

Hospital ends year with loss

Hills and Dales General Hospital ended the year with a loss of $55,484, it was revealed at the annual meeting of the corporation Tuesday, June 8, at the hospital.

Hospital Administrator Ken Jensen told the board that the loss was attributable to changes in payment received for medicare patients.

The government will not pay for malpractice insurance costs as a legitimate expense because the hospital has not been sued by anyone 65 or over. According to Jensen the change cost the hospital $40,000.

Other services provided by the hospital also were costly, but anticipated by the hospital. They were providing for week-end physicians' service and costs of doctor relocation obligations. Jensen reported that without these changes the hospital would have ended the year some $90,000 in the black.

The hospital was less busy in fiscal 1982 than it was in 1981. A total of 12,845 patient days were recorded, 290 days less than the 13,135-day total the previous year. The hospital was used at 54.14 percent of capacity. In 1981 the percentage was 55.36.

Both revenues and expenses increased. Gross revenues were up nearly a half million dollars but increased costs resulted in the loss. Operating costs per patient day jumped from $303.39 to $343.25.

Officers of the corporation were elected. Gerald Prieskorn was reelected president. Other officers are: Lee Rabideau, vice-president; Dr. Robert Green, treasurer; Carolyn Martin, secretary.

B.A. Calka retired after serving 20 years on the board. Greg Brown was elected to replace him.

TRUCK COLLISION -- Robert Armstead and his two passengers were treated for minor injuries after their truck flipped over (top photo) in a Monday morning accident on M-53, south of M-81. Driver of the semi-truck that was also involved was David Duprey. The latter was able to extricate his truck by pulling forward, then backing out.

2-truck collision Monday sends three to hospital

A Monday morning accident on M-53 sent three persons to the hospital and ended with one of the two trucks involved landing upside down.

Injured were the three occupants of the stake truck which rolled over, all of whom were treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital. They were Robert G. Armstead, 34, who was the driver, Kevin Armstead, 5, and Glenn M. Armstead, 75, all of Patterson Road, Snover.

The other vehicle involved was a semi-tractor, which was pulling an empty flatbed trailer. It was driven by David A. Duprey, 31, of Port Austin Road, Caseville. The rig was owned by Gettel's, a Huron County farm implement dealer.

The Sanilac County Sheriff's Department reported that Duprey was passing the Armstead truck when the latter started to turn left into the service station a short distance south of M-81.

The vehicles collided and the Armstead vehicle flipped over, coming to a halt south of the entranceway into the station.

The semi-truck came to a stop with the tractor mired in the gravel covered island between the two driveways to the station.

Both vehicles were southbound. As of Tuesday afternoon, the 10:40 a.m. accident remained under investigation.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

Charles H. Fackler Jr., 16, of 7249 Daus Road, Cass City, was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales, where he was taken following an accident about noon Monday.

Tuscola County deputies reported he was westbound on Daus Road, near Buehrly Road, when his car went into the eastbound lane. He overcorrected and the vehicle went off the north side of the road into a ditch.

A 10:05 a.m. accident Tuesday on M-53, south of Deckerville Road, resulted in injuries to Lorene McClew, 78, of Bad Axe, who was reported in fair condition Wednesday morning at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe.

Sandusky state police reported she was driving northbound when she lost control of her car. The vehicle went off the road into a ditch and struck the far side ditch bank.

Two persons sought their own treatment after an 8:50 a.m. accident Monday which resulted from a mechanical malfunction.

They were Louise M. Northrop, 25, of 6587 Sadler Road, Decker, the driver, and Irene Northrop, 4, of the same address.

Caro state police reported Mrs. Northrop was westbound on Bevens Road at about 50 miles per hour when a forward axle on the milk tanker truck trailer released. The wheels on the axle normally ride above the road surface.

When the wheels touched the road, a rear axle lifted and the trailer brakes locked.

The driver was unable to stop and the truck and trailer went off the north side of the road into a ditch.

Two persons were treated by ambulance attendants after a 4:30 p.m. accident Friday in Columbia Township.

They were Lavere D. Kilinger, 56, of Pigeon, and Frank E. Thayer Jr., 68, of Vassar.

Deputies reported Thayer was southbound on Colling Road, slowed but didn't stop at Bay City-Forestville Road, and collided with Kilinger's eastbound auto.

Thayer, who told officers he didn't see the stop sign until it was too late, was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

Patrick McGee, 8, was in Hills and Dales General Hospital from June 2-7 as the result of a motorcycle accident June 2.

Deputies said the youngster was riding the cycle on property west of Doerr Road and didn't realize when he crested a hill there was an

After millage defeat

Union presents plan to cut job loss

Administrators at Cass City Schools will be meeting this week for the unpleasant task of figuring out who will be out of a job this fall.

The meeting was made necessary after a final attempt to secure funds for various school programs was defeated Monday by district voters.

The three millage propositions and the vote results were:

Proposition I, two mills for curriculum, yes, 747, and no, 961.

Proposition II, three mills for transportation, yes, 704, and no, 1,000.

Proposition III, a half mill for extracurricular activities, yes, 664, and no, 1034.

Dick Wallace, the only candidate running, was elected to the school board with 1,008 votes.

A total of 1,735 ballots were cast, which is 25.5 percent of the approximately 6,800 voters registered in the district.

At the April 30 millage election, 2,136 persons voted, which was the most ever in a Cass City school election.

Supt. Donald Crouse says the procedure followed will be to declare every job vacant and then fill them on the basis of seniority as spelled out in the master contract with the Tri-County Bargaining Association (TCBA). When we run out of jobs that we have money for, Crouse said, the remainder of the teachers will be unemployed.

There's no hope that the curriculum can be expanded by a freeze of wages for teachers who are scheduled to receive a 10 percent pay boost, plus service longevity increases that will cost 3 percent more in 1982-83.

Bob Gengler, representative of the TCBA board said that the answer to the Cass City district was the same as it has been to all others: The union has granted no concessions.

