

Trucker injured by flying glass

The nationwide shutdown of independent truck drivers, which apparently is coming to an end, claimed one victim in the Cass City area.

Eston Biglow of Alma was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after the windshield of his semi-truck was struck by a soft drink bottle thrown from a northbound auto on M-53 at Argyle Road at 12:10 a.m. last Wednesday, according to the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department.

Biglow was headed south, hauling a load of livestock he had picked up at the Michigan Live Stock Exchange, three miles north. Flying glass hit him in the face.

The truck, owned by Ron Smith of Breckenridge, was returned to the exchange, where it was unloaded. The windshield was replaced and the truck departed Thursday.

Biglow was the only person injured in several incidents of truck vandalism reported in the upper Thumb since the strike began Jan. 31, of which all but one were reported in Sanilac County.

A Pennsylvania trucker told Sanilac deputies last Wednesday that while he was sleeping in his truck with the engine running while parked at Aunt Jane's Pickles in Crosswell, two shots were fired into the radiator.

Or $20,410...

State aid cut could cost Cass City schools $8,164

In addition to proposing a tax increase recently, Gov. James Blanchard also called for $225 million in cuts in state spending this year.

The cuts, if approved by the state legislature, will affect various state programs, but will also affect local school districts and governmental units.

Should Blanchard's proposal be adopted, it would mean a temporary loss of $20,410 to the Cass City School District and a permanent one of $8,164.

Michigan's new governor wants to eliminate $25 million in state aid to public schools and $15 million in revenue sharing to local governments.

In addition to permanently not getting some state aid, local governments and some school districts are also waiting for state aid they were supposed to have received this month, payment of which Gov. Blanchard delayed shortly after taking office.

Since the governor's budget cut is only a proposal, the actual impact won't be known until the legislature acts on it.

Supt. Donald Crouse contacted the Michigan Association of School Administrators, which keeps track of such things, to find out specifically what the governor has proposed.

Policeman hired in Gagetown

The Gagetown Village Council Monday evening hired Robert McBride of Owendale as its new part-time police officer.

McBride, who worked as a policeman a few years ago in Gagetown, for now will work 20-24 hours a week and be paid $6 an hour.

He replaces Marc Bridson, who worked full-time, who resigned to accept a position with the Bad Axe Police Department.

STILL FLOWING—Indicative of how mild this winter has been, White Creek, at least as of Friday, was still flowing, instead of being frozen over. Photo was taken looking east from Cemetery Road, north of Shabbona Road.

The proposed aid cut is being based on a deduction equal to .65 percent of total membership state aid and property taxes.

BLANCHARD'S PROPOSED cut of $25 million to schools, Crouse was told, would take effect in August.

That would be during the state's present fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30. However, in October, after the start of the 1983-84 fiscal year, the proposal calls for restoration of $15 million, for an actual reduction of $10 million.

If that is all that is really cut, according to Crouse, the Cass City schools would lose $8,164. However, if none of the $25 million is later restored, the loss would be $20,410.

As for the delayed state aid, Cass City is waiting for $82,405, which it should have received last August, and $117,982 it normally would receive this month. (The later is revised from $111,000 reported earlier.)

Crouse was told that if Blanchard's tax increase and budget cut proposals are approved, the delayed state aid payments should be received before June.

As for whether the school district can wait that long, he responded, "We're anticipating cash flow problems in April... but it's a little premature. We have to wait a period of time before we can make accurate calculations."

APPLYING THE .65 percent formula to the Kingston School District, according to Jerome P. Thienes, assistant superintendent for business and finance of the Tuscola Intermediate School District, would mean a loss of $7,915 based on a $25 million cut or $3,166 if $15 million of that is restored.

Thienes isn't expecting a loss of more than $500 to the TISD, provided the money is taken out of membership state aid. The district mainly receives categorical state aid, primarily for vocational and special education.

The TISD, however, is waiting for $472,981 in such state aid, which it should have received this month.

Owendale-Gagetown and Ubly School Districts don't receive membership state, so presumably won't be affected by the proposed aid cut. They do receive categorical state aid.

AS MENTIONED, Blanchard has also proposed cutting $15 million in revenue sharing payments to local governmental units.

Apparently no one yet knows on a local level how much that would be. Tuscola County Commissioner Donna Rayl said the matter was discussed Monday at a Michigan Association of Counties district meeting in Caro, but the MAC officials said there is no way of knowing yet how much money each county would lose under the governor's proposal.

No mention was made when counties can expect to receive their withheld February state aid payments, which for Tuscola totals $148,800.

CASS CITY ALSO doesn't know how much money it will lose under the governor's proposal.

According to the latest information from the Michigan Municipal League, village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said, there is no way of knowing yet, because it isn't known under which programs the cuts would be made. The village receives state payments under five different programs.

The MML did say that the governor is proposing restoring $10 million of the $15 million cut if his suggested income tax increase (from the present 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent) is approved by the legislature.

The league also doesn't know yet when withheld February state aid payments, which total $22,000 owed to Cass City, will be made.

The delayed state aid payments and proposed deductions also affect townships and other villages, as well as cities.

A Port Huron man was killed in an accident last Thursday afternoon three miles south of Ubly.

Dead at the scene was David T. Lixie, 22, whose van had been westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road.

Sandusky state police said a witness reported the van failed to stop at the stop sign and was struck broadside by a car driven by John Baughman, 22, of Sandusky, which was northbound on M-19.

The van flipped over and came to a stop upside down, northwest of the intersection. The car also came to a stop northwest of the corner.

Baughman, his wife.

Wanda, 19, and daughter, Christina, 18 months, were taken to Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe. Christina was released from there Friday, her father Sunday and her mother Monday.

The child was strapped into a safety seat. None of the adults was wearing seat belts, according to state police.

The accident took place at 1:10 p.m. Lixie was the second person to die in a Sanilac County traffic accident this year.

Some decrease

Most valuations up slightly in area

By Mike Eliasohn

Increases in property values, which seemed like they were on an endless climb the last few years, and with them, the property taxes on which they were based, have slowed.

In some instances, 1983 valuations as recommended by upper Thumb county equalization departments have actually declined since last year.

In Sanilac County, for instance, the recommended countywide valuation for agricultural property is 5.7 percent less than what it was last year.

In Tuscola County, the recommended valuation for agricultural property is 3.17 percent more and in Huron, 2.83 percent more.

Residential property in Sanilac County has declined an average of .36 percent in value. In Tuscola, it's up 2.72 percent, and in Huron, it has increased 3.5 percent.

There are some exceptions. The recommended equalized valuation in Kingston Township for farm property is up 15.12 percent from last year, and in neighboring Koylton Township, it's up 13.43 percent. Those are the highest increases in Tuscola County.

The final figures -- and there are several steps to go before those are reached -- will affect December, 1983, property tax bills.

The equalization departments, as required by state regulations, prepared their studies of recommended values by examining sales from April 1, 1980, to March 30, 1982, and in some instances, making appraisals if there weren't enough sales.

The mostly small increases in property values and sometimes decreases are a reflection of the poor economy, with fewer persons buying property, according to the equalization directors.

"Things are selling, but the value is holding" (instead of increasing) said Sandra Drews, acting Huron County equalization director.

