

Council oks repaving 3 streets

Leach St. rebuild axed
after assessment protest

Protests from three property owners on Leach Street about having to pay an assessment for curb and gutter resulted in the Cass City Village Council Tuesday evening dropping the one block from this year's street rebuilding program.

The council conducted a public hearing on the proposed street improvement program and curb and gutter assessments for the following streets: Leach between Church and Huron; Huron between Seeger and West (two blocks); West between Church and Huron, and Rose between Seeger and Oak.

The Leach Street protesters represented half the owners of property on the block and half the footage.

The village is estimating property owners on all the streets will have to pay $8.80 per foot of frontage they own along the street. If they pay their assessment the first year, there is no interest charge. If they take three years to pay, they pay 10 percent interest per year after the first year.

Village President Lambert Althaver stressed the $8.80 estimate, which includes engineering, is high, in order to be on the safe side. It is anticipated the final figure will be less than that, once the bids are received.

Other than the curb and gutter and related engineering costs, the village pays for the rebuilding of the streets, which will include removing the old pavement, new paving and drainage.

Total estimated cost of the projects, including the curb and gutter, is: Rose Street, $26,400; Huron, $41,300, and West, $20,000.

Leach also would have cost an estimated $20,000. (The special assessments, at $8.80, would have totaled $4,646.)

The primary objection of the Leach Street property owners was financial. "Right now, I need a new roof more than a curb and gutter," said Dorothy Knight.

Maryann Lowe talked about living on a fixed income and the uncertainty of her job because of the state of the economy. "We've got to eat and (that and) a few things are more important than this curb and gutter."

Finally, Dorothy Stahlbaum made a motion to proceed with the street rebuilding improvement program and the assessments except for Leach.

Some concern was expressed by council members about the assessments creating financial hardships for some property owners elsewhere, but council members voted 6-0 to proceed, minus Leach.

The next step will be advertising for bids. The streets will be rebuilt this year, including new paving.

ALCOHOL

The council approved a new "operating under the influence of liquor" ordinance that for the most part follows the state's new drunk driving law.

One significant exception is that oil (2nd offense) under the state law is punishable by a fine of up to $1,000 and one year in jail.

Under the village ordinance, oil (2nd offense) is punishable by a fine of $300-

500 and-or up to 90 days in jail.

Richard Hampshire, chairman of the public safety committee, said the difference is because one year in jail is a felony and under state law, villages can't enforce felonies.

The village's attorney, Clinton House, who prepared the ordinance, wasn't present to give a further explanation.

After the March meeting, at which the issue of allowing consumption of alcoholic beverages in the village was discussed, Althaver asked House to research what would be needed to change the present ordinance which bans it.

The answer was that under the village charter, the public cannot vote directly to adopt or change an ordinance. Only the council has the power to do so.

House's opinion was forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce, some of whose members (and some non-members) were interested in knowing how the ordinance could be changed.

OTHER ITEMS

The council usually sets the millage rate for summer tax bills at its April meeting.

Cass City's state equalized valuation isn't ready yet from the county and the rate can't be set until the figure is available.

The council will set the millage rate at its May meeting, or at a special meeting if the SEV is available before then.

The meeting will tentatively be held May 24 instead of May 31.

Applications are being accepted for the job being vacated by Joe Gruber, who is retiring after 17 or 18 years with the village.

The job entails being an equipment operator and mechanic. Preference will be given to village residents.

The Fraternal Order of Police has requested the services of a mediator in negotiations for a new contract. The present pact expires Saturday. The FOP represents the village's four patrolmen.

Approximately 80 tons of salt were used on village streets this winter, compared to 120 tons in the winter of 1981-82.

The Rotary Club has donated $2,000 for the tennis courts. Evergreen Township has given the village $250 for the summer recreation program.

Two injured in one of many accidents in area

A Cass City woman and her daughter were treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following a 5 p.m. accident Friday.

Injured were Barbara L. Tuckey, 41, of 4738 Schwegler Road and her daughter, Christine, 14.

Sheriff's deputies reported Mrs. Tuckey, headed east on M-81, was stopped prior to turning left onto Schwegler when her car was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Krystal Kay Isa, 19, of 7776 E. Cass City Road.

Miss Isa told officers she thought the Tuckey auto was still moving. She was given a ticket for careless driving.

The prosecutor's office issued a warrant Tuesday charging Lawrence H. Campbell, 47, of 5280 Shay Lake Road, Kingston, with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor (third offense) as the result of an 8:30 p.m. accident Monday.

He was released on bond from the county jail Tuesday, pending appearance in district court.

Deputies reported Campbell was westbound on Birch Road, east of Phillips Road, when he lost control of his car. It went off the north side of the road and struck a large embankment.

He was taken to Caro Community Hospital, but refused treatment.

Treatment was sought for two persons following an 11:50 a.m. accident Sunday.

Injured were Randy A. Wolf, 23, of Bay City-Forestville Road, Unionville, and Crissy Urbaniah, 1, of Gladwin, one of two passengers in a car driven by Esther M. Porter, 41, of Pinconning.

Caro state police reported the Porter auto was eastbound on Bay City-Forestville, east of Ashmore Road, when the motorcycle Wolf was riding exited a field northbound onto the road and the two vehicles collided.

Wolf was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Julius Wilding Jr., 20, of 6417 Seventh Street, was ticketed by Cass City police on charges of passing in a no passing zone and littering following an 8:50 p.m. accident last Wednesday.

Officers said he attempted to pass a car that was northbound on Seeger Street and his car hit the one he was passing, driven by Arthur S. Thomas, 72, of Rescue Road, Owendale. Both vehicles came to rest on the Cass City High School lawn.

Village police ticketed Reatha C. Hughes, 59, of 4300 West Street on a charge of failure to yield after a 4:30 p.m. accident Friday.

They reported she was northbound on West Street, stopped at Main, then started to turn left and collided with the westbound auto of Kimberly Ann Czekai, 18, of 4544 Brooker Street.

Sheriff's deputies ticketed Ronald J. Sochoki, 17, of Caro, on a charge of careless driving after a 1:20 a.m. accident Saturday.

They reported he was northbound on Jacob Road, north of Tomlinson Road, when, he told officers, he swerved to miss a deer.

The car went out of control, went off the east side of the road, rolled over and came to a halt upside down.

Caro state police ticketed William Vanderpoel, 86, of 7380 Centerline Road, Kingston, on a charge of failure to yield following a 9:10 a.m. accident Saturday.

Troopers said he was westbound on Centerline, failed to stop at White Creek Road and collided with the southbound auto of Howard S. Kitchen, 77, of 5909 E.

Green Road bid
given to Hunt

The Elmwood Township Board last Wednesday voted to have the Tuscola County Road Commission award the bid for reconstruction of two miles of Green Road to Hunt Construction Co. of Cass City.

The Road Commission awarded the contract the following day, for $26,500. Whalen Contracting Co. of Caro was the lowest of five bidders at $26,200.

The township board had the right to reject any bids. It decided to go with Hunt, Clerk Joanne Sattelberg explained, because its bid was only a small amount higher, the board is satisfied with work the firm has done in Elmwood in the past and some township residents are employed by Hunt.

The township will pay the entire construction cost, plus the cost of drainage pipe, which will bring the total cost of the project close to $40,000, according to Mrs. Sattelberg.

It will consist of grading, installing base material, working on ditches and installing culverts between Hoppe and Cass City Roads.

A Hunt employee said work will start once conditions are dry enough, probably in May. The project will probably be completed by mid-summer.

Under terms of the contract, Hunt has until Nov. 1 to finish the job.

CANNED MILK -- The Wesley's Quaker Maid plant in Cass City may be the only dairy plant in Michigan that still buys milk in cans from farmers, though most of it is delivered by bulk tanker. Pouring milk into the cooling tank is Paul Johnson. At left is Eldon Stilson, who operates the scale.

Wesley milk plant unique in 2 ways

The Wesley's Quaker Maid milk plant in Cass City is unique in two respects.

It may be the only dairy plant in Michigan that still buys milk in cans from farmers and it is the oldest industry operating in Cass City.

What was originally the McLellan Creamery started on the site at Main and Maple Streets in the early 1930s, according to Manager Gerald Stilson, who has worked there 36 years. None of the original building remains.

Wesley's bought the plant in 1945 and Borman Foods bought out Wesley in 1962. (Stilson started the Quaker Maid Store next door, which has had various owners since then, but its only relationship to Wesley's Quaker Maid is that it sells its products.)

What the plant produces is skimmed condensed milk and cream, which is hauled to Detroit, where it is used in the making of Wesley's Quaker Maid ice cream, ice cream bars, etc.

Some of the product also goes to the Burger Creamery in Detroit, also owned by Borman's, where it is used in the making of whipped cream in spray cans and small containers of coffee creamer, used in restaurants.

In the past, cheese and powdered milk have also been made at the Cass City plant. Butter is made rarely.

Five days a week, the Wesley's tanker hauls 40,000 pounds of skimmed milk and 13,000 pounds of cream (in separate compartments) to Detroit.

To get that total of 53,000 pounds requires processing 130,000 pounds of raw milk. For every 100 pounds of raw milk, Stilson explained, about 70 pounds of water is removed.

THE PLANT BUYS ITS milk from 170 dairy farmers, including about 35 Amish farmers in the Gladwin area. The rest are in the upper Thumb, as far south as M-21, which runs through Imlay City, and mostly east of M-53.

Of the 170, about 80 send their milk to Cass City in cans. Among them are the Amish farmers, whose religious beliefs prohibit use of bulk tanks and modern refrigeration methods. (The driver who picks up their milk -- 12,000 pounds at a time in 150 cans -- and brings it to Cass City five times a week is not Amish.)

