Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Dean Jardine was a teacher in the Cass City system for 11 years, leaving in 1977. School records indicated that he left to be a vegetable farmer. We ran into Dean at Harbor Springs over the week end. While we failed to find out what he was doing these days, if it is farming it obviously agrees with him. He looked trim and fit.

What's more, he made my day when he reported he reads the Chronicle every week. All of which proves that either the paper or the community made an impression. Hopefully both.

Recession, what recession?

In Harbor Springs we ate at The Pier. We sauntered in at 5:30 p.m. without reservations and were accepted.

We were the last to do so. By six o'clock patrons were being turned away. A waitress said that for that Saturday night over 500 reservations had been accepted. It's not a cheapie spot, either. I'd guess that the average bill would be $20 per person. Wine drinkers would pay more.

*****

Getting a job for the summer at The Pier must be a real plum. The young men and women waiting on tables are good. Polite, friendly and unerring in filling orders. None of them that I observed had to write down anything at any table including one with eight guests. With the business the restaurant does, it's easy to see how $100 a night could be earned.

*****

Since Editor Mike Eliasohn is on vacation the publisher is filling in. That's why he was taking a picture of Ellen O'Hara this week.

Nothing's changed much since he was writing on a regular basis. That one picture required three trips.

On the first trip a cord was forgotten. On the second, three times the flash failed to operate and when it did on the fourth try the picture proved unsuitable.

Murphy's Law was alive and well last week at the Chronicle. Anything that can go wrong, will go wrong.

It happened with a third of the story written about the Cass City School Board meeting. It was lost after leaving the computer and passing through the proofreader. It's still missing. The reset version appears in this issue.

Better late than never, I guess.

KINGSTON TOWNSHIP FIREFIGHTERS finish putting out a barn fire that destroyed $200 worth of lumber Wednesday evening near Wilmot.

Estimate $200 fire loss

The Kingston Township Fire Department was called to a barn fire at 5115 Silvernail Road, Deford, last Wednesday.

According to Chief Bob Phillips, the blaze was reported at 6:48 p.m. by Joanne Taylor who owned the partially torn-down building.

Taylor estimated about $200 worth of lumber was destroyed by the flames which took Kingston firefighters approximately a half an hour to extinguish.

Phillips said Elkland

Township firefighters also reported to the scene but were not needed.

They were sent home soon after arriving when it became apparent everything was under control.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

2 area 4-Her's visit capital

David Loeding and Kim King, of Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club, recently returned home from Washington, D.C., after attending Citizenship Washington Focus, a week-long experience in citizenship and leadership training at the National 4-H Center.

They were among a group of 42 youths from the Thumb and surrounding area. Eleven other states were also represented including Alaska.

The trip included Gettysburg and all of the major points of interest in Washington, D.C.

The program included a day on Capitol Hill to meet with members of Congress and see government in action. They met Bob Traxler for a question and answer period.

Several workshops were held in which the youths discussed issues and concerns and ways in which skills and knowledge gained could be applied in their own community.

urban areas, but make no mistake we have them.

Now is not the time to rest on our laurels just because we look good in comparison.

One teenage drunk is one too many.

The Haire
Net

There's a tendency to pat ourselves on the back after reading the results of the survey conducted by the Citizens' Advisory Committee.

After all it shows that our kids are doing pretty well and that if you discount alcohol there's very little problem at all.

That's if you believe that the answers truly portray what's happening. There's no reason to believe that they don't, although no one's claiming that the survey was scientific.

Let's take it at face value and bask in the good news while not overlooking the bad news.

The bad news is why did we need a survey in the first place? It was in answer to a previous questionnaire when the kids themselves said that drug use was a problem.

Take yourself back a minute, all you parents of high school students or recent graduates.

If that same questionnaire had been tossed at you when you were in school would you have said drug abuse was a major problem? Probably not.

Certainly, the use of pot or uppers and downers wouldn't have been high on your list. It was about 17 years ago that the Chronicle ran a story about pot use among students of high school age after conducting anonymous interviews.

It caused a minor sensation at the time. A Caseville authority called and read the riot act because one of the kids was quoted saying that Caseville was the pot hot spot at the time.

The story was so new and fresh and the drug situation so unknown in the Thumb that it won a "best feature" prize for weekly papers in competition throughout Michigan.

Today that story would have been mildly interesting, that's all.

So it becomes a matter of perspective. The numbers that we read today about drug abuse with our kids bring sighs of relief. Maybe a few self congratulations.

Those same numbers 25 years ago might well have had parents wondering where they went wrong.

It may be, too, that the amount of abuse of drugs by users is greater than it used to be.

Tales of kids coming to school drunk in the morning have been floating around for years now. That's a lot different than taking a few beers at a party.

Problems in rural Michigan may be less than in

I may sue

By Jim Fitzgerald

Lately, I've been pushing my wife around. It's not funny. In fact, I may sue the City of Detroit for causing me to behave in such an unnatural manner.

This tragic tale begins with a visit from Melissa, our 10-year-old granddaughter who lives in Frankenmuth, Michigan's most enchanted kingdom, where tourists go to eat chicken and pretend Sir Lancelot will protect them from all harm forever.

Understandably, Melissa gets bug-eyed at many of the things she sees in the big city. She was there, for instance, when two men climbed up the outside of a 72-story tower in the Renaissance Center. And she was astounded when I explained that the only reason the climbers attracted so much public attention was they were the first couple in history to spend an entire day at the RenCen without getting lost.

As Melissa neared the end of six days of sight-seeing, it appeared that when she returned home, she would talk most about a fuzzy-crested, deep-slounched panhandler sighted in Greektown. She was amazed to see the young man ask strangers for money. Melissa can't even ask her grandfather for money for fear her mother will find out and kill her.

"Grandpa, why didn't you give him anything?" Melissa asked.

I explained I didn't want to get the panhandler in trouble with his mother. He would have had better luck if he'd said he really loved rainbow ice cream cones, but they cost 60 cents and he had only 10 cents left from the $2 allowance his mother gave him three years earlier.

Naturally, I would be embarrassed if Melissa told everyone in the enchanted chicken kingdom that crass Detroiters don't know the first thing about effective hinting. So, in an effort to put something more impressive than a blunt bum at the top of her mind, I made special plans for Melissa's last night in town.

After the usual movie (the sequel to "Superman III" will have to be "Super-bore IV"), and after buying the usual bags of food and drink, instead of going home to consume them, we went to the ethnic festival in Hart Plaza on downtown Detroit's beautiful waterfront. People of Slovakian heritage were celebrating that weekend, and I thought Melissa would be fascinated to see that Slovaks are no different than Irish, Greeks, Italians, Poles and other ethnic groups who regularly get festive on the plaza - they all do it to the tune of the same loud rock music, chintzy carnival booths, and three-throw-for-a-dollar games of chance.

But before we could sit down in the amphitheater, my wife fell down. Because of the crowd, she didn't see a four-inch-deep well dug into the cement so a little tree could grow out of it. She was carrying the beverages when she tripped and somehow managed to lose my beer while saving her coffee and Melissa's pop. Incidentally, she also broke her left foot.

So that's why I'm now pushing my wife around our home in a stuffed leather chair with wheels on it. The doctor said it will be six weeks before she walks normally again, and there is no hope at all for my beer.

The loss-of-consortium-not-to-mention-Strohs lawsuit will be filed as soon as I decide whether to charge Mayor Coleman Young with treeism or wellism. Of course, as a civic-minded citizen who realizes the city likes to settle minor suits out of court to save legal costs, I might let $500,000 dissuade me from hiring F. Lee Bailey.

I can laugh now but, as mentioned, it really wasn't funny. My wife was stunned by the fall, and I'll not soon forget those few seconds when she didn't move and I worried that she'd hit her head on the cement and been seriously injured. A sudden accident can sober even the smartest aleck and remind him of how much he loves someone.

As for little Melissa, she couldn't help sobbing as she put an arm around her fallen grandmother. The panhandler was forgotten. Melissa will always remember the summer-of-'83 visit as the time Grandma fell down and Grandpa picked her up before he picked up his beer.

23rd McComb reunion held

The 23rd annual reunion of the descendants of William and Louisa McComb was held Sunday, July 17, at the Cass City Recreation Park.

Fifty-three family members and 12 guests attended for a day of feasting, swimming and a baseball game.

This year a new tradition was started with a weekend of camping at Sleeper State Park. Twenty-five adults and children pitched their tents for a weekend-long reunion. It's hoped that next year even more will attend.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Loyal Boulton, president; Marilyn Krispin, vice-president and Janice McDaniels, secretary-treasurer.

