THE BENEFIT PANCAKE supper to help pay expenses for Robert Broecker netted over $2,500 Saturday evening at Evergreen Elementary School. Robert is suffering from cancer that requires lengthy treatment. An estimated 40 persons worked on the project under a seven-person steering committee.

Clockwise from top right: Guests were asked to sign a scroll to be presented to Robert. Evergreen area men cooked the pancakes. Two tables full of donated baked goods were sold. Guests were served quickly and efficiently. Robert attended to greet many of the estimated 500 at the supper.

But not like best years

Car sales improving, area dealers agree

By Mike Eliasohn

Domestic auto makers began the new model year with a 36.3 percent increase in sales in October over the same month in 1982.

For the first 10 months of this year, sales of American made cars were up 18.8 percent from the same period last year.

Sales for the final 10 days of October increased 25.5 percent from the same period in 1982.

Area auto dealers surveyed by the Chronicle also reported an increase in sales.

"My business is probably up 45 percent over last year, which doesn't mean it is great, because last year was so slow," said Ouvry Chevrolet-Olds owner Gloria Ouvry.

The Cass City dealership's last good year was 1978, she said, "and it's not returned to normal yet."

"I don't think we can sing, 'Happy Days Are Here Again,' but I think there is definitely a positive upturn," she concluded.

"They're the best I've seen them in probably five years," commented Pat Curtis of Pat Curtis Chevrolet-Oldsmobile-Cadillac.

Curtis, who was in the auto business in Saginaw before buying the Caro dealership Jan. 1 of this year, said sales started increasing in March "and just kind of snowballed from there."

"Sales seem to be getting better," said Dick Hunt of Geiger-Hunt Ford. They have increased during the last 4-6 months, the Cass City dealer said, adding, "I don't think car sales will ever be as good as they were years ago."

"Car sales may eventually reach their 1979-80 levels, the last good years, he continued, but he doesn't expect them to reach the numbers of the early 1970s.

"I foresee it to keep getting better," Hunt predicted. "People have driven their cars to the point where they got to get something."

"People are more interested than they have been in the past," said Al Wasik, owner of Howard Bell Inc., the Caro Pontiac-Buick-GMC dealership.

He said the method of

"People are buying instead of looking."

Sales started increasing last spring, he said, as the result of lower interest rates, more persons working and persons who were working no longer afraid of being laid off. Those factors "brought quite a few into the market all of a sudden."

Car loan interest rates are in the 12 percent range, the dealers said, which buyers are accepting. From the standpoint of the buyer, Curtis commented, 12 percent sounds a lot better than 17 percent, which the rate once was.

There are factors working against continually better sales, Hunt pointed out. One is that persons are keeping their cars longer. One reason they may be doing so is, "I think the price of cars hurts."

Another is that many persons are still out of work. SO-CALLED "STICKER SHOCK" is pretty much a thing of the past, the dealers agreed. It's not that would-be buyers like the prices, it's just that with rare exception, they no longer are alarmed.

Occasionally, persons will be surprised by the prices if his dealership is the first place they stop in their car shopping according to Wasik, but, "I think people accept it," he said of $10,000-$15,000 price tags.

Some persons can't afford a new car. Mrs. Ouvry noted some persons who in past years would have bought a new car are now buying late model used ones.

FOR THOSE WHO can afford cars fresh off the assembly line, and with gasoline prices having stabilized, more are interested in larger cars and for some makes, buyers face a longer wait.

The cars most in demand at Howard Bell, Wasik said, are the luxury, full-size cars and Pontiac's new Fiero two-seater sports car. Buyers wanting them face longer waits and sometimes, dealer allocations, that is, the factory limits the number the car dealer can sell.

Hunt said large luxury models, vans and pickups with automatic transmissions are taking the longest time to get.

The longest waits at Ouvry's are for big Oldsmobiles, Mrs. Ouvry said. Deliveries of full-size Chevrolets are quicker.

Part of the reason for delivery delays of various makes, she explained, is that the manufacturers were reluctant to begin all-out production until they were sure the recovery wasn't temporary, and dealers have been reluctant to increase their inventories for the same reason.

IN ADDITION TO cars, the dealers report that vans and pickups are also selling well.

Wasik said pickup sales over the past two years are up 100 percent over 1979-80, with a big reason being the popularity of GMC's small pickup.

Although much of the demand is for large cars, whose mileage is better than it once was, it means mileage isn't as big a factor now, although middle and small size cars are also selling.

Diesel models once represented 20-25 percent of Oldsmobile sales nationwide, according to Mrs. Ouvry. Now the percentage is 11 percent. One reason for the declining sales, though, is that diesel fuel was once cheaper than gasoline. Now the price is about the same.

"I think people are still interested in mileage," said Mrs. Ouvry, citing results of a survey General Motors conducts of buyers of its products by sending them questionnaires.

Their biggest concern, the results show, is service provided by the dealer. Next is dependability. Mileage is the third major consideration and fourth is price.

State board transfers property to Owen-Gage

The Owendale-Gagetown School District has increased in size as the result of the state Board of Education last Wednesday approving the transfer of five parcels of property to it from the Elkton-Pigeon Bay Port district.

In addition, the board denied a request to transfer nine parcels from Owen-Gage to E-P-BP, but did approve one transfer request involving 10 acres to E-P-BP.

The territory Owen-Gage is getting back, designated as "Shaper et al (and others)" in the transfer petition, was that of five property owners whose property was transferred from Owen-Gage as part of the large Elenbaum transfer approved by the state board in 1975.

"I would say there is a little different philosophy down there now," commented Supt. Ronald Erickson, who said the transfer was approved unanimously.

The property owned by the five has a state equalized valuation of $544,900 and will mean additional revenue of about $16,000 annually to the district, according to the superintendent. No school age children are involved.

"It's going to be a tax increase for those people," E-P-BP Supt. Harry J. Brunet commented. The transfer will mean a loss of about $10,000 to his district, which means those being transferred will pay about $6,000 more a year in property taxes. The difference in millage rates is 19.25 in E-P-BP vs. 29.75 in Owen-Gage.

The state board unanimously denied the appeal of nine property owners, designated as "Dietzel, et al," in the transfer request, to move their properties from Owen-Gage to E-P-BP. It has a state equalized valuation of $1,024,900 and involved two school children.

By a 5-2 vote, the state board approved the transfer of 10 acres owned by Richard Welchner from Owen-Gage to E-P-BP. The property has a state equalized valuation of $55,600 and two school age children were involved.

Erickson attributed the change in the state board's attitude from the mid-

1970s, when it approved the large Goslin and Elenbaum transfers, to the fact that many of the members then are no longer there, Owen-Gage's ability to show that it has a good school program and the retirement of State Sen. Alvin DeGrow, who he contended had a "negative impact."

IN APPROVING THE two transfers and denying the one, the state board members followed the recommendations of its hearing officer, Raymond L. Godmer, who conducted hearings in June.

All were appeals from the Huron Intermediate School District Board of Education, which had voted to transfer Shaper, et al, back to Owen-Gage and to leave Dietzel et al and Welchner in Owen-Gage.

The transfer requests were first made in 1975 or '76, but the state board postponed action pending resolution of the Goslin property transfer case. The purpose of Godmer's hearing in June was to update the information.

Because no school age children are involved in the

Shaw's space flight Nov. 28

Cass City native Brewster Shaw Jr. will finally journey into space Monday, Nov. 28.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced the new launch date last Wednesday for the Columbia-Spacelab 1 flight, on which Shaw will be a pilot.

For various technical reasons, the flight has been twice postponed, from Sept. 30 to Oct. 28 and now to the new date.

The new launch date was the subject of negotiations between NASA and the European Space Agency. The Columbia will be carrying the ESA's $1 billion Spacelab on the nine-day flight.

Thirty-eight experiments were to be performed inside the Spacelab. Several scientists objected to the Nov.

28 launch date because the angle of the sun and earth lighting conditions at that time of year would render seven of the experiments almost useless. They wanted the flight postponed to Feb. 28, when conditions would again be favorable.

NASA didn't want to wait longer than Nov. 28, however, because doing so would have upset the schedule for scheduled shuttle flights next year. The managers of the ESA, which is composed of 10 nations, weren't happy about a long delay either because they figured each month's delay was costing it $300,000.

In a compromise, NASA agreed to have the experiments affected by the launch date conducted on a flight no later than mid-1985 at no cost to the ESA.

Thieves take cash, drugs, cigarettes

The break-in of the Coach Light Pharmacy discovered early Saturday appears to have been the work of out-of-town professionals who knew what they were after.

Taken were $71 cash, drugs and 50-60 cartons of cigarettes. Twenty-six different drugs were taken, according to a list furnished to police. Total value of the stolen items was about $1,500, according to Police Chief Gene Wilson.

He said the method of break-in and items taken were similar to recent break-ins of drug stores in Millington, Vassar and Rockford, which is near Grand Rapids.

The break-in was discovered by Ed Browning, when he dropped off newspapers by the back door.

Wilson said a tool was inserted between the door and casing, which spread them far enough apart for the door to be opened despite a deadbolt that normally fits 1 1/4 inches inside the door frame. Some type of jack was apparently used.

There was no permanent damage to the door or frame, according to the chief.

Aiding Cass City officer Phil Klaus in the initial investigation were two deputies and Detective Ron Phillips of the sheriff's department.

Two vehicles are being sought in connection with

HOUSE MOVING -- The Orr home, more than 100 years old and one of the oldest in Cass City, was moved Friday to Elmwood Road, southeast of town. Gary and Margaret Czekai, who have six children, bought the house from the village for $257. They hope to move in by winter. The village bought the house and property last year, now part of the village park.

Brenda and Robert Erla

Brenda E. Langenburg and Robert J. Erla were married Sept. 10 at St. Agatha Catholic Church in Gageton.

Father Julius Spleet performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Langenburg of Cass City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Erla of Cass City.

The bride wore a gown of white organza with a high neckline, leg-of-mutton sleeves trimmed in Venice and Chantilly lace, a point d' spiree yoke, Venice trimmed bodice, full skirt with chapel train and a Chantilly lace trimmed bottom edge. The headpiece was a floral wreath with pearl trim on the illusion veiling.

Maid of honor was Valerie Langenburg, Cass City, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Lori Sawdon, Cass City, Karla Wischmeyer, Grand Rapids, Colleen Irrer, Elkton, and Julie Hartwick, Cass City, all friends of the bride.

Flower girls were Tiffany Nicholas and Nicholatte Zawilinski, both of Cass City and nieces of the bride.

Best man was Lary Parker, Decker, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were William Erla, Cass City, brother of the groom, and Mark Rabideau, Grand Rapids, Joe Basco, Bay City, and Kyle Buschlen, Cass City, all friends of the groom.

Ushers were Joe Langenburg, brother of the bride, and Greg Kuck, friend of the groom, both of Cass City.

Organist was Paul Kerbyson of Cass City. Soloist was Andrea Hofmeister of Gageton.

The reception was held at the Knights of Columbus hall in Caro. The wedding cake was made by Lois Papp.

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan, the couple is living on Elmwood Road, Cass City.

It has to be a record. No less than six different organizations are offering luncheons or dinners in the Cass City State Bank's community advertising spot this week.

Add to this the current breakfast war by local restaurants and it's easy to see that eating out aficionados will be having a ball in Cass City.

It's deer season again. The first successful buck hunter that checks in to the Chronicle gets a picture taken as always. Big racks or unusual deer will also make it before the lens.

Everyone who scores is urged to contact the paper for listing in the annual Buck Luck column.

It's not news but it's worth repeating again. No one around beats Art Holmberg when it comes to taking mundane subjects and making them sparkle.

He did it again Tuesday before Cass City Rotarians when he showed slides of trips to Sweden. The slides were mostly what you'd expect, the narration was what you wouldn't expect. . . . unless you've been privy to programs by the retired school principal before.

Sometimes the best lines in a story never reach the typesetters. Unfortunately, sometimes they do.

One that didn't came from this typewriter when talking about the football game. The line: "3-year lettermen nurtured by coach Art Paddy."

The original typing read: "3-year lettermen neutered by coach Art Paddy."

Proof readers are worth their weight in gold.