Gengler did approach the board at its meeting Monday evening with a plan that, he said, is designed to save a few teacher jobs and save the district money, too.

He said that a survey of the staff indicated that 10 persons would accept a year's leave and participate in a shared time position. Six teaching positions would be involved.

Teachers accepting the leave would be granted fringe benefits that would cost the district an estimated $2,500.

Shared time means that two teachers would share one job for half of the school year each. The savings to the district, according to Gengler, would be not paying unemployment which is estimated at $5,000 to $8,000 per year for each teacher. The school is self-insured and pays all unemployment costs.

The shared time concept could mean a savings because the teacher that is on shared time would be one of the laid off teachers and be lower on the salary scale. Teachers are granted salary increases for each of the first 11 years for experience.

Gengler said that it was the union's position that all savings from the plan would be used to hire additional classroom teachers. The union predicts that possibly two additional teaching positions could be filled under the plan.

The teachers added would have to come from among the staff that had been laid off, according to the union's plan.

New school budget already needs revision

The ink was hardly dry on the budget adopted for the 1982-83 school year before it became obsolete and will need to be revised.

Optimistically, the school board adopted a budget that included 5.5 additional mills Monday at its regular session before the results of the special millage election were known.

Shortly after the regular meeting adjourned it was learned that the extra millage requests were turned down.

Supt. Donald Crouse presented budgets with and without the extra millage to the board and trustees could revise it at the next meeting if desired.

The reason for the seemingly precipitous action is that state law requires that a budget be adopted by July 1. At best it appears to be a questionable procedure. Right now the board doesn't know how much money will be coming in state aid and without that figure any budget is guesswork.

Right now the 1981-82 budget is being revised to reflect the actual operation of the school. It was adopted Monday.

It showed a general reduction over estimates in elementary expenses of $18,714; in intermediate expenses of $8,653 and secondary expenses of $10,450.

The reduced costs, Crouse said, were because of a reduction in purchases of materials, supplies and new textbooks.

Total expenses for the year are estimated at $3,213,717 and total revenues at $3,057,497.

After the budget hearing the board quickly disposed of routine business.

Kirk Winter reported that the 1982 yearbook will pay for itself and wipe out a $803.93 debt from the previous year if 125 books left unsold at $14 each are purchased.

Winter said that he felt that the books would sell easily next fall and bring in $1750. The school also has a $200 credit with Powell Studios.

The board renewed its membership in the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Bids were opened for garbage pick up at all Cass City schools for three years. Low between two bidders was Rich's Disposal Service for $10,599.60 for the three years.

Mona Phillips announced that she is retiring after 25 years in cafeterias in Deford and Cass City schools.

O-G, Kingston renewals pass, Ubyly tax hike fails

Millage renewals were approved in the Owendale-Gagetown and Kingston School Districts Monday while an additional two mills was defeated in Ubyly.

Two incumbents were re-elected to area school boards and two were defeated.

The Ubyly School District lost its attempt to have voters approve an additional two mills for school operations.

The levy was defeated, 658-317. Only 975 of the 2,650 eligible voters in the district cast ballots. The result of the defeat will be a reduction in present school programs and budget cuts totaling $100,000.

Where those cuts will come from will be decided in a special meeting of the Ubyly School Board Monday evening, June 28. The board will discuss the millage defeat and adopt the 1982-83 budget, according to Mark Tenbusch, school district business manager.

In the race for the two school board positions, Kenneth Dekoski received 589 votes and Alfred Grifka received 526 votes. Loser was incumbent David Ruthig, who received 515 votes. He had been on the school board for nine years.

IN THE OWENDALE-GAGETOWN School District, renewal of 8 mills was overwhelmingly approved, 320-81. A total of 417 of the approximately 1,400 registered voters participated in the election.

Jack Brinkman was elected to his third four-year term on the school board with 308 votes. Donna Salcido, who received 222 votes, defeated incumbent Duane Ziehm, 189 votes, for the other seat on the board. Ziehm was seeking his second term.

IN THE KINGSTON School District, renewal of 15 mills was approved, 252-63. Of the 900 registered voters, 322 voted.

Two seats were open on the Kingston school board, one incumbent was re-appointed and one newcomer will fill the other seat.

Gary Koehler, who has served approximately 20 years, received 218 votes to return him to the board for four more years. Wesley Scott received 225 votes to finally gain a position on the school board. He was unsuccessful in his previous attempts in 1980 and 1982.

Jeff Newton, with 85 votes, and Sue Ann Savicke, with 45 votes, came in third and fourth place respectively.

SCHOOL ELECTION -- Voters Monday turned down another attempt by the school board to have 5½ additional mills approved for sports, transportation and school operation. It was the first election in which voting machines were used.

Council delays decision on buying park property

Meeting in special session Monday morning, the Cass City Village Council considered the purchase for $41,900 of property adjacent to the park owned by Winnifred Bauman of Pleasant Ridge.

After considerable discussion, a decision on the purchase was delayed until the next regular council meeting, Tuesday, June 29.

Mrs. Bauman had been pressuring the council for a decision by mid-June but members refused to act at the special meeting, taking a chance that the property won't be sold before the regular meeting in two weeks.

The delay was voted in order to give the public a chance to voice opinions about the purchase. Right now the majority of the council appears to favor buying the property.

Firmly in favor are Jim Ware and Lynda McIntosh. Ware said that many taxpayers were against the project but switched when the whole program was explained. I feel that most residents don't understand the proposition, he said.

What the proponents see is a chance to make a long-range purchase for expansion that will be needed down the road. The tentative plans call for a new municipal building and storage garage at the site when needed. None of the trustees foresee those buildings being erected very soon.

An informal opinion was received from realtor B.A. Calka. According to village

Superintendent Lou LaPonsie, the terms and the price were considered to be a good deal by Calka.

Firmly against the purchase Monday were Dick Hampshire and Dorothy Stahlbaum. They said that everyone they talked to was very much against the idea of spending any money at this time.

