

MOM AND POP — "Sam," the poodle of Carl and Nadine Lounsbury, obviously isn't the father of "Mouchie's" five kittens, born April 1, but he acts like he is. The cat and dog have been friendly for a long time. When "Mouchie" was giving birth, "Sam" helped lick the kittens clean. The Lounsburys, dog, cat and kittens live on River Road.

Payless paydays loom

O-G debates, sticks with 10-year millage request

Two, four or 10?

After voting at the March meeting to seek renewal of 6.5 mills for school operations for 10 years in the June 14 school election, the Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education members debated Monday evening whether to change their minds.

After defeating a resolution to peg the renewal at four years, the board voted 5-2 to stick with the 10-year levy.

In other action, the board was informed probably three paydays will be missed before the district gets its delinquent taxes in June.

The need for a 10-year renewal was questioned by former board member Tom Laurie. "My only objection is, if the millage is there, it's been spent." Ten years from now, he continued, "you don't need to know what your budget will be."

"I don't question we need the millage . . ." he said later in the discussion. "It's just the way it's going to look to the uninformed voter."

Supt. Ronald Erickson outlined the reasons for seeking the 10-year renewal, versus the normal two years: The board can always levy less than the maximum authorized 6.5 mills, it provides protection should some board members ever be elected who want to put an end to Owen-Gage and it sends a message to Lansing that the residents of their district intend for it to be around a long time.

Tom Draschil of Owendale commented that the consensus of those at a coffee shop when the matter was discussed was that 10 years was too long. He felt the board would have a harder time passing the levy than if it asked for it for two or four years.

He added later that many persons might not understand that if Owen-Gage folds, the millage would also end.

Board member Leona LaFave didn't like the idea of putting a levy on the ballot that some might vote against because of its length. "I agree it's much safer to go for two years."

In contrast, board member Jack Brinkman said he polled seven persons by telephone prior to the meeting and the only one who had doubts about the 10-year levy was Laurie.

"I get the feeling people say, 'Why not? We're going to have to pay for it anyway,'" commented Joe Warack. The board member felt the lengthy millage established credibility for the district.

Board President Ronald Good said he didn't care for how long the millage was, "but I don't like to get 'no' voters started."

Finally, Erickson suggested a four-year millage as a compromise, which Donna Salcido offered in the form of a resolution. It was defeated 4-3, with her, Mrs. LaFave and Good voting in favor.

In 4 districts

Many seek area school posts

Owendale-Gagetown is the only area school district where there won't be competition in the June 13 school board election.

Five candidates filed by the 4 p.m. Monday deadline to run for the two seats open on the Cass City Board of Education, all but one of whom have run for the board in recent years.

Among them is Dr. Edward Scollon, DVM, 4849 N. Seeger Street, the current board president, who has been a school board member for 12 years.

The other board member whose term is expiring, Geraldine Priesskorn, isn't seeking reelection. She has served on the board 20 years.

Other candidates running are Louis Horner, 4410 S. Seeger Street; Louie Salas, 4266 Oak Street; Louis Wrona, 1570 Froede Road, Deford; and Fred Matthews, 4871 Hadley Road, Decker.

Horner ran for the board in 1981. Matthews ran in 1980 and as a write-in candidate in 1981. Salas was also a write-in candidate in 1981.

In the Owendale-Gagetown district, Patrick Goslin of Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, who has been on the board four years, will seek reelection. He was the only candidate to file.

In the Kingston district, Robert Wilmot of 5167 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, whose term is expiring, is seeking reelection. Three other candidates are also running for his seat: James Green, 2337 Phillips Road; Jeffrey Newton, 3906 S. Hurds Corner Road, Mayville; and Velna Richter, 6611 E. Sanilac Road.

PAYLESS PAYDAYS

Employees were last paid April 8 and after this month's bills are paid, Owen-Gage will have about $83,000 in the treasury.

Conceivably one or two more payrolls could be met, but that wouldn't leave enough to pay essential bills, Erickson said, such as insurance.

Hence, there won't be any more paydays until the district gets its more than $150,000 in delinquent taxes from the revolving tax funds of Huron and Tuscola Counties. In the past, that money hasn't come until June.

If that holds true this year, Erickson said, probably three every-other week payrolls will be missed.

After employees receive their back pay, according to the superintendent, there may be a few more payless paydays until Owen-Gage receives permission from the Municipal Finance Commission to borrow money by sale of tax anticipation notes.

PERSONNEL

The resignation due to retirement of kindergarten teacher Eva Rochefort was accepted with regret.

Tenure was granted to elementary special education teacher Sonja Zook.

The latest round in the dispute over unemployment compensation paid this summer to high school teacher Nancy Folk will take place at a Michigan Department of Labor hearing this coming Monday in Detroit.

Erickson speculated after the meeting that the Michigan Education Association has probably spent $10,000 in legal fees defending Mrs. Folk and Owen-Gage will spend about the same in its defense. The teacher received $1,292 in unemployment compensation.

OTHER ITEMS

In a letter dated March 31, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel has informed Owen-Gage it doesn't have to submit a plan to eliminate its supposed deficit while its appeal concerning Goslin territory taxes is pending before the Michigan Supreme Court. Should it lose, then it must submit a plan.

Regarding submission of its 1982-83 budget, Runkel said some statistical information was missing and that Erickson must complete a state budget form within three weeks. Erickson said he hadn't decided yet whether he will do so.

The messy condition of the elementary school gym restrooms was discussed. It was decided a custodian will clean them Saturday mornings, prior to that evening's Band Booster bingo games.

The Boosters have purchased a photocopy machine for the elementary school for more than $2,800.

The board authorized a study of the possibility of using part of the high school shop as a bus repair garage and moving the drafting room elsewhere in the building.

A letter has been received from Farmers and Merchants State Bank in response to the board's resolution approved in March condemning the bank's branches in Owendale and Gagetown being open only half-days.

Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. The change was made, the letter said, after a study was made of the number of customers on those days and because of the need to economize. The branches are open all-day Mondays and Fridays.

Student of the month is Lori Jo Wissner.

For two years

Cass City to seek 16.9 mill renewal

The Cass City School Board broke with recent tradition Monday by voting to seek a two-year renewal of 16.9 mills instead of asking for the levy for one year.

The board making its once-a-year trek to Deford School for the meeting acted after a show of hands by the estimated 50 persons present indicated that they desired the change.

In the past the board had voted millage for a year only on the theory that changes in state aid made it impossible to predict future needs.

Given the present economic status of Michigan the board is certain that the money will be needed.

The renewal includes the 4 mills approved by voters last September.

GYMNASTICS

The rest of the meeting was devoted to talks about curriculum. It was possibly the quietest, shortest meeting of the year.

Betsy Dillon and Larry Robinson explained how gymnastics were taught as part of the physical education department. Mrs. Dillon teaches at the High School; Robinson, at the Intermediate School.

The teachers were present because at the March meeting of the board a parent complained that her daughter was forced to take gymnastics when she was afraid and was injured.

Mrs. Dillon said that one student did break her ankle. It happened in gymnastics class but not during a stunt, she said. The girl turned on the floor mat as she was standing and the ankle broke. It was the type of accident that could occur walking down the street, she claimed.

Both Dillon and Robinson said that they graded more on effort and cooperation than for skills. No student is required to perform activities beyond their skill level, they added.

COMPUTERS

Principal Bob Stickle said that the school should be looking long range on more emphasis on math and science, including computers.

He said that the eight computers purchased recently for the Intermediate School have proved satisfactory. Stickle said that he is teaching a computer course after school on a volunteer basis and that eight students are in it.

He said that the school should be planning on computers for the high school to continue the education now started in the Intermediate School. There are just two computers for student use in the high school.

ADULT ED

Dave Lovejoy, director of Community Education Department, received permission to change graduation requirements for the high school completion course.