With all the news lately about teacher strikes and contract negotiations, Doris Hurd thought a teacher contract that belonged to her late aunt would be of interest.

The contract for Ella M. Cross stated she would be paid $42.50 a month to teach fifth grade in Cass City for the 1913-14 school year.

Miss Cross taught a total of 42 years in Cass City, Bad Axe and Birmingham.

FALL ACHIEVEMENT -- Members of the Evergreen Guys and Gals receiving awards at the recent Sanilac County 4-H Fall Achievement were, from left, Becky Severance, consumer education; Kim King, consumer education, admission into Key Club; Kris King, Farm Bureau award for cooperativeness in club and classroom, and Julie Smith, home environment award, Key Club admission. ## Sign-up begins for Battle of Books

Sign-up for the fourth annual Battle of the Books, sponsored by Rawson Memorial Library and Cass City Elementary and Intermediate School libraries, will begin Monday.

Purpose of the Battle of the Books is to encourage more reading among third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade students by introducing them to 125 enjoyable books.

All children in those grades are invited to participate. There will be two divisions, one for third and fourth grades, and one for fifth and sixth. Each team must have a name, six members, one alternate member if they wish, and an adult team manager.

The team manager will act as contact person between the team and the library, arrange transportation, and provide help with scoring and timekeeping during the battles.

Each year some teams have a difficult time getting a team manager. Any adult interested in helping with a team is invited to call the library, 872-2238, for more information.

Novesta Twp.

Novesta Township's first-year share for the new ambulance for the Cass City Ambulance Service will be $3,705, which works out to $2.50 per resident.

The township's representative on the ambulance board, Lucille Stine, told the township board Monday evening the total cost for the new vehicle will be $34,980, with $17,800 to be paid by the four townships and village of Gagetown in January with the rest to be paid in 1985 and '86.

The ambulance is to be delivered in January.

In addition to Novesta, participating townships are Elkland, Greenleaf and Evergreen.

It's not surprising that the campaign to aid Robert Broecker surpassed its goal. It would have been surprising if it did not.

There's a warmth of feeling that outpours when a neighbor or a community member is stricken. You'll find it in the big city and the little village. It's trite, but true, that people are the same everywhere.

Given an opportunity to help on a one-on-one basis and it's a rare scrooge that won't be touched, won't contribute.

It's hard to understand why people who are generous and helping individuals can subscribe to doctrines that they do.

These good people that feel race or religion will make a people better or worse. For instance, feeling that blacks are more musically inclined and higher sexed than whites or that Jews, especially Jews in business, are more apt to cheat and beat you. That Italians are criminals and Poles are dumb. And on and on.

It's likely that these racial prejudices stem from early exposure to unthinking adults when we were kids and to our peer group after we are grown.

A long time ago one of my best friends was and is a Jew. Marty and I were bridge partners, went to football games together and visited in each others homes.

After I moved to Cass City he visited me here several times. We haven't seen each other for years now, but we are still friends.

That's a little background for one of my most embarrassing moments. Marty and I were talking as friends about a purchase and I blurted out, "Maybe we can jew him down."

I realized a moment later what I had said. Marty never said anything and he knew that what I was trying to say was maybe we could get a better price by haggling.

Marty was Marty and I could care less what his religion was. Or he mine, for that matter.

That long ago episode is recalled to illustrate the point. Many of us have been conditioned by our culture to become imbued with racial prejudices.

We need to view races and religions like we do our neighbors. Not with preconceived myths about how they act or how smart they are.

Persons we identify with are automatically deemed to be good unless they prove to be otherwise. The same judging basis should be used for those that we don't.

When that happens we'll have taken a long stride forward. Unfortunately, that long stride forward seems to be a long stride away.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Sticker shocked

By Jim Fitzgerald

The auto business is now officially recovered. I just bought a 1984 Oldsmobile Cutlass Ciera Brougham. That's not a Hertz fleet, it's one car. Now, more than ever, I will be hearing the dismaying sound of my wife tearing along the perforated line.

All of the above is a writer's gimmick, designed to keep you reading in anticipation of possibly discovering what the devil the intrepid columnist is expounding upon today. I'm rather anxious to find out myself, so let's get on with it.

I don't often buy a car. The previous one was a 1977 Oldsmobile Delta 88. I'm not sure why, each succeeding year, manufacturers attach more different chrome names to one model car. It surely can't have anything to do with justifying an unjustified price hike, so it must be to give car-wash employees added opportunities to snag their rags.

Anyway, the Delta covered more than 108,000 miles without an inch of trouble, and I was prepared to keep driving it until it made me mad. For me, a car is not an object of romance or ego gratification; it's transportation. If I don't have to get somewhere quickly, I'd rather walk.

And if I don't have to get there at all, I stand at a city bus stop.

Unfortunately, my wife feels otherwise, and she drives the family car much more than I do. There were times when we were a two-car or three-car family; I'm probably the only person extant who owned two AMC Pacers, speaking of extinct, at the same time. But now the children are grown and gone, and I walk to work, so it makes absolutely no sense to buy insurance and parking space for two cars.

That's what I thought until two things happened. First, my wife persuaded me that only a latent wife-beater would force his wife to play "Russian roulette" (she has a mean way with words) on the freeway in a 100,000-mile-plus car. She was afraid the old Olds would make her mad, which would be a terrible tragedy, before it made me mad, which would serve me right.

Second, the dealer who sold me the 1984 Olds with five names said my 1977 Olds was worth practically nothing as a trade-in. Maybe $100. Good lord! I'm not sentimental about cars, but I'm practical. That old Olds is worth 20 times $100 to me, even if I drive it only once more. Just as long as I drive it to pick up my wife after she loses at Russian roulette in the fancy Oldsmobile Cutlass Ciera Brougham. Detroit she made me buy. When I pull up alongside her, stranded on the side of the freeway, I will smirk my tires.

I hate to sound bitter, but a person who waited seven years to buy a new car in 1983 quickly learns the meaning of "sticker shock." Back when I bought cars with only one or two names, I was able to pay cash. But this time, as the grievously shocked sticker, I couldn't swing a cash deal without liquidating my stock envelope (Henry Ford II has a portfolio) and selling my entire family to Kunta Kinte (now starring in the splendid "Master Harold . . . and the Boys" at the Birmingham Theatre).

So two-thirds of the monstrous amount had to be financed and now, for the first time in 20 years, I'm making monthly car payments. That is, my wife is making them. She spends most of her time at the family desk because she writes thank-you notes to people to thank them for sending her thank-you notes, and she knows many people who do the same thing. So it was only practical, long ago, to designate her the family check-writer.

Her job is to pay $1,000 worth of bills with the $800 I deposited and have enough left over for dinner and drinks at Peg Leg's. My job is to sit across the room and keep from sobbing as the distinctive, bumpy-rip sound of checks being torn along the perforated line mounts to a crescendo and I realize she isn't going to make it again.

Onward and Upward, and keep an eye out for smirk marks on the freeway.

Report 13 deer-car accidents in area

Two drivers were treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following separate accidents Saturday.

The first was reported at 1:30 a.m. and involved Steven S. Meeker, 23, of 350 N. Crawford Road, Deford.

Sheriff's deputies reported he was southbound on Cemetery Road and intended to turn west onto DeLong Road. He was going too fast and when he applied his brakes 100 feet north of the intersection, lost control. The car slid into the ditch at the south-east corner.

Meeker was ticketed on a charge of failure to report an accident.

Raymond S. Abbe, 19, of Elkton, was injured in a 5:30 p.m. accident. Deputies said he was westbound on Reed Road, west of Buehrly Road, and lost control trying to miss a deer. His auto went off the north side of the road and hit a pole.

Daryl L. Periso, 19, of 44 S. Kingston Road, Kingston, sought his own treatment after a 1:20 a.m. accident Friday.

Sheriff's deputies said he was a passenger in a pickup truck driven by Thomas L. Moshier, 21, of Mayville, which was southbound on Kingston Road, south of Chapin Road, and traveled in the northbound lane and east shoulder before going off the west side of the road. The vehicle then flipped end over end and knocked down a mailbox.

Periso told officers Moshier swerved to miss a deer and lost control.

Richard Szarapski, 22, of 5485 Kelly Road, Cass City, and a passenger, unnamed in the police report, were treated and released from Hills and Dales following a 10:30 p.m. accident Oct. 22 near Kelly and Warner Roads.

The accident was reported to Cass City police last Wednesday for insurance purposes.

Police said Szarapski was driving a pickup truck on private property and drove over an embankment, resulting in injuries to the occupants and damage to the vehicle.

Michael R. Dadacki, 22, of 4063 Shaw Road, Kingston, was ticketed by Caro state police on a charge of violation of the basic speed law following a 9:15 p.m. accident Sunday.

Troopers said he was westbound on Frankford Road, at Mona Road in Wells Township, when he lost control of his car on a curve. The car rolled over into a ditch along the north side of the road.

CAR-DEER

The following car-deer collisions were reported by the sheriff's department unless otherwise noted:

Gordon W. Long, 32, of Davison, while eastbound on M-81, east of Schwegler Road, at 7 a.m. Tuesday, according to Cass City police.

Jack R. Rummell, 43, of Frankenmuth, while northbound on Hurds Corner Road, south of Hoppe Road, at 7:35 p.m. Monday.

Alan W. Kretschmer, 23, of 3602 Sixth Street, Owendale, at 5:50 p.m. Monday while westbound on Wilder Road, west of Unionville Road.

Harold D. Whittaker, 54, of 6608 Pine Street, Cass City, while eastbound on M-81, west of Handy Road, at 9:15 p.m. Sunday, according to Caro state police.

Jane L. Becker, 39, of 4125 West Street, Cass City, while southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Elmwood Road, at 6:45 p.m. Sunday.

Helena J. Britt, 55, of Southfield, at 6:10 p.m. Sunday while southbound on M-53, south of Atwater Road.

Dawn G. Periso, 18, of 6445 Downing Road, Decker, at 11 p.m. Friday while southbound on Kingston Road, south of Muskhoo Road.

Cheryl Ann Swallow, 30, of 1729 S. Kingston Road, Deford, at 5:15 p.m. Friday while eastbound on Bevens Road, east of Pierce Road.

Jeanne L. Frakes, 34, of 4130 E. Decker Road, Cass City, while eastbound on E. Dayton Road, east of Weeden Road, at 10:15 p.m. last Thursday.

Ada Mae VanWagoner, 72, of 4055 White Creek Road, Kingston, at 9 p.m. last Thursday while northbound on White Creek, south of Denhoff Road, according to Caro state police.

Mark D. Joles, 28, of Akron, while westbound on M-81, west of Schwegler Road, at 6:30 p.m. last Thursday, according to Caro state police.

Richard H. Wright, 51, of 6720 Severance Road, Cass City, while westbound on Decker Road, west of Plain Road, also at 6:30 p.m. last Thursday.

Marcia J. Schember, 40, of 4297 Maple Street, Cass City, while driving southwest on M-81, west of Colwood Road, at 6:25 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 1.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

An accident involving a Cass City school bus was reported by village police at 7:04 a.m. Friday.

Officers said Marilyn J. Peters, 47, of 5822 Cass City Road was eastbound on Rose Street, stopped for the sign at Oak Street, didn't notice the bus exiting the intermediate school lot, proceeded into the intersection and the vehicles collided.

Driver of the bus was Jeanette A. LaPeer, 45, of 7681 Elmwood Road.

At 10:30 a.m. last Thursday, police said, Matthew

B. Smith, 22, of 2890 Van Dyke Road, Decker, eastbound on Main Street, east of Woodland Avenue, was attempting to pass another vehicle when the latter started to turn left into a driveway and the vehicles collided.

Driver of the other vehicle was David A. Barner, 36, of 4822 N. Seeger. Smith told police he didn't see Barnes signal the turn. Barnes said Smith was probably going too fast to notice the turn signal was on.

Report progress in school talks

Bargainers for the Cass City teachers and school board met from 4:30 p.m. Tuesday to past 2 a.m. Wednesday to negotiate a contract.

"We made some progress," said Fred Gerhardt, chief negotiator for the Tri-County Bargaining Association, which represents the teachers. "We're getting closer."