Other farmers still using cans, Stilson said, are older dairymen who don't want to switch or small part-time farmers, for whom the cost would be prohibitive.

Farmers who use bulk tanks, so the milk can be pumped right from the tank to the tanker truck and then into the plant, receive $2 more per hundredweight of milk than those who use cans.

ONCE MILK ARRIVES at the plant, it goes into a big storage tank, where it is cooled to 35 degrees.

It is then heated to 100 degrees and run through the separator, which removes the cream.

The cream next goes through a preheater to the cream vat and is pasteurized.

The skimmed milk is heated to 175 degrees to be pasteurized and then goes from a holding tank into a vacuum tank, where the water is removed.

The condensed milk that remains goes through coolers to get it down to 45 degrees and then to a final cooling tank to reduce the temperature to 35 degrees. It is then ready to be shipped to Detroit.

TEN PERSONS, including Stilson, are employed at the plant, who keep it operating around the clock, seven days a week.

Not all that time is spent producing cream and skimmed milk, however. Four-five hours a day are spent cleaning.

As industrial plants go, Wesley's isn't very large, but it does have a large economic impact.

The company pays a total of almost $300,000 a month, Stilson pointed out, to its employees and to the dairy farms with whom it contracts for milk.

County valuation
average up 2.6%
compared to 1982

The equalized valuation of property in Tuscola County is 2.63 percent more than it was in 1982, according to the report approved Tuesday by the county Board of Commissioners.

The 1983 equalized valuation is $647.06 million, compared to $630.48 million a year ago.

The increase is a sharp drop from the approximately 10 percent boost from 1981 to 1982.

The increase, on which property tax bills mailed at the end of this year will be based, is an average for the whole county. The figures vary from township to township.

Elmwood and Novesta Townships had factors (percentage increases) imposed to bring their agricultural valuations up to what the county equalization department determined in its studies to be 50 percent of true cash value.

The total equalized valuations in area townships (1982 figures in parentheses) are: Elkland, $42.65 million ($42.13); Ellington, $12.9 million ($12.86); Elmwood, $23.72 million ($23.006); Kingston, $15.89 million ($14.47); and Novesta, $13.25 million ($13.44).

Novesta and Gifford Townships were the only townships in the county whose total equalized valuation declined from last year.

The equalization report was approved unanimously. Commissioner Royce Russell of Cass City said it is expected the State Tax Commission will accept the report without adding any increases.

In other action, the board accepted the bid of the certified public accounting firm of Willis, Drake and Water of $9,840 to perform the 1982 audit of county finances.

The Jackson firm's bid was the lowest of nine submitted. The highest was for $23,000.

TWO INJURED -- Fred Martin attaches the tow truck chains to the car of Barbara Tuckey. She and her daughter were treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following the Friday collision.

Club names scholarship winners

Twenty-two members of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club and five guests attended last Wednesday's meeting at Veronica's Restaurant.

Five high school senior girls were candidates for the $250 scholarships given by the club each year.

Chosen were Karen Ballagh, Mary Kappen and Kay Loomis.

Karen, daughter of Harold and Fay Ballagh, will attend Ferris State College or St. Clair Community College and study food management or merchandising.

Mary, daughter of Gerald and Catherine Kappen, will study social work at Saginaw Valley State College.

Kay, daughter of Donald and Anita Loomis, has been accepted at Central Michigan University to study for the position of executive secretary or musical therapist.

Mrs. Theo Cleland and Mrs. Clara Gaffney will have plans completed by the May meeting for the club's participation in the July 4th festival.

The following new officers will be installed at the May meeting to serve for the coming year: President, Marilyn Hanselman; vice-presidents, Martha Putnam and Marilyn Ertman; secretary, Marie Groombridge; corresponding secretary, Linda Gaymer; and treasurer, Sheryl Seeley.

Ten women attended the April 21 meeting of the Elmwood Missionary Circle at the home of Mrs. Arlington Gray. The May 18 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ivan Tracy.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

A synonym for optimist has to be small businessman. According to the U.S. Small Business Administration 560,000 small businesses incorporated in 1982.

The SBA says small business should take a bow. All this came about because the week of May 8-14 has been designated Small Business Week.

The Chronicle really qualifies. Celebrate. Buy an ad.

Speaking of weeks, this is National Secretary's Week. I celebrated and made the coffee for breakfast Sunday. (Never again, says my secretary, as she bravely sipped a cup.)

*****

The Michigan State Board of Education recently conducted a survey on Michigan public schools. It came up with a raft of information in a 31-page report that interprets the responses of 800 persons.

If the report is couched in the same language as this remark about the survey, it's guaranteed to be confusing.

Listen: The sample size (of the survey) was based on a 95 percent confidence that sampling error does not exceed 3.5 percent. Isn't that a mouthful?

In the Board of Education's survey one result was said to be this: 56 percent of all citizens would support merger of their school district with one nearby if it would result in better programs at lower cost, up from 48 percent last year.

That may be so, but we wonder what the percentage would have been if the question were worded to say closing your school and go to another school to save money.

There's serious doubt if that would get a 20 percent approval rate.

It's okay to close your school to save money, but not mine. I can think of a half dozen districts where this has been the case, judging by the ruckus raised when the proposition was presented.

2 men sentenced to Jackson prison

Two persons were sentenced to the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson when they appeared Monday before Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

Ricky A. Zinn, 22, of Flint, was sentenced to 32-48 months for larceny in a building.

He pleaded guilty to the charge March 21, of stealing a bear rug from Newton's Plumbing in Vassar Dec. 24. Ronald A. Clyne, 23, address unavailable, was sentenced to 5-14 years for violating probation. He was credited with 496 days served.

He was found guilty April 15 of violating probation by having failed to report to his probation agent last Nov. 15. Clyne was placed on 48 months' probation in February, 1982, for uttering and publishing.

Also Monday, Nick A. Wierowski, 19, of 292 W. Congress Street, Caro, was placed on one year probation for larceny in a building.

He was sentenced to six months in the county jail, with serving of two months of the sentence deferred to the end of probation. Wierowski works irregular hours and is to be in jail when he isn't working.

He was fined $300, assessed $300 court costs and ordered to pay restitution. He pleaded guilty March 28 to stealing $24.50 from Caro Packing House last Sept. 15. Evelyn Jane Reynolds, 34, of Adrian, pleaded guilty to uttering and publishing and to being an habitual offender.

Her pleas were accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

She pleaded guilty to cashing a bad check for $188 last Aug. 28 at the American Home Bank, Caro.

James N. Giddings, 18, of 1978 Gun Club Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to resisting and obstructing or assaulting a police officer.

His plea was rejected, so further proceedings will be scheduled. Bond was continued.

The charge involves Caro police officer Duane Sprague, the alleged incident having occurred Jan. 1.

DISTRICT COURT

Steven Van Valkenburg, 22, of 5820 Severance Road, Deford, pleaded guilty April 8 to larceny under $100, to stealing a radiator and battery March 18 from a bus owned by Jack Kappen in Novesta Township.

He was sentenced Monday by Judge Richard F. Kern to 30 days in the county jail, fine and costs totaling $200 and restitution.

He was placed on two years' probation, or until the fine, costs and restitution are paid.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Unequal justice cited

By Jim Fitzgerald

In view of the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, rampant unemployment, and other important miseries afflicting this wounded world, it may seem dumb that I am ticked off by something so trivial as the unequal justice with which parking tickets are issued in Detroit.

But, let's face it, as the Free Press resident clown in charge of terrible sisters and unsuave shampoo, Dumb is my department. When I get smart, I'll write editorials about such troubled Central America nations as Nicaragua, Guatemala and Dioxin. In the meantime, what follows is the anatomy of a $25 ticket for illegal parking and how to get out of paying it.

In obedient response to a summons from the Municipal Parking Department, I appeared in Room 136 of the Old County building at 1 p.m. April 18. After waiting 10 minutes, I was told to go to Room 106 where a uniformed guard told me and several other obedient citizens if we had 1 p.m. court dates we should come back at 2 p.m.

Noting several empty benches, I suggested that, instead of walking the cold streets for an hour, I would sit down and read my newspaper until 2 p.m. The guard said that would be impossible because he had to empty the courtroom, lock the door, and go to lunch. In response to questions from obedient citizens who'd made the mistake of following court orders precisely, the guard suggested they go to a Burger King. He didn't give equal mention to McDonald's or Wendy's, an omission implying God-only-knows what sort of under-the-bench payoff received in return for court favors granted in the great fried-vs.-broiled hamburger war.

Determined not to be influenced by a possibly tainted fast-food recommendation, I went to Jacoby's, my favorite saloon, and ordered my favorite hamburger—deluxe, with lettuce, tomato and mayonnaise. When the barmaid said Ed Jacoby was out of tomatoes, for lord's sake, I began to believe April 18 would be one of my really bad days, and I wondered how many years in jail I would get for sticking to my published vow to never pay the $25 parking ticket.

But the situation eventually improved. By 3 p.m. I was sworn in and allowed to plead my case to Traffic Referee Jerrold V. Marsh, who dispenses justice rapidly and with apparent sympathy for obedient citizens who may have missed a day's pay to appear in court at the time ordered only to be told to go to a Burger King. While I was watching, at least, most of Marsh's verdicts went against the law officers paid to be there to testify concerning such major infractions of the law as illegal left turns.

After pointing out that the traffic officer had mysteriously written the wrong time (by five hours) and the wrong location (by two blocks) on my ticket, I nevertheless conceded that indeed I had parked in a no-standing zone on the day in question. And then I showed Referee Marsh a photo of over a dozen cars illegally double-parked on both sides of Cass between Fort and W. Lafayette by members of the plush Detroit Club. The photo could have been taken any weekday afternoon when these cars regularly block two lanes of traffic and drive bus drivers nuts for as long as two hours even though a sign declares a 15-minute limit, one lane only, and only in front of the club, not the entire damn block.