A unit and a half will be required for math instead of one unit and speech will be reduced from a full unit to a half unit. Lovejoy said that the students can get the speech requirements in a half unit of instruction while for some of the students it has been years since they had any math at all and that the increased time spent will help them out more than the speech.

Ray Garety reported on activities of the Citizens' Advisory Committee. He said that most business was postponed because of low attendance due to a conflict with a presentation by the Community Choir.

The results of a survey with students concerning the controversial points system for discipline was presented. It showed that it was unpopular with students. The pupils did not suggest an alternative system to replace it.

Sunday liquor ban stays

ban stays

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners, by not voting, decided Tuesday to continue the countywide ban on sale of packaged liquor on Sundays.

Speaking in favor of the proposal were Ralph Retherford of Fort's Confectionary Store, Cass City; Harry Roth, Deford Country Store, and Bill Zabriske, Zabriske's Market, Watrousville. All the stores sell liquor.

The one person present who spoke in opposition, according to County Commissioner Royce Russell of Cass City, was Willard Dodson of Cass City.

After about a half-hour of debate, Commissioner Ken Kennedy of Millington introduced a motion to permit the Sunday sales. None of the other six commissioners would second it, so the Sunday ban will remain.

The ban doesn't apply to bars, which can sell liquor by the glass on Sundays after 12 noon.

In other action, the board approved a resolution designating the Human Development Commission as program administrator of a Community Home Improvement Loan Program, provided the HDC gets the funds it is applying for.

The HDC is applying for a total of $250,000 in federal funds and $840,000 in Michigan State Housing Development Authority funds for Tuscola and Sanilac Counties.

If the $1.09 million is received, the money will be used for low interest loans to moderate and low income homeowners to finance home improvements, primarily for homes more than 20 years old.

The board approved a certificate of appreciation to Don Kebley "for a job well done" as county extension agricultural agent from 1955 until earlier this year, when he retired.

Road weight restrictions removed

Spring weight restrictions on roads in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties were removed as of Monday morning. They had gone into effect Feb. 21.

Last year, weight limits were lifted April 30 or May 3, depending on the county.

Kingston break-ins, damage continue

The rash of break-ins and vandalism is continuing in Kingston.

The front door window of the Zorn's IGA store has been broken for the third time, the front door window at Barden's Hardware was broken for the first time and a break-in was reported at the SN & J Party Store.

The broken window at Zorn's was reported at 12:51 a.m. Tuesday and the broken window at Barden's about a half-hour later.

According to Detective Ron Phillips of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, it appears a rock was first thrown through the Barden's window and then used at Zorn's, since the rock found at the latter store had paint on it from the hardware.

Nothing was found missing at either place.

The break-in at the party store was reported at 4:53

a.m. last Thursday.

Entry was gained by throwing a trash barrel through a large window, which will cost an estimated $350 to replace.

Reportedly taken were soft drinks, calculator and lottery tickets. Estimated total value of the stolen items was $50.

As mentioned, it was the third time the window at the IGA store was broken. The first time was Feb. 21 and the second was March 25. It was broken both times by throwing a cement block through it.

Three persons were arrested following the second break-in, with Kingston police officer Robert Lane having arrived before anything was taken. Some items were taken in the first break-in.

One of the three arrested, Russell L. Spohn, 19, of Marlette, pleaded guilty in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday to attempted breaking and entering in connection with the incident.

His plea was accepted by Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, who scheduled sentencing July 11. He will hear a motion for reduction of bond this coming Monday.

Geoffrey A. Moriarty, 19, of Marlette, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering at his arraignment Monday before Joslyn. Moriarty is scheduled to enter a plea this coming Monday.

As of Wednesday morning, both were still in the county jail, in lieu of bond.

The third person charged, Verne D. Wilcox, also known as Verne D. Nutt, 20, of 6300 Centerline Road, Kingston, has posted bond.

Charged with breaking and entering, he faces preliminary examination in district court Friday.

"If It Fitz . . ."

100% isn't enough

By Jim Fitzgerald

Veteran observers of the baseball scene, who also observe rookies, noted that during spring training this year, Detroit Tiger manager Sparky Anderson gave 100 percent when admitting his mistakes. He could have done much better.

Percentages don't work the same in sports as in the rest of life. Many people think 100 percent is all there is—that when someone consumes 100 percent of a pie, for instance, there is nothing left for anyone else to eat. But when a major league athlete is 100 percent dead, he may still have a lot of life left in him.

Mike Ilitch, owner of the Detroit Red Wings hockey team, told a reporter that when he spoke to his players during training camp, "I said if they give us 100 percent, I would give them 200 percent. Five guys really extended themselves on this team, a small core who were really dedicated, who gave over 100 percent. Some others gave 100 percent, but 15 or 20 percent didn't."

Ilitch made the money to buy the Red Wings by selling millions of Little Caesar pizzas. So I went into a Little Caesar franchise and ordered 200 percent of pizza, but the waitress gave me only 100 percent. I told her that was no way to win the Stanley Cup and she said she didn't care because, out of 6,582 Little Caesar outlets, 6,580 automatically qualified for the World Champion Pizza Playoffs and she was fairly confident her franchise would make it, barring unexpected botulism.

But now let's switch the sports scene back to baseball where Sparky Anderson recently admitted he was wrong last spring when he accused catcher Lance Parrish of being muscle-bound and ordered him to stop lifting weights. Parrish disobeyed Anderson, went on to have a great season, and many baseball experts predict that this year the Tigers will be the only team in either league to have Conan the Barbarian behind the plate.

Sparky Anderson also admitted he was wrong last season when he switched veteran center fielder Chet Lemon to right field and put Kirk Gibson in center. Lemon got off to a poor start for four months and Gibson suffered one of those unexpected injuries that every team has to expect.

So Anderson has Lemon back in center this year and Gibson is the designated left-handed hitter against right-handed pitchers, leaving him more time to sign au-graphs for every gossip columnist who holds a gun to his head. Which reminds me that in the Army I drove the bus for a baseball team whose star pitcher was ambidextrous. He switched arms to match batters, honest to God, and when a switch hitter came to the plate, you could get dizzy from watching the lightning strategy.

Anyway, it is generally believed that during spring training Sparky Anderson made only a 100 percent effort to admit past mistakes. For instance, he made no mention of that several-day period last August when he was liable to go out into the street and ask a passing stranger to come into Tiger Stadium and play the outfield. Sparky put a rookie infielder named Howard Johnson into right field for the first time in his career and the poor kid bumbled so many chances that several fans in the bleachers got up and moved to a Holiday Inn.

Speaking of moving, let's switch the sports scene to football where Detroit Lions Coach Monte Clark is preparing to be a celebrity host on a sea cruise leaving San Francisco June 5. Passengers will pay $1,720 each for the pleasure of sailing in proximity to such an esteemed jock, and the ship is expected to reach Alaska within 10 days—if crew members give more than a 100 percent effort.

If they don't, Coach Clark will lead the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" on the forward deck. And he will explain that he wants to wait to see trip films before deciding why the helmsman didn't see the iceberg.

Onward and Upward.

Portland, Oregon was named by the flip of a coin. The losing name was Boston.

"MAMIE'S GETTING MARRIED" is the title of the Owendale-Gagetown High School all-school play, to be presented Friday and Sunday in the Gagetown Elementary gym. In this scene, Mamie (Lori Jo Wissner) explains to her boyfriend Nicky (Mike Powell) why her parents have invited three potential suitors to dinner (on the couch, from left, John Shope, Bill Ashmore, Stu Stirrett). Others pictured are, from left, Gary Erickson, Laurie Louis, Tina Lopez, Ron Good and Jennifer Wood. Curtain time both nights is at 8. David Good is the director.

False alarm

Elkland Township firemen were summoned to a reported fire at Cemetery and Bay City-Forestville Roads about 1 p.m. Saturday, which turned out to be a false alarm.

The Haire Net

This was planned as a column about the paranoia and utter foolishness of the Reagan administration and its position about nuclear armament.

