Dry bean harvesting 95% done in state

Harvesting of dry beans in Michigan is about over, the Michigan Bean Shippers Association reported Monday, based on calls to county extension agents.

With more than 95 percent of the crop harvested, the MBSA reported "yield and quality are generally super."

The almost complete harvest compares to last year's wet fall, when 90 percent of the bean crop wasn't harvested until Oct. 29.

In Tuscola County, according to the MBSA, 95 percent of the dry beans were harvested as of Monday, with yields averaging 14.7 hundred-weight (cwt.) per acre.

In Sanilac County, 85 percent was off the fields, with projected average yields of 12.5 cwt. per acre.

Ninety-five percent of the Huron County crop was harvested, but no yield estimate was available.

Bean growers outside of Michigan weren't doing as well. In North Dakota, little more than 80 percent of the crop was harvested with yields projected at 10 cwt. per acre and slightly over 70 percent in Minnesota with yields close to average if the rest can be harvested. It has been raining in both states.

In Ontario, 80 percent is harvested with yields averaging 14 cwt.

1982 CASS CITY HOMECOMING QUEEN is Lori Sawdon, who was crowned Friday night by last year's queen, Brenda Langenburg. She is the daughter of Clayton and Dorothea Sawdon of Deford. Ready to present her with a bouquet is high school Principal Russ Richards.

Owen-Gage non-teaching staff receives pay raise

The Owendale-Gagetown School Board Monday evening approved pay raises for the present school year for administrators and its non-teaching staff.

Supt. Ronald Erickson will receive $31,488, compared to $30,488 he received each of the last two years. In addition, he and his family live rent-free in a home the school district owns in Owendale and he has use of a school-owned car.

High School Principal Wayne Wright and Elementary Principal Bill Britt received 10 percent pay increases, to $25,300 and $23,200 respectively. They are paid additional for some extra duties, for instance, Wright as athletic director and Britt as counselor. The latter had received the same pay in 1980-81 and '81-82.

Board members Jack Brinkman, Donna Salcido and Joe Warack made the recommendation for the administrators' salaries. Warack said after the meeting that they examined salaries paid in other districts before making the recommendation.

Other employees received pay raises of approximately 10 percent. Janitors will receive $9,148 or $9,413 annually, depending on the janitor; cooks, $5,058 or $6,068; secretaries, from $6,160 (part-year) to $13,310 (secretary-bookkeeper), and bus supervisor - mechanic - janitor, $14,193.

Bus drivers will receive $2,450 the first year, $2,625 the second and $2,874 for three or more years of employment.

Others included in the pay raises are teaching aides, cafeteria aides, and substitute bus drivers, teacher aides and teachers. The latter will receive $35 a day.

BUY, NO BUY

In other action, the board voted to spend $1,500 for purchase of Econo-Jets, sold by a Grand Blanc firm, to be installed in the gas lines for the boilers (furnaces) and hot water heaters at the two schools.

The firm guarantees the school district will save at least 10 percent on its natural gas bill, which last year totaled $22,000, Erickson said.

The board voted not to pay $75 a month to Sebe-waig accountant Ray Bauer, who would have provided it with a computer printout each month of how much money had been spent in each budget category, how much remained and actual income to the school district. Erickson said the information is available from school records when the board needs it.

PHIL RUNKEL

There was discussion about the Michigan Association of School Administrators fall conference Sept. 26-27 at Mackinac Island, attended by Erickson and board members Joe Warack and Donna Salcido.

Mrs. Salcido reported on her encounter with State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip E. Runkel. "I said, 'What do you want to close our Owen-Gage for?'"

She said he responded he wasn't out to close Owen-Gage or other rural school districts that are self-supporting, but doesn't oppose annexation of small urban districts where residents are paying, for instance, 40 mills to keep them open. Mrs. Salcido expressed her doubts, saying Runkel "didn't look me in the eye" when he talked about not wanting to close Owen-Gage or that he was willing to some time meet with persons from the district.

OTHER ITEMS

At the September board meeting, the board voted to deduct over a period of time $1,292 from teacher Nancy Folk's paychecks as reimbursement for unemployment compensation she received during the summer. Two deductions have now been made and the board decided Monday to deduct an additional $326 for an additional compensation payment she received.

Approval was given for three seniors to only take four hours of classes starting immediately, so that they can work half-days.

It was reported the band participated in band day activities Saturday at Ferris State College, Big Rapids.

It was mentioned, in talking about the season ticket prices for athletic events set at the September meeting, that senior citizens will still be admitted free to games.

School board delays bus parking policy

Cass City School buses will be running only on established routes and to drivers' homes for at least another month following a decision reached by the Cass City School Board Monday evening at the high school.

After a month that all may change when the board considers a new policy at its next regular meeting. That policy would allow the drivers to take the buses to places of work provided that this results in a net savings to the district.

For three drivers with other part-time jobs it would save mileage if the buses were driven and parked at the work place rather than driven to the drivers' home, James Fox, transportation director said.

However, when taxpayers see buses parked at work places it becomes bad public relations, trustees feel. The

Chimney fires may be costly

Chimney fires will be getting expensive -- but not for the Elkland Township Fire Department or taxpayers.

The township board Monday evening voted to charge $250 for each chimney fire run to a home starting with the second such fire.

The fire department has been to some homes as many as two or three times to extinguish chimney fires, according to Clerk Carol Ware, and the feeling of the board and Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr., who was at the meeting, was that most could be prevented with proper chimney cleaning and maintenance.

With so many chimney fires having occurred last winter, the alternative might have been to raise the standby fees charged to townships that contract with Elkland for fire protection, she said. In addition to all of Elkland, the department serves all or part of five other townships.

The new fee will take effect in the entire area served by the fire department. Other than for two or more chimney fires, the Elkland department will continue to not charge for fire calls, unlike many other fire departments.

In other action Monday, the board approved the cleaning of the J.E. Crawford Drain in the northeast corner of the township. Its share is not to exceed $400.

Landowners will pay half the cost and the county will pay the remaining one-fourth. Property owners along the drain first asked the board about having the county drain commissioner get the drain cleaned.

The board gave its approval to Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreements for the following: Walter, Elmer and Marcia Hoffman, 80 acres in Section 3 (Huron Line Road); Grant and Mary Hutchinson, 155 acres in section 22 (Cemetery Road); and Barry and Sally Hedley, 64 acres in section 30 (Dodge question before the board is whether the savings are enough to risk misunderstanding by the voters.

It was suggested that a special card be placed when the bus is parked at work places so that residents would know that the bus is not being used for private use at increased taxpayer expense.

Since in most instances, policy decisions are delayed for one month before acted upon this was the procedure that the board adopted. It does appear that when the vote is taken next month that the majority will favor allowing the buses to be used to save the district money.

The board adopted a new budget to reflect the additional revenue available and the restored curriculum. That led to other questions about the buses.

Supt. Don Crouse said that all buses are at capacity and that some routes were changed. There are two less buses operating this year due to decline in enrollment, 16 serving Cass City schools and two serving Evergreen-Deford.

Fox told the group that there is some backtracking that isn't reimbursed by the state. We maintained our policy of picking up children at the door and that makes some backtracking inevitable, Fox said.

BID POLICY

A suggestion last month to alter the bid policy at the school to favor local taxpayers was rejected. President Dr. Ed Scollon said that he felt the low bid policy has served us well. Trustee Dick Wallace who was faced with a very close bid for insurance at the school asked for the discussion. He said that if a policy of low bid is board policy he could live with it. Trustee Ben Hobart said that the low bid is a benefit for most of the taxpayers.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

One advisory committee at the high school is alive and well and the other will be getting under motion soon.

The agriculture advisory committee has met and talked over problems, Hobart told the board. He said that Dave Milligan was elected president and Ron Cybulski is vice-president. Lyle Clarke is the recording secretary. The group will meet again in November. Hobart said that he felt that the first meeting was productive and that plans are underway for farm visits by students and other projects designed to increase interest in agriculture.

Wallace and Trustee Thresa Burnette submitted a group of names for the special advisory committee of district residents.

If they are willing to serve the persons will be representatives from all areas of the district, Wallace said.

Suggested were: Delores Garety, Terri Groombridge, Lou Horner, Dave Loomis, Bob Tuckey, Fred Matthews, Allan Hartwick, Roger Root, Ray Flenor, Art Holmberg, Bev Lang-enburg and Glenda Deering. Wallace, Burnette and Scollon will participate as board members.

OTHER BUSINESS

The previously determined school millage was made official with 25.63 for operation and 1.1 for debt for a total levy of 26.73.

Dave Lovejoy, community education director, presented a film showing the activities of his department. Since enrollment has doubled in adult high school completion from 32 to 64 full time equivalents, he asked for and received permission to hire a co-op student 15 to 20 hours per week.

The continuing education department runs with money received from the state and from pupil payments for enrichment courses and is not funded with local taxes.

