That's what I like to hear. Now maybe I can push a few people toward the Bullwinkle show. It will include Fractured Fairy Tales and other cartoons. The Cass City Cinema is at the corner of Cass and Forest. Sunday's shows are at 5 and 7:30 p.m. and tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

Money raised will help finance a campaign to assure that children under 12 may live to see the day when there are no nuclear weapons anywhere.

But how could such a Utopian condition possibly be achieved in a world containing Russia? That's what several readers asked me. Some of them hinted that I'm a dumbbell who could learn something from much smarter columnists, such as William Buckley, who also want nuclear disarmament but who realize that the dirty Reds can't be trusted to disarm, no matter what they promise.

I would never deny my relative dumbness, and certainly it would be presumptuous of me to suggest a solution to a problem stumping the best brains in Washington and Moscow. But I'll do it anyway. My idea could be called the Investigator Exchange Program.

Russia should send a team of its most trusted investigators to oversee the disarming of the United States. At the same time, the U.S. should send a similar team to Russia. The teams could be in constant communication while the two nuclear arsenals are destroyed simultaneously, piece by piece. Similar exchange programs could be held in other nuclear nations. Such exchanges would surely be welcomed gratefully by ordinary citizens everywhere.

I know. Somebody's already thought of it, and such a simplistic plan could never work. But I don't understand why. William Buckley could probably tell me.

It's enough to make a grandfather jump up and down and holler. Join me.

There's a group of residents that believe that the best method of sprucing up Main Street is to preserve the turn of the century design of the older buildings.

That school doesn't include most of the business-men-owners of the buildings. They aren't hung up on antiquity, but are interested in making the business district one that will attract and keep shoppers.

There's little doubt that among art critics the preservation of the buildings would receive near unanimous approval.

With an unlimited budget and no regard at all for profit, Cass City could probably transform the town into something unusual and unique.

In the real world of up to 25 percent unemployed, the restoration of the opera house on the second and third story of the Kritzman building, for instance, is as unrealistic as thinking that Hudson's would plant a store on the corner of Main and Seeger.

Before anything, anything at all, can be done with any building, the owner has to be making enough money to have a few spare bucks to toss back into remodeling.

It's likely that any uniform change in the business district is years away.

That's no reason for not going as far as we can.

I'd think that most owners would be amenable to any plan that would provide a guide to eventually moving the business district to look like a progressive, fun place to come to.

In Sandusky they call it a gaslight district. In Rogers City (on the shore of Lake Huron) they have a sailor motif; in Gaylord it's the Alpine village.

The name really doesn't mean much. I'd think that in Cass City any motif would have to incorporate the shingle shake fronts that are already in place and go from there, for the simple reason that there have been a lot of bucks spent in that direction already. The same goes for the trees and flowers that grace the main stem.

If we are successful in the preliminary planning now underway, perhaps the upper stories of at least some of the buildings can be renovated at reasonable cost.

If nothing else, the meeting with MJK Architects calls attention to a problem that long has been recognized.

For $2 per foot of frontage sketches for the orderly development of the district can be secured.

If we can get that far it will be a big plus even if nothing else materializes in the immediate future.

Speakers warn area dairy farmers

Less milk, more promotion needed to end dairy industry's problems

Pedaling Around

A better downtown

By Mike Eliasohn

The meeting I attended last Wednesday concerning possible revitalizing of downtown Cass City (see story, page 1) wasn't the first such meeting I have attended.

When I was a reporter for the Monroe Evening News, I covered a series of meetings regarding revitalization of that city's downtown.

A design firm specializing in such projects was hired. It conducted a series of workshops for the merchants and public and drawings were made of the way the downtown buildings could be improved. (The "theme" was to be restoring the buildings to their original turn-of-the-century appearance.)

I was back in Monroe last summer for the first time in four years. Except for one or two buildings, nothing had been done since I had left.

Hopefully, whatever happens here will be more successful.

Of course, nothing will happen until the economy improves. Merchants aren't going to be spending money to fix up their stores when they are more concerned about staying in business.

It is probably safe to assume some merchants won't do anything. If they didn't do anything to fix up their stores when times were good, they probably won't do anything in the future either, when the economy improves.

One of the advantages of having a downtown plan is that it doesn't get out of date.

No business owner stays in business forever. If the new owners want to change the external appearance of the store, the plan gives them something to follow.

If the planning process here does get to the point where a "theme" is selected, I predict it will be the "Swiss Alpine" look several merchants have already used for the outside of their stores.

That means canopies covered with wood shingles, light brown brick and for some, wood siding.

Personally, I find it regrettable that most merchants everywhere -- not just Cass City -- choose to remodel their stores by covering over the original store fronts.

Why not restore turn-of-the-century buildings to the look when they were new? Sandblast or steam clean the exteriors, paint the trim and restore the broken masonry and cornices. I find that much more appealing than some variation of modern bland.

To go on a tangent, I fail to understand why merchants don't install double entranceway doors, especially those who spend money to otherwise remodel their stores, of which I can think of two recent examples.

Not only do double doors cut down on heat loss, they also make it more comfortable for employees.

The Chronicle is one of a handful of downtown businesses that have double doors and I can remember what it was like before the entranceway and second door were installed. Brrr!

Back to my main topic, even if downtown revitalization never gets beyond the drawing stage, I think it would be nice if a paint-up, fix-up campaign were inaugurated. (Granted, paint isn't cheap these days either.)

As the architect at the meeting last week suggested, paint what needs painting, fix broken upstairs windows, repair broken masonry, etc.

That should also apply to the backs of stores. Some look very nice in front, but go around to the back, and they badly need a coat of paint.

Since most parking here is behind the stores, customers see as much of the rear of the stores as they do of the fronts.

Let's sound too negative, let me add that the architect mentioned that compared to a lot of downtowns he has seen, Cass City's is in pretty good shape.

By Mike Eliasohn

Dairy farmers face hard financial times ahead which only they can get themselves out of.

That was the message delivered to about 100 dairymen last Thursday who attended a Cooperative Extension Service sponsored dairy industry seminar at the Masonic Temple in Cass City. It was one of nine seminars with the same speakers being presented throughout the state.

Four of the six speakers discussed technical matters and management procedures to help the dairy farmers improve their profitability.

The others, Tom Angott, president of three Detroit dairy companies and chairman of the board of the National Dairy Council, and Dr. Glynn McBride, Michigan State University agricultural economics professor, dealt with the grim realities facing the dairy industry.

The problem is that farmers are producing too much milk, much more than the marketplace needs, which combined with decreased government price supports means less income.

Because of the huge surplus, some are questioning whether the government should provide any support for milk.

Wagner funeral held Wednesday

William Wagner, 80, of Lakeland, Fla., and the Cass City area died last Thursday at Lakeland General Hospital.

He was born Sept. 23, 1901, in Cass City, the son of John and Jerusha (Dodge) Wagner.

Wagner married Orpha McCool Nov. 29, 1927, in Sanilac County. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary in 1981.

Wagner was a member of the Deford Community Church.

He is survived by his wife, Orpha, and several nieces and nephews. One daughter, Belva, preceded him in death.

Wagner was taken from Little's Funeral Home at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday to the Deford Community Church to lie in state until the 1:30 p.m. funeral service. Rev. Gerald Rodgers officiated. Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

GLYNN McBride

The short term solution, both men said, is that farmers are going to have to cut production of milk and endure lower prices.

The long range solution is to spend a lot more money to promote increased consumption of milk and other dairy products.

To do nothing would be fatal, Angott warned. "If we just sit back and wait it out, we're on a train that's going downhill and it won't stop... the decline will become greater and greater."

