Benefits are many from tourism, speakers say

By Mike Eliasohn

The name of the game is making money, tourism is a good way to make it, it isn't necessary to have a lake to attract tourists and agriculture and tourism "fit together real well."

Those were among the messages delivered at the economic development conference last Thursday sponsored by State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Fairgrove).

The morning and afternoon program at the Colony House on M-53, Cass City, attracted about 65 persons, mostly from Huron and Tuscola Counties, which form Allen's district.

The program was largely devoted to tourism, with some attention paid to retail business.

The first speaker, Dr. Edward Mahoney, Michigan State University tourism extension specialist, said even economists who disagree about whether the economy will continue to grow or stay at the same level agree persons will have more leisure time in the future.

Tourism "is a growth industry," he commented. "It will continue to grow to the year 2000 and beyond."

Since 1958, employment in the travel industry has grown twice as fast as total employment in the U.S.

He pointed out, "People don't have to travel 50 miles to be a tourist...All they have to do is spend bucks."

One of the advantages of tourism, he continued, is, "It affects almost every business in a community."

As for those who would argue it's necessary to have a lake or other natural attraction to attract tourists, "That's crazy."

The day before, the MSU assistant professor was at a tourism meeting at a ski resort in Iowa. "That's quite a task to get people to ski in Iowa," but because of promotion, the ski industry in Iowa is growing.

THE MAIN AFTERNOON speaker, Donald Keller of the Bavarian Inn in Frankenmuth, echoed Mahoney's remarks. "We don't have a lake. We don't have a ski resort. He drew chuckles from the audience when he added, "We don't even have a hill in our Bavarian town of Frankenmuth."

The Saginaw County community of 3,800 wasn't always a tourist attraction, he pointed out. One day in 1930, proceeds from what is now the Bavarian Inn totaled 5 cents. Until 1949, employees parked their cars in front, to make the restaurant look busier.

Now, Frankenmuth attracts 2.5 million visitors a year, more than Holland, Mich., Mackinac Island or Greenfield Village.

Kidney transplants give pair new lease on life

COMPARING NOTES -- Discussing their kidney transplant operations are Doris Mester and Ed Karr.

Doris Mester and Ed Karr have something in common -- the kidneys that keep them alive originally belonged to someone else.

Mrs. Mester, 53, of Shabbona Road, Deford, had a kidney transplant May 8 at University Hospital in Ann Arbor. Karr, 56, of Cass City Road, Cass City, had a kidney transplant April 27 at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

Although replacing diseased kidneys with healthy ones from live or dead donors is becoming more common, the operation is still relatively rare. Newsweek magazine, in an Aug. 29 article on organ transplants, reported there were 5,358 such operations in the United States last year.

Neither Karr nor Mrs. Mester was in immediate danger if they didn't have the transplants when they did.

Mrs. Mester had a polycystic kidney condition, first diagnosed in 1964, which causes cysts or tumors to grow inside the kidneys.

Her condition deteriorated to the point she was getting forgetful, nauseous, had an irregular heartbeat and was so weak, she couldn't walk out the door.

That was until last November, when she started using at home what is called an intermittent peritoneal dialysis machine. Through a surgically implanted tube running into her stomach, the machine pumped a solution into her peritoneal cavity. The fluids absorbed the poisons in her blood, then were drained out, to be replaced each 20 minutes by new solution.

The job of the kidneys is to remove poisons and excess fluids from the blood, which they can't do if they are diseased.

Mrs. Mester had to use the machine three times a week, 10 hours each time, although it could operate while she was sleeping.

KARR HAS A DIFFERENT type of kidney disease called nephrotic syndrome, which causes the kidneys to fill with scar tissue. He may have had it many years, but the first symptom to surface was a blood clot in August, 1976. The nephrotic syndrome was diagnosed the following June.

Karr was on hemodialysis 26 months prior to having his transplant. A different procedure than the one used by Mrs. Mester, it involves inserting two needles into the patient's arm. The poisoned blood is pulled out through one needle, is cleaned, and returned to the body through the other needle.

An appraiser in the Tuscola County Equalization Department, Karr would drive to Saginaw General Hospital after work. The hemodialysis took four hours, then he drove home.

He first went Mondays and Fridays, but for the last four or five months before the operation, also had to go Wednesdays because "my condition was declining toward the last."

Right after the hemodialysis was when he felt best. "The roughest part was the morning after I had been on dialysis. It felt like I was hit by a truck."

On the mornings after, he worked at his desk. By afternoon, he felt good enough that he could go out and do field appraisals.

Most persons on hemodialysis aren't well enough to work. Of the 75 undergoing the procedure at Saginaw General when Karr was there, he and only one other had jobs.

As well as being inconvenient, dialysis is not a permanent solution for diseased kidneys. The bones were starting to deteriorate of a 34-year-old man at Saginaw General, who had been on dialysis for 13 years, Karr said, plus other things were going wrong. "There are a lot of side effects (to dialysis)," he commented, "none of which is favorable."

Despite protests

Board oks pay hikes; looks at testing

Despite protests by an estimated 20 residents, the Cass City School Board by a vote of 5 to 2 approved raises of 8.6 to 32.3 percent for administrators and other non-union employees.

The action was taken Monday night at a special meeting of the board at the high school.

Voting for the new salaries were President Ed Scollon, Dick Wallace, Dick Albee, Ben Hobart and Louis Horner. Voting against the increases were Thresa Burnette and Dr. E. Paul Lockwood.

Members of the board explained the policy of salary payment, saying that the aim was to keep the staff in a competitive position with other area districts of similar size.

The protest group ignored that argument saying that the increase in wages would result in an increase in taxes.

Board members said that no tax increase is expected next year and there would be no cuts in services.

While the salary question provided the most interest, the meeting had been originally called to discuss goals.

Although no action was taken, last year's progress on the goals set by the board were reviewed and several new goals discussed. They will be acted on at the regular meeting of the board Oct. 10.

While the direction the school is taking will not be changed substantially, one new goal expected to be adopted is testing in the school.

Trustee Horner suggested that passing minimal tests should be required for a diploma.

A committee of Horner and Albee was appointed to investigate.

Wallace suggested that the administration work to have a better rapport with the community and business. Another new goal suggested is the team approach between teachers and management.

Joseph Day appeared before the board to explain the cost factors in a new boiler for the 30-year-old unit in Campbell Elementary School.

He said that of the estimated 25 percent savings, 10 percent is estimated from increased efficiency and 15 percent from the use of natural gas which presently costs less than fuel oil.

The board feels that the difference in cost of fuel may equalize soon and does not figure the 15 percent fuel savings should be figured when computing the "pay back" time of a new unit.

The 10 percent savings is not enough to warrant a change, members said, but because the unit is 30 years old and some repairs are needed now, they may go ahead with the change.

The cost is in the $20,000 range and trustees decided not to make a decision until the new budget is presented at the next regular meeting.

One of the goals from the previous year has been completed. That was the establishment of a citizens' advisory committee. The board then pledged to the committee and the agriculture advisory committee its full support and assistance.

Other goals are the restoration of music and physical education in the elementary schools and more uniform discipline enforcement.

TITLE II

Assistant Principal Roland Pakonen appeared before the board and said that money available to the school under the Title II program is $11,735, about $400 less than the school received last year.

The money will be used to expand the computer program with purchase of three Apple computers. One will be for the Intermediate School and two for the high school.

Also to be purchased will be 3 video cassette players with televisions. The units will be available for use with computers; if needed, in future years. The units will be used in Deford, Evergreen and Campbell Schools.

Accident sends 4 to hospital

A Saturday night accident northwest of Kingston sent four persons to Caro Community Hospital.

Treated and released from there were the two drivers involved, Stuart C. Atwell, 62, of 4622 Kennebec Drive, Cass City, and September Leigh Bell, 20, of Mayville.

The passenger in the Atwell auto, Betty M. Fry, 57, of 2491 Hurds Corner Road, Cass City, was discharged from there Tuesday.

There were two passengers in the Bell auto. Rena M. Smith, 14, of Caro, was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw, where she was released Monday. Mark W. Seddon, 20, suffered possible injuries, according to the accident report, but the Caro hospital had no record of his being treated there.

Sheriff's deputies reported Atwell was southbound on Hurds Corner, failed to stop at the stop sign at Bevans Road and hit the westbound Bell vehicle broadside.

The Atwell auto skidded around and came to a halt in the ditch at the southwest corner of the intersection. The three passengers in the Jeep-type Bell vehicle, deputies said, were all thrown out after it went through the ditch. It came to a halt in a hay field at the southwest corner.

