

A BIG BANG from the 1st Marine Band's riflemen, who use muzzle loaders, was part of the mini-concert at Main and Seeger Streets Sunday, which attracted a large crowd, most of which was out of camera range. The riflemen fired again several times as the band played excerpts from the 1812 Overture during its 5 p.m. concert in the park.

Cutbacks cost 15 state jobs

The latest layoff of state employees has meant that 15 workers in Tuscola County have lost their jobs.

Inability of the state to reach agreement on wage concessions with the Michigan State Employees Association, the largest union representing state workers, resulted in Gov. Milliken recently ordering the layoff of 1,700 persons.

Most of the cuts were in the Department of Social Services, where 906 persons are losing their jobs, and Department of Mental Health, 250.

What that meant in Tuscola County is that five employees at the county DSS are now unemployed and at the Regional Center, 10 positions will be abolished.

"Our staff has been down to what was considered a bare bones staff before we were ordered to lay off the extra personnel," said Andreas S. Heath, an administrative officer at the Caro Regional Center, which is operated by the mental health department.

The cuts at the center will come in the areas of nursing, maintenance, motor vehicle operations, and social work.

Three nurses, three maintenance workers and one psychologist, social worker, motor vehicle operator and mail room worker will be laid off.

"Some of the positions that are being cut this time will become abolished positions," Heath said. This means that the positions will not be re-filled anymore. Ten positions in the developmentally disabled category will be abolished due to layoffs.

Heath explained there had already been a freeze on hiring for the past two years, but coupled with the continued rounds of layoffs, the staff at the center has decreased by 300 employees in the last two years.

He said there are currently 600 workers at the center, 545 of which work with mentally retarded

NO RIDES -- With no money available for student transportation this coming school year in the Cass City district, transportation director Jim Fox (foreground), assisted by Michael Groosbeck, has been removing batteries from the buses, which are being parked behind the high school for the year (below). The only transportation provided will be to take high school students to and from the Tuscola Area Skill Center near Caro.

Huron, Sanilac may have antlerless deer season

Hunters in Huron and Sanilac Counties may have an easier time getting the prize deer this year if a proposed plan to allow antlerless hunting there is approved.

Bud Jarvis, Department of Natural Resources area wildlife biologist, is proposing an antlerless season for hunters in the two counties in an effort to reduce the deer population. The proposal came about because of an increase in the number of complaints by area farmers regarding crop and land damage due to deer.

The proposal will be submitted to the wildlife division staff at its July 19 meeting in Lansing. If it is approved by the staff, it will then be submitted to the Natural Resource Commission for its approval before it is authorized for the two counties.

Antlerless deer hunting is currently allowed in Tuscola County, but not in Huron and Sanilac counties. Jarvis said hunting of bucks has a minimal effect on decreasing the deer population and as a result, the number of deer has increased dramatically. To bring the size of the deer population back to normal, antlerless deer hunting permits will be sold allowing hunters to kill does.

The DNR has received numerous complaints from landowners in Huron and Sanilac Counties, mainly farmers, who have listed revenue losses as high as $3,000-4,000 worth because of deer. Some of the complaints have been from Tuscola County farmers also, but these have all been from farms which are located within two miles of the Huron and Sanilac county borders.

This along with other factors indicates an increasing population of deer that is moving south for more room.

Another indicator Jarvis pointed out that helped him justify his proposal is the number of deer-car accidents. The total is much higher in Huron County as compared to Sanilac and Tuscola Counties which have higher traffic flows.

Conservation officers in the areas record how many deer they have seen in a particular work time and this is calculated on a whole for the county as deer seen per 100 working hours.

The number of deer recorded in Huron County per 100 hours was over 400, the highest number for any county in the state.

These indicators all point out a high deer population. A population which is feeding and reproducing well, and whose numbers are increasing at a rapid rate, Jarvis explained.

Last year, there were an estimated 2,800 antlerless permits estimated sold in Tuscola County, and approximately 600 such deer

Crowds jam Cass City for festival

The fourth annual Cass City Fourth of July Festival is considered a success by festival planners even though it may end up "closer to the red" in the ledgers than expected.

The festival is paid for by revenues from various events, such as the tractor pull and horse show this year and from entry fees paid by participants such as arts and crafts vendors and concessionaires.

But the biggest money maker for the festival is the beer tent and this year, the tent did not do nearly as much business as was hoped for according to Ken Jensen, beer tent chairman.

"Friday night was outstanding (when the Irish Gaels performed), Saturday night was awful, (a polka band performed) and Sunday was fair (a soft rock band played)," Jensen explained. "We probably would have been better off plugging in a country and western band in place of the polka band."

The money from the beer tent was expected to pay for the fireworks and the 1st Marine Band, two new attractions this year.

"There is no way the money from the tent will come close to paying those bills," Jensen said.

Operation of the beer tent went smoothly with no problems at all, he said. Jensen estimated attendance at a total of about 1,200 persons, but admitted the tent could have handled at least 2,000 more.

"The tent made some money, but not what was expected. We will have to make some tough decisions on the beer tent for 1983."

Festival Chairman Mike Weaver said the tent would have to be run differently, possibly with different bands, but he was not sure exactly what changes would be made.

"When we lose two-thirds of the profit on our biggest money maker (the beer tent), then we could very well end up in the red this year," Weaver said. "But I don't want to commit myself to a definite yes, because we did make money on the tractor pull and the horse show."

"The festival overall was a success. The two days of events were well attended and went very well especially the Marine Band," he said.

THE FESTIVAL BEGAN Friday evening with the queen pageant in the Cass City High School cafeteria and the 5-mile run.

Chosen to be the festival queen for the fourth annual festival was Ellen Palmer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Palmer. The pageant attracted a full house. Tammy Connolly was first runner-up and named Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants. Colleen Janssen was second runner-up.

The grand parade Saturday afternoon went "very smooth," parade co-chairman Al Klico said. "The workers that helped were the best we ever had."

The one hour and 10 minute parade had about 80 entries. The weather drew a lot of people to the parade, Klico said.

"I think we have proved this year that we can be big, and now we have to continue to present quality. We have to be more picky about our outside floats," Klico said.

Three sour points in the parade, according to Klico, were that there was not enough music, and that a motorcycle drill team from Pontiac backed out at the last minute, as did a Scottish Band from Flint, both because of rain in that part of the state.

For the first time in the short history of the July 4th festivals, the planners included fireworks as an attraction. The 35-minute show began at dark Saturday for the large crowd. The planning committee paid $1,850 to a professional from Belding to put on the show.

Architect may be hired for downtown planning

Revitalization of downtown Cass City could take a big step forward if application for a federal grant to hire an architect is approved.

If that happens, even after the economy improves, it won't mean a major change downtown. Being talked about is having a design plan prepared and possible means of financing outlined for merchants who voluntarily want to renovate their stores.

The application for $4,500 in federal small cities community development block grant funds was mailed last Thursday, after having been approved by the village council Tuesday, June 29.

If the grant is approved, the Cass City Chamber of Commerce will donate $1,350 as the required local share.

Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie said he hopes to know within 30 days if the request has been approved by the Michigan Department of Commerce, which administers the program.

If the money is received, the chamber has decided to hire Wilkins and Wheaton Engineering Co. of Kalamazoo to prepare a development plan.

Various merchants and village officials met with three firms before deciding to hire Wilkins and Wheaton.

The first firm interviewed, in January, had been responsible for much of the Swiss chalet look in downtown Gaylord and is presently working on a "gaslight turn of the century" theme in Sandusky.

Wilkins and Wheaton was finally selected, LaPonsie said, after he, banker Phil Keating and merchants Gerald Prieskorn and Tom Proctor visited Allegan and Plainwell, where the firm has done or is doing renovation projects in the downtown areas.

Those involved in making the selection, Prieskorn said, felt the firm was the most organized and the city managers in the two communities they visited said it followed through on what it started.

IF THE FEDERAL grant is received Wilkins and Wheaton will do the following, according to a letter to LaPonsie from its vice-president, Kenneth C. Dettloff, following his visit here:

- 1) Preparation of a central business district facade master plan (drawings of what revitalized downtown buildings might look like).
- 2) Investigation and feasibility determination of such financing tools as downtown development authority, Small Business Administration loans, tax increment financing, economic development corporation and tax abatement programs.
- 3) Preparation of financing package for building improvements.
- 4) Identification of potential revenue sources.
- 5) Presentation of the complete program to merchants.
- 6) Identification of merchant support involving private sector financing and new employment commitments.

7) Recommendations on project feasibility. Prieskorn held out hope that if the federal grant isn't obtained, local funds might be used to at least hire the

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Tom Sutter had the needle out last week when he told me that this column should be called Rabbit Track instead of Tracks because of its length. Ouch!

Bumped into Larry McClorey at the courthouse the other day. The friendly former employee at Walbro Corporation is recovering from a heart attack after being given up for lost.

He says he has his good and bad days, but he looks the same to me now as he did before his illness.

The weather for the Festival was great and no one's complaining, but why did it have to get H-O-T the day after the vacation weekend was over?

In 1975 the Hofstedt family moved from Cass City and daughters of the Hofstedt and Sherman families vowed to keep in touch.

What's unusual about the vow of pre-teen kids is that they did it. The Gene Hofstedts now live in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Every week since '75 the girls took turns calling each other. The girls graduated from high school this spring and Moira Hofstedt received a unique graduation present from her parents. It was a month's visit to Cass City where she is now visiting and saying hello in person to her friend, Ruby.

Spectators may have thought they were seeing double when they saw Tammy Connolly and Colleen Janssen at the beginning and the end of the July 4th parade.

