The reason Michigan doesn't have the money, according to Rick Knop of Edmands Engineering of Bay City, which is designing both villages' sewer systems, is that it is supposed to come from a bonding proposal approved by voters in 1968. The proposal limits interest to be paid on the bonds to no more than 6 percent "and not too many people are going to buy 6 percent bonds.

Now before the Michigan Supreme Court, he continued, is the question of whether the legislature can authorize an increase in the interest rate, so that more bonds can be sold, or whether such an increase must be approved by voters since they approved the original bonding proposal. Apparently the court will hear arguments in the case his month.

If the state is ultimately allowed to sell the bonds at a higher interest rate, Gagetown and Owendale would get the money, but they can't wait to see if that happens.

The Gagetown Village Council met Nov. 8 with Knop and its financial advisor, Leonard Hool of St. Clair, to discuss the situa-

SEVENTY-FIVE PERcent of the cost of the sewer projects comes from the federal government, the state is supposed to pay the 5 percent, and the remaining 20 percent plus some costs ineligible for cost sharing is o be paid locally.

The total cost of the Gagetown project is estimated at $1.956 million, of which the federal government will pay $1.178 million.

For the local share, the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) is giving Gagetown $345,000 and loaning it $355,000, to be repaid over 40 years at 11.375 percent inter-

IT IS THE FHA THAT the two are turning to in hopes of getting enough money to make up for the loss of what the state was supposed to have paid.

They are requesting either a grant, which would be preferable since they wouldn't have to pay the money back, or a loan.

"All is not lost from there," Owendale Village President Walt Howard said of the possibility of some day getting the $66,000 from Lansing, but in the meantime, he was planning a trip to the FHA office in Caro this week for a personal ap-

Sewer hookups could possibly begin by the end of 1983, although everything wouldn't be completed until the following year.

KNOP SAID BIDDING could proceed without the problem of the missing funds being resolved. With the construction business still in the doldrums and many contractors bidding for jobs, the bid might come in enough under the estimate to offset the loss of money from Lansing. However, since that may not happen, the engineer commented, it's better to get the funding problem resolved now, rather than wait until later.

Clerks checking sures tures Petitions 1. The sures Petitions 1. The sures 1. The school board recall

By Mike Eliasohn

Petitions requesting an election to recall three members of the Cass City School Board were turned in to the Tuscola County clerk's office Tuesday.

If enough valid signatures were obtained, the earliest a recall election can be held will be in January.

Named on the petitions were Geraldine Prieskorn, against whom 967 signatures were obtained; Ben Hobart, 949, and Dr. Edward Scollon, DVM. 937.

A minimum of 818 signatures of registered voters residing in the school district are needed to force the election. The number needed, specified by state law, was 25 percent of all the votes cast for all candidates for governor in the 1978 election within the school district.

The petitions were presented to County Clerk Elsie Hicks by Shirley Beddow, who with her husband, Victor, have been organizers of the recall election.

Mrs. Hicks now has 30 days to check the validity of the petitions and have the township clerks check to make sure the minimum required of registered voters signed the petitions.

If the minimum did sign, Mrs. Hicks then must ask the election scheduling committee within five days to set an election date. The recall election then must be held within 60 days, or no later than about Feb. 21. Within that time span, there must be 30 days allowed to regis-

That wording will appear on the ballot or voting machine, plus the three subjects of the recall will be able to write up to 200 words stating why they should not be recalled, which will also appear on the ballot.

Though busing was restored two days after voters approved a four-mill increase in property taxes Sept. 27, Beddow explained the school year did start without busing. "They (the board) did fail to provide busing. They had to get more money for busing. I felt they didn't prove they needed it.

Furthermore, the wording wasn't that important as long as a reason was stated, Beddow said his attorney explained, since citizens have the right to seek a recall of elected officials.

(Mrs. Hicks said legislation has been proposed in Lansing that would limit the reasons officials could be recalled.)

BEDDOW VIEWS THE recall election and he is confident there will be one, as a vote of confidence in the school board. If the public approves what the three are doing, they will vote "no." If they don't approve, they will vote to recall them.

He and his wife stressed they weren't alone in the recall effort. Many persons are recalled, an election helped circulate petitions must be held within 60 days

"Do you realize it's not just us," Mrs. Beddow said. There are 900 people who are

THE THREE BOARD members who are the subjects of the recall had varied reactions to the filing of the recall petitions, but obviously didn't feel the attempt to remove them from office is justified.

"I think it is sad and tragic that the community is being asked to go through this again," Hobart commented. After the turmoil over busing that led to the successful Sept. 27 millage vote. he continued, "The wounds were starting to heal and this will just reopen the wounds.

Hobart is serving his second year on the board. "It's very frustrating to be trying to do the job and then get hammered around like

Mrs. Prieskorn, who is serving her 20th year on the board, said of the recall, "It's a free country and that's their choice. I don't have any hurt feelings about

She doesn't agree, however, with those who argue that the board didn't make an effort to tell the public of the district's financial situation and the need for more money to continue busing and other programs.

Having personally attended 23 meetings to explain the need for the millage, she commented, think we made a strong effort to present the facts.'

IF ANY OF THE THREE

"I think it's a waste of taxpayers' money," Scollon commented. "Two of the board members' terms will be up in June anyway." His term is one and Mrs. Prieskorn's is the other. She has previously said she doesn't plan to seek reelection.

Scollon, who is serving his 12th year on the board, pointed out that the school district will have to pay the cost of the recall election and, if anyone is recalled, the cost of a special election.

(According to school district bookkeeper Enid Craig, the Sept. 27 millage election cost $2,000, so any recall election and a special one to elect new board members will each cost that much.)

If all three are recalled, the persons elected to fill Scollon's and Mrs. Prieskorn's seats in the special election will only serve until June, when the four-year terms expire. The person elected to fill Hobart's seat will serve until that term expires in June, 1985, according to Mrs. Hicks.