Atwell was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield. The accident took place at 10:25 p.m.

Laurianne Hugo, 28, of 4417 Woodland Avenue, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after a 3:05 p.m. mishap Friday.

Cass City police said her vehicle was northbound on Ale Street and ran into the left side of a car that was exiting the driveway on the north side of the Parkway store. It was driven by James S. Newsome, 19, of 5087 Green Road.

Police said both drivers' Please turn to page 4.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

The TV segment about Dr. H.T. Donahue in the "Super Doc" series on channel 2 will be aired at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 28. Cable users can catch it on channel 11.

The good news is that school enrollment is up in the early elementary grades. The bad news is that enrollment is down in the Intermediate School.

When "fourth Friday" rolls around and official census is taken, enrollment is expected to be about the same or even up a mite from 1982-83.

That's a reverse of recent years when the pupil count was steadily dropped.

An increase in students means an increase in state aid under the complicated formula districts operate under.

What a difference a couple of weeks make. Dick Donahue is four tickets to the Baltimore-Detroit baseball game Saturday afternoon and was having trouble even giving them away Tuesday.

One man's opinion. Whatever the betting line take Illinois to top Michigan State Saturday. How come a Michigan State grad would say such a thing? Well, Cliff Ferguson, a sharpie in financial matters and betting, was in town visiting the old home town from bases in the mountains of North Carolina and sunny Florida and that reminded me of what he used to say about letting emotions cloud judgement.

John, it's nice to be a fan, but do you know something? I don't have a nickel invested in either of those teams.

Of course I don't know if Cliff's as sharp as he used to be. After all, we stuck him for the coffee Monday as he was packing up to leave.

Rain delaying bean harvest

The 1983 dry bean harvest is starting to look like a repeat of 1982, the Michigan Bean Shippers Association reported Monday.

Wet and cool conditions in Ontario, Michigan and Minnesota-Dakota will keep most navy bean producers on the sidelines for the front part of this week," the MBSA said prior to resumption of rain Tuesday.

Based on its survey of county extension directors, it reported that 35 percent of the bean crop had been harvested so far in Tuscola, with yields averaging 12.5 hundredweight (cwt.) per acre.

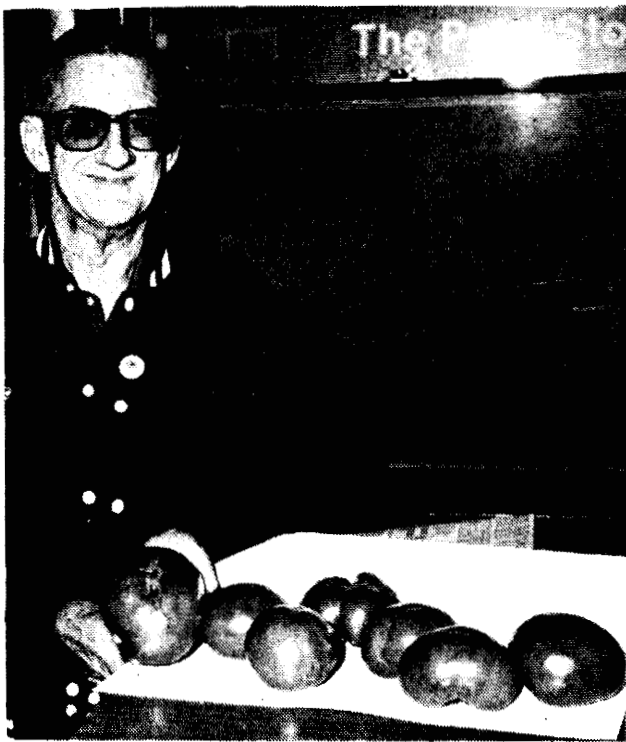

In Huron County, 20 percent of the 48,000 acres of navy beans had been harvested, with yields averaging 11.5 cwt. No report was available for Sanilac County.

Of the Michigan counties surveyed, Tuscola had the largest percentage harvested. "Extremely wet" Arenac had the least, 5 percent.

In Ontario, about half the 65,000 acres had been harvested, with yields of 12.4 cwt. before it rained Thursday and Friday. A year ago, only 1-2 percent was harvested.

The harvest in Minnesota and North Dakota is behind the 1982 pace, with close to 20 percent off in N.D. and about 15 percent under cover in Minnesota.

CLIFF SEELEY of 5217 Buehly Road reports that the crop of tomatoes this year was the best he can remember in 14 years of gardening. The "Big Boy" plants have been uniformly productive, he says. The largest of the large tomatoes measured 1 1/2 inches in circumference.

TOBACCO GROWER -- Harold Spencer of Kingston decided if tobacco can be grown in Kentucky, it can be grown in his garden. The result was the large leaves behind him, plus the 8-foot high blossoms behind the leaves. Spencer's garden also yielded the 53-pound watermelon he is holding.

If your neighboring store owner operated the way some large concerns do, they wouldn't last a year.

In October a large printing equipment show has been scheduled in Washington, D.C.

When the news first came our way via a page ad in a trade magazine several months ago, plans were formulated to take in the show together with all family members that could make it.

Without delay the computer card was filled in and zipped off for "full information" supposedly by return mail.

That was three months ago. Since then a couple more page ads have been printed inviting inquiries. About a month ago in a subsequent ad, a phone number was given in fine print.

In California, naturally. Determined to attend that show, I called. The girl was pleasant, cooperative and left me thinking that she didn't know which end was up.

Nothing that has happened since has changed my mind. All that has been learned about that show is that it's slated in Washington, D.C.

It's hard to figure isn't it? The promoters spend thousands of dollars promoting the show and when a potential customer comes knocking, no one's home.

It wouldn't be surprising if a flood of information comes pouring in at the very last minute. It also wouldn't be too surprising if it never arrived.

Certainly, a couple of visitors from a small country business in a small country town is strictly small potatoes.

But small firms are the rule and not the exception in graphic arts. There are bundles more firms with a half dozen employees than there are those with 100 or more.

What's more, these small firms spend millions for equipment every year.

With management like that, it's not surprising that Japanese made equipment is popping up like weeds in shops across the country.

Americans sometimes make it just too hard to buy American.

Free fire inspections available

Fire Prevention Week is the second week in October, but Elkland Township Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. would rather not wait until then to remind building owners of the importance of inspections to determine potential fire hazards.

Firemen will provide them free in homes and businesses. Any member of the department can be contacted or a postcard can be addressed to the fire hall on Church Street to ask for an inspection.

In addition to pointing out potential fire hazards for everyone, for businesses, they will draw a map showing where explosives and flammable substances are stored and where electrical shutoffs are located.

The maps will be kept on file at the fire department for reference in case of fire.

"I think it helps everybody," Root said of the fire inspections. "It's a convenience to us and protection for them."

Lightning strikes, but no damage

Lightning apparently struck part of the electrical system outside the Cole Carbide plant on M-81, east of Cass City, Sunday morning.

Elkland Township firemen received the call at 8:15. When the lightning struck, it activated the fire alarm which goes off at the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department in Sandusky.

There was no fire and firemen could find no signs of damage from lightning inside the building.

Give and take

By Jim Fitzgerald

Put-take seasons for pheasants are silly seasons for me. That is, I often write silly things about them. No one likes to look silly, so I'm glad the current put-take season will be the last one.

Michigan's first put-take season was in 1973. I remember it well. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) bred pheasants at a hatchery and then put them loose in various game areas so they could be taken by brave hunters who volunteered to protect their communities from ring-neck around the collar.

The DNR always uses marvelous euphemisms. Young men are drafted and killed, but young pheasants are put and took. Taking a pheasant is the same as harvesting it. Hunters always harvest; they never kill. The well-dressed hunter wears bib overalls, carries a pitchfork and drives an Allis-Chalmers tractor. Back on the farm, the hired man shoots wheat.

Ten years ago, I lived near one of the put-take game areas, so I got a good view of the initial season. It was thrilling.

On the first Friday, 250 pheasants arrived by truck. (No taking was allowed on Friday, for fear harvesters would shoot at the truck before it parked.) The birds were released in a designated harvesting area the size of a few city blocks. On Saturday and Sunday, according to the DNR, 3,500 armed harvesters came after the 250 pheasants.

The harvesters didn't have much room for maneuvering. They had to advance on the enemy in lockstep, after practicing close order drills in the parking lot. Each pheasant was offered a cigarette and blindfold. Not one of the 250 birds escaped. The 3,500 brave harvesters were able to secure the area until the next week end when another invasion of pheasants was successfully fought off, despite high casualties suffered by harvesters who kept tripping over each other's furrows.