He said the two sides will meet again this week or next. Before then, local members of the TCBA negotiating team will continue discussions with the superintendent and their fellow teachers. The TCBA team consists of three local teachers and two non-local ones.

Supt. Donald Crouse was in agreement with Gerhardt that progress was made.

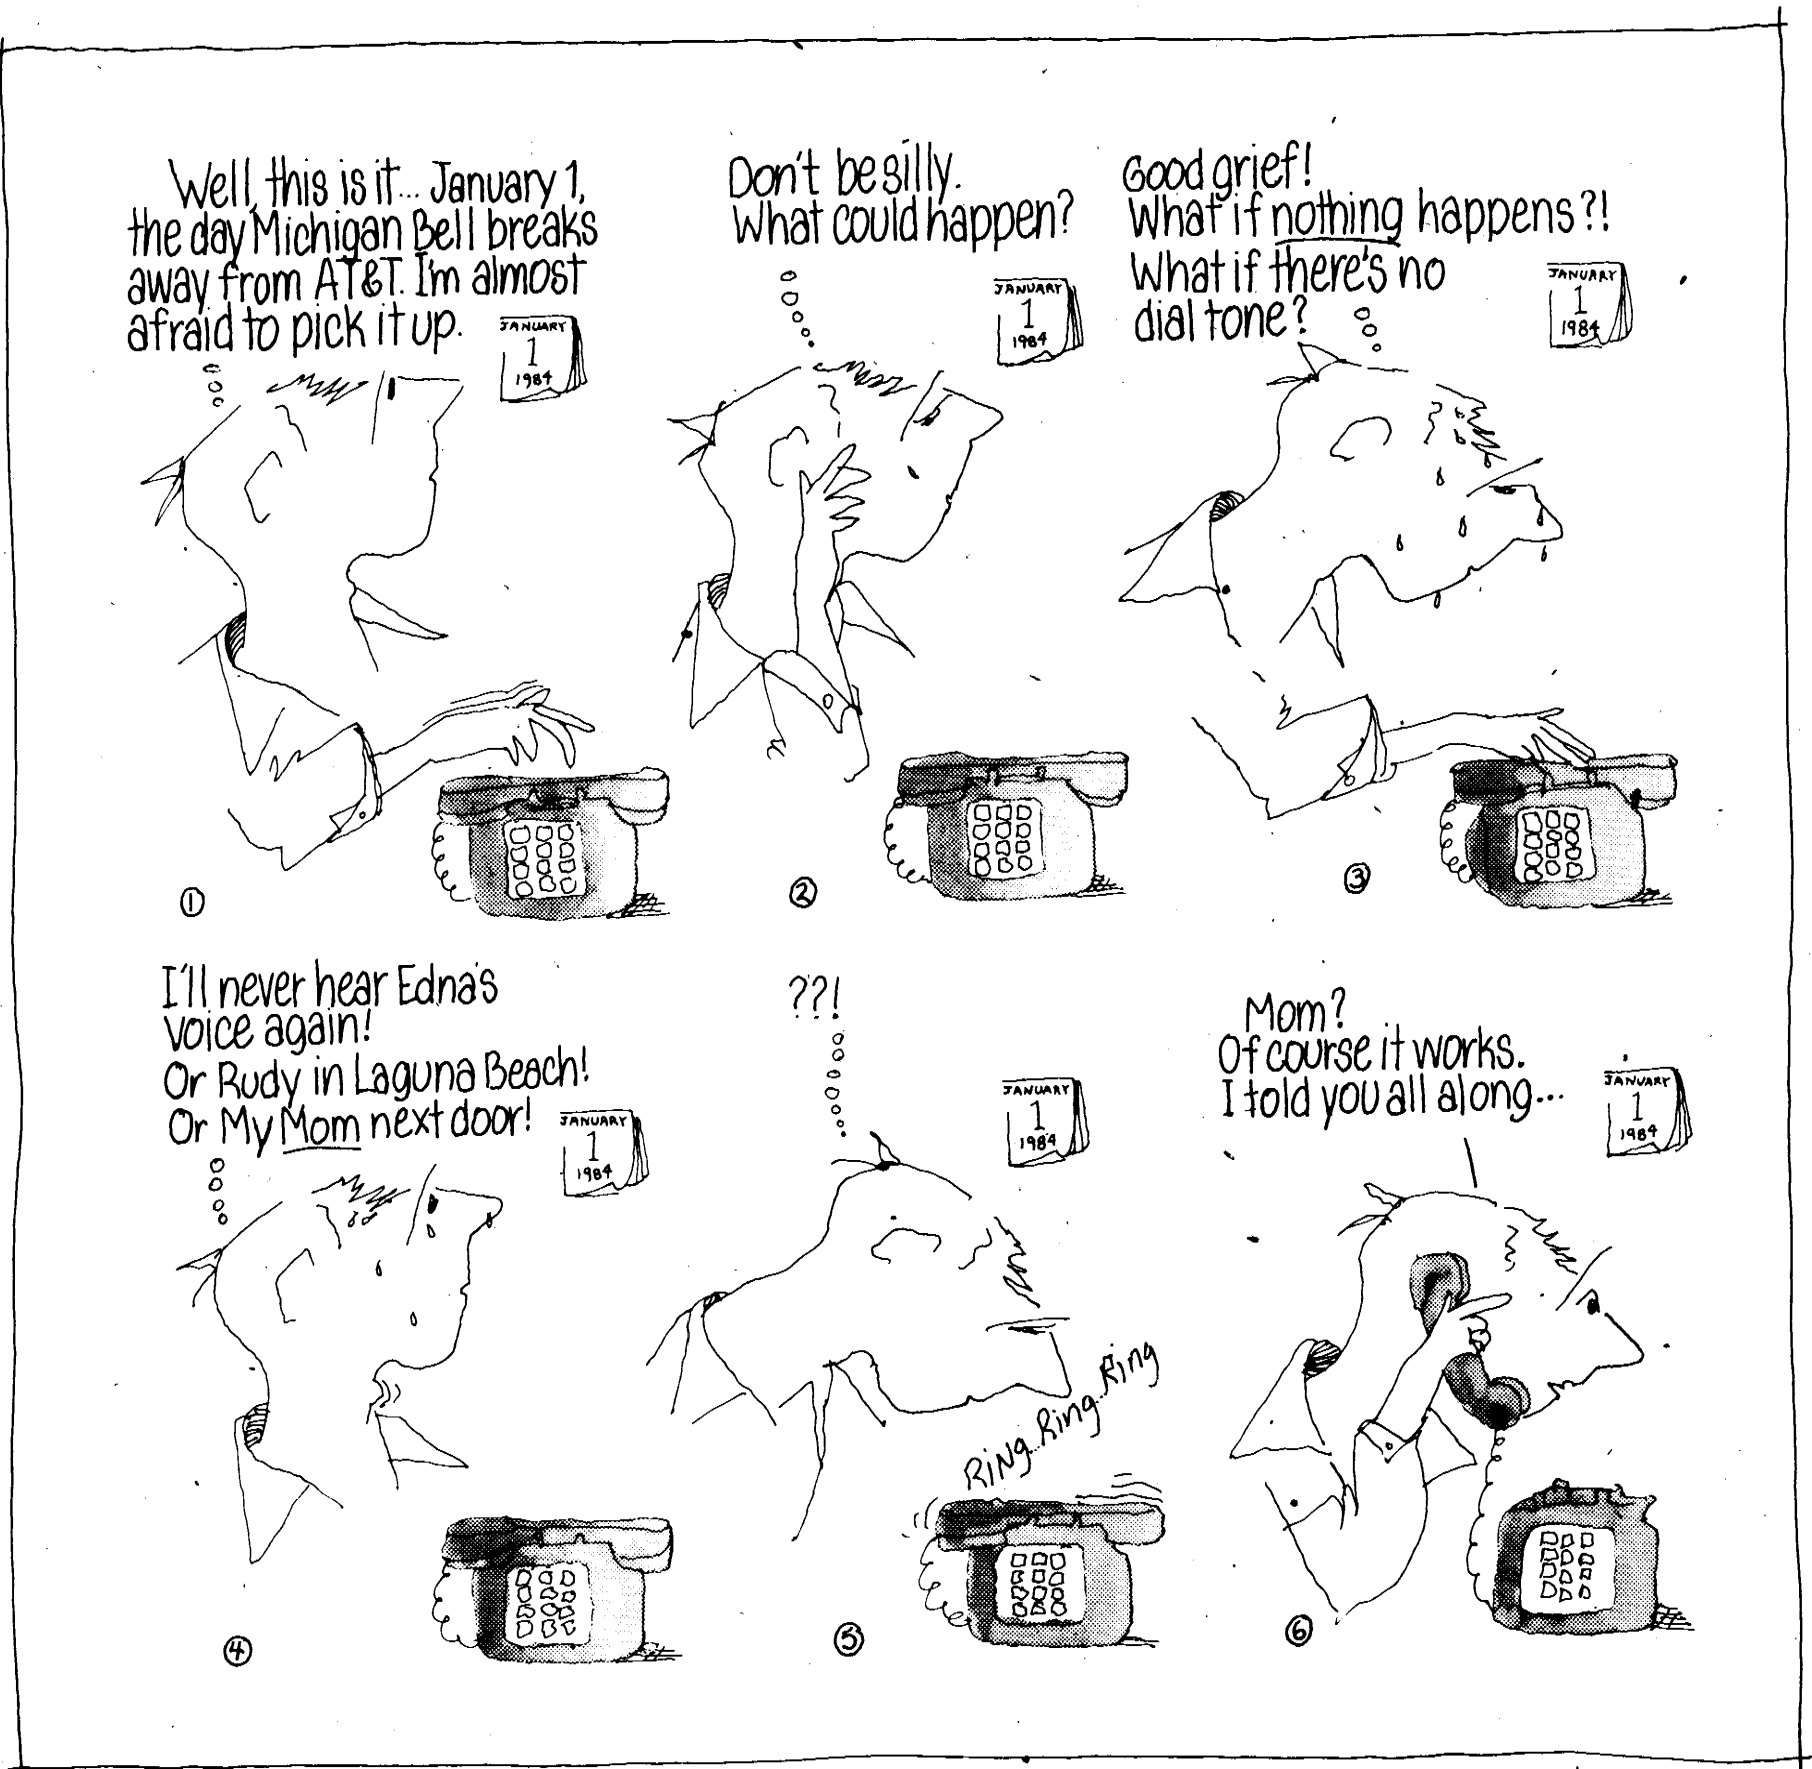

State mediator Bill Borushko was at Tuesday's bargaining session, the first since Oct. 19. He left before it was over.

Come January 1, you'll still get through to Edna in Engadine or your mom next door... as quickly and efficiently as ever.

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little. For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where LATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes—see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about LATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

So, as the expression goes—"not to worry." You'll still have your phone service—as good as ever—because we're working to make the changes in your phone company better changes for you. After all...

Pedaling Around

Shoddy reporting

By Mike Eliasohn

It's unfortunate when the news media gives the news media a bad name. Enough persons like to chastise it without those in the news business helping.

The television news media didn't do itself proud in two recent incidents.

One was the decision by CBS to air the videotape of John Z. De Lorean meeting with supposed cocaine dealers who turned out to be federal agents who arrested him.

The broadcast came only nine days before jury selection was to start for De Lorean's trial on a charge of conspiring to distribute $24 million worth of cocaine.

The videotape was key evidence in the government's case against De Lorean. His defense attorney received a restraining order from the judge who will preside over the De Lorean trial, but CBS appealed and the appeals judge threw out the restraining order.

"60 Minutes" Executive Producer Don Hewitt argued there was nothing on the videotape that the government hadn't described in detail a year earlier. All CBS did was put "the real picture alongside the government's word picture and show that they matched."

"In short," Time magazine reported, "CBS believes that it performed the service of showing that the prosecutors were not lying."

Thanks a lot, CBS. Because of your desire to get a big scoop, De Lorean's trial has been postponed and his lawyers can now argue he can't get a fair trial.

It will be unfortunate if De Lorean gets off on a technicality.

CBS will get off scot-free, since constitutional experts agree, according to Time, that it had the legal right to broadcast the tapes, though they disagree whether it was ethical to do so.