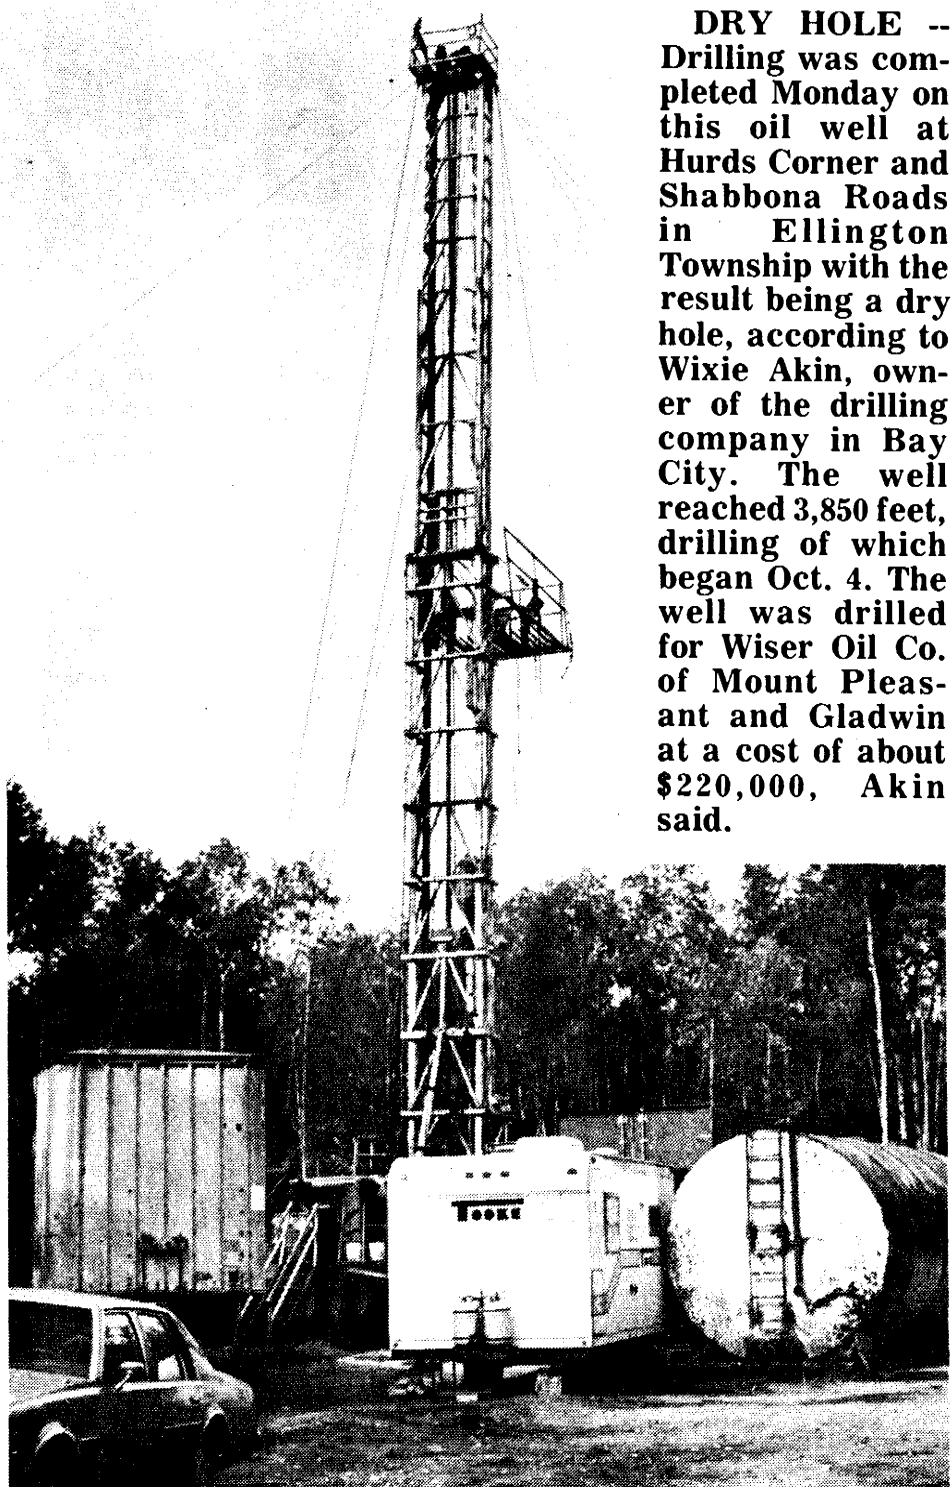

Lovejoy told the board that through Saginaw Valley State College students can now complete first year college work with courses offered at the school.

A report from the school auditors was heard and it suggested several book-keeping changes. There is $18,000 in a building and site fund which the auditors said should be taken from the general fund in the bank.

Crouse said that the money was placed with general fund monies because it generated better interest rates for the school.

The money may be used to repair or towards replacing the roofs on Campbell Elementary and the Intermediate School.

DRY HOLE --
Drilling was completed Monday on this oil well at Hurds Corner and Shabbona Roads in Ellington Township with the result being a dry hole, according to Wixie Akin, owner of the drilling company in Bay City. The well reached 3,850 feet, drilling of which began Oct. 4. The well was drilled for Wiser Oil Co. of Mount Pleasant and Gladwin at a cost of about $220,000, Akin said.

Silo blows top, loss $25,000+ in area fire

It will cost about $25,000 to rebuild a silo destroyed by fire and an explosion in Evergreen Township Saturday morning.

The silo was on the farm of Grant and Pearl Meredith on Deckerville Road east of Germania Road.

The fire began, according to Moore Township Fire Chief William Johnson, because air got into the silo, which is supposed to be airtight. When that happens, the combination of heat and moisture of the haylage (wet hay) inside causes heat to build up, which reached the point where the fire started.

The explosion resulted from firemen pouring water into the silo, which results in an oxygen build-up and increasing pressure. When the pressure became too much, the top of the 60-foot-tall silo blew off and fell to the ground in pieces. That was at 10:30 a.m.

Johnson said he and his men didn't learn that water shouldn't be used in such fires until the Harvestore Service manager at Port Hope was contacted by telephone. They were told carbon dioxide should be pumped into the silo, which would eliminate the oxygen and eventually put the fire out.

Carbon dioxide tanks were obtained in Sandusky and firemen had started to inject it into the silo when the top blew off.

According to the fire chief, 150 gallons of water had been pumped into the silo by the time firemen

Karen and Timothy Spry

Karen Sue Perry and Timothy James Spry were united in marriage Aug. 28 at the First Baptist Church, Cass City. The 7 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. John R. Wood.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Perry of Cass City. The groom is the son of Mrs. Christine Spry of Deford and the late Virgil Spry.

The bride wore a Victorian-style gown of white bridal knit. The fitted bodice featured a V-neckline inset with illusion accented by applique, and surrounded by a ruffle of Racheal lace. The slit bishop sleeves of chiffon were bounded by a cuff of illusion and applique, and fastened with small covered buttons. The sunburst pleated skirt fell from a natural waistline to ankle length. The underskirt was edged at the hemline with Racheal lace and fell to floor length below the pleats. Both skirts flowed into a chapel train accented by silk Venice streamers flowing down the back.

Her side-tipped picture hat was covered with chiffon and adorned at the side with a white silk rose. The illusion blusher fell into fingertip streamers at the back, and was secured with a puff of illusion at the back. She carried a cascade bouquet of silk lavender carnations, tiger lilies, and white lily-of-the-valley.

Matron of honor was Marlene Langmaid, friend of the bride, Cass City. Bridesmaids were Faith LaPonsie, Cass City, Bobette Michael, Bloomfield Hills, Angie Saldana, Cass City, and Judy Gardner, Elkton, all friends of the bride.

They wore matching lavender knit gowns featuring a V-neckline inset with lace, surrounded by a flounce of lace and topped with a high lace collar. The floor length skirt fell from a gathered natural waistline. All the gowns were made by the bride.

They carried white lace fans decorated with a cluster of silk lavender tiger lilies and sweetheart roses.

Best man was Jeffrey Hanby, friend of the groom, Cass City.

Groomsmen were Calvin Ostrander, friend of the groom, Cass City; David Michael, cousin of the groom, Bloomfield Hills; Randy Perry, brother of the bride, Cass City, and Douglas McArthur, friend of the groom, Cass City.

Ushers were Gary Perry, brother of the bride, Cass City, and Jeffrey Hanby, friend of the groom, Cass City.

City, and Jeffrey Spry, brother of the groom, Deford. All male attendants wore silver gray tuxedos and lavender tiger lily boutonnieres.

Soloists were Faith LaPonsie and Donald Greenleaf, friends of the bride. Greenleaf was also organist. Guest book attendant was Marilyn Ertman, friend of the bride, Cass City, who also cut the cake along with Michelle Palmer, friend of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a street-length light blue Qiana dress with ribbon bodice. The groom's mother wore a street-length grey pleated dress. Each wore a corsage of lilies.

After a tour through town in antique Model A and Model T Fords, the reception was held in the church hall for 250 guests.

Following a two-week honeymoon to Colorado, the newlyweds are living at 6761 Pine Street, Cass City.

Broad-brush talk

By Jim Fitzgerald

Maybe Gary Arnold, the heckler Ronald Reagan told to shut up, speaks with a broad brush. The president should be able to understand that. According to U.S. Sen. Howard Baker, the president himself sometimes talks with a broad brush.

In a recent speech, President Reagan said the people behind the nuclear freeze movement in this nation aren't Americans. This outraged a lot of freeze supporters who can prove their American citizenship. In response to this outrage, Sen. Baker looked into a TV camera and explained that Reagan didn't mean exactly what he said because he said it with a broad brush.

If I understood Baker correctly, his point was that broad brushes are used to paint barns, and thin pens are used to write words. Broad brushes are sloppy, thin pens are precise. If the president had been writing words, instead of painting a barn, he wouldn't have said what he said.

He wouldn't have implied that Americans who support a nuclear freeze aren't good Americans, that they're communists, communist dupes, pinko elitists or, at the least, people who turn left on red lights.

If he hadn't been painting a barn, the president wouldn't have used a broad brush, thereby angering millions of freeze supporters, many of whom are Republicans. Instead, he could have stayed home and used a thin pen to write precise words explaining that among the thousand of Wisconsin voters who recently approved a nuclear freeze proposition by a 3-to-1 margin there may have been one or two who once vacationed in Russia or read the Daily Worker.

And apologist Baker wouldn't have had to go on TV and ask the nation to please understand that sometimes our president talks with a broad-brushed tongue.

As a first step toward total world disarmament, I support a verifiable freeze on testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons in the U.S. and Russia. And I was angry when my president called me a lousy American.

As previously reported, I want a freeze for my grandchildren. I know I won't live to see the last nuclear weapon dismantled, but those kids might. I decided last January that if I really loved them, I'd work for a sane, peaceful world. So I go around committing such subversive acts as urging people to give or attend parties that raise freeze funds.

One was held Monday evening in the old Fisher mansion at 670 W. Boston Blvd. The speaker was Maj. Gen. William Fairbourn, associate director of the Washington-based Center for Defense Information. The general formerly commanded the First Marine Division and fought at Pearl Harbor, Guam and Iwo Jima. Would you like to tell him he's a lousy American?

Another thing I do for the freeze movement, involuntarily, is lunge for my throw-up pot whenever I read things like a recent Detroit News editorial that asked: "Why do the proponents of the freeze insist on adopting Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev's approach to arms negotiations, rather than the approach advocated by President Reagan and a majority in Congress?"

But perhaps I should be more understanding. If President Reagan can talk with a broad brush, certainly an editorialist can write with one. Given the chance, Sen. Baker might explain that just as Reagan doesn't really believe all freeze supporters are un-American, the Detroit News doesn't really believe Gen. Fairbourn takes orders from Leonid Brezhnev.

So maybe broad-brushing should be forgiven. But when Republican congressional candidate Gary Arnold of California broad-brushed the president in the White House last week, unfairly charging him with abandoning all conservative causes, Reagan told him to shut up. That must have felt good.

For supporters of a nuclear freeze: Shut up, Mr. President.

LIFE SUPPORT - Registered nurses Roxie Somerville (left) and Chris Schlicker demonstrate a technique they learned in the advanced cardiac life support class recently offered at the hospital. For a real heart attack or cardiac arrest patient, the tube they are inserting down the airway would be connected to an oxygen supply to enable him or her to breathe.

An advanced cardiac life support class was held at Hills and Dales General Hospital Oct. 1-3, for area physicians and nurses. Thirty-six nurses and physicians attended.

The class, considered very difficult, dealt more with testing than actual instruction. The students were given the material prior to the classes and were expected to study and become proficient in all areas before attending these sessions.

The program consisted of cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR), intubation of airways, diagnosis of 13 different cardiac rhythm abnormalities, diagnosis of emergency cardiac conditions and administration of various drugs for cardiac patients.

The classes were sponsored by the American Marriage Licenses

The Haire Net

Despite the barrage of publicity, there's no change here in the belief that the pro-choiceers are right. Having said that, let me add that because Richard Headlee is anti-abortion doesn't make him grow horns and become a candidate impossible to support.

I've had it up to here with one-issue persons. I can understand an issue becoming a deciding factor if all else balances out.

But whether a candidate is pro-choice or not shouldn't ever decide the election of the governor of Michigan and is especially repugnant in these perilous times.

It would be interesting to take a poll to see how many persons who are dead set against abortion paid for by state agencies are also dead set against any increase in welfare spending.

That smacks of letting them be born and then forget about them.

But that's a digression. The topic is one-issue voters. Joining that list was a group of prominent Republican women headed by Elly Peterson, who headed the Michigan GOP from 1965-70.

Headlee didn't help himself much when he contracted foot-in-mouth disease by saying only Mrs. Milliken and nine of her friends oppose his candidacy on the basis of women's issues. Contrast that with smooth talking James Blanchard, who promised women would be "equal partners" in his administration and said women "must not be channeled into traditional lines of second-class citizenship."

That's gobbledegook, of course. The only key issues that the feminists can cling to is that Blanchard is pro-choice and has nominated Martha Griffiths for lieutenant governor.

