

Rebates total $13,961

Council oks credits for bill overcharges

Some village residents will receive a rebate on their water and sewer bills, it was announced at the Cass City Village Council meeting Tuesday evening.

Last November, the council approved an increase in the sewage treatment rate, which officially took effect Jan. 1. However, persons who were billed for November through January and December through February were billed at the higher rate for all three months. (Water rates remained the same.)

Some of those affected complained. As a result, it was decided at the February meeting to reexamine what was done.

It took a lot of work by the village office staff to figure how much each homeowner's or building owner's rebate in the form of a credit would be.

Council members were then polled by phone and they agreed to give credits to those who paid the high rates for November and December.

Homeowners who paid the higher rate for two months, according to Village Clerk Joyce LaRoche, will receive an average credit of $21.81. The amount will be deducted from their next water and sewer bills, which will be mailed at the end of April.

Those who paid the higher rate for December will receive a credit averaging $12.62, to be applied against the bills they receive in May.

The credits will total $13,961, according to Mrs. LaRoche.

That is money that had been included in the sewage treatment plant budget, village President Lambert Althaver explained after the meeting.

Because the new sewage treatment plant will start operation later than expected, he continued, it is hoped the $13,961 will be offset by savings in electricity and chemicals the new plant will use, since less will be needed than originally budgeted for.

If the savings isn't enough, then the difference will have to be paid out of the general fund, which might mean a reduction in other village programs.

The new plant should begin treating sewage in the last half of this month.

With the new plant almost ready, the council approved a new ordinance "regulating the use of public and private sewers and drains . . . discharge of waters and wastes into the public sewer system; the determination of rates and charges, and providing penalties for the violation thereof . . ." The new ordinance, which takes effect in 20 days, replaces the ordinance that governed operation of the old treatment plant. Parts of the two ordinances are the same.

REZONING

The council approved rezoning of the south half of the block bordered by Main, Oak, Pine and Seeger Streets from OS-1, office-service, to B-1, community business.

The property is owned by Pinney State Bank and the rezoning will allow the bank to use it for erection of their drive-in facility.

The village Planning Commission conducted a public hearing March 16 on the requested rezoning. No one objected and the commission recommended that the council approve the rezoning.

OTHER ITEMS

The council usually sets millage rates in March, which are presently 14 mills for general operations and 2.5 mills for the treatment plant construction.

However, the village hasn't received its final state equalization valuation from the county Equalization Department and a public hearing will have to be held in conjunction with the new state "truth in taxation" law, so millage rates will be set later.

With Lansing likely to reduce state shared revenue to the village, Althaver expressed doubt the council will be able to reduce the millage rate to offset higher valuations.

The certified public accounting firm of Yeo and Yeo has performed the village's annual audit for the past several years. A local CPA for another accounting firm has asked the council to consider putting the annual audit up for bids, which isn't required by state law. That was discussed and will be discussed more at the April 27 meeting.

Although putting the audit up for bids might save money, several persons at the meeting commented that it is not desirable to change from year to year as it takes more than one year for auditors to become familiar with the village's or any financial operation.

Village crews since Dec. 21 placed 100 tons of salt on streets, which is about average compared to other towns, village Supt. Lou LaPonsie reported. Since Jan. 1, 14 tons of cold patch asphalt have been used for patching streets.

Marlette, Brown City actively campaigning for new industry

Second of two parts

By Mike Ellasohn

Six industrial plants have opened in Brown City in the past two years.

A plant may be built in Marlette that burns garbage to generate steam, which can be used by other manufacturing plants, starting with one that makes alcohol.

What are those towns doing in a time when most communities and most industries are trying to get by until hopefully the economy improves?

In simple terms, both communities have active campaigns underway to attract industry, hence jobs. "We're not sitting on our—doing nothing," said Marlette Village President Kenneth Babich.

Neither town is very large. Brown City has a population, according to the 1980 census, of 1,142. Marlette has 1,744 residents.

Both communities are trying to make up for past losses.

Three or four years ago, Brown City City Manager James Pierce said, two recreation vehicle manufacturers, Xplorer and Travco, employed a total of 250-300 persons.

Now, Travco is no more and Xplorer only employs 40. The six new industries attracted to Brown City employ a total of about 135.

"We're still on the road to recovery," Pierce commented.

Marlette lost hundreds of jobs over the years with the decline of the mobile home and related industries. If the first phase of its proposed industrial project becomes reality, it will provide 67 jobs.

BROWN CITY

It takes lots of effort to get a little return, according to City Manager Pierce.

The industries the community has attracted, he explained, came as the result of the Brown City Industrial Growth Corp. sending out 6,500 brochures. An earlier flyer was sent to 10,000 addresses.

The brochure lists such information as average wages paid in the area (and mentions "no labor unions"), tax rates, tax incentives, transportation, power and utilities and distance to major cities.

Most were sent to companies targeted by researching industrial directories for Michigan and Canada.

The Growth Corp. paid the cost. The non-profit organization raised its funds by selling $50, $75 and $100 memberships.

If any firms express interest, they are given a more complete package, which includes information about vacant buildings available and community assets.

Of the four largest new firms (the two small ones employ a total of about 20 persons), three moved into vacant buildings. The fourth, which is Canadian, is using a new building, constructed for its needs. Financing was arranged locally for its construction, Pierce said, and the firm is renting the structure.

The other three "large" firms are based in the Detroit suburbs and "in most cases," Pierce said, their Brown City plants are the result of expansion. Some of the plants are auto related, so are a "bit depressed."

Other items being made in the new plants include electrical components, industrial and farm tools, precision tools and some plastic items.

Two other firms may come to Brown City, according to the city manager, a builder of prefabricated homes and one with a new oil refining process.

The Growth Corp., according to the city manager, is planning to advertise in Detroit and Ontario newspapers. It sees a lot of potential in attracting Canadian firms because of the favorable exchange rate and because Brown City is close to Canada. It's only 40 miles from Sarnia and 207 miles to Toronto.

MARLETTE

Marlette is hoping to build its future on garbage and steam.

To do it, the village council last November hired Bob Keller as economic development coordinator. He is a recent Michigan State University graduate with a degree in community development and planning.

Cave-in fatal for Edward Kaminski

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. this Thursday for Kingston community leader Edward T. Kaminski, 60, who was killed Monday when the hole in which he was working collapsed and buried him.

He was the owner of Ed's Plumbing and Heating in Kingston for more than 25 years.

Kaminski of 5756 E. Sanilac Road, was installing a connecting line from the Frank Schobert home, 6277 E. Sanilac Road, to the sewer line, according to Kingston police officer Robert Lane.

He was down about 6½-7 feet in the hole when it collapsed, burying him under about 1½ feet of earth.

His helper, John Pohlod, was buried at least knee deep. Schobert, unable to pull him out, called for help. A neighbor, the first to respond, helped get him out.

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department received the call at 2:52 p.m. Neighbors and members of the Kingston Fire Department helped in the rescue effort, sometimes using a backhoe. Making the attempt more difficult, Lane said, was some of the ground was still frozen, plus there was mud and water flowing into the hole.

Kaminski was buried 15 minutes to a half hour, according to the officer, and was dead when he was finally pulled out. He was taken by ambulance to Caro Community Hospital, then to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, where an autopsy was performed.

The plumbing store owner was a Kingston village trustee from 1956-66 and village president from 1966-72. He was a Koylton Township trustee at the time of his death.

A World War II veteran, he was a member of Kingston Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5317.

"He was a real active man in the community," said Village President Arlo Ruggles. "There wasn't anything in the world he wouldn't do for you . . . He was well, well liked. He will be a great loss businesswise and as a resident."

Bulletin

The Michigan Supreme Court has voted 4-3 to uphold the 1976 transfer by the state Board of Education of the Goslin property from the Owendale-Gagetown School District to the Cass City School District.

In its decision released Wednesday morning, the court rejected Owen-Gage's argument that a public vote was required to approve the transfer as more than 10 percent of the district had previously been transferred to other school districts.

It also rejected Owen-Gage's arguments that the state board had been "arbitrary and capricious" in approving the transfer.

The Supreme Court heard arguments in the case in November, 1980.

Novesta voters kill plan to kill lights in Deford

Let there be light wasn't really the issue. It was who is going to pay for it.

At issue at the Novesta Township annual meeting Saturday afternoon was whether the township, and hence, all its residents, should continue to pay the Detroit Edison bill for street lights in Deford.

It cost the township $1,394 for that purpose in 1981-82 and the proposed budget for the fiscal year that starts April 1 lists $1,500.

Trustee Arleon Retherford, who presided in the absence of Supervisor Bill J'Dell, who was ill, pointed out that although residents of Deford receive the greatest benefit, the unincorporated community is part of the township, which has paid the bill for many years.

Henry Rock, who lives outside of Deford, commented that Deford residents as township taxpayers help pay for maintenance of roads and roadside mowing, although they don't directly benefit from that.

Another township resident said he didn't object to the township paying for a few lights on the main street in Deford, but felt if the rest of the persons living there want outdoor lights, they should pay for them.

Finally, a motion was introduced to let the Deford residents pay for their own lights. It was defeated, 11-5.

Another elector then introduced a motion that the township should only pay for a few lights on the main street, at a maximum cost of $350 per year. No one seconded it.

Defordite Danny Allen finally suggested someone from Detroit Edison should be contacted to find out how much it would cost if the number of lights in Deford were reduced.

A motion to that effect was then made, but never voted on, but Retherford said the board will contact the utility.

Later in the meeting, a resolution to approve the 1982-83 budget except for the amount budgeted for street lighting was okayed by the electors.

The budget vote was advisory—legally, the township board has the final authority—so the ultimate decision what to do about the Deford street lights is up to the board.

