

5 tries needed to put out house fire

It took Elmwood Township-Gagetown firemen five tries and a total of 15 hours Saturday and Sunday before extinguishing a stubborn house fire.

The home, owned by Harold Schaefer and rented by Joseph Groleau, was located on Colwood Road, three-quarters of a mile south of Bay City-Forestville Road.

Groleau, 70, his step-granddaughter, Pearl Moore, 18, who lived with him, and Tina Miller, a friend of Miss Moore who was visiting, all were injured and taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital by ambulance.

Miss Miller was released from there Sunday. The other two were reported in fair condition at the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

The fire was reported the first time at 11:09 Saturday morning.

Richard Smith of Cass City Road, Cass City, told the Chronicle he was driving by the home when he spotted the flames. "She was full blast by the time I got here." He went up to the house just as all three were escaping. Miss Moore jumped out a window.

Smith then drove to a neighbor's house, where the fire department was called. He then drove back and the three occupants of the home stayed in his pickup until the ambulance arrived.

Smith said all three were wearing pajamas, so speculated they were asleep when the fire started.

All were too disturbed to say what had started the fire. Schaefer, the owner, said Miss Moore had mentioned something about a heater starting it, "but was too shook up" to say any more. The Elmwood-Gagetown department was aided the first time by the Elkland Township, Owendale and Unionville Fire Departments.

Gagetown firemen were the last to leave, at 4:15. At that time, the house was still standing, although it was a total loss.

They were called back at 11:23 that night and on Sunday at 1:53 and 10:20 a.m. and 11:40 p.m. after neighbors spotted the home burning again. By the final time, the structure had collapsed into the basement.

What made the fire so hard to extinguish, Fire Chief Chuck Wright said, was that underneath the siding and the plaster, the house was built of logs, which were burning.

Cause of the fire remains under investigation.

According to Schaefer, of Huron Line Road, Gagetown, the home was valued on tax records at $20,000-25,000 but was only insured for $10,000. He said Groleau had lived there more than 15 years.

Groleau and his step-granddaughter lost everything in the fire.

According to Miss Moore's sister, Elizabeth Maurer of Sebawaing, both are in need of clothing.

Groleau wears trousers with a 40-inch waist and 28-inch length, shirts with a 17½-inch neck, a size 40 coat and size 10½ shoes.

Miss Moore is about 5-foot-3 or 4 inches tall and wears size 16 or 17 clothing. Persons with items to donate can call Mrs. Maurer at 883-2691.

As of Monday evening, she was hoping they would stay with her temporarily after they got out of the hospital. She said neither had talked yet about what might have started the fire.

HOUSE FIRE -- Firemen from four departments Saturday fought the fire the first time in the home that had been occupied by Joe Groleau and his step-granddaughter. Elmwood Township-Gagetown firemen had to return four more times before the fire was finally out.

Transient merchant control dropped

Auditors say Cass City in good shape financially

Cass City is financially healthy, the village council was told Tuesday evening.

"You haven't set the world on fire, but you sure are solvent," Gary Keller of the certified public accounting firm of Yeo and Yeo told the council in presenting the 1982 annual audit.

"I think on an overall basis, the 1982 year was a good year for the village," he said.

The best indicator of the village's financial health, according to Keller, was the general fund balance. Cass City started 1982 with a balance of $137,727. It ended the year with $172,243.

In terms of money actually in the bank, Cass City had $139,584 in general fund cash and investments as of Dec. 31.

General fund revenue totaled $468,045 last year. Expenditures totaled $450,372.

Total revenue for all village funds last year was $1.28 million, compared to $3.23 million in 1981. The main reason for the big drop, Keller explained, was that most of the federal and state funds for the sewage treatment plant were received in 1981.

The village ended the year with a total balance for all its various funds of $298,611, compared to $270,057 one year earlier.

TRANSIENT MERCHANTS

Last August, a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce asked the council to do something about transient merchants who come to town for a few days to sell merchandise, usually from trucks, and then leave.

The village's attorney, Clinton House, then prepared a control ordinance that would have made requirements for temporary merchants more stringent than for merchants in business here permanently. Presumably, the transients would have avoided Cass City, rather than comply with the ordinance.

House presented the proposed ordinance in October. Since then, the council has postponed action on it from month to month.

Tuesday, trustees decided to drop the matter from their agenda, since nothing had been heard from any merchants since last fall. It will be up to the Chamber of Commerce to ask for the measure to be reintroduced.

REZONING

By a 6-0 vote, the council approved the recommendation of the planning commission to rezone most of the houses along Seeger Street from single-family residential to allow them to be converted to two-family.

Also approved as part of the commission's recommendation was that the minimum floor space for two-family dwellings be reduced from 720 square feet per unit to 650.

The only discussion by the council concerned comments made at the commission's Feb. 15 public hearing.

OTHER ITEMS

The council authorized soliciting bids for sale of the 1980 Plymouth police car, which has been replaced.

The car has 116,000 miles on it except for the engine, a used replacement for the original one.

The village is planning this year to rebuild Rose Street between Oak and Seeger Streets from its present decrepit two lanes to three lanes. Rose Street runs by the intermediate school and Campbell Elementary.

It has been discovered the village doesn't have as much right-of-way for the project as it thought, and will need an additional 23 feet on the north side, which will have to be granted by the school board.

Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said in reply to a question that because of continual freezing and thawing, this winter has been harder on village streets than last winter.

There were 6.8 million gallons of water used in January, compared to 7.6 million in January, 1982. That continues a trend of declining usage, which prompted one council member to ask whether water rates might have to some day be increased to offset the reduced revenue from reduced usage.

Village President Lambert Althaver responded that is a possibility, though not this year and hopefully not after that.

"I'm optimistic the economy will improve so water usage won't get so low that we will have to raise rates," he said.

Cass City has applied for $1.970 in federal funds from the Thumb Area Consortium for printing of 2,000 additional copies of the Cass City industrial and business recruitment brochure.

Thieves steal $17,700 in guns and scopes

State police from the Caro post are investigating the theft of 36 guns and 39 rifle scopes from Eigner's Sports Headquarters during the week end.

Total value of the stolen items was approximately $17,700.

The store is located on N. Van Buren Road, Fairgrove. The break-in occurred between the time the store closed Saturday and its opening Monday.

Everything stolen was new. Taken were 19 rifles and shotguns and 17 handguns, of various sizes and makes, which ranged in value from $125-550 each. The stolen scopes were worth from $140-200 each. Also taken was a small amount of ammunition.

Troopers said entry to the building was gained by breaking through a panel in a garage door and then breaking open two locked doors, all in the rear of the building.

Survey opinions differ

Academics comes first, but what comes next?

Students, teachers and members of the public agree that academic subjects are most important in school.

But after that comes a divergence of opinion. Students feel sports are the second most important except for 11th and 12th graders, who rank vocational education second, as does the public. Teachers rank fine arts (art, music, etc.) second, but rank vocational education a close third.

Those are among the findings of the survey conducted by the citizens advisory committee to the Cass City Board of Education, results of which were presented to the board Feb. 14.

The survey was given to all students in grades 5-12, for a total of 1,007 responses. Forty teachers, of a total of 73 (plus administrators) filled out survey forms. There were 161 members of the public who recorded their opinions.

The committee will study the responses further before making recommendations to the school board on actions it feels it should take.

SATISFACTION

In grades 5-6, 46 percent of the students said they were "very well satisfied" with the job being done by the schools. Only 12 percent of those in grades 7-8 felt that; 9-10, 7 percent; and 11-12, 4 percent.

Indicating they were "fairly well satisfied" were 45 percent of those in grades 5-6; 75 percent in 7-8; and 74 percent in 9-10 and 11-12.

Nine percent of 5th-6th graders were "not very satisfied;" 13 percent of those in grades 7-8; 19 percent in 9-10; and 22 percent in 11-12.

Adults were asked to express their satisfaction on a scale of 1-10, with 1 being "poor" and 10 "superior." Forty-one percent ranked the schools from 1-5 (5 was the highest response with 19 percent) and 59 percent chose from 6-10, with the most, 24 percent, giving the schools an 8.

All of the teachers who answered the survey gave the schools from a 6-10, with 48 percent rating them an 8.

Eighty-five percent of the teachers thought the schools are spending money wisely, compared to 53 percent of the citizens.

Forty-nine percent of all the students said the schools were spending money wisely, 51 disagreed.

STUDENTS

What ranks as most important to students? Seventy-four percent of them gave a 1 or 2 rating (on a scale of 4) to academic subjects, math, English, science, history, etc.

Sports came next, with 56 percent of them giving it a 1 or 2. Vocational education (wood shop, home economics, Skill Center, etc.) received a 1 or 2 from 45 percent. Fine arts (instrumental or vocal music, art, etc.) received a 1 or 2 from 24 percent.

Students were asked what they liked most and least about the schools.

The favorites of fifth and sixth graders, in declining order starting with the most popular, were teachers, social atmosphere, art, sports; grades 7-8, sports, teachers, classes, lunch; 9-10, information not available; and 11-12, sports, teachers' attitudes and methods, class subjects and material offered, and social atmosphere.

Dislikes, starting with the biggest dislike, were: 5-6, lunch, bathrooms, work, fighting; 7-8, lunch, classes, teachers, building and fixtures; 9-10, not available; and 11-12, point system (demerits for being tardy, skipping class, etc., which can result in suspension from school), teacher attitudes and methods (which was also the second most liked), food and cafeteria, and length of classes, time between classes, etc.

What students disliked wasn't necessarily reflected in how they responded to the question of, "What do you think are the problems with which the Cass City schools must deal?"

Half the students ranked use of drugs and alcohol as their first, second or third choice.

Next came crime, vandals, stealing, lack of safety or morality. Third was lack of proper financial support and fourth was lack of interest.

Response by class varied. Fifth and sixth graders most often mentioned crime, vandals, etc.; 7-8, lack of proper financial support; Please turn to page 16.

Woman dies when car is rammed

William H. Kelley of Caro was arraigned in Tuscola County District Court Tuesday, charged with manslaughter in connection with the Saturday traffic death of Marilyn Michrina, 44, of 3220 Plain Road, Caro.

The accident took place on M-46, six miles west of Kingston. It was reported at 12:05 a.m.

According to Caro state police, the victim, who was eastbound on M-46, was slowing to turn right on Lee Hill Road when her car was struck in the rear by the Kelley vehicle.

Both vehicles burst into flames, which had to be extinguished by the Caro Fire Department.

