New sewer extension bid saves $1,472 for village

The Cass City Village Council's gamble at its December meeting, when it rejected the three bids it received for a sewer expansion project, paid off Tuesday for a savings of $1,472.

The council also discussed matters ranging from a demolition derby and a horse corral in the village park to the future of the landfill and approved a "letter of support" for a developer who has a new site for a once-rejected proposed apartment project.

Four bids were received this time for construction of a sewage lift station, three manholes and 642 feet of sewer line. The project will extend sanitary sewer lines to 18 homes on Maple, Sherman and M Streets and Maple Court and also serve proposed apartment projects in that area.

The council accepted the lowest of the four bids, that of Andrew Barnes Jr. Construction Co. of Cass City, for $62,579, which was $1,472 lower than the lowest of three bids received in December, all of which were rejected. The lowest bidder then, from Flint, didn't submit a new bid.

Barnes submitted a bid last time for $61,100, but did so after the deadline, so it couldn't be considered. Deadline for completion of the project is July 31.

APARTMENT PROJECT

Management Resources Development of Lansing, which had its previous application rejected for a Farmers Home Administration loan to build a three-building, 32-unit apartment complex for families behind the Charmont, has a new site. The FHA rejected the first application because it felt the site was unsuitable. MRD has now obtained an option to buy 10 acres from Gerald Whittaker southeast of the corner of Garfield Street and Woodland Avenue.

The council accepted the planning commission's recommendation by approving a new letter of support for the project, needed before the FHA can act on the loan application.

The letter mentions such things as sewer and water being available and that the council will consider rezoning. The property is zoned residential (RA-2) and will have to be rezoned to multiple family.

The property is adjacent to the village owned property that has been optioned to two developers seeking FHA loans for senior citizen apartments.

It's likely only one or none of the three will get a loan.

PARK PROJECTS

Danny Ulfig, representing the Cass City Jaycees, asked for the council's permission for the organization to conduct a demolition derby as part of the July 4th festival.

The Jaycees ran the tractor pull last year, which was a money loser. It feels the demolition derby, which would be confined to a 40-by-100 foot area, would make money.

The general feeling of the council was the demolition derby would be permissible as part of the festival.

The Jaycees haven't approached the Chamber of Commerce about the event yet, since they wanted to make sure it was okay with the council first.

The Junior Wranglers 4-H Club has approached the council about erecting a corral in the park for training horses and presumably for shows.

No details have been made available yet. The matter was referred to the parks committee for a recommendation.

LANDFILL

Jim Ware, chairman of the public utilities committee, said a recommendation will be made concerning the village at the Feb. 21 meeting, a week earlier than usual, concerning the village-owned landfill.

It looks like, he advised, the recommendation will be to close it, except for use as a transfer station, from which commercial haulers would haul trash to an approved landfill, and as a site for dumping brush, building materials, etc.

"It just looks like there's no way, without a major investment," he said of the

Public need vs. big losses

Grand Trunk given okay to end service

Railroad service by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad through Kingston, Cass City, Gagetown and Owendale has come to an end.

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has granted the railroad's petition to abandon the 50.24 miles of track from Kings Mill, north of Imlay City, to Pigeon.

The ICC reached its decision Jan. 13. The so-called date of service was Jan. 27 and the decision takes effect 30 days after that, which is Feb. 26. The order didn't say when the Grand Trunk can officially end service, only that it must notify the ICC when it does.

The first train arrived in Cass City Nov. 18, 1882, so the ICC decision will mean an end to more than 100 years of railroad service in Cass City and other communities along the line.

The Chronicle reported in its Jan. 12 issue that neither the Tuscola and Saginaw Bay Railway nor the Chessie System, both of which operate in the upper Thumb, was interested in taking over even part of the Grand Trunk line.

It also reported that the T&SB Railway President P.J. DeWolf said at that time the decision was tentative. The decision not to take over service is now definite, he said Wednesday, that analysis has shown there is no way the railroad could make money on it.

He was aware of a couple of individuals having examined the Grand Trunk line with the thought of buying it from the Grand Trunk, but had reached the same conclusion.

Users of the line who filed protests, according to the ICC decision, were the Pillsbury Co., which has elevators in Cass City and Owendale; Agri Sales Inc., elevators at Gagetown and North Branch; General Cable Co., which had plastic resin shipped to its Cass City plant; Farm Bureau Services (now Agra Land), which has a fertilizer blend plant in Gagetown, and the Pigeon Cooperative Elevator Co.

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce, Cass City Industrial Development Corp. and village of Cass City were among others who filed protests.

"IN CONSIDERING THE merits of an application for abandonment," the ICC wrote, "our responsibility is one of balancing the public need for a continuation of the rail service against the burden which continued operations impose upon the railroad and interstate commerce."

The commission reviewed the arguments presented by the users for continued operation, but concluded, "GTW's evidence of substantial operating losses over the past few years has not been refuted."

"In fact, the record indicates that even when traffic levels were high, 1,403 cars in 1981, GTW incurred operating losses in excess of $250,000. Moreover, as a group, the shippers have not projected (future) traffic levels necessary to make the line profitable."

The ICC noted that the track is in such poor condition that the speed is limited to only eight miles per hour and that minimal rehabilitation would cost an estimated $600,000. As for the Michigan Department of Transportation's offer of a $3.2 million low-interest loan for a complete rehabilitation, "We accept GTW's decision repayment of such an amount would have been impossible, based on necessary surcharge and projected traffic levels."

THE ICC CONCLUDED the abandonment "will not result in a serious adverse impact on the rural and community development of Huron, Lapeer and Tuscola Counties."

It reached that conclusion after deciding "that alternative transportation exists." The Tuscola and Saginaw Bay and Chessie System already carried 89 percent of the rail freight in the area (the Grand Trunk had the rest) and "for many of the shippers, motor transportation (trucks) is a feasible alternative..."

The ICC conceded the end of rail services would be a hardship for some shippers, but concluded, "...we find that the inconvenience and increased costs incurred by shippers as a result...are insufficient to outweigh the detriment to the GTW of continued operation of uneconomical facilities."

Stolen calves among rash of reported area thefts

Eight calves worth an estimated total of $1,200, plus $700 in equipment, were stolen from an Elmwood Township farm late Friday or early Saturday.

It was one of several thefts reported in the area during the past several days.

Ted Czaplak of E. Caro Road, Caro, reported the theft of the calves to Caro state police Saturday morning. They were taken from a pen inside his barn on Elmwood Road, between 9 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday.

The calves, seven Holsteins and one Holstein-Hereford crossbreed, weighed from 120-180 pounds each.

Taken from a tool shed on the property were two farm implement dual wheels and tires, a set of hoses and a gauge for a cutting torch and two bales of straw.

Troopers said it appeared the stolen animals and items were loaded onto a truck that was driven into the barnyard.

A chainsaw valued at $460 was taken from a car in Cass City. Richard Hollis of 6620 Third Street reported to village police Monday afternoon that the chainsaw was last seen at 3 p.m. Saturday and was discovered missing at 7 a.m. Monday. It was apparently taken while his car was parked in his driveway.

The Sears Craftsman chainsaw was only about four months old.

Mark Bales of 1630 E. Decerville Road, Caro, reported to Cass City police last Wednesday that the pickup truck he had been driving was broken into the night before when it was parked behind the Cass Theatre.

Taken from inside the cab was a leather coat belonging to a passenger, Dean Hornbacher. It was valued at $100.

Entry was gained by breaking the sliding rear window. Damage was estimated at $70. The truck which Bales was borrowing is owned by Nancy LeBlanc.

Theft of two propane tanks and a regulator from a home on Duprey Road, Deford, was reported to sheriff's deputies Tuesday, Jan. 24.

The tanks were leased from Cass City Fuelgas on M-53. Owner of the home is Ann Kinsman of Detroit, who is renting it to Alan R. Lang of Hazel Park.

Lang told deputies he had last been at the home the first week of December. The theft was discovered Jan. 21. The tanks and regulator were valued at a total of $183.

Janet Smith of 3260 E. Decerville Road, Cass City, reported to deputies last Thursday that a battery charger valued at $50 was stolen from inside her car some time since 2 p.m. Jan. 22, probably while it was parked in her driveway.

Marie Groombridge of 4109 S. Seeger Street reported to Cass City police at 9 a.m. Jan. 23 that her dog had been shot.

She had let it out earlier that morning and it returned wounded. Her son followed its tracks to a mobile home in the Walnut Trailer Park and found a large amount of blood where it had been shot.

The owner of the mobile home told police he owned two shotguns and had been hunting that morning, but didn't shoot the dog.