None of these cars are ever ticketed. So why should I and other ordinary slob be required to use parking lots or meters, or risk $25 fines, when Detroit Club members are not? If the city wants to ignore a law, it's OK with me, but it should be done equally, lest Mayor Coleman Young or someone suspect unfair discrimination.

"Your point is very well taken," Referee Marsh said, conceding that high city officials have ordered the Parking Department to smile at Detroit Club members while snarling at the rest of us. Case dismissed.

So now you know how to get out of paying a Detroit parking ticket. Even clowns dispense useful information once in a while. You're welcome.

Cold tea is a good cleaning agent for varnished floors or woodwork of any kind.

The test for any job is would you do it again if you were starting over? If the answer is yes, you've found a niche.

I don't suppose that there ever was a job that was a complete joy.

The truth is that if there were no drawbacks we'd create some.

Remember, back in the times of the auto, steel and rubber employment boom? The questions at the bargaining table then included overtime and work rules.

Employees didn't want to be forced into the shop to work for time and a half or double time pay unless it suited their convenience.

You don't hear that anymore. The burning issue in the big basic industries is job security.

That's not a knock on these workers either. They are the same as you and I. It's the rare person that doesn't yearn for more than they have.

The difference is a matter of degree. Practically all of us would like to be millionaires. Only a scant handful want it bad enough to make the sacrifices necessary to become one.

It's just not that important. When we go through hard times like we have for the last couple of years what is important comes shining through.

That's a rewarding job that pays enough to make us live comfortably. A job that's not drudgery.

Not everyone is lucky enough to land a job he likes. Sometimes a job changes from bad to good as time passes. Unfortunately, the reverse is also true. Circumstances change and you find yourself in a different job than the one you had when you started.

A bit of luck helps, too. Back in the '50s, the Chronicle required one person for advertising sales, one person for editorial and one person for general administrative duties. All of them were me.

With the paper's growth, it became necessary and possible to gradually hire persons for these other duties.

That's where the luck comes in. If the town hadn't prospered, the paper wouldn't have grown.

Without the growth I'd still be doing the things that had to be done, not the ones that I liked doing. Now someone else does them. That for me more than compensates for being the boss . . . and taking the heat that running a paper occasionally requires.

All in all, I wouldn't change my job for any other that I could think of and for that I'm always thankful!

It's better than being a millionaire

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Lambert Althaver and Ross Ridenour were named citizen of the year and junior citizen of the year respectively, Saturday night at the annual banquet of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce. The third annual retirement party from General

Cable Corp. was held Saturday at Wildwood Farms with 74 persons attending. Those retiring this year were Beatrice Miljure, Marjorie Repshinska and Richard Lapeer, all of Cass City, and Fred Stroschein, Bad Axe. Beverly Rockefeller of Cass City is the winner of $5,000 in the Michigan lottery "Tic-Tac-Dough" instant game. She bought her winning lottery ticket at Erla's Food Center.

The Shabbona Neighbor-ettes met Tuesday evening at the home of Karen Osen-toski. Articles on television censorship were discussed.

TEN YEARS AGO

Sally Geiger of Cass City is one of the charter members of the new Central Michigan University chapter of Mortar Board, a national honor society for senior college women. Eligibility is based on scholarship, leadership, and service, in addition to a minimum 3.0 cumulative grade point average.

Cass City High School split its opening two baseball games in the Thumb B Association as the diamond nine whipped Lakers 4-0 in the opener last week at Cass City and then lost at Caro Tuesday, 7-4. Jerry Toner closed the door on the Lakers. Don Galbraith and Chuck Bliss both took the mound at Caro.

Four Cass City High School students will spend seven weeks this summer in Spain. They are Lynn Rayl, Lois Fields, Cathy Skaggs and Brian Althaver. This program, which has been conducted each summer for the past several years, includes third year Spanish students from high schools throughout the state.

25 YEARS AGO

Paced by Paul Burdon, who has pitched shutout ball in the first two conference games of the year, Cass City posted victories over Vassar, 10-0, and Marlette, 11-0.

At the 32nd annual home demonstration achievement day, Mrs. William Ashmore of Gagetown, a member of the North Elmwood group, was chosen the "woman of the year." Mrs. Ashmore has been chairman of her group, as well as project chairman.

Joe Harbec and his son, Tom, are recovering at their home in Cass City from fractured ankles. Joe suffered his injury when his foot turned while walking along the Cass River. Tom injured his ankle while playing basketball in the Cass City High School gym.

Capt. Don C. Anker of Fort Sill, Okla., has been assigned to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., as a full-time instructor in topography and

Henry Bastian back from Navy exercise

Navy Hull Maintenance Technician 3rd Class Henry J. Bastian, son of Barb K. Willmont of E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, recently participated in "Readex 1-83," a major training exercise in the Caribbean.

He is a crewmember aboard the destroyer tender USS Yosemite, homeported in Mayport, Fla.

Thirty-six U.S. Navy ships and more than 300 aircraft participated in the three-week exercise. Training was conducted in all aspects of naval warfare including anti-surface, anti-air and anti-submarine warfare.

The Yosemite's role in the exercise was to provide repair services and logistical support to other participating units.

The Yosemite is 531 feet long and can carry up to 1,271 crew members.

Gagetown High School will graduate 17 seniors May 21. The honor students this year are Jane Goslin and Betty Miller, co-valedictorians and Jack Downing, salutatorian.

William Hutchinson and Floyd O'Rourke have formed a partnership and will do business in the Hutchinson Building on E. Main Street under the name of Cass City Upholstering and Furniture. They will stock new furniture, rugs and lamps.

Irving Parsch of Cass City has been elected president of the northern sub-district Youth Fellowship of the Port Huron district of the Methodist Church.

The Cass City Council of Churches met in the Presbyterian Church Monday evening with newly elected president Harold Oatley in the chair. Council members voted to donate $25 to the hospital fund.

Sweet Adelines forming

Monday, May 2, is recruitment night for the establishment of a Sweet Adelines Chapter in Huron County.

A barbershop quartet from the Bay City chapter will perform. All prospective singers and their families are invited.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church House on E. Woodworth in Bad Axe. Refreshments will be served.

Further information about the group now forming can be obtained by contacting Elwin Cubitt at 269-9251.

A1C LaPeer assigned to West Berlin

Airman 1st Class Randy L. LaPeer, son of Lynwood G. and Jeanette A. LaPeer of 7681 E. Elmwood Road, Cass City, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force communications operations specialists course at Goodfellow Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course learned how to operate communication systems and analyze the effectiveness of communication security measures.

LaPeer will now serve in West Berlin, with the 6912th Electronic Security Group.

His wife, Sandra, is the daughter of Elwin and Lois McKellar of Dollar Bay.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Cass City High School.

Classes for siblings at hospital

A class for brothers and sisters whose parents are expecting a baby will take place Thursday, May 5, from 7-9 p.m. in the basement of Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Purpose of the class is to prepare the siblings for the new family addition, enhancing their ability to cope with this change in their lives as well as to prepare them for the hospital sibling visitation.

The class includes a film about "sharing" with discussion, a tour of the hospital, craft time where the children will make announcements to spread the news about their new brother or sister and refreshments. The children must be at least 3 years of age unless a baby sitter is attending the class to care for the younger child.

There will be a minimal fee to cover expenses: $3 for one child, $5 for two and $1 for each additional child in the family.

Pre-registration is required. For more information and to register, contact Faith Fahrner, RN, at Hills and Dales, telephone 872-2121.

10¢ dairy
established

The newly-appointed Michigan Dairywomen's Market Program Committee has established an assessment of 10 cents per hundred pounds on all Grade A milk sold in Michigan. The assessment will be used to promote sales of Michigan milk and milk products.

According to Dean Pridgen, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, the committee expects to provide dairy producers with additional information, including reporting forms and instructions, within the next few weeks.

Governor Blanchard has appointed 11 of what will be a 15-member dairywomen's committee. Included is Michigan Milk Producers Association President Elwood Kirkpatrick of Kinde, whose term will expire Dec. 31, 1985.

HEALTH TIPS

See a doctor first,
then exercise

More and more people are getting into exercise these days for a variety of reasons, some in order to live longer and others to look and feel better.

Some enjoy the competition -- against other people, the clock and their own capacities.

"No doubt many people have begun a conditioning program in an attempt to reduce their risk of cardiovascular disease, since lack of exercise seems to be a risk factor," said Dr. Ronald J. Stewart, Sterling Heights, of the Michigan Heart Association exercise committee.

"And wanting to lower your risk of cardiovascular disease is certainly a valid reason to begin exercise conditioning. Cardiovascular disease, after all, is our nation's number one killer," he commented.

"But that has left many people in a quandary as to what to do -- how to begin such a program, how often to do it, and what kinds of activity will really help the heart.

"The thing we must stress is to check with your doctor first -- especially if you're over 35 years old, or may have undisclosed high blood pressure, high cholesterol or have not had an electrocardiogram taken in the last year," Stewart said.

"Assuming you have none of these problems and have the go-ahead from your doctor, your next question is probably, 'What kinds of exercise should I do?'"

Suggested by the doctor are, "Exercises that improve the fitness of the heart and other muscles, known as aerobic exercises, which use the body's large muscle groups, such as walking, running, bicycling, swimming, cross-country skiing and a variety of games.

"It is important to know that a warm-up is a must for all exercise activities, followed by the workout and a cool-down period," Stewart continued.

