Hearing slated for bank expansion

Council bars commercial trash haulers from landfill; audit ok

Commercial trash haulers can no longer use the village landfill, the Cass City Village Council decided Monday evening.

The council also reviewed the 1981 audit, which gave village finances a clean bill of health, and authorized the planning commission to conduct a public hearing on rezoning needed for the Pinney State Bank expansion.

The council approved the new rules and rates that were first proposed by its public utilities committee at its January meeting.

In addition to the ban on commercial haulers, rates were increased for persons living outside of Cass City, Elkland, Novesta, Ellington and Elmwood Townships.

The fee was increased from 50 cents to $1 per carload of trash dumped at the landfill; from $2 to $5 for a trailer or pickup load, and from $4 to $10 for a truck load.

Residents of the four townships don't have to pay anything as the townships pay $3.75 per resident to allow them to use the landfill.

Before doing so, they need to get a permit. Up to now, they could only do so at the municipal office.

At the suggestion at the meeting of Novesta Township Treasurer Everett Field and Clerk Nursie Kloc, permits will be given to the township clerks if they are willing, for distribution to residents.

Two persons asked whether the ban on commercial haulers meant that a firm hired to tear down a building or do a remodeling job would be prohibited from dumping their debris at the landfill.

Village President Lambert Althaver responded they could still dump it there, the distinction being that demolition or construction firms don't pick up trash on a regular building-to-building basis.

Hours the landfill is open remain the same, 10-2 Wednesdays and 7-11 a.m. Saturdays.

Operation of the landfill by the village is budgeted at $29,600 this year, of which $18,500 is expected to come from the four townships, and individuals who must pay a fee.

BANK EXPANSION

The council authorized the planning commission to conduct a public hearing on rezoning of the south half of the block bordered by Main, Oak, Pine and Seeger Streets, which is owned by Pinney State Bank.

The half block is presently zoned for office use. It is proposed to rezone it to B-1 community business.

The hearing will be held within the next 30 days.

The planning commission must recommend approval or denial of the rezoning to the council, with the council having the final vote.

Blueprints for the bank project, which the planning commission had seen previously, were shown to the council.

No rezoning is needed for the planned addition to the present building, which will be extended toward Seeger Street -- the area is now a parking lot -- and to the rear.

The drive-in lot facility will be perpendicular to Seeger, with the entrance off Pine and the exit onto Seeger.

In place of the present lot off Pine, the bank will convert the lot at the corner of Oak and Pine into parking with 42 spaces.

Once the rezoning is approved and the weather improves, bank officials have indicated to the village, they plan to start construction.

County okays development commission

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday gave the go-ahead to establishment of a county Economic Development Commission.

The board's vote followed a public hearing at which two experts explained the proposal.

Once established, the EDC will be able to sell tax-free bonds to a bank, which through a lease holding company will loan money to enable farmers to purchase farm equipment at low interest rates, possibly as low as 8-10 percent. Farmers will actually be leasing the equipment with an option to purchase at the end.

The EDC bonds can also be used for financing of industrial buildings, sites, machinery and equipment.

The next step, according to Commissioner Royce Russell will be appointment by commissioners of an 11-member EDC board with a cross-section of county citizens.

The commissioners hope to make the appointments at their March 9 meeting.

It should take at least 45 days to get the EDC in operation, he said.

The vote to establish it was six in favor, one abstention and one commissioner absent. Russell voted in favor.

Equalization Director Donald Graf reported the valuation of commercial property in the county has declined 2.68 percent since last year, as recommended by his department and industrial increased only .09 percent.

Commercial valuations declined because the State Tax Commission imposed a factor last year and compared to the boosted value because of that, actual values this year declined.

The total valuation of the county for 1982 for all classes (agricultural, residential, etc.), as recommended by the equalization department, is up 8.78 percent compared to a year ago. The recommended valuation is $624.32 million, which is half of the true cash value.

Milton Wolner, retiring detective sergeant at the Caro state police post, was appointed as the new enforcement officer for the Friend of the Court, effective March 1. The former officer had resigned.

Annexation of three parcels at the southwest corner of Caro to the village were approved.

TIMBERRR! -- A section of a dead tree branch falls to the ground after being cut by a state Department of Transportation workman. State and village crews worked together last week to trim trees along Main Street, which is a state highway, and haul away the debris.

When valuations sk

Fight or surrender? It may not matter

By Mike Eliasohn

Most cash crops currently may not be worth what it cost farmers to grow them, but the land they grew them on may be worth a lot more.

The result may be higher property taxes this coming December.

If the studies done by the equalization departments in Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron Counties are an indication, the recession has had more of an impact on the sale of homes than on farmland. The increase in home values for the most part is substantially less compared to last year than the increase in the value of farmland.

A bigger reflection of the state of the economy is the value of commercial and industrial property. In some instances, it is considered to be worth less than it was a year ago.

The men or women in the middle in the equalization procedure are the township supervisors.

The Chronicle contacted those whose agricultural valuations are scheduled to increase the most.

Two said they won't add the increases to their assessments. The others said they will because if they don't, the county or state will.

PROCEDURE

The first step in determining what property is worth for purposes of taxation is done by each county's equalization department. They primarily study sales to determine what property is worth.

Their findings for area townships are shown in the table accompanying this article.

The percentages shown are the increases or decreases from the state equalized valuation last year, the final step in the procedure, to the equalized valuation this year, as recommended by the equalization departments.

In some cases, the valuation has declined, all in the commercial, industrial and timber cutover classes.

The reason for the decrease in commercial in Tuscola County (Elkland Township being an exception), Equalization Director Donald Graf explained, was that a factor was added by the State Tax Commission last year, which boosted values. (Elkland was one of three townships in which the STC made its own study.) Compared to those boosted values, actual values this year decreased.

In Sanilac County, Equalization Director Eugene Regentin said, the small increases or decreases in commercial and industrial valuations reflect poor business conditions. Empty buildings, for instance, are worth less.

The equalization studies have been all presented to the county boards of commissioners.

The Sanilac County board didn't care for what it was presented and considered for a time a resolution that would have ordered its equalization department to freeze tax assessments on all classes of property at the 1981 levels.

One reason it may have defeated the resolution is that freezing the assessments would have been illegal.

Instead, it passed a resolution Feb. 10 asking the legislature to order the STC to maintain the 1981 values. (The state Senate has since passed such legislation, which is now in the House of Representatives.)

ADD OR FIGHT?

As can be seen in the chart, increases in agricultural valuations in the Cass City area range from a low of only 1.1 percent in Argyle township to a high of 26.99 percent in Elkland.

What should a supervisor do when faced with that much of an increase?

As reported last week, Elkland Supervisor Jack Gallagher doesn't plan to increase assessments, thus leaving it up to the county or state to impose a factor.

Kingston Township Supervisor Robert Gilmore is planning the same strategy. Ag values there are supposed to be increasing 16.1 percent and residential, 11.01 percent.

Gilmore doesn't plan to add anything. "If they want to put a factor on, it's up to them."

If a factor is added, however, Kingston Township won't gain. His understanding of the new truth in taxation law is that if the township board doesn't hold a public hearing, the township millage has to be rolled back so that it doesn't gain any added revenue from the increased valuation.

That is what the township board plans to do, Gilmore said, "at least the last time I talked to them."

"We've always just put them on," Evergreen Township Supervisor Audrey Leslie said of valuation increases.

The equalization department study showed a 19.4 percent increase in agricultural values, which her assessments have reduced to an average 18 percent.

She doesn't question the big increase, based on what some farms have sold for in her township, but points out that hurts persons like her and her husband, Dale, who aren't selling their farm.

REVIEW AND APPEAL

Township supervisors now have the equalization study for their township. Their job is to review it and make adjustments up or down.

For instance, if the equalization study shows farmland values increased 20 percent, the supervisor can increase the value of some farms more than that and some less to come up with an average increase of that amount.

It can be a little less. If the 20 percent represents 50 percent of true cash value, as required by state law, the supervisor's final figures can be within a range of 49-51 percent, according to Graf.

Individual property owners can appeal their assessments before their township boards of review March 8 and 9.

The boards can change individual assessments, but can't change the entire roll.

The review boards' final figures are sent to the equalization departments.

Man injured in brawl

A brawl in a Cass City apartment Saturday evening sent one person to the hospital and may result in criminal charges against two others.

Treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital was Eric Hendrickson, 21, of Warren, who needed some stitches.

According to Cass City police, he and Philip Karl, 21, of Richmond, said they were visiting in the apartment and that two other men came to the upstairs apartment about 7 p.m. and a fight started.

A window was broken in the scuffle and some furniture damaged. A woman in the apartment called police.

The fight had ended by the time they arrived.

The melee took place in an apartment at Seeger and Main Street above Osesonki Realty.

The two men who may be charged with assault, Police Chief Gene Wilson said, were questioned by police and then released. Both are from Cass City.

Whether they are charged, he continued, depends on whether Hendrickson and Karl will sign complaints against them at the prosecutor's office in Caro. As of noon Tuesday, neither had done so.

Until and unless they are charged, Wilson did not want the two local men's names made public.

Wendy Ware in collegiate Who's Who

Wendy L. Ware, daughter of Ferris and Carolyn Ware of 4653 Hospital Drive, Cass City, has been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

She is among 11 students from Spring Arbor College, Spring Arbor, to be listed in the 1982 edition.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory include the names of students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Wendy joins students chosen from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. Students have been honored in the annual directory since 1934.

Student of the week

Amy Francis is student of the week for the week of Feb. 15 at Cass City Intermediate School.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Francis of 4453 Leach Street was recognized by her homeroom teacher for outstanding leadership in class. She is a fifth grader.

1882-1982 - Our 100th Year

Regular readers of this trivia will recall last week that Mike Shaft and Dr. Rod Ellis, who recently moved to town, were schoolmates at Williamston. Add another name to the list: He's Jim Ketchum, former editor of the Chronicle, who called to say he lived just a half block from Ellis.

We picked this up from Publisher Jim Sherman's column in the Oxford Leader. He said it was told to him as true, except that names have been omitted.

Three vacationing women in their seventies decided to stay in a very good New York hotel for safety from purse snatchers and other criminals. They were super careful. The ladies waited till the elevator was empty before entering. But just before the door closed, a black man, with a Doberman pinscher dog entered.

The women were petrified. The door closed. The man commanded, "Sit!" All three women sat on the floor. The man and dog got off on the second floor.

The women went to their room and after worrying awhile went to the hotel dining room. They ordered glasses of wine and studied their menus. They noticed the man in the elevator sitting at the bar chatting and laughing with his companions.

Soon the waiter appeared with three more glasses of wine. They wondered aloud who bought it. That man over there, the waiter said, nodding at the bar.

"Who is he?" asked the ladies.

"Reggie Jackson," said the waiter.

There's a moral in that story somewhere, isn't there?

The trouble with this kind of weather is that you know it's just teasing you. It's still a long ways around that corner to spring.

You can take the man from Cass City, but it's hard to take Cass City from the man.

Bill Seeger, whose parents and ancestors lived in the community and are buried in Elkland Cemetery, said that every time he gets this way from Imlay City he drops in and gets a paper.

He knows hardly any of the names here anymore, he left when he was in elementary school.

He's now advanced middle aged. How many years, he didn't say . . . but he did explain that he and Tom Jackson are the same age.

Walbro earnings net sales decline in 1981

Lambert E. Althaver, president and chief operating officer of Walbro Corporation, reported consolidated net sales of $43,121,000 for the fiscal year which ended Dec. 31, compared with $43,316,000 for 1980.

Earnings for the year were $239,000, compared with $1,001,000 for 1980.

Earnings for 1981 amounted to 31 cents per share, compared with $1.28 for the previous year. The 1981 cash dividend payout was 40 cents, the same as 1980. The average number of shares outstanding was 778,820 in 1981, unchanged from 1980.

