New state aid act means more money for Cass City

The new state aid act signed by Gov. James Blanchard last week will mean more money for the Cass City schools.

Most of the money, plus a relatively small increase in property tax revenue, will be used for repairs, according to Supt. Donald Crouse.

The state will spend $1.4 billion on aid to local school districts in 1983-84, a 16 percent increase over current levels. The aid package reverses a three-year trend of declining state support for public schools.

During the 1982-83 school year, Cass City received $523,000 in membership state aid.

It is impossible to say yet how much it will receive during the new school year because one factor in the complex state aid formula is enrollment and that won't be known until school starts.

For purposes of example, Crouse estimated enrollment next year will be 1,779 students including full time equivalent adult high school completion students, for which the district also receives state aid. That is 55 students less than last year, which is the average annual decline over the past seven years.

Based on 1,799 students and the new aid formula, Cass City would receive $489,000 in membership state aid for 1983-84, an increase of $66,000 over the past year.

In addition to the increase from Lansing, because of a slight increase in state equalized valuation, the school system will be receiving almost $68,000 more in property taxes during the upcoming school year.

That plus the hypothetical $66,000 more in state aid totals $134,000.

What will be done with the "extra" money? Crouse responded that maintenance has been neglected the past few years because of lack of funds, so much of the revenue will be spent on roofing and paving repairs.

Any money left over, he suggested, could be set aside to build up the school district's depleted fund balance, which would mean it would have to borrow less each year to operate the schools until it starts receiving its property tax revenue in December.

IN ADDITION TO the hike in membership aid, the state is supposed to be increasing the amount it spends for school transportation 5.6 percent and for other categorical aid, such as vocational and special education, 4.9 percent.

In 1982-83, Cass City spent $335,000 for transportation, including purchase of four buses, for which it received $136,000 reimbursement from the state.

"We should get a little bit more (in 1983-84)," Crouse said. Exactly how the increase in school busing funds will be distributed

BREWSTER SHAW

Brewster Shaw Jr.'s long-time goal of flying in space is getting closer.

The Cass City native will be one of a crew of six on the Columbia space shuttle scheduled to be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Oct. 28.

Until last week, the scheduled launch date had been Sept. 30. The flight is supposed to last nine days.

Shaw, 38, is the son of Brewster (Bruce) and Leone Shaw of Pringle Road and a 1963 graduate of Cass City High School. He was named astronaut by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in January, 1978. He is an Air Force major on loan to the agency.

He was nominated to make the flight in April, 1982, three days after he was the guest speaker at the Cass City Chamber of Commerce banquet here.

He and mission commander John Young have been in specific training for the flight since September of last year, he told the Chronicle in a telephone interview Sunday from his home near Houston, Texas, location of the Johnson Space Flight Center.

Young, who has made five previous flights into space including a landing on the moon, will pilot the craft during landing. (The pilots don't fly the craft during the launch.) The only time Shaw is scheduled to handle the controls, is when the craft is in space.

The other members of the crew will be Owen Garriott and Robert Parker, both NASA mission specialists, and payload specialists Byron Lichtenberg, of NASA and Ulf Merbold, a German from the European Space Agency (ESA).

The reason Merbold is going is because the Columbia will be carrying a module owned by the ESA in which more than 70 experiments will be performed. Shaw said the four specialists have been in training and developing procedures for the experiments for several years.

Carrying the module, which won't be launched into orbit, has two effects on the flight.

One of them is the delay. The sixth shuttle flight a couple of months ago launched into orbit a satellite that will relay the large amount of data from the experiments in the ESA module back to Earth.

The satellite initially didn't go into proper orbit.

TOP OF THE hill was where the eastbound car of Floyd Wroubel, at left in both photos, and the westbound pickup of Louis Gyomory collided on Legg Road last Wednesday, northeast of Kingston.

Five persons injured in area traffic accidents

Two persons were injured in a two-vehicle collision last Wednesday evening northeast of Kingston.

They were Floyd Wroubel, 40, of 3080 Hurds Corner Road, Caro, who was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital, and Louis J. Gyomory, 28, of 2025 Cemetery Road, Deford, who sought treatment from a physician, according to the sheriff's department report.

Deputies said Wroubel was eastbound on Legg Road, east of Clothier Road, and Gyomory was westbound. The road was narrow and their vehicles collided at the crest of a hill. The impact flipped the Gyomory pickup onto its side. The Wroubel auto suffered extensive front end damage. The accident took place at 7:35 p.m.

Two persons were treated and released from Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, following a 4:31 p.m. accident Friday at M-81 and M-53. Injured were Mark Peterson of Dryden, age not available, one of the drivers involved, and one of two passengers in his car, Lynn Peterson, 23.

Sandusky state police said the car of Holly Adams, 23, of Brighton, was eastbound on M-81, and struck the Peterson auto, which was northbound on M-53.

Ms. Adams was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

An 8:40 p.m. accident last Thursday resulted in injuries to a Frankenmuth man, Gerald L. Hawkins, 62, who went to a doctor for treatment.

Deputies reported Michael R. Dadacki, 18, of 4063 Shaw Road, Kingston, eastbound on M-46, west of Hurds Corner Road, was slowing to turn left into a driveway when Hawkins, also eastbound, started to pass him and their vehicles collided. Dadacki, who said his turn signal wasn't working, was ticketed on charges of no turn signal, no proof of registration and no proof of insurance.

A similar accident took place at 11 p.m. Sunday west of Cass City.

Deputies said Ernest J. Carpenter, 26, of Caro, eastbound on M-81, west of Cedar Run Road, started to turn left into a driveway and ran into the right side of a car that had started to pass him.

Driver of the other auto was Craig J. Tonti, 19, of 6876 Herron Drive, Cass City.

Charles W. Barry, 74, of 3255 Washington Street, Kingston, reported to deputies July 20 that when he was southbound on Washington, an eastbound car, driver unknown, exited the alley north of State Street and ran into the right side of his car.

Cass City police issued a ticket to James P. Shaw, 19, of Madison Heights in connection with a traffic accident at 11:50 a.m. Saturday.

Police said Marie S. Groombridge, 36, of 4109 Seeger Street, northbound on Seeger, was making a right turn onto Garfield when her car was struck by Shaw's vehicle, which was northbound in the right lane and attempting to pass her car.

He was ticketed on a charge of failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead.

A 15-year-old Cass City boy was ticketed for driving without a license Friday evening at 6:55 in the Power Palace parking lot on Leach Street.