Miss Connolly and Miss Janssen, first and second runners-up in the queen contest rode in cars behind the queen at the head of the parade. From the park, they went back to Dorothy Stahlbaum's house, queen's contest vice-chairman, to change into their cheerleader's uniforms.

They then joined the Cass City High School varsity cheerleaders as they went through the parade route near the end of the lineup of entries.

DISTRICT ROTARY governor Carl Hendershot of Bay City, left, presented a certificate to Lambert Althaver signifying he is a Rotary Fellow. The award means that $1,000 has been donated in his name to the Rotary Foundation, a fund used for scholarships. Holly Althaver holds a pin which she later placed on her husband's coat. Althaver is the sixth member of Cass City Rotary to receive the award.

Dedication postponed

The dedication of the arts and crafts building in the Cass City Recreation Park in honor of Dr. Delbert E. Rawson, scheduled to take place during the July 4th festival, originally Sunday and changed to Saturday, had to be postponed.

The reason is that he was on vacation. The dedication will be conducted later this month.

Pick a sweet orange by examining the navel. Choose the ones with the biggest holes.

PRESIDENT-ELECT Tom Proctor presented a plaque and gavel to retiring president Ken Jensen at a party held at Ubyl. The installation was one of the highlights of the dinner held for members, Rotary Anns and guests.

Lions install new officers

The Cass City Lions Club installation of 1982-83 officers and new members was held at Bay Valley Inn, Bay City, Sunday, June 27. Sunday brunch was enjoyed before the ceremonies.

Robert Copeland received the Lion of the Year Award for outstanding service and devotion to the club and Lionism.

A special award in the form of a life membership was given to Ron Keegan, club secretary, for dedication and service, to the club and Lionism.

Perfect attendance awards were distributed to 20 members. New officers installed were: president, Gary Jones; first vice-president, Bob Green; second vice-president, Curt Strickland; third vice-president, Mike Shaft; treasurer, Bob Copeland, and secretary, Ron Keegan.

Directors installed for new two-year terms were Ted Jantz, Wayne Dillon and John Maharg. Directors who will be serving the final year of their two-year terms are George Heins, Kim Glaspie and Russ Biefer.

New members are Mike Bigelow, Terry King, Billy Coston, Ray Armstead Jr. and Harold Roth.

The Haire Net

One of the grey areas in the news business is when to withhold names on letters written to the editor.

The balance between presenting a reader viewpoint and providing a shield for the writer who wants to get an idea across is delicate.

Two weeks ago the news department crossed that bridge again in a letter written about the council. It caused considerable debate and after it was published the question remains. Was the choice right?

Certainly a writer of a critical letter will take some heat. But then so do members of the council who make controversial decisions like buying land for the park.

I'm sure that they would have preferred to act without the glare of public opinion, especially since the majority were probably against the purchase.

But taking heat goes with the territory and if they can't stand it the old cliché applies, get out of the kitchen.

There's another reason why signed letters in the paper are much preferred. They're more effective.

There's a tendency, well deserved, to disregard letters without names. If the writer won't stand up and be counted the letter can't count for much either.

The letter with the name withheld two weeks ago sparked one reader to come in to find out who wrote it.

He thought that if he asked, the freedom of information act would automatically give him the right to secure the name.

That's not true, of course, and now that the decision was made to withhold the name wild horses couldn't pull it from any one of the news staff. That's true even though there was disagreement about whether to publish the letter at all without the name.

It's also true that once the decision is made there's no turning back. You can't erase it, you live with it just like you do with mistakes that creep into stories despite continual checking and rechecking.

It would be a much easier business if we didn't care. There are small town newspapers that print only the "good" news and leave out anything that might cause an advertiser to slip away or a subscriber to become angry.

Over the years we've offended both because we feel a newspaper has a responsibility to the community. We try to be fair and in 30 years feel that the community has come to believe that we are unbiased.

With one exception all have overcome temporary resentment and been patrons and supporters of the paper.

For that we are grateful because without it no paper can survive, least of all the Chronicle.

"If It Fitz..."

ERA and prohibition

By Jim Fitzgerald

If the Equal Rights Amendment ever becomes law, Phyllis Schlafly will become a bootlegger.

When the ERA failed in Illinois last week, Schlafly told a reporter the defeat was "what people really want. ERA is a hopeless cause - it will take its place in history alongside Prohibition."

Apparently, she believes the majority of citizens want unequal rights today the same way they wanted booze during Prohibition.

The constitutional amendment prohibiting alcoholic beverages failed because people are going to drink liquor no matter what the law forbids. That's what Jimmy Cagney and other expert anthropologists decreed. After all, if there were no booze, what would happen to the bump shops and morticians who depend upon the drunken driver for their livelihood?

Similarly, an amendment prohibiting sexual discrimination would fail because Phyllis Schlafly is never going to leave home without her husband's permission no matter what the law forbids. That's what Schlafly herself says. After all, if there were no sexual discrimination, what would happen to the ovens that depend on barefoot, pregnant women to tend them when the timer buzzes?

Schlafly begins all her public speeches with the same line: "I want to thank my husband, Fred, for letting me come here." When People magazine asked her why, she said, "Because it's true, and because it irritates the women's libbers more than anything."

A women's libber might not be anywhere near her kitchen when the oven timer buzzes. She could be in a hospital working as an obstetrics nurse, for $6 an hour, to supplement the income of her husband, Tom the truck driver, who makes $15 an hour. Worst of all, she could have left home without Tom's permission.

Such radical conduct would become commonplace if the ERA passed. Our nation would be overrun by women doing things without their husbands' permission. The hills would be alive with the sound of unanswered oven buzzers. It is interesting to speculate on how Phyllis Schlafly would react to such a revolting development.

When faced with Prohibition, Jimmy Cagney gave the people what they really wanted by bootlegging booze made in local bathtubs or smuggled in from wet foreign countries. Schlafly's mission would be similar if the government forbade sexual discrimination to people who really wanted it. She would bootleg unequal rights.

Phyllis could make effective use of Fred. She could send him to homes where the husband, afraid of breaking ERA law, refused to order the wife to stay home. Fred could do it for him. It would be easy to locate these homes, simply by patrolling neighborhoods and listening for the sound of women begging to be chained.

Or Phyllis could smuggle in foreign men from nations where women must wear veils, walk several steps behind their husbands and never leave home without an oven timer. These smuggled husbands would be made available to all U.S. women yearning for the subjugation forbidden them by the ERA.

Deprived women could arrange assignation with bootlegged men by knocking on cellar doors and whispering into peepholes: "Phyllis sent me." These underground establishments could be identified by a discreet sign: "Yokes Fixed Here."

But that is speculation, based on what could happen if Phyllis Schlafly lost the fight against ERA. For now, she has won, and some concerned people are remembering that one result of Prohibition's failure is Alcoholics Anonymous.

People who drink too much can quit drinking by getting together regularly and telling each other they drink too much. Now that ERA has failed, it is feared many women may similarly overindulge on unequal rights. Because they no longer have to fear that their husbands will let them leave home, pleasure-crazed wives could become seriously addicted to oven timers.

They could probably cure themselves by getting together and telling each other that Phyllis Schlafly is a fool, with Fred's permission.

4-H Livestock Club reunion picnic Sunday

The Cass City 4-H Livestock Club, which is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year, will conduct a reunion picnic Sunday, starting at 1 p.m. in the Cass City Recreation Park.

Signs will indicate the location of the event.

Past members of the club and their families are invited to attend, along with the present members.

Persons attending should bring a dish to pass and silverware.

Former members are asked to bring old photographs of winners with their animals and of club activities.

Mrs. George Cooklin, telephone 872-3564, is also seeking old photographs, stories and other information to compile for a history of the club.

The Livestock Club is the oldest 4-H club in Tuscola County.

PULL-OFF -- Jerry Howard's mare, "Nel," had an easy time Saturday outpulling the 13 horsepower three-wheel all-terrain vehicle driven by Ben Benkelman, conducted as part of the Thumb Draft Horse Association's show Saturday. Benkelman's big problem was trying to keep the front wheel of the ATV on the ground.

BACKING UP is hard for some persons who drive cars. Try doing it with horses. Backing a two-horse team and wagon in a space marked by four barrels was one of the maneuvers required in the farmers' hitch class at the Thumb Draft Horse Association show Saturday. This was the Johnson Farms entry from Otisville.

Draft horse show

Sponsors happy with first event

The first show conducted by the Thumb Draft Horse Association attracted quite a bit of attention for a club that was formed only a year ago.

"I was very satisfied with the way the show went," said Dick Enos, chairman of the horse show, which was Saturday at the Fourth Festival. "There was a lot of cooperation and the events were all well attended."

According to Enos, close to 65 horses showed up for judging in 10 classes and a horse pull competition.

The association covers an area north of Detroit, south of Bay City, and east of I-75 and has about 93 members. The members all own either Percheron, Belgian or Clydesdale horses.

Crowds were estimated at several hundred in the morning and roughly the same amount attended the afternoon show of horse pulling, a grudge match between a horse and a three-wheel all-terrain vehicle (the horse won) and hitch classes (horses pulling wagons).

"For some of the competition in the halter class, we had larger crowds than show up for the international draft horse show in Detroit which is supposed to be the biggest in North America," Enos said.

Winners in the show categories were: Geldings of all ages: First, Bob Burns, Decker; second, John Maurer, Ugly Aged mares, four years and older: First, Maureen Parker, Imley City; second Paul Gehring, Harbor Beach.

Three years old and under mares: First, Earl Johnson Otisville; second, Gehring. Best barefoot: First, Gehring; second, William Ridley, Snover.

Foal class: First, Parker; second, Richard Enos, Cass City.

Farmer's hitch class: First, Burns; second, DeLong Dairy Farm, Cass City.

