

BARN FIRE — An electrical short was the probable cause of the fire that destroyed the barn of Kim Anthony early Wednesday. Four fire departments fought the blaze for more than two hours. The barn was located on Germania Road, south of Spencer Road, in Greenleaf Township.

Some livestock lost as blaze destroys Germania Road barn

Fire destroyed a barn on Germania Road in Greenleaf Township early Wednesday morning.

Firemen from the Bingham Township (Uby), Elkland Township, Owendale and Elmwood Township-Gagetown departments battled the blaze for more than two hours. The structure was located almost two miles north of Cass City Road.

The barn was owned by Kim Anthony, who said he spotted the blaze while he was coming home. The top of the barn was burning when he arrived.

There were a total of 46 steers and heifers inside, on the lower level. Anthony was able to chase most of them out, but was unable to say, while he watched his barn burn, how many were lost.

Two large pigs also escaped, but four other large ones and numerous small ones were lost in the fire. The pigs were owned by Anthony and Gary and Linda Hudson, who live across the road.

Also inside the barn, according to the owner, were about 4,000 bales of hay and 2,000 of straw, a grain auger and some miscellaneous equipment. He guessed that the barn was about 60 years old.

Mrs. Hudson, who was standing by her house watching the blaze, said Anthony's wife, Barb, told her by phone that she had called the fire in to the fire department shortly after 2 a.m. The Anthony home is located east of the barn.

The fire trucks from the four departments left the scene about 4:30, according to Bingham Fire Chief John Bukoski. He and one other fireman stayed a while longer to make sure the fire didn't flare up again.

Since there was no possibility of saving the barn, the big concern was making sure sparks didn't set the Hudson house on fire across the road, since the wind was blowing in that direction.

The cause of the blaze was probably an electrical short somewhere, he said.

Anthony had insurance, but insurance companies usually won't cover the entire value of an old barn, according to the chief. He estimated it will probably cost $50,000-60,000 to replace the barn with an equivalent size modern pole building.

Consumers to pay

Independents okay strike

By Mike Ellasohn

ernment imposed cost increases for truckers will ultimately hurt the general public, according to Carl Palmateer.

The Main Street, Cass City, resident has been driving a truck for Chemical Leaman Tank Lines for about eight years. He owns his own tractor, but it's under permanent lease to the company, so unlike the independents, the company pays all the fees and taxes.

"That's what makes it rough on those guys," Palmateer said of the independents. "They have to pay out of their own pockets."

For companies like Chemical Leaman, when its costs go up due to government fiat, it can raise its charges for its customers.

That truck line hauls various chemicals used for industrial purposes. Ultimately, any increase in costs will eventually be passed on to consumers.

"It's just going to raise the prices to John Doe across the counter," Palmateer said of the increases in government taxes and fees.

And if times have been tough for independent truckers lately, they have also been that way for trucking companies and their drivers.

As of Friday, Palmateer had been on only one run during the past month, to Alabama. He said another Cass Cityan, who drives a truck owned by Chemical Leaman, hadn't been on any runs during the past month.

According to the Michigan Trucking Association, the cause of rising costs, lack of business and too low rates forced by competition to get what business there is, 195 trucking companies nationally have folded since 1980 and 55 have come near collapse.

ALTHOUGH COMPETITION may keep rates in line, trucking companies at least can try to raise their rates. Independents don't have that option.

Alvin Meredith of Deckerville Road, Snover, and his son Ken own one truck and haul grain for farmers and the elevator in Minden City. Lately, they have also been carrying firewood.

With farmers in such poor shape financially, he said, he can't ask them for more money when his costs go up. "The amount of work we did last year, it still paid better than farming is."

Meredith is supporting the strike. "I guess the way things have been going the past year, it's the best thing that can happen."

"Every time you turn around, fuel goes up, licenses go up, insurance goes up."

Independents who get their jobs through brokers are told how much they will be paid. Carl Nicol, interviewed in the other story, said if a run doesn't pay enough, he turns it down. "I can't see hauling it if you can't make any money on it. You can't afford to haul it for nothing."

MAIERS MOTOR Freight, which does a lot of trucking in the upper Thumb, including for Walbro and General Cable in Cass City, is also affected by the higher government imposed costs, but its president, Wayne Fox, doesn't think striking is the way to solve the problem.

Even with the five-cent federal fuel tax hike, he said, truckers will be paying less than they were seven months ago, due to the decline in fuel prices. The big tax hikes don't take effect until next year.

"They're kind of pushing the panic button too soon," he said of the independents.

"We're doing what we feel the independents should do, lobbying to have the taxes repealed." The lobbying is being done through such organizations as the American Trucking Association.

Maiers owns all its own trucks. Its president agreed with those who say the higher costs from taxes and fees will ultimately be passed on to consumers. "Somebody will have to pay somewhere down the line."

The company has terminals in Vassar, Saginaw, Flint and Detroit. Friday, Fox didn't think the strike would hurt his company's operations, but did comment, "There's always the fear of danger, a brick from an overpass, for example."

No profit in trucking, Nicol says

Carl Nicol's semi-truck and trailer sat outside his Deckerville Road home Monday, partly in sympathy with the nationwide independent truckers strike that started that day and partly out of fear.

If there hadn't been a strike, it probably would have sat there anyway.

That partially explains why some of the nation's 100,000 independent truckers have parked their rigs.

The government can't take more money away from people who aren't making any, said the 49-year-old Deford area resident, who has been driving a truck off and on for 30 years.

In good times, Nicol, 49, drives his truck as far as Georgia and Kansas and Oklahoma and can roll up 100,000-125,000 miles a year.

But these haven't been good times, and for the last two or three years, he said, hasn't made enough from trucking to support his family on. They have been living off the proceeds of his military pension. He was in

Thumb receives federal windfall for new bridges

Some of the increased motor fuel taxes motorists and truck drivers are and will be paying will be coming back to the upper Thumb for new bridges.

The Michigan Department of Transportation (DOT) announced Friday that 61 bridges statewide will be replaced, of which seven are in Tuscola County, six in Sanilac and three in Huron.

The money is coming from the Federal Bridge Replacement and Rehabilitation Program, which pays 80 percent of the cost, and the state Critical Bridge Program, which pays 10 percent. The remainder has to come from the recipient county road commission and/or local governmental unit in which the bridge is located.

The 5-cent per gallon increase in the federal gasoline and diesel fuel tax, which goes in effect April 1, plus various tax increases for truck owners, means $19.9 million from Washington for bridges in Michigan during the 1983 fiscal year, compared with $10 million in 1982, according to the DOT.

The state's share for bridges was bolstered by a 2-cent per gallon increase in the state motor fuel tax and a 30 percent increase in license plate fees, which started Jan. 1.

TUSCOLA

Federal and state funds are being received to replace the following bridges. The monetary

Bevens Road over Clark Extension, $102,000; Kings- ton Township; Dickerson Road over Southgate Drain, $94,000; Akron Township; Bay City-Forestville Road over State Drain Extension, $107,000; Columbia; Harmon Lake Road over Sucker Creek Drain, $69,000; Dayton; Deckerville Road over Northwest Drain, $72,500; Gilford; Rossman Road over White Creek

Drain, $84,000; Kingston Township, and Wells Road over S.O. Drain, $77,000; Wells Township.

Tuscola County Road Commission Clerk Jim Miklovic said the local 10 percent share for the first three bridges, all on primary roads, will come out of his agency's share of fuel taxes and license plate fees.

The local share for the last four bridges, all on local roads, will come from the half-mill approved by voters last August for bridge repair and replacement.

Economy affects police statistics

Unemployment has an effect on police statistics in a way that most persons might not expect.

The annual report of the Cass City police department, presented to the village council last week, showed substantial changes in only three categories, the number of traffic, parking and parking meter violations issued.

The number of traffic tickets issued increased from 319 in 1981 to 489 last year, which includes ones for defective equipment and no proof of insurance.

Because of lack of money, Police Chief Gene Wilson said, many persons are driving their cars longer and not always getting everything fixed. Some even let their insurance lapse.

Persons who are ticketed for defective equipment can have the ticket voided if they have the defects fixed within two weeks and show the repair to police. No proof of insurance tickets can be voided if proof is obtained within 72 hours.

Lack of money is reflected in another way. In 1981, police ticketed 681 cars for being parked at expired meters. Last year, the number was only 377.

Wilson said there are fewer cars downtown, thus fewer overparking, plus more persons who are downtown are parking in the lots or on side streets, so they don't have to use the meters. He feels all that is because persons have less money to spend.

The other major increase came in issuing of parking tickets, from 170 in 1981 to 314 last year. The increase is attributable, Wilson said, to various businesses with parking lots asking police to clear their lots after hours of cars parked there, primarily occupied by juveniles, who gather in the lots. Village ordinance prohibits parking in private lots after the business is closed if a sign is posted to that effect and the owner asks in writing for the ordinance to be enforced.

Another reason for the large increase in citations, Wilson indicated, was because the department had four officers (plus the chief) as of last year, one more than was on the force in 1981.

Although not large in numbers, the number of drug complaints increased from eight in 1981 to double that last year.

Most of those complaints, Wilson said, dealt with marijuana, use of which by young persons seems to be on the increase, as is alcohol.

No separate statistics are maintained concerning

Strike may affect grocery shelves

Predicting what might take place due to a strike that might take place is "iffy," at best, but if the independent truckers' shutdown lasts very long, its effects very likely will show up on grocery store shelves.

"We'll keep our fingers crossed," IGA Foodliner owner Harry Lenda said Friday. Supposedly, his main supplier prepared in advance for the possibility of a strike, but not everything can be stockpiled, if that's what the firm did.

"I imagine there would be a shortage of some products," Lenda said. He and Don Erla of Erla's Food Center agreed that the items in shortest supply, should the shutdown be effective, would be perishable items — produce and meats.

"It's definitely going to affect produce," said Erla. If the supply does become short, the effect, he said, will be higher prices.

A lot of produce from the warm weather states goes to Chicago or Detroit by train, Erla explained. "But when they unload there, it goes in a truck." Some items, such as tomatoes from Florida or Mexico, might come all the way to Michigan by truck, driven by an independent.

Although supplies of some items may grow short, that won't apply to everything.

Some food producers, for instance, Kraft, own their own trucks, Erla said, as well as some wholesalers, such as Bay City Milling, which is one of Erla's big suppliers.

The Independent Truckers Association organizers of the shutdown, claim 85-90 percent of all food and 90 percent of cattle and hogs are carried by independents.

PARKED — Carl Nicol's tractor and trailer will stay parked outside his home west of Deford until the shutdown ends, he says. The tractor at left is for sale.