ONE YEAR STUDIES

This year, for the first time, the State Tax Commission (STC) has allowed township supervisors or assessors to conduct one-year studies of property sales in 1982 if they disagreed with the two-year equalization department studies.

One-year studies are only advantageous in a declining real estate market. They won't be when the price of homes, farms, etc., is going up every year. "I'm sure, if the economy changes... and we get back to the way it was two or three years ago," said Sanilac County Equalization Director Eugene Regentin, "that will be the end of one-year studies."

If the equalization director agrees with the findings of the one-year study, Tuscola County Equalization Director Donald Graf explained, he can submit it to the STC in place of his department's own figure.

The STC, which has assessors conducting their own studies to see how they compare with those done by equalization departments, has the ultimate say-so over what properties are worth for tax purposes.

Supervisors who conducted one-year studies haven't always found what they had hoped.

Kingston Township Supervisor Robert Gilmore conducted studies of sales of residential and agricultural property in his township last year.

His residential study showed a decrease of 3.31 percent, compared to the equalization department's 6.47 percent increase.

His agriculture study, however, didn't show any less of an increase than did the equalization department's 15.12 percent, so he didn't turn it in. "There's no advantage to turning it in if it isn't less."

The outcome didn't make him very happy.

Part of the fault, Gilmore commented, lies with the persons willing to pay big dollars for the farm property, which drives the values up for everybody, but it also lies with the system for establishing values.

"It's not fair to the fellow who wants to hang on to his farm, who doesn't want to sell it," he said.

Elkland Township Supervisor Jack Gallaher did a one-year study of residential property, which showed a slight .08 decrease from last year, compared to the equalization department's 6.09 percent increase in its two-year study.

Of the townships listed on the chart, Kingston and Elkland were the only ones in which one-year studies were done.

HEALTH TIPS

Malnutrition may cause many infections in elderly

Malnutrition may cause the high incidence of infection experienced by the elderly, according to research underway at the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Overall, older people experience significantly more infectious disease than the young, according to Dr. Carol Kauffman, M.D., director of the VA study. She is chief of the infectious disease section of the center and serves as a professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan School of Medicine.

"Pneumococcal pneumonia, for example, occurs seven times more frequently in older people." Diseases such as influenza, and medical ills like abscesses and urinary tract infections, are also more frequent in the elderly.

Yet Kauffman's studies suggest that well-nourished older people may fight infection as capably as the young, while malnourished patients of all ages show significantly less ability to resist infectious disease.

Kauffman and her colleague, Paula Jones, M.D., began by studying the elderly person's ability to produce a fever, one measure of the body's response to infection.

Fever results when white blood cells produce a protein called endogenous pyrogen, or E.P., after coming in contact with germs that invade the body. E.P. is released in the blood stream, travels to the brain, and there triggers the thermal regulation system to elevate body temperature, producing fever.

Once thought to be an unnecessary side effect of illness, fever is now believed to help the body kill germs.

Kauffman's first study looked at E.P. production in the elderly to determine if older adults produce less. If so, they would probably maintain a lower body temperature when infected, and might have less disease resistance than the young.

Kauffman studied two groups of healthy adults -- one aged 65-91, many of whom reside in Glacier Hills, a community of older people in Ann Arbor, and one aged 18-38. Participants of all ages produced adequate amounts of E.P. to stimulate a fever, with its resulting benefits.

Her results differed strikingly when malnourished patients were studied, however. These hospitalized patients were suffering from protein and calorie deficits that generally resulted from illnesses such as cancer, chronic infection and bowel disease.

Malnourished patients of all ages "produced significantly less E.P." than well-nourished patients of the same ages, the researcher noted. Their disease resistance might thus be substantially reduced.

This finding, if confirmed in further research, offers great promise for treatment, Kauffman stressed. "It's a problem we can do something about. We can improve nutrition and probably improve the patient's resistance to infection."

Older people, who are more likely to suffer from malnutrition due to apathy, illness or incapacity, are particularly likely to benefit.

"If It Fitz..."

Nukes and anti-nukes

By Jim Fitzgerald

"When the Wind Blows" is the name of the skinny antinuke book written and illustrated by Raymond Briggs. Actually, it's sort of a hardcover comic book, but not comical. And definitely not sophisticated. William F. Buckley Jr. would undoubtedly look down his pencil at it.

Buckley bugs me. He is so damn smart and so damn sure in his newspaper columns and TV appearances. He knows 100 times more about everything than I know about anything. I admire his intellect almost as much as I envy it. But Buckley would probably say Raymond Briggs manipulated me into helping the Soviet devils take over the world. The peaceniks who work for a nuclear freeze or total disarmament or most any sort of hugs-across-the-border program are continually accused of being Soviet tools who, with the best or worst of intentions, are used to further the spread of Godless communism. President Reagan has said as much, and so has the guy on the next stool in my favorite saloon.

Sure. People manipulate people all the time. Manipulation is the motive behind all sorts of advertising, editorializing, propagandizing or whatever you want to call it.

But I drink Billy Martin's favorite beer even though I think Martin is a foul bully. I drink it because I like it, and it's not my fault Martin says he likes it too. Also, even though Martin's motives are suspect - he probably likes the money he gets for endorsing the beer more than he likes the beer - that's no valid reason for me to stop drinking it.

The same reasoning should be applied to the nuclear freeze. Catholic bishops can support the freeze even if they hate communism. It's not their fault Soviet leaders say they also support the freeze, and even though the Soviets' motive is suspect - they probably want New Jersey more than they want peace - that's no valid reason for the bishops to stop working for the day when there'll be no nuclear weapons anywhere.

My argument is simplistic, I know. It would make William Buckley gag. He says the bishops are wrong because Soviet leaders can't be trusted. So what? I don't trust Bill Martin, either.

People aren't puppets. A puppet can't move without a puppeteer to manipulate it. People can move on their own. And they can stay the same course (forgive me, please) as a drunken sailor without endorsing alcoholism.

I'd like William Buckley or anyone smarter to explain why I should quit supporting the unquestionable sanity of a mutual, verifiable nuclear freeze simply because Andrei Gromyko claims to feel the same way. Maybe it will never happen. Maybe the Soviets are as untrustworthy as Buckley insists they are. Maybe they're even worse than the Russians think we are, for God's sake.

But why don't both nations find out, for sure, by taking one lockstep at a time toward total disarmament? If that doesn't make good sense, what does? A never-ending arms race that might not kill you, but what about your grandchildren?

The horror and senselessness of nuclear war is what Raymond Briggs' "When the Wind Blows" is all about. In soap opera style, it describes the absurd actions of an elderly English couple trying to survive by following government instructions on what to do when the big bomb falls.

In the U.S., we've been advised to dig a hole under our car and jump in. In Britain, the official advice is to build an "inner-core refuge" out of unhinged doors with cushions and books piled on top. Either method is guaranteed to make you laugh until shortly before you begin to die.

Raymond Briggs' book delivers today's most important message with astonishing - and, yes, simplistic - impact. Maybe Briggs is a manipulator, but I don't care just as long as he endorses my favorite beer.

NO HANDS—Practicing for Tuesday's Girl Scout cookie crunch were, from left, school Supt. Donald Crouse; Jim Jackson, who will represent Salem United Methodist Church; and Judi Haas, who will represent Hillside Beauty Shop. Holding the cookies on the string are Kay Warner (left), co-chairman of the event, and Barb Jackson. The cookies have to be eaten without use of hands.