All the networks are showing lack of ethics concerning their refusal to stop broadcasting winners of presidential elections before all polls are closed.

I will never forget driving to Caro about 9:30 the night of the 1980 presidential election and listening to President Carter making his concession speech. The polls hadn't closed in probably a third of the country yet, but the networks had predicted, based on polling of voters leaving the election booths, that Reagan would win.

Carter was stupid to concede so early. Even if he had waited until all polls had closed, he would have lost, however, some Democrats felt his premature speech may have dissuaded some Democrats from voting. Their not voting may have tipped some close local races to Republicans.

The networks made their position clear on so-called exit polling at a recent symposium sponsored by Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government.

ABC News President Rooney Arledge argued that election predictions are news and, "Any time you start suppressing news, you begin to lose credibility with people who depend upon you for news."

CBS President-emeritus Frank Stanton said eliminating early projections would be like "trying to put a genie back in the bottle."

Numerous bills have been introduced in Congress to prohibit or control reporting of election results while polls are still open, but constitutional experts feel any such laws would be thrown out by the courts on the grounds of violation of First Amendment rights guaranteeing freedom of the press.

The networks may be correct on constitutional grounds, but not on ethical ones.

News is what's happening or what has happened. Forecasts of election results while persons are still voting wouldn't exist if the networks didn't make them.

That isn't news. That's "let's scoop the competition and to heck with the consequences."

GTE honors two employees

Two residents of the Cass City area were among 90 employees who were honored for their years of service with General Telephone Co. at a banquet Oct. 29.

Gerry Romig was recognized for 20 years of service and Chuck Peasley for 15 years of service with the company.

The service recognition banquet for the company's central division employees was held at the Davison Country Club. Bill Buschle, central division manager, served as master of ceremonies.

MORE WATER -- Installation of a six-inch water main in Gagetown from along State Street from Hennessey Street east and then south on Dodge Road was completed by village workmen last week, shown here digging the trench on Dodge. The big main replaces 1½ and ¾ inch mains that didn't provide enough water pressure.

Thanksgiving gospel concert slated Nov. 20

The Cass City Ministerial Alliance will present an area-wide Thanksgiving gospel concert Sunday, Nov. 20, at 8 p.m. at the Novesta Church of Christ.

Area churches participating will be the Cass City Missionary Church, Evangelical Free Church, Novesta Church of Christ, Salem United Methodist Church, St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Mizpah Missionary Church, Cass City Church of God, Ellington Church of the Nazarene, and Cass City Church of the Nazarene.

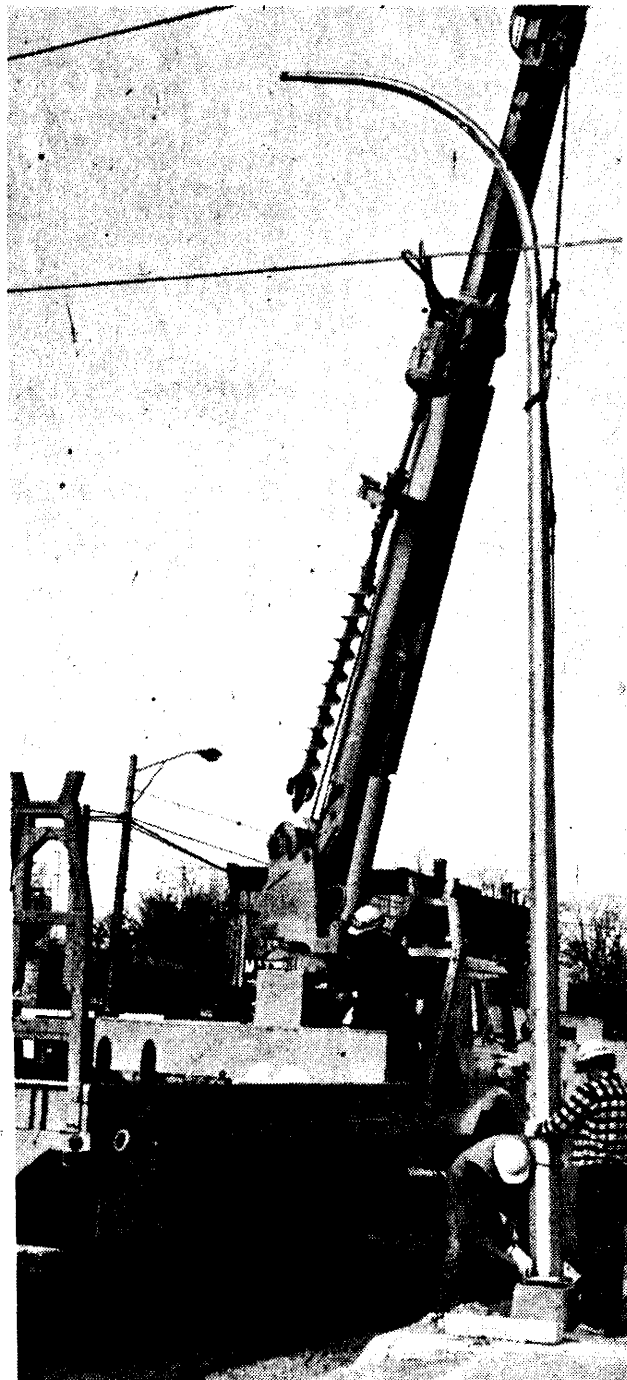

There will be soloists, trios, quartets, instrumentals, and a choir. Local talent from each church will be participating in the program.

A free-will offering will be taken during the program. All money received will go toward the annual 4th of July gospel concert sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance, which will be bringing in such talent as Doug Oldham, Hazel and Henry Slaughter, and others.

A time of fellowship will be available following the concert with coffee and cookies provided by area women.

The Novesta Church of Christ is located 3½ miles south of the stop light in Cass City on Cemetery Road.

BETTER LIGHTING -- Detroit Edison crews installed the last of the poles Monday on Seeger and Main Streets at the edge of downtown. The improved lights will match those in the rest of downtown.

49 attend O-G Senior Citizens

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met at St. Agatha's parish hall in Gagetown last Thursday with 49 members present.

Blood pressure readings were taken by Mary Lewis, LPN. President Elma Miklovich opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer and the pledge to the flag.

The group had a moment of silent prayer for the Marines who were killed in Beirut.

Mike Pisarek played the piano. The door prizes were won by Beatrice Miljure and Bill Ashmore.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Iva Volz. Robert and Florence Shell's wedding anniversary was recognized.

Get-well cards were sent to Cecil Loomis, Ada Salgat, Lucille LaFave, Irma Ouvry and Maude Sarosky.

A nominating committee of Robert Schell, Anna Klakulak and Elizabeth Szidik was named to select new officers for 1984. Several memberships were taken.

Grace Roberts made a Christmas tree with $2 gifts at its potluck dinner Dec. 15. It was seconded by Don Schell.

A motion was made by Beulah Kretzschmer that the club have a ham with its potluck Christmas dinner and seconded by Veneta Kling. Money will be taken from the treasury.

Mrs. Kretzschmer will get the ham and cook it. Bingo was played after the meeting. The next meeting will be Nov. 17 with potluck dinner at St. Agatha's parish hall.

The monthly meeting of United Methodist Women of Trinity Church was held Monday evening at the church with 32 women present.

Dinner preceded the business meeting, served by group No. 1 of which Mrs. Shirley Wagg and Mrs. Marilyn Alexander were chairmen.

Mrs. John Marshall presided over the business meeting and Mrs. Pauline Hulbur was in charge of the program.

Officers to serve for the coming year were installed by Mrs. Wagg. They are president, Mrs. Marshall; vice-president, Mrs. Hulbur; secretary, Mrs. Stuart Merchant; and treasurer, Mrs. Tom Proctor.

Farm truck license bill signed

Gov. James Blanchard has signed legislation designed to solve the problem of the special $15 registration permit for farm trucks. The new law allows the $15 plate on any farm truck used exclusively for transporting crops from the field to the place of storage.

"A new provision also permits transporting fertilizer, seed or spray from the farm to the field," said Robert E. Smith, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "The legislation also permits purchasing a farm truck license for three months instead of the present six months."

The fee is one-tenth the regular fee plus a $2 service fee. This special provision is only available when the regular fee is over $50, Smith said.

Catholic Women meet

The East Region Council of Catholic Women held its fall meeting Oct. 26 at St. Roch's Parish, Caseville. There were 145 women in attendance.

President Betty LaFave called the meeting to order with Fr. Theodore LaMarre, pastor of St. Roch's, giving the opening prayer and welcome.

The business meeting followed, with reports given from the delegates who attended the national convention in Denver, Col., Oct. 17-21.

Mrs. Cecil Allor, immediate past president of the Saginaw Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, reported on family affairs. Mrs. Gerri Tenbush Jr., president of the council, reported on the community affairs workshop. Mrs. LaFave gave highlights on the opening speech by Dr. Susan Muto, executive director of the Institute of Formative Spirituality, Duquesne University. Dr. Muto spoke about Hopelessness in our World Today.

Mrs. Zita Brady of Bay City, new Province Director of Michigan, gave a brief history on the NCCW.

Mass was celebrated by Fr. Michael Wolfe, St. Francis Borgia, Pigeon, and Fr. Lamarre. After the mass, lunch was served by the ladies from St. Roch's. Speaker for the afternoon was Audrey Machul, from the Hospice House program, St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw.

The drawing for the Madonnas was held and the following parishes took them home: St. Anthony, Helena; St. Columbkille, Sheridan Corners; St. Ignatius, Freiburg, and Daughters of Isabelle, Fidelis Regina Circle 698.

The spring meeting will be co-hosted by the women from St. Ignatius and St. Joseph, Argyle, April 25.

"Planning Ahead"

It's time to plan ahead for the special baking we like to do during the holiday season. Baking early as time allows and freezing lets you enjoy the creativity and special feeling that goes with preparing goodies for family gatherings and giving. Wrapped well, most cookies and drop cookie dough can be frozen successfully. Allow dough to come to room temperature before using. Place cooled unfrosted cakes on cardboard and wrap well with foil or plastic wrap and they'll keep up to 4 months in the freezer. (Limit on frosted cakes is about 2 months.) (Cooked-type frosting normally does not freeze well.) Freeze before wrapping so frosting will not stick. Thaw covered at room temperature.

Some reminders: Use the recommended pan. Incorrect pan size affects baking time and may cause cakes, quick bread and bar cookies to rise improperly, shrink or overflow the pan. Reduce temperature 25° when using a glass pan. Unless otherwise directed in the recipe grease only the bottom of the cake pan. (Have you ever tried to climb a greased pole?) Plan now and enjoy the season.

with Mrs. Jim Doerr for a noon luncheon. The worship will be in charge of Mrs. Bob Sawdon and the lesson will be by Mrs. Howard Gregg.

The Pioneer Group will dine out for their Thanksgiving dinner Wednesday, Nov. 16. The dinner will be held at Donella's Restaurant on M-24 at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Ball of Cass City and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Meredith visited their aunt, Mrs. Laura McQueen, at St. Johns Sunday.

UMW

The Shabbona United Methodist Women held their regular meeting Wednesday evening, Nov. 2, at the home of Mrs. Bob Bader.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Arlie Gray, chairman. Roll call was answered by 16 members. The worship was in charge of Mrs. Jim McIntosh. The lesson on being thankful was presented by Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. Mary Vatters.

Plans were made to pack boxes for servicemen. Plans were also made to go to Provincial House in December.

The Dec. 7 meeting is with Mrs. Lloyd Bader. A potluck supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. Secret sister friend will be revealed. Lesson leaders will be Mrs. Jim Rule, Mrs. Frank Pelton and Mrs. Robert Wheeler.

Owen-Gage receives federal funds

A grant of $2,726 from Chapter 2 of the federal Education Consolidation and Improvement Act of 1981 has been approved for the Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools, according to Supt. Ronald Erickson.

The 1983-84 grant covers the proposed addition of reference materials, improvement of storage conditions for audio-visual resources, and additional A-V carts for the high school library. The grant also provides funds for the introduction of a program of annual assessment testing for all secondary students.

The $2,817 in funds received under the grant for 1982-83 were used to purchase library reference materials, microcomputer disk drives, cables, diskettes and public domain software.