At a seminar Friday, Charles Mouser, international marketing consultant, told a group of publishers that small stores have to change their ways.
What Mouser says small business must do is change their open hours. In the traditional 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. hours he claims that about 35 percent of customers can't make it to the stores because of two-member family workers. His suggestion is to open at 11 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. or later and be open Sunday.
Customers that come in before 11 can also come after 11 while those that work simply cannot, he added.
That's a seemingly radical shift, but then so was closing Saturday at 6 p.m. 20 years ago.

Few abandoned dogs given homes

Most dogs taken to the Tuscola County animal shelter are unwanted. Because they are unwanted, the future for most is dim.
The 1982 annual report presented by Jeff Quinn, county animal control director, to the county Board of Commissioners last week, showed 4,807 animals were handled by the shelter last year.
Of those, 113 were returned to their owners, 639 were sold and the remaining 4,055 were picked up by Fred Hodgins, who has a contract with the county. He sells some of the animals to medical researchers, but the rest are killed.
Hodgins told county commissioners in 1979, which was apparently the last time they asked, that most animals were put to sleep, which was done by needle injection.
Of the 4,807 animals handled last year, 3,215 were brought there by their owners and the rest were brought in as strays.
Quinn and the county's shelter, which is located on M-81, southwest of Caro. After that, they can be only purchased at the county treasurer's or the shelter.

A license now costs $2 if the dog is spayed or neutered, $4 if it isn't. Starting March 1, the cost is $10.
Whenever a dog turns six months old, the cost is $2 or $4 if the license is purchased within seven days.
Last year, the animal control officers issued 27 appearance tickets, three less than the year before, to owners for having unlicensed or stray dogs. That doesn't include tickets that were voided because the owner purchased a license within 10 days after receiving the ticket.
There were 51 dog bite cases reported last year, compared to 75 in 1981.
The animal shelter collected $5,564 from sale of licenses and animals, which was turned over to the county treasurer, compared to $6,378 the year before.

"If It Fitz..." Old age hurts

By Jim Fitzgerald

"I can see all right, but I get dizzy. Can I take hold of your arm?" the old woman asked the bag boy as he carried out her groceries.
Sure. I was the bag boy and I was feeling a little dizzy myself. The nice woman and I steadied each other as we searched for her car. We found it just in time to keep a bag of tomatoes from splattering on the pavement.
It happened in 1975 in another town. With the aid of many generous farmers and gardeners, the newspaper where I worked distributed free bags of produce to elderly people. All they had to do was come and get it. All I had to do was carry a few bags a few yards. I figured it wouldn't hurt me.

It hurt me.
But all the pain wasn't in my rusty flab. Looking at the old people, and listening to them, gave me a pain in the spirit or in the heart or wherever it is a man aches for others.
Eight years later, I am remembering those old people by accident. While searching my messy files for something else, I chanced upon the article I wrote about my day as a bag boy. And it started me thinking...

anyone. The mister is blind now and you can never tell what he might do. I can't leave him alone."
"These days you have to grab everything to eat that you can," explained a man who said he was picking up food for his older brother. He had to be 85 himself.
"My husband is dead now. I used to smuggle cucumbers to him in the hospital in my purse."
"I feel guilty," said a limping man who kept trying to give money to someone but nobody would take it. "Give it to charity," he pleaded.
"I'm afraid I can't carry that. It was all I could do to get here."
"It's heck when you get old, isn't it? I have cataracts and diabetes and I just don't see so good."
"I don't want anything; I want to give something." (Many of the people who donated produce were older than the people it was given to.)
With a chuckle: "This would hold us until payday — if there only was a payday."
A woman refusing extra pickles: "I used to can when I had a family but I don't can anymore."
"Dad doesn't get out anymore at all. He's just not well at all. Most of the time he sits in the bedroom and cries."

Jury finds Jack Kronz innocent

A Tuscola County Circuit Court jury Friday found Jack E. Kronz Sr., 56, innocent of a charge of uttering and publishing.

Kronz, of 5390 Mertz Road, Mayville, was a salesman for Michigan Farm Automation Division of Michigan Glass Lined Storage Inc.

He had been charged with depositing a promissory note for $27,809 in his own bank account in July, 1981, instead of turning it over to his company. The note had been for payment for equipment he had sold to a farmer.

The trial before Judge Patrick R. Joslyn started Wednesday of last week.

Timothy D. Hendrian, 18, of 6567 Church Street, Cass City, pleaded guilty Monday to possession of marijuana Jan. 14 in Cass City.

Judge Richard F. Kern accepted his plea and delayed sentencing to Dec. 19, 1983. If Hendrian complies with the provisions of his probation until then, the charge will be dismissed. He was assessed a $100 over-sight fee.

The Haire Net

Not only did a surprising number of you take time to fill out the questionnaire about what you want to see and what you read in the Chronicle, many of you took time to make comments or suggestions. Here are some of them with comments of my own.

"Stress positiveness in our community. I'm sick and tired of... they hurt our town and cowards don't have to sign their names."
I'd be more positive if I knew who wrote this comment so I could sit down and positively talk with them about it.
"It makes Wednesday complete."
It makes Friday (payday) complete, too.

"I do not appreciate your stupid anti-God, anti-church, pro-queer, pro-welfare attitude. I would like to see sweeping changes! Your attitude to Pres. Reagan stinks."

Outside of that how am I doing?

From some of the folks at Provincial House. "Doing a fine job at coverage of area happenings."

With age comes understanding and wisdom.
"Enjoy pictures of people — worth 1,000 words."

There goes four years of journalism and 40 years of work down the drain.

"John, I especially enjoy your Haire Net and have thought many times I would write and tell you same. As you know, we find it easier to criticize than compliment. Thank you."

A remark like that and she thanks me?

"Good small town newspaper. Suggestion: Hot fishing spots in MI."

If I knew I'd tell. Getting reliable information, that's the problem. You know the story. It's a case of "do all fishermen lie or are all liars fishermen?"
"I still enjoy reading the old home town paper, although I have not lived in the area for about 50 years. Cass City's the biggest small town that I know about."

50 years? He must be ready to challenge 101-year-old reader Fred Joos for the subscriber taking the paper the longest. My kind of people.

Dorothy Hunt writes that she has filled in every questionnaire, but never seen any results or changes. "Why don't you let us know what others think?"

There is a consensus about a couple of things that runs through many of the surveys. We'll talk about them and what the majority read next week.

Sheriffs defendants in lawsuit

Tuscola County Sheriff Paul Berry and Lapeer County Sheriff Carl E. Langley are among the defendants in a lawsuit filed in Tuscola Circuit Court by a man who claims he was injured when he was arrested.

Plaintiff is Alvin K. Vollmar, formerly of Akron, who in May of last year was sentenced by Tuscola Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn to 2-4 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for delivery of marijuana Aug. 12, 1980, in Akron. A jury had found him guilty of the charge.

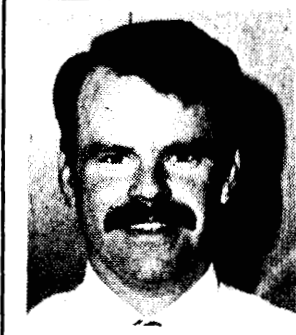

The other defendants are Lacy Brown, a Lapeer sheriff's deputy, who had been working in Tuscola as an undercover narcotics officer, and Detective Larry Walker of the Tuscola Sheriff's Department, who had been coordinating the undercover drug operation.

The suit, filed last Thursday, claims that when Vollmar was arrested Jan. 28, 1981, by Walker and Brown, he told them he suffered from and was under care for a lower back injury.

It says that despite his warning, "by throwing plaintiff up against and into a squad car while handcuffed," he suffered "aggravated lower back injuries" of a permanent nature.

The suit asks for damages in excess of $10,000, plus costs and interest.

Pedaling Around Opposing opinions

By Mike Eliasohn

Reading the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press editorials concerning Gov. James Blanchard's proposed income tax hike and cuts in state spending provided an interesting contrast.

Although the News admits "some type of tax increase is needed to restore solvency and to provide a cushion during the next year or two," it accuses the governor of advocating a "quick fix tax" that would permit him, if the economy improves, "to restore the cuts made by his predecessor in 1981 and 1982, or to strike off in new directions."

In contrast, the Free Press says, "If it is true that Michigan faces a permanent decline in its basic industry—if the auto industry will never again be the generator of wealth for the state that it has been—we face a fundamental choice."

"Do we scale back our universities, our public schools, our mental health system, our welfare system to match the depression-level yield of our present tax rates, or do we try to hang on to some of what we have?"

Blanchard is recommending permanently adding 1.5 percent to the state income tax rate (a 38 percent increase) plus .25 percent to last until the state's debt is paid off.

The total tax hike would raise about $790 million a year.

The recommended cuts total $225 million, which follows $778 million in cuts made by Gov. Milliken during the last fiscal year.

Nobody likes a tax increase. It certainly isn't the way to attract business to Michigan or encourage entrepreneurs already here to stay. Why make big bucks in Michigan if you can make just as much in another state and keep more of it?

The critics, including the News, are pointing out that if Blanchard's tax hike is approved, the total levy of 6.35 percent will be the highest flat rate tax in the nation.

What they don't point out, which the Free Press did, is that only three other states have a flat rate income tax.

According to the Free Press, "A review of recent figures for income and sales taxes—the major sources of revenue in most states—shows Michigan about in the middle among seven states similar in geography and industrial makeup."

But the News points out, "The unemployment tax was increased last year . . . So was the gasoline tax . . . Cigarette taxes went up also."

It's nice to say instead of increasing taxes, cut the budget further, but the reality is there isn't enough left to cut. The $225 million in reductions Blanchard is recommending includes $25 million to public schools, $15 million to local governments, $25 million to state colleges and universities, $18 million for mental health and $60 million for social services. The latter is supposed to come from elimination of Medicaid reimbursements to chiropractors and podiatrists, not out of welfare benefits.

It appears likely the tax hike will be approved, though there appears a lot of sentiment to make it temporary.

That's good, otherwise, once the economy starts improving and revenue to the state increases, there will be a lot of sentiment by the legislature, as the News suggested, to restore all the state programs that have been killed or reduced in scope during the recession.

Of course, any tax that expires can always be renewed. Remember our temporary six-month tax hike of 1982?

There is, incidentally, an effort underway by various taxpayer groups to launch a petition drive to put a proposal on the 1983 ballot, that if approved by voters, would roll all taxes back to what they were at the end of 1982. Any increases would then have to be approved by voters.

I find it regrettable that Blanchard didn't recommend requiring state and public school employees to contribute 5 percent of their pay to their retirement systems. The state makes that contribution now, and it costs it (us) $230 million a year.