Best matched team, First Burns; second, Joe Kutchey, Washington.

Four-horse hitch class: Enos Farm Supply, Cass City.

Six horse hitch class: Kutchey.

Single cart class: First, Burns; second, DeLong Dairy Farm.

In the lightweight pull, first place was won by Harry Roehl of Smith's Creek, with Walt Lang, Port Austin, second.

In the heavyweight pull, Dennis Englehardt, Gagetown, was first and Walt Putnam, Caro, second.

First place winners were presented trophies by Vickie Clements, Michigan Draft Horse Queen. Second place winners were awarded whips and bags of feed for their horses.

The judge was El. Smith, a Belgian breeder from Laingsburg.

15 lose state jobs in county due to cutbacks

persons, 25 in the psychiatric unit, seven in community placement, and 23 in managerial positions.

The psychiatric unit for persons who are mentally ill is slated to be phased out next year, along with three other state care centers due to budget cuts. The others are in Plymouth, Pontiac and Kalamazoo.

ALONG WITH THE drop in personnel there has been a drop in the amount of persons who are treated at the regional center.

Three years ago, the center cared for 700 residents. This year, that number has dropped to 445. It is scheduled to drop to 328 patients by Sept. 30, 1984.

This is all part of a plan by the state to move patients from centers to less restrictive environments, according to Heath. Those are smaller institutions with fewer patients and workers, thus making for more personalized care and better assimilation into society.

ANOTHER NEGATIVE aspect of the recent layoffs is the threat to the center's certification status.

The Michigan Department of Public Health evaluates state institutions twice a year to make sure they comply with federal standards. If a facility does not comply, it will lose federal funding.

"The loss of professional positions such as psychologists, physical therapists or occupational therapists will threaten our chances of remaining a certified facility," Heath said.

The ratio of workers to patients is also at minimum required levels, and that might result in a loss of federal funding.

The current ratio is 1.25 workers per patient, which is "at or slightly below minimum standards," according to Heath.

THE PLIGHT AT THE regional center is echoed at the Tuscola County Department of Social Services office near Caro.

The department will lose five workers due to the recent cuts, four in social work and counseling areas, and one in assistance payments to clients.

The layoffs reduce the department's work force to 56, a 10 percent reduction.

"These layoffs are coming in the areas that are most important," said Onalee Detwiler, director of the Tuscola office. "The cuts are in the areas where workers provide direct services to clients."

As a result, there has been a switch from workers going to the client's home, which is regarded as a better working environment for social worker and client both, to clients going to the offices at the department.

"There has been a cut in our mileage allocation, and this is forcing us to do more of our work at the office," Detwiler said.

EVEN WITH THE reduction of social workers, the caseload has been stable.

"The Aid to Families with Dependent Children caseload has been about the same, but the quantity of work per case is increasing," she said.

Mrs. Detwiler pointed out the reason for the stable number of cases in these hard economic times is the fact that there were changes in eligibility requirements and a general tightening up on programs. The programs are more restrictive, and many persons are no longer eligible.

Even with weeding out the ranks of people receiving aid, the economic situation has forced more to apply for general assistance and this has resulted in a stable caseload.

"Everyone has the right to apply, and we have to serve everyone," Mrs. Detwiler said, "even with our reduced staff."

BIBLICAL BARTER -- Shopping was heavy June 25 in the Jerusalem marketplace in the basement of the Salem United Methodist Church. The marketplace ended the vacation Bible school for children from the Salem and Trinity churches.

Bible school has Biblical market

Children attending the joint Salem and Trinity United Methodist Churches Bible school June 21-25 learned about the way of life of persons in Jesus' time by living it.

The youngsters, ages 6-12, learned how to make sandals and money pouches, and how to bake bread and make stew and unleavened crackers, foods eaten in those times. They were also taught dances and songs.

Attendance averaged 35-40 at each of the morning classes, which were held at the Salem Church.

The class ended June 25 with the youngsters wearing Biblical costumes made from sheets or bathrobes and visiting the Biblical marketplace in the church basement.

During the week, the students earned coins for learning verses, attendance, saying prayers, getting water in jugs, etc. The coins were then spent in the marketplace for food and other items.

Co-chairmen of the "Jerusalem marketplace" Bible school were Terri Weir and Betty Murphy, educational chairman of Salem and Trinity churches respectively.

Four or five youngsters were each assigned to an "ema" for the week. "Ema" is the Hebrew word for mother. Serving as emas were Pam Ross, Dorothy Knight, Gladys Albee, Beatrice Baker and Joan Merchant from Trinity and Shirley Lynch, Muriel Addison, Terri Weir, Irma Jacobs and Barbara Engel from Salem. Donna Wachterhauser taken by hunters. This has resulted in a feeling by the DNR that the deer population is more in line with food and farmers in Tuscola County.

Antlerless season

Jarvis said if the plan is approved for Huron and Sanilac Counties, approximately 1,200 permits will be issued, which will result in 300 antlerless deer taken from the two counties. The figure is based on an estimate of one antlerless deer taken from every three square miles.

"What the department is trying to do is cut back the deer population to what it was three or four years ago," he said.

"This will start out slow, there will be no mass slaughter. Our intention is to have only a few taken each year until the number of deer killed is equal to the amount that is produced each year. Then we will try to maintain that level."

In recent years, there has been much opposition to the idea of issuing antlerless deer permits, but Jarvis feels people realize the severity of the situation and think it is about time something is done.

To deal with the situation, the DNR will issue two types of permits during deer season which is from Nov 15-30.

The first permit will be a hunter's choice permit. This will be sold to anyone who owns 40 or more acres of land and is geared mainly to farmers who have problems with deer damaging their crops.

The second permit will be a general hunter's license for the person who lives in the city or on a small piece of land and hunts mainly for sport.

"The reasoning behind the two permits is the fact that the problem develops on private property," Jarvis explained. "Most of the hunters go to state land and hunt deer, but it is in the areas where there is not much hunting at all where the biggest deer problem is."

Chamber President Curt Strickland agreed that is a possibility, since the chamber already has the $1,350 to be used as a local match.

If the $4,500 in federal funds aren't received, he didn't foresee an effort to raise that amount locally, at least under present economic conditions, in order to have Wilkins and Wheaton do the entire pro-

Motorcyclist hurt in crash in Cass City

A motorcyclist was injured in a late Friday afternoon crash at the west end of Cass City.

Released the following day from Hills and Dales General Hospital was David C. Martin, 20, of 5615 E. Cass City Rd.

Cass City police reported Debra L. Hendrick, 23, of 5800 Decker Road, Decker, northbound on Comment Drive, stopped at Main Street, then started to cross the street to the IGA Food-liner.

She told officers she didn't see Martin approaching, who was headed west on Main. The motorcycle, which left lengthy skid marks, ran into the right rear of the Hendrick auto. Ms. Hendrick was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield. The accident took place at 5:35 p.m.

A Gagetown man, Jerry Solis, 21, was injured in a 4 a.m. accident last Thursday.

Tuscola County deputies reported he was eastbound on Cass City Road, east of Vader Road, when his car went off the south side of the road into the ditch. He told officers he lost control when an oncoming car didn't dim its headlights.

He was taken to Caro Community Hospital, which reported he was transferred to St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw. The latter hospital, however, had no report of his being treated there.

Solis was ticketed on charges of careless driving and no operator's license.

Caro state police are investigating a hit-run accident early Monday that damaged the car of William H. Zemke of 5878 Bruce Street, Deford. The accident is thought to have taken place at 2:30 a.m.

The car was parked in front of the Zemke home when it was struck in the left rear by an eastbound car. The impact shoved the car across the street.

Based on some parts and paint chips that fell off the hit and run car, troopers are looking for a green Ford.

At 11 a.m. last Thursday, deputies reported, Raymond E. Smutek, 29, of 4321 Van Dyke Road, Decker, was eastbound on Blackmore Road and applied his brakes to stop at Washburn Road.

The brakes didn't work and the truck went off the east side of Washburn and struck a road sign. Blackmore dead ends there.

Investigation found the brake line had been cut.

Cass City police reported that at 8:10 p.m. last Thursday, Scott P. Hendrian, 16, of 6567 Church Street was backing out of his driveway and backed into a car parked by the south curb.

Owner of the other car was Robert Adams Sr. of 4546 Oak Street.

At 10:30 p.m. Saturday, deputies said, Charles L. Severance, 75, of Akron, was westbound on M-81, west of Cedar Run Road, and collided with a deer.

The car of Charles J. Collins, 34, of 2757 Hurds Corner Road, Caro, struck a deer while he was southbound on Colwood Road north of Elmwood Road, at 10 p.m. Monday, according to deputies.

Plans continue for downtown

firm to do the facade plan, which will be prepared from photographs taken of all of the downtown buildings.

Chamber President Curt Strickland agreed that is a possibility, since the chamber already has the $1,350 to be used as a local match.

If the $4,500 in federal funds aren't received, he didn't foresee an effort to raise that amount locally, at least under present economic conditions, in order to have Wilkins and Wheaton do the entire program.

IF SOME TYPE OF downtown development is prepared, it won't mean big and rapid changes downtown, even when the economy does improve.

"We're talking just little changes," Strickland stressed.

What is being talked about is having some type of plan available in terms of design and possible means of financing for any merchants who want to remodel or otherwise improve the outside and/or interior of their stores.

"I don't want people to think we're going to ram something down their throat," Strickland said.

Prieskorn also talked in terms of having a guideline for merchants to follow should they want to remodel once the economy improves, that it won't be "here's what you have to do."

As for having a central theme, such as Gaylor has and Sandusky may have, he said, there hasn't been an effort made to select one, but perhaps one will develop during the planning process.

