

SWING-OUT -- Cass City High School seniors took part in the annual swing-out parade through town Sunday after the baccalaureate service. The jubilant graduates may be enjoying the best of times today, but tomorrow's future prospects may not be as pleasant for some of the 153-member graduating class.

Federal cash coming for emergency food, shelter

Tuscola County is slated to receive $33,554 as part of a $5.1 million grant Michigan is receiving for emergency food and shelter assistance.

Huron County is scheduled to receive $20,210 and Sanilac County, $28,089, under the same program, part of the emergency jobs bill recently approved by Congress.

The money for Tuscola

County is being funneled to the county United Way, whose board of directors will meet in Caro this Thursday to decide to whom it will be allocated.

According to United Way Secretary-Treasurer Peg Hutton, the Human Development Commission (HDC), American Red Cross and Catholic Family Services have been invited to present requests for the funds. The board will then decide who gets how much.

She said the three were invited because they were the only ones she could find that were involved in emergency food and shelter programs, though there possibly could be others.

Members of the board include representatives of the five local United Way organizations in the county: Elkland-Novesta, Vassar, Caro, Reese and Akron-Fairgrove.

Mrs. Hutton, who also serves as the United Way's executive secretary, received details of the allocation procedure by mail Tuesday. Apparently the money has to be allocated within 15 days, she said, or it must be returned to the federal government.

She first heard about the program when contacted by the HDC. That organization's executive director, Mary Ann Vandemark, told the Chronicle Friday, "At this point, I assume we will ask for a large portion of the funds, if not all of it."

The HDC operates programs in Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and Lapeer Counties, so is planning to request funds in all four counties. Lapeer is receiving $45,436.

Whatever money the HDC receives, Mrs. Vandemark said, will be used to buy food for emergency food programs, such as the "food closets" operating in various communities in Tuscola County, including Cass City and Gageton, and for emergency shelter.

Recipients will be persons awaiting eligibility for public assistance or who are otherwise unable to qualify for welfare, but are in need.

Appeals board denies variance for garage

The Cass City Zoning Board of Appeals last Thursday denied the appeal of Dr. Robert and Susan Genovese to build a two-car addition onto their house.

The proposed addition to their house at 6368 Huron Street would have extended within two feet of their west side lot line, which would have been a violation of the village zoning ordinance unless the board granted an exemption.

Despite the fact that no neighbors voiced objections to the proposed construction, the board voted 3-2 against granting variance of the zoning code.

Genovese argued that the proposed garage "poses no danger to health or safety" of the residents of the village and therefore "a precedent would not be a threat to zoning actions."

The majority of the board, however, did not share his view as Joanne Hopper, Larry Davis and Lynn Albee cast "no" votes.

Chairman Arlan Hartwick and Gerald Prieskorn dissented.

Members of the majority said they were concerned that granting a variance would cause other residents in similar circumstances to appeal the ordinance.

Albee was afraid the board would be "deluged with many appeals."

He added, "I can't do it (vote in favor of the Genoveses) in a responsible fashion because future owners of the neighboring lot will want to have an exemption since Dr.

Leola Retherford retiring from classroom after 36 years

Leola Retherford knew long before the present school year started that it would be her last one.

"I've known for several years," she said, that she would retire at age 62 and she is now 62.

It wasn't until the fourth grade teacher at Campbell Elementary School took down the Christmas decorations this school year that it sunk in that it was the last time she would be doing it. "That was the first time it hit me."

Since then, the realization has sunk in a little more each time she has taken down the decorations with the change of seasons.

Mrs. Retherford is in her 19th year at Campbell, where she has always taught fourth grade. She has taught a total of 36 years.

The then Leola Boyne graduated from Kingston High School in 1938. That was during the Depression and her family didn't have money to send her to college.

She didn't know what she wanted to do. Teaching seemed as good as anything, so she enrolled at Tuscola County Normal School in Caro.

The school was located on one floor of the elementary school there and the one-year program included working with children in the school and observing in the country schools.

Before the year was over, Mrs. Retherford had no doubts. She liked working with children and teaching is what she wanted to do.

HER FIRST JOB WAS at English School at the corner of Shay Lake and English Roads, southwest of Kingston. She was there two years teaching grades K-8.

Her teaching career temporarily ended in 1941, when she married Arleone Retherford. They have two children, Larry Retherford of South Haven, also a teacher, Sandra Nicholas of Cass City, and six grandchildren.

She and her husband live on Gifford Road, Deford.

Mrs. Retherford returned to the classroom in 1949, at Crawford School at the corner of Crawford and Deckerville Roads.

She had 41 students in grades K-8. She received $225 a month "and that sounded like great wages at the time."

When she taught at English School, she was receiving $70 a month.

Teachers in those days not only taught; they were also responsible for the janitorial chores. The toilets were outside and if one needed water, the pump was also outside.

The 41 students were the most Mrs. Retherford had as the following year, the school board started transporting some students to Cass City.

AFTER FIVE YEARS at Crawford, she went to the school in Kingston, where she only had to teach one grade (second), received more pay, there were indoor toilets and running water, plus a principal, "so you weren't responsible for everything."

"It was definitely a step up," Mrs. Retherford commented.

She also liked being with other teachers she could talk to and exchange ideas with. "In a country school, you are out there with a bunch of children and that's it."

She taught three years at Kingston, then switched to Deford School, where she received more pay, plus it was only 2 1/2 miles between there and her home, compared to 7 1/2 to Kingston.

Deford was a consolidation of various country schools, one of them being Crawford, which merged the year after she left.

In 1959, she received her bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University, after having taken classes three summers (two of them on campus) and in the evening during the school year.

Mrs. Retherford taught various grades at Deford a total of seven years, then made her move to Campbell Elementary, starting with the 1963-64 school year.

Asked why she made the change, she responded, "Better pay... I just wanted to come up here."

She also liked the opportunity to teach the fourth grade, children ages 9-10.

Jobs are few

Options limited for high school grads

By Joe Bower

"After graduation, students used to have three choices," Cass City High School Vocational Director Wayne Dillon said.

"Number one, they could join the service, number two, they could go to college, or number three, they could get a job."

"Today, they are limited to two," Dillon believes jobs will be extremely difficult for seniors to find in the current recessed economy.

Many graduating students are gambling that trade schools and colleges will provide the best answer to solving the problem of finding work in the future.

According to a survey conducted by the high school counseling office, which 90 percent of the seniors have completed, six said the armed forces hold the best future for them. Approximately 80 percent of those responding plan to enroll in a trade school or college. Only 18 answered they will join the work force as full-time employees immediately after they graduate.

Jerry Cleland, the second member of the high school counseling team, said, unlike previous years, not one student who had turned in the survey reported that they had no future plans.

"Students are very interested in getting training in areas where they are most apt to get a job," he added. "Many are giving up things they like to do in favor of going into areas where they are better able to get a job."

Both Cleland and Dillon stated that today's students are choosing to pursue careers in areas where they have the best chance of getting a job.

MERILEE LESLIE, RICK Pobanz and Bob Kerbyson plan to attend different colleges in the fall majoring in business. They all feel the field has openings in many areas, such as accounting and marketing.

Brian Wright and Chris Westerby feel medicine presents the best future for them. They have decided to attend Central Michigan University's medical technology program and Eastern Michigan University's School of Nursing, respectively.

The economy that has caused many employers to tighten their budgets, freeze hiring and lay off workers may have less effect on the medical job market than any other area. As Wright reasoned, "People are always sick and someone has to take care of them."

An interest in engineering, plus the demand in recent years for people skilled in various technologies have helped salubrious Chris Polk and Scott Geiger choose to study engineering next year when they enroll in college.

Polk believes the outlook for aerospace engineers looks especially promising with the increased efforts in space exploration and the Defense Department's new involvement in the space program.

"Trade schools are more popular now than in past years," Cleland said, "especially in the areas of automobiles, heavy machinery, electrical engineering and data processing."

MANY CASS CITY STUDENTS, including 40 seniors, take classes for half the day at the Tuscola Area Skill Center in Caro to start learning a marketable trade.

Tim Smith, recently voted "drafter of the year" by skill center classmates based on instructor-established criteria, is going to take drafting classes at Macomb County Community College for the next two years before enrolling in Lawrence Institute of Technology. He thinks drafting will be a valuable skill that will enable him to land a good career position.

Pobanz and Kathy Pringle are currently taking data processing which they hope will aid them when they attend school next year. He plans to attend Saginaw Valley State College's business program and she will enroll in the Saginaw Business Institute.

Cindy Cybulski, a student in the Skill Center haircutting classes, plans to continue her training at Howard's Beauty Academy until next March. She feels finding a beautician job will not be difficult.

Not all seniors, however, are looking toward careers which are abundant in the current economy.

Lee Curtis and Mary Kappen for example, plan to attend college next year majoring in education. Despite a current surplus of teachers, they believe teachers will soon be able to find jobs.

"Since everyone is now going into computers and engineering," explained Curtis, "I'm hoping there will be openings in teaching in four years."

Military no longer will take anybody

At the start of the current recession, the worst since World War II, many high school graduates joined the armed forces either to find employment, learn a marketable skill or get financial aid to help pay for the rising costs of a college education.

The number of recruits answering Uncle Sam's plea of "I Want You!" has been steadily increasing since.

Today, however, many seniors are finding that the armed forces are no longer greeting them with open arms.

Recruiting offices in Caro and Saginaw have been besieged by a steady stream of enlistees.

Nothing new members of the working world can fall back on as a last resort to securing a future or finding a job.

"The military is getting more selective because it can afford to," said Petty Officer First Class Steve Coffee of the Navy recruiting office in Caro.

Thanks to the bad economic conditions, he explained, the military no longer has to take who it can get. Instead, it can pick and choose, particularly the Air Force.

Master Sgt. Ron Arnold of the Air Force said, "If a young man or woman were to enlist right now, the minimal entry delay they would face before active duty would be six months. This can go higher. The minimal entry delay for a more popular trade such as electronics and computer programming is 12 months."

He added, "We are having the highest retention rate (people reenlisting) ever, which pushes down our demand for recruits. It has also caused us to increase our entry criteria."

"THERE'S NEVER such a thing as nothing to do," said Leola Retherford, as she was grading some papers. The soon-to-retire teacher has taught 36 years, 19 of them at Campbell Elementary School.

A pain in the briefs

By Jim Fitzgerald

A lawyer sent me a slick brochure announcing that the American Bar Association will sponsor the "First National Seminar on Defending the Drunk Driver" June 16-17 in Washington, D.C. At 1 p.m. on the second day, there will be a panel discussion on: "How to Get the State to Dismiss Your Case and Pay Your Attorney Fees."

Does that give you a pain in the briefs? I'm impressed and flattered whenever a lawyer takes the time to write or phone me without sending a bill for services rendered. A lawyer's time is worth a lot of money. If my time were worth that much, I wouldn't be able to sleep for fear the alarm clock wouldn't go off, causing me to lose an entire morning, or $1,000.

For example, the Detroit City Council recently decided taxpayers must pay a lawyer $110 an hour, up to $150,000, to defend a city official accused of taking a bribe. If that lawyer—Deborah Gaskin—works an average 40-hour week, 52 weeks a year, her annual income is $228,800.