Such a change would have to be negotiated, but if Blanchard is tough enough, it could be done. If the employees don't like it, tough. Let them quit.

Bensinger critical from Sunday crash

David E. Bensinger remained in critical condition Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, where he was taken following a 1:30 a.m. Sunday collision south of Ubyly.

The Sanilac County Sheriff's Department reported that Bensinger, 26, of Bliss Street, Ubyly, was riding a motorcycle northbound on M-19, behind a car driven by Richard L. Skelton, 25, of North Branch.

Skelton had started to turn left onto Cass City Road when Bensinger started to pass him and ran into the left side of the car.

Skelton told officers he had his turn signal on and the motorcycle was running without a headlight on.

Bensinger was taken to Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, and then transferred to St. Mary's.

Skelton and a passenger, Jay Bismack, 25, of Snover, sought their own treatment for minor injuries.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Juan G. Ruiz, 19, of Fairgrove, was apparently injured in an 11:30 p.m. accident Friday in Columbia Township.

Tuscola County deputies reported he was westbound on Hoppe Road, east of Rick Road, when his car went off the north side of the road, rolled over into the ditch and came to a halt upside down.

The accident report said he was taken to Caro Community Hospital, but the hospital had no record of his being brought there.

Richard D. Holmes, 26, of Caro, sought his own treatment for injuries following a 9:20 p.m. accident last Thursday.

Deputies reported he was eastbound on Riley Road at the English Road intersection when he lost control on the icy and rough surface.

His car went off the north side of the road into a ditch, rolled over and landed on its roof.

One of the passengers, Patrick C. Neuschwander, 23, of Caro, was reported to have suffered possible injuries.

Michael S. Lagos, 29, of Caro, sought his own treatment after a 4 p.m. accident that day.

Deputies said he was eastbound on Deckerville Road, west of Hurds Corner Road, when a westbound auto turned left in front of him into a driveway. Lagos took evasive action to avoid a collision and his car went off the north side of the road.

The other driver involved, Bud McGuire, 42, of 4140 Hoppe Road, Gagetown, was ticketed on a charge of making an improper turn.

Karen K. Schmidt, 20, of 7124 Van Dyke Road, Cass City, was ticketed by Cass City police Saturday on a charge of failure to stop and identify at a property damage accident.

Officers said that between 11:30 p.m. Friday and 1:25 a.m. Saturday, the Schmidt vehicle backed into a car parked in front of the Plaza West building at Doerr Road and Main Street. Owner of the parked car was Brian J. Nicol of 7314 Deckerville Road, Deford.

Jennifer Ann Pugh, 29, of 350 Froede Road, Deford, was ticketed by deputies on a charge of failure to report a property damage accident after a 10:15 p.m. mishap Saturday.

They said she was traveling on Gilford Road, west of Dodge Road, when she lost control of her car on the icy surface. The auto slid into the south ditch and struck several small trees.

Caro state police ticketed John S. Zyrowski, 55, of 2650 English Road, Kingston, on a charge of failure to yield after an 11:20 a.m. accident Sunday.

Troopers reported he was northbound on English and his car struck a car westbound on Silvernail Road.

Driver of the other car was Randy T. Ashcroft, 18, of 450 S. Kingston Road, Deford. His passenger, Tom LaFave, 17, of Silvernail Road, Deford, suffered possible injuries, troopers said.

Cass City police reported that at 12:20 p.m. last Thursday, Marcus G. Spitz, 68, of Jackson Road, was exiting the Chemical Bank lot onto Main Street, east of Seeger, and struck an eastbound car driven by Dana L. Truemer, 26, of 6577 Houghton Street.

At 3:45 p.m. that day, according to deputies, Cathy Ann Burk, 28, of 1525 S. Crawford Road, Deford, was southbound on Burmon Road, north of Bevens, when she lost control of her car on the snow and ice.

The auto spun off the west side of the road into the ditch and struck some trees.

At 2:58 p.m. Monday, Cass City police reported, Valerie E. Linzner, 39, of Sebewaing, was entering the Veronica's Restaurant parking lot.

She stopped to let a vehicle back out of a parking space and it backed into her car. Driver of the vehicle was Charles F. Bigelow, 74, of 6933 E. Cass City Road.

CAR-DEER

The following car-deer collisions were reported by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department unless otherwise mentioned:

Gerald E. Sprague, 47, of Bad Axe, while eastbound on M-81, at 6:10 p.m. Sunday, according to Cass City police.

Iva May Peterson, 66, of 6730 Third Street, Cass City, while southbound on Cemetery Road, south of Severance Road, at 6:45 p.m. Saturday.

Alma P. Blackwell, 23, of Silverwood, while eastbound on M-46, east of Murray Road, at 2:50 a.m. Saturday.

Raymond C. Schweikart, 68, of 2133 N. Cemetery Road, Deford, while eastbound on Deckerville Road, east of Phillips Road, at 7:05 p.m. Friday.

Jean Marie Heronemus, 53, of Sandusky, while westbound on M-81, east of Greenland Road, at 6:15 p.m. Friday.

Darwin D. Rushlo, 20, of 3351 Cedar Run Road, Cass City, while eastbound on Cass City Road, west of Leslie Road, at 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

Rebecca R. Spencer, 25, of 6249 Barrett Road, Kingston, while northbound on Kingston Road, south of Chapin Road, at 7 p.m. last Wednesday.

Rebecca M. McDonald, 23, of 4605 Queen Street, Ubyly, while westbound on M-81, west of Greenland Road, at 5:55 p.m. Monday, Jan. 24.

Barcia heads agriculture committee

State Sen. James Barcia has been appointed chairman of the new Senate Committee on Agricultural Affairs.

The Bay City Democrat represents the 34th district, which consists of Tuscola, Huron, Bay, Arenac and Gladwin Counties.

Prior to creation of the new committee, farm legislation was handled by the Committee on Environmental Affairs, where many felt it did not receive the attention it deserved, Barcia said.

In addition to overseeing farm legislation, the new committee will also handle consumer protection and veterans' affairs legislation. Barcia was appointed chairman by Senate Majority Leader William Faust.

In addition to heading the agriculture committee, Barcia will serve as vice-chairman of the State Affairs and Transportation Committee and a member of the Commerce Committee.

The senator's address is: State Sen. James Barcia, Room 127-A, State Capitol Building, Lansing 48909. The telephone number at his office is (517) 373-1777.

Barcia is serving his first four-year term in the senate after having served three two-year terms in the House of Representatives.

Helen Hall dies Friday

Helen M. Hall, 88, of Austin Township, died Friday at the Middlebelt-Hope Nursing Center, Westland, after a long illness. She was born Dec. 6, 1894, in Paris Township, the daughter of John and Apolonia (Niezorawska) Wrubel.

Miss Wrubel and James M. Hall were married April 20, 1920, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Parisville. He preceded her in death Oct. 30, 1967.

She was a parishioner and member of the altar society at St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Freiburg, for 50 years.

Surviving are four sons, William Hall, East Detroit, Marcus Hall, Rochester, Michael Hall, Hickory Hills, Ill., and Patrick Hall, Wayne; one daughter, Rita Hall, Northville; 33 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; one brother, Ben Wrubel, Ubyly, and four sisters, Anna Marks, Chicago, Ill., Victoria (Betty) Bernier, Goodland, Ind., Dorothy Chinoski, Clawson, and Marion LeMieux, Detroit.

Two sons, six brothers and two sisters preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at St. Ignatius, Rev. Gerald Kukla officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Arrangements were by Zinger-Smigielski Funeral Home, Ubyly, where a wake service was conducted Sunday afternoon by Fr. Kukla and a rosary was offered that evening by the St. Ignatius Altar Society.

I'd like to take a few minutes to discuss a subject idea new to no one - pain! Not pain during treatment (that's for another article) but rather pain that brings you to the office. For some of you, pain is the only thing that will get you to the dentist, but occasionally, someone who gets regular dental care also can experience pain. I'd like here to mention some of the more common pains and their usual causes so next time you may have some idea of what your problem is.

1. Pain in the area of wisdom teeth often associated with swelling and limited ability to open, usually is an infection of the skin over the lower wisdom tooth.
2. A dull ache, generally in the molar area with some swelling, usually is a periodontal or gum ulcer.
3. Fleeting pain to temperature changes usually means a cavity or possible broken filling.
4. Prolonged pain to temperature changes usually means a large cavity involving the nerve or pulp of the tooth.
5. Pain to hot but relief to cold usually means a large cavity into the pulp that is producing pus inside the tooth.
6. Pain on opening can be a joint problem, or a tooth grinding problem expressed or muscle spasm, or possible infection.
7. Pain in the upper molar area occasionally with swelling and/or nasal stiffness annually is a maxillary sinusitis.

There are many other pains, some very difficult to diagnose. However, the most comfortable way to deal with dental pain is to prevent it and the best way to do that is to avail yourself to good, regular dental care.

Report theft of 2 bikes

Wendy Hockey of 6721 Garfield Street told Cass City police last Thursday that her son's bicycle had been stolen during the past week.

It was white with blue trim, had red "mag" wheels and was valued at $50.

James S. O'Brien of Romain Road, Caro, told sheriff's deputies Jan. 20 that his bicycle was stolen about six days earlier when he was living at 4239 Doerr Road, Cass City.

It was described as a blue 10-speed Schwinn and was valued at $100.

JUDY JONES, right, instructs the Chronicle's two typesetters, Mary Damm, center, and Bev Schelke on the operation of the paper's newly installed computer typesetter. The type you are reading is one of the things that the new machine produces.

About 300 years ago, some people believed that migratory birds spent their winters on the moon.

New books at the library

GOOD GOODS by Phyllis and Richard Kluger (fiction). This is an entertaining novel about a gutsy woman determined to succeed on her own terms in one of the world's toughest fields - interior decorating. As Martha Clement climbs precariously up the ladder of success, trying to balance her rising career, her responsibilities to a husband and two children, and an unexpected affair with an attractive, influential married client, she discovers, almost too late, that she has left some of the most precious things in life behind.

LIGHT THICKENS by Dame Ngaio Marsh (mystery). The Dolphin Theatre is the setting in which a company of actors find a killer in their midst. Superintendent Roderick Alleyn is a member of the audience when the leading man in a production of Macbeth is murdered just seconds after the final curtain. Ironically, this is the same theatre in which Alleyn - one of the most popular sleuths in the genre - solved his first case 20 years before. This time Alleyn must sift through a list of suspects that includes the company of actors to ferret out the killer, who had less than three minutes to decapitate "Macbeth" with an ancient and unwieldy Scottish sword.