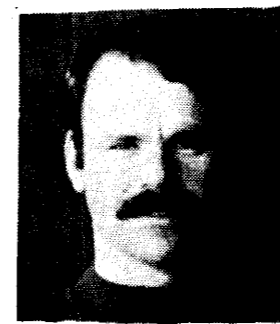

Williams sentenced to life in prison

Terry Lynn Williams, convicted by a Tuscola County Circuit Court jury May 19 of two counts of first degree murder, was sentenced to life in prison Tuesday by Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

Williams, 31, of Mt. Morris, was found guilty of the Nov. 15, 1981, shooting deaths of Leonard and Betty Coward of rural Vassar.

He was sentenced to State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, with Joslyn recommending that he receive psychiatric counseling and vocational training.

Under Michigan law, he will never be eligible for parole. The only way someone convicted of first degree murder can be released from prison is if the governor commutes his sentence.

Pedaling Around

A super July 4th

By Mike Eliasohn

It was a super Fourth of July celebration. I don't think it's possible to have one better.

Although we don't have all the reports in as this is written, such as how the festival did financially, from appearances, everything went perfectly.

Considering all the rain the southern part of the state received Saturday, we really lucked out.

Those who were involved in putting it on deserve everyone's congratulations and appreciation. Hopefully, the festival will continue.

The performance of the First Marine Band Sunday, first in the 1 p.m. parade down Main Street, which included a 15-minute performance at the spotlight, and then the two-hour concert that started at 5, was the perfect way to end the festival. What could be more traditional on the 4th than to hear a big band play patriotic music?

The devotion of its members, in terms of the time they spend each year, is truly commendable.

Its commandant, Col. David L. Jaehnig, describes participation as "a way of life" and he's not joking.

The band raises all its own funds, no one is paid, and they must fit in the many hours they devote to it with jobs or school and family.

Jaehnig, for instance, teaches business and math at the Cleary College branch campus in Howell. He serves as master of ceremonies during performances.

Members of the organization range in age from 13-72 and live within a 100 mile radius of Brighton, where the band is based.

During the course of a year, they will travel 20,000 miles to perform 100 shows in front of a total of 2½ million persons, according to the commandant.

What that means is performing 26 weekends a year, plus about 20 shows on weekdays, plus an 18-day, 3,000 mile tour each summer. This year's tour departs July 22 and will take the group to the east coast, New England and into Canada.

The First Marine Band has performed as far west as the Mississippi River (Minnesota), as far south as Virginia and as far north and east as northern Ontario and New Brunswick in Canada.

In addition, to the many performances, the band rehearses once a week together, plus smaller groups such as the dancers may rehearse once or twice a week, plus participants may help run the bingo games which is one of its fund raisers. That works out to 2-4 nights a week in addition to performances.

For its performance, it only charges enough to cover expenses, which for the Cass City Chamber of Commerce was $600. In addition, various merchants donated food for lunch in the park following the parade.

Other fund raising includes sale of records, programs, T-shirts and other items at its performances, plus donations.

Cass City taxes top $300,000

Cass City property owners will pay $335,696 in property taxes this year. Tax bills were mailed June 23.

Of the total, the 12,7067 mills being levied for general operations will raise $280,506 (real and personal taxes combined) and the 2.5 mills to pay for the new sewage treatment plant will raise $55,190, according to the report presented by village Treasurer Joyce LaRoche to the village council at its June 29 meeting.

Last year, the village levied 13.3938 mills for general operations. Since then, the legislature passed a truth in taxation law that requires taxing units to conduct a public hearing before they can collect added revenue resulting from increases in valuation.

The village council chose instead to reduce the levy so that the only revenue gained is from valuation added because of construction during the past year.

New construction will mean a total revenue gain to the village of $6,542 in both general revenue and debt retirement taxes, according to Mrs. LaRoche.

The 2.5 mills for the sewage plant debt stays the same as last year, since the council can levy whatever is necessary to raise the money needed to make the payments on the bonds that financed construction of the treatment plant.

The top 10 taxpayers in Cass City in 1982 are: G. K. Technologies (General Cable), $17,839 (real and personal combined); Walbro Corp., $18,861; Provincial House, $7,802; Detroit Edison, $4,544; Pillsbury Corp. (the former Wickes Agriculture elevator), $4,159; Charmont, $3,768 (for building and surrounding property); Northwood Heights Apartments, $3,520; Thomas Herron, $3,418; Marshall Distributing, $3,217, and Cass City State Bank, $3,173 (bank building and one other parcel).

Real property taxes are for land and buildings. Personal property taxes are for equipment. For Detroit Edison, all but $97 was personal taxes.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Dorland Kuntz was one of the persons selected as "Outstanding Young Men of America for 1977" by the United States Jaycees. The award was earned, Kuntz said, for community service, church work, work with the Cass City Education Association and similar activities.

Teresa Scollon is a piano and flute student at the National Music Camp at Interlochen. She is one of the 100 musicians chosen for the all-state program, sponsored by the University of Michigan.

Vacation Bible school at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church will be held daily, July 25-29. The final session will conclude with a picnic at Cass City Recreational Park. Mrs. Dale Iseler is superintendent.

Airman Thomas G. Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Finley Sr. of Kingsford, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after Air Force basic training. Airman Finley will now receive specialized training in the avionics systems field.

TEN YEARS AGO

An estimated $5,000 damage was done to the Clinton Law home when fire broke out in the living room of the residence, one mile east and four miles north of Cass City on Schwegler Road.

Cass City recently hired Lou LaPonsie as the new village superintendent.

Provincial House has rejected the proposed Donahue site for the $1 million skilled nursing home to be built in Cass City.

Eight-year-old Kay Loomis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loomis, sustained a fractured right elbow in a fall from a swing.

25 YEARS AGO

The National Red Dane Field Day will be held Friday, July 19, at the Ed Golding farm, located 1½ miles west of Cass City, according to Alfred Ballweg, county agricultural agent.

About 15 voters attended the annual school meeting held for Gageton School Monday evening. Leslie Munro was reelected as a trustee of the board.

Campers overflowed Sleeper State Park over the holiday weekend. Authorities were forced to refuse admittance after 411 permits were issued.

Robert Stickle, driver training instructor at Cass City High School, announced this week that the second summer class in driver education will start Monday, July 15.

35 YEARS AGO

The C & D softball team won the first half championship of the Cass City Recreational Softball League.

Voters at the annual school meeting Monday night will decide whether the land east of the school building extending to Cass City Park shall be purchased as an addition to the present school site. The property can be purchased for $2,500.

Forty-two young folks of Cass City and the surrounding area registered for the Red Cross swimming classes Monday morning despite the chilly weather.

The annual reunion of the Michigan and Canadian Tuckeys was held at Bright's Grove, Sarnia, Ont., Saturday with about 80 persons attending.

The Wednesday Ladies Golf League of Sherwood on the Hill entertained clubs from Scenic and Marlette, June 30th.

After morning golf, the ladies enjoyed a luncheon and awarded prizes.

Low net prizes were won by Lois Eastman, Marlette; Shirley Siebinder, Caseville, and Jeanette McLaren, Unionville.

Low putts went to Bev Drillock, Marlette; Edna Dutcher, Caseville, and Lee LaFave, Gageton.

Betty Taormina, Scenic, was awarded a prize for the most lost balls. Dadi Yahn, Clara Scheurer and Shirley Faessler, Scenic, each had a chip in.

Arrangements for the day were under the direction of Lori Seurnynck, Bev Schelke, Marie Goslin, and Betty Koepf.

VILLAGE MEETING

About 30 persons attended the June 28 meeting at the Gageton School Cafeteria when Pres. William Downing and Council members explained costs and other aspects of the village sewer system with construction scheduled to begin in early 1983.

Also present were Financial Adviser Leonard Hool, Village Attorney Tom Abbey, and Richard Knoop, of Edmonds Engineering.

The Owendale-Gageton Senior Citizen Club met July 1st in the Gageton Municipal Building with about 42 members and guests in attendance. Blood pressures were taken, bingo played and refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Finkbier hosted the meeting.

Miss Sharron Walsh, daughter of Mrs. Gerald Walsh of Bad Axe and the late Gerald Walsh, was recently elected a vice-president of the Harris Bank, Chicago. She has been a member of the Banking Department since joining Harris in 1967, was elected an international officer in 1977 and assistant V.P. in 1980. The Walshes were Gageton residents for many years. Sharron was born here and graduated from Bad Axe High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pisarek Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pisarek Jr. and family visited relatives in Toledo, Ohio, last weekend.

Bill Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Parker, was injured in an auto accident June 27 and is a patient at the Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City. Bill had just returned from a four-year enlistment in the Navy. The accident occurred near Sebawaing.

Deacon and Mrs. Bud Kuhr took son Jim to Tri-City Airport July 1 where he took a plane to Philadelphia, and from there, flew to Madrid, Spain. Jim is with the Navy R.O.T.C. and will be spending 6 weeks training aboard the U.S.S. Valdez, based in Rota, Spain.

Mr. Eugene Comment spent the Fourth of July weekend with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Arvo and sons of Owosso.

Todd Carolan of Lapeer was an overnight guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Carolan Wednesday. Todd is the son of Gary and Rachel Carolan.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunter for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Devore and sons of Normal, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter and sons of Toledo, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hunter and son of Pinconning.

Mrs. Elery Sontag returned to her home Saturday after undergoing tests at Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City.

Craig Carolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Goslin, who is with the Navy at Norfolk, Va., will leave his home port Aug. 25 aboard the U.S.S. Mt. McKinley to sail for Amsterdam, the Netherlands, Portsmouth England, Copenhagen, Denmark, and Oslo, Norway, returning to Norfolk Oct. 20.