What would be excellent is that all the one-issue voters would cancel themselves out. For every 100 that voted for a candidate for one-issue reasons, another 100 would vote against him for the same reason.

The overriding issue this fall has to be employment. How do you create more jobs?

Which candidate can do the most for Michigan? That's a decision that a good many of us have yet to come to, judging by the huge undecided vote the polls show.

Will Blanchard's debt to his union constituency pay off in employment or will it chase more business to other areas?

Casting your vote on what you feel is in the best interest of the state makes sense.

Casting your vote for any other reason is nonsense.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

According to a release from the Michigan Farm Bureau, many experts, including Hurd Willett, professor emeritus of meteorology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, expect this to be the coldest winter of the century. That may be true, but I'll have to see it to believe. All those long-range weather predictions have been taken with a grain of salt since the time when Dorothy Phillips worked here and gave me the lowdown from her weather bible, The Farmer's Almanac.

First the bad news. For the first time that I can remember in 30-odd years of watching Cass City teams play football I witnessed an ambulance driven on the field as Scott Rockwell was taken from the field on a stretcher. Now the good news. All Rockwell suffered from was a sprained ankle and he's good as new now and ready to play again Friday.

Tore Tollersrud is a field goal kicker for the Cass City football team. So far he hasn't missed an extra point attempt.

Tore is an exchange student from Norway. That's a long boot away from Sweden where he was erroneously placed in a Chronicle football report.

Dick Wallace presented a letter from the Tuscola Skill Center at the Cass City Board meeting Monday.

The letter told about a computer course at the Center for students.

The trouble was that it didn't tell much, including time, date and cost.

Wallace was reminded that there was a phone number on the letter he received.

Yeah, he said, but that's long distance. Picky, picky.

There's no one I like to steal from more than Jim Sherman of the Oxford Leader. Here's a little proof reading test he poses:

How many f's in the following sentence? "Finished files are the result of years of scientific study combined with the experience of many years."

The answer is six (I think). The catch is that many persons overlook words like "of" just assuming that they are there and reading over them.

Police recover remains of 2 of 9 bikes reported stolen

Cass City police Friday recovered the remains of two bicycles stolen during the past several weeks.

The dismantled bikes, with some parts missing, were found in woods by a boy who reported them to police. Chief Gene Wilson didn't want to give further information concerning the location as investigation is continuing.

Nine bikes were stolen in Cass City since early September, one of which was found by its owner a few days after it was taken.

One of the bikes found Friday was owned by Theodore Furness of 6405 Sixth Street, who reported it missing Sept. 24. Ownership of the other bike was not immediately determined, so it possibly may never have been reported stolen, Wilson said. The two bikes were found together.

James R. Diaz of 3140 Broadway Road, Cass City, told sheriff's deputies Sept. 30 that he and his family were driving on Deckerville Road, just west of Murray Road, that evening when a youngster threw a rock into the car which struck him on the forehead, and started bleeding. His wife was driving.

He went to the home where the boy was and also called the sheriff's department.

Deputies talked to the nine-year-old boy who admitted throwing the stone and to his 13-year-old companion. The report on the incident wasn't available until Tuesday.

Theresa DeLong of 3115 Cemetery Road, Kingston, reported to Caro state police

Sept. 20 that $83 in food stamps were stolen from her mailbox between Sept. 1 and 15.

The report on the theft wasn't available at the police post until Tuesday.

Probate court seeks funds

Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. has submitted a 1983 budget request to the county Board of Commissioners of $125,125 for his department.

That compares with $126,193 budgeted this year, although it is projected his department will have only spent $111,777 by the end of this year.

The primary reason for the savings this year, he said, was that fees for court appointed attorneys were less than expected, plus as of June 1, he reduced the standard fee by 30 percent. He did so at the same time that Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn reduced the fees paid to appointed attorneys in his court. Expected savings are $10,000.

In addition, Kent said, it is anticipated the child care fund will end the year with a surplus.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK -- First graders from Campbell Elementary School toured the Elkland Township fire hall and received a ride on a fire truck last Thursday in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week. Demonstrating use of a hose attached to the fire truck in the rear was fire fighter Janet Hurley.

Silo fire is stubborn

learned that was the wrong way to extinguish the fire.

The fire was discovered at 8:30 a.m. by the Meredith's daughter-in-law, Marcia, who lives close by, whose husband, Dale, runs the farm.

The Grant Merediths were away at the time.

Dale Meredith told the Chronicle firemen debated when they arrived how to extinguish the fire. (He said air got in the silo because he forgot to close the top.)

While his wife and neighbor were trying to get hold of the service manager, the firemen decided to try to drown the fire, so started pouring water into the silo.

Firemen were warned and got away in time before the explosion.

Meredith has been told it will cost about $25,000 to rebuild the extensively damaged silo. Inside was 100 tons of haylage. He didn't know what that was worth.

His mother wasn't sure if insurance would cover the entire loss.

As of Wednesday morning, the fire continued to smolder.

Johnson said that all that can be done now is let the fire burn itself out. To open the bottom of the silo to remove the silage while it was still burning would create an updraft "and it (the fire) would really take off."

Super sports

By Mike Eliasohn

To be honest, I don't regret National Football League games not being on television due to the players' strike.

Since I never watch when the games are on, there is nothing to miss.

I don't watch college football either.

Out of curiosity, however, I did watch part of a Canadian Football League game -- NBC's Sunday afternoon substitute during the strike.

What struck me as most interesting about it was not that the playing field is bigger or that they have three downs or can score one point without making a touchdown -- but that CFL players on the sidelines can be interviewed during the game.

Most of the questions asked in the quickie interviews between plays seemed somewhat marshmallow -- "Do you think you can come back after the Stampeders' last touchdown?" -- or something like that.

Wouldn't it be something if, once the strike is over, the NFL allowed sideline interviews during games and ABC assigned Howard Cosell to do them Monday nights?"

It is a big game, with the winner making it to the playoffs. On a fourth down in the closing minutes of the game, a star end drops a pass while in easy position to score. A touchdown would have put his team ahead.

The player returns to the sidelines. Cosell goes up to him, microphone in hand, cameraman close behind. "Tell me, Bruno," Cosell asks, "How does it feel to have dropped a pass that may have cost your team a chance to get into the playoffs?"

CBS, having bombed broadcasting a rerun of last January's Super Bowl game in the Pontiac Silverdome (I should have watched since I still don't know who won), chose to broadcast small college games Sunday, Oct. 3.

When I turned on my TV and heard the game was being broadcast from Menominee, I thought I was watching a Northern Michigan University game. Then I looked in the listing of colleges and universities in my dictionary and discovered NMU is located in Marquette.

The game was in Menomonee, Wis., (notice the difference in spelling), and featured University of Wisconsin-Stout, the home team, versus the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh.

Yipee. I've seen high school games played before bigger crowds.

If the strike lasts much longer, CBS will be broadcasting high school games.

As for NBC, they don't call it the frozen North for nothing. The Canadian Football League season will soon be over -- it's hard to play during a Saskatchewan blizzard -- so the network will have to find something else to broadcast. Presumably, it won't show repeats of CFL games or even the 1981 Gray Cup game (the Canadian equivalent of the Super Bowl).

Hockey bombed on U.S. networks, so did soccer and pro basketball is near death on the tube.

But the networks will try anything, especially anything new.

Look for John McEnroe and Jim ny Connors to take on each other in a boxing match. Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer will get behind the wheels of cars in a demolition derby. And Magic Johnson and Julius Erving will compete against each other in a horse race.

Tiddlywinks, anyone?

Harmonica

Harmonica player Luella Smith of Snover will entertain members of the American Association of Retired Persons at the AARP meeting this Thursday in the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church fellowship hall.

BIG ONIONS -- Ernest Hyatt's garden yielded these big Spanish onions, the biggest ever. The largest weighed 2 1/2 pounds and the six weighed a total of 12 1/2 pounds. Normal is maybe 1 pound or better. Hyatt lives at 3696 Leslie Road, Decker.

Lawsuit filed in traffic death

A lawsuit has been filed in Tuscola County seeking damages from two bars the suit claims served a rural Cass City man before he was killed in a 1980 traffic accident.

Plaintiff is Mona Wilson, as next friend of her children, Terri, Michael and Douglas.

Her husband, David Lee Wilson, was killed at 3:45 a.m. Jan. 1 of that year, when his car, southbound on Gilford Road, went out of control, through a fence and then hit two cars parked at a house. His car then burst into flames.

Wilson, 37 at the time, lived on Akron Road and was owner-operator of a market in Sebawaing.

Defendants are Duffy's Tavern in Sebawaing and its owner, Richard C. Reinert, and the Cornerstone Saloon in Unionville and its owner, Gary Rivert.

The suit claims that Wilson was served at the two bars, the result of which he became intoxicated, and because he was intoxicated, he had the fatal accident.

The suit seeks in excess of $10,000 in damages, plus costs, interest and attorney fees. A jury trial has been demanded.

Intermediate open house Tuesday

Various student activities will be on display Tuesday at an open house at Cass City Intermediate School. Hours will be 6:30-8 p.m. Activities will include: Creative writing, health projects and "grammar gobblins," fifth grade; map displays, sixth; exercise routines, seventh and eighth, and dramas, soft sculptures, science fair and history down (history equivalent of a spelling bee), eighth. Refreshments will be served.

Pitchers

Stan Musial, one of baseball's greatest hitters, began his career as a pitcher. In 1940, with a batting average of .369 and 17 wins, he hurt his shoulder. He later became an outfielder.

In 1916, Babe Ruth was the best left-handed pitcher in the major leagues when he was 23-12 with Boston. According to A.T.O. Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, he became an outfielder in 1919.

Injuries minor in auto mishap Monday evening

Donna Burleson, 17, of 6662 Seed Street, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following a Monday evening mishap.

Cass City police reported she was being picked up at her home by Lori Calka of 6306 W. Main Street, who when she thought Miss Burleson was inside the car, started to drive away.

She wasn't completely in the car, however, and her right foot and leg were injured. The mishap occurred at 7:31 p.m.

Cass City police were to ticket Thomas F. White, 32, of 4224 Maple Street on a charge of failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead because of a 12:35 p.m. accident Sunday.

They reported Raymond W. Hurd, 34, of 5569 Shabbona Road, Decker, was westbound on Main Street and stopped at Sherman Street because of a car stopped in front of him.

The westbound White auto was unable to stop in time and ran into the rear of the Hurd vehicle.

Sheriff's deputies ticketed Charles Fabbro, 32, of Vassar, on a charge of failure to yield following a 12:44 p.m. accident Tuesday, Oct. 5.

He was westbound on Sheridan Road in Vassar Township and said he stopped at Walton Road but didn't see the approaching southbound car before proceeding into the intersection.

His vehicle then collided with the car, driven by Harold A. Langlois, 57, of 6053 McGregor Road, Gageton, who swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the collision.

No one was injured Friday morning when a car ran into the rear of a Cass City school bus with 44 passengers inside.

Cass City police reported the bus, driven by Phyllis M. Cox, 62, of 4364 Leach Street, was southbound on Seeger Street.

Ruben D. McLellan, 19, of Caro, was westbound on Bulen Drive, failed to stop at the stop sign, turned left and ran into the rear of the bus.

He told officers he was unable to stop because his car slid on loose gravel. The accident occurred at 8:35 a.m.

At 6:50 p.m. Friday, village officers reported, Sheryl Ann Evans, 16, of 5581 Hurds Corner Road, Gageton, southbound on Nestle Street, stopped at Main Street before starting to turn left.