FDR: AN INTIMATE HISTORY by Nathan Miller (non-fiction). A popular biography of the 32nd president on the 100th anniversary of his birth (1882-1945). Miller examines FDR's brilliant personality and remarkable career which covers his youth at Hyde Park and Groton, Harvard, his controversial marriage to Eleanor, his fight against polio, serving as governor of New York and dealing with everything from the Depression to World War II.

Exchange sets district meet

Thumb area dairy farmers and members of the Michigan Live Stock Exchange are invited to the district meeting of the exchange at the Colony House on M-53, Cass City, Friday, Feb. 11, for a noon luncheon followed by the business meeting and educational programs, according to Bryce Hagen, Uby, district chairman, and Robert Labor, Cass City, manager.

Featured topics and speakers will be: "Marketing cull cows and buying and selling profitable dairy cattle," by Dr. Donald Hillman, dairy consultant and former professor of dairy science at Michigan State University. Hillman was an agriculture teacher at Uby High School and is a native of Decker-ville.

"Economics of rate of gain and feed efficiency in swine" by Dr. Maynard Hogberg, MSU extension specialist. "External parasite control for dairy and beef cattle," by Mike Hunter, representing Diamond Shamrock.

District officers and delegates to the annual meeting will be elected. Reservations are required for the luncheon by calling 872-2138.

Long trip

Canada driving

Canada is such a beautiful country to visit by car. When you enter you'll need something more formal than a driving license. If you were born in the U.S., your birth or baptismal certificate will do. Otherwise, bring your naturalization certificate or alien registration card.

Youngsters under 18 not accompanied by an adult should take a letter from a parent or guardian giving them permission to travel in Canada.

EXTENSION

The Shabbona Extension Group met Monday evening, Jan. 24, with Mrs. Lloyd Bader. There were 10 members and three visitors present. The evening's business meeting was cancelled.

Guests were Mrs. Jean Allen and friend of Decker-ville who showed the group how to weave baskets.

Plans were made to attend mini college night at Sandusky.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

The Feb. 28 meeting will be with Mrs. Arlie Gray.

PIONEER GROUP

The Pioneer Group held a cooperative dinner Thursday, Jan. 27, at the Shabbona RLDS Church annex. There were 22 members present.

After dinner, Miss Lana Puterbaugh showed pictures of her canoe trip in the West.

Arlie Gray reported on the senior citizen meeting held at Sandusky.

Happy birthday wishes were expressed to Helen Bailey and Lena Patch. The cake was made by Ethel Emigh. The birthday cake for the Feb. 24 meeting will be made by Ruby Biddle.

Miss Betty Frederick visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith Thursday evening. She showed pictures of her European trip.

Mrs. Marie Snell was a Sunday dinner guest of Mrs. Ada Waun.

Mrs. Frank Pelton and granddaughter, Kris King, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clare Brown of Cumber Sunday afternoon.

The fellowship group of Shabbona United Methodist Church met Wednesday with Mrs. Andy Hoagg.

Mr. and Mrs. Voyle Dorman were Friday morning callers of Mrs. Wilbur Dorman.

Shabbona United Methodist Women will meet Wednesday evening, Feb. 9, with Mrs. Robert Bader.

The lesson will be by Mrs. Robert Burns. Roll call is a Bible verse, expressing love. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Moore and children and Brian Schember of Cass City were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and family. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buerkle were afternoon callers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Smith and family and Steve Adkins were Friday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Voyle Dorman. An oyster supper was served.

BUNCO

The Bunco Group met Saturday evening, Jan. 29, with Mrs. Cecil Navarro at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler.

High was won by Andy Hoagg and low by Fred Emigh. Door prize went to Clair Auslander.

Piaskowski back from Pacific

Navy Sonar Technician 2nd Class Raymond D. Piaskowski, son of Mary E. Piaskowski of 4260 S. Seeger Street, Cass City, has returned from a deployment to the Western Pacific.

He is a crewmember aboard the frigate USS Davidson, homeported in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

During the six-month deployment, the ship participated in several 7th Fleet training exercises. Port visits were made to Hong Kong, the Philippines, Thailand and Japan.

The Davidson is 414 feet long and carries a crew of 247.

The Feb. 12 meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emigh.

Mrs. Dan Masten, Mrs. Arlie Gray and Miss Marie Meredith attended the mini college session Tuesday night at Sandusky.

Mr. and Mrs. Hersey Dorman of Marysville, Mr. and Mrs. Voyle Dorman and Mrs. Merle Dorman and Wayne visited Mrs. Maude Houghton at Sanilac Medical Center Sunday at Sandusky.

Business students qualify

Fifty-three students from the Tuscola Area Skill Center attended the regional Business Office Education Club (BOEC) competition Jan. 22 at Baker Business College.

Among those who placed and qualified in the business, clerical and data processing events were two students from Cass City High School.

Donna Gracey finished second in manual typewriting I and Sheryl Evans was a member of the spelling team which finished fourth.

Nineteen students from the skill center received eighth place or better. The state BOEC competition will be March 5-7 at the Renaissance Center in Detroit.

Republicans set meeting

The regular meeting of the Sanilac County Republican Party will be this Thursday in the county conference room, 37 Austin Street, Sandusky.

Final plans will be made for the Lincoln Day dinner Feb. 12 starting at 7 p.m. in the Deckerville Community Center. Former Michigan Supreme Court Justice Thomas Brennan will be the speaker.

HEALTH TIPSSurgery saves life prior to birth

On April 26, 1981, surgeons at the University of California in San Francisco successfully operated on Michael Skinner — two weeks before he was born.

It was hailed in the press as "the world's first known successful surgical treatment of an unborn baby."

The operation was a special cause for celebration at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

Two members of the team who treated Michael were March of Dimes research grantees, and they had been working toward this day for a long time.

One of them, Dr. Mitchell S. Golbus, director of the UCSF Prenatal Detection Center, had predicted it with startling accuracy several months before Michael Skinner was conceived.

Corn supply reaches record high

The Jan. 1 grain stocks report showed stocks of Michigan corn at an all-time high.

Corn stored in all positions totaled 274 million bushels, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service, a 28 percent increase from last January.

The record crop produced during 1982 coupled with a large carry-over of old crop grain and low prices are responsible for this year's higher storage levels.

Soybean stocks totaled over 24 million bushels, up 32 percent from last year's level. Oats on hand at nearly 18 million bushels increased 38 percent from the previous year. The 13 million bushels of wheat in storage displayed a 25 percent decline from last winter's holdings.

Nationally, corn, soybeans and wheat stocks reached record levels. Corn stored in all positions Jan. 1 is estimated at 8.42 billion bushels, 21 percent more than last year's level. Indicated disappearance from all storage position during October-December 1982 totaled 2.26 billion bushels, down fractionally from the comparable quarter a year ago.

Soybeans in all storage positions Jan. 1 are estimated at 1.83 billion bushels, up 12 percent from a year ago.

Wheat stored in all positions Jan. 1 totaled 2.52 billion bushels, 16 percent more than last year's 2.18 billion bushels.

Speaking at a March of Dimes conference in June, 1980, Dr. Golbus described a hypothetical case of "a urethral obstruction (in the fetus) which causes a urine accumulation and back-up that secondarily destroys the kidneys."

Less than a year later, that is exactly what happened.

Early in her pregnancy, Rosa Skinner underwent prenatal testing because, at age 41, she was at high risk for bearing a baby with birth defects.

Dr. Golbus performed the tests, ultrasound and amniocentesis. They disclosed that Mrs. Skinner's unborn son was suffering from just such a urinary blockage as the one he had described the previous summer.

Chances were great that, if left untreated, the child's kidneys — and possibly his lungs as well — would be irreparably damaged before he was born. The situation was complicated by the fact that the tests also revealed that Mrs. Skinner was carrying twins. Michael's sister was normal, but any operation performed on her brother might induce premature labor, endangering the life of the healthy twin.

The parents and the doctors weighed the risks. They decided to wait until the twins were developed enough so the girl could survive if birth were induced by accident.

The wait meant that Michael might suffer increased kidney damage. But it reduced the chance that Mary would be harmed. It was a tight situation.

On April 26, the surgeons went into action. They guided a small tube about the thickness of a spaghetti strand through the mother's abdominal wall and uterus and into the baby's bladder.

The catheter remained there, draining urine, until May 10. Both are healthy and, though Mike probably will require further surgery, are expected to remain so.

Agency aiding needy

The Human Development Commission, community action agency for the counties of Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer and Tuscola, is responding to emergency needs in the four-county area.

The emergency services available include, but are not limited to, shelter, food, fuel/utility payments and other various services. HDC is providing these services through the efforts of local, state and federal resources, farmers' Project AIM and federal surplus commodities, according to HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark.

In addition to providing these services, the agency is also acting as a collection site for any monetary or material support. Other distribution sites are currently being developed with church groups, villages and townships through the efforts of the emergency services coordinators in the four counties.

In addition to food currently available, HDC anticipates being the recipient and distributor of surplus cheese and butter in mid-March.

Those in need of these services, or those who would like to identify individuals in need, should contact the Human Development Commission toll-free at 1-800-292-3666 from 8:30 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Minister to head St. Jude bike-a-thon

The central regional office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced that Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser of Trinity United Methodist Church has agreed to lead the St. Jude bike-a-thon in Cass City this spring.

St. Jude Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict children. It is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians work side by side seeking better means of treatment and the causes, cures and prevention of the diseases.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude's, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle cell anemia, and other child killing diseases have a better chance to live.

Rev. Wachterhauser headed the 1982 bike-a-thon in Cass City, which raised $1,176.

From farm implements to food

Newest store in 100-year-old building

Cass City's newest store is located in one of the town's oldest buildings.

Although the Parkway store at Ale and Main is less than six months old, the building -- or at least a part of it -- will be 100 years old this year. For most of its history, it was a farm implement dealership.

The building was constructed in 1883 for Jacob H. Striffler, who began selling Champion, Superior and McCormick machinery. A few years later, Striffler started selling John Deere products. It was to remain a John Deere dealership until the end.

Judging from the above photograph, date unknown, though presumably taken before the turn of the century, it appears two additions were added to the original building.

Cora Klinkman, who was born in 1886, believes the section at the corner was built first. Striffler was her uncle.

Striffler sold a variety of equipment. An advertisement in the Sept. 12, 1890,

Cass City Enterprise for his business listed buggies, carts, wagons, cultivators, seed drills and harrows "at reduced prices" and reminded farmers, "Remember, I still sell the Enterprise and Halladay standard wind mills."

A May 12, 1898, advertisement in the Enterprise mentioned binders, mowers, buggies, bicycles, etc.

Dec. 15 of that year, the Enterprise published descriptions of all the town's businessmen. For Striffler, it mentioned his implement business and also that he was an auctioneer, bought livestock for the eastern markets and was village president.