"We suggest a warm-up period of about 3-5 minutes, followed by your workout of about 30 minutes, and a cool-down period of some continuous but less strenuous movement until sweating stops and the heart rate has returned to what it was preceding the exercise period."

How often should you do all this?

"The optimal amount seems to be three or four times a week, on a regular basis, according to Dr. Stewart.

"Also, the exercise should, if possible, be something recreational -- something enjoyable enough that you'll keep it up. Many people embark on a very ambitious program, only to become bored (or very sore!) and stop within a short time -- and you can lose all your gains in only three or four months this way."

Will all this make you live longer?

"There is no conclusive proof as yet that such a program will actually lengthen anyone's life," he said.

"But we do know that a well conditioned heart beats fewer times per minute -- perhaps as much as 5 million times a year less than the heart of a sedentary person.

"And of course there are other benefits -- improved appearance and sense of well being, and often reduced tension," Stewart concluded.

Salas speaker
at Delta College

Gumecindo Salas, president of the State Board of Education, was to be the keynote speaker at Delta College's third annual Chicano-Latino student honors convocation this Wednesday.

Salas is a 1959 graduate of Cass City High School.

The awards program will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a reception for Salas.

The son of former migrant workers from Mexico, Salas, 41, was elected to his post by the state board earlier this year. The position is the highest-ranking state government job ever attained by a Hispanic person.

Salas broke earlier ground for Hispanics by becoming the first Hispanic in Michigan history to win a statewide election when he was elected to the board in 1976.

Salas is director of minority programs in Michigan State University's human relations department. An East Lansing resident, he was born near Argyle and grew up in the Deford area.

Following his address, Hispanic students at the college were to be honored for outstanding academic achievement.

Bike-a-thon raises $420
for CF

Twenty-one bicycle riders participated in the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation "Cyclin' for CF" bike-a-thon in Cass City Sunday and raised at least $420 in pledges.

Riders solicited pledges for each mile they pedaled.

Collecting the most in pledges, $59, was Patti Rayl of Gagetown. She rode with her daughters, according to bike-a-thon chairman Louise Buehrly, and the three of them raised a total of about $170 in pledges. They rode once around the 3½ mile course.

Riding the farthest distance during the three-hour event was Larry Robinson, 24.5 miles. The youngster, who pedaled the farthest, 21 miles, was Jason Jezewski, 11.

Participating riders ranged in age from 8-48.

They have two weeks from Sunday to turn the money they collect in to Mrs. Buehrly.

Your neighbor says

Prayer should be allowed in school

President Reagan has renewed his support for a constitutional amendment to allow group prayer in public schools.

Such an amendment, which isn't expected to receive the required two-thirds majority approval by Congress this year, would overturn the Supreme Court's 1962 decision regarding school prayer.

The case concerned a brief prayer composed by the New York State Board of Regents which had to be read aloud in each class at the start of every school day. Students who asked could be excused.

The Supreme Court ruled the government had no business composing official prayers to be recited as part of a religious program required by government.

Marie Peasley believes prayer should be restored to schools. "When I went to school, we always had prayers. Kids who don't learn about religion and Jesus in their homes (who don't go to church), at least they'll get it there (in school)."

"If they hear it, naturally they'll get used to praying," Mrs. Peasley continued. She feels that some students, after praying in school, might be motivated to start attending church and "go to Sunday school and hear about Jesus."

She supports allowing students to excuse themselves from any school prayer, as would be provided in the amendment supported by President Reagan. She added that for some students in school, "maybe they'll change their mind. They'll find out there is a God."

"I think it's good to have it in schools," Mrs. Peasley concluded. "So all the kids can have prayer and know what prayer is for, that they're praying to God and that God answers their prayers."

In lieu of a constitutional amendment, the Tennessee legislature has approved a law mandating a "moment of silence" at the start of each school day.

If a school prayer amendment is never approved, Mrs. Peasley feels a required moment of silence would be a good alternative since students "would still have the opportunity (to pray)."

She and her husband, Charles (Bud) Peasley live on Shabbona Road, Deford. They have three children, all married, and 11 grandchildren.

Mrs. Peasley sells Tri-Chem liquid embroidery paint for artistic use on cloth, dishes, wood, etc.

$9,882 to Cancer Society

The monthly meeting of the Tuscola County unit of the American Cancer Society was held April 18 in the meeting room at the county Health Department. President Ethel Young opened the meeting with a reading, "Make it Radiant."

It was reported that $2,707 was obtained from the recent "Bowl Down" and $7,175 has been received as memorials so far this year.

The annual door-to-door crusade is underway at this time and according to crusade chairman Betty LaFave, workers are still needed to make it a successful crusade. Volunteers may call her at 673-2106.

Bar Bucks are also being distributed at this time.

Service chairman Betty Kochalka reported the unit is assisting 69 patients.

Anita Harrand and Jane Mitchell, education chairmen, reported on many programs they presented. Of upcoming interest are: A health fair at the Caro fairgrounds, sponsored by the health department. There will be booths for many different screening tests, including speech, hearing, blood pressure etc. A nursery will be available for young children.

An "I can cope" program will begin May 16, from 7-9 p.m. at Hills and Dales General Hospital. It will run for four weeks, Mondays and Thursdays.

A walk-a-thon with Don and Betty Kochalka as co-chairmen is being planned June 25, beginning at 9 a.m., rain or shine. Sign-up sheets will be available soon.

A rummage and bake sale are being planned for some time in August, so items are needed.

Comments from Jean Gibson, area representative, were welcomed. Bill Barram, east central area vice-president, reported on some interesting discoveries in research.

The next meeting will be May 16 at 1 p.m. at the Health Department near Caro.

Wright's poem to be published

Lawrence Wright of 6281 Lakeside Drive, Cass City, has been notified by the Association of American Poets that a sonnet he wrote, "Eternity," will be published in its "Anthology of American Poetry."

His poem will be copyrighted and its publication will make him eligible for various prizes, including a vacation in Hawaii, where the association has its headquarters.

The publication is sent to other poets, publishers and certain reference libraries.

Wright has submitted poems to the association before, according to his wife, Karen, for whom he wrote the sonnet, but this was the first one it has chosen to publish.

A fledgling author, Wright is working on children's books and two novels.

New books at the library

HOME BEFORE MORNING: The Story of an Army Nurse in Vietnam, by Lynda VanDevanter (non-fiction). In June, 1969, Lynda VanDevanter, a nurse fresh out of school, arrived in Vietnam for a year's tour of duty. It changed her into a different person. Nursing school and Army training was mostly a lark. The threat of danger in Vietnam was remote. ("They always keep nurses in safe areas," had been the recruiter's line). In Vietnam, reality hit fast. She was assigned to an evacuation hospital, "a MASH-type facility," near the embattled Cambodian border. The danger, the fatigue, the heat, rain, and mud, the harassment of officers enforcing petty regulations, and above all, the meaningless American involvement rapidly put an end to VanDevanter's blind patriotism, her innocence, and her youth. She returned to a family and friends who didn't understand what had happened to her, and to years of nightmares and disorientation which ruined a marriage, caused drug and alcohol problems, and are only now beginning to abate. Eventually VanDevanter joined forces with other veterans to establish counseling and support groups for the other oft-ignored female Vietnam vets.

GOING MY OWN WAY by Gary Crosby (non-fiction). Bing Crosby's public persona was that of the relaxed, affable celebrity able to mix easily with everyone. In his professional career, he was not much different: tolerant of mistakes, patient and kind. At home, however, he was vastly different, according to his son Gary. He was unable to show affection for his wife and his four sons. He was cold and distant and he was a severe taskmaster to his children, cowering them (sometimes with cruel whippings) to the point that they regarded him as a cross between God and a circuit court judge. Further, his first wife, Dixie Lee Crosby, was a shy, insecure alcoholic. This book is the tale of how his oldest son fought his way out of that unhappy upbringing, with stops along the way for alcohol and drugs and a failed marriage, until he finally found a reconciliation with his father.

To celebrate National Library Week, Rawson Memorial Library held a drawing for a used set of Americana Encyclopedias. The winner of the encyclopedias is Stephanie Nicholson, daughter of Tom and Marty Nicholson of Cass City.

“Be the best you can be”

Benson talk highlights Kingston career day

“What do you want to do when you grow up?” That’s a question adults ask children.

The tables were turned at Kingston Elementary School last Thursday afternoon when the students got to ask grown-ups what they do.

It was the second annual Career Day at the school.

Elementary age children shouldn’t be expected at that age to decide what they want to do during their adult lives and that isn’t the aim of Career Day, according to Principal Douglas Kramer. “All I want to do is have them have some kind of direction.

Additionally, it helps reinforce their education, he said. For instance, if a youngster shows interest in a certain career and the Career Day speaker stressed reading, that’s good reinforcement to encourage the child to work on his or her reading.

Fourteen speakers talked about their jobs and students had a choice of hearing two of them in half-hour sessions.

In addition, they all heard Detroit Pistons forward Kent Benson.

Chances are none of the students Benson talked to will become professional athletes — very few persons do — but his purpose in appearing wasn’t to talk specially about how to become one.

Kramer wanted him to talk about career development and also things that would be harmful to the students’ development — drugs, alcohol and smoking.

That the 6-10 athlete did, urging his audience to “Think about the desire to be the best you can be.”

He stressed what he called the “three D’s” — desire, determination and dedication.

Benson’s coming to Kingston stems from the Career Day last year, when students said they wanted to hear a professional athlete.

Kramer contacted the Pistons and it was suggested that Benson would be the ideal player to talk to the students.

THE AFTERNOON WAS divided into two one-hour sessions.

During the first hour, Benson talked to the first, second and third graders in the gym, while those in grades 4-6, plus seventh graders from the high school, listened to individual speakers in the classrooms.