McBride, in comments made after his speech, didn't want to say that the financial situation will drive some dairymen out of business.

He did say those who owe a lot of money and are paying high interest rates will be facing the roughest times and some dairymen nearing retirement age may decide to retire early.

DAIRY SEMINAR -- The message delivered at the Cass City dairy industry seminar last Thursday by Tom Angott, chairman of the National Dairy Council, was a serious one, if the expressions of his audience are an indication.

and under the recently passed farm bill, will decline to 62 percent in 1983-84.

The agricultural economist gave several reasons why price supports are still needed, among them, that the dairy industry is made up of many small producers. "You as an individual can't do one thing about the price in the market place."

Also, agriculture is subject to variabilities due to weather, insects and the biological process of cows, plus food is a product persons must have.

"If you don't defend this," McBride said to his farm audience of the price support system, "I don't know who is."

BUT IF DAIRYMEN need to produce less milk over the short term, over the long term, they must reverse the trend of declining milk sales.

Consumption has been declining 1-2 percent a year for the past six years, Angott said, and most critically, in the 3-12 year age group.

The reason, he explained, is because the dairy industry is being outspent by the competition.

The soft drink industry spends $355 million a year to promote its products, which have little or no nutritional value. "Its contribution to society, zilch."

The juice and punch industry spends $100 million a year, "then the beer people walked past us" and coffee and tea -- the only beverages lagging behind milk consumption -- are "coming up fast."

IN CONTRAST TO those big spenders, he said, the total spent nationwide for promotion of milk is only $28 million annually. "Dr. Pepper spends more than that on one drink."

That works out to about 10 cents per hundredweight of milk produced. Angott, who also owns a soft drink company, couldn't put a price tag on how much the dairy industry needs to spend for promotion of what he called "nature's most perfect food," but suggested it may have to be 30 cents per hundredweight.

The milk glut is already being felt. Dairies are paying less to farmers, as much as $1-2 per hundredweight.

His own dairy plant, he said, which processes 36 million gallons of milk and has the most modern equipment, is losing money.

DESPITE THE SHORT-term gloom, both Angott and McBride are optimistic for the future.

Research is being done now on finding the right appeal to promote milk consumption and new uses, Angott said. "We will not take a great industry like the dairy industry and let it go to pot."

McBride was equally optimistic. "There's no question in my mind we'll come through these dark times."

In Sanilac County

Bridge millage vote set

The Sanilac County Board of Commissioners last Wednesday voted to place a three-quarter mill levy on the August primary ballot for repair of bridges.

If approved, the levy will be for five years.

Approval of the ballot question came after the board discussed the proposal with the Road Commission board and a 16-member delegation from the Sanilac County Farm Bureau.

Farm Bureau President Wayne Wood told commissioners his organization's local affairs committee conducted a study on the need for bridge repairs. As a result of the study, a resolution was approved at last fall's annual meeting asking the county board to put the millage on the August ballot.

The .75 mill levy, according to Road Commission Engineer-Manager Jack Kineman, who was also at the county board meeting, will raise about $300,000 a year, based on present valuations.

With the cost of fixing or repairing all of the county's deteriorating bridges estimated at $11 million, the levy over the five years will come nowhere near taking care of all of them, "but it would be a start."

The levy would actually raise about $370,000, but under state law, incorporated villages and cities in the county will have to get their proportionate share, about $70,000, even if they don't have any bridges.

As much as possible, Kineman said, the money will be used for bridges where the work can be done by the Road Commission's own crews, which would be cheaper than soliciting bids for the work to be done by private contractors.

The millage money will also be used as matching money for federal critical bridge program grants, provided Washington approves any of the Road Commission's applications for such funds. On any such bridge projects, the federal government pays 90 percent of the cost, the Road Commission, the remainder.

This is apparently the first time such a proposal has been on the ballot in Sanilac County, at least in recent years.

Pork to Poland

The board of directors of the National Farmers Organization have passed a resolution to accept from members on a voluntary basis a total of 300,000 pounds of beef, pork and powdered milk and make it available to the needy people of Poland.

The shipment, which will include 100,000 pounds of each, will be made available to two church organizations for transportation and distribution in Poland. They are Church World Service, a broad-based organization of churches, and Catholic Relief Fund, both headquartered in New York.

Farmers interested in participating can call Sanilac County NFO President William Jones at 872-3089.

Plans call for the program to be completed no later than Feb. 15.

The site chosen for slaughtering and processing the meat will be announced later. The meat will be canned to insure its preservation.

HEALTH TIPS

If winter gives you the shivers, be glad

If you shiver when it's cold, don't complain. Your body is reacting normally to low temperatures by sending you a message to get warm.

Some people aren't aware of becoming chilled. They should complain, because their bodies' temperature mechanisms don't function well.

They could become candidates for hypothermia, a condition of abnormally low body temperature that can lead to serious complications and even death, according to the Tuscola County Health Department.

Although some infants and middle-aged people can be at risk, older people are the most susceptible to hypothermia. If you know an elderly person, you might watch for the symptoms of hypothermia during cold weather.

Sometimes there is a change in appearance or behavior. The person sometimes shivers uncontrollably, or not at all, and complains of stiff muscles. Speech could be slurred and breathing shallow and slow.

If the pulse is weak and blood pressure is low, and if the older person shows signs of confusion, disorientation, or drowsiness, get help immediately.

Until the ambulance arrives, warm the person. Wrap him or her in an electric or thermal blanket, and place a hot water bottle or heating pad on the abdomen (at a low setting). If the victim is alert, feed him or her warm food or beverages, but do not give alcohol.

If none of these procedures is available, warm the victim with your own body by lying close, but do not rub the person's limbs in hope of improving circulation.

Chances for recovery are good if the person's general health is good, if the hypothermia is detected early, and if the case is not severe.

The best advice is to keep older people warm. Some of them can be comfortable in rooms of 65-degree temperature, but most need warmer surroundings. They should dress warmly, eat well, and be as active as possible. At night they should be warm in bed, since hypothermia may start during sleep.

If you know an elderly person who is living alone, keep in touch to be sure that they're all right. If you have an elderly person in your home, be sure he or she does not become chilled as thermostats are lowered to conserve fuel.

Don't complain about being cold. Get warmed. A shiver could be your warning against hypothermia.

Church film rescheduled to Sunday

The film, "Years of the Beast," will be shown at the Ellington Church of The Nazarene, M-81 at Dutcher Road, Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

The film points to a profound message that in the middle of tribulation and personal loss, one can still find a spiritual inheritance filled with triumph.

It was scheduled to be shown this past Sunday but was postponed because of the snow storm.

Alaska's Commissioner of Labor, Edmund N. Orbeck, urges that job seekers in other states not come to Alaska unless they have a firm offer of employment.

Economic conditions across the country have led many workers to leave their home states to seek employment and that national publicity concerning proposed construction of the Alaska Highway Gas Pipeline is resulting in large numbers of job seekers coming to Alaska.

"Construction of the gas pipeline has not begun in Alaska and is not expected to begin until 1984," Orbeck said. "Financing for the project has not been finalized and recruitment is not underway."

Nearly all major construction projects in the state are unionized and Alaska's local job service offices and labor unions have thousands of workers registered for employment - far more than would be required for any jobs that may occur in the foreseeable future.

Orbeck also warned that job seekers should be wary of advertisements offering high paying jobs or Alaska job information for sale. The state pursues the prosecution of persons and firms who advertise and sell misleading Alaska job information.

Anyone who reads an advertisement offering to sell Alaskan employment information is urged to send the advertisement to the name of the publication to the Alaska Department of Labor, P.O. Box 1149, Juneau, Alaska 99811.