The reduction in earnings during the past 12 months reflects the economic conditions which prevailed throughout 1981," Althaver said.

Strong worldwide competition in the high volume carburetor market held prices for these products level. Continued high interest rates and a general downturn in domestic and worldwide economic conditions combined to reduce earnings."

"Operating inefficiencies due to rapid expansion of the company's diecasting facility earlier in the year also contributed to lower earnings," according to Althaver.

"In light of these factors, we feel that the company's continued profitability in the past year is a respectable achievement," he continued.

"We are far from pleased with the 1981 earnings level, however, and will continue to take steps to improve our profit picture for 1982. These steps will include efforts to strengthen our operating efficiency as well as programs

Ubly High School names top students

Patrick J. Roberts

Ubly High School has announced its honor students for the Class of 1982.

Patrick Joseph Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Roberts of Ruth, is valedictorian. Gordon Paul Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Walsh of rural Ubly, is salutatorian.

Roberts earned a 3.86 grade point average out of a possible 4.00 and Walsh has earned a 3.78 average.

Roberts attended Minden City Elementary School for his elementary education and Ubly Community Schools for his junior high and high school education.

He has been active in many clubs and organizations throughout high school, including the National Honor Society for three years, in which he currently is vice-president.

Pat has been a member of the Ubly High School Future Farmers of America for four years and currently serves as reporter. He was a member of the dairy products team that finished first in the state and 13th nationally in 1981.

He was named an outstanding sophomore in 1980 in the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation. He was also the winner of the Parisville Veterans of Foreign Wars speech contest this year and is a semi-finalist in the state of Michigan Competitive Scholarship Program. Roberts has been a student teacher for three years and has won numerous class awards throughout school.

Roberts is currently enrolled in a dual program whereby he takes classes at Ubly High School in the morning and Saginaw Valley State College classes at Cass City in the afternoon.

A member of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in Ruth, he has been accepted by Oakland University and General Motors Institute and plans to pursue an engineering curriculum next fall.

WALSH HAS ATTENDED the Ubly Community Schools for his elementary, junior high and high school education.

Also active in many clubs and organizations throughout high school, he has been an Honor Society member for three years.

Walsh has belonged to the Future Farmers of America for four years and currently serves as treasurer. He was a member of the dairy products team that finished first in the state and 13th nationally. He will receive the FFA State Farmer Degree this spring.

Walsh is a semifinalist in the State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship Program. He has been a student teacher for three years and has won numerous class awards throughout school.

Walsh is a member of St. Ignatius Catholic Church of

'Satisfaction' at Mizpah Church Sunday

"Satisfaction," a group of high school students who perform sacred music, will perform at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Mizpah Missionary Church on M-53, south of Argyle Road.

The group, sponsored by Delta-Thumb Youth for Christ -- Campus Life, is directed by Nick and Nancy Miu.

The Haire Net

If I were arrested for spitting on the sidewalk it would be just my luck to appear before the judge that sentenced that college basketball player recently.

Spitting might put me in jail for a year or so. After all for shaving points to aid gamblers the kid got 10 years. That's T-E-N years.

Remember this is a young man without a criminal record. Certainly what he did was wrong. Certainly it deserves punishment. The judge handing out the sentence said that it was to serve as a warning to other college players.

In other words the criminal was to be used as a scapegoat for the good of college basketball. No consideration for the fact that the game is full of recruiters with under the table illegal offers to the blue chippers.

No consideration that a 10-year term may turn a potentially useful citizen into one that at the very least may be a cost to taxpayers for the rest of his life.

You can find hundreds of cases where defendants were guilty of crimes of violence, robbery for instance, where the sentence was no more severe. Point shaving is reprehensible, but it is a victimless crime.

Let's switch for a minute to Uniondale, N.Y., where U.S. District Court Judge George C. Pratt sentenced Harrison A. Williams Jr., to three years in prison and ordered payment of a $50,000 fine. Williams is the U.S. senator from New Jersey that was found guilty of nine counts of bribery.

There's a man, 62 years old, that has spent 22 years in the Senate. A man in a position to do great good or great harm. A man in a position of public trust, illegally angling to make $12.6 million in a crooked deal.

He gets three years. For the relatively few bucks that the basketball player made he gets 10 years.

There's no criticism here of Williams' sentence. A man 62 years old facing a three-year term is paying a stiff price no matter how much money he made or tried to make.

But it's not surprising that his sentence was much less than the basketball player's. His power base ends when the final game whistle blows.

The trend is the bigger they are the easier they fall. Spiro Agnew slipped out of a jail term for his shenanigans as Governor of Maryland by resigning as vice-president. Richard Nixon got a pardon.

Certainly it's impossible to establish penalties that are uniform for the crime that is committed.

Extenuating circumstances must be considered.

But cases like those outlined here tend to promote a scepticism about equal justice for all.

Crime in Florida

By Jim Fitzgerald

Crime is the reason I've decided not to vacation in Florida this winter. I'm not afraid of being mugged in Miami, I'm afraid of being arrested.

The crime I commit most often is betting 25 cents in a poker game. That is a prison offense in Florida. Because of a recent crackdown on amateur gambling, many Florida boaters, afraid of breaking the law, have reportedly quit playing poker above deck while smuggling drugs and dope.

On Feb. 4, the Miami Herald reported: "Eight balding or white-haired retirees, ages 63 to 70, were found guilty Wednesday of violating Florida's gambling law by playing nickel-and-dime poker at their mobile home village in nearby Largo."

These criminals quickly became known as "The Largo 8." After losing a two-day jury trial, they could have been sentenced to six months in jail and a $500 fine. But Judge William Blackwood let them off with $75 fines and one-month probation. For most of the defendants, it was the first time they'd been coddled in over 60 years.

The Largo 8's attorney acknowledged that his clients played for money, but insisted that gambling was not the purpose of the poker game. He said the men "just wanted" to get together with friends at a time in life when most were too old or sick for other kinds of recreation. This argument was buttressed when two of the Largo 8 couldn't be present the second day of their trial because they were hospitalized for a heart problem and cataract surgery.

One of the Largo 8, Clifford McGough, is a retired New York policeman. He described a typical game at the Ranchero Village Mobile Home Park in Largo. The maximum bet was 40 cents, he said, and the winners never got more than $6 or $8. Whenever McGough lost $3, he went home.

The Largo 8 game was raided by two undercover detectives who infiltrated the mobile home park disguised as pool players. The pool table was near the card table, and the cops observed the wicked gamblers for an hour before swooping down to make the arrests. Until the swooping, McGough said he thought the cops were children or grandchildren of some other park residents. He even invited them to have some lunch, but they refused.

In Florida, it is legal to bet on horse and dog races and jai alai games. The Largo 8's lawyer told Judge Blackwood it is an unfair law that condones such high-stakes gambling while forbidding penny ante poker games. The judge wasn't impressed. He said the court was obliged to uphold such laws until they are changed.

The Miami Herald clipping about the infamous Largo 8 was sent to me by two Michigan residents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Galloway of Owosso, who winter in Marathon, Fla. They solicited my reaction, which follows:

Naturally, I'm pleased by the persuasive evidence that crime in Florida is not nearly as bad as has been reported up here. It appears that Snow Belt media are exaggerating Florida crime to get even with Sun Belt media for adding inches and misery to our snowstorms. Certainly, it can't really be true that dope smuggling has become Florida's biggest industry and murder its most popular recreation. If it were, no Florida cop would have nearly enough time to sneak into a trailer park and break up a nickel-and-dime poker game.

That's the positive side of my reaction to the arrest of the Largo 8. The negative side is I'm not pure enough to vacation in Florida. Perhaps I could give up 25-cent poker for two weeks, but I have several other criminal habits, such as overtime parking and jaywalking, that would surely get me in trouble with law officers intent upon protecting the public from spat-upon sidewalks.

Also, it is usually a crime to be noisy in public, but when I'm confronted with rampant hypocrisy, I can't help screaming a lot. In Florida, where they enforce a law that says high-rollers can bet $1,000 at the track but retirees can't bet 10 cents at home, I could become the first man ever hanged for disturbing the peace.

Jan. milk output up, prices down

Milk prices continued to average below year earlier levels in Michigan during January, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Producers received an average of $14.10 per hundredweight (cwt.) for milk this past January, down 10 cents from a year ago.

January milk production totaled 438 million pounds, up 5 percent from the previous year. Cow numbers, at 396,000 head, were up nearly 2 percent from last year. Milk per cow during January, at 1,105 pounds, was up 3 percent from a year ago.

Replacement milk cow prices averaged $1,200, down $70 a head from January 1981. Slaughter cow prices averaged $38.70 per cwt., down 10 percent from a year ago.

For the U.S., January milk production totaled 11 billion pounds, up 2 percent from a year earlier. Production per cow averaged 1,003 pounds, only 11 pounds above a year ago. This is a lower increase in output per cow than for other recent months. Milk cow numbers remained up 1 percent.

January milk production in Wisconsin, the leading dairy state, fell 1 percent below a year ago.

Cass City High School musicians did well at the District III solo and ensemble festival Saturday at Reese High School by receiving all first or second division ratings.

Receiving first division blue medals, all solos, were Chris Langenburg, tenor saxophone; Dave Wright, alto saxophone; Jeanne Marshall, clarinet, and, all on piano, Kay Loomis, Melanie Enos and Suzy Scollon.

Receiving second division red medals were Tami Stimpfel and Tammy Roach, flute duet, plus each received a medal for their flute solos; Bobbi MacKay and Tracy Green, flute-clarinet duet, plus the latter received a medal for her clarinet solo; Crystal Galaway, piano solo, and Carol Lockard, flute solo.

Those who received first division ratings are eligible to compete in the state solo and ensemble festival April 3, which will probably be at the University of Michigan - Flint.

The lowest possible rating is third division. George Bushong is the band instructor.

Whittaker
cutting logs
for Edison

Detroit Edison owns several parcels of wooded land in southeastern Michigan.

One of them is a few thousand acres in and around Verona Township, near Bad Axe.

Following sound property management procedures, Edison has begun the selective harvesting of marketable timber on 700 acres of this land. This harvesting will increase the productivity not only of the forest but also of game in the area.

Edison awarded the contract for this harvesting to W & W Sawmills, owned by Gerald Whittaker of Cass City.

W & W set up a portable sawmill on the site and began cutting pre-selected timber in late December. The work will continue until March, 1983.

The wood will be used in furniture and as structural timber. Any remaining waste will be hauled out of the area and sold as firewood.

W & W is required by Edison to exercise all reasonable efforts to minimize damage to the unharvested areas of the forest.

The contract with W & W calls for the grading of all rutted areas and the repair and grading of all entry and exit roads when the harvesting is completed.

Lockwood in top three in Edison search

Detroit Edison conducted a state-wide search this fall for a qualified high school student to represent their company at the 26th International Edison Birthday Celebration Symposium held in Washington. Dave Lockwood, a senior, was selected to be Cass City High School's nominee. Letters of recommendation and copies of his school records were submitted to Edison's selection committee for consideration.

Although Lockwood was not selected as the delegate for the state, he was one of the three finalists selected to be interviewed in Detroit.

Roy Leino
funeral
Thursday

William Roy Leino, 41, of Cass City died Tuesday at his Seeger Street home after a long illness.

He was born Feb. 25, 1940, in Johannesburg, Mich., the son of William and Fern (Hagadorn) Leino.

Leino married Nancy Smoker Aug. 24, 1962, in New Alexandria, Penn. Following their marriage, they made their home near Johannesburg, where Leino was a farmer. They came to Cass City in 1979, where he was employed as sales manager for the Jacques Seed Co.