Girl Scout 'cookie crunch' Tuesday

How many ways are there to eat a cookie? Nine, if the Girl Scout "cookie crunch" Tuesday in the Cass City High School gym is a guide. The free and open to the public event starts at 7 p.m.

"It's just to generate interest in cookie sales," co-chairman Kay Warner said about the event. Cass City and Deford area Scouts will take orders for cookies door-to-door Feb. 25 March 7, with the cookies to be delivered in April. They will not be selling them at the cookie crunch.

Mrs. Warner asked would-be buyers to wait until the sale starts. Girl Scouts from Bad Axe and Marlette, she said, who have their sale earlier, have already been in Cass City taking cookie orders.

Masters of ceremonies for the cookie crunch will be Jim McLoskey of WKYO Radio and Ted Tucker of the Saginaw Gears hockey team. Tucker will give to spectators discount coupons (buy one ticket, get one free) to Gears' games.

Girl Scouts will be passing out cookies to spectators, though there may not be enough for everyone.

Making a special appearance will be the Cookie Monster.

Mrs. Warner and co-chairman Jane Becker have recruited competitors in eight categories.

Scheduled to compete in the education category are Superintendent of Schools Donald Crouse, high school Assistant Principal Roland Pakonen, intermediate school Principal Robert Stickle, teachers Sherryll Dillon, Campbell Elementary, and Emma Ackerman, Deford Elementary, and Community Education Director Dave Lovejoy.

Other categories of competitors will be churches (ministers or representatives), services (beauty shops, real estate firms, doctors, etc.), banks, government (village officials and employees, post office, fire department), senior citizens, merchants and other businesses (Walbro - which has recruited cheerleaders as well as competitors), General Cable, Anrod, Armca, Cole Carbide and Hills and Dales General Hospital).

Each category of competitors will compete in one event, with the winner of each to compete in the final event, which will be determining who can eat the most cookies within a set time limit.

The preliminary events will consist of such tasks as eating cookies without use of hands, eating them while wearing boxing gloves, eating cookies on a string without use of hands and unwrapping and then eating cookies that are wrapped in plastic bags while using one hand.

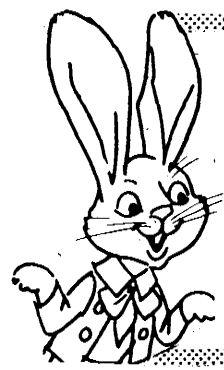

Each competitor gets a pen and holder, each winner of a preliminary event gets a Girl Scout cookie mug and the overall champion will get one box of each type of Girl Scout cookies.

The cookies and prizes are being furnished by the Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council.

Probate Judge Wally Kent and Dean Brown, of Cass City, district Boy Scout director, are promoting a "latch key" program designed to teach children how to react in emergencies when left home without parental supervision.

The pair are soliciting funds from area civic clubs to fund the program that includes an instruction brochure and iron-on decal distributed through schools.

The program is designed for single parent or homes with two working parents. Kent, who is involved in divorce cases in Tuscola County, told the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday that there is a minimum of between 1,000 and 2,000 children in the county with a single parent. It's likely that the program will be explained to the Cass City School Board, Kent said, after funding is secured.

Project Blessing Symposium set Feb. 18 in Caro

Project Blessing, the 1980s version of volunteerism, will be presented at an all-day symposium at the Tuscola Area Skill Center, 1401 Cleaver Road, Caro, Friday, Feb. 18, from 8:30 a.m. - 4:15 p.m.

The symposium is sponsored by the Thumb Area Coalition of Human Services (TACHS) which represents Sanilac, Huron, Tuscola, and Lapeer Counties.

Father Richard Kim from Trinity, Episcopal Church, Lexington, will give a profile of Project Blessing. Rev. Phillips, Countryside Free Methodist Church, Sandusky, will speak about "Feeding the poor the churches' role." Janet Hutchins, Lapeer County Department of Social Services, will give an overview of Love, Inc., a similar volunteer effort.

Richard Smith from the Human Development Commission, Caro, will highlight the needs of the Thumb Area; Pat Christie of HDC will talk about food closets; and Karen Kopka of the HDC will explain the information and referral system.

Volunteer services coordinators from each county's Department of Social Services will be speaking.

The symposium will conclude with an address from Rev. Lawrence Van-Slambrook of the United Methodist Church, Brown City, on the "ministry to the poor and the miracles of blessings."

In the face of the ever increasing needs of the poor along with budget cuts and the state of the economy, the Project Blessing Symposium should prove valuable to churches, clergy, interested volunteers, agencies which help the poor and any other interested individuals, according to TACHS Chairperson Louise Blasius.

The $5 registration fee to cover workshop expenses may be waived in cases of individual need.

His plea was accepted and bond was continued until sentencing.

As part of a plea bargain with the prosecution, a second count of criminal sexual conduct, involving a girl under 13 years of age on the same date, is to be dismissed.

The warrant charging Audinet with the offenses was issued in May, 1982.

Also last Wednesday, Elmer Spencer, 29, of 192 Columbia Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted criminal sexual conduct (2nd degree) with a girl under 13 years of age July 22, 1982, in Caro.

Numerous injury accidents reported

Mary Lou Spiekerman, 35, of 4243 S. Hurds Corner Road, Kingston, reportedly treated her own injuries following a 6:25 a.m. accident Monday.

Deputies said she was eastbound on Van Cleve Road, southwest of Vassar, when her car failed to negotiate a curve in the road.

Her auto went off the north side and struck a wood post set in concrete.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Cass City police reported that at 8:10 a.m. Friday, Cynthia E. Smith, 17, of 4801 Shabbona Road, Decker, was turning right onto Ale Street from westbound Main and her vehicle slid into a car headed south on Ale, which was stopped at the stop sign.

Robert J. Ciure, 38, of 4035 Plain Road, Kingston, was exiting a driveway at 4:23 p.m. last Thursday, according to deputies, when he attempted to brake before turning onto Plain.

The driveway was icy, however, and his car slid into the path of a southbound car and the vehicles collided. The mishap took place south of Harmon Lake Road.

Driver of the other auto was James B. Summey, 59, of Silverwood.

Cass City police reported that at 3:30 p.m. last Wednesday, Cynthia J. Roy, 17, of Unionville, was attempting to park in the Veronica's Restaurant lot when her car slid into the right side of the vehicle in the adjacent parking space.

Owner of the other vehicle was Chester Gaszcynski Jr. of Cass City.

At 11 a.m. that day, according to village police, Lawrence A. Nerkowski, 32, of 6701 Lincoln Street, Gageton, was turning left from a driveway onto westbound Main Street, failed to yield, and collided with a westbound car.

Driver of the other car was Robert L. Carpenter, 25, of 4788 Hospital Drive, Apt. 3. The mishap occurred west of Sherman Street.

Sheriff's deputies reported that at 6:05 a.m. Jan. 31, Penny Sue Freeman, 24, of Mayville, was backing out of a parking place at Barriger's Travel Stop at M-24 and M-46, turned too quickly, and the right side of her car struck the car parked alongside.

Owner of the other car was Margaret Ann Dicks, 55, of 3145 E. Deckerville Road, Cass City.