One of the harvesters, during an interview, accused me of having a cynical attitude toward the put-take season. Perhaps he didn't think I was sincere when I asked if it were permissible for harvesters to use nuclear weapons in the game area on Sundays.

"You are being silly," he said. "The pheasants are bred to be shot. It's a sport. It gets a man out into the woods and fresh air and gives him a chance to improve his marksmanship."

Certainly. Pheasants aren't human beings. They are dumb animals, so why not breed them for no other reason than to shoot them?

Except a cock pheasant is about the prettiest bird you'll ever see fly across a country road. And I keep wondering if something in a bird's head doesn't think: "Hey, that hurts!" when a hunk of lead tears through its wing.

Good Lord, I even wonder if a luckier pheasant feels bad, maybe mourns a little, when his buddy is blasted out of the sky. How do you like that for silly?

But that's the type of silly nonsense I've consistently written about put-take seasons. Once, when the DNR complained about mobile harvesters trailing its pheasant trucks, eager to take at the first hint of put, I even suggested that decoy trucks be used to lead the harvesters astray, preferably over a cliff.

So naturally I was happy to learn the state Legislature voted to harvest the put-take program after this year because the $675,000 annual cost is more than taxpayers can afford. Soon there'll be no more reason to embarrass myself by worrying aloud about whether pheasants resent being born free to be harvested, with only a truck ride in between.

Marines the U.S. put in Lebanon are taken without being allowed to shoot back, just as though they were pheasants. The Soviets harvest 269 airline passengers out of the sky. And so on. In the face of all the people-to-people cruelty wracking the world, it is silly to fret about cruelty to pheasants.

And, of course, it's even sillier to believe people won't stop killing each other for real estate until they stop killing animals for sport. As any red-blooded harvester will tell you, anyone silly enough to believe that should be put and took.

Podiatrists opening foot clinic in Cass City

Northeastern Michigan Foot Clinics is opening a clinic in Cass City starting Sept. 28.

It will be located in the Hills and Dales Medical Clinic, 4672 Hill Street, across from the hospital, and be open two days a week, sometimes three.

It will be the sixth clinic operated by the firm. The others are in Essexville, West Branch, Alpena, Grayling and Harrison.

The firm's president, Dr. T.L. Scharffe, is the fifth podiatrist in his family and the third generation to practice podiatry. The first started practicing in Bay City in the early 1900s.

He graduated from Illinois College of Podiatry in 1967 and served one year of surgical residency at Woodward General Hospital in Detroit.

Scharffe is a member of the American Podiatry Association, has served six years as treasurer of the Michigan State Podiatry Association and is on its peer review committee, and is also a member of the American Ambulatory Foot Surgeons.

He will be in Cass City some of the time, but the new clinic will be staffed mostly by Dr. R.R. Wright.

A 1978 graduate of the University of Michigan with a B.S. degree in biology and chemistry, Wright graduated from the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in 1982 and joined Scharffe for his post-graduate study and is now a regular staff member.

In Chicago, Wright was active in the student chapter of the American College of Sports Medicine and the American College of Foot Surgery.

The Mt. Morris native hung up his roller skates in 1978. Before then, he won three North American titles, went to Germany with the world roller skating team and was a professional roller skating instructor for two years.

"My first visit to a podiatrist office occurred because I developed some problems with my feet which affected my skating," he said.

Board forgets who elected them

Dear Editor:

Abraham Lincoln would have hung his head in shame at the board meeting Monday night at Cass City High School.

He made famous the words, "Government of the people, by the people, for the people." What a mockery of those words Monday night!

What happened to the promises made by board members (before elections) to be the representatives of the people?

The board room was full of taxpayers, all heatedly voicing their opinions against the raises for the administrators, (except, of course, the administrators involved). They ranged in ages from young to senior citizens.

It's a sad, sad day when taxpayers won't go to the board meetings because of their attitudes. They say, "They'll (the school board) do what they want anyway. If they had the school filled with people against the raises, most of the board members would still say, 'Yes sir! Yes sir!'"

I know most of the board members will say, "The people voted us in; that has to say something." All it says to me is that you are more popular with the town people. Hitler had to have been a mighty popular person in his day. I wonder how he would have fit in as a board member.

People have just plain given up trying to have a voice in government, local or otherwise.

Maybe we can't change the governmental system, but we can sure try locally. It's a beginning and anything that was ever accomplished has to start somewhere.

We must get away from the defeatist attitude and start speaking up for what we believe. Let's put government, at least locally, in the hands of WE, THE PEOPLE.

vision was obstructed by a bread delivery truck parked by the east curb on Ale.

John R. Heard, 26, of 4152 Sherman Street, Cass City, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies on a charge of failure to stop in an assured clear distance after a 5:20 p.m. accident Friday near Caro.

They reported he was southbound on Evergreen Drive, south of Village Drive, and lost control of his car when it hit a wet spot.

The car went off the turn where the road curves east and struck a tree.

David L. Marquardt, 32, of 1741 S. Kingston Road, Kingston, was arrested by deputies on charges of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and operating with a blood alcohol content level of .10 or better after an accident at 11:15 p.m. Sunday at Wilmot.

Deputies reported he passed a car on Kingston Road, just south of Wilcox Road, then put his vehicle into reverse and backed into the front of the other car. Driver of the other auto was Mary Beth Thrall, 19, of 4626 S. Kingston Road, Kingston.

Marquardt was taken to the county jail. He appeared Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern, who scheduled a pre-trial hearing Nov. 8. He was released from jail on $1,500 personal recognizance bond.

At 12:45 a.m. Sunday, according to deputies, Frank M. Spencer, 16, of 3880 Cemetery Road, was eastbound on River Road, west of Cemetery Road, when his steering wheel came off or broke after crossing the railroad tracks.

His vehicle went off the north side of the road and hit a tree.

Robert W. Giddings, 31, of 4881 Hartsell Road, Cass City, was headed northeast on M-81, south of Akron Road, at 11:15 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 13, according to deputies, when his auto struck a deer.

Board shouldn't be 'good guys'

Open letter to the Cass City School Board:

Monday evening, I attended the meeting, open to the public, at the Cass City High School which was a first for me.

As I had heard stories and rumors over the years, I had to go and see for myself, and that I did!

Of course, the meeting was in regard to an increase of the salaries of administrators.

Now I was always of the opinion that the board acted on behalf of the public - a liaison between the administration and the community in general. Not so, as I was soon to observe.

The increase in salaries that the administrators asked for and received so easily wiped out completely the freeze of a year ago, but no matter to the board - they want to be the good guys!

But the frosting on the cake was when Dick Albee, Louie Horner and one other cried out "But these administrators will leave if we don't give them the raise - they will go somewhere else."

Now really, where would they go? There are many educators waiting for such opportunities, and you know it!

But you folded; the board caved in. Well, you sure did

Tourist

By Mike Eliasohn

A conference devoted mainly to tourism wouldn't seem to have much benefit for Cass City, other than it was held at a facility with a Cass City address.

There was a lot of valuable information presented at the conference last Thursday at the Colony House. It was sponsored by State Rep. Dick Allen, whose district consists of all of Huron County and most of Tuscola.

Unfortunately, there weren't many persons from Cass City there to hear what was presented. County Commissioner Royce Russell and ex-commissioner Maynard McConkey were there. The only other person from Cass City, for only about an hour, was a Walbro executive.

No one was there from the business community or the village government.

Cass City isn't going to be a tourist mecca, but anything done anywhere in the upper Thumb to attract more tourists benefits Cass City because some of those tourists are going to go through this town and some are going to stop to buy gas, eat a meal or go shopping.

For the most part, Cass City is a place persons travel through, not to.

But, as Dr. Edward Mahoney pointed out at the conference, if a town is clean with hospitable residents and it makes itself known, more persons are likely to stop there on their way to some place else.

He also pointed out that tourists aren't necessarily persons who travel long distances or stay for several days. "All they have to do is spend bucks."

Using that definition, the many football players and their families who participate in week-end tournaments here are tourists. The Lions Club members

Tpr. Smith reassigned to Erie

State Police Trooper Robert G. Smith, a former Cass City police officer, has been reassigned from the Sandusky post to the Erie post, south of Monroe, effective Oct. 9.

Smith, 35, joined the state police in 1977 and served at the Jonesville, Detroit freeway and Iron River posts prior to being assigned to the Sandusky post.

Smith was born in Paintsville, Ky.

probably didn't think of it when they built the pavilion this summer across from the softball diamonds, but they were aiding tourism.

And the tournaments wouldn't be played here if there weren't such excellent diamonds in the park and elsewhere in the area and persons willing to put on the tournaments.