The Chapter 2 grants are available to local districts upon application, but the amount of the grant is fixed by a complex formula set by the Michigan Department of Education which administers the federal program.

Your neighbor says

Best part of hunting is being outdoors

Bob White is looking forward to the start of the firearms deer hunting season Tuesday. He likes hunting almost everything.

"I hunt anything," he said. "Anything there is to hunt, I hunt." He actually doesn't hunt everything. He doesn't care for duck hunting.

White also doesn't care for anti-hunters. He got upset one day while driving to work and hearing an anti-hunting record played on the radio. He was tempted to stop and call the radio station to protest the song, which portrayed hunters as shooting Bambi and anything that moves. "That just kind of rubbed me the wrong way."

Hunting is an American heritage, he said. "Our grandfathers hunted and our grandfathers before our grandfathers."

He isn't worried that the anti-hunters will eventually get hunting outlawed. Between the money hunters spend for licenses and for equipment, "hunting is a big business...It's too big an inventory to let these anti-hunters wash it up. I can't see how the state would let them do it."

The best part about hunting to White isn't in killing animals. "It's not a big thrill to kill the animal," he said. "I enjoy the peace and tranquility."

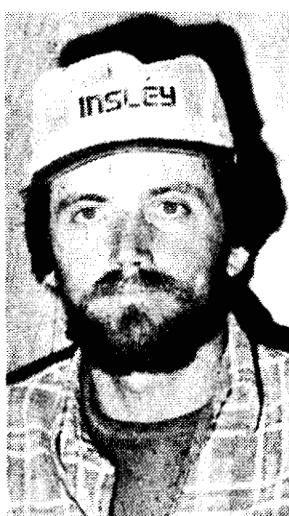

He enjoys being outdoors even when he isn't hunting and often goes for walks in the woods. One reason he does so is to gather materials for his taxidermy displays.

White works for Stroman Construction of Imlay City, a seasonal job, and does taxidermy work during the winter.

He regrets that not all hunters notice their surroundings when hunting. Nature, he said, is "just incredible....people walk by and it's right under their feet."

For that reason, he said of deer hunting, "That's the bonus, getting the meat. It's not a wasted trip if I don't see a deer."

White and his wife, Barbara, have a daughter, Amie, 7, and a son, Alan, 5. The family lives at 6671 Houghton Street.

George Vargo finishes Army basic training

Pvt. George M. Vargo, son of Shirley B. Brown of 3553 Third Street, Owendale, has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

His wife, Deidra, is the daughter of Dennis Thick of 4792 South Street, Gagetown.

The private is a 1983 graduate of Owendale-Gagetown High School.

Intermediate open house

An open house will take place this Thursday from 6:30-7:30 p.m. at Cass City Intermediate School.

Teachers will be in their classrooms and students' work will be on display. There will be a volleyball game in the gym, with a seventh grade team playing the eighth grade.

Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Dick (Marian) Carroll was honored recently on the occasion of her birthday when the Carrolls, their daughter Lee Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Elger Generous had dinner at Krzyziak's House in Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Carroll and Lee Ann were guests last week end of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Rabideau in East Lansing.

Mrs. Arthur Carolan, Mrs. Eugene Comment and Mrs. Harry Kehoe were luncheon guests last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Clark, Caseville. Other guests were Mrs. Maynard Doerr and Mrs. Wallace Conners, Caseville. The Clarks leave Nov. 10 for their winter home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Don Schwartz was among the nimrods in the fields during the past few weeks. Saturday, he hunted with Jack and Todd Tamblin of Essexville, Charlie Ball of Essexville, Steve and Mike Root, and Bill Burrows. Bill Burrows hosted a barbecue at his home after the hunt. Last Thursday, Mrs. Bill Lenhard and Mrs. Gerry Carolan were afternoon callers at the home of Mrs. Tony Carolan in Bay City. Mrs. Sue Penrod visited her daughters, Pat and Diane, in Detroit last week end.

Mrs. Harold (Hilda) Koch spent the week end in Frankenmuth with her mother, Mrs. Nora Meyer.

Mrs. Arnold Nimtz and daughter Gloria of Sebewaing were callers Saturday at the home of Mrs. Mary McKellar.

Mrs. Marc (Su Ann) Bridson of Bad Axe accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Comment, and all were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Comment and Matthew of Export, Pa.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Regino Lopez were Mr. and Mrs. Pablo (Richard) Lopez of Millington and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lopez and family of Lapeer.

Mrs. Gerry Carolan spent a few days in Lapeer with her granddaughter, Toni Watterworth, who is recuperating after corrective hand surgery.

The Harlan Hobarts visited Mrs. Jean Hartman Sunday at the Richard Prusdial home in Vassar.

After attending Sunday mass for Marsha Goslin at St. Agatha Church, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Shannon of Fairgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vaughn of Mayville and Mr. and Mrs. Brad Goslin and family were guests for brunch of the Keith Goslins.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Goodell entertained for dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kolb of Pontiac and Francis Goslin.

Guests for Sunday brunch of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Langlois of Caro were the Harry Kehoes and Mrs. Velma Helwig. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. David Cox and sons, Miss Susan Langlois and Ken Crawford of Detroit and Mrs. Carl Sieland of Caro. Owen-Gage Area Schools are holding Parent-Teacher conferences this week Thursday.

Dietzel at FFA convention

David Dietzel of Peck Road, Marlette, is with Future Farmers of America members from all across the country to provide music and entertainment for more than 23,000 FFA members and guests at the organization's 56th national convention, Thursday through Saturday, in Kansas City, Mo.

Dietzel, who is a member of the Marlette High School FFA chapter, is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dietzel.

He was selected to be part of the 103-voice National FFA Chorus from more than 220 applicants. Participants were recommended for the chorus by their state FFA associations and their high school vocational agriculture instructor and choir director.

Free cheese distribution Nov. 18

The Human Development Commission will have a surplus cheese and butter distribution, at the following locations Friday, Nov. 18, from 10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. or until the supply is exhausted:

Evangelical Free Church, 4633 Weaver Street, Cass City (across from Erla's Food Center); fairgrounds in Caro; Ivan Middleton Hall, Vassar fairgrounds.

Individuals must report to the distribution site in person and present their surplus commodity registration card. Persons who are unable physically to go to the distribution themselves, may have someone pick up their surplus commodities only if the Surplus Commodity Registration Card is shown.

If an individual has not yet received this card, they must register at the Human Development Commission office in their county, prior to receiving cheese and butter. The telephone number for the HDC office in Caro is 673-4121.

All households who are receiving a form of public assistance, such as Aid to Dependent Children, General Assistance, food stamps, or Supplemental Security Income, are eligible to receive cheese and butter. Households who are not receiving any of these types of public assistance, but who have received services through the HDC, may also be eligible to get cheese and butter. Also, persons living on fixed incomes or unemployment benefits might be eligible, in accordance with federal poverty income guidelines.

The surplus commodities have been made available to the HDC, the community action agency serving Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, from the federal government.

HEALTH TIPS

Burns kill 9,000 Americans annually

Some facts about burn injuries from the National Institute for Burn Medicine in Ann Arbor:

--More than 2 million Americans are burned every year.

--More than 70,000 persons are hospitalized with burns each year.

--More than 9,000 persons die from burns each year, half of them children.

--Burn treatment is expensive. A critically burned patient may face a hospital stay of six months to a year.

--For those suffering disfigurement and disability, the problems may require life-long follow-up care and treatment.

--Severely burned children may require as many as 10 or more operations through their growing years.

--Only 180 of the 6,000 acute care hospitals in the United States can provide advanced burn care and treatment. Few of them offer complete programs for burn rehabilitation.

--Nearly 90 percent of all those hospitalized with burns receive less than the best care available today.

Here are a few simple household safety tips which can prevent the tragedy of a burn accident.

--Turn your water heater down to 120 degrees Fahrenheit. Even a few degrees higher can cause serious burns in a matter of seconds.

--Keep pot and pan handles turned inward, and keep pans on back burners whenever possible.

--Never hold children when you drink hot liquids.

--Have your fireplace and wood stove chimneys cleaned at least once a year.

--Check your smoke alarm to make sure it's operating correctly and has fresh batteries.

--Never store gasoline or flammable liquids. If you have to, store them in proper containers away from living areas.

--Teach your children how to use matches as tools, not toys.

--Practice exit drills in the home. Choose a safe place outside where everyone will meet.

The National Institute for Burn Medicine is a non-profit health care support organization dedicated to resolving the burn problem through professional education and training, research, prevention and community awareness.

The institute is a United Way agency.

89-pound Dave Salcido

Small O-G athlete has lots of heart

In the Sept. 9 Owen-Gage vs. Arenac Eastern football game, sophomore Dave Salcido carried the ball three times for the Bulldogs for a total of 20 yards.

A week later, the 89-pound, 5-foot-2-inch sophomore underwent heart surgery at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

During the operation, it was discovered there were two faulty valves in his heart, that he has only one kidney and that some of his vertebrae are fused together. Prior to that, it was known that he has scoliosis, which can result in a permanently deformed spine. An operation is likely.

Despite what sounds like a script from "St. Elsewhere" or "Trapper John, M.D.," Salcido played golf and basketball in addition to football in the ninth grade at Owen-Gage, and baseball in a league last summer.

Dave, 15, is the son of Joseph and Regina Salcido of 4878 State Street, Gagetown.

The purpose of the operation was to close a channel running between the artery that carries blood to the heart and the one that carries it out. Normally, such channels close naturally at birth, but in Dave, it didn't. The noticeable result was a heart murmur or irregular heart beat. Nothing was ever done, however, because the family doctor told the Salcidos the condition would eventually correct itself.

They received similar advice about the scoliosis from the family doctor and a back specialist.

ALL THAT CHANGED last May when two doctors from the Pigeon Clinic, J.U. Akbar and S.H. Raythatha, performed physicals for Owen-Gage athletes.

They suggested a further examination for Dave, Mrs. Salcido said, "because they didn't see how he could be playing football."

He went to the clinic for the exam and the doctors advised him to have back surgery.

The Salcidos wanted a second opinion, so next came a full day of tests July 7 at the Mott Hospital, which is part of the University of Michigan Hospitals. The doctors there advised heart surgery first.

Dave went back to the hospital for one examination before the Sept. 16 surgery.

The Salcidos asked the doctors whether he should or could play in the football game a week before the surgery and were told it would be okay, since he hadn't hurt himself yet and he might get depressed if he didn't play.

In fact, the doctors said his participation in sports kept him in better shape than he would have been if he hadn't been active.

BEFORE THE HEART operation, Mr. and Mrs.

Salcido asked the doctors, "Is it absolutely necessary?"

They were told that without it, their son might live to about 30. He can now expect a normal life span.

DAVE SALCIDO holds a football signed by all members of the Owen-Gage team that was given to him prior to his Sept. 16 heart operation. The football pep assembly before his surgery was dedicated to him.

They have also been told that without back surgery, he will be in a wheelchair before he is 30.

To get to his heart during the operation, the surgeons cut through Dave's left side, then cut the muscle, pulled his ribs apart and removed his lung. That's a new procedure. The old way was to cut the breastplate.

The leaky valves discovered during the operation were the result of the open channel. The channel and open valve were fixed and the other valve is expected to fix itself.

The single kidney, discovered during the operation (two is normal) isn't a problem as long as it isn't injured. He has been advised to wear a pad over it when he plays football.

Mrs. Salcido had high praise for the hospital and staff. "At Mott, they treat you like family there."

Joseph Salcido is employed at Saginaw Steering Gear and his Blue Cross-Blue Shield is paying his son's medical bills.

There are some expenses that aren't covered, Mrs. Salcido noted, such as gasoline, meals and parking ($4.75 a day in Ann Arbor). Except for a couple nights spent at the hospital, family members stayed with friends in Detroit to avoid motel bills while Dave was at Mott.

HER SON WAS IN the hospital for a week after the operation. The first day after it, he was in intensive care. The next day he was walking.

He was home for three weeks before returning to school Oct. 10. Before then, on Oct. 7, he was back at Mott for a checkup. His teachers gave him assignments to do at home until he returned to school.