CAR-DEER

Dawn M. Pierce, 21, of Big Rapids, was westbound on Stevens Road, west of Burman Road, deputies reported, when her car struck a deer at 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

At 6:40 p.m. Friday, deputies said, Jack R. Sholes, 26, of 5686 Bond Road, Deford, was westbound on Stevens Road, west of English Road, when his car collided with a deer.

Ronald E. Voss, 37, of 1860 Crawford Road, Deford, was southbound on Cemetery Road, south of Shabbona Road, at 7:10 a.m. Feb. 1, deputies said, when his car collided with a deer.

Trucker injured by flying glass

They were apparently fired from a .22 caliber weapon from the opposite end of the parking lot.

Three incidents were reported at the south end of the county.

An object was thrown at a semi-truck on M-25 at Baker Road last Wednesday, and another one was thrown at the tank of a milk truck Friday on M-53, south of Marlette. Damage to the tank, Sandusky state police said, was probably $1,000.

Troopers reported that four tires were slashed on a semi-trailer while it was parked over the weekend at M-19 and Galbraith Line Road.

State police also received two other reports of vandalism, both having occurred elsewhere but not noticed until the drivers got to Sanilac County. One truck had shots in the back of the trailer and another had dents from a pellet gun.

Last Thursday, a truck driver reported to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department that a bottle was thrown at his truck while he was driving on M-25, north of Unionville. A report of the incident was turned over to the Huron County Sheriff's Department since it occurred in the latter county.

Pedaling Around

Mothers for hire

By Mike Eliasohn

It was a story the news media couldn't resist. Neither, unfortunately, could the participants.

Everyone is a loser, but the biggest loser is Alexander Christopher Ray "Baby Doe" Stiver.

The idea of surrogate parenting is a bit repugnant to begin with. A couple unable to have children because the wife is infertile pay a woman who agrees to be artificially inseminated with the sperm of the husband.

The procedure is usually arranged by an attorney and the usual payment to the surrogate mother is $10,000.

The total cost to the parents-to-be can be as much as $20,000, including the fee to the mother, legal fees, cost of the artificial insemination, insurance on the surrogate mother, her medical expenses, psychological counseling and maternity clothes.

What the parents get for their $10,000-20,000 is a baby that is biologically half theirs, plus a pick of the mother, plus a wait of only nine months plus however long it took to make the arrangements.

That's a lot quicker than adopting a child, which in Michigan must be done through a state licensed agency. That can take up to several years, partly depending on how fussy the parents are about the child they wish to adopt, and involves a careful screening by the agency of the adoptive parents.

Contrast that to the Stiver-Malahoff case. Alexander Malahoff and his wife, who was unable to bear children, decide to have a surrogate aby, apparently in the hopes it would save their rocky marriage. By the time the baby was born, the couple had separated.

It's hard to believe an adoption agency would allow a couple to adopt a child who wanted it in order to save their marriage.

It is apparently illegal for a Michigan couple to obtain a child through a surrogate mother, unless she's willing to do it for free, because the courts prohibit direct payments to the mothers in what is technically an adoption procedure.

Ever since surrogate parenting made the news a few years back, there have been predictions of doom -- the couple paying for the child would decide they didn't want it or the surrogate mother wouldn't want to give it up.

It finally happened with Alexander Malahoff and Ray and Judy Stiver.

Mrs. Stiver gave birth to the child, which had a smaller than normal head, which can be an indicator of mental retardation.

Malahoff quickly claimed the kid wasn't his and sued the Stivers for $50 million, claiming they had violated the terms of the agreement calling for them to abstain from sexual relations for the first 30 days after she was inseminated.

Blood tests subsequently proved Malahoff was not the father. The Stivers, who have decided to raise the child, plan to sue Malahoff for the $10,000 they claim he still owes them.

It quickly became a circus.

Stiver claimed in print and on television that he and his wife hadn't violated the contract. Mrs. Stiver said she agreed to bear the child because they needed the money.

Malahoff told the world that he and his wife had separated.

The law suits didn't deter him or the Stivers from appearing on the Phil Donahue Show last Wednesday (taped for broadcast this week), where the results of the blood tests were announced.

Malahoff said he was "relieved" and the Stivers said the conception may have occurred a day or two before the artificial insemination procedure, but certainly not after.

Hopefully, they will drop their law suits against each other and the baby originally named Alexander and now named Christopher Ray Stiver can be raised in peace.

The mess won't stop surrogate parenting, but hopefully the next time something like it happens, the participants will tell the news media and Phil Donahue, "no comment."

It was reported that 39 percent of the property taxes due in the township, about $190,000, have been collected. Compared to past years, the collection rate is "a little bit slow", according to township clerk Nursie Kloc.

Seek site to distribute free food

Tuscola County Emergency Services Coordinator Jim McCann was planning to be in Cass City Wednesday morning to find a site to establish a "food closet" for use by persons in need.

Of the communities that have expressed willingness to establish the free food program, Cass City and Caro are the only ones where sites haven't been found.

Gagetown is one that has set up one, the location being the township-village hall. Persons in that area with food to donate or who are in need of food are asked to contact Village President Bill Downing, telephone 665-9986.

Donated food must be non-perishable and not need refrigeration.

McCann said he has received calls from persons in the Cass City area wanting to donate food and hopes to have a storage site established in town by the end of the week.

The Human Development Commission in Caro has received loads of beans and potatoes from farmers, which will be distributed among the food closets in the county. It is expecting a truckload of canned goods, McCann said.

Communities which have established food closets, in addition to Gagetown, are Akron, Fairgrove, Millington, Reese, Unionville, Vassar and Mayville.

Lutheran prayer day

Lutheran women throughout the Thumb are expected to participate in the annual Day of Prayer, Tuesday, Feb. 15, sponsored by the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