That's not an unusually large amount compared to what really high-powered lawyers charge—$500 an hour and more. But for the average Detroit taxpayer, $110 an hour seems like all the money in the world, and it's not surprising that many of them can't understand why they should pay

Charles Beckham's legal fees in a criminal case (not a civil lawsuit, resulting from his job, which would be understandable).

Beckham is the former Water and Sewerage Department director who resigned shortly after a federal grand jury indicted him for allegedly accepting $16,000 in kickbacks. He now holds a nicely paid position as executive assistant to Mayor Young. Why should the public pay his lawyer? If a Chrysler production worker were charged with stealing $16,000, would Chrysler pay his legal bill?

What if Beckham is found guilty? Then taxpayers will have had the privilege of not only paying a criminal's salary but also paying his lawyer as much as $150,000. A cynical taxpayer might suggest it would be a lot cheaper to ignore measly $16,000 bribes.

But let's be fair. Every accused person deserves legal representation. If Beckham were destitute, the court would appoint a lawyer to defend him. But court-appointed lawyers are paid a lot less than $110 an hour. So there is the irony: If Beckham were off the public payroll and as poor as many of the taxpayers who must pay his salary and legal fees, he would be a lot less expensive to taxpayers.

Life is funny, so why aren't you laughing?

And why did the City Council, by a 5-3 vote, authorize paying Beckham's lawyer? "My position is that we have to back up our elected officials and appointees," Councilman David Eberhard explained. (Wednesday, the city Law Department said six council votes were needed to authorize paying the legal fees, but said the payments could be made anyway).

And don't forget that council members are elected officials. If Eberhard is ever charged with taking a bribe, he'll probably want taxpayers to buy him a $110-an-hour lawyer. After all, a councilperson isn't a Chrysler production worker.

The most fascinating aspect of this deal is that the council passed an emergency ordinance to put Beckham's lawyer on the taxpayers' backs. The "emergency," according to Council President Erma Henderson, is a national trend toward indictment of black elected officials. Beckham is black. Does that mean if he were white or yellow, he'd have to pay his own legal fees?

Next month, as the American Bar Association goes about its noble task of determining how best to defend the drunk driver and get the government to pay his legal fees, it might want to study how Beckham's lawyer was put on the public tab.

Perhaps a clever lawyer could prove that the national trend toward cracking down on drunk drivers should be declared an emergency because it's costing local governments millions of dollars in liquor taxes.

Onward and Upward, in aching briefs.

QUESTION - How about that sex education course in Cass City. How did that slip in and what was the reaction?

Credit goes to Dave Lovejoy, director of the Cass City Community Education Department, for the smooth way that sex education classes were handled in the three-session course.

Lovejoy did his homework and contacted most of the community leaders before announcing the evening courses for junior high and high school students.

That the course was optional, and held in the evening was a major factor in its success. It was probably the only way that this course could have been offered in this community. This was not the first attempt to establish sex education courses in the school.

Zonta Club installs 7 new officers

The Zonta Club of Cass City welcomed two new members and installed the new officers for two-year terms at its May 17 meeting at the Charmont.

New members initiated were Isabel Wright and Helen Peters.

New officers are president, Betty Hurst; vice-president, Janet Francis; treasurer, Florence Karr; recording secretary, Ruth Grassmann; corresponding secretary, Randa Allen, and board members Betty Laurie and Virginia Greenlee.

Saturday, a membership brunch was held at Florence Karr's home. Guests were former governor of District 15, Mary Lou Gharity from Milford and Jane Rhodes, Area 2 director from Flint, and several prospective new members.

A check for $225 to purchase a water well was given to Jane Rhodes to present to Barbara Geil, Governor of District 15, who was unable to attend.

The Sri Lanka Water Well Project is the present Zonta International project, which is being coordinated with the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The island nation of Sri Lanka, formerly Ceylon, is located off the coast of India.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Hajre

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Listed among the graduates at Cass City High School are two girls named Dawn Marie Hartwick, no relation.

We called to check to see if a mistake was made and found out that, no it wasn't and couldn't help but wonder how many times we'd goofed up news because of the names.

Or how much trouble the girls must have encountered during their school years.

The trouble should be much less in the near future. Recently the Chronicle ran an engagement announcement for one of the Hartwicks. Marriage doesn't solve all ills, but it should help a heap with this one.

We are creatures of habits. The stoplight at Main and Seeger has been malfunctioning off and on for about a week.

Instead of stop and go it was on blinking caution for Main Street and blinking stop on Seeger. Yet, more cars than not stopped dead for the caution on Main, subconsciously expecting it to turn red I suppose, like it normally does.

Further proof: when the light was established at the Intermediate School corner many, many cars went through red, thinking the caution was still in effect.

I can attest that it was too easy to do.

The latest store to sell the Chronicle is the Anthony Party Shoppe on M-53, a quarter mile south of M-81. Papers there will be available Thursday morning.

Given this weather it's hard to believe that Monday is Memorial Day, but it is, it is. Since Monday is a lost production day, all copy should be submitted early so that the paper can be published as usual.

It was a major issue a few years ago when attempts were made to establish one on a limited basis during the regular school year. The plan quickly died as opposition stormed the board of education.

It appears that the course will be an on-going one in Cass City and one that was long overdue.

QUESTION - What's your opinion about the current campaign to recall our newly elected governor?

It's lawful to attempt to recall Gov. James Blanchard. It was lawful for another group to try and recall members of the Cass City Board of Education last spring.

It's lawful but it seems to be making too much of a good thing. A recall is a fine tool to protect us from crooks and others who radically abuse the powers bestowed on them.

The governor's recall is sparked by his tax policy. That's not enough to recall him for, even if it were possible, which I don't believe.

The time to remove elected officials for policies that differ from yours is at regular elections, not the way we've been seeing it tried in recalls across the state.

QUESTION - What's the chance for labor peace in Cass City Schools next year?

Well, if you mean no strike, then I'd guess, yes, there will be peace. If you define peace as everyone, administrators and teachers, working under a contract, that's another question and the answer is no.

There have been times when teachers negotiated a new contract before school started, but not recently. Given today's uncertain state aid to schools and the possibility of a continuing economic upturn the prediction is that a wait and see attitude will prevail in negotiations.

You'll hear plenty of rhetoric about eagerness to settle, but the nitty-gritty bargaining will not be over when the kids trudge back to school next fall.

Wyoming was the first state to allow women to vote.

Chemical declares dividend

Directors of Chemical Financial Corp. at their May 16 meeting declared a quarterly cash dividend of 28 cents per share, payable Monday, June 20, to holders of record as of June 10. The ex-dividend date is June 6.

Chemical Financial is the parent company of Chemical Bank and Trust Company of Midland, as well as Chemical Banks in Cass City, Albion, Au Gres, Clare, Gladwin County, Lake City, Marshall and Montcalm County.

Many young persons who want summer jobs won't get them.

The number signing up for the federally funded Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP) in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties is greatly exceeding the number of jobs that will be available. Thumb Area Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard reported to the consortium administrative board last Thursday.

In addition, the places seeking workers — schools, local governments, non-profit organizations, etc. — want more than will be available.

The consortium is receiving $628,346 in federal funds, enough to provide jobs for 430 youth ages 14-21, who will be paid the minimum wage of $3.35 an hour. Some won't work the entire summer, since the figure includes an estimated 60 who will quit or be dismissed, to be replaced by others.

As of May 13, 485 had applied and sign-up will continue until the end of this week. Not all will be eligible, however.

Lenard said although more have applied in past years than there were jobs available, there appears to be more applying this year, so more will go jobless.

Provided they meet the low income criteria, he told the board, hiring will be done on a priority basis.

First priority will be given to youngsters who have not participated in the SYEP before. Next will be those who participated before, but who have a barrier to employment, either being handicapped or a member of minority. Third priority will be given to those who participated before.

The federal money will provide 370 job slots for 430 workers (including the turnover). However, in the three counties, 141 work sites have requested a total of 514 workers, so many potential positions will be unfilled.

The jobs include building maintenance, grounds keepers, office and library clerks, and painters.

There is the possibility that more summer jobs will be available if the legislature approves Gov. Blanchard's proposed summer jobs program, to be funded with $12 million taken from the Recreational Land Trust Fund. The money will provide about 7,000 jobs statewide.

The Senate approved the measure last Thursday, sending it on to the House of Representatives.

Lenard said after the meeting he has tried to learn details of the program, such as who will be running it, from the Michigan Department of Labor, but no one there had any details yet when he contacted them.

THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR brought the board up to date on the new federal Jobs Training Partnership Act (JTPA), which replaces the present Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program as of Oct. 1.

Although Gov. Blanchard has accepted the recommendation of the Michigan Job Training Coordinating Council that Huron, Tuscola, Lapeer, St. Clair and Sanilac Counties be one service delivery area, that may change.

After his acceptance, there was a two-week period for public comment which ended May 12, after which the service areas were supposed to be made official. As of last Thursday, that hadn't been done yet.

Rumor has it, Lenard reported, that the Congressman who represents most of Macomb and St. Clair Counties, Dav Bonior, is applying pressure to have those two counties designated as a separate service area.

Under the proposed plan accepted by the governor, Macomb, which has more than the minimum 200,000 population, is slated to be a one-county service area.

Be it four counties or five, the steering committee that will set up the Thumb area JTPA program is supposed to meet Tuesday, May 31, at the consortium office in Cass City. It is supposed to have a plan ready by Aug. 31 on how the JTPA will be operated.

LENARD REPORTED one potential problem with the termination of the consortium because of the end of the CETA program.

The consortium has set aside $62,000 in federal funds to pay the unemployment compensation for its employees.

Ten of the 14 consortium employees will be out of work by Sept. 30 and the remaining four will stay no longer than March 31, 1984. The final four will handle close-out and storage of records, disposition of property, etc.

However, according to the auditor examining the consortium's records, Lenard said, a reserve account can't be established during a close-out period.

The auditor is seeking a ruling from his bosses, but if true, that means Huron County as sponsor county for the consortium will have to pay the unemployment compensation and then seek reimbursement from the federal government.

370 Fed funded summer jobs still short of need in area

Pedaling Around

Simple pleasures

By Mike Ellasohn

A few years ago, I talked on the telephone to a woman in Cass City who raised purebred cats.

I asked her if she would let me interview her for a story. She declined, saying many persons who would read the article would think she was a bit strange.

Many persons apparently feel there is nothing wrong about raising and loving dogs, but think those who have the same feelings about cats have a few screws loose.

I think many members of the public feel the same about persons who pursue hobbies that are normally an activity for children. That attitude certainly existed about bicycling at one time. Bicycles were okay for kids, but once one reached senior high school age, he or she wouldn't be caught dead on a two-wheeler.

That attitude has changed for the most part. Although probably most bicycle riders still are kids, cycling is also an activity enjoyed by hundreds of thousands of adults.

Saturday was my annual ordeal of getting up at 5 a.m. so I could drive to Detroit to take part in the annual Belle Isle marathon, or as it is officially known, the Wolverine 200.

The usually cited figure is about 5,000 participants (probably 90 percent adults), some of whom ride one five-mile lap and some of whom ride for 24 hours. (For the record, I rode 40 miles on my newly built bicycle, which I rode for the first time last Wednesday night, starting at five minutes before midnight.)

The bad part of the day was the wind. Somehow, riding the leg of the course with the wind behind you doesn't make up for the leg with the wind against you.