Officially, there is no such coin as a penny - to the United States Government and its mints it's legally a "cent."

New books at the library

NO TIME FOR TEARS by Cynthia Freeman (fiction). A sweeping saga spanning four generations and four continents, from the author of "Come Pour the Wine" and "Portraits." Prevailing over tragedy and heartbreak in turn-of-the-century Russia, Chava survives to prematurely become the matriarch of her family. Journeying to Palestine, to London, and to the tumult of New York's diamond center, and living through two world wars, passionate relationships, and wealth, Chava finally manages to free the family that she struggled for a lifetime to reunite.

IN CAME THE DARKNESS by Peter Z. Grossman (non-fiction). The last time a major metropolitan area was swallowed by darkness for a long and dangerous period, experts said it couldn't happen again. Yet, blackouts - the loss of electricity - have become a part of modern life for both rural and urban dwellers. "In Came the Darkness" provides, clearly and accurately, the information needed to understand how electricity works and how it can fail. It also includes the most interesting stories to come out of the blackout experience, stories about human weakness and strength.

VERMILION by Phyllis Whitney (fiction). Lindsay, a beautiful New York fashion designer, has made her way to the top. But when an anonymous letter dredges up her past, she knows she must return home. There she will again face the man she could not have, a sister who despises her, and the secret of her own birth.

Family films at 7:30 p.m. Monday will be "Rusty and the Falcon" - young boy nurses falcon back to health - and "The Legend of John Henry," the greatest steel driving man of them all.

Spring wheat meeting set

Spring wheat and other crop-related topics will be discussed at a crop production meeting Tuesday, Feb. 16.

It will start at 1 p.m. in the county conference room, adjacent to the extension office in Sandusky.

The wet fall inhibited the planting of most fall wheat in the Thumb, therefore, there is much interest in growing spring wheat.

Problem insects and where they are found in Sanilac will also be discussed. Does herbicide-imregnated fertilizer work on Sanilac farms? The group will hear the answer to this question. Soybean trial results in Sanilac and the new soybean information will be discussed.

Deford lists honor roll

The following students were named to the third marking period honor roll for the fifth grade at Deford Elementary School:

Darin Gomyori (all A's), Ted Peasley, Jo Ellen Pratt (all A's), Laurie Stine, John Vandenbosche and Leigh Ann Voss.

AAUW supports millage

The Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women met Jan. 26 in the high school library with Sharon Dunn presiding.

Hostesses were Marlene Erla, Ann Craig, Helen Baker and Sharon Dunn.

Speakers were school Supt. Don Crouse and school board member Dick Albee, who discussed the Cass City schools' financial situation and the upcoming millage vote.

The group voted to actively support the millage committee in its effort to get the millage passed. Linda Albee will organize the members into either door-to-door canvassers or other work areas.

Plans are being finalized for the appearance of the Youththeatre in March, sponsored by AAUW. A program and workshop will be presented to the elementary schools.

Approval was given for a contribution to be made to the Young Authors Program. It is a day of recognition for area students and their achievements.

Medicare enrollment underway

From now through the end of March is the general enrollment period for the medical insurance part of Medicare.

During this time, people who passed up the chance for this protection or who had it and dropped out can again sign up.

Protection for people who sign up during this period will start July 1.

The federal government pays more than two-thirds of the premium cost from Federal general revenues.

Medical insurance complements the hospital insurance part of Medicare. Hospital insurance helps pay for medically necessary inpatient hospital care and certain followup care in a skilled nursing facility or at home.

Medical insurance helps pay for doctor's services, including surgical services, diagnostic tests and X-rays that are part of the treatment, medical supplies furnished in the doctor's office, services of the office nurse, and drugs that are given as part of the treatment and which cannot be self-administered.

Medical insurance also covers out-patient hospital services received for diagnosis and treatment and other services and supplies not covered by hospital insurance.

Medical insurance pays for 80 percent of the approved costs or charges for covered services and supplies after the patient has met the $75 annual deductible.

More information about Medicare medical insurance can be obtained at the Saginaw Social Security office, corner of East Genesee and North Warren Streets in downtown Saginaw. The telephone number is 771-1010.

Your Neighbor says Milliken should retire, Brickley shouldn't run

Come August, Michigan voters may have more candidates for governor to choose from in the primary election than there are baseball players in a game.

Including two expected to announce shortly they are candidates, there are at least 10 Democrats and four Republicans seeking the seat to be vacated by Gov. William G. Milliken.

Ray Dearing hasn't decided yet who he wants to be the next governor, but he does have an opinion about Milliken, who is in his 14th year in the post.

"I think he has done a fine job, but he was there too long. Anybody holding that position for as long as he did has to get a little dusty."

The present lieutenant governor, James Brickley, recently announced his candidacy for the top job. "I don't think Brickley should run," said Dearing.

The reason, he explained, is that Milliken was lieutenant governor under George Romney and now Brickley is lieutenant governor under Milliken. He feels Brickley would be more of the same. "I just think Michigan is in a state where we need some new blood."

Dearing doesn't have a preference between a Democrat or Republican. The new governor, he feels, must promote the auto industry, agriculture, tourism and small business in order to create more jobs in the state.

He feels Milliken should have intervened in the talks between the United Auto Workers and the auto companies to renegotiate their contracts. Talks with General Motors have fallen apart but are continuing with Ford.

"I think he (Milliken) should (intervene) if the state is going to survive," he commented. "They can't handle this like an everyday thing any more."

Dearing and his brother, David were owners of The Station tavern in Cass City, which they recently sold. He moved to Caro within the last two weeks, where he is working as a sales representative for Michigan Farm Radio Network.

Insurance proof needed for license

This year when you purchase license plate tabs by mail from the Department of State, you must include a proof of insurance certificate with your prepared application and personal check.

This is a new law enacted by the Michigan legislature in 1981.

Your insurance company will furnish two copies of a certificate of insurance. One should be sent to the Department with your mail application for plates or tabs. The other should be carried in your car with your vehicle registration.

In addition to a drivers license and vehicle registration, you are now required by law to show proof of insurance on your vehicle if you are stopped by a law enforcement officer.

AARP to elect new officers

The American Association of Retired Persons will meet at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church fellowship hall, weather permitting, Thursday, Feb. 11.

Blood pressure readings will be taken from 11 a.m. to noon.

Nominations of new officers for 1982 to 1984 will be taken and voted on.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT

If you are one of America's workers, an IRA may be the solution to your retirement income needs.

Even though you may plan on Social Security, for most people Social Security is a beginning, but it may not provide an adequate retirement income by itself.

All interest on an IRA account is TAX-FREE until withdrawal. You take before-tax dollars from your earned income now (lowering your taxable income) and deposit them into an IRA account. You pay no taxes on the principal or interest until you retire and start to withdraw the money ... at which time your tax bracket should be substantially lower.

So, plan ahead now for your retirement years with your own IRA. It's a wonderful opportunity for you to -

- SAVE TAX DOLLARS
- EARN BIG TAX-EXEMPT INTEREST
- BUILD SECURITY FOR YOUR FUTURE

Federal Regulators require substantial penalties for withdrawals made prior to maturity. IRA regulators provide for substantial penalties for withdrawals before age 59½.

Crucial Laker game ahead

Hawks fall to Sandusky, edge Mayville

It wasn't an impressive tuneup for the crucial Laker game coming Friday but it was a victory Tuesday night at Mayville.

Like most of Cass City's games this year it was close all the way and it wasn't until the final minute that the issue was decided, 59-52.

In an error filled first half Cass City moved in front by six points in the first quarter only to falter before the Wildcats' press in the second period. In the first 3½ minutes of the second quarter Mayville counted 8 unanswered points to take a 16-14 lead. After that the lead changed hands several times before the Hawks moved in front 23-22 at the intermission.