The victim, who was burned beyond recognition, was the first person to die in a traffic accident in the county this year.

Tentative identification was based on the car being registered to Ms. Michrina, items in her purse being identified as hers and she was identified as having been in the area 10 minutes before the accident.

An autopsy performed at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw revealed she died of head injuries suffered in the initial impact, not from burns. The body was released to her family Tuesday.

Kelley, 30, of 2805 Hurds Corner Road, pleaded innocent to the manslaughter charge when he appeared before Judge Richard F. Kern.

He was released on $3,500 personal recognizance bond. Pre-preliminary examination was scheduled Monday and preliminary examination March 11.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Deputies reported that at 4 a.m. last Thursday, Donnie K. Harp, 34, of 6959 Walsh Road, Gagetown, was northbound on Cedar Run Road, south of Dale Road, when he lost control of his car after going over a hill.

The vehicle went off the right side of the road, struck a traffic sign, slid sideways into a tree, spun around, jumped over a driveway culvert and came to rest on a lawn.

Cass City police reported that at 3:15 p.m. Friday, June J. Luetke, 57, of 6204 N. Cemetery Road was backing out of a parking place in the Erla's Food Center lot and backed into a car.

Driver of the car was Madelyn A. Skaggs, 52, of 7211 Deckerville Road.

David R. Purvis, 18, of 1665 Froede Road, Deford, told deputies he was southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Shabbona Road, when he braked to avoid hitting a deer.

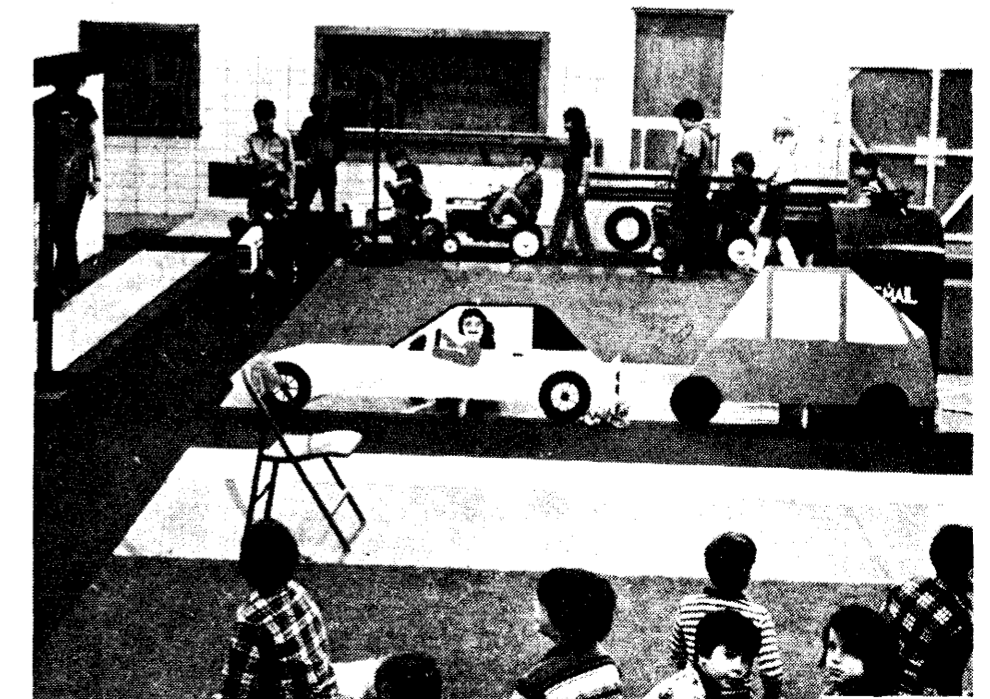

He lost control of his car on the wet pavement and it went off the east side of the road. The accident occurred at 9:10 a.m. Saturday.

Ron Voss of 1860 Crawford Road, Deford, told deputies at 7 a.m. Feb. 11 that his car had collided with a deer on Crawford, near Severance Road.

Voss, driving the same car, also collided with a deer Feb. 1. The car wasn't damaged either time, he told the Chronicle.

WATER -- The nearby King Drain provided a convenient source of water for fighting the Schaefer house fire Saturday. The Unionville Fire Department owns the pump, so two of its firemen put the hoses in place.

SAFETYVILLE, a project of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, came to Deford Elementary School last week and was visited by all Cass City School District first graders. (More photos and story on page 4.)

WE CARE - About You, Your Health, and Your Well Being

"If It Fitz . . ."

Not so pretty

By Jim Fitzgerald

Several Detroit officials are worried that their city isn't rotten enough to attract the 1984 Democratic National Convention.

Usually, cities lure conventions by bragging about their virtues - splendid hotels, chic restaurants, mammoth auditoriums and generally prosperous settings for conducting serious business while wearing funny hats.

But one of Detroit's big selling points in wooing the Democrats is that the Motor City is up on the blocks and prosperity is just around the turn of the century.

Detroit is "a city that portrays conditions in this country" after four years under President Reagan, Mayor Young told reporters. "No one can question the attraction of a great city like San Francisco... but I don't think it is typical America. We represent reality - not an escape into an unreal world."

The idea is that if the Democrats convene in Detroit, it will provide an unavoidable opportunity for the national media to show and tell the world the dastardly consequences of Republican Reaganomics. Before he can escape into an unreal world, Dan Rather might be mugged by an unemployed auto worker with 10 starving children.

Ironically, this strategy is the opposite of that used just last summer when Detroit hosted the Grand Prix car race on downtown streets. It cost the city a bundle of money and trouble, but Mayor Young and other tub thumpers justified the expense by pointing out that the big race was on national TV and the entire country got a close look at what a marvelously vibrant and attractive city Detroit really is.

If the Democratic convention comes to Detroit, the plan is to center it in the same downtown riverfront area used by the Grand Prix. That's what worries officials trying to sell the city as the finest example of how President Reagan ruined the nation. That riverfront area does look sort of vibrant and attractive.

For the Grand Prix, the city repaved streets and erected barriers to keep jobless people from wandering aimlessly in front of ABC-TV cameras. For the Democratic convention, the city should promise to do the opposite - tear up the streets and permanently assign one platoon of ragged beggars to each member of the out-of-town media.

If the Democrats choose Detroit over more prosperous cities, they will do it to make a political statement saying everyone should vote Democratic, otherwise every American city will soon be boarded up like Detroit. Obviously, it would be impossible to make that statement if Mike Wallace and Barbara Walters were confined to the same section of the city that was turned into a nationally popular tourist attraction by the Detroit Grand Prix.

The fear is that Mayor Young and his aides are making only a half-hearted effort to sell Democrats on the idea of using a Detroit convention to blame unemployment and poverty on heartless Republicans. Sure, Young has stressed the national reality of hungry Detroiters. But he has also bragged up our huge convention complex and promised to spend $7 million to make convention delegates happy. That is counter-productive.

Before making a site decision, Democratic convention officials will inspect candidate cities. When they get to Detroit, Mayor Young should forget the ideal Joe Louis Arena and instead offer the recently abandoned Hudson's department store as the most effective place for delegates to convene, with the press corps assigned to ladies lingerie. He should also suggest that tents pitched on parking lots would be powerful substitutes for hotel rooms, and a photograph of Walter Mondale hosting a luncheon meeting in a Salvation Army soup kitchen would make front pages all over the world.

To look good to Democratic conventioners, Detroit must promise to show the world nothing except its worst side. For the Republican convention in 1980, Detroit's slogan was "Detroit Loves a Good Party." For the Democrats in 1984, it should be "Detroit Can't Afford a Good Party."

Protein is the basic substance of every cell in the body.

The Haire Net

Tucked away on an inside page was a story that would have been on the front page if I were still assigning relative weight and importance to the week's news.

It was the story about a woman attacked in a phone booth in mid-afternoon in the heart of the Cass City business district.

Man, that shook me a little. That's big city stuff. You expect that, maybe in the tougher sections of Detroit or Saginaw. But Cass City? No way.

But it did happen. You hope that it was some weirdo, really off his nut. You're afraid that it was someone that may have had a grudge against the woman telephoning and figured that he could get away with doing what he did because no one cares enough to make it their business to help.

Go back a couple of generations and I just can't see it happening. If someone started to beat up a girl in a phone booth someone would have noticed, someone would have cared, someone would have done something about it.

Chances are that the guy would have been known, too. There weren't too many strangers wandering down the main stem 20 years ago.

If he wandered into town he was the object of curiosity until the natives found out why he came and where he came from.

Whether that was too much of a good thing depends on your viewpoint. It never bothered any of us true small towners.

What is of even more concern than the beating that the woman took is what it could portend.

Are we headed down the road towards the big city? Will double locks be needed on our doors? Will it be as unsafe to walk down Seeger as it is Detroit's Brush Street?

Doesn't seem possible that we are. I prefer to believe that the Thumb will still be regarded as a fine place to raise a family.

That the good things that make families live here and work up to 95 miles away will continue.

I hope that it will. I believe that it will.

But 20 years ago you couldn't have made me believe that anyone would be accosted in a Cass City phone booth. Not anytime, let alone in mid-afternoon.

So I'm not as sure about the future trends in Cass City today as I used to be.

That's sad, but that's the way it is.

12 musicians given '1' or '2' ratings

Twelve Cass City High School students received first or second division ratings at the District III high school solo and ensemble festival at Reese High School Saturday.

Receiving first division ratings were Yvette Hurd, clarinet; Jeanne Marshall, clarinet; Carol Lockard, piano; Scott Harding, percussion; Annette Stachura, clarinet, and Suzy Scollon, piano. They received blue medals and qualified for the state festival March 26, location to be announced.

Receiving second division ratings were Colleen Wilson, clarinet; Kerry Mellendorf, trombone; Tracy Green, clarinet; Miss Hurd and Chris Tuckey, clarinet-flute duet; Miss Marshall and Angela Nieboer, clarinet duet, and Tammy Iseler, alto saxophone.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The Community Education Department solicited small donations from area persons last fall to finance a community choir.

Having heard nothing much about it since then, the fear was that there may have not been enough interest.

Not so, says Dave Lovejoy, community education director. There are 48 voices in the new choir and they practice every Saturday morning. There will be 12 practices before the first concert Mar. 28.

Although only one concert is definitely on the drawing boards now, says Lovejoy, the second could come if enough of you come to the first one.

