Fish only casualties in Hass home fire

Fire last Wednesday night destroyed the mobile home of Donald and Debra Hass on M-53, south of Deckerville Road in Lamotte Township. Lamotte firemen received the call at 10:22 p.m. Elkland Township fire fighters were called about a half-hour later. The Kingston department brought a tanker to the scene. Lamotte Fire Chief Art West said the cause was traced to a faulty heat tape around a water line that shorted out. Loss was estimated at $20,000. The Hasses did have insurance. He said the fire was discovered by someone driving by. According to a neighbor, Shirley Coggins, the Hasses had left about 5:30 that evening to go to her parents' home in Standish. Another neighbor, Steve Ziemba, called Hass' father in Marlette, Mrs. Coggins said, and by the time she called Mrs. Hass' parents, they already knew about the fire. The couple returned after the fire to examine their loss, then apparently returned to Standish. Hass, who is laid off from Mar-Foam, Inc., in Marlette, and his wife, operated a tropical fish business in their home, Double D Fish Wish. All of the fish tanks were broken, firemen said, who went inside after the blaze was out. Lamotte firemen returned to the fire hall at 12:50 a.m. Elkland fire fighters got back to Cass City about a half-hour earlier.

cause of a reported chimney fire. An apparent back draft had pulled smoke from two chimneys connected to wood stoves into the house, leading the occupants to think there might be a fire, Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski said. There was no fire. +++++ +++++

Elkland fire fighters were called to the Wilford Smith residence on Severance Road, about 1 1/4 miles west of Cemetery Road, at 5:12 p.m. last Wednesday be-

At 5:25 p.m. Thursday, the Elkland department was called to a reported house fire at 6357 W. Main Street. The false alarm call was made by a prankster.

Gagetown, Uibly only area villages with election races

Gagetown and Uibly are the only area villages which have election contests Monday, both for seats on the village council. In the rest, only one person is running for each office. Polls are open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. GAGETOWN -- Four persons are running for the three trustee spots. Three are present council members, Charles Wright, Fred Sullivan and Thomas Reehl. The fourth is Charles Shannan. Sullivan is the lone Democrat; the rest, Republican.

The others running, all presently holding the office, are: President, William Downing, Republican, and clerk and treasurer, (separate offices), Elery Sontag, Democrat. Gagetown does not have an assessor. All terms are for four years. Polling place is the village-township hall. UBLY -- Five persons are running for three seats on the council. Republicans are Bill Bailey and Bruce Brown, both presently trustees, and Donald Schneider. Democrats running are Ruth Olshove and incumbent Donald Wright. The terms are for four years. Running for the other offices, all incumbents and all two-year terms, are: President, Earl Longuski; clerk, Chris Tyll; treasurer, Florence Schrader, and assessor, Henry Krug. Tyll is the lone Democrat.

office. All terms are for two years. President, Arlo Ruggles; clerk, Rev. Kenneth Boileau; treasurer and assessor (separate offices), Mildred E. Parrott, and trustees Rev. Gilson Miller, Don Barden and the lone Democrat, Patricia Soper. Polling place is the village hall. OWENDALE -- The one question to be answered by voters is election of one person to a one-year term on the council to fill a vacancy. No candidates are listed on the ballot, so whoever receives the most write-in votes will be elected. Running for the two-year terms on the council are Robert Ricker, Martin Blondell and Joseph Schmidt. Others running are Walt Howard, president; Marie Susalla, clerk; Lois Blondell, treasurer, and Leann Stirrett, assessor. All terms are for two years. The only candidate not presently filling the office is Schmidt. He will take over from Jerry Stirrett, who isn't seeking reelection. Voting place is the community building.

MOBILE HOME FIRE -- Little was left and apparently nothing worth salvaging after fire destroyed the mobile home of Donald and Debra Hass on M-53 last Wednesday.

Committee plan includes three landfills for 5 years

Continued reliance for at least the next five years on the three present landfills in Tuscola County for disposal of trash is prescribed in the county 20-year solid waste management plan. The plan was given preliminary approval last Wednesday by the 13-member committee that has been working almost a year in preparing it. Their meeting in the courthouse annex in Caro that evening was the first opportunity they had to review the preliminary written report which was compiled and written by Human Development Commission planner Howard Hoskins. Its preparation is mandated by state law. The committee, which includes Cass City village Supt. Lou LaPonsie and President Lambert Althaver, reviewed alternatives and present conditions before deciding, in the words of the plan, "there is more than enough landfill acreage in the area to handle current and projected wastes for a minimum of the next five years." There are three landfills in Tuscola, two of which are municipally owned. Cass City's is in Novesta Township; Caro's in Almer Township. The privately owned Oliver landfill is in Arbel Township in the southwest corner of the county. Caro and Millington are the only governmental units in the county that operate their own trash pickup service. The rest rely on private haulers who either contract with a governmental unit or, as in Cass City, deal directly with their individual customers. The study notes that of the estimated 176.4 tons of waste generated in the county each day, based on a state average, only 12 percent is disposed of in the three landfills. The rest is transported to disposal sites in other counties. Of the trash that goes in the three landfills in the county, an estimated 88 percent comes from homes.

that, it continues, "we may see large scale recycling centers and energy recovery systems develop that will make it profitable for private industry to get directly involved in management, recovery and disposal of solid waste." Such resource reclamation won't happen overnight. The report expects that approximately 60 percent of refuse will still have to be dumped in landfills into the 1990s, "after which time it may be expected to decrease as recycling becomes more prevalent."

Charge Leach in fatal crash

Roger F. Leach has been charged with manslaughter in connection with the Jan. 29 traffic accident that took the life of Cass City school teacher Bonnie Bruner. Leach, 25, of 5688 Hugh Drive, Lot 50, Millington, was arrested at his home Monday night by Tuscola County deputies. He was arraigned Tuesday before Magistrate Donald Smith, who scheduled arraignment before District Judge Richard F. Kern March 15. Bond was set at $10,000 personal recognizance. The warrant signed by Assistant Prosecutor Scott Stermer Monday charges that Leach was driving his pickup while under the influence of liquor, which resulted in the death of Miss Bruner, and therefore he committed manslaughter. Stermer said Tuesday it was necessary to wait for results of blood tests from the state police crime laboratory before the warrant could be issued. Manslaughter carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison. Miss Bruner, 30, was killed on M-15, about four miles south of Vassar, when the Leach pickup crossed the centerline and ran into her car, sheriff's deputies reported at the time. She had taught first grade at Campbell Elementary School since fall, 1973. As for the 15 years beyond

MANAGEMENT
Of more immediate concern is who will oversee the plan once it takes effect. The managing agency will have to handle any problems and make any modifications needed before the required updating in five years. A concern, Hoskins said, is what would happen if the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) should close one of the county landfills because it doesn't comply with state requirements. Committee members first voted to accept what was presented of the plan at the meeting. They then voted to send a three-member delegation to the county Department of Public Works board meeting Tuesday of this week to ask it to serve as the managing agency. Volunteering to appear before the DPW board were LaPonsie, Arbel Township Supervisor Richard Hallo- Please turn to page 18.

WASH DOWN -- The car of Catherine MacGillvray leaked gasoline after being struck by the car of Wanda Biston Friday afternoon on S. Seeger Street. Elkland Township firemen washed the gasoline away.