The only good wind to a bicycle rider is no wind, unless one is only going in one direction, with the wind behind him.

But to kite flyers, the only good days are windy ones.

When I was a kid, it seemed like most kids flew kites at one stage in their lives. Maybe I haven't been looking, but it seems like there aren't many kite flyers these days. Maybe they're too busy playing video games. Too bad.

I never got beyond the beginner stage, which was a diamond shaped kite. "Advanced" in my day was a box kite.

At Belle Isle Saturday were a kite and a kite flyer who put diamond and box kites and those who fly them to shame.

His kite consisted of about 8-10 small diamonds, one behind another, with a different color streamer hanging from each kite.

I rode by close enough to see the kites were controlled by two strings, one leading to each hand. And what control. The flyer -- "pilot" is a more apt term -- could dive the kites to within a foot or two of the ground, then they would zoom 50 or 100 feet in the air.

Sometimes he flew the kites out over the Detroit River. He would dive them until the streamers would just skim the surface of the water, then they would climb back into the sky.

The flyer was an adult. Probably he gets laughed at when he tells his friends and co-workers his hobby is flying kites.

Because of the wind, the water in the boat pond at Belle Isle was too rough for anything except fishing. On calm days, it is often used for model boats.

Models of any kind -- boats, airplanes, cars, trains -- are another hobby that kids are supposed to outgrow.

Part of the appeal of model building, be they stationary models or ones with some type of propulsion system, is fantasy, be it by adults or children.

Most persons will never be rich enough to own a big cabin cruiser or brave enough to pilot a hydroplane like the late Bill Muncy. Or pilot a racing car like Rick Mears or fly an airplane.

But with models, one can "share the fantasy," to quote a line from a current television commercial, as well as having the satisfaction of, "I built it myself."

Meet the candidates June 2

The public will have an opportunity Thursday, June 2, to hear and question the candidates running for the Cass City School Board.

The meeting will start at 7 p.m. in the speech room near the front entrance of the high school. It is being sponsored by the advisory committee to the school board and the Cass City Education Association (CCEA).

Candidates running for the school board are Dr. Edward Scollon, DVM, the lone incumbent, Louis Horner and Louie Salas, all of Cass City; Louis Wrona, Deford, and Fred Matthews, Deford. Two will be elected.

All candidates have been sent letters asking them to respond during the program to four questions, plus present an opening statement.

The questions are what they feel are the strongest and weakest points of the Cass City School system; if elected, the main goals and priorities they will work towards; how do they view the financial situation, and if program cuts become necessary, in what areas should the cuts be made, including their attitudes toward busing and possibly closing the Deford or Evergreen Elementary Schools.

Members of the audience who wish to ask questions will be asked to put them in writing. The candidates will then be asked the question by one of the moderators.

The moderators are scheduled to be teacher Lyle Clarke of the CCEA and Roger Root of the advisory committee.

Memorial Day parade, service set

The annual Memorial Day parade in Cass City will take place rain or shine starting at 10 a.m. Monday, followed by the service in the Elkland Township Cemetery.

Lineup for the parade will be on Church Street, near West Street.

Participants will parade down Main Street to the cemetery east of town.

Some of the participants were still tentative as of Monday, according to parade chairman Mike Weaver, but in past years have included the Cass City High School band, which definitely will be there. Scouts, Little League boys and girls, Elkland Township Fire Department trucks, horses and antique cars.

Anyone who would like to participate -- bicycle riders, owners of unusual vehicles, horse owners, etc. -- is asked to contact Weaver at Coach Light Pharmacy before the parade.

Cubmaster Bill Sattelberg is asking all Cub Scouts who will march to assemble behind McMahon Auto Supply.

Jack Esau, chairman for the 24th year of the service to commemorate veterans and the war dead, is asking veterans who don't wish to participate in the parade to assemble at the cemetery at 10:30. Chairs are being set aside for them.

Veterans are asked to wear their uniforms, if possible.

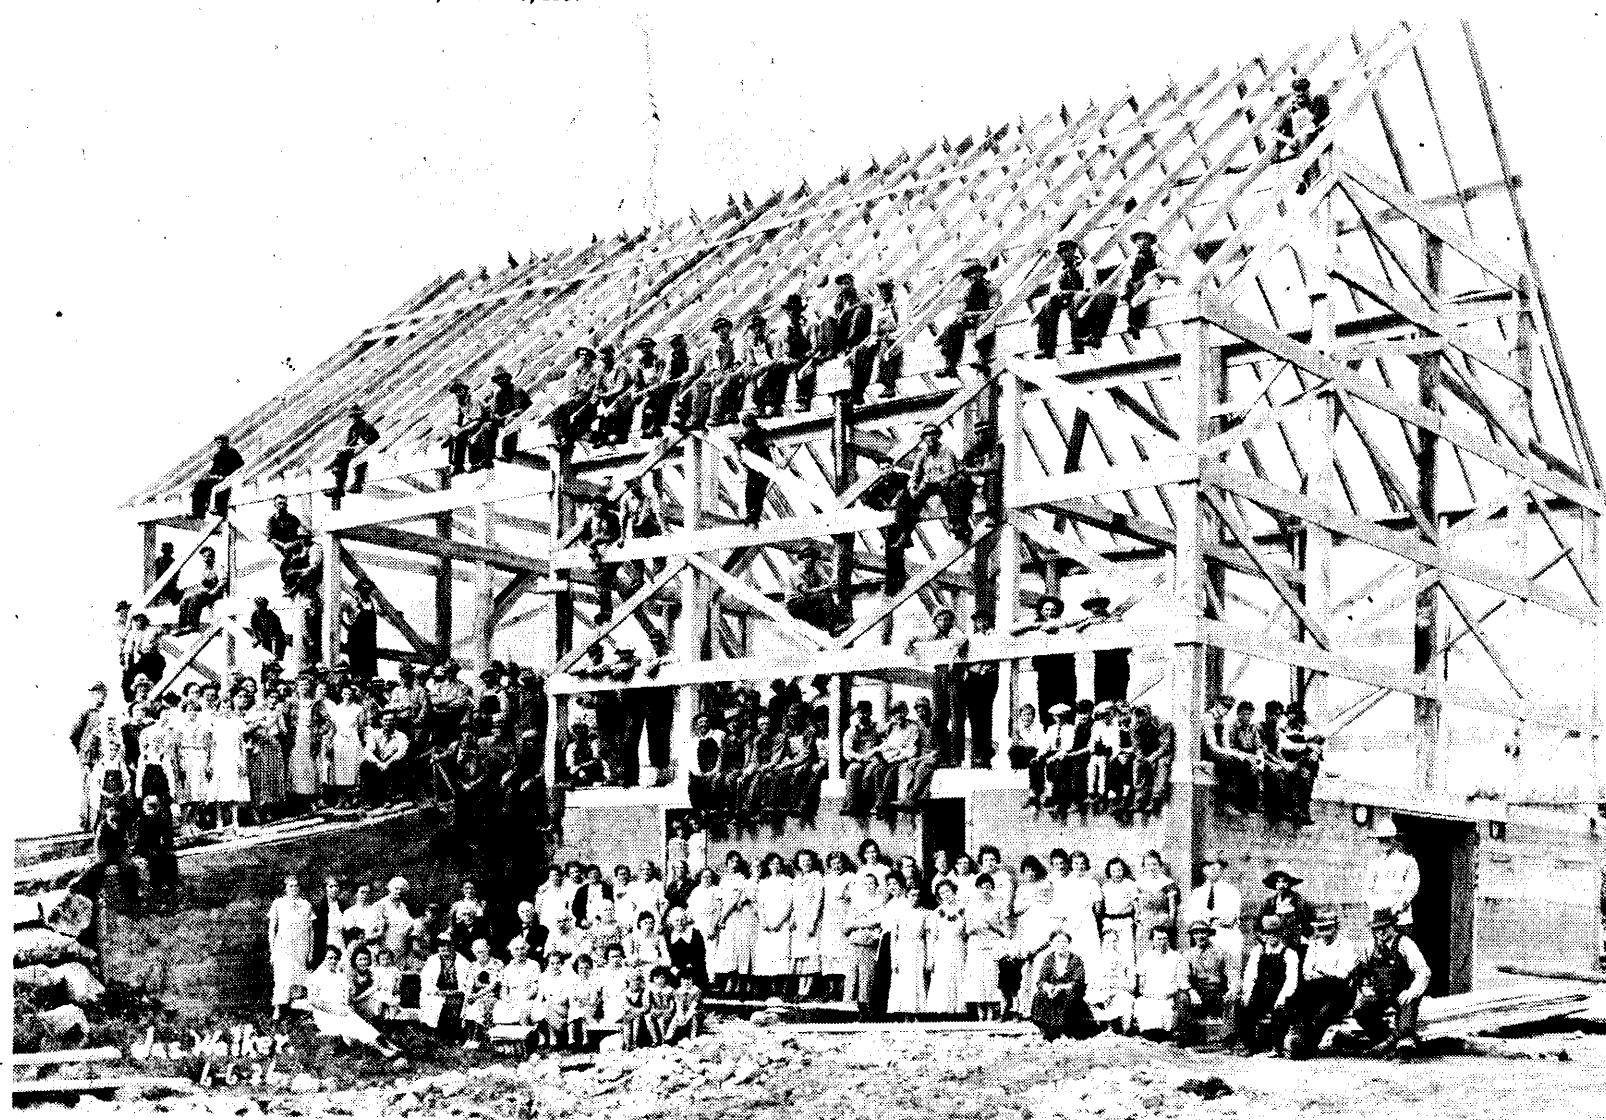

Speaker will be Rev. Edward Francis of the Mizpah Missionary Church. The high school band and a firing squad will be among the participants.

Methodist meeting draws 70

Seventy women attended a meeting of the United Methodist Women Monday evening in Salem United Methodist Church, including guests from Trinity and Shabbona Methodist Churches.

An hors d'oeuvres meal was served at 6:30, followed by a short business meeting.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Olive Horning of Fenton, who impersonated Corrie ten Boom, a native of the Netherlands, who died April 15 in California.

BARN RAISING was a community affair, with the men doing the construction and the women keeping the men well fed. This was the barn of James Walker on Barrie Road, four miles west of Uby and a half-mile south. It was constructed in June, 1936, to replace one that burned. The farm is now owned by Dave Sweeney and the barn, with some additions, is still standing. Photo is owned by Irene Shagena of Barrie Road.

Marijuana charges dismissed

Two persons charged with use of marijuana May 4 of last year in Cass City had the charge against them dismissed Monday by Tuscola County District Judge Richard F. Kern.

They were Arthur L. Zimmerman, 18, of 7513 Gilbert Road, Cass City, and Lisa G. Grice, 18, of 5955 Bruce Street, Deford.

Both pleaded guilty to the charge June 8, after which sentencing was delayed.

The charges against them were dismissed because they complied with the provisions of their probation during the past year.

John A. Johnson, 18, of 4992 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, was also charged with use of marijuana May 4, 1982, in Cass City. He pleaded guilty to the charge Oct. 8.

Monday, he was assessed $100 court costs and is to take alcohol education if necessary.

On a charge of larceny under $100, of stealing soft drink and beer bottles May 25, 1982, in Cass City, Kern fined him $100 Monday. He pleaded guilty to the charge last June 1.

