

MACHINES ANYONE? -- Counting all the school millage ballots by hand can become tedious. Polls closed at 8 p.m. The election workers were done counting before midnight.

Board must decide on drastic budget cuts or 2nd millage try

The Cass City School Board when it meets Monday will have to decide a course of action following the defeat last Friday of the requested additional millage.

The request for 5.5 added mills for one year, which would have raised an estimated $524,000, was defeated 1,218-914.

Renewal of 12.9 mills was approved, 1,463-669. Four ballots were spoiled on both ballot questions.

The 2,136 persons who voted were the most who ever cast ballots in a Cass City School District election. They represented 53.4 percent of the approximately 4,000 registered voters in the district.

The choices facing the board at its regular monthly meeting Monday at the high school, according to Supt. Donald Crouse, are to make more than $500,000 in budget cuts from the 1982-83 school year -- the amount the 5.5 mills would have raised -- or schedule another millage vote as part of the June 14 school board election.

The board has three choices if they choose the latter route: Ask for the 5.5 mills again, make some cuts in the 1982-83 school program and ask for a reduced amount of millage to pay for what remains, or give voters a choice -- such as so much millage if they want to retain school busing, so much to retain all present instructional programs and so much for sports and other extracurricular activities.

To retain school busing, for instance, would mean taxpayers would have to approve a levy of about 3 mills, since transporting students costs the district about $300,000 a year (plus an additional $100,000 in state aid).

The board meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Crouse said he wasn't surprised that the additional millage was defeated. "I really did not anticipate the extra millage would pass because of the economic situation."

The superintendent made numerous appearances to explain the millage and the indication he received in talking to persons he explained, was that the added millage would be defeated.

People were very receptive to the message he delivered and understood the need for the millage, he explained, "but their own personal financial situation was they could not afford it."

He did find some consolation in the overwhelming approval of the renewal, noting that in some Michigan school districts, even renewals have been defeated. "Our people voted in a very supportive manner for the renewal," Crouse commented.

Gagetown oks bonds for sanitary sewer project

The Gagetown Village Council voted 5-1 Monday evening to authorize sale of $355,000 in revenue bonds to pay for the local portion of financing for construction of a sanitary sewer system.

Total cost of the project could top $1.9 million. Construction won't start until spring of next year.

Gagetown has been under orders from the state since 1968 to eventually eliminate discharge by septic tank systems of raw or semi-treated sewage into storm sewers and ditches.

The village is receiving a $1,177,000 grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which will pay 75 percent of the eligible cost of the project. The state will contribute another 5 percent, $78,467.

That means local village residents have to pay the 20 percent remaining share, plus some costs that aren't covered by the federal and state grants, thus bringing the local share to $700,000.

Of that amount, the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) is giving the village $345,000 and is loaning it $355,000 by buying the revenue bonds, to be repaid over 40 years at an interest rate not to exceed 11.375 percent.

THE LOAN WILL BE REPAID by the hookup fee building owners will pay to connect their structures to the sewer lines once they are installed and by the monthly or quarterly user fees.

Because the bonds will be repaid by fees paid by the users, not through taxes, the law does not require a public vote of approval before they can be issued.

However, an election must be held if a petition signed by at least 10 percent of the electors is submitted to the village clerk within 45 days of the publication of the legal notice of the intention to issue the bonds. The legal notice appears elsewhere in this issue of the Chronicle.

Having to pay the hookup and user fees will be an extreme hardship for some village residents, Village President William Downing said, "but we have no choice in the matter."

HOW MUCH RESIDENTS will pay, depends in a large part on how much the contractor who is awarded the construction bid charges.

Downing said the village council will conduct a town meeting in the near future at which property owners will be given an idea how much the sanitary sewer system will cost them.

Edmunds Engineering of Bay City is preparing the final plans and bid documents. Advertising for bids will probably take place in August or September, Downing said, with the construction bid to be awarded in October.

Since winter will soon be on its way by then, construction won't start until spring 1983.

It is expected it will take at least a year for the project to be completed, including fixing of streets and lawns.

From the buildings, sewage will flow through the sewers to two treatment lagoons. After the pollutants have settled out, the wastewater will be discharged each spring into the Bearss Drain, according to a 1980 EPA description of the proposed project.

"IT'S GOING TO HURT everybody," Downing said of the cost of the project, "but we'll never get another opportunity like this."

Had the council not decided a couple of months ago to accept the FHA grant, the money would have gone to someone else.

The Reagan Administration is talking about reducing the EPA share for such projects to 50 or 60 percent, instead of the present 75, and the state is eliminating its 5 percent share of the funding.

Thus had the council delayed action, he said, the state could have some day ordered the sewer system to be installed anyway, which would have cost village residents a lot more. "We'll never get it this cheap again."

Gagetown may also gain if the slump in the building business continues, which makes contractors anxious to bid low in order to be awarded the contract.

When Unionville awarded a contract not too long ago for construction of its sanitary sewer system, Downing said, the successful low bid was $700,000 less than had been estimated.

Voting for the resolution to issue the revenue bonds were council members Charles Wright, Fred Sullivan, Richard Carroll, Leroy Stapleton, and David Abbe. Opposed was Thomas Reehl.

Dr. Ballard dies Friday at age 65

Dr. James H. Ballard, MD, who served the medical needs of the Cass City community for 35 years, died Friday at James Archer Smith Hospital in Homestead, Fla., after a short illness.

He was 65 and had retired from medical practice May 30 of last year.

He was born Jan. 19, 1917, in Berwyn, Ill., the son of Harold L. Ballard of Bradenton, Fla., and the late Aline (Morley Smith) Ballard. He married Dorothy Luthi June 8, 1941, in Lakewood, Ohio. They lived in Ann Arbor and Bethlehem, Penn., before coming to Cass City.

Ballard graduated from the University of Michigan College of Medicine in 1943. Following his internship, he served as a doctor in the Army in Europe during World War II.

He and his wife came to Cass City in 1946, where he opened his practice at Cass City Hospital. When it was closed in the early 1960s when Hills and Dales General Hospital opened, Ballard moved his clinic to a building on Weaver Street, where he stayed until he retired. He was a past chief of staff at Hills and Dales.

During his 35 years of practice here, he estimated he delivered about 2,400 babies. His office assistant estimated it was more like 3,000.

Some of his patients had gone to him all 35 years.

He and his wife lived on Huron Street and had spent the winter in Florida.

Ballard is survived by his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Ralph (Dorothy) Bahna, Stamford, Conn., Mrs. James (Catherine) Sharl, Clarkston, Mrs. Daniel (Jane) Lyons, Homestead, Fla., and Mrs. Daniel (Barbara) Montgomery, Ann Arbor; three sons, James and John, both of Chicago, and Steven, East Lansing, and 10 grandchildren.

He is also survived by his father and stepmother and one sister, Mrs. A. Eugene Frank of Princeton, N.J.