In the opening moments of the third period Cass City finally solved Mayville's press to move into a six-point lead in the first 2½ minutes.

Mayville switched to a zone defense and promptly worked itself back into the game, trailing 38-36, at the end of three quarters.

After that it was anybody's ball game. The game was tied six times in the last period, the last time with 1:19 left in the game.

The Hawks had slipped behind moments earlier as Doug McLane broke a 46-all tie with a basket and Mark McLane added a pair of charity tosses.

Cass City charged back with baskets by Scott Hobart and a drive by Gary Robinson.

With the game tied and just over a minute left John Meininger whipped in a lay-up at the front end of a fast break. Ray Ferris chipped in a tree throw and Hobart sank a pair of charity heaves and that was the ball game.

Meininger led all scorers with 17 points. Rick Pobanz added 14. Mayville was led by Mark McLane with 12 points.

half was that the score was close.

Sandusky edged in front in the first quarter and was never behind although the game was up for grabs until midway in the third period.

At the end of the first period the visitors were in front, 14-8, largely because the Hawks couldn't buy a basket inside or convert a free throw.

Most of Cass City's scoring was on jump shots from about 15 feet by guards Ray Ferris and Gary Robinson.

Cass City found the range midway through the second quarter to come from seven points behind to trail by just a point with two minutes left before the intermission. The Hawks were never to come closer. At the intermission Sandusky led, 24-21.

It was apparent at the half that the team that could put a sustained rally together would be the winner.

Sandusky is the team that did it. In the first four minutes of the third period the Redskins rolled to a 36-25 lead, hitting hoops and out-rebounding the Hawks.

At the end of the third quarter the margin was 44-30. Cass City made a mini run at Sandusky in the final period, closing a 15-point gap to eight, but the Redskins took command again with a control ball offense to chalk up the key victory.

Cass City, which traditionally has strong free throw shooting was poor, especially in the crucial second and third quarters with the game on the line. The Hawks finished with 11 of 23 while the Redskins made 10 of 16.

John Meininger had one of his better scoring nights of the season with 15 points. Rick Pobanz added 11. Mark Ruggles and Todd Christy led Sandusky with 16 and 12 points respectively.

JV'S WIN

Cass City's junior varsity, which lost to Sandusky by 19 points in the first meeting, turned the tables on the young Redskins with a 71-60 decision in the preliminary.

SANDUSKY GAME

The Sandusky Redskins took a long stride toward the second Thumb B Association undisputed basketball title in the school's history Friday at Cass City. The Redskins convincingly topped the Hawks, 56-45.

The loss was the third in conference play for Cass City and drops them two full games behind league leading Redskins.

If the Redskins continue on to the title it will be the first since 1974 when Sandusky defeated Cass City, 68-64, in the final game of the season with the championship on the line.

Both teams were up for the encounter Friday. For Cass City it was a must game and the Redskins remembered that Cass City is the only team to defeat them this season.

As a result, play in the first two quarters was, in a word, lousy. Neither team was able to shoot, turnovers were frequent and passing erratic.

From the fans' standpoint the only thing that could be said for the game in the first half was that the score was close.

Tom Koch scored 32 points to pace the winners and Brent Mowry netted 18. For Erla's Roy Calahan with 24 and Ken Pichla with 17 were the scoring leaders.

Stevenson's Insurance just about knocked themselves out of title contention in the nightcap as they lost to Elkton, 74-68.

For the first two quarters it appeared as if form would be followed as the Insurance five rolled to a 14-10 first period lead and stretched it to 31-26 at the half.

The third period was a disaster for Stevenson's as Elkton caught fire to whip in 30 points while Stevenson's countered with just 17.

Elkton nursed that eight-point lead in the final period and stopped a desperation rally by Stevenson's to claim the victory.

Four players from each team were in double figures. For Elkton they were: Jim Schramski, 25; Aaron Deering, 13; Jim Quinn, 12; Todd Weisenbaugh, 12. For Stevenson's the point producers were Rick Tuckey, 20; Jeff McKenzie, 14; Tim Bates, 12; Bill Stevenson, 10.

In the first game Thursday, McMahan's showed the league balance by upsetting Charmont, 80-59.

It was a close game for a half as the teams exchanged baskets, with the Bowlers in front 32-31 after two quarters.

McMahan's started to control the boards in the third quarter and moved in front 56-45 after three periods. Charmont tried to get back in the game by fouling but McMahan's were super from the foul line and lengthened their lead in the final period.

For McMahan's, Jason Koehler contributed 28 and Kurt Copeland and Leon Kaniszewski, 20 each. Norm Stephens produced 14 and George Koehler, 12, for Charmont.

Tax reform group forms

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

An upstart group calling itself Tax Reform in Michigan (TRIM) has announced launching of a petition drive to put a proposed constitutional amendment on the November ballot that would eliminate property taxes as the basis for school financing.

As an alternative to property taxes, the group proposes to substitute several other taxes to support education.

The proposal could save more than $2.5 billion in property taxes and a potential $836 million total cut in state revenues.

The plan was announced recently by Mecosta County Commissioner James Obert.

To pay the cost of K-12 school aid, the TRIM amendment would increase state income and sales taxes to 5 percent from the current 4.6 and 4 percent levels, respectively.

Of the total, one percent of each tax would be allocated to public schools.

Also specifically allocated to schools would be 25 percent of all business taxes and oil and gas production lease revenue and royalties.

Additionally, local school districts could implement, with local voter approval, local income taxes that would receive a 50 percent match from the state government.

The proposal will guarantee property tax relief to those overburdened by the tax, Obert said. But, he added, it will not affect property taxes paid to finance local governments and to pay for building construction in school districts.

The state could lose up to $826 million through the proposal, but there would be no lost revenue if the state decided against cutting business property taxes, Obert said.

However, the amendment specifically says property taxes for school operations will not be levied on all commercial and industrial property.

Obert did not say how the business tax could be reinstated or where he thought budget cuts should come if the money was not recovered.

He said that was the responsibility of the Legislature to decide.

The amendment is a revised form of a proposal floated in 1980 which failed to gain a place on the ballot. Obert blamed that failure on too many petitions and too much competition that year.

KELLEY INTERVENES

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has officially asked the federal court which is hearing the antitrust case against American Telephone and Telegraph to allow Michigan to intervene.

Kelley said the state will propose a separate divestiture plan to the one agreed to by the federal government and the corporation, which would leave its Michigan Bell subsidiary "virtually intact, financially healthy and able to compete for profits in telephone equipment, yellow pages and similar markets."

Under the agreement reached with the government, Michigan Bell and the other Bell Telephone subsidiaries will be divested from the parent corporation, a move the Michigan Public Service Commission feared could double to triple the current basic residential and business phone rates. Federal Judge Harold Green has refused to rule on the agreement until a period of public comment has passed.

Under federal law, Kelley explained, interested parties are allowed to file comments, offer arguments and present witnesses in an effort to affect a judge's ruling.

Beva Wallace retires

Over 25 years at Walbro ends

After more than 25 years on the job, Beva Wallace knows her carburetors inside and out.

Now, however, she can let someone else concern themselves with carburetors. Her last day of work for Walbro Corp. was Friday. She started working for the company July 15, 1956.

She held various jobs over the years -- "I've been all over the place" -- with her final one being final inspection of the carburetor castings after machining was done. That was in plant No. 3 on Church Street.

The Schwegler Road resident has lived all her life in the Cass City area. She has seven children, all living in Michigan, and 16 grandchildren. Mrs. Wallace's husband, Donald, is deceased.

