Cass City to spend $1.9 million on school improvement plan

Board okays school improvement plan

Cass City Schools will spend an estimated $1.9 million on building and site improvements in the fiscal year that starts July 1.

Supt. Donald Crouse outlined various summer projects that are urgently needed and the school board okayed advertising for bids for several of them at its regular meeting Monday night at the high school.

are roofs for Campbell Elementary and Cass City Intermediate Schools.

Campbell roof construction will be a continuation of work started last summer. This year's work will cost $21,750. Crouse told the board that there will still be roof work to be completed after the current section is installed.

The Intermediate School roof will cost $24,000 and is figured for the main building only. The Intermediate building needs repairs of the brick which requires replacing mortar that is gone or loose with a process called tuckpointing.

After this is done it was suggested that the entire building be sprayed with a moisture retardant. Estimated cost is $60,000 and is the largest single expenditure planned.

Crouse has received cost estimates of the various projects, but told the board that when bids were received they would probably be less.

Not included in the following cost estimates is repair work that will be completed by the school staff.

OTHER BUSINESS

A new auditor will service the school for the next three years. Four bids were received from various CPA firms and low bid was from Anderson, Tuckey and Bernhardt with offices in Caro and Cass City.

The firm bid $3,200 for 1984, $3,300 for 1985 and $3,400 for 1986. Bids ranged from the low to a top of $4,620.

Mrs. Connie McNaughton asked the school board to build a sidewalk on the east side of Seeger Street on school property for safety of children walking to school.

After discussion it was decided that future plans probably call for an extension of the sidewalk on the west of Seeger.

Until that happens the board agreed to have a school bus pick up and deliver the children from two families affected, starting in the fall.

New textbooks were adopted in mathematics, home economics and agriculture at $6,601.

Further discussion about a new, stiffer policy for eligibility for sports resulted in no decision. One request is for a grade average of 1.7 (2-point is a C) and passing grades in all subjects to become eligible for sports. The present state requirement is a passing grade in 3 subjects.

A motion to implement the new rules died when questions about when it became effective were asked.

It will come before the board at the next meeting and some stiffening of the regulations appears sure.

A request by the Dan Shermans to have their son, Daniel, attend Campbell Elementary instead of Evergreen School was authorized if no extra bus expense is sustained by the district.

Four new members were appointed for 3-year terms to the Agricultural Advisory Committee. They are Bill Merchant, Jim Bolton, Jim Tuckey and Dave Little.

They will replace Dick Shaw, Arthur Severance, Robert Wischmeyer and Alan Hartwick whose terms expired.

CONSTRUCTION of the $1.935 million sanitary sewer project began in Owendale Monday, May 7. Shown here is digging for installation of the sewer line along Fifth Street, north of Pine Street. Wooten Contracting of St. Charles is contractor for the sewer line installation. Excavation of the sewage lagoons north of town by a different contractor will start later.

Schedule set for July 4th festival

A jam and slam packed day of activities is on tap for the sixth annual Cass City 4th of July Festival.

Among the attractions will be a demolition derby and possibly as many as 100 clowns marching in the parade.

The schedule of events, with some times tentative, were worked out last Thursday evening at a festival committee meeting.

Chairmen of this year's festival, who also headed the event last year, are Dave Lovejoy, Roland Pakonen and Curt Strickland.

Activities will begin Monday, July 2, with the festival queen pageant starting at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The following evening, starting at 7 in the high school gym, the Cass City Ministerial Association will present well-known gospel singer Doug Odham.

In place of the beer tent behind the Charmont, a fixture of past festivals and its biggest money-maker, there will be a similar celebration inside the Colony House on M-53 from 8 p.m. Tuesday to 1 a.m. Wednesday. A musical group hasn't been hired yet.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, arts and crafts exhibitors will display their wares inside the village equipment storage building from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Interested exhibitors should call Sandy Nicholas at 872-3839.

The bed race on Main Street will start at 10 a.m.

The parade will begin at 11. Committed already, parade chairman Kim Glaspie reported, are 13

35 teachers urge contract signing

An estimated 35 teachers, members of the Cass City Teachers Association, together with several wives or husbands descended on the Cass City School Board meeting Monday to "show concern for getting a contract signed."

The overflow crowd made it necessary to hold the meeting in the school cafeteria.

Despite the large turnout a further move towards a settlement was not evident.

Supt. Donald Crouse told the teachers that despite rumors that have circulated, there has been no change in the board's position which was outlined when it appeared a tentative settlement had been reached last fall.

After the regular meeting, the board met in executive session and when they returned said that its position remained unchanged.

CCTA President Don Schelke said that the teachers attended the meeting to urge the board to accept the proposal that the Tri-County Bargaining Association previously presented.

Meanwhile, the two sides await a fact finding meeting.

EXPLAINS PROGRAM

One of the teachers, Donna Emerson, presented a 20-minute discussion of the elementary and intermediate library services at the school.