There were 14 of them, with each student having the opportunity to see two of them in half-hour sessions.

During the second hour, the first-third graders attended the individual sessions while the fourth-seventh graders listened to Benson.

IN PLANNING THE Career Day, students were asked what careers they were interested in and then the speakers were invited, most of whom are from Kingston.

They were: Skilled tradesman, Don Lotter; computer programmer, Allen Hewitt; policeman, Deputy Richard Blakely; newspaper reporter, Brett McLaughlin; policewoman, Trooper Luanne Schreck; veterinarian, Dr. Rod Ellis; hair stylist, Mary Wilcox.

Also, farmer, Ray Wolak; teacher, Gayle Green; nurse, Anita Harrand; artist, Jan Gerhardt; lawyer, John C. Burns; Army recruiter, Sgt. Fred G. Taylor, and X-ray laboratory technician, Sandy Sims.

SOME OF THE STUDENTS’ choices for careers they wanted to hear about were interesting.

Last year, no one asked to hear a computer programmer. This year, “it was right near the top,” according to Kramer.

Presumably the boys asked to have a policeman appear while the girls asked for a policewoman.

Generally, Kramer said, girls still go see the nurse and hair stylist, while the boys go to see, for instance, the Army recruiter.

Times may be changing in some respects, however. Kramer noted that many girls chose to hear the presentation of the veterinarian, which in the past has been a predominantly male occupation.

CAREER DAY SPEAKERS at Kingston Elementary School last Thursday included, clockwise from top, Allen Hewitt, computer programming; John Burns, attorney; Trooper Luanne Schreck, (who told her female listeners policewomen do the same thing as policemen); Dr. Rod Ellis, veterinary medicine, and Ray Wolak (center), farming.

KENT BENSON, the Detroit Piston starting forward, was easy to spot at Kingston Elementary School last Thursday. He was the tall one. Here, he visits with local businessman Terry Hogan, whose donation paid for Benson’s visit.

Benson also talks about basketball in Kingston visit

Although Detroit Pistons forward Kent Benson came to Kingston Elementary School last Thursday primarily to talk about careers, he understandably did talk some about basketball.

The Pistons finished the season with a 37-45 win-loss record failed to make the playoffs, and Monday of last week, management fired coach Scotty Robertson.

A major reason for the team’s disappointing season was injuries to key players, including Benson, who played only 21 games because of a broken bone in his ankle.

If it’s any consolation for next season, he reported, “It feels great now.”

Benson wasn’t taking any chances, however. When a student asked him to demonstrate a few techniques under the basket, he declined, explaining that his doctor had advised him to take it easy.

When the 6-10 Benson is healthy, he is a starting forward, along with Kelly Tripucka, who also missed much of the season.

Benson was asked how much he practices.

During the season, he responded, the team practices 2½-3 hours a day. During pre-season training camp, it practices twice a day, for 2½ hours each session.

When he was younger was when he really practiced. During his summer vacations, the Indiana native was on the basketball courts 12-14 hours a day.

Another question was the most dunks Benson had ever made in a game. Benson didn’t know, but mentioned he once scored 55 points in a high school game.

After his presentations to the students, Benson was asked by the Chronicle for his reaction to the firing of coach Robertson.

On a personal level, he responded, “I was very sorry to see Scotty go.” He liked the coach and felt with a healthy team next season, “I think he could have had the opportunity to take us into the playoffs.”

But on a professional level, Benson feels, Pistons General Manager Jack McCloskey, has years of experience, so knows what is best for the team and felt another coach was needed to take the team farther than it Gilford Road, Deford.

At 8:15 a.m. last Wednesday, according to Cass City police, Suzanne W. Opanasenko, 18, of 6674 Huron Street, eastbound on Main, stopped to turn left onto Sherman Street.

Jamaine L. Wright, 17, of Doerr Road, who was eastbound, didn’t spot the other car’s turn signal in time and her car ran into the rear of the Opanasenko car.

Village police said that at 10:08 a.m. April 19, Theodore W. Begeman II, 20, of 1670 Dodge Road, Deford, was backing out of a parking place in the Erla’s Food Center lot, turned too sharply, and his vehicle struck the car parked alongside.

Owner of the parked car was Thomas Peruski of Minden City.

Phillips Road, at 1:50 a.m. Sunday.

Kevin E. Burkell, 19, of Caro, while southbound on Murray Road, south of Deckerville Road, at 11:55 p.m. Saturday.

Chemical earnings increase

Shareholders of Chemical Financial Corp. (CFC) met April 18 in Midland for their ninth annual meeting as a bank holding company.

Robert B. Bennett, chairman of the board, conducted the meeting attended by 180 shareholders.

He reported 1983 first quarter earnings for CFC of $1.23 per share, a 21.8 percent improvement over last year’s first quarter earnings of $1.01 per share.

Special reports on Chemical’s involvement in electronic banking, the Small Business Administration’s loan program and lending in the agri-business industry were presented.

Shareholders reelected Robert B. Bennett, Gilbert A. Currie, Carl A. Gerstacker, I. Frank Harlow, Herbert H. Lyon and Alan W. Ott to the board and approved a management proposal authorizing the 1983 Stock Option Plan.

Shareholders were treated to an old-fashioned ice cream social following the meeting.

CFC is the parent company of Chemical Bank Cass City.

Lutheran spring rally

“The Christian Family” was the theme of the Thumb Zone Lutheran Women’s Missionary League spring rally held at Peace Lutheran Church, Sandusky, April 19. The Marlette society hosted the event for 110 members, pastors and friends.

Rev. David Maier, pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church, Marlette, led the opening devotions.

President Wilma Sattelmeyer presided at the business meeting. Members were given last-minute details for the retreat at Jeddo April 27-28. St. Paul society of Unionville extended an in-itation for the fall rally in October.

“A Kate Luther Album” was presented by the Christian Growth Committee.

Guest speaker for the evening was Robert Miles, representing Lutheran Child and Family Services of Michigan. His topic was “What’s Happening to our Children and Families?”

Rev. Randall Schultz of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Caseville, Thumb counselor, closed the evening with a devotion. A meal was served by the host society.

Pending pension law could be costly for schools, state

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

Pending federal legislation prohibiting discrimination in pension and insurance programs would create an additional $1 billion liability for state and public school retirement systems, according to Retirement Systems Director Richard Beers.

Compliance with the proposed act would cost the state $20 million a year, with about 6 percent of that coming from the state's general fund.

Beers noted the figures are only rough estimates, based on an actuarial projection that the new requirements would create an additional $1.5 billion liability for state and local government retirement systems at an annual cost of $30 million.

Not only does the federal legislation require use of "unisex" tables, to provide men and women with equal benefits, it requires that systems which have set differential benefits bring the lower levels up to the higher levels and do it retroactively.

Retirement systems and insurance programs have typically provided unequal benefit payments because mortality studies show women live about five years longer than men.

PURSUANT TO ADVICE from Attorney General Frank Kelley, Beers said the state moved public employee and school employee systems to unisex tables last year, but average out the high and low benefit levels to a common amount, applied only to future retirees.

Beers said the retroactivity requirement and the provision that all benefit levels be brought up to the highest level are the most costly features of the federal legislation which is subject to hearings in both the U.S. Senate and House.

The requirements, Beers said, will in many cases mean paying higher benefits to men, but added it will work both ways, depending upon the kind of retirement plan. He said the major impact in the state system would be for those electing optional benefits for spouses.

State legislation to prohibit pension and insurance program discrimination is also under study.

A RECENT NATIONAL Governors' Association report noted that early indications are that cost increases to all states will be sizable.

Estimates indicate that the cost of equalizing the level of payments made to current and future beneficiaries of the New York state and city public retirement systems on the basis of sex-neutral tables would be about $2 billion.

Extrapolating from the New York estimate, the report indicated that total cost to state and local governments could be $15-20 billion with those projections not including state administrative costs.

THE PENDING FEDERAL legislation would prohibit discrimination in insurance and annuities based on race, color, religion, sex and national origin with respect to access, availability of coverage, terms, conditions, rates, benefits and requirements and in the methods of determining them.

Prohibited actions would include denying or delaying an insurance contract of the type ordinarily made available; unequal treatment of applicants, morbidity, disability, and collection of premium payments for existing contracts based on gender-distinct statistical tables.

The legislation provides that insurers may modify premium and contribution rates for existing contracts if necessary to comply with the anti-discrimination requirement.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Featuring
Special Speaker
Rev. Dallas E. McFarland
Pastor, Coldwater Church of the Nazarene, Coldwater, Michigan.
Rev. McFarland is the son of Pastor A. E. McFarland

at Cass City Church of Nazarene

6538 Third St., corner of Oak

April 27-May 1, 7:00 p.m. Each Eve.

Two Services Sunday - 11 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.

Rev. Dallas E. McFarland received a call to preach at age eleven. After his graduation from Olivet Nazarene College in 1972 he pastored the church at Boyne City, Michigan for three years. Since then, he has continued an effective ministry at Coldwater, Michigan.

As a Bible based preacher of the Word, he seeks to lift the name of Jesus as the Source of our lives. Rev. McFarland's philosophy of life found in Proverbs 3:5-6 greatly affects his philosophy of ministry as he is dedicated to preach to the needs of people and endeavors to lift people to what they can become in Christ.

SPECIAL SINGING

EVERYBODY WELCOME

Immunization clinics slated in Sanilac

The Sanilac County Health Department conducts immunization clinics each Wednesday at its office at 115 N. Elk Street, Sandusky.

Hours are 9-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m.
A parent or guardian must accompany each child and is asked to bring a record of previous immunizations.

Randy Kozan in college honor society

Randy L. Kozan of 6324 Houghton Street, Cass City, is one of 80 Western Michigan University freshmen who joined Phi Eta Sigma at its recent honors luncheon in Kalamazoo.

