The Elkland firemen were in Caro from about 2:15-5:30 a.m.

Brady has been charged with one count of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling, three counts of aiding and abetting breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling and one count of aiding and abetting larceny from a building.

The two men appeared late Tuesday afternoon be-fore Magistrate Donald Smith, who set bond at. $50,000 for Haag and $15,000 for Brady. Arraignment before District Court Judge Richard F. Kern was scheduled April 30 if bond is posted; April 23 if it isn't.

Multiple sclerosis is no laughing matter, but for those who have it, having a sense of humor helps.

It is a disease that is hard to diagnose and is hard to live with. The cause is unknown -- a virus is one theory -- and so is a cure. It is not contagious.

For those who have it, being able to get together with other victims is a way to make having MS a little more bearable.

An informal group of MS victims in the area meets once a month. Three of them (there are often more) met recently at the home of Janet Martin in Gagetown and they and their host talked to the Chronicle about the disease and how it has affected their lives.

Mrs. Martin, like the others, had symptoms

For Mrs. S of Cass City, used, it was the time she intended to walk in a straight line "and I'd end up over here (walking a semi-circle). People would think I was nine sheets to the wind." There was also the time she went dancing with her husband, now deceased, "and I just didn't have the rhythm.

But two weeks later, they went dancing again "and everything was great."

That illustrates one reason why MS can be hard to diagnose at first, because symptoms can come and go. MS can also go into remission.

Symptoms, which can vary greatly from person to person, can include eye trouble, partial or complete paralysis of any part of the body, hands shaking, loss of bowel or bladder control, staggering or loss of balance, memory loss, speech problems, weakness, loss of coordination, numbness

There was plenty of moaning about the weather Tuesday. It has been a whole lot worse.

Clothing stores are affected by the weather so Bill Kritzman logs it from year to year. One year ago Tuesday, he says, we had four inches of snow on the ground and on Wednesday received a slight sprinkle.

If memory serves correctly that was about the most snow we experienced all last year when guys were play-ing golf at Christmas time.

The taxpayers are still paying for the Pontiac Silverdome where William Clay Ford is cleaning up with the Detroit Lions

Now along comes another of the country's richest residents, Al Taubman, suggesting that the taxpayers build a place for his Michigan Panthers to play in. That's sad.

Sadder still is the realization that such a proposal could be seriously considered given the track record of Detroit and Michigan,

Yes, the town and the state are in poor financial health but that hasn't stopped these pork barrel programs in the past.

Patients are going to be discharged sooper and sicker with the new standards of payment to hospitals under Medicare, Ken Jensen, administrator, says.

Hills and Dales will probably end in the red for the first time since Jensen became administrator because of the changes in payment from government and insurance health programs.

The reason for earlier discharge of Medicare patients is that the government will pay for only a set number of days for an illness. The new program started April 1. We'll still take care of the acute cases, Jensen says, but patients will be discharged to their homes and may still require a stay in bed and special care.

It's Medicare today that limits hospital stays, but Jensen sees the time coming when private insurance plans will follow suit.

All this translates into fewer hospitals and a 10 percent mortality rate among present facilities is forecast across the nation.

coincidence, the By reason I left Port Huron, the small city where I lived the first 23 years of my life, was because I wanted to become famous - not infamous --- and knew I'd never make it in my hometown. Too many people there knew I was caught shoplifting comic books in Cunningham's Drugstore.

While I was a Port Huron resident, my only noteworthy achievement was to attend a landmark baseball game, and I didn't know I'd done that until almost 36 years later, which was too late to brag to the snotty neighbors who snickered over the sudden disgrace that befell the largest collection of comic books in town.