When we haven't spent any money on road construction and won't this

The presidency

By Jim Fitzgerald

During his European tour, according to news reports, President Reagan apparently dozed off when he was supposed to be listening to a speech given by a very important person. I don't blame him.

There are advantages and disadvantages to being president of the United States. One of the disadvantages is having to listen to countless boring speeches every time you get out of bed.

One of the advantages is if the president's spouse wants to wear expensive jewelry, he or she can borrow it from a jewelry store, instead of buying it.

Women libbers should note my admission that the president's spouse could be "he or she." There will surely be a woman president someday, which raises an important question of state: Will a first gentleman get as much media attention as a first lady for wearing beaded knickers?

In its May 24 issue, Newsweek magazine reported

Nancy Reagan still had $100,000 worth of gems borrowed from a New York jeweler to wear to her husband's inaugural ball 16 months earlier. When questioned about the tenure of the loan, a White House spokesman replied, "She'll return them." The jeweler had no comment.

After reading about the first lady's jewelry loan, I asked a jewelry clerk to loan me some baubles for my wife to wear to the Elks Club dance. The clerk not only refused, but she also said my request was the most ridiculous thing she'd heard in all the years she'd worked at K mart. Chances are she wouldn't have treated me so shabbily if I'd had the advantage of being president of the United States.

Naturally, I don't mean to be critical of Nancy Reagan for borrowing $100,000 worth of jewelry to wear to a 16-month dance. I'm sure she prefers rhinestones, but wears diamonds only to help the diamond industry advertise its wares. It's just too bad that most people don't realize how much her sacrifice contributes to the national economy. But, unfortunately, advertising is an imprecise marketing tool and there is currently no way of knowing how many citizens went out and bought diamonds simply because they saw the first lady wearing some on TV.

Sudden bright idea: To help White House publicists accurately measure Mrs. Reagan's ability to sell diamonds, it would be a great idea if jewelry stores were allowed to accept food stamps.

But that's enough about the advantages of being president. Before deciding whether he or she wants the job, a person should also consider the disadvantages, such as the aforementioned speeches a president must listen to in the holy name of diplomatic protocol.

There is no greater anguish than, after a banquet meal, to be forced to stay awake for three hours and listen to ponderous personages prattle precious platitudes alliteratively. There was never a speech given that an audience couldn't appreciate more in written form, read in bed with the constant option of turning out the light and going to sleep.

My biggest hero now is Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet author. He recently turned down an invitation to a White House banquet because "the life span at my disposal does not leave any time for symbolic gestures."

That's what I call a supremely classy rejection. It used to be that, whenever invited to hear a speech, I'd make some wimpy excuse about a previous commitment or a sore stomach. (I'd do the same thing when asked to make a speech. People opposed to being murdered have no right to murder, and the same principle applies to speeches.)

But now I simply tell the banquet chairman there is no room in my life span for the symbolic gestures necessary to keep smiling while an entire Rotary Club sings "Ain't She Sweet?" It feels great.

But a president couldn't do that. International good will and peace in our time depend upon the president's staying awake during hundreds of speeches while wearing his or her best beaded knickers, borrowed or bought.

If elected, I will not serve.

VISITOR — Ward Woodbury, front row right, conductor of the third oldest Bach festival in America visited with Cass City Village Bach Festival promoters last week. Fla. Bach director visits Cass City

Ward Woodbury, the conductor of the Winter Park (Florida) Bach Festival was in Cass City Friday to find out about Cass City's festival.

Woodbury is traveling around the country visiting cities and towns that have Bach festivals so he can gather information on the individual events.

This information will possibly lead to the organization of a national Bach Festival or national organization.

"This is just a tentative goal," Woodbury said. "I am just surveying seven or eight festivals per year, gathering information, and maybe it will lead to something."

Woodbury is the music conductor and director of the Winter Park festival, which is in its 47th year and is the third oldest festival of its kind in the country.

He is a professor of music at Rollins University in Winter Park where he has taught for the past 16 years. Before that, he taught in the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y.

This is the first year of a three or four year project. Woodbury will fly around the country visiting with organizers of the 20 or so

Bach festivals he says are celebrated each year.

Including his stop in Cass City, this trip is taking him to Kalamazoo; Louisville, Ky.; Rochester, and Washington, D.C., among other places.

Woodbury visited the First Presbyterian Church on North Seeger to view the organ and the church where the Bach Festival takes place.

"This festival especially interested me because it is in a small town right in the middle of all this farmland," Woodbury said. "I would like to congratulate all the people who established the festival. I think it is just wonderful to have this kind of interest in a small town like this."

The Bach Festival in Cass City has been held three times and takes place each Thanksgiving week end.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Dr. Sang Park is a busy physician in Cass City these days, but he does have time for a little fun, too.

As a Rotarian, the other day he was called on to introduce a guest. He didn't know his name and suffered the usual indignities heaped on a member: he paid a 25-cent fine.

But he got even. He called for quiet and very solemnly protested paying the quarter.

You got to remember, he said, all you Americans look alike to me, anyhow.

He brought down the house.

Just when I get to regard myself as a veteran in this newspaper business I run into Reva Little bringing in the news.

Actually, I'm a babe in arms around here. Mrs. Little has been doing it since 1943. (Doing it well, too.)

The Chronicle has purchased a new camera required for producing the paper, not to take pictures. It's a significant investment costing as much as a mid-size car with plenty of options.

The point of this bit of trivia is to have you ask yourself how many of you are crazy enough to spend this kind of money the way I do.

The usual procedure is to struggle, struggle with the old equipment until you get so mad that you pick up the phone and say to the dealer, how much and when can you deliver?

I envy the businessman that can budget for a machine six months in advance and then methodically go about getting it into his shop in an orderly businesslike manner.

The Chamber of Commerce is looking for a list of light industry from a company that provides this type of lists. The trouble is you have to know what you want.

The Chamber wants lists of companies outside the state that employ 50 to 500. The minimum list that can be bought has 5,000 names.