Phi Eta Sigma is a national college scholastic honor society for freshmen. To qualify, they must be full-time students with a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

Its goal is to encourage and reward high scholastic achievement.

Mrs. M. M. Downing, Gageton Postmaster, and Mrs. Jeanette McDonald, Owendale Postmaster, spent last Sunday night in Grayling and Monday attended an all-day meeting.

WILLIAMSON GROUP

The Williamson Farm Bureau Group met Monday evening, April 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pisarek Sr. with 11 members present.

Mike Renn opened the meeting with the salute to the flag and Howard Irrel led discussion. Topic was "Cooperatives Serve."

Before adjourning, the group played cards and the hostess served refreshments.

Hosts for the May meeting are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Renn of Elkton.

Miss Kris Rocheleau graduated Friday, April 22, from Delta College, with an Associate Degree in General Business Assistance.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Whaley of 6825 Trumble Road, and is a 1980 graduate of Owendale High School.

The St. Agatha Parish Council met in the church hall Wednesday evening, April 20, with six members and two guests attending.

President Bernie Niester conducted the meeting and discussion was held on First Communion on May 1st, the old school building, pest control and the church parking lot. The next meeting is May 18 at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. John (Shelley) Smedly and daughter Ariyll of Kewadin spent last week with Shelley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whaley.

Nicholas Joseph, infant son of Diane and Joseph Warack, was christened on Sunday, April 10, at St. Agatha Catholic Church with Deacon Lambert Kuhr officiating. Nancy and George Whaley are the godparents. Nicholas was born at home weighing nine pounds nine ounces.

Muri LaFave of Owendale returned to his home Saturday to convalesce, after undergoing surgery at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit a week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taschner attended the Fiddlers Jamboree at Sebewaing Middle School Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Lucille LaFave also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. George Whaley will leave May 2 for Colorado Springs, Col., where they will spend a few weeks with Dee and Kevin Rocheleau.

A weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elger Generous was Mrs. Dorothy Poppe of Saginaw. Saturday, they visited Mrs. Harry (Theresa) Johnston, Mrs. Generous' mother, at Bay Medical Center, Bay City. Harold Johnston of Alma was also a visitor. Mrs. Johnston was transferred last week from the Pigeon long term care unit at Schuerer Hospital to Bay Medical.

Jeff Lenhard of Sebewaing spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lenhard, and his aunts, Mary and Ann Lenhard. Mary and Ann were home from Grand Valley State and Saginaw Valley.

Coping with cancer class scheduled

The "I Can Cope" series of classes will be offered to cancer patients and families beginning Monday, May 16, in the large meeting room of Hills and Dales General Hospital from 7-9 p.m.

It is sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the hospital. The series of eight classes will be held on Monday and Thursday nights and are free to the public.

The bi-weekly topics are presented by a team of health care professionals to provide cancer patients and their families the opportunity to acquire and utilize knowledge about the disease, treatment, management and self-care.

Because class size is limited, advance reservations are recommended by calling Jane Mitchell, RN, at Hills and Dales, 872-2121.

Brenda Tyrrell talent show winner

Brenda Tyrrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tyrrell of Huron Line Road, Uby, won first place in the age 12-18 division at a talent show April 15 in Caseville.

Her prize was $20 for her piano solo. She defeated about seven other contestants.

Miss Tyrrell, 17, won also a first place trophy at the Port Austin Winter Carnival talent show in February.

At the March 26 state solo and ensemble festival at the University of Michigan-Flint, she received a second division rating, after having received a first division at the district solo and ensemble festival.

The selection she played at the talent shows and the state festival was "Fur Elise."

At the March 19 American Music Scholarship Association regional evaluation in Ruth, Miss Tyrrell scored in the honors category and came within four points of qualifying for the semifinals in Ohio.

Miss Tyrrell has been playing piano 3½ years. Her piano teacher is Janice Moore of Deckerville.

Grant Twp. drain bids awarded

The Huron County Road Commission last Wednesday awarded bids for reconstruction of the Grant and Moore Drains in Grant Township.

The bids were the lowest of those opened April 7. Easlick Contracting of Sebewaing was awarded the construction bid on the 9½-mile Grant Drain for $109,950 and on the 3-mile Moore Drain for $35,484.

St. Regis Co. of Charlotte is supplying the drainage pipe on the Grant Drain for $54,361. Michigan Culvert Co. of Mason was low bidder for the Moore Drain pipe at $25,012.

The Road Commission is borrowing the money by sale of tax-free notes to pay the contractors, suppliers and the engineering costs. It borrowed the money for the Grant Drain at 7.7 percent interest from the Akron State Bank.

The money for the Moore Drain was borrowed at 7.25 percent from a "local individual," according to Huron County Deputy Drain Commissioner Vern Rounds.

Easlick has already begun work on the drains, he said, and they will probably be completed by mid-June. The drain office in Huron County is part of the Road Commission.

The Lincoln Penny was first issued by the Philadelphia mint in 1909. It replaced the Indian-head penny which had been in circulation for 50 years.

PICTURE LADIES

If you have contact with children in our school system you may have heard of the Picture Ladies and know about them. For those of you that don't, the picture ladies are volunteers who come the first Monday of each month and present information about famous paintings to the children in grades kindergarten through six. Copies of the paintings are then left in the classroom for the children to enjoy. The Picture Ladies program began in the spring of 1977 at the suggestion of Linda Albee. Linda has served as chairperson of the group since its inception.

WHAT IS SPECIAL EDUCATION ???

Special education classes are classes designed to help those students with learning problems caused by either learning disabilities, emotional impairment, mental impairment or hearing and physical impairments. Students who qualify for special education are generally 2 to 5 years below grade level in academic areas such as reading, spelling, language and math. This year the Cass City Public Schools employs five special education teachers.

The special education classes are designed to give individual instruction. The students work at their own grade level and at a pace fitting their needs. They are assigned to the special education classroom for a period of one or more hours per day depending on the subjects in which they require help. All special education students have classes with regular education students a portion of the school day.

MUSIC

On March 22 the piano in the band room was tuned by Steve Frank. It was also tuned Jan. 4 and twice last year. Each time the bills received had a notation on them of no charge. The school system would like to extend a public "thank you" to Mr. Frank for his personal donation and the excellent work he does.

ENGLISH CURRICULUM STUDY

Last spring a committee of English teachers from grades kindergarten through eighth began to study new English programs to up-date our curriculum. After looking over many programs the selection was narrowed to four companies. Each company is sending an English consultant to present the objectives and finer points of their programs to our total elementary staff. After these four presentations, a vote and final decision will be made.

The study should be completed and ready to present to the School Board at the May meeting.

FOOTBALL

Dave Osentoski has been selected to play in the Michigan High School Association's All-Star football game this year. The game is played in August at Michigan State University and features the best high school football players in Michigan who graduated in 1983. The state is divided into east and west sections for this game. Dave will be playing with the east team.

ADULT HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION ANNOUNCED

The Community Education Department would like to invite you to join us in honoring our 1983 Adult High School Graduation Class. Graduation ceremonies will be held on June 14th at 8:00 p.m. in the High School gymnasium.

This will be the largest Cass City Adult High School graduating class ever.

If there are any Cass City area residents interested in going back to school to complete the work for their diplomas and perhaps graduate with us in 1984 or 1985, please call the Cass City Community Education Office at 872-4151.

SAGINAW VALLEY STATE COLLEGE CLASSES OFFERED

There will be two freshman level college classes offered at Cass City High School this summer - English Composition III and Sociology 211.

Registration for these classes and for a full complement of 14 Fall classes can be completed in the Community Education Office next to the library in Cass City High School.

For more information on the college classes, contact Dave Lovejoy at 872-4151.

BORROWING ???

The increase in the State income tax has made it possible for the state to begin paying state aid to school districts again. April 19, a check for $135,619 was received as partial payment of $290,543 in state aid owed the Cass City Schools. With state aid payments now being received, our school district should not have to borrow money to operate until next fall. During the current year it was necessary for the school district to borrow $978,314 to provide for operating expenses until property taxes were received.

Boys and girls both win

Cass City sweeps titles in Hatcher Invitational

The Cass City Red Hawks won both the boys' and girls' divisions of the annual Hatcher Invitational at Bad Axe Saturday.

The Hawks finished with 107 points to narrowly defeat Unionville-Sebewaing, 97 points, in the boys' competition and the girls duplicated the effort with 126 points while USA notched 114 points.

The Hawk boys were led by Mike Middaugh who was first in the 120 and 220-yard hurdles and second in the long jump. Greg Bliss lost his personal duel with Kirk Scharich of USA as he finished second in the mile and two-mile events. The two premier distance runners have exchanged first and second places in previous head to head meetings. Bliss won the 880-yard run besides his two second place finishes.

The over-all depth of the girls was a key factor in the win. The girls won the mile relay and the 440-yard relay, but only Carrie Lautner and Tracy Green won individual events for the Hawks. Green won the 100-yard dash and Lautner the two-mile run. The state champion was upset in the mile by Essencacher of Sandusky. The Hawks finished second in six events in their push to first place.

There were nine teams entered in the boys' division and 10 in the girls' competition. Ubly did not enter a boys' team.

PLACE SECOND

Cass City stepped out of its class to take on Bangor John Glenn, class B, and Bay City Western, class A, in a triangular meet Thursday at John Glenn.

The boys were no match for the larger schools, but the strong Hawk girl squad finished second to the John Glenn Bobcats.

The scores for the boys were: John Glenn, 81, Western, 51, Cass City, 34.

For the girls the results were: John Glenn, 85, Cass City, 45, Western, 26.