New books at the library

THE TENT PEG by Aritha VanHerik (fiction). This story is about a controversial woman cook, J. L., employed on an isolated geological project in the Yukon. J. L. comes to know the men in the camp as individuals and experiences an almost mystical communication with her surroundings and with a faraway woman friend who remains very much in her thoughts. The story contains some hilarious passages as awkward moments develop between this all-male crew and their young, boyish-looking cook.

BIG BEAR, LITTLE BEAR by David Brierly (fiction). Set in 1948 as Cold War tensions threaten to explode in Berlin, this is a fine thriller, intelligently written and skillfully plotted. Although it starts slowly in Czechoslovakia, where the British spy network is betrayed and virtually wiped out, the story gathers momentum as the sole survivor, George Orris, vows to discover the turncoat in London. Orris plans to head for Berlin and lure the traitor there to kill him, but as he works out his plan, the Russians are preparing to wrest control of Berlin away from the Allies. With the help of a Jewish woman who survived the camps, Orris goes underground in Berlin, setting the scene for a tense and bitter climax.

A MOTHER AND TWO DAUGHTERS by Gail Godwin (fiction). A vision of America is embodied in the story of three women. The death of Leonard Strickland draws together his wife and two daughters - Cate, the rebel, turning 40 and about to lose her teaching job; Lydia, the conventional younger daughter, suddenly awakened to life; and their mother, Nell, hoping for a new life even as she grieves. In their decisions, expectations, and conflicts are measured the demands and tensions of modern society.

Bean queen candidates needed

The Tuscola County Bean Queen Committee is accepting nominations from individuals, groups and organizations who want to sponsor a candidate for the 1982 contest.

Deadline for entering the contest is July 19. The following Monday evening, July 26, the contestants will meet at the county Farm Bureau building in Caro, where they will be provided with a dinner and be interviewed.

Naming of the 1982 Tuscola County bean queen will take place at the pageant Tuesday evening, Aug. 3, during the county fair.

Several prizes and cash awards will be presented to each contestant from the Tuscola County Fair Association and county elevators.

Bean queen entry blanks are available at the Farm Bureau office and the extension office in Caro.

Bean Queen Committee members are Ed and Connie Spannagel of Unionville, Mark and Rachel Schiefer of Frankenmuth and Ken and Andrea Hofmeister of Gagetown. Roy and Elaine Hickey of Fairgrove are helping the committee in an advisory capacity.

Gen-Tel files for rate hike

General Telephone has filed a petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission for an increase in revenues totaling $45.4 million, according to H. M. Preston, state vice-president and general manager for the company.

The filing, made June 30, represented just the second request made by the company for a general rate increase during the last six years. The company would retain only about $23 million of the $45.4 million after paying state and federal taxes.

The Musegon-based utility cited the increasing cost of providing telephone service, deregulation of the telephone industry, an inadequate rate increase as a result of its 1980 rate increase request, and an unsatisfactory rate of return among its primary reasons for requiring additional revenues.

Marquart completes boot camp

Marine Pvt. Durrell E. Marquart, son of Lester and Virginia Marquardt of White Creek Road, Kingston, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill.

Bike-a-thon raises $1,176 for St. Jude

A check for $1,175.95 was mailed last Thursday to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., proceeds from the May 15 bike-a-thon conducted in Cass City.

Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser of Trinity United Methodist Church was chairman of the event. He had to wait until participants turned in the money they had collected, which consisted of pledges for each mile they rode. Twenty-nine took part.

In 1981, 37 riders participated, who raised about $1,800.

Nineteen of the participants this year received a St. Jude Hospital T-shirt for collecting more than $25 while five earned a T-shirt and windbreaker jacket for earning more than $75.

Pierce jailed after scuffle with police at tavern

A Bay City man was charged with being drunk and disorderly and attempted resisting and obstructing a police officer as the result of an incident in The Station tavern in Cass City Monday night.

Alfonso M. Pierce, 27, was taken to the county jail in Caro following his arrest. He appeared Tuesday before Magistrate Donald Smith, who set bond at $100 and scheduled arraignment July 19 before District Judge Richard F. Kern.

Pierce is also wanted on three traffic warrants in Bay County.

He has since posted bond and been released from jail.

Officer Phil Klaus was dispatched to the tavern at 10:45 on a report of a man who was causing trouble and wouldn't leave.

He left after being told to do so by Klaus. When the officer went out the back door to check on where he went, the man jumped out of hiding and started hollering.

Klaus again told the man to leave, or he would go to jail. The officer then went back inside to talk to the patrons.

The subject came back in and threatened to fight anybody, so Klaus told him he was under arrest. The man then swung at the officer, was pushed to the floor and handcuffed.

OTHER ITEMS

Francis DeLong of 3183 Englehart Road reported a theft to sheriff's deputies Friday.

Taken from a 1934 Ford stored on his property were a combination, 8-track tape player and AM-FM radio worth $180; two speakers, total of $90; two chrome headlights, $50; and a wood grain steering wheel, $30.

Jack Downs of Warren reported a theft to the sheriff's department Saturday from his property located near Riley and Froede Roads.

Taken from a shed were an insect fogger, $25; a 25-pound propane tank, $50; two shovels, $30; and a bag of charcoal, $3. Taken from outside were a wheelbarrow, $20; and a mahogany picnic table, $125.

Ronald Ensign of 5305 Dorrance Road, Kingston, told deputies at 4:12 a.m. Saturday that a combination AM-FM radio and cassette player was stolen from his car parked at the Elias Brothers Big Boy restaurant on M-81, southwest of Caro.

It was taken while he was at work there, starting at 5 p.m. the previous day.

Iva Profit of 4619 Huron Street told Cass City police Monday afternoon that her yard light was damaged the previous night, apparently by it being struck by a blunt object.

Otto Vollmar of Caro told deputies June 23 that several items had been stolen from his cabin near Little and Dodge Roads.

Taken were an axe worth $7.50; flashlight, $2.50; a pine log wall clock, $45; and 12-15 shotgun shells, $6.

Value of the window that was broken to gain entry was estimated at $25.

ORGAN ANNIE -- Gayle Nicol, LPN in surgery at Hills and Dales General Hospital, dressed as an Army M*A*S*H nurse for the hospital display at the July 4th festival Saturday. She made the doll, "Organ Annie", that she is showing to Jamie Barber, 4 and Mia Garety, 9 (right). Her supervisor, Gen Crawley, made its internal organs -- spleen, kidneys, etc.

For school board

Prepare proposal

The Cass City Boosters Club will present a proposal to the school board Monday regarding the club's plans for the coming school year.

The Boosters at its monthly meeting last Thursday decided what programs it will support should the board approve.

Club President Bob Tuckey did not want to comment on the proposal until it is presented to the board, whose meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Voters in the Cass City School District June 14 were asked to approve 5 1/2 additional mills, three for transportation, two for school programs, and a half-mill for extracurricular activities. All three proposals were defeated.

The club raised enough money last year to fund all sports and other extracurricular activities.

Former resident succumbs

Harold A. Peters, 71, of Houghton Lake, formerly of Evergreen Township, died last Thursday at Tolfree Memorial Hospital in West Branch after a long illness.

He was born March 1, 1911, in Argyle Township, the son of Frank and Pauline (Fischer) Peters.

Peters married Hazel Kritzman March 2, 1935, in Detroit. Following their marriage, they made their home in Detroit, before moving to Evergreen Township.

Peters was the owner and operator of a sawmill in Argyle and Emmett for over 25 years. He was past president of the Emmett Lions Club; a past member of the school board of Port Huron Catholic Central High School and a member of Lady of the Lake Catholic Church of Prudenville.

He is survived by his wife, Hazel; three sons, Fred Peters, Union City, Dean Peters, Ferndale and David Peters, Mount Clemens; four daughters, Mrs. John (Janet) Laszlo, Deford, Mrs. Marilyn Gulley and Mrs. Robert (Linda) Sumpter, both of Mount Clemens, and Alice Peters, Houghton Lake; one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Michele Peters of Tekonsha; one brother, Edwin Peters, Decker; three sisters, Mrs. Howard Walker, Mount Clemens, Mrs. Mark McCarty, Ubyly and Mrs. Wallace Plevin, Warren, and 11 grandchildren. Three sons, Gary, Michael and Joseph, three brothers, one sister and two grandchildren preceded him in death.

A wake service was held Sunday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral mass was conducted Monday morning at St. Joseph Catholic Church, Argyle, with Father Gerald F. Kukla officiating. Burial was in Freiburg Cemetery, Freiburg.

Sally Severance of Decker was one of more than 70 4-H members and adult leaders from throughout Michigan who attended the Michigan Milk Producers Association's 45th annual 4-H milk marketing tour June 29-30.

The tour, sponsored by MMPA in cooperation with the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, is designed to give 4-H members more familiarity with milk marketing procedures and the duties and operations of a dairy farmer cooperative.

The 4-H members toured the MMPA Southfield office and visited Detroit Pure Milk Co.

Elwood Kirkpatrick of Kinde, MMPA president, and Jack Barnes, general manager, discussed the association's marketing and price bargaining efforts and its members services.

Tour participants also attended a banquet at the Holiday Inn in Southfield and a Detroit Tigers game.

In a problem-solving session, the 4-H members divided into groups to discuss and solve situations like those confronting the board of directors of a dairy cooperative.

MMPA is a milk marketing cooperative owned and controlled by about 6,200 dairy farmers throughout the state.

COMMUNITY CHOIR -- Seventy members of local church choirs joined with the 1st Marine Band Sunday to perform two songs. The band's singers joined the chorus, which was conducted by Andrea Hofmeister of Gagetown.