That seems like a bucketful if you consider that the manufacturers are also separated by the type of work they do. There are over 1,000 different classifications.

The solution? The company is sending a catalog and we'll have to pick and choose a few from the thousand.

The Haire Net

It was my first council meeting in perhaps a decade, that special meeting held Monday morning to decide on the purchase by the village of property that includes a house on Main Street.

After a few minutes it was as if I'd never been away. Most of the faces have changed with the exception of Lambert Althaver who sat behind the council desk and ran the meeting in the smooth professional way that I'd become accustomed to when the last Tuesday of the month found me looking over the shoulders of the village fathers.

The room itself is a lot more plush than the spartan furnishings that served the village in days of yore.

Frankly, the meeting lasted just long enough, perhaps three-quarters of an hour, and I enjoyed it.

Any longer than that would have been real work. Then, too, if it had been a regular beat, 7:30 a.m. would have been groaning and grouching time. Why me?

It was fun, too, because it was a one-time shot. Mike's back to take over the monthly beat again and I'll gratefully bow out.

It was fun, too, because there was a topic of community interest on the agenda. A dash of controversy sweetens the political pie.

Last week, regular readers of this column will recall my negative reaction to adding to the village land and taking taxable property from the tax roll. It didn't appear to me to be the way we ought to go.

After listening to the council my reaction hasn't exactly changed but it has been tempered a little. After all when Travis Leach designed Cass City's wide street he was known as a madman for such folly.

In the future maybe buying added land in these distressing times may also be regarded as a bit of wisdom. All you can do is make your choice.

As Mike Weaver says, the amount under consideration isn't much when compared with the budget of the village, and the payment plan.

Yet, it is money no matter what. The late Sen. Everett Dirksen's tongue-in-cheek remark about spending in Washington is apt. A billion dollars here, a billion dollars there, Dirksen said, and pretty soon you're talking about real money.

Well, it's real money that we are talking about here, but the decision, either way, isn't going to cost me one wink of sleep.

It was pleasing to me that the council was concerned enough to delay a vote to purchase until they hear from you.

If enough of you feel strongly enough to attend the council meeting to say, look, I feel that it's the wrong time to spend this money, it's likely that your combined voices will be heard.

If no one cares then I applaud and back the council's decision Tuesday, June 29, which I believe will be to spend the money.

The trustees have given the voters a chance to speak and you can't ask for more than that.

Thanks Dad for believing in us and for being very special every step of the way.

Letter to the editor

Disappointed with Cass City

Dear editor,
It is hard to believe that people are so inconsiderate of the dead.

I am very disappointed with some of our Cass City businesses and homeowners on Memorial Day and Flag Day, which was Monday. I sure didn't see very many flags flying.

This is my first year without my father and it hurts deeply that people are so busy that they can't take time to honor our dead and respect our flag.

Sanilac farmers get disaster loans

Farmers in Sanilac County are now eligible for low-interest loans to cover the loss sustained in last year's period of bad weather.

The Farmers Home Administration (FHA) has announced loans with interest as low as 5 percent. These loans are available to farmers who can prove at least a 20 percent loss in a major crop. This can be proven either through use of personal records going as far back as five years or records at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The loans will cover "losses from unseasonable frost, severe cold, drought, excessive rains, flooding, hail and damaging winds that occurred between April 6 and November 30, 1981," a letter from the FHA office stated.

Applications for the loans must be made by Feb. 25, 1983, in the FHA office in Bad Axe.

Farmers are eligible for two different loans. The five percent interest loan is available to farmers who are not able to receive loans from another money institution.

If they have received loans from somewhere else, then they are eligible for loans with a 14 percent interest rate.

The difference between the 14 percent and the eight percent previously reported is the cut-off date. According to Rod Plews of the Bad Axe FHA office, because the time period extends back to April, 1982, the loans fall under the old guidelines, and the rate is higher.

The FHA office has received 15-20 applications so far and expects to process between 200 and 500 requests for aid.

The loans can be for as much as $500,000 and must be paid back within seven years. The farmers must be able to show a reasonable chance to pay back the money.

To qualify for the loans, Sanilac County had to prove a 20 percent loss resulted from rains, and find 25 farmers who had suffered a 30 percent loss.

The county was rejected last fall when it applied to Washington for low interest aid. It was turned down when the Department of Agriculture decided Sanilac farmers did not suffer enough loss.

Approval by the government came after nine months of negotiations to secure the loans for farmers. Last fall, 10 inches of rain was dumped on Sanilac County just before harvest, and the result was more than $17 million worth of damage.

Pedaling Around

Vacation meanders

By Mike Eliasohn

I got to sleep next to an attractive blond during my vacation.

Unfortunately, it was on an airplane and while I was sleeping, she was reading a book.

She was returning to Detroit from Phoenix after having visited the General Motors proving grounds in Arizona, where she solved a problem concerning the screws manufactured by the company she represented.

The screws wouldn't stay tight in the 1983 and 1984 model cars being tested. The reason, she discovered, was the holes were too big for the screws being used.

Gives one a great feeling of confidence in the persons who design new cars, doesn't it?

Would I make up a story like that?

Grand Prix. I'm not trying to make light of his death, but it is too much to ask that in reporting the crash, the results of the race also be given.

I heard four reports on radio and television and read one in a newspaper concerning the fatal crash and in only one was it also mentioned who won the race.

Billboard seen from highway in San Francisco area: "Sunstream Homes, from $109,950."

Before my trip was over, I heard about homes that were a lot more expensive than that.

Speaking of expensive, Porsches, BMWs and Mercedes-Benzes were a common sight in the San Francisco area and in Salt Lake City.

It's nice to know not everyone is suffering from the recession, especially Porsche, BMW and Mercedes-Benz dealers.

Actually, not everyone who drives such mega-buck cars can afford to buy them. I was told a lot of the drivers lease.

Airports have improved. None that I encountered had pay toilets. Who says nothing in life is free anymore?