The game was June 30, 1948, at Briggs Stadium in Detroit. It was a night game, which turned out to be important. My friend Dick and I hitchhiked from Port Huron, leaving early to make sure we didn't miss the first pitch. We arrived at the ballpark at 10 a.m., 10 hours before game time, which we patiently awaited in nearby saloons

Cleveland pitcher Bob Lemon allowed no hits that night, beating the Tigers 2-0. I'm not asking you to believe I was so patient that it was 36 years before I knew I'd seen a no-hitter. I knew the very next day when I read it in the newspaper and finally under-

Readers sometimes ask stood why the crowd had made so much happy noise when the game ended even though the Tigers lost. Dick thought we'd hitchhiked to Cleveland by mistake. But it wasn't until '36 years later, just a few weeks ago, thanks to a sports trivia item in the Free Press, that I learned I'd been present at the very first no-hitter pitched in the history of night baseball in the American League.. Compared to walking on the moon, it wasn't much, but it was the best I could do while living in Port Huron. The irony is that I had to bum to Detroit to do it, and didn't realize until 1984 that I'd witnessed a history-making event in 1948. And by 1984 I's moved to Detroit in hopes of becoming a celebrity. I remember the first time I was recognized as the famous Free Press columnist. It was on a city bus. The woman sitting next to me asked if I were Jim Fitzgerald, and when I modestly admitted it, she changed her seat.

But things began to look up last January when I re-ceived a flattering letter from Mort Crim, the famous TV anchor man. He invited me to be one of the celebrities on Channel 4's annual Easter Seal Telethon. Perhaps, he suggested, I could receive pledges or answer celebrity phones. "Please join me!"

Crim urged. Wow. That was my chance to become wellknown. You aren't a celebrity until you're recognized wherever you go, and to question, it is television that makes celebrities. Their own mothers can't recognize newspaper columnists from the dinky photos that appear along with their writing. But $T\bar{V}$ puts life-size facsimiles of guys like Crim and Dwayne X. Riley in every living room. They can't go any-where without fans jerking on their sleeve, which is why Riley's sleeves are all short.

In preparation for my TV appearance, I went on a diet, bought a new tie, and cut short a vacation trip. And, a few days before I was due to become a TV celebrity, there came a message from Doug Robinson of Channel 4.

'You won't be needed for an Easter Seal appearance," it said.

Channel 4 really knows how to hurt an aspiring celebrity. For God's sake, there was a sports writer on that telethon who wasn't even born when the first night no-hitter in American history League was pitched.

I don't know why Channel rejected me at the last minute. Maybe they found out about the comic books. I might as well have stayed in Port Huron.

In truth, most authorities will tell you that persons into exercise who stay with it will be healthier than those who don't.

We know of just one person in the immediate area who has been a runner and keeps at it. At various times we've seen others who went at it for a month, two months or a year before dropping from the scene. There aren't any statis-

It doesn't mean anything, of course, but over the years we've run story after story about residents who reach or approach the 100year mark and none of them have been exercise buffs. When they were young they weren't exposed to the health fads of today. It's probable that it wouldn't have made much of an impression on them anyway.

One reason I would be pusy is because I'm too honest. Not that I mean to any customers wandered imply that salespersons are dishonest. Most aren't, and think those persons mentioned above would agree that honesty is one reason for their success.

No one except a fool is going to go back to a salesperson who gave them a raw deal the first time.

But if I were trying to sell cars, for instance, and someone wanted to buy a big gas guzzler, I would tell them that the price of gasoline is sure to start gain up again, so they would be better off buying a car that costs less and gets better mileage. Or if the buyer didn't earn much money, but wanted air conditioning, I would tell them they were better off financially without it. I would never get rich that way.

I like to see good sales-persons in action. He told me the dealership didn't sell enough Le Cars to make it worthwhile to have a demonstrator, so didn't have a car for me to drive.

I then asked for a price, explaining that I had a bank certificate of deposit that was expiring in a few months that would pay for the car, so I wasn't ready to buy a car immediately. He wouldn't give me a price. Instead, he wanted teach at the Quick School for the coming year. Land Bank

loan volume decreasès

The Federal Land Bank Association of Caro recently held its annual stockholders meeting at the Cass City High School.

Purpose of the meeting was to elect two directors for three-year terms on the association's board and present the financial report on 1983 fiscal operations. Wesley Murdoch, a cash crop farmer from Pigeon, and Walter Cook, a cash crop farmer from Harbor Beach, were both reelected to the board.