AMERICAN CLOGGING, an early American dance favorite, was demonstrated by the 1st Marine Band dancers, with the band accompanying them.

CONCERT IN THE PARK -- The 1st Marine Band performed for an estimated 1,200 people in the Cass City Recreation Park Sunday. The concert lasted two hours.

Many winners at tractor pull

Close to half of the entries for the tractor pull Sunday at the Fourth of July Festival drove away a winner.

There were 38 entries in five classes. Last year, there were eight classes, which was reduced this year to save time. Prizes were awarded to the first three places in each class. Fifty dollars was given to first place winners, $40 to second place and $30 to third.

Event chairman Dick Hampshire said the number of spectators was more than last year. There were no problems with the event other than that it started late.

Some of the entries arrived at the Pillsbury elevator late for the weigh-in and one tractor stalled while on the scale and could not be started again. It had to be pushed from the area and did finally take part in the pull.

Winners in the categories were based on which tractors could pull a box weighing 12 tons the farthest on a hydraulic sled.

Winners were:
7,000 pound antique tractor: 1) Dana Truemer, Cass City; 2) Jim Nolan, Smiths Creek; 3) Lyle Truemer, Cass City.

9,000 pound farm tractor: 1) Greg Schian, Reese; 2) Kurt Abbe, Owendale; 3) John Dawson, Carsonville.

Four-wheel drive vehicle: 1) Frank Keller, Cass City; 2) Melvin Wheaton, Deford; 3) Lee Kilbourn, Deford.

6,000 pound farm tractor: 1) Jim Nolan, Smiths Creek; 2) Buck Johnston, Carsonville; 3) Jay Pardon, Romeo.

Limited modified tractor: 1) John Kalt, Almont; 2) Charles Wilcox, Lapeer; 3) Earl Hanselman, Port Huron.

Money for the prizes was taken from the gate receipts, the remainder of which went into the festival fund. Hampshire said he knows the pull made money, but did not know exactly how much yet.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT

If you are one of America's workers, an IRA may be the solution to your retirement income needs.

Even though you may plan on Social Security, for most people Social Security is a beginning, but it may not provide an adequate retirement income by itself.

All interest on an IRA account is TAX-FREE until withdrawal. You take before-tax dollars from your earned income now (lowering your taxable income) and deposit them into an IRA account. You pay no taxes on the principal or interest until you retire and start to withdraw the money ... at which time your tax bracket should be substantially lower.

So, plan ahead now for your retirement years with your own IRA. It's a wonderful opportunity for you to --

- SAVE TAX DOLLARS
- EARN BIG TAX-EXEMPT INTEREST
- BUILD SECURITY FOR YOUR FUTURE

Federal Regulators require substantial penalties for withdrawals made prior to maturity. IRA regulators provide for substantial penalties for withdrawals before age 59 1/2.

OVERALL WINNER in the men's division of the Pacesetter's five-mile marathon run Friday evening was Jim Clabuesch of Pigeon with a time of 28:42.

TOT RUN CONTESTANT Travis Nicholas, 3, had to be stopped after he completed the one-mile race Saturday. He began to run a fifth lap around the track when someone told him he had finished. He received a ribbon for his efforts as did all participants.

Friday and Saturday

100 run in 2 Festival races

A tough cross-country course awaited runners that participated in the fourth annual Cass City Pacesetter's five-mile marathon run Friday while a one-mile tot run attracted runners 12 years old and under Saturday at the July 4th festival.

Approximately 60 runners participated in the five-mile run which began at the track in the park and wound its way past the high school, Rolling Hills Golf Course and through the wooded area, finishing behind Campbell Elementary School.

Overall winner in the men's division was Jim Clabuesch of Pigeon with a time of 28:42. The first woman runner was Colleen Booms with a time of 38:19. They both received a trophy for first place.

Winners in the men's competition were: Eighteen and under, Rene Stimpfel, 38:19; Amy Nichols 40:47, and Lori Hurley 41:20; 19-29 year

Whittaker, 29:05; Dan Gutierrez, 29:52; and Randy Chorb, 31:07; 30-44, Steve Hammett, 28:59; Dave Asher, 29:23; and Paul Osamtowski; and 45 and over, Carl Moon, 35:08; Chuck Hartwick, 38:24; and Melvin Adelman, 40:33.

Winners in the women's competition were:

Eighteen and under, Rene Stimpfel, 38:19; Amy Nichols 40:47, and Lori Hurley 41:20; 19-29 year olds, Booms; Mary Spiers, 54:52; 30-44, Pearl Romberg was the only entrant, 49:35; and 45 and older, Betty Gay, 47:49, and Patricia Kellerman, 54:52.

About 40 runners participated in the one-mile tot run around the track at the park. Ten-year-old Dennis Harmer won the race with a time of 6:30. Darin Rabideau finished second at 6:40 and Mike Forthun was third at 6:42.

with a two-run homer in the first inning, leading the way to an 8-0 win. Craig Helwig threw a no-hitter.

In the fifth inning with an error and a fielder's choice, Marlesta had runners on first and second with no outs. A line shot was hit to second baseman Jerry Toner, who then stepped on second base and threw to first base for a triple play to take Marlesta out of the inning. Scott Hartel and Jeff Hartel each had two hits and Tim Severance had three runs batted in.

The last win came at the expense of the Findlay Merchants. Brian Helwig threw a five-hit shutout, winning 5-0. Jerry Toner had three hits and Brad Hartel had two.

Craig Helwig was awarded the most valuable pitcher trophy and Brad Hartel was selected as the most valuable player.

Crown new champ in tug-o-war

A defending champion in the tug-o-war competition at the July 4th festival was knocked from its throne Saturday.

Sal's Country Clippers of Deford won the women's division by defeating Craig's Queens, sponsored by Cole Carbide of Cass City, which had won the past two years.

In the double elimination competition, Craig's Queens, which had an earlier loss, beat the Country Clippers once in the final round. The Clippers came back to win the competition with Craig's Queens taking second overall. Third place was won by Stauffer's Seed from Sebawaing.

In the men's competition, Stauffer's Seed took first place, the Sod Busters from Elkton-Caseville placed second, and the Keggers from Sebawaing were third.

Event chairman Wayne Dillon is already making plans for next year's competition. He said there will be a weight limit on the women's division of 1,500 pounds with no limit on the number of people per team. There has been a maximum of 10 women per team with no weight limit.

The tug-o-war attracted only nine teams this year, compared to 17 teams last year. Four men's and five women's teams competed.

"The poor turnout was due to the fact that a lot of the area festivals did not have a tug-of-war competition this year, and so there were fewer teams that signed up for the Cass City pull," Dillon said.

This was the first year there have been more women's teams than men's.

Croft-Clara breezes in softball tourney in Ohio

The Croft-Clara softball team won its first tournament this past weekend in Findlay, Ohio, being undefeated in the five-team round robin tournament.

Other teams competing were: Yocks, Marlesta and Findlay Merchants, all from Findlay, and the Brewers from Ann Arbor.

After a one-day rain delay, play started Sunday at 2 p.m. Croft-Clara faced the Brewers in the first game, defeating them, 2-0. Craig Helwig was the winning pitcher and Brad Hartel led the way at the plate.

Croft-Clara then defeated Yocks, 3-1, with Brian Helwig getting the win. Brad Hartel and Ron Ouvry each had two hits.

Monday, the action started with Croft-Clara playing Marlesta. Ken Martin started the game