Slippery roads hazardous

Several injured in crashes

Traffic, accidents were numerous during the past several days, with patches of icy pavement being a contributing factor in several of them. Many of the accidents were in Cass City. Wanda I. Biston, 62, of Centerline Road, Kingston, was reported to have suffered minor injuries in a 4 p.m. three-car accident Friday in Cass City. She was taken home by a neighbor. Cass City police reported she was southbound on Seeger Street, north of Garfield, when she ran into the rear of a car parked by the west curb, forcing it into the car parked in front of it. She told officers she was leaning over to get a cough drop when she hit the first vehicle. Mrs. Biston was ticketed on a charge of failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead. Owner of the first parked car hit was Catherine MacGillvray of Huron Line Road, Cass City. Owner of the second was Ella M. Cumper of Maple Street. The impact ruptured the gasoline tank of the MacGillvray auto and the Elkland

Township Fire Department was called to wash away the leaking gasoline. The most serious mishap in terms of injury was reported at 2:15 p.m. Monday. The driver, Pamela A. Schmidt, 17, of 470 Cemetery Road, Deford, was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Sheriff's deputies reported she was northbound on Cemetery Road, north of Shabbona Road, when she lost control of her car after going over a snow covered portion of the road. Her auto went off the east side, rolled over and landed on its wheels. At noon Monday, village police said, Harvard J. Sherman, 19, of 686 E. Cass City Road, westbound on Main, was turning left into the Thumb National Bank lot, failed to yield to an eastbound car and the vehicles collided. The driver of the other car, James N. Walker, 32, of Caro, sought treatment from a physician for minor injuries. Sherman was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield.

Fern L. McCreedy, 52, of E. Dickerson Road, Unionville, sought her own treatment after being injured in a 1:30 p.m. accident Friday. Caro state police reported she was southbound on Hurds Corner Road, north of Dale Road, when she hit a slippery section of pavement due to snow which blew onto the road. She braked, but when her car hit dry pavement again, it went out of control. It went off the east side of the road into a ditch and rolled onto its side. Please turn to page 15.

"If It Fitz..."

Baiting the rebating

By Jim Fitzgerald

Some things I don't understand. For instance, there is a TV commercial in which a rather loud man holds a fistful of cash. He says he wants to give me some of that money, anywhere from $300 to $1,000. All I have to do is buy a car made by the Chrysler Corp.

This guy in the commercial doesn't say much about Chrysler engineering or mileage or comfort or price. He isn't really selling cars, he is selling money. He is saying I should buy a car to get $300 to $1,000, not to get decent transportation. He points out that "not Ford, not GM, but only Chrysler is offering money."

Obviously, Chrysler thinks I need cash. Chrysler thinks I can be lured into a Chrysler dealership by the green money its huckster waves in my face. Chrysler thinks I need $300 to $1,000 so badly I will spend $6,000 to $10,000 to get it.

The marketing theory behind auto rebates goes like this: Times are tough so I can't afford a new car. I can't even afford to take my wife out to eat and lean on a piano bar. My present car would provide the down payment on a new one, but it is running OK, so why trade and prolong, perhaps increase, my monthly car payments? Because I want to take my wife out to eat and lean on a piano bar, that's why.

Chrysler is offering me the $300 cash needed for a night on the town with enough left over for a movie the next day. So I'm supposed to spend anywhere from $6,000 to $10,000 for a new car, not because I need a new car, but because my wife is sick of sitting around the house every night.

That's the cash rebate theory. What I don't understand is why auto companies sell cash and why anyone buys it.

Instead of paying me $300 to buy a $7,000 car, why didn't Chrysler simply price it at $6,700 in the first place? Because Chrysler was hoping to make that added $300 profit, that's why. But when I couldn't afford to pay $7,000 for a car, Chrysler switched to selling cash, hoping I'd pay $7,000 on the installment plan for $300 in instant cash.

Of course, if I had paid $7,000 for the car in November, I'd have been extremely peeved to learn a month later that if I'd waited I could have purchased the car plus $300 cash for the same price.

Likewise, I think Chrysler should realize that, because it frequently offers rebates, most customers won't buy until they can get cash along with the car. Also, Chrysler should realize that customers who bite on rebates are the same customers who don't buy cars when the rebates are rescinded.

However, based on his salary, Lee Iacocca has to be at least 20 times smarter than I am. He obviously thinks the way to sell Chrysler cars is to put a guy on TV to wave cash in my face and tell me that Ford and GM aren't waving that same cash. The Chrysler president must know what he's doing.

I just don't understand it, but I'm sure someone will explain it to me.

Something else I don't understand is one of the things the United States did to punish Israel for annexing the Golan Heights. The U.S. canceled a deal to buy military equipment from Israel. I don't know about you, but I had no idea we were buying armaments from Israel or any other country.

In the first place, I thought the U.S. was the arsenal of the world. We are supposed to sell military weapons, not buy them. It is bad enough that we depend on foreign nations for much of our oil supply and must live with the terrible fear of waking up some morning to find our freeways unclogged. Must we also worry about a foreign nation someday cutting off our weapons supply, forcing us to kill with rocks and bare fists, which is messy?

In the second place, U.S. citizens are continually told that it's unpatriotic to buy foreign products, especially Japanese cars. So isn't it unpatriotic for our government to buy foreign military equipment, putting local gunsmiths out of work? I don't understand it. Maybe Israel offered us a $300 rebate to buy a $7,000 gun.

Big spenders

According to experts at The Proprietary Association—a trade association representing manufacturers of nonprescription medicines—the average American spends about $19.11 for nonprescription medicines—a small outlay compared to his tobacco products ($78.85), alcoholic beverages ($96.47) and candy ($26.42).

The Haire Net

I sometimes think that kitchens in restaurants are way ahead of their time, run by robots.

Either that or communication in English is impossible. Maybe that's why most businesses have memos scattered around saying that orders should be written not spoken.

Let me explain. One of my few idiosyncrasies (don't listen to my wife) is that when I order eggs, I like them to be served one each on two pieces of uncut toast.

Now everyone knows that most restaurants serve eggs on a plate with toast cut in half on each side of them. And, by George, come what may that's the way you get them.

This is the way it goes. Carefully you spell out to the waitress just how you want those eggs served and she smilingly nods her head and tells you prettily that she's got it. No problems, she knows just what's wanted.

It used to be after this exchange, I'd relax knowing that all was well and the egg would be escorted in regally perched on its individual toast throne. Ah! the innocence of youth.

Little did I know that I had two chances to get those eggs the way I wanted them—slim and none.

Events have proved that the chances of finding eggs on toast are no better than 10 to one and probably are worse than that.

About half the time the serving will be in the same old way with the eggs in the middle and the toast cut on the side, leaving the option of dipping them in the yolk or trying to shove the two pieces together and placing the egg on top without busting it before its time.

That's easier to explain than the remainder of the time when the eggs come with both bunched on one piece of uncut toast and the other slice cut and placed in its usual position on the side of the plate. That leaves the option of trying to roll one egg off the uncut piece onto the two halves jammed together in desperation and without busting it before its time.

The trouble with wanting one egg on one piece of toast is that it's comparatively trivial. Now if you order a soft boiled egg and it comes out hard there's no sweat. Just return it and make 'em do it right.