Persons who come to the Fourth of July festival here and the Village Bach Festival each November are also tourists, as are those who come to family reunions, even if they only come for a day or a few hours.

It is unfortunate that the Thumb area has never fully developed its tourist potential. It's a lot closer to the Detroit area than is northern Michigan, where so many of the tourist dollars are spent. Travel time may not make a big difference for a week's vacation, but it sure does for a week-end outing.

Donald Keller of the Bavarian Inn mentioned at the conference that when Frankenmuth hosted bus tour operators from 15 states and Canada as part of a program to promote Michigan for bus tours, they bypassed the Thumb. "There wasn't one thing we felt we could promote here in the Thumb," From Frankenmuth, the group went to Alpena.

A lot of tourists, of course, do go to Frankenmuth. My article on the front page gives the numbers.

Keller pointed out that it wasn't always that way. Persons go to Frankenmuth and return (80 percent of the business there is from repeaters, he said) because everything is clean, employees are hospitable (they receive training in how to be hospitable, at least at the Bavarian Inn), the food is good and the town spends a lot of money for promotion.

The Bavarian Inn alone spends $325,000 a year for advertising, which is 3 percent of gross sales. The advertising budget was doubled when the recession started in order to keep business at the same level. McDonald's spends 4 1/2 percent of gross receipts for advertising, according to Keller.

Back to what I said about any increase in tourism in the upper Thumb would help Cass City.

Keller said they took a count one day and found Bavarian Inn served 601 persons, all riding tour buses, who were going to or from the Tulip Festival in Holland, which is on the other side of the state.

Evergreen Guys & Gals 4-H club of the month

The Evergreen Guys and Gals has been named the Sanilac County 4-H club of the month.

4-H in Evergreen Township goes back to near the beginning of 4-H in the county.

Marie Meredith of Snover recalls being a first-year member in 1933. They exhibited their projects at the Snover School. 4-H was held in the country schools with the teachers and parents as leaders.

Miss Meredith, as a leader now, stated that in 1946 they held their achievement in the Argyle Hall. After that, it was at the Mariette School and later at the Decker School. She taught for 23 years and retired in the late 60's.

The Evergreen Guys and Gals was organized May 31, 1953, after the consolidation of Evergreen Township schools into the Evergreen Township Unit School in Shabbona.

Betty Murphy, former teacher in Evergreen, helped organize the club and came up with the name, Evergreen Guys and Gals.

At their June meeting in 1953, there were 25 members that met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Gray of Decker.

They elected their first officers as follows: president, Janet Peters (Laszlo); vice-president, JoAnn Burns; secretary, Janet Auslander (Severance); treasurer, Marilyn Gray; reporter, Leslie Severance, and recreation, Wanda Bader and Ronald Smith.

A former leader, Maxine Kennedy of Decker, recalls the highlight of her time as leader in 1964 was when county 4-H members took over the 4-H Eatstand at the Sanilac County 4-H Fair from the fairboard. Prior to this it was really a very tight budget financially for the county 4-H program.

More recent administrative leaders, Audrey Leslie and John Agar, recall a much larger membership in the 1970s than today.

There were 115 members and some of their activities were an Evergreen Guys and Gals fall achievement at the Evergreen School, box social, birthday calendar sales, roadside cleanup, mother and daughter tea and an Evergreen Guys and Gals Teen Club.

Members have won at the State Tel-awards and gone to the national 4-H convention in Chicago. Several members have gone to the Citizenship Shortcourse in

Speaker to discuss drugs and alcohol

The Citizens Advisory Committee to the Cass City Board of Education is inviting the public to its first meeting of the school year at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Speaker will be Suzanne Bowns, project director for the Tuscola County Alcohol Information and Counseling Center.

The meeting will be in the agriculture room, room 103, at the high school.

Washington, D.C.

Members have also excelled in the area of personal appearance and have been winners at the model show at Fashion Square Mall. They have been active in Exploration Days at Michigan State University and 4-H Camp. Some members have had grand champions in beef, sheep and showmanship at the fair. The club has won the club herd award for several years, a check for $20, which goes into the club treasury. Members have won many awards at the spring and fall achievements.

This past year, the club held a pancake supper and ceramic Easter house centerpiece raffle and cleared $401 for its treasury. The members voted to donate $75 to the County 4-H Building Fund.

The Guys and Gals now have 60 members who are active in the following projects: crafts, crops, woodworking, foods, home environment, horses, horticulture, leadership, beef, sheep, personal appearance, photography, poultry, rabbits, and money management.

The club meets once a month at Evergreen Elementary School. Social activities include a Christmas party, roller skating party, winter swimming party and basketball games.

Present officers are: Administrative leader, Janice Smith; assistant leader, Karen King; president, Merilee Leslie; vice-president, Julie Smith; secretary, Rhonda Smith; treasurer, Terri Darr; reporter and photography, John Agar.

Any new leaders who wish to help or anyone who wishes to join the club may contact Mrs. Smith at 313 672-9390.

New books at the library

FLETCH AND THE MAN WHO by Gregory McDonald (fiction). Irving Maurice Fletcher, known to his friends and legion of fans as Fletcher, has been approached by his wartime buddy Walsh to work as a public relations man for Walsh's father, Gov. Caxton Wheeler, a man with a world of ambition and his eye on the White House. Midway through the campaign, a beautiful woman suddenly falls to her death from a balcony of the hotel where Wheeler and his party are staying. That's not good PR for Wheeler: especially since this is the second woman found dead on his campaign trail. Why do female corpses seem to turn up wherever the governor goes? It's up to Fletcher to find out—secretly, of course.

FORMERLY MARRIED by Marilyn Jensen (non-fiction). Gentle yet firm guidance for the dependent woman facing widowhood or, more particularly, divorce, and for women who have to be reminded that being alone is an opportunity — because, momentarily, they're devastated. She uses her own experiences, and those of a few others, to review the stages of adjustment and the most common problems. Stay where you are if you can. You don't have to move to create a new life. You are the head of your own household, with the privileges and responsibilities. Join groups that interest you, not just to meet people, and you can do things alone. Her strongest suit is her counsel on parenting.

PATIOS AND DECKS: HOW TO PLAN, BUILD AND ENJOY by Michael Landis (non-fiction). All stages of patio and deck construction are covered in this well-conceived, abundantly photographed book aimed at homeowners interested in building their own outdoor living areas. Step-by-step instructions for the actual construction. Many photographs of completed decks and patios in all types of settings will give readers further inspiration to create their own unique deck and patio areas.

Dan Mellendorf was named Red Hawk of the week by the coaching staff at Cass City High School. Barring injury, Cass City can look for great things from Dan, listed at 170 pounds on the program roster.

Among the students reporting back to Michigan State University at East Lansing Monday were Susan Hoppe, Joan Russell, Nancy Kerbyson and Becky Loomis, who will be starting their second year.

The book discussion group met Tuesday morning with Mrs. H.T. Donahue. The book discussed was "Captains and the Kings" by Taylor Caldwell.

25 YEARS AGO

Members of the Cass City Square Dance Club this week announced that classes for beginners will be offered this year at Cass City School. Couples wishing to learn square dancing are asked to call Cliff Ferguson or the Cass City State Bank. Bonnie McSwan of Cape Cod, Mass., flew here Saturday. Sunday, accompanied by Sally Hunt, they left by automobile for Winter Park, Fla., where the girls are enrolled in Rollins College for their second year.

Two special races have been scheduled at the Owendale Speedway. Drivers from the Cass City area expected to qualify are Chuck Holm, Bob Smith, Adrian Hutchinson, Lyle Trueman and Dean Rabideau.

Mrs. Evelyn MacKay and son Fred accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hewitt of Saginaw to Romeo Sunday where relatives celebrated the 80th birthday of Mrs. Effie MacKay.

HEALTH TIPS

Abuse kills 2,000 children annually

Questions and answers about child abuse, from the National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse.

I. What is child abuse? Child abuse is a broad generic term covering many forms of child maltreatment including non-accidental physical abuse, neglect, sexual molestation, and emotional abuse.

II. How common is child abuse? It has been estimated that at least one million children suffered last year from abuse in America. At least 2,000 of them died.

The number of serious cases has been increasing dramatically in recent years. Some authorities believe that because abuse results from stress, the stress caused by current economic situations may be having its tragic effect on children.

III. Who are the abusers? They are your friends, your neighbors, and your relatives. It is a sad irony but many abusers genuinely love their children. Yet, they find themselves caught in life situations beyond their control and they do not know how to cope. They are isolated from friends and family, they may not like themselves, they may not know how to get their emotional needs met, they may have no one to give them emotional support.