She then collided with the eastbound auto of Terry R. Magiera, 24, of Caro, who unsuccessfully veered to the right in an attempt to avoid the collision.

Police reported that at 7:10 p.m. last Wednesday, Adrian Hutchinson, 48, of 3425 Doerr Road, was backing from a parking place in the alley south of Main Street and west of Leach and backed into a parked vehicle owned by John C. Zawilinski.

At 5:55 p.m. last Thursday, police said, John Mulrath Sr., 66, of 6729 Third Street, backed from a parking place at Erla's Food Center into the car of Jane M. Wass, 27, of 4237 Doerr Road, who was northbound in the lot.

Caro state police reported that at 7:45 p.m. Monday, Almon A. Adams, 67, of Caro, was eastbound on Bevans Road, west of Hurds Corner Road, when his car collided with a deer.

BIG CARROTS -- Shawn and Jim Rienas, 5 and 3 respectively, hold carrots from the garden of their parents, Russel and Pennie Rienas of 1935 Englehart Road, Deford. The one Shawn is holding is 11 1/2 inches in circumference and 10 inches long.

Uniform sale, exchange

Cass City Girl Scouts will conduct a uniform exchange and sale Saturday, Oct. 23, from 10 a.m.-noon in the Cultural Center.

Anyone having a Brownie or Girl Scout uniform no longer in use or who desires to purchase a used outfit is invited.

Anyone who has a uniform available for donation or sale is asked to put their name and address on a stamped envelope with size and price on the back of the envelope and bring it and the uniform to the Cultural Center at 10 a.m. the day of the sale.

If unable to come then, they should call Jane Becker, Cass City, at 872-4002, or Pat Zimmerman in the Deford area at 872-4067.

Anyone with an out-of-date uniform they would like to donate can bring it to the Cultural Center or contact either woman.

Also on sale Oct. 23 will be new books, sashes, ties and other Scout articles.

Two families at Bach fest

The Village Bach Festival will be the place for two musical family reunions over the Thanksgiving week end, Nov. 26-28.

William Preucil, violist and member of the Stradivari Quartet at Iowa State University where he also teaches in the music department, and wife Doris, violinist, who heads up the Preucil's own school of music, will be joined by son William Jr., daughter-in-law Gwen Starker, daughter Ann and son Walter, to perform as well as visit.

William Jr. has been appointed concertmaster of the Atlanta Symphony and Walter has been accepted into a cello program with Janos Starker, the world-famous cellist, and the father of Gwen Starker. Gwen has most recently held the second violinist chair with the Utah Symphony.

Ann Preucil, pursuing the study of harp and viola at Oberlin University, will travel from Ohio to perform with her family. Walter will be joined by his fiancée, violinist Stephanie Kanack, a student at the Eastman School of Music, to perform at the festival.

Norman Paulu, violinist and member of the Pro Arte Quartet at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, where he also serves on the faculty, and wife Catherine, a sought-after concert oboist, will perform with daughter Laura, flutist and graduate student at Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

Members of the two families have performed at the previous three festivals.

Argyle Sox 4-H Club picks officers

The Argyle Sox 4-H Club started its new year of activities Oct. 4 at a meeting in the St. Joseph parish hall in Argyle.

Officers elected for 1982-83 were: President, Jeff Janowiak; vice-president, Debbie Wojtas; secretary, Tracey Pallas; treasurer, Jenny Grifka; news reporter, Carrie Franzel, and historian, Marsha Ingles.

The club will conduct its annual banquet for members and parents Sunday, Oct. 24, in the parish hall starting at 1 p.m. Achievement awards, year pins and checks will be given to members and a king and queen will be crowned.

Jaycettes' first meeting this Thursday

Women ages 18-35 interested in becoming involved in personal and community projects are invited to attend the first meeting of the Cass City Jaycettes this Thursday (Oct. 14) at the Charmont, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Nine Cass City women recently voted to form the chapter following extension efforts by the Pigeon area Jaycettes, who will be at the meeting to assist.

Officers will be elected. Acting chairman of the new group is Beth Howard of Cass City.

Mrs. MacKay dies

Evelyn Lucille MacKay, 72, of Cass City died Sunday at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a long illness.

She was born Jan. 1, 1910, in Rockford, Ohio, the daughter of Ferdlus and Mina (Lampy) Kimmel.

Miss Kimmel married Robert J. MacKay Oct. 13, 1934, in Bad Axe. They made their home in Cass City. Her husband died April 26, 1965.

Mrs. MacKay had been a practical nurse at Pleasant Home Hospital and Hills and Dales General Hospital. She was a member of the Deford Community Church and a charter member of the American Legion Auxiliary, Tri-County Unit No. 507, Cass City.

Mrs. MacKay is survived by three sons, Robert D. MacKay, Cass City, James MacKay, Novi and Lt. Col. Frederick J. MacKay, U.S. Army, Marshall; six grandchildren; one sister, M. Dale Krugh, Mendon, Ohio, and two brothers, Carl Kimmel and Edward Kimmel of Rockford, Ohio. One son, Donald, one daughter, Dorothy, and one brother, Kenneth, preceded her in death.

Mrs. MacKay was taken from Little's Funeral Home at 11 a.m. Wednesday to the Deford Community Church to lie in state until the 1 p.m. funeral service. Rev. Gerald Rodgers officiated.

Burial was in Elkland Township Cemetery.

ASK DR. COE
By Dalton P. Coe, D.D.S.

Heavy fall pollen crops and the onset of cold, wet weather have once again triggered many "toothaches" which are directly related to inflamed sinus tissues. Dental nerves for the upper teeth many times lie in the floor of the sinuses - pollen, dust and cold, wet weather can cause membrane tissue in the sinus to swell. This swelling in turn can cause the dental nerve to be more sensitive to pain than usual - it can even cause pain which simulates a "toothache". This pain can be "referred" to the lower jaw and rarely even to the opposite side of the jaw.

Involvement of the sinuses in dental pain must always be suspected if no other damage to the teeth is evident. However, it is very important to have all aching teeth examined. By probing, testing with hot and cold, tapping the teeth and use of dental X-rays, pain can usually be determined of either dental or of a sinus origin. On occasion an inflamed sinus will increase pain from a dental problem already present. While not all sinus problems lead to dental pain, it is not unusual for a sinus to be inflamed without a patient being aware of it. The services of your physician may be required to treat the sinus in order to stop a "toothache".

In any event, an accurate diagnosis should be made in order to start effective treatment.

New books at the library

THE DESTINED HOUR: The Rosens' Revealing Personal Account of Iran and the Hostage Crisis by Barbara and Barry Rosen (non-fiction). This intimate, moving account of personal and national ordeal draws upon the experience of both victims of the hostage crisis: That of Barry Rosen, one of the most eloquent and knowledgeable of the American prisoners in Teheran, and that of his wife Barbara, who lived for 444 days under a cloud of fearful uncertainty. The authors discuss the background of the crisis, the true situation in Iran, the effect of the year-and-a-quarter of separation and concern by the relatives and families of the hostages.

1947 - WHEN ALL HELL BROKE LOOSE IN BASEBALL by Red Barber (non-fiction). 1947, the year of the Yankee-Dodger World Series, the year Leo Durocher was suspended from baseball for the season and the year Branch Rickey of the Dodgers broke baseball's color line by inviting Jackie Robinson to join the major leagues. Red Barber was there for it all, calling the play-by-plays, and his account of Jackie Robinson's ordeal is a fierce, shocking, and moving true story of the year that changed the face of professional sports forever.

THE ONYX by Jacqueline Briskin (fiction). Tom Bridger, reared on cold midwestern prairies, indomitably sets out to shrink the lonely distances that destroyed his parents. To a jeering, yet stunned Detroit, he introduced the first horseless carriage. While his cars tremble tentatively across flatlands, linking industries and families, Bridger unwittingly steels his emotions against the vagaries of his personal life. Thus it is that the "Bridger" name ironically replaces the land's isolation with a modern barrenness of human spirit and an angst of divided loyalties, for Tom also invents the assembly line... the silent instigator of unionization.

Play at Bad Axe Friday

Caro Tigers spoil Cass City's homecoming, 44-8

Coach Don Schelke would be pleased if his charges got in front early when the squad travels to Bad Axe Friday for another Thumb B

Association contest. The Hawks have been in the habit of falling behind early and trying to play catch up with disastrous results.

The young Hawks made critical errors on offense trying to play catch up and as a result, the Caro Tigers ruined Cass City's homecoming last Friday, 44-8.

The statistics weren't all that bad although the Hawks running game was able to produce very little yardage. Overall, the Hawks gained 117 yards while the Tigers piled up 209 yards.

opened the scoring floodgates that saw the visitors chalk up 22 points in the final 8 minutes.

The Hawks avoided a shutout when Tim Smith took a Tiger kick-off and jaunted 70 yards to score. Bryan Beecher passed to Joe Langenburg for the extra two points.

On defense, Schelke singled out Dave Osentoski for a solo and 10 tackle assists. Others helping were Bob Walters, 7 assists; Beecher, 3 assists and 2 interceptions; Jeff Loomis, one solo, 6 assists, and Tom Lefler, one solo and five assists.

Bad Axe wins Thumb B; Cass City is fifth

The final Thumb B Association meet was held Monday and Cass City finished fifth in the meet and fifth in the final league standings.

Bad Axe was the meet and league champion. The teams finished in the league in the exact order that they finished in the league meet.

The results were: Bad Axe, 331; Vassar, 339; Marlette, 349; Caro, 364; Cass City, 366; North Branch, 375; Sandusky, 381; Lakers, 390.

Armada, Bad Axe, Brown City, Capac, Cass City, Harbor Beach, Lakers, Marlette, Memphis, Reese and Sandusky.

MARLETTE MEET

Cass City played Marlette at Rolling Hills Golf Course and lost 165-178. Brian Elliott, 37, and Brett Drillock, 38, paced Marlette, while Mark House with a 41 was low for Cass City.

Bad Axe won the second Thumb B Association golf meet of the season, hosted by North Branch at Greenbrier, Mayville, Monday, Oct. 4.

The Hatchets had co-medalists of the meet as Chris Peters and Greg Gay each shot 36's. Cass City finished sixth. The teams finished in the following order: Bad Axe, Vassar, Caro, Marlette, North Branch, Cass City, Sandusky and Lakers.

Dieter Roth led Cass City with a 40.

In a meet held Tuesday, Oct. 5, Cass City was defeated by Vassar, 211 to 235. Craig Kuhn of Vassar was the medalist with a 37. Kevin Downing led Cass City with a 40.

Seven players from each school competed and the best five scores were counted.

THE HAWKS kept trying to the end. This pass to Brian Wright came with just moments left in the game. Coming up to make the tackle is Caro's Scott Sosne.

Girls win county crown

Cass City High School girls won the Tuscola County Invitational held at Mayville Thursday with a score of 29, far outdistancing second place

Caro which had 60. Akron-Fairgrove was third and Kingston, fourth.

TBA MEET

In the first Thumb B Association meet held Tuesday, Oct. 5, Sandusky, 7-0, was first. Cass City, 6-1, was second, Caro, 5-2, third; Lakers, 4-3, fourth, while the rest of the schools failed to place.

Stimpfel finished fourth, the best effort for Cass City. Wilson was 9th; Leslie, 10th; Roach, 22nd, and Hawley, 23rd.

The girls are now tied for ninth in the state ratings, behind sixth place Harbor Beach and ahead of 19th place Sandusky in the Thumb.

In the boys' competition, Cass City was second behind Caro. North Branch was third, Lakers, fourth, and Marlette, fifth.