THE BEDDOWS SAID they aren't interested in running but seven recall supporters are interested.

The plan, he explained, is to send the seven names to those who signed the recall petitions and ask them to make three choices.

Only the three top choices will then run for the board "because we're not going to split our power."

Beddow is confident the three will be recalled.

The ultimate goal is a new superintendent. "He's not supposed to be their (the Road agencies to watch pennies when snow falls

The first taste of winter came this past week end. Fortunately for county road commissions in the upper Thumb, it was only a taste.

Clearing snow and salting roads is bad enough for their budgets, but it's even worse when it has to be done on week ends or at night, when they have to pay their crews

That is why motorists who travel at those times this winter may find that as long as roads are passable, it will their cars plowing through the snow instead of the snowplows.

A check of the Tuscola. Huron and Sanilac County Road Commissions by the Chronicle found all three will practice the same basic policy as they did a year

In simple terms, the policy is that during normal Monday through Friday working restrictive policy is lack of hours, crews will be out enough money. The road plowing snow and salting roads when it is necessary.

However, outside of those hours, they won't be plowing county and local roads when it has snowed as long as they are passable without great hazard. If roads are impassable, road crews will be out working even if it is during overtime hours, provided a blizzard isn't raging. When snow is falling as fast as they can remove it, they will wait until the storm is over.

Jim Miklovic, clerk of the Tuscola Road Commission, gave an example. If it is nighttime and there are two inches of fluffy snow on the roads and cars have no trouble getting through it, snowplows will stay parked until normal working hours. THE REASON FOR THE agencies receive the vast majority of their funds from their share of state motor vehicle fuel taxes and license plate fees. For the third straight year, for the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), the money collected from those sources declined.

Civic leader and builder E.B. (Chick) Schwaderer dies at 88

Schwaderer was growing up there weren't paved roads to travel over.

Because of him, many roads, such as portions of M-81 and M-53, were paved. The retired contractor died at his Dale Street, Cass City, home last Thursday after an illness of several months. He was 88. Eugene Blaine Schwaderer was born Dec. 3, 1893, in Cass City, the son of Christian and Mary Jane (Blaine) Schwaderer, who had come to Cass City from Canada by

When E.B. (Chick) school, his daughter, Nancy deBeaubien, recalls his telling about football games played in Harbor Beach.

The team -- which had only 12 players -- traveled there in a horse-drawn wagon, which required leaving Cass City at 4 a.m. and getting a fresh team of horses in Bad Axe.

The players arrived in Harbor Beach at 2 p.m., played the game, then returned home, arriving back in Cass City about 4 a.m. the next day.

There were also basketball games played in the Cultural Center, where a player who went out of bounds could get burned if he rubbed against the hot wood-burning stove.

AFTER GRADUATING, Schwaderer attended the Michigan College of Mines and Technology (now Michigan Technological University) in Houghton.

He received an honorary master's degree from there in 1954. After leaving the college -he didn't graduate --

Schwaderer worked in gold mines in South Africa as a mining engineer, having left the United States in August, Nine months later. World War I being underway, he joined the British Army and served in what was then German East Africa, He supervised the construction of railroads and bridges. He suffered 14 bouts of malaria during his one year and four days with the British Army and was discharged.

Schwaderer later joined the U.S. Army and served with Corps of Engineers as a second lieutenant FOLLOWING WORLD War I, he worked in the gravel business for a short while and then had a brief construction business, then bought him out. What then became the E.B. Schwaderer Construction Co. built roads all over Michigan, turning them from dirt roads into paved concrete highways. His firm built portions of M-81, including all the way from Cass City to Caro. M-53, M-46 and M-24 in the upper Thumb, apparently mostly in the 1930s. His company also paved part of Eight Mile Road, which forms the northern boundary of Detroit.

The first Cass City swimming pool was built in 1937, with his firm donating the labor and equipment. He also furnished equipment and labor for the building of a baseball field, running track, skating rink and the building for the electric athletic field scoreboard. Schwaderer was village president from 1937-41, during which Cass City's first sewer system was installed at a cost of only $12,000, due to a federal grant and use of his firm's equipment. Please turn to page 4.

Ackley's obituary

By Jim Fitzgerald

Ackley died last week. As a consequence, there was unearthed printed proof that I was the first person to discover that Ann Landers repeated herself.

Ackley, son of Albumen, was named for a character in "Catcher in the Rye." My son, named Nerd by his sister whom he named Ferd, dso named Ackley. As for Albumen, she received that name because Nerd likes the white part of the egg best. Otherwise, Ackley's mother Jwould have been Yolk.

All of this is as true as it is confusing. Both Ackley and Albumen, who is also dead, were cats. It was while poring through my cat file, gathering material for Ackley's obituary, that I stumbled upon a Jan. 10, 1979, item about Ann Landers' rerun tendencies.

It was only last May, through evidence uncovered by one of Landers' client newspapers, that a stunned world learned its most popular solver of domestic problems sometimes recycled the problems and the solutions. But it was more than three years ago that I turned my column into an open letter to Ann Landers and wrote:

"Ann, last month your column contained a letter from a woman who claimed to be the mother of three cats, a Siamese and two Persians. She said the ancient Egyptians were very wise — they killed anyone who hated cats.

'As I put her letter into my cat file, I thumbed through some old cat clippings. And I discovered a letter that appeared in your. column in 1972. Almost word for word, it is the same letter you printed six years later. What's going on, Ann? Reruns are perfectly acceptable in the entertainment field, but they should be clearly labeled as such. You didn't tell your readers that the woman who urged death for all people who hate cats in 1978 is actually a reprint from 1972.

"This is irresponsible, Ann, and could be frustrating for your readers, especially those of Egyptian descent. They could go looking for cat haters to murder in 1978, and not find any because they were all killed in

End of three-year-old quotation. — and proof that I was first to catch Ann Landers advising a woman to keep sleeping with a man who died 10 years earlier. Let's return to 1982 and Ackley's obituary. According to information found in my cat file, Ackley was much like all other cats — unfriendly, stupid and good for nothing except testing myths: Is there really more than one way to skin one, do they always land on their feet, do they really have nine lives, and so on.