Police reported the youth was moving a car from its parked position on Leach into the lot when he hit a parked car owned by Sharon Wright of Decker.

Barn toppled Storm blacks out much of Cass City

By

Some homes in Cass City were without electricity for more than 20 hours Friday and Saturday as the result of lightning that struck during a storm that dumped 1.54 inches of rain in about two hours Friday evening.

Cass City was one of numerous areas in the upper Thumb that were without electric power Thursday, Friday, Saturday or Sunday.

Larry and Sherry Sadler lost something more significant than electricity -- their barn.

Making matters worse is that they only bought the property a few weeks ago and were planning to move their dairy herd into the barn in less than two weeks.

The barn is located on Lamton Road, a short distance south of Mushroom Road. The Sadlers were at their home near Hemans, which they are selling, when the storm hit Friday evening.

Sadler said he and his wife decided to inspect their new property, got there when it was still light and found the barn a shambles.

It looked like the roof and walls of the barn had been picked up and then dropped. From appearances, Sadler said, most persons who saw it the next day thought "a small twister (tornado) sailed through here." Had it been a strong wind, the barn and the hay inside would have been scattered. Apparently, no one saw a funnel cloud, however.

Parts of some nearby trees were split apart by the same tornado or wind.

Many friends and neighbors showed up Saturday to help the Sadlers pull down the walls and remove the more than 1,000 bales of hay that had been stored inside, which were stacked nearby and covered with plastic.

"The neighbors, they were awful helpful," Mrs. Sadler said. "We couldn't have done it without them."

The couple milks 25-30 cows. She said Sunday it appeared the lower level of the barn, for which the upper floor forms the roof, was still usable to house their dairy herd.

THE STORM IN CASS City started about 6:15 and lasted about two hours. Power went out about 7:15, apparently all due to lightning striking utility poles, one of them being behind Mutual Savings and Loan.

Apparently, most of the outages were north of Main Street and east of Seeger for homes and businesses south of Main.

Detroit Edison crews arrived by 9 p.m. Information wasn't available from the utility, but a check by the Chronicle found some homes (and the Chronicle building) were without power for about 8½ hours.

Some had to go longer. Elaine Jezewski of 4190 Sherman Street said electricity wasn't restored until 4 p.m. Saturday. She and her husband Jim moved the food from their refrigerator to the one in their recreational vehicle, which runs on liquid propane gas.

A few blocks away, Ellen Stoutenburg of 4291 Maple said electricity came back on at 3:15 p.m. Saturday. Before then, a generator was borrowed to run their deep freeze after it appeared the contents were about to start thawing.

LACK OF ELECTRICITY is serious for food stores, but the ones in Cass City that were affected coped in various ways.

Three of them, the IGA Foodliner, Fort's Store and M&R Grocery, didn't lose electricity.

Erla's Food Center had to close once the power went off at 7:15 p.m. Friday. Don Erla said, so "we might have lost a little business." But with all the coolers closed, they stayed cold enough so that there were no known food losses despite no electricity until about 3:15 or 3:30 Saturday morning.

At the Parkway Store, manager Kim Stahl said some ice cream used for dipping was lost because it was too soft. The store's drive-in window is open all night and stayed open by using flashlights and candles.

Quaker Maid Store owner Kareem Khoury said power was out for about nine hours. Everything in the coolers was saved by packing them with ice and then not opening them until electricity was restored.

ACCORDING TO George Andersen, Detroit Edison Tuscola County general supervisor, two circuits in Cass City were knocked out by lightning Friday evening, leaving a total of 602 customers without electricity.

About 11 p.m. Sunday, during another lightning storm, power was out momentarily in at least part of Cass City.

There were scattered outages elsewhere in the county at various times, Andersen said.

Thumb Electric Cooperative crews were also busy restoring electrical service.

The first outages began at 2:30 a.m. Friday, with about 600 members out of power in Sanilac County for about four hours, most of them west of Sandusky, and a few hundred scattered throughout Tuscola, according to operations manager Les Teel.

The next series of outages began about 6:30 p.m. Friday, with about 500-600

Novesta protests Cass City owned landfill in township

The Novesta Township Board Monday evening drafted a resolution to be sent to the state Department of Natural Resources objecting to the Cass City owned landfill.

According to township Clerk Nurse Kloc, the letter states the three main areas which are causing displeasure with board members. They are:

1) The fact that the landfill "is no longer a local operation for local purposes." Waste, it claims, may be brought in from throughout Tuscola County.

2) The location of the landfill in the north central part of the township presents problems with rubbish littered along Cemetery Road, the main thoroughfare in Novesta Township.

3) The operation of the landfill "adds to present and future hazards of severe contamination of the water supply."

The board also voted to allow the farm land of Jeffery Rutkowski in Section 14 along Severance Road to be enrolled in the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) program.

Mrs. Kloc reported that the county Road Commission gravelled Gilford, Dodge, Englehart and Kelly Roads since the board's July meeting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of taffeta and crystal organza featuring an off-the-shoulder neckline with elbow-length puffed sleeves.

The gown's dropped waistline was made of embroidered Alencon lace with tiny pearls around the neckline. Her gown was completed with scalloped Alencon lace encircling the bottom of the skirt and chapel length train.

A picture hat made of Alencon lace and seed pearls with illusion netting completed her attire.

The bride carried a long cascading everlasting silk bouquet of white open roses, rosebuds, a trio of gardenias, a bridal Stephanotis with accents of pink and rose forget-me-nots.

Maid of honor was Pam Davis, sister of the groom. She wore a Nordic rose gown of flippant taffeta. It featured an off-the-shoulder neckline with a ruffle encircling the neckline, short puffed sleeves, a fitted waistline with an attached flower and bow. A mock wrap and tulip hemline completed the gown.

Bridesmaids were Pat Gainer of Bad Axe, friend of the bride, and Tina Haag of Elkton, niece of the bride. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's.

Junior bridesmaid was Jackie Western of Bad Axe, cousin of the groom.

Junior bride was Christy Hendershot of Gagetown. Miniature bride was Amy Roemer of Gagetown, cousin of the groom.

Wayne Gainer of Bad Axe was the best man.

The ushers were Larry Haag of Thousand Oaks, Calif., Craig Haag of Elkton, Gene Haag of Fort Rucker, Ala., all brothers of the bride, and Dan Williston of Midland, cousin of the groom.

D.J. Gainer of Bad Axe, friend of the couple, was the ringbearer.