BUDGET

The new budget estimates total revenue at $50,455, including $19,829 in property taxes, $20,000 in state shared revenues (down from $30,904 in 1981-82 because of state budget cuts), $5,000 in federal revenue sharing, and the balance on hand at the end of the old fiscal year.

Salaries remain the same as last year: Supervisor, $2,000, plus $1,500 for assessing; clerk and treasurer, $2,000 each; deputy clerk and treasurer, $167 each, and trustees, $480 each.

There is $9,000 budgeted for roads, of which $5,000 is from federal revenue sharing and the rest from the general fund. Treasurer Everett Field, who presented the budget, pointed out that $7,000 is still owed to the Road Commission for paving two miles of Severance Road between Lamton and Englehart in 1980, which only leaves $2,000 for maintenance. Another $450 is budgeted for roadside mowing.

Electors voted to continue paying Cass City to allow township residents to use the village-owned landfill, which is in Novesta Township, because they didn't feel it would be any cheaper to hire a private trash hauler to haul away residents' trash. The township will pay $5,557 for the privilege.

Contracting with the Elkland Township Fire Department for fire protection will cost $6,300. Service by the Cass City Area Ambulance Service is budgeted at $2,000 ($2,534 was spent in 1981-82), but the more collected in fees from persons who use

"If It Fitz..."

Waiting for the bus

By Jim Fitzgerald

My wife, who is also my lookout, was confused by published reports that dollar bills aren't welcome on Detroit city buses. That's because she never rides the buses, she just looks out for them.

She is a good lookout. In fact, if Detroit had more lookouts like my wife, Mayor Young's name would be lettered on the top of every city bus.

As it is, the mayor's name is on the side of every bus, near the front door. Printed along with his name is the information that he is "Moving Detroit Forward." Whenever a bus driver is forced by untoward circumstances to use the reverse gear, he or she is required by terms of his employment to tell passengers in a loud voice that he, not the mayor, is moving Detroit backward.

My wife looks out for buses through the window of our 26th-floor apartment. From that high up, she can see a bus approaching from several miles away. Down the ground, at the bus stop across the street from our home, my vision is blocked by trucks and huge piles of dirt removed from below the street by the excavation company in charge of constructing city potholes. I can't see whether a bus is coming until it's close enough to read the mayor's name.

So my wife sends me signals from above, using a newspaper for a flag. If she shakes the newspaper toward her right (my left), it means she can see a bus. If she shakes the newspaper toward her left (my right), it means there is no bus in sight. If she shakes a sprinkling can instead of a newspaper (my tough luck), it means she is watering the plants in the window and has completely forgotten that I'm standing 26 floors below, waiting patiently for bus information while wondering why I didn't listen to my mother and marry a railroad semaphore.

The reason I need signals from on high is that I'm psychologically unable to wait more than 10 minutes for a bus. If my wife signals a bus is coming, I know it will pick me up within 10 minutes. If she can't see a bus coming, I know it could be hours before one appears, so I walk to work, which takes only 15 minutes. If my wife waters the plants, I am in Limbo, not knowing what lies beyond the pothole piles.

Obviously, it's not easy to beat the parking lot gougers in a city where the bus schedules are made up en route. Bus officials demand a lot of co-operation from passengers. Not only are we expected to be ready to travel whenever the bus is ready, but we also must have the right change ever-ready so the driver can treat us like cargo instead of customers.

That's what confused my wife. Many times she'd heard me complain that I didn't dare leave home without a pocketful of silver because bus fare is 75 cents and drivers absolutely refuse to change a dollar. Under those circumstances, she wondered, why did the city recently bother to start a "Don't Pass the Buck" campaign, asking passengers not to pay fares with dollar bills because they must be unfolded and counted slowly by hand while silver can be counted swiftly by machines?

Do some 75-cent passengers stuff dollar bills into the fare box, wasting 25 cents for the sake of expediency, the same way some pay telephone customers insert a quarter for a 20-cent call? Not very often, according to Conrad Mallett, Detroit's bus boss. The typical bus passenger doesn't have a quarter to throw away, he told me. But many passengers board buses in pairs, just like on the ark, and drop a dollar bill and two quarters into the box.

Also, some passengers fool a bus driver by dropping half a dollar bill, well folded, into the box, and then use the other half for the return trip. This thievery occurs often enough to make it impractical for Mallett to try to glue the same dollars back together again, and the federal government pays only 70 cents for mismatched dollars.

So that's why the city is discouraging, but not forbidding, dollar bills in fare boxes. When I explained all this to my bus lookout, she said she still didn't understand why Mayor Young won't put his name on bus tops just for her.

The Haire Net

After 31 straight years it was as much fun as ever.

Friday and Saturday found me where I always am when the Michigan High School basketball tournament finals are held, in a seat as close to the court as I can wangle.

There was a time during the streak when I considered giving it all up for reasons that had nothing to do with the games.

Every year the games are the same. Some good, some bad but always a source of enjoyment.

Certainly if they weren't the annual pilgrimage would long since have been discontinued. But it's doubtful if the games alone would have kept me attending for so many years. Not that I'm by any means unique for seeing the games for so many years.

The guy next to me confided that he has been seeing the games every year for 32 years with the exception of two years in the service. Another close-by fan said that he was chalking up his 22nd year, and so it goes.

I wonder if the reasons for attending changed for the others over the years, too.

For it certainly has for me. My love of the game hasn't diminished, that's constant.

For the first 15 years or so the games were a gathering place for a group of cronies to meet from various communities all over the state. After the games it was party night and we held open house in a wing of a Lansing hotel.

After a few years it became famous (infamous) and we had a steady group of coaches, politicians and just plain party goers in and out all night.

Those were good times. But all good things came to an end as the cadre of sponsors drifted away for one reason or another... illness, apathy or distance.

The death knell for that era sounded when the games were switched from Friday and Saturday at East Lansing so the finals were played only on Saturday at Ann Arbor with no games played Friday.

For a few years the temptation was to give it up. It just wasn't the same. It still isn't, but now it's just as good.

The reason is that before it was a place to meet old friends, it's now one of the times to enjoy a day or two with family members. We try to work our schedule around it.

If it weren't for that, it's sure that the long string would have been snapped by now even though for me a high school final basketball game is more fun than any other spectator sport, including all the colleges and professionals.

If you discount the recruiting of some of the parochial schools it's one of the last true bastions of amateur sports.

The players and their fans care about the team and about winning.

Losing hurts. Yet, last week end three games were decided by a single point and there weren't any disturbances by the players or their fans. The odds against no trouble after three games like that a few years ago simply were not good.

The fans have improved along with the players. Both are greater than ever and that makes the games greater than ever for everyone.

I'm ready for next year already.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

As close as I can figure when Bernard Ross closes his doors at Federated I will be the fourth oldest owner of a business in Cass City.

Preceding me were McConkey Jewelry and Gift Shop, Rabideau Motors and the Cass City State Bank.

Perhaps Pinney State Bank should be counted as Fred Pinney is still at the helm although the ownership has changed with the merger with Chemical Bank last month.

How could this happen to a young man like me?

The 18 free hams to be given away just in time for Easter feasting by Cass City merchants will be followed in May with free drawings for two prizes of $100 worth of groceries.

Both events are sponsored by the Cass City Retail Committee and require only that you enter the stores and sign your name for a chance to win.

Except for the "sleep cheap" chains all new motels by major chains that I have encountered recently feature a large area devoted to recreation.

I stayed in one Friday that opened 15 days ago. In its rec area there was a 9-hole putting green, sauna, jacuzzi, swimming pool, two table tennis tables, two pool tables, massage room, a "sidewalk" cafe and a portable bar.

It was being well used and I judged many of the guests were there for the week end with their families just to use the facilities.

It has to be cheaper than travelling north and the weather is no problem at all.

Thumb B officials are still haggling about the league organization. After a meeting Monday it was decided to take a mail ballot of the schools to change the constitution from a maximum of 10 teams to 16 teams to make it possible to effect a merger with Thumb C Conference schools.

Here's a prediction that regardless of the mail vote the merger will melt and Sandusky will be leaving the Thumb B for what coaches there say is easier competition.

Looking for jobs

By Mike Eliasohn

Maybe the hardest thing to manufacture isn't a product, but jobs.

One aim of my two-part series on seeking new jobs and industry, which concludes this week, is to show "isn't easy. There is a lot of competition.

Michigan communities have an additional handicap. Although workers' compensation has been reformed, other reforms are still needed if we are to become truly attractive to business.

Even if an industry is willing to build a plant in Michigan, how do we get them to Cass City?

As the examples I wrote about for this week show, in Marlette and Brown City, it isn't enough to print some brochures and mail them to a few places. That is only a start.

I think an effort has to be made to determine what industries might best be suited for Cass City and then try to get them here.

For instance, the Governor's Conference on Agriculture a year ago made some recommendations on agricultural related industries that could provide jobs in Michigan. One recommendation was for a soybean processing plant and another, as I recall, was to raise and process chickens for sale in supermarkets.

Michigan is one of the leading soybean growing states, but none are processed into animal feed here. A lot of chicken is cooked in Michigan, but most of it comes from the South.

In Gratiot County, instead of waiting, committees have been organized to work on getting such plants built there instead of in some other county.

The difficulty in trying to attract new industry here or anywhere is that those who decide where to build new factories can put them in whatever towns offer the best deals.

Cass City has a nice industrial park, but some other towns not only have that, they can afford to construct an empty building to rent to any employer who wants to use it, which saves the employer money.

An effort should be made to attract industry here, but I think an effort should also be made to encourage local entrepreneurs — persons who have ideas that can make them money and provide jobs for others in their own home town if they receive the right kind of help.

That having been said, I also think an area-wide effort should be made to attract new business to anywhere in the upper Thumb.