One of Ballard's great loves was sailing his 41-foot sailboat, Naiad, in races and with his family. A member of the Saginaw Bay Yacht Racing Association, he was its season champion in 1978 and 1979.

He was also a member of the Cass City First Presbyterian Church, University of Michigan Alumni Association, American Medical Association and was a past president of the Gavel Club.

He was taken from Little's Funeral Home at 11 a.m. Tuesday to lie in state at the First Presbyterian Church until the 1 p.m. funeral service. Rev. Harry Capps performed the service.

Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser of Trinity United Methodist Church read from the Scriptures.

Burial was in Elkland Township Cemetery.

Memorials may be given to the Cass City Gavel Club.

Wickes owes $2 billion to creditors

Wickes Agriculture, which has been making money, is included in its parent company's filing in federal bankruptcy court for protection from creditors.

Wickes Companies, Inc., in filing the Chapter 11 petition April 24 in Los Angeles, said it owed $2 billion to a list of creditors that filled thousands of pages of computer printouts.

Chapter 11 allows a company to continue operating under existing management with court protection from creditors while it tries to work out a plan to pay its debts.

The filing came less than four weeks after a shakeup of top management at the San Diego, Calif., based firm, which included bringing in corporation rescue specialist Sanford C. Sigoloff as the new chairman and chief executive officer.

One casualty of the management change was the proposed sale by Wickes of its agriculture division to the Pillsbury Co. of Minneapolis, Minn.

One incentive for the sale of the profit making division had been the need for Wickes to raise cash to improve its immediate financial condition.

While negotiations were continuing, Pillsbury applied to the Cass City Economic Development Corp. to issue $800,000 in tax exempt bonds to finance the purchase of the local elevator. (Pillsbury would have paid the principal and interest.) The application is now dead.

Wickes Agriculture has more than 50 elevators, terminals, processing and packaging plants in several states. It had sales of $236 million during its last fiscal year, out of total Wickes sales of $4 billion.

In announcing in mid-April the breakoff of talks with Pillsbury, Wickes gave no explanation except that Sigoloff was reviewing all Wickes operations.

At that time, the firm also announced it was cancelling sale of two-thirds interest in a supermarket chain and a drug store chain that it owned in an Ohio firm.

Requests for more information locally and at the Wickes Saginaw office concerning the effect of Chapter 11 on Wickes Agriculture were referred to San Diego corporate headquarters. The designated corporate spokesman was not available when the Chronicle telephoned there and he did not return the call.

Wickes, which had its start in Saginaw, is one of the nation's largest merchandisers of lumber, building material and furniture and is also involved in numerous other retailing and manufacturing operations in this country and abroad. Not all of its divisions are included in the Chapter 11 petition.

Reasons for its downfall include the recession in the housing industry and high interest rates on the money it borrowed to finance ac-

Some farmers sell, but others expand

By Mike Eliasohn

Warm weather at last has allowed farmers to proceed full speed in planting of their spring crops.

Enough has been planted that, at least as of the beginning of this week, most farmers were in need of a good rain to get their seed growing and herbicides working. (Rain wasn't predicted until Wednesday at the earliest.)

The start of the planting season marks the end of the farm auction season, though a few such sales may remain.

There have been at least a few more sales than normal, two local auctioneers, Lorn Hillaker and Ira Osenoski of Osenoski Auction Service, agree.

Some farmers are selling for economic reasons, others are retiring and some choose to go into some other type of business.

Of those getting out of farming for economic reasons, Hillaker feels, few do so because they need the money to pay pressing debts, rather they do so because they don't want to continue losing money and go into debt they can't easily get out of.

Both auctioneers noted that sales of equipment have been good. Osenoski said this has been a "terrific year."

Although money is tight, the auctions have presented an opportunity for farmers to buy better equipment than what they have for less at a savings "because everything new is so expensive."

The sale of land has also gone well. "There's a market for everything," Osenoski commented.

There are a lot of variables in the price land sells for, fertility, if tiled, location, whether buildings are on it, etc. The two auctioneers have sold land in the Cass City area for $750 an acre up to $2,100.

Hillaker said persons buying land have generally been neighbors.

Not only is there not a problem selling land, there apparently isn't a problem in renting it for persons who sell their equipment, but keep their land. "People are waiting in line to rent it," he commented.

WHY FARM MORE land when it's possible to lose money on one's present acreage?

That's not the idea, of course, and Tuscola County Extension Director Bill Bortel offered a couple of reasons why some farmers are expanding their acreage this year.

One is that there are some big farmers who don't have big debts, so they can afford to expand.

The other is that some have the equipment and manpower to farm some additional acreage without any additional expenses beyond the cost of buying or renting the land.

That wouldn't make economic sense for a farmer if he needs to buy another tractor in order to farm more ground.

Bortel termed the average economic situation for farmers in the area, as "serious but not critical."

Overall, farmers here are in better shape than in the southern part of the state because of the Mexican bean contract in 1980 and '81 which made a significant contribution to many farmers' income.

"If It Fitz..."

A puckish purchaser?

By Jim Fitzgerald

J.P. McCarthy, who regularly reports sports on his WJR radio show, is part of a group trying to buy the Detroit Red Wings hockey team. This revives a conflict-of-interest question first discussed here two years ago when a sports writer sang our national anthem from the pitcher's mound before a Detroit Tiger game.

Also, the location of McCarthy's home prompts me to speculate that the Red Wings may someday skate the same way Burt Lancaster swam in the 1968 movie "The Swimmer."

The singing sports writer was Barry Smades of the Oakland Press. Some people saw a conflict of interest. Would Smades write nice things about the Tigers because they allowed him to sing in their infield?

For me, the answer was no. All of my working life, some of my best friends have been sports writers, and I never knew one who didn't have too much pride to be bought for a song.

Now the same conflict question must be asked about J.P. McCarthy who is most often described as a "radio personality." That means he is more than just a disc jockey or a sports announcer or a talk show host or a hired voice for commercials. He is all of those things and they add up to a radio personality. If you worked on an auto assembly line and installed the headlights, fenders and doors all in the same swooping motion, you would be a factory personality.

Would sports announcer McCarthy say nice things about the Red Wings simply because they allowed him to own them? After a 22-game losing streak, would he make the Red Wings his infamous "loser of the day" even though such a disparaging designation would cause people to stay away from Wings games and cost McCarthy money?

That question was discussed in my favorite saloon the other evening. The consensus was that it wouldn't make any difference if McCarthy owned the Red Wings because he never says anything except nice things about any local sports team, no matter who owns it.

"McCarthy never embarrasses athletes or club management by asking hard questions or making nasty cracks like Al Ackerman does," one saloon expert said. "If Ackerman bought the Detroit Lions and said nice things about Russ Thomas, everyone would know Al traded his integrity for a private box with a wet bar in the Superdome. But if McCarthy owned the Red Wings and reported their 22-game losing streak only proved that even great teams can't win 'em all, his listeners wouldn't suspect he was selling hockey tickets. They'd think it was just the usual warm kiss from the town's favorite Pollyanna."