The senior family member present was Helen Bullock, while the youngest was Jonathon Boulton. The John Bullock family came from Eaton Rapids to qualify for the farthest distance traveled.

The 24th reunion will be held Sunday, July 15, 1984, in the Cass City Recreation Park.

Closed for vacation

By Mike Eliasohn

Having had a choice of writing a column for next week's paper or leaving on vacation, I chose the latter, which is why a repeat appears in the following space.

Since this column appeared Aug. 10, 1978, Christina Onassis Kauzov has been divorced. Since I haven't received a response from her yet, I thought I would run the column again.

Since I wrote it, I have moved into a larger apartment and bought a new car, which is now two years old.

Christina Onassis Kauzov
Moscow
Soviet Union

Dear Mrs. Kauzov,

You will perhaps think it impudent of me to be writing you so soon, since you were married only last week.

I think you have to be realistic, however. After all, the now-unemployed Russian shipping executive you married is your third husband. Chances are this marriage won't work out any better than the first two.

If indeed that happens, I would like to offer my hand to be No. 4.

I have seen photographs of you and you are very beautiful. I'm sure you have a very nice personality, too. The fact that you are one of the richest women in the world, and perhaps the richest, has nothing to do with my proposal.

I don't speak Greek so there is no way I would ever attempt to run your business affairs. Besides, I don't know anything about ships, having never been in anything bigger than a rowboat.

Furthermore, I have always been frugal, as evidenced by the fact I drive an eight-year-old car, so you need have no fear I will try to make off with your fortune.

And speaking of cars, mine always starts, unlike the one you and your new husband tried to drive off in immediately after the wedding.

Admittedly, my pay is not spectacular, but it is better than what your husband is making now that he is unemployed.

I assume he still qualifies for free medical care in the Soviet Union, but you needn't worry as my hospitalization insurance is paid.

My apartment is not fancy -- most of the floors are covered with linoleum -- but it does have five rooms. That is three more rooms than the apartment you are living in in Moscow. And if that isn't enough room, there is a large closet out in the hallway you can use. I will have to move my bicycle out of there, but I'm sure I can find some other place to put it.

Best of all, unlike your present arrangement, you won't have to share my apartment with my mother.

Lastly, I read in the paper that one reason you have moved to Moscow is because you are seeking peace and quiet.

Let me assure you Cass City is very peaceful and quiet -- especially since the legislature banned use of fireworks in the state.

Here's hoping I will hear from you.

Sincerely,

Michael Eliasohn

One of the features this year was a quilt show. Demonstrating quilt making from left were: Bessie Muntz, Wilma Finkbeiner, Ruth O'Connor, Marion Gray and Noreen Partridge. Hot dogs and pop and free blood pressure checks were other highlights.

Dr. Scollon reelected school board president

Editor's Note:

This portion of the story of the Cass City School Board meeting was inadvertently missed when the report of the meeting was published last week.

Crouse reported the status of the proposed roof and grounds repair. He said that a rubber roof with a 10-year guarantee will be placed on parts of Campbell school and on Evergreen and Deford schools. Specifications call for a 10-year guarantee.

At the Intermediate school gym and band room a roof with a two-year guarantee, plus added insulation, will be installed.

A pre-bid meeting will be held for contractors to go over the proposed work before submitting bids. A committee was authorized to let the bids to the low bidder to get the work underway as quickly as possible.

OTHER BUSINESS

A catastrophe insurance for students in K-12 was authorized at a cost of $767.50. It will also be offered for students in the adult education high school completion program, if available.

The plan offers lifetime benefits after the first $10,000 of expense is deducted.

Ray Garety reported the results of the substance abuse survey.

Officers for 1983-84 were elected. Ed Scollon was reelected president. Paul Lockwood is vice-president, Ben Hobart, secretary, and Dick Wallace, treasurer.

Meetings will be held the second Monday of each month at the high school. Three banks in Cass City and two others in mid-Michigan were authorized as depository agents and for investment of funds.

BOB GREEN (right) was presented with "Lion of the Year" plaque by Lion's Club past president Gary Jones at the installation of new officers meeting June 26.

Offer free cheese July 29

The Human Development Commission will have a surplus cheese and butter distribution Friday, July 29, 10:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. or until supply is exhausted at the Evangelical Free Church, 4633 Weaver Street, Cass City, (across from Erla's Food Center). Other locations are Caro Fairgrounds, Caro, and Ivan Middleton Hall, Fairgrounds, Vassar.

Individuals must report to the distribution site in person and present their surplus commodity registration card. Persons who are unable physically to go to the distribution themselves, may have someone pick up their surplus commodities only if the surplus commodity registration card is shown. If an individual has not yet received this card, they must register at the Human Development Commission office in their county prior to receiving cheese and butter. The telephone number for the HDC office is 673-4121.

All households who are receiving a form of public assistance, such as ADC, General Assistance, food stamps, or SSI, are eligible to receive cheese and butter. Households who are not receiving any of these types of public assistance, but who have received services through the Human Development Commission, may also be eligible to get cheese and butter. Also, persons living on fixed incomes or unemployment benefits might be eligible, in accordance with Federal Poverty Income Guidelines.

The surplus commodities have been made available to the Human Development Commission, the local Community Action Agency serving Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, from the Federal Government and is intended for personal consumption by low-income and needy families. Any persons interested in transporting cheese for the agency, please contact the office.

Your neighbor says

Stricter laws on handguns needed

A recent Gallup poll indicates the American people do not agree with President Reagan that handgun laws should be less strict.

Of those people polled, 59 percent said present laws should be more strict while 31 percent said they would like them to stay the way they are.

Only 10 percent agreed with the president and feel laws should be less strict.

Elton Willis of 6470 Third Street agrees with the majority of those people who took part in the random survey.

"There should be stricter laws," Willis commented. "We need them. (Gun retailers) have to be more careful about whose hands they put guns into. The way it is now they can hand them over to a crook and not even know it."

While believing laws covering handguns should be imposed, he does not feel shotguns and rifle owners should be subjected to a similar law.

He reasoned that "they are harder to carry and easier to see" and therefore less likely to be used in criminal acts such as robberies.

Willis who owns a .410 shotgun is a retired employee of Bulen Chevrolet-Oldsmobile garage. He and his wife, Helen, have two sons and a daughter.

Farm history manual touches area families

History buffs can have a ball with a manual published recently to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Michigan Feed Manufacturers Association, now known as the Michigan Grain and Agri-Dealers Association.

Written by Wayne W. Bauer, formerly of Cass City, now a regional manager for Pillsbury Company, the book is basically a treasure house of farm history in the state.

Cass City and the Thumb area figure prominently in the history. It touches on agricultural associations, flour milling companies, elevator chains and changing farm technology. It also reviews the sugar beet and bean industries.

Mentioned in the book is the Frutche family, well-known elevator operators in Deford, Cass City and the Thumb. Michigan Bean Company and Wickes Agriculture are also explored.

An example of the type information in the book is the tracing of elevator fires in 100 years in Michigan. The book lists 297 of them including one in 1912 at the Cass City Grain Co. Only fires that were insured by the Michigan Millers Mutual Insurance were listed. (Cass City's Farm Produce elevator suffered a disastrous fire about 20 years ago, but it was not listed, presumably because it was not insured by Michigan Millers.) In the period covered, fires were listed in Uby in 1929 and 1936. Deford's Cass City Grain Co. was burned in 1916 and Caro Farmers Co-op suffered a fire in 1973.

Copies of the 250-page manual are available from Pillsbury in Cass City for $12.50.

Plans set for Sanilac 4-H Fair

Wednesday beef, poultry, goats and rabbits will be judged. There will be a dairy judging contest. Thursday dairy judging will be held and there will be a small animal sale starting at 6:30 p.m.

Friday will feature judging of fun class 4-H horses and judging of sweepstakes showmanship. There will be a tractor operation contest at 12:30 p.m.

C. The construction of the said lines shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successor.

D. The said grantee, before entering upon any street, highway, alley or other public place for the purpose of erecting and constructing any poles, wires, pipes, mains, conduits, or other apparatus, shall notify the Township or its representative of the proposed construction, and shall, if the Township so requires, file with them a sufficient plan and specification, showing the nature and extent of the proposed erection and construction.

E. No street, highway, alley or public place shall be allowed to remain open or encumbered by the construction work of the said grantee for a longer period than shall be necessary to execute the said work, and the grantee shall at all times conform to all ordinances of the Township, now or hereafter in force, relative to the fencing and lighting of obstructions and excavations.

F. The grantee shall save the Township harmless from any judgment that may be rendered against the Township by reason of the wronging or negligence of the said grantee in the erection and maintenance of said poles, mains, wires and other apparatus or construction.