If a new factory opens anywhere in Tuscola, Sanilac or Huron Counties, some Cass Cityans might get jobs there, so Cass City will still gain. A lot of persons around here drive well beyond any of the three counties to work every day.

One thing Cass City does not have, which is to our fortune, is empty factory buildings. There are a couple of buildings that might be suitable for light industrial use, but rezoning would be required.

In contrast, I can think of numerous upper Thumb towns that have empty industrial buildings, including Owendale, Gagetown, Kingston, Uby, Bad Axe and Mayville.

There is nothing wrong with individual community efforts to attract industry, but think how much more could be done if all the communities in the upper Thumb banded together.

The way it is now, if Community X attracts an official of Company Y for a visit and the official doesn't like what he sees, he goes home.

Perhaps the official is looking for an empty factory building of a certain size with certain features, perhaps a railroad siding, three loading docks for trucks or an overhead crane.

Wouldn't it be nice if Community X doesn't have such a building to be able to refer him to Community Z, 15 miles away, which has exactly what he wants.

What is needed is to hire some persons, which I think could be done through the Thumb Area Consortium or Human Development Commission, both of which serve the entire upper Thumb, to compile a list of what every community has to offer in terms of vacant factory buildings, industrial sites, services, etc.

After that is done and the information compiled, a business and industry publicity and recruitment campaign must be undertaken.

There would be no sense in compiling all that information and have it sit on a shelf.

2 from area on Ferris honors list

Two area students are included on the academic honors list for the winter quarter at Ferris State College, Big Rapids.

They are Pamela J. Winchester of Gagetown, who received all A's, and Anna M. Osentoski of Cass City.

A minimum 3.25 grade point average and at least 14 hours of graded work are needed to be on the honors list.

Elkland electors approve $124,700 budget

Electors at the Elkland Township annual meeting Saturday afternoon approved a 1982-83 township budget which projects $124,700 in revenue and the same amount in expenditures.

That compares to $121,728 received during the 1981-82 fiscal year that ended this Wednesday and $91,295 spent.

One reason for the big difference between what was taken in and what was spent was that some road work budgeted for 1981-82 didn't get done by the Road Commission.

Budgeted for roads this year is $20,000 for maintenance and $28,167 for construction.

An additional $17,378 in federal revenue sharing funds is also budgeted for roads.

The board contracted to have work done last year on the one mile of Wilsie Road between Cemetery and Koepfgen, consisting of clearing roadside brush, trees and stumps, which will now be done this year.

The township board hasn't decided yet what road work it will have done this year, according to Supervisor Jack Gallagher, but "We intend to spend quite a bit of it" (available funds).

The township accumulated a lot of cash from federal and state revenue sharing, he added, but those funds may be reduced, so reserves are needed.

There was some general discussion at the meeting about roads.

Salaries for township officials remain the same as last year: $2,000 for the supervisor plus $4,500 for assessing; clerk and treasurer, $5,000 each, and the two trustees, $720 each.

There is a $6,500 subsidy budgeted for the Cass City Area Ambulance Service in the new fiscal year, compared to $5,324 spent in 1981-82. The more collected in ambulance service fees, the less the township will have to pay.

SEPARATE FUNDS

The new budget transfers $22,634 to the fire department, compared to $28,180 transferred last year.

The total fire department budget is $44,450, of which almost all of the remainder of the revenue is to come from the $21,263 in standby fees paid by area townships which contract with Elkland for fire protection.

Of the total, $12,500 is budgeted for new uniforms and equipment, the biggest portion of which will be spent for the water tank to be mounted on the recently purchased truck chassis, which cost $24,180 out of 1981-82 funds.

Firefighters' pay is budgeted at a total of $8,000 and new part-time Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. is to receive $5,500.

Questions were asked about the duties of the new chief — his responsibilities include overseeing the entire operation of the department — and whether the old tanker will be sold or kept for backup. It will be sold, one reason being there isn't enough room in the fire hall to keep it.

There is $8,259 budgeted transferred from the general fund to the cemetery fund.

Including projected revenues from grave openings, $5,200, sale of lots, $5,500, and some miscellaneous income, the total cemetery budget is $23,720, of which the sexton receives $13,770.

REVENUE

Of the total of $124,700 in anticipated revenue (including $8,685 carryover from last year), $55,000 should come from property taxes and $35,000 is listed in state revenue (sales tax, revenue sharing, etc.).

The latter is only $2,096 less than was received last year. Although the state will probably reduce that, the township hasn't been notified yet, township Clerk Carol Ware said.

Two ticketed after accidents

Two drivers were ticketed by police following accidents last Friday and Saturday.

A 16-year-old boy was cited by Cass City police on a charge of failure to yield right of way following a 6:10 p.m. mishap Friday.

Officers said he backed away from the M & R Grocery onto Seeger Street into the path of a northbound car and they collided.

Driver of the other vehicle was John F. Heater, 27, of 6464 River Road.

Sheriff's deputies ticketed Larry S. Turnbull Jr., 18, of 4956 Little Road, Cass City, on a charge of unable to stop within an assured clear distance ahead following an 8:10 p.m. accident Saturday.

Officers reported Cheryl D. Adams, 31, of Unionville, was southbound on Colwood Road, slowed to turn left onto Gerou Road, and Turnbull's southbound vehicle ran into the rear of her car.

Deborah Rabideau of 3615 Hobart Road, Gagetown, reported to Cass City police Friday that a hit and run vehicle damaged the grill of her car while it was parked on Leach Street, south of Main. The incident took place at 11:10 p.m.

CAR-DEER

Daniel E. Gibbard, 22, of 6125 Hadley Road, Cass City, was westbound on M-81, west of Schwegler Road, at 7:50 p.m. Sunday when a deer ran into his car, according to deputies.

At 8:40 p.m. Wednesday, March 24, according to deputies, Joan Kay Hahn, 19, of 1295 Phillips Road, Deford, was westbound on M-81 at Crawford Road when her car collided with a deer.

Kingston H.S. play Friday, Saturday

"The Boarding House Reach," the Kingston High School all-school play, will be presented Friday and Saturday, with curtain time 8 p.m. in the Kingston Elementary gym.

The comedy is set in the 1950s and features Wilbur Maxwell (Mike Megge), who decides to turn his parents' home into a boarding home while they are away on a business trip so he can raise money to buy a bicycle.

His ad in the newspaper attracts a number of strange characters who move in — and then Wilbur's parents return unexpectedly.

Other characters include Wilbur's buddy, Hercules (Richie Asher), Betty Lou Maxwell (Lisa Kelly), Mr.

Maxwell (Roland Hubert), Mrs. Maxwell (Swedish exchange student Marie Thelin).

Also in the cast, which consists of 7th-12th graders, are Mike Stark, Chris Moore, Jenni Lalko, Julie Burns, Russell Grieve, Steve Eagle, Jill Reehl, Becky Raymond, Alisa Stark, Derek Morell and Lorraine Dadacki.

Director is Jim Prisetap, assisted by Bob Sims.

Your Neighbor says

Our space shuttle program worthwhile

When the Columbia space shuttle landed, John Stochla Sr. planned to be watching on his television.

He watched March 22 when it was launched and has paid close attention to the two previous flights. "I watched it the first time it went up (in April, 1981) and I stayed all day by the television."

The current cost estimate for the total space shuttle program is $10.083 billion.

Stochla feels the program is worthwhile and that the United States will get a lot of use out of the four space shuttles to be built, which are sort of an outer space version of an ocean freighter. "I think that's the coming thing."

He feels the shuttle program could be of military benefit, and as far as he is concerned, "Anything for defense is well spent because I think Russia is going too far. We have got to be prepared."

He also likes the space shuttle program because he has long been fascinated with mechanical things. Stochla raced cars in his younger days, made his living repairing cars, has an interest in airplanes, although he has never flown in one and collects various mechanical items, including cameras.

Stochla had a full time garage business in Gagetown and worked for 8½ years as caretaker at St. Agatha's Catholic Church there.

Although retired, he occasionally repairs cars, lawn mowers and does welding at his garage in town.

Stochla lives on Hoppe Road, Gagetown. A widower, he has one son, John Jr., who lives in Deckerville.

Leona Elizabeth Harrington, 68, of Cass City, died Friday at Saginaw General Hospital.

She was born Dec. 21, 1913, in Novesta Township, the daughter of Elisha R. and Estella (Gage) Randall.

Miss Brown married Joseph Arsenault in the spring of 1930 in Detroit.

In 1940, Mrs. Arsenault married James Harrington in Detroit. Following their marriage, they made their home in Detroit and San Antonio, Texas. Harrington died Feb. 17, 1978. Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Harrington came to Cass City.

Mrs. Harrington attended the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City and was a member of the San Antonio and Cass City American Association of Retired Persons.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Viola Roberts of Pontiac, and Mrs. Helen Agar and Mrs. Millie Mark, both of Cass City. One son, Donald Arsenault, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City officiating.

Burial was in Novesta Township Cemetery.

VILLAGE CENTENARY by Miss Read (fiction). Miss Read, Fairacre's spinster school marm, is preoccupied with the school's 100th anniversary. Events from earlier novels are evoked as the familiar villagers delve into their memories to prepare for a commemorative pageant. The year of planning passes swiftly with other minor local crises developing and being resolved under the calm attention of Miss Read.

INHERITORS OF THE STORM by Victor Sondheim (fiction). This first of four projected volumes in a lengthy family saga lays the basis for a tale that mixes American history from 1920 to 1940 with the personal history of a Midwestern family, the Sinclairs. The tale begins with the suicide of Bradford Sinclair, a banker who is ruined by the intrigue of his colleagues and the New Deal policies of Franklin Roosevelt. Once prosperous, the five Sinclair children are plunged into desperate straits, and the novel intriguingly portrays their climb back to the top. One son achieves a position of power in government; another finds allegiance with Stalin; a third becomes a career officer with Stilwell in China. The elder of two daughters wanders from lover to lover seeking to recapture the stability she once knew, while the younger moves to California in search of sunny dreams.