In many cases they were abused as children themselves, and because this is the only kind of parenting they have known, they repeat it with their own children.

Abusers often perceive a child as being different or having special needs that set the child apart from other children. The child may seem too passive or too active. The child may be the result of an unwanted pregnancy or may have a birth defect.

Sometimes in a family of several children, just one will be singled out as a victim while the others lead relatively normal lives. In other cases, all the children will be abused.

Abusers tend to have unrealistic or inappropriate expectations of their children. They may set standards that are impossibly high. They may wrongly believe that children should always be quiet, or never make a mistake.

Child abuse does not belong solely in the domain of the poor. Abusers come from all economic, racial, ethnic, and religious groups. Money problems, however -- especially the grinding money problems of the poor -- contribute to abuse. Other stresses, such as a shaky, fight-filled marriage, also contribute to abuse.

IV. How can child abuse be prevented?

The earlier support can be provided, the better. For child abuse to be prevented, families need support at many different times.

Community prevention programs include:

--Support programs for new parents -- to prepare people for the job of being a parent, to aid in the early development of a loving relationship between the new parents and the infant, and to promote family-centered birthing opportunities.

--Education for parents -- to provide parents with information about child development and skills in child care.

--Early and periodic childhood screening and treatment, such as that provided by home health visitors -- to identify and deal with physical and developmental problems in children at an early age.

--Child care opportunities, such as day care centers and neighborhood babysitting cooperatives -- to provide respite for parents and socializing opportunities for children.

--Programs for abused children -- to minimize the longer-term effects on children who have been abused and to reduce the likelihood of their becoming abusive parents.

--Social skills training for children and young adults -- to equip young people with skills and knowledge necessary to cope with crises, to seek helping services, and to succeed in adulthood.

--Mutual aid programs, neighborhood support groups, and self-help groups such as Parents Anonymous -- to reduce the social isolation so often associated with abuse.

--Family support services, including crisis care such as hot-line counseling and related emergency services, as well as longer-term support such as family planning -- to provide families with what they need to cope with the stresses of life and to stay together.

--Public information and education on child abuse prevention -- to heighten the public's awareness about different types of abuse and to provide specific information on how the problem can be prevented.

"Behind an able man there are always other able men."

THE TOWNSHIP OF NOVESTA ORDINANCES:

SECTION 1 - Permission is hereby granted to THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Michigan, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate in the public streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the Township of Novesta, Tuscola County, Michigan, all: needful and proper poles, towers, mains, wires, pipes, conduits and all such lines and other apparatus requisite for the transmission, transforming and distribution of electricity for public and private use, and to transmit a local electric business within said Township, subject, however, to all conditions and restrictions hereinafter contained.

SECTION 2 - The conditions of the foregoing grant are as follows:

A. The grantee shall do no injury to any street, highway, alley or other public place or to any shade or vista, or to any public utility or interfere with any water or gas pipes, or with any public or private sewer, now or hereafter laid or constructed by any authorized person or corporation.

B. The trimming of trees when necessary to make the lines safe and accessible shall be done in accordance with all existing governmental laws, ordinances, rules or regulations.

C. The construction of the said lines shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successor.

D. The said grantee, before entering upon any street, highway, alley or other public place for the purpose of erecting and constructing any poles, wires, pipes, mains, conduits, or other apparatus, shall notify the Township or its representatives of the proposed construction, and shall, if the Township so requires, file with them a sufficient plan and specification, showing the nature and extent of the proposed erection and construction.

E. No street, highway, alley or public place shall be allowed to remain open or encumbered by the construction work of the said grantee for a longer period than shall be necessary to execute the said work, and the grantee shall at all times conform to all ordinances of the Township, now or hereafter in force, relative to the fencing and lighting of obstructions and excavations.

F. The grantee shall save the Township harmless from any judgment that may be recovered against the Township by reason of the wrongdoing or negligence of the said grantee in the erection and maintenance of said poles, mains, wires and other apparatus or construction.

G. Said grantee shall make due provisions upon five (5) days notice in writing by raising its wires or otherwise, for the passage of any barn, building or other structure on or over any street, highway, or public place occupied by the poles, mains, wires, and other apparatus of said grantee.

SECTION 3 - In consideration of the granting of this franchise, grantee agrees that its rates and charges for electric service in the Township of Novesta shall not exceed its rates and charges for like service elsewhere in its service area, as evidenced by its uniform rate schedules at the time on file with and approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It is understood that the grantee is subject to regulation by the Michigan Public Service Commission and that any order, rule, or regulation by that Commission, or its successor, will prevail over any regulation herein contained or provided for in case of conflict.

SECTION 4 - This grant shall take effect if said grantee shall, within fifteen (15) days from the date of the passage of this Ordinance, file with the Township Clerk, its written acceptance of the terms of the same, and upon the confirmation of this grant by the affirmative vote of a majority of the electors of said Township, voting thereon at a special election to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of November, 1983, as provided for by the Statutes and the State Constitution. If not confirmed by the electors voting on the franchise at said election, this Ordinance shall be null and void.

SECTION 5 - This Franchise and Ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty days from and after the date of its confirmation by the electors of the Township of Novesta, Tuscola County, Michigan.

SECTION 6 - Nothing in this grant shall be construed to alienate the title of the public in and to any street, highway, alley or public place or any portion thereof, neither shall anything herein be construed in any manner as a surrender by the Township of Novesta of its legislative power with respect to the subject matter hereof, or with respect to any other matter whatsoever, nor as in any manner limiting the right of the said Township of Novesta to lawfully regulate the use of any street, avenue, highway or public place within its jurisdiction.

Higher standards needed for high schools

The Michigan Commission on High Schools last week issued a set of recommendations calling for stiffer requirements for students and teachers.

Among its recommendations were that local school districts establish competency standards in English and math for students to progress to the next grade as well as to graduate; a requirement that all high school students take four years of English, at least two of math and science, three years of social studies and a half-year of computer science; stronger requirements for teacher certification, and homework policies in every school district.

Alyce Pierce is in agreement with all the commission's recommendations except one, that the school year be lengthened from 180 days to 200. "I think the children need their time off, but I also think they need their three Rs in schools," she said, adding that a longer school year might also cause problems for parents and vacation schedules.

As for the commission's other recommendations, Mrs. Pierce commented, "There's a lot of children who don't know how to read in high school and they don't know how to study... You have to learn the basics first and a lot of kids don't get the basics. If you can't read, you can't do your school work."

Asked what is needed to correct the problem of students not learning, she responded, "I think it's cooperation between parents and the teachers."

Mrs. Pierce likes the idea of school districts having homework policies, the implication of the commission being homework would be required.

She supports more required courses, commenting, "I think that applies to all children (not just ones going to college). There's too many electives."

Mrs. Pierce and her husband, Owen, have a son in sixth grade, Ryan, and four grown sons. The family lives at 4563 Spence Road, Cass City. Her husband is a beekeeper.

Ziegler guilty of grand larceny after plea bargain

Two persons pleaded guilty Monday when they appeared before Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

In a plea bargain with the prosecution, Timothy

Ziegler, 28, of 5687 Briarwood Drive, Millington, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in connection with theft of a motorcycle from a Vassar area garage July 28.

Ziegler's plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

A charge of breaking and entering in connection with that charge and another of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 Aug. 8 in Vassar, in connection with another incident, will be dismissed.

Brian Reil, 18, of 5200 Waterman Road, Vassar, pleaded guilty to uttering and publishing a check for $70 drawn on United Saginaw Credit Union Aug. 9 in Denmark Township.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

In other cases Monday:

Gary J. Somerville, 37, of 2781 Froede Road, Kingston, and 2080 Lamton Road, Decker, stood mute to charges of malicious burning of a dwelling and distribution of inflammable material with intent to set fire.

He is charged with starting a fire in his Froede Road home July 27.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Oct. 10. Bond of $25,000 was continued.

James Giddings, 19, of 1978 Gun Club Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of arson of a house or contents, to starting a fire Aug. 13 in a home in Caro.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Oct. 10. Bond was continued.

Probation was reinstated for Randy Bliss, 21, of 7702 W. Deckerville Road, Fairgrove.

He was placed on three years' probation in March of this year for attempted felonious assault and pleaded guilty Sept. 6 to violating it by his arrest July 29 for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor.

He was also sentenced to 26 days in the county jail, with credit given for 26 days served, and is to attend alcohol and drug abuse counseling with proof of attendance.

A motion for reduction of the sentence of John Dykes, 18, of 508 E. Frank Street, Caro, was granted.