He went back to the hospital Monday to determine whether his heart is in good enough condition to play basketball, plus what will be done with his back, when and where. The surgery may not be done at Mott.

It is hoped that the scoliosis and the fused vertebrae can be fixed in one operation. A steel rod may be inserted in the spine, being deformed from the scoliosis, to straighten it. Dave hopes the operation won't be until after the basketball season, so that he can play.

His various health problems may have slowed his growth, which may have been fortunate. His mother said his growth spurt didn't start until last January, which is when his back condition started to worsen.

Because of the fused vertebrae, Salcido can't turn his head all the way to the left or all the way down.

DAVE WAS ACTIVE before the operation, according to Mrs. Salcido, but since it, "I think he's peppier and he eats better."

Dave has two older brothers who were active in sports at Owen-Gage (plus two sisters) and one younger, Rick, 14, who is also active.

He describes himself as an "average" student and hasn't decided yet what he wants to do after he graduates from high school.

Although he didn't get to play football again this season after the first game, he played on the Bulldog golf team which competed in the state championships Oct. 22 at Concord.

He has been a helper for the football team since he got back to school, but fully intends to be playing next season. "Next year, they're not touching me because I want to play football."

His heart operation was the same day as Owen-Gage's game with Carsonville-Port Sanilac. According to his mother, his first words when he returned to consciousness after the operation were, "Did we win?"

Obituary

HENRY W. HECK

Henry W. Heck, 94, of Sebawaing, died Monday, Oct. 31, at St. Joseph Hospital in Tawas City after a short illness.

Heck and his wife, Ida, bought the general store in Shabbona about 1950, after he retired as a Utica police officer. They sold the store in 1960 or '61 and moved to Sebawaing.

"They were well liked in Shabbona," said the Chronicle's Shabbona correspondent, Marie Meredith. "Everyone just loved them."

Heck was born Aug. 20, 1889, in Warren, the son of George and Alvira (Maertz) Heck. He married Ida Eick March 20, 1912, in Utica. Mrs. Heck died May 27, 1979.

He was a member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Sebawaing.

Heck is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William (Helen) Kraft, Pigeon, and Mrs. Kermit (Isabel) Winn, South Branch; six grandchildren, and 15 great-grandchildren.

One son, one daughter, one brother and one sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held last Thursday morning at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Rev. Darold Derdering, the pastor, and Rev. Edward Arle officiating. Graveside services and burial were conducted that afternoon at the Utica Cemetery. Arrangements were by the Schultz Funeral Home, Sebawaing.

Memorials can be made to his church's organ fund or building fund or to the Lutheran Hour.

The would-be developer of an apartment complex in Cass City said Monday he will try to find another site, following rejection of his loan pre-application by the Farmers Home Administration (FHA).

"I guess I'm not going to appeal it, but I'm going to try to get another site," said Thomas Breakey.

He and his father, William, operating as Management Resources Development of Lansing, want to build a three-building, 32-unit apartment complex.

The site was to be three of six acres they optioned south of the Charmont, west of Doerr Road. The property is owned by Charmont owner Clare Comment.

The land is zoned "general business" and that was part of the reason for the FHA Caro office last week rejecting the Breakeys' application for a $914,947 low-interest loan.

"In our opinion, we felt it was a commercial site," said Joe Greene, FHA assistant district director in Caro. "It wouldn't be a good place for apartments."

For apartments to be built there, the property would have to be rezoned "multiple family residential" by the village council. The Breakeys had a letter from the council stating that the zoning could be changed without it being considered spot zoning, but the rezoning couldn't be going through the proper procedure.

The village's planning consultants had advised that if the area were rezoned, the apartments would be a transition area between the businesses on the north and the homes to the south and therefore would not be considered spot zoning.

Breakey, who told the Chronicle he was "slightly surprised" by the FHA rejection, outlined his three options: "I may appeal or get another site and resubmit (the loan pre-application) or I may just forget it, but I don't think I'll do that." Later in the conversation, he said he wouldn't appeal, but instead would try to find another site in Cass City, though admitting that would be difficult.

The developer has until Tuesday of next week to appeal, should he change his mind. Greene explained the first step in the appeal procedure would be for the Breakeys to discuss with the Caro FHA office why the pre-application was rejected.

If the officials there don't change their minds, the Breakeys could then appeal to the FHA state office in East Lansing.

Other than the site, Greene said, everything in the pre-application was okay.

REJECTION OF THE Breakey loan pre-application, if not overturned, does not clear the way, however, for another proposed apartment project in Cass City dependent on an FHA loan.

In contrast to the Breakey's proposal for apartments which would be rented to anyone with a household income of no more than $23,000 annually,

County board makes several appointments

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday made appointments to numerous county boards and commissions, effective Jan. 1.

All were reappointments unless otherwise noted: Social Services Board, Karen L. Parsell (new), three years; Library Board, Jean Adams, five years; Planning Commission, Earl Beagle, Edward Cole, Richard Dehmel, and Ed Karr, Cass City, all three years; Department of Public Works, Robert Balzer, Don Duggar, J. Benson Colton, three years, and Community Mental Health Services Board, Arnold Krumnauer, Iris Tuckey, Cass City, Dorothy Mantey, and Allen Jones (new), four years.

In other action, commissioners approved a new personnel policy for non-union county employees who are not department heads.

The contract with Arbela Township for providing police protection by the sheriff's department was renewed for 1984, at a cost of $37,859 to the township. The county provides the patrol car.

Uby FFA chapter earns national award

The Uby High School chapter of Future Farmers of America has been selected as a bronze emblem chapter in the FFA's national chapter award program.

The chapter will receive recognition at the 56th National FFA Convention this Thursday through Saturday in Kansas City, Mo.

Chapters earn their awards for superior performance in 11 areas of program involvement: Supervised occupational experience, cooperation, community service, leadership, earnings, savings and investments, conduct of meetings, scholarship, recreation, public relations, state and national activities, and alumni relations.

Lynn Weber, Sheila Klee, Deb Kosal and Darrell Grifka will be representing the Uby chapter in the National FFA meets contest, sponsored by Ralston Purina Co., at the convention.

Teams compete at the chapter, district, state and sometimes regional levels to reach national competition. The FFA offers national contests in 11 different areas.

Rural Housing Corp. of East Lansing has proposed constructing a single building with 24 apartments exclusively for senior citizens. Estimated cost is about $750,000.

The firm has obtained an option for purchase of three acres of village-owned property in the southeast corner of Cass City, south of Woodland Avenue.

The land is zoned single-family residential so will have to be rezoned to multiple family before apartments can be constructed there.

GREENE SAID MONDAY Rural Housing hasn't submitted all the information necessary for its loan pre-application yet, "so we haven't looked at it yet."

Contrary to the impression made in August when the two developers first presented their proposals, that one or the other would likely receive an FHA loan, that isn't the case, Greene explained.

The Caro office is responsible for 11 counties, he said, and, "We only have so much money to work with."

If no project is funded in Cass City, one will be funded elsewhere. He indicated that with the Breakey loan pre-application being rejected, and the Rural Housing one not completed, that increases the odds that FHA funds available for apartment projects will go elsewhere first. A Cass City project might still be funded later.

Hawks in roll, win 2 loop games in row

The Cass City Red Hawks are on a roll. For the first time this year Coach Lloyd Schinnerer's charges have won two games in a row.

The Hawks topped two Thumb B Association foes, topping the Lakers in a donnybrook, 45-44, Tuesday, Nov. 1, and Caro, 28-23, Thursday.

The Laker game was as close as the final score indicated. The Hawks forged to a seven-point lead at the half only to see the host Lakers charge back to go in front by a point with three minutes left in the game.

With 18 seconds left the Hawks still trailed, 44-43, and Joy Root was fouled. With the pressure on, Root calmly made both ends of a one and one to win the game.

Jill Hutchinson continued to be the main cog in the Hawk attack with 19 points and seven rebounds. Root netted 15 while Shelly Ginter, 15 points, and Janice Bushy and Susan Kohr, 10 points each, paced the Lakers.

The Lakers out-rebounded Cass City 25 to 20 but the Hawks made up for that with a 49 to 40 percent edge in field goals.

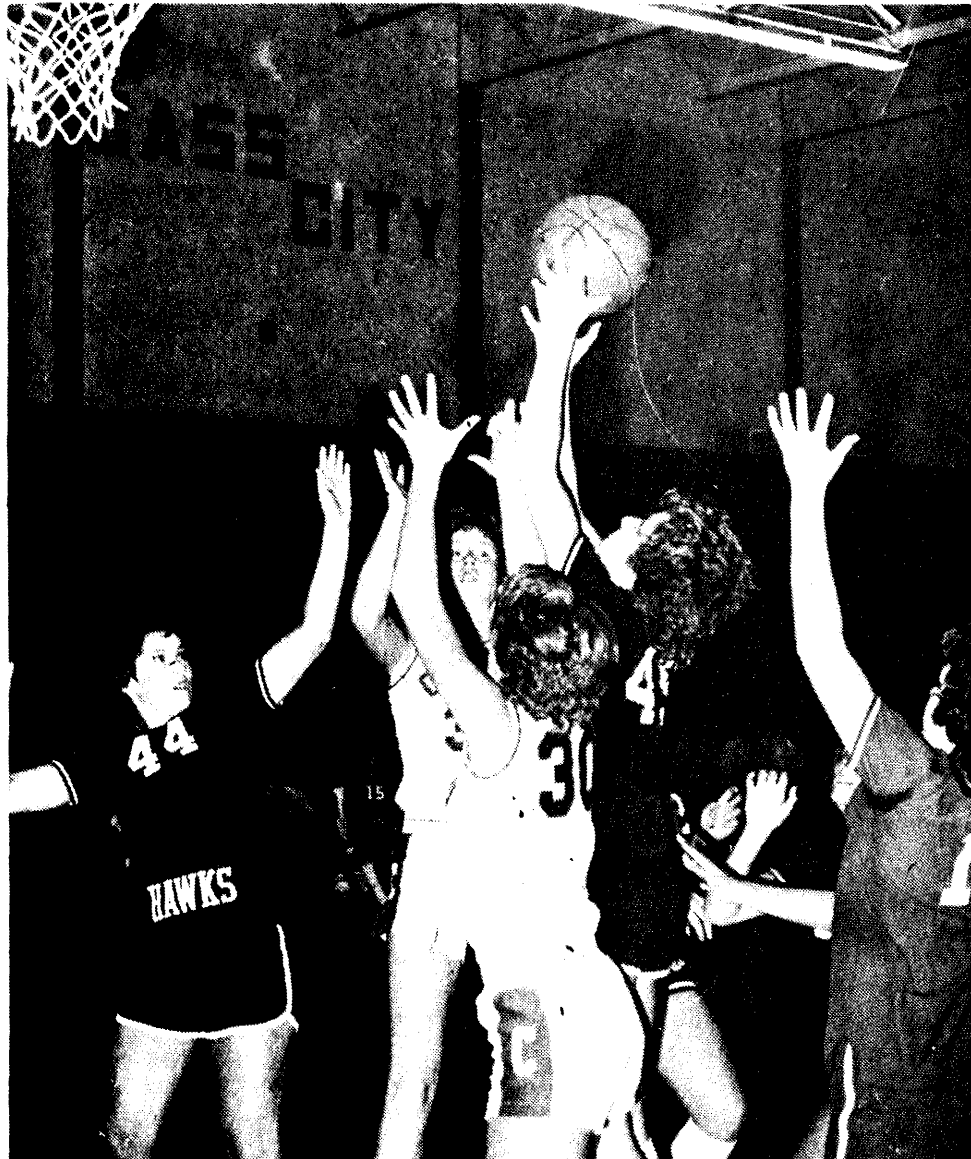

The Cass City JV lost 43-28.

CARO GAME

In a horrible shooting exhibition for both schools the Hawks defeated Caro, Caro hit just 18 percent of its tries from the field on 9 baskets in 51 attempts. Cass City shot 31 percent on 11 of 36.

Although the game was always in doubt until the final period Cass City led all the way. After a 10-6 edge in the first quarter both teams were able to score only seven points in the next two quarters.

Root led Cass City with 16 points. Hutchinson scored only four points, by far the worst scoring night for her this season. No Caro player was in double figures. Kim Wagg was the Hawks leading rebounder with eight.