I'll go along with that. But there are limits to what the public will accept from even its biggest media heroes, and I do think it would be wise for McCarthy to promise he won't stand at center ice and sing the national anthem before all home games.

As for the Red Wings skating like "The Swimmer," the possibility was inadvertently raised by Sonny Van Arnum, who is also trying to buy the Wings. He is not a member of the McCarthy group but, he told a reporter, he lives on the same Bloomfield Hills street as McCarthy. Two other men who live on that street have also shown interest in buying the Wings.

Most Bloomfield Hills homes have swimming pools. In "The Swimmer," Burt Lancaster tried to recapture the lost success of his youth by proving he could swim several miles across his plush subdivision by using his neighbors' pools. The Red Wings also were more successful when they were younger. Swimming pools freeze over during the hockey season. Got it?

If McCarthy and the three other would-be hockey entrepreneurs got together, they could move Red Wing home games into their backyards. During portages between hockey pools, the Wing coach — probably Hal Youngblood — could carry the puck in his pocket.

Some people might say there is a conflict of interest in allowing the home coach to control the puck during portages. Those people should be reminded how long it's been since the Wings controlled the puck, and told to shut up.

You can have the coolest car around if you remember to clean the radiator and drain and flush the entire cooling system seasonally.

DOCTOR REMEMBERED — Madelyn Skaggs, Hills and Dales General Hospital director of nurses, hangs a portrait of Dr. Kenneth Ivan MacRae, DO, who died last November. Dr. Lah and family now U.S. citizens

Cass City has three new citizens, Dr. David D. Lah, MD, his wife, Nancy Y. Lah, and their son Benjamin, 6. The doctor and his wife became United States citizens April 27 when they took the oath of allegiance in Bay City. By virtue of their becoming citizens, their son also became a citizen.

The Lahs and their son were born in Korea. Their daughter, Carol, 1½, was born in this country so became a citizen as soon as she was born.

When they became citizens, the Lahs legalized their new first names. It had been Do Sup and Young Hee Lah.

The pediatrician and general practitioner explained he and his wife adopted their new first names because they are easier to pronounce for their fellow Americans.

The Lahs had their citizenship application reviewed and took their citizenship tests in Bay City Feb. 24.

They came to the United States 5½ years ago. A minimum of five years' residency is required to become citizens.

Dr. Lah received his medical training at Seoul National University, graduating in 1973, then served in the Korean Army before coming to the United States.

He completed his three-year residency in pediatrics at the Lincoln Medical Center in New York before coming to Cass City with his family last June. His office is at 4672 Hill Street.

Mrs. Lah is a pianist with a music degree from Seoul National University.

The Haire Net

Sometimes I feel that I was born lucky. Lucky I landed at a paper that serves a town that kept growing instead of one that died at the vine, unable to keep up with change.

Lucky that three kids were all born healthy and remained that way.

Lucky that they were able to go through the first 12 grades of school life with only a minimum amount of hassle and with a complete, well rounded education.

Given today's economic conditions it doesn't appear that students next year will be as lucky. That's tough on them and their parents.

What could be worse is that the crisis in our schools will leave open wounds that will not heal.

Since the millage was defeated I've heard at least three proposals of what should happen next.

One is to take the money available and cut the curriculum and transportation.

Another was to present to the voters a series of ballots, for transportation, for athletics, for extra-curricular activities, etc.

A third was to ask for a reduced number of mills without specifying what the money was to be used for.

Besides these "solutions" there is the inevitable suggestion of reducing teachers' salaries and cutting administration more than it has been cut.

Today these solutions aren't viable simply because the teachers' union won't consider them and the administration salaries have already been frozen.

If you expect the right solution to come from this corner, stop reading. We don't have the "right" answers and we don't believe anyone else has either, simply because there really isn't one.

The truth is that no matter what we do, chances are none will be entirely satisfied.

What we can do is accept it and go on from there.

If your boy misses football this fall or doesn't get to play in the band or you have to drive him to school every morning try not to be bitter and lash out at school authorities for something that they are powerless to prevent.

It's likely that students in school will never recoup their loss in 1982-83 and that's tragic, especially for the students.

What we should do now is pull together to see that what they have lost now will not stretch on and on year after year.

Our kids are much too important for that.

It's a case of only the mother would know for sure. When one of the Stine twins brought in pictures of himself and his twin he wrote the wrong names on the back of the photos.

Need I tell you that the Chronicle dutifully printed the wrong names under the pictures? And need I tell you that the only one to call our attention to the misidentification was Mrs. Elizabeth Stine, the mother?

Of course I don't.

After July 1 be warned that calling the phone company to get the bugs out of the phone could be expensive.

Lester K. Moench Jr., division manager, Gen-Tel, says at that time a gradual transition from the present leasing system where the company fixes the phone with no charge to a completely pay for what you get policy will start.

That goes whether you buy equipment from General Telephone or an independent producer.

The consensus was that Phil Retherford paid too much through his agent, Fred Auten, for the auto given away by the Lions Monday night.

But there are two ways of looking at the deal. Retherford was one of the last three from the 110 with tickets left. One chance in three of winning the car outright. When your name is drawn you lose. He paid $1,700 to each of the other two left in the drawing, making the payment, including his share, $5,100.

That's retail for the car. On the face of it not the best of all deals.

But it looked a whole lot better after the drawing was concluded and it was learned that the name next to be drawn would have been Retherford's.

The sinking of the Argentine cruiser General Belgrano by a British submarine Sunday in the war over the Falkland Islands revived some memories for Stanley Kirn.

The ship was called the Phoenix until it was sold to Argentina in 1951. Kirn never sailed on it, but did serve on its sister ship, the Nashville.

The two ships, along with three other cruisers, sailed the southwest Pacific together in 1944, when the now retired mailman was on board.

Bus safety road set

The Ugly schools Saturday will host a school bus safety "roadset" for 25-30 bus drivers from school districts in Huron, Sanilac, St. Clair and Lapeer Counties.

The event, one of 15 regional roadsets, is sponsored by the Michigan Association for Pupil Transportation and the Automobile Club of Michigan's safety and engineering division.

The competing drivers will take a written examination and be tested on a pre-trip inspection and in driving the obstacle course.

First, second and third place winners will compete in the state contest in June, along with the other regional winners, with the state champion eligible to compete in the national roadset.

The defending regional champion, who went on to win the state title and compete in the national event, is Ugly Driver Leonard J. Schumacher. Gerry Booms, the Ugly director of transportation, is the roadset chairman.

The public is invited to watch the event, which will start at 9 and end about noon.

Pedaling Around Strange sneakers

By Mike Eliasohn

I think I was in the sixth grade when I was given a pair of pants with a buckle in the back.

The buckle and belt, a few inches long, served no useful purpose unless one considers decoration a useful purpose. It was located, lest you wonder, below the loops for the regular belt, which did serve a useful purpose.