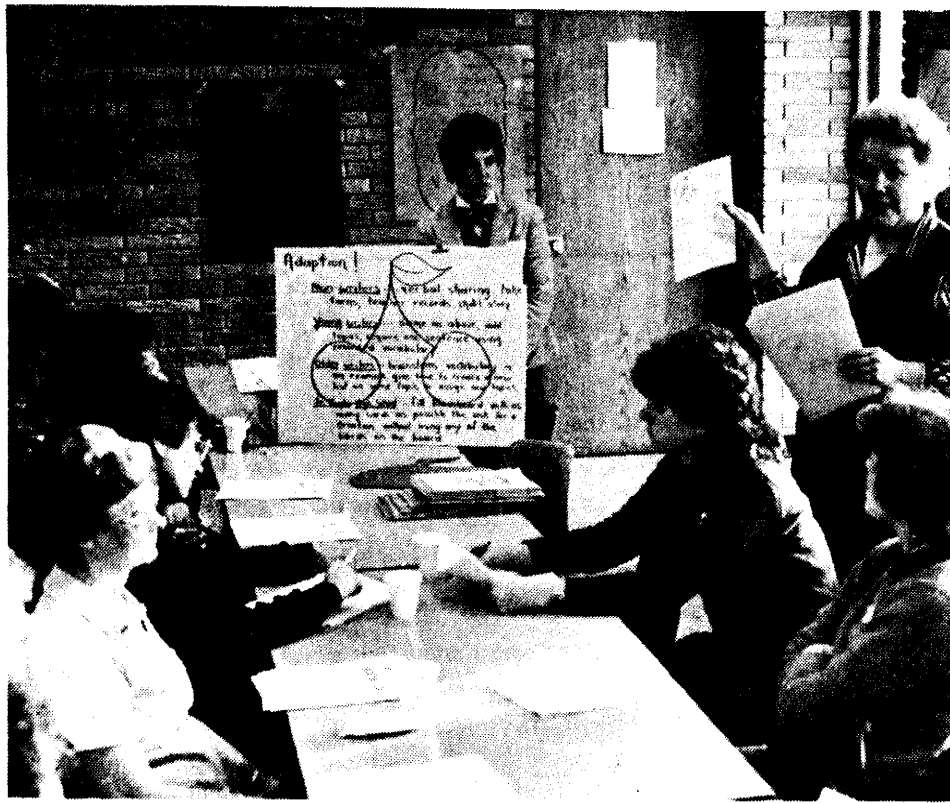

The theme for the service will be "Open the Door," written by Delores Pavicic of North Dakota and prepared for use by LWML members throughout the United States and Canada on, traditionally, the day before Ash Wednesday.

Three centers will host the 17 societies of the Thumb Zone.

An evening service beginning at 7 will be held at Linkville for members from Bach, Cass City, Kilmanagh, Sebewaing, Unionville and Pigeon.

The local services will include a Bible study entitled "Lessons from the Snow." An hour of Christian fellowship will be held following the Bible study.

In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Albert Bahr, Port Hope; Mrs. William Engel, Forestville, and Mrs. Harold Rounds, Linkville.

NUTRITION WORKSHOP -- Nutrition education consultant Marty Doring of the Bay-Arenac Intermediate School District explains some of the activities at the nutrition education workshop held Monday at Cass City High School for hospital dietitians, teachers, school lunch personnel, etc., from Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties. In the background is Amanda Bell, Bay Arenac ISD special education teacher, who presented one of the five workshops for the approximately 25 persons who attended.

Corn marketing day set Feb. 17

Showing farmers how they can make the most of corn's economic potential is the purpose of the 1983 Michigan Corn Production and Marketing Day, Thursday, Feb. 17.

The program starts at 10 a.m. in the Saginaw Civic Center.

Featured speakers include John Marten, Staff Economist for the Farm Journal, who will talk about production, prices and politics for 1983, and Robert Seifert, director of corn breeding for Pioneer Hi-Bred International Corp. He will discuss corn breeding and the future of the corn plant.

Other presentations will cover current Michigan State University research on the direction of the Michigan corn breeding program, the efficient use of nitrogen for high corn yields, effects of corn row width on yield and recommendations for long-term corn grain storage. Additional information will be given about corn forward contracting and selling high moisture corn.

The program also features a daylong clinic on home record keeping. There will be concurrent family focus workshops on stress management, effects of consumer rights on farm families, saving on family food costs, developing overseas markets, children and stress and solar energy.

Corn Day, free and open to the public, is sponsored by the MSU Cooperative Extension Service. More than 50 agribusinesses will display production supplies and equipment. Lunch will be available in the civic center.

Program details can be obtained at county extension offices.

Planners to decide new zoning law

The Cass City Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing Tuesday concerning proposed rezoning of two areas from single family residential to two-family residential.

The hearing will start at 7 p.m. in the municipal building.

The areas proposed for rezoning are for homes along Seeger Street. One area is between Church and Huron Street on the west side and on the east side from a half-block north of Church north to Rose Street. The other area is on both sides of Seeger between Seventh and Third Streets.

The thought by the village council when it authorized the planning commission to conduct the hearing was that the change would allow owners of large old homes in those areas, some of whom are widowed and live alone, to convert part of their structure into an apartment they can rent for extra income.

Although there aren't any vacant lots in the two areas, should any new homes ever be built there, they could be built to accommodate two families.

Also to be considered at the hearing is a change in the zoning regulation to reduce the minimum floor area in a two-family dwelling from the presently required 720-square-foot to 650 square feet.

If the planning commission approves the proposed zoning changes following the hearing, its approval goes to the village council in the form of a recommendation. The council has the final say-so concerning the suggested changes.

Baptist women plan banquet

Fourteen women attended the monthly meeting of the Missionary Fellowship Monday evening in the First Baptist Church.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Rick Parrott and prayer for missionaries was led by Mrs. Rosella Kretschmer.

Presiding over the business meeting was Mrs. Arthur Fisher. A note was read from the children's home at St. Louis thanking the group for having adopted a child at Christmas time.

Plans were made for a mother-daughter banquet in May and for a brunch to be held later in the year.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Myrtle McCall and Mrs. Fisher.

Number of cattle up 3 percent

Michigan cattle numbers continued to increase during 1982 as the year-end inventory reached 1.5 million head, up 3 percent from a year earlier, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

It was Michigan's largest January cattle inventory since 1977.

Larger numbers of beef replacement heifers and young calves contributed most to the overall inventory increase.

Nationally, the cattle inventory as of Jan. 1, at 115 million head, was down fractionally from a year ago. This was the first downward trend in cattle inventories in the last four years.

Cattle on feed for slaughter on Jan. 1 at 12 million head were up 13 percent from last year.

A proposal to establish a musical instrument fund to purchase a piano or organ was approved after much discussion.

Vicki Alexander, daughter of John Alexander, Sebewaing, and Joan Setula, Kawkawlin, was selected as student of the month by the Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education at its January meeting.

A senior, she is president of National Honor Society and the high school band. She is also a member of the yearbook staff and was a member of Future Homemakers of America for two

Miss Alexander has been selected for Tri-County Honors Band all four years and has received state solo and ensemble proficiency ratings for two years. In 1981, she was a member of the Blue Lake International Symphony Band, first chair, and in 1982 was fourth chair in the Michigan Lion's All State Band. Miss Alexander was awarded two Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp scholarships as well.

She attends Immanuel Lutheran Church of Sebewaing.

Miss Alexander plans to attend Central Michigan University and continue her education in music.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

It cost the Tuscola County Road Commission about $15,000 extra to dig out from the Jan. 26 snowstorm. With some more snow since and drifting, road clearing has been a continual effort.

Denise Joellen Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fox of Cass City, received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas in Austin at the end of the fall semester. She graduated with honors from the College of Natural Sciences, having majored in microbiology.

Gerald Elenbaum of Owendale was appointed recently by Gov. William G. Milliken to a three-year term on the Michigan Bean Commission. He will represent Huron County.

About 120 persons attended the sweetheart banquet Sunday evening at Salem United Methodist Church. The dining room was decorated with a Valentine's Day theme by Christine Buehry, Kay Loomis and Dawn and Lisa Wilson.

TEN YEARS AGO

Volunteers are expected to be rapping on doors sometime this month in an effort to raise some $210,000 to build a four-man clinic on Hill Street directly east of Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Stanley Morell and James Dennis of Caro were two of a party of seven men who hunted snowshoe rabbits near Lake City. The hunters bagged 15 rabbits.

Karen S. Hahn has been named Cass City High School's 1973 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Mike Weaver, one of five partners that have purchased the former Cass City Hospital Building, issued a statement that the owners were not interested in renting the building to doctors.