Thousands attend

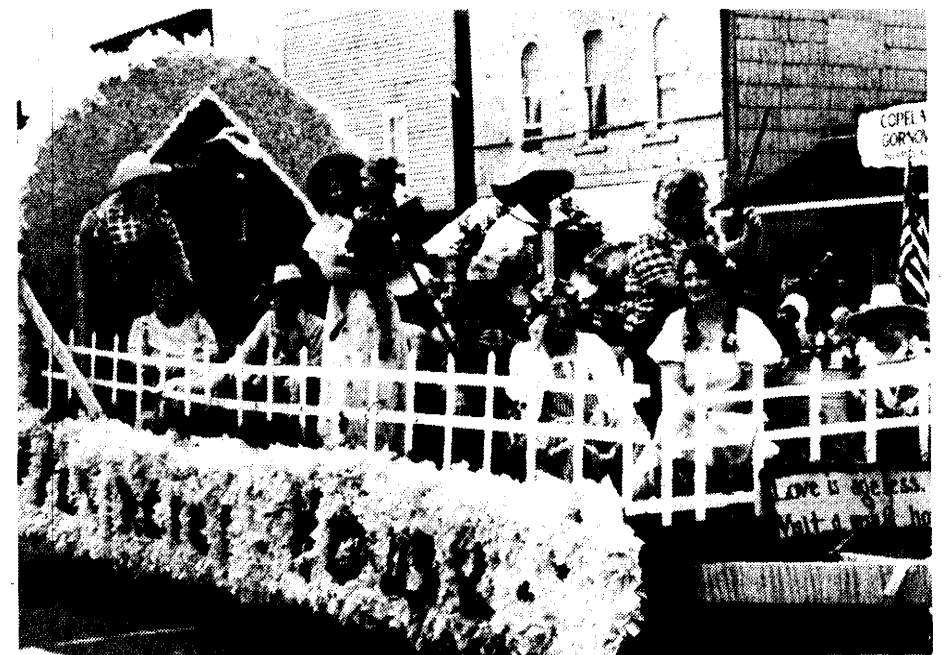

Activities numerous at July 4th festival

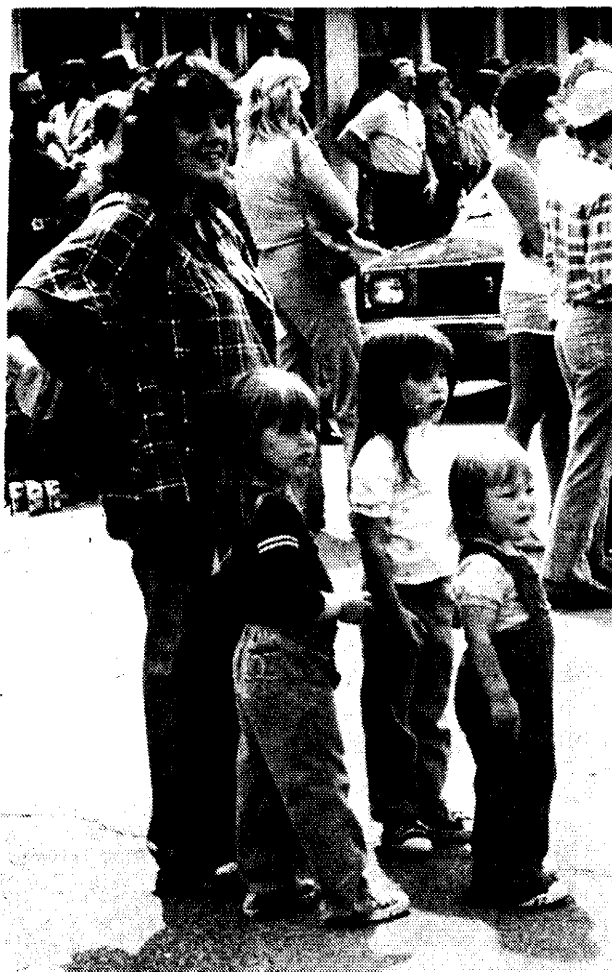

BELLE SCHWADERER AWARD winner in Saturday's parade was the Cass City Zonta Club's float, which had as a theme, "world hands."

ODOR REMOVER -- Probably the most popular entry in Saturday's parade was the manure spreader that followed the Thumb Draft Horse Association horses and wagons. The youngsters cleaned up what the horses left behind and put it in the spreader.

MEREDITH B. AUTEN AWARD was presented to the Provincial House float in Saturday's parade.

PARADE WATCHERS -- Among the thousands watching Saturday's July 4th festival parade were Robin Brantley of Cass City and daughters (from left) Kimberly, 4, Melissa, 5, and Lisa, 2.

BEST IN SHOW -- Trudy Burak's "Angel," an Irish Setter-Labrador, was judged best in show at the children's dog show Sunday at the July 4th festival, sponsored by the Thumb of Michigan Dog Fanciers.

37 enter pets in dog show

A total of 37 dogs were entered in Sunday's dog show, part of the July 4th festival, conducted by the Thumb of Michigan Dog Fanciers. Judged best of show was "Angel," an Irish Setter-Labrador owned by Trudy Burak, 15, of Warren. She was visiting relatives in Cass City over the weekend and had brought her dog with her, not knowing until she got here that there was a dog show scheduled.

Winners in the other divisions, who received trophies, from Cass City unless otherwise indicated, were:

Funniest dressed --

Tommy Prill, Elkton.

Best groomed -- Jennifer Hoard.

Best behaved -- Greta Coston.

Funniest -- Eric Hoard.

Largest -- Jeff Gibor, Caro.

Best looking -- Matthew Weippert.

Best tricks -- Brenda Baker, Bad Axe.

Smallest -- Tommy Prill.

Longest tail -- Trudy Burak.

Shortest tail -- Kristina Albee.

Second and third place winners received special ribbons. All other participants received ribbons for taking part.

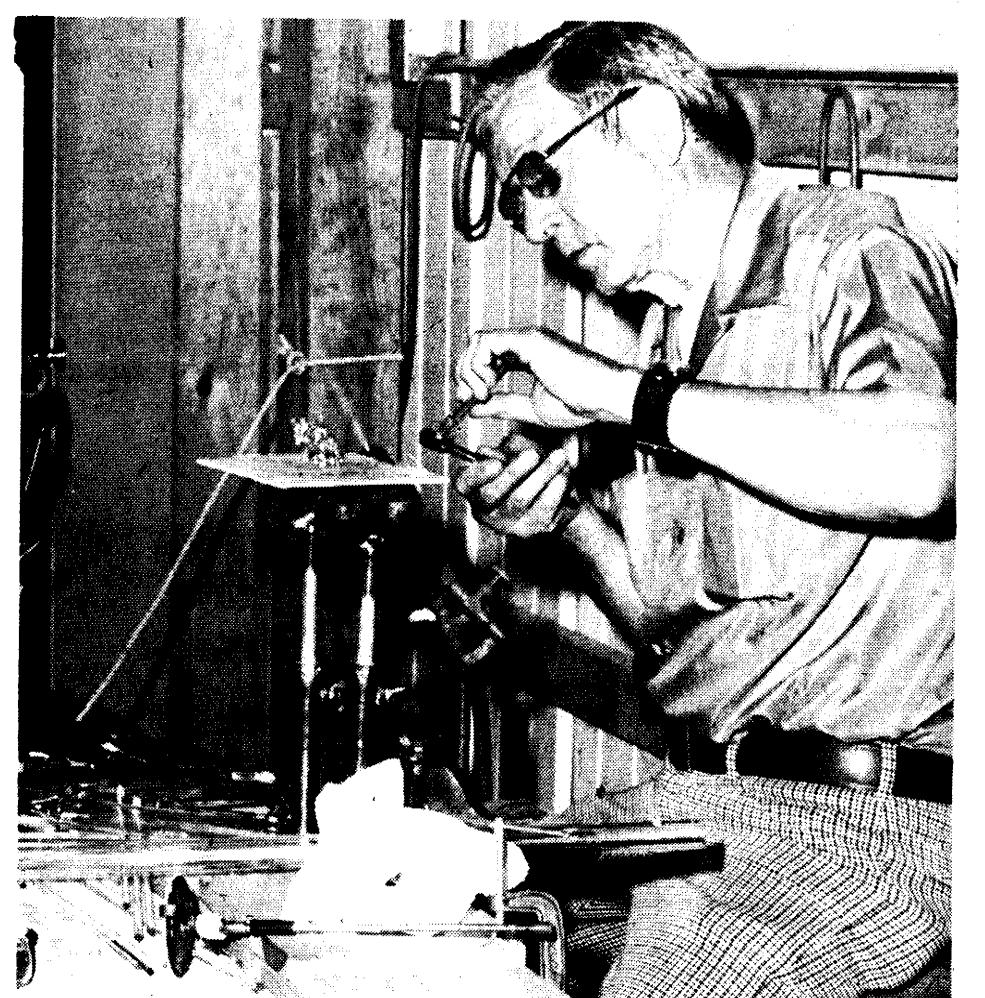

HARRY CRANDELL AWARD winner was this float titled Village Indian Givers. The float was entered by Doug Thane of Cass City.

PRESIDENT'S AWARD winner in Saturday's parade was the float of Trinity United Methodist Church. Its theme was, "Pray for World Peace."

GREASED PIG CHASE winner was Dave Speirs, 24, of Cass City. He managed to get the pig into the trailer with only a little struggle. Speirs won $24 for his efforts.

GLASS MAKER -- Stanley Mikols fashions a crocodile out of glass at the arts and crafts building at the fair Saturday. The Midland resident was an industrial glass blower for Dow for 45 years and has made glass art objects before and since his retirement. His appearance here was sponsored by the Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women, of which his daughter, Rita Coe of Owendale, is a member.

Harper wins state 4-H auto award

Mike Raymond Harper, 17, of Kingston, was named Michigan's 1982 4-H automotive project award winner June 24 during 4-H Exploration Days at Michigan State University.

Harper competed against other 4-H automotive project members from five Michigan districts and was selected the state's top 4-H automotive member by a panel of automotive specialists.

"It's quite an honor to be named a state 4-H project winner," said Peggy Breclaw, Tuscola County Extension 4-H youth agent. "Only a small proportion of 4-H'ers ever accomplish this achievement."

Harper is a member of the Wells Jolly Workers 4-H club and has completed a variety of automotive project activities including completely refurbishing several cars and a truck.

He has also participated in several other 4-H project areas including being a 4-H teen leader and club officer.

As one of Michigan's state award winners, Harper may be eligible to attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago this November and compete against other automotive winners from across the country for national honors.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Harper of Centerline Road.

STATE WINNER -- Mike Raymond Harper, of Kingston (right), is congratulated by John Bruff, chairperson of the MSU Board of Trustees, for being selected Michigan's 1982 state 4-H automotive project award winner during 4-H Exploration Days at Michigan State University June 24.

Letters to the editor

Esau: grateful for festival, Cass City

Dear Mike,
May I use the Chronicle to thank the merchants and the Chamber of Commerce for making the most pleasant "4th of July" possible?

I've lived in Cass City well over half a century and I've never enjoyed myself more or been prouder of my town.

As the beautiful Marine Band played in our lovely park, I thought of the five

Park vandals sickening

Mr. Editor,
As our family gathered for the Churchill reunion in your park, I was proud to say this is my home town until I took a walk on the exercise trail.

In 1981, it was so beautiful. In 1982, it made me sick. What took someone a lot of time and money to create had been ruined!

I hope the persons responsible for the mess were caught and will be made to help not only pay but have to put some long hours into fixing it up.

Bonnie Churchill Miller
Elkton

Council action wrong

Mr. Haire:

To those members of the village council who felt they voted in favor of the purchase of the Bauman property for the good of the village, you were wrong.

When the recent millage was defeated, what were you members thinking? Must it be spelled out to you?