I hated those pants. One reason was because I was the first in my elementary school to wear them. (My mother, who bought them for me, always wanted me to be a trend setter.) It was embarrassing to be continually asked, "What's that buckle for?"

By the time I got to junior high, grades 7-9, pants with a buckle in the back were in. Then I had another problem.

Some clods had decided that wearing pants with the buckle in the back unbuckled meant the wearer was going steady. In my case, it meant I didn't know my belt was unbuckled. I also disliked those pants because, even back then I suppose, I liked things practical.

I guess it's part of my philosophy that the simpler something is, the less likely it is that something will go wrong.

There is something to be said, however, for not being completely like the rest of the crowd, though I think ere are limits.

Be slightly dissimilar and you are eccentric. If you are VERY dissimilar, you are STRANGE.

I think it was my senior year at Eastern Michigan University, 1966-67, that there was a fellow living in my dorm who was definitely strange.

A couple of years later and would have looked normal, but at that time, he wasn't. He had long stringy blond hair and weird

Walbro sales down, recovery forecast

While current economic conditions are adversely affecting short-term profits, Walbro Corp. management told stockholders at the company's annual meeting in Cass City April 26 that they see a strong future for the company.

Walbro's sales for 1981 were $43,121,000, down slightly from $43,316,000 in 1980. Walter E. Walpole, chairman and chief executive officer, told stockholders. He noted that earnings dropped sharply, to $239,000 from the 1980 level of $1,001,000. On a per-share basis, 1981 earnings were 31 cents, compared to $1.28 for 1980.

Walbro President and Chief Operating Officer Lambert E. Althaver attributed the drop in earnings to strong worldwide competition in the high volume carburetor market, continued high interest rates and a general downturn in worldwide economic conditions.

Althaver noted that despite current economic conditions, the company is continuing to invest in personnel, equipment and research and development projects aimed at developing new products for the future.

"We are confident that our ongoing efforts to improve operating efficiency, coupled with intensive new product development programs, will allow Walbro to not only meet today's many challenges, but to be stronger in the coming years as a result," Althaver said.

In discussions of specific operations, Walbro management noted several bright spots in the company's activities.

Walbro's Automotive Products Group shipped a record volume of fuel pumps in 1981. Its new rotary fuel pump is now in production for the automotive original equipment market and will soon be introduced as an aftermarket replacement product.

Sales by Walbro's Carburetor Group, which produces carburetors for chain saws and other power equipment, have been at low levels due to low activity in lumber-related industries. The share of the market has been maintained, however, and the group has recently acquired new automotive and small engine business which promises excellent growth potential.

Operating inefficiencies due to rapid expansion of the company's Diecast facility in 1981 are being corrected, according to management.

Walbro's Plastics Group is completing a shift in production emphasis to small engineered plastics parts which is expected to open up new markets for that facility as well.

Stockholders elected two directors to a three-year term on Walbro's Board. Elected were: Herbert M. Kennedy, chairman of the Business Economics Department, Principia College, and Robert D. Tuttle, president, Sealed Power Corp.

Hospital Week activities set next week

Hills and Dales General Hospital joins over 6,400 hospitals around the country in celebrating National Hospital Week, May 9-15.

The theme this year is "You've Got a Friend in the Hospital."

The idea behind the theme is that hospitals are not just places to go when persons are ill. There are many services available to help keep them well.

In keeping with this theme, Hills and Dales has instituted a permanent new policy on taking blood pressures. Anyone may come into the ambulatory care center at any time and have their blood pressure taken free of charge.

Millions of Americans unknowingly harbor high blood pressure because it usually has no symptoms. Left untreated, high blood pressure may lead to a stroke, heart attack, heart failure or kidney failure.

Hills and Dales also has speakers available to talk on various topics. If in need of a speaker, call Ken Jensen, hospital administrator.

Other activities planned for Hospital Week include an honors dinner for the hospital auxiliary and tours of the hospital by first grade students from Campbell, Deford and Evergreen Elementary Schools.

Hospital representatives will be at Coach Light Pharmacy and Old Wood Drugs to take blood pressure readings from 2-4 p.m. Monday and Tuesday for free.

Novesta turns down tax boost

Novesta Township residents won't have to pay anything more in township taxes on their December, 1982, tax bills.

In accordance with the new state "truth in taxation" law, the township board voted Monday evening to base their tax rate on the 1981 valuation, which means Novesta won't gain revenue from the 1982 increases in valuation.

The action will cost the township about $1,500 in revenue, which means taxpayers will save that much. The township tax rate should be about 1.58 mills, according to Supervisor Bill O'Dell.

In other action, the board gave its okay to granting of an adult foster care license for a home owned by Basil Conquest in Deford for three adults.

Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreements received the board's okay for two parcels owned by Richard Donahue, 97 acres in section 6 and 87 in section 5, and 40 acres owned by Jan and Helen Wojcik in section 34.

The board decided to seek bids from certified public accounting firms to perform the next township audit. Someone will be hired to remove chunks of concrete and other debris piled up at the cemetery.

Payment of $7,738 owed to the Road Commission, the final payment was approved.

The board decided to spend no more than $150 to buy a flag pole and flag for the cemetery.

Township board meetings will now start at 7:30 p.m. on the first Monday of every month. Starting time had been 8 p.m. when Eastern Daylight Time was in effect and 7 p.m. the rest of the year.

AROUND THE FARM

Termite termination

By Don Kebler

Recently, I identified termites inhabiting the Human Development Building on Montague Street. This agency's office building used to be one of the Forbes Lumber Yard buildings before remodeling occurred.

Fourteen years ago I publicized a similar finding on Grant Street and two weeks later I was told of another dwelling with termites. The other day, I heard via the grapevine, termites were located on Lincoln Street. All these places are located in Caro and quite spread around.

After these experiences, I now question how many more houses and buildings in Caro are infested with termites.

If I were thinking about buying a building or house in Caro I certainly would require the owner to provide me a certificate of proof that the house had been examined by a reliable inspector and found termite free.

No one knows their structure has termites unless it is inspected, they see swarming queens, or parts of the woodwork, floor, etc. break away and termites are seen.

If you should see a structure nearby that is being treated for termites, or if you are building a new structure or adding on to an existing one, you may want to consider including these construction ideas:

Place a shield of aluminum or copper flashing on top of the foundation walls. Overlap the seams at least one foot. The width of this strip should be at least eight inches wider than the foundation wall width. This will allow you to bend down four inches of shield on each side of the wall. Place your sill plate on top of the shield.

I did this and also placed an inch strip of fiberglass sill seal between the termite shield and the sill plate.

Don't use wood posts or hollow steel columns to support your beams unless they have steel plates at both ends and the columns are resting on a raised concrete base.

Remove all wood around the excavations before backfilling. Queen termites start columns in these underground wood supplies.

Look for hard mud tubes or tunnels running from the ground surface up the foundation walls, and along the top of the wall.