G. Said grantee shall make due provision upon five (5) days notice in writing by raising its wires or otherwise, for the passage of any barn, building or other structure on or over any street, highway, or public place occupied by the poles, mains, wires, and other apparatus of said grantee.

SECTION 3 - In consideration of the granting of this franchise, the grantee agrees that its rates and charges for electric service in the Township of Elkland shall not exceed its rates and charges for like service elsewhere in its service area, as evidenced by its uniform rate schedules at the time of filing with and approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It is understood that the grantee is subject to regulation by the Michigan Public Service Commission and that any order, rule, or regulation by that Commission, or its successor, will prevail over any regulation herein contained or provided for in case of conflict.

SECTION 4 - This grant shall take effect if said grantee shall, within fifteen (15) days from the date of the passage of this Ordinance, file with the Township Clerk, its written acceptance of the terms of the same, and upon the confirmation of this grant, by the affirmative vote of a majority of the electors of said Township, voting thereon at a special election to be held on Tuesday, the 13th day of September, 1983, as provided for by the Statutes and the State Constitution.

It is not confirmed by the electors voting on the franchise at said election, this Ordinance shall be null and void.

SECTION 5 - This Franchise and Ordinance shall be in force for thirty years from and after the date of its confirmation by the electors of the Township of Elkland, Tuscola County, Michigan.

SECTION 6 - Nothing in this grant shall be construed to alienate the title of the public in and to any street, highway, alley or public place or any portion thereof, neither shall anything herein be construed in any manner as a surrender by the Township of Elkland of its legislative power with respect to the subject matter hereof, or with respect to any other matter whatsoever, nor as in any manner limiting the right of the said Township of Elkland to lawfully regulate the use of any street, avenue, highway or public place within its jurisdiction, as to all other matters.

Festival loses money, but loss less than expected

The exact financial figures have not yet been tabulated but it looks as if the Cass City Fourth of July Festival will lose about $1,600, according to committee chairman Curt Strickland.

That figure is quite a bit better than what the planners thought it would be at the conclusion of the community celebration three weeks ago.

"We're not as far away as we thought we would be right after the thing," stated co-chairman Roland Pakonen. "At first we figured we were really in hot water but now it doesn't look that bad."

The chairmen cannot be sure of the deficit's exact amount because not all the concession stands' shares have been turned in.

Strickland explained the fact that "everything is free" was the reason the festival came out in the red.

The main expenses were the fireworks display, $2,200 -- planners were able to collect only $160 in donations during the show --, bands at the beer tent $1,000, an insurance policy, $1,400, and the beer tent, $900.

He also noted the tractor pull lost money this year. This event can usually be counted on to generate some income.

Strickland said two hydraulic pulling sleds were needed this year at the pulling contest to accommodate more classes which erased a great deal of any money the contest would have brought in.

In spite of the seemingly disappointing news, Strickland and the other planners are not disappointed with the way things went.

"We're happy with the festival and the turn-out," he said. "Of course our goal was to break even but we expected to be about that much ($1,600) short."

He pointed out that this year's deficit was quite a bit less than last year's festival loss of $4,000-$5,000.

Strickland also noted that he, Pakonen and Dave Lovejoy may be the committee chairmen next year. That, however, is still in the future.

More immediate attention is focused on erasing the loss. Plans are being considered to stage some money making event to help pay the $1,600.

Donations, of course, would be gladly welcomed.

Tell winners of prizes

Josephine Bartnik of Cass City was the winner of the quilt raffled by the Elmwood Missionary Circle during sidewalk days last week end in Cass City.

The raffie was a highlight of the quilt show held on Main Street which also featured two daily drawings for gift certificates, given by the Chamber of Commerce.

The gift certificate winners were: Katie Roberson, Marlette, Faye Stoll, Silverwood, Mary Damm, Carol Horner, Judy Wing and LuAnne Crawford, all of Cass City.

649 persons registered at the three-day show.

Price index drops

The Index of Prices received by Michigan farmers for all crops averaged 121 percent of its 1977 base for the month ending June 15, according to the Federal/State-Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

This was the first decrease since prices started inching upward in November of 1982.

The monthly index dropped only slightly from last month, but is 7 percent below the same time last year.

The Index of Prices Paid by farmers, Nationwide, for commodities and services, interest taxes, and farm wage rates for June was 160 percent of its 1977 base.

Lower prices for feed and replacement livestock were offset by higher prices for fuel, farm machinery and family living items.

Compared to June, 1982, the index was up 4 points.

Overall, farm prices for mid-June were down in both the crop and livestock sectors.

In crops, lower prices were received for wheat, dry edible beans, soybeans, potatoes and hay. Hay prices dropped sharply as new crop hay moved into the market. Unchanged quotes for oats and stronger price levels for corn were partially offsetting.

Livestock prices were down for all commodities except calves which displayed a 4 percent increase from last month.

House okays farm license plate bill

The Michigan House of Representatives approved legislation June 16, introduced by State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Fairgrove), that will allow farmers to take advantage of lower vehicle registration rates for vehicles used for farming purposes only.

Allen explained that the bill, H.B. 4581, which now goes to the Michigan Senate for final approval, replaces the current $15 registration fee for all farm vehicles, with two types of registration options.

"Vehicles used only for farming, such as trucks that never leave the farm premises, should be viewed differently than other forms of transportation that use public access roads," he said.

"This bill deletes language in the Michigan Vehicle Code requiring that only vehicles designed to hauling crops can take advantage of the lower registration rate. In other words, we've merely shifted the emphasis from vehicle design to use, thus giving farmers a more equitable shake."

A second provision in the bill authorizes the Secretary of State to issue a special registration, valid for three or more months, for trucks owned by farmers and used only for farm or personal purposes, and not used for hire by the farm.

That registration fee would be one-tenth of the usual fee multiplied by the number of months for which the registration was valid, plus a $2 service charge.

Ubly homecoming-100 percent cooperation keeps it thriving

The people of Ubly sure know how to stage a community celebration. They have been holding an annual homecoming for so long now that most people can't even remember when the first one was.

Even six festival leaders who have been working on the celebration since the end of World War II are at a loss to come up with the homecoming's exact birth date.

"I don't know for sure when it did begin," Ernie Zinger said recently when he, Lambert Jaroch, Arthur Janowiak, Bud Day, Francis Hund and Keith Holdship met recently to reflect on the Ubly Homecoming celebration.

After some deliberating the six finally agreed that the first celebration took place sometime in the 1880's.

The first homecoming any one could recall was a "Callithumpian Day" which gave everyone an excuse to get together and "get rowdy and make some noise."

Like everything, the passing of time has brought change to the festival and these six community leaders have seen a great deal of it.

Airplane rides and a helicopter candy drop have replaced such past events as horse pulls and a fiddlers exhibition but everyone feels the homecoming is still a good festival which encourages community spirit.

"I think it does a little something for people," commented Hund. "The ones that like it most are those that have moved away. This gives them the chance to see old classmates and friends."

FOR THE PAST 40 years a carnival has been held either on a village street or in the park like it was this year. Other attractions such as the softball games, tractor pull, concessions, a beer tent and the parade have also been around for some time.

"The parade is not quite as elaborate as it used to be," Jaroch said. "Every club used to have a beautiful entry."

Noteworthy entries that took part in past processions down Main Street include the Budweiser Clydesdales, participants in the annual state fiddler championships, Michigan Governor Harry F. Kelly and the Highlander Scottish Band.

While many community festivals annually pop up throughout the Thumb, they seem to replace just as many that regularly die off due to lack of interest.

INTEREST IN THEIR homecoming is one thing residents of Ubly aren't in short supply of.

Their festival surpasses all others as far as age is concerned.

According to the six leaders, people really get worked up over the annual festival.

"The village cooperates 100 percent," said Jaroch. "Everyone is tickled to death to help out."

"Even the rural people and farmers help," Hund added.

"It's a year-round commitment with no paid help," Zinger noted.

Everyone pitches in. "If we weren't invited to help, we'd all be upset," Janowiak commented. "We'd think they didn't want us anymore."

Nothing could be further from the truth. Everyone is invited, almost expected, to help put the homecoming on, especially the members of the village's community clubs (the Thumb Veterans Organization (TVO), the TVO Auxiliary, the Ubly Community Club, the Lions Club and the Jaycees).

These five organizations are basically the driving force behind the festivals.

Work is assigned to the members and they do it. This willingness to work, according to the six leaders, is the reason the homecoming is a success.

The clubs join efforts to sponsor the main events year after year. After expenses are paid, the income brought in is then equally divided among the clubs and passed on to the community in some form of donations.