25 YEARS AGO

Confirmation of the appointment of Frank Rolka of Caro as the new Tuscola County Republican Committee chairman is expected Friday. He will replace Al Kirkendall of Vassar, who resigned last week.

Don Keblor, assistant county agricultural agent, announced this week that the series of farmer clinics held at Deford proved successful. A total of 352 persons attended the five meetings.

Cass City qualified three students for the state festival Saturday and earned the most favorable comments in recent years from the judges for their musical abilities in the district solo and ensemble festival in Saginaw. Qualifying were Nadene Winters, Craig Winters and Theresa McCormick.

The Elmwood Extension Group met at the home of Mrs. Grover Laurie Wednesday, Feb. 5. At the close of the business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Donnelly and Mrs. James Milligan.

35 YEARS AGO

Announcement has been made of the purchase of a son of Captain Bold to head the herd of registered Holsteins of Dolan Sweeney. New shelving, new paint and new arrangement of store facilities have wrought a remarkable transformation in the Henry Tate Grocery. The improvements were nearly completed this week.

Genevieve Pena, who has owned and operated the Be-Lov-Lee Beauty Studio here since December, 1943, sold the business and equipment to Patricia

Social Security base now $35,700

The 1983 Social Security wage base -- the maximum amount of annual earnings on which Social Security taxes are paid -- has increased to $35,700, according to William T. Clynes, Social Security district manager in Saginaw. The 1982 base was $32,400.

Since the Social Security tax rate remains unchanged at 6.7 percent for 1983, most people will not pay more in Social Security taxes this year unless they have higher earnings than in 1982, Clynes said. People who earn more than $32,400 in 1983 will pay more in total Social Security taxes.

People who earn more than $35,700 in 1983 will pay total Social Security taxes of $2,391.90, which is $221.10 more than the $2,170.80 they paid in 1982.

Employers match the Social Security taxes paid by employees.

Also increasing in 1983 is the amount of annual earnings required to earn a "quarter of coverage," the measure used to determine eligibility for benefits. In 1983 a person will earn one quarter of coverage for each $370 in annual earnings up to a total of four quarters of coverage if annual earnings are $1,480 or more.

The number of quarters a person needs to be eligible for benefits depends on his or her date of birth. No one can become eligible with fewer than six quarters of coverage and no one will ever need more than 40 quarters.

More information about Social Security taxes, quarters of coverage, and benefits can be obtained at the Saginaw office at the corner of East Genesee and North Warren Streets. The telephone number is 771-1010.

Deadlines for farm programs

Sign-up has begun at county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services offices for the 1983 federal wheat and feed grain (corn, barley and oats) program.

New this year is the payment in kind (PIK) program for wheat and corn. There is no PIK program for barley and oats.

Deadlines are as follows: Feb. 15 -- Last day to file base or yield appeals. Farmers who failed to report their 1980 and/or 1981 program crops can file an appeal and pay a late filing fee to establish bases.

March 1 -- Last day to turn in proven yield evidence for this year's program.

March 11 -- Last day to sign up for the acreage reduction and PIK programs.

March 18 -- Whole base PIK bids will be reviewed by county Agricultural and Stabilization Conservation Committees, with lowest percentage bids being accepted first.

Bids will not be approved in excess of the total county base. For Tuscola County, the total corn base is 109,000 acres and for wheat, 44,809 acres.

RLDS women donate funds to church projects

The Owendale Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Women's Department met Jan. 20 at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Haley, with Mrs. Darlene Kuenzli as co-hostess.

The meeting was directed by Mrs. Clayton Gemmell, women's leader.

Mrs. Valerie Graves chose Ephesians 15: verse 16 as the call to worship. The women joined together in singing "Help Us Accept Each Other," followed by prayer. Mrs. Ardis Gemmell taught the lesson, "friendship principles." It was discussed at length by the group.

For roll call, 12 members answered to "something we would like to accomplish this year in our group."

During the business meeting, it was decided to use proceeds of $492 to purchase fans for the church chapel. The rest of the bazaar monies will be used for the building fund.

A committee of Mrs. Lois Rousse, Mrs. Evelyn Haley, and Mrs. Floyd Ziehm was formed to purchase needed cooking utensils from the petty cash fund.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess and co-hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Valerie Graves, Elkton.

Letter to editor

5 tips to help victims of accidental burning

To the Editor,

I would like to express concern regarding something that can happen to anyone, at anytime, any age within seconds and is an injury that could last a lifetime. That injury is burns.

I am the Jaycette District 13 burns coordinator for Huron and parts of Sanilac and Tuscola Counties.

I have written, talked, collected donations and signed petitions. Along with my state and local representatives, we have urged people to get "bugged" about burns. Yet until something as severely painful and possibly disfiguring as a burn happens to you or your loved ones, it really does not hit home.

Sunday night, Jan. 30, burns hit home for our family.

While preparing spaghetti, I poured the noodles with their scalding water out of the kettle into a strainer. Within a second the hot scalding water sprang out of the colander and down onto my jeans.

My first reaction - panic - then quickly I removed the clothes holding the burning liquid on my skin. I immediately doused the burned area with cool water until the burning sensation subsided.

Due to my quick reaction I saved my legs from being severely burned. I consider myself very, very fortunate to have only minor burns. It just proves no one is safe from the danger and devastation of burn accidents.

The National Institute for Burn Medicine has an excellent pamphlet regarding burn prevention and first aid, which offers these suggestions:

- 1) Stop the damage. Put fire out by dropping and rolling. Pull off burning clothes or those with hot liquid on.
- 2) Cool the area with water - this stops the burning process continuing in the skin tissues.
- 3) If a large area is burned, wrap person in clean sheet and immediately transfer to a hospital emergency room.

emergency room.

4) For small burns, wash with soap and cool water. No ice! Apply vaseline or Noxzema and cover with sterile gauze.

5) If any doubt what to do, call your doctor or hospital. When people get burned they need help. The District 13 Jaycettes want to help. For questions or pamphlets, contact your local Jaycettes or me.

Thank You,
Linda Rich,
Pigeon

Your neighbor says

Kostanko: Reagan is doing okay

President Ronald Reagan, who celebrated his 72nd birthday Sunday, is midway through his four-year term.

How does Michael Kostanko think he's doing?

"He's done quite a bit in his first two years, but there's a lot more to be done," he responded.

"I'd like to see him do a lot more for the working man," Kostanko said. "I'd like to see more work projects."

Kostanko, 67, worked in the Civilian Conservation Corps from 1935-37, a Depression era job program.

"That was good for young people then and I don't see why it wouldn't be good for young people today." He suggested they could be put to work in forests, campgrounds and woods.

Kostanko feels the United States could spend less on defense than President Reagan wants and still have a strong military. "I would like to see a little more used to put some more unemployed to work and a little less for defense."

The Kelly Road, Cass City, resident has confidence in the president. "Our president is not going to be a pushover. If Russia puts pressure on us, I believe he'll be right in the forefront."

Kostanko also feels

Holmberg speaks to women's society

The St. Pancratius Women's Council met Monday evening. President Mrs. John Tomczak opened the meeting and Mrs. Richard Erla offered prayer.

Arthur Holmberg showed slides of his trip to Sweden and told a little of his background as to his ancestors.

Some men parishioners attended. Mrs. Henry Ardler reported on the church council meeting.