Allergies plague 31 million in U.S.
By Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
American Medical Association

The word allergy is only 60 years old, but the conditions it describes are as old as mankind.

An allergy is a sensitivity some people develop to substances ordinarily harmless to other people. The offending substances are known as allergens. They do their damage when inhaled, swallowed, touched or injected.

It is estimated that more than 31 million people in the United States suffer from some form of allergic illness.

Most common are skin rashes, hay fever, stuffy nose, asthma, hives and digestive disturbances.

Victims of respiratory food and skin allergies often are prevented from leading normal lives.

As medical drugs become more potent in curing disease, they also are more likely to cause allergic reactions in some individuals.

Insect stings, especially by bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets, can be fatal to those who are allergic.

Allergens range through a wide spectrum of materials: pollens from weeds, grasses, trees and plants; dusts in the home and in industry; mold spores; animal skin or hair; feathers; cosmetics; hair lotions, insecticide sprays; kapok; chemicals; tobacco.

Many foods may be involved, including lobster, crab and other shellfish and fish; meats; fowl; chocolate; nuts; spices; eggs; milk; grains; some fruits and vegetables.

Some persons are allergic to substances touching the skin, such as plastics; some metals; rubber; fabrics; dyes; resins; drugs; foliage of certain plants, such as poison ivy.

Antibiotics, life-savers in halting infections, also can cause reactions in some sensitive individuals. Some persons are allergic to common medications such as aspirin; laxatives; sedatives; sleeping pills; tranquilizers.

The doctor's help often is needed in finding the offending substance, which should be avoided when possible. If it cannot be avoided, such as pollen in the air, the person must learn to live within its limitations.

Certain measures relieve symptoms but do not cure the allergy. Antihistamines provide relief from mild allergies. Other drugs also are used. Epinephrine has been widely used in treating asthma for more than 50 years.

The allergy victim who follows his physician's advice often can expect favorable results, the American Medical Association points out.

Medical treatment is supplemented by an understanding of his own case, awareness of sensitivities, and alertness to ways of avoiding offending substances.

About half the population of America over the age of three wears glasses.

Your Neighbor says Don't eliminate school busing

Alicia Hoppe was somewhat surprised when she learned the 5.5 additional miles for the Cass City schools was defeated Friday.

"The rumor was, we thought it was going to go through."

Her children are now apprehensive the defeat of the added millage will mean going to school half-days or no more bus transportation.

"They don't want to go to half-day sessions."

As for Mrs. Hoppe, her big concern is that busing will end, which will be a big hardship for her.

She and her husband, Melvin, have 12 children, of whom the oldest eight attend school in Cass City.

Their children are Emily, 13, Michael, 12, Kevin, 11, Brian, 10, Hazel, 9, Nadine, 8, Matthew, 7, Mary, 6, Janice, 4 1/2, Timothy 3, Arlene, 2, and John Paul, 4 months.

As for the possibility of having to drive her children to school each day, Mrs. Hoppe commented, "Can you imagine how much it would cost me with eight kids in school?"

As for what spending cuts should be made, she suggested some classes and

Co-op represented in Washington

Thirty-one representatives of Michigan rural electric cooperatives were in Washington, D.C., Monday and Tuesday, to meet with senators and congressmen about issues affecting co-ops and the rural economy.

Representing Thumb Electric Cooperative were its manager, Michael Krause, and board member Leon Smith of Carsonville.

They were among hundreds of rural electric people from around the country participating in the annual legislative conference sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

MECA General Manager Raymond G. Kuhl said the conference was perhaps the "most crucial" since it was started in the 1960s.

"Substantial cutbacks in REA financing proposed by the Reagan Administration and recent administrative actions within the Rural Electrification Administration seriously threaten the rural electric program and would deal further blows to an already staggering rural economy," he said.

Rural electric co-ops, citing 12 to 30 percent higher electric rates for rural residents than for customers of investor-owned utilities, are asking Congress to retain an $850 million floor and $1.1 billion ceiling on loans insured by REA for the 1983 fiscal year, the same levels set for 1982.

The administration has proposed a cut to $625 million for insured loans, which are made from a revolving fund requiring no budget outlay.

The co-ops are also asking for a $4.6 billion floor and $5.7 billion ceiling for REA's guaranteed loan program, which enables power supply co-ops to borrow funds from the private money market.

The administration has proposed $3.6 billion for guaranteed loans. Congress approved a range of $5.1 billion to $6.5 billion for the current fiscal year.

Free cheese distribution set May 12

The Human Development Commission (HDC) will conduct a surplus cheese distribution Wednesday, May 12, in the merchant's building at the Caro fairgrounds, starting at 10 a.m.

The free cheese will be distributed until the supply is exhausted.

All households who are receiving a form of public assistance, such as ADC, general assistance, food stamps, SSI or Medicaid, are eligible to receive cheese. Households which are not receiving any of these types of public assistance, but who have received services through the Human Development Commission, are also eligible to get cheese.

Individuals must report to the distribution site in person and show proper identification or documentation of eligibility. Persons who are unable physically to go to the distribution themselves, may have someone pick up their cheese only if proper identification is shown. Only one household member may receive cheese during the distribution.

The surplus cheese has been made available to the HDC, the community action agency serving Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, from the federal government and is intended for personal consumption by low income and needy families.

According to Mary Ann Vandemark, HDC executive director, this distribution is the second one for the agency and will involve a total of 30,000 pounds for the four-county area, with approximately 7,500 pounds being available to each county.

Plowed under wheat should be reported

With 382 Huron County farmers not able to plant all the wheat they intended to last fall, the amount of wheat grown in the county was reduced.

Now there is concern that there is a problem with the wheat that is in the ground. There have been several farmers who indicated that they are planning to work their wheat up and plant another crop, according to Jimmy LaVoie, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county executive director.

Farmers planning to do so should report it to the ASCS office to learn how this could affect their set aside requirements. They may be eligible for deficiency payments, if they are made.

Farmers have to report which fields they had wheat in and intend to plow under, LaVoie said.

firsts for the Tigers. Hartman won the high jump, 5-6; 110-meter high hurdles, 15.27; 300 meter low hurdles, 39.23, and the 200 meter dash, 24.63.

CAPAC RELAYS

In the Capac Relays Saturday the Hawks finished sixth among 13 teams with 27 points. The meet was won by Marlette with 72 points.

Other points were earned with thirds in the pole vault relay and the 4-mile relay and fourths in the shot put relay and 400-meter relay.

LAKER GAMES

The Hawks dropped a double header at Laker High Friday. The Lakers used a big five-run second inning to salt away the first game, 10-3, and pin the loss on Jill Hutchinson. Cindy Dubs got the win.

Hutchinson deserved a better fate. She allowed only one hit, struck out nine and walked only two, but seven errors pushed her to defeat.

The nightcap loss was even tougher to take. Calka and Dubs hooked up in a pitching duel and at the end of regulation time the game was tied, 1-1.