Organist was June Sampson of Filion. Soloist Janice Binder of Bad Axe sang "The Wedding Song," "Annie's Song," and "In My Heart There Rings a Melody."

A reception was held at Colony House near Cass City for 600 guests from the surrounding area, California, Alabama, Kentucky and the Detroit area.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Bad Axe High School and is employed at Little Ceasars, Bad Axe.

The groom is a 1981 graduate of Bad Axe High School and has enlisted in the U.S. Army.

After their one-week honeymoon to the southern states, the couple is residing in Bad Axe until this fall, when they will move to Fort Ord, Calif.

WEDDING POLICY

The Chronicle will only use photographs with wedding stories if they are received within two months of the wedding date.

Photographs can be in black and white or color.

Mead, the mildly alcoholic beverage that was the favorite drink of Queen Elizabeth I, was made by combining honey and water with spices, herbs and lemons. After boiling, it was left to stand for three months. Finally it was bottled, and considered fit to drink six weeks later.

New books at the library

HEARTBURN by Nora Ephron (fiction), is the tale of Rachel, a noted cookbook author and TV personality. Life turns upside down one day when her attentive husband announces that he is in love with another woman. This book celebrates those things that turn out to be the most important in life — humor, friendship, loyalty, and the unique self-respect and strength that comes from weathering life's storms.

THE PREGNANCY BOOK FOR TODAY'S WOMAN by Howard Shapiro, M.D. (non-fiction). Beginning with unexpected pregnancy ("practical and serious problems can arise when pregnancy follows contraceptive failure"), Shapiro marches on in question-and-answer form through expected conception and early pregnancy, sports and physical fitness, sexuality (including sexually transmitted diseases), travel medications, nutrition, environmental and occupational hazards (from heavy-metal poisoning to pet-borne infections), the new obstetrical technology (monitoring, "fetal therapy"), childbirth and the postpartum period. In addition to the basics, Shapiro throws in all sorts of news: Evidence that vaginal spermicides may cause congenital abnormalities, that pregnant athletes are extra-susceptible to bone and joint injuries because of hormonal changes, etc.

THURSTON HOUSE by Danielle Steel (fiction). Thurston House, built by an enraptured Jeremiah Thurston for his 18-year-old bride, is a palatial Nob Hill residence that withstands the San Francisco earthquake and witnesses years of tragedy and passion. The story focuses upon Jeremiah's daughter, Sabrina, who inherits her father's massive land and business holdings shortly before her 18th birthday and must struggle to manage both the nation's largest quick-silver mines and some then-unprofitable Napa Valley vineyards.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Love letters

By Jim Fitzgerald

A few days ago, on the occasion of his 70th birthday, comedian Red Skelton told a newspaper reporter he had no advice to give on how to get through life. "It has all been said and nobody paid any attention," he explained.

I paid attention. According to my How-To-Get-Through-Life file, it was in 1970 that Skelton publicly advised husbands on how to get through life with their wives. I was so impressed I followed Skelton's advice.

Skelton said he woke up at 5 o'clock every morning and wrote a love letter to his wife. They lived in the same house and slept in the same room, but he still wrote her a mushy letter every day. He probably had his own stamp machine and mailman strategically located beside his bed.

Skelton called the daily messages to his wife "Letters to Little Red." (They both had red hair and he was bigger than she was; get it?) He said the letters were his "thoughts and ideas." They included short stories and musical compositions.

My first reaction was to laugh at Big Red for being a Big Boob, and to sympathize with Little Red who was surely way behind in answering her mail. But my second reaction was to remember that Red Skelton was an eminently successful, wealthy, respected person, and I wasn't. No one ever asked me how to get through life, or even doors. It might well be that Skelton knew something I didn't.

So I decided to wake up at 5 a.m. and write a letter to my wife, Little Dishwater Blond. The only problem was how to wake myself up that early without waking her up, too. My wife and I have always shared the same bed because we believe the couple that sleeps together is the couple that doesn't have to buy two alarm clocks.

There are some people who have "inner" alarm clocks. When they get in bed, they simply tell themselves what time they want to wake up, and they always do. So every night for several months, before going to sleep, I kept telling myself over and over to wake up at 5 a.m. But myself never paid any attention. A few times, in fact, myself laughed in my face. That woke up Little Dishwater Blond, who wanted to know what was so funny. I told her she'd read all about it someday.

She finally did, on the day I managed to write a letter at 5 a.m. by never going to sleep the night before. I kept myself awake by forcing myself to count my wife's shoe boxes by romantic moonlight. There were 18 boxes on her side of the closet and 42 on my side. In the letter, which I slipped under her breakfast plate, I said she was loved madly by the only man in town who had to hang his pants on a tie rack.

My wife wasn't at all impressed when I said my mushy note was inspired by Red Skelton. The trouble was that it took me too long to wake up at 5 a.m. I started trying in 1970 but didn't succeed until 1971, only a few days after Little Dishwater Blond read an embarrassing newspaper item I'd missed.

It said the Skeltons were getting a divorce. It even hinted that Big Red had found another. Perhaps some of his letters were delivered to the wrong address.

Anyway, that was 12 years ago, and I'd forgotten all about taking Red Skelton's advice until reading that he's now 70 and doesn't think anyone ever pays any attention to such advice.

"Just don't take life seriously because you're not going to get out of it alive," he added. "The cemeteries are full of people we couldn't get along without."

I'm just hanging around long enough to see who gets Brooke Shields."

"I wish Skelton said that in 1970," I told myself. "No one had heard of Brooke Shields then, but if he'd said Elizabeth Taylor it would have helped me get through life without writing a dumb letter at 5 a.m."

"Thanks a lot," myself answered, "for reminding me that Brooke Shields will grow up to marry Richard Burton. If it's all the same to you, and there are no more shoe boxes to count, I'd just as soon sleep through that wedding."

Seek aid for troubled firm

The Michigan Department of Transportation, joined with four private firms, has asked the federal bankruptcy court in Grand Rapids to reorganize the financially troubled Upper Peninsula Shipbuilding Co.

The move is tantamount to declaring the corporation -- which was to build a new tug boat and four barges for Great Lakes shipping -- bankrupt.

The action was taken, according to Transportation Director James Pitz, in an effort to "facilitate negotiations aimed at re-opening the shipyard."

UPSCO closed its doors July 2, 1982, in a contract dispute with the state and Pitz said the state has been unable to work with potential investors interested in purchasing the shipyard and resuming operations.