On a charge of malicious destruction of property under $100, Johnson was ordered to pay $20 restitution to the Cass City schools for damage done to a bus seat cushion May 14, 1982.

He pleaded guilty to the charge July 1 of last year, after which sentencing was delayed.

In other district court cases Monday, John Bulla, 58, of 6777 Kelly Road, Cass City, was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail for impaired driving Dec. 27 in Elkland Township. A jury found him guilty of the charge May 4.

Bulla was also placed on one year's probation, is to attend alcoholism sessions, was fined $225 and assessed $225 court costs.

Charrie Lou Miller (Lesoski), 24, of 5820 Severance Road, Deford, pleaded guilty to driving with license suspended May 10 in Almer Township.

Her plea was accepted and she was fined $47 and assessed $53 court costs.

BUILDING SMALL BARNS, SHEDS & SHELTERS by Monte Burch (non-fiction). This selection gives the plans and how-to-build instructions for home and small farm projects such as multi-purpose barn, woodshed, carport, small animal housing, tool shed, two-stall horse barn, etc. It includes basic construction guidelines on selecting the right tools and materials; fittings; foundations; floors; wall framing; roof framing; installing sheathing and roofing; windows, doors; finishing details, and wiring and plumbing.

STARVING FOR ATTENTION by Cherry Boone O'Neill (non-fiction). O'Neill, eldest daughter of entertainers Pat and Shirley Boone, tells of her near-fatal struggle with an all-too-common illness — anorexia nervosa — which began in her teens and continued through her 20s. By her own admission, she is a perfectionist (a common trait of anorexics). During the height of her condition, she was exercising up to six hours a day and either starving herself or bingeing, then using laxatives and ultimately throwing up. In trying to find reason for her behavior, she alludes to family problems, but the squeaky-clean Boone image remains intact.

THE CURVED TWO PATCH SYSTEM by Joyce Schlottzauer (non-fiction). Just two pattern pieces are required to make any design in the book, with the gentle curved seam far easier to master than the classic Drunkard's Path that frightens some quilters. The diagrams are complete and clear, and a grid overlay is included to assist in determining where seams divide the blocks. Joyce even gives applique enthusiasts a bonus chapter on how to adapt the designs for their favorite technique. While this design style might not be best for the first-time quilter, the techniques are described clearly. You'll be tempted to put the book down and try a few patches immediately.

Three employees of Walbro Corp. completed Unit II of Wittenberg University's Management Development Program Friday.

They were Jim Burleson, 6662 Seed Street, Cass City, toolroom supervisor, and Dennis and Vicky Nye, 3125 Hartsell Road, Owendale, packing and shipping supervisor and quality control supervisor, respectively.

The five-day on-campus series is designed to strengthen the management competency of supervisors and to provide them with useful insights into management functions.

The series concentrates in four areas — management methods, organizational behavior, communications and economics.

Wittenberg University is located in Springfield, Ohio.

honors list

Saginaw Valley State College has recognized five local students for exceptional academic performance during the 1983 winter semester.

Wayne Schram, 6374 Garfield, Cass City, and James Koch, 4806 Risky Road, Gagetown, were two of 270 students named to the dean's list.

To qualify, students must earn a grade point average between 3.40 and 3.99, out of a possible 4.0, while enrolled in at least 12 credit hours.

Three others were named to the president's list for maintaining a perfect 4.0 grade point average for 12 or more credit hours.

They were Clarajean Clarke, 3475 Cemetery Road, and Lawrence Skiles, 6559 DeLong Road, both of Cass City, and Janet Roberts, 1970 Main Street, Ubyly.

Gov. James Blanchard has declared May as "Girlstown Month."

His declaration was the first in a series of events marking 1983 as Girlstown's 25th year of providing services to adolescent girls in Michigan.

Established by the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs in 1958, Girlstown is a child care and treatment facility in Belleville for girls who have been removed from their homes by the courts.

The Gagetown Woman's Study Club has contributed to the support of Girlstown during the licensed foster care facility's quarter century of existence.

HEALTH TIPS

Marijuana smoking harmful to health

Some young Americans are smoking a dangerous combination: marijuana and tobacco, warns Rex Archer, M.D., chairman of the American Lung Association of Michigan's Smoking or Health Committee.

Those who smoke them both may be running an even higher risk of lung cancer than smoking either individually, he said.

In a 1980 survey of an 18-25 age group, 35.4 percent smoked marijuana; 42.6 percent smoked tobacco.

Donald P. Tashkin, M.D., of Los Angeles said that marijuana smoke contains not only the same respiratory irritants that are found in tobacco but also delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), which is the principal active ingredient in marijuana responsible for the "high," at least 60 other THC-related compounds not found in tobacco and 50 percent more cancer-producing hydrocarbons than are found in tobacco smoke.

"It's reasonable to think that marijuana smoke is more irritating to respiratory tissues than tobacco, which is a known cause of lung cancer," he commented. "The combination of deeply inhaled marijuana smoke and tobacco smoke has been found particularly to provoke microscopic changes including abnormalities that are associated with the development of lung cancer and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease.

Tashkin said that a recent study of people who smoke hashish (a potent form of marijuana) and tobacco as well had shown much greater changes in the trachea from irritants than had been seen among users of either hashish or tobacco alone.

"A recent Hawaiian study showed that very young people — under the age of 10 — are experimenting with marijuana, he continued.

The doctor noted that there is more experimentation with marijuana among young people, but regular use has declined. "I think we are getting the message to young people that there are health hazards in marijuana."

Damages sought in home fall

Gloria Ouvry of Cass City is defendant in a lawsuit filed in Tuscola County Circuit Court by a woman who claims she was accidentally injured in the Ouvry home.

Plaintiff is Emma Nichols of Decker. The suit claims that while a guest in the Ouvry home Nov. 4, 1982, "while walking into a sunken living room... the plaintiff was caused to trip and fall as a result of the presence of a step not readily visible."

It says Mrs. Nichols suffered a "bi-malleolar fracture of the right ankle" and as a result spent money for treatment and suffered loss of earnings.

The suit, claiming Mrs. Ouvry failed to use "reasonable care and caution in preventing... unreasonable risk of harm," seeks damages of more than $10,000, together with interest, costs and attorney fees.

Tuscola road board mulls $3.5 million project

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday was presented with a proposed $3.5 million program for resurfacing or other improvements on 113.57 miles of county primary roads.

County Road Commission Engineer Robert Wellington explained the Road Commission board hasn't decided whether to proceed with the program, which will require borrowing money through the state Department of Transportation's transportation bonding program.

It is anticipated the state will be able to borrow the money, a total of $100 million, at 9 percent interest. $60 million of the total is being made available to cities, villages and county road commissions.

If the road board decides to proceed, it must apply by June 6.

Among roads proposed for resurfacing are: Bay City-Forestville from east village limits of Unionville east to Hurds Corner Road (8 1/4 miles) and between Dodge and Cemetery Roads, (3 miles); Colwood Road between Tomlinson and Huron Line Roads (10 miles); Akron Road between Colwood Road and M-81 (2 1/2 miles); McEldowney between Bay City-Forestville and Huron Line (one mile); Cemetery between Bay City-Forestville and Huron Line; Decker-ville between M-81 and Kingston Road (9 miles), and Kingston Road between Decker-ville and north village limits of Kingston (6 1/2 miles).

Zoning variance denied

Genovese's variance is causing undue hardship on them.

Genovese had stated that the zoning ordinance was causing undue hardship on him and his wife.

Albee also pointed out that several residents had recently built houses in the community that faced the same situation, regardless of the fact that the Genovese home was built in 1956, four years before Cass City adopted its present zoning ordinance.

"If we grant a variance," asserted Village President Bert Althaver, "we are opening the door for additional variances."

The Genoveses said they had hired an architect to determine if another suitable way of building a two-car garage existed.

None was found.

They added construction of a detached two-car garage or having one built behind the house with a long drive leading to it would be unsightly and unacceptable.

The couple had tried to purchase the vacant lot next door, owned by Warren Wood of 6359 Church Street, but the property was not for sale.

county board gave Drain Commissioner Stanley Henry permission to borrow money, backed by the county's full faith and credit, to pay for the Northwest Drain project in the Quanicassae area.

The money, which can probably be borrowed at 8 percent, will be used to pay contractors.

The alternative would require the contractors to borrow the money, who would have to pay higher interest, and then repay the contractors over time from the special assessment.

The alternative approved by the board should save an estimated $28,000.

Commissioners renewed their contract with Leslie McDonald to provide janitorial services for the county for one year at $4 an hour.

Commissioner Ken Kennedy of Millington informed his fellow commissioners he does not wish to be reappointed to the county Board of Health when his term expires June 3. He presently is chairman of the health board.

Brian Tedford charged in traffic death

Brian K. Tedford was arraigned in Tuscola County District Court Monday on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with the May 1 traffic death of Keith Cotter at Mayville.

Tedford, 18, of 7291 Fostoria Road, Mayville, is charged with having driven at an "immoderate rate of speed" or in a careless, reckless or negligent manner, which resulted in his pickup crossing the centerline and colliding with the auto driven by Cotter, 55, of Marlette.

The fatal accident took place on M-24 on the edge of Mayville.

Judge Richard F. Kern scheduled a pre-preliminary examination May 31 and a preliminary examination June 8.

Tedford was released on $5,000 surety bond.

If convicted of negligent homicide, he faces a possible maximum penalty of two years in prison and/or $2,000 fine.

Teacher Leola Retherford retiring

WHEN ONE TEACHES 36 years, one's students later become the parents of one's students. Had she taught in one school long enough, she figures she would be teaching some grandchildren of students.

One of Mrs. Retherford's former students is Linda Gray, who teaches fourth grade in the classroom next door. She was Linda Hicks when Mrs. Retherford taught her in third and eighth grade at the Deford School.

Another was Gumecindo Salas, now president of the state Board of Education and an administrator at Michigan State University. She taught him at least four years at Crawford School. She remembers him as a very happy kid, but added that his five sisters that she also taught, were also that way, as well as all being good workers.

Salas will be the guest speaker at a dinner Saturday at the Charmont given by the Cass City Education Association to honor Mrs. Retherford on her retirement.

Her husband, children and grandchildren, plus her sister, Reta McQuarrie of Marlette, will be there.

ONCE SHE RETIRES Mrs. Retherford plans to do some crocheting, reading and traveling with her husband, who retired three years ago from Marlette Homes. "I won't be correcting papers every day. That will be different," she said.

"I have very mixed feelings about it," she said of her approaching retirement. "I want to be free to do some things with my husband, but I love these kids."

Her last day with her students will be June 9 and her last day in school, June 10.

"I'll miss the kids here and I'll miss the teachers. All the staff here. They're great. I'll really miss them."

Lawsuit filed for dog bite

A lawsuit has been filed against a Kingston couple by the parents of a boy whom they claim was bitten by the defendants' dog.

Plaintiffs in the suit filed last Wednesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court are Eileen and David Smith, address not given, parents of Gregory Smith, a minor.

Defendants are John and Bonnie Lowe.

The suit claims that on July 20, 1982, Gregory Smith was lawfully on the Lowe premises, 2075 Phillips Road, and was attacked and bitten by the Lowe's dog, even though the animal was not provoked.

The suit, which claims the boy suffered "serious, grievous and permanent injuries," asks for damages in excess of $10,000.