CLOSE CALLS: THE CONFESSIONS OF A NFL REFEREE by Norm Schachter (non-fiction). Schachter, a National Football League referee for 22 years, retired in 1976 after Super Bowl X. His "confessions" are little more than a succession of anecdotes - but that's enough. They are often hilarious and never less than amusing. And sometimes, on his way to the punch line, he reveals a surprising personality tidbit about a player or coach. His special interest in coaches led to individual chapters on George Halas, Vince Lombardi, and Tom Landry, among others.

Deadline for farm sign-up is April 16

Tuscola County farmers that will want price support protection for commodity loans and target price protection are reminded that sign-ups are now being taken and the deadline for sign-up is April 16.

Virgil D. Bouck, county Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service executive Director reminds producers that the program is voluntary and that there is no cross compliance between farms or crops, which means that a producer can sign and comply on one farm and will not have to comply on other farms he operates. The same holds true between crops, wheat, corn and oats and barley. The one exception is that oats and barley are classed as one crop.

Producers who sign an intention to participate are not obligated to comply with this intention if the market should be to their advantage before certifying their crop plantings by July 1.

Only producers who sign an intention to participate by April 16 are entitled to the target price, loan rate and reserve rate benefits for the four crops mentioned above. If producers have any questions, they should contact the ASCS Office at 852 S. Hooper Street, Caro, telephone 673-8173.

HEALTH TIPS

Smoking harmful to unborn babies

Pregnant mothers who smoke can injure their unborn children.

How and why a mother's smoking can harm the fetus or threaten the baby's respiratory system after the child is born is explained in the booklet "Smoking and the 'Two of You'" published by the American Lung Association.

"When a pregnant mother smokes, harmful gases from the smoke enter the blood and pass through the placenta directly into her baby's circulatory system. These gases narrow the baby's blood vessels and those in the placenta, and they force oxygen out of the red blood cells of mother and baby - cutting down the amounts of badly-needed oxygen and food that are delivered to the developing child."

"Women who smoke while pregnant have a higher percentage of stillborn babies, spontaneous abortions and premature deliveries than do women who don't smoke, and their babies are more likely to be born undersized or to die soon after birth. "After birth, breathing smoke-filled air can cause a baby's tiny airways and lungs to constrict, blocking or impairing the child's breathing. And because babies and young children breathe much faster than adults, they inhale more pollution in proportion to their total body weight."

For a copy of "Smoking and the Two of You," and for more information about smoking and pregnancy, call the American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5979.

Elmer Parrish family sees space launch

When the Columbia space shuttle was launched from Cape Canaveral March 22, among the estimated 1 million spectators watching was the Elmer Parrish family of Gagetown.

The family consists of Elmer and his wife Jill and their children, Jamie, 7, and Kristy, 5.

The family, which departed March 18 and returned home Sunday, not only watched the spectacular launch, they also were interviewed for the local newspaper, the Orlando, Fla. Sentinel Star.

They were among speculators interviewed who drove from as far away as California to see the launch.

The following is from the Sentinel Star article:

The Elmer Parrish family of Gagetown, Mich., made their vacation a trip to the shuttle launch mainly because of son Jamie, 7.

"It seems like he draws pictures of the shuttle every day," said Parrish. "He's really gotten us interested in it."

"Plus, one of the guys who's training to be an astronaut, Brewster Shaw, is from our home town. I went to high school with Brewster at Cass City High School. It was one of those small towns where everybody knows everybody."

"It's easier to enjoy these things when you know somebody," Parrish said.

Owen-Gage girls for spring sports

9 veterans key to better year for baseball team

Just like the Detroit Tigers, the Owen-Gage Bulldogs could use another good pitcher or two as they prepare for the opener of the baseball season April 22.

With nine lettermen returning and 21 players on the roster, coach Phil Gray is looking for considerable improvement over his team's 7-12 overall record last year. In the North Central Thumb D League, the team was 5-9, which put them in sixth place.

The mainstays of the mound staff this year will be senior Randy Radabaugh, who had a 4-6 record last season and a 2.59 earned run average in 1981, and sophomore Alan LeValley, who was 3-5. LeValley, who will mainly handle shortstop duties, batted .272 in 1981. Radabaugh had a .375 average at the plate last year.

The one pitcher lost to graduation is Jim Kuhr.

Gray would like to have more depth at the mound and is hoping Stan Andrakowicz, new this year, and or Dan Glidden, both juniors, will take up the slack. When and if not pitching, Glidden will be in center field, taking over for the graduated Scott Gaeth. This is his third year on the squad and last year batted .375.

Andrakowicz' main job will be at catcher, replacing graduated Jim Glidden, who was all-conference in the position in 1981. Gray says Andrakowicz has good size and an excellent arm.

The Bulldogs have a solid infield with Terry Muntz at first, Paul Lopez at second, LeValley at shortstop and Vince Salcido at third.

Muntz, back for his fourth year at the position, batted .489 last year, the second best average in the area. Lopez is back for his third year and batted .285. Salcido, who has a "good glove," according to Gray, will be playing his fourth year.

Expected to be in the outfield in addition to Glidden are Mark Furness in left field, who batted .275 in 1981 and is back for his fourth season, and either George Vargo, Mike Powell or Reid Goslin in right field.

Gray is starting his seventh season as coach. His past teams totaled a 65-62 win-loss record.

He expects North Huron, Carsonville-Port Sanilac and Akron-Fairgrove to be the teams to beat in the league this season, with Owen-Gage "near the top."

All games are double headers starting at 4 p.m. Home games are at the high school field. The schedule:

- April 22 at Ublly (non-league)
- April 26 at Carsonville-PS
- April 29 Port Hope
- May 6 at Kingston
- May 10 Caseville
- May 13 at Akron-Fair.
- May 17 Peck
- May 19 at North Huron
- May 24 Deckerville
- May 26 at Lakers (non-league)
- June 4-5 districts at North Huron

Graduation losses heavy

Big shoes to fill for track teams

The Owen-Gage boys' track team has some fast shoes to fill, if it is to be a contender in the North Central Thumb D League this season.

Coach Richard Glidden feels it will.

Last year's squad finished 4-4 in the league, third place, but won the league meet.

A lot of points last year were won by Glidden's son, Jim, who was league champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, long jump and also ran in some relays.

In addition to Jim, also lost to graduation are Scott Gaeth, relays and hurdles, who also garnered a lot of points, Lennie Hallock and Dave Ondrajka, both relays and sprints, and Bob LaFave, shot-put and discus.

There is, however, lots to be optimistic about.

For starters, there is state Class D pole vault champion Jim Patnaude, who won the title last year with a vault of 13 ft., 7 in. His best during the season was 13 ft., 9 in.

To go even higher, the senior has switched to a longer pole and made a few changes in technique, with a goal this season of topping 14 feet and winning another state championship.

Making the changes meant he had some relearning to do, he explained, but in some indoor meets this winter, he has managed to work his way back to his best performances of last season.

Among others back are Terry Muntz, who was league champion in the 330 low hurdles in 1981, and Dan Glidden, who was runner-up behind his brother, Jim, in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Also returning are Paul Lopez, shot put, discus and mile; Stan Andrakowicz, 880 and 440; Alan LeValley, shot put and 440; George Vargo, sprints and relays; Gary Erickson, 440, and Frank Abfalter, mile.

New on the team are Reid Goslin, hurdles and relays; John Shope, shot put and discus; Earl Harris, shot put, and Angelo Battisti, mile and two mile.

Glidden feels the strengths of his team will be the sprints and relays and a winning attitude, while the weaknesses will be the field events, except for Patnaude, distance races and lack of depth.

He feels the Bulldogs will be a contender, with Akron-Fairgrove, Kingston and North Huron the teams to beat.

GIRLS' TEAM

Glidden, starting his third year of coaching track, is also handling the girls' team this year, which, he says, is almost entirely a new team.

Back from the 1981 team which finished seventh in the league are Bonnie Wynn, sprints, shot put and discus; Karla Kretschmer, and Julie Enderle, both relays; Carol Zimmer, distance events, and Dawn Mitchell, sprints.

New on the team this year are Dena McDonald, shot put and discus; Kim Olszak, relays and sprints; Linda Retford, hurdles and shot put; Bev Zaleski, sprints; Jenny Hellebuyck, sprints, relays and long jump.

Glidden feels the strength of his team are in the sprints and the newcomers' attitude, but offsetting that are lack of depth and any runners in the distance events.

He feels the top teams in girls' track will be Akron-Fairgrove, North Huron and Kingston.

Regular meets start at 4 p.m. The schedule:

- April 20 at Kingston (3:30)
- April 23 at Cent. Mich. Uni
- April 24 at Saginaw Valley
- April 27 Deckerville and Caseville at O-G
- May 4 at Akron-Fair.
- May 5 Unionville-Sebewaing invitational
- May 11 at North Huron
- May 14 Akron invitational
- May 18 league meet at Kingston
- May 25 Thumb Meet of Champions, Caro

After only one outdoor practice, it was a bit hard for Owen-Gage softball coach Judy Campbell to predict how her team will do this year.

But with her starting pitcher, catcher, second baseman, shortstop and left fielder from last year lost to graduation, she is sure of one thing.

It will be a rebuilding year and after six straight North Central D League championships -- one for every year the sport has been played at Owen-Gage and all coached by Miss Campbell -- repeating will be difficult.