At age 66, she explained, "I decided it was time to make changes."

What will she do now that she is retired? "I'm not going to do too much; go to my children and do things I haven't been able to do."

Experimental program presents instant information

Gerstenbergers get look at farm future

Grain futures. Sugar futures. Livestock futures. Which way are the markets going. What will the weather be tomorrow. What's happening in Lansing and Washington.

Dwain, Rick and Rob Gerstenberger's Farm Bureau Agricom Pioneer tells them about everything they need to know. About the only thing it won't do is boost commodity and livestock prices.

The Gerstenbergers are among 25 participants in an experimental Michigan Farm Bureau (MFB) program to provide producers with almost instantaneous information when they need it.

Dwain and sons Rick and Rob (plus part-time help from Jim, the only brother still in school) farm 1,500 acres of corn, beans, sugar beets and wheat in Argyle, Custer and Moore Townships of Sanilac County. Base of operations is at Dwain Gerstenberger's home on Forester Road, north of Sandusky.

MFB sent out a questionnaire to members asking if they were interested. Rick was, filled it out, and the Gerstenbergers were selected. They are the only farmers in the upper Thumb chosen.

An aim in making the selections, he explained, was to get a cross section of operations from around the state, in order to get different kinds of input as to Agricom's usefulness.

The state's largest farm organization is evaluating the information system to determine whether it should be made available to all members.

The Agricom looks like a mini-computer, which is becoming more and more popular, with a typewriter keyboard and video display screen. The screen is actually a television, which the Gerstenbergers own. The keyboard is included in the fee they are paying for the service.

UNLIKE REAL MINI-computers, the Agricom will not solve problems, for instance, the most cost efficient amount of fertilizer to use. It is strictly an information supply system. "As far as computing anything, it's just a memory bank," Rick explained.

Information comes from a terminal in Lansing via a regular telephone line. The Agricom has a memory, which can store the information it receives.

It can store a maximum of the equivalent of 32 pages of information, which takes about 1½ minutes to transmit, which means a long distance bill of about $1.50. It is not necessary to receive all the information each time, which saves on phone bills. The information, for instance, can be limited to present and future grain prices.

WHAT THAT MEANS Rick explained, is, "If you're busy, you don't have to run to the house and call your broker."

In practical terms, what it means is that when the Gerstenbergers are busy in the field or elsewhere, they don't have to worry about being close to a radio when the markets and grain futures are broadcast. And hearing it on the radio, Dwain pointed out, isn't of much benefit "unless you got a pencil and you're sitting down."

When they are done working outside, they can call the terminal in Lansing, which transmits 24 hours a day, and get all the market information for the day.

Another advantage is that it updates grain futures every 10 minutes. The information comes to the terminal in Lansing via satellite. Without it, they would have to get the information from their elevator, broker or the next day from the Wall Street Journal.

The Agricom doesn't advise the farmer when to sell or sign a forward contract. "You still have to make the decision," Rob said. "All this does is give you the information."

TO HELP THE FARMER make those decisions, the system supplies a raft of information: Grain future quotes, changes and highs and lows for corn, oats, wheat, soybeans, sunflowers, soybean meal and soybean oil.

There is also a grain comments and analysis, daily Saginaw cash grain markets, dry bean report, sugar futures and livestock futures and market information.

Michigan State University provides a weekly market analysis for corn, soybeans, wheat, cattle and hogs. It also provides educational information on pests and during the growing season, pest alerts.

There are market forecasts for eggs and broiler futures, fruit, vegetables and potatoes.

The American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) provides a market analysis for grain, livestock, rice and cotton.

For farmers with money to invest, there are the daily Dow Jones stock averages, plus the latest interest rates for U.S. Treasury bills and money market certificates.

The MFB provides information about legislation in Lansing of interest to farmers and other political information and the AFBF provides the same on the national level.

LASTLY, JOHN McMURRAY's weather service, which supplies weather information to radio and television stations, also provides it for Agricom, updated daily with separate forecasts for each of 15 zones. (The one of concern to the Gerstenbergers is for Sanilac, Huron and St. Clair Counties.)

"It's fairly reliable," Rick said. For example, when harvesting sugar beets last fall, they wanted to know if they could take a day off to do some equipment repairs. If it were going to rain the next day, they would have kept harvesting. The forecast said it wouldn't rain until the day after that, which gave them time to do their repairs and then get back to harvesting.

THE GERSTENBERGERS and the other 24 farmers in Michigan have had the Agricom since October. The service was originated by the Illinois FB for its members.

The Agricom service is costing them $450 for the first year, plus the cost of the long distance phone calls. If the program is continued past the first year, they will be able to buy the terminal and then pay an annual fee.

The father and sons will probably continue the service if it is offered.

Because of the amount of information offered, said Rick, "I think it's a tremendous program."

More corn in storage in Michigan

The Jan. 1 grain stocks report showed corn as Michigan's only major crop with a higher level of stocks than stored a year ago, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Corn stored in all positions was up 19 percent to 212 million bushels.

Wheat stocks, at 17 million bushels, declined the most, being 24 percent less than last year.

Oat stocks were off 5 percent from the previous year, with nearly 13 million bushels on hand.

Michigan's soybean stocks displayed only a 1 percent decrease from last winter with 18 million bushels on hand.

On the national scene, corn stored in all positions on Jan. 1, totaled a record high 6.9 billion bushels, 18 percent more than last year's level. All wheat stored totaled 2.17 billion bushels, 14 percent more than last year.

Soybean stocks reached 1.64 billion bushels, up 8 percent from a year ago. Oats totaled 365 million bushels, down 7 percent from a year ago, 23 percent below Jan. 1, 1980 and the lowest amount in storage on Jan. 1 since records began in 1942.

Unfreeze water pipes with care

Frozen water pipes can be thawed with an arc welder or hair dryer but they must be used properly.

Arc welders are a good source of low voltage electric current. They work best on steel pipes. They should not be used on copper pipes because they might melt soldered joints and create leaks.

Hair dryers can also thaw frozen pipes. They should always be used in dry conditions because of the danger of electrical shock.

"You have to be very careful when using electrical appliances near water," says George Brown, Michigan State University agricultural engineer. "Most people are trying to thaw pipes under unpleasant conditions and there is a tendency to try to take shortcuts—that's when fires start."

Fires can start when someone tries to use the open flame from a soldering or welding torch near flammable material in walls. If pipes are not near flammable materials, an open flame is acceptable for thawing. A helper should stand by with a fire extinguisher at all times, however.

Pipes can also be thawed by wrapping them with electrical heat tapes and covering them with Fiberglas insulation. This method can be used on copper pipes, which are good conductors of electricity and sensitive to high voltage or flame.

Hot water can concentrate heat on the frozen area if it is poured over rags tied to a pipe. Heat lamps can also be used on small sections of exposed pipe, though these carry risks of both electrical shock and fire.

Future funding for library pondered

Four townships are being asked to contribute an extra 10 cents per resident as a stopgap measure to aid Rawson Memorial Library.

Discussed at the two-hour meeting last Wednesday evening by representatives of the townships and library board members was a long-term solution to resolve the library's financial difficulties, including possibly a millage and a big boost in the subsidies the townships pay.

The library is facing declining revenues and increasing costs. Last year it spent about $2,600 more than it took in, with money being taken out of savings to get by. It spent $44,877.

Its largest source of revenue, penal fines, is declining. Only $16,500 from that source is expected this year, compared to $21,799 in 1980 and $18,221 last year. (Penal fine money is allocated on a per capita basis for its 5¼ township coverage area.)

The village council has already boosted its appropriation to the library to $5,000 this year, from $4,500 in 1981.

and the Elkland Township Board from $4,500 to $5,500.