When the majority voted not to spend any more money on the school, then do you really feel they wanted to spend $41,900 on 1.6 acres of property?

If you are going to represent the people, then listen to them.

Sincerely,

Letters to the Editor

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor.

Letters must include the writer's name, address and telephone number. The latter is in case it is necessary to call for verification, but won't be used in the newspaper.

Names will be withheld from publication upon request, for an adequate reason.

The Chronicle reserves the right to edit letters for length and clarity.

We will not publish thank you letters of a specific nature, for instance, from a club thanking merchants who donated prizes for a raffle.

Your Neighbor says

Visitor says '82 best of Festivals

Many people attended the two-day July Fourth celebration this past week end in Cass City. Among the crowd were many out-of-town residents.

Ron Hendrick came from Grand Rapids to visit with his family and to take part in the celebration planned by the Chamber of Commerce.

"The thing I liked best was the parade Saturday afternoon," Hendrick said. "What I liked second best was the 1st Marine Band concert Sunday evening."

Hendrick saw most of the activities both days, but thought it would have been better if it was set up differently.

"I think it would have been better if everything was on the same day, with the 1st Marine Band in Saturday's parade. But I understand why it could not be done that way, and I think it was well organized and I like the way everything was set up in the park."

Hendrick thought it was a better planned festival and a lot bigger than previous ones. He also visited Cass City to see the festival last year.

"I think it was nice the way they had it organized for the two days."

Hendrick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hendrick of 6711 Houghton Street. He is a structural engineer with P and K Steel in Grand Rapids.

$40,000 loss in vandalism

Vandals did an estimated $40,000 damage to an electronic cable used in exploring for oil and natural gas.

The vandalism, reported to the sheriff's department June 26, took place along Van Buren Road between Van Geisen and Dixon Road, north of Reese.

Donald Latusek of the exploration firm of Seiscom Delta United told officers the half-inch cable had been placed alongside the road. He and his crew left at 6:30 p.m. June 25 and returned at 7:30 a.m. the following day.

He said it appeared the vandals made a loop in the cable and then hooked it onto a trailer hitch or bumper and then dragged it.

About 12,000 feet of cable was on the ground. Damage to it was estimated at $30,000, plus $10,000 to the "Geophones" attached to the cable.

Deputies said the cable was all over the road, broken, dragged and scratched.

Taking stock

Lots of talk lately about "zero coupon" bonds. This column reported on them several months ago, but the ones that came out this winter were taxable corporate bonds.

The taxable zeros are attractive for pension funds and for persons with individual retirement accounts (IRA), because there is no current tax to pay.

If an individual or a taxable business owns them, the holder has to pay the average gain in worth of the bond as it marches toward maturity.

Example: A 10-year bond is bought at 30. Each year for 10 years, one-tenth of the difference of 70 points is taxed; seven percent, in this case.

Now, tax-exempt zero coupons are coming out. At this writing, Michigan Housing and Finance Authority brought out some. You could buy a bond at 20, and in 1996 it would pay off at par, or 100; no tax in the meantime, or at maturity. Such a bond is classified an "original discount" bond, and there is no capital gain to pay, ever.

E.F. Hutton was due to bring out an issue of Tampa zero coupons to finance a sewer project. Last winter the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority issued some zeros, and they sold at a big premium over conventional bonds. Too big, I thought, but the public snapped them up.

They're handy things if you want to set aside some funds for a child's schooling 10 or 15 years down the road. In effect your investment is automatically compounded, and you have no reinvestment problems.

The publicity given them I think is great. It reminds people of the great power of compound interest. For 20 cents today you'll get $1 back in 14 years. It beats working.

"But you need our research," say the conventional stock brokers, as they sneer at the discounters who simply buy and sell stocks.

Well, we get some of these research reports. One came in the other day from Bache Halsey Stuart Shields, Inc. In year past we have done a lot of business with this firm.

The title was "Monetary Perspective"; the author was Richard Hoey, a certified financial analyst. Here are titles of three sections of the report:

"Policy Uncertainties Postpone Maturity Extension and Virtuous

Cycle."

"The Slow Elasticity Bull Case."

"Will the Oversteering Subcycle be Dampened?"

We applied our Fog Index to the first page. The index measures how clear the text is. The answer is a number which tells how many years of schooling are necessary to understand the writing.

For this notable example, the Fog Index reading came up with 43 years! It would take you 43 years of schooling to be able to figure out what the fellow is saying.

I'll have to go back to the classroom for 26 more years. Somehow I don't think it's worth the effort.

P.S.: A bond trader we know snapped up some for his kinfolk. He says that when some of the sharpies from Memphis and South Florida get trading in these things there are some great mark-ups. Five or six points, he guesses.

WATCHING 'EM GO, hoping their cars win, are two Scouts from Pack 3594 in Cass City. Their cars were competing in the Pinewood Derby at the end-of-the-year picnic Saturday, June 26, in the Cass City park. Grand champion was Ken Micklash, 9, who beat seven other contestants from the pack. All racers received trophies.

Beer sales profit below estimates

IN THE ARTS AND crafts building, there seemed to be more persons Saturday than were there during the 1981 festival, according to two exhibitors who also sold their wares last year.

More people didn't necessarily translate into more sales, however. Bonnie Petee said she sold more of her stuffed dolls and Barbie Doll clothes than she did a year ago.

Melvin McFarland Sr. of Rescue Road, Cass City, said sales of his lapidary (polished stones) objects, jewelry and gifts were down from last year, which he felt was probably a reflection of the economy.

Mrs. Petee, a resident of Swartz Creek, near Flint, added that in driving here Saturday morning, it was pouring rain until she reached North Branch.

Some exhibitors also had their booths open Sunday.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, people gathered along Main Street for the second parade of the festival.

The 1st Marine Band marched down Main Street, stopping at the corner of Seeger and Main to give a 15-minute concert to the crowd that had gathered.

Later in the day, the band staged a concert in the park. The two-hour show was "Just fantastic," according to Gloria Ouyry, who was in charge of the effort to get the Marine Band to perform at Cass City for the Fourth.

The band played for two hours and its dancers performed American clogging, a Civil War dance and other dances.

More than 1,200 persons watched the performance.

"The show the band put on was more than I expected it to be," said Mrs. Ouyry. "They very much exceeded my expectations. I was real pleased."

Their showmanship was excellent and she added that she was very happy they were here.

The tractor pull was the other major event Sunday.

Large crowds turned out to view the show of power by the hill on the north end of the park. (See separate story.)

ACCORDING TO CASS City police, there were no major problems during the extended weekend of festivities.

"Everything went smooth," said patrolman Ken Schott. "We had no problems with traffic or crowds. This was one of the more quiet festival weekends we have had."

The local police force had help from the sheriff's posse at the beer tent and at the horse and tractor shows and Schott thinks that helped to keep things calm.

There was some confiscation of fireworks from individuals during the weekend, but no one was cited for possession or use, he said.

Weaver thought the festival had a good foundation for a two-day event.

"The first horse show went very well and the crowds for both of the parades and the band concert were very good," he said.

There were only minor problems throughout the weekend.

Weaver said the Marine Band may return next year, but not for the Fourth of July. Open dates for the band are either in early June or late August.

Bulletin

The cause of a Wednesday morning fire at the home of Don Little is still undetermined but firefighters did know for sure it started in the kitchen.

The entire house at 5530 Severance Road was gutted and suffered structural damage as firefighters from Elkland Township and Caro fought the blaze.

Strong winds Wednesday contributed to the speed at which the fire spread throughout the house.

ALL SHOOK UP -- "Karizma" (left), possibly Tuscola County's only belly dancer, entertained the audience at Saturday evening's revue in front of the football stadium grandstand. Her "assistants" were Jim Dolecki, who was drafted out of the audience, and mistress of ceremonies Dolly Tracy.

Loma Etting passes away in California

Loma Etting of Concord, Calif., died Monday in Concord.

Mrs. Etting is the former Loma Reagh, daughter of Mrs. Laura Reagh of Cass City.

Little's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements, which were incomplete as of press time.

Ag Expo at MSU

More than 300 commercial farm exhibits and 50 acres of field tillage demonstrations highlight Ag. Expo '82, the largest farm show of its type in Michigan.

Expo, July 20-22 at Michigan State University, is expected to attract more than 40,000 visitors. The event will be supplemented by a variety of campus tours and educational exhibits.

The 30 acres of machinery displays will represent almost every mechanized area in a typical farm operation, including irrigation systems, field machinery, dairy equipment and supplies, livestock handling equipment, grain harvesting, handling and storage systems, sprayers, buildings, seed, and fertilizer supplies and services.

At least 18 university educational exhibits are being planned. These include an insect identification and control clinic, free soil testing and irrigation water salt-testing service, and demonstrations on container gardening.

Another segment will include daily field tillage demonstrations from 1-4 p.m.

Expo is free. Visitors will find plenty of free parking at the main Expo site at the corner of Mt. Hope Road and Farm Lane.

Details of Expo may be obtained from county Cooperative Extension Service offices.

One Accord, a musical ensemble from Bethel College, Mishawaka, Ind. will perform at Deford Community Church, 1392 Kingston Rd., Saturday, July 10th, at 7:00 p.m.

The group consists of eight singers, including the pianist, all continuing students at the college. Their music ranges from contemporary to the traditional anthems of the church. Coached by Professor Donald Schwing, the students are traveling as Bethel College representatives this summer.

Bethel College is a four-year Christian liberal arts college located between Mishawaka and South Bend. Founded in 1947, Bethel is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

A wide variety of major are offered leading to either an Associate of Arts degree or a Bachelor of Arts degree. This year's enrollment is over 400. Adv.