There's plenty of evidence for a column about that. For instance the other day I read about a plan underway to preserve the banking system in case of nuclear war. The banking system.

The article didn't make any predictions on what might be left around to buy . . . or if anyone would be around to make the purchases.

When they get that plan all blueprinted they can place it on the shelf right next to the plan for moving the masses out of metro Detroit to the waiting arms of the countryside.

That's what was to be the topic, but a "Moral Majority Report" issued under guidance of President Dr. Jerry Falwell changed all that.

In a full page ad in the throwaway paper, Falwell extols the build-up of arms and then at the conclusion of his "open letter" presents a "ballot" for folks to vote on.

He promises to pass the results on to our national leaders.

There are three questions on the ballot, each presented in a way to make a "no" answer almost mandatory. Number one says, "Are you willing to trust the survival of America to a nuclear freeze agreement with the Soviet Union, a nation which rejects on-site inspection of military facilities to insure compliance?" Note that the good ol' Rev. doesn't say are you in favor of a freeze with inspection or are you in favor of a freeze under mutually agreeable conditions.

Number two says "Are you for stopping those U.S. strategic weapons programs aimed at restoring nuclear parity with the Soviet Union?"

Note, he doesn't say are you for restoring nuclear parity of the United States and its allies with the Soviet Union and its allies?

That kind of question might result in a reduction of the arms race and blow the Falwell program to where it belongs . . . in the garbage.

The last of his questions is "Do you believe our NATO partners should be outnumbered in 'Theater' (intermediate range) nuclear weapons?"

Old Jer doesn't ask if the NATO partners and the United States should be outnumbered . . . that answer might tend to curb the arms race, too.

When you first read junk like that presented by Falwell, the blood pressure tends to rise a bit. But only at first.

Falwell can rig any ballot he wants and say most anything he wants in the throwaway sheet, but he's in the big leagues when he attempts to foster his ideas on the political pros in Washington.

They are used to all kinds of hype and pressure and they survive because of an uncanny sense of knowing what their constituents really want. Not the moral majority, but the real majority.

Thank goodness that Falwell can't change that.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Leaving through "Michigan Living" the other day a story about inexpensive vacations included taking a trolley ride in Detroit.

Since that trolley started operating, I have been in big town dozens of times and have never seen a trolley on the track. More than that, I have never even seen a trolley car in or out of operation in Detroit. If the thought was to compete with San Francisco, the city fathers have a long way to go. In the city by the bay, trolleys are almost impossible to miss, day or night.

How soon we forget.

The media has been featuring the dangers of asbestos as a carcinogen and it prompted a question from the audience at Monday's school meeting at Deford.

The question was, "how safe are Cass City schools." The answer was that the threat is not new and that the schools were inspected two or three years ago. At that time pipes were covered with asbestos as insulation. That was removed.

I suspect that the problem was discussed at the school board when the inspection was authorized, but I can't recall a word spoken about it.

Nice to know that it was done, though, isn't it?

The school board met after the regular meeting to set a date for a closed session to discuss guidelines for upcoming negotiations with the Tri-County Bargaining Association that represents Cass City teachers.

The teachers are in the last year of a three-year contract. Unlike the administrators, the teachers received a 10 percent increase in salary, plus increment increases for all teachers with less than 11 years' service.

While negotiations will probably start before school is out, the odds are overwhelming that you won't see a contract signed before the regular June election when a millage renewal proposition will be decided.

HEALTH TIPS Prescription for an eye examination

What is a medical eye examination?
It's safe to say that most people don't know much about it beyond the visual acuity test: The eye chart with the big "E" at the top. But there's more involved, and some of the most recent evaluation techniques have become quite sophisticated (photographic angiography, ultrasound, microcomputer).
A description of a medical eye exam will help relieve the anxiety of persons over 65, who are at high risk to eye disease and who should have regular eye exams every two years.
A typical medical eye exam will include:
1) A history of family and personal eye health, along with a review of the patient's general health.
2) A test for visual acuity and a refraction, which determines what lenses are needed to compensate for optical defects.
3) An external eye exam (lids, brows, tear apparatus, eyelids, and pupil reactions).
4) A test for the ability of the eyes to move, to focus together, and to converge on a small letter or target.
5) An examination of the front part of the eye, including the cornea, the iris, and the lens.
6) An examination of the interior of the eye, especially the optic nerve and the retina (this often requires dilation of the pupil, which is the window through which the ophthalmologist looks into the eye).
7) A visual field test to see if there is any loss of peripheral or side vision.
8) A test to check the pressure within the eyes, which is often elevated in glaucoma.
Often diseases like high blood pressure or diabetes in other organs or systems can be detected by the ophthalmologist because symptoms may occur first in the eye. Every eye disease responds best to treatment if detected early. Some diseases, like glaucoma, present no obvious early symptoms and can only be detected with a medical eye examination.
The eye is the only place where a doctor can actually peer into body tissue without surgery. It is the only place where a part of the brain is visible, for the optic nerve from the brain can be seen where it meets the retina at the back of the eye.

The National Eye Care HELPLINE offers medical eye help to anyone over 65 who is needy, has a medical eye problem and does not have an ophthalmologist. Information on eye diseases will be sent to any senior citizen who calls 800-222-EYES.
The public service project is sponsored by the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the Michigan Ophthalmological Society.

Pedaling Around

Good eating

By Mike Eliasohn

I had a very good dinner at a Lansing restaurant Saturday evening.

An added attraction, recently added on Saturday evenings only, was the magician who called on each table while the diners were waiting for their meals.

It wasn't a fast food restaurant (if it were, the diners wouldn't be waiting) and the magician wasn't wearing a clown suit and makeup. He was wearing a three-piece suit.

One of his tricks was to put a sponge rubber ball in my hand. I then clenched my fist and he snapped his fingers (obviously for dramatic effect). When I opened my fist, there were three balls.

In contrast to this restaurant, where the biggest "gimmick" is good food, non-food gimmicks are very popular at some restaurants these days.

I remember talking to a bonding attorney after a Cass City Village Council meeting who had been here concerning Pillsbury's use of Cass City Economic Development Corp. bonds to finance purchase of the Wickes elevator.

He mentioned EDC bonds were often being used in Michigan to finance construction of Chuck E. Cheese restaurants.

For those with lots of cash,

Elkland hires

Armstead to perform audit

The Elkland Township Board Monday evening hired certified public accountant Ray Armstead Jr. of Cass City to audit the township's financial records for the 1982-83 fiscal year at a cost not to exceed $1,200.

The township received three bids, one of them higher and the other the same as Armstead's. The latter was from a Bay City CPA firm, so the board decided to give the job to Armstead, Clerk Norma Wallace explained, since he is a local resident.

The board gave its approval to Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreements for 117.74 acres owned by Albert and Marie Jones in section 15, 80 acres owned by John and Eileen Krug in section 10, and 71.32 acres owned by Grace Clara in section 6.

he added, the restaurants were a very good investment. He considered the Chuck E. Cheese formula "can't miss."

The formula, from what I've seen on television and elsewhere -- I haven't been in one -- includes use of costumed characters, some of which I think are robots and video games. The restaurants do sell food, of course, primarily pizza.

The premise is that Chuck E. Cheese restaurants, apparently also known as Pizza Time Theatres, are fun places for parents to go with their children to eat.

Thus there are three reasons why I never would eat in one: I don't have a family, I don't like pizza and I don't like to have "fun" when I eat. I enjoy a good meal, but "enjoyment" isn't the same as "fun" eating.

I would make a terrible parent. I can hear the kids I don't have screaming. "You never let us have fun when we go out to eat."

"Shut up," I would reply, "and enjoy your meal."

I confess I do eat at fast food restaurants, including twice last week end, for lunch on my way to Lansing Saturday and for lunch on my way back here Sunday. The food isn't too bad or too expensive and at times like that, my aim isn't to "enjoy" a nice leisurely meal.