It was thought the dog was shot about 7 a.m. Dr. Edward Scollon, DVM, told officers the dog was shot in the right side near his rear leg, apparently with a .22 caliber or other rifle, and would apparently live.

The matter was turned over to county animal control officers for further investigation.

Cass City police arrested Jack L. Edwards Jr. of 2688 Warner Road, about 2:15 a.m. Saturday on charges of operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor and transporting a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle after stopping his car on Cemetery Road, near Kelly Road.

He was released from the county jail later that day on $100 bond, with arraignment before the district court judge scheduled Feb. 6.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Robert Johnstone, 42, of Canfield, Ohio, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor after his semi-

Huron to explore county skill center

Almost 10 years after Huron County voters rejected construction of a countywide vocational training center, the possibility of building one is again being explored.

A public meeting for educators, school board members and the public to explain the purpose of a skill center was recently held in Bad Axe.

This Thursday, the Huron Vocational Education Coordinating Council will meet to establish goals and committees to explore the feasibility of constructing a center, and other options, and probably a deadline to complete its task, according to James E. Hunter, Huron Intermediate School District (HISD) vocational-technical education director-coordinator.

Construction of a Huron County skill center first appeared on the ballot in August, 1973, and was rejected by 390 votes.

The issue was voted on again in September, 1974. Levying of 1½ mills to pay for construction and operation was rejected by 723 votes. A second proposal to authorize sale of $900,000 in bonds for construction was defeated by a slightly larger margin.

What helped revive interest, Hunter said, was when the state Department of Education conducted a statewide "Project Outreach" survey last year. Each county intermediate school district got to add questions of its own.

The questions added in Huron were, "Would you support a skill center?" and "Would you pay millage for it?" Seventy-nine percent responded "yes" to the first question and 75 percent of those in favor said they were willing to pay a millage.

Vocational education in Huron County for high school students presently consists of programs offered by local districts to their own students, plus 12 courses offered through what is called the shared-time vocational program.

The shared-time courses are offered by the five largest local districts, but are open to students from all eight districts.

The shared-time courses are production agriculture, agricultural mechanics, marketing and distribution, accounting and computing, office occupations, welding, health occupations, building trades, business data processing, auto mechanics, consumer home economics and machine shop.

All school districts have

NEW FIRE TRUCK - Fire Chief Chuck Wright (right) and Assistant Chief Dave Abbe stand in front of the Elmwood Township-Gagetown Fire Department's new tanker truck. The used 1980 Ford chassis has a new engine and replaces a 1967 chassis, retired due to age, which has been sold. The 2,000 gallon tank was transferred from the old tanker, with the conversion work done by Hunt Construction of Cass City. The new truck cost a total of $9,000 and was paid for out of the half-mill for fire protection paid by Elmwood Township property owners.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Linda Leeson scans the bound files each week to dig up items for Memory Lane. She informs me that next week this column of trivia will have been in the paper for 15 years.

Fifteen years without a miss is a long time. The first column in the paper started in 1951. It was a combination of The Haire Net and Rabbit Tracks. It was called "The Editor's Corner." Except for a period of about six months in 1964 it has run each week also.

And, no, it doesn't seem like yesterday when it all began.

*****

Fritz Olson doesn't know Tom Monaghan, new owner of the Detroit Tigers. But he does know his wife quite well. She's the former Margie Zybach of Essexville. Fritz and family lived in Essexville before moving to Cass City.

Mrs. Monaghan was a baby-sitter for the family as a teenager.

She was a super girl, too, says Fritz.

What price progress? The Chronicle has a computer operated graphic arts camera. Tuesday with the paper deadline approaching, it stopped working for some inexplicable reason.

Calls to the vendor and to the factory produced no results. While monkeying around with it the thing started to function again for no reason that we or the factory experts could determine.

The new camera was purchased about a year and a half ago. It replaced a manually operated unit that served us for about 15 years without any trouble at all.

HOMEWORK — After receiving her bachelor's degree at Saginaw Valley State College, Jean Clarke is now taking graduate classes, in computers and audio-visual technology, so still has studying to do at home.

All A's for college grad Jean Clarke

Jean Clarke was understandably a little apprehensive when she first stepped into a Saginaw Valley State College classroom in January, 1980.

After all, it was almost 30 years after she had taken her last college class. "I didn't know if I could compete with the kids who just graduated from high school."

She didn't have to worry. Mrs. Clarke, 51, graduated summa cum laude from SVSC at the end of the fall semester with a B.A. degree in elementary education. "Summa cum laude" means "with highest distinction" — in other words, All A's.

Mrs. Clarke, a 1950 graduate of Clare High School, attended a junior college in Tennessee for one semester before marrying Lyle Clarke, who has been an agriculture teacher at Cass City High School since 1953.

They have five children and four grandchildren. Their children are Margie Crutchfield, Clio; Carol Clarke, Memphis, Tenn.; Sharon Ground, Dallas, Texas; Kathy Dillard, Pontiac, and Rob Clarke.

All their children graduated from Michigan Christian Junior College in Rochester. Rob, the youngest, is now studying architecture at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield. The rest after graduating from MCJC earned bachelor's degrees. Kathy, Margie and Carol from Harding College in Arkansas and Sharon from Abilene Christian College in Texas. Lyle Clarke is a Michigan State University graduate.

ALL THOSE DEGREES in the family was one incentive for her returning to college, Mrs. Clarke said. "Everyone else had graduated, so I thought I better too."

She has been active in the Cooperative Extension Service Extension Homemakers program, attended its College Week for Women at Michigan State University several times and taught some extension classes in three upper Thumb counties with someone from the Extension Service on "stress" and "life planning and goal setting." That experience "kind of encouraged me" to enroll at SVSC, she said.

As mentioned, she had some concern how she would do after such a long absence from a college classroom, but those fears soon disappeared. "As I went along, I discovered it wasn't as difficult as I thought it might be." She found she liked it. "Once I got into it, I really enjoyed it."

Most of her fellow students were young enough to be her children. "Most of the time, it was fine," she said of the situation. "Most of the kids are real polite and very helpful."

She was also older than almost all of her instructors and some, according to Mrs. Clarke, had trouble dealing with an older adult and young persons in the same classroom.

Her normal schedule was classes three days a week, mostly in the daytime. That was a lot of driving over four years. "It's 50 miles from my door to theirs."

SINCE RECEIVING HER degree, Mrs. Clarke, who minored in developmental learning, has been substitute teaching, mainly at the Highland Pines School in Caro for handicapped children.

Her aim is to get a full-time teaching job. Being older, having raised five children and having learned child psychology from practical experience, "I think it will be easier for me to start teaching now than if I were 22," Mrs. Clarke commented.

Getting a continuing teaching certificate requires teaching three of the first five years, plus earning 18 additional credit hours, so Mrs. Clarke is not taking a rest from studying.

She is taking two classes two nights a week at SVSC one in computers and the other in audio-visual technology.

Weber new agent for livestock

Gary M. Weber of Bath has been appointed the Cooperative Extension Service livestock agent for Huron and Sanilac Counties, effective Feb. 1.

Weber obtained two degrees in animal science from Purdue University, a bachelor's in 1977 and a master's in 1979.

He worked as a research assistant at Purdue from 1977-79 and as a research assistant at Michigan State University from 1979-83.

Weber will be responsible for developing educational programs about beef, sheep, and swine production that will be helpful to livestock producers.

He will be based at the extension office at 37 Austin Street, Sandusky.

Medical alert

By Jim Fitzgerald

Physicians in the Detroit area can subscribe to a service — Physicians' Alert Inc. — that warns them against patients most likely to sue them for malpractice. Physicians in Florida soon may want to be warned against patients most likely to be bounty hunters.

Last year, a Detroit dentist refused to treat a patient, already sitting next to his spit bowl, when he learned that she was married to a law student. He allegedly told her that lawyers are "whores . . . greedy for money." Stung by the last-second rejection of her cavities, the woman is suing the dentist for $11,000 worth of pain and suffering, emotional distress and breach of contract.

That dentist is typical of the medical practitioners who put Physicians' Alert Inc. in business. Many doctors believe there are some patients who go to the doctor simply so they can subsequently file fraudulent malpractice suits with the aid of unscrupulous lawyers.

It only costs $40 to file a lawsuit, the doctors point out, and many lawyers work on a contingency basis — "If we don't collect, you don't pay," they advertise on TV. The lying patient has nothing to lose and millions to gain, minus one-third for the lawyer.