Caro-Cass City sports events always have the keenest rivalry so Tiger fans were not going to be outdone at the basketball game between the schools Friday.

It's the custom in Cass City to turn out the lights for the introduction of players and the playing of the national anthem. To make sure that the Caro players and their cheerleaders were not outshone, a couple dozen Caroiters brought their own spotlights to shine on their own when the lights went out.

Goes right along with the painted faces of students of both schools.

As a non-hunter I have trouble telling ducks from geese. Not so my readers. Two of them told me last week that they spotted flights of geese during the warm spell. John Krug saw one bunch and Russ Schneeberger reported four flights of them. Can spring be far behind? (Yes, it can.)

Robins may not have arrived in Cass City yet, but two Cass Cityans spotted two robins west of Quanicasee Sunday morning.

Dorothy Knight and Anna MacCallum saw them while traveling west on M-25. They also saw two flocks of geese.

In a column last week I talked about the long-gone days of high-top leather boots. One reader, Herb Bills, asked if I didn't remember the knickers that went with them.

Of course I do. Made out of corduroy just like many of the fashion trousers and casual suits are today. Fashion styles do go round and round don't they?

Library asks for more township aid

Rawson Memorial Library is asking for an increase in financial support from the townships that contract with it to provide library service for their residents.

Letters signed by library board President Evelyn MacRae were mailed Feb. 15 to the boards of Evergreen, Greenleaf Novesta and Elmwood Townships.

The boards are being asked to approve an annual appropriation, starting Jan. 1, 1984, equivalent to .3 mill, minus whatever is received for that area in penal fines, or $1 per capita, whichever is greater.

They are paying 45 cents this year for each township resident, which for Elmwood is $601 this year; Evergreen $469; Greenleaf, $336, and Novesta, $667. They paid the same amounts last year.

Ellington Township already contracts with the library under the .3 mill minus penal fines formula, but for only one-fourth of its area. In 1982, it paid $121 to Rawson Memorial. It contracts with the Indianfields Township Library in Caro for the rest of its territory.

The library is jointly operated by Elkland Township and Cass City, with the township board and village council each appointing three members to the library board.

Elkland provided a subsidy to the library last year of $5,500 and is being asked this year to contribute $6,000. Cass City gave $5,000 last year and $6,000 this year.

Last November, Elkland Township voters approved a .75 mill perpetual levy to support the library, which goes into effect starting with December, 1983, tax bills.

The millage will replace the individual subsidies from the township and village. If the millage had been in effect last year, it would have provided $31,599.

THE REQUESTED .3 mill minus penal fines or $1 per capita being requested from the contracting townships will apparently be a substantial hike.

For Elmwood Township, based on the present state equalized valuation and penal fines, the subsidy would be $3,994.

Head librarian Barbara Hutchinson, who appeared at the Elmwood Township Board meeting last Wednesday, along with library board member Maynard McConkey, to explain the proposal, is hopeful that penal fines will increase, so that in 1984, Elmwood's subsidy after penal fines are deducted would be about $3,300.

She hasn't computed yet what the potential subsidy amounts would be in the other townships.

PENAL FINES ARE money collected by Tuscola County Circuit and District Courts for criminal convictions and civil infractions, which is distributed to libraries in the county by law, based on the population within each one's service area.

The amount varies from year to year, but in 1982 totaled $16,362, including money received from Sanilac County courts for Evergreen and Greenleaf townships. In 1980, Rawson received $21,799 in penal fines. An increase is expected this year, compared to 1982, Mrs. Hutchinson said.

In her letter to the townships, Mrs. MacRae reminded them of a meeting in January of last year with their representatives, at which "we discussed long term plans for financing the library."

The first part of the goal of achieving stable financing, she said, was passage of the millage in Elkland Township. "We must ask you to help with the second part of the goal by contributing your fair share for library services."

ANOTHER MAJOR funding source is state aid, which totaled $4,393 last year. That amount is expected to be reduced 27 percent this year due to the state's money troubles.

The remaining funding source for Rawson Memorial is federal revenue sharing funds appropriated by the county Board of Commissioners, which this year will total $1,314. That funding source is also unstable. In 1981, the county board didn't give libraries anything.

"The library has not had any stable funding for years," Mrs. Hutchinson said of the need for more and more steady funding from the contracting townships.

1st graders learn at Safetyville

Cass City School District first graders had a town to call their own last week when Safetyville came to Deford Elementary School.

The project of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, which follows a pilot program last year, is designed to teach children good safety habits, be it to look both ways before crossing a street or wear a safety belt when riding in a car.

Deputy Richard Blakely is in charge of the program, and guides the students, through Safetyville.

The Deford Elementary gym was the most convenient place to set up the project, so students from Campbell and Evergreen schools were bused there. The program was conducted all day Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Safetyville will visit all school districts in the county each year.

Safetyville was patterned after an identical program that has been operating for several years in Huron County, conducted by its sheriff's department.

After Sheriff Paul Berry decided to establish the program in Tuscola, contributions were solicited from citizens, civic organizations and businesses.

The labor and skill needed to construct Safetyville was furnished by citizens, civic organizations and students, and instructors at the Tuscola Area Skill Center.

Road weight restrictions in effect

Spring weight restrictions went into effect Monday on roads in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

Last year, they went into effect March 11, 12 or 15, depending on the county, but the year before, they started Feb. 21 or 23, so the start of reduced load limits this early isn't without precedent.

On Class B restricted roads, the limit for single-axle dual-wheel trucks drops from 18,000 pounds to 11,700. On tandem axle trucks, the limit drops from 13,000 pounds per axle to 8,450. On steering axles, the load maximum is 450 pounds per inch of wheel width instead of 700.

The Sanilac County Road Commission since Monday has had a weighmaster patrolling the roads, "with scales and ticket book," according to Engineer-Manager Jack Kineman. This is the first time Sanilac has had a weighmaster checking for overweight trucks in several years.

Tuscola and Huron Counties also have weighmasters.

Cheers for SUNYESF

By Mike Eliasohn

It took me three colleges to get my bachelor's degree, or to be more specific, two universities and one community college.

That means there are more than 2,400 colleges in the United States that I didn't go to.

The Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary that sits on my desk, usually under a pile of rubble, contains a list of the colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

Want to know the college with the shortest name? It's Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, founded in 1851.

The ones with the longest names? Try the Oklahoma School of Business, Accountancy, Law and Finance, a junior college in Tulsa founded in 1919.

Or maybe the State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry, (Syracuse, 1911) or the New York City Community College of Applied Arts and Sciences (Brooklyn, 1946).

Try getting the names of those schools into a football cheer. "Fight, fight, for old SUNYESF."

Which living politician has the most colleges named after him? It's George Wallace, who was elected governor of Alabama last November for, I think, the third time. There is the George Corley Wallace State Community College at Selma (1963) and the George Corley Wallace State Community College at Dothan (1963).

During my one year at the University of Michigan (my first year of college), the joke on my dormitory floor concerned Alice Lloyd College, a junior college founded in Pippa Passes, Ky., in 1923.

The reason we knew about it was because one of the residents on our floor was from Kentucky and his girl friend was attending that school.

A college named Alice Lloyd was funny enough, but in a town named Pippa Passes. That was VERY funny.

The scene now switches to a political science lecture class that several of us attended in a big lecture hall.

The professor, who was trying to be funny, one day mentioned Alice Lloyd College. As I recall, he had a colleague who had taught there. The professor said students at Alice Lloyd put their bare feet up on desks and had pieces of straw hanging out of their mouths.

He probably never did find out why a small group of his students broke out in hysterical laughter, including me.

I didn't believe his story then about the bare feet, though it was good for laughs, and I read later that Alice Lloyd College has an excellent reputation for training students from the Appalachians, whom we would call hillbillies, some of whom come from very underprivileged backgrounds.

Then there was Harvey Mudd College, which is in Claremont, Calif. (1955). A cousin of mine, who was then living in Southfield or Detroit, I forget, had a high school teacher who often talked about Harvey Mudd College, although he had apparently never gone there.

My cousin and his father wrote to the college and got a sweatshirt from there. My cousin showed up in class one day wearing the Harvey Mudd College sweatshirt and was definitely a hit with his classmates. I don't remember what the reported reaction of his teacher was. (A lot of things I don't remember in this column.)

Here are some other colleges with interesting names:

Chesterfield-Marlboro Technical College (Cheraw, S.C., 1969). I wonder if smoking is permitted in class.

Housatonic Regional Community College (Bridgeport, Conn., 1966).

Open Bible College (Des Moines, Iowa, 1931). Newspaper headline writers will have a field day with that one if it ever closes. ("Open Bible College isn't.")

Paul Smith's College, where else, but in Paul Smith's, N.Y. (1937).

Seat of Wisdom, College (Litchfield, Conn., 1958).

Tunxis Community College (Farmington, Conn., 1970). Connecticut seems to have a lot of weird ones, some of which are pronounceable.

Here's my favorites: Rip Reagan College and Music Conservatory (Ama, La., 1974) and Philander Smith College (Little Rock, Ark., 1868).

No more fires for Uby's Elmer Brahmer after 34 years

When Elmer Brahmer joined the Bingham Township Fire Department in 1948, it had one truck.

It still has it, a 1946-model pumper, and still uses it occasionally, but it now has four more.

What it no longer has is Brahmer, who retired Dec. 31 after 34 years with the department, the last nine of which he served as chief.

Since the department only dates back to 1946, he presumably has served longer than anyone else. Before the fire department was formed in Uby, fires were fought by anyone who wanted to help.

Brahmer remembers when he first came to town, Uby's fire fighting equipment consisted of a Model T Ford truck and a hose cart.

Brahmer is a Minden City native who after service in World War II started delivering fuel oil and gasoline for Standard Oil Co. in the Uby area.

He's still doing it, but since 1958 has been doing it as the lone employee of Brahmer Oil Co.

In addition to his business and being a fireman, the Union Street resident is in his 16th year of driving an Uby school bus.

As for why he became a fireman, he explained, "They came along and asked would I be interested in joining the fire department and I said, 'yes. I was young then.'"

When he joined, the department only served Bingham Township. It now serves that, plus all of Austin Township, half of Paris and Sheridan Townships and the northeast corner of Greenleaf.

THE ONE PUMPER carried only 450 gallons of water and Brahmer recalls, "We lost a house once. We had to come back to town to get more water."

The department got its second truck and first tanker about 20 years ago when Brahmer got a used 800-gallon tank from Standard Oil, which was mated to an old chassis.