Jacqueline Freiburger told the board that a clock had been purchased with money donated in the memory of Willis Campbell. She said that she hopes to have it installed before the end of May.

The same millage was defeated in Sanilac County, 974-1,607, so service will end there by Sept. 30. About 14 percent of the registered voters voted in Huron and 10 percent in Sanilac.

Athletes need C average

O-G stiffens graduation and eligibility requirements

Owendale - Gagetown High School students will be taking more required courses because of a change in graduation requirements approved Monday evening by the Owen-Gage School Board.

The recommendation of the curriculum study committee was approved without debate.

After much debate, the board approved the committee's other recommendation, that an experimental policy put into effect this school year stiffening academic eligibility requirements to participate in athletics and other extracurricular activities be made permanent.

The curriculum study committee, organized by high school Principal F. Wayne Wright included teachers, parents and students. It met once a month since last fall.

It took only about 25 minutes for the board to discuss and approve the first recommendation to add more required courses in order to graduate.

The changes are: --Two years of science will be required instead of the present one year.

--Two years of mathematics will be required instead of one year.

--One semester of typing and one of computer science will be required.

--Grades and credit for driver education, which is taught after school, will no longer be given. The only "grade" will be "pass" or "fail."

--Twenty-one units will be required instead of the present 20. A student taking a full load of classes all four years graduates with 24 units. A unit is one class for one year.

Students who are now ninth graders will be required to complete 20 units including the added required classes.

Present eighth graders will be the first who will have to complete 21 credits to graduate, including the added required classes.

The committee considered requiring seniors to pass a competency test in order to receive a diploma, but decided against it at this time.

Member Ronald Reinhardt said the added required courses establishes the foundation for competency testing later. "This sets the thing in motion."

Wright predicted the state Board of Education will require competency testing in a few years, but Owen-Gage shouldn't wait until it does. "There's no reason for us to wait until they mandate it."

ELIGIBILITY

The following policy has been in effect during the school year on an experimental basis regarding eligibility to participate in extracurricular activities. The committee recommended the policy become permanent:

For grades 9-12, "based on their six-week marking period grades, a student must achieve a C...average...to be eligible for participation during the following six-week marking period." A C minus average is acceptable.

For seventh and eighth graders, the policy is the same except, "If a student is found to be ineligible, it will be for a three-week period with a progress report of grades at that time to determine eligibility for the remainder of the six-week marking period."

Previously, the policy was that of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, which requires students to be passing three classes in order to participate in sports. That means a student with three D's and three E's could participate.

Wright reported that only seven students in grades 7-12 were declared ineligible this school year and all but one improved their grades so they were eligible by the following marking period. The one exception missed two marking periods.

DEBATE

Board member Donna Salcido argued such a policy penalized students who are unable to do well academically even if they try. Not allowing them to play sports, she suggested, eliminates their one opportunity to feel they have accomplished something.

Fellow board member Leona LaFave responded that going back to the old policy would mean, "We're sort of lowering our standards for those who can't make it...School basically is not athletics, it's education."

Wright's response, at a different point in the discussion, was that it was his job and that of the staff to see whether a student who can't maintain a C average should be in special education. "We don't have one kid in regular education who can't get a C average."

Reinhardt said the policy affects the "won't dos," not the "can't dos."

Ground broken for $550,000 elevator project

Construction of two silos, a 100-ton platform truck scale and sampling station at the Pillsbury elevator in Owendale, a $550,000 project, may be only the first improvements there.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held Tuesday, May 8.

That evening, the Owendale Village Council held public hearings of establishment of an industrial development district for the elevator and the village's application for federal funds to help pay the cost of repaving the two main streets.

Manning the shovels in the ground breaking were James R. Suchodolski, vice-president operations, Pillsbury Edible Protein Division, Saginaw; Village President Walter Howard Jr., and Brookfield Township Supervisor Walton Brown and Clerk Edmund Good Jr.

The two poured concrete 30-by-100 foot silos, to be constructed on the east side of the present elevator, will have a total capacity of 116,000 bushels, with receiving capacity of 5,000 bushels per hour. Suchodolski said the target date to have the facility completed is Aug. 20, in time for the bean harvest.

Although the new facilities can handle commodities besides beans, they aren't really designed for that. The Owendale elevator, for instance, does not have a corn dryer.

In the planning stages, possibly for next year, he said, are installation of the dryer and other equipment to handle other commodities and an added silo "or two or three."

How much additional expansion is made in Owendale, Suchodolski indi-

Jack Esau, Cass City, says that if there are old pictures of the community or the area he would like to use them to copy to make a slide presentation.

Esau already has one slide presentation with about 400 pictures. The pictures are interesting, but Esau's explanation of the history involved makes it great.

Cass City Rotarians found that out Tuesday when he talked to the club.

Why is it that going on a diet when you get up in the morning seems like a great idea and then turn around and not be worth the effort in the evening?

What do you do when you are in Detroit for a baseball game and it rains? You go see a baseball picture, that's what you do.