Gone from last year's team that finished 19-2 overall and 13-1 are starters Dana Laurie, pitcher; Becky Howard, shortstop and second pitcher; Julie Andrakowicz, second base; Terri Sontag, catcher, and Heidi Rockefeller, left fielder.

Returning starters are Joan Mosack at first; Karla Kretschmer and Julie Enderle, outfielders, and Jackie Kain and Vicki Alexander, who alternated at third base. A total of 10 players are back who have experience.

The big need is pitching and Miss Campbell is looking toward Leeann Ellicott, who pitched a little last year, to head the mound staff.

Another possible pitcher is Kain, who also threw a bit last season. With the first game not until April 22, the coach also plans to try some other players on the mound.

Another question mark is at catcher. Rita Sullivan will probably fill that spot.

The rest of the defense, according to Miss Campbell, looks "halfway decent."

The other problem is hitting.

All the big hitters are gone, "so that is going to hurt."

The team's best batter is Kretschmer, who often gets on base, but isn't a power hitter, so seldom gets farther than second base with her bat. Once she gets on base, however, she is a good bet to go farther. She led the team in stolen bases last season.

Mosack is a hard hitter when she hits the ball, according to the coach, but so far lacks consistency.

Miss Campbell predicts Caseville and Deckerville will be the strongest teams in the league this season.

Home games are played on the Gagetown village park field. All contests are double headers, starting at 4 p.m.

Estimate $2,500 damage in one of 3 area fires

Damage was estimated at $2,500 in a fire last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Nowakowski, 7181 Mushroom Road, Detroit.

Nowakowski said the fire in the chimney broke into the living room wall. A fire was burning in the add-on wood stove in the basement.

He and Danny Allen, Bill Nagy and Dick Powell used a garden hose and had the fire out by the time Elkland Township fire fighters arrived.

Firemen cut into the wall around the fireplace to make sure the fire was out. The fireplace wasn't being used.

In addition to repairing the wall, Nowakowski and Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. said the chimney would have to be replaced.

The fire was reported at 5:10 p.m.

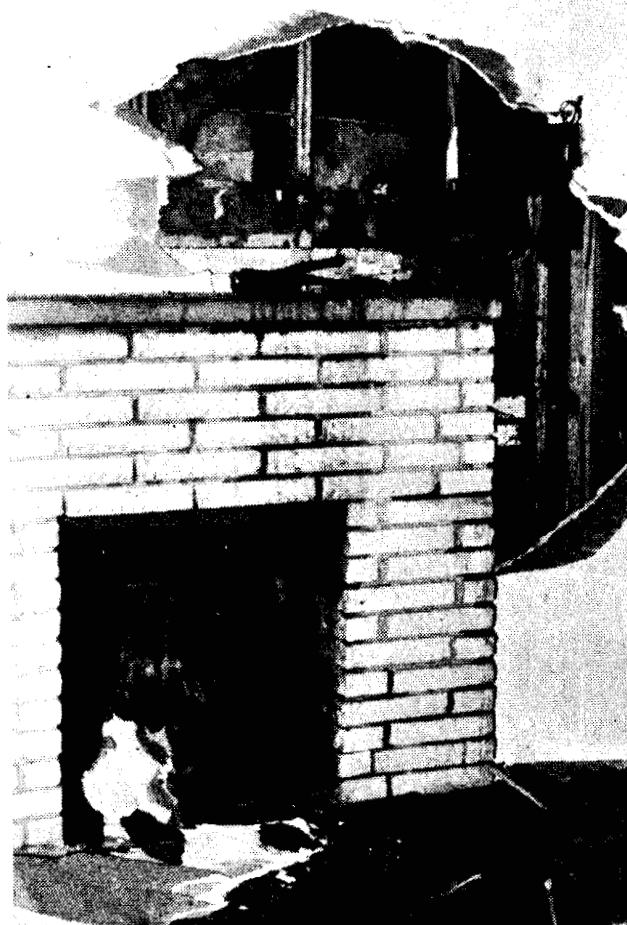

Elkland firemen were called at 3:40 p.m. last Thursday to Provincial House.

Root said a food warmer in the kitchen had shorted out, blowing a fuse and apparently causing smoke, but there was no fire and nothing for firemen to extinguish.

sponded to a reported utility pole fire at 4:50 p.m. Tuesday.

The pole was along M-53 near the Wildwood Farms restaurant and motel. Apparently a wire came loose or there was a short, resulting in sparking.

Although some insulation may have burned, there was nothing to extinguish, Root said. Detroit Edison was notified.

FIRE that broke through the chimney into the wall of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Nowakowski last Wednesday resulted in this damage, some of it due to firemen having to cut into the wall to make sure the fire was out.

Okay budget for Gagetown

The Gagetown Village Council March 22 approved an $82,131 in revenue general fund budget for its new fiscal year, which starts this Thursday.

A public hearing was scheduled prior to the council's approval of the budget, but no one appeared.

The new budget, which calls for $77,825 in expenditures, compares with the 1981-82 budget which estimated revenue of $67,650 and the same amount of expenditures.

The biggest single source of revenue in the new fiscal year is a projected $33,200 in property taxes.

State revenue sharing should bring Gagetown $14,000 and federal revenue sharing, $5,000.

Listed in general fund revenue is $25,956 in charges for services, a bookkeeping procedure involving rental payments from separate accounts into the general fund for use of village-owned equipment.

General fund expenditures are projected at $77,825, which is $4,306 less than projected revenue.

Salaries listed in the budget are a total of $6,000 for village officials, the same as last year; a total $14,100 for the one full-time and one part-time maintenance workers, and $13,000 for the policeman.

Total projected expenditures for the general fund categories are: general operations, $12,250; building and grounds, $8,250; police department, $18,410; public works, $20,460; motor vehicle and equipment, $5,730; and parks department, $7,725.

Federal revenue sharing income is projected at $9,000, of which $5,000 is to go into the general fund and $4,000 into the local street fund.

The amount budgeted for local streets totals $8,965 (plus $1,985 left over), of which $5,150 is to come from the state gasoline and weight taxes; $4,000 from federal revenue sharing and $1,800 from the major street fund.

Major street revenue is projected at $21,458, of which $14,000 is from gasoline and weight taxes and the rest is money left over from 1981-82.

Expenditures should total $19,658, plus $1,800 transferred to local streets.

Thumb Electric outlines projects at annual meet

Walter Cook, president of the board of directors, opened the 45th annual meeting of Thumb Electric Cooperative (TEC) members Friday at Ubyly High School. An estimated 575 persons attended.

Election of three directors highlighted the meeting. Re-elected to three terms were Walter Cook, Huron County; Ronald Schiestel, Sanilac County; and Roger Vollmar, Tuscola County.

Board Treasurer Michael Lasceski presented the 1981 financial statement which showed operating revenues of $6,090,585 and expenses of $5,845,911 resulting in an operating margin of $244,674.

In addition to the operating margin the cooperative also earned over $125,000 in interest on short term investment. Total margin after two accounting adjustments was $356,925.

Total expenses including purchased power increased 9.5 percent over 1980. Expenses less purchased power increased only 1.9 percent over 1980.

In action taken after the annual meeting, the board of directors reelected Cook as president; Allan Shaw, vice-president; Elmer Rayl, secretary, and Lasceski, treasurer.

TEC GENERAL MANAGER Michael Krause showed a slide presentation on the cooperative's financial status, retail rates, power supply, member equity and new load management programs.

It was pointed out that over 66 cents of every dollar paid by members went to pay purchased and generated power cost.

Kilowatt hour (kwh) sales for 1981 did not increase over 1980 levels due to a mild winter and conservation.

TEC retail rates have increased an average of 10 percent over the last five years. Higher power costs have had the greatest impact on retail rates with the cooperative's power cost increasing at an average of 12 percent annually over the last five years. TEC's average member utilized 778 kwh-month at a cost of $55, up $4 from 1980. At that level, TEC and Detroit Edison rates are within 4 percent of each other.

TEC and Sebewaing Board of Light and Water negotiated an interruptible service rate with Detroit Edison, which should save TEC members over $200,000 in 1982.

The margin the cooperative earned in 1981 was necessary to meet the requirements of its two lenders, the Rural Electric Administration and the Cooperative Finance Corp. Thirty percent of TEC's loan funds come from CFC, which competes on the bond market with other industries for loan funds. All margins to date, which amount to $2,358,770 are allocated back to members in the year they were earned based on the member's electricity usage.

Problems with meter tampering and fraud are on the increase. Meter tampering and fraud are felonies and TEC has and will continue to pursue offenders through the courts.

The load management program TEC introduced in 1979 has been expanded. TEC now offers an interruptible electric heating rate and an energy storage rate for hot water heaters.

COOK THEN PRESENTED his president's report reviewing accomplishments of 1981 and plans for 1982.

In 1981, TEC received the National Safety Accreditation Award for its operation and safety program. Along with the award, a 10 percent reduction in insurance premium was received.

TEC joined 10 other cooperatives in Michigan and formed a self-insurance fund for Workers' Compensation, which is expected to save several thousand dollars annually.

Conversion of part of TEC's transportation fleet from gasoline to propane was discussed along with the associated operating expense reduction.

Several maintenance and construction projects completed in 1981 were discussed, with the work done on rebuilding 11 miles of transmission line feeding Columbia Substation, which serves the northwestern part of Tuscola County, being the highpoint.

Plans for 1982 include rebuilding of the Kinde Sigel transmission line; completion of two miles of three-phase bebuild on Frenchline Road in Sanilac County's Washington Township, and one mile of three-phase rebuild on Waterman Road in Tuscola County's Fremont Township.

After the business meeting adjourned, a lunch was served and the Tenbusch Brothers and the Musical Masters provided entertainment.

Thirty members in attendance received door prizes. Displays on energy conservation, ground water heat pumps and farm needs were shown.