It got its present pumper in 1968, which holds 750 gallons. A new tanker truck was purchased about 1974 or '75, which was replaced in 1981 with an 1,800 gallon unit.

The department's other two vehicles are a four-wheel-drive truck used for grass fires and a van for carrying air tanks and other equipment.

There are 16 firemen and four reserves and a waiting list of men who would like to join. There were 12 firemen when Brahmer joined.

THE DEPARTMENT averages about 30 fires a year, some of which stand out in Brahmer's memory. One was about 28 years ago, when two children died in a house fire on Verona Road. The fire was started by a child playing with matches, who was saved.

Perhaps the worst fire was a few years ago in Kinde, when the elevator burned. Uby and almost every other fire department in Huron County assisted the Kinde department.

Brahmer doesn't remember the first fire he went to, but does remember the last. It was Dec. 26 and as he was driving to the fire hall, after hearing the siren, a neighbor on Union Street waved him down. The fire was at the neighbor's house.

As for the first fire after he retired, Brahmer said, "I was sitting at my desk. It bothered me a little bit (not to go) but I never got off the chair. I stayed there."

Brahmer didn't have a choice about retiring. He turned 62 last August and the department by-laws say that firemen can only stay in the department until the end of the year they turn 62.

Brahmer admits that around the beginning of December, when he knew the end was getting near, it started to bother him a bit.

There is still a Brahmer on the fire department, however. His son, Bob, has been a fireman since 1973 and currently is its secretary.

In addition to him, Brahmer and his wife, Beatrice, have two other boys, two girls (a fifth child is deceased) and nine grandchildren.

The new fire chief, elected by his fellow firemen, is John Bukoski.

ELMER BRAHMER, retired Bingham Township fire chief, holds the plaque he was presented in appreciation for his 34 years with the department, nine of them as chief. His fellow firemen also voted him "fireman of the year" for 1982.

Sanilac farm shop tour set March 2

Wednesday, March 2, the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a farm shop tour. The tour will start at 9:45 a.m. at the Stone Brothers' farm shop, a half-mile north of M-46 on Stoutenburg Road (east edge of Sandusky). The group will enjoy coffee and doughnuts before the tour.

11 a.m. will find the group at the Mezo Farms' shop on Walker Road, between Hull and Isles Roads, southwest of Sandusky.

The first stop after lunch will be at the Ruggles farm shop on the east edge of Marlette on Marlette Road at 1:15 p.m.

2:15 p.m. will place the group at Bob Caister's farm shop on M-53, 1½ miles south of M-46.

Each stop will have many interesting ideas and suggestions farmers can utilize in their own shop. For instance, the shops are constructed from different materials and heating ranges from wood, natural gas, and waste oil to forced air.

Republicans to meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Sanilac County Republican Party will be Thursday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the county conference room, 37 Austin Street, Sandusky.

Walbro reports loss in 1982

Lambert E. Althaver, president and chief executive officer of Walbro Corp., has reported consolidated net sales of $42,694,000 for the fiscal year which ended Dec. 31, compared with $43,121,000 for 1981.

The company reported a loss of $479,000 for 1982, compared with earnings of $239,000 for 1981.

The loss amounted to 62 cents per share, compared with earnings of 31 cents per share for the previous year. The 1982 cash dividend payout was 40 cents the same as 1981. The average number of shares outstanding was 778,820 in 1982, unchanged from 1981.

"Unfavorable economic conditions which have affected many of Walbro's traditional markets, combined with the need to finance extensive programs designed to ensure the continued strength of the company, resulted in a loss of profitability for 1982," Althaver said.

"We are confident, however, that the efforts of the past year, combined with a modest improvement in economic conditions, should result in greatly improved financial performance for Walbro in 1983."

"We are equally confident that the programs implemented in the past year will result in Walbro's continued long-range financial strength," Althaver added.

He noted that the market for small engine carburetors has remained at low levels due to unfavorable economic conditions which affected industries utilizing these products. Sales of electric fuel pumps by Walbro's Automotive Products Group for automotive replacement markets reached record levels in 1982, however.

Significant new business in the automotive original equipment market was also initiated during the past year, primarily in the area of fuel systems technology, according to Mr. Althaver. He predicts further growth in this area in 1983.

Walbro is a manufacturer of small engine carburetors, automotive fuel systems, die castings and plastics, with facilities in the U.S., Mexico, Japan, Singapore, and West Germany.

Milk output increases in January

Michigan dairy cows produced 444 million pounds of milk during January, up nearly 3 percent from the same month last year, according to the Michigan
Agricultural Reporting Service.

The state's dairy herd numbered 400,000 cows in January, up 1 percent from a year ago. Monthly milk output per cow, at 1,110
pounds, was up 15 pounds from the previous year.

Michigan milk producers received an average of $13.90 per hundredweight
(cwt.) for their milk in January, down 20 cents from a year earlier.

Replacement milk cow prices as of Jan. 1 averaged $1,090 per head, down 9 percent from a year ago.
Slaughter cow prices averaged $39 per cwt., up 6 percent from January, 1982.

Annual milk production in Michigan during 1982, at nearly 5.3 billion pounds, was up 3 percent from 1981.
Milk cow numbers were up slightly but most of the production increase was due to a 2.5 percent gain in milk output per cow. Among the leading milk producing states, Michigan ranks second only to California in terms of milk output per cow.

Nationally, milk production
during January, 1983
totaled 11.3 billion pounds, 2 percent more than a year earlier. Production per cow averaged 1,021 pounds, 13
pounds above a year ago.
Total milk cows averaged 11.1 million head, slightly higher than a year earlier.

Milk production during 1982 totaled a record high 136 billion pounds, 2 percent above the previous record set in 1981. Milk per cow in 1982 averaged 12,316 pounds,
another record high.

Wisconsin again led the nation in milk production during 1982, followed in order by California, New York, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, and Michigan.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

The U.S. Air Force has promoted Rodney L. Hanson, son of Harriet E. Hanson of Owendale, to the rank of senior airman. He is serving at Incirlik Common Defense Installation, Turkey, as a weapons mechanic.

Area grads
in Alma
College band

Debbie Page and Leslie Hagen, Alma College Kiltie Band members, are preparing for the band's playing tour to Florida during Alma's winter term break from Feb. 26 through March 6.

Miss Page, a junior biology major, plays B-flat clarinet. She is a 1980 graduate of Cass City High School and is the daughter of Gerald and Patricia Page, now living in Brighton.

Miss Hagen, a sophomore history major, plays French horn. She is a 1981 graduate of Ubyly High School and is the daughter of Wallace and Sonia Hagen of Ubyly.

The band will spend the first three days performing on the west coast around St. Petersburg and Tampa, then goes east to the Atlantic Ocean side of Florida for the remainder of the tour. Five evening concerts at Presbyterian churches, one church service and several high school assemblies are on the band's concert schedule.

A tour highlight comes March 4 when Alma's band will be the guest marching band at Disney World. They also have free time in Busch Gardens mid-way through the tour.

Before the Florida tour, the Kiltie Band had its winter concert on campus February 11. Other remaining on-campus performances include a pops concert March 18, honors convocation April 6 and commencement April 16.

During fall term, the band provides pre-game and half-time entertainment at home football games and marches in the homecoming parade.

Kiss your baby to detect cystic fibrosis

When is a kiss not just a kiss?
When it's used to detect cystic fibrosis. The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation has launched a statewide educational project, "Kiss Your Baby."

The purpose of the venture is to alert parents to the symptoms of cystic fibrosis and other children's lung diseases in the hope that early diagnosis and prompt treatment (an essential element in lengthening the life span of children and young adults with CF) will result.

One of the symptoms of cystic fibrosis is an extremely salty taste to the CF child's skin, which can be detected by kissing or tasting them on the forehead.

Other symptoms include recurrent wheezing, persistent coughing and excess mucus, pneumonia more than once during childhood, excessive appetite but poor weight gain and clubbing (enlargement) of the fingertips.

Suspicious parents are asked to consult their local physician.

"It is estimated that respiratory problems in children take up to 70 percent of a pediatrician's time and are the leading cause of chronic absenteeism from school," said Rev. James E. Falsey, president of the Greater Michigan Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

"Furthermore, cystic fibrosis is second only to cancer in the number of young lives it takes and one-third of the victims of this disease are not yet diagnosed. Because early diagnosis of CF is essential to longer life for these children and young adults, we have embarked on this statewide campaign to bring this vital health message to the people of Michigan."

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited disease for which there is neither a cure nor control.

In CF, a thick, sticky mucus clogs the lungs and airways creating breathing difficulties, high susceptibility to infection, and lung damage.

The mucus may also interfere with digestion by preventing the flow of enzymes into the small intestine, causing malabsorption of food.

Though both parents must be carriers of the gene, one of 20 persons in the U.S. is a carrier. In Michigan alone, there are nearly a half-million such carriers. At present, there is no definite test to determine a carrier of the gene.

Anyone interested in more information on CF may contact the Greater Michigan Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, P.O. Box 6005, Saginaw, 48608.

ASK

By Dalton P. Coe, D.D.S.

Several decades have passed since landmark studies in Grand Rapids, Michigan demonstrated the clear relationship between optimum levels of dietary fluoride and decreased dental decay of the human dentition. Yet misunderstanding seems to persist regarding the subject of dietary fluorides and the surface application of fluoride to teeth. Both can be beneficial - yet they are different in several ways.

Fluoride which is consumed in food or drink, tends to attach itself to molecules of calcium which form bone and teeth. This usually results in a more dense tooth or bone structure. Benefit to adult teeth usually can only occur if optimum amount of fluoride is available between one and nine years of age. These are the years in which the crowns of all permanent teeth will be formed. The exceptions are the wisdom teeth. Once the crown of a tooth is formed, additional dietary fluoride will not harden it. Neither will the crowns dissolve as bone can and return its calcium to the body.

Topical fluorides, in toothpastes, in gels applied by the dentist, or in mouthwashes, attach themselves temporarily to the surface of teeth and serve to inhibit decay activity. If not replenished, the decay preventing activity of these fluorides diminishes in time.

It should be noted that as with most good things, you can have too much fluoride. Studies have shown that the optimum level of fluoride in drinking water is about 1.1 parts per million. Levels beyond that in combination with other sources of fluoride in one's diet, can lead to fluorosis of the teeth. Fluorosis can appear as slight white coloration of the teeth to a brown color or to formation of pits or indentations in the teeth.

Surface application of fluorides will not cause fluorosis.