On the other hand, I wouldn't drive, for instance, from Cass City to Caro just to eat at a fast food restaurant, many of which also promote the idea they are "fun" for families to eat at, even if they don't have costumed characters.

The advantage of the fast food chain restaurants, in addition to the food being good, if not great, and reasonable in price, is the consistency.

Eat at a McDonald's or Burger King, etc., in Sacramento, and the food will taste the same at the ones in Saginaw -- at least it is supposed to.

The difficulty is that consistency can become more important than the quality of the food.

Joe's Diner may serve the best hamburgers in the world, but if McDonald's builds a restaurant next door, that's where most persons will go.

There is also a danger that if kids eat all their restaurant meals at fast-food places, they will grow up thinking the only way to eat the main course is when it comes between two slices of bread.

WASHINGTON VISIT -- Betty Laurie (left) of Cass City and Faye Adam of Snover, visiting with Roger Szemraj, aide to Congressman Bob Traxler, were among 100 farmers who participated in the 23rd annual legislative seminar in Washington, D.C., April 5-8, sponsored by the Michigan Farm Bureau Women's Committee, of which Mrs. Adam is chairman. Mrs. Laurie was also representing the committee.

Free activities set at Rawson library

Next week, April 17-23, is National Library Week.

To celebrate, Rawson Memorial Library has scheduled a variety of free activities.

The first 75 persons checking out books each day will receive a "Love My Library" book bag.

The library has been given a new Americana Encyclopedia set as a memorial gift. The oldest set (still in excellent condition) will be given away at a drawing Saturday. Anyone coming into the library may sign up for a chance to win the set.

Coffee time for mothers Thursday. Mothers of preschool story hour children are invited to have coffee and doughnuts at the library during story hour.

Free family movies Monday and Friday night at 7:30 and free popcorn.

The Monday film will be "Year of the Wildebeest," a documentary of a herd of some 1 million wildebeest on their annual 2,000 mile migration in Kenya in search of grass and water during the dry summer months. Immense herds of antelope, zebra, giraffe and buffalo accompany them. Also, "Ransom of Red Chief," a humorous O. Henry short story that captures the atmosphere of the 1920s in its setting and spirited musical score.

Friday will be "Gnomes," which tells the story of a wedding day in a family of woodland Gnomes. As they welcome the bride, her parents, and boisterous uncle Kostja from Siberia, the family of Tor, the young bridegroom (he's only 10!), happily prepares for the coming festivities. Also, "National Parks: Promise and Challenge. Are our national parks a playground for everyone to use or a paradise to be preserved for the future? As we travel to such magical places as Yosemite, Yellowstone, Mount McKinley, and the Grand Canyon, we are stimulated to consider the proper role for our national parks.

Children's movies Saturday begin at 1:30 p.m.

Featured are "Call It Courage," a Disney film about a young boy, branded a coward by his fellow islanders, who attempts to overcome his fear of the sea by sailing beyond the security of his island's barrier reef. Also, "The New Misadventures of Ichabod Crane." The night robbery of the highway stage by the Headless Horseman terrifies the village of Sleepy Hollow. Ichabod Crane is appointed to recover the stolen gold. With Rip Van Winkle as his guide, Ichabod follows a trail of coins to the hovel of Velma the Witch.

The library is open Mondays and Fridays from 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. and Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 10-5:30.

Corn, wheat bid opening times differ

An article in last week's Chronicle said county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices will be opening bids at 9 a.m. Saturday to sell corn and wheat to the Commodity Credit Corp.

That only applies to the Bad Axe ASCS office. The ASCS offices in Caro and Sandusky will open bids starting at 4:30 Friday. The public can attend the bid openings.

The opened bids will be forwarded to Kansas City, where the CCC will decide which it will accept.

Angel Falls in South America's Guiana Highlands, discovered in 1937 by an American aviator, are the world's highest at 3,212 feet.

Caro state police post to stay open

The Caro state police post will stay where it is.

However, the door will be locked more often than it is unlocked.

When it was first announced the post would be losing two of its three sergeants as part of a $5 million cut in the state police budget, no other details were known. There was, however, lots of speculation, most of which is proving untrue.

Details of the cutback were learned last Thursday by the post's commander, Lt. Lee McDowell, at a meeting he attended in Saginaw with district commander and the commanders of the nine other posts in the district.

Starting May 8, all dispatching will be done by the Bay City post. The telephone number for the Caro post will be answered in Bay City, which will dispatch the patrol cars operating from the Caro post.

The Caro post has and will continue to have nine troopers, McDowell said. That means one or two patrol cars on the road around the clock. It will also continue to have a lieutenant, a detective, as well as one sergeant.

The post will only be open to the public when someone in charge is there, which won't be on a regularly scheduled basis. The rest of the time, the door will be locked.

McDowell said the sergeant may be at the post two week ends a month, which would mean the post won't be open every weekday.

Presently, three sergeants man the dispatch desk from 7 a.m.-11 p.m., seven days a week, and wait on persons who come through the door.

McDowell said the public will actually be better served by the change, since he now sometimes has to pull a trooper off the road to do the dispatching when no sergeant is available, and not that many members of the public come to the post.

The Sandusky post, which is losing three of its four sergeants, will also only be open when someone in charge is there, McDowell said.

Although only two positions are being lost at the Caro post, there may be more personnel changes than that, since 15 posts statewide are affected by cutbacks and some sergeants will be reassigned and others will be taking demotions to trooper rank. Ultimately, the 77 troopers with the least seniority will lose their jobs.

At least that is the plan. One Upper Peninsula legislator, who has a lot of clout, and the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, have raised objections to the cutback plan.

Some of the speculation prior to last Thursday's meeting was that the present Caro post which is leased, might be replaced by smaller quarters in a state-owned building in the Caro area.

McDowell now doubts that will happen, since it would be costly to renovate space elsewhere to meet the state police needs, such as security for guns and surveillance system.

Cass City Police probe thefts

The theft of three bicycles was reported to Cass City police during the past several days, one of which had been stolen before and then recovered.

Patricia Michels of 6694 Main Street told police Tuesday, April 5, that one bike was stolen from her front porch and the other from her yard. She last saw one of them March 30 and didn't remember when she had last seen the other.

One bike was a Ross boy's 10-speed, worth $173. The other was a Huffy with 20-inch wheels, worth $110. Both were blue with white trim.

Visiting Jeff Ware of Shelbyville, Ind., reported to police March 26 that his bike was stolen.

The owners of a home at Ale and Main Streets informed police Friday that someone had left the bike in their garage.

It was taken to the James

Ware residence on Third Street for safekeeping. Monday, it was reported to police the bicycle had been stolen from the Ware garage.

The red Powerlite had red 20-inch tires and was valued at $150.

Roland Limberger of 6576 Shabbona Road, Deford, told sheriff's deputies last Thursday afternoon that tools worth $350 were stolen from his pole building some time since 10:30 p.m. the day before.

Taken were a Stanley toolbox containing sockets, ratchets, wrenches, pliers, breaker bar, etc., and a large bowl containing assorted wrenches, pliers, etc.

Obscenities painted on the south wall, doors and sidewalk at Kingston High School were removed by a janitor using a steam cleaner.

They were reported to Caro state police at 8 a.m. last Thursday.

Investigation led to two Kingston men, one a student at the high school. (The police report didn't say about the other.) Both admitted to doing the painting.

Issued notices to appear in district court April 18 on charges of malicious destruction of property under $100 were Duane A. Overaitis, 18, and John A. Wilcox, both of 3467 Elm Street.

Bulldog track teams aim to better '82 league record

Doing better than last year is the goal for the Owen-Gage boys' and girls' track teams as they prepare for their April 19 home opener.

Both teams are coached by Richard Glidden, who is starting his second season as head of both teams. He also coached the girls' squad in 1980 and the boys in 1981.