Minor thefts, break-in probed by Cass City Police Department

Cass City police were called last Wednesday to investigate a break-in in which a stereo set and radio were taken.

Connie Harper of 4394 Maple Street told officers her apartment was entered while she was away March 20-22. Entry was gained by kicking the door in, breaking the lock.

The Sears stereo was valued at $450; the AM-FM clock-radio at $80.

Robert Pearce reported to Cass City police Saturday morning that the green fiberglass paneling on the front of his S. Seeger Street store had been damaged, apparently by a vehicle deliberately driven into it. Loss was estimated at $143.

Ron Ouvry of Ouvry Chevrolet-Olds told village police March 23 that during the night of March 18, two outside rearview mirrors were removed from a pickup in the dealership lot. They were worth $85.

Roger Martindale of 6575 Lincoln Street, Gagetown, reported to Cass City police Saturday morning that a front brake hose on his car was cut while his car was parked behind McMahan Auto Supply, 6467 Main Street, from 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. the previous day.

He got as far as Bay City-Forestville Road before the brakes gave out, but he was able to stop safely. Part of the brake line was cut, possibly with a knife, it was discovered, and police found a pool of fluid where the car had been parked.

Leo Zabinski of Legg Road, Kingston, reported to sheriff's deputies Sunday that someone had apparently tried to enter his garage between March 15 and 27. A cover over a window had been pried off and several boards on the side removed and broken. Nothing was found missing, but damage was estimated at $150.

Deborah Otulakowski of 6313 Kelly Road, Cass City, reported to Caro state police Saturday afternoon that she had put her purse down in the Fisher Big Wheel Store northeast of Caro about 1 p.m. and when she looked around, her purse was taken.

Open house conducted at Campbell Elementary

More than 240 parents, grandparents, and other members of the community visited Campbell Elementary School Wednesday, March 24.

Parents Donna Wachterhauser and Mary Lou Cooper acted as hostesses as people entered the building and registered.

They were given a tour of the building by selected groups of boys and girls from the third and fourth grades.

After the tour they went to various classrooms to observe the teachers teaching the children. Some went only to the rooms that their children were in, but many went to other classrooms.

They were also able to visit the supportive classrooms of speech, remedial reading, physical education and art, and the library. Each visitor was given a tour book with drawings and writings done by the children about the staff and school.

After visiting the classrooms, refreshments were provided by the teachers. David Lovejoy provided the visitors at this time with information concerning the Community Education classes and high school completion courses.

Principal Jacqueline Freiburger said, "The parents and visitors were very pleased to see the children in action." The general feeling was that the open house should be repeated next year.

Campbell has held previous open houses in the evening. This was the first during the day.

New wheat crop healthy

A mid-February check by Michigan State University agronomy researchers indicates that winter kill of wheat should not significantly affect 1982 yields.

Russell Freed, professor of crop and soil sciences, says 230 field samples taken in five Thumb counties showed losses ranging from 5 to 33 percent.

"The highest losses occurred in a very low area that had no snow cover," Freed relates. "There were few fields in our sample that were in that condition."

He advises that farmers should make frequent field checks this spring to determine if the crop should receive a nitrogen topdressing to help it grow vigorously. "If they're uncertain about what to do to the crop, especially if winter kill seems to be substantial, farmers should check with their Cooperative Extension Service agricultural agent," Freed advises. "Some wheat varieties have a strong ability for rejuvenation; others do not."

The Michigan Crop Reporting Service estimates that 695,000 acres of winter wheat were planted in Michigan last fall. In 1980, about 800,000 acres were planted to winter wheat. Last fall's decline is attributed to abnormally wet weather.

Even with unfavorable weather conditions, per-acre yield should be quite good. Last year's 50 bushel-per-acre state average was a 14 percent increase over the previous record. Michigan's wheat yield the past three years has averaged 40 bushels per acre.

Freed attributes the increase to new varieties developed and released by MSU, including Frankennuth and Augusta.

"These are examples of extremely vigorous varieties which can perform well even under adverse conditions," Freed says. "With Frankennuth and Augusta, many farmers are getting yields of around 100 bushels per acre."

Annual meetings held

Evergreen, Grant seeking tax for township roads

Electors at two area township annual meetings Saturday decided to schedule millage proposals on the Aug. 3 primary election ballot.

One thing that didn't change at the meetings was salaries. In only one township was a change approved, and that was minor.

Grant Township electors decided to have residents vote on an increase of 3 mills for five years in their township taxes for roads, which will raise about $45,000 the first year. It will be the fifth attempt since 1976 to get such a proposal approved. All past attempts have been defeated.

In Evergreen Township, where a two-year levy of one mill for improvement of Decker Road for the one mile north of Shabbona has expired, electors decided to seek renewal of the levy for three years, with the money to be used for upkeep of township roads. If approved, it will raise about $10,000 the first year.

The primary action at most of the annual meetings was presentation of budgets for the new fiscal year that starts this Thursday.

TUSCOLA COUNTY

ELMWOOD — Estimated revenue for the 1982-83 fiscal year is $99,000, including the half-mill levied for the fire department and the balance remaining from the last fiscal year.

There is $20,000 budgeted for roads from the general fund, plus $6,000 in federal revenue sharing funds. The township board will ask the county Road Commission for an estimate on grading of Green Road, according to Township Clerk Joanne Sattelberg.

The township has a lot more money to spend on roads this year, she said, because it only has to budget $5,000 for drains this year. Last year, it had to spend $23,000 for the purpose.

The only changes in salaries are that the two trustees will now receive $150 a year in addition to the $30 they have previously received per meeting and the sexton received a hike from $1,700 annually to $2,000.

Other salaries are: Supervisor, $1,500, plus $3,500 for assessing and clerk and treasurer, $2,500 each.

There was $3,500 budgeted to Cass City, which allows Elmwood residents to use the Cass City landfill without further charge.

This is the first year the township has the revenue from the fire millage, a little over $9,000.

A resolution was approved honoring Betty Russell for her service as township treasurer. She recently resigned as she and her family moved to Cass City.

Township board meetings will continue to be on the third Wednesday of every other month, but the starting time will now be 7:30 p.m. year round. The next meeting is April 21.

The meeting only attracted one township resident, plus Mrs. Russell, in addition to board members.

ELLINGTON — A lot of improvements should be made to township roads this year.

The general fund budget totals $150,366, of which only $57,607 is in new revenue. The township has a large fund balance, Clerk Clayton Turner explained, because a lot of money was budgeted for roads last year but was unspent because the Road Commission wasn't able to get to a lot of planned road work then.

Budgeted for roads this year is $91,349 from the general fund, $60,683 left over from the now expired road millage and $12,759 in federal revenue sharing funds. Roads were discussed. The board will soon decide on which roads it will have work done this year.

Annual salaries are: Supervisor, $2,862, plus $2,396 for assessing; clerk, $3,523; treasurer, $3,261, and trustees, $800 each.

There will be $6,000 spent to contract with the Elkland Township and Caro Fire Departments for fire protection. The money will come from the three-quarters of a mill levied for the purpose.

Board meetings will continue to be on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

Thirteen persons attended, plus board members.

KINGSTON — Estimated revenue for 1982-83 is $64,460. That plus $54,510 in investments (savings) and the balance on hand total $119,119.

The board budgeted

$18,000 last year for work to be done on Cemetery Road between Bevans and Gilford, which wasn't done by the Road Commission. The Board plans to spend that this year, plus an additional $50,000 for roads from the general fund, plus $6,500 in federal revenue sharing.

Roads and drainage ditches were the main items discussed.

The five electors who attended, in addition to board members, were told that in accordance with the new state "truth in taxation" law, the township won't accept increased revenue from an increase in valuations. The law says that has to be done by a rollback in millage.

Salaries remain the same: Supervisor, $4,752; clerk and treasurer, $2,733 each, and trustees, $30 per meeting.

Other expenses include $7,000 for fire protection (contracted with Kingston village and Elkland and Lamotte Townships) and $5,000 for drains.

SANILAC

EVERGREEN — Revenue and expenditures for the new fiscal year are both listed in the budget at $46,900.

There is $23,000 budgeted for roads, of which an estimated $21,000 is to be spent on the one mile of Decker Road north of Shabbona, on which the work hasn't been done yet. The millage revenue is included in that amount.

An additional $4,100 is budgeted for road brining to keep down dust.

Of the $4,000 expected in federal revenue sharing, plus $1,104 balance on hand, $250 is to be given to Rawson Memorial Library (the same as last year, despite a request for an increase); Cass City recreation, $250; fire protection, $2,000, and road patching and graveling, $2,600.

Salaries remain the same: Supervisor, $2,500; clerk and treasurer, $1,300 each, and trustees, deputy clerk and deputy treasurer, $40 per meeting attended.

Six persons attended, plus board members.

GREENLEAF — Expenditures are anticipated at $72,000, with $61,600 of that in new income. Money left over from last year that had been budgeted for roads makes up the difference.

This year, the board is planning to spend $52,875 for the purpose. Among work intended this year is finishing grading and graveling of Ritter Road between M-53 and Grassmere Road and Spencer Road between Germania and Bad Axe Roads.

The $8,000 expected in federal revenue sharing, included in the above mentioned $72,000, will all go for roads.

Other expenses include fire protection, $6,576; refuse disposal, $1,470; Rawson Memorial Library, $335 (up from $233, at the library's request), and $100 to Cass City recreation.

Salaries remain the same: Supervisor, $2,100; clerk, $1,500; treasurer, $1,800, and trustees, $25 per meeting.

Thirteen persons attended, including board members.

HURON

BROOKFIELD — Information about the budget was not available.

The biggest single expenditure will be for roads.