CASS CITY'S Cathy Britt outreaches Caro's Wendy Joslyn (30) and Terry Bauer (34) for a rebound. No. 44 for the Red Hawks is Barb Craig.

Cass City-Deford area top spots

Predict banner deer season

Firearms deer season begins Tuesday. "It looks like it's going to be a good season, according to all reports we have," said Carlton (Bud) Jarvis, Department of Natural Resources area wildlife biologist.

There have been numerous reports from farmers of crop damage and for the first six months of this year, the number of reported car-deer accidents in the area was up 50 percent from the same period last year -- both indicators of a plentiful deer herd.

Last winter was mild and that enabled the deer to get through it in good condition. Compared to last season, "I think it's just as good if not better," Jarvis said of hunting prospects.

The best prospects should be in the Cass City and Deford areas, east into Sanilac County and southern Huron County.

The number of deer in southwestern Tuscola County, Jarvis said, should be no higher than last year and maybe lower.

Statewide prospects for deer hunters are also considered excellent. The prediction is that more than 100,000 bucks plus 50,000-60,000 antlerless deer will be killed with firearms, plus bow hunters will bring home another 40,000 bucks.

If the weather stays dry, most corn will be harvested by Nov. 15, which will drive the deer from the cornfields into the woods, which should improve safety conditions for hunters, Jarvis noted.

The DNR will again be giving away "successful deer hunter" patches to those who bring their deer to one of its field offices.

The Caro office is on M-24, south of Caro, and is open weekdays from 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m.

Entry blanks are available there for the DNR's big buck contest, which is based on racks only. Prizes are trophies and belt buckles, plus a free dinner for the big winners at the awards presentation at the DNR training center at Higgins Lake.

The last day of the firearms deer season is Nov. 30. Archery deer season resumes Dec. 1 and continues in the lower peninsula until Jan. 1. It ends Dec. 15 in the Upper Peninsula.

The muzzleloader deer season statewide is Dec. 2-11.

O-G tops Kingston for second win

The Owen-Gage basketball team picked up its second win of the season Tuesday night, 48-44, over visiting Kingston.

The Bulldogs, now 2-12 in the North Central Thumb D League and 2-15 overall, were led by Sheila Engelhardt with 17 points and Linda Retford with 12. Engelhardt grabbed 19 of her team's 51 rebounds.

Owen-Gage scored its points on 21 field goals and six of 21 free throws. Kingston sank 16 field goals and were 12 of 21 at the charity line. Margaret Miracle, Lori Smith and Debbie Kasdorf each scored eight points.

Owen-Gage is at Akron-Fairgrove this Thursday and ends the regular season Tuesday of next week at home against Caseville. The district tournament is at Port Hope and the Bulldogs play the host Blue Stars Thursday of next week.

The Cardinals won the junior varsity game, 28-21.

Brandon wins 48-6

No patsies on Hawk schedule

One thing you can say for certain about the 1983 Hawk football team. There were no patsies on the schedule.

The Hawks opened the year against Tawas and all that team did was go undefeated all year. The Hawks closed against Ortonville and all that team did was lose one game all year, playing mixed class C and B teams in its schedule.

Coach Don Schelke said that Brandon was probably the best team Cass City has faced this year. That's saying a lot considering the caliber of the Thumb B Association. So it's no surprise that host Brandon powered its way to an easy 48-6 decision.

Brandon has a veteran team which has 27 seniors, many of whom are three-year lettermen nurtured by Coach Art Paddy who has turned around the grid program at the Ortonville school.

Brandon was awesome on the ground running for 539 yards on 67 plays, the most piled up against Cass City this season.

There wasn't much to the game. Brandon scored a touchdown in the first period and ran for three more in the second quarter to lead 26-0 at the half.

The Hawks never seriously threatened until the final period when Bryan Beecher hit Joe Langenburg with a pass. The play covered 43 yards.

The passing combination is one that was productive for the Hawks all season. Beecher will be back next season but Langenburg will not.

He is one of three seniors that played regularly for Cass City this season. The others are Paul Hutchinson, who played only on offense, and Brian Wright. There were only six seniors on the entire squad.

Despite the record most fans and qualified observers feel that Cass City showed marked improvement during the year. With another year of experience Cass City's grid prospects in 1984 should be brighter than in several years.

The Hawks did improve in one area against Brandon. Only once was the ball lost on a fumble. The Hawks had one pass intercepted.

On the ground Cass City ran only 18 plays for 73 yards. Forced to pass, Cass City went to the air 22 times, completed five for 91 yards.

Brandon used the air arm sparingly, throwing twice and completing both for 26 yards.

Cross country teams fall

It was a disappointing state final cross country match for the Cass City High School cross country teams.

The Hawk boys finished a distant 12th with 284 points while favored Charlevoix won going away with 76 points. Cass City figured to be among the top five going into the meet.

Even more disappointing to Hawk fans was the fifth place finish of Greg Bliss. Bliss, the defending state champion, was expected to duel with Charlevoix's Bill

Taylor for the title.

They did for the first two miles, but in the last 1.1 miles the effort to win cost Bliss, and he faded. His time was 16:25.1, well under his usual running form. Taylor ran in 15:46.

Cass City's girls finished seventh with 193 points. Benzie Central was the winner with 67 points. Cass City's best individual effort was by Ruby Bryant, who finished 15th with a time of 20:50.1. Jolene Croos of Benzie was the top performer with 19:40.9.

Hawks play Marlette in district tourney

Brown City will probably be favored in the six-team district 86 class C basketball tournament slated to open Nov. 18 in Sandusky.

The Friday, Nov. 18, game will pit Brown City against Sandusky at 7:30 p.m.

Cass City is slated to play

Monday, Nov. 21, against Marlette at 6:30 p.m. In the late game that Monday the winner of the Brown City-Sandusky game will play against Mayville.

The winners of those games will play for the championship Wednesday, Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

State champions!

Kingston cross country team brings school first title

The Kingston High School girls' cross country team won the Class D state championship Saturday, believed to be the school's first state title in any sport.

Top finisher for the Cardinals was ninth grader Lisa Meier, who came in fifth. She covered the 5,000 meters (3.1 miles) on the Great Lakes Bible College grounds near Lansing in a time of 20:13.0.

Others were Deb Moore,

Banowski's finishing spot proved crucial because when the points were totaled, Kingston was tied with Dansville with 118 points. The tie breaker, Cardinal coach Helen Crane explained, was the finishing position of the sixth runner.

Banowski came in ahead of Dansville's last runner, who finished 86th, and that gave the Cardinals the championship trophy.

There aren't enough Class D schools with girls' cross country teams, Miss Crane said, so the state meet was open to all-comers.

Just prior to the meet, Kingston was ranked third in the state. Dansville was rated fourth.

Before Saturday, the only meet the team had won this season was the only all-Class D meet it had entered, the Akron-Fairgrove invitational Sept. 24. The rest of the season, running against Class C schools, the Cardinals collected seconds and thirds.

"...this is something the kids decided they really wanted," Miss Crane said. "If the team members want it again next year, they have a good chance of repeating as state champions."

Laycock is the team's only senior. Moore, Tait and Banowski are sophomores and Landrum is a junior.

Look for better '84

O-G ends year with win

The Owen-Gage football team ended its season last Thursday with a 14-0 win over Michigan School for the Deaf and a great deal more experience than when the season started.

Lack of experience, coach Arnie Besonen said, was the big problem for the Bulldogs, who struggled to a 2-5 record in the North Central Thumb D League -- sixth place -- and 4-5 overall. "We went with a rookie team."

Four and sometimes five starters were sophomores and since there wasn't a junior varsity team last year, this was the first year they got experience.

Two seniors who played regularly, Joe Lopez, and Frank Abfalter, hadn't played before.

First-year quarterback Reid Goslin wasn't even old enough to have a driver's license yet, Besonen pointed out, plus at 5-7 and 140 pounds, he isn't very big.

Goslin is one reason why prospects look better for next year, since he will be back for his senior year. Ideally, the coach would like to utilize him as a running back and wide receiver, which Goslin is best at, but unless another quarterback miraculously appears as a transfer student, Goslin will likely be calling the signals again next year.

It looks like there will be eight juniors starting next year, according to the coach, who all received experience this year.

The Bulldogs had enough players to field a JV team. It only had a 2-5 record, but among the losses were ones to big schools like Bad Axe and Caro.

Despite the varsity's win-loss record, the season wasn't disappointing, said Besonen, who noted Friday there were 283 yards until the start of 1984 practice. "It wasn't that we didn't try. It (the losses) didn't get them down."

Last Thursday, the Bulldogs scored all but two of their points in the second quarter, starting on a one-yard run by Gary Erickson, one play after he blocked a Tartar punt. Scott Wright's extra point kick missed.

With 45 seconds left in the quarter, Abfalter scored after catching a Goslin pass, the play totaling 73 yards. John Shope's PAT kick missed.

Shope also attempted a 32-yard field goal in the quarter, which missed. All three kicks in the game were blown astray by the strong cross winds.

The final two points for the Bulldogs came in the third quarter when Scott Wright tackled the Tartar quarterback in the end zone.

Most of Owen-Gage's offensive yardage was in the air, with Goslin completing seven of nine passes, with no interceptions, for 165 yards. Receivers were Abfalter, one catch for 73 yards; Erickson, four for 43; and Earl Harris, two for 49.

Mull 23 Gagetown sewer bids

Twenty-three bids were opened Tuesday evening for construction of the sanitary sewer project in Gagetown.

The bids must now be reviewed by the village's engineers, Edmonds, Engineering of Bay City, to make sure the low ones comply with specifications. "A couple look favorable," said Village President Bill Downing.

The firm should have its recommendations ready for the council's approval in about 1-1 1/2 weeks, he said. The council will probably then conduct a special meeting to award the bids.

The project was divided into two parts. Six firms submitted bids for construction of the two sewage lagoons and 17 submitted bids for installation of the sewer mains. Included in those were three firms which submitted bids for both parts.

All of the bidders were Michigan firms, with most from the Detroit and Saginaw areas.

Estimated cost of the project is $1.956 million.

Baptist Women ok contribution

Fifteen women attended the Monday evening meeting of the Baptist Missionary Fellowship at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Arthur Fisher presided over the business meeting. Members voted to contribute $25 to provide a Christmas for one child living in the children's home in St. Louis, Mich. Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. Jim Perry, Myrtle McColl and Mrs. Stanley McArthur.

Mrs. Rosella Kretschmer led devotions and the prayer for missionaries. Each member told of something for which they were thankful but usually took for granted and gave a verse on "thanksgiving."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elwyn Helwig and Mrs. Fay McComb.

Salem Women plan activities

Twenty-two women attended the Monday meeting of Salem Church's United Methodist Women, held at the church, which began with a potluck supper at 6:30.

Mrs. Ron Geiger presided over the business meeting. Plans were finalized for the craft sale this month. Members met Tuesday evening to pack Christmas boxes for 13 college students and one serviceman.

Iva Mae Hildinger is in charge of a new project, which is to collect bingo prizes for the Chelsea Home and for Provincial House residents.

The society will be in charge of the morning worship service Sunday, when the theme will be "heritage." It will include a skit under the direction of Mrs. Louine Patton. The annual "thank offering" will be taken.

Mrs. Geiger presented a history of United Methodist Women of Salem Church from 1901-68.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5 at the church and will be a Christmas party for all women of the church.

Taking stock

For several years, Harlan Crowell of Boca Raton has been trying to sell me on the merits of closed-end investment funds.

During the same period I have been trying to sell him on the attractions of tax-free bonds.

Both of us have gotten nowhere.

At year-end, I recounted a rather nice year for the bond market, which did somewhat better than the stock market averages.

"But that was only for one year," snorted Harlan over the phone.

"I'm sort of like an Indian, except instead of one day at a time, I live one year at a time, as far as investments go. This eliminates seasonal adjustments."

Harlan doesn't like bonds.

"I bought one once and it turned sour. That was enough."

My friend's love affair with closed-end funds has much in its defense.

In case you're not familiar, a "closed-end" is a company's collection of stocks — or bonds — whose shares are bought and sold on the market. The market may be more or less than the per-share value of the securities. You may buy the shares at a discount or at a premium, depending on the whims of the marketplace.