The Bulldog boys finished in fourth place in the North Central Thumb D League last year and the girls were last of nine teams. The boys' team has lost the sure points of Jim Patnaude, state class D pole vaulting champion in 1981 and 1982, and Terry Muntz, who was league champion in the hurdles last season.

This year's team doesn't have a pole vaulter. Glidden also lacks a high jumper. He does have two long jumpers, but feels that is a weak event for his team.

The coach expects the boys will gain their points in the dashes and relays, traditionally strong events for the Bulldogs.

Running the relays will be Gary Erickson, Stan Andrakowicz, Dan Glidden, Jason Reinhardt and Reid Goslin. Glidden and Andrakowicz are also expected to do well in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Coach Glidden is also looking for strong performances from Craig Enderle in the shot put and discus; Paul Lopez and John Patnaude in the discus; John Shope, Scott Wright and Joe Lopez in the shot put, and Frank Abfalter in the distance events.

How well the team does, Glidden said, depends on the performances of the returning lettermen. He feels he may find some surprises among the younger team members.

The coach predicts Akron-Fairgrove will take the league title, with Kingston in second. He hopes his Bulldogs can move up a notch from last year's finish to place third.

GIRLS' TEAM

With a small team, Glidden said it will take help from the freshmen to improve from last year's finish.

Only one member of last year's team, Leeann Elliott, was lost to graduation, but this year's squad has only one letterman, Dena McDonald in the shot put and discus.

Other team members include Joan Mosack, sprints and relays; Carol Zimmer, shot put and relays; Karen Koch, distance events; Marcy Enderle and Kim Olszak, sprints and relays, and Jenny Hellebuyck, sprints and long jump.

Glidden feels the top four teams in the league, from first through fourth, will be Akron-Fairgrove, Kingston, Deckerville and North Huron, with his Bulldogs among the other five.

The schedule is the same for the boys' and girls' teams:

April 19 NH, Peck, at home
April 26 with Port Hope at A-F
April 29 Central Michigan University relays
April 30 Saginaw Valley State College relays
May 3 Deckerville, Caseville, at home
May 10 O-G, Carsonville-P.S., at Kingston
May 17 league meet, at A-F
May 21 state regionals, at Caro
May 31 meet of champions, at Caro

Easlick low bidder for 2 Huron drainage projects

On the Grant Drain and four branches, a total of 9 1/2 miles, the firm bid $109,950. Lowest of four bidders for pipe and materials for the project was St. Regis Co. of Charlotte at $54,361.

For the three-mile Moore Drain project, Easlick bid $35,484. There were also four bidders for the pipe, with the low bidder being Michigan Culvert Co. of Mason at $25,012. Although all of the drain is in Grant Township, some of the drainage district is in Sheridan Township, so it is also involved.

The Grant Drain begins in Section 16 near Elkton Road and empties into the Pigeon River in the northwest corner of the township.

The Moore Drain starts near Huron Line Road, east of Elkton Road, and empties into the Huron Intercounty Drain (which empties into the Pigeon River) near Grassmere Road, which is the dividing line between Grant and Sheridan.

The Road Commission board should accept the bids for the two projects at its April 20 meeting, according to Deputy Drain Commissioner Vern Rounds.

The projects will consist of reconstruction of the drains, including reseeded of the banks and installing erosion control structures.

The Grant Drain was last cleaned in 1967 and the Moore Drain in 1962.

O-G girls seek pitching help

Pitching is the question mark as coach Judy Campbell prepares the Owen-Gage softball team for the season opener Monday at Lakers.

Her Bulldogs finished the 1982 season at 13-5 overall and every inning of every game was pitched by senior Leeann Ellicott. The team finished fourth in the North Central Thumb D League at 11-5.

With no players this year having experience pitching last year, Miss Campbell, starting her seventh year at the helm, has had six girls throwing in practice. It appears senior Jackie Kain, who did a little pitching her freshman and sophomore years, will be handling the mound duties. "She looks like the most consistent," the coach said.

In addition to Ellicott, also gone from last year's starting lineup are the second and third basemen, shortstop and one "super" cutfielder (Julie Enderle).

That means a lot of reshuffling on this year's squad. Senior Joan Mosack will move from first base last year to shortstop, junior Sheila Engelhardt from outfield to second base, and Carol Zimmer from outfield to third. Kain, when not pitching, can play at second, shortstop or left field.

Mosack and Zimmer have also been pitching in practice.

The only player who will have the same position this year that she did last year is catcher Rita Sullivan.

As of last week, Miss Campbell still had to select the first baseman and the outfield from the rest of her squad of one junior, two freshmen and the rest sophomores.

As for the hitting, Miss Campbell said, "It's kind of hard to tell in the gym."

Kain, who consistently gets on base, has been the leadoff hitter the last two years and may fill that role this season.

The coach is hoping for .300 plus performances from Zimmer, Engelhardt and Sullivan. Mosack usually bats in the cleanup spot.

Last week was still too early for Miss Campbell to predict how her team will do, especially since so much depends on how her untested pitching staff will do. She feels Caseville will be the team to beat in the league.

Double headers start at 4 p.m. with home games played at the Gagetown village park. The schedule:

April 18 at Lakers (non-league)
April 21 at Carsonville-P.S.
April 25 at Deckerville
April 28 Port Hope
May 2 at Caseville
May 5 Kingston
May 9 at Peck
May 16 Akron-Fairgrove
May 23 North Huron

Pitching key to Bulldogs' chance in North Central D

The Owen-Gage baseball team is hoping to better its fourth place finish of last season in the North Central Thumb D League, but doing so depends on the still unknown strength of the pitching, according to coach Phil Gray.

The Bulldogs were 9-7 in the league in 1982 and 10-11 overall. Winning pitcher in eight of the 10 victories was Randy Radabaugh, who has graduated.

Expected to handle the majority of the mound duties will be junior Alan LeValley, who will also play in the outfield.

Sharing the pitching duties will be senior Stan Andrakowicz, who usually will be at shortstop, and Dan Glidden, who otherwise will be manning center field.

The team's other big need is hitting, which should be supplied by Glidden, Andrakowicz, right fielder Mike Powell and catcher Paul Lopez. The latter two are also seniors.

One of the team's strengths, Gray points out, is those four seniors, who will have to be the leaders.

Speed supplied by Glidden and Andrakowicz will also aid the Bulldog cause.

In addition to those players mentioned, also expected to fill starting spots will be sophomore John Shope at first base, junior Gary Erickson at second, junior Joe Lopez at third and senior Jason Reinhardt in left field.

Seniors Craig Enderle and George Vargo, both outfielders, are also contending for starting spots.

Other players are: Junior, Earl Harris, outfield; sophomores, Kellin Kretschmer, outfield, and Billy Ashmore, catcher, and freshmen Billy Ricker, infield, Paul Thompson, outfield, Dave Peters, outfield, and Ron Susalla, outfield.

In addition to Radabaugh, who was an all-conference pitcher with an 8-5 mark, also lost to graduation were all-conference infielder Terry Muntz, who batted .359; infielder Vince Salcido, who batted .321 and was all-conference honorable mention, and Mark Furness, who was an outfielder. Gray is starting his eighth year as coach. Over the past seven years, his teams have accumulated an overall record of 75 wins and 73 losses.

After school games start at 4, with home games played at Owendale.

Stoutenburg

to hurl

for CMU

Cass City High School graduate Earney Stoutenburg is a pitcher on the Central Michigan University baseball team.

According to the Chippewa press book, he "should see lots of action this year out of the bullpen... has an excellent curve ball and control... needs more game experience but could develop into a fine relief pitcher."

Earney Stoutenburg

Stoutenburg, 21, is a junior and the son of Eldon and Ellen Stoutenburg of 4291 Maple Street. He is majoring in business and is active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

At Cass City High School, the 6-foot, 165-pounder earned three varsity letters in baseball and two in football. He graduated in 1980.