Highlight of the boys' meet was the race between Jim Biskner of Glenn and Greg Bliss of Cass City in the mile. Bliss, the state cross country champion, was second to Biskner with a clocking of 4:37.92 as compared to Biskner's 4:34.

Bliss has been a slow starter in earlier meets in his career.

For the girls, Carrie Lautner, state champion, showed her heels to the field in her specialties, the mile and two mile events.

In the boys' competition, Cass City won two firsts and they were won by Mike Middaugh. He won the long jump with a leap of 19-9 and the 110-yard hurdles in 15.88.

Besides Lautner's double win for the girls, Michelle Fahrner took the 440-yard run, the only other first.

Exercise is essential to achieving physical fitness and managing weight. The best way to burn calories is to exercise moving total body weight from one point to another. The above chart shows that the number of calories used is determined by the distance covered and the speed. Automobile Club of Michigan's MemberLife area recommends beginning with a moderate activity such as walking and easing into more strenuous workouts. Before starting an exercise program, individuals over age 35 or those with medical problems should consult a physician or other health professional. When food calories equal calories expended through activity, weight should remain the same.

As the thousands of owners of backyard pools can testify, these entertainment centers provide endless hours of enjoyment...if you take the steps to maintain your pool at the peak of safe efficiency.

Test your knowledge with this quiz from the pool water experts from HTH, the nation's best-selling brand of dry chlorinator.

1. The cause of red eyes from swimming pools is usually (a) too much chlorine (b) too little chlorine.

2. To keep pool water safe and balanced, it should be tested (a) weekly (b) daily.

3. The ideal pH range for a pool is (a) 7.2 to 7.6 (b) 3.4 to 3.8.

4. The best time to add HTH dry chlorinator is (a) the morning (b) noontime (c) early evening.

If you said that too much chlorine was the most common cause for the common red eye complaint, you were wrong. The real cause is almost always too little—not too much—chlorine in the pool. Red eyes are caused by compounds called chloramines, commonly formed by chlorine reacting with ammonia, urine and perspiration. You can best destroy chloramines, while maintaining an effective level of free available chlorine in the water, through super-chlorination. That simply means adding an extra-heavy dose of HTH, to the pool water.

The correct answer to frequency of testing pool water is daily. To keep your pool water clean and free of algae and bacteria, and properly balanced, use a reliable kit that measures free available chlorine and pH. Replace the test chemicals annually.

Win 3 out of 4

Hawk girls off to fast start in pre-league games

If the Cass City softball team needed a morale booster, A-F came to please.

After getting off to a rocky start, allowing two unearned runs on two walks and an error in the first inning, Jill Hutchinson and Lori Calka combined to complete a five-inning no-hitter.

Meanwhile, the batters had a field day, as Cass City scored three runs on four hits in the first, five runs on four hits in the second, two runs on three hits in the fourth and three runs and one hit to complete a 13 to 3 e-inning, 10-run mercy victory. Hitters had an awesome game, with Dee Hempton, Jill Hutchinson and Jamie Fox all going three for four. Fox had three RBIs.

Hutchinson got the win, pitching three innings of no-hit ball. She struck out four and issued three walks. Lori Calka finished the no-hitter with two perfect innings — three up, three down, two strikeouts.

The second game was more of the same. With Jill Root on the mound, the Cass City hitters battered a pair of Akron-Fairgrove hurlers for 20 hits and 17 runs. Root pitched all five innings and got the win, allowing three runs on five hits without aid of a walk. Root also had four strikeouts in four tries; Jamie Fox and Lisa Benitez each went three for three. Joy Root was two for two, Dee Hempton and Sherri Horner two for three.

Going into league play next week, the Cass City record now stands at three wins, one loss.

two runs in the bottom of the third when Jamie Fox got the first Cass City hit of the game after two walks and two stolen bases had put runners on second and third. Jill Root and the Cass City defense settled down and shut out Deckerville the rest of the game, but except for a brief rally in the 5th inning when Colleen Irrer, Jamie Fox and Lisa Benitez all singled in succession to put a fourth run across, Cass City was unable to solve the slants of Deckerville's winning pitcher, Pam Slater.

Jill Root took the loss for Cass City, giving up six runs on six hits. She issued two base on balls. Davis led Deckerville with a single, double and three RBIs in three tries. Jamie Fox had two for three and two RBIs for Cass City.

In the second game, with Jill Hutchinson on the mound, Cass City scored two runs in the first, second and fifth innings and one in the third to get what appeared to be a lock on the game until the last inning. Then Deckerville scored two runs to make the score 7-6 and was threatening to score more with the bases loaded at the final out. Hutchinson was pretty much in command up until that time when a streak of wildness got her in trouble. Hutchinson got the win, giving up six runs on four hits and six free passes. Pam Regentine took the loss for Deckerville, allowing seven runs and nine hits. Jamie Fox had two for three and Pam Sawdon two for two to lead the Cass City hitters.

Regentine tried to help her own cause all she could, leading Deckerville with three singles in four tries.

OUT! -- Joy Root of Cass City waits for an Akron-Fairgrove pop fly Friday. The Red Hawks swept the non-league double-header.

Deckerville sweeps pair from Bulldogs

Deckerville defeated visiting Owen-Gage in baseball twice Monday, 6-2 in the opening game and 13-6 in the nightcap.

Jerry Allard struck out 14 to win the first game. He walked two and gave up five hits.

Stan Andrakowicz took the loss with five hits, three strikeouts and five walks.

Paul Lopez batted two singles for the Bulldogs.

Doug Hall hit a double and a single for the victors. Each team committed two errors.

Dan Glidden pitched the first 2 1/3 innings for Owen-Gage to take the second game loss. He was relieved by Reid Goslin. They combined for four strikeouts, seven walks and 10 hits.

Hall pitched the first three innings for Deckerville to pick up the win. Duane Paehlig went the rest of the distance. They combined for six strikeouts, eight walks and nine hits.

Goslin hit two singles and Glidden batted a double. For the Eagles, Brian Coles hit three singles; Matt Lukshaitis, double and a single, and Allard, two doubles.

Owen-Gage hurt its cause with five errors. Deckerville made two.

Pitching has been one of the Bulldogs' problems so far, coach Phil Gray said. The other is that the seniors haven't been hitting.

Owen-Gage, now 0-4 in the North Central Thumb D League and overall, hosts Port Hope this Thursday and travels to Caseville Monday.

Deckerville is 4-2 overall and 2-0 in the league.

Lose pair

Owen-Gage started its baseball season last Thursday with two losses against visiting Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

Fast pitch loop looks for teams

More teams and players are needed for the Cass City Fast Pitch Softball League. Anyone interested is invited to a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, May 9, at the Charmont.

So far, according to league coordinator Jim Turner, only four teams have signed up, two from Cass City and one each from Marlette and Pigeon.

Last year, there were 13 teams in what was the Sandusky-Cass City League, with seven of them playing in the Cass City division — three from Cass City plus one each from Sebawaing, Pigeon, Marlette and Caro.

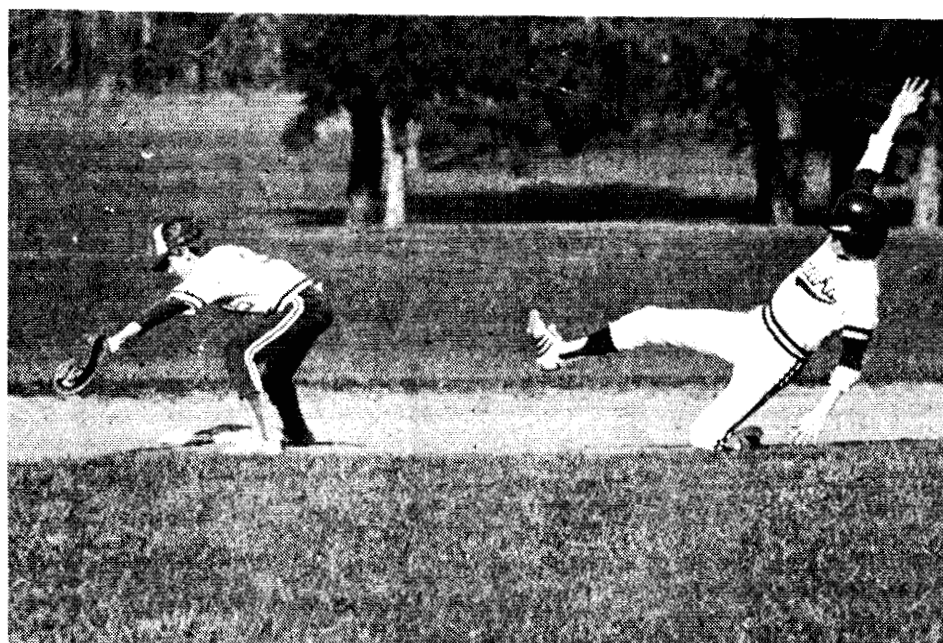

The Sandusky teams dropped out this year, stating they didn't want to travel any more to Cass City, Turner said.

The season, be it for four teams or more, begins June 1 and ends the first or second week in August.

For more information, contact Turner at 872-2474 in the evening, Roy Hull or Jim LaRoche.

The most commonly used word in English conversation is "I".

STOLEN BASE -- Red Hawk Fred Zawilinski starts his slide toward second base in this second inning steal. Waiting for the throw which came too late, was Akron-Fairgrove's Brian Allen.

O-G still winless

Owen-Gage is still looking for its first win in softball this season, following two losses at Deckerville Monday.

The Eagles won the opener, 10-0.

Winning pitcher Kim Slater walked five, struck out two and gave up one hit, to Rita Sullivan.

Losing pitcher Sheila Engelhardt walked two, surrendered seven hits and didn't strike out anyone.