Artis Noel resigns prosecutor's job

Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel, who has held the position 4½ years, has resigned effective Sept. 6.

Noel, 35, has accepted a position with the U.S. attorney's office in Detroit for the eastern district of Michigan. He will be working in the economic fraud section, which deals with such white collar crime as securities and computer fraud and certain embezzlement cases.

The prosecutor said when he came to Tuscola County he was looking for new challenges. "I think now I'm looking for other challenges."

Noel took office Jan. 2, 1979, having been appointed to fill the remaining two years of the term left when Patrick R. Joslyn was elected circuit judge the previous November. In November, 1980, Noel was elected as a Republican to a four-year term as prosecutor.

"You reach a point by staying in a position sometimes you become more sedentary than you should be," he commented. "...some public officials stay too long and I don't intend to be one."

A replacement will be appointed by Joslyn. Presumably one of the frontrunners, if he wants the job, is Chief Assistant Prosecutor Scott Stermer, who has held the position under Noel and Joslyn.

The prosecutor has a staff of four assistant prosecutors (including the chief assistant), one investigator and four secretaries.

Noel's salary is approximately $32,000 annually. He will be making more than that as an assistant U.S. attorney, but said he didn't know yet how much it will be. Although money was a factor, he said challenges, responsibility and the chance for advancement were bigger factors in his deciding to leave. "If money is (the major) factor, I'd just go into private practice."

He admitted he doesn't intend to make a career of the U.S. attorney general's office, that in two or three

The Haire Net

Everyone's got a dream list. A list of things to do, places to visit, life to be experienced.

The really organized person takes his or her dream list and works at it. Like a grocery list. When you buy the meat, cross it off. When you visit the pyramids, cross it off, and go to the next item on the list.

I suspect that more of you operate my way. This list is a nebulous, hazy thing.

Something to drag out of the memory banks over a glass of beer or before the fireplace on a stormy, snowy night in the dead of winter.

The list includes a trip to Alaska to fish for grayling and trout. A trip to New Zealand for rainbow trout.

A tour of Europe just to see the country and maybe get in a little fishing in Scotland.

The trouble with all this is that a trip like this taken alone is worse than taking it as a part of a large group.

My dream trip allows only for the family and-or a couple of personal friends. Not a group of strangers trotting along and reacting like well-trained animals when the tour guide says heel.

Lots of folks look forward to that group experience, make new friends that carry on after the tour is over. To each his own.

One of the reasons the dream list is still that is the need to sit right down and plan ahead, like the careful shopper with the grocery list.

If a person puts his mind to it, there are not many things that he couldn't do if he really wanted to.

The trouble is that advance planning is something that accountants do. Two weeks ahead is a lot for vacation planning. It's more of a case of packing the suitcase, doing whatever fancy strikes at the moment and time and money will permit.

Time and money. Those are two other big hazards to making dreams come true. Big, but not the biggest.

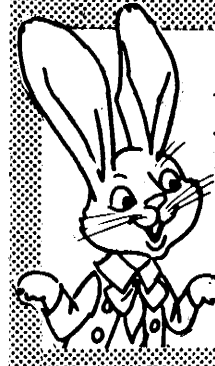

In our family it's interest. It's hard to go fishing in Alaska when there's only one fisherman in the family and roughing it for the other means a room without air conditioning.

Sure we could go our separate ways. But that's not on the dream agenda at all.

Now that doesn't mean that those dreams are merely that. Over the years we have chalked off a few on the list and we'll chalk off a few more as the years pass by.

When you get right down to it, when the time comes that you no longer have a dream list you're really in trouble.

Hopefully it will never happen.

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

A lot of flak came our way after an article appeared saying that senior citizen discounts didn't make sense. Discounts for the young families were more important, the column insisted.

One of a minority agreeing was Bill O'Dell, Novesta Township Supervisor. You were right on there, John, he told me.

You know, he added, I can say that because I'm a senior citizen. (Has been one for quite awhile now, too.)

Those Main Street trees and flowers add sparkle to the Main stem. Hopefully visitors won't veer off a half block south on Oak Street. Especially if they are walking.

A tree was removed there on village property a month or so ago. There is still a mound of chips from the tree about two feet high covering the sidewalk and getting a little soggy from the recent rains.

Close sports observers probably noticed that the picture of the Little League team in the last issue was taken by Art Randall.

Persons with long memories will probably not be surprised. Before he got smart and became a banker, Art worked at the Chronicle. He did just about everything. Started in the back shop and then went on the street selling advertising.

Will history repeat? The Tigers are in the thick of the league race. I can't recall the exact year, but the Tigers were also in the league race that summer for most of the season. But in September the Yankees crushed them and removed all doubt as to who would be champions.

Before that the Phil Retherfords and the Haires were crowing because we had excellent seats for what looked as if it would be the deciding series.

By the time the series came along, seats were a dime a dozen and no one really was talking baseball anymore. We went anyway.

This is the year for the Detroit Tigers

With two months left in the 1983 major league baseball season, the Detroit Tigers find themselves locked in a five-team battle for first place.

After years of rebuilding and empty promises, Manley Asher of 6706 Third Street feels this is the Tigers' year.

"I think they're going to win (the Eastern division)," he said. "They are just as good, if not better, this year than other years."

Asher believes the Detroiters will avoid their traditional losing streak which annually plummets them down into the middle of the standings.

"They're not going to go into a slump," he predicted.

"They are hitting better and getting good pitching, plus the defense is playing better."

"Any man on the team can hit a home run. They have no weak hitters. They aren't all as good as each other but they can still hit." He cited Lou Whitaker as a main reason for the Tigers' success. "That guy really surprised me," he noted.

Asher, a retired auto parts dealer and a former player on Cass City baseball and softball teams, is an avid fan. He listens to or watches "pretty near every game."

Despite the favorable predictions and outlook, he occasionally questions the way manager Sparky Anderson runs the ball club.

"I don't know what to think of him," Asher explained. "He seems to do foolish things for reasons I can't see but he may be a better manager than I think."

The "dog days" of August and September are the portion of the season which separate the contenders from the others.

Except for the strike-shortened 1981 season, the Tigers have not found themselves in contention this late in the year since 1972.

Teams will now play almost every day as the season draws to a close. Not counting make-up games, the Tigers have 54 games in the next 59 days.

The Regular Meeting of Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held July 26, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

The minutes of the regular June meeting were approved as presented.

The May financial statement was reviewed.