Leino, a graduate of Michigan State University, served in the U.S. Army. He was a member of the Salem United Methodist Church of Cass City and the Farm Bureau.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Terri and Kathy, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Leino of Johannesburg; three sisters, Mrs. Arthur (Jo) Brown of Cadillac, Mrs. Ivan (Sue) Maschke of Johannesburg, and Patty Leino of Detroit, and several aunts and uncles.

Leino will be taken from Little's Funeral Home at noon Thursday to the Salem United Methodist Church to lie in state until the 2 p.m. funeral service. Rev. Eldred Kelley will officiate.

Burial will be at Johannesburg. Memorials may be made to the Leino Children's Education Fund.

Territories, Canada, who was cited by Tuscola County deputies on a charge of improper overtaking after an accident at 2:15 p.m. last Wednesday.

Officers reported Albert C. Foote, 55, of 6547 Sadler Road, Decker, westbound on M-46, was slowing to turn left onto Sheridan Road, southwest of Caro.

Nanisviki, who was westbound, started to pass Foote and their vehicles collided as Foote started to turn.

The Northwest Territories border the Arctic Ocean on the north. The nearest point between there and the Thumb is slightly farther away than the southern tip of Florida.

Debbie Sue McLaughlin, 29, of 4301 Rossman Road, Kingston, was ticketed by deputies on a charge of driving left of center and Roberta Kay Wismer, 31, of Marlette, for no proof of insurance following a 12:30 p.m. accident that day.

Officers reported Ms. McLaughlin was eastbound on Centerline Road and Ms. Wismer was westbound, west of White Creek Road.

Both were coming over a hill. Ms. McLaughlin tried to steer to the right when she saw the other car, hit some snow, braked and then slid in front of the Wismer car, which couldn't stop in time to avoid a collision because of the icy road surface.

Nancy C. Hicks, 28, of 259 Crawford Road, Deford, was ticketed by Caro state police on a charge of violation of the basic speed law following a 6:30 p.m. accident last Thursday.

Troopers said she was headed northwest on Ohmer Road (M-24) near Mayville when her right side wheels dropped onto the shoulder.

She attempted to steer back onto the road but lost control. Her car spun around and hit a guard rail while going backwards.

Thieves break

Camping trailers parked in rural areas have been victims of thieves and intruders.

John Hall of Warren reported to Caro state police Saturday that two trailers and a storage shed at his hunting camp on Plain Road in the northeast corner of Wells Township were entered some time between Dec. 13 and Feb. 13.

Taken were a pair of waders, $35; two Coleman lanterns, worth $30 each; an axe, $10; tree saw, $8, and miscellaneous tools, $25.

Entry to one trailer was gained by breaking a sun roof vent, resulting in $50 damage.

Alger Glaza of Madison Heights reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday that his camping trailer on Shabbona Road in eastern Ellington Township was broken into some time since December.

There was damage to the screen door and the inside door but nothing was apparently taken.

An assault on Little Road in Ellington Township was reported to the sheriff's department at 10:38 p.m. Saturday but as of Tuesday, no further information was available.

Bob Copeland of Copeland and Gornowicz Insurance, 6539 Main Street, reported to Cass City police Saturday morning that a window at the agency had several cracks in it, apparently from someone bumping into it;

Richard Martinez of 6396 Garfield Street told village police last Wednesday afternoon that a person trying to enter his home who wasn't welcome broke a rear door window as his wife was trying to close the door. The window was worth $20.

Cheryl Ann Keller of 5825 Patterson Road, Snover, told village police Monday afternoon that 10 cassette tapes in a box were stolen from her car Saturday while it was parked behind the Ben Franklin store from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Loss was set at $80.

John Crosby, of 2791 Froede Road, Kingston, reported to Caro state police Friday that 19 gallons of gasoline were siphoned from his car while it was parked from 6 a.m.-4:30 p.m. in the commuter lot at M-46 and Hurds Corner Road.

Abolish the property tax

By Mike Eliasohn

I don't like to write stories about property taxes.

The reason I don't is because they are invariably complicated. I have never written an article explaining nuclear fission, but I doubt if doing so would be any more difficult.

Thus I undertook writing the article in last week's Chronicle about the "truth in taxation" and "truth in assessing" laws and the article this week about the increase in valuations with some trepidation.

My fear in writing about something so complicated is that I will make a mistake.

Hopefully, I was meticulous enough that if I made any mistakes, they were minor ones.

What struck me in talking to the equalization directors and township supervisors for the stories is that if I didn't understand everything, neither did they.

They obviously know a lot more about the property tax system than I do. The point is that the Michigan property tax system is so complicated, I don't think anyone completely understands it.

Which leads to the point I am trying to make. Why don't we get rid of property taxes?

The main thing all the reforms do, be they acts of the legislature or ballot proposals, is make the system more complicated.

Michigan's property tax system is tied in to the income tax system -- if your property taxes exceed a certain percentage of your income, you get a rebate on your income taxes -- but I still think there is something inequitable about a tax system based on how much one owns, rather than on how much they make.

Perhaps even more inequitable is that the value of one's property is based on what it would be worth if they were to sell it.

That's fine for those seeking to sell their home or farm, but most persons aren't. A system that says someone's farm is worth 20 percent more, hence their taxes will go up 20 percent (unless there are millage rollbacks) because of what their neighbor sold his farm for is stupid.

Schools and governments still need money so I suggest we replace property taxes with income taxes.

We already have federal and state income tax systems (granted, I don't understand those either), so it is not as though an entirely new collection system would have to be created.

School and local taxes could be a percentage of the state income tax. Along with the check for the state, another check to Lansing might cover all the school and local taxes, which the state in this computerized age could distribute among the local units.

Unlike property, income can be hid, but the Internal Revenue Service and Michigan Department of Treasury have agents trying to make sure income isn't hidden, so the enforcement mechanism for local taxes is already in place.

How do you tax the income of a factory when the parts it makes are shipped to a factory in another state owned by the same company to be assembled with other parts into one product?

Michigan in computing the income taxes it is owed doesn't tax all of General Motors profits because some of its factories are here. The mechanism already exists to determine for tax purposes what the income of one factory is.

One problem I do foresee for which I don't think there is a precedent is in resort areas which have to provide a lot of services (police, streets, etc.) to accommodate persons who don't live there permanently.

Now they can tax the value of the cottages there, but how would they tax the income of persons who earn it elsewhere?

When times are bad and personal incomes decline, so would tax revenue, but that is happening now anyway. Governmental units would have to tighten their belts.

Abolishing property taxes and replacing them with an income tax wouldn't be easy, but I think it can be done.

The result would be a fairer system and one, I think, that would create fewer complaints than our present complicated property tax system creates now.

Tailoring workshops

The Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring tailoring workshops in Caro and Sandusky.

At the Tuscola Area Skill Center on Cleaver Road, the first session will be from 1-3 p.m. Monday, March 8, and the second from 6-10 p.m. that day.

At the county conference room, 37 Austin Street, Sandusky, the first session will be from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. March 9 and the second from 7-9 p.m.

The first session in Caro will be devoted to fitting blazers and the second to fitting slacks and dresses.

In Sandusky, the first session will be devoted to dresses and slacks; the second to blazers.

A fee will be charged for each session. Reservations must be made by calling the extension office in Caro or Sandusky.

Sanilac 4-H winners announced

The following 4-H'ers are among those who have been selected by the county awards committee as Sanilac County Tel-Award winners.

Their names have been sent to the state 4-H office and they are now eligible for district competition.

Winners for nationally sponsored awards are:

From the Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club, Chris Ziemba, achievement; David Loeding, beef; Sally Severance, bread and food conservation and safety; Kim Sangster in horse and pony, and John Agar in photography and wood science.

Representing the Lucky Stars 4-H Club are Julie Gierman, citizenship; Michael Smith, commodity marketing; Jim Mahaffy, gardening and leadership, and Linda Adam, public speaking and swine.

From the Germania Silver Stars are Beth Wood, dairy foods, and Carol Kietzke, dog care and training and veterinary science. (Carol also belongs to the Colts and Fillies 4-H Club). From the Sanilac County Clown Club is Patrick McFarlane for health-first aid.

State sponsored award winners include McFarlane in arts from the Sanilac County Clown Club, Teressa Woodward in crafts from the Evergreen Guys and Gals, David Loeding in field crops from the Evergreen Guys and Gals and Penny Cook in rabbits from the Germania Silver Stars and Colts and Fillies 4-H Clubs.

NON-SMOKERS -- Displaying their winning anti-smoking posters in the contest sponsored by the respiratory therapy department at Hills and Dales General Hospital are, from left, Kathy Leino, first; Anthony Bader, second, and Amy Francis, third.

Russell resigns as Elmwood treasurer

The Elmwood Township Board last Wednesday evening accepted with regret the resignation of township treasurer Betty Russell, effective March 31.

She and her family have moved to Cass City. She became treasurer after her husband, Royce, who previously held the post, was elected to the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners in 1978. The board appointed the deputy treasurer, Valerie Downing of Gage Street, Gagetown, to take over for Mrs. Russell until the November election.

The board also voted to increase its subsidy this year for Rawson Memorial Library in Cass City to 45 cents per township resident from the previous 35 cents. The annual meeting will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 27, in the township-village hall in Gagetown. The township budget, federal revenue sharing and other matters, presumably including roads, will be discussed.

Sawing is much easier when the saw is held correctly. Use a cutting angle of 60° to the work with a rip saw, 45° with a crosscut.

Free breath tests slated at hospital

Ever accuse someone who talks too much of being "full of wind?"

All you have to do to prove it is to get him or her to Hills and Dales General Hospital Thursday, March 4, where free lung testing will be conducted in the basement meeting room from 9-11 a.m. and 1-5 p.m.

The actual purpose of what is called the pulmonary function test, according to Jim MacTavish, hospital respiratory therapy director, is to detect the condition of the lungs.

The $6,000 electronic spirometer is normally used at the hospital to check the condition of a patient's lungs prior to surgery, to determine whether treatments are doing any good and to detect that something is beginning to go wrong with the lungs, such as emphysema.

This will be the first time the machine, acquired three months ago, will be used for testing the public. They will be advised to see their doctor if anything appears wrong.

The hospital previously had a different lung testing machine which required transmitting the basic information via telephone to a computer for interpretation. The new computerized machine provides an instant readout.

The operator types into the machine the person's sex, age and height. The person then takes a deep breath and exhales the air into the cup attached via a hose to the machine.

The machine measures the volume of air and its velocity as it is exhaled from the lungs and compares it to the standard for healthy lungs. The test is usually done more than once.

A person's lung capacity is reduced due to such factors as smoking, asthma and emphysema.

If a person stops smoking, MacTavish said, the machine will start to measure improvement in his or her lungs in 3-6 months.

Duane Williams will be doing the testing. For Williams, of Scout Troop 570 of Caro, it will mark the end of his Eagle community service project.

MacTavish is assistant scoutmaster of the troop. He explained that Williams wanted to do something in conjunction with the hospital for his project.

As part of it, he and MacTavish visited all the fifth and sixth grade classrooms in Cass City and Caro and gave a talk about the hazards of smoking.

The students were then asked to submit anti-smoking posters for a contest.

Of the 315 entries, the top three were all done by students at Cass City Intermediate School. First place winner was Kathy Leino, a sixth grader, who will receive $25 prize; second, Anthony Bader, fifth grader, $20, and third, Amy Francis, fifth grader, $15.

Prize money was furnished by MacTavish's employer, a firm that contracts with the hospital for respiratory services.

Fourth was won by Deanne Holik, sixth grade, Caro, $10, and honorable mention, all $5 prize winners, were Jody Hazzard, sixth, Cass City, and Nick LaLonde, sixth, and Julie Denhoff, and Sean Smith, both fifth graders. The latter three are from Caro.

The students will receive their prizes and ribbons March 4 at the hospital.