While many other community festivals scratch and claw just to break even, the Ubly Homecoming always makes money.

"It has never been a loss," declared Hund.

"It's almost gone under a couple of times, but it usually brings in money," seconded Zinger.

According to this year's chairman David Jaroch, son of Lambert, the last few celebrations have generated at least $3,000 and as much as $6,000.

Early predictions for this year have as much as $9,000 being generated.

"BEFORE WORLD WAR II the homecoming was primarily a way to bring business to the town," Zinger said. They hoped prospective businessmen would take to the friendly people with the abundant community spirit.

Some of the money raised would even be offered to help a new business relocate within the village limits.

"Now it has become a way to raise money," he added.

The elder Jaroch said the celebration's money making potential was first realized in 1947 when the local civic clubs formed the Ubly Community Recreation Center. That year's homecoming plus the next few celebrations served as fund raisers to earn money needed to purchase land and lights for the Ubly High School football field.

About $25,000 was raised in the short span of a few years to make the dream of a lighted football field a reality.

Other community additions that the homecoming has provided include the land for the village's Veterans Memorial Park, little league uniforms, tennis courts and playground equipment.

WHAT HAS ALLOWED Ubly to continue a festival for so long while many others are short lived?

The answer -- careful planning and a willingness to work.

"You got to ask yourself how much you can afford to give out without being hurt," Zinger explained.

"We don't mind spending but we want to make money," Janowiak added.

They speak with the voice of experience. Their homecoming has endured challenges and survived.

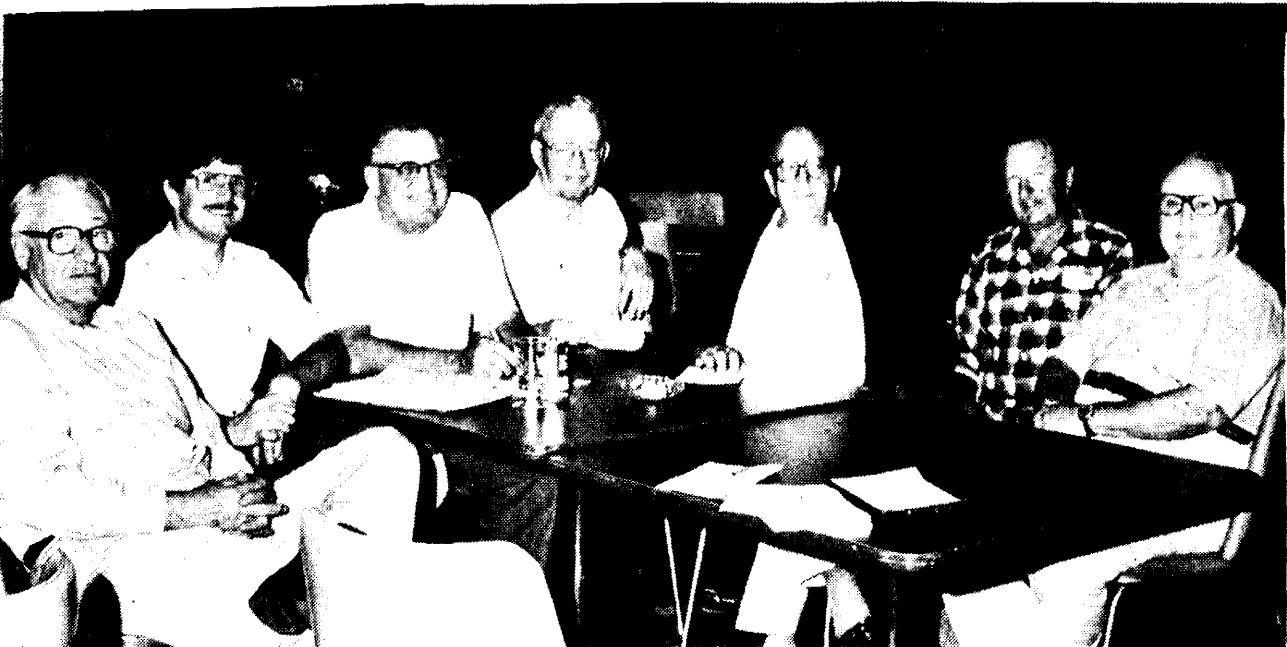

"We have the experience, we know we can do it and we know how to do it," said Hund. "Not one of us minds putting our shoulder to the wheel."

JIM FLIGGER lines a base hit in one of the games of the oldtimers softball tournament Saturday in Ubly. Teams had to have a combined age of 350 years to enter.

TWO GIRLS took a mid-summer break to enjoy one of the carnival rides featured at the annual community celebration.

UBLY DOES IT BEST when it comes to holding a summer community festival, according to these village residents who have helped make homecoming a successful event. As a group these men have more than 200 years of experience working on the festival committee. They are from left, Francis Hund, David Jaroch 1983 chairman, Arthur Janowiak, Ernie Zinger, Bud Day, Lambert Jaroch and Keith Holdship.

Librarians discuss plans

Wednesday, July 13, was a landmark day for libraries in this region as over 50 representatives from all types of libraries met at Delta College to plan strategies for improved services to area citizens through sharing of resources and opening the lines of communication between different types of libraries.

The recently formed White Pine Region of Cooperation includes member librarians from school, college, hospital, public, and private research libraries in a nine-county area, and represents an innovative approach to library access for citizens. The Region of Cooperation was awarded a $25,000 federal grant to continue its efforts in this pilot program which may include more sophisticated computerization in area libraries.

Dr. Jose-Marie Griffiths from King Research, Inc., led discussions and provided technical advice as librarians made long-range plans for the area. Dr. Griffiths, who has assisted in planning similar pilot projects throughout the country, was enthusiastic about the day's meeting. "The tremendous turnout and the interest shown by librarians here today should make this area's project a success."

Barbara Hutchinson, director of the Rawson Memorial Library, Cass City, Mary Albee, director of Indianfields Library, Caro, and Donald Richards, director of REMC/SELS Region 10, attended the meeting. They learned of ways to improve library services that cooperation can bring.

Bay Shore plans 73rd session

Bay Shore Assembly will open its 73rd annual session at Bay Shore Park, Sebewaing, Thursday evening, July 28, with evangelistic services at 7:30 p.m. The session will continue for ten days, closing Sunday evening, Aug. 7.

The guest preacher will be the Rev. Dr. Ira Gallaway, minister at the First United Methodist Church of Peoria, Ill., one of the larger churches in the denomination.

In addition to his preaching each evening, Dr. Gallaway and his wife Sally will each teach a Bible class each day during the ten-day period. Sally Gallaway has served as president of the Fort Worth, Texas, Prayer Fellowship.

Dr. Maurice Stevens, president of Missionary World Service Evangelism and a member of the Kentucky Conference of the United Methodist Church, will also be one of the leaders teaching a Bible study series with an emphasis on missions during the ten days of the 1983 assembly.

Missionary Day, Friday, Aug. 5, will be celebrated with the presence of Rev. and Mrs. Dale Dorothy, workers with the World Gospel Mission in Haiti. Their work is familiar to many in the Thumb area who have spent vacations working in Haiti at erecting various buildings and using their personal skills for the benefit of mission work in Haiti.

Wreck-filled championship race spoils Cass City drivers' high hopes

Cass City's Selective Engineering Racing Team members had high hopes when they left Friday for the Illinois State ATV Championships in Pekin, Ill.

Unfortunately things didn't work as planned for Joe Howard, Andy Auten and Jim Benkelman and their Odyssey mini sprint car.

In the modified sprint car finals Saturday, all three were involved in accidents that took them out of competition for the day.

Auten and Howard were involved in separate accidents with the same driver.

Benkelman's wreck occurred later in the 15-lap race.

None of the drivers was seriously injured but Auten was taken to the hospital.

"It was too short of a track and there were too many cars," said a disappointed Howard. "I thought some of the drivers weren't really experienced enough."

He noted accidents marred the final race stopping competition on three occasions.

The team members had expected to have a good day in the $1,500 purse championships which featured some of the top Odyssey sprint car drivers from across the country.

To reach the finals the trio had to drive their cars in four qualifying heats.

Howard won one of the heats and finished third in another. Benkelman recorded two second places. Auten also had a second place finish to go with a third place.

Up to the finals, Howard said the group had been doing "exceptionally well," and their performances indicated that.

Howard's times in the heats enabled him to start in the third position of the 14-car final while Benkelman started fifth and Auten sixth.

In addition to racing in the modified class, the team also raced their cars in qualifying heats of the super modified division.

Due to accidents in the final of the other class, they were unable to enter the finals of the super-modified class.