The treasurer's report was reviewed showing 27.84 percent of taxes are collected.

The Public Safety Committee reported that nothing has been received from Roger Reid, owner of the Station, for an entertainment license.

Speed limits on Main Street and parking on Ale north of Main and Church east of Seeger were discussed. The matters will be looked into.

The Public Utilities Committee reported that Richard Emmons, bidder on the house located on the Orr Property may not be able to fulfill the bid. A motion was made by Trustee Ware and supported by Trustee Weaver that if a statement of release can be obtained from Emmons we will immediately advertise for bids for removal of the house to be completed by Sept. 30, 1983. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The Street and Parking Committee reported that a letter was received from Gary McCarthy, Engineer of Local Government for the Department of Transportation stating that the Village had the financial capability for repayment of a bond in the amount of $100,000.00 under Governor Blanchard's Emergency Highway Jobs Program. A motion was made by Trustee Ware and supported by Trustee Helwig that the officers be authorized to borrow $100,000 from MDOT to be used for resurfacing of south Seeger from Main to Seventh, Virginia from Hunt to West, Hunt from Virginia to Dale, Seventh and Sixth from Vulcan to Leach, West, Leach and Vulcan from Garfield to Seventh and if allowed to surface our Further plans for close-out of CETA, which will be replaced Oct. 1 by the Job Training Partnership Act and a new administrative agency, were made last Thursday by the consortium administrative board.

The board also accepted the resignation of Frank Lenard as consortium executive director, a position he held eight years.

Lenard has accepted a position as a manufacturer's representative with a firm that sells products to the industrial and commercial construction industry. His last day will be Sept. 9.

At the urging of Lenard, the board hired Marvin N. Pichla of Uby to fill the vacancy beginning Aug. 1 and running through Dec. 31 to complete the closeout program.

Lenard will act as a consultant for the duration of his stay.

Pichla has worked for the consortium for the past three years as a program planner and equal employment opportunity officer.

It was announced that 127 CETA participants will continue their job training under the JTPA. Training programs for 310 CETA participants will end by Sept. 30, the end of CETA.

Lenard reported that the consortium's request for additional Michigan Youth Corps funds was granted. It originally received $72,000, which provided jobs for 50 youth, ages 18-21.

It has received an additional $24,000, enough to provide summer jobs for 30 more. (During the June consortium meeting, Lenard received a telephone call notifying him that an additional $70,000 would be received for the state-funded program. That turned out to be wrong, the additional amount being only $24,000).

existing street project. If the existing street project is not allowed to be resurfaced under the bond to resurface Church from Sherman to Seeger and Garfield from Ale to Seeger. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

A letter was received from Detroit Edison regarding a request for rate increase. The letter and explanation of increase is at the Village Office for review.

A letter was received from the Department of Commerce acknowledging receipt of our application for a lift station under the Michigan Small Cities Emergency Jobs Program public works grant stating that final decisions will be made by Aug. 15, 1983.

The Michigan Municipal League's 85th annual convention will be held Sept. 28 thru 30 in Grand Rapids. First Michigan Cable will start construction for cable service to Northwood Village Estates and Doerr Road by the 2nd week of August.

The Zoning Board of Appeals will meet Aug. 4, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building to hear an appeal from Dr. Robert and Susan Genovese for a zoning variance to bring their structure within two (2) feet of the sidewalk.

A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Weaver to approve the regular bills for payment. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

And now the news

By Mike Eliasohn

I wonder if Roger Mudd will sue NBC.

Chances are he won't. Despite his demotion, his megabucks contract lives on.

Christine Craft presumably didn't have a long-term contract. She is suing her former employer, a Kansas City, Mo., television station for $1.2 million.

There are some parallels. NBC announced last week that Mudd was being dropped as co-anchor of "The NBC Nightly News." Tom Brokaw will become the sole anchor, while Mudd was relegated to the position of "senior political reporter" and host of the "NBC White Paper" documentaries, which hardly anybody watches.

Understandably, Mudd was less than delighted. He called the action shortsighted and accused his employer of caving in to the ratings. NBC, under the Brokaw-Mudd co-anchorship has generally ranked third in the ratings, behind CBS (first) and ABC.

In fact, ABC slipped to third when Frank Reynolds departed in April because of his health. He was supposed to return, but never regained his health and died a few weeks ago.

ABC is now pondering a replacement. It will probably be Peter Jennings, who has been filling in since July 1 and under whom, the fallen ratings have started to creep upwards.

As for Mudd's accusation that NBC's reason for getting him off the 6:30 news was due to ratings, he's probably right, since Reuven Frank, the president of NBC News, admitted the change was "not based on considerations of journalistic merit."

In other words, there was nothing wrong with the job Mudd was doing, but it was thought the ratings would improve without him.

Christine Craft quit KMBC in Kansas City after she was demoted from news anchor to reporter. She is now suing the station for the aforementioned $1.2 million on grounds of sex discrimination. The trial may be over by the time this appears in print.

She was supposedly bumped from the anchoring job because surveys indicated viewers thought she looked too old (she was 36 at the time, two years ago), unattractive and did not adequately "defer to men."

Women have it tough in television news and Craft's lawsuit, depending on the outcome, may start changing that.

Until perhaps 15 years ago, there were few women reporters or anchor persons on television. Finally, the stations started hiring them, but too often, the executives who did the hiring didn't look at the females' credentials. All they did was look, and those who were good looking got hired.

As long as they were gorgeous or semi-gorgeous, about the only other consideration was their ability to speak without stuttering.