IN 1899 GEORGE ALBERT STRIFFLER -- apparently a cousin, according to Mrs. Klinkman -- went into business with J.H. Striffler.

The next year, George sold his interest to James Wallace, who sold out a short time later to Heck McDermott. The McDermott-Striffler partnership lasted for 12 years.

For one year, Charles

Patterson was a partner with Striffler. J.H. presumably retired in 1917, since that was the year George Albert Striffler became the sole owner of the business.

He stayed there until 1945, when he sold the dealership to Arnold Copeland and Hugh Monroe and retired.

A year later, they sold the business to Fred Ryan, Henry Cooklin and Meredith Auten.

Fred's son, Cliff, started working there in April, 1946, after serving in the Army Air Force. He became the sole owner in 1958.

RYAN SOLD THE BUSINESS Jan. 2, 1964, to John and Roger Marshall, father and son respectively, who changed the name to Marshall Implement Co.

The elder Marshall had worked there since 1955. He recalls that when he first started working there, the room at the corner was still known as "the buggy room" as that is apparently where buggies were once displayed.

In 1969, according to Roger Marshall, he and his father started selling motorcycle and snowmobile parts wholesale to other dealers as a sideline to the farm implement business.

The new business grew to the point that 1972 became the last year they sold farm equipment.

That was also the year, in November, that John Marshall was elected Tuscola County register of deeds, a position he still holds, and left the business.

What became Marshall Distributing Inc. kept growing and four years ago, Roger Marshall moved the business to a new building on Doerr Road.

THE BUILDING SAT empty until early in 1982, when it was purchased by Dick and Robbie Turner, who converted it into the Parkway, which opened in September.

The Turners made some interesting discoveries during the extensive remodeling.

The foundation consisted of stones, flat on top, on top of which went approximately 14-inch square timbers, hewed with an axe. There was no cement used.

The vertical timbers were rough cut, 2½-by-4½ inches.

Despite the seemingly crude construction, Turner said the building was, "Real level. We didn't have to level nothing." Although the store was gutted in the remodeling, all the wall and roof beams are original.

Among other finds were a poster advertising McCormick-Deering cream separators, a bag of large square nails that had been inside one of the walls, one wall lined with 1946 Michigan license plates under the outside sheeting and from a small building which was torn down, behind the main one, such items as horse shoes, parts of harnesses, and wagon wheel hubs.

Editor's note: Much of the above information was taken from the history of the then Marshall Implement Co. written by Mickie (Mrs. John) Marshall for the 1965 Cass City centennial book. Edward Mark, a long-time employee, gave her much of the information.

It is apparently unknown which building in Cass City is the oldest, according to Cass City Area Historical Society President Jack Esau.

The Ryland and Guc plumbing shop on Main Street may be the oldest.

"A History of Cass City and Elkland Township," published in 1962, mentioned that brothers Mike and John Sheridan purchased the building in 1885 and opened a hotel there, but doesn't say when the building was constructed.

Some homes in the east end of town, including the first two east of the Parkway store and the Don Ouyrv residence on Woodland Avenue are among the oldest structures in town, Esau said.

CORN BINDERS, such as these lined up in front of the Jacob H. Striffler implement dealership, cut corn and tied it in bundles. Tractors later replaced horses in pulling the binders, which were replaced by combines and choppers, starting in the 1930s. Date of the photo is unknown but presumably was taken before 1900. (Photo courtesy of Roger Marshall.)

FIRST GRAIN BINDER was delivered to the J.H. Striffler implement firm in 1886. Until binders were developed, which cut wheat and tied it in bundles, farmers had to cut it by hand. The original portion of the Striffler building, now part of the Parkway store, can be seen in the background. In the distant background is the home now owned by Max Connell. Meetings slated Friday to explain PIK program

Meetings have been scheduled Friday in Huron and Sanilac Counties to explain the federal government's new payment-in-kind (PIK) program which will pay farmers with surplus crops if they don't plant part of their acreage.

Signup for the program began Jan. 24 and it appears the program is meeting with much acceptance.

The Sanilac meeting will be in the county conference room, 37 Austin Street, Sandusky. The same information will be presented at each session. The first will start at 9:30 a.m.; the second at 1:30 p.m.

The Huron meeting will start at 7 p.m. in the Bad Axe High School gym.

Signup is taking place at county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices.

"We're busy," Sanilac County ASCS Executive Director Herbert W. Clarke said. "There's a lot of interest and I'm sure a lot (of farmers) are signing up."

Clarke couldn't say how many have signed up so far because the ASCS has directed its county directors not to disclose such figures. "We've been extremely busy," said Virgil Bouck, Tuscola ASCS executive director, who has explained the program at one cash crop farmers' meeting and will speak Friday at a dairy farmers' meeting.

He has yet to hear any negative comments about the new program, he said, which offers farmers a chance to do better than break even. "It's a very popular program."

Asked whether the apparent large signup reflects both farmers liking the PIK program and financial necessity, Clarke agreed that was probably true.

The Chronicle made several calls to the Huron ASCS office Monday and Tuesday, but the line was always busy, which perhaps indicates farmers still have many questions about the program.

Deadline for signing up for the PIK program is March 11.

Clarke and Bouck agree it is still worthwhile for farmers to submit bids for setting aside their entire ASC base, while also signing up for the guaranteed program. The latter calls for participation in the regular set-aside program, plus putting 10-30 percent of their base in the PIK program.

Although bids for the full set-aside PIK program are being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis, with no guarantees they will be accepted, Clarke said the ASCS may change the rule.

If it does, in case of tie bids, there will be a drawing to determine which one is accepted, instead of which was filed first.

Deford trucker stays home

Nicol: "You can't make ends meet..."

the Army 20 years (during which time he drove a truck week ends and while on leave).

Independent truckers own their own rigs and depend on brokers to get them jobs. Nicol, who usually hauls auto parts, but sometimes cereal or beans "or anything I can get," got home from his last run Dec. 23.

His first job offer since then came last week, which would have had him unloading his trailer in Dallas Monday of this week. He turned it down because of the strike.

"I'm going to sit tight until I see what happens,"

he said of the shutdown.

There are some drivers who wouldn't hesitate to shoot at trucks still on the road or drop bricks on them from overpasses, he said, plus "a lot of people who aren't truckers 'getting their kicks' by doing the same thing.

Even without the possibility of violence, Nicol would still park his truck because he is in agreement with the goals of the shutdown. "You bet your — I am." A lot of the stuff, if times were good, they could live with. You can't make ends meet when you got very little coming in."

MOST OF THE MEDIA attention has focused on the 5-cent per gallon increase in the federal fuel tax which goes into effect April 1. On top of that, the Michigan fuel tax went up 2 cents a gallon Jan. 1.

Nicol's rig averages 5 miles per gallon. For 100,000 miles in a year, the federal increase works out to $1,000 extra a year. If all those miles were driven in Michigan, the 2-cent hike in the state tax would be $400 more.

"I think truckers would go along with the higher fuel tax," Nicol said, but with higher taxes on other items, "you just can't afford it."

What perhaps has truckers upset is the increase in the federal highway user fee they all have to pay. For the biggest rigs, it goes up from $240 this year to $1,600 next year and to almost $2,000 in 1988.

In addition, the federal excise tax on truck tires goes up Jan. 1, 1984, from the present 9.75 cents a pound to $10-$12 per tire, based on weight, to $15.50-30.50, and the excise tax on new trucks, tractors and trailers goes up April 2 of this year from 10 percent to 12 percent.

All the federal tax increases are part of the package approved by Congress in December to raise $5 billion more a year for highways.

ADDING TO MICHIGAN drivers' woes is that in addition to the state fuel tax increase of 2 cents a gallon, the legislature also hiked license plate fees 30 percent, as of Jan. 30.

The hike includes cars as well as trucks, but truckers pay a lot more for their plates than do everyday motorists. The cost of Nicol's plates goes up from $850 annually to $1,105.

Michigan isn't the only state increasing taxes on truckers. They have to buy a permit in every state in which they drive. Reportedly, Pennsylvania's is going up from $25 to $160, he said.

Nationwide, independent truckers carry 85-90 percent of food, 90 percent of hogs and cattle, 50 percent of highway transported steel, 90 percent of household goods, and 25 percent of other general freight, according to the Independent Truckers Association, which organized shutdowns in 1974 and 1979.

Saturday morning, Nicol was confident that if truckers stick together in this shutdown, Congress will have to back down.

"The only way it will (work) is if everybody goes down and it closes down tight and it will take 3-4 days and they (Congress) are going to have to do something. It wouldn't take too long before it puts a hurt on everybody."

Letter to the editor

Digest article is misleading

Dear Editor,

The January, 1983 issue of Reader's Digest carries an article by Rael Jean Isaac entitled, "Do You Know Where Your Church Offerings Go?"

Many people have read this rather vicious attack on the National Council of Churches of which 32 of our major Protestant and Orthodox denominations are a part. It claims the NCC is now mostly a promoter of Marxist-Leninist causes in the Third World, rather than an instrument of Christ. I would like to comment.

Our United Methodist leadership, from the Rev. Doctor Harry Haines, until 1981 head of Church World Service of the NCC, to numerous bishops and other clergy who work on councils and boards affiliated with the NCC, has denounced this writing as filled with half-truths, poor research, and what Haines calls "completely inaccurate statements."

Our research reveals not only that the NCC continues to do a wonderful work in the world amongst refugees and the hungry; but also that Isaac seems to be promoting the reactionary Institute for Religion and Democracy in its antagonism against the NCC.

Most of the accusations are not new; they are just an updating of old themes with some new names.

The people closest to the expenditures of our dollars have seen first-hand where they go. What Isaac claims was money to Vietnam and Cuba to promote Marxist-Leninist causes there was wheat to orphanages and a hospital in South Vietnam, much of it donated by American farmers, and funds to our Methodist bishop in Lakeland, Fla., for Cuban family reunification in Miami.

The presentation by television's 60 Minutes Jan. 23 didn't help much either.

This kind of sensationalist journalism that accentuates the negative leaves too much unsaid, and can catch defensive interviewees off guard.