All of the posters submitted are presently on display at Hills and Dales.

The minimum requirement for the Eagle service project is 36 hours, MacTavish said, but Williams has put in more than 100.

The thermometer was invented in 1593 by Galileo. The more accurate mercury thermometer like those used today was developed by Gabriel Fahrenheit in 1714.

HEALTH TIPS

Arthritis affects millions in America

By Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
American Medical Association

People have always been plagued with sore, aching joints which may become stiff enough and sore enough to interfere with normal movement.

The American Medical Association points out that arthritis is a popular name for several diseases that affect the joints and chronically disable a great many people.

Some 13 million Americans seek relief from arthritis. Three million say arthritis restricts their everyday activities, and 700,000 of them are unable to work, keep house, attend school or engage in most recreational activities.

Most common are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. Although quite different, both result in painful, deformed joints. Less common are arthritis caused by gout and by infections. Rheumatoid arthritis affects joints throughout the body. Three times as many women suffer from it as men. Usually it appears between the ages of 20 and 35.

Weakness, fever, loss of appetite and weight often are symptoms. One or more of the smaller joints become inflamed and swollen. The acute, painful inflammation migrates from one joint to another. Mental depression is common.

An attack may develop gradually, or suddenly with dramatic seizure. Pain and inflammation may come and go for no apparent reason.

Treatment with drugs and physical therapy reduces the inflammation and pain, preserves movement and minimizes deformity.

Osteoarthritis is a less dramatic illness affecting fewer joints, and is less likely to come and go. At first, rest relieves the soreness. Eventually the joint becomes permanently damaged and mobility is restricted.

Everybody will develop some osteoarthritis if they live long enough. It begins in middle years, in the hands, in a hip, knee, shoulder or in the back.

Overweight people who stand or walk a great deal, overburdening their knees and hips, are especially susceptible.

Your Neighbor says I regret Lawrence Welk leaving TV

The bubbles have finally burst.

Lawrence Welk recently announced that after 31 years of his champagne music being on television, the show he taped this week would be his last.

Welk, who will be 79 March 11, won't fade completely from view, however. He will be broadcasting repeats through next year, for which he will be taping new introductions. He and his orchestra will also make two 10-day tours this year.

Mary (Mayme) Guild is among those sorry to see Welk and his bubbly music coming to an end on television. "I don't like to see him leave the air. I think he's got a very good program."

When Welk's program was broadcast at 7 p.m. Saturdays, she was a loyal viewer, but she hasn't watched the last few years, since the time was changed.

Mrs. Guild doesn't care for modern music. "I don't like any of this jazz, get-up-and-go stuff."

What she likes is ballroom dance bands. She likes Lawrence Welk, but her big favorites are Guy Lombardo and Wayne King.

It was many years ago that she saw Lombardo and his band at a dance in Flint. It was five years ago she met Lombardo's brother, also a musician, though she doesn't remember his name.

It was on a train in Canada and the brother was one of five or six musicians who climbed into the baggage car and played for 30 or 40 miles. "We danced in the baggage car to some of the songs he played."

She said her husband, Alvin, once accused her of preferring dancing over eating.

The Guilds live at 4318 Leach Street. They have one son, two daughters and eight grandchildren.

Energy topic for women's club

John Gough of Caro, a representative of Detroit Edison, showed a film and addressed the 20 members and two guests at the Feb. 17 meeting of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club. The program topic was "energy."

The dinner meeting was at Veronica's. President Sheryl Seeley presided over the business session.

Two new members, Marilyn Ertman and Marie Groombridge, were welcomed into the club.

Holly Essenmacher was given a baby shower by the club members.

Make use of your automatic drying cycle if your dryer has one. This cycle shuts the machine off when it senses that the clothing is dry, avoiding overdrying and energy waste.

James Thiel dies at 69 Feb. 14

James F. Thiel, 69, died Feb. 14 at his Union Lake home of a heart attack.

He was born Jan. 21, 1913, near Pigeon, the son of Adolph and Mathilda Thiel. The family moved to Gagetown when he was about six years old. He attended St. Agatha School and graduated from Gagetown High School.

Thiel and his wife, Florence, were married June 19, 1937, in Detroit. He was a member of Knights of Columbus St. Paul's Council No. 2632, Detroit, for 24 years.

Thiel is survived by his wife; five sons, Robert, Charles, J. Dennis, Thomas, and Michael, and five daughters, Mrs. Albert (Patricia) Long, Mrs. William (Geraldine) Hall, Mrs. Mark (Kathryn) Young, Mrs. Joseph (Barbara) Rossiter, and Theresa Thiel, and 24 grandchildren. All of the children live in the Detroit area except for Michael, of Dallas, Texas.

Thiel is also survived by four sisters, Mrs. Edward (Mary Margaret) Schwartz, Cass City, Mrs. Glen (Louise) Harding, Hornsassa Springs, Fla., Mrs. Joseph (Marie) Lapak, Lake City, Mrs. Rita Stewart, Pontiac, and four brothers, Arthur, St. Clair Shore, Leo, Bad Axe, William (Benny), Pontiac, and Paul, Royal Oak.

He was preceded in death by his father and mother of Gagetown, who died in 1964 and 1965 respectively, and two sisters and a brother.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday, Feb. 17, from the David Black Chapel of the Elton Black and Son Funeral Home, Union Lake, to St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

A parish rosary service was conducted the preceding evening.

Millage discussed at AARP

Twenty-eight members and six guests attended the regular monthly meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons Thursday, Feb. 11.

Sixteen blood pressure readings were taken by volunteer Nurse Irene Freeman. Edith Pichard from the Commission on Aging was in charge of the project. Vice-president Martha Durham called the meeting to order in the absence of Charles Beckett, who is ill.

Willard Dodson gave the invocation.

Ken Jensen, Ben Hobart, Donald Crouse, Robert Tuckey, and Geraldine Prieskorn discussed the school millage.

New officers were elected for the next two years. Edith Fuller, AARP assistant state director for eastern Michigan, who resides in Port Huron, will install the new officers at the next monthly meeting, weather permitting.

Dodson, Vivian Mosher and Rose Worstel will be in charge of arrangements for the meeting, starting at noon, Thursday, March 11, at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church fellowship hall.

The oldest written national constitution still in use is the United States Constitution, written in Philadelphia during the summer of 1787.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Thursday night, Newell Harris, a partner in Harris-Hampshire Insurance, will be honored as the man of the year by an insurance firm he represents. Harris was selected from over 200 agents for the honor.

Cass City area Girl Scouts will be taking orders for their annual cookie sales. The Scouts will be canvassing Cass City, Gagetown and Deford. Persons wishing to place phone orders may call Mrs. Dale Iseler or Mrs. Harold Adams.

Airman Dennis J. Bauer, son of Mrs. Ella M. Bauer of Unionville, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training. The airman graduated from high school in 1976 in Unionville.

Bonnie Laming of Decker walked off with the top prize of $100, spendable at participating stores, in the first annual George Washington birthday sale promotion.

TEN YEARS AGO

St. Pancratius Women's Council met Feb. 7 with 12 members present and two guests. Michelle Zdrojewski is to nominate new officers, to be elected in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Spencer attended the Rural Letter Carriers potluck dinner and meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D.B. Duckwitz Tuesday evening.

Three Cass City residents were among the 848 awarded degrees at Central Michigan University at the end of the fall semester. Degree recipients were Curtis J. Cleland, Donald R. Joos and Thomas H. Woody.

A resolution allowing sale of liquor by the glass after 2 p.m. Sundays was passed by a 5-2 vote Tuesday by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners. Voting no were Ed Golding of Cass City and Floyd Ducker of Mayville.

25 YEARS AGO

Arthur Holmberg addressed the Junior Woman's Club Thursday, Feb. 14, at the home of Mrs. Robert Stickle where Mrs. Charles Tuckey and Mrs. Chris Schneider served as co-hosts.

No-till conference scheduled

Improving no-till farming is the theme of the Michigan No-Till Conference March 10 from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m., at Long's Convention Center in Lansing.

The conference, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan State University, and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, is designed to provide farmers with information that will help them improve their no-till systems.

Farmers interested in attending can get a copy of the program and a registration form from the Soil Conservation Service, 852 S. Hooper Street, Caro, or the Cooperative Extension Service in the basement of the county jail in Caro. Registration forms need to be returned by March 1 to ensure luncheon accommodations.

SEALED BIDS

Approximately 315 feet trenching for telephone cable, 121 feet across asphalt parking area, balance landscaped lawn area. Must be equipped to work closely with cable people. Bids must be submitted in sealed envelopes marked "Cable trenching" before 2 p.m. March 9, 1982.

Direct bids and inquiries to Buildings and Grounds Superintendent, 207 E. Grant St., Caro, Mich., PH: 673-7711.

Project site may be examined between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday thru Friday. Work will commence approximately April 1, 1982.

Tuscola County reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

esses.

The Cass City Red Hawks turned in their peak performance of the year Friday when they whipped Sandusky 77-65 on the Redskins' home court. John Meininger scored 26 points. Jim Johnson was not far behind with 21.

A total of 37 persons voted in the annual Gagetown Village caucus Monday. Richard Burdon won the nomination for village president.

At a recent Cub Scout award night, Tom Craig and Don Englehart received Webelo rank. The Lion award with gold and silver arrow went to Sammy Wells.

35 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carolan arrived home Sunday after spending the past three weeks on a trip south as far as Florida.

Keith Murphy of Cass City was a Sunday dinner guest of Betty Kritzman.

If the snow that now covers the Sebawaing Rivet should go off in a warm spell, Sebawaing village has a good chance of having a flood. To prepare the village for such an emergency, the village council now has 1,000 pounds of dynamite ready to blast the river ice. Diking along the river is also prepared.

Two Tuscola County farmers, E.O. Lounsbury and Luke Tuckey, living near Cass City, are featured in articles appearing in the March issue of Capper's Farmer.

Two traffic signal lights may be installed this year, one on the hill on N. Seeger Street and the other one at the corner of Main and Seeger.

Hosts needed for Polish farmers

Farm families in this area are needed to host young Polish farmers who are scheduled to arrive in the United States March 16 to participate in the Polish Agricultural Training Program, according to Patrick Livingston, Sanilac County 4-H youth agent.

Now in its eighth year, the program provides a one year on-the-job training experience for agriculturists 22 to 32 years of age. Specific areas of interest to the men and women coming from Poland include floriculture, vegetable, fruit, dairy, beef, swine and poultry.

Host families provide trainees room, board and monthly spending allowance and also make monthly contributions to National 4-H Council to cover such program costs as domestic travel, in-service training and consultation. Funds remaining at the end of the program are given to trainees who successfully complete the experience.

The program is sponsored by the Polish Association of Agricultural Engineers. It is arranged in the United States by the National 4-H Council.

Families interested in serving as hosts should contact Livingston at (313) 648-2515.

Intermediate top students honored

The Cass City Intermediate School Student Council recently hosted a continental breakfast for students earning academic honors at the end of the first semester.

The drinks and doughnuts were bought by funds raised by the Student Council's yearly fund raiser.

A total of 169 students were honored. A short program was presented by Principal Robert Stickle, who encouraged the students to continue their academic leadership and to help others to obtain the same level of proficiency.

Lamotte auxiliary makes plans

The Lamotte Township Fire Fighters Auxiliary met Feb. 17.

The meeting was called to order by President Mary Smith. Secretary Angie Krauth read the minutes of the last meeting. Treasurer Pat Innes gave her report.

The group voted to help with a dance to be held at the township hall for the benefit of Michelle Janes, who will be traveling to Europe this summer with the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp international symphonic band. The dance will be March 6 from 8 p.m.-midnight.

The auxiliary also voted to have a father and son dinner June 24, with Edgar A. (Bud) Guest as the speaker, known for his Sunny Side of the Street Club on WJR radio.