Greg Bliss won the event. Other Cass City placings were: Jackson, 8; Kevin Bliss, 11; Green, 22, and Wallace, 24.

Hatchets press past Cass City

The young Cass City basketball team was unable to cope with the Bad Axe Hatchet press Tuesday night and as a result lost its ninth straight game of the year, 66-49. The Hawks turned over the ball 26 times in the game at Bad Axe.

The Hatchets jumped out in front with a big first half and coasted to the win. Cass City trailed 18-10 at the end of the first quarter and 40-18 at the half.

The Hawks outscored the Hatchets 31-26 in the last half but by then it was too little, too late.

Jill Hutchinson had the best night of her career with 22 points and Carrie Lautner added 14 for the Hawks. Bad Axe had four players in double figures, led by Eva Wardhammer with 19. Laurie Mazure added 14, Teena Pangborn, 13, and Julie Plevnia, 12.

Each team had 34 rebounds. Hutchinson led Cass City with 10.

Cass City High School's losing streak went to nine Thursday when the Hawks bowed to the Caro Tigers, 42-34.

As usual the shorter Cass City Hawks were outbounded. The Tigers held a 49-27 edge over Hawk girls.

The winners jumped out to a first period lead, 14-8, but Cass City bounced back to trail by just a single bucket at the intermission.

In the nip and tuck game, Cass City fell behind 31-27 at the end of three quarters and were unable to close in the crucial final period.

If the Hawks were just a little better from the foul circle the results could have been much different. Cass City converted just two of 11 from the charity stripe.

Carrie Lautner led Cass City with 12 points, all on field goals. Jill Hutchinson added nine despite going one for 9 in the free throw department.

Peck tops O-G

Owen-Gage's losing streak extended to five games with a 49-36 loss at Peck last Thursday.

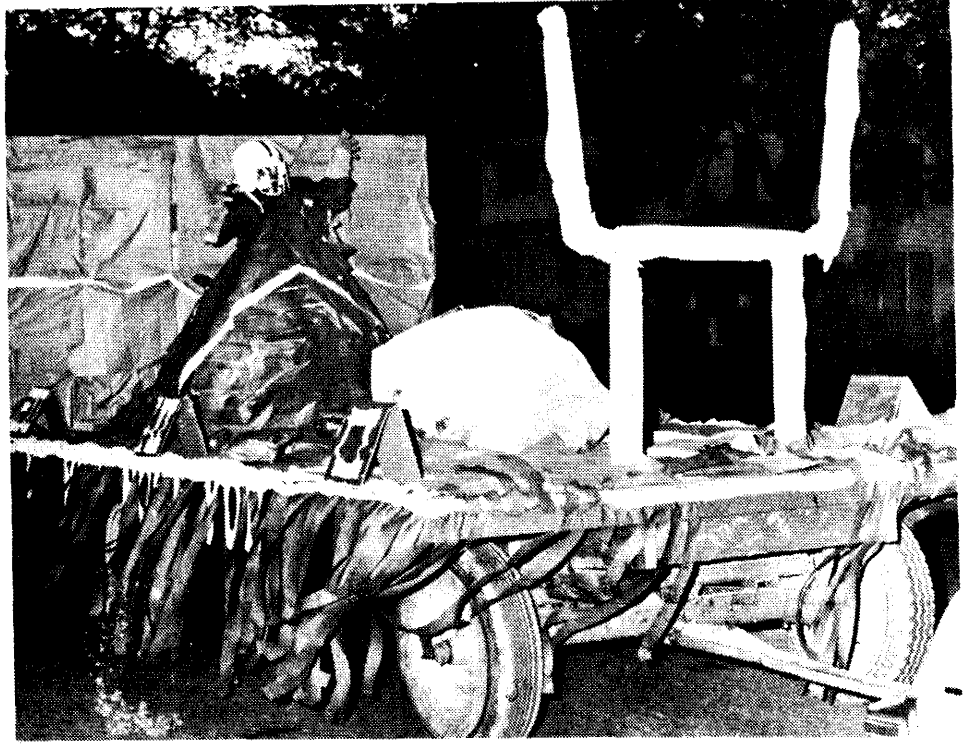

The Pirates pulled out to an 11-6 first quarter lead and never trailed after that.

Bulldogs in double figures were Jackie Kain with 12 points and Joan Mosack with 11. The team collected 14 field goals and sank eight of 16 free throws.

Char Crose led the Pirates with 15 points. Peck sank 22 field goals and was five of 10 at the charity line. The Pirates won the junior varsity game, 28-18.

GRAB IT — Midway through the fourth quarter, Kingston gained possession of the ball on the Owen-Gage 10 yard line after blocking a Bulldog punt, but on the next play, lost possession on this fumble. Bulldog Dan Glidden, not shown in photo, recovered it.

O-G squeaks by Kingston to keep win string intact

Extra points made the difference last Friday night as Owen-Gage got more of them after touchdowns than did Kingston and won 27-25.

The undefeated Bulldogs have won their last four outings by an average of 4 1/4 points per game.

This Friday, Bulldog coach Arnie Besonen is expecting another tough battle when his team plays at Akron-Fairgrove.

Like Kingston, he said, "Akron-Fairgrove will also be higher than a kite for us. They are coming off a big win at Peck. We'll have to play our very best again to win. It's a tough road to go from now on."

The Cardinals, who have been a rather easy opponent the last few years, were far from it Friday.

Greg Wenzlaff then plunged over from the one-yard line with 3:06 left to end a 57-yard drive taking 11 plays. Kingston attempted to run the ball into the end zone for two more points, which would have put it in the lead, but the carrier was blocked.

It took four plays and 48 yards for the Bulldogs to score again, with Gettel scampering in from 10 yards out with 1:25 left. Dan Glidden carried the ball for the two-point conversion but was stopped short of the goal line.

Time was running short, but that didn't deter Kingston, which advanced 80 yards in only five plays to score with only 18 seconds left in the half. Magge scored the points on a 22-yard pass from Byers. Two points would have put the Cardinals ahead, but their ball carrier was blocked, so the half ended with Owen-Gage ahead, 20-19.

With 7:49 left in the third period, the Bulldogs went ahead to stay on a 15-yard run by Dan Glidden, who then kicked the extra point.

Kingston scored what proved to be the final touchdown of the game on a six-yard pass from Byers to Wade Cambell with 2:28 left in the third period.

Byers' attempted pass to Cambell, which would have tied the score, was incomplete.

Except for what counted, the final score, Kingston led in the statistics department. The Cardinals gained 280 yards and collected 19 first downs.

On the ground, the team advanced 202 yards in 51 carries. Byers passed 14 times and completed eight passes with one interception for 78 yards.

Owen-Gage kept pace rushing, 201 yards in 40 carries, but gained only 28 yards in the air on three completions of five attempts with one interception. Andrakowicz did most of the passing, with Nick Swiastyn throwing one incomplete pass and the interception.

The Bulldogs gained a total of 229 yards and made nine first downs. The team didn't fumble and was penalized eight times for 66 yards.

Their opponents fumbled three times, lost the ball twice, and were penalized six times for 35 yards.

Leading rushers for the victors were Gettel with 16 carries and 78 yards and Andrakowicz, seven carries and 57 yards.

Wenzlaff led the Kingston offense with 13 carries and 67 yards, followed by Campbell, 19 carries and 58 yards, and Ken Pierce, seven carries good for 41 yards.

Defensive standouts for Owen-Gage were Glidden with 12 tackles and one fumble recovery; Swiastyn, 11 tackles and one interception, and Mike Powell and Gary Erickson, each with 11 tackles.

Wenzlaff and Craig Friday each brought down Bulldog ball carriers 12 times. Darren Mathews made seven tackles.

Cass City area pheasant hot spot

Pheasant hunting season starts Wednesday, Oct. 20, and the best hunting in the state should be close to Cass City, but compared to past years, it won't be very good.

"I think what they're saying is the Thumb is the best of the worst," commented Carlton (Bud) Jarvis, Department of Natural Resources biologist at Caro. The best hunting should be found in western Sanilac County from Marlette north into Huron County, he said.

Last year's hunting was only "so-so," according to the biologist, and the pheasant count this year by rural mail carriers and DNR personnel was less than last year.

Statewide, according to the DNR, the rural mail carrier survey showed 1.1

broods observed per 10 days, compared to 1.9 last year, a drop of 40 percent. Those figures compare with 7.8 readings in the early 1950s.

Although the center of the Thumb is supposed to be the best hunting in the state, it still won't be very good. "It could be fair hunting, but I think you'll have to work at it," Jarvis commented. The number of pheasants has been in continual decline, he explained, because of severe winters the last three or four years, especially in the southern part of the state, which got more snow than in the Thumb, and because of a change in agricultural practices.

Buck luck

The game was a see-saw battle all the way, "... every time we'd score, they'd come back on us."

Owen-Gage got on the scoreboard first on a 33-yard run by Lee Gettel in the first quarter. The point after touchdown attempt was unsuccessful.

The Cardinals then scored on a nine-yard pass from Mike Byers to Gary Magge. Tim Tumblin kicked the extra point.

The Bulldogs pulled ahead early in the second quarter.

Dennis Kessler of Sixth Street, Cass City, shot a buck Oct. 5 west of town, his first in two years of bow hunting.

It weighed an estimated 150 pounds and would have had five or six points except one was broken off.

McDonald: WMU player of week

Western Michigan University has a so-so season so far in football, but 1979 Owendale-Gagetown graduate Mark McDonald has been having a very good one.

The starting tackle on the CMU squad has been named Bronco defensive player of the week two weeks.

In the Oct. 2 game at Bowling Green (Ohio) University, McDonald sacked the two opposing quarterbacks a total of three times, for a loss of 23 yards, and made 12 tackles.

The WMU defense limited the Bowling Green offense to 218 yards, after it had averaged 412 in each of the previous two games.

Unfortunately for the Broncos, BG won 7-3.

The week before, McDonald made 11 tackles and two quarterback sacks.

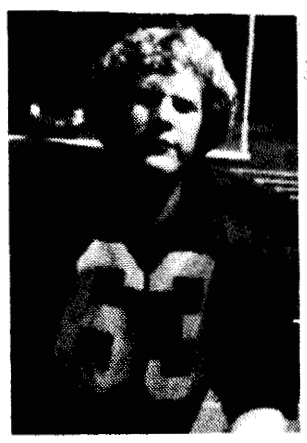

The Kalamazoo Gazette sports writer who covered the Bowling Green game said that McDonald had probably his finest game against the Ohio school.

"I feel kind of lousy because we lost," McDonald told the reporter. "I do have more confidence in myself though."

The WMU senior is the son of Elwood (Bud) and Jeanette McDonald of 3420 Fifth Street, Owendale.

At Mt. Pleasant Saturday, WMU tied Central Michigan, 18-18. The Broncos are now 1-1-1 in the Mid American Conference, tied with CMU in fifth place, and 3-1-1 overall.

HELPING HAND — Blood drives need volunteers to help in addition to volunteer donors. Putting unit numbers on blood bags and attaching bottles, from the sponsoring Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary, were, from left, Helen Jezewski, Mary Hutchinson and Virginia Hartwick. The Red Cross drive last Wednesday collected 78 units of blood.

78 units of blood collected

The Red Cross blood bank was conducted at Hills and Dales General Hospital last Wednesday, sponsored by the Hospital Auxiliary.

A total of 86 persons volunteered to donate blood. Seventy-eight units of blood were donated. Eight people were unable to donate for various medical reasons.