But can you imagine sending eggs back because the toast is cut? The owner would probably be six foot, six with corns and no sense of humor.

The only ray of sunshine in this morbid tale is that when lightning does strike and they do it right you know, you just know that with a start like this it just has to be your day.

Dairymen debate — Would basketball star drinking milk help lagging sales?

If basketball star Ervin (Magic) Johnson told the world he drank milk, would more persons drink it?

Some dairy farmers who attended the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) Deford local annual luncheon meeting Feb. 20 at the Shabbona United Methodist Church think so.

The main topic discussed was the problem facing the industry because of too much milk being produced and declining consumption, resulting in less income for dairy farmers, and how to overcome it.

MMPA Vice-president Harold Wood of Marlette outlined some of the problems, especially in Michigan.

The amount of milk produced has increased each month for the past 34 months. Not only are the unemployed buying less milk, many of them are moving to the Sun Belt states to find jobs. The ones who are moving are usually younger couples with children, who are prime consumers of milk. Also, school milk sales are down.

The MMPA used to sell a lot of surplus milk to other states but that market is declining because they also have too much milk. Ohio used to buy 12 million gallons annually from Michigan; now it buys half that.

Wood noted that milk consumption in the United States averages 17 gallons per person per year. Soft drink consumption averages 37 gallons.

One incentive for dairy farmers to reduce production, he said, will be an increase in grain prices. It still is more profitable for farmers to feed their corn to dairy cows and then sell the milk than it is to sell the corn. ONE REFLECTION OF the milk industry's problems is that the MMPA's McDonald Dairy Co. division lost more than $1 million last year, with the only part of its operation that was profitable being ice cream.

Despite having to make up that loss, Wood said, the association still made a profit in 1981 of $822,000.

The vice-president said he regretted having to report continuing McDonald's losses, but the MMPA board feels "we're going to have to stay" in the bottling business.

The reason, he explained, is that it feels that if Michigan dairies owned by such national concerns as Borden's and Sealtest continue to lose money, they will close. That would leave MMPA members without a market for their products if they didn't have McDonald's.

CASS CITY DAIRY farmer Grover Laurie, a member of the Southern Michigan Market Committee, outlined some alternatives that have been proposed to reduce milk production.

One is a government imposed quota, but that would have to be approved by dairymen in a nationwide referendum. He thinks such a quota would be defeated because some states don't have a surplus.

A proposal the MMPA board opposes would be a set-aside of 45 or 50 cents for every 100 pounds of milk produced. The money would be used to buy the surplus beyond what the government needs for its school milk and other programs.

The surplus purchased would be sold overseas, which would maintain 75 percent parity. In the fourth year of the new farm bill (1983-84), parity is only supposed to be 62 percent.

Laurie's own thought was that farmers should dump all their milk every 32nd day. That would eliminate the surplus problem and take the place of the federal government's present dairy support price program.

(Laurie said after the meeting, dairy farmers received $13.46 per hundredweight for their milk in January, the uniform blend price, down 14 cents from what they earned a year earlier.)

The MMPA board has endorsed a 5 cents per hundredweight set-aside, which would raise $65 million a year to promote the sale of cheese, butter and powdered milk, products Uncle Sam presently buys to maintain the dairy support price.

WOOD AND MIKE RENN of Elkton, an MMPA district director and vice-president of the American Dairy Association Michigan board (which does dairy promotion), talked about advertising.

Nationally, a total of $54-55 million is spent from all sources to promote the sale of dairy products. In contrast, the dairy soft drink industry spends $355 million.

"I'm sure if the milk industry spent $355 million, sales would look different," Renn commented. (At a recent seminar in Cass City, a speaker said the national dairy advertising totals $28 million.)

That led to a discussion of how the sale of milk is promoted, with some wondering why drinking milk isn't advertised on sports programs, something the soft drink industry does heavily.

Part of the answer was lack of funds.

Earl Braun, a Market Committee member from Harbor Beach, mentioned a city person had suggested to him that if the milk industry should hire someone like "Magic" Johnson as a spokesman, a lot more city kids would drink milk.

That suggestion met with approval with some members. When Wood commented, "If I read you fellows right, you want better quality advertising," one added, "and a different direction."

REELECTED AS THE local officers were Leslie Severance, president; Gerald Hicks, vice-president, and Maynard Stine, secretary-treasurer.

Elected delegates to the upcoming MMPA state convention were Severance, Stine, Hicks, Robert DeLong, and Leland Hirsch, with Hessel Venema as alternate. DeLong was elected to the nominating committee and he and his wife were nominated as the outstanding young dairy couple.

Those present voted to keep local dues at $3 annually.

MILK'S THE ONE — Officers of the Michigan Milk Producers Association Deford local are, from left, Les Severance, president; Gerald Hicks, vice-president; MMPA Vice-president Harold Wood, the main speaker, and Maynard Stine, secretary-treasurer. Radio Watch helpers needed

It isn't necessary to own a radio to belong to Community Radio Watch.

It is necessary to be willing to help in time of need.

CRW members, according to assistant coordinator Bob Alexander of Cass City, help the sheriff's department and state police when they need help, such as during storms, for search and rescue work, to monitor radios at the sheriff's department, direct traffic during disasters, etc. They also patrol during Halloween night.

The organization, about two years old, is recruiting new members. It presently has 42 and would like 100, Alexander said.

CRW is starting a 16-hour training session Thursday from 7-10 p.m. in the basement of the sheriff's department.

Persons can start with the second session and still be certified as a CRW member, Alexander said.

Persons interested in joining can contact him at 872-2403 after 4 p.m. or Sgt. James Giroux at the sheriff's department.

After they complete their training, the volunteers can take an additional course in Red Cross first aid.

Once certified, volunteers' names, addresses and phone numbers go on a list maintained by the sheriff's department, along with a list of the emergency "qualifications" — whether they own a snowmobile or four-wheel-drive vehicle, generator, horse, citizens band radio, boat, can scuba dive, know first aid or cardiopulmonary resuscitation, etc.

"When they call us, we go," Alexander said.

CRW members are prohibited from actions such as carrying a gun, pursuing suspected law violators or using flashing lights on their cars.

The organization raises all its own funds, such as from raffles.

Maintaining membership requires participating in a minimum of five meetings or activities a year, Alexander said.

Persons are invited to join, he stressed, even if all they can do is answer a phone at the sheriff's department.

PIONEER WEEK at Campbell Elementary School last week gave students a taste of what life was like during earlier times. Demonstrating butter making the old-fashioned way was Velma Cleland.

LITTLE FEET -- Librarian Donna Emerson explained to students who toured "Laura's Little House in the Big Woods" rooms at Campbell Elementary last week that children's feet weren't any smaller during the 19th century, but shoes were different.

Pedaling Around

Writing it out

By Mike Eliasohn

When I celebrated my 37th birthday in January, I didn't think I was that old. After all, more recently, my sister turned 40 and as far as I know, none of her bones creak and she can still climb stairs.

But there I was last Thursday in "Laura's Little House in the Big Woods" room at Campbell Elementary School and librarian Donna Emerson was showing students items from the "good old days," like author Laura Ingalls Wilder used and wrote about.

Among them was a school desk that was originally bolted to the floor, which had a hole for the inkwell. Good grief! I attended schools where the desks were bolted to the floor. And not only did the desks have holes for the inkwells, we had the inkwells and the ink.