Croft-Clara places second in tourney

Croft-Clara took second in an eleven-team round robin tournament last weekend in Akron.

Friday night it took 13 innings before Croft-Clara defeated Jumbo's Bar of Owosso, 3-2.

Craig Helwig threw a no-hitter until the top of the ninth inning when Jumbo's scored twice on a walk, an infield hit, a wild pitch and a ground out.

Croft-Clara tied it in the bottom of the ninth with two outs on Dean Elbers' RBI triple and Jeff Hartel's RBI single.

In the 12th, Jumbo's lead-off batter tripled to right, but Helwig struck out the side to end the threat.

The tie was broken in the 13th when Dave Elbers reached base on an error, was sacrificed to second and scored on a line shot to right center by Ken Martin.

Billy Weber took the loss for Jumbo's.

Both pitchers struck out 18 batters.

Ken Martin threw a no-hitter against Peppermint Lounge of Flint in Saturday morning's game defeating them 3-0.

Quality Photo of Jackson was shut out behind the no hit pitching of Craig Helwig, 2-0. Croft-Clara scored twice in the first inning with a single by Doug Elbers, a triple by Jerry Toner and a single by Ken Martin.

Frankenmuth Black Label challenged the Cass City team in the battle of the unbeaten in Sunday afternoon's championship game.

Doug Elbers started the game off with a RBI line shot over the center field fence.

Frankenmuth tied it in the bottom of the first and went on to score two more runs in the bottom of the 6th to win 3-1.

Croft-Clara had to defeat Akron Merchants to get another shot at Frankenmuth for the title.

Ken Martin shut out Akron 3-0 allowing only one hit which came in the top of the 7th.

Jerry Toner and Mike LeRoux each had two hits.

With the win over Akron, Croft-Clara now needed to beat Frankenmuth two times for the championship.

There was no score in the first game until the 6th inning, when Croft-Clara scored on a homer by Mike LeRoux and a single and stolen base by Doug Elbers and an RBI single by Ken Martin.

Frankenmuth came back in their half of the 6th to score one run but left the tying run on third.

Helwig got the win. In the second game Frankenmuth started off with 4 hits to score three runs in the first inning. Helwig didn't allow a hit the rest of the way, but his teammates could score only one run and lost 3-1.

In league action last week Croft-Clara defeated Frankenmuth 7-4 and Heck's Bar of Saginaw 7-0.

Croft-Clara will play in Flint at Whaley Stadium this weekend.

SVSC signs local basketball standout

Susan Meko of Brooklyn, Mich., and Padgett Randall of Cass City have signed national letter's of intent to play basketball for Saginaw Valley State College.

The junior duo will be reunited with former teammate Veronica Ruff. The three played together at Jackson Community College in 1981-82 where the team finished 23-4 and reached the semi-finals of the National Junior College Tournament.

When Ruff came to Saginaw last year, Meko and Randall went to Fort Hays State College in Kansas, finishing with a 10-21 record. The duo have now settled on Saginaw Valley to complete their degrees. Meko is seeking a degree in physical education while Randall is majoring in social work.

Randall, a 5-10 guard-forward, received a host of post-season awards as a prep, ranging from All-Conference to All-State. She was also a member of the 1,000 point club as an honor roll student.

"Look for Randall to be our zone breaker," comments Coach Marsha Reall. "She is a shooting specialist and also runs well on the break."

The Lady Cardinals will be happy to have the added height of Meko and Randall. With the tallest starter a mere 5-8, the Cards beat three division one schools, while compiling a 25-6 record and finished fifth at the NAIA National Tourney. SVSC returns its top five scorers.

Randall is the daughter of Arthur and Helen Randall, Cass City.

Cumber loses twice

Expect wheat yield to top 1982 harvest

Based on conditions as of July 1, Michigan winter wheat production is expected to total 35 million bushels, according to the Federal / State - Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. This figure is down 4 percent from last month's forecast but 42 percent more than 1982 production.

Currently a yield of 50 bushels per acre is expected, 9 bushels above last year and equal to the record yield established in 1981.

Yield expectations dropped 2 bushels per acre during June due to nearly three weeks of above normal temperatures and limited rainfall. The hot dry weather occurred at the critical heading and kernel filling stage of development.

Oats, the second leading small grain crop in Michigan, is expected to total nearly 19 million bushels, down 33 percent from last season's crop.

Area for harvest is pegged at 300,000 acres which is down from the 450,000 acres harvested in 1982.

Yields are expected to average 63 bushels per acre, equal to last year's record.

Nationally, winter wheat production is forecast at 1.94 billion bushels, down 8 percent from last year, but 3 percent above last month.

Oats production is forecast at 519 million bushels, 16 percent less than a year ago.

9 Sanilac county farms visited in MSU tour

Persons from throughout the state attended the Michigan State University State Farm Management Tour last Wednesday in Sanilac County.

According to MSU Cooperative Extension Agent Rex Sieting, an estimated 950 persons visited some of the nine farms — 3 dairy, 3 livestock and 3 cash crop operations — which made up "an educational tour that stressed management and management practices."

One of the livestock operations included the hog farm of Earl Hendrick, 5318 Pringle Road, Decker.

Hendrick led a tour of the hog facilities which he and his son Charles operate. He also conducted an interview session for visitors to ask any questions they had regarding the farm and the way it was managed.

"The weather was just about as good as you could have ordered it and we had an excellent crowd," Sieting said. "There were people from most of the counties in Michigan plus 1 know there were some from Canada, Indiana and Ohio."

The state's largest farm organization has launched its annual grassroots policy development process with the appointment of a 20-member committee, representing all areas of the state, plus the young farmers and women of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Among those appointed to serve at-large on the state committee were: Jack Laurie, Cass City (Tuscola), chairperson. Among young farmers will be Jim Licht, Pigeon (Huron).

The committee is

This was the 34th year in a row the MSU sponsored tour has been offered.

The last time Sanilac County hosted the event was in 1965.

Lee Warschewski, livestock extension agent for Huron and Sanilac counties, said the Hendrick farm was selected for the tour by a steering committee from a field of other livestock operations.

The steering committee was comprised of persons from various parts of the county.

After passing an interview with an MSU agricultural specialist, Hendrick's farm became an official stop on the tour.

charged with the responsibility of studying and correlating all policy recommendations submitted by the organization's 69 county Farm Bureau units and various commodity advisory committees. During the process, they will meet with experts in key concern areas to gain background information on the recommendations, then compile the proposals and present the package to voting delegates at the Michigan Farm Bureau annual meeting in Grand Rapids, Nov. 29 - Dec. 2.

CAREER FAIR - A representative from Control Data Institute in Southfield describes how computers are the "thing of the future" to some of the hundreds of students who took part in a CAREER FAIR last Wednesday in the high school gym.

500 youths at 3-county "Career Fair"

Youths from Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties had the chance to learn about possible future job opportunities at a special "Career Fair" last Wednesday in the high school gymnasium.

The fair, sponsored by the Thumb Area Consortium, was offered for persons between the age of 16-21 who are participating in the Michigan Youth Corp and Summer Youth Employment programs.

According to Consortium Employment and Training Counselor Tam Trudeau, approximately 500 students attended the two sessions which lasted two hours each.

Representatives were on hand from 27 schools and the armed forces to answer questions, discuss possible future careers, counsel and hand out literature on their respective institutions.

"Things went really well and we're pretty happy with it," Ms. Trudeau commented about the first-time-ever event.

After speeches on career expectations, future job choices and finances given by Ms. Trudeau, Mary Lou King, Consortium vocational counselor, and Bruce Goodburne, assistant director of financial aid at Delta College, respectively, the youths were allowed to meet and talk with the various representatives at tables spread throughout the gym.

The "Career Fair" was the brainchild of Consortium Summer Youth Coordinator Marv Pichla.

"With the fall of the automobile industry we felt there was a need to catch the young people and urge them to plan ahead," Ms. Trudeau added.

She added that the Consortium will continue this practice of offering career aid programs later this summer when it hosts special workshops dealing with employment skills.

State of Michigan, Probate Court, County of Tuscola

Publication notice, deceased estate.

File no. 24,871.

Estate of Mabel C. Jickling, deceased, social security no. 375-46-4103.

Take notice on August 9th, 1983 at 10:00 a.m., in the probate courtroom, Caro, Michigan, before Hon. W. Wallace Kent, Judge of Probate, a hearing will be held on the petition of Clare M. Mackichan requesting that Henry O. Krueger be appointed Personal Representative of Mabel C. Jickling who lived at 4320 Maple St., Cass City 48726, Michigan and who died June 30, 1983; and requesting also that the will of the deceased dated June 27, 1979 be admitted to probate and that there be a hearing on claims and determination of heirs.