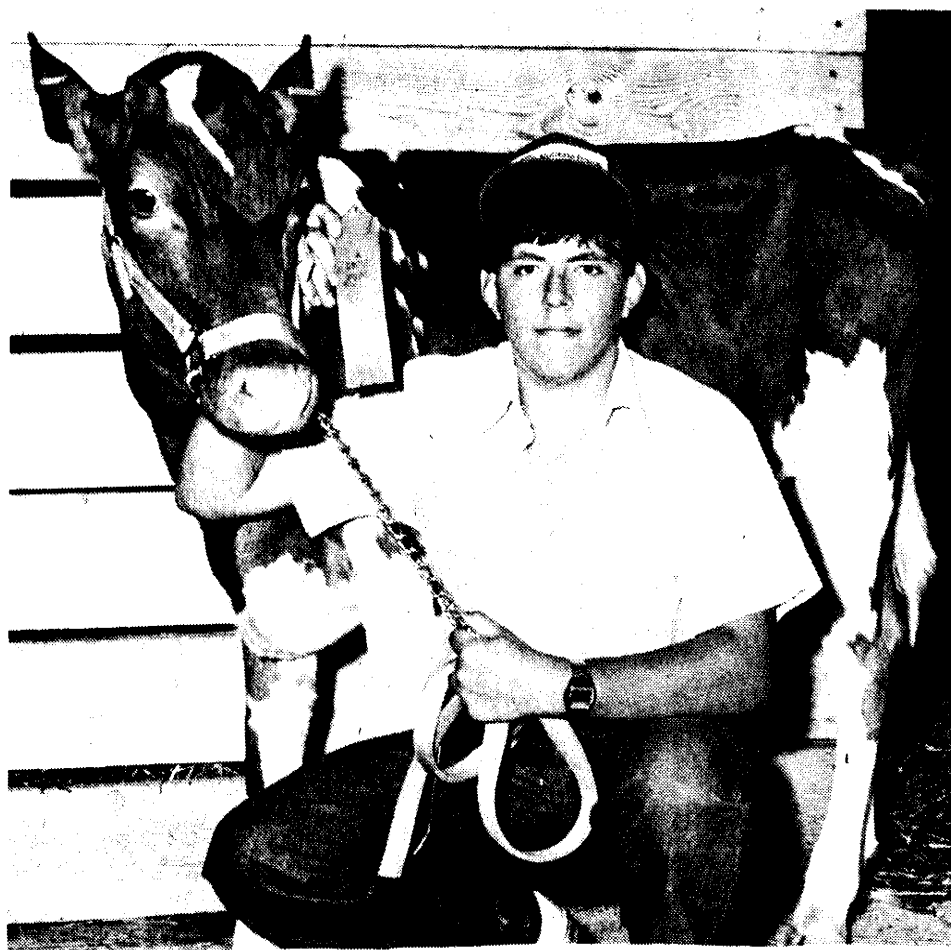

That left out many women who were competent, but not good looking. That also made it tough for women who were good looking AND competent, since they had to work extra hard to prove they weren't hired just because of their looks.

To a lesser extent, the same formula applies to male television reporters, who tend to be fairly young and have neat hair. Few are seen who are bald and/or old. Male anchors can be "mature," as long as they have hair.

I suppose the station in the Craft suit will argue that the criterion used for her was no different than that used for any other anchor person. If the audience viewers don't like you, as reflected in the ratings, you get canned.

Ultimately, perhaps we are the ones at fault. If we like our women young and perky and our men young or "mature" with lots of neat hair, then that is what we will continue to get on television.

As for me, I'm glad I'm in the newspaper business. I don't have to worry about losing my hair.

Police news

Motorcycle, tools, parts taken

Richard H. Tuinstra of 5965 Kingsbury, Kingston, reported to Caro State Police Sunday that his motorcycle was stolen from a garage at the Teen Ranch, 5271 Kingston Road, where he is a houseparent.

The 1975 Honda 360 with chrome fenders and a windshield was taken between 10 p.m. Saturday and 8:45 a.m. Sunday.

Arthur H. Lord, 26, of Caro was arrested by Cass City police on a charge of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor at 1:10 a.m. Monday.

A village patrolman spotted Lord's vehicle heading west on Main Street at a high rate of speed without its headlights on.

When the car was pursued, police said, it began swerving which forced another car off the road. It then went over the curb onto the grass between Weaver and Nestle Streets and then continued west on Main before stopping in the IGA Foodliner parking lot.

Lord was taken to the county jail in Caro. Later that day, he appeared before District Judge Richard F. Kern, where he pleaded guilty to charges of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and operating in violation of restricted license.

The judge accepted his pleas and scheduled sentencing Aug. 22. Bond was set at $1,500 (10 percent), which has been posted.

Village police responded to three larceny reports during the past 10 days.

Jack Spencer of 4405 Woodland Avenue reported July 25 that a centrifugal clutch was taken from a motor bike at his workshop.

He said the theft occurred at approximately 5 p.m. July 24. The clutch was valued at $20.

Douglas Mills of 6361 Pine

Street told police that an FM, 8-track tape player was stolen from a van parked at his home between 9:30 p.m. July 27 and 9 a.m. July 28.

The van and missing property were owned by Lewis R. Wrona, Deford.

A tool box and a set of metric tools valued at $194 were taken from a pickup truck owned by Brian McMahan of 6350 Main Street some time between 10 p.m. July 27 and noon July 28.

The theft was reported Monday by McMahan, who said the truck had been parked overnight behind McMahan Auto Supply, 6497 Main.

Shaw's space flight Oct. 28

It now has been guided into proper orbit, Shaw said, but there are still some problems checking it out to make sure it is working properly, hence the delay.

The module is very heavy, hence the craft will land on the dry lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base in California, which has a longer landing area than at Cape Canaveral.

The sixth shuttle flight was supposed to be the first to land at the Florida base, but because of bad weather there, landed at Edwards like the first five flights. (The seventh shuttle flight, scheduled for launch in August, will also land at Edwards in the first night landing.)

In space, the Columbia will be in operation around the clock in three-man shifts — two specialists and one pilot per shift.

In April, 1982 interview with the Chronicle, Shaw said he decided while in college he wanted to become an astronaut. He has bachelor's and master's degrees in engineering from the University of Wisconsin, received in 1967 and 1968 respectively. He joined the Air Force and became a fighter and test pilot as a means of achieving that goal.

Asked Sunday whether it has sunk in yet that he is soon to accomplish his long sought goal, Shaw responded he has had so much to do to get ready for the flight, he hasn't found himself saying "eureka" yet.

"I have been too busy trying to get myself prepared to think about it much," he said of his finally flying in space.

Audience for liftoff

A large contingent of Cass Cityans and ex-Cass Cityans is planning to go to Florida to see the Columbia take off from Cape Canaveral Oct. 28 with Brewster Shaw Jr. on board.

Among them will be his parents, Brewster (Bruce) and Leone Shaw.

The elder Shaw said their three daughters, spouses and children are also planning on going, a total of 11 persons. The astronaut's sisters are Mary Moore, of Birmingham, Margaret Maycock, Grosse Pointe, and Susan McGrath, Northville.

Also planning to see the launch, according to Shaw, are Mr. and Mrs. Stu Merchant, Dale McIntosh, a close friend of his son from high school days, and Dale's brother, Bob, all of Cass City, and another close friend from Brewster's high school days, Jerry Ross of Walled Lake. Shaw Sr. said his son's wife, Kathleen, and their three children, Brewster III, Jessica, and Brandon, will also be at Cape Canaveral.