Those present also elected Albert H. Stoutenburg, Paul D. Maynard and Arnold Keinath, all of Sanilac County, to serve on the nominating committee for 1985. This Committee will be selecting four direc-tor candidates for the 1985 annual meeting. Nomina-tions for directors' positions are also accepted from the floor during the annual meeting. Association President James E. Bolton reported it loaned $10,778,313 to members in the threecounty area, down considerably from the 1981 high of $34,290,764. The association, while its growth rate is slowing com-pared to the 1977 thru 1982 period, continues to increase its outstanding loan volume. Financial statistics in all areas reflect the decreased loan demand caused by the depressed agricultural economy. The Pigeon Community Men's Chorus, directed by Lyle Shetler, presented en-tertainment for the meeting. The Federal Land Bank Association of Caro has 1,841 stockholder members, with an outstanding loan volume of $160 million in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties. Federal Land Bank associations are part of Farm Credit Services, St. Paul, Minn.

The American Institute for Cancer Research has published recommended dietary guidelines based on the findings of research studies that suggest a link between diet, nutrition and cáncer. They are:

1) Reduce the intake of ary habits and controlled dietary fat -- both saturated food processing proce and unsaturated -- from the current average of approximately 40 percent to a level tion affects cancer risk beof 30 percent of total cause calories. "empty" calories in al-coholic beverages reduces

4) Drink alcoholic beverages only in moderation.

According to AICR, these guidelines are consistent with good nutrition and adherence to them may also reduce the risk of developing cancer. The basis for the guidelines is scientific research that shows that a balanced nutrient intake achieved through the consumption of moderate amounts of a variety of foods and not through the use of vitamin and mineral supplements may inhibit the development of some chemically caused cancers

According to these guidelines, such nutrients and food constituents as Vitamins A, C, E, dietary fiber, beta carotene, and selenium have been shown potentially to inhibit cancer when consumed at levels found in a balanced diet. It is important to note $that\, excessive\, consumption$ of certain of these substances, especially selenium, can be toxic.

The guidelines also exp lain that while many people have reduced their consumption of saturated fat, they have not reduced total fat intake. Research has shown a link between total fat intake and the incidence of cancer, especially cancer of the breast, large bowel, and prostate.

about Multi-Gard.

Very simply, the State gives school districts like Cass City (in formula districts) money in June and then takes that same amount of money back in August. The net effect is that schools show money in their June 30th audit that is not there in August. In the case of Cass City, $65,500 will be received in June that was deducted from our state aid payment last August. The $65,500 will then be deducted again from the next August payment.

Why is this done? Very simply it began as a means of balancing the State budget. The fiscal year for schools ends June 30th while the fiscal year for the State ends September 30th. The first year the State did this they said that the school aid for Cass City would be short $65,500 in August but we would receive it in June. In this manner the State saved spending $65,500 in their current fiscal year and moved the payment to the next fiscal year. At the same time the receipt of the money by school districts was shown in the fiscal year where it properly belonged. The net negative effect to our school district was that $65,500 that was intended to become permanent part of the districts assets actually was available to the district two months of the year.

At the present time it appears that the State will continue doing the same thing in future years. Each year we will receive $65,500 in June and will then have it deducted in August.

Hopefully, they will not decide to do the same thing with more of the school aid funds. This manipulation of funds is not only deceiving to the public but costly to our district. Yearly costs to the Cass City Public Schools because of this money manipulation is conservatively placed at $5,000.

Sincerely yours, Donald G. Crouse Superintendent of Schools

Hope Springer who is the epitome of the "walking wounded." Tragedy and folly seem magically drawn to her. Little wonder then that Hope is hounded by migraine headaches, asthma, weight problems, and two off-the-wall families - her own and her husband's. Looking for a cure for her assorted ills, Hope runs with manic-depressive fervor from one bumbling specialist to another, attempts a love affair while pregnant, and just regains control of her life annual meeting when her dreaded health nut mother-in-law unexpectedly comes to stay.

Lydia revels in the individual personalities of her four children and of her best women friends from college (Barnard), with whom, as in the old days, she argues philosophy in the most sincere manner possible. But her two youngest children are killed in a bus crash, a tragedy so profound she doesn't know how to react, and the responses of her two teenagers, husband Victor and her friends are achingly believable, with their moments of awkward grace. Then Victor moves out to go live with another woman, although neither he nor Lydia can totally divorce themselves from all they have shared together.