Creditors are notified that copies of all claims against the deceased must be presented, personally or by mail, to both the personal representative and to the court on or before October 13, 1983. Notice is further given that the estate will then be admitted to probate and that there be a hearing on claims and determination of heirs.

Dated July 8th, 1983.

Attorney Henry O. Krueger, Bar no. P16267, 223 N. Port Crescent St., 167 1/2 N. Heisterman St., Bad Axe, Mich. 48413, 1-517-269-6531.

Personal Representative Henry O. Krueger, 321 Lookout Point, Osprey, Florida, 1-813-966-4052.

14.6 percent from 14.7 percent in May, according to estimates recently released by S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Taylor reported that while the state's jobless rate declined, the actual number of jobless workers in June climbed by 7,000 to total 648,000.

He explained that a large increase in the state's labor force during the month offset the smaller increase in the number of jobless workers. As a result, the number of unemployed comprised a slightly smaller percentage of the state's labor force in June.

A year ago, June 1982, Michigan's jobless rate was 14.3 percent with 617,000 out of work.

Taylor attributed a 43,000 increase in the Michigan labor force largely to young people entering the work force in search of summer jobs.

The increase pushed the labor force to 4,420,000 during the month.

Total employment also climbed, rising by 37,000 to 3,773,000.

Aside from the seasonal influences on the state's labor force, conditions remained fairly stable during June, Taylor said.

Manufacturing employment remained virtually unchanged while seasonal hiring occurred in construction, retail trade and service industries.

Stroke: knowing the warning signs

Odds are, more than 6,000 people in Michigan will die of stroke this year, and perhaps another 14,000 will have strokes which are not fatal, but may leave the victim with varying degrees of disability.

"These figures are tragic enough by themselves," said Dr. Lawrence Zgliniec, Pontiac cardiologist who is president of the Michigan Heart Association, "but are all the more so when you realize that many strokes can actually be prevented from ever happening in the first place."

"Various testing procedures, such as the CAT scan, and treatment procedures such as surgery, or bringing high blood pressure under control may avert the strokes," he said.

"And of course, up to date rehabilitation techniques have returned many stroke victims to normal or near-normal life-styles, much more than in the past."

A stroke results from cutting off the supply of oxygen-carrying blood to the brain or a portion of it. This may be caused by a blood clot forming inside an artery (frequently the result of fatty buildup called atherosclerosis); by a blood clot which breaks off and wanders in the bloodstream till it lodges in an artery leading to the brain; by a blood vessel bursting; or by an aneurysm (a ballooned weak spot in the artery) bursting and flooding surrounding tissue with blood.

Hemorrhages and aneurysms do damage by cutting off blood supply to tissues beyond the point of occurrence and by increased pressure on surrounding tissues, interfering with their function.

The damage caused by any of these types of strokes varies depending upon where they happened in the brain, and how extensive the area affected.

Residual effects range from partial or complete paralysis of one or more parts of the body, to varying difficulties speaking or understanding speech.

And just what are the warning signs?

"There are six," says Dr. Zgliniec, "and they will be easy to remember because they spell out the word 'Danger.'"

-Dizziness or unsteadiness

-A temporary loss of memory or change in mental ability

-Numbness or weakness in face, arm or leg

-Garbled speech or difficulty understanding speech

-Eye problems, such as temporary dimness, loss of sight or double vision

-Recent, severe, sudden headaches

"If you have any of these signs, you should see your doctor. There are a number of things he can do to prevent a stroke, such as prescribing anticoagulant drugs, surgery or modification of your risk factors (such as high blood pressure)," Dr. Zgliniec said.

PIK program can affect social security payments

Many farmers are apparently confused as to how the 1983 Payment-in-Kind (PIK) program relates to Social Security, according to William T. Clynes, Social Security district manager in Saginaw.

Under the PIK program, a farmer agrees to set aside part or all of his land previously used to produce a crop in exchange for receiving surplus federal commodities of the same crop at the usual harvest time. Commodities involved include wheat, corn, grain and sorghum.

In general, payments under the PIK program are treated the same as other federal agricultural program payments, Clynes said. They are included in the farmer's gross income.

Since the PIK payments are in the form of certificates of ownership, they are not includable in gross income for 1983 until they are converted to cash for purposes of federal income tax and the Social Security self-employment tax.

How the PIK payments affect receipt of Social Security benefits depends on when the farmer became entitled to those benefits, Clynes said.

If the farmer started getting Social Security benefits before 1983, PIK income can be excluded from gross income for purposes of the annual earnings test because it is income not attributable to significant services performed after the year in which benefits began. In this case, PIK income would have no effect on the receipt of Social Security benefits.

However, if the farmer starts getting Social Security benefits in 1983, PIK income is included in the farmer's net earnings for purposes of the annual earnings test.

But in this first year of retirement, a self-employed person can receive a benefit for any month he or she does not perform substantial services in self-employment regardless of total income for the year.

Generally, a farmer is not considered to be engaged in substantial services if he or she works 45 hours or less a month in the farming operation.

Issue ticket after crash

Michigan State Police officers ticketed Joseph E. Scrimger, 34, of 4550 Barnes Road, Clifford, for improper passing after a two-car collision last Thursday at the intersection of M-53 and Robinson Road.

Officers said Scrimger's vehicle was northbound when he struck the vehicle of Robert A. Hawkins, 44, of 5981 Robinson Road which was also northbound and in the process of making a righthand turn onto Robinson Road.

Scrimger apparently was going too fast when he attempted to avoid striking the rear of two cars which had slowed down in order to allow Hawkins the time to make the turn.

He drove onto the right-hand side shoulder and then off the road unsuccessfully trying to go around Hawkins who was now starting out east on Robinson Road. Both drivers suffered minor injuries and sought their own treatment.

Mary Ann Hirn of 6622 Kelley Road told deputies that a deer struck her car when she was traveling west on Deckerville Road west of Cemetery Road Monday, July 11 at 6:15 a.m.

HOME WEATHERIZATION

The Human Development Commission announces a demonstration project to weatherize homes through private contractors. The program will be financed through the United States Department of Energy (DOE) and must be completed by September 30, 1983.

Weatherization consists of "stopping infiltration" to include insulating electric water heaters, "ventilating" and "insulating" attics to R-33, "aluminum storm windows" and "insulating" floors to R-19. The work will be performed in the counties of Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac and Lapeer.

Participating contractors must be licensed, maintain Worker's Compensation Insurance, $300,000 Personal Liability Insurance and Contractor's Liability and Completed Work Coverage.

Interested contractors should contact HDC for an invitation to a "Pre-Bid" Conference and a formal bid proposal package. This may be done by calling (517) 673-4121 or 6153, or writing to Human Development Commission - Attention: Business Coordinator, 429 Montague Avenue, Caro, MI. 48723. Contact must be made prior to July 20, 1983.

Cows enter computer age on Zimba farm for more efficient operation

Dairy farming has come a long way since cows had bells hanging from their necks.

At the Zimba farm on Mushroom Road, southeast of Deford, the 77 Holsteins being milked have computer chips hanging from their necks.

The plastic enclosed chips activate feeders which allocate grain and soybean meal for them to eat based on the amount of milk they produce.

The system has been in operation since the end of May.

That is one of two innovations on the farm operated by William Zimba in partnership with his sons, Jesse and Ed.

The other is that the cows are drinking nutritious whey, a by-product from making cheese, instead of water.

Installation of the computerized feeding system, manufactured by a Wyoming firm and sold by a dealer in Caro, was Ed's idea.

At 20, Ed is the youngest member of the partnership and he had to convince his brother and father that the $18,000 investment would pay off. With the system in place only a month, the savings were already apparent.

Ed said his father wasn't in favor of the computer when he first suggested it and his brother had an open mind on the subject.

William Zimba explained that when he first started farming 45 years ago, he was milking cows by hand and plowing behind a team of horses. "That's quite a change in 45 years," he said of his reluctance.

The Zimbas work with each other, but each has a specialty. Ed is in charge of the dairy herd, Jesse handles the field crops, William takes care of the books and younger brother, Matt, 15, handles the calves. THE PRINCIPLE BEHIND the computer system, which dairymen have been practicing for many years, is that it pays to give more feed to the cows that produce the most milk, because they convert the extra feed into milk.

Low producers, on the other hand, convert extra feed into extra fat.

Ways to get extra feed to high milkers include split barns, with high milkers and their extra feed separated from the low milkers, providing extra feed during milking time and magnetic feeders. High milkers have a magnet hanging from their neck. When they stick their head in the feeder, the magnet turns it on.