Shelly Bauer opened the home half of the first extra inning and hit to left center. The two Hawk fielders collided going after the ball and it went to the fence as Bauer circled the bases for the Laker win.

Dubs allowed five hits while Calka was touched for four with five walks.

Deanna Hempton and Kris Proctor were big stickers for Cass City, accounting for four of the team's six hits in the double header with two hits each in the twin bill.

The Hawks launched a 12-hit attack led by Rhonda Fader with three hits and Kris Proctor with two hits. Rodammer and Kochalka led Vassar again with three hits each.

Letter to the editor

Give job to one who needs it most

Dear Editor,

Recently, a local business establishment had a sign on its window which read "truck driver wanted."

I know several people from the Cass City area must have put their applications in. What I don't understand is why they bothered to put up a sign when the job was given to one of their school co-op employees.

All this did was give the many unemployed workers false hope of receiving a job.

Another thing that bothers me is that a co-op boy was given the job at $4.50 an hour when a family man would have taken it. What expenses could a boy have besides gas for his car? A family man could have fed his children with the job.

I don't see how a school kid could have any truck driving experience. I believe you should put your application in with the rest of the men. If you are chosen for a job you can at least be proud of the fact that you're the best man for the job. I don't believe this can be true in this case.

Deputy Richard L. Blakely discovered the break-in at the home of Francis VanHorn on Mushroom Road in Kingston Township.

The intruders went through drawers in all the rooms. Two speakers were removed from a color television, resulting in damage to the TV.

A compilation of what was taken was awaiting return of the owner, who was expected home Saturday.

The property was last checked by a caretaker two days before the break-in was discovered.

Don Ball of 6328 Main Street reported to Cass City police at 5:58 p.m. Sunday that his son's bicycle was stolen from their back yard some time since Friday. The 20-inch wheel bike was aqua in color, had a banana seat and was valued at $112.

William Eberline of 6378 Garfield Street told village officers Saturday morning that some items were taken from his workshop some time since April 26.

Circuit court cases

Over year later area pair to start serving sentences

Two persons pleaded guilty to criminal charges Monday when they appeared before Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

Michael L. Androsuk, 18, of 366 Froede Road, Cass City, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling in connection with an attempted break-in of Dan's Super Market in Caro Feb. 10.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled June 21. Bond was continued.

Michael R. Calligaro, 24, of 9776 Saginaw Road, Reese, pleaded guilty to delivery of less than 50 grams of a mixture of cocaine Jan. 27, 1981, in Reese.

His plea was accepted and bond was continued until sentencing June 21.

Also Monday, Noel G. Powell, 19, of 4090 Little Road, Cass City, stood mute to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon (target arrows) against Phillip Karl of Richmond in an apartment in Cass City Feb. 20.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled June 21. Bond was continued.

Bruce Banks, 30, of Saginaw, stood mute to two charges of uttering and publishing and one of supplemental information, of being an habitual offender. The latter is because of two prior felony convictions, for second degree murder in 1972 and breaking and entering in 1969.

Pleas of innocent were entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled May 17. Bond was continued.

He is charged with writing two forged or altered checks, each for $174, March 25 in Caro.

A motion for a new trial for Duane R. Spencer, 22, the first step in an appeal, was denied.

Spencer was sentenced April 5 to 15-65 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for breaking and entering. A jury found him guilty of the charge March 11.

Gerald A. Keilitz, 45, of 619 Gibbs Street, Caro, stood mute to a charge of false pretenses over $100. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled July 19. Bond was continued.

He is charged with receiving payment from an insurance company for a citizens band radio he claimed was destroyed in a fire in June, 1981, but wasn't.

Arthur W. LaLonde, 43, of Imlay City, was placed on five years' probation for attempted felonious non-support. During the period, his wages are to be assigned.

He pleaded guilty to the charge March 15, of failing to pay support for his six children dating back to Feb. 18, 1975.

Raymond Benavides, 30, of 5326 Beech Street, Akron, was placed on three years' probation for insufficient funds - check over $50.

He pleaded no contest to the charge Jan. 25, of writing a check for $1,000 June 3, 1981, for which there were not adequate funds in his account.

He was also sentenced to 120 days in the county jail, with credit given for two days served and serving of 60 days deferred. He was fined $200, assessed $300 court costs and ordered to pay restitution.

JURY TRIAL

At the end of a two-day trial last Wednesday, a circuit court jury found Ervin Schmandt, 58, of Frankenthum, guilty of impaired driving and driving with license suspended Jan. 2 in Vassar.

Bond was continued until sentencing May 17.

DISTRICT COURT

Two Cass City men have been ordered to serve their sentences originally imposed in 1980.

Douglas A. Englehart, 32, of 5744 DeLong Road, and Delbert A. Englehart, 27, of 5656 DeLong Road, were found guilty by District Judge Richard F. Kern in September, 1980, of attempted obstruction of a police officer. Delbert was also found guilty of reckless driving, while Douglas was found innocent of the charge.

Both were charged in connection with an incident March 10, 1980, in Novesta Township involving a sheriff's deputy.

Both appealed their convictions to Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, who in mid-April upheld their being found guilty.

The cases were then returned to district court for execution of their sentences, made in September, 1980.

Douglas Englehart was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail, six months' probation, a fine of $164 and $86 court costs.

Delbert was sentenced to 10 days in jail, plus 15 deferred, total fines for the two charges of $227 and costs of $123.

In district court cases Monday:

William R. Lawrence, 18, of 6853 Deckerville Road, Decker, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property under $100 in connection with opening of two fire hydrants in Cass City April 17, which resulted in the loss of 178,000 gallons of water.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled May 17. Bond was continued.

Michael Adkins, 17, of 4700 Shabbona Road, Snover, is charged in connection with the same incident and faces preliminary examination May 7.

Orville D. Nickerson, 40, of 2400 N. Englehart Road, Deford, pleaded guilty to impaired driving April 18 in Indianfields Township.

His plea was accepted. He was assessed $300 court costs, placed on one year probation and is to attend alcohol education classes and receive counseling if necessary.

Melvin R. Wheaton, 34, of 5942 Bruce Street, Deford, pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor April 18 in Kingston Township.

His plea was accepted and he was placed on one year probation, fined $118 and assessed $182 court costs. He is to attend alcohol education classes and receive counseling. His driver's license was suspended for 90 days except for going to and from work and the classes.

Gary J. Mallory, 26, of 3230 Phillips Road, Kingston, pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor April 18 in Fremont Township.

His plea was accepted. He was placed on probation, fined $118 and assessed $182 court costs. He is to attend alcohol education classes and receive counseling. His driver's license was suspended for 90 days except for going to and from work and the classes.

Many farmers sign up for set-aside program

AS A HEDGE AGAINST continued depressed prices, more farmers than expected enrolled in the federal government's new reduced acreage program by the April 16 deadline.

In exchange for agreeing to reduce his acreage -- 10 percent for corn, oats and barley and 15 percent for wheat -- the farmer is eligible for commodity loans and target prices.