So Physicians' Alert, for a fee, checks court records and warns participating doctors if their patients have initiated previous civil suits. The doctors can then tell the litigation-minded patients to go be sick somewhere else. That might not be what Hippocrates had in mind when he spawned his oath, but doctors have the legal right to reject patients. Of course, in emergency cases, many doctors will begin treatment immediately — after the patient produces a Blue Cross card and can sign a malpractice waiver without bleeding all over it, and the waiver is validated by the U.S. Supreme Court.

I've had personal experience with medical rejection. I've never sued a doctor but I have written nasty things about greedy doctors who own the pharmacies surrounding their clinics and book 26 appointments for 2 p.m. And several years ago my pungent prose so angered our family doctor that he quit treating us. He later changed his mind, but for a few days, what with no office calls and no prescriptions, I was in eminent danger of becoming wealthy.

But that's history; bounty-hunting patients are the future. Beginning March 1, in an attempt to stem rising health costs, Florida state employees will be offered cash bounties to question their doctors and avoid unnecessary medical treatment.

A patient who suspects a recommended treatment isn't necessary is urged to get a second opinion, either by seeing a second doctor or by toll-free phoning a state-employed physician who will discuss questioned procedures with the original doctor. If the result is a decision against having a $2,000 operation, for example, the patient collects a bounty — half the amount saved the state medical insurance fund or, in this case, $1,000.

It sounds like an idea that could catch on nationwide. It also sounds like an idea wide open to abuse. A patient could fake pains and symptoms to get an operate-now diagnosis from the first doctor, and then easily win an overruling opinion — and bounty — from the second doctor. Besides worrying about patients who make a habit of filing malpractice suits, doctors will also have to worry about patients who make a habit of getting second opinions.

For a doctor, having a diagnosis overruled and losing a fee isn't usually as costly as losing a malpractice suit, but there is also damage to the reputation. It won't be surprising if Physicians' Alert Inc. someday adds a second-opinion siren to its lawsuit-warning service.

Also, it won't be surprising if many people suggest there should be a Patients' Alert Inc. to warn patients against doctors who make a habit of getting sued for bungling procedures that weren't needed in the first place.

I would say that is a brilliant suggestion, except I don't want to lose my family doctor again.

The Haire Net

Lee Iacocca is the most famous person in the United States business community today. Justly regarded as a miracle worker for salvaging Chrysler Corporation from the scrap heap.

If he doesn't change his mind about accepting a job in government he's certain to retain a superman image.

At least one Democratic presidential hopeful has said that he'll tap Iacocca for secretary of defense if elected.

Iacocca promptly announced to one and all that he wasn't interested in the job. It's easy to see that he has his head squarely on his shoulders.

That's if he doesn't change his mind. The challenge could be too much for him to resist if he's actually offered the job.

Barring a sudden downturn in the economy it appears as if the whole question is academic. The Republicans are heavy favorites going into this political year.

Iacocca supporters believe that he could slash $30 billion or more from the defense budget without curtailing services.

It would be a neat trick.

Handling the Pentagon and Washington politicians has frustrated some very able businessmen.

Two come quickly to mind. Michael Blumenthal and Robert McNamara have come away bruised trying to bring government spending under control.

They found it was different from business. Robert McNamara, you'll recall, was next to Henry the Duce at the top at Ford.

Blumenthal rose from obscurity to lead Bendix to new greatness and profitability before resigning to enter the government.

After leaving he took the top spot at Burroughs Corp. and promptly turned that company around.

Yet neither Blumenthal nor McNamara was able to put a dent in the ever rising national debt and deficit spending.

Could Iacocca do better? Could anyone do better? Maybe they could all do the job if they were granted the same authority that they enjoyed leading our largest corporations.

That will never happen in our system that bows before special interests and elected representatives that vote with one eye on reelection.

Low interest loans available for low-income home repairs

Low-interest loans from $500-20,000 are available to low and lower middle income homeowners in Tuscola and Sanilac County for repairing or improving their homes.

Interest rates, depending on income, vary from 1-10 percent.

The program is being administered by the Human Development Commission (HDC) in Caro, which has obtained a $250,000 federal Small Cities Block Grant and $420,000 from the Michigan State Housing Authority Community Home Improvement Program (CHIP).

The combined $670,000, HDC planner Richard O. Smith said, should be enough for 208 loans at an average of $3,221 per loan, approximately half in each county.

The program began in December and as of last week, there had been 32 loan applications. About 5-10 applications are being made each week. Loans will be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

The primary criteria for eligibility is that the applicant must be owner-occupant of his or her home and the annual adjusted gross income can be no more than $20,000. There is a deduction allowed of $750 per household member in figuring the adjusted income, so a household of four persons, for instance, could have total income of $23,000 and qualify. With one exception, they must have lived in the house at least one year.

The money can be used for such purposes as plumbing and wiring improvements, roofing and foundation repairs, insulation, installation of storm doors and windows, siding, and, if justifiable, additions and remodeling.

Mobile homes, or homes which include a mobile home as part of their structure, are ineligible under the guidelines since they are not considered permanent structures. Double wide modular units are eligible.

INDIVIDUAL LOANS are a combination of the Small Cities and CHIP funds, with the percentage of each depending on the income of the applicant.

For each $3 borrowed by those with an income of 0-$6,000, $2 will be in Small Cities funds and $1 in CHIP money.

At the top of the scale, $16,000-20,000, each $1 in Small Cities money will be combined with $15 in CHIP money. A $16,000 loan would consist of $15,000 in CHIP money and $1,000 in Small Cities.

The reason for the mixture of funds is because of the different criteria attached to each source.

The Small Cities funds are geared to the low-income. There is no interest or payments attached to the loan, which is secured with the mortgage.

The owner repays the loan from the proceeds when he sells the house or, if he or she dies, when the house is sold as part of the estate. Thus the only payments and interest are on the CHIP part of the loan.

The intent of the combined loan is to provide those with the lowest income a proportionately greater benefit by reducing the combined loan interest rate.

From $1,500-20,000 can be borrowed in combined funds, at an interest rate depending on income of from 1-9.375 percent.

However, a requirement of the Small Cities program, and hence of the combined loans, is that all the work must be done by a licensed contractor.

If the homeowner wants to do the work himself, he or she can get a 100 percent CHIP loan to buy the materials. Interest rates on those loans are 3-10 percent, depending on income, with up to 15 years to pay it back. From $500-15,000 can be borrowed and it isn't necessary to have lived in the home one year.

THE HDC MAKES AN inspection of the home before and after the improvements are made, Smith said, before payment is made.

The loans are processed through one of two participating banks, one in Tuscola and one in Sanilac. The applicants are reviewed as to their ability to repay the loan and the final determination whether the loan will be granted is up to the bank.

The loan funds go into an escrow account, from which two in-progress and one final payment can be made to the contractor.

In general, the program is aimed at homes more than 20 years old. Loans for homes newer than that can only be approved to repair damage resulting from natural disasters, to correct items hazardous to health or safety, to make accessibility improvements for the handicapped or to conserve energy.

Loans can be obtained for apartment buildings, provided the owner lives on the premises and the structure has no more than four units.

Persons interested in applying for a loan can call the HDC toll-free at 800-292-3666 to set up an appointment.

One treated after two-vehicle crash

Tammy Jantz, 16, of 6771 McAlpin Road, Owendale, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following an 8:17 a.m. accident Monday.

Cass City police said she was a passenger in a car driven by her brother, Ted Jantz III, 18, westbound on Huron Street, which failed to yield at Oak Street and ran into the right side of the northbound van driven by Renae Ann Stimpfel, 17, of 5725 Kelly Road.

Jantz was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

Two persons were reported to have sought their own treatment after an 11:25 p.m. accident Saturday northeast of Caro.

They were Barbara J. Merchant, 17, of 5669 Seed Street, one of two passengers in a car driven by Susan E. Scollon, 17, of 4849 N. Seeger Street, and the other driver involved, Robert D. Warju, 22, of 6196 Lakeside Drive. All are from Cass City.

Sheriff's deputies reported Miss Scollon was driving northeast on M-81, north of Almer Drive, when she slowed because of a car in front of her, which was slowing to make a turn.

Miss Scollon lost control on the icy pavement and her car started to go sideways. Warju, also headed northeast, was behind a car that was behind the Scollon auto. It drove around the out-of-control auto, which then collided with Warju's car.

Miss Scollon was ticketed on a charge of no valid operator's license in possession and no proof of insurance.

Warju was also involved in an accident at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24. Cass City police reported that David E. Wilson, 16, of 6365 Third Street, westbound on Main Street, stopped for the car in front of him, which had stopped because the car in front of it was turning onto Leach Street.