Andrea Muir and Jan Regentin each gained two hits in three times at bat for Deckerville.

The Eagles won the nightcap, 16-6. Winning pitcher Jan Regentin gave up two hits and 12 walks, and struck out 11.

Jackie Kain took the loss. She surrendered five walks and nine hits and didn't strike out anyone.

For the victors, Kim Davis had two hits in three times at bat and Slater was two for four.

For the Bulldogs, Mosack was one for two (a triple) and Carol Zimmer was one for three (a double).

Coach Judy Campbell's team, now 0-4 in the North Central Thumb D League, host Port Hope this Thursday and are at Caseville Monday.

More blind cured

According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, founded 75 years ago, an estimated 47,000 Americans become blind each year. That's one person every 11 minutes. Half of all blindness can be prevented with current medical knowledge and techniques.

Hawks split first games

Two scheduled warm-up double headers were cut short due to cold weather and darkness and the second game cancelled with Cass City ahead in both games.

The Hawks split the opening games of the two twin non-conference bills.

In the opening game against Deckerville Wednesday, April 20, Cass City dropped a 6-3 decision to Deckerville.

The Eagles touched Rick Pobanz for three hits and three runs in the first inning and pushed across what proved to be the winning runs in the third when they scored twice on an error, walk and single.

Cass City counted a pair of runs in the second and added another in the sixth. The Hawks Joe Langenburg scored after walking and hit a run scoring triple in the sixth to lead the Hawks. Terry Allard was the winning pitcher.

The Hawks had little trouble with visiting Akron-Fairgrove Thursday. The Hawks broke open the game with four runs in the second and six more in the third as they routed the visitors, 23-3, in five innings. Rich Randall picked up the win while allowing three hits. Cass City picked up seven hits and was helped by walks and errors.

ASK DR. COE

By Darrell Sheets, DMD

This past week, two concerned young parents brought their two year old son into the office because his upper front teeth were very tender — the youngster had difficulty chewing because the teeth hurt him. He was still on a bottle part-time. The little guy was obviously uncomfortable and wanted no part of my looking at those sore front teeth. With his dad helping to hold him down, I took a look finding the four upper baby incisors decayed to the gum line with exposed nerves — no wonder they hurt. I prescribed an oral sedative to make him very drowsy and had him return later in the day. Using the gas and local anesthesia, we were able to extract the four front teeth without problem. At this point, the sedative effects were beginning to decrease and he became unmanageable, but was still bleeding from the extraction sites. Only with both parents restraining the child were we able to apply the necessary gauge pressure to stop the bleeding, but this was a good half hour procedure because his head thrashing would cause the area to start bleeding again. I might add that in the line of duty trying to hold the gauze in place, my dental assistant got bit several times too.

If you can imagine the picture of what I just described, you'd come to the rapid conclusion that it was a very unpleasant experience for all concerned, especially for the child. But what makes this whole episode the most unpleasant for me is the fact that it happens time and time again and that it is preventable.

This is classic baby bottle syndrome resulting from a child being kept on a bottle too long. If a child goes to bed with something sweet in a bottle like coke, kool aid, sweetened tea, orange juice, or even milk, which has the natural sugar lactose, the teeth are bathed in sugar and they are going to decay. The upper front teeth take the brunt of the attack, but eventually the others become involved too if the bottle continues.

But it can be prevented! How? Take the bottle away! The only reason for a child to have a bottle at all is that the mother doesn't want to breast feed and the baby hasn't enough coordination to drink from a cup. In normal development, a child can hold a cup and drink by 10 to 13 months — when they can do this, immediately stop the bottle. Let me repeat, when they can drink from a cup stop the bottle!

By doing this, you can save yourself and your child needless agony. And grandparents, you too can have a part. If your daughter or daughter-in-law is giving your grandchild a bottle too long, tell her. No young mother knows everything intuitively — they have to be gently educated.

Program provides nutrition

The WIC Program is a health program for pregnant and breastfeeding women, infants, and preschool children.

Pregnant women are given coupons for free food as WIC recognizes that proper nutrition and health care are particularly important during pregnancy. Coupons for free food are given to infants and preschool children because of the special need for good nutrition during the critical stages of growth and development.

Persons with a low to moderate income who could benefit from the program which includes nutrition counseling may apply by telephoning the WIC office at the Tuscola County Health Department, 673-8114.

Many times, persons who are not eligible for food stamps at the Department of Social Service are eligible for WIC coupons.

Letters to the editor

Lt. McDowell urges passage of seat belt law

Dear Editor,

I would like to respond to the column written by Mike Eliasohn which appeared in your publication March 31.

Mr. Eliasohn brought out some excellent statistics and arguments which support the use of seat belts.

The Department of State Police unequivocally endorses H.B. 4203, proposed legislation which mandates the use of seat belts in passenger vehicles and sets civil penalties.

Perhaps it would be appropriate to suggest that seat belt use should be determined by the individual, if only that individual were affected by the decision. However, this is not the case.

After the initial impact in an accident, a driver who is not restrained may be thrown away from the automobile's controls which may result in subsequent impacts involving other vehicles and persons. And any vehicle occupant may be thrown against another occupant, causing injury as a "human missile."

Beyond the human tragedy of death and injury, accidents are a financial drain which affect all of us. It is estimated that Michigan taxpayers spend $21.5 million annually in direct costs to state government. These costs include rehabilitation, welfare for families who lose their breadwinner, special education, crippled children's fund, ADC, Medicaid, and workers' compensation.

On the average, four people die and 374 are injured every day in Michigan as a result of automobile accidents. Currently 34 countries or provinces (from Australia to Yugoslavia) have seat belt laws, and the average reported reduction in injuries is 15-30 percent when usage is in the 40-60 percent range.

Obviously seat belt laws do make a significant impact, just as one could also work for the citizens of Michigan. I strongly urge your readers to contact their legislators and voice their support for the proposed seat belt law, H.B. 4203.

Respectfully,
Lt. Lee E. McDowell
Caro Post Commander

Taking stock

As you rouse the elevator, did you ever read the sign posted:

"It is unlawful for any person who has entered or occupied an elevator to smoke or ignite any substance when said elevator is in operation, under penalty of a definite term of imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding 60 days and/or the payment of $500 — Sec. 823, 12, FS."

We used our Fog Index method to find how many years of schooling you'd need to figure out what the sign says. The answer: 38 years.

If you used an ordinary old editor to write the sign, instead of a Tallahassee lawyer, he'd come up with something like this:

"NO SMOKING. Penalty: up to 80 days in jail, or $500 fine, or both. State law."

Fog Index of the editor's sign: 5.6 years of schooling. That puts the level where the kids start smoking and begin to learn to read.

Westinghouse Electric has brought out a machine that balks at long sentences and cumbersome words. It's for the military, and nobody needs it worse, next to the lawmakers.

The military wants a system to make sure that the training manuals for recruits are written in language the privates can understand.

"Many of the recruits never learn to operate expensive machinery because they can't read the manuals," says Douglas Kuffin of Westinghouse.

"They spend hours figuring out factory manuals where it should take 15 minutes."

The gadget takes the text of the manual after it's punched into the processing computer. It red-flags every sentence that is too long; it singles out clumsy expressions and words hard to understand. Then it suggests substitutes.

It will suggest "by" or "under" instead of "in accordance with." It proposes "now" instead of "at this point in time."

Westinghouse likes the machine so much it's running its own manuals through it.

It ought to run the press release about the product through their own new gadget. The Westinghouse story in the Fog Index figured at 30.6 years of schooling to figure it out.

If you want to try the Fog Index on your own writing or on anyone else's, here is the way:

Take a sample of writing, say 10 sentences. Multiply the average length (number of words) by 4. Then add the percentage of words over two syllables.

Example: the no smoking sign in the elevator:

Number of words in a sentence . . . 50 times .4 equals 20.

Number of words over two syllables . . . 9.

Percentage of sentence length . . . 18 percent. Twenty plus 18 equals 38 — number of years of schooling needed to savvy the writing

Wallace honored

Bill Wallace, owner of Armca Corp., Cass City, was presented with a Michigan Business and Industrial Alliance award Monday at a legislative brunch at the Tuscola Area Skill Center.

He was presented with the award, according to Wayne Dillon, vocational-career education director at Cass City High School, because of his involvement in the Cass City schools co-op program during the past 10 years and for his serving on advisory committees for Cass City vocational education programs.

Wallace was presented with the certificate of appreciation by Don Tonti of Cass City, winner of the award last year and president of the Career Education Planning District.

Among those at the brunch were State Rep. Dick Allen, R-Fairgrove, and State Sen. James Barcia, D-Bay City.

FARM LANE -- Robert Wallace, walking down the lane, was the owner of this farm on Schwegler Road, two miles north of Cass City Road, when this photo was taken about 1892-93.

HOME ON THE Wallace farm was this brick house. The owner of the photos is John Zinnecker, whose mother, then Lillian Wallace, is standing in front of the porch. She is now 98.

Applauds Sunday booze ban

Dear Editor:

I wish to commend the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners — six of them, for refusing to grant packaged liquor sellers the right to start proceedings to be allowed to sell the stuff on Sunday.

Far from being hypocritical, they very wisely and firmly refused to even second the motion of the one commissioner on the side of the booze sellers.

We salute Paul Nagy, Donna Rayl, Royce Russell, Robert Russell, Margaret Wentta, and Benson Collon. They took the firmest kind of a stand by their action.

The large stack of letters and petitions from people of like thought showed how the people of Tuscola County feel about the matter.

Our county is already over boozed. Enough people have been slain by drunk drivers. Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel is to be commended for starting proceedings to close the saloon in the south part of the county for selling to minors.

Sincerely,
Willard L. Dodson