The next blood bank is scheduled Monday, Dec. 20, to be sponsored by the Zonta Club of Cass City. More donors are needed.

Three blood banks are planned per year.

Persons may donate blood every 57 days. Only five percent of the population donate blood.

At Hills and Dales, a constant supply of Red Cross furnished blood is available for patients.

The Regular Meeting of Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held Sept. 28, 1982 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

President Althaver presented a plaque to Dr. Delbert E. Rawson that is to be placed on the Park Facility Building naming the building the Rawson Facility Building in honor of Dr. Rawson's many years of service and dedication to the growth and enrichment of the Village.

The bid opening was held on the house on the Bauman property. One bid was received from Richard Emmons in the amount of $100.00. A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire and supported by Trustee Ware to accept the bid of $100.00 with the house to be removed by Dec. 31, 1982. Motion defeated 1 yeas 5 nays with the matter to be reviewed in the spring.

Gary Deering was present concerning the building of a duplex home on Pine Street between Maple and Sherman. As the area is presently zoned RA-2, Single Family Residential the council could not approve the request. Council told Mr. Deering the matter would be reviewed and a legal opinion obtained as to the establishment of an RB, Two Family Residential District within the Village. The minimum floor area requirements per unit will also be looked into.

Kurt Strickland and Kim Glaspie of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce were present in regard to transient merchants within the Village. They presented ordinances from other communities. A study concerning this matter was also received from the Michigan

Municipal League. The combined material is to be turned over to the Village Attorney for review and an opinion.

The minutes of the regular August meeting were approved as presented.

The Financial Statement was reviewed.

The Treasurer's report was reviewed showing 91.8 percent of taxes collected to date. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum that the collection period for taxes be extended until Oct. 15, 1982. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The revised budget for 1982 was reviewed. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee McIntosh to adopt the revised 1982 budget. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

Trick or Treat date and time was established as Oct. 30, 1982 from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The Superintendent's report was reviewed. A letter was received from First Michigan Cablevision stating that service will be available to the Northwood Village and Estates as soon as weather permits in 1983.

A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Helwig that the regular bills be approved for payment. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

Your Neighbor says Football players are overpaid now

Sunday was the third week end of the National Football League players' strike.

Fritz Pomeroy thinks it's up to the players to end the strike, not the team owners. "It's unnecessary. I think they're entitled to a union, but they're greedy." The players are asking for establishment of a wage scale based on seniority, which would guarantee increasing salaries to veteran players. The amount at stake is $1.6 billion, to be dispersed over four or five years.

Pomeroy thinks the way to settle the strike is for the players to drop their demands, that they are paid well enough now.

Not that he feels that will happen. He doesn't project team owners will give in easily either. "The pitiful part is the teams are receiving their money from TV and they could go on indefinitely." The networks have continued to make their payments to the NFL teams for the right to broadcast the games, even though the games haven't been played.

If the strike does end, Pomeroy predicts the Detroit Lions -- 2-0 before the strike -- will go on to win the division title. "They're getting experience all the time and being an old duffer myself, I think when they get older, they get a little better."

Although the retired farmer likes to watch Lions games on television, he doesn't like taxpayers having to subsidize the Pontiac Silverdome where they play. He has never been there. "I don't think the state should be subsidizing the Silverdome, not in any way, shape or form," he commented.

Without the NFL games on television, Pomeroy has been watching college and Canadian Football League games.

"I think it's a more wide open game (than the NFL)," he said of the latter, but the players aren't as physical. "It appears to be more like college football."

Pomeroy and his wife, Marion, live at 4870 Elmwood Road, Cass City. They have two children and five grandchildren.

Around the Farm Government programs

By William Bortel

Farmers can help themselves and the market by participating in the wheat and feed grains program recently announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

It will probably be some time before production break-even strength is seen in the grain markets, even with good participation in the program, according to John Ferris, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service agricultural economist. The fewer growers who participate, the longer that turnaround is likely to take.

Wheat producers should be able to see at least $4.10 a bushel in the market next summer and corn producers at least $2.80 next fall before they decide against participating in the government program.

Wheat prices in recent weeks have been near $3 and new crop corn is under $2 per bushel, so farmers should definitely take a good, hard look at their opportunities under the program.

Participation will probably sit well with creditors as a step toward minimizing risk. Also, 50 percent of the expected direct payments under the program will be available at signup.

To participate, growers must reduce acreage by 20 percent. They will receive direct payment on part of this reduction.

Broad participation will help reduce surplus. Currently, the Midwest is bloated with grain and the government is running out of places to put it. Any reduction in supply will help reduce the projected carryover level, help stimulate market recovery and reduce the government's cost of storing grain or paying farmers to store it.

The seriousness of grain supplies is underscored by the degree to which the government is becoming involved and by its offering some of the highest payments in recent years.

The amount and timing of these payments could bring total direct payments to more than $2 billion in 1982, depending on the extent of grower participation. In 1981, the only major direct payment was the deficiency payment on the 1981 wheat crop of about $400 million.

If enough wheat growers respond to the government's offer, the 1983 acreage would drop at least 10 percent. This reduction could bring harvested acreage to around 70 million acres and begin to pare down the carryover. A reduction of less than 10 percent would have little effect.

The depressed corn market this fall makes the feed grain program look more attractive than it has for several years. Strong participation will drop the acreage planted to corn next year to 75 million acres or less, which would be about 8 percent less than that planted in 1982. Such a reduction would help bring supplies more into line with use in the 1983-84 crop year.

Staff members at the Caro Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office have the details of these programs and can help farmers calculate the benefits of participation.

Johnson funeral Thursday

Melton Howard Johnson, 66, of Lapeer, formerly of Cass City, died Monday at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Saginaw after a long illness.

He was born Jan. 22, 1916, in Mt. Moriah, Mo., the son of Olan and Grace (Melton) Johnson.

Johnson married Viola Steinman Sept. 7, 1945, in Vancouver, Wash. They made their home in Cass City until June of this year, when they moved to Lapeer.

He served in the U.S. Army during World War II in the South Pacific.

Johnson is survived by his wife; three sons, Bill Johnson and Mark Johnson, both of Caro, and John Johnson of Lapeer; two daughters, Mrs. John (Linda) Sharp and Mrs. Donald (Jill) Criss, both of Lapeer; two brothers, James R. (Doc) Johnson, Cass City, and Willard Johnson, The Dalles, Oregon; two sisters, Mrs. Eva Runyan of Bethany, Maryland, and Mrs. Evelyn Booth of The Dalles, and seven grandchildren. One brother and one sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Thursday at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Vern Lockard of the Novesta Church of Christ officiating.

Burial will be in Novesta Township Cemetery.

Check Social Security for updated info

People who work in employment covered by Social Security should check their Social Security record every three years or so, advises Susan Ludwig, Social Security field representative in Saginaw.

This is especially important if the person changes jobs often or has more than one job. A postcard form is available at any Social Security office for a person to request a statement of the earnings reported to his or her record.

A person's earnings record is very important, Ms. Ludwig said. Eligibility for and the amount of any benefits due will be based on the information contained in that record.

Once a person receives a statement of earnings, he or she should examine it carefully to make sure that the proper amount of earnings has been reported to Social Security.

If the person's own records do not agree with the amounts shown on the statement, he or she should contact a Social Security office right away.

This is important because most corrections to an earnings record must be reported within three years, three months, and 15 days after the end of the year the earnings were paid or the self-employment income was derived.

The person should bring his or her own records of the earnings that are available so that an investigation can be made.

More information about Social Security earnings can be obtained at the Saginaw Social Security office, located at the corner of East Genesee and N. Warren Streets. The telephone number is 771-1010.

The office has free publications available which explain Social Security benefits and covered earnings.

Three wheels . . .

Bill Michels predicts within 10 years, three-wheel cars will be a common sight on the roads.

He wasn't about to wait. After more than three years and 4,200 hours of effort, he is now driving his own trike.

Michels and his wife, Helen, and their unique car were in Cass City Labor Day week end. The Dearborn residents were visiting their friends, Gene and Veda Otulakowski. The two men are friends together in Detroit.

Michels retired as a tool maker at age 55 from the now closed Uniroyal tire plant in Detroit in order to pursue his dream. Having made prototypes for others, "I decided to make a prototype for myself."

Why a three wheeler and why does he think they will become common in the future? Being lighter, they get better mileage, plus they can turn sharper and park easier than a four-wheel car.

Some would argue that they also overturn easier. Michels wouldn't disagree, except for his creation, which he claims is more stable than all other three-wheelers. "I haven't found one yet that goes down the road sideways without tipping and this one does (not tip over)."

The faster it goes, he said, the more stable it is. "You go 100 miles an hour and it's just like an arrow."

Three wheel cars are nothing new. The English Morgan company built them from 1910-52 (it now builds four-wheel sports cars) and another company still builds them.

At least two American companies are now building them in limited production.

Kit cars, English and American, are also available.

Three wheelers, by the way, are licensed as motorcycles, even if, like Michels, they look like a car.

HIS VEHICLE UTILIZES a car engine. An 1148cc Honda Civic CVCC four-cylinder. In its original form, it drove the front wheels.

Michels moved the entire drivetrain to the back and modified the universal joints so that the wheels wouldn't turn. He also modified the suspension. The four-speed standard transmission is retained.

He designed and built a fork that supports the single front wheel from one side. That enables him to use a standard Honda drum brake and wheel, which enables the spare tire to be used at all three corners. (There are disc brakes in the rear.) The hood opens and two inner panels are easily removable to change the front wheel.

One reason why the car is stable is because it is very close to the ground. With occupants in both seats, the center of gravity is about even with the centers of the wheels.

Another reason is placement of the engine. In the stock Honda, the engine is slightly in front of the front wheels. Now it is slightly in front of the rear wheels, putting almost all of the car's weight between the three wheels.

Michels claims his car is much more stable than trikes which have the two wheels and engine in front. "You want the back to dig in and the front end light."

He said the car was stable in a rainstorm and also in test runs last winter. It officially went on the road in May and since then, he has driven it 5,000 miles.

THE HONDA CIVIC weighed 1,680 pounds and averaged 35 miles per gallon.

Michels' trike weighs 1,120 pounds and averages 40-42 mpg in the city and 46 on the highway. "Of course, I don't baby it," he added.

Michels built the frame out of 1 1/2-inch square tubing and the body out of flat sheets of steel. He made drawings and had the dimensions worked out before he started.

He said he had the idea for the car long before he started building it.

He still has about 300 hours of work to do on it, mainly trim work. He wants to build a new canvas top that can be stored inside the car. The present one and its framework come off easily, but there is no way to fit it inside the vehicle.

Besides his desire to build a vehicle that perhaps portends the future, Michels had another motivation in building this three-wheeler.

Having ridden motorcycles since 1939, he said, "I wanted to build a motorcycle that was way out."

Ex-Cass City resident dies at 79

John H. Proctor, 79, of Pontiac, a former Cass City resident, died Saturday of natural causes.

A retired Fisher Body Division employee in Pontiac, he was born at Vans Harbor in Delta County in the Upper Peninsula. His wife preceded him in death.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. Bertha Curtis, Pontiac, Orvin Schauer, Dexter, Robert Schauer, Postoria, and Oscar Schauer, Mancelona; 18 grandchildren; 32 great-grandchildren, and a brother, Ruben Proctor, Pontiac.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at Voorhees Siple Chapel in Pontiac, Rev. Galen E. Hershey officiating. Burial was in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

.or four wheels

Bill Kroetsch doesn't look like Tom Selleck, but the car he drives resembles the one Selleck drives on the "Magnum, P.I." television show.