As I recall -- remember, this is ancient history -- the inkwells were filled once a week for use during our penmanship lesson.

Not only had fountain pens been invented by then, I'm pretty sure ball-point pens were in common use.

But for the penmanship lessons, we used pens that had to be dipped into the inkwell quite often since they had no storage capacity beyond what the point held.

I'm not sure how much good penmanship lessons did. There are lots of persons whose writing is illegible and no doubt they had penmanship lessons when they were in elementary school.

As for me, although I feel my longhand is legible, I stopped using it in the eighth or ninth grade except to sign my name.

I print everything else and after having done it so long, I can write a lot faster that way than I can in longhand.

I remember why I started printing, or more correctly, went back to it, since children in my day and probably still today, start with printing and then switch to longhand.

The reason why I switched was because I had a friend who printed instead of using longhand and I thought it was "neat" or whatever the term was we used in those days. (This would have been about 1958 or '59.)

Probably part of the reason too was that I have always had a penchant for the slightly offbeat and since almost everyone else wrote in longhand, I liked the idea of being different.

Be it in longhand or hand printing, writing seems to be becoming a lost art, though obviously it will never die out completely.

Thanks to Bell Telephone and its "reach out and touch someone," most of us, myself included, find it easier to call someone than to write a letter.

I still do write personal letters to a few friends and they tend to be long (usually on the subject of bicycles), but being one to hedge my bets, I own some stock in "Ma Bell" (AT&T). So, if you haven't called your mother lately, shame on you.

As a taxpayer, I suppose I can also consider myself a stockholder in the U.S. Postal Service. After all, our taxes are helping to subsidize it.

That being the case, why don't you write your mother a letter? You can always call her afterwards to ask if she got it.

I sometimes get asked if I know shorthand or some other variation of rapid writing.

The answer is that I don't, though knowing shorthand admittedly would be of help in taking notes.

There may be a disadvantage, however.

A distant relative, whom I think is now deceased (that's how distant he was -- I don't know for sure), told me this story.

He had been in the newspaper business for a long time and he came back from his first assignment at his first job with his notes written in shorthand.

"What's that?" his editor asked.

"It's my notes in shorthand," my relative replied.

"If I ever catch you writing in shorthand again, you're fired," the editor responded.

"Why is that?" my relative asked.

"Because if you're ever coming back from a big story and get killed in a traffic accident," the editor explained, "no one else will be able to read your notes."

Needlework show

Anything that can be done with a needle and thread is now on display at Rawson Memorial Library through Saturday, March 13.

The second annual show features the works of about 35 artists from Cass City.

Kingston, Caro, Pigeon, Sebawaing, Clifford and Mayville.

The types of work on display include crewel, needlepoint, quilts, counted cross stitch, stamped cross stitch and needle weaving.

There is one non-recent item on display, a friendship quilt given by an Ohio Methodist Episcopal congregation to their departing pastor and his wife in 1910. Each member's signature is embroidered in the quilt.

The one non-needlework artist whose works are on display is watercolorist Jeanne Ellinger. One of her talents is drawing houses, which others use as a pattern to do in needlepoint, it usually being their house.

The show is being put on, according to Marian Keating, one of the organizers, by "a group of women who love needlepoint."

The library is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m., plus 7-9 p.m. Mondays and Fridays.

DOWN ON THE FARM -- Arleon Retherford, 65, of Novesta Township, used almost all the antique farm tools in his younger days that he demonstrated for Campbell youngsters last Thursday. This was a planter -- stick the end in the ground, squeeze and out pop some seeds and fertilizer.

TIPS TO CLIP

"Cheese, Please"
If you don't eat meat during Lent, be sure you still get your protein quota. Two servings from the meat group as part of a balanced diet will usually be adequate. Have animal protein in fish, eggs, cheese or milk, or combine vegetable protein such as that found in dry beans and great soy extenders and nuts with the vegetable proteins of grains, rice, oatmeal, corn, wheat, etc.
Dunce for dunce most hard cheeses such as Swiss, Cheddar, Colby and Provolone will give you twice the protein of lunchmeat. Check calorie content, too, if that is of concern. Natural American Cheddar, Gouda, Gruyere, Parmesan, Roquefort have 105-120 calories per ounce. Natural Blue, Cream cheese (Egan, Private Reserve), Munster, Swiss and most process cheeses (labeled 95-105) down at 20-30 are Cottage Pot and Feta Cheese.
Calories and money can be saved with substitutions. Try Monterey on pizza and Neuchâtel cream cheese on salads and desserts. Use Cottage Cheese instead of Ricotta in lasagne and save 25 calories and 31¢ a cup. Substitute for a portion of full-fat Havard cheese in casseroles, sauces and dressings.
A serving of cheese is 1/2 cup of Cottage Cheese or 2 ounces of the hard cheeses.

Essay winners announced

Several thousand eighth grade students from over 450 Michigan schools participated in the 1981-82 "America & Me" essay contest, which was conducted with the help of Farm Bureau Insurance agents across the state.

Started in 1968 and open to all Michigan eighth grade students, the annual contest encourages Michigan youngsters to explore their roles in America's future through the essays they write.

Three students from Cass City Intermediate School have been named local winners in the 13th annual contest.

The three who earned the first, second and third place awards for their school are: Annette M. Stachura, first, sponsored by teacher Michelle Ansbomb; Lu Anne Messing, second, sponsored by teacher Yvonne Sherman, and Elizabeth Fisher, third.

All three received certificates for their achievement. As the first place winner, Annette's name will be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school and her essay now advances to state level competition where the top 10 essays will be selected.

The 10 statewide winners will be announced this month. Other students who participated were Beth Cleland, Andy Jeung, Barbara Merchant, Debbie Cortimilla, Angela Churchill and James Terbush.

The first bicycle trip around the world was made by Thomas Stevens, who started from San Francisco, Calif., on April 22, 1884 on a 50-inch bicycle and returned January 4, 1887.

Clara Leppik funeral held

Clara Leppik, 89, of Bad Axe, died Saturday at the Huron County Medical Care Facility, Bad Axe, following an extended illness.

She was born Aug. 10, 1892 in Sigel Township, the daughter of John and Sophie (Miller) Plevnia.

She and Frank Mzyk were married in 1910 in Detroit. He died in 1912.

She and Frank Leppik were married Nov. 16, 1915 at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Parisville.

The couple farmed in Paris and Sigel Townships until 1955 when they retired to Bad Axe and Bakersfield, Calif., returning to Huron County in 1977. He preceded her in death in December, 1980.

She was a lifelong member of St. Mary's Rosary Sodality.

Surviving are three sons, Tyrus Mzyk, Elkton, Ira Leppik, Bakersfield, Calif., and Chester Leppik, Harbor Beach; one daughter, Mrs. Clarence (Vivian) Rumpitz, Ubyly; 19 grandchildren; 36 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Father Stanley Surman officiating.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

A rosary was recited by Father Surman Monday evening at the Zinger-Smigiel-ski Funeral Home, Ubyly.

State Police Detective Sgt. Milton L. Wolner, 53, of the Caro post, retired Friday following more than 25 years of service.

He began his new job Monday as the Tuscola County Friend of the Court enforcement officer.

Wolner joined the State Police in October, 1956, serving first at the Ionia post before transferring in 1961 to Bad Axe.