The astronaut has asked Cass City village and school officials for some souvenirs from here to possibly take with him, on the flight, according to Dale McIntosh. Reportedly, the school items have been sent (high school Principal Russ Richards, who knows what they were, was out of town). Village officials are still deciding what to send.

Storm knocks out police radio system

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department was without means of communication for 70 minutes early Friday because of lightning.

Undersheriff Paul Megge said the lightning apparently struck the radio antenna. The charge was so strong that the resistors were inadequate to prevent it from damaging the radio system. That was at 3:34 a.m.

The lightning also knocked out the telephone lines, which were back in service at 4:42 a.m.

Until the radio service was restored about 10 a.m., Megge explained, dispatching was done by relaying telephone messages from the basement radio room via walkie talkie to the emergency services car outside, which contains radio equipment.

The Vassar Police Department radio dispatching system was also utilized.

While regular radio service was out and the sheriff's dispatcher was unable to activate fire sirens at each fire department, firemen had to stand by in fire halls across the county. The undersheriff noted with relief there were no fires during that time.

"Right now, we're stumbling through and taking care of our needs," Megge said Tuesday.

The 13-year-old radio system, which was slated for replacement, cannot be fully repaired, he explained. A federal grant, has been approved which will pay part of the cost for a new radio system, but there has been a holdup in receipt of the funds.

The county Board of Commissioners was to meet in a special session this Wednesday to discuss the situation.

Megge noted there was insurance for the damaged radio system.

Storm damage

members in Tuscola, 100 in Huron and 50 in Sanilac losing electricity.

Everyone had their power back by 5:30 a.m., Teel said, except for a few members who didn't report outages earlier. They had their service back by Saturday afternoon.

There were a few outages Sunday night, Teel said, but no more than "normal" for an electrical storm.

He said the various outages were caused by high winds, trees either falling down or swaying branches knocking down lines and lightning.

THE HIGH WINDS also caused problems elsewhere Friday evening. A resident on Ashmore Road in Columbia Township between Unionville and Gagetown reported to the sheriff's department at 8:50 that five trees and some wires were down at her residence.

Earlier, at 7:29, a tree was reported across Bay City-Forestville Road, east of Schwegler Road.

At 7:23, the sheriff's department received a report that a tornado had knocked down two barns and power lines south of Millington.

Loss has been estimated at $120,000 to the barns, plus a damaged silo nearby.

Area pair gird for all-star game

Two area gridders will be among 80 of the state's finest high school football players taking part in the third annual East-West All-Star game Saturday at Michigan State's Spartan Stadium.

Cass City's Dave Osentoski and Owen-Gage's Dan Glidden will be on the East team's roster which is made up of players selected from 229 schools in nine counties from the greater Detroit area and the Thumb.

Both were nominated to play in the game by their respective coaches, Don Schelke of Cass City High School and Arnie Besonen of Owen-Gage High School. They were then selected from other candidates by the East's six-man coaching staff and the board of directors of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association.

Despite playing both ways last season, they will be limited to one position for the all-star classic, which will be attended by many college coaches and scouts.

Osentoski, who is the son of Jennie Osentoski of 6301 Bay City-Forestville Road and the late Vincent Osentoski, will play on the defensive line. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Glidden of Owendale will see action as a wide receiver.

For participating in the game, they both will be given their game jersey, practice t-shirts and shorts and a plaque.

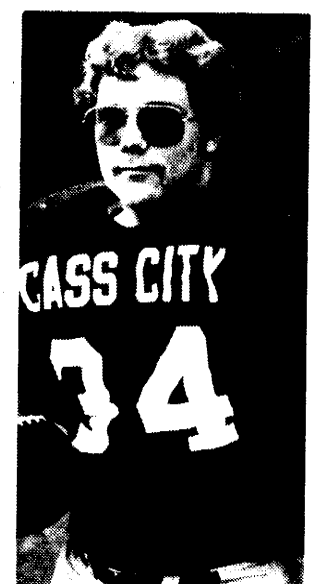

They have been preparing for the game on MSU's campus since last Thursday with other team members.

The game will be televised by WJEM (Channel 5) of Saginaw beginning at 2 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the stadium.

The districts for the men's fast pitch state softball tournament will be held in Cass City this Friday and Saturday.

Competing in the class C division are: Charmont, Cass City, McGraw Edison, Sandusky, Thumb National Bank of Pigeon and Cass City, McMahan Auto Supply, Cass City, and Liberty Lanes, Sandusky.

The class D bracket will feature Sanilac Dairy Farms, Marlette Area Softball Hitters (MASH), Sanilac County Banks, Wolverine State Bank, Marlette, and Wolverine State Bank, Sandusky.

Turner said the teams are placed in their respective divisions based on their won-loss record and the potential of the team's players.

Three teams from each bracket will move on to regional competition which will also be held at the Cass City Recreation Park diamonds Aug. 19-20.

The double-elimination tournament gets underway at 7:30 Friday night and the championship game should be played late Saturday afternoon.

Extension

made to file

jobless claims

Jobless workers in the state will now have longer to file claims for unemployment benefits once they become eligible for those benefits following an illness, injury or hospitalization.

Under the law, unemployed Michigan workers who would have been denied jobless benefits because a disability caused them to lose "credit weeks" needed to qualify for those benefits may now be able to save some of those lost weeks and use them to qualify for jobless benefits.

Prior to the recent change, workers had 45 days from when they became disabled or 45 days from when they were able to make the request to ask MESC to save up or preserve their "credit weeks," while they were disabled.

As a result of the law change, which is effective immediately, workers now have 90 days to make the request for MESC to preserve their credit weeks.

This condition does not render the water unfit or harmful for consumption; however, clothing washed in this water will probably become discolored.

Check the color of your water before placing your clothing into it.

The village is not liable for damage caused by this condition.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

Sales sizzle as temperature soars

Until this past week there had been hardly any relief from the scorching heat wave that has spanned almost two months.

Rain was rare and temperatures in the 90's sent people searching for ways to weather the heat and try to stay cool.

THE ANSWER FOR many persons has been a refreshing dip in the Helen Stevens Memorial Pool in the village park.

Total attendance from May 29, when the pool opened, through July 19 stands at 8,296 which is about 2,500 more swimmers than the same period last year.

According to Pool Director Nancy Tofti, there is "no doubt" that the weather is the cause for the increased numbers.

