THE RAIN DIDN'T help in putting out the fire that heavily damaged the home of Larry and Sue Kidney on Phillips Road Tuesday evening. It took the efforts of five fire departments to extinguish the blaze, which was started by lightning.

Family homeless after Tuesday fire

Lightning which struck a house on Phillips Road Tuesday evening caused a fire which for all practical purposes destroyed the home and left a family of five homeless.

The home belonged to Larry and Sue Kidney. She and her two children, Ginnifer, 10, and Karla, 5, were home when the lightning struck.

The bolt first struck a tree, went through her car parked outside, blowing off the hubcaps, and then struck the house.

"It looked like a bomb hit it," Mrs. Kidney remarked as she watched firemen work in the pouring rain to extinguish the blaze. The fire was reported at 5:15 p.m.

The Elkland Township Fire Department needed assistance from four other departments to put out the fire. The Elmwood Township-Gagetown Department brought a pumper and a tanker and the Caro, Owendale and Oliver Township (Elkton) departments brought tankers.

The Kingston Department tanker broke down on the way and the Bingham Township (Ubly) truck got as far as Cass City before being called back.

So many tankers of water were needed, Elkland Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. explained, because the home was so rapidly and almost completely engulfed in flames.

The Elkland department finally returned to the fire hall at 9:45 p.m.

Root said the front portion of the house maybe is salvageable, but the rest, where most of the fire was, was completely destroyed. The Kidneys were able to salvage some items from the front of the home.

The fire flared up again Wednesday morning and Elkland firemen were called there at 9:10.

The house is located a quarter-mile south of Kelly Road in Novesta Township.

Upper Thumb picks Headlee

Barcia, Allen, Kent winners Tuesday

The Upper Thumb was part of the minority Tuesday when it came to voting for governor and U.S. senator.

Although Democrat James Blanchard defeated Richard Headlee for governor, the Republican candidate won the majority of votes in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

Democrat Donald Riegle was the easy victor over Republican Phil Ruppe, but in the Upper Thumb, Riegle only won in Tuscola.

Vote totals are given in the chart on page 15.

Closer to home, Republican Dick Allen of Fairgrove was the easy winner over Democrat James McCann to represent the new 77th district in the state House of Representatives.

Allen, editor of the Tuscola County Advertiser, won a total of 15,355 votes in Tuscola and Huron Counties, which form the district, while McCann received 8,701.

An even bigger winner was Democrat James Barcia, who was elected state senator of the new 34th district over Republican Artis Noel, the Tuscola County prosecutor.

The district consists of Tuscola, Huron, Bay, Arenac and Gladwin Counties and Barcia, presently a state representative from Bay City, won a total of 52,963 votes, more than twice as many as the 23,694 votes Noel received.

Noel won a majority of votes only in Tuscola, 8,068-7,260. He was clobbered in heavily Democratic Bay County, where Barcia won 32,748 votes to only 7,126 for Noel.

The one countywide race in Tuscola was for probate judge and incumbent W. Wallace Kent Jr. was the victor over challenger David Myers, 7,238-4,966.

In the other legislative districts involving the upper Thumb, Republicans won easily.

Incumbent State Rep. Keith Muxlow of Brown City won election in the new 78th district, Sanilac County and part of St. Clair County, with 17,562 votes to 10,584 for his Democratic opponent, Richard Davies of Melvin.

The new 28th state senate district consists of Sanilac, Lapeer and St. Clair Counties and it will be represented by Dan DeGrow, presently a state representative from Port Huron. He received 45,945 votes. His Democratic opponent, John M. Prager of Lum, received 29,127.

COUNTY BOARDS

In the tri-county Cass City area, there were three races for county commissioner.

In District 5 of Sanilac County, Republican incumbent Donald Decker of Deckerville defeated Democratic challenger Charles Izydorek of Decker, 1,499-952. The district consists of Evergreen, Greenleaf, Lamotte, Argyle, Austin, Minden, Delaware and Marion Townships, plus part of Forester.

In district 3, which includes most of Moore Township, Republican incumbent Les Kraft defeated Walter Tereschuk, 1,851-789.

In District 2 of the Huron County board, incumbent Republican Calvin Reibling turned back Democratic challenger Vern Kretzschmer, 1,006-869. The district consists of Grant, Sheridan, Oliver, Windsor and Chandler Townships.

In district 2 of Tuscola County -- Elmwood, Elkland, Kingston and Novesta Townships -- Republican Royce Russell of Cass City was unopposed for reelection. He received 1,293 votes.

Of the Tuscola commissioners who had opposition, only one was defeated, Republican George (Bill) Clark Jr. of Vassar. He was defeated by the man he had defeated two years ago, Democrat Robert Russell, 1,458-988.

BRIDGE MILLAGE

In the Aug. 10 primary election, Sanilac County residents defeated a proposed three-quarters of a mill property tax levy for bridge repair and repair of streets within incorporated communities by only 26 votes.

The same measure was on Tuesday's ballot, but this time it was defeated by a big margin, 7,743-5,651.

STATE SCHOOL BOARD

Owendale-Gagetown Superintendent of Schools Ronald Erickson was a Republican candidate for the state board of education. He received more votes in the three upper Thumb counties than did the other three major party candidates (see chart). Two were to be elected. Statewide results were unavailable as of press time.

BALLOT PROPOSALS

Although statewide results were not available as of press time, it appeared the only ballot proposals that were approved were A, which dealt with legislative immunity, and H, which concerned utility rates. D, which also dealt with utility rates, was too close to call until all the votes were counted.

The three upper Thumb counties followed the state pattern by defeating all proposals except for A and H (except in Huron County, which defeated H). The majority in all three defeated Proposal D.

Little loss in 6 Ubly area Halloween fires

Halloween arsonists kept the Bingham Township Fire Department very busy Saturday and Sunday.

Firemen responded to six fires. Nothing that burned was considered to have any value.

A barn fire early Sunday was extinguished by the Argyle Township Fire Department. It was reported at 3:07 a.m. on Argyle Road, three-quarters of a mile east of Argyle. No further information was available.

Bingham firemen started their busy week end by extinguishing burning fence posts along Morrison Road in Sheridan Township owned by Larry Morell. That was reported at 7:01 p.m. Saturday. They returned there at 7:25 p.m. Sunday for another fire.

Later Saturday, they were fighting two fires at the same time. The first was reported at 10:40 p.m. at Russell's Auto Parts on Main Street in Ubly and the next was reported 10 minutes later in the village dump on M-19, north of town.

At both, wood and tires burned. The crew fighting the in-town fire returned to the fire hall at 11:15. The crew at the dump fire was back at 11:30.

They didn't have time to rest, because at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, they were called to the old gas station on Main Street near the railroad tracks. It took them an hour to extinguish that fire. Owner of the building was Bill Boyer.

The final fire was reported at 2:46 a.m. Sunday at an abandoned house on Patterson Road, a half-mile south of Bay City-Forestville Road in Austin Township.

Owner of the structure is Robert Puvalowski.

Firemen were also at that blaze for about an hour.

Duncans both plead guilty to charges in plea bargain

David and Florence Duncan, former owners of the Thunder Road Speedway near Cass City, pleaded guilty to various criminal charges when they appeared Friday in Huron County Circuit Court.

Duncan pleaded guilty to five charges of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 in connection with a stolen truck parts operation that had been operated at the speedway.

In a plea bargain with the Sanilac County prosecutor's office, two counts of embezzlement of chattel mortgages, two counts of receiving and concealing stolen property, and nine counts of concealing or misrepresenting identity of motor vehicle or mechanical devices (altering serial numbers) will be dismissed.

Also as part of the plea bargain, Duncan will pay $2,000 to the Wolverine State Bank that he owed on a loan for a truck he had purchased (one of the embezzlement of chattel mortgage charges) and he won't be charged as an habitual offender. He could have been since he had a prior felony conviction, according to Assistant Prosecutor Darryl J. Parsell.

For the charges he did plead guilty to, Duncan can receive a maximum of five years in prison (probably concurrently, as opposed to consecutively) and-or a fine of $2,500.

Duncan appeared before Huron Judge M. Richard Knoblock after Sanilac County Circuit Judge Allen K. Keyes had disqualified himself.

Following acceptance of his plea Friday, Knoblock released Duncan on $1,000 personal recognizance bond on each charge and scheduled sentencing Dec. 3.

Mrs. Duncan pleaded guilty to one charge of absconding and forfeiting bond. Knoblock accepted her plea and also scheduled sentencing Dec. 3. She is free on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

Jobless rate down

Unemployment in two of three upper Thumb counties decreased in September, compared to the month before, according to figures released Tuesday by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The September unemployment rate in Tuscola County was 13.4 percent, compared to 15.0 percent the month before and 13.2 percent in September, 1981. In actual numbers, 3,375 persons were without jobs in September.

In Huron County, the September unemployment rate was 13.8 percent, down from the 14.4 percent recorded in August, but an increase from the 12.5 percent jobless rate in September, 1981. There were 1,925 persons out of work in September.

The exception was in Sanilac County, where the jobless rate jumped from 15.3 percent in August to 15.9 percent in September, which meant 2,675 persons without jobs. The Septem-

2 townships approve special millage levies

Elkland and Sheridan Townships were the only area townships where millage proposals were approved Tuesday and in the latter, only one of two levies on the ballot received an okay from voters.