The CMU team in 1982 finished in third place in the Mid-American Conference West Division with an 8-4 mark and was 24-17 overall.

The 1983 Chippewas have two other upper Thumb athletes, Rob Herzog, a catcher, who played at Laker High, and Dave Regnier, a pitcher, from Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

Provincial recognizing volunteers

Volunteers at Provincial House will be recognized at a family night Thursday, April 21, at 7 p.m. in conjunction with National Volunteer Week, April 17-23.

"We want to let each and every one of our volunteers know how much we appreciate them here at Provincial House," said activities director, Mary Vatter.

"Their visits, their programs and their donations bring lots of happiness to our residents. Volunteers are a link to the community for the residents."

The volunteers' activities include one-to-one visiting, conducting activity programs and running outside errands.

Mrs. Vatter said that in addition to the more than 25 regular volunteers, there is a special group of volunteers involved with the adopt-a-grandparent program.

"This program involves children of all ages who have adopted one of our residents as their 'grandparent,'" she explained.

"They visit their grandparent, send them notes and most of all, share a special friendship. So far 40 residents are adopted. We are looking for others interested in participating in the program so that each of our residents can be adopted."

The residents at Provincial House are glad that each volunteer has become a part of their nursing home.

"They are all good to us," Evelyn Gruber, president of Resident Council, said of the volunteers. "We appreciate the love they bring to us. Getting a hug or a smile is the best gift anyone could give."

Kelley pleads 'no contest' to charge in traffic death

William H. Kelley pleaded no contest in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday to negligent homicide in connection with a Feb. 19 traffic accident that took the life of Marilyn Michrina.

His plea was accepted by Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, who scheduled sentencing June 13. Bond was continued.

Kelley, 30, of 2805 Hurds Corner Road, Caro, faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison. His guilty plea was part of a plea bargain with the prosecution. He was originally charged with manslaughter. He was charged with having been intoxicated when his car ran into the rear of Ms. Michrina's auto on M-46, six miles west of Kingston, as the victim was slowing to make a right turn.

Although she was burned beyond recognition, an autopsy revealed she died of head injuries. The victim, 44, was a rural Caro resident.

In other cases Monday: Steven L. Bean, 23, of Crosswell pleaded guilty to attempted malicious destruction of real property over $100 in connection with vandalism done at a home at 6474 River Road, Cass City, owned by John Mulrath Sr. The damage was done Oct. 3 or 4, 1981. Bean is Mulrath's step-son and had been living in the double-width mobile home.

Bean's plea was accepted and sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

Brothers Dennis G. Putnam, 20, and Allen G. Putnam, 18, both of 2104 W. Caro Road, Caro, stood mute to charges of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, a chainsaw Jan. 4 in Indianfields Township.

Dennis Putnam also stood mute to charges of malicious destruction of personal property over $100 and breaking and entering. He is charged with damaging two earth-movers, a street sweeper, and semi-truck at Vaughan Gravel and Excavating, 2124 W. Caro Road, Caro, and breaking into a mobile home there Feb. 16.

Pleas of innocent were entered for them and pretrial hearings scheduled May 9. Bond was continued.

Philip A. Young, 20, of Flint, was placed on three years' probation for larceny in a building, for stealing guns and ammunition from a house in Arbel Township Jan. 31. He pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 23.

He was also sentenced to 120 days in the county jail, with credit given for 67 days served, fined $500, assessed $500 court costs and is to pay restitution.

Jerry Franz, 21, no current address available, pleaded innocent to violating probation. A hearing will be scheduled and bond was set at $5,000.

He was placed on 24 months' probation in February, 1980, for attempted breaking and entering an occupied dwelling. He is charged with violating probation because of his March 18 guilty plea in district court to larceny under $100.

Anthony M. Allen, 23, of 2280 Wells Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to criminal sexual conduct (third degree), but his plea was refused. A pretrial hearing will be scheduled. Bond was continued.

The alleged offense supposedly took place Jan. 23 in Fremont Township.

Larry L. Hunter, 17, of 2168 Wagner Drive, Caro, was placed on three years' probation for larceny in a building, to stealing a package of peanut butter cups last Oct. 28 from the Caro Kroger store.

He was also sentenced to one year in the county jail, with credit given for one day

Dale Cleland visited at West Point

Theo Cleland of 7876 Germania Road, Uby, visited her son, Cadet Dale Douglas Cleland, at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., March 16-20 for the annual Plebe-Parent Week-end.

His sisters, Katha Jo and Beth Ann, also visited.

During the week end, the relatives and friends of plebes (freshmen) are invited to West Point to tour the grounds, meet with staff and faculty members and learn first-hand about the regimen followed by the academy's newest cadets.

Cleland, one of 1,400 plebes at West Point, graduated from Cass City High School in 1982.

served and serving of six months of the term deferred. He was fined $300, assessed $400 and is to pay restitution. Hunter is also to attend school and obtain passing grades.

Phillip M. White, 32, of Lum, was placed on three years' probation for attempted grand larceny. He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with credit given for one day served. Thirty days of the sentence were suspended. He was fined $250 and assessed $500 court costs.

Joslyn found him guilty of the charge March 8, of attempting to steal a garden tractor last May from Jensen Equipment Co. in Millington.

Michael A. Miracle, 25, of rural Caro, was placed on three years' probation for larceny in a building.

He was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail with work release privileges granted and will be allowed to leave the state if he has a confirmed job elsewhere. He was fined $300. Restitution not to exceed $400 will be determined.

He pleaded guilty to the charge May 10, 1982, to stealing from a Dayton Township garage in March of that year. Sentencing was then delayed one year.

DISTRICT COURT

Jeffery R. Papp, 18, of 3737 Van Dyke Road, Decker, has pleaded guilty to larceny under $100 in connection with the Jan. 24 theft of a .22 caliber pistol from Albee True Value Home Center in Cass City.

Judge Richard F. Kern accepted his plea and delayed sentencing to Feb. 13, 1984. Papp was assessed $100 court costs.

No injuries in car mishaps

The past several days haven't been good for parked cars and deer.

Sara L. Twomey of Rochester told Cass City police Sunday afternoon that another vehicle damaged her car on the right side behind the rear wheel, apparently while it was parked on Houghton Street.

At 9:20 a.m. Friday, village officers reported, Mary E. Monte, 62, of Caro, was backing from a parking place in the Hills and Dales General Hospital lot and backed into the right side of a southbound auto. Driver of the other car was Gary W. Martin, 28, of 6236 Lakeside Drive.

That afternoon, Onelle I. Crawford of 7773 Shabbona Road told Cass City police her car had a scratch in the right side from the front bumper to midway along the door. She had noticed it three days earlier when she had trouble opening the door.

At 10 p.m. last Wednesday, according to village police, Joseph D. Zawilinski, 26, of 4138 Cass City Road, was backing from a space in the Charmont lot and backed into the right front corner of a car that was starting to pull into the parking place alongside.

Driver of the other car was Louann Kay Root, 30, of 6158 Elmwood Road.

At 8:10 p.m. Monday, Tuscola County sheriff's deputies reported, Arnold P. Nieboer, 44, of 4309 Woodland Avenue, Cass City, was westbound on M-81, west of Schwegler Road, when his auto collided with a deer.

Onalee M. Hopper, 47, of 5795 Bruce Street, Deford, was northbound on Cemetery Road, south of Shabbona Road, at 5:45 a.m. last Wednesday, according to deputies, when her car struck a deer.

HDC increases emergency food

The Human Development Commission is expanding services for people with emergency food needs.

An emergency food need is when, due to a special circumstance, no food or money for food exists in the home. In Tuscola County, surplus beans, potatoes, and onions have been provided from PROJECT AIM (Agriculture Involved in Michigan). Canned goods and other non-perishable goods from the emergency services funding grant, received from the Department of Social Services, are also a portion of the emergency service. These foods are all part of the food closet established at the HDC's administrative office in Caro and in cooperation with local food pantries at various sites throughout the county.