Well water in many parts of Tuscola and Huron Counties have naturally occurring fluorides at near optimum levels. Be sure you know what the fluoride content of your water is before administering fluoride vitamins or fluoride pills to your children. However, do not hesitate to take advantage of fluoride rinses or gel applications since they will not cause fluorosis and have proven effective in reducing dental decay even when dietary fluoride is at optimum levels.

W. E. Walpole chairs Boy Scout banquet

Walbro Corp. Chairman Walter E. Walpole of Cass City is general chairman of the annual recognition dinner of the Lake Huron Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The event will be held Saturday evening at the Great Hall of the Valley Plaza in Midland.

Adult men and women volunteer Scouters will be honored as well as 100 young men who earned the rank of Eagle Scout during 1982 in the Lake Huron Area Council.

Other highlights will include recognition of "The Millionth and One Eagle Scout" in the history of U.S.A. Scouting, the youth leadership award winner for the State of Michigan and the presentation of the Silver Beaver Awards -- the highest award earned by a volunteer on local Council level.

Guest speaker will be David L. Rooke, vice-president of the Dow Chemical Co. and member of the national board of the Boy Scouts of America.

More than 700 people from the 19-county area served are expected to attend. The nine administrative districts within Lake Huron Area Council serve 19 counties of northeastern Michigan.

Over 4,000 adult volunteers working with more than 400 sponsoring institutions, churches, schools, clubs and civic groups provided youth scouting opportunities for more than 14,100 youth in 543 units.

1982 was the sixth consecutive record-breaking year of growing service to youth in the council area. The council provided a program for 45.7 percent of the available Cub-age boys, 19.9 percent of the available Scout-age boys, and 5.4 percent of the Explorer-age group.

SBI dean's list includes 4 from area

Four area students have been named to the dean's list for the fall term at Saginaw Business Institute.

They are Linda Batie, Doris Derocco and Christine Kirby, all of Gagetown, and Rebecca Ensign of Kingston.

To be named to the dean's list required a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

Mrs. Cleland, assisted by Miss Lillian Dunlap.

Your neighbor says Surrogate parenting should be outlawed

In the aftermath of the controversial surrogate mother case in Lansing — where no one wanted a surrogate child born in Lansing — two state legislative proposals are being prepared.

One would instill some safeguards in the procedure, by defining the legal rights of the child and the rights and obligations of the biological parents. The other would ban surrogate parenting.

Don Whittenburg perfers the latter. "There's no reforming to it. It should be outlawed," he said. "Cattle, alright. People, no."

"There's a sanctity to it, a human relationship that belongs only in marriage," he said of the normal way of conceiving children. "You don't pass the thing around, even if it's artificial."

Surrogate parenting appeals to some couples unable to conceive. Whittenburg feels they should consider adoption instead. "There's nothing wrong with adoption, but to breed with artificial breeding, that's not the way to do it."

As for regulating surrogate parenting, he continued, "You can't regulate righteousness. You can't even legislate righteousness. We're playing with something that isn't ours."

Whittenburg has similar feelings about abortion. Even though it is presently legal, "It's still absolutely 300 percent wrong."

He feels there should be a constitutional amendment outlawing it, except to save the life of the mother.

Whittenburg and his wife, Isabelle, live on Cedar Run Road, Cass City.

Break-in investigated at IGA store in Kingston

Detective Ronald Phillips of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department was going through a pile of lottery tickets Tuesday morning, stolen from Zorn's IGA store in Kingston.

The break-in of the grocery on State Street was discovered at 4:30 a.m. Monday.

Entry was gained, according to Detective Larry Walker, by throwing a chunk of concrete through the front door window.

Taken were a large number of lottery tickets, whiskey and possibly cigarettes.

The tickets were found alongside M-24, south of Caro, Monday night.

All were instant game tickets. Some had previously been redeemed at the store, which was known because the store name was stamped on the back.

The coating over the numbers of the rest of them had been rubbed off. Among them, said Phillips, who was dusting them for fingerprints, were some $2 and $4 winners.

OTHER ITEMS

Theft of a winch and related items worth $900 from a boat trailer owned by a Cass City man was reported to Bad Axe state police.

Kirk Winter told troopers he had taken the trailer to Saginaw Bay Marina at Caseville Jan. 8 for repairs. When he returned three days later, he discovered the items missing.

Hairdressers make long range plans

The Thumb Hairdressers and Cosmetologists met Feb. 14 at Helen's Beauty Salon, Cass City. President Esther Wright Fisher from Harbor Beach called the meeting to order.

The thrust of the meeting, she explained, was to "put together a total long-range plan for the future." We are in the process of developing an overall program, working hand in hand with the National Hairdressers, to plan new directions, she said.

The N.H.C.A. will have a board meeting in Chicago Feb. 27 - March 1. The theme will be "Where we look to extend the educational horizons of NHCA."

Linda Grey of the "Dallas" television show was voted unanimously as "style-maker of the year." Loretta Sweda, stylist from Dearborn, will be present at the Monday, March 14, meeting at Helen's Beauty Salon, at 12:30 p.m.

All licensed hairdressers are eligible to join.

and nuts and bolts were removed. The trailer had been parked outside.

Randolph S. Patera, no address available, reported to Cass City police last Thursday that while his car was parked along Main Street near Maple, an unknown vehicle backed into the front of his car, causing the fiberglass front panel to break. The damage was done between 6:15 and 8:45 p.m.

Donald R. Russell of 5160 Rescue Road, Gagetown, told Cass City police at 1 a.m. Sunday that the windshield of his car had been smashed while it was parked on Leach Street, near Main, from 12:40-12:55 a.m.

Reed finishes tourism school in Florida

After training in travel tourism, Russell Neal Reed of Cass City is a recent graduate of Southeastern Academy, Kissimmee, Fla.

Russell Reed

To complete the program of study, Reed met requirements in the areas of career and personal development in addition to specialized occupational training.

Reed is now qualified for an entry-level position in all areas of the airline, travel or tourism industry.

John Kilbourn of 6797 Pine Street told village police Monday that his wife, Verna, had parked their car in the IGA Foodliner lot at 5 p.m. Saturday. When she returned, it was discovered the right fender had been damaged by another vehicle.

Franchise vote slated in Elmwood

Elmwood Township residents will vote this year on renewal of a franchise with the Detroit Edison Co.

The franchise which expires this year was for 30 years, as will be the one to be voted on. The franchise, in essence, gives the utility the right to operate in the township.

Weston Raven of Detroit Edison was at the township board meeting last Wednesday to explain the need for the special election. It will probably be held in July and the utility will pay all costs.

Also appearing were Barbara Hutchinson, Rawson Memorial Library head librarian, and library board member Maynard McConkey to explain the library's request for a subsidy from the township equivalent to .3 mill minus penal fines, or $1 per resident, whichever is greater. (See article elsewhere in this issue about funding for the library.)

Elmwood this year is paying 45 cents per capita, which totals $601.

Township Clerk Joanne Sattler said the board will consider the library's request in preparing its budget for the 1983-84 fiscal year that starts April 1.

The budget will be presented at the annual meeting Saturday, March 26.

Scoliosis testing begins Monday for students

Screening of Cass City Intermediate School students, grades 6-8, for scoliosis will begin Monday.

Scoliosis is a sideways curvature of the spine, which usually appears, when it appears, during the early teen years.

According to the Scoliosis Research Society of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, about 10 percent of the adolescent population has some degree of scoliosis, and about one-fourth of those will need medical attention.

School nurse Janet Bryant has been doing the screening the last few years and said on the average, two students are found each year who will need active treatment, either wearing a brace or surgery.

About 10 percent of the students each year are asked to return for a secondary screening, of which half will then be advised to see a doctor.

In addition to the two who need active treatment, some will have to see a doctor once a year to check if the irregular curvature of the spine has gotten worse.

The screening is done by having each student bend forward at the waist. Signs of scoliosis consist of a prominent shoulder blade, one shoulder higher than the other or uneven hips.

The screening will be done during physical education classes, in the locker rooms, and will take two weeks to complete. Mrs. Bryant will be assisted by Jeannie McCrea, a nurse from the Tuscola County Health Department.

An orthopedic surgeon from Bad Axe, Douglas Pankratz, has volunteered his services to perform the secondary screening, which will be March 23.

The parents of any students who should then go to a doctor for treatment or observation will be notified by Mrs. Bryant by telephone and letter.

Students last week were shown a film explaining scoliosis and this week, parents received a letter and pamphlet explaining the program. Parents who don't want their child screened have to return the letter, requesting that their child be exempted.

This year, for the first time, scoliosis screening will be performed in all Tuscola County school districts, at about the same time it is being done in Cass City.

Easter Seals paid the cost of conducting a workshop Feb. 4 at the Tuscola Area Skill Center, which was conducted by some specialists from Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

Since many districts don't have a school nurse, the specialist trained teachers or parents to do the screening.

The causes of scoliosis can be genetic, nerve and muscular disorders, abnormalities in the development of the vertebrae or diseases such as polio.

If not treated, the irregularly bent spine becomes permanent and the condition can also be painful.

Siterlet convicted

A Tuscola County Circuit Court jury Friday found Earl A. Siterlet, 59, of Ionia, guilty of fraud.

A building contractor, he had been hired to construct a building at the Sunset Bay Marina, Loomis Road, Unionville.

He was convicted of having used money paid to him by the marina for purposes other than for paying subcontractors, materials suppliers and others involved in construction of the building. The offense took place from July 9 through September of 1980.

A sentencing date will be set by the probation department.

Judge Patrick R. Joslyn presided over the four-day trial.

O-G vs. Caseville for volleyball title

The North Central Thumb D League volleyball title will be at stake Thursday evening when league leading Caseville travels to Owen-Gage.

Coach Judy Campbell's team gained sole possession of second place -- there had been a three-way tie -- with a sweep of both games at Carsonville-Port Sanilac Monday evening. The Bulldogs are now 10-2 in the league and 12-9 overall. Caseville is 11-1.

Owen-Gage won the first match, 15-3, 15-9. Jackie Kain hit two ace spikes and three good spikes; Linda Retford, two ace and three good spikes, and Joan Mosack, one ace and three good spikes.

The Bulldogs won the second match, 15-6, 15-6. Mosack had three ace and two good spikes; Retford had three good spikes.

Owen-Gage also won the junior varsity match, 9-15, 15-10, 15-10.