The word bride, experts say, is derived from an ancient Teutonic word meaning "to cook."

Military doesn't take everybody

ALL FOUR BRANCHES of the service require enlistees to be at least 17-years-old, have a high school diploma and score well on an entrance exam.

The Air Force also looks at a recruit's background.

Since February, the Army recruiting office in Caro has enrolled 32 high school seniors from the Tri-County area. The Navy has signed 33 since October.

The Air Force recruiting office in Saginaw, which covers a 12 1/2-county area including Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac, has averaged about 30 enlistments per month.

The Marine recruiting officer in Caro could not be reached for figures.

Sgt. Darrell Kauffman at the Army office indicated that many seniors choose to enroll in the delayed-entry program. This allows them to sign up and then have up to one year before they must report for active duty.

By taking this action, an enlistee can sidestep any entry delay after graduation.

Coffee said the reason many recruits join is for the "job security" the Navy offers, plus the fact that they can learn a technical skill while being paid.

He claims their futures are easy sailing once they serve their enlistment period should they choose not to reenlist.

"A large percentage are skilled when they finish," he added, "and they have no problem finding a civilian job when they are done."

THE OPTION OF attending college is also a feature that attracts many students. The government will pay for 75 percent of the education costs of any nationally accredited institution, according to Arnold.

"Electronics and computers are very popular fields," he mentioned. "This is due to the highly publicized trend in industry."

Will the number of recruits enlisting continue to increase?

No one knows.

"I expect a lot more to enlist by the end of the summer when people find that their financial aid and grants fell through," the Army's Sgt. Fred Taylor stated.

"The economy is definitely going to have an effect," Arnold added. "Right now though it would take a lot of job openings on the market before we would feel it."

Army honors area students

Students from 10 Thumb area high schools, including Owendale-Gagetown and Ubyly, have been chosen to receive the 1983 National Scholar-Athlete Award from the U.S. Army Reserve.

Similar in design to Olympic medals, the award is presented to top achievers in both scholastic endeavors and athletic activities at the high school level all across the country.

Capt. Darrell Erwin of the 5089 Reserve Unit in Saginaw presented medals May 4 to Vicki Alexander and Stan Andrakowicz, seniors at Owen-Gage.

Miss Alexander was the class salutatorian with a grade average of 3.6 and a member of the National Honor Society. A band participant, she also lettered in basketball, volleyball and softball. She plans to attend Central Michigan University.

Andrakowicz was selected for several football honors during his high school years including first team all-conference, second team area dream team all-conference, honorable mention all-state quarterback and honorable mention dream team. He was also honorable mention for basketball.

Andrakowicz also lettered in track and baseball. Carrying a 3.4 grade average he ranked eighth in his class, a member of the National Honor Society and plans to attend Michigan State University.

Charles Wright, a senior, and Judy Ruthko, a junior at Ubyly High School, received their medals from Lt. Col. Gary Nehamer during a special award assembly May 16.

Miss Ruthko was selected for all-conference basketball, volleyball and softball teams. Carrying a 3.85 grade average, she is fourth in her class and a member of the National Honor Society.

Wright was all-conference in football and also lettered in basketball and baseball.

A member of the National Honor Society, he is in the top 20 percent of his class with a 3.30 grade average. He plans to attend CMU.

Melissa Harmon returns

Cass City student enjoys Philippine visit

MELISSA HARMON wears a dress her second host family had made for her. On the couch behind her is a woven "banig," used in the Philippines on the floor or as a wall hanging. The sign at left was given to her by the Rotarians and Rotary Anns when she left. The one at right, bearing many signatures, is from a farewell party given by her last host family.

"To see new experiences and different places" was the reason Melissa Harmon spent a year in the Philippines.

Different it was, for she found it was a country where the temperature averages more than 100 degrees, where citizens who can afford it live in homes behind walls to protect them from terrorists and where dog meat is sometimes eaten as a delicacy.

Miss Harmon, 17, is the daughter of Wendell and Karen Harmon of Leslie Road, Decker. She will be a senior at Cass City High School this fall.

The Rotary Exchange student departed for the Philippines June 26 of last year.

She was supposed to return June 3, but because of an epidemic caused by bacteria in the water -- many persons were dying, she said -- she chose to come home in late April.

Melissa chose to go to the Philippines after becoming acquainted with two Filipino women married to Air Force men serving at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base in the Upper Peninsula, where her sister, Angel, lives with her husband, Bill Ouvre, who is also in the Air Force. "We had friends from the Philippines and I liked the food," she explained.

The Republic of the Philippines consists of more than 7,000 islands on the western end of the Pacific Ocean.

Melissa lived in Ozamiz City on the island of Mindanao, which is the southernmost major island.

Ozamiz City has about 65,000 residents squeezed into an area about the size of Cass City, she said. Everyone is either rich or poor. There is no middle class.

ENGLISH AND TAGALOG are taught in the schools. In addition to those two languages, there are more than 100 dialects spoken in the Philippines, so most persons know the two major languages plus the local dialect and many know more than that.

Miss Harmon learned enough of two dialects so that she could understand them, but most communicating between her and her hosts was done in English.

Ozamiz City is located on the sea and the poor live in "more like a hut, made of bamboo they rebuild every year."

Mindanao is the hotbed of the rebels. For that reason, supposedly, it is the most dangerous region and almost everywhere Melissa went, there were armed guards.

The homes of the wealthy have walls around them for protection against the rebels. One home she lived in had a wall around it 8-9 feet tall with broken glass on top.

The rebels didn't usually try to go over the walls, one reason being the soldiers would shoot them.

"You usually don't go out at night," Miss Harmon said, because doing so increases the chances of being killed by the rebels.

Another reason for not going out at night was because the lights might not be on. Water power is the main means of generating electricity, but because of a drought, electricity was turned on and off according to a schedule.

FIVE WEEKS AFTER SHE arrived, her "host brother" of the family she was staying with departed for Pigeon as a Rotary exchange student. He has been attending Laker High School.

Her first host father was an engineer, who was attending law school at night. He and his wife had three children.

Her second host family included six children. The father owned a gas station. Her final host parents had 12 children, most of whom were grown and had moved away, eight servants, plus chauffeurs. The father was president of Shell Oil in northern Mindanao.

All three homes Miss Harmon lived in had walls around them.

HER FIRST SEMESTER, she attended the high school department at Immaculate Conception College, a Catholic private school.

She studied social studies, religion, English and math -- all taught in English -- and was exempted from Tagalog and military training.

In classes, the boys sat on one side of the room and the girls on the other. Uniforms were worn. All the teachers were lay persons except for the nun who taught religion.

Students graduate from high school at about age 16, so the second semester, she attended Misamis University, which is a private college.

She only took two history classes "because second semester, I was traveling a lot."

She visited a few places on Mindanao, but mainly traveled by boat to the other islands, including a three-day boat ride to the capital city of Manila on their northernmost island of Luzon. She spent a week in the city.

According to Miss Harmon, the normal temperature where she was was 120 degrees and very humid. "At first, I got sick, but I got used to it."

Filipinos usually nap from noon-3, which is the hottest part of the day.

The rainy season is from June to November and it rained so hard, the streets were sometimes flooded.

ALTHOUGH THE PHILIPPINES is quite different from the United States, Miss Harmon said she didn't suffer from culture shock "because they're very Americanized."

Although a lot of American food -- spaghetti, hamburgers, hot dogs and pizza -- is eaten there, the everyday meal is fish and rice. Food isn't stored in the homes, so is purchased daily.

Some of the Filipino food isn't usually found on American tables, for instance, squid, which is served dried, fried and every way you can cook it. "It's okay," Melissa said. "It's like burned onions. It smells terrible when they cook it."

As for dog, she had "just three bites." Dogs that are eaten are raised for the purpose and their meat is considered a delicacy.

A favorite at parties is roasted pig filled with spices. The favorite part is its crunchy skin.

Miss Harmon is looking forward to returning to the Philippines. "I want to go back some day. It was really nice. I enjoyed it."

"The people are known for their hospitality and you can tell it in the people."

Reduced state corn and bean crops expected

The April intentions report shows Michigan farmers are planning to dramatically reduce corn and dry bean acreage in 1983.

The reduction in corn acreage can be largely attributed to growers participating in the USDA acreage reduction and payment-in-kind (PIK) programs.

Michigan corn producers intend to plant 2.1 million acres, down 33 percent from last year. Dry bean acreage is estimated at 360,000 acres, a reduction of 36 percent from last season.

Soybean intentions at one million acres are off 5 percent from a year ago. Oat seedings are expected to total 360,000 acres, a 24 percent decline from 1982.

Hay, sugarbeets and barley are the only crops indicating acreage increases from last year. Hay acreage is estimated at 1.4 million acres, up 2 percent from 1982. Sugarbeets and barley are forecast at 103,000 acres and 45,000 acres respectively.

Nationally, corn growers intend to plant 58.8 million acres, down 28 percent from last year. Soybean plantings at 65.8 million acres are expected to be down 9 percent from 1982. Dry bean acreage at 1.2 million acres is expected to decline 36 percent.

WELCOMING COMMITTEE -- When Melissa Harmon (at right in center rear) and Canadian Rotary exchange student Catriona Andrews arrived in Ozamiz City, the Philippines, they were greeted by a welcoming committee from the local Rotary Club. Miss Andrews was from Brandon, Manitoba.

Attorney General to meet with EPA about dioxin

Attorney General Kelley recently announced he will meet with federal and state environmental and health officials to develop a specific plan to study the extent of dioxin contamination in Michigan.

Kelley made the announcement following a request by the governor, who said the issue needs a thorough scientific and legal review.

The attorney general said he will meet with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Michigan Environmental Review Board, the Department of Public Health and the Department of Natural Resources.

Kelley said he is considering assembling a state-federal task force modeled after one used in obtaining a settlement with Velsicol Corp. relative to PBB-contaminated sites.

"It is still too early to commit to any one way of doing things. We will make ourselves available to anyone with evidence of dioxin contamination and how it got there," Kelley said.

A Michigan State University study has found dioxin-tainted fish in 10 lower peninsula rivers and the EPA has identified dioxin contamination around Dow Chemical Co. facilities in Midland.

BACK TO SCHOOL -- This wasn't the school Melissa Harmon attended in the Philippines, but it was typical of what they looked like.

ON THE STREET where Melissa Harmon lived, in her second home, the street looked like this when it was dry. When it rained, it was sometimes covered with water. The motorcycle with sidecar at right was one form of public transportation.

Your neighbor says State tax rollback amendment needed

Richard Headlee and former State Senator Jack Welborn, rivals in the 1982 Republican gubernatorial primary, have joined with a group of activists in a campaign to roll back Michigan taxes and give voters more say in future tax increases.

The group is gathering petition signatures to place on the ballot a measure which would roll state and local taxes back to their Dec. 31, 1981, level, and require voter approval for any new ones.

About 304,000 signatures are needed to place the constitutional amendment on the November, 1984, ballot.

If enough signatures are obtained and the measure is approved by voters, it would repeal the 38 percent increase in the state income tax and the 2-cent hike in the state gasoline tax, both of which went into effect this year.

If a signature gatherer comes to Gagetown, count Leo Seuryneck of 5879 Jacob Road as one voter who would add his name to the list.

"I would sign the petition," he said. "I think the amendment should be included (on the ballot)."