At HDC's Caro office, refrigerated and frozen goods are also stored. Foods for emergency use were also purchased through the Tuscola County CROP Walk funds, coordinated by area churches. Also contributing to the food supply for Tuscola County is the General Motors - United Auto Worker's Care and Share goods. Canned goods from this program are provided to the local United Way and then to HDC, for distribution.

Another food service sponsored by HDC is the surplus cheese and butter. These, however, are not foods given on an emergency basis. They are given through mass distribution to eligible low-income individuals. Cheese and butter distributions will continue on a monthly basis, until HDC's supply is exhausted. (People who have not previously registered, must contact HDC to register prior to the April distribution).

The cheese and butter are surplus commodities given to the states from the federal government.

Funds to cover the expenses of distribution do not accompany the food. Congressmen have appealed to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block to assist with distribution costs. Thus far, no funds are available.

Dispersing cheese and butter to those in need has been possible so far because of donations of time, money, space, and refrigerator use by local service groups, schools and concerned individuals, according to HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark.

He will assume his duties here in June at the close of the state conference of United Methodist Churches.

Rev. Patton and his wife are natives of the Upper Peninsula. They have three sons.

He will replace Rev. Eldred Kelley, who is now the pastor of the new Fellowship Church in Cass City.

Tim Tuckey attends conference

Spring Arbor College Professor Howard Housen and five students, including Tim Tuckey of Cass City, attended the fourth annual model meeting of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) in Washington, D.C., March 21-25.

The purpose of the conference was to give students a more comprehensive understanding of the social, economic and political relationships among the various African nations.

The Spring Arbor students represented the Egyptian delegation in the mock OAU conference.

Each delegation was asked to research the country which they represented, write several proposals prior to the conference and present these proposals to the floor for open debate. Students were required to conduct themselves according to the political positions and temperament of their respective countries.

Each student was also required to participate on specific commissions. Some of the topics discussed by the commissions were border disputes, social issues, women's rights, foreign economic aid, food distribution, trade and liberation.

The working document which came out of the conference will be forwarded to the Organization of African Unity.

Of the 25 colleges and universities in attendance, the Spring Arbor delegation was among the top four to receive a certificate of merit for their participation in the conference. Tuckey, a senior, also received a personal citation for his work within his specific commission.

Of the five Spring Arbor students sent to the conference, three were either born or spent considerable time living in an African nation. Spring Arbor College is located near Jackson.

35 YEARS AGO

Strangers find link back to Cass City

It's a small world:

Two strangers, Harold (Hal) Davidson of Drayton Plains, Mich., and Carmen Root of Cupertino, Calif., met on a golf course in California last month.

After some conversation, it was discovered that both have old ties to Cass City. Davidson was married in Cass City in 1924 to Mary Jane Campbell, foster daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Young.

Root lived near Deford and graduated from Cass City High School in 1942.

Davidson, 79 years of age, will have incentive to remember the meeting because he stroked his first hole-in-one ever. He has been golfing since 1919. Root managed a par 3 on the 175 yard hole.

Davidson was in California visiting his daughter and family in Sunnyvale.

The two men met at the course again the following week and Root gave his recent copies of the Chronicle to Davidson. Root's father, Clare, lives in Caro.

Methodist Women attract 37

The Dorcas group of Salem United Methodist Women met April 6 in the social rooms of the church.

Thirty-seven persons including members and friends were present for a chicken dinner.

Muriel Addison led devotions from the Upper Room, St. Luke Chap. 6 and Verse 46.

Twelve women remained for the business meeting and quilting.

A thank-you note for bandages was read from the Chelsea Methodist Home. Members signed a get-well card, which was sent to Effie LaPeur.

Tigers won't do better this year

Bruce Silvernail has confidence in the Detroit Tigers -- confidence that they won't do better this season than their fourth place finish last year in the American League East Division.

As of Monday, the Bengals had a 2-3 win-loss record. "They won't do any better than last year and maybe not as good," he predicted. One reason, he feels, is because of the Tigers' manager. "Sparky" Anderson can't make up his mind who he wants to play.

"He tries to let the players run it too much. They got better guys sitting on the bench than playing, in my estimation."

Not all the good players are sitting on the bench, however. Detroit's good players, he said, include catcher Lance Parrish, second baseman Lou Whitaker, shortstop Alan Trammell and outfielder Larry Herndon.

Silvernail feels the Tigers have good pitching, but it is handicapped by a weak outfield. "If the fielders make two-three errors, a game, where are they (the pitchers) at?" Silvernail watches some of the Tiger games on television. He hasn't seen a game at Tiger Stadium since Anderson became manager and doesn't plan to watch one there as long as he is the manager.

A retired tool and die maker, Silvernail operates a saw sharpening service at his home at 5205 E. Bevins Road, Deford.

He and his wife, Martha, have four children, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

3 Cass City veterans tell how it was in the first "war to end all wars"

It was supposed to be the "war to end all wars," but when World War I ended with the signing of the Armistice Nov. 11, 1918, the world was to only know 21 years of peace until the start of World War II.

It has been 64 years since Germany surrendered to end what was then known as the Great War.

Understandably, there aren't too many persons around who remember World War I well and even fewer persons around who fought in it.

There are three World War I veterans in the Cass City area, Vern McConnell, 87, of Dodge Road; Rev. Melvin Vender, 92, a resident of Provincial House, and Walter Young, 84, who lives on M-53.

Two other veterans served during that time, but didn't go overseas. Edward Buehly, 87, of Short Road, served from August, 1918, to the following February. His unit was scheduled to join the fighting, but an outbreak of the flu intervened and by the time everyone recovered, the war had ended.

Earl Moon, 90, who lives on Main Street, served with the Army Quartermaster Corps from 1917 to December, 1920, at Camp Custer in Battle Creek; Camp Merit, N.J., and Camp Epton, N.Y.

WORLD WAR I started in July, 1914. The United States did not become officially involved until April, 1917, when it declared war on Germany.

Walter Young was 18 years old and living then in Pennsylvania. His decision to enlist started a small war in his house.

Walter Young

"My father was full-blooded German and he was raising hell because I was going to fight against his country."

"I told my father right to his face, 'Why didn't you stay over there and fight for your country?'"

Young fought in the infantry. When he came home in 1919, his father was glad to see him, "but he never forgave me."

REV. VENDER WAS A student at Alma College. He returned home to Kinde in the summer of 1917 to work on farms.

Rev. Melvin Vender

He was scheduled to be drafted that fall as part of the first unit from Huron County. "I was in the first draft and I thought it would be an advantage to get in early."

He enlisted in September and was part of an advance unit of 20 or 21 men from Huron County who went to Camp Custer to prepare for the arrival of the draftees from the County who followed.

His decision paid off. Vender's first job was as a KP, working under a civilian chef from a Detroit hotel who had been hired for five weeks to get the kitchen and staff in order. "He thought I was fairly handy, so he told the captain he would like me as his assistant."

Vender was made first cook and became mess sergeant, with three cooks working under him, before the unit went to Europe.

"I WAS DRAFTED," said McConnell, a Cass City native. "I tried to enlist in the Navy and they wouldn't take me. They needed people for the Army."

When he was called to duty in September, 1917, he discovered the Army wasn't prepared for the thousands of men being drafted.

The men were told to bring the clothes they were wearing, a toothbrush, razor and comb.

McConnell reported wearing his dress oxford shoes, which were a "little tight." He expected to be soon wearing boots, but the Army was so short of supplies, he had to wear the painful shoes for three months of marching and training exercises.

Vern McConnell

It was a very cold winter, but the men didn't get knit caps to cover their ears until winter was half over.

There also weren't enough rifles, so they had to learn how to use them by taking turns.

After McConnell completed his training, he stayed at Camp Custer as an instructor and finally departed for France in July, 1918, with the rank of sergeant.