After Thursday's contest, Owen-Gage plays in the Caseville tournament Saturday and finishes the regular season at Akron-Fairgrove Monday.

last Thursday, which enabled it to stay in second place in the North Central Thumb D League volleyball standings, albeit as part of a three way tie behind Caseville.

North Huron won the first match, 15-6, 15-4. Vicki Alexander scored five points for the Bulldogs and Jackie Kain had six spikes.

Lori Quinn scored nine points for the Warriors.

The Bulldogs lost the first game of the second match, 10-15, but then rebounded for the win, 15-10, 15-8.

Linda Retford scored 12 points for the victors and had six good spikes and one ace spike. Alexander had seven spikes; Kain, nine spikes and six dinks; Joan Mosack, five ace and six good spikes and two ace and three good dinks; and Carol Zimmer, nine spikes.

The split puts the Bulldogs at 8-2 in the league, 10-9 overall.

North Huron won the junior varsity match, 8-15, 15-11, 16-14.

Volleyball tourney at Cass City

The district 46 volleyball tournament will be held at Cass City Mar. 5 starting at 9:30 a.m. and continue until a champion is crowned sometime after 3:30 p.m.

Already five teams, Lakers, Ubyl, Reese, Marlette and USA are entered because of the luck of the draw.

They drew bye and will not have to play in the pre-districts that are scheduled Feb. 28 - Mar. 3. The remaining six teams will play for the remaining three district competition positions.

Cass City, the host team, was ineligible for a bye. The girls will play at Brown City Tuesday at 6 p.m.

As of Monday, Brown City had an 8-7 record while Cass City was 4-4.

Other teams in the pre-district will be Bad Axe against Harbor Beach and Sandusky against Mayville.

Methodists to form Project Renewal

Members of the Salem and Trinity United Methodist Churches in Cass City are joining with approximately 137,000 United Methodists of eastern lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula in a new venture in caring and witness entitled Project Renewal.

Project Renewal is the dream of Bishop Edsel A. Ammons of Detroit to challenge United Methodists to deepen their Christian commitment and to reach out and share their faith experiences with people in their neighborhoods and communities.

To kick off the project, members of these churches will meet with members of all the 102 United Methodist churches in the Port Huron District for a Project Renewal rally March 6 from 3-5 p.m. at Brown City High School.

Over 1,000 people are expected to attend the rally, where they will hear Bishop Ammons speak. A mass choir of 300 will also be featured.

John Wesley, founder of Methodism, had the great desire for Methodists to form small groups, which he called "class meetings." In these class meetings, people could find spiritual support, guidance, and friendship.

Rev. Robert Horton, Port Huron District superintendent, says like the small groups formed by Wesley, small groups are one of the keys to Project Renewal.

"Care groups" will meet regularly for Bible study, prayer and discussion of how the Christian faith relates to current issues. These care groups will support "share groups" who will be sent into community homes or centers.

The zebra is basically a light animal with dark stripes.

Curt Strickland wins statewide bow buck award

Curt Strickland of Cass City was at a state sponsored banquet at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources camp at Higgins Lake recently to accept a pewter belt buckle and plaque for shooting Michigan's largest buck with non-typical antlers with a bow.

Not only was the 128½ points that the buck scored largest for non-typical antlers it was the top point producer in either typical or non-typical bow hunters' antler competition.

The big buck was shot northwest of Kingston after Strickland had passed up chances at lesser deer. He was shot from a tree stand on a deer trail.

It is not surprising to area sportsmen acquainted with Strickland that he took the massive 12-point buck. Strickland has spent a lifetime in the woods dating back to his high school days when he was a successful trapper.

He trapped enough foxes to have the tanned hides sent away to make a fox fur coat for his mother. It cost about $600 and is probably worth about $4,000 to $5,000 today, he said.

In one of the rooms in his home he has visible evidence of his trapping career, a stuffed mink and fox.

The buck qualifies for listing in the commemorative bucks of Michigan, a device that the DNR hopes will produce enough information to pinpoint areas that produce trophy bucks.

Hawks top Caro in volleyball

The Cass City Red Hawks spotted Caro a victory in the opening game last Thursday and then swept through the next four games undefeated to sweep the Thumb B Association matches.

The results of the first match were Caro 15, Cass City 7; Cass City 15, Caro 10, and Cass City 15, Caro 2.

Leading Cass City to the win in the first game of the first match was Julie Miller with 10 service points, including three aces. In the deciding game of the match Jill Root ran up 12 service points with two aces.

Lorie Calka was a key performer with six spikes and two kills.

In the second match Cass City won 15-0 and 15-2.

It was a one-woman show in the first game. Miller served all 15 points and the team included 10 service aces.

In the final game of the match Coach Beth Howard reported it was a total team effort. Everyone served well. Colleen Irrer was the best receiver and setter. Paula Burdon was a very good setter while Calka was again the top spiker with six, including three kills.

Jamie LaRoche and Miller also contributed two kills each.

Bulldogs win fourth straight in basketball

Owen-Gage improved its North Central Thumb D League basketball record to 6-8 Tuesday evening with a 56-45 win at home against Port Hope.

The Bulldogs, who have won four straight, play at Caseville Friday, host non-league Uby Tuesday and finish the regular season at Deckerville Friday, March 4.

AKRON-FAIRGROVE

The Bulldogs have had their problems at the free throw line this season, but didn't have them Friday night and that helped them win a double overtime thriller over the Vikings, 80-78.

The game was close all the way with the score at the end of regulation play, 72-72. The Bulldogs led by one point at the end of the first quarter, were tied at the half and at the three-quarter mark, host A-F was ahead by one point.

Each team sank four points in the first overtime period.

Coach Claude Stevens' squad got four more in the second. After getting two points, the Vikings missed three shots in the closing moments of the period, thus enabling the Bulldogs to pick up their fifth league win of the season.

Owen-Gage scored its points on 35 field goals and 10 of 14 shots at the charity line (71 percent). Stan Andrakowicz scored a season-high 32 points. Dan Glidden contributed 21 points and Mike Powell added 18.

Akron-Fairgrove sank 36 field goals and six of 16 free throws (37.5 percent). In double figures were Todd Cramer with 31 points, Steve Bollinger, 20, and Kurt Partlo, 18.

The Owen-Gage junior varsity won, 65-56, which gave it the same win-loss mark as the varsity.

PECK

A 21-point fourth quarter gave Owen-Gage a come-from-behind 59-52 victory at Peck Tuesday, Feb. 15.

The Bulldogs had a comfortable 36-28 lead at halftime, but fell behind in the third period when they only scored two points during the eight minutes.

Leading Owen-Gage were Stan Andrakowicz with 18 points and Mike Powell with 15. The team sank 24 field goals and was 11 of 18 at the free throw line (61 percent).

Top scorers for Peck, which has yet to win a game this season, were Jeff Hamblin with 15 points and Jim Nave with 11. The team collected 23 field goals and six of 14 free throws (43 percent).

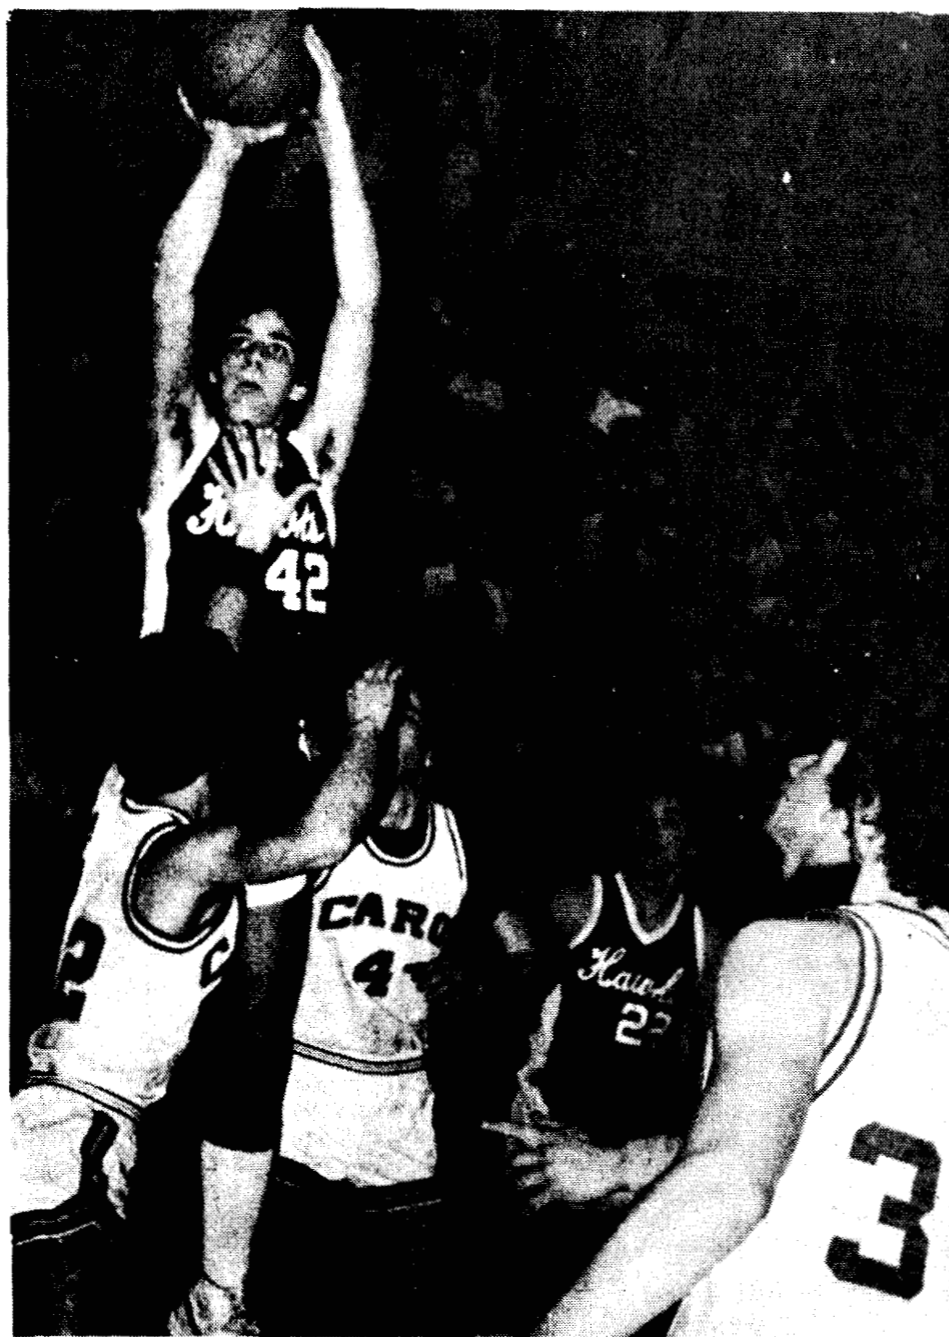

Peck won the junior varsity game. The score was unavailable.