With promotion to corporal in 1967, Wolner was assigned to the Bridgeport post. His rank there was reallocated in 1971 to sergeant 11.

When the department established a new post at Caro in 1974, Wolner took a voluntary demotion to detective sergeant 10 and was assigned to the new facility. His rank was changed back to 11 level sergeant the next year.

Wolner was born in Chicago, and graduated from high school at Twining in Arenac County. Beginning in July, 1954, he served in the U.S. Army for 21 months, including 16 months on overseas duty.

College credits include an associate in arts degree he received from Columbia College in Missouri.

He and his wife, Elsie, have two sons and a daughter.

Wolner's duties as enforcement officer will include finding parents who owe child support, arresting persons for whom warrants have been issued and enforcing visitation orders issued by the circuit court.

He replaces William Carothers, who retired.

Farm Bureau in driver's seat in Recreation loop

With two games left in the regular season, Farm Bureau vaulted into a full game lead over second place Shetler's and took a commanding position in the Cass City Recreation League race.

Shetler's, which was tied for the lead, fell from that lofty position when they were upset by Elkton Merchants Thursday, 63-57.

Things started out according to the pre-game script as Shetler's jumped in front 14-12 at the end of the first quarter.

Elkton countered that with a second quarter surge to lead 32-28 at the half. The Merchants then added four more points to the lead in the third quarter and held off Shetler's in the final quarter to take the game.

Aaron Deering scored 23 for the winners. He was aided by Todd Dubey, 16, and Jim Quinn, 13. For Shetler's Paul Beachy netted 16, Doug Powers, 11, and Jack Paul, 10.

In the nightcap Thursday Farm Bureau stopped a Charmont rally to win 67-51 and take the league lead all alone.

The league leaders had to come from behind to do it. Charmont charged to a 16-6 first quarter lead and were ahead by 12 points before the Farmers righted themselves and charged back.

At the intermission Farm Bureau was in front, 29-26. Charmont never went ahead after the first half but it was close all the way.

With five minutes left in the game, Charmont trailed by just one point. But Farm Bureau cashed in on numerous foul opportunities to annex the win.

Mark Gainforth, 17, Ron Englehardt, 16, and Tom Koch, 16, were the Farm Bureau scoring leaders while Jay Owens scored 16 for Charmont.

In last Wednesday's first game Erla's notched a 67-51 win over Holmes & Walpole. The Foodmen continued their good play against the Lawyers. Erla's bounced out of a 12-12 first period tie to lead, 34-25, at the half. The winners salted away the game in the third quarter by lengthening the lead to 53-47 and then coasted in as both teams scored 14 points in the final period.

Ken Pichla, 24, Roy Calahan, 17, and Paul Battel, 10, led Erla's while Jerry Toner, 14, Tim Severance, 13, and Scott Hartel, 10, were in double figures for Holmes & Walpole.

In the nightcap Wednesday, Stevenson's outgunned McMahan's, 83-63. The winners outscored McMahan's in the first three quarters, leading 19-10 at the end of the first period and 36-25 at the half. After the lead was extended to 60-41 after three periods the only question that remained was the final score.

For Stevenson's players in double figures were: Bill Stevenson, 22, Jeff McKenzie, 15, Rick Tuckey, 14, a Tim Bates, 14. For McMahan's Leon Kaniszewski led all scorers with 27 while Gary Bruce scored 13 and Roy Hull 10.

Hawks rally to win pre-district

After losing the first game and trailing 9-4 in the second, the Cass City Red Hawk volleyball team rallied to defeat Mayville, two games to one, and advance to the districts Saturday at USA.

The scores of the pre-district games Tuesday afternoon at Cass City were 8-15, 15-11 and 15-6.

Kris Proctor started the turnaround for Cass City by running off a string of excellent serves to pull the Hawks from behind into the lead, a lead they never lost.

The Wildcats were able to make just two points the rest of the second game as the momentum shifted to Cass

City. In the decisive third game Cass City charged to a 14-1 lead and an easy victory. Everybody contributed.

Karen Little tossed up several excellent sets and Michelle Fahrner lost no time in converting them to points with spikes and dinks. Sally Severance got the team rolling with several powerful serves for points.

In the districts Saturday, Cass City faces Brown City in the first game at 11:15 a.m.

OTHER GAMES

The Cass City Red Hawks volleyball team seems determined to stay at the .500 mark in the Thumb B Association this year.

The Hawks moved their record to 6-6 with splits with North Branch and Marlette. At Marlette Thursday, Feb. 25, the Hawks bowed to the Red Raiders in the first match, losing the first game, 15-11, bouncing back to take the second, 16-14, only to lose the deciding game, 15-3. Kris Proctor was the leading scorer in a losing cause.

In the second match, Cass City won in straight games, 15-10 and 15-12, paced by Michelle Fahrner.

Thursday, Feb. 18, the Hawks again couldn't get untracked in the first match, bowing to North Branch, 15-11, and 15-13, despite Sally Severance's six-point effort. In the nightcap Kris Proctor accounted for 12 points to win the match in straight sets, 15-12, and 15-13.

In a non-conference encounter with Harbor Beach, Wednesday, Feb. 24, at Cass City, the Hawks again lost the first match and won the second. Cass City started strong with a 15-5 decision only to see the Pirates charge back and take the final two games by identical scores of 15-10.

Cass City then overpowered the Pirates in the first game of the second match, 15-1, and looked like a different team in the second game, losing, 15-6. In the tight third and deciding game, Cass City won, 15-11. Proctor was the high scorer in both matches.

SALLY SEVERANCE makes a set for her teammates against Mayville Tuesday. Watching is Sally Lowe.

AKRON-FAIRGROVE

Owen-Gage won both matches last Thursday evening at Akron-Fairgrove.

Coach Judy Campbell's Bulldogs took the first match, 15-4, 15-6.

Joan Mosack had eight points, three spikes and five dinks, and Bonnie Wynn, four spikes and two dinks.

The second match went to three games, with the Bulldogs coming out on top 15-1, 11-15, 15-12.

Wynn scored 12 points and Jackie Kain, nine. Mosack contributed nine points, four spikes and 10 dinks.

Owen-Gage is now 10-4 in the North Central Thumb D League and is 11-5 overall.

The Vikings won the junior varsity match, 15-13, 15-7, 15-10.

CASEVILLE TOURNEY

Owen-Gage, runner-up the past three years in the Caseville invitational tournament, fell out of the running early Saturday.

The Bulldogs lost to Deckerville, 10-1, 7-10, 10-6, and to the host Eagles, 10-7, 10-0.

Unionville-Sebewaing won the 11-team seventh annual tournament, with Lakers runner-up.

Marlette bows, season ending Vassar tilt a tourney tuneup

With the league race decided, the only real interest in the final game of the season with Vassar is to see if the Hawks are putting it all together for the tournaments starting next week.

It's likely that Cass City will enter the districts with a pair of wins under its belt as Vassar hasn't been beating anyone and the Hawks edged by Marlette last Friday, 67-60.

The Hawks could stand a little rejuvenation, judging by their performances in the last month. Against the Red Raiders they showed the same weaknesses that have been evident in recent games.

The team has played well in streaks and then turn-overs, defense lapses and poor rebounding have been evident.

The Hawks jumped off to a commanding lead against Marlette only to let it slip away and end by hanging on to pull out the win.