There is one major difference. The Ferrari Selleck drives cost maybe $65,000.

Kroetsch's car, which is styled after the Italian sports car, cost him $9,200, plus an estimated 500 hours of his time, and underneath its sleek fiberglass body is a lowly Volkswagen chassis and engine.

The M-53, Decker, resident, has had his kit car on the road since last spring. By the time this article appears in print, he may not be driving it anymore, since one of the reasons he built it was to sell it for a profit though if he were to include the value of his labor in the selling price, it wouldn't be much of a profit.

Kroetsch said he had fun building the car, so much that he plans to build another, which he also plans to sell, and then may tackle another one after that. In fact, he said if he could make a living building kit cars and selling them, he would, but doesn't see that as a very likely possibility. He figures he would have to build and sell one a month to make a living doing it.

Kroetsch works in the office at Snover Stamping, but was born and raised on a farm, so doing mechanical work was part of his upbringing, which came in handy in building his kit car. It was his first such project.

IT'S CALLED A KIT car, because that's what it is. Kroetsch paid $7,500 to purchase the body and related parts, made by Kelmark, which is Lansing area firm.

As kit car bodies go, it was rather plush. The windows were already installed, including the roll-up windows in the doors, and the instruments were installed in the dash, although he had to mount the dash to the body.

One reason he selected the Kelmark was because of the roll-up windows. Only one other such similarly styled kit car has them, he said. The others have sliding or pivoting windows.

The approximately $9,200 construction cost includes the body and all other parts Kroetsch had to buy.

The body is mounted on a 1970 Volkswagen Beetle chassis. The air-cooled four cylinder VW is a 1966.

Kroetsch started the project in February, 1981. One reason it took him so long in terms of the number of hours was that he removed the engine three or four times to fix it.

He extensively modified the powerplant. The only stock items remaining are the camshaft, crankshaft and crankcase. E estimates the 1835cc engine puts out 100-110 horsepower.

HE ALSO HAD TO modify the chassis, mainly installing recessed floor pans by first cutting holes in the floor, in order to lower the seats. That was necessary to increase head room.

Kroetsch is 6 foot, 3 inches tall and even with the modification, there is only about an inch of space between the top of his head and the headliner.

"I learned an awful lot and am still learning," he said of his project.

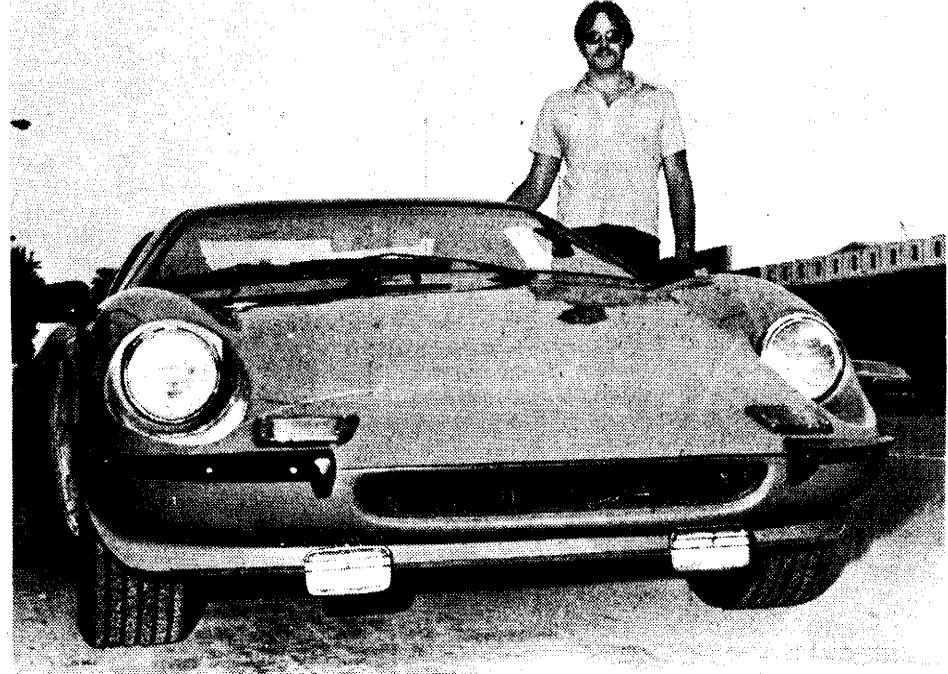

One thing he learned is that it took him a lot more hours than he figured.

Another was that although the car is done, there is always something else that needs doing to make it work right or better.

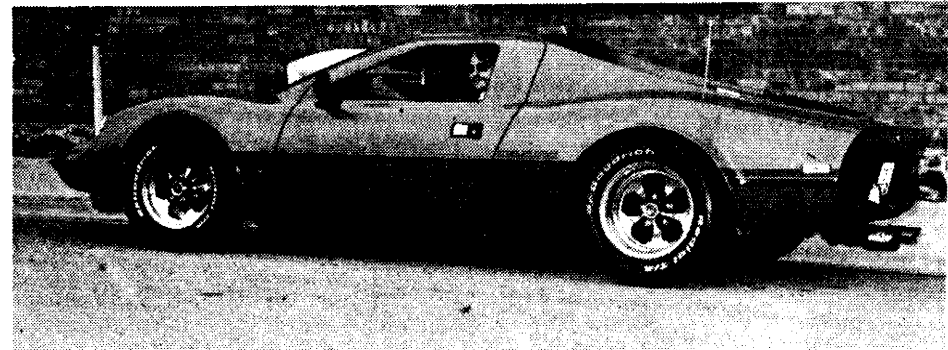

At the time of the Chronicle interview, for instance, the retracting radio antenna wasn't working right and there was a slight engine leak. The latter has since been fixed but he's still working on the antenna.

"It's the kind of a car that as long as you have it, you're working on it," he commented.

Hang an orange stuck with whole cloves in your closet to keep the air fresh and fragrant.

LOW RIDER -- Even if Bill Kroetsch weren't 6-foot-3, he would still tower over his sports car. The kit car, which uses a Volkswagen engine and chassis, took him an estimated 500 hours to build.

BUILDER - DRIVER -- Bill Kroetsch behind the wheel. The car weighs 2,000 pounds, about 300 more than the original VW beetle. He modified the engine, which has an estimated 100-110 horsepower.

County seeks $3 million FHA loan

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday authorized the county Department of Public Works to submit a loan application for $3.89 million to the Farmers Home Administration for the local share of the Caro wastewater treatment project.

The loan involves no financial risk to county taxpayers.

In other action, the board authorized Dorr Wilsie to make arrangements for an historical marking to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the courthouse and Peter Bush, who donated the land to the county the courthouse is sitting on. The county will pay the cost of having the marker made, more than $1,000.

The county has received a federal revenue sharing check for $89,388, a little less than received for the same period last year.

Sanilac 4-H fund drive established

The Sanilac County 4-H Council and the 4-H Fair Board have announced the formation of a 4-H fairgrounds building fund.

Purpose of the fund will be to retire the current debt for construction of the 4-H eat stand-exhibit building that was erected three years ago.

At that time, it was anticipated that state-supported matching funds would be available to help meet construction costs which were in excess of $50,000. The availability of these funds has been drastically cut since that time, leaving the 4-H fair board with a debt in excess of $40,000 on the building. Interest on this debt for 1982 alone will be in excess of $7,500. Even with a successful 4-H Fair like this year's, it has been difficult after paying the interest to make a significant dent in the principle.

The 4-H Council and Fair Board have established a joint committee to provide leadership for the fund-raising effort. Fair Board representatives are Oliver Wood, Marlette, and Earl Warner, Sandusky. 4-H Council representatives are Jack Gillig, Decker, and Karol Alexander, Peck. Wood and Gillig will serve as co-chairmen and co-ordinate community fund raising efforts and activities. 4-H clubs will be asked to participate in the drive.

Donors, whether individuals, clubs, families or groups donating in excess of $25, will be recognized by having their names inscribed on a plaque on the wall of the building.

In conjunction with the fund raising effort, all residents of Sanilac County, especially 4-H fair participants, are invited to attend a 4-H Fair Night at the county conference room in Sandusky at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 1. This will be a kick-off to the drive and will provide fair-goers and participants an opportunity to have input into the drive.

Business workshop set Nov. 2

Tuesday, Nov. 2, the Cass City Community Education Department will sponsor a workshop entitled "Keys to Business Success." The workshop will be conducted by the Service Corps of Retired Executives which is a part of the Small Business Administration. It is designed to assist established businessmen and managers as well as persons contemplating starting a business of their own. It will focus on keys to properly begin and operate a small business successfully.

Topics to be covered include analyzing business opportunities, organizing your business, taxes and insurance, money management, budgeting analysis, marketing and advertising.

The workshop will be at the Charmont restaurant in Cass City from 8:30 a.m.-4:45 p.m. Call the community education office at 872-4151 to register. Deadline for registration is Tuesday, Oct. 26.

Agar to be at national 4-H workshop

A Sanilac County 4-H leader will attend the first national 4-H leader forum for photography volunteer leaders Oct. 11-16 in Chevy Chase, Maryland.

John Agar of Shabbona Road, Decker, will be one of three Michigan representatives at the event, which is expected to draw nearly 80 volunteers from 34 states. The forum will feature practical, hands-on workshops, field trips and idea sharing. Participants will create a plan for extending their knowledge to other leaders in their home states.

A special slide-tape presentation highlighting the various ways photography can be used to communicate, disseminate information and initiate 4-H programs will be the opening feature of the first session.

Other workshop sessions will include how to use photographs in reports, community service, photo composition, new technology, educational aids and other resources. Leaders will visit Capitol Hill and the Smithsonian Institution, where they will examine the history of photography.

The forum is sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Company, which is a donor for the national 4-H photography awards program.

The program was arranged by the National 4-H Council.

Eastern Star chapter elects new officers

Forty-four persons attended the Oct. 6 meeting of Echo Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Fourteen officers answered roll call. Substituting officers were Barbara Jackson, Esther McCullough, Donna Holm and Edward Mellendorf.

Annual reports were given by Betty Greenleaf for the sunshine committee; Patricia Hunter for the auditing committee; Virginia Hartwick for the ways and means committee, and Ruth Ann Whittaker, the secretary's report. Mrs. Whittaker reported 15 chapter members died during the past year and a present membership of 205, of which 52 are life members.

Worthy Patron Keith Murphy presided over the election of officers for the coming year. Elected were Lena Teller, worthy matron; Keith Murphy, worthy patron; Betty Murphy, associate matron; John Marshall, associate patron; Ruth A. Whittaker, secretary; Thelma Graham, treasurer; Glenda Wilson, conductress, and Donna Wernette, associate conductress.

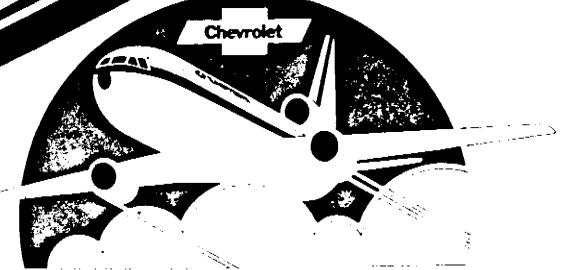

Alternate delegates elected to the 1983 grand chapter were Mrs. Wernette, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Whittaker.

Open installation of officers will be Thursday evening, Nov. 4. Mrs. Georgene Jensen, Mrs. Whittaker and Mrs. Teller are attending grand chapter this week in Kalamazoo.