Hawks come from behind to top Caro in crucial clash

Before a capacity crowd at Cass City High School Friday the Cass City Red Hawks took a giant step towards at least a share of the Thumb B Association title with a come from behind victory over the Caro Tigers, 51-45.

The win by Coach Ron Nurnberger's squad broke an 11-game winning streak for the Tigers and dropped them to third place in the league behind Lakers which trails Cass City by a half game.

Cass City fell behind early in the game as Hawk guards were guilty of six turnovers in the first 3½ minutes before conquering the jitters and the Tiger press.

But conquer it they did and from then on it was a see-saw game with first one team making a run then the other surging back with a rally of its own.

Cass City led briefly in the first period 12-8 and then fell back to trail 32-26 as the visitors ran off three quick baskets in the last minute and a half before the half ended.

Caro went stone cold dead in the opening six minutes of the third quarter, scoring only a free throw.

The Hawks took advantage of the lapse to overcome the deficit and surged back in front 33-32 with a minute remaining in the period.

But the last minute was as productive for Caro as the first seven were unproductive.

The Tigers poured in seven unanswered points including a 25-footer by Mike DeLorenzo at the buzzer and the six-point halftime lead had been restored.

Cass City made a run at the Tigers' early in the final period to close the gap to two points in the first minute and a half of the quarter.

Caro responded with baskets by Mark Sochocki and DeLorenzo to move back in front by five.

That set the stage for Cass City's winning rally. Joe Langenburg riddled Caro's zone with two short jump shots from the side and when the Hawk defense caused a turnover Cass City scored again on a fast break layup to go in front to stay with 1:10 left.

The Hawks took possession again after a missed shot and Barry Lapp was fouled with 31 seconds left.

The senior forward, playing what Nurnberger said was the best game of his career, calmly sank both ends of the one and one to put the game out of reach and when Bryan Beecher scored again on a fast break it was merely icing on the cake.

Lapp and John Meininger led the Hawk scoring with 15 points each. Lapp pulled away 14 rebounds and Meininger 10. Meininger played what was probably his best game of the season, helping control the boards for the Hawks on both offense and defense. Langenburg added 10.

For Caro DeLorenzo netted 16.

Nurnberger said that holding Caro to 13 points in the last half was probably the best defensive effort recorded in Cass City's gym.

JV WINS

It was a night of stirring come from behind wins for Cass City. In the preliminary the Cass City Junior Varsity came from six points back in the last 2½ minutes to win, 44-43.

The rally was paced by some fine shooting from the field and the free throw line by Rich Randall.

Funds for farmland act safe

Threats to the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) by eliminating the funding for the staff that administers it appear to have been eliminated.

The Department of Natural Resources had proposed eliminating the $90,000 needed as a means of trimming its budget.

State Rep. Dick Allen, R-Fairgrove, said Monday he has been told, "Don't worry," by members of the House Appropriations Committee that the funds have been restored to the budget.

Sharich and USA firepower burn Hawks Tuesday, 67-53

The only thing good about Tuesday night's game with visiting USA Patriots for Cass City fans was that it wasn't a Thumb B Association game.

Because, for the second time this year USA posted a decisive win over the Hawks. The score was 67-53.

USA broke open the game with a pair of point flurries that turned a close game into a comparatively easy victory.

After the two teams had played about even for most of the first quarter and a half, USA turned on its first scoring streak.

Paced by an aggressive full court zone press that caused several turnovers and some defensive lapses by Cass City, USA turned a 26-21 lead into a 37-22 halftime bulge in the final three minutes of the second period.

Before that most of the Patriot offensive show was Kirk Scharich who kept USA narrowly in front with some long range bombing, including three from 25-feet, in the first quarter.

Although trailing by 15 at the half, Cass City was not yet through. Using defensive pressure themselves to score on Patriot turnovers Cass City chopped the lead to 47-40 at the end of the third quarter.

Cass City kept the pressure on during the opening minutes of the last period and closed to within five points and had the ball with six minutes left.

But the first of several turnovers without a shot and missed foul shot opportunities killed the rally and the chance for the win.

The Patriots quickly pushed the lead back to 10 points, 56-46, with 3:56 left and were in control the rest of the way.

The Hawks were flat after reaching an emotional peak Friday against Caro. Cass City will have to regroup now to be ready to play at North Branch Friday in league competition. The Hawks will be heavy favorites but cannot lose in their final two games if they expect to win at least a share of the title.

John Meininger led Cass City in scoring with 25 points while Joe Langenburg added 10. Scharich with 27 points led all scorers. He was helped by John Neuman with 17 points and Jamie Ewald with 11.

Shetler wins Rec League

The only thing remaining to be settled in the Cass City Recreation League with a game remaining is the battle for third place.

Shetler's clinched the crown with a win over McMahan's and Colwood Bar has second sewed up regardless of what happens in the last game.

Two of the teams in the battle for third place played in the nightcap game Monday, Feb. 14. Charmont moved into a tie for third with its win over Walpole and Holmes, 91-77. The two clubs are now tied with 6-6 records.

There wasn't much defense in the game. The Lawyers jumped off to a 24-11 first period lead and the Bowlers came back strong in the second quarter to trail by only a basket, 39-37.

Charmont continued the rally in the third and fourth quarters to win going away. Todd Comment scored 33 for Charmont, followed by Tim Sontag, 23, and Gary Robinson, 14. Jeff Hartel netted 26, Walt Harrison, 19, and Ken Martin, 14 for the losers.

In the first game of the evening, Erla's topped Tuff-Kote, 79-48.

Erla jumped off to an 18-9 first period lead and was never threatened after that. Roy Calahan with 27 points and Ken Pichla, 26, were scoring leaders for Erla's. Tim Messing helped with 13 points. In double figures for the losers were Jim Schramski, 19, and Todd Dube and Bob Fabian, 10 each.

In Thursday's first game Shetler's had no trouble clinching its title against tail-end McMahan's, 68-49.

The champs posted margins in each of the first three periods to lead 56-34 and McMahan's last quarter 15-12 margin wasn't nearly enough to overcome the lead.

Ross Voelker and Paul Beachy scored 15 points each and Doug Krohn netted 10. Dee Lester, 12 points, and Jim Bruce, 11, led McMahan's.

In the final game of the week Colwood Bar rolled past Walpole and Holmes, 72-68, in a game that had no effect on the top spots final standings.

It was a close game. Colwood surged in front in the opening quarter, 17-14, and the Lawyers came back to close within a point at the half, 32-31. It appeared as if an upset might be brewing when Walpole went in front 51-48 after three periods.

But Colwood rallied with a 24-17 last period advantage to squeak out the win.

In double figures for Colwood were Ted Koch, 31, Mark Gainforth, 13, and Dennis Dunkel, 12. For Walpole the top scorers were Rick Tuckey, 22, Jeff Hartel, 12, and Ken Martin, 11.

Lapeer may join job consortium

The Thumb Area Consortium, which consists of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, will tentatively join with Lapeer County to administer the new federal Job Training Partnership Act.

The JTPA replaces the present Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, (CETA), administered by the consortium in the three counties, as of Oct. 1. The new act says service delivery areas should have a minimum population of 200,000 so for the last few months, consortium board members have been discussing merging with another county to get over the 200,000 mark. The population of the three counties is 134,209.

With a deadline of 5 p.m. Friday to commit themselves, board members adjourned their meeting last Thursday morning in Cass City with Lapeer County as their first choice for a merger and St. Clair as their second.

Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard met with Lapeer officials that afternoon, who were willing to merge, and with St. Clair officials Friday morning, who were hesitant.

The result was Lenard journeyed to Lansing Friday afternoon with the application for a four-county consortium to run the JTPA. It may be meaningless, however, as Lenard explained at the board meeting, since the state has final control over the boundaries of the service delivery areas.

It could also decide to not have separate multi-county administrative areas. Instead, the Michigan Department of Labor could run the program directly through each county's Michigan Employment Security Commission office or some other state agency could run it.

A final decision by Lansing is expected by mid-March, Lenard said.

With all CETA programs to end Sept. 30, the board approved setting aside $7750 a month for the next eight months, a total of $62,000, to cover the cost of unemployment compensation for consortium employees after their jobs end.

The consortium has 16 employees. Lenard said three will stay on the payroll after that for six months to close out consortium records. There will be a final audit during that time.

In March, he continued, he will ask the board to set aside $75,000 to cover all costs for the six months after Sept. 30.

After March, no new enrollments in the CETA program will start, except for the Summer Youth Employment Program, so that all CETA training will end by Sept. 30. As of Jan. 31, 409 persons were enrolled in consortium on-the-job and classroom job training programs.

For the period Oct. 1-Dec. 31, it was reported, there were 477 persons enrolled in those programs.

Of the 116 who left during that period (included in the 477), 71 found jobs, which was more than expected. Eight chose to continue their schooling and 37 quit, were fired, etc.

Coming Auction

Saturday, March 5-Louis Sabo III will hold a farm equipment auction at the place located 10 miles south and 2 1/2 east of Cass City on Stevens Road. Osentoski Auction Service.

Saturday, Feb. 26 - An auction of vehicles, from the Michael F. Murphy estate, will be held at the Colony House on M-53. Lorn Hillaker, auctioneer.

New books at the library

MEN OF MEN by Wilbur Smith (fiction). This rollicking novel which began in FLIGHT OF THE FALCON follows the tumultuous Ballantyne family into a time when Cecil Rhodes set out to establish an empire based on blood, sweat, dreams, and diamonds.

OLD DEVOTIONS by Ursula Perrin (fiction). A poignant story of the coming-of-age of a writer through the death of her closest friend, as well as a portrait of an entire generation - women at the threshold of middle age, caught up in love and betrayal as the bloom fades from their marriages and careers.

SAMARITAN by Philippe Van Rijndt (fiction). A dissident Polish cardinal is being hunted by the state police and their Russian superiors, who have anonymously issued his death warrant. A mesmerizing thriller that sweeps from Warsaw to New York and Washington, then to Moscow, Rome, and back again as the author uncoils a dazzling plot.