The Hawk victory can probably be traced to some fine work by the Cass City guards. Ray Ferris, recovering from illness, burned the nets in the second and third quarters to help keep Cass City in front. Joe Langenburg had a fine first half and Gary Robinson chipped in some crucial baskets.

Inside Cass City was having its hands full with the big Raider forward wall led by Mike Hall, 6-6 junior center.

In the first half it appeared like an easy Cass City win, reminiscent of the first game between the two schools.

Helped when Marlette was over the foul limit in the first three minutes of the first quarter, Cass City spurted to a 16-7 first period lead.

Near the end of the second quarter Ferris led an attack with four quick baskets, including three from the outside and suddenly Cass City was in front, 40-23.

The second half was a different story. Cass City started turning the ball over and missing good shots and going into the final eight minutes the Hawk margin was cut, 50-41.

The game that appeared to be decided in the first half was far from over. With 3½ minutes left, Cass City's lead was just five points.

But the Hawks stiffened and that was as close as Marlette could come in the Thumb B league clash.

Ferris had by far his best night of the season. The senior guard hit 9 of 11 shots from the field, many from outside, and was letter perfect for 7 for 7. His running mate at guard, Gary Robinson whipped in with 16 while Joe Langenburg came off the bench to score eight. In all the guards were responsible for 49 of Cass City's 67 points.

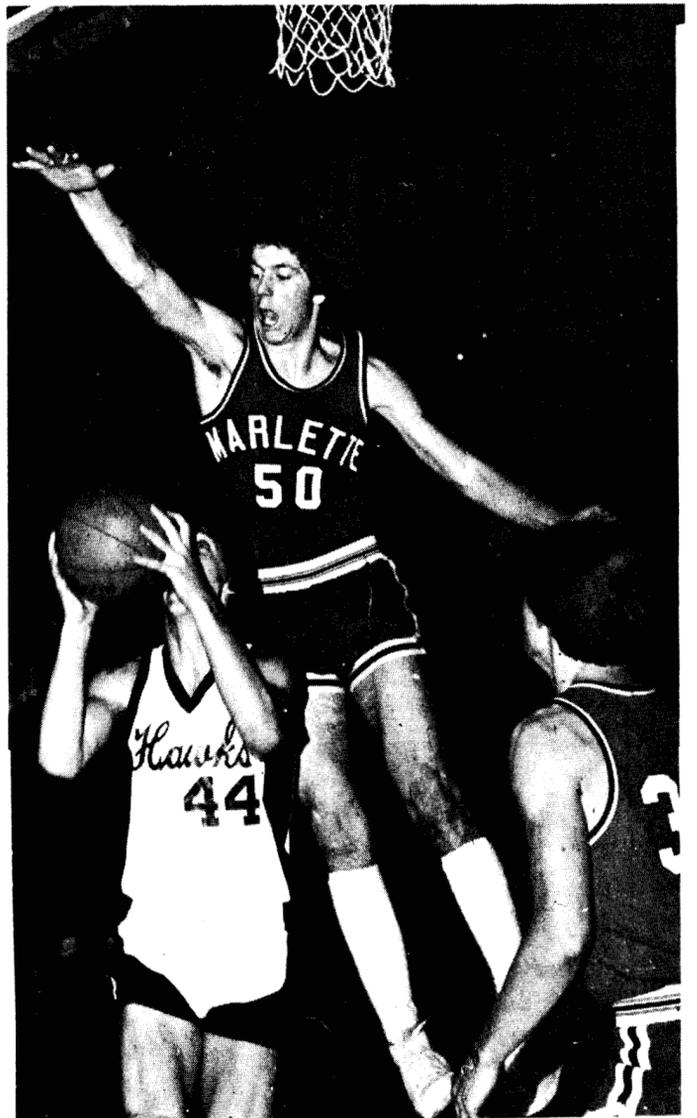

Marlette was led by Brian Jolicoeur with 19 points and Hall with 16.

District draw

O-G to face Tigers Monday

Owen-Gage will play Carsonville-Port Sanilac Monday in its opening round of Class D district basketball competition.

Carsonville will be the host school, with the game to start at 8 p.m. Caseville will play Port Hope in the 6:30 opener.

After Friday's games, the Bulldogs were 8-4 in the North Central Thumb D League and 10-7 overall while the Tigers were 9-5 in the league and 9-6 overall.

The winner of the Owen-Gage C-PS game will play league champion North Huron at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The 6:30 game will feature Deckerville and the winner of the Caseville-Port Hope game.

The championship game will be at 8 p.m. Friday. The winner will advance to the regionals at Frankenmuth High School to play the winner of the Kingston districts.

Hawks face Mayville in districts Wednesday

For the first time in several years Cass City will not enter the Michigan Class C district basketball tournament as the team to beat. This year the tourney will be at Marlette.

That honor falls to Sandusky, champions of the Thumb B Conference, with Brown City in the runner-up position.

By the luck of the draw the Hawks will not have to face either of the two favorites until the final night providing they get that far.

Cass City will be favored to get to the finals. Cass City will face Mayville Wednesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Cass City handled Mayville easily during the regular season and if the victory is repeated Wednesday, the Hawks will be in the finals.

In the bottom bracket of the drawings, Sandusky will play Marlette Tuesday and the winner plays Brown

City, which drew a bye. The winner of this game enters the finals.

The district winner will advance to the regionals, which are scheduled at Lapeer East High School, and will face the winner of the district played at Lakers.

Tickets for the Mayville game will be on sale at the principal's office Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

3 Hawk wrestlers earn spot in week-end state tourney

Coach Russ Biefer said that the three state qualifiers were the most in history from Cass City.

The wrestlers who qualified include Jeff Papp, 105 pounds, and Paul Brown, 119 pounds, both finishing third. Phil Harmer, 126 pounds, qualified by finishing fourth.

Seek damages in fatal crash

The three Cass City establishments that serve alcoholic beverages are defendants in a lawsuit filed by the family of a man killed in a Sept. 28, 1980, traffic accident.

Killed was Robert Clark, 42, of Van Dyke Road, Decker, who died shortly after his car slammed into a tree on Shabbona Road, east of Cemetery Road.

Plaintiffs are his widow, Valeria, and her five children, Charles, Robert, Constance, Philip and Josephine. Defendants are David C.

Dearing, Raymond J. Dearing and Evelyn Stilson, doing business as The Station; Walter Zawilinski, Thumb National Bank and Virginia Zawilinski, doing business as the Cass Tavern, and Thomas Herron and Clare Comment, doing business as C and H Lanes (Charmont). (Some of those listed in the suit are no longer the owners.)

The suit charges the defendants and their employees with contributing to Robert Clark's intoxication by selling him alcoholic beverages, even though they knew he was already intoxicated, which resulted in his death.

Sought are more than $10,000 in damages, with costs, interest and attorney fees. A jury trial has been requested.

Circuit Court cases

Wisembach: 6-month term for ramming police car

Alan Lee Wisembach, found guilty by a jury Jan. 7 of felonious driving for having rammed a sheriff's department patrol car, was sentenced Monday to six months in the county jail.

Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn also placed him on five years' probation, with serving of 90 days of the jail sentence deferred to the end of probation. Wisembach, 22, of 2322 Remington Road, Caro, was granted work release privileges and credited with two days already served.