Novesta, Elmwood, Evergreen and Greenleaf Townships last year each appropriated 35 cents per resident, which totaled $1,304. Greenleaf was the only township which did not have a representative at the meeting.

The representatives of those townships who were there were asked to present to their boards a request to increase the amount to 45 cents per resident this year and they indicated they will do so, according to head librarian Barbara Hutchinson.

That, however, can only be a temporary measure, she said.

The 45 cents will only mean total revenue from the four townships of $2,073, an increase of $769 from what was received last year. (Part of the increase is due to the larger 1980 census being used for the first time in figuring out how much each pays.)

The library should also be getting some revenue from Ellington Township for the first time, penal fine money and a subsidy for 25 percent of its population, equivalent to 3 mill. The penal fine money may not be received until 1983, Mrs. Hutchinson said, so how much money the library will receive this year for the township is still uncertain.

There was a great deal of discussion at the meeting, according to the head librarian, and many questions asked.

A lot of the talk concerned revising local support to put the library on a solid financial footing. Suggested was that the library would receive a subsidy of $1 per resident from Novesta, Elmwood, Greenleaf and Evergreen Townships or a subsidy and penal fines from them equivalent to 3 mill, whichever is the greater amount.

Elkland Township, including Cass City, since they have more citizens using the library, would contribute more, possibly through a 5 mill levy, though there is a feeling that should be avoided, if possible, she said.

Mrs. Hutchinson stressed the financial proposals were informally discussed. Nothing has been decided.

The 5 mill in Elkland and equivalent of 3 mill in the other townships would produce about $17,000 more than comes from those units now.

The representatives at the meeting will discuss the library's financial needs at their township board meetings and annual meetings. They will meet again with the library board and Mrs. Hutchinson sometime in April.

No one questioned the need for the library, according to the head librarian. "It was a very positive meeting,"

Mortgage rate now fluctuates

In the past, home mortgages had fixed interest rates and monthly payments running 20, 25 or 30 years.

Now interest rates fluctuate and monthly payments are far above rates common a short time ago. That's why over half the homes sold today include some form of adjustable, so-called creative financing.

Not all of these adjustments offer comparable benefits and some may not be as inexpensive as they first seem, according to the Michigan Association of Public Accountants.

One common solution is to assume the seller's mortgage. A pitfall of assumable mortgages might be a large down payment.

If you don't have the necessary cash, you might need a second mortgage, which could put the house out of reach. Also, assumable mortgages are not usually welcomed by the banks involved because of low interest rates they sustain.

Another problem with assumable mortgages is their legality. Although all Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration guaranteed mortgages and many written prior to the early 1970s are assumable, others carry "due on sale" clauses. However, there are court suits in over 20 states on the enforceability of these clauses.

Costly mortgages result from high interest rates. To pay this interest to depositors, banks raise loan charges. Because inflation leads to volatile interest rates, lenders lose money with fixed mortgages.

Still available are low mortgage rates guaranteed for a few years, but a refinancing agreement would be at a higher rate. However, if you will have the lump sum when it falls due, these short-term loans may be your best bet.

Despite this, if your finances dictate a long-term loan, compare the different graduated mortgage rates offered. A graduated payment mortgage may define exactly when and how much your payments increase over the years. An adjustable rate mortgage (ARM) or adjustable mortgage loan (AML) usually ties the mortgage rate increase to an economic index.

Because of the restrictions on national banks, ARMs can rise no more than one percent every six months. AMLs from savings and loans are not restricted at all. However, this could also work against you. If an index rises beyond the allowed rate increase, the difference may be tacked on to your principal.

Some mortgages offer lower rates but require the loan to be paid back sooner. There are options, like the rollover mortgage, where the loan may be refinanced at the end of a determined period which can be as short as three years.

The new mortgages may seem simpler than they are. For example, if a rate is adjustable, how often will it be changed, how often can it be changed and by how much?

Short-term indexes are usually more volatile, and some tend to rise more than others, so know what index pertains. If you use a mortgage that requires balloon payments or has to be refinanced every few years, know how much money is due and when.

In addition to creative mortgages, there are other ways to hold down costs, such as a lease purchase agreement. You rent the house until you decide either to move or buy. In some cases, rent can be applied against the price.

Or you might be able to buy the house but rent the land it sits on. However, the payments are not tax-deductible as are house mortgage interest payments. Also, if you don't own the land, you may have trouble selling the house.

Many injured in rash of crashes

Dale A. Livingston, 23, of Sebewaing, was killed early Sunday when the car in which he was riding overturned northwest of Unionville.

He was the third person to die in a Tuscola County traffic accident this year.

Livingston was a passenger in a car driven by Todd D. Rievert, 20, of Sebewaing, which was headed northeast on Forest Road, south of Wildner Road, at 2:45 a.m.

According to the sheriff's department, the driver lost control on the icy roadway when entering a curve. The vehicle spun around and rolled into the ditch along the west side of the road and landed upside down.

Rievert and a second passenger, Edward N. Kemp, 20, of Sebewaing, told officers they pulled Livingston from the car after the rollover. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Caro Community Hospital. Rievert and Kemp were treated there and released.

The accident remains under investigation.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for Livingston at the Dinkel-Juengel Funeral Home in Sebewaing.

He is survived by his wife, Cindy; a son, Douglas; three brothers, David, Davisburg, and Terry and Gaylin, both of Vista, Calif.; his parents, Lewis and Laura Livingston, Sebewaing; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aiken, Caro, and nieces and nephews.

Livingston had been employed by the Michigan Sugar Co. in Sebewaing for three years.

Derrik A. Grifka, 16, of Ubyly, was treated and released from Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, following a 2:15 p.m. accident Sunday.

He told Huron deputies he was southbound on M-19, braked when three deer ran in front of him, and lost control. His truck, which did not hit the deer, went out of control, spun around, entered the east side ditch and landed on its side.

Charles L. Bukoski, 24, of Milford, was treated and released from Huron Memorial after a 2:20 p.m. accident Monday in Ubyly.

Ubyly police said he was southbound on Washington Street (M-19) near James Street on his snowmobile which slid out of control on the slippery surface and hit a stopped car driven by Melvin J. Sadro, 20, of Ubyly.

Rose Ann Lapeer, 42, of 1655 Burmon Road, Deford, was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital after a 12:45 p.m. accident Jan. 24.

Caro state police reported she was eastbound on Stevens Road, east of Clothier Road, tapped her brakes when she saw a car pull onto the road, which had been behind a car parked on the north shoulder, and lost control. Her auto then slid into the car that had pulled onto the road.

The driver of the other vehicle, Edward L. Yax, 22, of 1700 Burmon Road, sought his own treatment for minor injuries.

Ms. Lapeer was ticketed on a charge of violation of the basic speed law (too fast for conditions.)

The car failed to stop on the icy surface and went off the southwest corner of the intersection into a fence. The mishap took place at 4:25 p.m. Sunday.

Deputies reported that Arnold J. Morley, 46, of Elkton, was westbound on M-81, west of Spence Road, at 12:40 p.m. Friday when a pipe or tire iron fell from a semi-truck headed in the opposite direction.

The object hit the front end of his car, causing damage.

Norman Bright of 4128 Seeger Street reported to Cass City police last Thursday morning that his car had been parked overnight at Walnut Trailer Park.

He discovered a dent in it that morning, made during the night by a hit and run driver.

At 5 p.m. Jan. 22, according to deputies, David J. Neumann, 22, of Caro, was northbound on Colwood Road, north of Darbee Road, when his vehicle hit a snow drift.