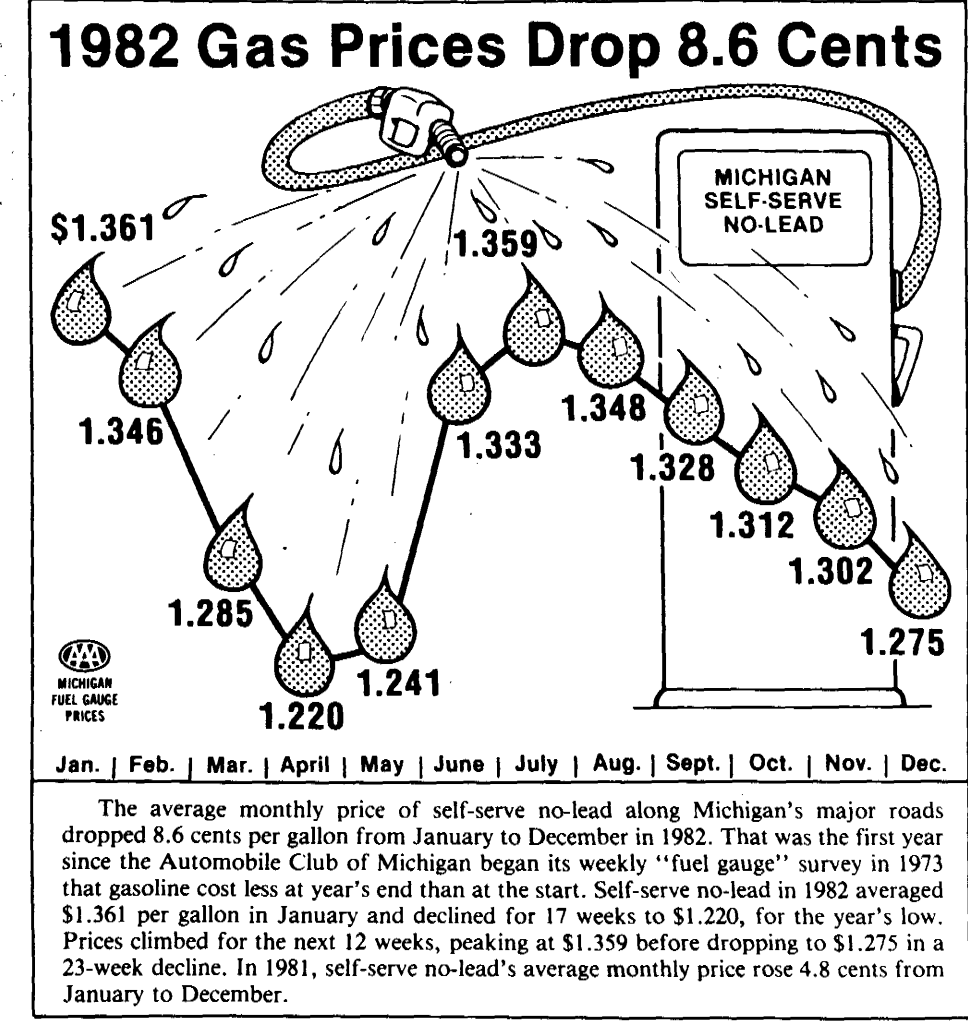

If anything, I learned from that program that some groups try to speak for the NCC without authorization, and that funds inappropriately spent are not disbursed the following year.

Bishop Wayne Clymer of the Iowa area and president of our international Committee on Relief speaks from personal experience: "In six years of representing UMCOR and CWS around the world, I have been in countries dominated by rightist dictatorial leaders, in democratic countries and in countries that are socialist... and I have discovered wherever I have gone that there has been a basic trust because they know we are not there to promote a particular ideology. We are there to help people in need... to help them begin to stand on their own feet and be free from the constant threat of hunger."

I want to urge persons to write to The Michigan Christian Advocate, 316 Springbrook, Adrian 49221, for a copy of the response of the NCC to this article.

I also urge faithfulness to our churches and their larger ministries in Christ's name, until such time as a much more accurate reason is found for questioning.

Yes, we United Methodists feel we do know where our offerings are going!

Mrs. Faust dies Friday in Florida

Mary Ann Faust, 66, of Hoadley Road, Cass City, died Friday in Sarasota, Fla., where she had been spending the winter. She had been in ill health for some time.

She is survived by her husband, Virgil, two sons, John Faust, Oxford, and Dennis Faust, Cass City; a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Joni) Rudzinski, Mount Clemens; seven grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

A memorial mass will be said at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Argyle Saturday, starting at 1 p.m.

More dogs stray in Cass City alcohol complaints, however. Most involve drunk driving, according to the chief, and are included in the traffic ticket category.

There was also a big increase in animal complaints, mainly stray dogs. The number of such complaints increased from 51 in 1981 to 91 in 1982.

Other than the above items, Wilson said last year was "typical," with no significant changes.

The number of larcenies, which includes shoplifting, in Cass City, totaled 123, nine more than in 1981. Burglaries declined from 12 to eight and incidents of vandalism declined from 123 in 1981 to 112 last year.

Bad check complaints increased from 41 to 43. Auto theft reports increased from four to eight.

There were 173 significant traffic accidents in the village last year, up from 156 in 1981, while the number of accidents classified as minor increased from 30 to 40.

The five police officers drove a total of 67,172 miles last year, down from 70,367 in 1981.

Lounsbury funeral held Wednesday

Gladys Isabel Lounsbury, 91, a lifelong resident of the Cass City area, died Sunday at Provincial House.

She was born Aug. 30, 1891, in Elmwood Township, the daughter of Nelson and Georgiana (Topping) Perry.

Miss Perry married Emory Lounsbury June 12, 1912, in Elmwood Township. He died Sept. 16, 1960.

Mrs. Lounsbury was a member of the Sutton-Sunshine United Methodist Church; an honorary member of the United Methodist Women, and a member of the Farm Bureau.

She is survived by three sons, Leslie Lounsbury, Lyle Lounsbury and Harland Lounsbury, all of Cass City; three daughters, Mrs. Jessie Goodall, Cass City, Mrs. Loren (Vera) Brinkman, Southfield, and Mrs. Fred (Carol) Stricker, Saginaw; 19 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren, and five great-great-grandchildren. Two sons and one daughter preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City officiating.

Burial was in Elkland Township Cemetery.

Counties given bridge money

Township, south of Sandusky, for $288,000, $293,300, and $241,500 respectively; Banner Road over Elk River, $196,000, Watertown; Mariette Road over Elk Creek, $212,000, on Elk-Watertown Township line, and Snover Road over south branch of Cass River, $164,000, Moore Township.

The county Board of Commissioners appropriated local matching funds for the Snover Road bridge two years ago and it has been drawing interest since, so the money is available.

A meeting was held in Sandusky Monday morning with representatives of the three townships, Road Commission and the community services committee of the Board of Commissioners to discuss funding for the other bridges.

The result, according to County Administrator John Dean, is that the committee will recommend to the county board that it use federal revenue sharing funds to pay 60 percent of the local cost and that the townships involved provide the remainder.

Road Commission Engineer-Manager Jack Kine-man has suggested that for any bridge where the local share is more than $25,000 the Road Commission can pick up the difference.

"This is a situation we can hardly pass up," Dean said of the federal-state bridge funds.

HURON

Money is being received for the Kuhl Road bridge over Shebeon Drain, $86,000, and McGardle Road over the New River, $65,000, Huron Township.

Road Commission Secretary-Manager John Martin said in the past the county Board of Commissioners has provided the local share for such projects from federal revenue sharing funds or regular county revenues and he expects, when asked, it will do the same for those two bridges.

Selection of the bridges for funding, according to the DOT, was based on their condition, importance and ability of the local units to pay their 10 percent share.

Construction bids for the first bridges will be taken by the state agency in early summer and most of the contracts will be awarded by the end of the year. That means construction of most and possibly all of the bridges won't be done until 1984.

The latest round of federal and state bridge funds follows funding approved last November from the same sources for 28 bridges statewide, which included two in Tuscola and two in Sanilac.

The local share of funding for those projects, which includes the Dickerson Road bridge over Colling Drain in Columbia Township (Tuscola) and Germania Road over the south branch of the Cass River in Lamotte Township, has been approved.

Trucks boost their mileage

Trucks have stretched their miles per gallon a surprising 25 to 40 percent during the last seven years. As a result, they are saving 100,000 barrels of fuel a day.

The right combination of fuel-efficient options on a truck can save the operator more than $5,000 a year, says U.S. Dept. of Transportation data, if he drives at least 100,000 miles. He is likely to do that, too, since trucks serve all the nation's towns and cities. In fact, trucks move more than three times more freight than railroads.

Fires damage house, car

Elkland Township firemen estimated damage at $200 from a car seat that caught fire Saturday evening.

Owner of the 1972 Chevrolet was Randall Perry, who lives in an apartment over Cass City Sports, 6439 Main.

Firemen said someone had borrowed his car, then parked it in front of the store. It had been there about a half hour when the fire was discovered.

The fire was started by something burning that had been left on the back seat, they said, possibly a cigarette.

As a result of the fire, put out with water and fire extinguishers, the back seat needed reupholstering or replacing, plus the interior needed cleaning due to the smoke, according to firemen. The fire was reported at 7:45.

HOUSE FIRE

The Elkland department assisted the Caro Fire Department in fighting a house fire Friday afternoon at Colwood and Akron Roads northwest of Ellington.

Taken from Cass City were the tanker truck, van and trailer-mounted air compressor, towed by the grass fire truck. The compressor was needed to fill firemen's air tanks.

Elkland firemen received the call about 1:30 and returned to the fire hall at 4:30. The Akron Fire Department also assisted.

Owner of the vacant home was Neil Bennett of Caro.

WHO NEEDS a fancy rink and nets to play hockey? Not these boys and girls, who were playing Saturday on a rink on the Allan Hartwick farm on Cemetery Road, Deford. The two chairs, plus two on the other end, served as the goal nets. Eleven youngsters were playing.

GK Technologies opens Cass City plant to media

Authorities at GK Technologies hosted the area media Friday in a Cass City plant tour followed by a film to acquaint them with the work and the history of the local plant.

After the tour was completed, newsmen were handed an information sheet telling of the history of the corporation.

It was founded as General Cable in 1927 by a union of 12 companies, the oldest of which was Standard Underground Cable Co., founded in 1882.

General Cable had 21 plants across the nation in 1929, but the Depression of the 1930s reduced the number to six.

The Cass City plant was built in 1960, when the company management decided to diversify. The goal was to become involved in high technology businesses with good growth prospects.

With this in mind the company acquired the New England Cable Co. of Concord, N.H., and the General Insulated Wire Works of Providence, R.I., both in 1955, and the Cornish Wire Co. of Williamstown, Mass., in 1958.

The company began construction of the Cass City plant to consolidate some of the production of these companies.

In 1960, Commercial Cords Co. (Comco) of Clifton Springs, N.Y., joined General Cable. It was founded to provide replacement cords for nearby Rochester Telephone Co.

When bought by General Cable, Comco was operating in a wing of an abandoned hospital. The equipment was old and the floor plan made efficient production difficult.