A new member was welcomed to the group. The auxiliary could use more Lamotte Township residents to join the service group. It meets the third Wednesday of each month at the township hall at 7:30 p.m.

Students in business competition

A group of Owen-Gage High School students recently attended regional Business and Office Education Club competition at Baker Junior College in Flint.

Laurie Louis received a first-place trophy in job interview 1; Tina Lopez placed eighth in prepared verbal communications 1, and the Owen-Gage spelling team (Julie Enderle, Lori Wissner, and Kim Olszak) placed eighth also.

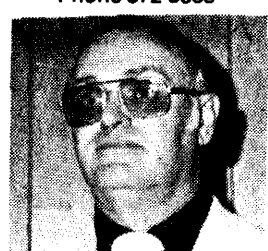

They will now compete at the 10th annual state convention in Detroit March 5, 6 and 7.

According to Kim Diebel, chapter president, approximately 2,000 high school office education students from around Michigan are expected to attend. Besides competing in skill and leadership areas, students will attend workshops and sessions with prominent speakers.

Other Owen-Gage BOEC students attending were Karen Jeffery, Jackie Kain, Karla Kretschmer, Tammy Mandich, Teresa Schmidt, Brenda Schwartz, Michelle Schwartz, Cindy Thomas, Helen Volz, Kathy Warack, and Janet Warack. The club's advisor, Peggy Randall, also attended.

O-G climbs in Thumb D with 4 victories

O-G boosted its North Central Thumb D League volleyball mark to 8-4 with two wins at home Monday evening over North Huron.

Coach Judy Campbell's squad won the first match, 16-14, 15-17, 15-13.

Leeann Ellicott scored 14 points, Karla Kretschmer had 10 good spikes, and Joan Mosack hit five spikes and 24 dinks.

Felicia Knoblock scored 12 points for the Warriors.

The second match also went to three games, with the Bulldogs winning 12-15, 15-5, 15-10.

Bonnie Wynn scored 22 points. Jackie Kain had eight good spikes and Mosack, 19 good dinks.

Owen-Gage is now 9-5 overall. The Bulldogs also won the junior varsity match, 9-15, 15-6, 15-1.

The final regular season game is this Thursday at Akron-Fairgrove.

PECK

Owen-Gage elevated its league mark to 6-4 with two wins at home last Thursday evening against Peck.

The first match went to three games, with the Bulldogs winning 15-12, 9-15, 15-5. Leeann Ellicott scored 15 points. Joan Mosack had eight points, five spikes and 11 dinks. Bonnie Wynn spiked the ball 11 times.

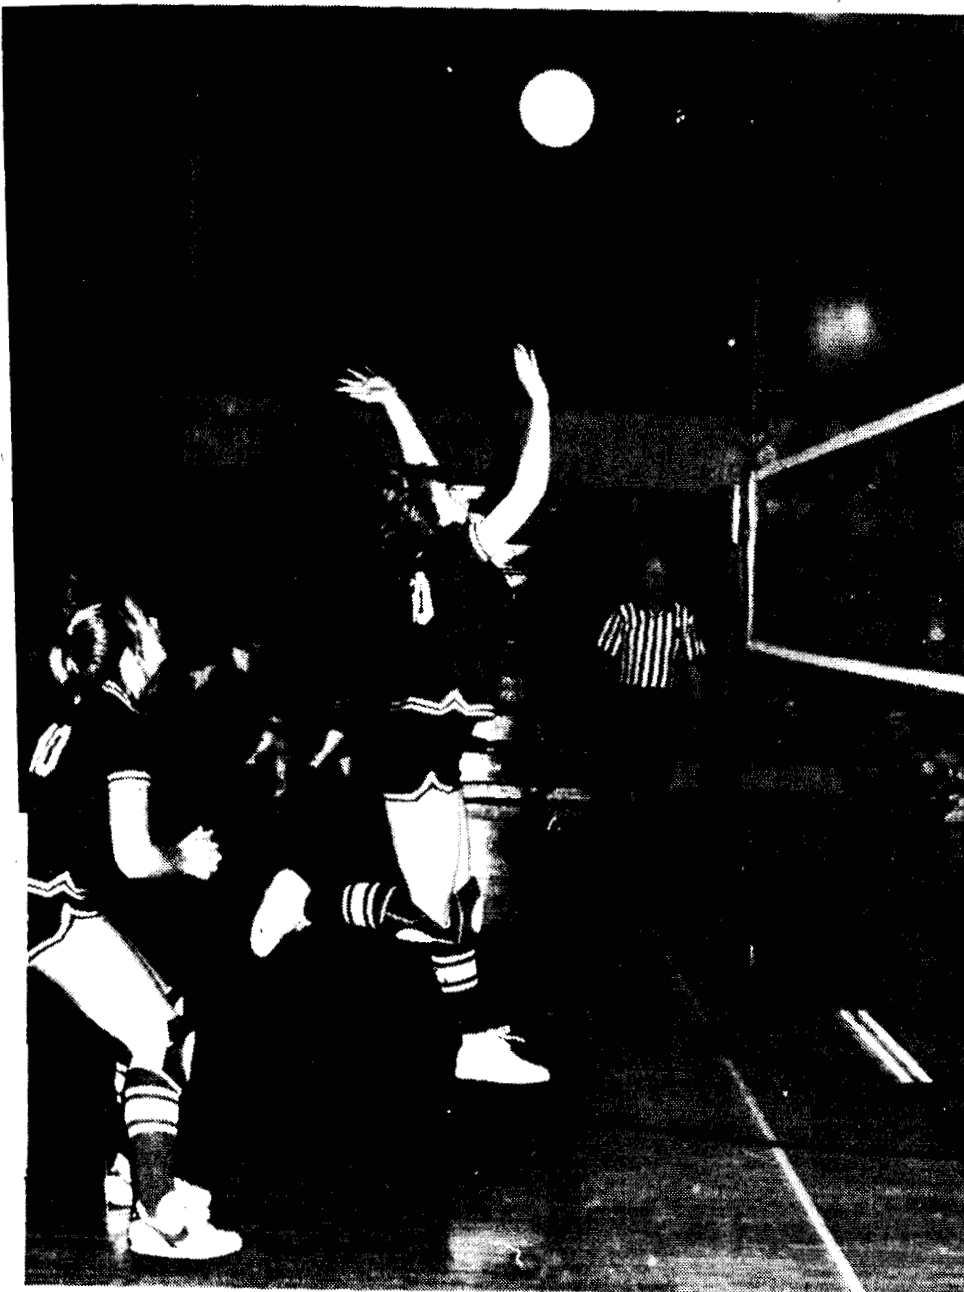

Kathy Lein scored nine points for the Pirates.

Owen-Gage, now 7-5 overall, won the second game, 15-7, 15-7. Wynn scored 13 points and Mosack, 10 points.

The Bulldog junior varsity also won, 15-6, 15-5 and 4-15.

Recreation League

Farm Bureau, Shetler's to fight it out for title

And then there were two. That's all that's left in the race for the Cass City Recreation League regular season championship.

With three games left to play Farm Bureau and Shetler's are tied for the top with 9-2 records, two games ahead of Stevenson's.

Stevenson's lost a chance to stay in the race when they were upset last Wednesday by Erla's, 86-85. Stevenson's jumped off to a one-point lead in the first quarter but the Foodmen charged back with a big second period that was the difference in the game. At the half Erla's was in front 42-33 and after three periods boasted a 9-point, 65-56 lead.

Stevenson's came back strong in the final period but couldn't overcome the margin. The losers played without two regulars.

For Erla's, Roy Calahan, 27, Ken Pichla, 22, and Joe Hillaker, 12, were the scoring leaders. Stevenson's got big point production from Bill Stevenson, 25, Rick Tuckey, 24, and Mark LaFave, 24 points.

In the nightcap Wednesday, Holmes & Walpole inched into the first division by topping tail-end McMahan's, 63-56.

The winners went in front early and stayed there. At the end of the first quarter it was 20-14, and at the half, the game was all but decided as the Lawyers jumped into a 39-18 lead.

McMahan's made it respectable in the third quarter cutting into the lead with a 23-10 advantage.

For the winners Ken Martin scored 24. Tim Severance netted 15 and Jerry Toner, 10. For McMahan's, Jim Bruce scored 16 and Leon Kaniszewski and Jason Koehler, 14 each.

In Thursday's first game, Shetler's stayed in the title chase with a 69-49 decision over Charmont. The winners went out in front by a point, 13-12, in the first quarter and stretched it to 30-21 at the half.

After three periods, Shetler's was in front 49-35 and the winners coasted in from there for the win.

Paul Beachy, 17, Ross Voelker, 14, and Jack Paul, 13, were the top scorers for the winners while Jay Owens, 18, and Dirk Sutherland, 10, paced the losers.

In the nightcap, Farm Bureau kept pace with Shetler's by topping Elkton, 65-58.

The Farmers had to rally from a 22-17 first quarter deficit to do it. At the half, Elkton still led, 37-36, and were in front by three after three quarters.

But Farm Bureau avoided an upset with a big 21-11 advantage in the final period.

Tom Koch, 22, Randy Adam, 18, and Mark Gainforth, 17, led Farm Bureau. Aaron Deering, 18, and Jim Schramski, 17, topped the losers.

7 matmen qualify

Hawks save best for regional

Seven Cass City Red Hawk wrestlers qualified for regional competition in the district mat tourney held in Cass City Saturday.

Among the 12 teams competing, Cass City finished second behind Flint Burton-Bendle. Bendle scored 123½ points and Cass City, 117½. To finish so far up in the standings the wrestlers gave their best performance of the year, Coach Russ Biefer said.

The Hawks had two firsts, one second, three thirds and a fourth among the qualifiers.

Jeff Papp, 105 pounds, pinned Craig Fortier of Sanford Meridian and David Tabit of Bendle and Wade Witherspoon of Lakers and decisioned Wayne Kamidoi of Capac on his way to a first place finish.

Paul Brown, who has been taking everyone recently in the 119-pound class, did it again Saturday. He drew a bye and then pinned Doug Wilson of Flint Hamady.

decisioned David Bronson of Tawas and pinned Ken Colburn of Bendle for the victory.

Other Cass City qualifiers and their finishes were: Jim Adkins, second, unlimited; Phil Harmer, third, 126 pounds; Blake Fisher, third, 145 pounds; Chuck Erla, third, 198 pounds, and Brian Stine, fourth, 138 pounds.

For group of seniors

It's a (bowling) ball

Esther Beyette's bowling average is almost 40 points more than her age.

Mrs. Beyette is 82. The Caro resident is one of a group of about 15 senior citizens from Caro, Cass City, Kingston and Vassar who meet each Friday morning to bowl.

The youngest are Edsel and Fern Connell, 64 and 62 respectively, of N. Decker Road, north of Shabbona.

The Caro members of the informal group started bowling about 1½ years before Harmony Hills Recreation burned in Caro in October, 1980, which is where they bowled.

After that, they bowled at the Charmont in Cass City. Last June, the Connells happened to be bowling there the day the Caroites were there and were invited to join the group.

Since most of the group is from Caro, they started bowling at the Brentwood in Caro when it opened in September. After bowling in the morning, they eat lunch together.

One Friday a month, they bowl at the Charmont, and after lunch, attend the movies for senior citizens at Rawson Memorial Library.

In addition to those in the photo, other members of the group, who weren't bowling Friday, were Reginald and Verna Thompson, Pearl Bednorik, Marie and Dwight Baldwin, all of Caro, and Virginia Taylor, Kingston. As for Mrs. Beyette, she first started bowling about 20 years ago, but eventually stopped. The widow resumed the activity about two years ago. She just bowls with the group on Fridays for "just a

Name champs

Cass City junior bowlers have raised $425 for Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters.