"We're breaking every record this year," she said. "Lessons this year are so outrageous we've had to hire a new instructor."

She added that so many persons have signed up for the classes that some even had to be turned away and referred to a later session in August.

Nine certified instructors currently teach a total of 201 students enrolled in all classes.

Some people decided to stay away from the crowded village pool by buying their own pools to beat the heat.

"We just finally got some more wading pools in after about a month wait," noted Dick Albee, co-owner of Albee True Value Home Center.

After a big demand for these pools, they are now in short supply. A quick check of other merchants who sell wading pools shows they have been out of stock for quite some time.

ANOTHER CURE FOR summer relief has been a new air conditioner.

"We're still selling them," said Clarence (Bud) Schneeberger, co-owner of Schneeberger TV Sales and Service. "We just got a shipment in after running out of them once already."

Richard Jones, owner of Richard's TV Appliance Sales, echoes Schneeberger's claim. "Air conditioner sales have been better than before," he said. "I'd say this has been our best year in 45 years."

Fans too are in big demand and have been selling like hot cakes.

"We've sold a record number of fans," noted Mary Rabideau, manager of the Ben Franklin store. "I've reordered them but they're still selling. We got 12 fans Tuesday (July 26) and by Tuesday night, way over half were gone."

"We've really noticed an increase (over last year)," Albee commented. "For the first time in years and years, my wholesaler was all out of fans. This year has been very atypical. Usually I order one shipment for the whole summer, but this year I've reordered three times and now I can't get any more."

Betty Stilson, who owns Bigelow Hardware, reported that her business has experienced the same thing. She said the store has sold out all its fans on two separate occasions.

A TRADITIONAL source of hot weather relief is ice cream.

According to Mrs. Michael Isa, owner of Kar Mikel's Dairy Cone, this has been a busy summer.

"This year has been the best of the five years we've (she and her husband) owned the place."

While lines of people outside of Kar Mikel's are a common sight, the same has not been true at the Parkway.

"For the most part, they (ice cream cone sales) went down," commented Dick Turner who owns the year-old store.

"Parents are not wanting their kids to buy ice cream cones because they wouldn't be able to get them out of the store without running down their shirt (due to the heat melting them). I'm not saying that's the reason but, when we sold ice cream at the corner of the Pinney bank during sidewalk days we found this to be true."

The recent thunderstorms have brought some much needed rain and offered a brief respite from the heat.

However, with the beginning of August, meteorologists are predicting hotter weather to move back into the Thumb causing people's search for heat relief to continue for at least a little while longer.

By Bill Myers Taking stock

Tax on a package of cigarettes doubled to 16 cents the first of the year.

Vending machines will soon be charging $1.25 a pack. Carton prices will be around $10, or $1 a pack.

The pack-a-day smoker will thus be paying $365 a year for satisfying the nicotine habit.

I will not add to the preachments on lung cancer and assorted maladies that may afflict you, although they are part of the price tag.

Here we're talking only about dollars. So you're a lad or lassie, age 15, and your friends are smoking, so why not you? It's fun, and it gives you a certain status in the group.

In case you might want to look ahead for 50 years, which I doubt any 15-year-old would ever consider...

Here is what $365 a year, saved and invested at 10 percent, would amount to in 50 years:

$467,309!

I seldom use an exclamation point in writing. The one above seemed appropriate.

I didn't believe the figure myself and ran it through the calculator two or three times. It is nearly half a million dollars.

All you need to do is sock away the $1 a day you would otherwise spend for cigarettes until it's $365 each year, and invest that at 10 percent and let it all grow and grow.

The health benefits of not smoking are widely known. I've acted as pallbearer for a number of friends who would have gladly given half a million in later life if it would have cured their lung cancer or emphysema.

So you're not 15 — and few readers of this column are — and you're 40 year-old. What will $365 a year saved amount to for you by the time you're 65?

Not nearly so impressive as though you'd saved the $365 annually for 50 years. But still pretty good:

$28,818.

You're 65 and the $28,818, put out at 10 percent, with no further contributions, brings you in $2,881 a year. A nice supplement to your Social Security.

I mentioned some of these figures to a good friend, not so far from retirement. Her comment:

"And now you tell me."

Switching from nicotine to U.S. Savings Bonds, several have asked me to explain the new method of paying interest on these bonds.

The new bonds, which came into being in November, now guarantee 7.5 percent. This means the bond you pay $100 for now will become worth $200 in a little less than 10 years.

There can be an extra bonus, but you have to wait five years to get it. Bonds you hold now, freshly bought, or old ones, if kept for five years longer, will pay besides the 7.5 percent guarantee, extra interest, if the average rate on five-year governments is over 7.5 percent.

The total amount will be 85 percent of the higher rate. Example: Five years from now, say, the rate on government bonds is 10 percent. Take 85 percent of that and the total rate paid you will be 8.5 percent, one percent more than you were promised in 1982.

Remember, you have to wait five years to get the extra rate. Cash in before and only the 7.5 percent rate applies.

The new system is an improvement over the old. Savings Bonds offer a easy and steady way to save through payroll deduction.

For those who don't need the discipline, though, you'll make more by doing your own investing.

Elect officers at McAlpine reunion

Eighty-four descendants of Andrew McAlpine Sr., who was born in Scotland in 1775, attended the 14th annual McAlpine reunion at the Caro fairgrounds July 24.

People attending for the first time were: Kay (MacAlpine) Churchill and sons Matthew and Michael, Davison; Ruby Hartman, Saginaw; Fred and Helen (Moss) Lambley, Florida; Jack and Joyce Lambley, Canada, and Lesta (McAlpine) Westmore, Nebraska.

Chairman Charlene Trisch started the afternoon with the welcome. Harold Hawk gave the blessing before everyone ate a potluck dinner. Games were played by the children and ice cream cones were enjoyed by everyone.

Prizes were given to the oldest, George McAlpine, Mt. Morris; youngest, Joshua Taylor; largest family and having the most grandchildren present, Iva McAlpine, Elkton, and traveling the longest distance, Lesta Westmore, Nebraska.

Election of officers were as follows: chairman, Don

Hartman, Clio; vice-chairman, Carol Bodziak, Clarkston; secretary and treasurer, Ruth Willerton, Argyle; children's games, Dorothy Faust, Caro; adult games, Carol Bodziak, and entertainment, Dennis Kundering, Sebawaing. The 1984 reunion will be in Caro July 22.