Before the computer feeding system was installed, the Zimbas were feeding their cows two ways. Grain and soybean meal were mixed into the haylage (alfalfa hay) and all the cows could eat as much as they wanted. Now, they all can eat as much haylage as they want, but no grain or soybean meal is mixed in.

In addition, under the old system, high milkers used magnetic feeders. The disadvantage with them, Ed explained, is once the cows started eating, there was no means to make them stop. Cows could eat so much they became sick.

The advantage of the new computer system is that the ration can be adjusted for each cow. In addition, the system the Zimbas purchased can separately feed the grain and the soybean concentrate. (Ed examined three systems before selecting one.)

HE AND A NUTRITIONIST from the company that sells the soybean meal utilize the Dairy Herd Improvement Association production records to determine how much each cow should eat.

There are four computer activated feeding stalls. When the computer chip hanging from the cow's neck comes close to the feeder, the computer turns it on, but it only pours out as much grain and soybean meal as the cow is allotted.

The computer is programmed on four six-hour cycles. For instance, if a cow is programmed 16 pounds of grain and four pounds of soybean concentrate a day, the maximum she can eat during the first six hours is four pounds of grain and one of soybean. If she doesn't eat all her allotment during that time period, the computer allows her to eat additional during subsequent periods within the 24 hour period (midnight to midnight).

The advantage of feeding on the six-hour cycles is that the cows eat more uniformly, which results in more milk than if they stuffed themselves once a day.

"The grain is going to the right cow...and it's going four times a day, so it's more balanced," Jesse Zimba explained.

"We put it in to get the cows to milk better," was his simple explanation of why the computerized feeding system was installed.

In more complicated terms, Ed explained the aim was to get the cows to peak higher, that is, to produce more milk, and to stay at that higher peak.

THE RESULTS HAVE been more than satisfactory. With the system in only about a month, the herd average had increased from 46 pounds of milk per cow per day (before it was installed) to 52 pounds now, on a 4.5 butterfat test.

In addition, because the computer carefully controls how much grain the cows eat, the Zimbas figure they are saving a little over 1,000 pounds of grain per day. Based on that savings alone, the computer system will pay for itself in 400 days.

The payback is even quicker when the increased milk production is figured in.

Without having to feed as much grain, Jesse figures by August, they will have some corn to sell. There is also a time savings from not having to grind as much corn into grain.

Another benefit of the system is the printout made at the end of each 24-hour period, ending at midnight, which Ed reads before he starts milking at 5:30 a.m.

The readout lists the allocation of grain and soybean meal for each cow, how much of it they ate that day and how much they have eaten for the month.

The printout marks with an asterisk cows which ate less than 80 percent of their daily allocation. That tells Zimba if the cow is sick or in heat.

The 1980 Cass City High School graduate said the cows didn't have any trouble adjusting to the new system, and neither did he. Learning to use the system, Zimba said, isn't complicated and didn't require taking a special course.

THE ZIMBAS ARE happy with their computerized feeding system, but it's still too early to determine the results of their latest innovation, which they expect to be positive.

The family sells all their milk to the Kraft plant in Pinconning, which manufactures cheese, a by-product of which is whey. The factory had been dumping it, which was causing pollution problems.

Now it's being fed to cows. The Zimbas and nearby Lee and Dave Deering are the first dairymen outside of the Pinconning area to get the whey, which Kraft hauls to their farms daily.

The only expense to the Zimbas was installation of a used tank to hold the whey, which has to be cleaned three or four times a week, and some plumbing.

The whey contains 12 percent protein, plus minerals and is high in energy, so should reduce their feed costs, in addition to what they are saving from the computerized feeding system.

Eventually, the cows will drink only whey, but to get them used to it, they presently are drinking half water and half whey. Cows drink an average of 20 gallons of liquid a day.

COMPUTERIZED COWS — Two of the 77 Holsteins being milked on the Zimba dairy farm display the magnetic chips that all of them have hanging from their necks. The chips are encased in plastic.

Large and small dairy farms on computers

Computerized feeding systems seem as effective on large dairy farms as smaller ones.

Elwood (Butch) Morell of Robinson Road, Cass City, has had the same system as the Zimbas' partially in operation since last Nov. 1 and in full operation since Feb. 1. In contrast to the Zimbals' 77 cows, Morell milks 175.

Utilization of the system, a satisfied Morell said, brought his overall herd average up from 50 pounds per cow per day to 56.

He has seven feeding stations, in contrast to the Zimbals' four, and has computer chips on his dry cows as well as the ones being milked, a total of about 195. The Zimbals only have the chips on the 77 milking cows.

Morell "guesstimated" it will take 1½ years to pay off the cost of his computer system from the higher milk production and feed cost savings.

That's longer than for the Zimbals, he explained, because he had more careful control over his cows before he started using the computer system, including dividing his herd into high and low milkers, with the high milkers getting more feed. As a result, it took about three months before benefits were noticeable. The Zimbals could see the benefits in only a month.

What's next for dairy farm computerization?

The computer companies are now working on a system that will measure each cow's output when they are milked.

The computer will then automatically balance or adjust the cow's grain ration in accordance with how much milk she produces.

With the present system, Ed Zimba and Morell have to determine how much each cow should be allowed extra to eat.

COMPUTERIZED FEEDER — A cow would have blocked the view, so Ed Zimba demonstrates that when a cow sticks her head in the feeder, the computer chip hanging from her neck turns it on, but only dispenses as much grain and soybean meal as the computer is programmed for for that cow. There are four feeder stalls inside the barn.

Letter to the editor

Drug outlook not so rosy

Dear Editor,

Last week, the Chronicle contained a front page story entitled, "Survey: Little drug problem in school." It contained percentages of student participation in drugs, alcohol, cigarettes and crime. The attitude presented in the article was one of optimism. Being a former drug user, this article sent shivers of fear down my spine.

Drugs and alcohol are becoming a way of life for adults, teenagers and even children. Maybe Cass City does not have the same abuse problem as Chicago, but has the time come when we rejoice over the fact that only "15% of the 9th through 11th grades are occasional marijuana smokers," and only "38% of the young people are occasional alcohol users." The article states that "19% are regular drinkers." That's one out of every five kids at Cass City High School drinks on a regular basis. The survey did not even include the statistics for the senior class. The article stated that the statistics for the senior class "didn't matter since they were leaving soon." The 11th grade class showed the highest percentages of drug abuse. Does everyone believe that the senior class would fare any better? Obviously it would not. Drug abuse grows through the high school years. I believe it was a mistake to leave off the senior class in this survey. It makes the problem look simpler when the largest group of drug users and abusers is left off.

It's good that the majority of the young people at Cass City's schools are not habitually stoned or drunk. But the time has not come when we can glory over our statistics. There is still a drug problem in the schools. What about the 9% who have used LSD? What about the 9% who have used barbiturates? What about the 7% who have used cocaine? What about the 11% who have used amphetamines? What about the 20% of 7th and 8th graders who use alcohol occasionally?

I don't have all the answers, but I still see a great problem. As long as these young people (as well as parents and leaders) use these substances to escape the reality of a real world, then the battle must still be waged long and hard. Is there a drug problem in Cass City schools—the answer is a shamedly yes—a great problem still exists and threatens the lives of all our young people. Let's not say the battle is won when the enemy is still advancing.

Sincerely,
Mr. R. A. Boone

R. Ferris named to dean's list

Randy Ferris was named to the dean's list for the past quarter at Cedarville College in Cedarville, Ohio.

A senior, he will graduate in August. He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Ferris of Cass City and a 1980 graduate of Cass City High School.

Reunion held at Finkbeiners'

Thirty members of the Jackson-Wald family met at the home of Lloyd and Wilma Finkbeiner of 4451 Green Road for a potluck dinner.

A floral tribute was presented to honor Carl Jackson of Marlette who died in the past year.

A penny guessing contest was won by Carla Wagner of Caro.

Some of the younger set enjoyed a game of croquet, while older family members reminisced and looked at pictures of former reunions.

A get well card was signed and sent to Thelma Bogart who was unable to attend. She missed only one other reunion in 35 years.

Arlan Hartwick was reelected president along with Lloyd Finkbeiner as vice-president.

Belle Jackson was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Pat Holand.

The next reunion will be with Arlan Hartwick on the second Sunday of July, 1984.

A bright new note for parties is to present a hot dip, set in a chafing dish or on a hot-tray.

Walbro profits continue upsurge

Lambert E. Althaver, President and Chief Executive Officer, Walbro Corporation, reported consolidated net sales of $13,662,893 for the three-month period ended June 30, 1983, up 30 percent from sales of $10,514,324 for the same period in 1982. The company posted net earnings for the period of $406,306 compared with a loss of $172,091 for the second quarter of 1982.