Don't misunderstand: I'd never dare hurt a cat myself. That's why I keep a cat file -- to save columns written about the countless cats I've generously fed, housed and clothed during 27 years of married bliss with cat hairs on it. Whenever I make a cat-myth quip, many people don't laugh. They get madder than anyone ever gets when I suggest the skinning of a live person. My only defense against rampaging cat-lovers who want me deported to ancient Egypt is to reach into my cat file and pull out proof that I've always been kind to dumb cats, even if they are worthless. My wife long ago decreed that tolerating a cat under my feet was the least I could do, especially in view of the fact that I won't eat carrots even though she loves them.

Ackley, born in my basement seven years ago, was the last cat I supported. Ackley left to live with Ferd when she got married in 1978. Otherwise I wouldn't pay for the wedding. Since then it has been absolutely marvelous living without a cat. But when Ferd phoned to say Ackley had died of some mysterious malady, I was sincerely sympathetic. I didn't point out that now Ferd could take the covers off her furniture and leave an uncovered cake on the kitchen table without fear of its becoming cat food. I said I was sorry about Ackley's passing, and my eyes even got a little wet, for God's Ann Landers would understand, peat or repeat. It is possible to love something you hate simply because someone you love loves it. Except for carrots.

The grant is expected to trigger more than $250,000 from Walbro Corp. to clear a one-acre parcel of land. install water and sewer lines and construct a testing facility for its Automotive Prod-

Walbro, a manufacturer of electric fuel pumps for the automotive industry at its Caro plant, will strengthen its ability to test fuel pumps in the new facility and enable expansion of its product line. The new facility will create no more than six new jobs.

Some $47,000 of the grant will be used by the village to make a loan to the company. The repayments will be used to fund other industrial projects in the area. The remaining $3,000 will be used to install sewer and water lines to the testing facility, which will be a 5,000 square foot addition to Walbro's Columbia Street plant. Groundbreaking has already begun.

The Small Cities Program is designed to promote economic development in the state through distribution of $30.5 million of federal funds now administered by the Office of Community Development of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Midland group to play for students

Elementary students in Cass City's Public Schools will be provided with musical experience this week in connection with the Village

Bach Festival. The Midland String Trio, which performed last year, is returning. It will show students in grades K-6 how a violin is made, tell about famous violin makers, and relate their own instruments to historical events of that

The three musicians will also perform music by Bach, man, Greig and Handel. The program is entitled "Our Family Tree."

The trio is composed of three professional musicians from Midland who have been performing together for five years. They are Coleen Bacon, Lois Palen and Ann Schoelles who play the violin, cello, and viola respectively.

Last year they presented a program for elementary students that introduced string instruments and their effects, the development of

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday, Nov. 9, approved the 1983 county budget with no changes from what was first presented Nov. 5.

No one appeared at the scheduled public hearing. The general fund budget calls for $4.62 million in expenditures and revenue of $4.3 million, plus an estimated fund balance to start the year of $318,777. That compares with almost $4.1 million it is projected the county will have spent from its general fund by the end of this year. Also approved was the federal revenue sharing budget of $490,181, which includes an anticipated carryover (money not spent) of $159,560 from this year.

Anticipated 1983 expenditures from the fund are:

More and more deer hunters are staying right around home these days. That's got a couple of advantages. It is a lot cheaper and the chances for successful hunting in an area that is familiar and can be well scouted before have to be greater.

Those are the advantages. There are disadvantages,

Although I never bought a license or had a gun, there was a time that I went hunting whenever the season opened on Thursday, Friday or Saturday.

It was tradition to head up north for this great event. Now there are hunters that whip out into the woods, pitch a small tent and spend from daylight to dark waiting to bag a deer.

In our group that wasn't the case. We had a couple of diehards that would be in a blind when daylight broke and would return again for the evening hunt provided the weather was okay.

The rest of us would be up before daylight on opening day to have the traditional breakfast and the majority would trek out on opening morning at least. There was always one or more like me who hit the sack again as soon as the last idiot left the

That doesn't stop a true hunter, the boys told me in the pre-dawn breakfast ritual. Okay fellows, I'll do the dishes, I volunteered nobly, so you can hunt.

I wasn't even through washing before the first hunter returned and before the last dish was dried and put away the whole crew had returned.

Maybe that's why it was a rare occasion when anyone bagged a buck.

One year a guy in the camp shot a spikehorn. Since I was returning home early he asked me to buy a tag and take the deer to the processor before it spoiled.

That wasn't too much to ask, I figured. It wasn't until long after that I learned that spikes had to be three inches long and the deer that I transported with my tag was a good half inch short of

There are lots of other stories that come quickly to mind when I talk about deer hunting up north. All of them were possible because we were away from home and the restraining influence of home and hearth.

4 area bridges maining $25,000 needed that was originally put aside for

Okay funds for Federal and state critical bridge programs funds have been approved for replacement of two bridges in Tuscola County and two in Sani-The two in Tuscola are

Dickerson Road over the Colling Drain in Columbia Township, estimated construction cost of $91,000, and Vassar Road over Perry Creek west of Millington, $90,000. The two in Sanilac are Germania Road over the south branch of the Cass River in Lamotte Township, $270,000, and Fetting Road over the Elk River, southeast of Sandusky, $173,000.

The combined federal and state funds pay 90 percent of the construction and inspection costs. Local funds have to pay the rest, plus all of the engineering costs.

The Tuscola County Road Commission has enough funds set aside to pay the local cost, according to Clerk Jim Miklovic.

The state Department of Transportation will award the construction bids for the projects some time next year. Although construction should start next year, he said, the bridges may not be completed until 1984, depending on when the contracts are awarded, the contractor's schedule, etc.

Tuscola County has a halfmill levy for bridges, funds from which can be used as the local matching share.