My tastes aren't quite as expensive as Bill Myers', who mentions $28 a bottle wine in California in his column on the back page.

The most expensive thing I drank on my trip was $1 for a large cup of lemonade at the Detroit Grand Prix, complete with lemon.

ALLAN NICHOL OF ARGYLE SAYS:

"The bulk of my tiling will be done in the summer season"

What prompted you to install a drainage tile system through your crops?

We have suffered severely in the past because of poor drainage in many areas of the farm. The wet spring concerned me, so I directed a local LICA drainage contractor to tile 105 acres of our wettest ground.

Did you anticipate any crop damage as a result of doing the installation through the crops?

Yes, I did, because we tiled in August over corn that was 5' high, some of which was ready to tassel. Of course, the contractor told me we would incur some damage even though he set his plow up with dual wheels. The damage was about 15% — six rows of corn and perhaps 17 acres. However, some of the corn stalks came back up.

Did you grow any of the same type of crops on untilled ground?

Yes — 155 acres of corn on untilled ground that usually is much drier.

Did the drainage tile installation drain any land that was previously too wet to grow crops on?

Yes, 11 acres which I am growing crops on now. Before this ground was tiled, it seemed to always be wet. Now it is good cash crop land.

How many acres do you farm?

Between owned and rented, 400 acres.

How many acres are tiled?

On my owned land, 105 acres were tiled in 1981 — 60 acres of corn, 17 acres of hay, 15% acres of oats which was pre-cut off one week before the tiling installation was started. Also 11 acres of ground formerly too wet for planting or harvesting.

When did Nichols Farms install their first tile drainage system?

In August of 1981.

When did Nichols Farms complete the first tiling system?

In the summer of 1981.

What crops do you usually grow?

Corn, hay, oats.

Was harvesting normal and easy over the newly tiled ground?

Yes. The harvesting was relatively easy on the operator and the equipment.

More wheat abandoned in state

Additional abandonment of Michigan's winter wheat crop occurred during May as a result of prolonged dry weather.

An estimated 95,000 acres have been plowed up or abandoned, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. This is the largest loss since Michigan wheat growers abandoned 224,000 acres in 1918.

Presently, 600,000 acres are left for harvest, 28 percent less than the 830,000 acres combined in 1981.

Rain in late May benefited the acreage remaining for harvest. A predicted yield of 43 bushels per acre is unchanged from last month, which is 7 bushels below last year's record yield. The large abandonment and lower yields are limiting production to nearly 26 million bushels, down 6 percent from last month's forecast. Production this year is expected to be 38 percent below last season's record crop.

Nationally, winter wheat production is forecast at a record high 2.13 billion bushels, 2 percent above the previous record high production of 2.1 billion bushels set last year and 3 percent above last month's forecast.

Next time you see your independent Auto-Owners agent, ask him about our Replacement Cost Endorsement.

It just means that if you have personal possessions, lost or stolen, we'll pay you the replacement cost (up to 400% of its actual cash value) not just the original cost. And with inflation, that can add up to a big difference.

It's another reason why there's a big difference between Auto-Owners and some other insurance companies.

Traxler to seek 8th district seat

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, announced Monday he will seek to represent the Eighth Congressional District for another term.

Traxler will run for reelection in the recently re-apportioned eighth district. The new district is more populous, but by and large identical to the district he has represented for the past eight years. The new district, which was drawn by a federal district court, has a greater base of Democratic voters and can be expected to vote even more favorably for Traxler.

Traxler was first elected to Congress in a special election in 1974.

Over the past eight years, Traxler has reached a level of seniority where he is the ranking majority member on two powerful subcommittees of the House Appropriations Committee -- the subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development and Related Agencies and the Housing and Urban Development and Independent Agencies Subcommittee.

The new district includes all of Arenac, Bay, Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties and parts of four others.

Your Neighbor says

Village doesn't need added park land

The Cass City Village Council is considering the purchase of 1.6 acres of land that borders on the park and incorporating it for park use. (See story, page 1.)

Lori Sugden thinks it isn't necessary.

"I don't think the city needs that extra land for the park," Miss Sugden said.

"Cass City is already known for having the best park facilities around, and I think what we have is plenty."

"I don't think it would be worth the expenditure of buying the land and then tearing down the house."

The council considered selling nine acres of land at the south end of the village to offset funds needed to buy the acreage near the park.

"Even if they did sell that other land, I don't think it would be worth it," Miss Sugden said. "It seems like there should be some sort of a profit on the sale. But I don't think an even trade like that would be worth it."

"Cass City already has a big enough park area that is probably the biggest park around. I don't think the village should buy the land."

Miss Sugden, 18, uses the park for picnics and their family has a reunion there every two years. Her sister uses the tennis courts and the pool.

Miss Sugden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sugden of 5964 Cass City Road.

O-G board supports keeping Campbell as girls' cage coach

Money, student driving, coaching and marking periods filled a varied agenda at the Owendale-Gagetown School Board meeting Monday evening.

Most controversial was high school Principal and Athletic Director Wayne Wright's recommendation for the coaching staff for the 1982-83 school year.

He recommended one change, eventually withdrawn, to replace girls' basketball coach Judy Campbell with Dean Roller, who was the boys' junior varsity coach this past season.

Wright explained he had observed both coaches and didn't feel Miss Campbell, unlike Roller, was teaching the basics of the game to her players. "I just didn't see the fundamentals being taught." Her win-loss record was not a factor, he said.

During her first six years of coaching basketball, Miss

Campbell's teams won the league title three times and finished second three times, but in 1981, won only one game. She also coaches girls' volleyball and softball.

Those board members who spoke didn't care for Wright's recommendation. Jack Brinkman said the change would raise a "lot of flak" and result in loss of support for the school. "I think she did an excellent job," he added.

Joe Warack felt girls should be coached by a woman, board President Ronald Good didn't think very highly of Roller's coaching abilities and Patrick Goslin commented, "I can't see this either."