The westbound auto driven by Warju then ran into the rear of Wilson's car.

At 7:25 p.m. last Thursday, village police said, Bert M. Curtis, 16, of 4618 Oak Street, and Dawn S. Deering, 22, of 4515 Leach Street, were both westbound on Main Street when Curtis started to turn into the Parkway store drive-in. Ms. Deering was closer to the curb than was Curtis and when he started to turn, their vehicles collided.

Cass City police reported that at 9:45 a.m. Saturday, Marilyn J. Morgan, 55, of 6897 Cass City Road, parked her car in the lot at Church and Seeger Streets. She thought it was in parking gear, got out, and the car rolled backwards into the front of a car owned by Normaleen McIntosh of 6245 Pringle Road.

Randy Vollmar, no address listed, reported to Cass City police Jan. 24 that while his vehicle was parked along Doerr Road, north of Garfield Street, it was damaged by a hit and run vehicle.

CAR-DEER

Beverly Ann McDonald, 45, of Bad Axe, was eastbound on M-81, east of Schwieger Road, at 9:50 p.m. Saturday, according to Cass City police, when her car hit a deer.

Judith Ann Gomyore, 38, of 1296 Englehart Road, Deford, was westbound on Dekerville Road, west of Dodge Road, at 2:40 a.m. last Thursday, deputies said, when her car hit a deer.

Deputies reported that Terry L. Agar, 21, of 5965 Shabbona Road, Decker, was eastbound on Decker, east of Kingston Road, at 11:25 p.m. Jan. 24 when a deer ran into the side of her car.

Kingston theft nets guilty plea

A Marlette man pleaded guilty in Tuscola County Circuit Court Jan. 24 to charges in connection with two break-ins early last year at Zorn's IGA store in Kingston.

Verne D. Wilcox, also known as Verne D. Nutt, 20, of Kilgore Road, pleaded guilty to two charges of larceny in a building. Judge Patrick R. Joslyn accepted his pleas and scheduled sentencing April 9. Bond was continued.

Wilcox was originally charged with two counts of breaking and entering, which were reduced to larceny in a building in a plea bargain with the prosecution.

The first break-in and theft took place Feb. 21 and Wilcox pleaded guilty to stealing lottery tickets and money. The second theft was March 24, when he took four bottles of liquor.

Also Jan. 24, Robert S. Barnes, 31, of 3866 Oak Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to aggravated assault April 1 of last year against William H. Seddon Jr. in Watertown Township.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled April 9. Barnes' guilty plea to the lesser charge was made the day he was scheduled to go on trial on a charge of malicious destruction of property over $100 for damaging Seddon's car in connection with the same incident.

Robert R. Shamel Jr., 28, of 514 W. Frank Street, Caro, pleaded guilty last Thursday to a charge of delivery of marijuana Aug. 9 in Caro.

Judge Joslyn accepted his plea and scheduled sentencing April 16. Shamel was remanded to the county jail in lieu of bond.

Two pass EMT exam

Cathy King and Genevieve Peddie of Cass City were among the 21 graduates of the St. Mary's Hospital basic emergency medical technician training program who took and passed the National Registry of EMT's examination Jan. 16.

The 21 graduates took the examination after completing the 148-hour course taught at the Saginaw hospital. They had an average score of 83.5 percent. A minimum of 75 percent was needed to pass.

It takes the average person six-tenths of a second to walk one pace.

CASS CITY SCHOOL NEWS

At the last Board meeting, the Cass City Board of Education members were presented with an analysis of seven recently released reports evaluating education in our Nation and State. The analysis, which was done by the Michigan Association of School Boards, lists a total of sixty-eight different recommendations that are included in the reports. Of the sixty-eight recommendations twenty-three were contained in more than one of the reports. In addition to the foregoing recommendations, after nearly two years of study the Michigan State Board of Education has released a thirty-nine page report entitled "Better Education for Michigan Citizens". This document lists seven recommendations for local school districts.

It is evident from the foregoing that local school districts are going to be involved in an extensive process of evaluation. They must first decide the worth of the various recommendations, then determine how their local school program measures up to the accepted recommendations and finally decide the means by which their district can meet the recommendations. This process will definitely be going on in the Cass City Schools.

It is my hope that as we work to improve the formal education of the children in our community we will not forget that learning is a continuous, ongoing process that is not restricted to the walls of a school building. Attitudes toward learning are nurtured and fostered in the home and in the daily lives of children. Those children that see their parents and loved ones reading and talking about what they read realize the importance of reading. Numbers become important when children realize that mathematics is necessary and vital in the lives of those they come in contact with. When parents and relatives visit the school for an open house, parent teacher conference or to see the program in operation, the children realize that their education is important to those they care about.

The education of the youth in our community is a family-school-community responsibility that requires a blending of the efforts of everyone. To do the most effective job of motivating and educating our children those of us working directly on the school scene must, and do, rely continuously on help from you.

Sincerely,
Donald G. Crouse
Superintendent of Schools

Huron loans available

Eligible Huron County residents can also receive grants or low interest loans to repair their homes.

The program is being administered by the county Building and Zoning office, which can be called at 269-9269 to make an appointment.

There are two programs, according to Howard Sorenson, county director of planning, building and zoning.

The first provides rehabilitation grants of up to $6,500 per home. To be eligible, homeowners can have an adjusted gross household income of no more than $10,500 annually ($750 deductible per household member in figuring adjusted income).

The owner only has to repay the grant if he or she sells the home within five years. After that, if they still own it, they don't have to repay.

The money is federal funds funneled through the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

The second program is funded by the MSHDA Community Home Improvement Program.

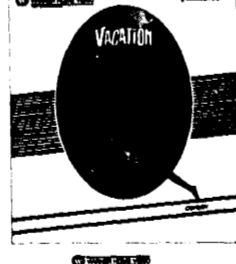

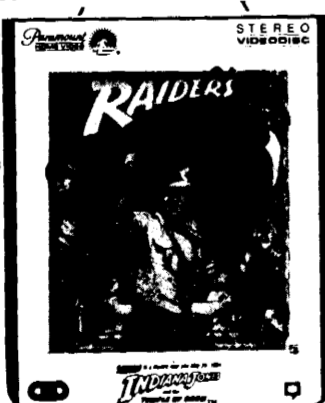

The maximum amount that can be borrowed is $15,000 at a maximum interest rate of 11 percent. Homeowners can have a maximum annual adjusted household income of $20,000.

Payments and interest are made only on 80 percent of the loan, according to Sorenson. Twenty percent is free to the borrower.

Pedaling Around Four more years

By Mike Ellasohn

To no one's surprise, President Reagan announced Sunday that he will run for another four-year term.

It sure would have been a surprise if he had announced, "Nancy and I have decided we want to spend our final years together quietly in California, so I have decided not to seek another term."

I have an unfortunate feeling Ronald Reagan would be better off if he didn't run again because four years from now, our country won't be better off. I hope I'm wrong.

This would have been a great time for Reagan to bow out. He could say, "I'm in great physical shape, but I'm 73 years old and I don't want the citizens of this country to have to worry about what my health will be like four years from now."

He could also tell the country, "My policies have worked. Employment is up and inflation is the lowest it has been in years."

That, of course, is what he will be telling the country between now and election day in November.

Chances are the economy will hold on till then, so Reagan doesn't have to worry about what happens after that.

Unfortunately, there is great reason to fear what might happen after that. The old joke goes, "Lay all the economists end to end and they'll never reach a conclusion."

What is disturbing is that there seems to be a great deal of agreement among economists that the $200 billion a year deficits the Reagan Administration is accumulating will eventually do great harm to our nation.

The government's need to borrow massive amounts of money will eventually lead to a shortage of funds for business and the public, which will drive up interest rates further for borrowing and send the country back into the depths of recession.

In a current Fortune magazine interview, David Stockman, director of the Office of Management and Budget, says spending reductions in domestic programs have been wiped out by the increase in defense spending and the rise in interest costs the government must pay to finance its increasing deficit.

He and Martin Feldstein, the president's chief economic advisor, have both said publicly that it won't be possible to eliminate the massive deficits without major tax increases. Privately, many other White House advisors have said the same thing, according to the Detroit Free Press.

Reagan rejects that view, feeling that stronger economic growth, further cuts in non-defense spending and eliminating fraud and waste can eliminate the deficit.

Four years ago, Ronald Reagan was warning about the dangers of deficit spending and promising he would balance the budget. Now he wants us to believe $200 billion a year deficits aren't important.

I predict, however, Reagan will easily win reelection, one reason being because the economy won't collapse until after he is reelected.