VENDER'S UNIT trained in mechanized artillery, but when it arrived in France, it was switched to horse-drawn artillery, which required several more weeks of training.

The unit had four three-inch guns, which could fire a shell about three miles, over the heads of the Allied troops.

"The Armistice came just in time to save us," the retired minister recalled. "We were a sacrifice outfit, light artillery. If they (the Germans) could knock out the front line artillery, they would have a clear sweep to knock out the artillery in the trenches."

Vender's unit was preparing to cross the Moselle River as part of a big drive on Metz in France when the war ended. "We would have been a sacrifice outfit, so we were pretty lucky in that respect."

McCONNELL REMEMBERS that on the 13-day crossing of the Atlantic in July, 1918, a man jumped overboard. "Maybe the man went nuts, thought he wouldn't come back. A lot of us didn't and a lot of us did."

The ship landed in England. After a week there, the men crossed the channel to France.

They stopped in a town in France and at 1 a.m. got orders to march 12 miles to another town, to get on a train that would take them to the front.

When they got there, they waited 1½ days before getting on the train, which then traveled the 12 miles back to the town they had started from.

Eventually, the train headed for the front, with the men crammed into box-cars. The soldiers got out when the train could go no further because the tracks had been blown up.

It was night, "with the mud up to there," McConnell said, pointing to his ankles, "and cold."

He remembers the food they had to eat and didn't have. The men carried hard-tack (a hard cracker) and beef with them. Cooks used kettles to brew coffee and make corn meal.

"I never saw any sugar when I was over there, yet they were rationing it here. Where did it go?" McConnell asked. "They claimed it was for the soldiers."

He also remembers when a German observation plane was shot down. The pilot was killed but the 14-year-old observer lived.

McConnell was never wounded. "The closest call I got was a piece of shrapnel hit me in the helmet and another went through my gas mask." The mask was fastened to his chest — he wasn't wearing it on his face at the time — and the impact sent him rolling. He was "dazed a little bit," but that was all.

He and his unit were part of the drive on Metz when the war ended. "There was fighting right up to the end." The French people in the area knew the war had ended before the soldiers did. "They were hooting and hollering and we didn't believe them. We thought there was just a lull in it."

McConnell didn't get out of the Army until April 11, 1919. A retired carpenter, he and his wife, Verna, have seven children, 20 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

What was it like to fight in World War I?

McConnell quoted a fellow soldier, who was from Caro: "I wouldn't give a billion dollars for my experiences, but I wouldn't give a dime for any more."

YOUNG WAS wounded, but not by enemy fire. He jumped into a trench to avoid being hit, only to find there was mustard gas concentrated in the bottom. He was hospitalized with both feet burned.

He came close to being wounded another time. A German attacked him with a bayonet "and I killed him before he had a chance to kill me."

Young moved to the Cass City area from Utica with his wife, Catherine, after his retirement from the Budd Co. as a toolmaker.

He remembers when the war ended. "Everybody was dancing and hugging. Everybody was happy. It was just like going from daylight to darkness."

FOR REV. VENDER, the worst came after the war ended. He had been taking care of one of his cooks, who had the flu, and he got it.

He was placed in a first aid tent with 20 other men. Part of the treatment was laxatives, which meant a half dozen trips during the night to use the outside pit toilets — in the rain.

Vender caught double pneumonia and was hospitalized at Toul, France. "They were dying by the dozens, by the 100s there." According to the retired Presbyterian minister, 10,000 men were buried there, most of them having died from the flu and pneumonia.

After about nine days there, Vender was transferred to a convalescent camp. He finally got back to the United States March 18, 1919, and was discharged from the Army 10 days later.

He got his degree from Alma College in 1920, later received a master's degree from Princeton Seminary in Illinois and served various churches, including the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City from 1944-57, when he retired. He continued part-time pastoral work after that. His wife, Blanche, died in 1981.

AN ARMY travels on its stomach and as a mess sergeant, Melvin Vender kept the 120 men in his field artillery battery well-fed.

Taking stock

This is the week for questions and answers:

Q. Recently you recommended some Michigan Bell bonds which mature in 2021. Who's going to live that long? — certainly not you or me. Why should I buy such a thing?

A.R., Boynton Beach

A. People buy preferred stocks that NEVER mature, and these folks don't claim to be immortal. There are British bonds called "gilts" which have no maturity date — they just sell on the basis of current interest rates.

There's a market for any bond, long, medium or short maturity. If you need the cash, sell it. It can be higher or lower in price than when you bought it — like everything else.

Among advantages of long bonds: if interest rates drop, their price will go up more than short bonds. Again, if interest rates drop, you have locked in the high yields now available.

Q. Is it true you left the employ of First National Bank of Lapeer because you couldn't remember which was the mortgagor and which was the mortgagee? — Cousin Dick

A. Ill take the fifth on that one.

Q. I have $10,000 on Illinois Power bonds, which yields me $900 a year. Should I keep them or sell?

H.P., Boca Raton

A. The bonds are rated AA by both Moody and Standard & Poor, and not many utilities are so highly regarded. They would bring you about $5,800 if you sold. You'd have to invest the $5,800 at 15½ percent to equal the $900 you're now getting. Keep 'em.

Q. These letters you get supposedly from "Baby Sister." Is there really such a person?

L.A., Boca Raton

A. Yes. We're related, though only through our mother and father.

Q. Do you and "Baby Sister" spend all your time insulting each other?

J.M., Delray Beach

A. No, we're both very efficient people. We have time for many other activities.

Q. (No. 1) Why do you always "put down" your sister when she writes to you? That's no way to talk to a lady.

M.S., Deerfield Beach

Q. (No. 2) When your Baby Sister writes and calls you stupid, why do you put up with it?

A. (To both) I have sent each of you the other's address. Why not settle it between yourselves.

Q. I have read all your pieces about renting being cheaper than owning. If it's true, then why don't the landlords raise the rents?

Marilyn X., Delray Beach

A. A good question. Apparently the landlords don't read this column. There's also a certain reluctance on the part of tenants to pay any more, even though they're getting a bargain.

Q. What stocks do you like?

Dr. J.D., Boca Raton

A. Very few, and these are non-glamorous: Josten's (school jewelry, yearbooks, etc.); Lenox (fine china); Perry Drugs (Michigan chain); Heizer (closed-end fund at 30 percent discount); Harvey Hubbell (electrical supplies); Reuter (computer components).

This last is over the counter; Hubbell and Perry Drugs are on the Amex; Josten's and Lenox are on the NYSE.

SURVIVORS — The men of Vern McConnell's infantry company posed for this photo in France only a few days after World War I had ended. McConnell, a sergeant, is in the second row from the front, third from the left. The company started with 257 men. There are 33 in the photo. Some died, some were in hospitals and some were separated from the unit.

Award 2 drain jobs

done, Rounds said, the drains should be good for 60-80 years because the erosion control structures and the seeding of the slopes will minimize sedimentation, and there will be an ongoing program to cut cat-tails. On the Grant Drain, there will be an average of 10 erosion control structures per mile.

Some of the benefiting property owners signed petitions in order to initiate the project.

For the Grant Drain, the county-at-large will pay 8.24 percent of the total cost; Grant Township, 8.155 percent, and benefiting property owners, the remaining 83.605 percent.

On the Moore Drain, the county-at-large will pay 7.28 percent of the cost; Grant Township, 7.71 percent; Sheridan Township, 1.55 percent, and property owners, remaining 83.46 percent.

Property owners will be able to review their individual share of the costs Thursday, May 5, at the Road Commission office, 417 S. Hanselman Street, Bad Axe, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

The exact cost of the project won't be known, Rounds said, until after it is decided whether to award the bids on a cash basis or on a time-drain order. The latter requires the contractor to borrow his payment from the bank and then the Road Commission would repay the bank, plus interest, making three equal payments in 1984, '85 and '86.

Rounds anticipates Easlick will start work soon after it is awarded the bids and have the two drains completed by mid-to-late June.