Voted on in Elkland was an increase of three-quarters of a mill for an indefinite period for support of Rawson Memorial Library. It was approved by 22 votes, 514-492.

In Precinct 1, all of the township east of Cemetery Road and Seeger Street, the measure tied, 237-237. Precinct 2, the rest of the township, approved it 277-255.

The millage, which won't go on tax bills until December, 1983, will raise about $32,000 a year for the library.

In Sheridan, renewal of one mill for four years for fire protection was approved, 134-83. That will raise about $17,000 a year. The present levy last appears on tax bills this December. The new one starts next year.

Defeated by a vote of 112-105 was two mills for four years for road improvements. The same levy expired with December, 1981, tax bills. If the new levy had been approved, it would have begun with next year's tax bills.

Argyle Township for the first time was asking for one mill for three years for road maintenance. It was defeated, 167-76.

Voters in Bingham Township defeated renewal of two mills for 10 years for road paving, 366-128.

For United Way

Area near $14,000 goal

The Elkland-Novesta United Way stands a good chance of making its goal of $14,000.

As of Tuesday, according to UW Treasurer Florence Karr, $11,500 had been collected, including $3,455 from Hills and Dales General Hospital employees and staff. (See story, page 4.)

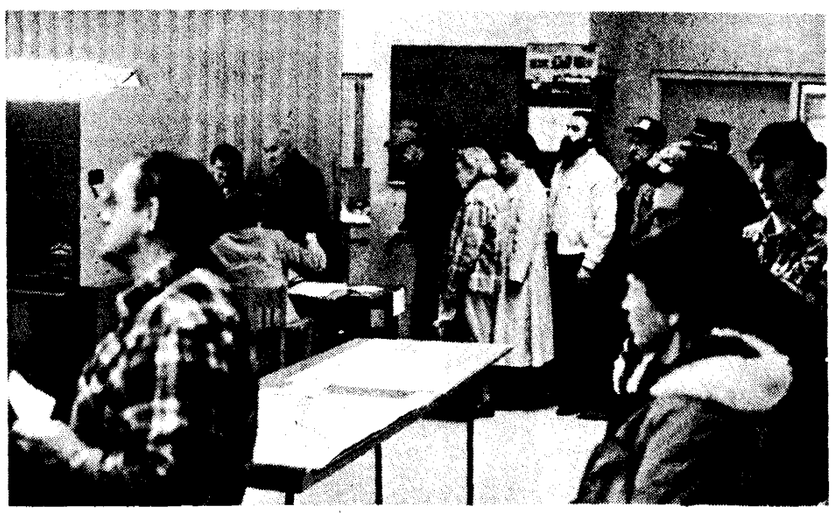
Still to come were payroll deductions from employees at Walbro, General Cable, Old Wood Drug and the Cass City schools.

In addition, UW Chairman Ruth Grassmann said, although all volunteers had made their rounds soliciting contributions, not all had turned their money in yet.

The annual charity drive was supposed to finish Oct. 25.

Persons who have not been contacted but who would like to contribute can send their donations to Mrs. Karr at 5132 Penny Road, Cass City. Checks should be made out to Elkland-Novesta United Way.

Mrs. Grassmann was fairly confident the goal, which is the same as last year, will be met.



VOTERS -- The Elkland Township fire hall was busy for much of the day Tuesday, as 56.4 percent of the eligible voters went to the polls. The turnout in Elmwood Township was 59.6 percent and in Novesta, 56.4 percent. For all of Tuscola County, the turnout was 55.1 percent.

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

At a special meeting of the Cass City School Board a low bid of 7.12 percent interest for the school to borrow $371,000 for 180 days was granted to the First National Bank of Monroe. The interest cost for the full period will be $11,066.33.

The money will be deposited in an interest bearing account until needed and normally will return the school a higher rate of interest than what it is charged. The interest paid by the school is tax exempt to the bank and thus earns the lower rate.

Of course nothing is sure and if the interest rate continues its recent sharp drop the school could end up with a lower rate of return than it is paying.

None would probably complain if this turned out to be the case but with the election over can a raise in interest rates be far behind?

It should be pointed out that the money is borrowed against anticipated need to meet bills while waiting for tax money to arrive and not as a money making gamble.

Here's an addition to the trivia item last week about using Bad Axe as background in an auto company's advertising brochure. One of the models in the picture was Pam LaFave of Ubly, the daughter of Mrs. Steve Kruchko, and an employee at Clothes Closet in Cass City.

Quick now, what's the next holiday on the agenda? Thanksgiving? Wrong. It's Veteran's Day and it comes next Thursday, Nov. 11.

The post office is closed for this observance and that makes it necessary for the Chronicle to be published a day early. All copy deadlines are moved ahead accordingly.

Your usual cooperation will be appreciated.

James Blanchard tells us over and over on the boob tube how he got that good feeling flying home after saving all those jobs. It's a lead pipe cinch that he didn't feel any better than we do, now that he won't be telling us about it again and again. Nor will any of the other candidates bore us weeks on end telling how great they are and why they deserve our vote.

We've got a great political system and we wouldn't change it for anything, but enough is enough.

NO BULL -- Norb Seely, salesman at the Cass City Michigan Live Stock Exchange, who has been in the stockyards business for 41 years , stands by what he said was the biggest cow he has ever seen. The 2,375-pound Holstein was sold Oct. 26 to a Plainwell meat packer for 35¼ cents a pound. The cow's owner, Don Young of Pigeon, said it was only an average milker and sold it because it couldn't be bred anymore. It was about six years old. Milking cows average 1,200-1,600 pounds, Seely said.

2 fires cause minor damage

Halloween proved to be no treat for the Frank Kieltyka family Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Kieltyka of Lamton Road, Decker, had been escorting their two small children who were trick-or-treating in Cass City. Having finished, the family was starting to drive home when the car caught fire.

Kieltyka said his wife smelled gas, then the car stalled and when he got outside, flames were coming from under the hood. The car came to a halt at Woodland Avenue and Third Street.

Elkland Township firemen received the call at 7:20 p.m. and quickly had the fire extinguished. They said the cause was a broken gas line.

Firemen estimated damage, which was confined to under the hood, at $300. Kieltyka, however, didn't think the car was easily repairable so considered it a total loss. The vehicle was a 1974 Pontiac.

PROVINCIAL HOUSE

Firemen were called to Provincial House at 6:50 a.m. Friday after an electrical cable in the kitchen shorted out and started burning.

The cable was connected to a food warmer. The plastic cable melted, resulting in odor and smoke in the kitchen.

Residents of the facility did not have to be evacuated.

Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. said the fire had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived. The only damage was to the cable.

Correction

The article in last week's Chronicle about the millage for Rawson Memorial Library incorrectly said the two assistant librarians receive $9,000 each annually. It should have said the amount budgeted for their combined salaries is a total of $9,000.

Also in last week's Chronicle, a photograph caption said Joe Leeson had shot his first pheasant. It was the first this season, but the third he has shot in three years of hunting.

"If It Fitz..."

Female of the species

By Jim Fitzgerald

Deferring to a superior being, the husband always allows the wife to decide which TV programs they should watch. And after her chosen channel is tuned in, she always leaves the room.

The husband thinks that is an unsuperior way for a superior person to behave. He knows his wife is supposed to be superior because Richard Headlee, Michigan's Republican gubernatorial nominee, said so.

"Women are superior beings. They have more money because they live longer (and inherit their husbands' money) and they're pretty," Headlee said at a meeting with several Republican women last month, according to newspaper reports, which the husband always believes.

"After I'm gone, and you're left behind looking pretty with all my money, who are you going to drive nuts with your TV-watching habits?" the husband asked her the other night.

"What happened while I was gone?" she said.

That's what drives the husband buggy. He doesn't mind if she leaves the room after dictating the TV programming. But she always returns 10 minutes later and demands to be filled in on what she missed. And then she leaves again, and returns again for another update, and so on and on.

On this particular night, the wife had fallen under the insidious influence of a newspaper TV critic who gave a favorable preview to a mini-series titled "Bare Essence," calling it "perfectly harmless diversion." By fortunate coincidence, the husband works in the same building as the TV critic, and he has promised God Almighty that, the next time he and the critic are on the same elevator, he will harmlessly divert the critic by kicking him severely in both shins.

"Bare Essence" was the type of deep drama where, at the climax, the hero discovers his grandfather is really his father, his stepmother is really his sister-in-law, and his mistress is really the mother of Tyger the perfume tycoon whose bare essence he really wants to squeeze. Try to explain that to someone who just dashed out of the room to take a bath, write a letter and paint the bathroom.

But the husband tried, even though he'd read the newspaper much more than he'd watched TV. And after he'd delivered his third tortuous resume of the evening, the wife yawned and said she was going to bed, even though the show had 15 more minutes to run. That's when the husband's mind snapped.

"You always do that," he screamed. "You make me watch terrible TV shows you won't watch yourself, then you make me tell you what you missed, then after I'm nice enough to bring you up to date, you go to bed without seeing the finish, and tomorrow morning you'll ask how it ended and when I say I don't remember, you'll sulk. I would never treat you that way. I don't care what Richard Headlee says, women aren't superior."

"What did you say while I was gone?" she said, coming back into the room.