It was explained normal procedure would have called for Miss Campbell to appear at the board's July meeting before it acted on the coaching staff recommendations.

However, Wright will be on vacation then and because of the board's opposition, he withdrew his recommendation for the change.

He also presented his athletic budget. The 1981-82 sports program cost $13,180, versus $17,500 that had been budgeted, of which ticket sales and other reimbursements totaled $5,256. The rest of the cost was paid out of the general fund.

For 1982-83, Wright is recommending an athletic budget of $21,480, which includes $2,500 for purchase of new football uniforms and equipment and $750 for purchase of new volleyball uniforms and equipment.

SCHOOL RULES

The board tabled until July consideration of another recommendation of the principal, that six-week marking periods be changed to nine weeks.

He feels longer marking periods would give teachers more time to work with students between end of marking period tests. The elementary school presently has nine-week marking periods.

Board members appeared to favor keeping the six-week periods and maybe even changing the elementary school to the shorter marking periods. Their reasoning was that parents would have a better idea of how their children are doing if they receive grades every six weeks.

Wright reported on the work of the student handbook committee and asked if the board wanted to retain the ban listed in the old handbook on students driving their cars during school hours.

The policy was never enforced in the past, he said. "If we're not going to enforce it, I would like to take it out."

Supt. Ronald Erickson was among those expressing reservations about whether such a ban could be enforced, since students who drive to school can park their cars elsewhere. High school students are allowed to go "off campus" during the noon hour.

The board, leaning toward continuing the driving ban and enforcing it, voted to authorize the handbook committee to finalize a rule in the handbook and then bring it back for its consideration.

MONEY

The board authorized applying to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow $530,000, to be repaid out of next year's school taxes.

State law allows school districts to borrow up to half the amount they receive in property taxes for operations. Last year, Owen-Gage borrowed $395,000, but since then, voters have approved an increase of 5.25 mills in taxes, thus it can borrow more.

Receipt of the loan money, in July at the earliest, would enable Owen-Gage to reimburse them for back pay.

The school year ended with employees lacking four bi-weekly paychecks.

Erickson reported the district has a present balance on hand of $59,000 and owes $64,000, in addition to its legal expenses.

OTHER ITEMS

It was reported elementary teacher Kay Nguyen will be returning this fall from maternity leave.

The board discussed the possible layoff of a high school teacher due to decreased enrollment and what teacher would be let go.

The board voted to join the Michigan Coalition of Small Schools which it and Erickson are involved in organizing. Annual membership fee will be $1,000.

The money will go into an escrow account, to be returned if only a few districts join, which would make such an organization impractical. The organizational meeting is scheduled in Grayling in mid-August.

The board also voted to renew its membership in the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Erickson will check into the cost of installing ceiling fans in the two school gymnasiums and the high school cafeteria, which will save energy by circulating heated air which presently gathers near the ceilings.

Probably for next year, the board will review its policy of not charging summer softball leagues for use of the high school diamonds to cover the cost of lighting.

Sebewaing charges $10 per night, it was told, and Gagetown, $7.50, for use of their fields.

Brinkman asked if "no drinking" signs could be installed at the high school, since some persons at the summer games are drinking alcoholic beverages, which is a violation of the school regulations.

May student of the month is recent graduate Dan Ondrajka, who was selected for his hard work in school and in his school job.

THERE AREN'T ANYMORE left where these rhubarb plants came from because Steve Hurley, 12, of 6530 Main picked them all and took all the leaves. He found the plants behind his old house. His mother uses the rhubarb to make jam. His friend, Levi Lynch, 12, of 6532 E. Main (right) helped Steve harvest the treasure.

Storm batters area

Houses and barns were damaged and power outages were reported in Tuscola and Sanilac Counties as a result of the wind and rainstorm which passed through the area Tuesday.

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department reports two houses were destroyed and two others and a mobile home, damaged by a tornado in the Silverwood area.

The damage was centered in Fremont, Dayton and Koylton Townships. The destroyed houses were located at Mayville Road near Maple Grove and Phillips Roads.

The sheriff's department also reported three barns damaged or destroyed in the same area. In the Caro area, individual power outages were reported and a few roads were washed out in the county by heavy rains.

A tornado watch was issued at 2:30 p.m. A watch means conditions exist for a tornado. A tornado warning, signaling that a tornado has been spotted, was in effect from 4:51-6:30 p.m. Elkland Township Fire Department trucks were dispersed as a precautionary measure in case a tornado should hit the fire hall and so fire firefighters could serve as lookouts. They spotted a funnel cloud several miles east of Cass City shortly after 6 p.m. traveling south.

The fire alarm sounded at 5:15 p.m. due to a reported fire at Hills and Dales General Hospital. A smoke detector had gone off for an undetermined reason and firefighters didn't find any fire.

The Cass City wastewater treatment plant outside Cass City reported 1.15 inches of rain fell on the area during the storm.

The Sanilac County Sheriff's Department reported some barns in Watertown Township, south of Sandusky, suffered severe damage due to high winds.

The sheriff's department also reported some power lines were down when utility poles were snapped by high winds.

The Sandusky Station Police post in Sandusky, reported power lines down south of Sandusky causing a power outage in that area.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Cass City police reported an accident at 5:45 p.m. last Thursday which involved three vehicles.

Based on the account of a witness and one of the other drivers involved, officers said Norman J. Peters, 17, of 5433 Pringle Road, Decker, eastbound on Pine Street, stopped at Maple Street, then accelerated through the intersection, spinning his wheels.

His car swerved. Scott R. Wilmot, 18, of 4970 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, who was westbound, pulled into the intersection to avoid the Peters vehicle and collided with the car of Rodney L. Wakefield, 18, of 6240 Lakeside Drive, who was southbound on Maple.

At 11:40 a.m. that day, according to police, Lillian F. Hanby, 70, of 6257 Lakeside, was backing from a driveway onto Seeger Street, north of Garfield Street, and backed into a southbound car.