Petunias decorated the dining room tables when refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Sutton-Sunshine has new minister

Rev. Wayne Thomas, who has been pastor at the Sutton-Sunshine and Bethel United Methodist Churches for nearly five years, has left for Rochester.

The annual church meeting and a farewell party for him and his wife and daughter was held Monday evening at the Sutton church.

The new minister of the two churches is Rev. Janet Lerner, who has been pastoring churches in Sterling, Bentley and Alger. She arrives Oct. 20.

Sutton-Sunshine is located at Dutcher and Colwood Roads, west of Ellington. Bethel is at Unionville and Darbee Roads, east of Fairgrove.

Jeff Raatz in Germany

Pvt. Jeffrey D. Raatz, son of Clifford E. and Joan A. Raatz of 4693 State Street, Gagetown, has arrived for duty in Neu Ulm, West Germany.

Raatz, a cannon crewman, was previously assigned at Fort Sill, Okla.

HEALTH TIPS

National Lupus week declared Oct. 17 - 23

President Reagan and Congress have declared the week of Oct. 17-23 as National Lupus Awareness Week.

Systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE) is a chronic, inflammatory immune disease whose cause and cure are unknown. It affects nearly one million Americans. This disease can involve the skin and many different organs of the body.

It is a serious and life-threatening disease which can be difficult to diagnose. The symptoms vary with every individual depending on which part of the body is affected. Common symptoms are fever, fatigue, weight loss, joint pain and a butterfly rash over the bridge of the nose and cheeks, which is usually sun-sensitive, although only 43 percent of Lupus patients will have the rash.

The prognosis today is much better than it was even 10 years ago. Increased awareness of the disease and improvement in diagnostic tests makes early diagnosis possible, thus making possible the initiation of treatment before damage is done to a vital organ.

Young women are most frequently affected, outnumbering male patients five to one. The disease is found most often in persons 20-40 years of age, but it has been observed in all age groups.

Preliminary studies suggest that, in some families, a pre-disposition to the disease or related conditions may be present. Minor signs or insignificant symptoms of the disorder have been found in relatives of SLE patients.

This does not necessarily indicate that SLE is hereditary, as such findings could also result from environmental factors common to a family.

SLE may begin with any number and combination of symptoms. Frequently the skin is affected. In some victims, a facial rash takes the form of an open butterfly, spread over the bridge of the nose and cheeks. The rashes are usually made worse by sun exposure — "photosensitivity." Hair loss or alopecia, mouth or nasal ulcers occur frequently.

Other notable features of SLE include weakness, lack of energy, loss of appetite, and loss of weight. The patient may develop anemia and may have a low white blood cell count.

Infections are frequent and, before the advent of antibiotics, were a common cause of death in SLE.

The kidney is affected early in severe cases of this disorder usually with protein, cells, or casts in the urine. The nature and severity of the kidney affliction varies widely, but, when severe, the outlook is grave.

The blood vessels are often widely involved. Some SLE patients suffer from spasms of the small blood vessels at the fingertips or toes, often following a slight exposure to cold or emotional stimulation. Such exposure also causes pain and loss of color, or blanching of the skin.

When SLE affects the heart, it may either mimic the effects of a blood clot in a coronary artery, or rheumatic heart disease.

As for the nervous system, SLE may attack the surface, or peripheral nerves, affecting the patient's senses and movements and may affect the brain to the point of causing neurological and mental changes. Seizures or convulsions can occur.

For more information on lupus, write the Michigan Lupus Foundation, 19001 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit 48021.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Tom Proctor of Old Wood Drug in Cass City has won $500 in the Burroughs Wellcome Pharmacy Education Program. The award will be presented to Ferris State College in Proctor's name to establish a revolving loan fund for deserving pharmacy students.

Irene Franks has planted watermelon before, but not until this year did she plant any of the late season variety. The result, picked last Thursday, was a 31-pounder. She and her husband, Louis, live north of Cass City on Cemetery Road.

Deb Lenda was crowned Owendale-Gagetown homecoming queen Friday night during halftime ceremonies of the game against North Huron.

Cass City's girls got back on the winning track with a pair of victories during the week. Coach Lloyd Schinnerer's charges posted wins at Vassar, 66-22, last Wednesday and over Lakers Monday at Cass City, 50-41.

TEN YEARS AGO

Six boys from Cass City were winners in the punt-pass-and-kick competition held in Cass City. They were Bob Pena, Dean Alexander, Tony Doerr, Randy Stine, Paul Brown and Tim Fahrner.

Construction of a $55,000

Missionary League to meet

Cast Your Cares" is the theme for the fall rally of the Thumb zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, Tuesday, Oct. 19, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Port Sanilac.

Approximately 100 women from churches around the Thumb are expected for the gathering that will also observe the 40th anniversary of the International LWML. Registration and a coffee hour will begin at 9:30 a.m. followed by the opening devotions led by the Rev. Donald Veitengruber, newly-installed pastor of the host church.

Keynote speaker will be the Rev. Wayne Wentzel of St. John's Lutheran Church, Kilmanagh. Mrs. Viola Gruber of Monroe and a member of the international convention committee will bring a progress report on the plans for the convention to be held in Detroit in June, 1983. A Bible study and election of officers is also scheduled.

Lunch will be served by the host society. Members are also asked to bring a bar of wrapped soap for Lutheran World Relief.

Flu shots available in Sanilac

The Sanilac County Health Department will offer flu shots at its regular immunization clinics this month.

The clinics are conducted each Wednesday from 9-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. at the department's office at 115 N. Elk Street, Sandusky.

A parent or guardian must accompany their child for the regular immunizations. They are asked to bring a record of previous shots.

Flu shots will be available to anyone age 60 and older, plus persons 13 and older who have certain chronic health problems. There will be a $3 charge to cover the cost of the vaccine.

New location for Cub pack meetings

The Cass City Cub Scout pack will meet once a month in the high school gymnasium, starting Oct. 25.

The meetings on the fourth Monday of each month had been in the Campbell Elementary School gym.

Boys interested in joining the Cub Scouts can still do so by calling Bill Sattelberg at 872-2577.

Alben Barkley, who served with President Truman, was the only Vice-President to marry while in office. He married his second wife, Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley in 1949.

parish hall for St. Pancratius Catholic Church is expected to be completed by early 1973.

Mrs. Irene Freeman, RN, and Helen Kelly, RN, were named first recipients of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Service Award given to a working woman who not only does her job well but adds meaningful extras to her work.

Three area hunters returned from a Gillette, Wyo., hunting trip with three antelope and two mule deer. The hunters were Robert Strolcker, Sandusky, and Elaine and Derek Romaln of Cass City. All three shot antelope.

25 YEARS AGO

Dr. E. J. Miles of Caro has been elected chairman of the newly organized Tuscola County Heart Unit. Dr. H.T. Donahue of Cass City is the education chairman. About a quarter of the students at Cass City School were stricken with flu early this week judging by the number of students who missed classes Monday and Tuesday, Supt. Willis Campbell reported.

Bob Straley, biology instructor at Cass City High School, explained the various uses of blood by doctors in an address to members of the Cass City Gavel Club Tuesday evening at Parrott's Dairy Bar.

At the October meeting of the Junior Woman's Club, the members voted that the club will again be responsible for costuming the characters in the Christmas pageant.

35 YEARS AGO

Police officers are still looking for the thief or thieves who stole 800 pounds of seed beans from the side porch of the Kenneth Auten farm home in Elkland Township.

The 10th semi-annual Future Farmers of Amer-

Enderle funeral held

Frank Enderle, 72, of Owendale, died Oct. 4 at the Georgian Inn Bloomfield Convalescent Center, Bloomfield Hills, following a short illness.

He was born Feb. 18, 1910 in Barberton, Ohio, the son of Frank and Anna (Krebs) Enderle.

Enderle and Elizabeth Miklovish were married April 15, 1939, in Gagetown. She preceded him in death Jan. 26, 1979.

He was a member of St. Agatha's Catholic Church, Gagetown, and farmed in the Owendale area for many years.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. John (Nancy) Kukulka, Detroit, Joyce Enderle, Royal Oak, and Helen L. Enderle, Taylor; one son, Frank G. Enderle, Owendale; four grandsons; two sisters, Mrs. Conrad (Elizabeth) Niester, Owendale, and Mrs. Charles (Anna) Jordan, St. Clair Shores, and one brother Anton Enderle, Owendale.

Funeral services were held last Thursday at the Dinkel-Juengel Funeral Home, Sebawaing, continuing at St. Agatha's Catholic Church, Father Joseph Morales officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

A rosary was offered Wednesday evening at the funeral home.

Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society, Michigan Heart Association or Michigan School for the Blind.

Home buying fact sheet available

For most consumers, a home is the largest purchase they'll ever make. That's why the Michigan Consumers Council has released a new fact sheet, "Checklist for Potential Home Buyers."

"When consumers are evaluating a home they are interested in buying, they usually only look at the most obvious features such as the number of bedrooms, general appearance, and whether it has a fireplace or garage," said council Director Kent Wilcox. "They often neglect some 'not so obvious' features which could turn their dream house into a nightmare."

"Not so obvious" features can range from checking to see if their furniture and appliances will fit through the doors to checking the condition of the heating system. For a free copy, write to Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, 106 W. Allegan Street, Lansing 48933.

Student addresses study club

The Gagetown Woman's Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Werdeman Monday evening, Oct. 4, with 12 members and two guests present.

Plans were made for the bake sale Oct. 23 in Gagetown. Eddie John Hewitt, 11th grade student at Cass City High School, gave a report on the Hugh O'Brien Youth Seminar he attended at Oakland University in Rochester in May.

If you need only a few drops of lemon juice, prick one end with a fork and squeeze the desired amount. Return the lemon to refrigerator and it will be almost as good as new.

Normal visits at Provincial

The decontamination process of Provincial House residents and employees for scabies was successful, according to Administrator Marti Hunter.

An outbreak of scabies at the 117-bed, skilled nursing home was discovered Aug. 20.

Decontamination procedures were done Sept. 1 and 2.

It involved coating from head to toe all 117 residents and 102 employees with a lotion called Kwall, or for those who couldn't use that, another solution called Eurax.

The Michigan Department of Public Health was contacted as soon as the outbreak was discovered and Dr. Neil Pennington, chief of its insect and rodent control section, visited the Cass City nursing home.

"There has been hesitancy among residents' families, volunteers and other community members to visit Provincial House out of fear of contracting scabies," Mrs. Hunter said. "I would like to reassure them, however, that the measures used to decontaminate the nursing home were effective. We're back to business as usual."

Fall-winter guidebook available

A two-season look at the travel attractions of Southeast Michigan is provided by the new guidebook, "Say Yes to Wintertun and Fall Color Tours."

The 48-page book, published by the Travel and Tourist Association of Southeast Michigan, provides directions for color tours in the 11-county region, plus nature tours, cider mills, apple orchards, historic sites and other autumn attractions.

The new directory also promotes skiing and other wintertime activities, including information on dining and accommodations.

Copies of the guidebook can be obtained free at state travel information centers, AAA offices, local and regional chambers of commerce and other travel literature outlets.

Hippensteel heads joint health dept.

The Sanilac County Board of Health has announced the appointment of Dale Hippensteel as the administrator-health officer of Huron-Sanilac County Associated Health Departments.

Hippensteel was previously the director of environmental health services in Cass County in southwestern Michigan. He received his bachelor of science degree from Ferris State College and completed his master of public administration degree at Western Michigan University.

In 1714 Daniel-Gabriel Fahrenheit, comparing the boiling points of a number of liquids, introduced the familiar scale still known by his name.