No more diplomas for foreign exchange students

For the first time, Cass City High School has a writpolicy governing exchange students.

The school board ap-proved the policy April 9, which was revised from the original proposal presented to the board by High School Principal Russell Richards in February.

Implementation of the policy means visiting exchange students who are seniors will no longer receive a diploma.

Instead, "A letter certify-ing attendance will be presented when the student completes the exchange experience. A transcript of grades will be given to the student and-or sent to the student's home school. The student's home school will have the responsibility for issuing the high school diploma.

Visiting students, the policy further states, "will be placed at the grade level appropriate for his or her age and demonstrated academic ability." Those who are placed in the senior class "will be permitted to participate in all commencement exercises." At graduation, Richards said, they will receive the diploma cover, so won't be singled out from the other participants.

The student had indicated during his presence here that he wanted it to help him get into an American college, according to the principal. Richards felt the student hadn't worked very hard and didn't measure up to the standards expected of him, so instead of giving him a diploma, gave him a letter stating he had attended Cass City High

Hutchinson a brilliant loser

You could hardly blame Jill Hutchinson if she were getting a little discouraged pitching for the Hawks this spring. She's pitched three games for Cass City and lost them all. If that sounds as if Hutchinson isn't much of a pitcher, take another look

The Hawks have failed to score a run while Hutchinson has been on the mound this season. Among her losses has been a no-hitter. Wednesday, April 11, in the first game of a double header with Deckerville, she pitched a one-hitter and lost 2-0 to Kim Slater who pitched a seven-hitter. The Hawks left nine runners stranded. 90 children in Easter egg hunt

About 90 children up to age 12 took part in the first annual Easter egg hunt Saturday sponsored by the Lamotte Township Fire Department Auxiliary.

The youngsters, divided into age groups, picked up plastic Easter eggs. There was candy inside all the eggs, plus in three of them for each age group, a ribbon designating first, second or third prize.

First prize was an Easter basket containing a storybook record. Second and third prizes were baskets with candy.

In addition to what was in the eggs, the Easter Bunny (see photo, page 1) gave each child a bag of candy. After the hunt outside was done, the children went inside the fire hall, where they were treated to milk and cookies.

Various townships and area businesses paid for the Easter baskets, candy and milk. Firemen provided the cookies.

Winners of the Easter baskets were:

Age 0-3 -- First prize, Robbie Fields; second, Nathan Mutch; third, Dustin Berry.

Age 4-6 -- First and sec-ond, Jamie Meddaugh; third, Levi Hyde.

Age 7-9 -- First, Benji King; second, Melissa Horne; third, Jeremy Miu. Age 10-12 -- First, Danny Atkins; second and third, Denny King.

CAR FIRE -- The car of Pastor John Lange sustained heavy damage, estimated at $2,000, when it burned Monday night. The car was parked at the Lange home on Deckerville Road, east of Lamton Road.

County sells tax notes to Detroit bank

Tuscola County sold $3.8 million in General Obligation Limited Tax Notes to the National Bank of Detroit April 10 at an annual interest rate of 6.98495 percent, according to county Treasurer Elgene Keller.

Bids were accepted in the courthouse and at the office of the Municipal Advisory Council of Michigan in Detroit. The offices were connected by telephone during the sale.

"By using the dual sale approach" Mrs. Keller explained, "we are able to attract more bids on the notes. If you have more bidders you have an opportunity to get a better interest rate and save the county money. This year there were five bidders. According to John R. Axe of Municipal Financial Consultants Inc. of Bloomfield Hills, the county's financial consultant, an early sale date was achieved because of Mrs. Keller's speed in reaching settlements with the various local units of. government within the county and considerable pre-planning and pre-ar-rangement by her.

This year's sale was held one month earlier than last year.

Axe said ea generally re favorable in Mrs. Kell most of the the notes sol with an addi county's 100 Payment Fund and used to make a distribution to all units of government within the county for the 1983 delinquent real property taxes, which were returned as uncollected to the county treasurer March 1.