"That dumb Headlee shouldn't make women an issue in the governor's race anyway," he continued hysterically. "There are a lot more important issues. For instance, how about Headlee's nose? Michigan doesn't deserve a governor with such a huge honker."

"You're just mad because I'm pretty and I'm going to get all your money someday," she said.

"If it weren't for Mary Cunningham, Bill Agee wouldn't have made a fool of himself and lost Bendix," he whimpered.

"When you say such stupid things, you only prove women are superior and Richard Headlee was right," she said as he began to regain control of himself.

"You will never inherit my money because I'm not really your husband, I'm your grandson," he said calmly." And if Headlee wins the election, Michigan will finally have a nose to match its thumb."

The Haire Net

So far this season it's a new record. I have yet to see a football game on television. To tell the truth I'd rather watch "Cassablanca" again than see a couple of teams from Texas and Florida whale away at each other.

When Michigan State fielded a competitive football team, football was fun, especially when it was against University of Michigan.

It was the "arrogant asses" against Moo-U and the fans made the game.

Way back when the Lions were as good as there was I enjoyed watching.

When the National Football League strike is over I'd guess that I'll watch again if I can't find anything better to do.

But much of the fun has gone out of it. You really have to care who wins to really enjoy it unless you are among the football junkies who watch just because it is a football game.

To tell the truth, if you changed the uniforms I wouldn't be able to tell Billy Sims from any other NFL back and even the most ardent fan won't be able to tell you who plays on the offensive line on the visiting team.

I suppose that's one reason for the strike. Any coach will tell you that to win you must have control of the line of scrimmage.

That's lip service and it doesn't pay the rent. Offensive linemen are the lowest paid performers on every team. So much for importance.

That's one of the reasons for the strike and a valid one. Even more important for the wage slaves is to assure themselves a fair share of the TV bonanza including cable TV, the goose that is sure to spit out a lot of golden eggs.

It's not necessary to be a genius to understand this. What is harder to understand is the union demand that the older players be retained instead of being replaced by a younger player with a lower salary.

Realistically you have to think that plenty of players that have moved up the salary scale have been given the boot because of cost.

Football is big business and the bottom line outweighs all other considerations.

Having said that, the next question is how can it be changed? The union wants these players protected but if the players, not the coach, have the final say the bedrock of the game is cracked.

It's hard to imagine that the owners will ever agree to anything this far out. It's harder yet to feel that the fans would stand for it either.

There was a time when I really cared about the outcome of pro football in Detroit. That's when I naively thought it was a sport.

That day is long gone now. A game between two contending high school teams has more interest and more genuine emotion than any play for pay game. You can watch them without hocking the family jewels.

The average guy no longer can take the family to a Lions game. It's just too expensive.

Too bad you never hear about that when management and labor sit at the bargaining table.

Missionary Fellowship makes plans

Eighteen women attended the Women's Missionary Fellowship meeting Monday evening at the First Baptist Church.

The meeting opened at 7:30 with Mrs. Richard Shaw presiding.

Appointed to the nominating committee were Mrs. Lou LaPonsie, Mrs. Fay McComb and Mrs. John Wood.

At the December meeting, members will bring gifts for the shut-ins of the church and will bring cookies and apples which along with a check will be sent to four couples of the church who are living in Florida, where the men are studying for the ministry.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Leslie Merchant and prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. Stanley McArthur.

In keeping with Thanksgiving, each member gave a Bible verse or read a Thanksgiving poem.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Merchant.

WINNERS in the contest for Hills and Dales General Hospital employees who contributed to the Elkland-Novesta United Way were, from left, Isabel Wright, 22 free meals in the hospital cafeteria; Carol Nanney, dinner for two worth $35 at a restaurant, and Ronda Hume, who won "Bambi." $3,455 was raised.

Walbro conducts training schools

In an effort to help dealers effectively troubleshoot and service products equipped with Walbro and similar carburetors, Walbro Corporation has initiated a series of technical sales and service schools being held throughout the United States and Canada.

So far this year, sessions have been held in Alaska, British Columbia, Oregon, California, Colorado, North Carolina, Ohio, and Montreal.

In most cases they have been held in cooperation with power equipment dealers or distributors, or as part of a manufacturer's training program.

The technical presentations include carburetion theory and practice and then zero in on troubleshooting and correcting specific types of operational problems.

"The complexity of the outdoor power equipment business has increased greatly in the past few years, in terms of the number of manufacturers, applications, model mix, etc.

As a result, it is extremely difficult for dealers and distribution personnel to keep up with the ongoing changes in the marketplace and in the equipment itself," Maxwell explained.

"To this end we will be conducting similar seminars in various parts of the country in the coming months. We are also developing new service products to help make the dealer's job easier, so that they can focus their efforts most profitably," he said.

Kretzschmer sentenced

Rolla M. Kretzschmer, 17, of Owendale, who pleaded guilty Oct. 1 in Huron County Circuit Court to breaking and entering in connection with the Dec. 17, 1981, break-in of the Owendale Market, was sentenced Friday.

Judge M. Richard Knoblock sentenced him to 120 days in the county jail, with credit given for 98 days served.

Kretzschmer was also placed on two years' probation, ordered to pay costs of $200 and restitution of $503. Items taken in the break-in included beer, cigarettes, milk and cash.

Hospital exceeds United Way goal

For the fourth year in a row, employees and staff at Hills and Dales General Hospital have exceeded their goal for the Elkland-Novesta United Way and given more per person than any other employees' group.

The amount raised as of last Wednesday's awards tea was $3,455, far in excess of the goal of $2,800, although about $160 less than was raised last year.

Harry Pestrue, chairman of the hospital fund drive, said he was very pleased with the outcome. Although Hills and Dales employees are working, many have spouses who no longer are, thus he was satisfied that the amount raised was so close to what was raised last year.

The goal was kept the same as last year, since the Elkland-Novesta UW goal was kept the same this year as in 1981 ($14,000).

The 97 persons who contributed are about 65 percent of those employed or who otherwise work at the hospital. They consist of employees, ancillary personnel (who work under contract to the hospital) and staff (physicians).

The average pledge per person was $35.62. The total contributed is 24.67 percent of the $14,000 goal of the Elkland-Novesta UW.

Of those making donations, 47 contributed through payroll deduction, 49 by cash or check and one by being billed quarterly.

Pestrue had various gimmicks to encourage persons to contribute.

A contribution equivalent to one day's pay put the person in a drawing, the winner of which received a restaurant dinner for two worth a maximum of $35. The winner was Carol Nanney.

The other two prize winners dealt with the fund drive's theme of "Does Bambi the Buck run out of luck?"

Each $200 contributed advanced Bambi towards the goal of making it through the woods without being shot by a hunter. A display on the cafeteria wall showed Bambi's progress.

Those who contributed at least $5 were entered in a drawing, for which the prize was the stuffed animal used in the cafeteria display. (Efforts to find a stuffed toy deer were unsuccessful, so a stuffed lamb with horns added was used.) The winner was Ronda Hume.

In conjunction with the theme, Pestrue wrote a poem, which started "T'was the night before deer season." As published, the poem was lacking the last two lines.

The winner, who was Isabel Wright, had to write the last two lines. (There was only one correct answer.) She won a month's free meals (22 meals) from the cafeteria. A minimum contribution of $10 was required to enter the poetry contest.

Easy riding

By Mike Eliasohn

It was four years ago in October that I started building the bicycle shown below.

Although I had it running by the summer of 1979, it wasn't until this summer that I could say it was done, plus it really isn't done. I could add a rear fender yet and a front derailleur (gear shifter), but I doubt if I will.

The type of bicycle I built is generally known as a "recumbent," the dictionary definition of which is "suggestive of repose, leaning, resting, lying down." Those who are picky about definitions refer to them as semi-recumbents, since the rider is more in a sitting position than a lying down position.

Mine is a supine recumbent, "lying on the back or with the face upward." There are also prone recumbents, mainly used for racing, in which the rider pedals in a stomach down position.

There were three reasons why I built my bike. I wanted something different -- weirdness being a habit of mine, I thought I could build something better than a regular bicycle, and when I started, I couldn't buy one because nobody was manufacturing them.

Now there are at least eight manufacturers of recumbent bicycles (plus a few builders of recumbent tricycles), although only one make can be classified as other than small scale production. Recumbents are slowly becoming less rare, but there aren't enough around yet that they can be called common.

One reason they aren't common yet is with the exception of a few places that sell the aforementioned mass produced recumbent -- which hasn't received very good reviews (it doesn't handle well) -- a person can't walk into a bicycle shop and buy one. Most recumbents are ordered directly from the manufacturer.

Another reason is compared to most regular bikes, they are expensive. The mass produced one sells for $390 and from there, they range up to about $2,100. Only the most dedicated of bike freaks, who also have money, can afford them.

Why a recumbent? There are two basic advantages.

One is comfort. Instead of sitting on a tiny uncomfortable saddle, partially supported by your arms, the recumbent rider's bottom and back are fully supported and there is no pressure on the arms and hands.

Most of the manufactured recumbents have the handlebars UNDER the seat with a rod running from the handlebars to the fork. Supposedly that arrangement is more comfortable than the arrangement I have on my bike, (I have my doubts), but the major advantage is safety. In case of an accident and the rider is thrown forward, unlike my bike or a regular bike, there is nothing in front of him or her to be impaled on.