Mrs. Nina Davis gave a report on the banner that is being painted. She is also in charge of planning for Holy Thursday night, with a potluck to follow in the church hall.

Refreshments were served by the Women's Council officers.

ASK DR. COE

By Dalton P. Coe, D.D.S.

The month of February has been designated as National Children's Dental Month. This year's slogan is "Smile America. Healthy Smiles Last A Lifetime". The slogan has been chosen to convey the message that future dental health of a child starts now.

The American Dental Association is once again offering a variety of informative and promotional materials to mark National Children's Dental Health Month. Individuals wishing to participate in local dental health month activities may obtain these materials by contacting the Michigan Dental Association through their dentist.

I would like to restate my belief in the importance of prevention. For a child's teeth sometimes the future really is now. Levels of fluoride in their present diet will influence the hardness of their teeth. Application of fluoride solutions may be used to harden the surface of their teeth during their "cavity prone" years. Good eating habits, for example limited intake of sugars, may be formed in the early years. And, of course, effective removal of bacterial plaque may be taught at an early age.

I believe one of the first gifts a parent can give a child is a "preferred" dental future. So "Smile America. Healthy Smiles Last A Lifetime".

Cass City wins pair to roll to top in Thumb B

The Cass City Red Hawks easily whipped talent-poor Mayville Wildcats Tuesday night, 72-55, in a non-conference tune-up for major battles ahead in the Thumb B Association.

Friday the Hawks play at Sandusky and the Redskins surprised everybody last Friday by defeating Marlette and Cass City can't afford to look past them if they are going to continue on top in the league.

It would be natural if they did for next Tuesday Cass City will be at Lakers in a key battle for the top in the Thumb B.

There wasn't much fan interest in the game Tuesday as Mayville brought only the parents and the cheerleaders to the game and Cass City fans also stayed home in droves as they rightly figured that they wouldn't see much of a game.

It was all over but the shouting after the first quarter. Cass City jumped in front in the opening two minutes and then raced to a 17-7 lead by the time the quarter ended.

After that Coach Ron Nurnberger ran players in and out all night as everybody logged playing time and 12 of the 13 players on the squad scored.

By the end of the half Cass City was in front 37-19 and at the end of three quarters the lead was stretched to 53-33. Joe Langenburg with 15 points and Rick Pobanz with 14 topped Cass City's scorers. Brian Middleton scored 12 for Mayville.

TWO IN ROW

The Hawk junior varsity which has been struggling made it two in a row with a 57-51 decision in the preliminary. Cass City raced to a big first half lead and then coasted in for the win.

BAD AXE GAME

Look who is perched on top of the Thumb B Association following Friday's games around the league.

Cass City vaulted to the top of the heap Friday with a scrambling victory over Bad Axe Hatchets, 57-53, at Cass City High School.

The perch on the peak is by no means a secure one. Cass City won over a Hatchet squad that was forced to play without its top star, Mike Epperson.

Epperson is the team's best rebounder and without him Bad Axe was no match on the boards for the taller Hawks.

It was a good thing that the Hawks did control the rebounds for the old bug-a-boo of the squad returned again Friday.

The team was guilty of 14 turnovers, and that could prove fatal down the road when the Hawks will play rapidly improving Caro and the Lakers.

Shetler's undefeated

No upsets in recreation loop

In a game much closer than the final score indicated Monday, Jan. 31, tail-end Tuff-Kote was defeated by Walpole and Holmes, 102-81, in the Cass City Recreation League.

The losers actually led at the intermission. After one period, the Lawyers were in front, 22-21, but at the half it was Tuff-Kote by three, 46-43. Walpole and Holmes bounced back to take the lead, 67-64, at the end of the third quarter and then poured in 35 points in the last quarter to post the win by a comfortable margin.

Ken Martin, 22 points, Rick Tuckey, 20, and Jeff Hartel, 16, led the Lawyers while Jim Schramski, 24, Todd Dubey, 20, and Bob Fabian, 17, were in double figures for Tuff-Kote.

In the nightcap, Colwood Bar raced to a 24-6 advantage in the first quarter to win easily over Erla's, 88-62. The winners were ahead at the half, 46-26, and added nine points to the margin in the third period to lead, 72-43, from where they coasted in for the win.

Tom Koch, 25, Brent Mowry, 16, and Randy Adlam, 14, paced Colwood, while Roy Calahan, 22 points, and Paul Battel, 11 points, topped Erla's.

In the only game played Wednesday, Feb. 2, Shetler's had little trouble topping Charmont, 100-69, to remain undefeated.

It was all over in the first quarter as the winners charged in front 22-9 and the game was never in doubt. Charmont closed to 42-35 at the half, but was never able to come closer.

For Shetler's Bill McLellan, 20 points, Jack Paul, 19, and Ross Voelker, 17, were in double figures. Todd Comment led all scorers with 29 points while Tim Sontag and Rusty Hoag added 14 each.

Tips about currency for travelers

It's that time again, and with the dollar increasing in value, more vacationers and businessmen will be traveling abroad. To help prepare for your trip, here are seven tips from experts in foreign currency exchange and other travel services:

- When changing dollars or traveler's checks abroad, do not exchange them at hotels, restaurants and shops. They usually give lower exchange rates. Banks are better, or you can...

- Plan ahead—convert your currency prior to your trip. One way is to purchase foreign currency by mail. You can do this by contacting Deak-Perera, currency specialists, 29 Broadway, New York, NY 10006, Dept. RW-20.

- Be prepared—for at least the first two days of your trip, with enough local currency to cover basic expenses. For security, keep additional funds in foreign or U.S. dollar denominated traveler's checks.

REACH OUT—Mike Powell (32) tries to grab a rebound away from Kingston's Greg DeBlois in Friday night's game. Powell led Owen-Gage in scoring with 19 points. DeBlois scored six points.

Bulldogs nip Kingston 58-54

Owen-Gage revenged an earlier season loss to Kingston with a 58-54 win over the Cardinals Friday night.

The home team Bulldogs trailed by two points at the end of the first quarter, but pulled ahead in the second to lead 26-18 by halftime.

They were ahead by six at the three-quarter mark, but then Kingston picked up steam and with 4:02 left on the clock, the Cardinals were only behind by two, 48-46.

The visitors were unable to get any closer, however, and coach Claude Stevens' squad gained its third North Central Thumb D League win of the season, versus eight losses. The team is 4-10 overall.

Kingston, coached by Mike Rea, is 3-7 in the league and 4-7 overall.

The victors improved their free throw shooting percentage, hitting on 16 of 26 shots (61.5 percent), plus sinking 21 field goals. Leading scorers were Mike Powell with 19 points and Dan Glidden with 14.

High scorer for Kingston was Greg Wenzlaff with 14 points, and Larry Smith with 12. Their team sank 19 field goals and was 16 of 24 at the charity line (67 percent).

The Cardinals won the junior varsity game, 64-54. Owen-Gage has no games this week. It resumes action Tuesday, February 15, at Peck.

Thank you to Pastor Wood, Shirley Shaw, Helen Rayl, those who acted as pallbearers and the ladies of First Baptist Church who served the meal. Thank you for the beautiful flowers, memorials, cards and food brought to our homes and to all who called at the funeral home. The family of Edith Ewald. 13-2-10-1

WE WOULD like to thank all those who were so helpful last week; the fire departments that responded to our call and also a special thanks to our friends and neighbors who helped that night and the following day. Your assistance and support were greatly appreciated. Kim and Barbara Anthony. 13-2-10-1

Valuations for county told they have to make adjustments up or down in individual assessments.