Dykes was sentenced in February to one year in the county jail, with credit for time served, for breaking and entering a Caro area garage.

He asked for reduction of his sentence based on state law that says a county jail inmate's sentence can be reduced if merited because of his "conduct, diligence and general attitude."

Joslyn reduced Dykes' sentence by the allowable one-fourth, which meant he was released from jail immediately.

Sentencing was delayed six months for Benito O. Fierros, 55, of Saginaw, who pleaded guilty July 20 to attempted welfare fraud.

He was charged with receiving $4,021 in general assistance and $778 in food stamps during the period from November, 1978, to December, 1982.

During his delay of sentence, he is to pay $4,779 in restitution to the Department of Social Services, plus what he owes in child support, plus $200 court costs.

Jacqueline DuRussell, 24, of 909 Monroe Street, Caro, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for probation violation, with credit given for 10 days served. Probation was revoked.

She was placed on three years' probation in February, 1980, for attempted larceny over $100.

She pleaded guilty in February of this year to violating it by failing to report to her probation agent last November and December, after which acceptance of her sentence was delayed for six months.

PRECISION MOLDING -- The new Cincinnati Milacron 150-ton injection molding machine with CAMAC controller, recently installed at Arjay Manufacturing in Bad Axe is the first of its type in Michigan and only the fifth in the world.

Arjay adds new equipment

Arjay Manufacturing Co. Bad Axe, a subsidiary of Walbro Corp., has added a Cincinnati Milacron 150-ton injection molding machine to its existing lineup of precision plastic molding equipment.

The microprocessor-controlled machine is the first of its type in Michigan and only the fifth delivered in the world.

"We feel that this unit will give us a competitive edge in the molding of precision parts," said Robert L. Bowen, Arjay general manager.

"The demands placed on injection molders today for quality and consistency are more stringent than ever before," according to him.

"In order to supply our customers in the automotive, appliance and electronics industries with top quality, high precision parts, we are striving to be innovators within our industry."

The machine offers several features which provide exceptional control when molding precision parts.

Its CAMAC controller (Complete Automatic Manufacturing Activity Control) provides for multiparameter process control. Positions, speeds, temperatures, times and pressures are set electronically.

Linear positioning, hydraulic pressure sensing and extruder r.p.m. sensing are also incorporated in the CAMAC unit, along with programmable diagnostics, a memory, and magnetic programming card reader, according to Bowen.

United Way kickoff dinner set

The board of directors of Elkland-Novesta United Way decided Tuesday evening that the kickoff dinner for this year's campaign will be Tuesday, Oct. 4, at the Charming.

The annual charity drive will continue through Oct. 31. The board has set a goal of $15,000, which is $500 more than the 1982 goal, which was exceeded by a comfortable margin. (More than $15,000 was raised.)

Those attending the dinner will be the volunteers who will be soliciting contributions door to door.

More volunteers are needed, according to United Way President Art Holmberg.

Usually, volunteers only have to call on 12 homes, he continued, which takes longer, of course, in the country than in town. "We'll try to set it up so no one will have to spend more than a couple hours or so."

Persons who would like to volunteer to solicit for United Way can call Holmberg at 872-2994.

Fire victims still critical

Two of three persons seriously injured in a Caro house fire Sept. 9 remained hospitalized Tuesday.

Mrs. Kersey's son, Richard, 1, was discharged from St. Mary's Monday.

Different

Not all flowers attract bees and butterflies, in hopes of being pollinated, with the allure of sweet smelling scents. The skunk cabbage attracts flies with the help of its foul smelling odor like that of rotten meat mixed with skunk spray and garlic.

Three Bliss brothers top classes in Invitational

The three Bliss brothers each won their division of the USA Cross Country Invitational at Rolling Hills Golf Course in Cass City last Tuesday.

The five kilometer race is divided by class and by school size for both boys and girls.

Cass City competes in Division I. Kurt Bliss was first in the freshman competition, Kevin Bliss was first in the junior competition although his time was slower than Dean Fuerst of USA.

USA competes in Division II. Greg Bliss, defending state champion, was first among senior boys.

Records are kept informally by adding the times of the five best performers at each school. In that rating Garber High School of Essexville was first in both boys' and girls' competition and Cass City was second.

Garber's composite time for the boys was 85:27 and Cass City's was 85:59 and for girls Garber finished at 107:06 and Cass City, 108:33.

Rounding out the top five schools for the boys were: USA, 86:55; Carc, 88:07; Marlette, 89:05. For the girls: Capac, 109:49; Akron-Fairgrove, 111:04; Sandusky, 113:40.

Other schools competing were: Swan Valley, Valley Lutheran, Reese, Mayville, Brown City, Vassar, Harbor Beach, North Branch, Frankenmuth, Kingston and Lakeland.

Others among the top five times posted by Cass City girls were: Ruby Bryant, Chris Tuckey, Ann Leslie and Dana Zdrojewski.

Others with the top five times posted by Cass City boys were: Randy Jackson and Mike Middaugh.

CANCER RUN

Sunday, members of the cross country teams participated in the Traxler Run for Cancer held in Saginaw. Greg Bliss was first overall male and Renae Stimpfel was first overall female.

Kevin Bliss was first in the 15-18 age group and Kurt Bliss was first in the 14 and under class. Russ Auten was second and Chuck McPhail, third. The race was 3.1 miles.

In the 12.4 mile race Kel Kostanko was first and Jim Schmaltz was second in the 18 and under class.

O-G golfers top Eagles to even record

The Owen-Gage golf team evened its record at 2-2 Monday with a 186-190 win over Caseville. The match was played at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown.

Low four for the Bulldogs for the nine holes were Joe Lopez, 41; John Patnaude, 45, and Rick Salcido and Reid Goslin, both 50.

Low four for the Eagles were Dan Murdoch, 45; Pete Denotte, 47, and Brian Gembarski and Matt Krnus, both 49.

Owen-Gage won its first match of the season over Port Hope and then lost to Caro and Sandusky.

The team is coached by teacher Harvey Billy. Retired golf pro Lewis Bishop of Cass City has assisted.

Who plays varies from match to match because all but two golfers also play football, or for Kim Olszak, basketball, so can't take too much time away from practice for those sports to play golf.

The two "full-time" golfers are John Patnaude and Richard Shemko. Other members of the team, in addition to Miss Olszak, are Reid Goslin, Rick Salcido, Joe Lopez, David Laurie, John Olszak, Scott Wright, Jerry McGrath and Gary Erickson.

Owen-Gage was to have hosted Port Hope this Wednesday at Sherwood. The Bulldogs next play Laker and Caseville Oct. 3 at Scenic Golf and Country Club, are at Caseville Oct. 5, and wrap up the season with the Reese invitational and regionals.

Officers set charity tilt

Tuscola County law enforcement officers will play employees of the Human Development Commission in a charity softball game starting at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 28, on the diamond at the Caro fair grounds.

Proceeds from donations at the gate will go to the Tuscola County Child Abuse and Neglect Council and Youth Services Council.

Many feathers

Large birds may have as many as 25,000 feathers. Each feather contributes the streamlining of its body and each, from time to time, must be preened to keep in good shape.

Playoffs rescheduled

The scheduled Thumb Slo Pitch League playoff championship games between Charmon of Cass City and Osentoski Realty and Auctioneering of Bad Axe last Sunday were postponed because the field was too wet.

The best two-of-three series has been rescheduled this Sunday at the Cass City Gun Club, starting at 1:30.

Tuscola County finances stable, '82 audit shows

The 1982 audit presented to the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Sept. 13 showed county finances are "stable," according to the board's confidential secretary, Jackie Larson.

The auditors, Willis, Drake and Watters, P.C., of Jackson, made numerous recommendations as part of the financial statement for improving county financial record keeping.

Although the county's fiscal year ended Dec. 31, the board didn't seek bids from certified public accounting firms to perform the audit until May. Willis, Drake, didn't start its work until June.

The audit showed Tuscola county government had general fund revenues of $3.74 million in 1982 and spent $3.29 million. After various adjustments were made, the county ended the year with a balance of $407,840. It started the year with a balance of $460,101.

"If you look at the history of the county, our fund balance has been going down over the years," commented Mrs. Larson, who is also the county personnel administrator.

Although $407,840 sounds like a lot of money to have left over at the end of the year, Mrs. Larson pointed out it's not much to have in reserve, since it wouldn't fund county operations for much more than a month.

The biggest single county expenditure last year was $1.015 million for law enforcement. The judicial system came next, $773,424. The auditors found, "The present county books and records are adequate to produce the monthly reports now being prepared....the county is doing a fine job as most records were easy to read and readily available and the personnel capable."