Sanilac County doesn't have a bridge millage and doesn't have a ready source for money for the local share for the two projects.

Road Commission Engineer-Manager Jack Kineman figures about $35,000 per bridge is needed to pay the 10 percent of the construction and inspection costs and the engineering fees.

County Administrator John Dean has suggested that the two townships inthe Snover Road bridge west of Snover.

Kineman had applied for critical bridge funds to replace that bridge and was expecting the request would be granted. He figures funding was granted for the other two instead, which wer originally lower on the priority list, because the weight limit was reduced on the Germania bridge and the Fetting bridge is closed. The alternative to having the townships pay part of the cost, Dean said, is to have the county pay the entire local share, which will mean having to use money that could be spent for other programs.

A total of 419 signatures per board member is needed to force a recall election.

Roberts said Tuesday evening he is lacking an average of about 60 signatures per board member, including a safety margin, to get the recall election.

He felt enough signatures will be collected by the deadline, which is either Nov. 26

As of now, odds are good that this year's July 4th Festival in Cass City, the fourth, will have been the last one.

Last year's co-chairmen were Tom Herron and Mike Weaver. Herron has been a chairman since the beginning and Weaver started as parade chairman.

Neither is planning to be in charge of next year's festival. Their feeling, to paraphrase Weaver's remarks, is that they have each done enough for that aspect of community service and now it's time for someone else to take over.

So if no one steps forward, that's it for the festivals.

If there is going to be a 1983 festival, planning needs to start soon. The first organizing meeting for this year's festival took place last November.

Bobby Crim, recently elected to the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, had an idea during the campaign that I hope he doesn't forget about now that he's elected.

He proposed establishment of a state higher education coordinating board. One of its duties would be to consolidate programs of-fered at different colleges.

With the state's universities and colleges continually having their funding cut, Crim's idea is a good one.

There have been programs eliminated at some places, but I think some more, offered by more than one university, could be eliminated.

For instance, most of the state's universities have some sort of journalism program, although they don't all offer a degree in it, yet the need for journalists is

HEALTH TIPS

Warning symptoms of heart attack

Remember the old saying "Forewarned is forearmed"?

Heart attack is a good example of how true this is. About 650,000 people died of heart attacks last year --350,000 of them before they ever reached a hospital.

Why? "There are probably two

"Many people don't know attack. Or if they do, when they experience those signs, the majority of people don't be having one. It's probably plain old human nature to deny the possibility that anything as potentially tack could be happening to may be too late."

"As many as half the people who die of heart attacks each year might be saved if they reached help sooner.

"The sad fact is, by the time the average heart attack victim realizes he may be having a heart attack and seeks help, he has wasted three hours - valuable time that could have been spent in lifesaving treatment," Antell said.

First, everyone should know the warning signs -attack. They are:

-- Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing, or pain in the center of the chest lasting two minutes or more. --Pain may spread to shoulders, neck or arms. --Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur. (Sharp, stabbing twinges of pain are usually not signals of a heart attack.)

Many people with those symptoms refuse to go to the hospital on the grounds that it might be something else -- indigestion, nerves, etc. :-and feel that if they go to the hospital and it turns out not to be a heart attack, they will feel foolish.

"But," said Antell, "better to feel foolish than to die. "If you have even the slightest suspicion that what you're experiencing may be a heart attack, you should main reasons," said Dr. get to a hospital as quickly Richard Antell, Flint intern- as possible. The 1981-82 audit shows a decrease in the fund balance of $13,552. The fund balance remaining is $165,147 which includes $102,534 in accounts receivable and $57,763 in inventory.

All debt retirement payments were made on schedule and those accounts retain sufficient balances to meet payment needs. The school hot lunch program showed a deficit during the past year of $13,173 after transfers from the General Fund are deducted. It is expected that the hot lunch program will operate on a break even basis this year. Passage of the additional millage combined with the program cuts that have been made will enable the Cass City Schools to operate on a balanced budget this year. It should be possible to do some of the needed building maintenance work and purchase badly needed buses.

ASK By Dalton P. Coe, D.D.S.

One of the unhappiest scenes I can visualize is the appearance of a 7 or 8 year old in a dental office for the first time in his/her life for treatment of an abcessed tooth. The child usually has severe pain with the tooth and often is terrorized by the unfamiliar people and surroundings. This is a no-win situation for the dentist and the child. No matter what the dentist does to help the child, the child will associate him with this uncomfortable event. The children may then carry the fear of dental offices with them for the rest of their lives.

We suggest two approaches to help reduce this problem. First, parents are encouraged to never put an infant to bed with a bottle containing sweet drinks or citric juices. Not only does this create a longing for sweets by the infant but it can be devastating to the enamel of any teeth in the mouth. The enamel is simply dissolved by acids present in citric juices and acids created by bacteria from sugar in the drinks. This destruction of baby teeth, known as nursing bottle mouth, is even caused by milk and its products in the child's mouth. Plain water would be a far better substitute. Parents should also clean the child's mouth by wiping or gently brushing plaque from the teeth. As soon as possible, children should be encouraged to brush their teeth. Even one and two year olds love to mimic Mom and Dad - got the idea!

Secondly, we encourage children to visit the dental office at age two- or sometimes even sooner. All twenty baby teeth are usually present by the age two. Any small problems can be kept small. Best of all however, is that this first early visit can be a pleasant experience for the child. A youngster can become familiar with the sights and sounds of a dental office with no unpleasant experience attached. It gives the doctor and his staff a chance to be seen as friends. By early attention to diet, plaque control and introduction to the dental team, a child's way can be paved to a life time of good dental health.