Another reason, and ultimately the major one, is that the Democrats can't offer an alternative that's better than what we have now. It looks like their candidate will be Walter Mondale, whose theme song should be, "Promises, Promises."

Reagan, instead of having to defend his massive deficits and broken promises, will instead put Mondale on the defensive, making the Democrat hard pressed to defend his promises of more money for education, job training, etc.

The only way Reagan might lose is if disaster strikes our Marines in Lebanon again, and that possibility will exist as long as they are there, which is why Reagan will probably find an excuse to withdraw them before the election.

It promises to be a dull campaign.

Salas, Richards to be in area education forum

The Tuscola County Professional Staff Development Consortium is sponsoring a forum at Vassar High School Wednesday, Feb. 29, from 7-9 p.m.

The topic to be discussed by educational leaders will be: "Is the nation at risk — a Michigan perspective."

The panel will consist of Jack Bittle, executive director of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals; Norman Weinheimer, executive director of the Michigan Association of School Boards; Dr. Gumencindo Salas, president of the state Board of Education; State Senator James Barcia, D-Bay City; Mary Christian, vice-president of the Michigan Education Association; Wade Smith, president of the Michigan Council of Vocational Administrators.

Russell Richards, Cass City High School principal, will serve as moderator.

The panel will be asked to react to the many surveys and reports dealing with education which have been released during the past year. The concept of statewide graduation requirements, competency testing, local control of education, monetary demands, college preparatory programs, and career education are some of the areas which will be addressed. Time will be allowed for questions and answers at the conclusion of the program. Persons planning to attend should register by calling the Tuscola Intermediate School District office, 673-2144, by Feb. 13.

Evans Products fire loss 'nil'

Elmwood Township firemen were called to the Evans Products plant in Gagetown Tuesday morning after sparks from a grinder were drawn into an exhaust fan and started dust inside burning.

Fire department Day Captain Fred Sullivan, who works at Evans, said flashing around the roof ventilator started burning, but employees using fire extinguishers had the fire out by the time firemen arrived.

Firemen checked to make sure the fire was out. Sullivan said damage was "nil."

Camels were brought into Texas in 1856 to transport supplies to army posts in desert areas of the Southwest.

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Cass City High School gymnastics team lost at Davison Monday night. Among those scoring points for Cass City were LeAnn Potrykus, Kristy Deering, Libby Hartel and Nancy Tonti.

For members of the Salem United Methodist Women Monday evening at the church, it was a seven-course Korean dinner prepared by church member Yun Jeung.

The Bunco group met Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hoagg. High was won by Mrs. Hoagg, low by Paul Phillips and door prize by John Agar.

The Cass City Zonta Club held its monthly dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Dorothy Ballard with Colleen Krueger and Toby Weaver as co-hostesses.

Linda Battel, Randy LaPeer and Carolyn Smith represented Cass City High School at Sunday's Tri-County Band Concert held in the high school gym.

Mrs. Florence Andreski of Bad Axe was a Wednesday overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gibbard and family.

25 YEARS AGO

The Shabbona Extension Group met Wednesday evening. Presenting the lesson, "Looking Your Best," were Mrs. Bruce Kritzman, Mrs. Robert Burns, Mrs. Clarence Bullock and Mrs. Clark Auslander.

Mary Jean Martus and Phyllis Copeland, who teach in Battle Creek, spent the week end at their homes here. Robert Martus, a student at Central Michigan College, is home this week between semesters.

The "Princetons," a local quartet, qualified Monday to be on a television amateur program, "Talent Quest," when they sang two songs written by Roger Parrish. The quartet consists of Forrest Walpole, Newell Harris, Bob Copeland and Bill Ruhl.

The Cass City Gavel Club discussed fund-raising projects Tuesday night under the direction of Toastmaster Earl Harris. Committee members in charge of Christmas displays for another year are chairman Barney Freiburger, Ken Eisinger, Arlan Hartwick, Eli Holes and Dick Wallace.

35 YEARS AGO

Walter Zawilinski, Cass City, has recently acquired a registered Holstein-Friesian bull from the herd of Vernon J. Carpenter of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Binder and son David spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aiken near Caro.

Provincial House has new boss

Alan Sward has been named the new administrator of Provincial House, Cass City, according to Beverly Enterprises Regional Supervisor Connie Schwaderer.

In his new position, Sward will be responsible for all administrative activities in support of nursing care and related services for the elderly ill and handicapped residents.

Provincial House is a 117-bed skilled nursing home owned and operated by Beverly Enterprises' Northern Division. Beverly is the nation's largest provider of long term health care.

Sward, a native of Col-dwater, brings to Provincial House nine years of experience as a nursing home administrator at Maple Lawn Medical Care Facility Branch County.

He holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from DePauw University. He and his wife, Nancy, have two children.

Hospital license renewed

Hills and Dales General Hospital, which has 65 beds, has had its annual license renewed by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The department has also renewed the license of the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility, Caro, 123 beds, and certified that a 21-bed unit at the Caro Regional Center meets federal and state nursing home standards.

The department has served notice of its intent to deny renewing the license of the Scenic Convalescent Home, 7651 Pigeon Road, Pigeon, a 16-bed home for the aged. It is the first step in the sometimes lengthy process for license denial.

The action was taken after Health Department field staff during a survey made during the final three months of 1983 observed five of 11 residents at the home were in need of nursing care.

Abortion should be made illegal

The Michigan House of Representatives will soon vote whether to override Gov. James Blanchard's veto of the legislature's ban on use of Medicaid funds to pay for abortions. The Senate has already approved the override.

Allan Lowry would not only like Medicaid spending for abortions banned, he would like to see all abortions banned.

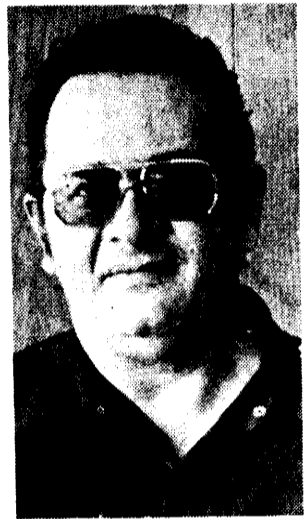

"I can't see using my tax money for taking of a human life," he said of the Medicaid issue. "It (abortion) is morally objectionable to me."

He admitted he has changed his mind on the subject, that he once felt what a woman did was up to her. He now feels that once a woman is pregnant, "That fetus has just as much right as she does."

Lowry referred to the termination of a pregnancy as "premeditated murder of a young child" for the "crassest of motives; it's just personal convenience."

Even if a woman or girl becomes pregnant because of rape or incest, he doesn't think she should be allowed to have an abortion. "It's still a viable human being. Where do you draw the line?"

Lowry feels abortion is only the first step, that taking the lives of the disabled, infirm or elderly could be

THE JANE FONDA WORKOUT BOOK FOR PREGNANCY, BIRTH AND RECOVERY by Femmy DeLyster. DeLyster, drawing on her experience in prepared birth instruction, offers more than a pre- and postpartum exercise guide in this well-illustrated text. Fonda's presence is felt briefly through some introductory remarks and photographs with babe in arms. Then she wisely allows the knowledgeable DeLyster to provide the necessary advice on all aspects of conditioning during and just after pregnancy. The physical preparedness advocated is achieved during pregnancy through a series of uncomplicated, easy-to-follow exercises. Further exercises are recommended for the recovery period. In between are basics on bodily changes throughout pregnancy, descriptions of breathing exercises to use in labor, etc.

HERE I STAY by Barbara Michaels (fiction). Andrea, the spunky, intelligent and stubborn heroine of this very touching ghost story, might also be termed pigheaded at times. She and brother Jim have inherited a rundown old mansion in Maryland. Using just about all their money, they set about turning it into a country inn. First visitor is writer Martin Greenspan, and he likes the inn and the company so well that he opts to stay on indefinitely. Thus begins an eerie tale in which Jim and Martin's research into the past of the house and its previous occupants runs into a head-on collision with Andrea's pragmatic determination to make a success as an innkeeper and ignore old legends.

MENOPAUSE: A Guide for Women and the Men Who Love Them by Winnifred Cutler (non-fiction). Due to women's increased life spans and important findings by researchers, menopausal studies are burgeoning. Here, the authors present a sensitive and comprehensive summary of the bulk of the clinical literature. The text, geared for a general audience, explains physical and psychological changes women over 40 might expect, and then details factual data on hormone replacement therapy (HRT), changing sexuality, hysterectomies, and recognition and prevention of osteoporosis (weakening of bone).

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT

If you are one of America's workers, an IRA may be the solution to your retirement income needs.