Twenty members of the two junior leagues collected pledges for each actual point they bowled Saturday, Feb. 13, at the Charmont. They turned in their pledges this past Saturday.

Scott Horner won the top prize, a monogrammed bowling ball, for having the most money pledged per actual point, $1.61. He raised a total of $154.

Brian Haley won a trophy for high game in the Saturday Teens League, 209 including his handicap. Brent Beecher's 249, including handicap, won him the trophy for the high game in the Saturday Spinners League.

Donated refreshments were served to all bowlers after the event and the Charmont gave participants a coupon good for one free game.

Beverly Louks is coach of the junior leagues. Linda Albee and Gary Vollmar were coordinators of the bowl-a-thon for Big Brothers-Big Sisters.

Similar events for the same charity were conducted the same day (Feb. 13) in Caro, Millington and Akron.

Cheaper

A tool kit of fixed-jaw box and open-end wrenches can become costly when working with both standard and metric nuts. The economical solution is a three-size set of Crescent adjustable wrenches.

Injuries pile up

Hawks top North Branch, bow to USA

Cass City led host USA for the first four minutes of the game Tuesday and the Patriots led the rest of the game to defeat the Red Hawks, 68-59.

The rash of injuries that have plagued the team in recent weeks continued. Barry Lapp missed the game because of an ankle injury suffered in practice just as Ray Ferris was returning to the squad for limited duty.

Cass City's defeat can be traced to a pair of faults. The Patriots consistently outbounded the Hawks on the offensive boards and the Hawks were unable to cash in often enough on close-in, high percentage shots.

Time after time the Hawk offense got the ball deep inside for shots five feet from the bucket and time after time the opportunities were wasted.

All during the game, Cass City would make runs at USA only to fall short. Most of the time the turning point came when Kirk Scharich hit a jumper from outside or one of the Patriots stuffed in a rebound.

Cass City made its most serious threat in the closing moments of the third quarter. The Hawks rammed home three unanswered baskets and trailed by just two points, 48-46.

USA then took command again and with two minutes gone in the final period charged back in front 54-46.

Cass City's last opportunity to pull the game out came when Gary Robinson caught fire and pumped in two quick hoops to make the score 59-55 with 2:55 left.

USA called time out and then went into a successful control ball offense to salt away the decision, its second of the year over Cass City.

Robinson, with 13 points, led Cass City while Scharich scored 24 for USA.

for Cass City, neither team played sparkling ball and turnovers were frequent.

Cass City jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the opening moments of the game. The Broncos got those back and went ahead by a bucket with a minute and a half left in the period.

Cass City then scored 11 unanswered points to take a 12-7 lead at the quarter and was never behind.

The two teams battled on even terms in the second period. Sophomore Joe Langenburg, playing his second game on the varsity, whipped in a couple of baskets in the quarter to keep the Hawk attack in gear.

It appears as if the young guard will provide Cass City with some much needed bench strength.

It was anybody's game after the first two quarters and it was Cass City's game after the third quarter ended.

Streiking to fast break baskets and forcing numerous turnovers, Cass City spurred to a 30-16 lead with 4:04 left in the quarter.

Cass City lengthened that to 20 points starting the final stanza and the game was history. The Broncos went into a full court press in the last quarter and it bothered the Hawks. With a minute left the lead had been cut to 10 points but all that did was make the final score more respectable.

Scott Hobart showed the way with his best scoring night of the season. He netted 21. John Meininger added 10. Bob Thibodeau scored nine points to top the losers.

NORTH BRANCH

Everything turned around for the Cass City High School basketball team Friday night when North Branch came to town.

The Hawks avenged an earlier defeat by rolling by the Broncos, 57-42, and they did it with a third quarter spurge that iced the game.

In recent games the third quarter has been a killer for Cass City as both Caro and Frankenmuth used it to top the Hawks.

It was a good win for Coach Ron Nurnberger's charges. Not that it will have any bearing on the Thumb B Conference race which Sandusky appears to have all but locked up.

But it should help the Hawks get ready for the upcoming district tournament at Marlette.

Although it was a good win

Announce 2 spring golf classes

The Cass City Community Education Department announces registration for two golf classes during March.

Both classes are designed as an opportunity to warm-up the golf swing indoors before the season starts.

The class for beginning golfers will be on Tuesday nights from 7-8:30, beginning March 2 and running for five weeks.

The class for intermediate and advanced golfers, will begin Thursday, March 11, and also run for five weeks.

Registration can be made by contacting the Community Education Office at 872-4151. Enrollment will be limited.

Instructor for both classes will be Cass City High School golf coach Ed Pasant.

7th grade captures tournament

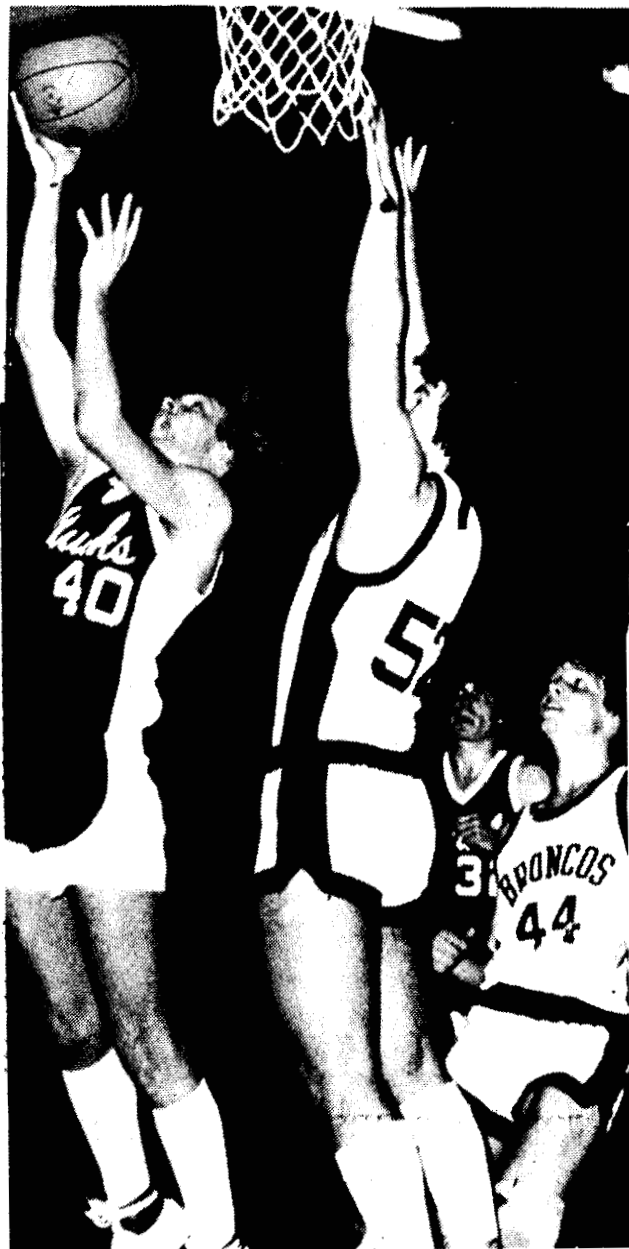

Cass City won the seventh grade invitational boys' basketball tournament last Thursday in the Cass City Intermediate School gym.

The mini-Red Hawks, coached by Tim Severance, defeated Lakers 30-28. Two free throws by David Miller with six seconds left gave Cass City the winning margin.

Marlette won the consolation game, 33-25.

In the preliminary games Monday of last week, Cass City defeated Vassar and Lakers beat Marlette.

The eighth grade tournament with Cass City, Marlette, Lakers and Sebewaing Immanuel Lutheran takes place this week with the championship game at 7 p.m. Thursday.

FAST BREAK basket was converted by Barry Lapp. Too late to defend was Doug Filkins. Watching is Cass City's Scott Hobart and North Branch's Sandy Rutledge.

Intramural cage finals slated Saturday morning

The Cass City Intermediate School Student Council is hosting a fifth and sixth grade intramural basketball tournament.

In semi-final action, the fifth grade boys of Mrs. Mastie were victorious over Mrs. Tibbitts' class, 28-20, and Miss Flynn's team edged Mrs. Milholin's, 20-17.

Sixth grade boys' action found Mr. Pasant's class winning 28-8 over Mrs. Deering's and Mrs. Iseler's posting a 28-12 victory over Mr. Gogola's.

The fifth grade girls' finals found Miss Flynn's students victorious over Mrs. Tibbitts', 26-5, and Mr. Gogola's winning by forfeit, 2-0, in the sixth grade finals.

The final round will be played Saturday in the Intermediate School gym. The teams left in competition are:

9 a.m., sixth grade boys' championship, Mr. Pasant vs. Mrs. Iseler.

10 a.m., fifth grade boys' championship, Mrs. Mastie vs. Miss Flynn.

11 a.m., fifth grade girls' champs (Miss Flynn) will take on sixth grade champs (Mr. Gogola).

Marsiglio given probation for fake prescription in Cass City

A Sandusky man, Arthur E. Marsiglio, 36, was placed on four years' probation Monday for attempting to obtain drugs by false prescription in Cass City.

He attempted to obtain the drug Delaudid Dec. 8 at Old Wood Drug. He pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 4.

Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn credited Marsiglio with the 68 days he served in the county jail, fined him $100 and assessed $200 court costs.

In other cases Monday: John A. Rashotte, 23, was found competent to stand trial on charges stemming from his escape while an inmate at the county jail July 8 of last year.

He is charged with unarmed robbery (taking a gun from a deputy), two counts of felonious assault and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony. Rashotte is now an inmate at the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for another crime.

Dixie J. Clappitt, 23, of Saginaw Street, Reese, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for driving under the influence of liquor (3rd offense) and driving with license suspended (3rd offense) April 3, 1981, in Vassar.

She pleaded guilty to the charges Dec. 14.

She was credited with 74 days served, fined $500 and assessed $50 court costs. If the fine isn't paid within six months, she is to serve 90 more days.

Steven M. Robinson, 23, of Saginaw, was placed on three years' probation for delivery of marijuana Feb. 6, 1981, in Cass City. He pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 14.

He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with 60 of those days deferred to the end of probation. Work release privileges were granted and he was credited with one day served. Robinson was fined $500 and assessed $150 costs.

Laura S. Enser, 19, of Frankenmuth, was placed on three years' probation for felonious driving. She was also sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served.

Her driver's license was suspended for two years, except for driving to and from work. She is to receive alcohol abuse counseling. She was fined $200 and assessed $250 court costs.

Ms. Enser pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 21, of felonious driving Sept. 25 in Reese, resulting in injury to another woman.

Ann Marie Sergeant, 21, of 8847 Van Cleve Road, Tuscola, was sentenced to six months in the county jail, with credit given for seven days served, for receiving stolen property over $100. Ninety days of the sentence were deferred to the end of probation.

She was placed on four years' probation, fined $250, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay restitution.

She pleaded guilty Jan. 11 to possession of a typewriter, tape recorder, tape player and duplicating machine, Sept. 28, which were stolen from Tuscola Elementary School.

LAST WEEK

In cases Tuesday, Feb. 16, before Joslyn:

James R. Compo Jr., 21, of 3540 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering, of breaking into a storage building on Dutcher Road, Caro, Nov. 21.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled March 15. Bond was continued.

Earl A. Siterlet, 58, of Ionia, stood mute to a charge of fraud. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled April 19. Bond was continued.

He is charged with using proceeds from the construction of a building at Sunset Bay Marina in Wisner Township for purposes other than paying subcontractors, workers and other employees and for purchase of materials. The offense allegedly occurred between July 9 and Sept. 1980.

Robert G. Blogg, 19, of 8847 Van Cleve Road, Tuscola, was sentenced to 2-10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. He was credited with 92 days served.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Dec. 21, of breaking into the Tuscola Elementary School on Van Cleve Road Sept. 28.