Seuryneck feels the Blanchard administration's actions have not always been carried out with the voter's best interests in mind.

Many other Michigan residents share his opinion. Another petition drive is aiming to have the new Democratic governor recalled.

"The legislature is taking too much power," he added. "With this (tax rollback amendment) it sounds like people might have enough."

He hopes the proposal will allow the voter to limit the bureaucracy's "wastefulness."

Seuryneck is a retired farmer who "still drives a tractor" and performs other farm chores. He and his wife, Ila, have six children.

Deputies arrest 49 offenders during April

Tuscola County deputies arrested 49 persons in April, one less than in March.

Of those, 32 were for traffic related offenses, mostly drunk driving, six were for probation violations and five were for larcenies.

Cass City and Kingston police last month each arrested two persons for traffic related offenses.

Of the 15 persons arrested by Caro state police, 13 were charged with traffic offenses.

Detroit Edison franchise votes slated in area

Voters in the villages of Gagetown, Kingston and Owendale, plus six area townships, will go to the polls within the next few months to decide whether they wish to have Detroit Edison continue operating as their electric company.

The utility's regional representative of community affairs, Weston Raven, said elections have been tentatively scheduled in the following communities: Gagetown - July 14, Kingston - July 12 and Owendale - Sept. 13.

Elections are also tentatively set for these townships: Elkland, Sept. 13; Elmwood, Aug. 23, rescheduled from July 12; Bingham and Grant, July 12. Novesta and Kingston Townships will have votes sometime in the early fall.

In the elections, Edison will be seeking renewal of a 30-year franchise which provides legal status for the utility to continue its operations and to use parks and other properties owned by the local government. In turn, the franchises establish rules and regulations set by local governments which regulate Edison's operations.

The Michigan constitution requires that all public utilities have franchises elected by the people of the community in which the company will serve.

According to Raven, the electric company wants a "non-exclusive franchise." This would allow another utility the opportunity to enter Edison's operating area and do business.

Raven added that if the utility's franchise is rejected in an election, the company must notify the Michigan Public Service Commission of its attempt to secure a franchise in the area and explain why the proposal was turned down.

The power company would then continue to service the community under the provisions of the past contract until another election is held.

Around the Farm Insecticide equipment

By William Bortel

Recently I told you about the advantages of buying a general-purpose insecticide for garden insect control.

Today, let's discuss equipment and the techniques of applying insecticides.

General-purpose insecticides come in different formulations. Some are liquid concentrates, some wettable powders, and then there are dust formulations. Therefore, you may need either a sprayer or a duster in order to apply your product.

Like everything else, you generally get what you pay for. That doesn't mean you have to go out and buy the most expensive piece of equipment in the garden store. Just make sure that the sprayer or duster you select is well constructed and made by a reputable company.

When it comes to sprayers, there are four basic kinds commonly used by the home gardener. Hose-end applicators are the ones with jars attached. They connect to your garden hose. When properly calibrated, they are designed to mix the proper amount of insecticide solution with water automatically as you spray.

Then there is the compressed air type. It delivers a steady spray using air pressure supplied by a built-in hand pump.

Another popular sprayer is like the old-fashion "flit-gun." This one you pump continuously as you spray. The "flit-gun" type is only good for small jobs, because the amount of spray solution the tank can hold is limited.

On the other hand, a trombone sprayer is excellent for big jobs and tall trees. It is a pump-type sprayer with a weighted hose that you drop into a container of spray solution.

When applying an insecticide, make sure that you understand and follow the directions and precautions on the product label. Make certain you get good spray coverage, including the undersides of the leaves. Spray in the early morning or in the evening when the temperature is cooler.

For vegetables and fruit, always wait the prescribed number of days between the time you apply an insecticide and the time you harvest. With a general-purpose insecticide like Malathion, these time intervals are relatively short, but be sure to observe them. And store the insecticide in a safe place, away from children and pets.

Probably the most important safety reminder is the most simple. Homeowners should not get involved with extremely toxic insecticides. They are for use by professionals only.

Today's general-purpose insecticides are low in toxicity to humans and animals and will control almost every insect problem faced by the homeowner and gardener.

Fast finish sparks new hope for Hawks in pre-district

Friday, a new season starts for the Cass City Red Hawk softball team. That's when the girls entertain the winner of the Brown City-Ubly game in the pre-district of the state tournament at Cass City Recreational Park.

Coach Jim Fox has high hopes that his team will do well. In the season's play, Fox said that his team was effective against the better teams, but kicked away winning opportunities. The Hawks' record through Monday is 11-7 over-all and 8-6 in the league.

One of the big reasons for the team's success is the pitching of Jill Hutchinson. Monday Hutch pitched both ends of a double header as the Hawks swept Caro, 6-3, and 8-5.

In the opening game Caro was limited to six hits and in the second, seven hits. Cass City put the first game away with five runs on three hits and a walk in the second inning. Jamie Fox tripled with two on to provide the key blow. Jill Root and Hutchinson each went 2 for 3 in Cass City's six-hit attack. Bar Kelsey was the losing pitcher.

Caro jumped off in front 5-3 after four innings in the nightcap. In the fifth Cass City tied it on Dee Hempton's two-out single. In the next inning Fox, Rhonda Fader and Sheri Horner singled and Colleen Irner and Jill Root walked as Cass City scored three times for the win. Hempton led Cass City's 13-hit attack with three hits. Fox and Root each collected two hits.

SANDUSKY GAMES

The Hawks closed the Thumb B Association competition on a high note with four straight wins. Thursday the Hawks defeated Sandusky twice, 7-4, and 13-12.

In the first game Hutchinson allowed just one hit and struck out 11. Sandusky made the most of its opportunities scoring every person that reached base on a walk or by error. Cass City scored 7 runs on 7 hits. Root and Laura Richards led the hit parade with 2 for 3 each and Fox tripled with the bases loaded.

The Hawks were forced into overtime to win the second game. The Redskins jumped off to a 9-5 lead in the first five innings. In the sixth the Hawks put together four hits and two walks to send the game into extra innings.

The Hawks ripped out five hits and two walks in the seventh to score four runs. Sandusky bounced back with three runs on three hits and an error and had the potential tying and winning runs on base when the last out was made.

The Hawks collected 15 hits against LeGault, freshman Redskin hurler. Fox, Root and Hutchinson each collected three hits. One of Hutchinson's hits was a homer.

VASSAR GAMES

The Hawks split with league-leading Vassar Wednesday, May 18. The Hawks won the opening game as Hutchinson pitched a three-hit, 5-3 win. Lisa Benitez, Cass City's leading hitter this season, had a double and triple in two tries. Irner also had two hits and drove in two runs.

Errors were the Hawks downfall in the second game as the Vulcans won, 7-6. The Hawks almost pulled it out in the last inning as they scored three runs and had the potential winning run on base before falling just short of tying or winning.

Lori Calka contributed 5 good innings on the mound. Hempton collected two hits and Benitez collected one hit and was intentionally walked the rest of the game.

In games played against potent Unionville-Sebewaing Area Schools Monday, May 16, the Hawks split. The Hawks won the opener 4-3 as Hutchinson bested Kelly Cramer. The second game was all USA, as the Patriots won going away, 12-5.

CLOSE PLAY - Cass City's catcher Julie Smith is about to receive the throw just a split second too late to prevent a Sandusky runner from scoring in the second game with the Redskins. Cass City was victorious in both ends of the doubleheader Friday.

Hawks face great pitching, lose 3 of 4 in league

Pitching is the name of the game in baseball, especially high school baseball, and the Hawks faced some of the best of the season and as a result lost three of four games.

Friday, May 20, the Hawks lost a pair to Sandusky in Thumb B Association competition. Kreger faced just one man over the minimum in his six innings as he pitched a whitewash win, 6-0, for the Redskins.

The Hawks went down in order in every inning but the third when Barry Lapp ruined the perfect game with a single.

The second game was more of the same. Jacobs wasn't quite as effective as Kreger, but he slammed the door in the face of Cass City until the game was decided. The Redskins won, 7-2. The winners were leading 3-0 after three innings. The tight game was broken in the fifth when Sandusky scored four times to lead 7-0 before Cass City broke the scoring drought with single runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

Rick Pobanz cracked a single and Lapp pounded out a triple to account for all the Hawks hits in the second game.

Wednesday, May 18, against Vassar the Hawks again had trouble scoring in the opening game. The Hawks scored in the first on a walk to Czekai and Joe Langenburg's double.

That was all the hitting support that Pobanz was to get and it wasn't quite enough. The Vulcans scored a run in the third to tie it and another in the fifth to win, 2-1.

Cass City finally scored some runs in the nightcap to top Vassar, 6-4, in the second game of the twin bill. Cass City scored once in the first and added four big counters in the second on three hits and three errors. An insurance run in the third boosted the margin to 6-0 and when Vassar finally broke into the scoring column with two runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth, it was too little, too late and Cass City had its lone victory of the week.

RANDY NICHOLAS was pinned with a loss in Cass City's second game of a doubleheader with Sandusky Friday.

Owen-Gage lost its make up pre-district game Tuesday to league-leading and undefeated Carsonville Port Sanilac, 9-1.

Dan Glidden's five strike-out, four walk pitching performance was not enough as he picked up the loss. Lee Burton earned the win by striking out 11, walking one and giving up only two hits.

"Our downfall was they got five runs in the first inning, all of them unearned," coach Phil Gray said.

Mike Powell and Stan Andrakowicz's singles were the only Bulldog hits.

The Tigers collected nine hits. Owen-Gage's doubleheader with North Huron scheduled for Monday but postponed because of rain will be played Saturday.

PORT HOPE

Owen-Gage took both games of a baseball doubleheader from visiting Port Hope in make-up contests Wednesday, May 18 with 4-1 and 3-2 decisions. In the opener, winning pitcher Dan Glidden gave up six hits and one walk to Blue Star batters while striking out three.

Pat Murphy of Port Hope hit two singles.

Owen-Gage's John Shope (three RBIs on a double and a single) and Gary Erickson (two singles) were the only Bulldogs to manage hits off losing pitcher Dave Bahr.

Bahr went the distance, recording eight strikeouts and giving up four walks.

In the second game, Glidden pitched the last inning in relief after starter Paul Lopez yielded four hits and two walks. Each struck out one.

Glidden also smashed a three-bagger, one of only three hits collected by the Bulldogs.

Hurler Mike Reinke picked up the loss after being relieved by Murphy in the first inning.

Matt Gust and Keith Tinney both had doubles for Port Hope.

PORT HOPE

Owen-Gage and Port Hope split a make-up softball doubleheader last Wednesday.

The visiting Blue Stars took the opener 10-6 behind Holly Pilaske's two-hit pitching, both singles. She recorded seven strikeouts and gave up nine walks.

Sheila Engelhardt picked up the loss despite surrendering only three hits and issuing five walks. She struck out three Port Hope batters.

Iris Gallagher had a pair of singles for Port Hope.

In the second game, in which Engelhardt and Pilaske again went the distance, Owen-Gage was victorious by a score of 9-4.

Engelhardt gave up four hits and three walks and struck out three.

Pilaske yielded six hits and nine walks while also recording three strikeouts.

Leading Bulldog hitter was Carol Zimmer with a single and a double. Karen Goffke hit a single and a triple for Port Hope.

named Female Athlete of the meet.