TOUCH THE DEVIL by Jack Higgins (fiction). Liam Devlin is kidnapped by a British captain of the SAS and forced to undertake a deadly mission. Devlin's mission is to help Brosnan escape from a French jail so he can assassinate a man, but Brosnan has a different target in mind, Margaret Thatcher. In order to stop Brosnan, the SAS kidnaps his girlfriend. However, it turns out that it is really Nocalai Belov, head of the KGB, who is calling all

SECOND HEAVEN by Judith Guest (fiction). Lawyer Michael Atwood is drawn to Cat Holzman, but is wary of her sheltering Gale Murray, a troubled teenager who appeared at her door one evening with a badly burned hand. Declared incorrigible by his father, Gale is taken into detention. Cat asks Michael for help but Michael is discouraged by Gale's hostility and apathy. Together the three manage to surmount all obstacles and good does triumph

SPELLBINDER by Harold Robbins (fiction). C. Andrew Talbot, a charismic young preacher is chosen to spearhead a campaign of religious revivalism. The campaign uses money, television and the best media money can buy to sell the word of God and change the nature of American politics and society. When Talbot sees his vocation turning into a multimillion dollar business, he decides he must restore his faith by telling the truth about the men and forces behind the revivalism.

about half off the field but about three weeks late. Unlike some of the other crops, the average yield is good this year.

25 YEARS AGO

Cass City's oldest townwide organization may hold its last meeting in December. The future of the Cass City Community Club will be decided by members at the next meeting. The club was founded Dec. 12, 1923.

Coach Don Stamats of Caro High School was one of the 20 persons honored with a plaque between halves at the Michigan State University-Minnesota football game Saturday at East Lansing.

The Cass City Community
Hospital fund jumped again this week as captains reported totals of $360,000 in cash and pledges to co-chairmen James Bauer and Willis Campbell. $40,000 is still needed.

Seven members of the Art Club were present Wednesday of last week when, with Mrs. Sam Vyse as hostess and Mrs. Albert Whitfield as assistant hostess, the group enjoyed dinner at the Fraser Presbyterian Church.

35 YEARS AGO

Raymond McCullough was acting president at the last meeting of the Gavel Club. President Wallace was deer hunting and Vice-president Ed Baker had a touch of the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Anthes left Monday for Bradenton, Fla., where they will spend the next four months.

About 35 persons were present Monday evening when Mrs. B.F. Benkelman Jr. entertained the Presbyterian Guild Society. Mrs. Arthur Holmberg conducted the devotions using a Thanksgiving theme.

The West Elkland 4-H Club met Nov. 17 at the home of Laura Stilson. Awards earned at the county fair were distributed to the members. The next meeting will be at the home of Freddie Martin.

Committees Eastern Star

Forty-five persons attended the Wednesday, Nov. 10, meeting of Echo Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, including two guests from the Sebewaing chapter, a grand committee woman, Lois Anderson, and Eva Gray, worthy matron.

Directly following the formal opening by Worthy Matron Lena Teller, past Worthy Matron Betty Greenleaf installed Betty Stilson as organist for the coming year. The altar was draped in memory of past Grand Patron Leland Barnes of Lawrence. A full corps of officers answered roll call.

The meeting of the Eastern Star Thumb Association Dec. 11 at Vassar was announced. Officers were reminded of the school of instruction Dec. 15. Members voted to contribute $100 to the education fund for scholarships to students.

Committees to serve for the coming year which were appointed by the worthy matron include: Reception, Marie Jetta; sunshine, Bernadine Good and Betty Greenleaf; dining room chairman, Betty Murphy; registration, Frances Golding; publicity, Reva M. Little; proficiency, Keith Murphy, and obituary, Lois

Other committees include instruction, Ruth Whittaker; substitute officer, Donna Holm, and examining, Keith Murphy, John Marshall and Betty Murphy.

Virginia Hartwick heads the ways and means committee. Other members are Mickie Marshall, Shirley Karr, Georgine Jensen, Doris Evens, Betty Murphy,

The Dec. 8 meeting will be a Christmas party with a gift exchange and potluck sup-

He was born Oct. 14, 1888 in Scandia, Kan., the son of Pinckney and Annie (Franklin) Gardiner.

Edward Gardiner and Viola Murray were married in Kansas City, Mo. She preceded him in death May 9. 1940.

He married Mary E. Strif-fler Oct. 1, 1941, in Geneva,

The couple lived the past 26 years at Broken Rocks. Gardiner was the superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction, retiring in

Rev. Vender writes narrative

Rev. Melvin R. Vender has written a narrative of his father's business experiences at Wadsworth and in Bad Axe.

He has entitled it, "The Little Ship That Didn't Sink." A copy of the story may be read at Rawson Memorial Library.

Friends who read it encouraged him to send the manuscript to a magazine for publication. Responding to a suggestion from Readers' Digest, he sent a copy to Modern Maturity, published by the American Association of Retired Persons.

"Even if the story is not accepted for publication," Rev. Vender said, "the writing of it has had therapeutic value as a resident of Provincial House.

The retired minister, 92, was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City from 1944-57.

He has sent more than 30 copies of his story to friends and relatives.

Thanksgiving meal Friday for seniors

Twenty-nine attended the Thumb Area Commission on Aging Friday noon meal for senior citizens at the meal site at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

Dessert was ice cream and a birthday cake made for Ann Stepka by her daughter. Photographs were taken of those who have November birthdays.

The annual Thanksgiving dinner will be served Friday when the menu will be turkey and dressing, potatoes, squash, cranberries and pumpkin pie.

Reservations for the meal are limited to 40. Those eligible to attend must contact Mary Rabideau between 8 and 9 a.m. on or before Friday, telephone 872-2545.

He was a life member of Raytown No. 391, F and AM, the Scottish Rite Bodies, Kansas City, Mo.; the Moslem Shrine Temple, Detroit, and a member of the Huron

Shrine Club. Gardiner was the senior active member of the Bad Axe Rotary Club and a former Detroit Old Newsboys member. Surviving are his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Peter (Virginia) Klopp, Farmington Hills; one grandson; three great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Beth Ruedy, Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Lee Anna Benjamin, Santa Monica, Calif., and several nieces and nephews. Two brothers, Marion and Charles, and two sisters, Floy and Ida, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at the MacAlpine Funeral Home, Bad Axe. Burial was in the Colfax Cemetery mausoleum.