It went out of control, crossed into the southbound lane and collided with the oncoming car of Jerry R. Kratz, 30, of 4274 Hurds Corner Road, Kingston.

Kratz had pulled as far off the road as he could to try to avoid a collision, officers said, but was unsuccessful.

A gust of wind resulted in an accident at 5:40 p.m. last Thursday.

Bad Axe state police reported Gerald J. King, 67, of 2480 Argyle Road, Argyle, was southbound on M-53, south of M-81. A gust of wind hit his pickup, which had a camper top mounted over the box, sending the vehicle out of control on the icy pavement.

The pickup spun, crossed the centerline, and was sideways in the northbound lane when it was hit by the car of Margaret Weipert, 22, of 7521 Elmwood Road, Cass City. The pickup was sent to the right rear.

Deputies seek crash damages

Two Tuscola County sheriff's deputies and their wives are suing the drivers of two cars involved in accidents in which the officers were also involved.

The plaintiffs are Arthur J. Adams and his wife, Rosemary, and Phillip E. Malloy, and his wife, Susan.

Defendants are Alan Lee Wisenbach, Dorothy Hoff

and Neil Force.

Wisenbach was driver of a car which struck a patrol car occupied by Adams and Malloy March 22, 1981, north of Caro.

Adams and his wife are suing Ms. Hoff, driver of a car July 15, 1981, that collided with a patrol car he was driving. That accident took place south of Vassar.

Force was the owner of the car she was driving.

The officers and their wives are seeking in excess of $10,000 in damages against Wisenbach for claimed injuries and other losses, plus costs, interest and attorney fees.

Adams and his wife also seek the same against Ms.

Hoff and Force.

The suit was filed Jan. 26.

Eagle nest grows yearly

How big is a bald eagle's nest? They are often huge, because eagles (who mate for life) tend to use the same nest, piling new materials on top of the old year after year. One of the largest department. He couldn't take his car because he left the keys inside the burning house.

The snow storm was at its peak when the fire was reported. Fortunately for the fire department, two Tuscola County Road Commission plows happened to be in Cass City at the time, so they led the way. Firemen believe they could have made it anyway, but the plows made it a lot easier.

After firemen arrived, they called the Caro Fire Department to bring its tanker, which was able to make it to the fire.

Elkland fire fighters headed back to the hall at 9:40.

Englehart said Monday he and his wife are temporarily staying with his brother, Don Englehart, a few miles away on Shabbona Road.

They did not know at that point what they were going to do. Only a few items from the home appeared salvageable and the house appeared a total loss.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

Charlotte I. Zimmerman, 34, of 4903 Center Street, Gagetown, sought treatment from a doctor following a 3 p.m. accident Saturday.

Deputies reported she was northbound on Cedar Run Road, north of M-81, when her car hit some slush. The vehicle went out of control, went into a ditch on the west side of the road and then over a driveway culvert.

Bonnie Wynn, 18, of Owendale, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following a 10:15 p.m. accident Friday.

Huron County deputies reported she was a passenger in a car driven by Gerald P. Radabaugh, 17, of Owendale, which was southbound on Maxwell Road, south of McAlpin Road. The car went out of control on the icy surface and went into the ditch on the west side of the road.

Radabaugh and three other passengers were unhurt.

Oat acreage reports due

The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 requires that farmers submit acreage reports for oats to participate in 1982 farm programs.

Dorn K. Diehl, spokesman for the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says farm operators must file their reports by Friday so that yield and base acreage work can be completed on time.

For oats, farmers are asked to report the planted acres and crop use for 1980 and 1981 crops to their county ASCS office.

Painful feet

If your boss seems cranky for extended periods of time and appears to be fatigued, don't scream at him. Sympathize instead, because he may be suffering from extremely painful foot ailments.

Dr. Robert Yagoobian, of Taylor, Michigan, member of the research committee of the Academy of Ambulatory Foot Surgery said such painful foot ailments as bunions, hammer toes, ingrown toenails, corns and heel spurs "can turn a placid executive into an old crab, especially if he does not take steps to remedy the ailments."

Dr. Yagoobian reported that nearly as many men as women suffer from painful bunions, "but men believe it is brave to suffer from the pain, even though it might be debilitating, rather than undergo in-office procedures which can clear up the ailments in a short time and still not require any hospitalization."

OTHER ACCIDENTS

James C. Stewart, 24, of Grass Lake, was westbound on Cass City Road, according to Tuscola deputies, when he attempted to stop at Hurds Corner Road.

Storm close, area schools

Cass City was the only area district where schools were still closed Tuesday. They reopened Wednesday. (All were closed Monday.) Supt. Donald Crouse said the main reason they were still closed was because of the road conditions in Sanilac County. Elsewhere, they were in good enough shape that school could have reopened.

KINEMAN ADDED A plea and a warning for persons in rural areas plowing out their driveways. State law prohibits leaving snow on roads and road shoulders.

Not only is it illegal, it also creates a safety hazard and if someone has an accident because of snow on the road or shoulder, the person who put it there could be liable.

Kineman said he almost lost control when he hit a chunk of snow left in the middle of a road.

Snow can be pushed across a road into the opposite ditch, but the persons doing the plowing should clean up any left on the road and shoulder.

He also suggested trying not to leave big piles by driveways close to the road, where they may obscure vision.

In Huron County, Road Commission Secretary-Manager John Martin said all but a few roads were plowed Monday and the rest were to be done by Tuesday noon, after which widening would start.

Workers started at 4 a.m. Monday and cleared snow until 3:30 p.m.

A SNOW EMERGENCY was declared in all of the upper Thumb counties. What that means, Tuscola County Emergency Services Coordinator Jim McCann explained, is that police could ticket any non-emergency vehicles on the roads.

The chairman of the county board of commissioners must declare the emergency, based on information gathered by the emergency services coordinator from police agencies and the road commission. The power to declare the emergency is authorized by state law.

The snow emergency declaration in Tuscola lasted from 9:43 p.m. Sunday to noon Monday.

THE SNOW STORM HAD its effect in other ways.

Mail didn't arrive from Saginaw until late Monday afternoon, said Cass City Postmaster Grant Glaspie. The truck could have come earlier, but it waited for mail to arrive from Chicago, Flint and Detroit, which was late in coming.

Since the roads were bad and the only mail was a little that didn't get sorted in time for delivery Saturday, no deliveries were made Monday. They resumed Tuesday.

Cass City's two largest industrial employers both had their doors open Monday for those who could make it to work.

General Cable Industrial Relations Manager A.E. Ellinger didn't have an exact count, but said turnout for the 11 p.m. Sunday to 7 a.m. Monday shift was "very light" and that "quite a few" didn't make it for the day shift Monday.

Walbro Director of Human Resources Don Tonti said some workers trickled in during the day Monday. By the end of the day, more than half had made it to work.

Upper Thumb eligible for U.S. contracts

U.S. Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Michigan has announced that 82 Michigan counties are among the 1,132 communities throughout the country eligible to take part in a federal program which targets government contracts to areas of high unemployment.

That includes Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties. Riegle said all of Michigan except for Ottawa County (west of Grand Rapids) and the city of Ann Arbor have been designated by the U.S. Department of Labor as "labor surplus areas" because employment is at least 20 percent above the national average.

That makes firms in those areas eligible for favored treatment when competing to sell items to the Defense Department.

Letter to the Editor

Tuition doesn't change finances

Dear Editor,
In the Jan. 28 edition of the Tuscola County Advertiser, "Letting Off Steam" column, there was a comment concerning tuition policy in the Cass City school system.

The Cass City schools are an in-formula district. This is a term used for state aid purposes.

When you understand what that means, you know that regardless of the tax base or residence of a student, the money Cass City has to educate that student is the same.