Ervin Schmandt, 57, of Frankenmuth, stood mute to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor (3rd offense) Jan. 15 in Vassar.

A pretrial hearing was held and a motion granted allowing him to post real estate as bond.

William Davis Jr., 47, of O'Brien Road, Mayville, stood mute to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor (3rd offense) Dec. 23 in Fremont Township.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled March 8. Bond was continued.

Davis pleaded innocent to supplemental information charging him with being an habitual offender. A pretrial hearing on the charge will also be March 8.

Alfred J. Palmer, 21, of 332 Gaway Street, Vassar, was placed on three years' probation for delivery of marijuana Dec. 4, 1980, in Vassar. A jury found him guilty of the charge Dec. 29 last year.

Palmer was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with half the sentence deferred to the end of probation. He was credited with one day served and work release privileges were granted. He was fined $250 and assessed $300 court costs.

Martin J. Stockmeyer Jr., 24, of 9988 Overton Street, Reese, was arraigned following his arrest on a bench warrant after he failed to appear in court Feb. 2 for his trial on a charge of breaking and entering.

He was remanded to the county jail without bond to await a new trial date.

JURY TRIAL

A circuit court jury last Wednesday found Mary Ann Tibbit, 23, of 9264 Cherry Street, Fostoria, innocent of a charge of writing three non-sufficient funds checks to the Mayville IGA store last May.

and county commissioners. Commissioners can accept the rolls as is, or if they feel one township's values are low, impose a factor (percentage increase) to put the values in line with those of other townships.

County boards must adopt the final report in April. The last step is the STC, which can impose a factor county-wide if they feel a county's valuation is too low.

The STC does question the figures. Its study says the average value in Evergreen should have increased 38 percent.

It also studied Austin Township, where it said average values went up 17 percent (the equalization department says 5.9 percent) and Greenleaf, where it wants a 14.6 percent hike (equalization says 6.3 percent).

Equalization Director Regentin said the STC is reviewing its figures and at his request will present its findings before the county board votes on the final valuation report in April.

A LOSING FIGHT

In Bingham Township, Supervisor Aaron Weltin added the 17.4 percent increase determined by the Huron County Equalization Department to his assessments.

"That's the way I learned through experience," he explained, "if he doesn't, someone else will."

Last year, he said, then county Equalization Director George Danks said the value of residential property in Bingham, which includes the village of Uby, didn't increase.

Weltin left the residential assessment roll as is, but the STC disagreed and added a factor.

Supervisor Jack Gillig of Lamotte Township was another supervisor who said he has no power over valuation increases. "We just add it on and grin. If we don't add it on, the county will," he continued, the state will.

Sheridan Township Supervisor Robert Becking is also faced with a big increase. "I don't want to accept it. I don't have to," he said, adding, "I just don't know what I'm going to do yet."

Top Cubs given first ever award

Cub Scout Pack 3594 conducted its annual blue and gold banquet Monday evening in the Campbell Elementary School gymnasium.

Presented for the first time were the Dr. K. Ivan MacRae Memorial Cub Scout of the Year awards, given by Gavel Club representative Dick Wallace to Webelos David Nolan and Scott King. The selection was based on their achievement.

Wallace explained to the scouts and their parents that the Gavel Club has always sponsored the Cub pack. Dr. MacRae, who died last November, had been the club's representative to and a big supporter of the Cubs.

The recipient or recipients each year will receive a plaque to keep. Those were presented at the banquet. What didn't arrive in time was a large plaque, to be presented to the pack, on which the winners' names each year will be engraved. Also receiving awards Monday evening were:

Den 1 - Dale Smerdon, two silver arrows; Brent Sturtevant, three silver arrows and wolf award; Steve Tuckey, bobcat, and Jammy Tuckey, bobcat.

Den 2 - Bill Sattelberg, bobcat and wolf; Michael Bills, three silver arrows; Steven Bills, three silver arrows; Eddy Hill, gold arrow, and Ryan Pierce, bobcat.

totalled $490,443, with expenditures of $511,636. Revenues were more than were originally budgeted and expenditures were less than anticipated. The "deficit" was funded out of the fund balance, which totaled $137,727 as the year ended.

Gentner called village finances "pretty tight." The village government has to mainly get by on savings until property taxes are paid this summer.

According to a letter from Yeo and Yeo that accompanied the audit, "Our examination revealed no material weaknesses in the internal control procedures of the village."

SEWER RATES

Althaver promised the council's decision in November to retroactively apply the sewage rate increase will be reexamined.

Technically, the increase took effect Jan. 1. One of about 300 village residents who were billed at the new rate for the November through January quarter complained Monday.

She told council members her total bill, which is at the minimum rate, cost her $17.04 additional because she was billed at the higher rate for the last two months of 1981.

Councilman Jim Ware commented rate increases were always retroactively applied in the past, but past rate increases weren't as much as this one.

Lynda McIntosh repeated her comment made in November that figuring the bills for two months at the old rate and one at the new might have been extra work but was worth looking into.

If a rebate is made, Althaver said, it will be applied as a credit on the next water and sewer bill.

Transfer of the B-hotel liquor license with dance permit for The Station, 6444 Main Street, from Don and Evelyn Stilson to Cherry Enterprises was approved.

Hospitals sued in hunting death

The family of a Caro teenager who died Nov. 24, 1979, as the result of a hunting accident in Novesta Township is suing Hills and Dales General Hospital, Dr. Hoon K. Jeung, MD, the Cass City Area Ambulance Service and St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw.

The victim was Steven L. Keezer, then 17, who was shot by a 14-year-old relative while hunting in the Crawford and Severance Road area.

The relative told sheriff's deputies at that time that the safety of his double barrel .12-gauge shotgun was off. When he turned around, he apparently accidentally pulled the trigger. A slug apparently ricocheted off the ground and hit Keezer near the mouth.

He was taken to Hills and Dales, where Dr. Jeung treated him. The youth was then taken by Cass City ambulance to St. Luke's, where he died.

The suit was filed recently in Saginaw County Circuit Court.

According to the family's attorney, Henry L. Greenwood of Southfield, the cause of death in layman's terms was that Keezer drowned in his own blood, which ran from his throat into his lungs.

He said the suit charges that the wound in itself was not fatal but that Keezer died as a result of not receiving proper treatment.

The family is seeking in excess of $10,000 in damages from each of the four defendants.

A jury trial has been requested.

4 from area CMU graduates

Four area residents graduated from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, at the end of the fall semester.

Wendy S. Doerr received a B.S. degree in social science and is now seeking employment in the Detroit area, preferably in geography, which was her major.

Wendy Doerr

She is the daughter of Jim and Judy Doerr, 7381 Germania Road, Uby, and a 1977 graduate of Cass City High School.

Brenda Marie Goslin received a B.S. degree in computer science. She is now employed as an associate programmer for Marathon Oil in Findlay, Ohio.

She will be marrying Phil Bader Saturday.

Brenda Goslin

The 1978 graduate of Cass City High School is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Goslin, 3351 Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown.

Corinn LaFave

Corinn S. LaFave received a bachelor of social work degree and is now seeking employment, preferably in hospital social work.

She is the daughter of Jim and Leona LaFave of 2686 E. Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, and a 1976 graduate of Owendale-Gagetown High School.

Tamara J. Morawski of 2428 N. Van Dyke Road, Decker, received a B.S. degree in education, majoring in health education.

From left, Brian Guinther, Kelly Deering, and Ruby and Nathan Bryant cut the snow into blocks Saturday and Sunday to build this Eskimo-style igloo, complete with entranceway and big enough in the main part for adults to stand up. The Bryants' father, Mike, was "technical advisor." The igloo was at West and Houghton Streets.

CETA may be in death throes, board is told

The federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Program may be in its final months, the Thumb Area Consortium board was told last Thursday.

The consortium, which has its office in Cass City, runs the CETA program in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

Executive Director Frank Lenard told the board members four alternatives are being considered in Washington to replace the present CETA program, which expires Sept. 30.

The most radical is that of President Reagan, who is proposing giving $1.8 billion to the states for them to establish their own job training programs.

The other proposals are by members of Congress.

All would retain a federal job program with local administration, but the programs they would offer and the proposed funding amounts would vary.

Although Congress is now deliberating what to do about CETA for 1982-83 and beyond, it never officially decided what to do about the program for the current fiscal year.

CETA is presently operating under a Congressional resolution authorizing spending at last year's level, minus those CETA programs the Reagan administration has eliminated, such as the emergency jobs program.

The resolution expires in mid-March so Congress presumably will pass another one.

JOB GENERATION

The consortium board authorized establishment of an employment generating services project at the suggestion of its private industry advisory council.

The $4,000 per county will come from CETA Title VII funds, which are normally used to subsidize on-the-job training with private employers.

Use of some of those funds to promote industrial and commercial growth is allowable.

Letters have been sent to all village and city governments in the upper Thumb asking them to submit proposals for use of the money.

The funds, a maximum of $2,000 per community for those awarded a grant, can be used for such projects as preparing brochures to promote locating new industries and businesses in a community, mailing of such promotional information and developing and placing newspaper ads in out-of-the-area publications.

"I can't say whether it will work," Lenard said of the new program, "but if one community lands an industry, I'd say it was $12,000 well spent."

SUMMER JOBS

The Human Development Commission (HDC) and

Huron Intermediate School District have been asked to submit proposals for operation of a CETA Summer Youth Employment Program this summer.

The HISD ran the program last summer, under contract with the consortium.

The consortium is to receive $570,000 to run such a program this summer, which should create about 450 jobs, according to Lenard.

The program will be targeted toward disadvantaged youth, ages 14-21, who will work in jobs with schools, governmental units and agencies and private non-profit organizations. They will receive the minimum wage of $3.35 an hour.

The HISD and HDC have to submit their proposals as to how they will run a program and how much they will spend for administration by Feb. 26.

The consortium board will probably award a contract to one at its March 18 meeting.

New books at the library

THE LOST MADONNA by Isabelle Holland (fiction). Julia Winthrop is summoned to Italy by her great-aunt Gianetta. But before Julia can get away from her new and prospering London art gallery, Gianetta is dead and the police suspect murder. Julia journeys to Italy intending to stay only for the funeral, but she soon realizes she cannot leave until her aunt's murder is solved. Somehow Julia feels she alone holds the key.

OLD GLORY by Jonathan Raban (non-fiction). Raban brings his Huckleberry Finn dream to reality as he tells of his journey down the Mississippi River in a 16-foot boat. He remembers the long, deep pools of solitude, his brushes with society on shore. As the river towns roll by - Wabasha, St. Paul, Hannibal, Memphis - he evokes a strong sense of history, of people, and tradition resistant to change.

Demos set at Campbell Elementary

Birthday celebrations for Lincoln and Washington are common in elementary schools across the country this month.

However, students in the Campbell Elementary School are celebrating another famous February birthday this week and in an unusual way. Children's book author Laura Ingalls Wilder was born 115 years ago in a log cabin in the woods of Wisconsin.

At age 65, she began to write the story of her childhood in the Little House series. Today these books have become favorites of children all over the world and are the basis for the popular television series, "Little House on the Prairie."

Campbell Elementary teachers Leola Retherford, Linda Gray, Nancy Hutchinson and Betty Kirn, Principal Jacqueline Freiburger, librarian Donna Emerson and art teacher Trudy Muszynski saw the anniversary of Mrs. Wilder's birth as an opportunity to provide pioneer experiences for Campbell students. With help from the Cass City community, through donations of time, skills and materials, Pioneer Week is being celebrated this week.

This celebration involves demonstrations of various pioneer crafts. Demonstrators include: Monday - butter-making, Mrs. Curtis Cleland; candle-making, Eileen Konkel; and fiddle-making and playing, Curtis Cleland.