Teens the same all over the world

The second chapter of an international friendship that began 17 years ago is being written in Cass City.

Susy Cotrim, 16, of Brazil, has been living with the Roger Marshall family since last December. She will be returning home at the end of anuary

It was during the Christmas-New Year's holiday of 1965-66, that her parents, Jose and Kathleen Cotrim and her brother Richard, spent two weeks with Roger's parents, John and Mickie Marshall of Bay City-Forestville Road.

At that time, Cotrim -- who prefers to be called "Joe" in this country -- was enrolled in a post-graduate course in financial administration at Michigan State University.

6142 E. Cass City Road

Cass City - 872-4050

At that time, he was employed by a Caterpillar dealer in Brazil and spent two terms at MSU following a several-month training program at Caterpillar's headquarters in Peoria, Ill.

The Cotrims decided to take advantage of an MSU program that enabled foreign students to stay with American families during the Christmas holiday. They were paired with the John Cotrim recalled with amusement that the Marshalls wondered before he and his wife arrived whether they spoke English or only Spanish. The visitors spoke English but didn't speak Spanish. (Portuguese is the language of Brazil.)

Mrs. Cotrim was born in Brazil of English parents and spoke English growing up. Her husband had some background in it, but didn't learn it fluently until he met his wife. (Susy has been studying English since the fifth grade.)

The Cotrims next came to the United States in 1975. They spent four months in New York, then spent two months touring the U.S. Susy was then 8. They visited the Marshalls during their stay.

"I never thought I would come back here," Susy said of the 1975 visit.

IN MAY, 1981, MICK-ie Marshall wrote to the Cotrim family to bring them up to date on what had been happening with her family and Mrs. Cotrim wrote back. Slowly the idea germinated for Susy to come and stay with the Roger Marshalls. She started writing to the Marshalls' daughter, Jeanne, who is seven months younger, whom she had met in 1975, and Dec. 29 of last year, arrived in Cass City.

She was originally going to stay here three months, then it became six months and now, as mentioned, she will be going home at the end of

Her brother, Richard, who is 18 and studying nuclear physics at a university in Brazil, and her mother will be coming here before then and the trio will do some touring for a few weeks before going home.

THE SEASONS IN BRAzil are the reverse of what they are here and when Susy returns home, it will be summer vacation, with school starting in March. She doesn't receive credit for the year of classes she will have attended at Cass City High School.

Back in Brazil, Susy will have two years of high school before graduating in December, 1984. If she hadn't come here, she would graduate a year earlier.

After graduating, she hopes to go to a university.

As of now she is interested in a career combining secretarial work and a foreign language, possibly with the aim of working for an international company.

THAT IS WHAT HER father does. Cotrim, 43, is a certified public accountant, economist and partner in the American based international accounting firm of Price,

His specialty is Brazilian tax law and he primarily works with foreign firms which have operations in Brazil. His American clients include such firms as Caterpillar, Kellogg, Dow Corning, U.S. Steel, Goodyear, Xerox and IBM.

His work often brings him to the U.S., which has enabled him to make side trips country for almost a year now, Susy can make some comparison with Brazil, for instance, about the weather. In Sao Paulo, where the Cotrims live, which is in southern Brazil, temperatures are moderate the year round. The normal range is about 50-90 degrees F. It only gets down to 40 degrees a few times a year. For it to get as cold as 30-32 degrees is even rarer. Thus until she came here, she has never seen a distinct change in seasons, snow or changing colors in the fall.

Western Michigan University's last home game last Saturday, against Ohio University, ended with a 16-7 win for the players' fathers who were honored at Waldo Stadium.

Larry Caper galloped 40 yards for the fourth quarter touchdown that clinched Western's victory. The triumph gave the Broncos a record of 7-2-1 overall, and 5-2-1 in the MAC. For the first time since 1966, Western won all of its home games.

The WMU defense has allowed lowest points scored per game, 7.5, in any NCAA Division 1-AA college across the country.

Mark McDonald, an Owendale-Gagetown High School graduate, leads his team in tackles for loss and is second on the team for tackles overall. He has been voted "Bronco of the Week two times during the season.

Mark's parents, Bud and Jeannette McDonald of Owendale were in attendance at the game and among the parents of the seniors who were escorted onto the field by their sons just before game time, walking through an arch made up of all dads of the Broncos team. Each mom was presented with yellow and brown mum as they were introduced.

WMU, in second place in the MAC, ends its 1982 season Saturday when they play Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti.

Bulldogs lost 37-34 in giris basketball. Both teams had trouble finding the basket in the first eight minutes, with Owen-Gage leading at the end of the quarter, 4-2. The Cardinals pulled even with the Bulldogs at 10-10 about midway through the second period and by halftime were ahead, 14-13.

Kingston never trailed after that. It led 24-19 at the three quarter mark. With 3:58 left, the Bulldogs had pulled to within two,

26-24, but by the 1:32 mark, Kingston had stretched the lead to 33-27. Jackie Kain then sank two free throws followed by a field goal to bring Owen-Gage to within two, 33-31.

With 33 seconds left, a Cardinal field goal made it 35-31. An Owen-Gage free throw pulled the team within three with 24 seconds left.

COACH LLOYD SCHINNERER called a time out in the first half to stem a Harbor Beach rally and it was successful. But nothing worked in the last half as the potent Pirates pulled away for an easy victory.

Regular season ends

Hawks upset Sandusky, lose to Pirates, Broncos

Cass City battled potent Harbor Beach for a half before finally falling to the much taller Pirates, 63-46, at Cass City High School Tuesday night.

In the battle of the boards the Hawks simply weren't in it and the absence of Michelle Fahrner who appears lost for the season because of a knee injury was painfully apparent.