Even though you may plan on Social Security, for most people Social Security is a beginning, but it may not provide an adequate retirement income by itself.

All interest on an IRA account is TAX-FREE until withdrawal. You take before-tax dollars from your earned income now (lowering your taxable income) and deposit them into an IRA account. You pay no taxes on the principal or interest until you retire and start to withdraw the money ... at which time your tax bracket should be substantially lower.

So, plan ahead now for your retirement years with your own IRA. It's a wonderful opportunity for you to --

- SAVE TAX DOLLARS
- EARN BIG TAX-EXEMPT INTEREST
- BUILD SECURITY FOR YOUR FUTURE

Federal Regulations require substantial penalties for withdrawals made prior to maturity. IRA regulators provide for substantial penalties for withdrawals before age 59 1/2.

Bananas are available year round since they are grown in Central and South America where it is always sunny and hot. Although the part you actually eat is a fruit, bananas are classified as an herb because the plant itself is not woody, but is made up of leaves wrapped tightly together. When you get bananas home from the supermarket, keep them at room temperature for quick ripening. For longer storage, refrigerate them. Though the peel darkens, the fruit inside stays ripe and fresh for a longer time. They can also be mashed with a little lemon juice (to retard darkening) and put into airtight freezer containers for later use in baked goods.

Spikers now 7-5

Hawks confident as loop season opens

Beth Howard can be confident of one thing as she begins her second year as coach of the Cass City varsity volleyball team. "I think we're going to do better than we did last year," she said. "We already have as many wins as we did last year."

The Red Hawks were 5-5 in the pre-league schedule and won both matches against Marlette last Thursday in their Thumb B Association opener for an overall record so far of 7-5.

The 1983 team finished 7-7 in the TBA, fifth place, and 7-17 overall. That team had only two seniors, one of whom was a starter, so Mrs. Howard has a strong nucleus back this season.

Returning starters from last year are Julie Miller, Paula Burdon, Colleen Irrer, Lynn Schmidt and Sherri Horner.

"They've got good skills this year," Mrs. Howard said of her team, but they still must learn to consistently use those skills. "They have got to play together as a team."

"If they're all psyched up, they do well," she continued. "They can't handle pressure." The players need to become more aggressive, she feels.

The team lacks height, so to overcome that, Mrs. Howard is having her players work a lot on spiking. The team has been averaging about 24 spikes per game so far, but with only about three of those resulting in kills (when the opponents can't hit the ball back).

The four starters expected to play the whole game are Colleen Irrer, a "really good" setter (setting up shots for the spikers); junior Julie Miller, a spiker; senior Lorie Hurley, who plays the back row or front row, and Lynn Schmidt, back row. Irrer and Miller are both third year varsity.

The other back row starters or receivers are Sherri

Horner and Marsha Taylor, who when it's time to rotate to the front, will be pulled for spikers, Paula Burdon and Julie Smith.

Mrs. Howard expects Bad Axe and Lakers to be the toughest teams in the league, with her Red Hawks finishing "closer to the top," than the bottom of the standings.

First-year JV coach Lisa LeValley and Mrs. Howard played volleyball together when they were students at Cass City High School.

Junior varsity matches start at 7 p.m., followed by the two varsity matches. The schedule for the remainder of the season:

- Feb. 2 at Vassar
- Feb. 6 Unionville-Sebe. (non-league)
- Feb. 9 at Bad Axe
- Feb. 15 Harbor Beach (non-league)
- Feb. 16 Lakers
- Feb. 18 Franken. tourney
- Feb. 20 Sandusky
- Feb. 23 at Caro
- Feb. 25 Caseville tourney
- Mar. 1 North Branch
- Mar. 3 district tourney at Mayville

Ubly to host farm seminar

A two-day seminar entitled "Farming Together" will be held Feb. 7 and 9 from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. at the Uby Heights Country Club, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Resource people for this seminar will include Dr. Ralph Hepp, from the Department of Agricultural Economics, Michigan State University; William Hamilton, district farm management agent, MSU, and Andy Sommers, extension agricultural agent, Huron County.

Topics to be presented include human interaction in joint operations, management structures for joint decision making, growth capital sharing, and business structures for the farming together years.

"This seminar offers something for every family farm. It is a good place to start if you are about to form a partnership, a good place to learn more if you are in a partnership, and a good place to re-evaluate your partnership," Sommers said. "To be most effective, every member of the partnership should attend."

the Thumb B Association opener for the Red Hawks. Host Cass City won the first match, 12-15, 15-9, 15-11. Julie Miller had five aces and nine service points.

Paula Burdon had two aces and scored 10 service points. Sherri Horner was the top receiver and hustled throughout the match, coach Beth Howard said. The victors hit 81 percent of their serves over the nets.

In the second match, the Red Hawks again lost the first game, but recovered for the win, 13-15, 15-6, 15-6.

Miller scored 12 service points; Lynn Schmidt, nine, and Horner, seven. Serving percentage for Cass City was 75 percent.

The Red Hawk junior varsity won its match. The score was unavailable.

Courses for grads stiffer at Kingston

The Kingston Board of Education Jan. 23 approved stiffer graduation requirements, starting with students who presently are freshmen.

They will have to take two years of math in order to graduate, one year more than is required now, and one semester each of typing and computer literacy, neither of which is required now.

The changes were recommended by the instructional advisory council, composed of teachers, administrators and citizens. Possible changes in language arts requirements are still being studied.

The board also approved a 3 percent salary increase this year for the six custodians and maintenance personnel, 5 percent in 1984-85, and another 5 percent in 1985-86.

Custodians, who previously earned $6.04 an hour, will now receive $6.22, $6.53 next year, and $6.86 the following year. Maintenance personnel, who work on boilers, do carpentry work, etc., will make $1.25 per hour more — $7.47 this year; $7.78 next and $8.11 in 1985-86.

The pay increases are retroactive to last July 1.

Cass City finds new way to lose at 'Muth

The Cass City Red Hawks found a new way to lose Tuesday night at Frankenmuth. Instead of folding in the final quarter, the Hawks blew a chance for an upset by doing nothing in the first quarter.

The first period disaster resulted from a combination of cold stone shooting and erratic passing by Cass City and the talent of the Eagles.

The final score was a respectable 68-60 and Cass City came back to make a game of it after the first period.

The eight minutes of woe for Hawk fans started with turnovers the first three times down the floor. The sad part of it all was that none of them was forced. Simply bad or fumbled passes.

Anyway, those turnovers coupled with a couple of missed shots enabled Frankenmuth to jump off to a 10-0 lead. Cass City didn't score until the game was seconds short of five minutes old.

The entire offensive in the first eight minutes consisted of a basket by Kurt Bliss and a layup by Todd Nurnberger with 20 seconds left in the period. Meanwhile 'Muth piled up the points to jump off to a 19-4 first period lead.

It looked as if the Hawks could be in for a lopsided beating at this point, but Cass City charged back to make a game of it in the final three periods.

Sparked by a scoring splurge by Scott Hurford who picked up seven quick points, Cass City moved to within seven points midway through the quarter.

Raiders fall in basement battle

The Cass City Red Hawks moved out of the Thumb B Association basement Friday and Marlette took full possession of the cellar with a loss to the Hawks, 64-46.

It was the second time this season that Cass City has topped the Red Raiders and the wins are the only ones that the Hawks have recorded in league action.

Cass City took charge of the game early in the second quarter to record the victory. Play was ragged in the first quarter as both teams used a full court pressing defense and both teams committed several turnovers.

Cass City edged in front to stay after six minutes of play as Rich Randall whipped in a pair of shots from outside for a 12-8 lead.

Cass City made it easy for the Eagles to stretch the lead to 11 points with three more turnovers in a row and at the half the Eagles were comfortably ahead, 34-23.

In the first five minutes of the third period Cass City played its best basketball of the night.

Combining a good defense and offense the Hawks quickly closed the gap to four points, 45-41, as Rich Randall hit a pair of jumpers and Bryan Beecher converted a fast break layup.

Coach Whitey Wilson then called time out and the Eagles tightened their defense to stop the rally. At the end of the period they were in front 49-41.

The closest that Cass City could come after that was six points with 2:22 left to play.

Frankenmuth went into a control ball defense to play out the clock after that. The Eagles appear to have the talent to be strong for several seasons ahead. Two sophomores, Bronner and Tim Crawford, are top players already. Crawford scored 14 points. Top scorers for the Eagles were Scott Wright, 20, and Ron Murlick, 16. Freshman Kurt Bliss scored 9 in his second varsity game.

Hurford led Cass City with 22 points.