For instance, if a 5 percent increase in agricultural is called for, the supervisor must add to the values of farms (it can be more for some and less for others) so that he comes up with an average increase of 5 percent.

The value for each farm, required by state law, is supposed to be 50 percent of the true cash value, though a range of 49-51 percent is permissible.

Individual property owners who disagree with their assessments can appeal to their township board of review, which meets in early March.

Once the review boards complete their work, their figures go to the county board of commissioners.

Commissioners can accept each township's figures or add a factor (percentage increase) to any they feel aren't in line with other townships.

County boards must adopt their final equalization report in April.

From there, the reports go to the STC, which can impose a factor countywide, thus boosting everyone's assessment, if it feels a county's valuation is too low.

TRUTH IN TAXATION

As mentioned, whatever property values are finally established have an effect on property taxes. If millage rates stay the same, but assessments are higher, property taxes go up. If they go down, which will be the case in some places this year, so will property taxes.

Governmental units — county boards, school boards, village councils, township boards, etc. — have always had the option of levying less millage than authorized to offset increasing property values.

They still have that option, but starting last year, there has been a "truth in taxation" law. It requires such units to conduct a public hearing before voting to accept higher revenue resulting from higher valuations.

If they choose not to conduct a hearing, they have to reduce their millage so that they collect no more revenue from property taxes than they did the year before.

Several area units chose to roll back their millage last year, including Cass City Village Council, Elkland, Elmwood and Novesta Townships.

The Regular Meeting of Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held January 25, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal building. All Trustees were present with the exception of Trustee Weaver.

Recommendations were received from Hubbell, Roth and Clark Inc., Village Engineers, and approved by E.P.A., D.N.R. and F.H.A. on the storage building and sludge spreader for the Wastewater Treatment Plant. It was recommended that the low bid of $6,950.00 from Bastian Builders of Kingston for the storage building be accepted. A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Ware to accept the recommendation. Motion carried 5 years 0 days.

It was also recommended that the bid in the amount of $13,597.00 from Enos Farm Supply of Cass City on the sludge spreader be accepted. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Hampshire to accept the recommendation. Motion carried 5 years 0 days.

The minutes of the regular December meeting were approved as presented.

The December Preliminary Financial Statement was reviewed.

The Utilities committee reported that the Village will withhold the amount of $65,517.31 from the next payment received on the Wastewater Treatment project to cover the actual damages incurred by the Village because of the contractors failure to complete the project on the scheduled date. This was agreed upon between the Village of Cass City and H. C. Weber Construction Co.

The Transient Merchants Ordinance is to be continued on the agenda.

A motion was made by Trustee McIntosh and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum to adopt a resolution to open an account of deposit known as Chemical Money Fund at Chemical Bank Cass City. Roll Call Vote: McIntosh-yea, Ware-yea, Helwig-yea, Stahlbaum-yea, Hampshire-yea. Motion carried 5 years 0 days.

Word was received from Alan Kico that upon receiving more input from the community the committee has withdrawn their request for a cross in the park. He thanked the council for their consideration.

The Superintendent's report was reviewed.

A certificate was awarded to Gary Barnes of the D.P.W. for completion of a course on Applied Mathematics for Water and Wastewater. Personnel from the Michigan Section of the American Water Works Association, Michigan Water Pollution Control Association and Michigan Department of Public Health.

A contribution in the amount $300.00 was gratefully accepted from Novesta Township for the recreations program.

It was noted that the planning Commission will

CASS CITY SCHOOL NEWS

Perhaps John Haire is the only person who read this column when it appeared in the Chronicle the first time. We hope that is not the case, but his suggestion to mention the school citizen committees was truly appreciated. It is genuinely hoped that others in the community will also offer suggestions on topics that will be of interest to the patrons of our school district.

Sincerely,
Donald G. Crouse

Help!!!

One thing there is never too much of is good, honest, sincere help. The Board of Education and the administration at the Cass City Public Schools are fortunate to be benefiting from two groups of citizens that have organized as advisor groups.

The Citizens Advisory Committee is chaired by Louie Horner and is actively involved in helping the Board determine the future direction of our school system. They are presently analyzing the results of a survey form that was completed by students in our school system and residents of the district. An analysis of the survey results will be presented at the next Board meeting which will be February 14th.

The Ag Advisory Committee, which is chaired by Dave Milligan, has met several times and submitted a number of recommendations to the Board which were adopted.

The members of both groups have given freely of their personal time and are receptive to any positive suggestions for the improvement of our school system, as is the Board of Education. It is a pleasure to have forces like these in our community and we hope that more people will wish to be involved.

Driving Education for First Grade Students???

Yes, the first grade students in the Cass City Schools will be driving a car February 15th or 16th. They will also be riding a bus and walking and crossing streets—all in the Deford Elementary Gym. These activities are part of a program called "Safetyville" that is sponsored by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department. A miniature town will be set up that has stores, streets, railroads, flashing lights, etc. and is made of props that were made or donated by civic groups. The safety tour takes about 1½ hours per classroom and is designed to instill in the children the basic rules of safety. Our local police department and the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department certainly deserve our thanks for making this fine program available.

The Big Bee is Coming

February is the shortest month in the year but for many fourth graders it doesn't seem that way. February, for them, means the Tuscola County Spelling Bee. They are now preparing for and going through room spell downs which will be completed by February 18th. The five room winners will travel to the Caro Skills Center on Tuesday, February 22, and compete with other room winners from the county. Last year, David Coe from our Campbell Elementary School was the first place winner over 40 other contestants. Mrs. Freiburger, Campbell Elementary Principal, is the chairman of the spelling bee this year.

One in a Thousand!!!

On December 8th, Scott Geiger took the second part of the Michigan Math Prize Competition Test. He qualified to take the second part of the test by scoring high on the first part. Only one in each thousand is invited to take the second part. Scholarships are awarded to the students with the highest scores.

Three Show at Mall!!!

Kris Clara, Suzy Scollon and Beth Tuckey displayed their art talents at Hampton Square Mall from January 29th to February 6th. Their works were part of a regional exhibit of high school art conducted by Scholastic Magazines, Inc. Over 534 works were submitted from 30 schools with 100 selected for acceptance. The works submitted by Kris Clara and Suzy Scollon received merit awards. The water color submitted by Beth Tuckey received a blue ribbon. The art works receiving blue ribbons are sent to New York to compete in national competition.

Title I guideAR Program

No, the Chronicle did not make a mistake in the caption to this article. We asked them to print it that way to demonstrate one type of reading disability.

Students with reading disabilities must be given different instruction in learning to read. In the Cass City Schools we have three reading specialists to provide help for these special problems. The remedial reading program is completely paid for with federal funds.

It has been discovered that most verbal skills are learned on the left side of the brain. The right side is given more to activities such as art and music. Sometimes art and music activities may be used to teach reading where a student has failed with left brain instruction.

These findings are new so there is much experimentation and research being done on this subject. If you are interested in current research, you may wish to write to the Orton Dyslexia Society, 724 York Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21204.