Cass City stayed with the visitors for the first two quarters mainly on the shooting of Jamie Fox. In the first quarter she connected on three 10-foot jumpers from the side in a row and the Hawks were off and running, ending the first eight minutes with a 14-13 lead. Fox, Carrie Lautner and Jill Hutchinson helped the Hawk offense in the second period, but the 'pressing Beacher defense caused problems causing turnovers that went for easy baskets. At the half, Cass City trailed, 34-28. It was all Harbor Beach in the second half and the game was decided when the visitors, posted a 16-10 third quarter margin to lead by 12 points going into the final quarter. After that it was simply a matter of playing out the clock. Fox had her best scoring night of the season with 18 points to lead Cass City. Close behind was Jill Hutchinson with 16. Cass City hit a very respectable 46 percent of its shots while Harbor Beach converted 38 percent.

Leading all scorers was Mary Osentoski of Harbor Beach with 29 points on 13 field goals and 3 of 5 free

NORTH BRANCH GAME

The game was close for the first half. North Branch edged in front 8-6 at the end of the first eight minutes and were ahead, 25-20, at the intermission.

But in the last half the roof fell in. The Hawks scored just seven points in the third period and five in the final quarter while the Broncos made a runaway of the game with 19 points in the third and 17 points in the final quarter. Cass City was led by Jill Hutchinson, 10 points, and Carrie Lautner, 9 points. Hutchinson led the rebounders for Cass City with nine

In double figures for North Branch were Roxanne Repic, 19, and Kelly Marston, 10.

SANDUSKY GAME

Cass City has lost several games this season by very close scores, but it is a long road that has no turning and Friday some of the sting of those earlier close defeats were erased as the Hawks topped Sandusky in overtime, 51-48.

The Hawks did it with balanced scoring and clutch baskets when needed. It was a nip and tuck game all the way. Cass City went in front by a bucket in the first quarter and it was all tied at the intermission. The host Redskins rallied in the third quarter to go ahead by five points, but a big 17-point last period surge was enough to tie the game in regulation. The Hawks scored four points and Sandusky netted just one in the overtime period.

The Hawks exhibited the most scoring balance of the scored. Leading the way were Hutchinson, 14, Lautner, 12, and Laura Richards, Coach Don Schelke will have to find replacements next year for many key performers. In a strange year, the Hawks suited only two juniors and also had six sophomores on the team. There will be talent coming up from this year's JV team and Cass City should be respectable next year and one of the best in 1984.

As might be expected, the seniors leaving compiled most of the glittering individual statistics. Dave Osentoski gained 876 yards for a 4.8 average and was the team's best defensive player. Ed Robinson gained 202

Barry Lapp led the ends with 26 receptions for an 11.15-yard average and a total of 290 yards. At the other end Rob Hartwick netted 130 yards for an 8.7 average. Stewart Batts gave the Hawks outstanding punting with a 33.2-yard average. Tore Tollersrud was a great field goal kicker.

For the year Cass City's opponents outgained the Hawks 2604 to 1721 yards.

VOTE AWARDS

In a recent meeting the players voted various awards. Most valuable player is Dave Osentoski.

Most valuable lineman is Jeff Loomis and most valuable back, Osentoski.

Although bars over a window were cut with a hacksaw -- the office has been the scene of more than one break-in in the past -- investigators said it didn't appear entry was gained through the window.

Instead, it appears a key was used. The possibility of the illegal entry being an "inside job" hasn't been ruled out, according to the sheriff's department.

Entry to the safe was gained after breaking off the handle, but more effort than that was needed to open it, investigators said.

In addition to taking the money, some papers and files were scattered around the room.

RIFLE STOLEN

Raymond Hull of 6275 Legg Road, Kingston, reported to Caro state police Friday that a rifle was stolen from his home Nov. 6.

Entry was gained by kicking in a door, but he didn't find anything missing until he discovered Nov. 10 that the gun was gone.

The .243 bolt action Remington with scope, sling and case belonged to Bernard Bilicki of Caro. It was valued at $300.

OTHER ITEMS

Arlene A. Szarapski of Kelly Road told Cass City police Friday evening that she left her purse in a grocery cart while she loaded her groceries into her car at the IGA Foodliner, then left.

When she realized she had left her purse behind, she returned, but the purse was

Franks sent to Germany

Pvt. Sheryl L. Franks, daughter of Stephen L. and Marsha R. Franks of 5245 Cedar Run Road, Cass City, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at U.S. Army Military Police School, Fort McClellan, Ala.

LETTER

EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Why do we have a piece of farm machinery on the front page of last week's Cass City Chronicle when we have a Class "C" state champ like Greg Bliss in our town? Do you have any idea how hard Greg worked to get such a title? Do you know what an honor it is, not only to Greg, but to the people of our community?

Both the Bad Axe and the Bay City papers did a feature article on Greg. I realize there is a special page designated school sports, but this is different, Greg is a "state champ!"

What do you have to do in this town to be on the front page? Commit a crime? Be killed in an accident?

Sincerely,

DeAngela Garety Cass City cross country team member 7405 Bay City-Forestville Road

Pvt. Sheryl Franks

OSUT is a 16-week course which includes eight weeks of basic combat training and eight weeks of military police school training.

Training included weapons qualification with rifle .38 caliber revolver, patrolling, communications, landmine warfare, unarmed self defense, basic psychology, military law and riot

Completion of the course qualifies the soldier as a military policeman.

Pvt. Franks graduated with two letters of commendation, one for outstanding leadership, as she acted as trainee training officer. The second was for outstanding physical fitness. She is now stationed near Saturday, 872-3123. 2-11-4-3 Frankfurt, West Germany, for an 18-month tour.

She is a 1982 graduate of Cass City High School and entered the Army June 29. Before leaving for Germany last Thursday, she was home on leave with her National Accept Co parents for two weeks.

In area townships

Set property tax rates

Elkland Township property owners who live in the Cass City School District will be paying a total of 36.5143 mills when they receive their property tax bills

Those who live in the Owendale-Gagetown School District will pay a total of 37.6505 mills, according to the tax apportionment report recently approved by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners.