JOHN MEININGER led the Hawks in scoring and rebounding Friday in the win over Marlette. He fights with Brian Hirsch of Marlette for possession of a rebound.

Corn storage declines 38%

Corn stored in Michigan Jan. 1 totaled 167 million bushels, a decline of 38 percent from the record high level a year ago.

Lower production during the 1983 crop year was the primary reason, according to the Federal/State-Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Soybean stocks at 19 million bushels showed a drop of 22 percent from a year earlier.

Winter wheat was the only major commodity with larger stocks than a year ago. Holdings of 20 million bushels represented a 56 percent increase from a year ago. Oats in storage at 9.3 million bushels was 47 percent below the 1983 level.

Nationally, corn stored in all positions Jan. 1 was estimated at 4.93 billion bushels, 41 percent less than last year's record high 8.28 billion bushels. Indicated disappearance from all storage positions during October-December, 1983, totaled 2.42 billion bushels, up 7 percent from the comparable quarter a year earlier.

Soybeans stored in all positions Jan. 1 totaled 1.29 billion bushels, down 28 percent from a year ago. The September-December, 1983, indicated disappearance, based on supply and Jan. 1 stocks, was 688 million bushels, down 1 percent from the same period a year ago.

All wheat in storage totaled 2.32 billion bushels, 8 percent less than last year's record. Oats in all storage positions totaled 378 million bushels, down 20 percent from a year earlier.

Hawk wrestlers record losing week

Cass City wrestlers lost a pair of dual meets and finished seventh in a nine-team tournament at Sandusky during the week.

The Hawks lost to visiting Bad Axe, 38-32. Six wrestlers earned points for Cass City. Doug Zdrojewski, 98 pounds, and Scott Rockwell, 198 pounds, won by forfeit.

Mark Kappen, 119 pounds, won a 15-2 decision and Dave Dorland, 155 pounds, scored the teams only pin in :52. Other winners were Scott Wright, 185 pounds, 12-10, and Bob Walters, 11-5, in the heavyweight division.

Capac won the tournament at Sandusky Saturday, followed by Comstock Park. Best performer for Cass City was Walters who was second. Finishing fourth were Mar, Rutkowski, 105 pounds; Mark Kappen, 119 pounds; Brian Ad, 167 pounds, and Scott Rockwell, 185 pounds.

Monday, Cass City was overpowered by Imlay City. Zdrojewski won by a forfeit, Rutkowski earned a 6-3 decision and Walters scored a pin in :49.

More Tuscola veterans seek pensions in 1983

The state of the economy was reflected at the Tuscola County Department of Veterans' Affairs in 1983, according to its director, James McCann, who presented his annual report to the Board of Commissioners last week.

More veterans and dependents of veterans applied for pension benefits in 1983, he reported, with some applying because of low or no income and others because they were unemployed or disabled.

More veterans also inquired about Veterans Administration hospitalization because they had no medical insurance, according to McCann, who added in his written report that "hopefully, 1984 will see more people returning to work and reducing hardships some have had to endure this past couple of years."

Veterans in the county received a total of $2.1 million from the VA during the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, 1982, the latest period for which figures are available.

Of the total, $1.76 million was for compensation and pensions; $206,579 for education benefits to Vietnam war era veterans and other training programs, and $191,664 for insurance and indemnity payments.

The average payment per veteran per month for education was $342.

Veterans and their dependents receiving pensions received a 3.5 percent cost-of-living increase of Nov. 1, the same as given persons receiving Social Security. Veterans receiving disability compensation will get a 3.5 percent increase April 1.

To be eligible for pension benefits, a veteran must have served honorably for at least 180 days during a wartime period, have an income below the annual rate set by Congress and be unemployable because of a physical disability. For example, a veteran without a dependent spouse or child must have an income below $5,515, effective Dec. 1, to be eligible.

County burial benefits of $300 were approved for 52 veterans in 1983, seven were rejected and four applications were pending as of the end of the year. The number approved was an increase from 1982.

The Tuscola County Trust Fund Committee assisted 122 veterans, widows and dependents for a total of $16,691 last year. "High unemployment rates are reflected in the number of applications for trust fund assistance and the number of times veterans had to apply during the last 12 months," McCann wrote.

The number of VA home loans granted in the county in 1983 isn't available yet.

'Lucky' fire only melts plastic liner

"That was the luckiest thing I ever saw," said Elkland Township Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr.

He was referring to what happened when a heat tape around a water pipe shorted out under the floor of the Gordon Wills mobile home on Gilbert Road, last Thursday morning, northeast of Cass City in Sanilac County.

What was lucky, the chief explained, is that the plastic vapor barrier under the floor of the 14-by-70-foot structure melted, but did not burn.

There was a lot of smoke, however, and the Wills family was awakened when their smoke detector went off. The fire was reported about 6:05 a.m.

Wills used a fire extinguisher under the mobile home before firemen arrived.

Root said the only loss was the heat tape and vapor barrier, plus a smoke odor.

HOT CHIMNEY

Elkland firemen were called to the Fred Milligan residence on Hartsell Road, north of Cass City in Huron County at 9:40 p.m. last Wednesday.

An overheated chimney, they said, started a fire where the chimney went through the downstairs ceiling and upstairs floor.

Milligan threw a bucket of water on the fire and had it out by the time firemen arrived. Two firemen climbed on the roof to clean out the chimney with a chain and some upstairs windows were opened to clear it of smoke.

Damage was estimated at $200.

HEALTH TIPS Warning symptoms of a heart attack

In 1981 some 559,000 Americans died of heart attack, including some 350,000 who died before they reached a hospital.

Dr. Seymour Gordon, co-director of the division of cardiovascular disease at William Beaumont Hospital, and president of the American Heart Association of Michigan, says that many of the 350,000 who died before getting to a hospital could have been saved, "but the average person waits three hours after the symptoms first appear before seeking help."

"The ability to recognize the symptoms or warning signals of a heart attack and get emergency medical help immediately can make the difference between life and death in many cases," he said.

The warning signals of a heart attack are uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest lasting two minutes or more and usually brought on by physical exertion. The pain may spread to the shoulders, neck or arms. Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur.

Sharp, stabbing twinges of pain are usually not signals of heart attack.

Dr. Gordon said if you or someone with you has these signals, and if they last two minutes or more, call the emergency medical service immediately.

"If you are experiencing these signals, don't deny that you may be having a heart attack. Often people believe that it's indigestion, or that they're too healthy to have a heart attack, or that they don't want to bother their doctor."

In fact, if you are having the symptoms and find yourself looking for a reason to explain why you couldn't be having a heart attack, you should call the emergency medical service immediately, Dr. Gordon emphasized.

He said if someone with you is having the signals of a heart attack, expect a denial, but call the emergency medical service immediately.

"Denying the heart attack and delaying the call for emergency medical help can spell danger. If a person is having a heart attack, minutes—especially the first few minutes—count," Dr. Gordon said.

The warning signals of a heart attack are an indication of a temporary imbalance in the blood supply to the heart muscle, usually resulting from an increased demand for oxygen-rich blood due to increased heart work and an inability to increase the supply because of narrowed arteries.

An actual heart attack, on the other hand, is usually due to a prolonged interruption or severe reduction in the supply of blood to the heart muscle and can begin while the patient is resting or even sleeping.

"There is no way to predict when an actual heart attack will occur once the warning signals have appeared, which is why it's so crucial to seek early medical help," he emphasized.

Once a heart attack occurs, there is always the possibility of the heart going into a chaotic rhythm, which can lead to sudden death, even if only a small portion of the heart muscle is involved.

"Emergency medical aid can help in stabilizing such irregularities of rhythm, restoring the heart's function as a rhythm pump. The coronary care units in hospitals can help reduce the impact of a heart attack by maintaining normal rhythm and by limiting the amount of heart muscle damaged by the attack," Dr. Gordon said.

The heart is a remarkably tough organ, he added, "but there is a limit to how much damage it can withstand, and the warning signals of a heart attack may be an indication that the damage to the heart has begun."

CASH ASHER

Cash Asher, 90, of Corpus Christi, Texas, died Jan. 19 at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Kerrville, Texas. He was born Nov. 28, 1893, near Ubyly and attended the Cass City schools. He attended Ferris Institute, now Ferris State College, in Big Rapids before joining the Marine Corps in 1911.

Asher worked for several newspapers in Michigan, including four years as a feature writer for the Detroit Free Press. He also wrote several books, including "The Memoirs of Chief Red Fox," which was on the best seller list in 1972.

He is survived by three daughters and four brothers, Manley, Cass City; Stanley, Cassopolis; Howard, Caro, and Leo, Florida.