Willis, Drake made numerous suggestions for improvements, however.

One was that in most smaller departments, the same persons who handle cash also handle the books and records. "We recommend duties be divided among personnel and shifted occasionally to better protect county assets," the CPAs said.

Mrs. Larson said the auditors realized that isn't always possible with small staffs. "They're saying, 'Do it as much as you can.'"

The accountants found "several instances of non-compliance with the Michigan Compiled Laws Act. Most noncompliance was due to the fact that the laws are outdated or that county officials and employees had never heard of the laws."

The noncompliance ranged from some assessing officers in the county not keeping adequate records to the county treasurer never having made the appointment of her deputy treasurer in writing.

Other recommendations included such things as establishing a fixed asset fund, change from accounting for county funds on a cash basis to "basis of accounting," and not including interfund transfers as revenue and expenditures on monthly financial reports, but instead listing them separately.

Mrs. Larson said the recommendations are minor.

The county commissioners went over the results of the audit and the recommendations with County Clerk Elsie Hicks and Treasurer Elgene Keller. It will now be the job of the board's finance committee, Mrs. Larson said, to check with the county departments on implementation of the auditors' recommendations.

State leads nation with $24 million property tax relief

Property tax relief provided by the state for the 1981 tax year totaled almost $24 million for more than 37,000 property owners residing in the 34th Senatorial District, according to State Sen. Jim Barcia.

"Michigan leads the nation in the amount of property tax relief that the state annually provides its citizens," he said.

"For the 1981 tax year the state provided over $576 million in property tax rebates, and that figure is expected to top $652 million for the 1982 tax year."

"Even though all property tax revenue is collected and used exclusively by local governments - state government does not receive a cent of property tax revenue - the state has provided billions of dollars of property tax relief to taxpayers since 1973 when the 'circuit breaker' program began," Barcia continued.

"The state's property tax relief program has been dubbed the 'circuit-breaker' because it prevents a property tax overload similar to the way a circuit-breaker prevents an electrical overload.

Under the program, officially known as the Homestead Property Tax Credit, a property owner with a household income of $65,000 or less receives a 60 percent rebate on any property tax paid which exceeds 3.5 percent of his or her income. Senior citizens and handicapped persons receive a 100 percent rebate.

The homestead credit is applied for when one files his or her state income tax return, and the maximum possible rebate under the program is $1200.

In 1981, 7,557 Tuscola County residents received $7,263,726 in property tax rebates through the state's circuit-breaker formula.

TOUCHDOWN SCAMPER - Joe Viney took this pass in the flat and eluded defensive back Rod Middleton to score the only touchdown in the win over Mayville.

O-G tops Tigers to give Besonen 100th grid win

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs gave football coach Arnie Besonen his 100th win Friday night at the expense of visiting Carsonville-Port Sanilac, 20-6.

The 100 victories, according to assistant coach Phil Gray, automatically makes Besonen a member of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

Now it's time to prepare for what is hoped will be win 101 against Caseville.

The Eagles have been scouted at both their games, Gray said, and, "They've gotten better each time." Last Saturday, the team defeated Peck, 20-15, which has been considered one of the contenders for the North Central Thumb D League title.

"Caseville is always a tough game for us," Gray commented. The game will start at 1 p.m. Saturday on the Eagles' field.

The game Friday against the Tigers started looking like it would be a runaway for Owen-Gage, which scored two touchdowns in the first quarter.

The first came on a 34-yard pass play from Reid Goslin to Ron Susalla, the scoring drive taking seven plays and 56 yards. John Shope kicked the extra point.

Goslin capped a four-play, 35 yard drive for the second TD on a 15-yard run. Shope put the ball through the uprights to make it 14-0.

The next touchdown didn't come until the fourth quarter, when Caseville's Jay Lechnyr scored on a two-yard run to cap a five-play, 21 yard drive.

The Tigers then tried for a two-point conversion, but failed twice. The first attempt was nullified because of an Owen-Gage penalty.

Gray had praise for the job played by the all-sophomore defense in holding back the Tigers on their two extra-point tries, singling out Dave Peters, Paul Thompson and Ed Dohring for special merit.

Owen-Gage made the final score of the evening on a 61-yard pass play from Goslin to Frank Abfalter, the drive totaling 74 yards in four plays. Shope's extra point kick attempt failed.

Both teams made eight first downs. The Bulldogs gained 63 yards in 31 carries. Goslin completed seven of 12 passes, with two

Hawks bow to Brown City cagers

Although Brown City doesn't appear to be the devastating quintet it was last season, the team still had enough to top host Cass City last Tuesday, 47-34.

The visitors broke open a tight game in the last half to post the win. Brown City forged in front 12-10 after the first eight minutes and the lead stayed that way at the intermission as both clubs scored 10 points in the second period.

The last two quarters were all Brown City and margins of 12-6 in the third period and 13-8 in the final canto were more than enough for the win.

Brown City won the game with superior field goal shooting with 42 percent on 20 of 48 while the Hawks converted just 15 of 46 for 33 percent.

Jill Hutchinson continued to show the way for Cass City with 14 points and 8 rebounds. Joy Root was also in double figures with 10 points and added 5 rebounds. Julie Campbell of Brown City led all scorers with 19 points, the only visitor in double figures.

In the preliminary, Brown City JV topped Cass City JV, 34-23.

Hawks lift grid curtain at home with winless Marlette

The Cass City Red Hawks return to the friendly confines of the Cass City Recreation Park Friday for their home opener and the first game in Thumb B Association competition.

Cass City will enter the game fresh from a 7-0 decision at Mayville last Friday and a 1-1 record in the first two non-conference games.

Although the Hawks won and Marlette lost to Vassar, 46-0, last week there is little cause for overconfidence.

Cass City didn't blow the Wildcats away in registering its win and Mayville lost its first game of the year and was winless last year.

The Hawks moved the ball against Mayville but were able to cash in on only one scoring opportunity.

That came in the first quarter. The drive started on the Mayville 41 and was set up by a blocked punt.

Two passes produced the score. The first toss covered 39 yards for a first down on the 19-yard line.

A running play gained three yards and a pass fell incomplete and it was third and seven. Beecher then found Joe Viney in the right flat and he took the ball in from eight yards out. Cesar Beretta's kick was good.

The nearest that Mayville came to scoring in the first half came after Beecher was hit while attempting to pass and fumbled.

The Wildcats had the ball on the Cass City 29 and moved for a first down on the only play that Mayville was able to use to pick up substantial yardage. Tim Harris slashing through the center of the line.

But Cass City stiffened and held to end the threat.

The Hawks looked as if they might score again in the second quarter after Tracy Lapp took a hand-off and raced 51 yards to the Mayville 24. But a holding penalty nullified that gain.

In the closing minutes of the first half, Cass City recovered a Mayville fumble for a first on the Wildcat 25. Lapp ran for a first down with 41 seconds left in the half, but Harris intercepted a Cass City pass to kill the opportunity.

For the second straight week turnovers kept the Hawks from sustained drives. Beecher was intercepted twice and fumbled three times.

Brian Wright was the leading rusher for Cass City with 74 yards in 11 carries.

Bill Sontag, who assisted in 9 tackles was a leader on defense.

Port Hope cagers top O-G 44-27

Three single digit quarters by the Bulldogs gave host Port Hope an easy win Thursday evening, 44-27.

In double figures for the Blue Stars were Iris Gallagher with 16 and Sandra Gaffke with 10.

Monitor okays youth program

The Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP) run by the Thumb Area Consortium has received a clean bill of health from its program monitor, who conducted an independent review of the program.

A total of 437 16-21-year-olds were employed in the program, funded by the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). An 80 additional were employed in the state-funded Michigan Youth Corps program. They worked at 163 sites in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

Monitor Paul Frays interviewed 215 participants, 110 work site supervisors and checked the records of 50 participants in compiling his report, results of which were presented to the consortium administrative board last Thursday.

Frays wrote in his report that the "program was well organized, well run, very successful."

He found few problems. A few work site supervisors didn't sign time cards; didn't keep time cards, signature sheets and time sheets up to date, and-or didn't mail time cards to the consortium on time so participants could be paid. He suggested the supervisors might have a secretary or other person be in charge of the time cards, etc., instead of trying to take care of them themselves.

All SYEP participants had to attend a Career Day July 13 at Cass City High School, at which they could talk to representatives of colleges, trade and business schools and the armed forces.

Frays suggested if there is another summer youth job program, "only those participants showing genuine interest be given the chance to attend."