One mill equals $1 per $1,000 worth of valuation, so a person living in the Cass City district with property with a valuation of $30,000 (half the true cash value) would receive a bill for $1,095

Millage rates for Elkland property owners in the Cass City district are as follows: Cass City schools, operations, 25.6328 mills, plus debt, 1.1; Tuscola Intermediate School District, 3.5 (.15 allocated, 1.6 voted for special education and 1.75 voted for vocational education); township, 1.3815; county government, 4.2; senior citizen activities, .2, and bridge

The difference for Elkland property located in the Owen-Gage School District is that its taxes total 30.25 mills (26.75 for operations and 3.5 for debt) and Huron Intermediate School District taxes total 1.119 mills (.129 allocated, .99 voted for special education and none for vocational education).

and village street repairs, .5.

The highest property tax rate in Tuscola County is for Elmwood Township residents will pay a total of 37.0036 mills if their property is in the Cass City district (36.7036 for those in the Goslin territory); 38.1398 if in Owen-Gage.

All of Novesta Township is in the Cass City district. Property owners will pay a total of 36.6189 mills in taxes. That includes 1.4861 mills for township government. Kingston Township property owners pay 36,7274 mills if in the Kingston School District (24 mills for school operations and 2.94 for debt); 36.5202 if in the Cass City district, and 37.8033 for the few in the Marlette district. The township tax levy is 1.3874 mills.

Ellington Township property owners will pay 37.286 mills if their property is in the Cass City School district and 36.3124 if in the Caro district. The levy for township government is 2.1532 residents of Fremont Township whose property is in the Mayville School District. Taxes there total 44.48 mills, of which 34.43 mills and Tuscola County property owners will be billed for a total of $23.877 million in a few weeks.

In addition to those taxes, residents of incorporated villages are taxed each summer to pay the cost of their village government.

Cass City property owners paid a total of 15.2067 mills in taxes, of which 2.5 was for the sewage treatment plant.

The Gagetown millage rate was 13.6932, all for operations. Kingston's totaled 14.8469, of which 8.0983 was for operations, 1.3497 for fire protection and 5.3989 for street and water improvements.

The highest village tax rate in Tuscola County is Caro's 16.6316 mills.

A Stanford professor made a specific outline of how such a law would get down to your own income tax form

I've simplified the professor's form still more. His had 12 lines, mine has five. but then, I'm only a simple country boy.

Here's my version, using some typical figures: 1. Your pay, including fringes: $16,000. 2. Other income, including pensions paid by employers:

TOTAL: $18,000. 3. Subtract allowances:

a. $5,000 for married. b. $3,000 for single. c. $4,500 for head of house-

d. $600 for each dependent

4. Net after allowances: $13.800. 5. Tax on net at 19 percent William Buckley proposed for a refund.) If the memory of your agony of early April when you were doing your income tax is still with you, which system would you prefer?

We assume that the net amount you'd pay would be about the same as you paid under the present system.

The shift in tax burden, an idea that would provoke an immediate outcry, is not so great as you might think.

Middle-income taxpayers on average-pay 20-25 percent of their income in tax.

The 19 percent rate wouldn't be much different. It would avoid "bracket creep," that nasty little feature that discourages you from working harder and making more money only to have the government take it away from you.

The Stanford professor's idea would eliminate capital gains tax. It would cut out lepreciation allowances. As a business, you'd "expense" all purchases in the year you bought them.

There'd be no deductions for interest, for gifts to charity by individuals. Just plain tax on your income. No taxes on dividends or interest-received.

Speaking of bracket creep, William Buckley in a debate last winter with John Galbraith said that despite the Reagan tax cuts of 1982 and 1983, a person earning $10,000 in 1980 would by 1983, with average wage increases tied to cost of living, be paying 17 percent more taxes in 1983. A person earning $25,000 in 1980 would be paying 27 percent more.

And the Democrats are blaming the state of things on the Reagan tax cuts.

Sanilac received $1.86 million, compared to $1.92 million in 1980-81, and $2.14 million two years ago.

Cass City in 1981-82 received $55,013 in state Motor Vehicle Highway Funds, compared to $62,963 the previous year.

Gagetown received $16,218 (compared to $17,467 in 1980-81); Kingston, $10,728 (down from $11,013); Owendale, $11,817 ($12,465), and Ubly, $19,968 ($20,994).

THE MOOT CONTRACTS with the upper Thumb road commissions for maintenance of state highways, including snow plowing (and with Cass City for M-81 through the village).

The persons contacted by the Chronicle at the three road commissions said policy regarding wintertime maintenance of state highways will apparently stay the same as in the past vears

The MDOT, although also snow-covered during week facing declining revenues, has been more liberal in spending money for plowing and de-icing state highways.

In general terms, explained Jack Kineman, Sanilac Road Commission engineer-manager, the MDOT is willing to pay overtime to keep state highways clear, although road commissions are cautioned to be judicious about having their crews work extra hours.

Last winter, the MDOT spent a record $40.7 million keeping state highways cleared, which was about one-third more than it spent the winter before. According to the state transportation agency, a "bare pavement" policy will be maintained on major highways and freeways. Moderately traveled routes will be plowed during regular workday hours until the center portion is clear and will be kept passable at all times, if possible. Lesser traveled state highways will be plowed until passable, but if they become

IN THE UPPER THUMB, it appears the Tuscola County Road Commission will have to be most judicious about spending money for snow and ice removal, at least until Jan. 1. That is because it spent most of its 1981 budget for wintertime maintenance last winter, Miklovic explained, so won't have much revenue to spend until the start of 1983. Snowfall last winter, he said, was average or a little above average, but a lot of it came on week ends, so the Road Commission was unable to avoid paying overtime. In early winter, before ditches are clogged with snow, it takes about two days to plow all the roads in the county, assuming an average snowfall, according to Miklovic.