There was no change in salaries: Supervisor, $5,000; clerk and treasurer, $2,500 each, and trustees, $30 per meeting.

The annual report for the Owendale Fire Department was given. The department responded to 14 fires in the past year, of which four were assists to other departments.

About 12 persons plus board members attended the meeting, which was held last Thursday evening.

GRANT — The 1982-83 budget lists $46,070 in revenue, including the balance on hand from last year, and $41,200 in expenses.

There is $12,000 budgeted for road maintenance from the general fund, plus $4,000 in federal revenue sharing, including money left over in that fund from last year.

Salaries are: Supervisor, $3,500; clerk, $2,500; treasurer, $3,000, and trustees, $25 per meeting.

Ten persons attended, including board members.

Gunpowder, the first explosive known, was evidently discovered by the Chinese and first used to make firecrackers.

THE GREAT SPHINX — Carved almost 5,000 years ago in Egypt, an exhibit on the famed sculpture will be in Cass City April 7-23. The Great Pyramid is in the background.

Art exhibit scheduled in Cass City

The Great Sphinx, Egypt's mystery monument for almost 5,000 years, is coming to Cass City — albeit in miniature form.

The Detroit Institute of Arts traveling exhibitions program, in cooperation with the Regional Educational Media Center, Region 10, which serves schools in the upper Thumb, is bringing "The Changing Face of the Sphinx" exhibit to the area.

The exhibit will open at the REMC center, 4415 S. Seeger Street, Cass City, Wednesday, April 7, and continue through April 23.

Hours will be Monday through Friday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m., plus 7-9 p.m. April 8, 12, 13, 19 and 20. Call 872-4212 for group reservations. Admission is free.

The exhibition, including a scale model of the Sphinx, documents the monument with specially designed photo panels featuring 38 photographs of illustrations from books dating back to 1579.

Drawings, paintings, cartoons, newspaper and magazine coverage of the excavation during the past 200 years help answer questions about the mystery monument.

The show was organized by William H. Peck, curator of ancient art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, who explained, "Present opinion is that the lion-bodied and human-headed demon was made at the time of the building of the pyramids as a portrait of Chephren, a king of the Fourth Dynasty (270-2450 B.C.). The Sphinx also represents the Sun God, Horus, in his aspect as the Sun-on-the-Horizon."

The actual Sphinx is 65 feet high and 190 feet long and was carved from natural limestone.

As the exhibition suggests, the changes in the physical characteristics of the Sphinx have been accompanied by the changing attitudes about the monument through the centuries.

Exhibitions like the Sphinx are an effort by the Art Institute to present cultural events in communities outside the immediate metropolitan Detroit area. The exhibitions are state funded and are presented at no cost to the host communities.

Other places the exhibit will be appearing are Caro High School, April 26-30; Marlette Middle School, May 3-14; and Huron Learning Center, S. Thomas Road, Bad Axe, May 17-28.

Lisa Britt intermediate top speller

Lisa Britt is the Cass City Intermediate School spelling champion.

The sixth grade spelling champion won the title by spelling "parliament." Finishing second was the eighth grade champion, Yvette Hurd, who misspelled that word, and third, the seventh grade champion, Shannon McIntosh, who missed on "abolish."

Lisa, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Britt of Cass City will now compete in district competition and if she wins there, will go on to the state spelling bee May 10 at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield. The statewide competition is sponsored by LIT and the Detroit News.

The state winner will compete in the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., May 31-June 4.

Five students from the five sections of each grade at the intermediate school competed to determine the class champions, with the three grade winners then competing in a spell-off last Thursday.

Runners-up in each grade were Ted Particka, sixth; Mary Wilson, seventh, and Tammy Iseler, eighth.

SPELLING CHAMPIONS AT Cass City Intermediate School are, from left, Yvette Hurd, 8th grade and second overall; Lisa Britt, 6th grade and first overall, who holds her winning word, and Shannon McIntosh, 7th grade and third overall.

Letters to the editor

Vitamins can be dangerous

Dear Editor:

March was designated by the American Dietetic Association as Nutrition Month, the time to promote benefits of consuming a nutritious diet for both health and illness.

Recently I was privileged to hear a physician, attorney and nutritionist, Dr. Victor Herbert, at Michigan State University's Annual Nutrition Day held during Farmer's Week.

The most alarming issue that he addressed is actually a form of drug abuse. Victims of this abuse are persons who consume vitamins and health foods in excess of bodily needs or for the purpose of treating illness that needs professional medical treatment.

Dr. Herbert has represented families where a member has become permanently disabled because of damage to vital organs and others where death was the result of mega-doses of specific nutrients.

Unfortunately, our country's freedom of speech allows anyone to give misinformation about nutrition and its answers for nearly every human ill, without any documentation of scientific evidence from controlled studies.

Dr. Herbert repeated the point that vitamin-mineral supplementation is not advised unless a physician or a registered dietitian has recommended this after a thorough physical and dietary assessment.

The real danger lies in the mega-dosing (3-10 times the recommended dietary allowance) with specific nutrients as Vitamin A, Vitamin C, potassium, etc.

Dietitians and nutritionists join Dr. Herbert in warning the general public of products promising relief from pain, hope for recovery of an incurable illness, or "buy it because it's natural."

You may wish to read Dr. Herbert's short article in the April Good Housekeeping magazine. Dietitians would be happy to give you other resources which will show how nutrition nonsense (from unreliable sources) has captured America.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Johnson,
registered dietitian

Editor's note: Mrs. Johnson is the registered dietitian at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Her letter was shortened by the Chronicle.

New fuel

30 different plants available

Gas station attendants of the future may be asking automobile drivers whether they want to fill up with regular, unleaded or "leafy" varieties of fuel.

The "leafy" brand would come from certain kinds of plants and trees — the as-yet-untapped sources of petroleum-like substances described in Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine, the National Wildlife Federation's monthly publication for children.

Preliminary research, says Ranger Rick, suggests that at least 30 different plants could someday be farmed for hydrocarbons — the organic compounds found in crude oil but also manufactured by nature in certain plants.

One such source of "green gold" is the copaliba tree, found mostly in tropical forests. Its sap, almost the same composition as diesel fuel, can be taken directly from the tree and used to make diesel engines run.

One acre of these trees could provide 1,000 gallons of fuel a year, according to scientists who are working to grow copaliba trees outside of their native tropical rain forests so that their sap can be harvested more easily and efficiently.

The desert plant "gopherweed" may be another potential source of fuel, one that could produce up to 10 percent of America's needs.

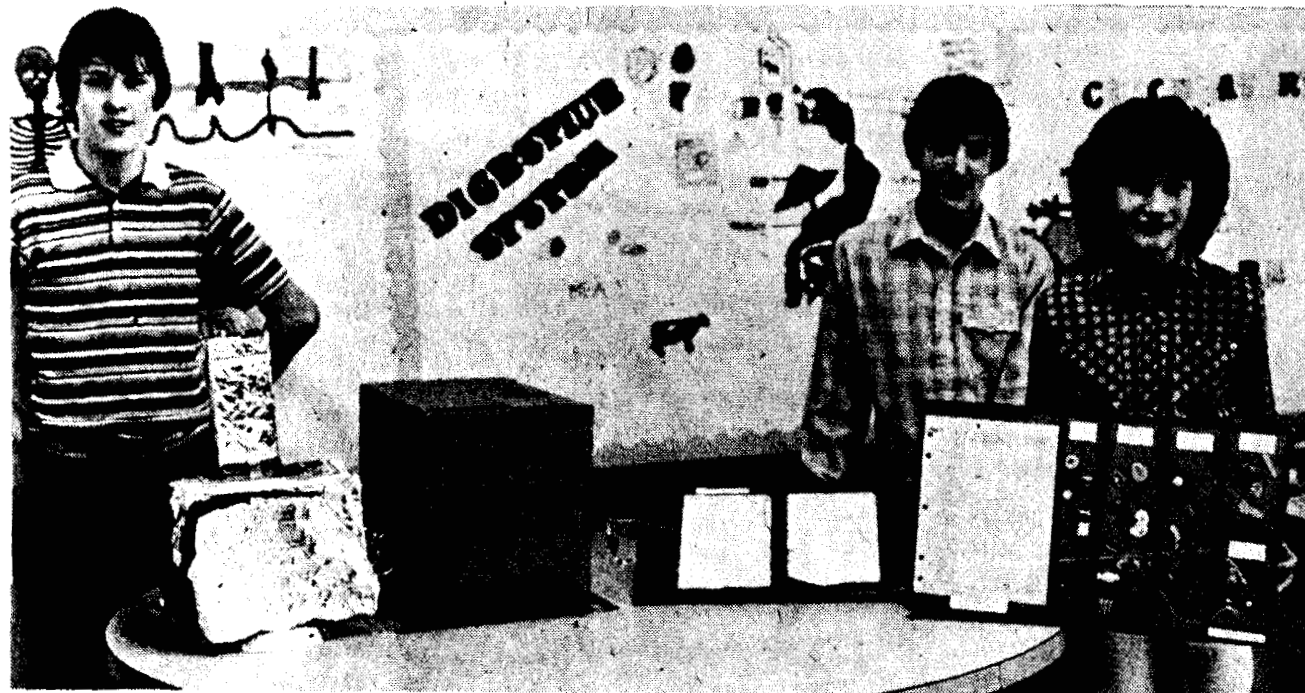

Indigenous to the southwestern part of the United States, gopherweed, mixed with certain chemicals, can produce several barrels of oil per acre. This plant's promise has prompted one Cleveland-based oil company to draw up plans for a pilot plant to process "gopheroil."

The milky sap that gives milkweed its name can also be processed into fuel, but like most of these plants, milkweed as a practical energy source may be years away. Scientists need to develop a productive, disease-free breed of the common plant before its use will be economical.