The borrowing will be repaid by the county treasurer from the delinquent taxes, and interest and property tax administration fees as they are paid over the next several years.

High blood pressure really is a warning that your heart is working harder than normal to pump blood and extra fluid through your body. When high blood pressure is not treated, it can lead to serious damage to blood vessels that feed the heart, the brain and the kidneys. Uncontrolled high blood pressure is the major cause of heart attacks, strokes and kidney disease. mean lower prices for farmers.

All those acres being planted, however, will be good for sellers of seed, fertilizer and farm chemicals. In 1983, Bortel said, "Farmers ended up with what I call a respectable year. They were able to survive." He isn't that optimistic about 1984, however, and many farmers and farm lenders are also concerned, he said. Of two Cass City bankers contacted by the Chronicle, one agreed with Bortel's assessment that many farmers are going to have trouble paying their debts. The other didn't feel that way, however. "It (1984) doesn't look that gloomy to us."

Delay scheduled rebuilding of M-53 Cass River bridge

Construction of a new and wider M-53 bridge over the north branch of the Cass River, originally scheduled for this year, has been postponed until 1985.

Necessary repaying of parts of the detour route, which runs through Cass City, will take place this year, however.

Taking of bids by the Michigan Department of Transportation for the construction was scheduled this spring, but has now been postponed until January of next year, according to Peter H. De Camp, MDOT senior district engineer.

The state agency has completed design of the bridge, but the Federal Highway Administration, which is providing 75 percent of the construction funds, must review them. It also has some other requirements that must be met, such as a site review and possibly environmental impact study.

The FHA won't get that done in time to allow construction this year, De Camp said. He anticipated no problem in having ev-begin in May, June or July, 1985. Construction will probably take three three for the project.

Estimated cost of the bridge is $175,000, of which the state pays 25 percent.

The new bridge will be constructed on top of the foundation of the present bridge, which was constructed in 1922. The concrete abutments there now are just off the edge of the pavement, which makes it hazardous when two vehicles pass each other on the bridge, especially if one of the vehicles is wide.

The detour route when the bridge is being built will be four miles west on M-81 to Seeger Street, then north on it and Cemetery Road to Bay City-Forestville Road, then east back to M-53.

The MDOT will be paying for a layer of asphalt or "cap" on the one mile of Seeger and Cemetery from Main Street (M-81) in Cass City to Milligan Road and the one mile of Bay City-Forestville between the Tuscola-Sanilac County line and M-53. The Tuscola County Band on the two lanes. The village has budgeted $85,000 for the project. It is anticipated that one lane of Seeger Street can be kept cpen during the reconstruction, LaPonsie said, so a detour won't be necessary.

4 with multiple sclerosis tell how they live with it

The four women are capable of doing many things, but that isn't true of all MS victims. Some are bedridden.

can result in death. Although there is no cure for MS, there are certain things those who have it can do to ease their suffering. Exercise is essential, as is plenty of rest, and there are various medicines.

Mrs. Martin went to a doctor in Iowa who specializes in MS, who told her not to eat coffee, tea, sugar or red meat. Her diet now includes fish, poultry, nuts and honey. Mrs. Kelsey is on a similar diet. "MS is just very frustrat-

"You can learn to live with it instead of just existing," Mrs. Kelsey commented, "because it's going to be a much happier life." A sense of humor helps. "If you can't laugh, it becomes pretty awful," she said.

the MDOT, will take bids on the paving in May. Village Superintendent

Lou LaPonsie hopes the contractor awarded the bid won't start paving until Cass City gets its own project done, which is to have the curb and gutter installed for widening Seeger Street to four lanes from part way up the hill to the north end of the high school grounds, a distance of 1,320 feet. It is now two lanes. South of there, the street is already four lanes, and the MDOT will be paying for resurfacing all of it. North of there, it will only pay for the equivalent of resurfacing two lanes. If the curb and gutter are installed and grading done in time, then the contractor can pave all four lanes, with the village paying for all except the top layer of asphalt for 1,320 feet.

If it isn't, LaPonsie said, the village might have to take bids separately for paving of the four new lanes, and then obtain reimbursement from the MDOT for the top layer of asphalt