New manufacturing facilities were needed and the Cass City plant was designed to incorporate Comco products.

The Cass City plant has manufactured a wide range of wires, cords and cables, from Teflon insulated high operating temperature wires to aircraft wiring to military specifications.

Now it specializes in station products for the telephone industry. In March of 1981, GK Technologies was acquired by Penn Central for $704 million.

Undefeated and league leading North Huron stayed that way Tuesday evening with a 79-61 win over Owen-Gage. The game was played at North Huron.

The Bulldogs, who slip to 2-8 in league play and 3-10 overall, host Kingston Friday and then don't play again until Feb. 15.

Everett Elley dies Monday at age 86

Everett Elley, 86, of Cass City died Monday at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility in Caro after a long illness.

He was born Dec. 20, 1896, in Novesta Township, the son of John and Eliza (Lanning) Elley.

Elley, who was employed by General Motors Truck and Coach Division before retiring to Deford in 1960, is survived by three nieces.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Reverend Eldred Kelley of Salem United Methodist Church officiating.

Burial was in Novesta Township Cemetery.

Owen-Gage's 24 field goals was only one less than that scored by C-PS, but the team managed only eight of 25 free throws. In the second quarter, it missed five one-and-one situations.

The Tigers collected 16 of 26 free throws, in addition to 25 field goals.

Leading the Bulldogs, who fall to 2-7 in the North Central Thumb D League, were Stan Andrakowicz and Dan Glidden, each with 16 points. Mike Powell contributed 13.

C-PS, in second place in the league at 8-1 with the win, had three players in double figures, John Jarbow with 16, Scott Regnier, 11, and Mike Pattullo, 10.

Carsonville won the junior varsity game, 59-53. The loss drops the Bulldog JVs to 4-5 in the league and 5-7 overall.

The host Bulldogs were edged Tuesday, Jan. 25, by the visiting Eagles, 59-58.

Owen-Gage again had problems at the free throw line, which cost it the game. It hit 27 field goals, but could only sink four of 11 charity tosses. Its opponents sank 24 field goals, but were 11 of 13 at the free throw line.

In double figures for the Bulldogs were Stan Andrakowicz with 22 points, Dan Glidden, 19, and Mike Powell, 10.

Dave Watts led the Eagles with 19 points, followed by Brian Siegfried, 16, and Chris Murdoch, 14.

Owen-Gage won the junior varsity game, 59-38.

VA distributes $2.01 million

Veterans in Tuscola County received $2.01 million from the Veterans Administration (VA) during the fiscal year that ended Oct. 1, according to the annual report presented last week to the county Board of Commissioners by James McCann, director of the county Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Of the total, compensation and pensions amounted to almost $1.59 million; expenditures for education benefits for Vietnam Era veterans and other training programs, $296,019, and insurance and indemnity payments, $131,245.

Sept. 24 of last year, McCann reported, the interest rate for a GI Home Loan guaranteed by the VA was lowered to 13½ percent.

For a veteran buying a home with a 30-year mortgage of $57,000, the decrease lowered monthly payments by $22.23 over the previous 14 percent rate and by $90.63 over the 15½ percent rate that was in effect before that.

If money is available from local sources, the GI loan guarantees can be used to purchase, construct, alter, improve, repair or refinance a home, including condominiums and mobile homes, with or without a lot.

Many Vietnam era veterans are expected to take advantage of a one-time, two-year extension of their GI Bill delimiting date.

Eligible veterans can use their remaining entitlement to obtain a high school diploma or equivalent or pursue apprenticeship program, other on-the-job training or a program with a vocational objective.

Veterans and dependents of veterans who are receiving VA pension benefits received a 7.4 percent increase June 1. The law says that whenever there is an increase in Social Security benefits, VA pension benefits will be increased by the same amount.

McCann reported that as of Dec. 31, there had been 40 applications approved during the year for the county's $300 burial benefit, six disapproved and five were pending.

The Tuscola County Trust Fund Committee assisted 68 veterans' families during the year, with the assistance totaling $14,690.

"The high unemployment rate in Tuscola County for veterans continues to be the prime reason for increased requests for assistance from the trust fund," McCann wrote in his report.

Also he said many veterans have lost their jobs and with it, their insurance. As a result, many are now inquiring about their eligibility for treatment at VA hospitals. The treatment is for veterans only, so does not include their families.

There was also an increase in applications at the county veterans office in 1982 for benefits such as pensions, compensation and education.

The veterans office is located in the courthouse annex in Caro and can be reached by calling the courthouse number, 673-5999.

Cass City in league title chase

Muth wins — Hawks dunked by technical

Wild enthusiasm generated by a dunk shot by John Meininger enabled visiting Frankenmuth Eagles to come from behind to tie Cass City in regulation time and win in overtime, 82-80, Tuesday.

The loss negated a great comeback by the Hawks who trailed in the first half by as much as 17 points and then came back to lead by seven in the final period with 2:07 left.

Here's what happened in the crucial series of plays. Meininger was the lead on a fast break and jammed the ball home in the first dunk basket by Cass City since the days of Jesse Groth five years ago.

This ignited the crowd and

Leaders post wins in Cass City Recreation League

The only question remaining in the Cass City Recreation Basketball League is will Shetler's or Colwood Bar be the eventual champion.

Right now undefeated Shetler's leads by a game.

Both of the championship contenders showed their class in games played Monday, Jan. 24, by coming from behind to win.

In the first game, Walpole & Holmes started fast to go out in front, 17-16, after the first 10 minutes only to bow, 70-61. In the second quarter the Lawyers continued to aim for an upset and led 35-32 at the intermission.

Shetler's used its usual third quarter surge to post a 16-12 advantage to edge in front after three quarters, 48-47.

The league leaders kept applying the pressure in the final quarter to post the win.

For Shetler's Ross Voelker, 16, and Kent Shetler, 15, paced the attack. For the losers, Ken Martin had 22 while Rick Tuckey and Jeff Hartel each scored 10.

In the nightcap Colwood chalked up a close 65-57 decision over Charmont.

Charmont led 16-14 after one period and added a point to the margin in the second quarter to lead, 31-28 at the half.

Colwood found the range in the third quarter, outscoring Charmont, 22-17, to post a narrow 50-48 lead going into the final frame.

Colwood iced the win with a 15-9 margin in the fourth quarter.

As usual, Colwood showed balanced scoring. Mark Gainforth netted 18 and Dennis Dunkel, 17. Ron Englehardt and Brent Mowrey scored 10 points each. For Charmont, Todd Comment scored 21 and Tim Severance, 13.

In the first game last Wednesday, Shetler's had little trouble topping Erla's, 78-58. The winners bounded out to a 21-12 first quarter lead and were never in danger after that. At the half the score was 36-24 and at the three-quarter mark it was 52-40. Shetler's posted a big 26-18 edge in the last quarter to win going away.

For Shetler's, Paul Beachy, 20, Ross Voelker, 14, and Jack Paul and Kent Shetler, 12 points each, were in double figures. For Erla's, Rick Richards netted 14 points, Ken Pichla, 12, and Paul Battel, 11.

In the final game of the week Tuff-Kote registered its first win of the season with a close 69-66 decision over McMahan's.

The two teams were tied after the first period. Tuff-Kote went in front 34-30 at the half and McMahan's charged back to within two points after three periods. The teams trade baskets for much of the final period and Tuff-Kote walked off with the victory.

Both teams featured balanced scoring. For the winners Jim Schramski, 18, Todd Dubey, 15, Pete Fabian, 13, and Jim Quinn, 10, were in double figures. Pacing McMahan's were Jason Koehler, 17, Ken Walkiewicz, 14, Jim Bruce, 12, Gary Bruce, 11, and Dave Doerr, 10.

The standings:

	W	L
Shetlers	8	0
Colwood Bar	7	1
Walpole & Holmes	5	3
Charmont	4	4
Erla's	2	6
McMahan	1	7
Tuff-Kote	1	7

Wilson made them both to close the gap to five points.

A couple of turnovers followed and suddenly the game was tied at 76-all.

In the overtime it was a two-man show. Rick Pobanz scored four points for Cass City but Mike Bender chipped in 3 baskets for the Eagles and that was the ball game.

It was fitting that Pobanz scored in overtime for the senior forward played probably the best game of his

8th grade cops Ubly tourney

Bulldog spikers split matches

The Cass City Intermediate School eighth grade boys' basketball team elevated its season record to 7-1 by winning the annual eighth grade tournament at Ubly Saturday evening.

The team, coached by John Maharg, defeated Lakers, 40-34.

The tournament started Jan. 22 with the junior Red Hawks beating Harbor Beach, 51-33. In the second round Jan. 26, Cass City downed host Ubly, 57-39.

Other teams competing in the tournament were Port Hope, Unionville-Sebewaing, Bad Axe and Our Lady of Lake Huron School, which is located in Harbor Beach.

Owen-Gage started its North Central Thumb D League season at home Monday night with a split against Deckerville.

The Eagles won the first match, 10-15, 15-7, 15-8. Coach Judy Campbell's Bulldogs rebounded to take the second, 15-8, 15-17, 15-10.

Joan Mosack scored 14 points for Owen-Gage in the first match and had one ace spike and five good spikes. In the second, she scored 10 points and had three ace spikes, seven good spikes and five good dinks.

Vicki Alexander scored nine points in the first match and Jackie Kain contributed eight points and six good spikes in the second.

For Deckerville in the first match, Lucinda Thompson and Debbie Palmer each collected nine points; Robin Williamson scored 11. In the second, Thompson scored 10 points and Janet Regentin had eight.

The Bulldog junior varsity won, 15-5, 15-2, 15-11.

Owen-Gage, now 3-6 overall, plays at Kingston this Thursday and is at Lakers in a non-league match Monday.

Spikers win pair in league

Although the Cass City High volleyball team lost its first three non-conference matches, Coach Beth Howard's spikers cracked the losing streak when it counted in the first Thumb B Association matches of the season.

The Hawks defeated the Vassar Vulcans Thursday at Cass City High School in both matches in straight games, 15-12 and 15-5, and 15-9 and 15-5.

Two matches are played at once to eliminate travel expenses for the schools.

In the first match, Colleen Irrer and Jamie LaRoche each were credited with three aces on services while Julie Miller was credited with five of the team's 10 spikes.

In the second match, Irrer and Jill Root were the leading servers. The team collected 20 spikes, seven by Miller and five by Jill Root.

ward with a magic shooting touch. Although Wilson scored 23 points he was also guilty of several offensive fouls as Pobanz continually denied him driving lanes and he fouled out late in the final period.

Cass City looked anything but sharp in the first quarter and a half. Playing sloppy ball and rebounding poorly the Hawks fell quickly behind. At the quarter the Eagles were in front, 22-14.