For instance, should the national average price of corn be no more than $2.55 a bushel from October through February, 1983, the government will pay participating farmers 15 cents per bushel, the difference between $2.55 and the target price of $2.70.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture was figuring that if 40 percent of farmers signed up, that would be a good response, according to Virgil Bouck, U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Tuscola County executive director.

Instead, sign-up rates have been far higher. In Michigan, 61 percent of the farmers, representing 72.2 percent of the acres planted in 1980 and 1981 (referred to as the "bases") enrolled. Nationally, about 80 percent of farmers signed up. (Final figures weren't available.)

However, farmers can withdraw from the program without penalty prior to July 1, so how much acreage is ultimately set-aside from production is still a matter of conjecture.

One factor in the big sign-up, Bouck said, was that forward contract prices don't look too promising. IN THE UPPER THUMB, the sign-up rate was higher than the state average only in Huron County.

In Tuscola, 57 percent of the farmers and 62 percent of the acreage bases were enrolled.

For wheat, it was 42 percent of the farms and 53 percent of the bases; corn, 59 percent of the farms and 68 percent of the bases, and oats and barley, 33 percent of the farms and 45 percent of the bases.

One reason for the low sign-up of the latter is that many farmers are planting oats and barley this spring because they were unable to get all their wheat planted last fall.

In Sanilac County, 52 percent of the farms and 58 percent of the bases are enrolled. By crop, bases, 66 percent of the corn, 61 percent of the wheat and 25 percent of the barley and oats are enrolled.

In Huron County, 80 percent of the farms and 87 percent of the eligible acreage are enrolled.

By crop, 87 percent of the corn bases, 89 percent of the wheat and 81 percent of the oats and barley are enrolled.

WHY WAS THE SIGN-UP rate so much higher in Huron County? ASCS Executive Director Jimmy LaVoie feels the program was well publicized in his county by his speaking to various groups, newspaper articles and notices sent to farmers.

Another factor, which Bouck also suggested, is that five or six elevators in Huron County issue negotiable warehouse receipts, whereas only one does in Tuscola and apparently none in Sanilac.

The receipts allow a farmer to reclaim his grain, thus he can use it for collateral for loans under the set-aside program. The only other way that can be done is if the farmer has his own on-farm storage.

Even with anticipated withdrawals by July 1, LaVoie feels enough farmers have enrolled in the reduced acreage program to achieve the goal of reducing the amount of wheat and feed grains produced in order to drive up prices.

The fact that some farmers are adding acreage this year by rental or purchase doesn't mean that will offset reduced acreage, he explained.

If a farmer buys the land and enrolls in the program, he has to include it as part of his base. That means he has to set aside a larger percentage, but he can still grow more than if he hadn't purchased the land.

Rented land isn't counted in a farmer's set aside, but it likely was planted last year, so again, that doesn't mean an increase in planted acreage.

quisitions.

One reason for the Chapter 11 filing, Sigoloff explained at the time, according to the Wall Street Journal, was to restore the flow of goods to the company, because without them, it didn't have sales and without sales, it didn't have profits. The executive had halted payments on past due accounts in early April, after which many suppliers balked at selling goods on credit to Wickes.

In addition to the $2 billion owed to suppliers and banks, the firm lost $80 million during its fiscal year that ended Jan. 31 and has predicted "future substantial losses."

Sigoloff has estimated it will take three years to recover from the Chapter 11 status.

Taking stock

Dear Boss:

There is a truism for travelers: If you find a nice place, never go back.

Like most truisms, it is often true.

I don't pay much attention to either truisms or falsisms so I went back to the Caribbean, as I have so many times over the past 30 years.

Let's see now, it was in 1952 that I sailed on the old Cunard ship, the SS Fort Townshend.

What a thrilling cruise that was! To leave my home in a bleak and cheerless Michigan February and a couple days later be basking on deck as the boat plowed up the Gulf Stream on its way to the Virgin Islands was a memorable sensation.

St. Thomas was the first port of call. Through this fabled port poured the riches of the New World in the 18th century. The ancient warehouses with their walls three feet thick stood unchanged. A few had been converted into stores.

There were two hotels, both of them new since World War II. The head of the tourist bureau pointed with pride to their traffic light at the end of Main Street.

There was no airport on this mountainous island and only a few cruise boats stopped. The harbor, the views from the spot known as Drake's Seat overlooking both sides of the island were magnificent.

Far down Sir Francis Drake Channel to the east were the British Virgins — Tortola, Virgin Gorda, Jost Van Dyck, and others.

Carleton Mitchell, the noted yachtsman, had written that it was the grandest stretch of water in the world, and he had seen most of the choice spots on the globe.

Below we looked down on Magen's Bay, a lovely U-shaped bay a mile wide and a mile long. A perfect sand beach stretched across the whole end of the bay — not a rock, not a weed, nothing but gin-clear water of a dozen shades of turquoise and sapphire.

Along with all the other charms that St. Thomas presented was one of near-perfect climate. The temperature always seemed to be 76. The only place in town that had so much as a fan was the post office, because you know how fast postal clerks work, and you have to keep them cooled off.

Honestly, I was so enchanted with the place that I almost quit the newspaper business and moved down there.

It has been quite a while since I've gone back to St. Thomas and I'd heard the place had changed quite a bit. But no one had impressed on me what a horror the island is now.

The good ship Stella Oceanis took us there for a full day. I wish it hadn't. I can never feel the same again toward the island.

It is over-run with people — five times as many as the little island was ever designed to handle.

The narrow old main street with its ancient warehouses of two centuries ago is now like a carnival midway. Instead of china and crystal and linens from Europe, they're hawking T-shirts and cheap jewelry from New Jersey.

Oh, you can still find the standard imports if you look hard and don't get trampled in the process. But mainly it's like a garage sale.

I looked for a Liberty cotton sports jacket. The best store in town, The Continental, had a stock of four seersucker coats at $180 a copy. Even Worth Avenue wouldn't have that much nerve.

The narrow roads and streets of the island are crawling with horn-blasting cars.

I went to Magen's Bay, that idyllic spot of yore. It was like Coney Island. There it used to be considered crowded if there was one other couple on that mile of beach. This time there were 500 tourists cluttering up those virgin sands.

Air travel had done all this, starting in the late '50s. For a while, the short runway kept out everything except DC-3s shuttling from San Juan, and so not many cared for that way of flying, even if it was safer than the big 4-engine jobs.

Then they stretched the runway by filling out to sea. Now they're hacking away a big hill at the east end of the airport so the longest of jets can dump conventioners and groups of 300 at a time to infest little old St. Thomas beyond all limits of endurance.

The cruise director in his grandiose style had announced the night before, "Tomorrow we stop at Charlotte Amalie, the capital of St. Thomas. Charlotte Amalie, the Queen of the Virgins."

Virgin Queen, my foot. Charlotte, you're a harlot.

Lift weight ban on roads

Spring weight restrictions have been lifted on upper Thumb roads.