The other supposed advantage of recumbents is that, at least in theory, they are faster. Above about 15 miles per hour, the greatest impediment to forward motion by a bicycle rider is not rolling resistance, but wind resistance. Reduce the wind resistance and the rider will go faster.

Thus recumbents can be faster because the rider sits lower and is in a leaning back position, rather than the leaning forward position of a regular bike.

Unfortunately for "weak knees" Eliasohn, my average speed on a bike is probably 10 mph, so I don't go fast enough to gain an aerodynamic advantage.

Probably the biggest thing I learned from building my bike (I did everything except the brazing and painting) is what I did wrong. Unless sanity prevails, I plan to build another one incorporating several improvements.

For bike freaks like me, now is an exciting time in cycling. In addition to recumbent bikes, there are also numerous other exciting developments, such as streamlining, new transmissions, tricycles, folding bicycles and mountain or off-road bikes.

The latter use fat tires on aluminum rims, are built very strong but still don't weigh more than 30 pounds, usually have 15 speeds and are designed to be ridden on mountain and forest trails, dirt roads, etc.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 239 will be collecting canned goods Saturday to give to the Theron Roach family, who lost their home in a fire Oct. 24.

The goods may be brought to the Cultural Center in Cass City from 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

Principal Betty Murphy reported that $63.57 was given to the Roaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Roach have four children. Robert, a second grader at Deford Elementary, is the youngest.

The following students were named to the Evergreen Elementary School fifth grade honor roll for the first marking period:

Jeffery Bader, Judy Matthews, Donnie Smith (all A's) and Kevin Smith.

Marinating meats for 12 hours or more cuts cooking time by about a third.

Hills and Dales honors several employees

Numerous employees of Hills and Dales General Hospital were honored at the annual awards tea last Wednesday afternoon.

Employees honored for longevity of service were:

Dorothy McCreedy, Unionville, medical records supervisor, 20 years, who received a certificate of appreciation and a gift certificate.

Judy Polk, Cass City, LPN; Anna LaPratt, Caro, housekeeper; Janet McGuire, Cass City, RN; Sherrie Collis, Pigeon, accounting clerk, and Arnie Sticken, Owendale, maintenance, all 10 years. They received lapel pins.

Five year employees honored were Randa Allen, Cathy Vaughn, Debra Kundinger, Kathy Hartwick, Vickie LaPratt, Millie Mark, Doug Thane, Joyce Hornbacher, and Terry Posluszny. They received lapel pins.

All also received a free cafeteria meal.

Robert King was presented with a check for $416 for his money saving suggestion for changing the method of cleaning hospital floors, for switching from double bucket mopping to a new method using an applicator that has a container holding cleaning fluid, thus eliminating the need for buckets. The new method will save the hospital approximately $2,800 a year.

The check presented by hospital Administrator Ken Jensen was in accordance with the award schedule for cost containment suggestions. King was a custodian at the time he made the suggestion. The Cass City resident left the hospital in June and is now a truck driver.

Two employees were presented with a plaque and certificate in honor of their having retired during the past year. Phyllis Linderman retired in June as a cook after having worked at Hills and Dales since 1966. Maxine Loney, an aide, retired in May after having worked there since 1965.

Both Cass City residents, they received a plaque and certificate. The decorated cake made in their honor read: "We salute Maxine and Phyllis for their years of dedicated service. Happy retirement."

MONEY SAVER -- Ken Jensen (right), Hills and Dales General Hospital administrator, congratulates Robert King for his money saving suggestion on a better way to clean floors, which saved the hospital approximately $2,800 a year and earned King a check for $416.

Methodist women plan activities

The monthly meeting of United Methodist Women of Salem Church was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Harvey Walter with 22 women present.

The meeting opened with prayer by Esther McCullough, after which Mrs. Ronald Geiger presided over the business meeting.

Activities for November include packing of cookies for college students of the church Nov. 8, craft day Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. Charles Tuckey, and the Christmas dinner for the women Nov. 29 at the church. The members will purchase cuddly toys to be sent to the United Methodist children's home in Detroit for Christmas.

Mrs. Robert Tuckey was in charge of the program about Appalachian women.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Richard Gaffney.

Thank offering boxes were turned over to the treasurer.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 3 at the home of Mrs. Eldred Kelley.

He may be selling Individual Retirement Accounts on the side. But believe us, he's not called a stock broker for nothing.

That, of course, is our point. Lots of people in other businesses are suddenly getting into IRAs—brokers, insurance salesmen, even retailers—but few of them, if any, have as much business being there as we do.

We're your First American Bank, and we're uniquely qualified to help you plan an IRA.

Besides our vast experience with retirement accounts (we've offered them for years), we also offer one of the most competitive IRAs around.

And when you set up an IRA with us, you'll have the convenience of dealing with someone you know at a bank down the street, not some obscure address on Wall Street.

You'll also have the security of FDIC insurance, which is something no brokerage house or insurance company can say.

Let's get together soon. Since an IRA is a combination tax shelter and high interest savings plan with considerable long and short-term tax benefits, there are lots of details and investment options we'd like to discuss with you one-on-one.

IRA Information 1-800-222-1983

For information on IRAs or any other financial service, drop by your nearby First American Bank or call toll free. Member FDIC. A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal.

Of course, if you want to talk stock, whole life or refrigerator-freezers, that's another story.

But if you want to talk IRAs, you'll know you've come to the right place.

No gas drying

By William Bortel

Steve and Lawrence Kalchick, Bellaire area grain producers, may soon eliminate their reliance on liquid propane gas used for the 30,000 bushels of corn grain dried on their farm each year.

The Kalchicks and agricultural engineers from Michigan State University have developed and installed a biomass-fired dryer that will be demonstrated to the public from 10 a.m. through mid-afternoon Nov. 5.

Roger Brook, one of four MSU agricultural engineers working on the project, says the biomass system uses corn cobs and wood chips that cost about $10 to $15 a ton. "That combination provides about 10 million BTU a ton, about equal to 100 gallons of LP gas, which costs around 70 to 80 cents a gallon," Brook says. The Kalchicks currently buy cobs and chips off the farm, pending further refinements in the system.

"Theoretically, the dryer should require cobs from about half the corn grown on the farm to dry all the grain harvested," Brook says. "They aren't too far away from not requiring any LP gas for grain drying."

Starting the dryer is no harder than building a fire in a fireplace. It takes about half an hour to bring the system up to operating temperatures. Cobs and wood chips are then gradually augered from a self-unloading wagon into the primary firebox.

Gases that rise from the primary firebox are cleanly burned (all tars and hydrocarbons are removed) in a secondary combustion chamber. Air leaving the heating unit is about 2000 degrees F. It is cooled with outside air about 200 degrees F before being blown through the grain.

Brook says the system does not require constant supervision. "The way it operates now, the person drying the grain should be able to leave it long enough to go to the field for a load of corn before checking on dryer performance," Brook says.

"We still have refinements to make on the system, but I think that three to five years from now, it could be a fairly commonplace method for drying grain on the farm."

The project team from MSU Department of Agricultural Engineering consists of Brook, Gary VanEe, Fred Bakker and Eliud Mwaura. The project is being supported by funds from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Department of Commerce.

ASK DR. COE
By Dalton P. Coe, D.D.S.

Root canal therapy (endodontia) is rapidly gaining in popularity as a mechanism for saving teeth. Traditional treatment since early times for teeth with diseased nerve tissue has been removal of the affected tooth. Unfortunately, tooth removal can lead to the shifting of neighboring and opposing teeth. The replacement of a missing tooth is usually more expensive than root canal therapy. Failure to replace a missing tooth, however, can lead to a number of other dental problems, including gum disease, dental decay, pain in the jaw joint, speaking and chewing difficulties.

A decision made in haste to remove a painful tooth could well prove to be a costly mistake. If root canal therapy can be started instead of tooth removal - often effective pain relief can be obtained just as quickly. Root canal therapy is generally much less traumatic to a person than the removal of a tooth from its bony socket in the jaw.

In root canal therapy, an opening is made through the crown of the tooth into the pulp chamber inside; all diseased pulp tissue is carefully removed and the chamber including the inside of the root of the tooth is cleaned and shaped to a size which can be subsequently filled and sealed with a substance which will prevent bacteria from re-entering the tooth. The tooth remains normally attached to the jaw. Crowning is often recommended following the root canal in order to strengthen the tooth against breaking.

Root canal treatment could very well prove the least costly and most comfortable means of keeping your chewing mechanism intact.

John Agar wins 'I Dare You' award

John Agar of Decker and Holly Westbrook of Croswell have been awarded the national "I Dare You" Award by the Sanilac County 4-H program.

The honor was presented by the 4-H Council at fall achievement held in the county conference room last Thursday.

Agar and Miss Westbrook were selected for the award in recognition of excellence in character and well balanced personal development as well as leadership potential.

In addition to the national recognition received, the award provides the recipients with a copy of William H. Danforth's book "I Dare You" and a personalized certificate.

Danforth wrote the book out of his own experience. He dedicated much of his time and philanthropy to youth work. In the book, he challenges the readers to aspire to their highest potential, to attain constructive lives of service and citizenship and to be committed to excellence.