Tuesday - bread-making, Mrs. James Tuckey; quilt-making, Mrs. Arlington Gray.

Wednesday - antique books, Jack Esau; toy-making, Ken Jensen.

Thursday - musket loading, Lynn Albee and Duane Long; farm equipment, described by Arleone Retherford.

Friday - soap-making, Mrs. James A. Milligan; story-telling, Mrs. Jack Zinnecker.

In addition, an empty classroom has been converted into Laura's Little House in the Big Woods - two rooms complete with furniture, cooking utensils, toys and clothing. A display area shows quilt patterns, an old school desk and typical pioneer farm equipment. Librarian Donna Emerson is conducting tours for all students through the Little House room. The tours also include a special treat, a sample of Ma Ingalls' vinegar pie!

A number of donations made the Little House possible. Many Campbell teachers and staff loaned personal items as did the following:

Donellen Fickling, Dorthea Quick, Nancy deBeaubien, Maynard Helwig, Ted Crosssett and the families of Jennifer Hoard, Ken Micklash, Jennifer Eria, Doug Marker, Kathleen Bolton, Scott Dillon, Brad Gray, Mia Garety, Dawn Mills, Lynn Spencer, Stacy White, Jim Finkbeiner, David and Cathy Coe, and Pat Bouck.

The Campbell staff and students invite the community to stop in during Pioneer Week to view one of the demonstrations or to visit Laura's Little House.

A bald eagle isn't bald at all. Its head is covered with white feathers. The word bald comes from the Old English word "balde," which means white.

Forecast 1982 crop acreage

The February Prospective Plantings Survey shows Michigan producers are expected to increase acreage for corn, soybeans, oats and barley.

Acreage for dry beans, sugar beets and hay is expected to be down, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Current indications reveal farmers intend to plant over 3.3 million acres to corn this year, up 5 percent from last year. If realized, 1982 corn acreage will be the largest in Michigan's history.

Soybean intentions are up 7 percent with slightly over one million acres currently expected to be planted. This would also be a state record.

Dry bean plantings for 1982 are expected to be 600,000 acres, displaying a drop of 8 percent from last year. The decline of potential markets for colored beans, primarily black turtles, is the impetus behind the decline in dry bean acreage.

Acreage intended for oats is expected to jump 25 percent to 450,000 acres. Barley acreage is expected to increase 11 percent from last season. Other crops that display reductions in acreage are hay and sugar beets which are both expected to be down 2 percent from the previous year.

Nationally, corn planted for all purposes is expected to total 84.7 million acres in 1982, up 1 percent from last year. Soybean acreage at 69.5 million acres is up 2 percent from 1981. Dry bean acreage at 2.2 million acres is expected to decline 5 percent.

ALL CLASS REUNION

Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, the committee for the All Class Gagetown High School reunion met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kehoe. The last reunion was held five years ago with 350 alumni and guests in attendance.

Plans were formulated for this year's get-together to be held at Sherwood on The Hill Saturday, July 24.

Anyone with a change of address since the last reunion is asked to please notify the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pisarek Jr. and children returned recently from a two-week vacation in Florida. They visited Mrs. Pisarek's brother and family, Mr.

and Mrs. George Lang in Tampa, her uncle, the James Knotts in Fort Lauderdale and other relatives in North Carolina.

After a winter hiatus, the Gagetown Women's Study Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Roy Messer on Hurds Corner Road, Monday, March 1, at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. Sadie McHenry, who with her husband Claude, operated the Gagetown Hotel for many years, and who recently lived with a daughter, Mrs. Frank Alley in West Branch, has moved back to the area. She now resides with her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Kenney in Sebewaing. Mrs. Alley recently suffered a broken ankle in a fall on the ice.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met Thursday, Feb. 18, at the Owendale Community Building with 37 members attending. A potluck lunch was served at noon followed by a short program. Mrs. Alec Crawford led the group in singing songs of a Valentine theme.

Get-well cards were sent to Prudence Quinn in the Pigeon Hospital and Grace Roberts, at home.

The next meeting is to be held March 4 at the Gagetown Community Building.

Guests of Mrs. Roy LaFave for Sunday dinner were Mrs. Carrie Campbell and Mrs. Frances Schilling of Unionville.

George Wilson is spending a few days at Manuscog, in the Upper Peninsula, ice fishing with friends.

Mrs. Sue Penrod had as a guest for the week, her grandson, Larry Mauk of Detroit, and for the week end, her niece, Darlene Kenel of Sterling Heights. Mrs. Penrod and Mr. Mauk were Thursday evening dinner guests of Mrs. Fred McKellar and Kerry.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Karr and son Eric of Syracuse, Ind., spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karr. Saturday evening, they and the Garry McKellar had dinner at the home of Mrs. Fred McKellar.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Johnson of Bad Axe spent Thursday with her sister and family, the W.C. Hunters.

On the occasion of their eighth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tasch-ner were guests for dinner of Mr. and Mrs. Elger Generous at the "Cider Barrel" in Vassar. Mr. and Mrs. Generous were attendants at the Taschners' wedding.

The Charles Taschners were dinner guests Sunday of their son John and family. Their grandson, Chad, celebrated his seventh birthday.

Tim Rabideau and friend, Dottie Wynn, Lou Wynn and friend, all of Lansing, were guests for the week end of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carroll. They also visited Tim's grandmother, Mrs. Harry Johnston, at Provincial House in Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Hendershot entertained Sunday, their son Jim, on spring break from CMU, Sarah Forman of Barrington, Mr. and Mrs. David Neu of Unionville, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Roemer and daughter and Mrs. Maud Sarosky of Gagetown.

Mrs. Doris Bang, her mother, Mrs. Florence Bitzer, of Unionville and her daughter, Pamela Kuhl, of Pinconning were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bang and Matthew of Kingston. It was Matthew's third birthday.

James Thiel of Union Lake, who spent his early years here and graduated from Gagetown High School, died at his home Sunday, Feb. 14.

Rick Kuhr of Saginaw spent the week end with his parents, Deacon and Mrs. Bud Kuhr. Jim Kuhr, on spring break from U of M, is spending the week with the Kuhrs.

St. Agatha Catholic Church will hold Lenten services Ash Wednesday evening at 7:45 p.m. and Thursday evenings at 7:00 p.m. during the rest of Lent.

Otis Heath dies at 70 in Bay City

W. Otis Heath, 70, of Bay City, died at his home Saturday following a lingering illness.

He was born April 29, 1911, in Auburn, and was a Bay County resident most of his life.

He owned the Oldsmobile dealership in Cass City at one time. His wife, the former Elynore Bigelow, is from Cass City.

Heath headed the business statistics department of Dow Chemical Co. before his retirement.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Bay City, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks Lodge No. 88, and Senior Citizens of Bay County.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Frederick Heath of Baton Rouge, La., and one granddaughter, Christine Heath of Saginaw. A brother, Eugene, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at W.A. Trahan Funeral Chapel, Bay City, Rev. James A. Kees officiating. Burial was in Elm Lawn Cemetery.

Poland food collection March 4

The National Farmers Organization will be accepting cows, all grades of cattle and calves, butcher hogs and sows, sheep and lambs, or cash, Thursday, March 4, at its Cass City collection point for its Food for Poland program.

Donated animals will be shipped to an Iowa packing firm where the meat will be packed into cans and shipped to Poland. The food will be distributed there by the Catholic Relief Service and Church World Service. Priority will be given to needy children, the disabled and then the elderly, according to the NFO.

Nancy Jones, who runs the collection point with her husband, William, said she will have forms available to enable farmers to claim the livestock donations as a charitable tax deduction.

The collection point is located on M-53, four miles south of M-81. It will be open from 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

That is a regular shipping day, Mrs. Jones said, and farmers who normally sell their livestock through NFO will be able to donate a portion of their proceeds.

She added that some area churches have expressed interest in making monetary donations. Such donations will be used to buy more animals. Mrs. Jones can be called at 872-3089 for more information.

The NFO is seeking to ship 100,000 pounds of beef, pork, powdered milk and flour to Poland.

Here's the sort of thing you miss by not going to college. It is a definition of "literacy" by Prof. Ray Richardson of the department of black studies at San Francisco State University.

"In the context of the urban university, literacy has a much deeper meaning than simply the ability to read and write. Constantly expanding delivery systems of the word require ever expanding skills of analysis and interpretation of the word."

"The word then as symbol of distilled experience must be approached from a positive heteronomous perspective. That is, although the WORD is the same, from different cultural, racial and economic backgrounds the presuppositions of meanings may not obtain literacy, then must be as inclusive in its epistemological purview as the term urban university mandates."

So much for literacy. We scored this on our "fog index" scale, which measures how murky such writing is. The result was 18.4, which means it would take a person 18.4 years in schools to understand what the devil the professor was talking about.

I am short of that level myself, so I don't know what the fellow is saying. I am going to cry myself to sleep as an illiterate clod.

I wish more movie reviewers were as candid and pungent as Joy Gould Buym of the Wall Street Journal. Here is what she had to say about "Tarzan the Ape Man," starring Bo Derek.

"The ineptitude of this Edgar Rice Burroughs remake is absolutely mind-boggling. The acting of Bo Derek as Jane and even of Richard Harris as her long-lost father is insufferable. The direction (by Ms. Derek's husband, John) is hopeless. And the script (by Tom Rowe and Gert Goddard) is idiotic."

Focusing almost exclusively on Bo Derek's fantastic body (our hero is given such short shrift, that he utters not a single line, not even "Me Tarzan, you Jane," and shows up only halfway through the picture), the whole film has the look of an animated Playboy centerfold.

Only one good moment comes to mind: when the MGM lion yawns before the titles, he emits not his usual roar but Johnny Weissmuller's famous jungle call. From here on, it's all a downhill swing.

If Sri Lanka, where the movie was filmed, had any gutters, that's where this "Tarzan" would land."

Annual Silent Sisters meet in Owendale

The 47th annual Silent Sister Club held its Valentine's party Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, at the home of Mrs. Brenda McLaren of Unionville.

A planned potluck was served at 7 with 15 members and three guests present. A cherry cheesecake which centered the food table was baked by Alice Ricker, her annual tribute to the table.

After the meal, the meeting was called to order by President Donna Finkbeiner. Secretary-treasurer Carol Ellicott read the minutes of the previous meeting and reported the fund balance in the treasury. Dues of $2 yearly were collected.

Leanne Stirrett and Sally Draschil asked their names be dropped from membership, but the club gained three with Myra Sparks, Jane Ann Faust and Charlene Timmons joining.

Officers were elected. Carol Ellicott moved up as president and Margaret Timmons was voted secretary-treasurer. Jeannette McDonald, silent secretary, and game committee, Barbara McCallum and Sharon Englehardt.

Next year's meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Sherry Burk with Thelma Burk as co-hostess, on the closest day to Valentine's Day that will fit the schedule.

A brown bag auction was held with Carol Mandich and Joyce Sheldon as auctioneers, and Lynn Pavilcheck as banker. Many humorous items were in the bags. Some items were special and had Valentine's Day in mind.

Gifts were opened and names revealed for past year and the silent secretary noted that only one had guessed who had been her sister all year. Names were exchanged and recorded by the silent secretary for future need.

A ceramic Easter centerpiece was given by the members to Jeannette McDonald for being silent secretary the past year, for her efforts and time to keep the exchange of gifts secret.

Present members are Thelma Burk, Sherry Burk, Sharon Engelhardt, Carol Ellicott, Donna Finkbeiner, Jane Ann Faust, Connie Howard, Carol Mandich, Barbara McCallum, Brenda McLaren, Georgie Pavilcheck, Lynn Pavilcheck, Alice Ricker, Marie Susulla, Joyce Sheldon, Myra Sparks, Charlene Timmons and Margaret Timmons.