An open-end mutual fund, on the other hand, redeems its shares exactly at asset value. It sells them usually at asset value plus 8 percent or 9 percent. There are a few that do not charge this "load" when selling.

Both closed-ends and open-ends pay dividends on their income, and if they sell some of their stuff at a profit, the capital gains are passed on to the shareholder.

Price	Cap.	'82	Dividends
12-31-82	gains
Gen Amer.	20.1	3.63	.63
Lehman	17.4	2.01	.71
Madison	23	1.25
Tri-continental	26	2.72	1.15

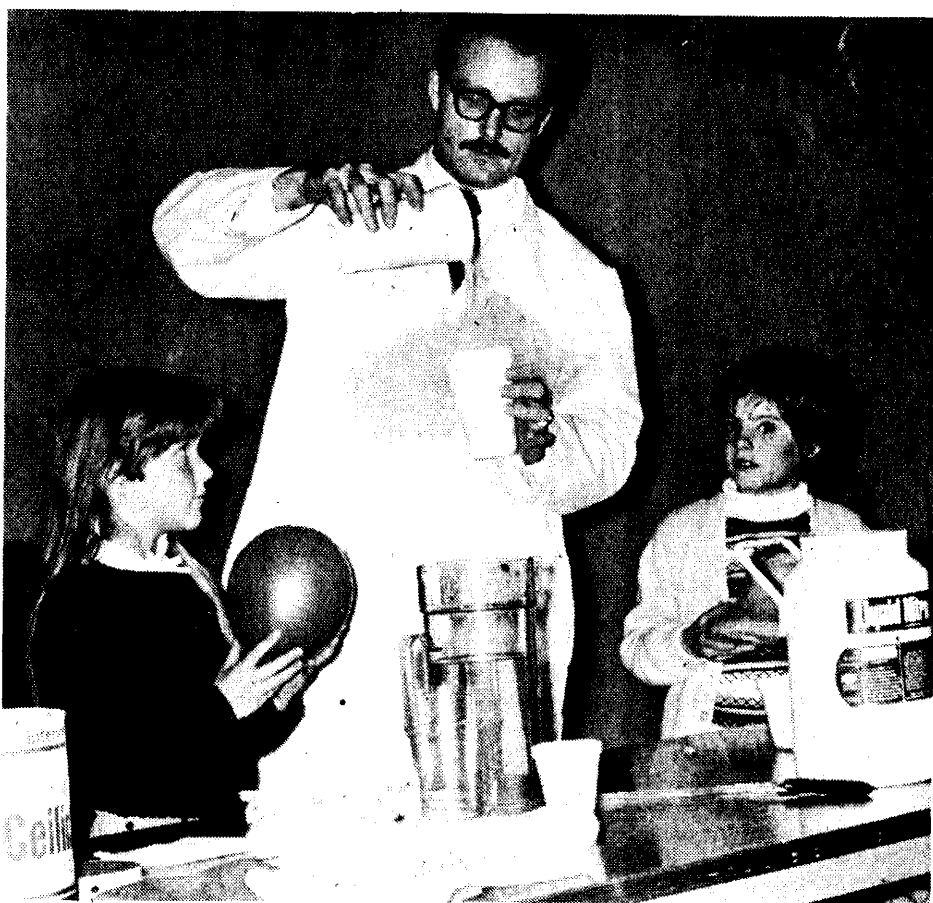

Your broker can give you more data on their current discounts from asset value.

Now I'd like to make my rival a $10 bet for 1983.

Take the average price at year-end for his favorites. Add dividends and capital gain distributions during the year. Take the price Dec. 31, 1983 and put that in the figures. Average it all out for the four stocks he likes. Figure the owner is in a 40 percent tax bracket and come down to a total return in percent after taxes.

My entry is the last purchase I made in 1982, some University of Michigan hospital bonds, 12 percent, due 12-1-06, bought at par. My income, I know already — 12 percent tax free. Capital gains, even the Almighty knoweth not at this point. Anyhow, whatever the market is at year-end, up or down from par.

It'll be a match between the suave sophisticate of Boca against the little of country boy from Michigan.

CHEMICAL MAGIC — Don Jones demonstrated the three forms of matter (liquid, solid and gas), chemical safety and practical uses of chemicals in programs he presented Monday for all Cass City district students in grades K-8. His helpers as he created a cloud by pouring very cold liquid nitrogen were Leana Edwards (left) and Ronnie Austin. Student funds and a chemical company paid for his visit.

State board oks transfers to O-G

Shaper transfer, he recommended, there was no sound educational reason to leave the area in E-P-BP, plus the transfer would help Owen-Gage financially.

He recommended keeping Dietzel, et al, in Owen-Gage because the children involved were attending or willing to attend the Owen-Gage schools, the transfer would have hurt the district financially and "lack of continued interest" by those wanting the transfer.

Godmer recommended the Welchner transfer because it was more convenient for his children to take all their classes at E-P-BP (Owen-Gage offered to make arrangements to have them take classes not available at Owen-Gage at E-P-BP or Unionville-Sebewaing) and he was "only transferring 10 of his 80 acres to reduce the valuation loss to Owen-Gage."

The transfer will mean a loss of about $1,500 in property taxes annually to Owen-Gage.

ERICKSON SAID THE Welchner transfer will be appealed to the courts. He has asked the school district's attorney, James F. Schouman of Dearborn, to try to include it as part of a case now before the Michigan Court of Appeals involving transfer of the Voelker and Parker properties to E-P-BP and Belk property to the Cass City district.

The state school board approved those three transfers from Owen-Gage in 1976, but they remained there because of the Goslin case. In August of this year, Ingham County Circuit Judge James T. Kallman reversed the state board, ruling the trio must remain in Owen-Gage.

The Michigan attorney general's office has appealed. It is that case in which Erickson hopes to have the Welchner transfer included.

THE SUPERINTENDENT predicted that because of the state board's actions last week, "quite a few" more property owners in what was once part of Owen-Gage that was transferred as part of the Goslin or Elenbaum transfers will now petition to return to the original district.

In addition, the Owen-Gage School Board voted in August that it will attempt to recover lost territory that was "wrongfully transferred."

The superintendent commented that the state board's latest rulings clear the way for the Owen-Gage board to start petitioning to get back the lost territory. "We want what is ours back in this district and we will pursue that end."

"I don't think it would have too much of a chance," Brunet commented as to the chance Owen-Gage has of regaining territory.

He contended everyone is now content where they are; that those who transferred from Owen-Gage to his district are "extremely happy" that those who switched to Cass City feel the same way, and that in Owen-Gage, "The people there are very well satisfied."

As evidence, Brunet said no one has sought to transfer from Owen-Gage since it finished its new high school a few years ago.

The superintendent suggested Owen-Gage would be better off spending money for purposes other than legal fees involving property transfers. Had it not had to pay so much to lawyers in the past, he said, the district could have avoided payless paydays and spent more for "educating boys and girls."

"Spend it for kids," Brunet concluded. "That's what it's all about."

Erickson feels Owen-Gage hasn't had a choice. "If it weren't for Schouman and our court cases, we wouldn't be here any more."

Circuit court

Berlin sentenced

One person was sentenced Monday when he appeared before Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn. Sentencing was delayed for two other persons.

Craig J. Berlin, 19, of 7951 Duck Pond Road, Millington, was sentenced to the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for 2½-15 years, for breaking and entering an occupied dwelling. Assignment to the Riverside Correctional Facility at Ionia was recommended. He was credited with 141 days served.

Berlin pleaded guilty Sept. 29 to breaking into a Vassar Township home Feb. 24.

Sentencing was delayed one year for James R. Marshall, 39, of 249 N. Van Dyke Road, Marlette, who pleaded guilty Sept. 26 to criminal sexual conduct (fourth degree) with a woman May 19 in Juniata Township. He is to pay $350 court costs.

Sentencing was delayed six months for Scott B. Miller, 17, of 4711 S. Unionville Road, Unionville, who pleaded guilty Oct. 3 to attempted forgery of a check for $25 May 15 in Unionville.

He is to continue attending night school and was placed under house arrest in the custody of his grandmother. Miller is to pay $300 court costs.

Also Monday, Verne D. Wilcox, also known as Verne D. Nutt, 20, of Kilgore Road, Marlette, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and entering Zorn's IGA in Kingston Feb. 21.

His plea was accepted and pretrial hearing scheduled Nov. 21. Bond of $15,000 was continued.

The guilty plea of Charles F. Vaquera, 19, of 3930 Cliff-ford Road, Silverwood, to a charge of malicious destruction of police property was refused.

A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled Dec. 5. Bond was continued.

Vaquera faces charges of entering without breaking the Friends Bar near Silverwood and two counts of malicious destruction of property for damaging a sheriff's department patrol car and telephone, all on Sept. 5.

Anthony A. Ruiz, 19, of 363 Wells Street, Caro, stood mute to a charge of resisting a police officer, Deputy Glenn Skrent, while the latter was attempting to make an arrest Sept. 12 in Caro.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Dec. 5. Bond was continued.

Ricky Joe Rolland, 17, of 9781 Lewis Road, Millington, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building, to stealing beer, soft drinks, candy and cookies Sept. 23 from an Arbela Township home.

His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set. Bond was continued.

In a plea bargain with the prosecution, a charge of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling in connection with the same incident and charges of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling and larceny in a building in connection with a break-in of a different Arbela Township house Sept. 25 will be dismissed.

Raymond O. Dickens, 48, of Clio, stood mute to two charges. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Nov. 21. Bond of $10,000 was continued.

He is charged with attempted larceny in a building at an Arbela township grocery Sept. 30 and larceny in a building at a different Arbela Township grocery Oct. 1.

DISTRICT COURT

Beverly Mae Langenburg, 43, of 4320 Germania Road, Snover, pleaded guilty Oct. 11 to impaired driving Aug. 26 in Wells Township.

Judge Richard F. Kern Monday placed her on probation for one year. She is to attend the Alcohol Highway Safety Education program and receive counseling. Her driver's license was suspended for three months except for driving to and from work and the sessions.

Mrs. Langenburg was fined $176, assessed $149 and is to pay $50 restitution to the mental health agency.

David M. Zawilinski, 26, of 4355 Leach Street, Cass City, pleaded guilty Oct. 17 to driving with blood alcohol content .10 or higher Aug. 14 in Elkland Township.

He was placed on probation for one year Monday, during which time his driver's license is suspended. He is to receive counseling or participate in a self-help group.

Zawilinski was fined $231, assessed $194 court costs and is to pay $50 restitution to mental health.

Carl J. Buerker, 60, of Crown Road, Elkton, pleaded guilty Oct. 17 to driving under the influence of intoxicants Oct. 6. He was arrested by Cass City police on Cemetery Road, near Milligan.

Buerker was placed on probation Monday for one year and his driver's license was suspended for six months. He is to attend the Alcohol Highway Safety Education program and receive counseling.

Buerker was fined $176, assessed $149 court costs and is to pay $50 restitution to mental health.

the investigation, a blue Ford van with side windows and a Chrysler Cordoba. The latter was observed parked in the area earlier and the van was seen in the alley and being driven north on Seeger.

KINGSTON BREAK-IN

The sheriff's department is investigating the break-in of the Kingston Dairy Freeze and Mini-Mart, reported Tuesday morning, Nov. 1.

Owner John Newton told deputies the building was "secured" that morning at 2. The break-in was discovered at 6:55 a.m. by an employee when he came to work.

Entry was gained by prying open the front door.

Three video games were damaged in removing the coin boxes. Taken was approximately $150-250 in quarters, painted red for use in the machines, and one cigarette lighter. Two packages of snacks were opened. The telephone line was cut.

OTHER ITEMS

Mrs. Gary Louks of 6632 Pine Street reported to Cass City police Friday that two items were stolen from her home.

A tool box and tools, worth $350, were stolen since Oct. 4 and a special distributor for older Chevrolets, worth $225, was taken a week before the thefts were reported.

Sommers Bakery owners Stuart and Joan Merchant reported to village police last Wednesday that a hit and run vehicle damaged their car while it was parked in the lot behind their business Oct. 28 from 9 a.m.-noon.