The award is made available by the "I Dare You" Committee of the American Youth Foundation in cooperation with the county 4-H office. This is the 42nd consecutive year of the program.

The American Youth Foundation, founded in 1924, is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing programs for youth. Its aim is the discovery and enhancement of leadership skills and the promotion of balanced growth and development.

MASTER OF THE GAME by Sidney Sheldon (fiction). It's Kate Blackwell's 90th birthday, and as she gazes out over her assembled guests, she muses on the triumphs and the losses of the Blackwell family, which she has manipulated to the best of her ability since she was in her teens.

'Bring 'Em Back Alive' one new TV show I like

Calvin Ostrander has seen some of this fall's new television shows, but there is only one he likes so far.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive," the adventures of Frank Buck who caught wild animals for zoos before World War II, is the program he likes.

"I suppose it's something I'd like to do some time," Ostrander said in explaining why he likes the show. "I like wildlife, hunting, hiking, so it sort of fits right in."

One new show Ostrander didn't care for is the comedy, "Cheers." The reason is that he doesn't like shows, usually comedies, which take place in only one or two rooms. ("Cheers" has two sets.) He prefers programs with more variety of backgrounds.

He prefers old and old-old comedies, such as "The Three Stooges," "Abbott and Costello," "Laurel and Hardy" and "Gilligan's Island."

Ostrander doesn't care for such evening soap operas as "Dallas" and "Dynasty." "It seems like those shows are based on swearing and sex these days," he commented. "It doesn't seem like there are any wholesome shows any more."

He has mixed reactions about one show that has lots of variety and has received rave reviews from critics, "Hill Street Blues." "I can't imagine it being that way in the big city," Ostrander said of the show. "When they (the police officers) meet in the morning (for briefings) and are getting assignments and are always talking and goofing around, it doesn't seem like it would be that way in real life."

Ostrander, he describes himself as a selective viewer, said he doesn't watch the news every night. "It's all negative. They don't hardly ever have anything positive. It doesn't have to always be negative, who got killed."

Ostrander, who is single, lives in Huntsville Trailer Park, Cass City, and is employed at Michigan Sugar Co. in Caro.

HEALTH TIPS

Chain saws injure 123,000 in 1981

Americans in record numbers are turning to wood stoves as an alternative heating source in the home, but injuries suffered while cutting firewood with chain saws seem to be keeping pace.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, some 123,000 chain saw injuries occurred last year that required treatment in hospital emergency rooms or physicians' offices.

A 2-month CPSC study of injuries treated in emergency rooms across the country showed that one-fourth of the injuries were associated with chain saw kickback.

Kickback is the sudden and potentially violent rearward and-or upward movement of the chain saw that can be caused by interference with the movement of the chain and that can propel the moving saw chain into contact with the operator.

Other injuries stemmed from a variety of hazard patterns such as loss of control or balance while using the saw, skidding and bouncing of the saw, and follow through after the cut.

The agency offers the following recommendations to minimize accidents when using the chain saw:

--Always operate the saw with both hands gripping the machine.

--Avoid situations that can lead to chain saw kickback. Don't touch the tip of the bar to any object while using the chain saw. Hold the saw with both hands, and refer to the owner's manual for the proper grip, especially for the forward handle.

--Start all cuts at full throttle and cut at top speed until the cut is complete. Keep your body clear of the natural path the saw will take after completion of the cut. Keep the chain sharpened and under proper tension at all times.

--If necessary, adjust the throttle speed so that the saw chain does not move when the engine idles. If adjustment does not give this result, the saw should not be used until it has been repaired.

--Carry the saw carefully with the engine stopped, guide bar and chain pointed behind you, and the muffler away from the body.

--Recent advances in the design of chain saws have led to the development of saw chains that substantially reduce the magnitude of chain saw kickback. CPSC recommends that you consult your dealer to determine if your saw is equipped with the best available chain designed to reduce kickback, and that you replace your saw chain with one of these new technology saw chains.

--Finally, refer to the owner's manual for specific recommendations in the use, maintenance and storage of the chain saw.

4-H'ers to attend 4-H Congress

Two area 4-H'ers will be among 41 Michigan 4-H'ers and 1,700 nationwide scheduled to attend the 61st National 4-H Congress Nov. 28-Dec. 2 in Chicago.

They are Mike Raymond Harper, 18, of 6201 Centerline Road, Kingston, whose project area is automotive, and Thomas Cook, 18, of 2141 Bay City-Forestville Road, Ubly, whose project area is dairy.

Harper, a 1982 graduate of Kingston High School, has been active in 4-H for 10 years. He enjoys refurbishing cars and trucks and has completed a variety of automotive project activities. He plans to pursue a career in automotive body repair.

Cook has been a 4-H member for nine years. He has participated in a variety of dairy activities, including buying, breeding, and showing dairy cattle. Now attending Michigan State University, he plans to pursue a career in veterinary medicine.

With the theme, "4-H Pathways to the Future," the congress will feature workshops, assemblies, field trips and recognition events.

During the week, 279 scholarships, totaling $259,000 in educational grants, will be awarded in about 40 4-H project areas.

Milk merger approved

Members of Michigan Milk Producers Assn. and Michigan Producers Dairy Co. have voted to merge MPD into MMPA.

Leaders of the two milk marketing cooperatives characterize the merger, which became effective Nov. 1, as a "formal consummation of a relationship that has existed between MMPA and MPD for several decades."

MPD operates dairy product manufacturing plants at Adrian and Sebewaing. MMPA operates manufacturing plants at Constantine and Ovid, plus the Flint and Benton Harbor plants of its McDonald Dairy Co. division.

MMPA's membership totals about 6,000. That number includes the approximately 390 Grade A members of MPD, who belong to MMPA under terms of a longstanding marketing agreement between the two co-ops.

Bulldogs share league championship

O-G falls to Deckerville in title clash

Hopes for a solo North Central Thumb D League football championship for Owen-Gage were dashed last Friday night by Deckerville, 14-12.

The Bulldogs and the Eagles finish the league season tied for first at 6-1.

Coach Arnie Besonen's Bulldogs, who have been league champions or co-champions in 1975, '76, '78, '79 and now '82 under his tutelage, finish the season this Thursday with a 3:30 p.m. game at Michigan School for the Deaf.

The Flint school is 0-6 this year, but the ever cautious Besonen said, "They gave us a good game last year. We'll have to be up for them."

As for last Friday's slim loss against visiting Deckerville, the coach said it was mainly mistakes by his team that spelled the difference.

"We had one touchdown called back on a clip after the score occurred," he said.

"These mental mistakes like this plagued us all year and finally caught up with us when we could afford it the least."

The crucial clipping penalty came with a minute left in the first quarter when quarterback Stan Andrakowicz scampered across the goal line on a third down. The Bulldogs failed to make first down on the next play and Deckerville regained possession on its own eight-yard line.

The Bulldogs also had problems holding onto the ball. "We dropped one touchdown pass in the end zone and other key passes we'd normally catch," Besonen said, "but that's the difference in a heated contest like that."

The Eagles' defense was also tough when it counted. The Bulldogs tried two-point conversions after both their touchdowns, both in the second half, but the ball carriers were stopped short.

The first half belonged to Deckerville, with fleet fullback Jerry Allard first scoring on a five-yard run with 5:02 left in the first quarter. Kyle Bowling kicked the extra point. The 75-yard drive took 14 plays.

With 1:21 left in the second stanza, Allard scored from one yard out and Bowling kicked the extra point. The Eagles advanced 43 yards in 12 plays for the touchdown.

Besonen put the halftime period to good use. "They blew our defensive line out with slants and X's in the first half," he explained. "We adjusted to an outside slant the second half and held Allard to 20 yards in that period." In the first half, he had gained 83 yards.

The Bulldogs finally got on the scoreboard with 2:36 left in the third quarter on a one-yard run by Andrakowicz, the team having advanced 68 yards in seven plays.

Time was running out for the Bulldogs, but with 3:41 left in the game, Andrakowicz scored again, this time on a three-yard run. The scoring drive took eight plays and 47 yards.

Owen-Gage regained possession of the ball before time ran out, but was unable to get out of its own territory. Deckerville had possession when the game ended.

The Bulldogs led in every statistic except the one that counted. The team gained 125 yards rushing in 37 carries and Andrakowicz completed five of 12 passes with two interceptions, good for 104 yards, and total offensive yardage of 229.

The Eagles rushed for 165 yards in 47 carries. Their two passes were both incomplete.

Top rushers for Owen-Gage were Lee Gettel, 11 carries and 63 yards, and Andrakowicz, 13 carries and 28 yards.

The latter's favorite passing target was Dan Glidden, who caught four passes good for 91 yards, plus the one Deckerville interception.

The team gained 11 first downs, fumbled and recovered the ball twice and was penalized five times for 42 yards.

Allard led his team in rushing with 27 carries and 103 yards.

Deckerville made nine first downs, didn't fumble, and was penalized 10 times for 95 yards.

Defensive standouts for Owen-Gage were Glidden with 11 tackles, Gary Erickson with nine and Nick Swiastyn and Mike Powell, each with eight.