Landeryou lowered the meet record she had set last year in the 110-yard lows from 15.73 to 15.63. She also ran the 330-yard lows, which were introduced to the meet for the first time, in 49.27.

Cass City's girls' track team established new bests in three events, the 100-yard dash (Tracy Green, 11.65), the two-mile run (Carrie Lautner, 11:54.2), and the mile relay (Tami Stimpfel, Chris Westerby, Gilly Bryant and Michelle Fahrner, 4:15.54).

Green also won the 220-yard dash in 27 seconds flat. Lautner finished first in the mile with her 5:30.87 effort and Fahrner had the furthest toss of 32' 9/4" in the shot put.

Jamie LaRoche's 16'7" leap won the long jump and the Red Hawk 440-yard relay team (Lynn Schmidt, Lori Calka, LaRoche and Green) beat out the rest of the field with a 53.80 time.

Owen-Gage's Dan Glidden had a great day with a second place in the 100-yard dash (.01 off the winning time), a first in the shot put (43' 1") and wins on two-relay teams, which he runs the anchor leg.

The Bulldog team of Stan Andrakowicz, Gary Erickson, Reid Goslin and Glidden won the 440-yard relay in 45.98 and the 880-yard event with a time of 1:54.44.

Andrakowicz also turned in a leap of 6'2" to take the high jump.

Cass City's Mike Mid-daugh won both hurdle races with winning times of 15.60 in the 120-yard highs and 40.97 in the 330-yard lows.

Greg Bliss was a second place finisher in his two specialties, the 1600 and 3200-meter runs, behind defending state two-mile champion Kirk Scharich from USA who was named Male Athlete of the meet.

Pitching paces Croft-Clara to tourney victory

Croft-Clara went undefeated in a nine team double elimination tournament in Muskegon May 14-15. The pitching, hitting and defense all contributed to the four wins. The Cass Cityans defeated Fred's of Benton Harbor, 4-3, in eight innings Saturday morning, May 14.

Craig Helwig threw a two-hit shutout against E.T.V. from Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon. Doug Elbers and Mike Rea each hit a two-run homer in the 4-0 victory.

Sunday morning, Croft-Clara came out on top with a 2-1 decision over Irish Pub of Lansing. Dean Elbers hit a home run in that game.

E.T.V. came back through the loser's bracket to face Croft-Clara in the championship game Sunday afternoon. Croft-Clara won 5-2 behind the hitting of Jerry Toner and Kenny Martin.

Craig Helwig pitched all four games, giving up 17 hits, six runs and striking out 27 batters.

Croft-Clara did not fare so well in its first Thumb Travel League game as Frankenmuth Black Label won, 2-0 Tuesday night, May 17. Its second league game was rained out.

The Cass Cityans will play in Frankenmuth this week end in a 10-team round robin tournament. Game times are 6:30 p.m. Friday, Peppermint Lounge of Flint; Saturday, 1 p.m., Al's of Midland and 9:30 p.m., Pauley Insurance of Waterford, and Sunday, 6:30 p.m., Wolverine Supply of Ann Arbor.

The playoff games will be played Monday starting at 11 a.m., with the championship game at 3 p.m.

Croft-Clara traveled to Corunna last Thursday for a double header with Mitchell Corp.

The Cass Cityans won the first game with a home run by Doug Elbers on the first

O-G 2nd in Thumb D league meet

Coach Dick Glidden's Bulldogs finished their 1983 North Central Thumb D season at the league meet in Akron, May 17.

Boys' first-place wins were recorded by Frank Abfalter in the 880-yard run (2:06.5) and mile (4:44.7), Dan Glidden in the shot put (43' 6 3/4") and 100-yard dash (10.5) and the 440 and 880-yard relay teams of Gary Erickson, Stan Andrakowicz, Jason Reinhardt and Dan Glidden.

The boys finished second to host Akron-Fairgrove with 86 points. The girls finished seventh with one point.

For the season, the boys had a 5-3 record good for second place in the league standings.

"(First place) Akron-Fairgrove was too strong," Glidden said, "but we finished better than I had expected." He had predicted his team would finish third in the league.

The boys were sixth out of a field of 19 at the Central Michigan Relays and ninth of 17 teams at the Saginaw Valley State College Relays.

The girls' team consisted of only eight members with but one senior. They could not overcome their lack of depth and inexperience to record a win and escape the league cellar.

"We had more girls than last year (when only two girls made up the team)," he added. "They tried hard and never quit. Who knows, if we get more freshmen next year, we might start a trend and do a lot better."

Junior Frank Abfalter led the boys with 114 season points. Versatile Dan Glidden scored 85 1/2 points and Stan Andrakowicz accumulated 35.

Abfalter was the only Bulldog trackster to qualify for the state Class D meet this Saturday in Traverse City.

He earned a bid with a time of 4:33 in the mile at the state regionals in Caro Saturday.

pitch of the game. That stood up as Craig Helwig shut them out, striking out nine batters and giving up six hits.

Croft-Clara lost the second game, 1-0, on a hit, sacrifice and single in the first inning by Mitchell. Ken Martin allowed only one other hit the rest of the way, striking out five batters. Al Hector pitched both games for Mitchell.

Charmont captures tourney

Charmont took first place in an eight-team field at the Cass City Gun Club slow-pitch softball tournament last week end.

The only Cass City entry won all four of its games behind Ron Englehardt's hitting and Randy Adlam's pitching.

Englehardt was voted most valuable player of the tournament for his 12 for 14 batting performance which included five home runs.

Charmont bested Kingston AC by a score of 10-6 in the first game of the two-day, double elimination tourney and took the second game 12-4 from Jason Jeledopy of Pontiac, with Englehardt smashing three home runs and Dennis Dunkel collecting four singles.

In its third game, Charmont bested Gene and Bob's Trucking of Bay City, 9-3.

Adlam led the Cass City team to its 11-3 championship game victory over Budweiser of Bad Axe with his third win.

GIRL ATHLETE of the meet Carrie Lautner crosses the finish line with a record winning time of 11:37.57 in the 3200-meter run at the May 17 league meet in Caro.

Hawk girls roll to league title

Cass City head track coach Doug Grezeszak had nothing but praise for his thinclads after their Thumb B Association league meet in Caro Tuesday, May 17. "We ran our hearts out," he exclaimed. "I was very pleased with the effort. They did the best they could and I'm really happy."

In the girls' division, the talent-laden Red Hawks scored 156 points, more than double the total of runner-up Sandusky, and placed in all but two of the 15 events.

Carrie Lautner was voted "girl athlete of the meet" by the eight coaches for her record-time victories in the 1600 and 3200 meter runs.

Tami Stimpfel, Tracy Green, Jamie LaRoche and Gillie Bryant joined efforts to set a new meet record in the 800 meter relay.

Sprinter Green also established a new mark in her specialty, the 100 meter dash.

Grezeszak conceded, "We're very strong in the girls' competition" and attributed much of the victory to the team's depth in almost every event.

The Hawks placed two or more girls in the 100 meter dash, long jump, 400 meter dash, 800 meter run and 3200 meter race.

Junior distance star Greg Bliss led the boys to their respectable second place finish behind an experienced squad from Marlette. He captured the Hawks' only first place finishes, in the 800 and 1600 meter events, despite allergies and a bad cold.

"Marlette just overpowered us," Grezeszak said. "We're young and they (Marlette) are graduating everyone this year."

Cass City has only three seniors and three juniors. Final results are as follows:

Cass City, 156; Sandusky, 74; Marlette, 51; Laker, 50; Caro, 48 1/3; Bad Axe, 43; Vassar, 28 1/3; North Branch, 14 1/3.

12 teams set for week-end tournament at Cass City park

Twelve teams are scheduled to participate in a fast-pitch softball tournament this week end in the Cass City Recreation Park.

Proceeds from sale of concessions, plus donations, according to tournament organizer Jim Turner will go into a fund to be used to raise the fences along the foul lines and the backstops to protect spectators from foul and overthrown balls. A total of $4,600 is needed. Helping Turner are Roy Hull and Ed Stoutenburg of the McMahan Auto Supply Team. Helping at the tournament will be the members of that team, and the Charmont and Thumb National Bank teams.

Teams slated to take part in the tournament are those three, plus Marlette Area Softball Hitters, Liberty Lanes and McGraw-Edison, both of Sandusky, Frankenmuth Merchants, The Businessmen from Adrian, Letavis Car Wash of Flint, Genesee Realtors also of Flint, Bob and Nancy's of Birch Run and Reese IGA.

The first game Friday will start at 7 p.m. Action in the round robin tournament starts Saturday and Sunday at 9 a.m. The championship game should start about 3 p.m.

In case of rain, the tournament will continue until Monday if necessary.

10 qualify for state track meet Saturday

Based on outstanding performances in 12 events at Saturday's regional meet in Caro, the Cass City High School track team will send nine girls and one boy to the class C state meet.

Going to next Saturday's final state competition in Bangor will be Tracy Green, Jamie LaRoche, Lynn Schmidt, Lori Calka, Tammy Stimpfel, Michelle Fahrner, Chris Westerby, Gilly Bryant and Carrie Lautner for the girls' squad.

The girls scored 88 points to easily outdistance the other 15 teams with representatives at the meet.

As she has all season, Lautner finished first in the 1600 and 3200-meter runs with times of 5:15.03 and 11:25.45 respectively.

LaRoche drew the other victory in the long jump with a leap of 17' 2 3/4", which drew praise from Coach Doug Grezeszak.

"The long jumpers

(Calka placed third with a jump of 16'5") were fantastic," he said.

Green earned the right to race in the state 100-meter dash with her second-place time of 12.7, as did Stimpfel's second place finish of 1:01.25 in the 400-meter dash.

The 1600-meter relay team (Stimpfel, Fahrner, Westerby and Bryant) also crossed the finish line as the runner-up with a time of 4:10.36.

Bliss was the lone Red Hawk to qualify for the state meet from the boys' team. He overcame a three-week cold to place second in the 3200-meter run in 9:46.33 despite leading for five laps before being passed by archrival Kirk Scharich of USA.

The boys' squad came in twelfth out of 20 entries with 14 points.

Reese tallied a score of 111 to walk away with first place.

Thumb meet of champions set Tuesday

Tuesday, May 31, an estimated 4,000 track fans will converge on Caro's Stamats Field for the 11th running of the Thumb Track and Field Meet of Champions.

This year the premiere track spectacular will feature more than 450 of the finest high school track performers - both boys and girls - from 30 Thumb high schools, some 60 cheerleaders, 30 homecoming queens and a host of other features.

All field events will begin at 4 p.m. with running events starting immediately after the opening ceremonies which begin this year at 6:30 p.m.

The meet will be formally opened at 6:30 p.m. with the Parade of Champions to music provided by the Cass City High School band. Also part of the opening ceremonies is the introduction of the 30 homecoming queens from the Thumb area who will assist in presenting the more than 400 certificates and 144 gold, silver and bronze medals to winning athletes.

Nearly 60 cheerleaders will present the colors of their schools during opening ceremonies, bringing their school banners onto the field during the Parade of Champions.

Two additional highlights of the annual meet include the awarding of the Thumb Sports Leader Award to an adult who has made special contributions to high school sports, and the awarding of plaques to the most outstanding boy and girl athletes of the meet. This year's Sports Leader Award will go to veteran Uby coach and educator Fred Ruthko.