Among other plants that may someday be used to run engines is the sunflower, the big yellow blossom whose seeds are pressed into oil for cooking. With the addition of a little acid, sunflower oil burns better and pollutes less than the diesel oil in use today.

Plants will probably never fill all of the world's energy needs, Ranger Rick reminds his readers. But if these oily plants are developed and used wisely — avoiding soil erosion and water shortages — they may well take their place alongside oil rigs as producers of automobile horsepower.

the ambulance or their insurance companies, the less the township pays.

Cost of operating the cemetery is budgeted at $2,000, of which $1,300 is for labor.

Elected approved appropriation of $667 for Rawson Memorial Library, up from $384 last year (an increase from 35 cents per resident to 45 cents). Another $250 will be spent for the Cass City recreation program and park, a voluntary contribution in behalf of township residents who use those facilities.

OTHER MATTERS

Electeds authorized the board to sign an oil lease with Reef Petroleum of Traverse City, paying $25 for the first year for each of the almost 6 acres in the cemetery and $5 per acre for the next four years, a total of $270.

Should Reef discover oil on adjoining property, the lease is for the oil it would drain from beneath the cemetery. The lease forbids drilling in the cemetery or making any roads across it to reach drilling sites.

The financial statement presented for the 1981-82 fiscal year showed total new revenue of $58,732, and total expenditures of $56,274.

The largest single expenditure was $22,000 for roads, mostly for the Severance Road paving.

Cass City School Supt. Donald Crouse and school board member Ben Hobart spoke to the approximately 30 persons present about the two school millage proposals to be voted on April 30.

Farm valuations increases cut

Agricultural valuations in Sanilac County won't increase an average of 22.57 percent as first proposed by the State Tax Commission (STC).

Instead, they may increase 16.09 percent.

The percentage increase will affect December, 1982, property tax bills.

The latest round in determining what Sanilac farm property is worth took place last Wednesday before the county Board of Commissioners. Appearing before it were William Guile, STC Thumb area district supervisor, and Norman Daniels, STC field appraiser. Also present were 30 township officials.

According to Sanilac County Equalization Director Eugene Regentin, the STC officials have given verbal assurance they will accept his department's proposed valuations for residential property, up an average of 6.13 percent; commercial, up 2.44 percent, and industrial, down 2.32 percent.

The equalization department recommended a 9.27 increase in the value of agricultural property.

The STC, however, studied sales in Evergreen, Greenleaf and Austin Townships, and concluded the value of agricultural property countywide should be increased 22.57 percent.

Regentin argued those three townships weren't representative of Sanilac County as a whole and the STC officials agreed to study four more townships. They compared what property sold for with the assessments in Lamotte, Argyle, Moore and Custer Townships.

At the county board meeting last week, Guile explained the STC studies.

As a result of the new studies, the STC is now recommending an average 16.09 percent increase in agricultural valuations countywide.

Regentin explained to the Chronicle he disagrees with the STC's findings for various reasons. He feels the state officials did not select a good cross section of farm property to study. (The equalization department's study was conducted countywide, unlike the STC.)

The STC, he said, also sticks closer to the selling price in setting valuations than does his office.

As for what happens next, the county board must approve a final equalization report in April.

After that, the report goes to the STC, which if it disagrees with the county figures — and presumably agrees with its staff — can impose a factor (percentage increase) countywide to raise agricultural valuations to the higher figure. The STC will make its decision in May.

Programs net new jobs

He was hired for a six-month trial, for which he is receiving $6,000, plus free use of a village-owned house.

Marlette also had the services for a while for free of an MSU student intern from the same program Keller graduated from.

One of Keller's first jobs was to compile a list of empty industrial buildings in Marlette and their specifications and to prepare an information packet to send to companies in the Midwest and Canada, industrial real estate firms, Detroit Edison, Consumers Power and the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Like Brown City, the community is planning to advertise, including the wall Street Journal, and possibly national business magazines.

The key undertaking, however, is the application prepared by Marlette's consulting firm, Ron Nino and Associates of Grand Blanc, for federal funds to purchase a 50-acre industrial park site, on which the village has an option.

Being requested are $1 million in federal Urban Development Action Grant funds and $750,000 in federal Small Cities Block Grant funds.

If the applications are rejected, Keller said, that

Taking Stock

Here's what a real pro in the investment business is going to do with the money he and his spouse stash away under the new rules for individual retirement accounts (IRA).

Call him Jack — because that's his name. He's a senior partner in a big New York Exchange firm.

No money market funds for this fellow, no bank certificates of deposit, no mutual funds, no so-called "growth stocks," no single-premium insurance policies — you name it, none of the enticing and beguiling deals for the $4,000 he plans to put into the tax-sheltered IRA account.

Jack has his own spot for his funds. He'll do it through a bank to be sure it qualifies as a conduit for his IRA investment.

The money will go into zero-coupon taxable bonds.

Of course, under IRA rules he will have no tax to pay while his money is growing at a furious rate toward the maturity date of the bonds.

Then he will be taxed on such part as he wants to withdraw at regular income rates. He can start taking money out without penalty at age 59½, but he must begin withdrawing it by age 70½. He then has until 74½ to get it out completely.

Jack points out that with interest rates as high as they are, in most investment plans he would have trouble reinvesting the income at these top rates. Another problem is reinvesting the rather small income in bonds.

Most bonds now come in denominations of $5,000. You can't buy half a bond. So what does the zero-coupon bond idea of his do for him?

1) Since the bonds pay no interest, but instead pay you off at maturity, they sell at great discounts. So he's looking around for some zero-coupons in 10 years paying a 15 percent yield to maturity.

On this basis, bonds due April 1, 1992, will sell at 24.66 cents on the dollar. With his $4,000 he'll buy $15,000 par value of such bonds. It will cost him $3,700. The other $300 he'll leave with the bank.

2) His $3,700 on maturity date, April 1, 1992, will be worth $15,000. The difference has been interest earned at 15 percent, compounded twice a year.

3) He has had no problem in reinvesting. That part is taken care of automatically as far as he is concerned. The 15 percent is figured into the discount price.

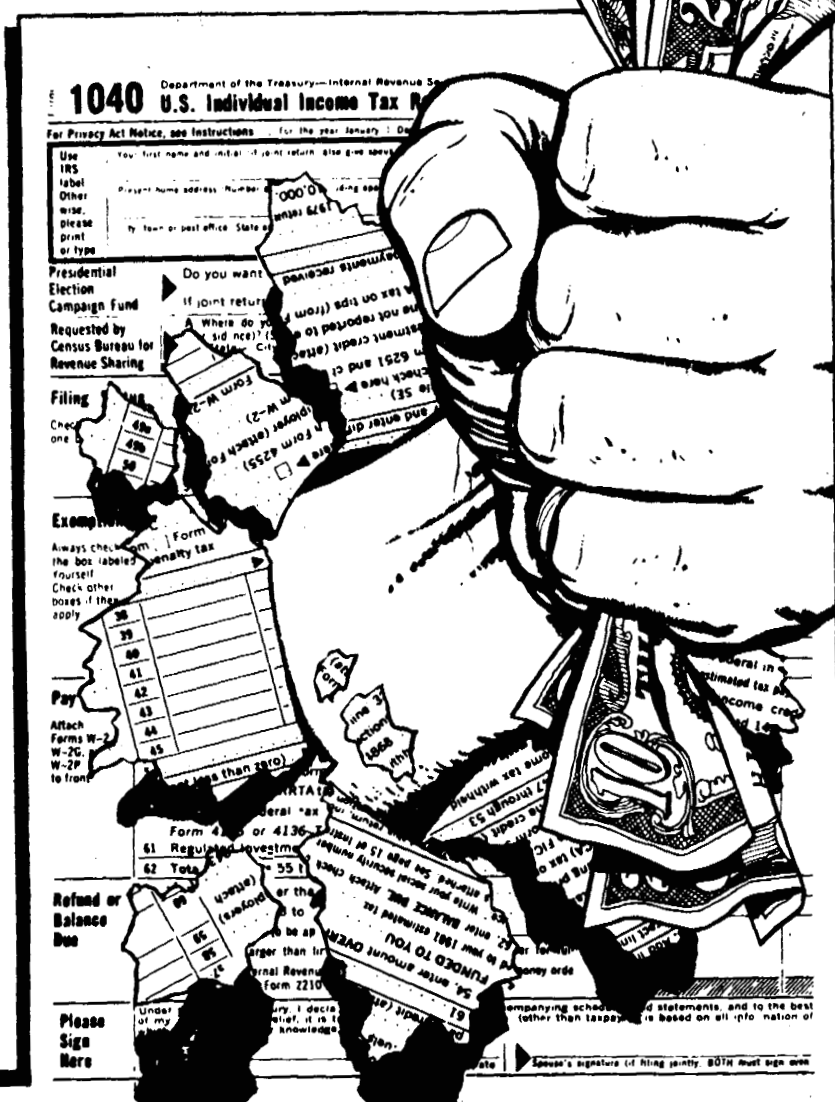

4) He has saved the income tax in 1982 which would have been due on the $4,000 he put into the plan. In his case it was 50 percent. So he has the use of $2,000 for the next 10 years. Otherwise it would have gone to Uncle Sam — and you know it wouldn't last him long.

5) He'll put the $2,000 he saved into some deep-discount tax-exempt bonds, selling to yield 13 percent in 10 years. This little ploy will result in his having $6,789 in 1992 if you figure $2,000 compounded for 10 years at 1 percent.

The plan is pretty good if Jack has retired by 1992 and doesn't have to pay tax at his present rate of 50 percent when he withdraws the $15,000 in the maturing zero-coupon bonds. In such a case, he'd have to fork over $7,500 in tax.