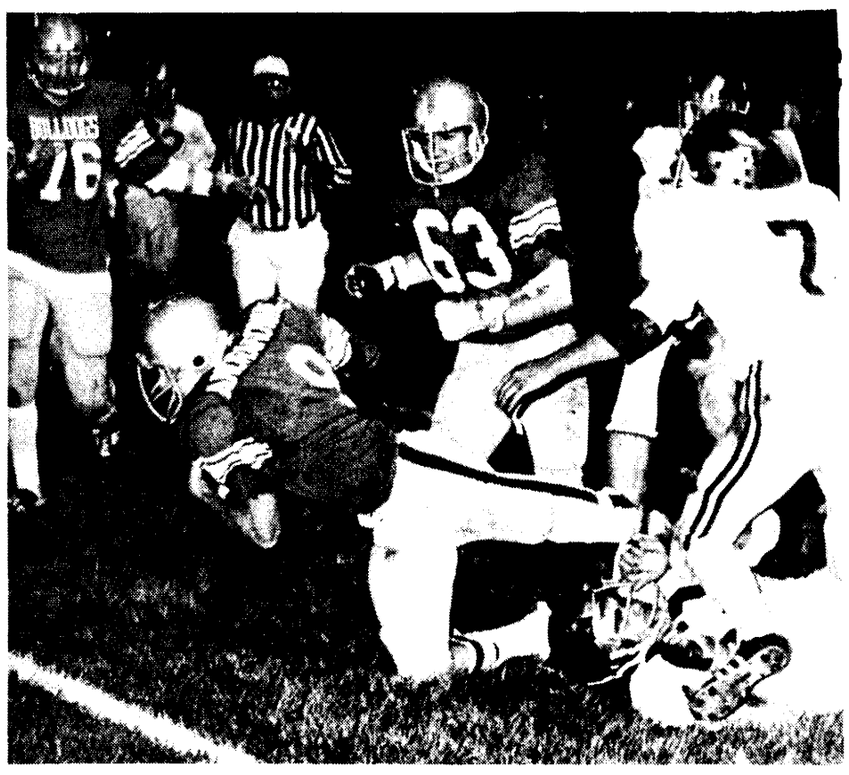
Score by quarters:

D	7	7	0	0	14
O-G	0	0	6	6	12



FINAL QUARTER -- Bulldog Quarterback Stan Andrakowicz of Owen-Gage carried the ball to the Deckerville 5-yard line in the fourth quarter before being stopped. No. 63 is Paul Lopez and 76 is John Shope. No. 7 from Deckerville is Jerry Allard.

O-G cagers drop a pair

At Deckerville Tuesday evening, Owen-Gage lost to the Eagles in girls' basketball, 56-26.

The Deckerville junior varsity also won, 27-17.

CARSONVILLE-PS

Owen-Gage only managed to score in double figures in one quarter last Thursday night and lost to visiting Carsonville-Port Sanilac, 45-35.

The only player in double figures for the Bulldogs was Joan Mosack with 10 points. She had a hot night under the boards, pulling down 28 rebounds. Linda Retford grabbed 13 rebounds and Shelia Engelhardt snared 10.

Debby Dean scored 17 points for the Tigers and Marcie Phipps had 11 rebounds.

C-PS overwhelmed Owen-Gage in the junior varsity game, 40-14.

Score by quarters:

C-PS	9	9	16	11	45
O-G	9	10	7	9	35

Cass City cagers fall to Caro, Lakers in Thumb B

Cass City High School dropped another close game in the Thumb B Association basketball race Tuesday night at Caro in a game decided in the final two seconds. The score was 33-31.

With 30 seconds left Cass City had the ball and held it until seven seconds remained and called time out.

The pass into play was good but the Hawk with the ball was double teamed and the Tigers stole the ball. Mary Stine took it to the hoop and scored her only bucket of the night for the winning points.

It was a roller coaster night for both teams. Cass City charged out to a 13-4 lead in the opening period.

Caro reduced that lead to 21-17 at the intermission and a third period slump by Cass City when only two points were scored tied things up after three periods to set the stage for the final moments heroics by the Tigers.

Jamie Fox scored 10 points for Cass City. Jill Hutchinson netted 8 and Michelle Fahrner added six points and collected 15 rebounds. Laura Richards picked off 7 boards. Marsha DeLorenzo canned 14 for Caro.

It was a miserable shooting night for both teams. Cass City made only 25 percent of its shots from the field and Caro scored only 31 percent.

LAKER GAME

Laker High came to Cass City Thursday and the green and white brought along a magic shooting touch to roll past the Hawks, 61-48, in a game closer than the final score indicated.

The visitors burned the nets for 46 percent canning 24 of 52 shots. Cass City was better than average with 18 of 45 for 40 percent. Good, but not good enough to stop the hot shooting Lakers.

Cass City was in front at the end of the first period, 14-10, and trailed by one slim point at the intermission.

It was anybody's ball game after three periods, with the Lakers ahead, 37-35. The final eight minutes saw the Lakers pile on the points to win going away.

Jill Hutchinson had the biggest scoring night of her career to lead all scorers with 25 points. The Lakers were led by Eva Sturm with 21 points and Shelly Baur, 15 points.

The Lakers outrebounded Cass City, 29-26, with Eva Sturm picking up 10 boards for Lakers and Michelle Fahrner collecting nine for Cass City.

Cass City harriers eye state laurels

The Cass City High School girls' and boys' cross country teams, by finishing first and second respectively in the regional meet last Saturday, both qualified to compete in this Saturday's state Class C finals at Watervliet.

It marks the second year both teams have qualified for the state meet, with the girls' team having finished second last year and the boys, third.

Cass City hosted the event, for both Class C and A schools.

Red Hawk Greg Bliss was first of 91 runners in the boys' C event, finishing the 5,000 meters (slightly over three miles) in a time of 15:59.0, which was better than the top runner in the A event. Bliss beat his season-long rival, Unionville-Sebewaing's Kirk Scharich, who finished second in 16:19.0.

Carrie Lautner of Cass City finished second in the girls' C race in a time of 19:41.5. First in the 5,000 meters was Brenda Essenmacher of Sandusky in 19:29.1.

Start and finish for the race was behind the high school, with the course winding over the school grounds and the village park.

The top three teams in each division (top two in C girls) qualified for the state meet, plus the top 10 individual runners from teams that didn't qualify.

Cass City won the girls' event with 52 points, followed by Sandusky with 55. Seven teams and 53 runners competed.

Behind Lautner, also going to Watervliet from Cass City are Renae Stimpfel, fifth, 20:24.7; Lorie Hurley, 14th, 21:19.8; Chris Tuckey, 16th, 21:25.5; Merilee Leslie, 19th, 22:16.3; Lisa Wilson, 26th, 23:14.6, and Tammy Roach, 38th, 25:07.1.

Coach Doug Grezeszak said based on scouting reports, five schools have a shot at the state title, one of them being Cass City. "The girls' goal is to get the state title," he said. "We feel we have a shot at it."

Bliss' first place finish in the boys' event was even more outstanding considering he ran the last half of the race on a twisted ankle, according to coach Dennis Meck. He had the fastest time of any of Saturday's seven Class C regionals in the state.

Accordingly, he wants to win his first state title, Meck said, while the goal for the team is to make the top 10.

Unionville-Sebewaing won the boys' C meet with 90 points, followed by Cass City, 106, and Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port, 118. Fourteen teams competed.

In addition to Bliss, other Red Hawks going to Watervliet will be Randy Jackson, 19th Saturday at 17:52.7; Kevin Bliss, 20th, 17:59.4; Richard Green, 31st, 18:33.1; Tom Wallace, 35th, 18:39.5; John Agar, 55th, 19:17.1, and Randy Nicholas, 66th, 19:46.8.

Watervliet is in the southwest corner of the state.

Class A boys' teams qualifying for the state meet were Swartz Creek, 33 points; Grand Blanc, 66, and Flint Kearsley, 113. Tom Bishop of Swartz Creek was first in 16:06.5. Nineteen teams and 130 runners competed.

Class A girls' teams qualifying for the state finals were Clio, 79; Flint Northern, 80, and Grand Blanc, 82. Winner was Kelly Shumate of Clio in 18:52.1. Eleven teams and 80 runners competed.

CARRIE LAUTNER paced the Cass City squad with a 19:41.5 time for the 5,000 meters, good for second place Saturday. The senior has only run cross country events on week ends because she also is a member of the basketball team.

FIRST PLACE finisher Saturday was Cass City's Greg Bliss with a time of 15.59.0 for the 5,000 meters, the best time at any of the seven regional Class C meets Saturday.

Hawks favored over Mayville after Thumb B Sandusky win

For the first time this year the Cass City Red Hawks will enter a football game as definite favorites. The Hawks will play winless Mayville in the final game of the season Friday at Mayville.

The improving Hawks moved out of a tie for the Thumb B Association cellar with a thrilling 21-20 decision over Sandusky last Friday at Cass City Recreational Park.

Coach Don Schelke said it was too bad that the young Cass City eleven couldn't have played some of the better teams later in the season.

Those kids have improved all year long and we're not the same team we were when the season started, Schelke said.

Cass City jumped out in front in the first quarter, fell behind at the intermission, bounced back in front in the third quarter and then hung on for the win in the last period.

The game wasn't decided until the final gun. On the last play of the game the Redskins were on the Hawk 10-yard line and lined up for a field goal try. Bill Sontag cracked through to block the kick and preserve the Cass City win.