Obituaries

LYNWOOD FOURNIER

Funeral services for Lynwood Fournier, 67, of Dearborn, were held Feb. 15 at the Rowe-Peterson Funeral Home in that community.

He died Feb. 12 in Dearborn of natural causes. Fournier was born June 13, 1915, in Gagetown and graduated from Gagetown High School in 1934. He left the area soon after and lived mostly in the Detroit area after that.

The committal service was at Indianfields Cemetery, Caro.

Fournier was preceded in death by his parents, John and Ida Fournier; a brother, Preston; and a sister, Myrtle Smale.

He is survived by two sisters, Marie Rowe of Dearborn and Helen Roth of Florida.

Taking stock

MISCELLANY: AARP Pharmacy Service boasts of lower prices. I compared the price of Tagamet, one of the biggest sellers in the U.S. and found their price identical with K-Mart and Discount Drugs in Delray Beach, Fla.

QUOTABLE: "World's cheapest form of amusement - moving furniture." The late William Strelow of Delray Beach.

Golfer at Gulfstream (I believe his name was Clemens) after watching his ball roll into the cup for a hole-in-one: "Oh, no! Not again!"

Sign at this same Gulfstream club, perhaps the most exclusive in Florida: "EXIT - members only."

It is always cheering to find someone who agrees with me - and particularly on the subject of automatic dishwashers. Betty Rober, who lives in Harbourside in Delray Beach, thinks the contraptions are abominations.

"Quicker to do them the old-fashioned way," she says. "And you can find dishes where they belong afterward - in the cupboard."

I am nothing if not immodest, and will say frankly that I am the fastest dish washer in the East. I can wash, wipe and put away the dishes after a meal for the two of us in four minutes, give or take a few seconds.

All this without the roar of

SIMULATED ENGRAVED BUSINESS CARDS

Available 1-Color or 2-Color

The Chronicle

Phone 872-2010

the automatic, without the heat and waste of water of that infernal machine. I challenge all the automatic crowd to a time trial anytime, with valuable prizes and publicity for the winner.

Among the fringe benefits of manual dishwashing, besides the inflation of my ego as the champion pearl-diver, is the one of setting the water heater at 120 instead of 140, which reduces parboiling in the shower.

Bless you, Betty Rober, for being the first woman to agree that there is one way to wash dishes properly - by hand.

Reactionary coot that I am, besides the abolition of the automatic dishwasher, I want to see run out of town this extra thin-sliced bread.

My dear wife, in a valiant attempt to reduce my waistline, has introduced this stuff to the menu. I swear, the bread is so thin it only has one side.

It's so thin that when you pick up a sandwich of two thicknesses of it, the sandwich droops like a leaf on a hot day. I tested a piece of this so-called bread in the bright sun and it does not even cast a shadow.

To stop the sandwich from sagging, you have to grasp it right to the edge that you plan to bite, and that is very dangerous.

A man might get tetanus from a bitten finger. If that doesn't happen you're still going to lose all your fingertips, sooner or later.

This transparent imitation of a slice of bread doesn't come from a bakery. It is made by the same outfit that turns out paint chips.

The next step downward will be a bread-flavored aerosol spray. You will put a little squirt of it on your ear lobes and call it dinner.

Number of arrests and tickets increase sharply in 1982

The number of persons arrested or charged with criminal offenses by Tuscola County sheriff's deputies increased markedly in 1982, compared to the year before, as did the number of traffic tickets issued.

"Given the hard economic times, I feel that the general crime picture in Tuscola County is one that is in a controlled state," Sheriff Paul Berry wrote in his letter accompanying the annual report.

A total of 645 persons were arrested and charged with criminal offenses last year, compared to 580 in 1981. The greatest number, 314, were for traffic violations, mostly driving under the influence of liquor, compared to 261 in 1981; followed by family offenses (mostly non-payment of child support), 49; obstruction of justice, 47; larcenies, 38; and assaults, 27.

Berry noted, "The road patrols maintained a concentrated effort to arrest violators for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. This I feel directly relates to the decrease in traffic fatalities during the year."

Eight persons died on Tuscola County roads in 1982, compared to 11 the year before. Deputies policed 929 accidents last year, down from 991 in 1981. A total of 417 persons were injured in 1982 traffic mishaps. Alcohol was a factor in 160 of the accidents last year.

Car-deer accidents totaled 248 last year (included in the 929 total accidents), with the most dangerous month for them being November, when 58 were reported. The greatest number, 37, occurred in Indianfields Township (Caro). There was one such accident in Columbia Township; Elkland, 14; Ellington, 14; Elmwood, 11; Kingston, 11; Koylton, 14; Novesta, 20, and Wells, 28.

Deputies issued 3,595 traffic tickets in 1982, including 1,527 by officers in the state-funded special road patrol, compared to a total of 2,576 the year before, an increase of 1,019 tickets.

There were 1,278 speeding tickets issued (1,083 in 1981), 652 for defective equipment (277 the year before), 321 registration violations (176), 298 stop sign violations (204) and 253 for insurance violations (161).

A total of 268 appearance tickets were issued, an increase of 65 from 1981. Tickets issued for purchase or possession of alcoholic beverages by minors decreased from 104 in 1981 to 91 last year, while transporting open intoxicants in a motor vehicle increased from 39 to 87.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT dispatchers recorded 7,202 "criminal" calls last year, down from 7,609 the year before.

The big decreases in those types of complaints came in traffic (accidents, reckless drivers, etc.), down 198; vandalism complaints, down 140; animal complaints, down 79; and assaults, down 50.

Major increases were recorded in larcenies, up 61; disorderly conduct, up 43; and prowlers, up 40.

There were 1,858 arrested persons lodged in the county jail last year (769 for the first time and 1,089 repeaters), compared to 1,595 in 1981 and 1,931 in 1980.

Rev. Isaacs may head district

Rev. Elizabeth D. K. Isaacs, who was pastor of the Trinity United Methodist Church in Cass City from 1970-76, is expected to be named superintendent this week of the United Methodist Church's Port Huron District.

Her appointment, which would take effect in June, would put her in charge of 75 churches and 66 ministers in the Thumb area.

The appointment must be made by Rev. Edsel Ammons, bishop of the 250,000 member United Methodist Church in Michigan.

If she is named, she will apparently be one of only 13 women to have held the position of district superintendent in the United Methodist Church nationwide.

Rev. Isaacs, 62, was ordained in 1962. She has a bachelor's and master's degree from Wayne State University, plus bachelor's and master's degrees from Northern Theological Seminary in Chicago.

She served several churches in the Thumb area, in addition to Cass City, before going to the First United Methodist Church in Lincoln Park, a Detroit suburb. She has served there since 1980.

Her late husband, James, was a real estate agent.

If Rev. Isaacs receives the appointment, she will be the first woman superintendent in the 142-year history of the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church.

She is one of 54 female ministers of the 1,182 Methodist ministers in the state.

year, 49 were brought there by the Cass City police, 31 by the Kingston police and 22 by the Gagetown police. Deputies lodged 1,082, and state police 193.

Sheriff's patrol cars traveled 521,434 miles in 1982 and consumed 41,493.6 gallons of gasoline (12.56 miles per gallon).

THE DRIVERS' LICENSE bureau processed 5,599 applications last year and gave 1,275 drivers' tests.

The marine division, which has two boats, patrolled only 14 hours last year, compared to 80 the year before. Officers gave marine safety training to 569 children, compared to 473 the year before.

The snowmobile division traveled 441 miles last year and recovered 15 stolen snowmobiles.

The amounts spent by the sheriff's department last year were: general operations, $924,328; drivers license bureau, $25,949; marine safety, $5,434; snowmobile, $1,442, and secondary road patrol, $58,007.

Survey shows opinions differ

9-10, use of drugs and alcohol, and 11-12, lack of interest.

Students were also asked such things as additional classes they would like offered, areas they would like the committee to study for improvement in the school system, and areas of which they would like to see more or less emphasis placed.

Eighty-two percent of the students feel the school system expects enough of them in terms of school work, behavior, etc.; 71 percent feel they are graded fairly, and 68 percent feel they are challenged academically.

CITIZEN RESPONSE

In contrast to the student responses, only 39 percent of the citizens who filled out the survey form feel the school system expects enough of the students and only 46 percent feel the students are challenged academically.

Sixty-one percent of those responding have children in school.

Eighty-two percent of the public feels students should be tested for basic skills before leaving school. Seventy-nine percent of the teachers agreed. Students were not asked that question.

The biggest problem with which the schools must deal, the public feels, is lack of proper financial support. Fifty-nine percent rated that as their first, second or third biggest concern.

Lack of discipline, good communications and publications, and lack of interest all tied at 43 percent. Use of drugs and alcohol came next, 35 percent.

Asked what area of the curriculum they would like to see emphasized more, 56 persons responded the basics (reading, writing, arithmetic). The next closest was mathematics and science, with 16 in favor.

Thirty-eight persons said they would like to see the committee study curriculum for purposes of improvement; followed by student behavior and discipline, 31 responses; then better communications between school and community, 25.

TEACHERS

Teachers are the most satisfied of any group surveyed as to the job they feel the schools are doing. Thirty-five percent of the 40 who responded have children in the Cass City schools. Although 100 percent of them feel they grade fairly, only 72 percent feel students are being challenged academically and 69 percent feel the school system expects enough of their students.

Lack of proper financial support was mentioned by 87 percent of the teachers as either the first, second or third biggest problem with which the schools must deal. (Sixty percent rated it first.)

Lack of interest, presumably by students, came next, rated first, second or third by 66 percent of the teachers, followed by size of classes, 62 percent.

Teachers were also asked to rank various areas in order of importance. Seventy-six percent ranked remedial reading (extra help) as first, second or third most important, followed by libraries, 74 percent, and counselors, 71 percent.

Three nominated in

Owendale primary vote

Fifty percent of the voters in Owendale went to the polls Monday and nominated three Republican candidates for the village council.

Nominated were Willis Farnum, the lone incumbent, who received 34 votes, Homer Kretschmer, 21, and Randy Howard, 19. Not qualifying was Rodney

LETTER TO EDITOR

Cookie Crunch was fantastic

Dear editor, Cheers to the Girl Scouts! What a night! What fun! What a success!

Cass City and Deford are lucky to have such a good group of girls and dedicated leaders.

Congratulations on your first annual Cookie Crunch and success for your cookie sale. I like 'em.

Sincerely,