Driver of the southbound auto was Eva A. Sheufelt, 63, of 3776 Brown Road, Owendale.

A passenger in the Sheufelt car, Barbara M. Schmidt, 28, of 3863 Nottor Road, Owendale, was reported to have suffered possible injuries.

At 12:11 p.m. last Thursday, village officers reported, Christopher S. Hurford, 16, of 4215 Maple Street, was eastbound on Main Street, west of West Street, when his car was hit by a water balloon someone threw at it.

He lost control of his car and it struck a parked car owned by Gerald Hurshburger of 1900 Hawkins Street, Deford.

Cass City police said that at 1:10 p.m. Monday, Cindy Lou Ramirez, 21, of 6576 Shabbona Road, Deford, was backing from a parking place at the Big D Restaurant and the left side of her car sideswiped a utility pole.

Tuscola County deputies reported that at 12:43 p.m. Friday, Alan D. Humes, 25, of E. Caro Road, Caro, was backing southbound from his driveway and backed into the vehicle of Roger D. Pugh, 29, of 350 Froede Road, Deford.

Pugh had just pulled out from a neighbor's driveway and was halted on the north shoulder, headed east, waiting for traffic to clear before pulling onto the road.

Linda J. Kritzman, 37, of 5580 Robinson Road, Cass City, was eastbound on Deckerville Road, east of Murray Road, at 3:30 a.m. Saturday when her car struck a deer, according to deputies.

Council mulls purchase

year, it's hard to see how we can afford to buy this land, Hampshire feels.

Village President Lambert Althaver said that the excessive cost for road construction today prohibits building without a grant and that would not change regardless of the decision about the purchase.

Hampshire said a fireman told him there are eight or nine hydrants that don't work in the village and they need repair.

While acknowledging there are several hydrants not working, LaPonsie said as far as he knew every home in the village has water available to it from neighboring hydrants.

A discussion concerning the 8.9 undeveloped acres the village owns at the foot of Woodland and Garfield Streets was held.

If a lift station were established to get sewer and water to the site, it was thought that perhaps the land could be sold for development. The village also owns about five acres that was the former Cass City dump site.

Mrs. Stahlbaum said that a survey should be made to determine whether the neighbors want this type of building in the residential zoned district of Main Street.

Not firmly in either camp but leaning towards the purchase are Elwyn Helwig and Mike Weaver. Weaver said the $41,900 for an individual was a lot of money but when considered in the village budget, it wasn't that much, especially when the favorable terms are considered.

The village can buy the property for $10,000 down and $7,975 a year for four years at 11 percent interest.

New books at the library

WAR BRIDES by Lois Battle (fiction). Three Australian brides are bound for America, where their GIs await them. Sheila and Dawn, spirited young women, share a dream of new love and new beginnings. Gaynor, poised and hauntingly beautiful, flees a bitter past. In her desperate search for glamour, she turns from her husband to his father, a powerful millionaire and womanizer. A compelling drama of three women who struggle to preserve their youthful hopes in a strange country amidst broken promises and unmet dreams.

WITNESS TO POWER by John D. Ehrlichman (non-fiction). Insider John Ehrlichman provides a definitive account of the Nixon Presidency, beginning with the electoral triumph and ending with Watergate. The author covers the roles of Henry Kissinger, Bob Haldeman, John Dean, John Mitchell and others, while still focusing on the personality of Nixon himself. A story of the fascination and misuses of power, the book is political history and part autobiography.

THE HURRIED CHILD: Growing up Too Fast Too Soon, by David Elking (non-fiction). Elking, chairman of the Child Development Department at Tufts University, offers a concerned look at the effects contemporary society's increasing pressures can have on children. Relying heavily on Piaget's theories of development, Elking maintains that parents, the school system and the media inflict on children more stress than they are equipped to cope with, as well as an excess of information they cannot yet understand or assimilate. Children are limited by their own stage of development, which Elking insists must not be forced prematurely. He gives sound advice for parents to examine their motives in pushing their children to excel, since this stress, added to the normal stresses of the maturing process, can result in confusion, repressed anger and emotional disturbances.

Kolacz dies at 90

Casper Kolacz of Deford died unexpectedly Monday, at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

He was born December 5, 1891, in Poland, the son of Joseph and Anna Kolacz, and came to the Detroit area when he was in his 20's.

He was a member of St. Pancratius Catholic Church of Cass City. He served with the U.S. Army during World War I.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Leonard (Sophia) Beach of Port Hope and Mrs. Walter (Jennie) Pasternak of Warren; three sons, John Kolacz of Bay City, Joseph F. Kolacz of Westland and William Kolacz of Deford; sixteen grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

A wake service was scheduled Wednesday at 7 at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral mass will be Thursday at 11 a.m. from St.

Pancratius Catholic Church of Cass City with Father Joseph Morales, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in St. Michael's Cemetery, Wilmet.

Umphrey to run in 77th

Bad Axe attorney James M. Umphrey has announced he is a Republican candidate for the 77th Representative District comprising of Huron and most of Tuscola County.

Umphrey, 58, served nine years as Huron County prosecutor and was president of the Michigan Prosecutors Association and a director of the National District Attorneys Association.

He also served two terms as a member of the Central Michigan University Board of Directors and was twice elected chairman of that body, and has had the opportunity to testify before legislative committees and participate in the legislative process.

Umphrey has practiced law in Huron County since 1951 and during that time has been actively interested in the Republican Party. He is a former county and district Republican chairman.

A veteran of World War II, Umphrey flew against the Japanese in the South Pacific and is a member of the Liberator Club. A Rotarian, Umphrey enjoys golfing and sailing and is also a part-time newspaper columnist.

Umphrey is married to the former Barbara Merrill of Mount Pleasant. The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Mary Rooney of Bad Axe, and Martha, a student at Northwestern University.

Primaries packed with candidates

With the retirement of two senior legislators and a reapportionment of districts, the primary races in August have attracted a crowd of candidates.