Cass City scored on sustained drives. The first came with 3:13 left in the first quarter. Dave Osentoski keyed the running attack with a 25-yard gallop that set up a 21-yard touchdown pass from Bryan Beecher to Barry Lapp. Tore Tollersrud's kick was good.

The Redskins countered that marker with two of their own before Cass City scored again. The visitors moved to within a point as Paul Mitchell hit Tom Kreger with a 17-yard pass for six points. The extra point try was missed.

With 3:38 left in the first half Sandusky scored from the one when Rick Graves rammed over to cap a drive that included a crucial six-yard run by Mitchell. Graves then ran it over for the extra two points to put Sandusky in front, 14-7.

Cass City got a touchdown in the dying seconds of the first half when a drive was capped by a one-yard scamper by Ed Robinson.

Cass City went in front to stay with just 46 seconds left in the third period. Robinson again got the marker to cap a drive that was spearheaded by Osentoski who finished the night with 32 carries and a big 171 yards gained. The play that proved to be the winner for Cass City came when Beecher tossed to Rob Hartwick for two points and a 21-14 Hawk lead.

Sandusky was far from through. With 9:24 left, Dave Gutierrez capped a drive by dashing over from the three. The touchdown was set up by a 27-yard run three plays earlier by Graves.

The crucial extra point was missed and Cass City was in front by an all-important point. That point held up but not before Cass City fans experienced some heart in their throat moments before the final whistle.

Three seniors led the defense. Osentoski was credited with six solo tackles and 15 assists. Jeff Loomis added two solos and three assists and Lapp had four solos and three assists.

Clabuesch 4-H project booster

This story is reprinted from "Michigan Investor," a publication that serves the banking industry.

E.J. Clabuesch knows that "making the best better" through 4-H is more than a slogan. It's a philosophy that's stood the test of time.

Since 1957, Clabuesch, who is chairman of the Thumb National Bank and Trust Company, has been involved with the Michigan 4-H - Youth Program and encouraged members of the Michigan banking industry to help support the program.

E.J. Clabuesch

He has seen the 4-H program grow from a primarily rural effort to a dynamic educational program that meets the needs and interests of Michigan youngsters living in cities, towns and on the farm.

"Being involved with 4-H has been one of the highlights of my career," E.J. says. "No other youth program has accomplished so much and deserves our support. 4-H teaches all young people regardless of race, sex, age, handicap or place of residence that hard work and setting goals are the keys to success. It's the kind of program my colleagues and I have been proud to be associated with."

This is the 25th year Clabuesch has volunteered to chair a special banking industry fund-raising committee for the Michigan 4-H Foundation, a non-profit educational foundation which solicits donations from individuals and organizations to supplement the county, state and federal appropriations that the 4-H program receives.

Clabuesch explains that the campaign is designed to underwrite the costs of various educational leadership workshops held at Kettunen Center, the state 4-H leadership training facility in Tustin, which is owned and operated by the Michigan 4-H Foundation.

More than 50 training sessions are held at the facility each year. The purpose is to broaden and enhance older teen and adult volunteer 4-H leaders' leadership skills to help them better fulfill their leadership roles throughout the state.

Over the years, nearly 120,000 Michigan residents from across the state have attended Kettunen Center workshops. Because of the 4-H program's scope and outreach, Clabuesch has suggested that banks that are considering participating in this year's campaign should ask their customers who are involved in 4-H if they've ever heard of Kettunen Center or Camp Kett (its former name) before contributing.

"If they've never heard of Kettunen Center, then don't send us a donation," he says. "But if they have, we hope you'll recognize the impact 4-H has had on your community and make a substantial gift."

Special recital set for Festival

Patrons of the fourth annual Village Bach Festival in Cass City, Nov. 26-28, will be treated to a special recital by pianist Thomas Brown of New York City.

"The recital is our way of saying 'thank you' to the many people who support the festival," said Festival Chairman Holly Althaver, "and we are grateful to Thomas, not only for his artistry but for his generosity in consenting to play."

Brown, who holds a master of music degree from The Julliard School of Music, is an accomplished organist as well, having held a number of church positions including services at Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall. He will perform in various pieces, including J.S. Bach's Cantatas 81, 82 and 85, at the festival.

As a solo pianist, critic Robert Marsh in The Chicago Sun Times said, "Brown has everything to make his way, a fine technique . . . and playing in which taste and refinement are matched by consistent musical integrity."

His patron's recital Tuesday evening, Nov. 23, at the Cass City Missionary Church, will feature works by Chopin, Debussy, Beethoven and Rachmaninoff.

Patron and regular festival tickets may be obtained by calling Ouvry Chevrolet-Olds at 872-4301.

Non-profit organization opens store

After three years of business for its Second Chance thrift store in Caro, Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters opened its second such store in Cass City Tuesday.

BB-BS is a non-profit organization serving fatherless or motherless boys and girls throughout the county. The thrift stores are its major source of funding.

As other sources of funding have declined, explained Marcia Schneider, the organization's secretary-bookkeeper, it has become necessary for it to raise more money on its own. "It would be nice if we could become self-sufficient," she said, meaning from thrift shop proceeds and donations.

The second Second Chance store is located in Plaza West at the west end of Cass City. Manager is Shirley Doerr of Cass City.

The store will handle all types of clothing, small appliances, housewares, books, toys, sporting equipment and miscellaneous items. Items can be sold on consignment, with the seller and BB-BS splitting the sale price 50-50, or donated outright to the organization. The latter is tax deductible.

Hours are 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Items brought in for sale should be clean, in good condition, in season and in style.

The store will initially be stocked with items from the Caro store. One reason Cass City was selected as the site of the second store, Ms. Schneider explained, is because many consignments at the Caro store were items brought in by persons from Cass City.

In addition to Mrs. Doerr, other staff here will consist of one part-time worker paid with federal Green Thumb program funds and the rest volunteers.

Gagetown to discuss sewers

The Gagetown Village Council will meet Monday with engineers and its financial advisor to discuss its planned sewage treatment system.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the village-township hall.

At the regular monthly meeting Monday of this week, in addition to talking about the sewer project, Clerk Elery Sontag said, the council discussed insurance for village employees but no decisions were made.

Most action at the meeting involved routine matters.

IRA A Tax-Saving Breakthrough!

What is an IRA and what makes the tax deductions different?

IRA stands for Individual Retirement Account. Most tax deductions are received by paying your hard earned dollars to someone else. You can't deduct the doctor's bill unless the doctor gets your money; and you can't deduct your real estate taxes unless the township or village gets paid.

That's why IRA tax deductions are different. When you make tax-deductible deposits to an IRA Savings Account, your tax deduction comes from paying your money to yourself. You don't give up anything. It is just like switching money from one pocket to another.

Federal regulations require substantial penalties for withdrawal made prior to maturity.

IRA A Tax-Saving Breakthrough!

When I start my IRA account, must I make the maximum deposit each year?

No. Whether you decide to make future deposits, is completely up to you. No commitments are made by depositing into an IRA. You can cut or skip at your option. However, you can't make up lost opportunities later since each year stands on its own.

Federal regulations require substantial penalties for withdrawal made prior to maturity.

IRA A Tax-Saving Breakthrough!

When do I pay income taxes on my IRA contributions?

Payments you receive from your IRA fund after retirement are considered ordinary income for Federal tax purposes. Only the sums actually withdrawn each year will be taxed. Since your income will probably be less than your earnings while working, your taxes should be less. For example, did you know that when you reach 65 you get a double exemption on your tax return? If your spouse is also 65, you get four exemptions on a joint return.

Federal regulations require substantial penalties for withdrawal made prior to maturity.

IRA A Tax-Saving Breakthrough!

Is there any point at which I'm forced to withdraw my IRA funds and pay income taxes on the amounts withdrawn?

Yes. During the tax year in which you turn 70½ years old, you have to start withdrawing from your IRA Account. You don't have to take your entire balance out at this time, but you do have to start taking annual distributions geared to reduce your account to zero over your remaining life expectancy or the combined remaining life expectancies of you and your spouse. When you reach 70½, we will be happy to help you determine the amount you need to take each year to avoid a penalty.

Federal regulations require substantial penalties for withdrawal made prior to maturity.

Mistake causes mistrial in circuit court

A mistake by Assistant Prosecutor David Myers led to a mistrial being granted last Friday in the assault trial of Lester B. Bowman.

Bowman, 50, now serving a sentence at the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for a larceny over $100 conviction in Lapeer County, was being tried by a jury on charges of assault while armed and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony.

The charges are in connection with an assault with a revolver March 18, 1980, on Kenneth Beall in Arbela Township.

Myers explained later that he mistakenly asked during the trial about a prior felony conviction of the defendant.

Bowman's attorney, Pamela Wistrand of Flint, moved for a mistrial on the grounds that Myers should have sought a hearing before the judge to determine whether her client's prior conviction could be mentioned during the trial.

Judge Patrick R. Joslyn granted her motion and declared the mistrial. He will now schedule a new trial.

Bowman is a former Vassar resident. The jury trial had begun Thursday.

In cases Monday before Judge Joslyn:

Randy T. Ashcroft, 18, of 450 Kingston Road, Deford, was placed on five years' probation for larceny in a building.

He was also sentenced to six months in the county jail, to be served on week ends, with serving of three months deferred and credit given for one day served.