I invite you to our next board meeting, Feb. 8. The board and Supt. Donald Crouse would be glad to explain this in more detail.

We are going to have a millage vote April 30. We the board and our administrators are willing to meet with any group of voters in our district to explain this issue or any other issue of concern to our voters. An informed electorate is our goal for this election.

Sincerely,

Ben Hobart
Cass City School Board member

Funeral held for Lee Feury

Lee George Feury, 74, of Bad Axe, died Wednesday, Jan. 27, at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, after an apparent heart attack.

He was born Dec. 29, 1907 in Palms, the son of Andrew and Ellen (Mitchell) Feury.

Feury and Leona DeRosa were married Oct. 7, 1937, at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church, Uby.

He owned Lee's Standard Station in Uby from 1939-40. He then became a circulation driver for the Port Huron Times Herald, holding that position until retiring in 1975.

Feury holds the safe driving record for the Times Herald of 2 million miles without an accident.

He was a member of the Ruth Knights of Columbus and a 40-year resident of Uby.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Robert Feury, Tampa, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. William (Bonnie) Thornton, Orange Park, Fla., and Mrs. Elmer (Karen) O'Barski, Almont; five grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Elsie Mahon, Harbor Beach, and Mrs. Ethel Meyer, Palms, and two brothers, Russell Feury, Mount Clemens, and Frank Feury, Uby.

Services were held Saturday at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church, Father Julius Spleet officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

A scripture service was conducted Friday evening by Father Spleet at the Zinger-Smigielski Funeral Home, Uby.

Revitalization for downtown?

It was mentioned that Gaylord's look was the inspiration for several stores that have been remodeled in Cass City during the past several years -- wood shingle covered canopies and light brown brick.

BUT EFFORTS AT downtown renewal haven't been as successful everywhere.

MJK has done downtown plans in 10 Michigan communities and two towns in other states and in some, after the plans were done, nothing happened. In others, only a few merchants bothered to remodel their stores.

In one, meetings drew large turnouts and lots of enthusiasm, but after the architects left, the plan died.

Then there was Central Lake, population about 800, south of Charlevoix. Signs, canopies, etc., were made in advance, but all the remodeling of all the stores was done in one day.

Morgridge, who arrived in time to drive around Cass City in daylight prior to the meeting, stressed that even if no remodeling is done, it is a good idea to fix up what is there. That means fixing broken upper floor windows, painting, fixing broken cornices, removing no longer used brackets, etc.

CLOTHES CLOSET OWNER Dorothy Stahlbaum questioned why it is necessary to try to make all the buildings downtown share the same appearance, that the buildings, having been built in different eras, are unique in their own way. "I don't think 'el cheapo' plywood fronts make something look attractive."

The architect's response was that towns where the merchants have adopted a theme have attracted persons to shop and have been successful.

Thirteen years ago, he pointed out, downtown Gaylord had 12 vacant stores and with I-75 bypassing the town, there wasn't a reason for persons to stop there. Now the stores are full and successful.

"People wouldn't go to Frankenmuth if they hadn't done anything," he offered as another example.

Some merchants countered that both communities benefit from good locations, the latter from being on the edge of a large metropolitan area and Gaylord being close to I-75 and in a prime tourist area.

Morgridge conceded that was true, but said the stores there still would not attract new customers if nothing had been done.

The merchants present did decide to take the first step in doing something. At Morgridge's suggestion, all the downtown buildings will be photographed and the photos, all to the same scale, will be pasted on display boards in the same order they are in actuality.

When those are ready, there will be another meeting. Those present then will try to decide what the buildings have in common and then decide on a theme.

Then MJK Architects will probably be contracted to prepare drawings of how the building exteriors can be remodeled to fit the theme.

(Editor's note: Publisher John Haire and editor Mike Eliasohn were both at the meeting and both comment about possible downtown revitalization in their columns on page 3 and 5 respectively.)

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Benjamin and Whipple Funeral Home, Clio, Rev. Rita Jorden of the Wayside Spiritualist Church officiating.

Francis aids in Haiti for Methodists

Cass City building contractor Elmer Francis returned last Wednesday from Haiti, where he spent two weeks as part of a Methodist church missionary work group.

The 13 members of the group plus some hired Haitian laborers built a 20-by-26-foot church at Ravinseche, 13 kilometers (about eight miles) from the Methodist lay training center at Petit Goave, where the group stayed.

Francis was a next-to-last-minute replacement for a Detroit area man who became ill. The money that was to pay his expenses paid Francis' instead. The trip was organized by the Ann Arbor United Methodist Conference.

Francis was the only builder in the group.

It was his second trip to Haiti. He was there on a similar missionary work trip Feb. 17-March 5, 1981. His expenses that time were paid by his fellow members of Trinity United Methodist Church.

Francis took with him this time the $753 Christmas offering of the church, which was donated for the education of Haitian children.

Haiti is located on the western third of an island in the Caribbean it shares with the Dominican Republic. One of the poorest countries in the world, with an average wage of about $180 a year, it has a population of about 5 million.

Taking Stock

Those sharpies along Florida's Federal Highway, sometimes called car salesmen, tried this one on a buyer the other day.

The deal was $9,000. The buyer was ready to pay cash.

"Now where do you have the money?" asked the salesman.

"Money market fund. Pays about 15 percent."

"Now I'm going to tell you how we'll save you some money," said the salesman, as he leaned forward and lowered his voice. "We'll finance the car for four years at 8.75 percent. $9,000 times four years times 8.75 percent equals $3,150 interest. Right?"

"Now you leave your $9,000 in the money-market fund at 15 percent for four years and you've got $5,400 in interest. That's $2,250 you're ahead. Right?"

The salesman had picked the wrong man for the victim, a chap known as The Canny Scot of Pompano Beach.

"This is a new one," said The Canny Scot. "A salesman trying to give away money. Let me think a minute..."

"In two years I've paid you half the $3,150 interest you're going to charge. Say, $1,600. Plus half the car cost -- total $6,100. That's $6,100 I don't have in the money market fund, so that's not going to be earning me anything. And then the third year, and the fourth..."

"Take the money out of other investments," replied Salesman Sam.

The deal was pretty close to a scam. The salesman when he said 8.75 percent was the financing charge was lying. It wasn't 8.75; it was $8.75 per $100 ADD ON. Banks and dealers and other lenders have to translate that into an annual percentage, which is roughly double the $8.75 expressed as a percentage rate (To be precise, in this example, 15.75 percent).

The reason is that the $8.75 per $100 is added on the front end of the total loan. Each month, though, the loan is paid down. On a four-year loan, half the principal has been paid off after two years, yet the rate of $8.75 is still figured on the original amount.

It's an old stunt to make you think you're getting a low financing charge. The Scot would have been losing about 1 percent a year by taking the financing plan on the $9,000 involved. That's $90 each year for four years or $360.

The salesman wasn't completely defeated, though. He convinced the buyer he'd have to take a car with a $400 undercoat and wax job because he said that's the only kind they had available for delivery. An undercoat job is worth maybe $150 and the wax job is unnecessary, at least according to the magazine, Popular Science, and a... auto plant manager, a friend of mine.

In a last desperate try to squeeze some more money out of the buyer the salesman tried to sell warranty insurance -- three years for $350. The Scot argued that the manufacturer's warranty covered the first year, so he really was getting only two years of insurance against major repairs. For this he was plunking down $350 now. In the money market fund we've been talking about at 15 percent the $350 would amount to $547 compounded monthly at 15 percent in 3 years.

The Scot considered it unlikely he would have $547 in mechanical repairs the second and third years of a car bought new and escaped the salesroom without being bagged on this scheme.