He willed his remains to the University of Texas Medical Center. Eventual burial will be in Seattle, Wash.

Garage sale to assist kidney patient

A large garage sale has been scheduled in Unionville to raise money to aid Elaine Winter of Sebewaing, who underwent a kidney transplant last Wednesday, and her family.

The kidney donor was her daughter, Robin Martens, also of Sebewaing. The surgery took place in Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. First reports were that everything went well, according to Gerda Hoppe, chairman of the garage sale.

The sale will take place Saturday, Feb. 18, from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Unionville-Sebewaing schools' bus storage depot at the elementary school. A baked goods sale will also take place.

Donated items can be brought there Feb. 13 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.; Feb. 14, 3-7; Feb. 15, 2-5, and Feb. 16, 10-7, or call Mrs. Hoppe at 883-2477.

Although Mrs. Winter has insurance, Mrs. Hoppe said, it doesn't cover all the costs in connection with her operation.

Fund raising bake sales and an auction to raise money for Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Martens are also scheduled during the Sebewaing Snow Festival, Feb. 11.

Golden Rule class has potluck

Helen Bartle led devotions, Esther McCullough presided over the business meeting and Iva Mae Hildinger was in charge of games for entertainment.

The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. McCullough.

Michigan offers water sports enthusiasts 11,000 inland lakes and 36,000 miles of rivers and streams.

possibility of keeping the landfill open for regular household trash, that it would probably cost at least $80,000 to comply with the Department of Natural Resources requirements.

The council must notify the DNR of its decision by March 1 and implement it by Sept. 1.

OTHER ITEMS

Alfred Horne, owner of Walnut Trailer Park, just south of the village, has been informed it would cost him an estimated $40,000 to extend water and sewer lines to the park, plus the property would have to be annexed to the village.

Walbro Corp. has filed for an Industrial Facilities Exemption certificate for its property on Garfield Street. A hearing for representatives of taxing units -- school district, township, county, etc. -- will be held at the February meeting. The hearing is required, since a property tax break for the company is involved.

Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie reported the state Department of Transportation may take bids in April or May for construction of the new M-53 bridge over the north branch of the Cass River.

The official detour will be through Cass City, but early construction of the bridge may conflict with the village's plans to rebuild N. Seeger Street -- part of the detour route -- for which it has borrowed $100,000 through a state bonding program.

LaPonsie said it appears that curb and gutter work may be able to take place while the road is used as a detour, with paving on Seeger to take place after the bridge is completed.

The preliminary 1983 financial statement showed general fund expenditures were $15,987 less than anticipated. The official audit will be presented at the February meeting.

LaPonsie has denied the grievance filed by the Fraternal order of Police in behalf of officer Robert Moore, who sought to be reinstated to full-time duty after he was laid off for what the council said was economic reasons. He now works part-time. The FOP is expected to appeal.

Huron County to explore building vocational center

equal access to all the programs, based on the percentage of their enrollment to the total student enrollment in the county. For instance, a district that has 10 percent of the total enrollment has 10 percent of the openings in auto mechanics classes available to it.

THE SHARED-TIME program has numerous disadvantages, according to Hunter, who admits he favors the skill center concept.

One is that school districts send their students in all directions to take the two or 2½-hour classes. Some students drive over 300 miles per week and some students don't take vocational education classes because they don't have transportation. "We don't feel there is an equal opportunity for vocational education under the shared-time system," Hunter said.

The Uby School District

has five students daily going to the HISD building in Bad Axe to study data processing, five to Bad Axe High School for accounting and one for stenographic training, four to Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe for health careers, five to Harbor Beach High School for welding, seven to Harbor Beach Community Hospital for health careers, eight to Laker High School for auto mechanics and two there for machine shop.

Uby offers one shared-time program, home construction, which is attended by eight Uby students and five each from Harbor Beach and Bad Axe. Some attend the morning class and some, the afternoon.

Instead of driving, most Uby students travel to the shared-time classes by Thumb Area Transit bus, paid for by the district. The few who travel by car receive 5 cents per mile from the school.

Owendale - Gagetown High School has four students going to Laker High School each day, one each in auto mechanics and building trades and two in health careers (three in the morning and one in the afternoon); two to the HISD in Bad Axe for data processing, and two to Howard's Beauty Academy in Caro to study cosmetology. The latter is not a shared-time program.

DUPLICATION IS ANOTHER difficulty with the shared-time program, according to Hunter, who feels offering courses in only one place would be more efficient. At present, office occupations is offered in four locations, welding in two and health occupations in three.

A countywide skill center supported by all taxpayers would be more financially capable of keeping up with changes in technology. At present, if Hunter feels students should be learning to use some new piece of equipment so that their skills will be up-to-date when they enter the job market, he has to persuade a local district to buy it and not all the students benefitting from it will be from that district.

If a skill center is erected, it presumably will be able to offer more programs than are presently available, Hunter indicated.

In contrast to the 12 offered through the shared-time program in Huron County, the Tuscola Area Skill center, which is in its fourth year of operation, offers 24.

STATE AID IS AVAILABLE, according to the vocational director, for site development, construction, equipment and operation of a skill center, so the total cost would not have to be borne locally.

He has estimated that 1 1/4 mills would be needed for the first 2½ years and after that, 1 mill or less for operations. He describes that as a "very rough guess."

The 18-member Vocational Education Coordinating Council, which has been in existence since the early 1970s, in addition to examining the feasibility of a skill center, will also be looking at the present vocational courses offered by the local districts and the shared-time programs. Ronald Good, president of the Owen-Gage School Board, is chairman of the council.

What it will ultimately recommend, Hunter said, will be "What is best for the kids, versus what they can financially support."

truck almost went off the road in Gagetown Jan. 24.

The truck was on State Street (Bay City-Forestville Road), just west of Dodge Road, and was straddling the edge of the road when officers arrived. The right side wheels couldn't get traction and the truck was on the verge of sliding down the embankment.

Johnstone was arrested about 12:30 a.m. He was released from the county jail later that day after posting $100 bond, with arraignment in district court scheduled Feb. 6.

COUNTY OF TUSCOLA OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK

STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF TUSCOLA

I, Elsie Hicks, clerk of the said County of Tuscola and Clerk of the Circuit Court of the County and State aforesaid:

DO HEREBY CERTIFY, that at a regular session of the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners held in the Court House in the Village of Caro, Michigan, on January 24, 1984 action was taken on the attached Resolution.

I further certify that the action is a true, correct, accurate and complete transcript of the original of said action appearing on file and of record in my office.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the Circuit Court for the County of Tuscola, this 25th day of Jan. A.D. 1984.

Elsie Hicks, Tuscola County Clerk
Clerk of the Board of Commissioners
For the County of Tuscola

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, on September 27, 1983, the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners adopted a 1984 - 1985 salary schedule for all elected officials, department heads, and non-union personnel, and

WHEREAS, this action by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners is in accordance with past practice handed down through the years and has stood the test of time for stability and fairness and has always taken into consideration the county's ability to meet its financial obligations from available revenues, and

WHEREAS, on the 14th day of November, 1983, 54th Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn chose to issue an administrative order raising the salary of the Circuit Court Reporter from a 1983 salary of $17,615 to a 1984 salary of $24,000, after the Board of Commissioners had set said salary at $18,950, thus undermining the Board of Commissioners efforts to maintain a fair and equitable compensation schedule among all employees, and

WHEREAS, on January 12, 1984, Commissioners Donna Rayl and Paul Nagy, representing the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners, and Circuit Court Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, representing himself, met with a mediation panel composed of Genesee County Circuit Judge Harry McAlra and Alpena Commissioner Dale Huggler, and

WHEREAS, at this meeting it was agreed that the Court Reporter's salary for the 54th Judicial Circuit would be $22,000 for the fiscal year 1984, and $25,500 for the fiscal year 1985, and

WHEREAS, it was further agreed that the 54th Circuit Court would not expend more than $8,000 of the budgeted $16,000 for a Law Clerk for the fiscal year 1984, and

WHEREAS, the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners, through legal counsel, has decided it is not in the best interest of the people of Tuscola County to further resist the above mentioned administrative order when the possibility of overturning the order through the courts is indeed remote.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the 1984 - 1985 salary schedule - for elected officials, department heads, and non-union employees be amended to reflect a 1984 annual salary of $22,000 and a 1985 annual salary of $25,500 for 54th Circuit Court Reporter Kenneth Gangler in accordance with the provisions of MSA 27A.591 which states that a Circuit Court Judge may fix the compensation of his employees within the budgetary appropriation provided by the County Board of Commissioners.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this resolution be published in the county news media.