Ashcroft was also fined $200, assessed $300 court costs and ordered to pay $1,499 restitution.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 27, of stealing a radio and tools April 28 from a home at 6025 Mushroom Road, Deford.

Penny Simpson, 22, of 1054 Germania Road, Snover, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for uttering and publishing a check for $45 July 4 in Mayville while not having a bank account. She was credited with 55 days served.

Ms. Simpson pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 20.

Albert A. Fella, 32, of Highland, stood mute to unlawfully driving away an automobile Sept. 10 in Millington Township.

A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled Jan. 24. He was remanded to the county jail.

Roger W. Bearinger, 26, of 1781 Van Geisen Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Dec. 13. He was remanded to the county jail in lieu of bond.

He is charged with breaking into the Historical Center on Joy Street, Caro, Sept. 29.

Edward P. Osborn, 19, of 4275 Center Street, Akron, was placed on two years' probation for larceny in a building, fined $200, assessed $400 court costs and ordered to pay $343 restitution. He is to work 30 days in a community service program.

Osborn pleaded guilty Sept. 20 to stealing a keg of beer, money and cigarettes Sept. 5 from the Black Dahlia Bar and Golden Mushroom Restaurant in Akron.

Presbyterian women make contributions

The Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church met Monday in the social rooms for a 6:30 dinner with circles two and three in charge.

The meeting was opened by President Alexia Cook.

A Christmas box is being sent to South Carolina by Pauline Milligan. A contribution was sent to Mike and Mary Score, who are missionaries in Africa. The thank offering was dedicated in the amount of over $100.

Highlights of the Spring Presbyterial were given. Evelyn MacRae, mission coordinator, showed a film on the Least Coin, which is in the Jubilee Year.

The tables were decorated in keeping with the fall season. About 30 persons attended. The meeting adjourned by repeating the Mizpah benediction.

Free testing Tuesday for diabetes

Hills and Dales General Hospital is offering free diabetes testing Tuesday from 9-11 a.m.

No appointment is necessary. If this date or time is inconvenient, a special appointment for the testing may be made by calling Jane Mitchell, RN, at 872-2121.

About 10 million people in the United States have diabetes. This number is increasing by 6 percent every year. Many people have diabetes but do not know it.

Persons are more likely to get diabetes if it runs in their family, if they are overweight and are over 40 years old. Some of the symptoms are excessive thirst, unusual hunger, rapid weight loss, and eye changes.

This is a screening to find new diabetics. The chemical for doing the tests is provided free by DuPont.

The testing will be done in the basement meeting room and is being conducted in conjunction with Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 7-13, sponsored by the American Diabetes Association Michigan Affiliate. Similar testing is being done statewide.

For best results, a meal high in carbohydrates with large amounts of starches and sugars should be eaten two hours before the test. Breakfast could be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam and coffee or tea.

Vanilla is actually the dried fruit of an orchid.

Taking stock

"INFLATION RATE 3.5 percent for YEAR," blared the headline on Page 1 of a Florida metro daily.

It was eye-catching. When you read the story you found out this was the annualized rate of a .3 percent climb in consumer prices in January.

Why on earth do these figures have to be annualized?

If you get a foot of snow in January, do you report "Snow rate 12 feet for the year?"

If gasoline prices dropped 2 cents in a week, do you trumpet GAS DROPS $1.04 for 1982"?

In this frantic search for big stories, fueled by the fact that the newspaper has to appear every day, the reader comes out second best.

There's no reason to annualize any of these figures. What we're all interested in, is how much inflation has dropped for the last 12 months.

We all know that seasonal factors and other unusual things push figures up and down as the months go by. By putting all 12 months together the result is smoothed out.

Any such figures should be reported on the last 12 months, and then compared with a similar period of the 12 months before that. Then we'd know if things were getting worse or better.

At the Financial Analysts Seminar held each summer, we joked about the first figures on the economy that came out of Washington.

"First you get the 'preliminary, uncorrected' figures," commented the speaker. "A week or so later, you get the 'seasonally adjusted' ones and at last you'll get the 'corrected, revised, adjusted' numbers. "Eventually the actual figures will surface. Know what? The original 'preliminary uncorrected' will be closer than any of the revisions."

When the Mexican peso dropped recently from being worth 4 cents, to about 2½ cents, a lot of greedy investors from the north of the border got nipped.

They had been seduced by the fat interest rates paid by Mexican banks, which were some 22 percent higher than the rates offered when paid in U.S. dollars.

So if you had $10,000 down there with interest paid in pesos, you might have gotten say 35 percent instead of 13 percent, or a tidy $3,500 a year in interest. The catch turns out to be that your $10,000 deposit is now devalued to $6,250.

You've had a minus return of 2½ percent for the year, if you were lucky enough to have collected the 35 percent for 12 months.

Of course we all know that it was not only high interest that attracted money to Mexico. It was the chance to evade payment of income tax, hoping the IRS would not get wind of the shenanigan.

Inasmuch as your income tax return has a question about foreign investments, you're guilty of perjury by not reporting such income.

It does seem simpler to stay within the law and miss paying income tax by buying municipal bonds.

I bought some general obligations the other day of a prosperous rural county in Michigan, insured by AMBAC and getting AAA rating from Standard & Poor.

The yield was 13.5 percent. For those in a 50 percent bracket, that's the same as 27 percent of taxable income. Bonds are due in 2004.

In 5.3 years, I'll double my money at 13.5 percent.

Except for Canada, I've never gone outside the U.S. to invest. There are an infinite number of ways to lose money right here at home, so why not deplete your capital right here in the good old U.S.A.?

Halloween quiet in Cass City

As Halloweens go, this one in Cass City was a quiet one, according to Police Chief Gene Wilson.

Two arson-caused fires were reported, but both occurred prior to last Thursday, both minor.

A warrant may be sought from the prosecutor's office against one young man charging him with starting one of the fires, according to the chief.

The fire was in a trash dumpster behind the Quaker Maid store on Main Street and was reported at 12:50 a.m. last Thursday to the Elkland Township Fire Department.

Officer Bob Moore stopped four youths close to the store for questioning concerning starting of the railroad crossing flasher lights on Main Street and placing several tires on the street. While he was questioning them, the fire was discovered.

None of the youths admitted starting the fire, Wilson said, however, footprints found around the dumpster matched the shoes one of the four was wearing. The suspect said he had dumped trash in the dumpster earlier in the evening.

The fire was quickly extinguished by firemen, with no apparent damage to the dumpster.

The second fire was reported at 6:55 p.m. Thursday at the Jim Hobbs residence on Seeger Street, south of Garfield.

A pile of leaves was set on fire by unknown persons. The leaves were close to the house, so the fire department was called to extinguish the blaze before it spread.

Halloween night Saturday and the night before, Wilson said, there were the usual instances of shaving cream, thrown eggs and toilet paper, and soaping of windows.

There was one damage incident reported. Kevin M. Frank, 20, of 3875 Cedar Run Road, told officers he was southbound on Seeger Street at Garfield at 11:45 p.m. Friday when someone threw an object at his windshield, which shattered it.

Six officers were on patrol Friday and Saturday nights and issued numerous tickets for such charges as minor in possession of alcoholic beverages, open intoxicants in motor vehicles, defective vehicle equipment and excessive noise (squealing tires.)

Vandals damage store door

Damage estimated at $200 was done to two doors of a storage building owned by Schneeberger's store.

Clarence (Bud) Schneeberger told Cass City police Wednesday, Oct. 27, that the damage had been done during the previous week. The building is on Church Street.

Arthur Remsing of 4129 N. Cemetery Road, Cass City, reported to sheriff's deputies Friday afternoon that a red Schwinn boy's bicycle with 24-inch wheels and coaster brake was taken from in front of his residence that morning.

The bike was valued at $50.

HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL -- Among children attending the Halloween carnival last Thursday at Campbell Elementary School were Danette Ziehm, 5, throwing a table tennis ball in a game, and Justin McNaughton, 11, successfully bobbing for an apple. Sponsored by the Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women, the annual event raised about $350. Most of the proceeds will be used for its Reading is Fundamental program and sponsorship of the appearance of the Youtheatre for children next spring.

Duncans plea bargain

prosecution, Parsell said, one charge of embezzlement of chattel mortgage fraud and two charges of welfare fraud will be dismissed.

As a part of the bargain, she agreed to pay about $2,400 restitution owed to the Department of Social Services for welfare payments she fraudulently obtained.

The Duncans fled from prosecution in May, 1980, and eventually went to Jamaica. Mrs. Duncan voluntarily returned from there and was arraigned in Sanilac County District Court Oct. 18.

Her husband was arrested in Florida in May and extradited to Sanilac County in July and remained in jail until his bond was set Friday. Personal recognizance bond does not require posting of cash in advance.

The Duncans never completed payment of the speedway, which went back to its original owner and is now for sale.

Unemployment drops

ber, 1981, unemployment rate was 13.1 percent.

The statewide unemployment rate in September was 14.5 percent, the same as in August. In September, 1981, 10.7 percent of Michiganians were out of work.

Nationally, 9.7 percent of Americans were out of work in September, compared to 9.8 percent in August and 7.2 percent in September, 1981.

All the figures are what is referred to as seasonally unadjusted. The widely publicized national unemployment rate of 10.1 percent in September was the seasonally adjusted rate.