He may only drive to and from work and alcoholism treatment meetings and after two years may petition the court for extended driving privileges. He was fined $500 and assessed $400 court costs.

Wisembach was found guilty of driving a pickup which rammed a parked patrol car March 22, 1981, north of Caro. Two deputies and a police cadet were inside. The defendant was found guilty in connection with injuries suffered by one of the deputies, though all three occupants were hurt. Prior to pronouncing sentence, Joslyn denied a motion for a new trial.

Also Monday, three Millington teenagers appeared, each charged with three counts of unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle, three snowmobiles Jan. 27 in Arbella Township.

New budget ready at Novesta

The Novesta Township Board completed work Monday evening on its 1982-83 budget, to be presented at the annual meeting Saturday, March 27. The meeting will start at 1 p.m.

George Wright of Severance Road told the board he had asked the county Road Commission to install a culvert to prevent future flooding of his 19 acres.

Nothing has been done yet, so the board will now approach the Road Commission, according to Township Clerk Nurse Kloc.

She said the board was pleased about the Feb. 23 decision of the Cass City Village Council to prohibit commercial refuse haulers from using the village-owned landfill and the other new regulations adopted. The landfill is located in Novesta Township.

The board gave its consent to a Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreement for Lee Voss for his 160 acres.

Eighty-three percent of taxes owed in the township, $308,209, were paid by the final collection day.

Cramer 'reborn' twice as Caro Job Service branch manager

Charles Cramer almost lost his job as Michigan Employment Security Commission Caro branch manager twice.

Tuesday it appeared he was there to stay.

Cramer, 42, has worked there 12 years and has been manager almost five years. He has a total of 21 years of service with the state, having started with the Liquor Control Commission.

In mid-January, the MESC announced closing of 19 offices, layoff of 750 employees and an early end of its Work Incentive (WIN) program, which was to be transferred to the Department of Social Services.

The cutbacks were due to a cut in federal funds. The MESC receives all its money from Washington.

Congress later restored all the funds, but the end of the WIN Program remained. That meant WIN employees could bump MESC employees out of their jobs if the latter had less seniority.

Cramer was scheduled to be among those bumped, but the WIN employee who was going to bump him changed his mind.

Cramer in turn could have bumped a branch manager elsewhere, in a less desirable location, but instead was going to freeze his pension benefits, quit and move to Florida, where he had a job lined up as a manager of a condominium.

With "Reagan bound and determined to eliminate Job Service," he figured there would be budget cuts in the MESC come Sept. 30, hence layoffs, when the present fiscal year ends, so would have to move again. "I just figured it wasn't worth it."

Moving to Florida would have meant leaving his wife and daughter behind until the latter graduated from high school in Caro and selling their Caro home.

Friday was supposed to be Cramer's second "last day." Monday, there was an interim manager at the Caro office.

Monday night, however, he received a call from Lansing. The second person who was going to bump him had also changed his mind. Tuesday he was back to work and had called Florida to say he wasn't coming.

He figures the two men who changed their minds about taking his job did so because of the workload in his office and because they were unfamiliar with processing unemployment claims.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Michael W. Lohrman, 33, of Essexville, escaped injury when his vehicle ran into a locomotive in Gagetown last Wednesday.

Deputies reported he was westbound on State Street (Bay City-Forestville Road), wasn't able to stop in time on the icy pavement and ran into the northbound Grand Trunk train, which was going 10-15 miles per hour.

Lohrman was ticketed on a charge of failure to stop at a signed railroad crossing. The mishap took place at 3:40 p.m.

At noon that day, Cass City police reported, Keith W. Pobanz, 21, of 6787 Houghton Street, was southbound on Hill Street, couldn't stop in time due to the slippery roadway and slid into a vehicle that was westbound on Church Street.

At 12:30 a.m. Saturday, according to village officers, Lynn D. Chard, 16, of 2300 Decker Road, Decker, was southbound on Cemetery Road, north of DeLong Road, when his car hit a patch of ice.

The auto went off the east side of the road and turned onto its side.

Wendell Harmon of 4360 Leslie Road, Decker, reported at 12:50 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24, that a hit and run vehicle struck his car while it was parked in the Cass City State Bank lot.

Your Neighbor says I favor the death penalty — sort of

The murder of seven family members in Clare County and of police officers near Jackson and in Detroit in recent days has renewed the call by some for imposition of the death penalty in Michigan.

Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, a candidate for governor, is conducting a petition drive to get the death penalty question on the November ballot.

Jon Becker has some doubts, but basically favors the death penalty.

"I'd feel terrible if somebody was put to death who was innocent, but yes, I'd vote for it," he said of capital punishment.

That is his one reservation. Every so often, he explained, the news media carries an account of someone who served a long prison sentence, only to be ultimately found innocent.

His fear is that someone might be put to death who is later found innocent. "What are you going to do then?"

But for someone like Wayne Williams, convicted Saturday in Atlanta of two murders and believed to have committed more than 20 more, he has no doubts. "I do feel he should be put to death." He feels the same way should Robert Lee Haggart be found guilty of the seven Clare County killings.

The death penalty should be mandatory for first-degree murder, he suggested. Becker is single and lives on Main Street, Cass City.

He is a partner with Glen Miracle in Superior Small Engine Repair, located south of town off Cemetery Road, which repairs small engines, carburetors, hydraulic pumps and cylinders, and is laid off from Clarklift (fork lifts) in Saginaw.

Letter to the Editor

Information sought about old artist

Dear Chronicle, I wonder if any of your readers may remember back in 1917 or 1918 (I'm not sure of the year) a man who traveled on foot, carrying his oil paints and clothing. He painted pictures on the inside walls of country schools and churches. Nationality and name unknown as he didn't sign his paintings. He painted two pictures in the Stone School, one a winter scene, the other a summer scene. The school is located north of M-53 and 81, then east. I understand it is a home now. My parents, Fred and Ina McCaslin and family; lived next to the school. This gentleman stayed at our home, while he painted the pictures in the school. In the evenings, he painted a large picture on a canvas bag for our family. It was a water scene with boat and a house on a hill. The picture has been handed down in the family and is still a beautiful painting. My father, a farmer, was a brother to Charles McCaslin, a barber in Cass City for years. Thank you, Mrs. Ella (McCaslin) Franklin 527 W. Third Street Rochester, Mich. 48063

New books at the library

GO SLOWLY, COME BACK QUICKLY by David Niven (fiction). While the world hovers on the brink of World War II, an unknown British actress, Pandora Bryce, finds herself falling in love with handsome Stanislaw Skolimowski. Pandora's lifelong dream of a Hollywood career seems smashed forever by the war, but she and Stani - now a heroic member of the RAF - endure their long separations and the cruelties of war for five long years. Arriving in Hollywood on the coattails of a brilliant publicity campaign based on her beauty and Stani's heroics, Pandora's star seems inexorably on the rise - with Stani left in the wings.

SPRING MOON by Bette Bao Lord (fiction). Spring Moon is only a child when we first meet her. She is part of a large and loving mandarin family, one that is ruthlessly bound by the dogmas of caste and tradition, however. When her beloved uncle, Bold Talent, is sent to America to a university, and then returns to be the very young patriarch of the clan, western ways begin slowly to make their inroads. Through the Boxer Rebellion, through all the drama and love that come to Spring Moon in her marriage to Glad Promise, at the center of everyone's life is The Family, which must be preserved at all costs, no matter what the personal sacrifice. This novel is thronged with memorable characters, not the least being Spring Moon's daughter, Lustrous Jade, who is sent to a Christian Missionary school, becomes in time a dedicated Communist, only to fall cruelly afoul of the change in party dogma that takes place in the 1960's. At the heart of the novel is Spring Moon's real love story.