On a per-share basis, the earnings for the period were $.52, compared with a loss of $.22 per share for the second quarter of last year, based on 778,820 shares outstanding for both periods.

For the first six months of 1983, Walbro's sales totaled $26,504,505, up 26 percent from $20,983,727 for the same period in 1982. The company earned $828,975 during the period, compared with a loss of $400,808 for the first six months of 1982.

On a per-share basis, earnings for the first six months of 1983 were $1.06, compared with a loss of $.51 per share for the same period in 1982, based on the same number of shares mentioned above.

In announcing the second quarter earnings, Althaver noted that the outlook for the second half of 1983 continues to be favorable.

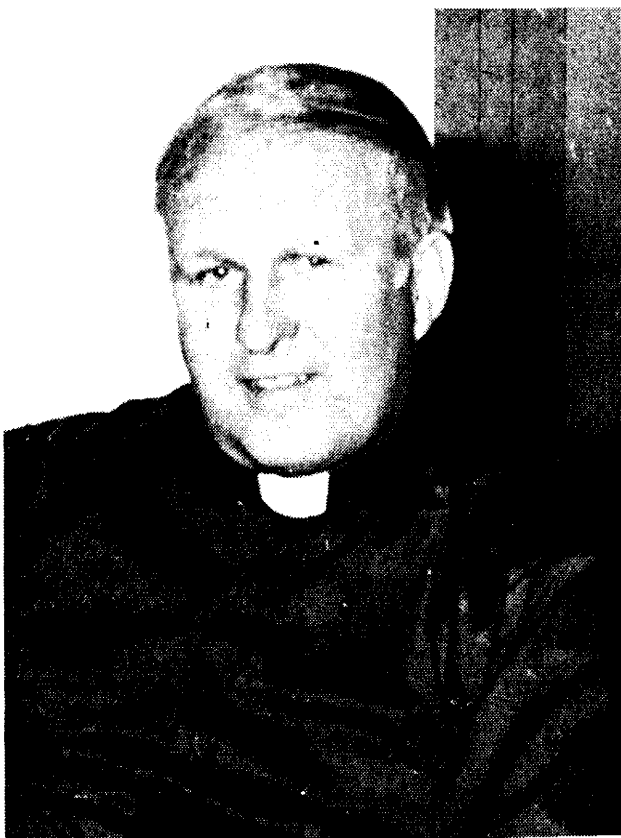

"Sales of the company's electric fuel pumps to both the automotive replacement and original equipment markets remain strong, with record shipments for the first six months of the year," Althaver said.

"Demand for the company's small engine carburetors remains below the levels of previous years. However, sales of throttle bodies and throttle body components produced by Walbro's Carburetor Group for the automotive original equipment market have been growing, and are expected to increase as new model production begins later in the year.

"Orders for the company's plastics parts continue to be strong, and additional production capacity is scheduled to come on-stream in the third quarter. In addition, operating efficiencies and an improving market for our Die Casting Group's products suggest a favorable year for that operation as well," Althaver said.

Father Julius A. Spleet

New pastor at St. Pancratius

Father Julius A. Spleet is the new pastor at St. Pancratius Catholic Church in Cass City and St. Agatha in Gagetown.

He replaces Father Joseph Morales who served the parishes for eight years.

"I'm happy to be here," Fr. Spleet said. "It looks like a vibrant, active community. I hope to continue the good work of Fr. Morales."

Fr. Spleet, a native of Alpena, was ordained for the Diocese of Saginaw in 1962 after graduating from St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth.

Since then he has served as associate pastor at churches in Saginaw, Bay City and Ruth.

He has also been pastor at parishes in Glennie and Ossineke before moving to St. Frances Cabrini in Vassar and St. Bernard of Millington in 1970, and Ubbly's St. John the Evangelist and St. Columbkille at Sheridan Corners in 1978.

The 49 year-old priest noted he is dedicated to continual renewal of the church and society. He believes parishioners should not be isolated from the pastor.

"The role of the parishioners is not only in parish life but also in the community life including social justice and all other challenges Christ has given us in the gospel," Fr. Spleet added. He indicated that he has an interest in music and occasionally "dabbles with the piano." He also enjoys swimming.

Taking stock

The speaker, a broker, was persuasive, as so many of them are.

He was selling various plans as tax shelters, and the audience was all ears. In Boca Raton there are quite a few people who pay more income tax than they like to.

This shelter was a single-payment, paid-up insurance policy. It sounded great - 13 percent guaranteed and the policy was sponsored by one of the biggest companies in the world. You could get your money out any time you wanted, or you could let the income be reinvested and sit there, untouched by Uncle Sam.

This, of course, is a big advantage. If you're in a 50 percent tax bracket - and I suspect most of this group is - 13 percent taxable ends up as 6.5 percent after tax. And you have only half as much in proceeds to reinvest each year.

No quarrel so far. So I checked on some similar plans offered through brokers and found they pretty much followed the same pattern. Some "guaranteed" 14 percent, some 13.5 percent. But only for a limited period. Five years was typical. After that, it was whatever the life insurance company decided was proper. The minimum they could pay was four or 4 1/2 percent in most cases.

Suppose you wanted to withdraw your investment. There was a little rub there

- six percent penalty in one plan, seven percent in another. In other words, if you put $10,000 in one of these paid-up life policies and changed your mind the next day, you'd get back only $9,300 or $9,400, depending on the company.

The salesman, meanwhile, would have been paid $300, and that's one reason for the penalty. They could hardly make the salesman cough up his commission because you wanted your money out.

"Look at the yield of 13 percent you aren't paying tax on," said the broker. "Why, you'd have to go out to 2012 to find a tax-exempt bond that would pay you that. Anybody here going to live 32 years?"

Ignoring the man's question, we recalled only a few days before that a good A+ and A-1 rated bond, the Platte River, Colo. Power Authority, came out with some bonds that paid 13 percent for the 1995 maturity. Out in 2012 the return was 14.19 percent, when this column was written before I went on an overseas trip.

This return was tax-free, first and last. It wasn't just tax-deferred. And it was guaranteed for the life of the bond - not just for five years. The penalty for cashing it in would be 1 1/2 or two percent - the broker's commission, assuming bond levels stayed the same. Or it could be sold for less or it could be sold for more. This street runs both ways.

As to taking money out of the single premium insurance policy, there is an advantage because withdrawals are not taxed until you have first taken out all the principal - in the example above, your $10,000 original investment.

These insurance deals, the oil well drilling deals, the real estate trusts and all the tax shelters that have come across the scene - none really provides a free lunch. As your pappy should have told you years ago, there just ain't no such thing.

LIVE SHOW -- A young boy (at left) watched last week as tearing up of the old pavement on Rose Street began. The street will be rebuilt, including widening, this summer.

Police probe vandalism

The lights and bells were on until around 11 when Grand Trunk Railroad workers arrived to turn them off.

The youths were turned over to their parents. Mark Bastian of 5560 Bond Road, Deford, told sheriff deputies that five windows of his mother's home had been smashed by a large rock between 10:30 p.m. last Wednesday and 10 a.m. Thursday.

Upon investigating the home owned by Joan Lockyer at 5659 Bond Road, deputies found a large rock in the living room.

Apparently the rock had been tossed through a front window, sailed across the room, and broke windows on the other side.

Three 40x40 inch glass windows, two 10x10 inch windows and a frame were broken. No other damage was reported.

Stan Stahl reported a shoplifting incident at the Parkway store at 6073 East Main Street last Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

James R. Compo, 22, of 3540 East Cass City Road was questioned by village police in connection with the charge of taking a container of deodorant and released.

Later a warrant was issued and he was arrested by sheriff's deputies on a charge of larceny from a building.

Driver's license suspended

Randy D. Thompson, 23, of 3185 Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, was fined $160 and assessed court costs of $165 Monday for impaired driving on May 1. District Court Judge Richard F. Kern also ordered him to pay a restitution of $50 to mental health and serve a one year probation.

Thompson's license was also suspended for six months but he will be allowed to drive to and from work and counseling classes.

The defendant entered a plea of guilty June 14.

Intoxication Rises After Drinking Ends

A 150-pound person who drinks eight ounces of alcohol in a three-hour period on an empty stomach has a Blood Alcohol Content of .09%, according to the above Automobile Club of Michigan chart. Even though that person stops drinking, his BAC level increases to .12% one hour later and he is legally intoxicated. More than four hours later that person could still be legally impaired and unfit to drive. At .10%, a person is considered legally intoxicated, at above .07% he is presumed to be legally impaired and may be considered impaired at .05%.