With 3:25 left in the second period Frankenmuth had powered its way to a 34-17 advantage and it looked as if the outcome of the game was settled.

But right here the Hawks went to a pressing defense and turned the game around.

By the half the margin was cut to 40-31 and the Hawks tied it at the 3:27 mark in the third quarter on a three-point play by John Meininger. At the three quarter mark Cass City was in front, 56-53.

Meininger ended the game with 22 points and in the last half was a dominant force on the board against the rangy Eagles.

Frankenmuth's big scoring guns were Wilson, Dave Borcharding with 20 points and Bender with 19.

High School.

The league win kept the Hawks in the chase for the championship. Cass City trails the Lakers by one game and is tied for second.

Coach Ron Nurnberger was pleased with the performance of his squad. Even though Vassar was hurt because of the loss of its best rebounder, Eddie Parker, because of scholastic troubles, Nurnberger said, we still handled the ball and played well.

We'll have to do it every time out in the Thumb B if we are to take the title, Nurnberger added, but at least we are in the thick of the race now.

In the coach's system of scoring that awards points for assists and good defense and subtracts for turnovers, bad passes and similar mistakes, Rick Pobanz stood out.

With nine assists and four steals the veteran senior forward was a plus 13 in Nurnberger's rating book.

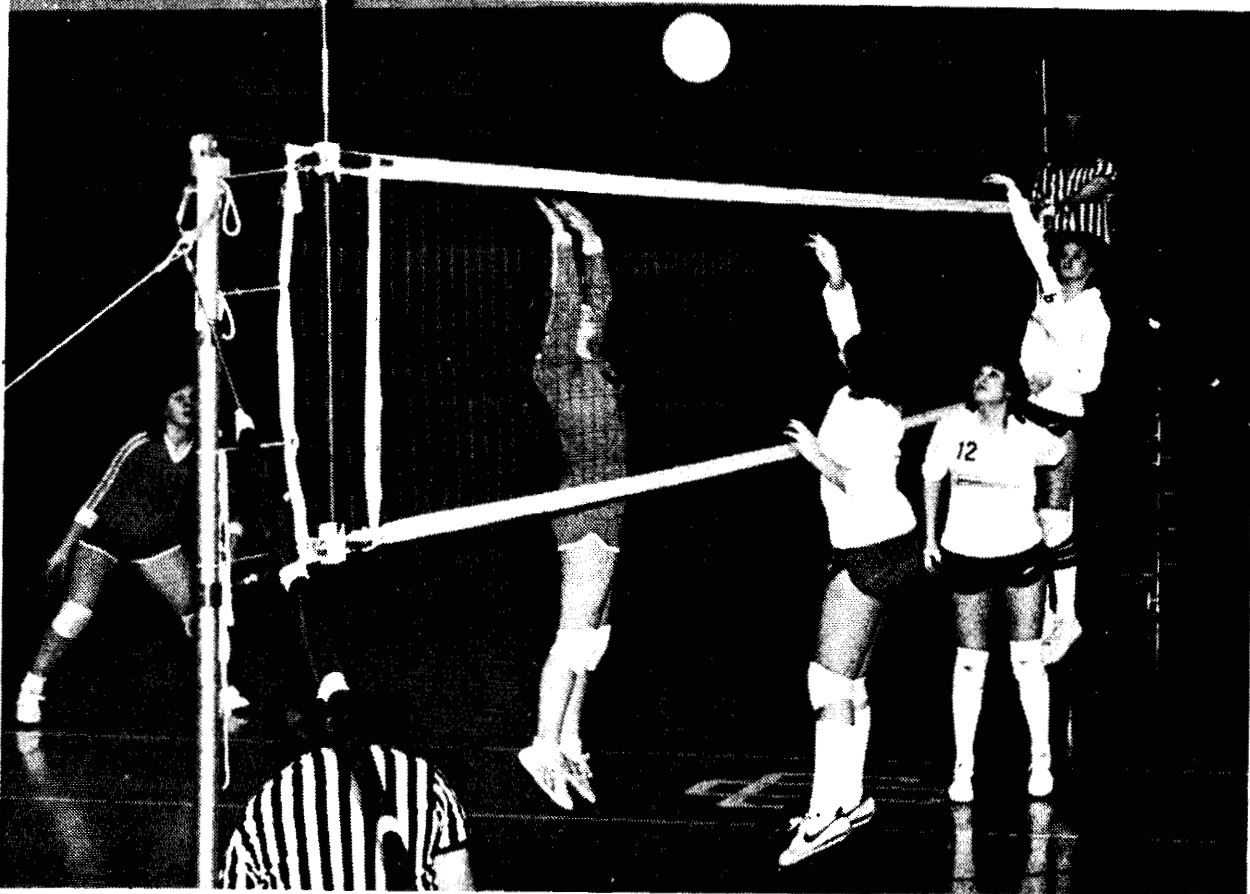

Cass City jumped off to a 16-12 lead after the first eight minutes and added to it until the final period when the game was no longer in doubt.

At the half the score was 35-23 and at the end of the quarter Cass City was coasting, 52-31.

With the comfortable lead, Nurnberger was able to let everybody play and 12 players shared in the scoring. Showing the way were Bryan Beecher, 13 points, John Meininger, 11 points, and Barry Lapp, 10 points.

For Vassar, Kirk Kennard tossed in 17 and Mike Rowland, a sophomore playing his first varsity game, chipped in with 12 points.

Protect your dog's health

Parvovirus is a newly discovered and highly contagious intestinal disease of dogs and puppies. It strikes quickly, and can cause death within hours. Take your dog to the veterinarian immediately if you see any of these symptoms: vomiting, bloody diarrhea, fever, dehydration. Parvovirus can be prevented or cured if caught in time; ask your veterinarian.

Congratulations to Harry and Ilse Roth

Leslie fifth generation on horizon

Centennial farm to remain in family

In February, 1882, Henry Leslie, who had come from Wentworth County, Ontario, bought 160 acres of land in southern Evergreen Township for $1,500.

That much money now would buy about 1 1/2 acres.

Eighty of the acres Leslie bought along what is now called Leslie Road are now owned by his great-grandson Dale and his wife Audrey Leslie and have been certified by the Michigan Department of State as a centennial farm, having belonged to the same family at least 100 years.

In contrast to what Henry Leslie paid for his land, one acre of farmland in Evergreen is now worth $800-

1,000, according to Mrs. Leslie, who is the township supervisor, so knows about such things.

Along with land values, property taxes have also climbed. "We're paying more on our farm now than he paid for all three properties," Dale Leslie said. The amount is considerably more.

Henry Leslie purchased three farms in 1882, one for each of his sons, all along Leslie Road.

John and Davis each received 40 acres. Neither farm is still in the family. Eighty acres, purchased from Philip and Helen Wixson, was retained by Henry. It was later inherited by his son, Dan, and wife, Mary.

Identical brick homes were built on all three farms.

There were three generations living in the home on the 80 acres when Dan died 42 years ago. There were his wife, Mary, their son and his wife, Albert and Florence, and the latter's children, including Dale, then 7.

Dan Leslie was 74 when he died. His widow stayed in the home until she died 19 years ago at age 91.

Albert, who was an only son, took over the farm, which he had been operating with his father.

DALE AND AUDREY Leslie, who have been married 28 years, purchased the family farm in 1960 from his parents, who moved to Shabbona. Albert Leslie died in 1962.

His widow, now Mrs. William Hacker Sr., lives with her husband in Florida winters and the rest of the year on Greenland Road.

When the present owners purchased the farm, they were living on Mushroom Road and farming there and on the home farm.

When they purchased the home farm, it totaled 180 acres. They now own 420.

Albert Leslie had raised steers. When Dale took over, he converted it to a dairy farm and now milks 65 cows. Total herd size is at least 175.

Although the original home on the farm burned in 1958, one link remains with the early days. The barn, which is still used, was constructed in 1888 with timbers coming from trees on the farm.

TRADITION ALSO REMAINS on the farm. When Dale and his four sisters were growing up, they showed cattle with his father. In 1951, he had the grand champion steer at the Junior 4-H Livestock Show in Detroit.

Dale and Audrey Leslie have eight children. Six of them have had a grand champion steer at the Sanilac County 4-H Fair and Bob has had two grand champions, both at the Tuscola County Fair.

Al hasn't had a grand champion yet, but has had two reserve champions, and since he's only a 10th grader has time yet to win the top prize.

The family lives in Sanilac County, so can enter that fair as 4-H'ers. They live in the Cass City School District, so those who belong to the Future Farmers of America chapter can enter the Tuscola fair as FFA'ers.

The Leslies' children, from oldest to youngest, are Diane (Mrs. James) Hrabec, who lives in Florida; Colleen (Mrs. Bob) Moore, Snover; Robbie (Mrs. Brian) Hall, Wayne, and at home, Hope, who works in Marlette; Bob; Merilee, a senior in high school; Al, and Ann, an eighth grader.

The farm is now in the hands of the fourth generation, and is sure to continue with the fifth. Bob, 20, farms in partnership with his father, and Al wants to stay on the farm after he graduates from high school.

THE ORIGINAL HOME on the Leslie farm, built in the 1880s, burned in June, 1958. Part of the basement walls were used in the present home of Dale and Audrey Leslie. This was one of three identical homes, one being built on each of the farms Henry Leslie bought for his sons.

DALE AND AUDREY LESLIE and their centennial farm sign, which come spring will be erected on their lawn. The Leslies, married 28 years, built most of their home themselves.

County due to open "food closets" Monday

Monday is the target date to open "food closets" throughout the county to provide free food to those who need it.

As of Wednesday morning, no location had yet been established in Cass City. County Emergency Services Coordinator Jim McCann was hoping to have one by the end of the week, and then have its location broadcast on the radio.

The location in Gageton is the village-township municipal building. Persons who would like to donate food or are in need of it in that area are asked to call emergency services in Caro at 673-5999 to find out the hours the Gageton food closet will be open.

Food can also be dropped off at the AAA office on Millwood Street or the Human Development Commission on Montague Street in Caro.

Donations of food are tax deductible.

Suggested foods to donate, none of which need refrigeration, are as follows:

- Powdered or evaporated milk.
- Canned tuna, canned luncheon meats, peanut butter, dry lentils, peas or beans.
- Canned fruits and vegetables, dry fruits and vegetables, canned unsweetened juices, potatoes.

- Rice, noodles, canned spaghetti, macaroni, macaroni and cheese, unsweetened dry cereals, oatmeal, cream of wheat, flour, crackers.
- Gelatin or pudding desserts, canned or packaged soups, canned steaks, cocoa mix, salt, pepper, baking mixes that require only water.