This year's meet will be the third at which metric distances will be used and a number of records are expected to fall. Among those returning this spring will be record-holders Kirk Scharich of USA in the 1600 and 3200 meters, Kurt Partlo of Akron-Fairgrove in the high jump and Carrie Lautner of Cass City in the distance events and relays.

Missed this year will be last year's Athletes of the Meet, Mike Hartman of Caro and Christie Innes of Deckerville. Both have graduated, leaving records to be broken.

A number of last year's other gold medal winners will be back however. They include Scott Colosky of Mayville, who is expected to be severely tested by Reese's Jerry Sheppard and Otisville-Lakeville's Keith Tuttle in the shot and discus; Darrin Long of Marlette in the long jump; Sheri Stone who will return to defend the gold in the girl's shotput; Brenda Essenmacher of Sandusky in the 800 meters, and hurdler Danine Jurn of Capac.

United Way able to fill requests

The Elkland-Novesta United Way and Tuscola County United Way (UW) have announced their allocations for this year from contributions they collected last fall.

Elkland-Novesta was able to grant each organization's total request.

Recipients will be Girls' Little League, $600; Boys' Little League, $1,000; Babe Ruth League, $200; Pony League, $300; Boy Scouts, $300; Girl Scouts, $500; village park program, $1,500; American Association of University Women Reading is Fundamental and Latch Key programs, total of $125; Rawson Memorial Library, $1,200, and Tom Thumb Singers, $200.

All organizations received the same amount as they did in 1982, except for the Boys' Little League, which received $1,500 last year, but asked for $1,000 this year.

The request of the Cub Scouts for $350, which is $150 more than they received last year, is pending receipt of information on why more money has been asked for, according to UW Chairman Ruth Grassmann.

Two organizations which received UW grants last year, the Cass City Arts Council ($300) and Deford Cub Scouts ($100), didn't ask for any money this year.

The Tom Thumb Singers, the community choir, didn't exist a year ago, so the $200 they are receiving is their first grant.

In addition to the money going to the local organizations, Tuscola County UW asked for the same percentage of money raised from each of the five local United Ways for support of organizations serving the entire county. For Elkland-Novesta, that worked out to $8,990.

Of that, $8,665 came from the local coffers and $325 comes as a credit from Saginaw County UW from donations from Elkland and Novesta residents who made pledges at work in Saginaw County.

Last year, $8,838 went to the county United Way.

The total being distributed is $15,065. Some money remains, Mrs. Grassmann said, for emergencies, this year's Christmas baskets and expenses.

Tuscola County UW will be allocating a total of $31,065, with the money coming from the local UW organizations, from donations made directly to the county UW from areas where there is no local group and from the pledges from Tuscola residents working in Saginaw County to that county's UW. Saginaw turns over 100 percent of such donations to Tuscola, Mrs. Grassmann said.

Receiving funds from the Tuscola UW will be Interlink (programs for runaways, delinquents and children with problems), $1,000; Special Olympics, $750; Tri-County Handicappers Coalition, $750; Tuscola County Activity Center, $500; Big Brothers-Big Sisters, $4,000; Assault Crisis Center, $1,115, and Mitten Bay Girl Scouts, $600.

Also, Tuscola County Association for Retarded Citizens, $1,500; Genesee Valley Indian Association, $750; Catholic Family Services, $5,500; Lake Huron Boy Scout Council, $1,200; county drug treatment program, $750; American Red Cross, $5,000, and Human Development Commission, $1,000.

The Michigan UW will receive $6,650 for support of statewide organizations and programs.

Drivers escape serious injury in accidents

Deanna K. Nichols, 17, of 5051 Germania Road, Snover, sought her own treatment for injuries following a 4:55 p.m. accident in Cass City last Thursday.

Village police said Beryl M. Bliss, 37, of 6785 E. Main Street, eastbound on Main, was stopped prior to turning left into the IGA Foodliner parking lot when the Nichols auto ran into the rear of her car.

Ms. Nichols was ticketed on a charge of failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

Lee M. Smith, 70, of 6634 Third Street, Cass City, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies on a charge of failure to yield after a 1:35 p.m. accident last Wednesday.

They reported he was headed southwest on M-81, northeast of Caro, when he turned left into a private driveway, in front of a car headed northwest.

The other auto, driven by Helen M. Kervin, 69, of Bad Axe, struck the Smith auto.

At 6:30 p.m. May 16, sheriff's deputies reported, Marlene D. Parrish, 37, of 1261 Cemetery Road, Deford, was westbound on Chapin Road, west of Cemetery Road, when she swerved to avoid a deer and her car went into the south ditch.

The vehicles of the following drivers did hit deer: Mark L. Weidman, 27, of Caseville, when northbound on Hurds Corner Road, near Elmwood Road, at 9:15 p.m. May 17.

Henry W. Ashmore, 33, of 4594 Oak Street, Cass City, when westbound on M-81, west of Cedar Run Road, at 7:40 p.m. Wednesday, May 18.

John A. Broecker, 26, of 3066 Hoadley Road, Decker, when eastbound on M-81, near Buehrly Road, at 11:27 a.m. Friday.

Maurice C. Winchester, 33, of 5085 E. Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, when eastbound on Dickerson Road, west of Hurds Corner Road, at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

All the car-deer accidents were reported by the sheriff's department except for the one involving Broecker, reported by Caro state police.

Social Security pay increases are delayed

The automatic Social Security benefit increase based on the cost of living, previously effective each July, will be delayed for six months, to January 1984 under a new law designed to strengthen the Social Security system, according to William T. Clynes, Social Security district manager in Saginaw.

Purpose of the delay is to save the system money and to help it regain its financial strength, he explained. Largely because of economic conditions in recent years, Social Security has had an increasingly severe financial problem.

The new law is designed to meet the problem both in the near-term and into the years after 2000. Other changes made by the new law provide additional income to the system.

They include:

--The Social Security tax rate increase scheduled under previous law for 1985 will go into effect in 1984. The new 1984 rate will be 7.0 percent each for employees and employers, up from the previous rate of 6.7 percent. Employees will receive a tax credit against 1984 taxes of 0.3 percent, which will be given when taxes are deducted from wages. In effect, 1984 employee taxes will remain at the level set under previous law.

Also, part of the tax rate increase scheduled for 1990 will go into effect in 1988.

--Starting in 1984, the Social Security self-employment tax rate will be equal to the combined employee-employer tax on wages. This will be 14 percent for 1984. Previously the rate for self-employed people was about 1 1/2 times the employee rate.

Under the new law, self-employed people will receive a self-employment tax credit of 2.7 percent of self-employment income for 1984; 2.3 percent for 1985, and 2.0 percent for 1986-89.

After 1989, these credits will be replaced with deductions designed to treat the self-employed in much the same manner as employees and employers are treated for Social Security and income tax purposes.

Governor presents program for jobs

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

An economic and jobs program consisting of a dozen major points designed to produce 80,000 jobs this summer and provide long-term stimulus to business was recently announced by Governor James Blanchard.

Blanchard, presenting his proposals to a joint session of the Legislature, said the immediate task is implementation of a three-part assault of Michigan's unemployment crisis to break the fever of joblessness that has raged too long and too high.

One major part of the program is $300 million in housing and transportation revenue bonds to be coupled with $500 million in federal funds for public works and construction, creating an equivalent of 20,910 jobs for skilled workers this summer.

The program will be used to weatherize over 13,000 homes, as well as schools and hospitals (qualifications for participation were not announced), build 2,400 homes, resurface 414 miles of roads and bridges, provide $60 million to localities for road improvements and rehabilitation of 230 miles of railroad track.

ANOTHER PORTION OF the proposal includes nearly 60,000 summer jobs on public payrolls at minimum wage through a new Michigan Youth Corps supported by $75 million in reallocated state funds plus federal funds.

Labor Department Director S. Martin Taylor said 20,000 of those jobs are already provided under a federal employment program.

Projects to be undertaken by the corps include highway and rest area cleanup and minor repair, fix up county fair grounds, soil conservation, local human service programs, engineering interns, clean up and repair of local public facilities and work in parks, forests, fisheries and waterways.

The vast majority, 43,800 of the jobs would be in local public services.

Management and Budget Director Phillip Jourdan said the program would be aimed at disadvantaged youths from unemployed families.

The summer program would also include a 100 percent state tax credit for businesses that hire young people for summer work under the provisions of the federal youth employment program. Cost to the state is expected to be about $1 million.

FOR THE LONG TERM, Blanchard said his proposals mean "Michigan will do more to help our business grow and prosper than any state in the country." He pledged to make the state government part of the solution, not the problem.

Those long-term proposals include a Michigan Strategic Investment Fund, unique among the states, supported initially with $60 million from existing state financing and the 1983-84 budget.

The fund would include an agency to aid businesses in developing the new products needed to diversify and expand the economy, a loan guarantee fund to aid new businesses in obtaining private financing and supply of venture capital to spur creation of new businesses.

Other parts of the program are providing business tax relief to small businesses, opening six new business assistance centers to help with permits, marketing, planning and exporting and using federal and state funds for a $175 million jobs training program.

Besides the state program, Blanchard said he will meet with other Great Lakes governors in Cleveland in May and on Mackinac Island in June to plan a regional strategy for economic development.

Cass City police were called to Agricola Chemical Co., 4155 Vulcan Street, at 12:50 a.m. this Wednesday on a reported theft in progress of gasoline from a truck.

Police caught one suspect, who tried to run away down the railroad tracks. It is believed three persons were involved.

The car of another man, which was at the scene, was towed away and impounded.

The man who was arrested was being held in the county jail in Caro, pending issuance of a warrant charging him with attempted larceny or larceny under $100.

Village police arrested Luis R. Arroyo, 20, of 4540 Elmwood Road, on charges of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and driving with license suspended after stopping his car at 1:20 a.m. Saturday.

He has also since been charged with possession of marijuana.

His car was stopped on Main Street after it was observed weaving.

Arroyo was released on bond from the county jail later Saturday, pending arraignment in district court May 31.

At 3 that morning, police were called to investigate a broken window in the car of William Kritzman of 6798 Houghton Street. The car was parked in the lot at the corner of Leach and Church Streets.

The witness who reported it said he heard the sound of glass breaking and then saw two men running east down the alley.

Headlight covers removed from a car parked in the Cass City State Bank lot Monday were later recovered by a village officer, thanks to a witness.

The car belonged to Karen Schmidt of 7124 Van Dyke Road.

A witness reported to police at 3 p.m. that he had seen the covers removed and then followed the suspect's car long enough to get its license plate number.

At 3:40, police stopped the car at Pine and Leach. The headlight covers were on the front seat.

Police have sent a copy of the report to the prosecutor's office, which will decide if it wishes to prosecute the 17-year-old driver of the car.

Esther Werdeman of 5215 Cedar Run Road, Cass City, reported to Caro state police Tuesday morning that an antique iron dinner bell had been stolen from her back porch. It was valued at $50.

Winners told

The Sherwood on the Hills seniors played their second "best ball" tournament of the year, Tuesday, at the golf course in Gagetown.

Five teams of four members again made up the field of entrants.

Taking first place with a low score of 34 was the group of Don Martin, Bill Hunter, Joe Verschoore and Les Munro.