Filing deadline for the Aug. 10 primary was 4 p.m. Tuesday.

The only district with no opposition is the eighth Michigan Congressional district where U.S. Rep. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, will keep his seat.

The district includes Sanilac, Huron, Tuscola, Bay and Arenac Counties along with sections of Saginaw, Lapeer and Genesee Counties.

In the new 77th state House of Representatives district, which consists of all of Huron County and all of Tuscola except Arbel, Millington and Watertown Townships in the southwest corner of the county, nine candidates are running.

Eight of them are Republicans: Attorney John Neeb, II, Harbor Beach; farmer and factory worker Richard Dehm, Caro; Cass City Intermediate School Principal Robert Stickle; James Binder, Caro; attorney James Umphrey, Bad Axe; Tuscola County Advertiser Editor Dick Allen, Fairgrove; Timothy Good, Gagetown, and attorney Terry Lee Houthoofd, Unionville, who also ran for the seat in 1980.

The winner of the primary will face Democrat James McCann, Akron, who is trying for the fourth time to win the seat. McCann is the Tuscola County veteran's affairs counselor and emergency services coordinator.

The seat is being vacated by retiring State Rep. Loren Armbruster, R-Caro.

Four candidates are running in the state House 78th district which consists of all of Sanilac County and part of St. Clair County.

They are incumbent State Rep. Keith Muxlow, Brown City; William J. Pettingill, Port Huron, and Sanilac County Commissioner Les Kraft, Marlette, all Republicans, and Democrat Richard Davies of Melvin.

In the 34th district Senate race, five candidates are running. The new district consists of Tuscola, Huron, Bay, Arenac, and Gladwin Counties.

Those running in the Republican primary are Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel, Caro; Roger Eckhardt, Bay City, and George Johnson, Omer.

The winner will face either State Rep. James Barcia, Bay City, or Kathleen Asher, Vassar, in the Nov. 2 general election.

The race for the 28th state Senate district has three candidates. The new district consists of Sanilac, St. Clair, and Lapeer Counties.

Those running are State Rep. Dan DeGrow, Port Huron, and Paul Hoisington, Imlay City, both Republicans, and Democrat Geraldine Lyszyk Filburn, Port Huron.

The retiring senator from the upper Thumb is Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon.

Taking stock

Dear Boss:

Well, we got the laundry back and your far-flung reporter has been flung again—this time as far west as we could go without wading.

It was heartening to note on the flight out that the stewardesses are growing old and portly even as I am. Not all of them, but enough to make my condition reassuring and comfortable.

Not to be sitting idle whilst on company time and your $10 weekly expense allowance, I continued my research to learn how airlines can get the silverware so cold and the airplane so warm.

One theory is that the utensils are dangled in a net over the glaciers in the Rocky Mountains. This is absurd. The knives and forks are fully as cold on the Lauderdale-Tampa run.

It is a mark of our decadent society I should be complaining about such a trifle, when there are people right here in Boca Raton who wear their $50 neckties the second time.

Anyway, some cuff-notes on everybody's favorite city — San Francisco:

Cable car fares are now $1. Sales tax in the city is 7 percent. State income tax is up to 17 percent.

The U.S. Army, to escape pressure to open its Presidio Yacht Club to the public, proposed changing the name to the U.S. Army Small Boat Facility.

Commodore Fred Bold (Col. USA, Ret.) objects, saying, "Who wants to be a commodore of a 'Small Boat Facility'?"

We asked eight long-time residents of the town if they had visited these great attractions in the area: Planetarium, the Zoo, Muir Woods, St. Mary's Cathedral, the new Symphony Hall, and the Aquarium.

Of the eight, Bob Lewis said he went to the zoo once eight years ago. That was all.

St. Mary's, incidentally, is a handsome (and controversial) structure which looks less like a Catholic Church than any I have visited.

The exterior dome is a pinched and fluted structure that has a curious resemblance to the agitator in a washing machine, and indeed, the irreverent call the place St. Bendix.

Street scene: Man with a sandwich board advertising that he wanted a spouse. Not a bad looking fellow, either. Shouldn't have had to advertise. Maybe there were defects not obvious to passers-by.

A police dragnet caught a bunch of seventh graders operating a porno ring at school, selling feathery peccaries.

I recall my own days in the seventh grade when the underwear illustrations in Sears and Roebuck's catalog satisfied the vicarious.

Down on the Monterey Peninsula, we found The Lodge at Carmel listing California wines at $28 a bottle, and doing so unashamedly.

Example: Robert Mondavi's Pinot Chardonnay. I have bought the stuff at the store for $8. Last time I ordered it at the ritzy La Vieille Maison here in town, it was $14.

Quite in line with these prices were some prints of the famed photographer, Ansel Adams, displayed to mark the 80th birthday of this great capturer of outdoor scenes.

I had told my baby sister and her husband Fred that they could expect to see prices of $300 or $400 on these pictures because Mr. Adams was so great. There were some pure beauties of Half Dome and El Capitan and Yosemite Falls, and scenes along the Merced River in Yosemite Valley.

One, titled "Horizontal Aspens," caught my eye. "How much?" I asked the clerk.

"Twelve thousand dollars." And the aspens weren't horizontal at all. They stood up, straight as arrows, while I toppled over.

Inscriptions on plaques in the San Juan Batista Mission . . . "Reverend Jacinto Lopez — he came in August, 1800. In October, earthquakes occurred daily for 19 days. Because of poor health, he left in 1801." (I would have felt unwell, too, under the circumstances.)

Another: "Reverend J. Mouno — a quiet, patient man. He came in 1830 and left in 1833." (For a man of the cloth, that's patience?)

Eye tracking

The blink of an eye may soon replace the use of hands in controlling computer-based equipment that steers aircraft, operates power plants and directs industrial robots.

Known as "eye tracking," this technology may someday permit amputees to instruct artificial limbs to move through eye movements. Eye tracking devices have been used for years by the advertising industry to determine how people react to advertisements.