Restrictions ended in Tuscola County Friday and in Huron and Sanilac Counties Monday.

WARM BEAMS — Elkland Township fireman Gary Diebel and helper push burning beams off the foundation walls at a fire Monday evening on Bay City-Forestville Road. Walls and roof of the barn had been removed several years ago after they were blown down.

Elkland Township firemen quell rash of spring fires

It was a busy week for Elkland Township fire fighters.

Since last Wednesday, they responded to seven fires, one false alarm and were called to the fire hall once for an assist but the call was immediately cancelled.

The next-to-last one came shortly before 8 p.m. Monday when they were called to a grass, barn and chicken coop fire on Bay City-Forestville Road, about 1 1/4 miles west of Cemetery.

According to Assistant Fire Chief Ron Pawloski, it started with Ron Lesoski burning grass and brush on his property, for which he had a permit.

The fire spread to the floor of a barn on his property, which started burning. The walls had been removed several years ago, leaving only the floor and foundation.

Sparks from the burning wood blew onto the roof of the chicken coop on the property of neighbor Graydon Spencer, to the west, which caught on fire.

The chickens were removed from the coop, with apparently none being injured.

The only loss of monetary significance, $100, was the chicken coop roof.

Elkland Township-Gagetown firemen assisted. Fire fighters were at the scene about 45 minutes.

At 10 a.m. Monday, Elkland fire trucks were dispatched to Marshall Distributing on Doerr Road. A carpenter working there reportedly accidentally set off the fire alarm, which automatically tripped the fire siren.

At 1:20 p.m. Tuesday, fire fighters went to the Novesta Township Cemetery, where a pile of rubble was burning. Cause was not determined. It took 15-20 minutes to put out the fire.

GRASS FIRES

A grass fire last Wednesday afternoon came close to damaging a mobile home.

The blaze, which spread from a fire in a trash barrel, was reported shortly before 2 p.m. at the George Sylvester residence on Shabbona Road, four miles west of Cemetery.

Elkland Township Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. commented that had fire fighters arrived two minutes later, the trailer would have been burning. When they arrived, a pile of used tires by the structure was burning.

A couple of dozen pallets, firewood, some brush piles and about one acre of grass did burn before the blaze was extinguished.

Another grass fire was reported at 4:55 p.m. last Thursday at Phillips and Gilford Road.

Root reported Mary Phillips was deliberately burning grass, but the fire got out of control.

Using a garden hose, she did get it contained to about a half-acre by the time fire trucks arrived, however, about a dozen fence posts were burning, which fire fighters extinguished.

CHIMNEY FIRE

At 9:30 p.m. Thursday, the Elkland department was called to the Harold Polega residence on Bay City-Forestville Road, just east of M-53, because of a chimney fire.

An extinguishing fuse and a chain run up and down inside the chimney were used to put the fire out. No damage was reported.

A wood burning stove in the living room was connected to the chimney.

While attention was being paid to the fire by onlookers, apparently someone broke into the Crossroads Restaurant next door.

Owner Anne Mitchell told Bad Axe state police she believes entry was made during that time by breaking a window on the north side of the building.

Taken were $12-15 in change, some cigarettes and gum.

SUNDAY FIRES

Elkland firefighters responded to two grass fires Sunday.

At the first one, reported at 12:05 p.m., they were assisted by the Department of Natural Resources and Elmwood-Gagetown firemen.

The fire was on property owned by Clifford Hill on Jackson Road in Greenleaf Township. He told firemen he didn't know what started the fire.

Some fence rails piled near the woods were burning. The DNR crew from Caro used a bulldozer to push the rails away from the woods. (The DNR crew, mostly Caro firemen, are paid by the DNR to operate its equipment at fires.)

Fire fighters were at the scene more than two hours. About 30 acres burned.

The second fire was reported at 4:45 p.m. on property owned by Donald Wernette on Pringle Road, near Lantom Road in Evergreen Township. He and his wife were not home.

Neighbor children playing with firecrackers were responsible for starting the fire, firemen said.

About a quarter of an acre of grass and a tree already lying on the ground burned.

GAGETOWN FIRE

Elmwood-Gagetown firemen were called at 1:40 Saturday afternoon to a reported grass and house fire on Dickerson Road, west of Hurds Corner Road.

It turned out the property owner, Keith Rabideau, had a permit to burn brush and grass, according to Fire Chief Chuck Wright. The fire spread to an abandoned house, but firemen were asked to let it burn, so their services weren't needed.

While still on their way to the fire, assistance was called for from the Elkland department, but the call was quickly cancelled.

SVSC to honor W.E. Walpole with doctorate

Walter E. Walpole, Walbro Corp. chairman of the board and chief executive officer, will be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by Saginaw Valley State College at commencement ceremonies Saturday.

A record 712 students will receive bachelor's and master's degrees from SVSC.

Walpole began his business career in a Chicago bank after attending Principia College, St. Louis, Mo.

After experience there as a credit department analyst, he joined the finance department of Borg and Beck Co. of Chicago, a predecessor of Borg-Warner Corp.

Over the next 24 years, he held financial positions with three different divisions, leaving the post of secretary-treasurer with the Marvel-Schebler carburetor division in 1950 to form the Walbro Corp. in Fenton.

To handle rapid growth in the small engine carburetor business, he moved his corporation to Cass City in 1954 and later expanded it to several divisions and subsidiaries with additional product lines.

In addition to the Cass City facility, which builds carburetors and small gasoline engines, Walbro manufactures sophisticated electric fuel pumps for automotive and off-the-road vehicles at its Caro plant, injection molded plastic parts in Bad Axe, and aluminum and magnesium die castings in Auburn.

As part of the carburetor group, the corporation also has international subsidiaries in Mexico, Japan and Singapore, plus an engineering and sales facility in Germany. 1981 sales totaled $43 million.

Walpole served as corporation president until 1977, when he became chairman of the board and chief executive officer. Walbro Corp. became publicly owned in 1972.

He has three daughters, two sons and two stepdaughters and lives in Cass City with his wife, Catherine. He remains very active in the business world and travels extensively.

Also receiving honorary doctoral degrees Saturday will be Ruth E. Bridge, president of the SVSC Triskelions, an organization which has raised almost $200,000 for scholarships for SVSC students; Paul F. Orefice, president and chief executive officer of the Dow Chemical Co., and Earl L. Warrick, retired from Dow Corning Corp., who is the holder or co-recipient of 44 U.S. patents. All three are from Midland.

Walter E. Walpole

Power attic ventilation makes the difference year 'round!

Power Attic Ventilation is the practical way to ensure a cooler, more comfortable home during the summer months when attic temperatures can build as high as 130° or more. By reducing the temperature of the attic, less heat penetrates the living area and the home stays more comfortable. In air conditioned homes, reduction of the attic heat allows the cooling unit to perform more efficiently and can result in operating savings that will actually conserve electricity while decreasing wear and tear on the air conditioner.