MAY'S BOY by Shirlee Monty (non-fiction). This is the extraordinary story of how a feisty English woman, 80-year-old May Lemke, stubbornly loved a hopelessly retarded and handicapped child into realizing his natural musical genius. When Milwaukee authorities asked May to take Leslie, he was an abandoned six-month-old whose eyes had been removed surgically and his eyelids sewn shut. Today, at age 26, Leslie sings in German and Italian and has an advanced piano repertoire that ranges from classical to ragtime.

PEOPLE VERSUS KIRK by Robert Traver (fiction). Randall Kirk is charged with the murder of his lover, a beautiful mining heiress, but he has no motive or memory of the crime. Attorney Frederic Ludlow and his wise-cracking partner take on the defense and enter a plea that is as bizarre as the crime itself. They enlist the aid of a retired country doctor with a peculiar specialty that will lead to the discovery of the truly guilty party.

Funeral held for Frank Nemeth

Frank Nemeth, 60, a life-long resident of the Deford area, died Thursday at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, after collapsing while bowling at the Charmont. He was born Feb. 1, 1922, in Kingston Township, the son of Frank and Emerencia (Raffi) Nemeth.

Nemeth married Amie Root Oct. 24, 1953, in Cass City. They made their home near Deford, where Nemeth was a farmer. He was a member of the Kingston Township Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee; had served on the Kingston Township Board for many years, and was the zoning administrator of the township. Nemeth is survived by his wife; two sisters and their husbands, Joseph and Mary Roos of Detroit and Andrew and Anna Belovich of Indian River; his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Root, Cass City, and three nieces. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Gerald Rodgers of the Deford Community Church officiating. Greg Reynolds, teacher at the Deford Christian Academy, and Rev. Vern Lockard of the Novesta Church of Christ offered prayers. Burial was in Novesta Cemetery.

Coe spelling champ

David Coe is the best fourth grade speller in Tuscola County. The Campbell Elementary School student was the winner last Thursday of the first annual Tuscola County Fourth Grade Spelling Bee. It was conducted at Schall then spelled correctly, after which he spelled the winning word.

Elementary School in Caro. David, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Dalton Coe of Rescue Road, Owendale, won by spelling the word "absolute."

David is a student in the class of Barbara Stickler. Each of the 39 competitors from the nine Tuscola County school districts qualified for the contest by winning a spelling bee in their own classroom.

Also competing from Campbell were Jan Erla, who finished seventh; Ken Micklash, 12th, and Steven Bills, 16th. Charles Maynard was the Deford Elementary representative and Jeffrey Bader was the top speller from Evergreen.

Representing Kingston Elementary School in the competition were Sherri Nelson and Nicole Cassie.

The competition started at 9:30 a.m. and lasted until 1:30 p.m. with an hour break for lunch, provided by a Caro restaurant.

All 39 competitors received a certificate. In addition to the trophy which David won and gets to keep, his name will be engraved on a traveling trophy which will stay at Campbell until the 1983 spelling bee, then go to the new champion's school.

The event will be rotated among all the county's school districts. Campbell will be the host next year.

Contrast that to the present minimum quarterly charge of $10.56 for water, plus $36.12 for sewer, for a total of $46.68.

The old water bills, by the way, were printed on the backs of postcards when the postage was 1 cent.

Mrs. Eberts has four telephone bills from 1947 and 1949, when Cass City was served by the Michigan Associated Telephone Co.

The bills, two for the home of her and her husband, William, and two for their garage and tractor dealership, were $1.99, $2.17, $6.16 and $6.73.

Mrs. Eberts and her husband, who died Feb. 1, 1977, moved to Cass City from the Detroit area shortly after World War II. Before moving here, she owned a beauty shop in Detroit.

She has a gas bill from her combination home and beauty shop for $1.65, albeit, that was in May, 1946, so presumably was only for cooking gas.

She had a gas bill for one month this winter, for heat and cooking, for $110.

A Detroit Edison electric bill for the same place in Detroit for May, 1946, was for $9.85, less 10 percent if paid by the due date, which made it $8.87. Mrs. Eberts pointed out that because of the hair dryers, her shop used a lot of electricity.

She also has an Edison bill for one month in fall, 1948, for her husband's garage in Cass City for $4.12, or $3.96 with the 4 percent discount for paying on time.

When the Eberts owned a home north of Cass City, they also owned 20 acres. Mrs. Eberts has a receipt for purchase of 930 pounds of seed wheat for the man who farmed their property. The cost was $34.10. Based on a price late last fall of $6 per bushel, the 930 pounds would have cost $93.

Transportation also came cheap. Mrs. Eberts has a receipt for a 1941 Dodge deluxe coupe, purchased by her husband before they were married. Complete with turn signals and tax, the cost was $888.89.

The Eberts ran their garage and tractor sales in three locations. All three buildings are still standing. Originally, the business was next to L & S Standard Service on Main Street, then to the Bliss Milkhauling building at Church and Maple and then to the present home of J & C Service on Main.

After they retired about 1970, Eberts still did some tractor repairs at the home they built south of Cass City. After her husband's death, she sold the home to the Leo Wares and moved to Huntsville Trailer Park.

Before you rush to the phone and think you have found a way to switch interest into capital gains, there's a catch:

The gain of 64 points over eight years is allocated, eight points to a year, and you pay income tax on this, as though it was interest.

You do not have to pay capital gains tax as well, however, in 1989, when the bonds mature and are paid off at 100. This is because the securities are classified as "original issue" discounts.

On this line of thought, if you sell them before maturity, there is capital gains on anything over the amortized value. Say you bought them now at 36. A year from now your amortized basis is 36 plus 8 or 44. If you sell them at 46 then you've had a two-point capital gain.

Then what's the big deal? Simply this: If interest rates go down, you have locked in your 12.875 percent yield, and have had no reinvestment problems for the next 8 years.

If you had bought a straight "current coupon" each year you would have had to find another bond yielding that much to keep your yield constant.

For pension funds which have no tax problem anyhow, and you can predict pretty much how much money they'll need in years to come, the investment manager's life is simplified with these Zero Coupons.

For parents who want to set up a custodian account for a child who is in a low bracket and who will need funds say eight years from now for college, this is an easy and assured way to have money on hand at the time. You put $3,600 in a Zero Coupon now for 10-year-old Junior. Come 1989 and he's ready to go to college, and there's $10,000 waiting for him.

All of the above has been with an example of taxable corporate bonds. In municipal or tax-exempt bonds, there are some on the market with close to zero coupons, some with as little as five cent coupons. I've bought them to yield around 10 percent. There is no tax to pay on these, and since they would qualify as "original issue" discounts, there would be no capital gains tax either at maturity.

In North Carolina there are many cities that issue these. Wachovia Bank usually has some to sell. There are a lot of these "nickel bonds" in Texas, too, but the yields aren't so good. There are also some around in Michigan and in New York State. Your broker can dig them out for you.