CETA comes to an end Sept. 30, although the administrative board - two county commissioners from each of the three counties involved - will continue to meet monthly through December while consortium records are closed out.

Consortium Executive Director Marvin Pichla told the board last Thursday that Sept. 9 was the last day for the 39 persons enrolled in the CETA work experience program. The 65 enrolled in on-the-job training with private employers as of the end of last month will be done by Sept. 30.

As of Aug. 31, there were 178 persons enrolled in CETA-funded classroom job training programs. Pichla said about 120 will continue their education under the new federal Job Training Partnership Act, which starts Oct. 1, plus 13 from Lapeer County. Their expenses will be paid, however, from leftover CETA funds the state has, since Congress hasn't appropriated money yet for the JTPA.

The service delivery area for the JTPA will consist of Lapeer, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

Pichla reported that what has been dubbed the "four-by-four committee" will meet Sept. 26 and should decide who will run the JTPA program in the four counties, its format and possibly where its office will be.

The committee consists of one county commissioner and one member of the Private Industry Council from each county. The council, composed of representatives of business, industry, education, etc., has equal status with county boards of commissioners in running the new program.

As CETA nears its end, two consortium job developers and two classroom training counselors have been laid off, effective Sept. 30. Four more should be losing their jobs shortly, leaving four to take care of the closeout of consortium records, which will probably be done by Dec. 31.

Kidney transplants give new lease on life

KIDNEY TRANS-plants, although they have drawbacks, are better.

It wasn't very difficult finding a kidney donor for Karr. Potential blood relative donors must be a father or mother of the patient, brother or sister or son or daughter. For Karr, that meant either his brother or any of the three children of him and his wife, Doris.

All were willing, but only son Les had what testing found was a perfect match.

Les Karr went into Henry Ford the same time as his father for removal of his kidney and was home in a week.

Ed Karr was there two weeks and then home for a month before going back to work. After he was home only three weeks, he helped a neighbor cut hay. "...I felt that good."

A human needs only one good kidney to function. The only risk to those who donate a kidney to a relative is if something, such as an accident, should happen to their remaining good kidney.

FINDING A KIDNEY for Mrs. Mester was more difficult. Since her disease, unlike Karr's, is hereditary, that ruled out receiving a transplant from the four children of her and her husband Alec.

Mrs. Mester's name went on the state and nationwide lists last fall for persons needing kidneys. She received a call at 12:30 p.m. on Mother's Day (May 8) that a matching kidney from a deceased person was available and 11 hours later, she underwent surgery. She was in the hospital 28 days.

She was fortunate in that a kidney was found for her. According to the Newsweek article, only half of the 10,000 Americans who could have benefited from kidney transplants last year received them.

(Michigan drivers' license renewal forms include an organ donor label for persons wishing to donate any of their organs upon their deaths. Labels and more information can also be obtained by calling the Organ Procurement Agency of Michigan toll-free at 1-800-482-4881 or the Kidney Foundation of Michigan at 1-800-482-1455.)

MRS. MESTER AND Karr are also fortunate in that they haven't had complications from their transplants.

The success rate for transplants, according to the Newsweek article, is 51 percent after one year and 31 percent after five years.

Karr was one of seven who had transplants at Ford Hospital at the same time. "Four of us walked out of the hospital. Three of us didn't," though the three were all in poor condition to begin with.

A 12-year-old girl who had a transplant when Mrs. Mester was at the University Hospital had to have it removed a week later because of rejection.

As of now, that will eventually happen to the kidneys of Karr and Mrs. Mester, which means they will need another transplant. "They told me eventually I'll reject this kidney," Karr said. "It's inevitable."

The Cass City area residents, who have to take medication and receive regular checkups, see hope in a new drug they are not yet taking called cyclosporine which suppresses the body's immune reaction that is responsible for rejecting foreign tissue such as transplants. Still experimental, the drug is awaiting approval from the Food and Drug Administration for general use.

"I guess there's always hope...maybe they'll come up with a better thing," Mrs. Mester said.

But for now, neither is complaining. There are no limitations on what they can do, other than a little self-restraint and they must limit their salt intake.

"I felt good being on dialysis," said Mrs. Mester, "but now is much better."

ills, and their Blue Cross-Blue Shield paid the rest.

Although the transplants are expensive, Karr and Mrs. Mester are no longer on dialysis, which also is expensive.

Karr said his new kidney might last him 10 years. If he were on dialysis that long, it would cost about $180,000, which would be paid by Medicare (80 percent) and Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

"This is the only good thing about kidney disease," he said of the Medicare coverage.

Medicare, which provides the kidney coverage regardless of age (it basically is health insurance for senior citizens) won't pay for heart and liver transplants, which it considers experimental.

Insurance pays for transplants

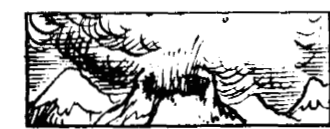

Kidney transplants aren't cheap.

The Newsweek article says the cost average is $35,000, but that may be low.

Doris Mester said her hospital bill was $36,000. She doesn't know what the doctor's bills totaled.

Ed Karr said the bill, including doctors' fees, for him and his son, Les, who donated his kidney, totaled $43,000.

Fortunately Medicare pays 80 percent of their Four states have active volcanoes: Washington, California, Alaska and Hawaii.

Tourism helps most stores in a community

Retail sales there in 1982 totaled $73 million, of which $50 million comes from tourism. Of a workforce of 2,500 in Frankenmuth, 1,800 are employed in tourism.

In contrast, tourism pumps $16 million in retail sales into the Huron County economy and only $3 million into Tuscola.

Edward Mahoney

TOURISM IS A GOOD means of attracting persons who can later bring industry to the state, Mahoney said.

"Tourism fits very well with agriculture," he continued.

In western Michigan, he added later, where farms grow numerous pick-your-own fruits and vegetables, campgrounds and bed and breakfast homes are being added. "They're attracting people from Chicago like crazy."

MSU is conducting a study of farm markets, pick-your-own and wineries in conjunction with tourism.

Mahoney was later asked about the potential for farms hosting vacationers, whether persons from urban areas would like to experience life on the farm.

He said such farm vacations once were popular and for that, plus bed and breakfasts in farm homes, "I think there is a lot of potential to bring it back."

In Amherst, Mass., he said, the homes belonging to a bed and breakfast association had an 80 percent occupancy rate their first year.

Another questioner wondered about liability -- what happens if a paying visitor gets injured on a farm and sues the owner?

Mahoney mentioned a lawyer who said he would never let anyone in his home as a paying guest, but the tourism expert doesn't think the potential for lawsuits is that great. "I don't think that risk is so significant it isn't worth taking."

But to the three legislators present, he advised the legislature should consider enacting liability protection for such situations.

Donald Keller

TOURISM HAS SOME disadvantages, Mahoney pointed out.

One is that it is seasonal, although, "I see a trend in the industry from seasonal to year-round."

Uncontrolled growth to accommodate tourists is another. The former Massachusetts resident said some quaint villages in New England were turned into tourist traps in only five years.

He mentioned problems caused by absentee owners. Motels and fast food franchise restaurants that are part of chains often bring in much of their supplies, rather than buying locally, and their profits go elsewhere.

Local control is necessary for long-term economic development, according to the MSU assistant professor, who cited Frankenmuth as an example.

Tourism employment tends to be low skilled and low paid. He suggested salaries will have to be higher to attract good help and reduce turnover.

Easily offsetting the disadvantages are such advantages in Mahoney's words, as, "It's labor intensive...The return on tourist investment is very quick."

Keller of the Bavarian Inn gave an example. Every $36,000 in meals sold -- 4,500 meals -- equals one full-time job. No car dealer is going to add an employee because he sells three more cars worth a total of $36,000, he said.

Because each visitor in Frankenmuth spends an average of $20, 125,000 more visitors, a 5 percent increase, means $2.5 million more in sales or 170 more jobs.

Mahoney cautioned, however, that economically depressed communities shouldn't look on tourism as economic saviors. "Tourism won't be the salvation of any community alone."

Other speakers at the conference were State Representatives Mickey Knight of Muskegon and John Prindia of Harrisville, both members of the House Committee on Tourism and Recreation, whose topics included tourism and how to lobby legislators, and Gordon Alexander of the Office of Business and Community Development of the Michigan Department of Commerce, who mentioned some of the services offered by the department.

George Graff of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce introduced the afternoon speakers (Keller and Alexander) and participated in the discussion.

Allen said he hoped the program stimulated thinking by the participants and would serve as a catalyst for economic development.

He ended it by telling the participants he hoped they would take what they learned back to their communities. "Nothing will happen unless you make it happen."