In the Haire Net column of this page we write about "The Natural." Since writing it we saw the movie and, as expected, enjoyed it. Not as great as some, perhaps, but still a fine way to fill the void on Mother's Day. Especially when the whole family is there.

Entries are being sought for the Memorial Day parade in Cass City Monday, May 28.

Anyone interested can call the village office at 872-2911. Youngsters planning to ride bicycles in the parade do not have to sign up beforehand.

Chairmen of this year's parade are new village

The parade will start at 10 a.m., with line-up starting at 9:30.

Further details about the parade and service that follows in the Elkland Township Cemetery and other area Memorial Day activities will be in next week's Chronicle.

Six members, Evelyn Butler, Mary Lou Erla, Marilyn Green, Linda Herron, Geri Jantz and Florence Witherspoon received perfect attendance awards this year. ## Barbecue spark causes grass fire Elkland Township firemen were called to a grass fire at 1:51 p.m. Saturday on Shabbona Road, near Keilitz road, in Ellington Township.

The fire took place on property owned by Alger Glaza of Madison Heights. Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. said Glaza's daughter and some friends were barbecuing outdoors. The wind blew some sparks out of the grill onto the ground and the grass started burning.

About two acres burned. Firemen were at the scene about an hour.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Adopt a fish

By Jim Fitzgerald

According to news reports, Mayor Young is confident that Detroit can overcome the objections of environmental groups who fear that the proposed expansion of Cobo Hall over the Detroit River will damage fish.

The mayor probably will introduce an adopt-a-fish program modeled after the adopt-an-animal program at the Detroit Zoo.

For $81 million, the city wants to add 300,000 square feet to Cobo, making it the largest convention center in the world. Supporting the new floor will be a series of large concrete pilings constructed up to 360 feet out into the river. Also planned, 100 feet farther offshore, is a massive stone berm surrounding the addition and preventing lake freighters from attending conventions or organizations to which they don't pay monthly dues.

In recent years, Detroiters have become familiar with massive berms, because there is one in front of the Renaissance Center to prevent passersby with-out pioneer spirits from getting inside.

The Cobo berm will be different, however, in that only fish and downcast sailors will be able to see it. It will rise from the river's bottom but stop 12 feet short of the surface. Several people will probably suggest that construction costs be cut by moving the RenCen berm to where it could protect Cobo conventions from being crushed by boats. But that idea isn't feasible because people would have to jump into the river to see how little the vines on the RenCen berm have grown since last summer.

Incidentally, the RenCen is spending $225,000 to add signs and color-coded graphics to help visitors find their way around the complex. It is believed that RenCen officials undertook this project after deciding there would be too many legal complications if they followed Mayor Young's suggestion that the RenCen institute an adopt-a-lost-person program.

Anyway, the underwater berm will stop boats from ramming the Cobo addition, but what will it do to fish? Those that swim more than 12 feet below the surface will hit the berm, and those that swim higher will risk running into Cobo pilings. Either way, the fish will have to change travel plans abruptly, and concerned environmentalists are worried about the effect this will have on the fish, not to mention their luggage.

According to Tom Doyle, a fisheries biologist with the Department of Natural Resources, billions of newly born fish are annually swept downstream along the riverbank. But the Cobo addition would divert them "into the deeper, colder water of the ship channel" and "might increase losses of these fish," Doyle said.

Do taxpayers want to spend $81 million to freeze baby fish to death? I guess not.

Certainly I'm not suggesting the Cobo project should be dropped. If Detroit's convention facilities aren't expanded, our neighborhoods will become infested with crime. It's sort of a trickle-down effect. When more engineers attend Detroit conventions, more police security will be available for neighborhood residents who come downtown and sleep on the sidewalk in front of Cobo Hall.

That's why Mayor Young would be wise to suggest that citizens "adopt" threatened fish by paying the cost of catching them in nets on one side of the Cobo addition and transporting them to the other side inside the chop suey boxes full of warm water.

That would placate the fish nuts. Also, an adopt-a-fish program could help finance Cobo construction costs. It used to be that when people joined the zoo's adopt-an-animal program, they thought they were paying to feed a specific animal. But recently it was revealed that the money goes into the city's general fund and a woman who thought she adopted a cuddly bear could be the mother of a snake.

The same procedure could be used on the Cobo project. Persons thinking they adopted a fish could actually be the parents of an underwater construction worker. You could call that a berm deal.

The Haire Net

The first chance I get I'm going to see "The Natural," the new baseball story starring Robert Redford.

That was decided as soon as the reviews came out in the Detroit dailies. One critic said it called back the great American myth, the movie celebration of All-American ideals.

It's one of those shows, the reviewer continued, where classic characters receive their just desserts and ideals of half a century ago dominate the story.

It may well be that these ideas of 50 years ago just aren't germane today. Probably aren't.

All the more reason to see the show. There's more than enough grief, worry and frustration in our lives everyday. It always puzzled me why we should pay to endure more of it at the movies.

For awhile darn near every hit movie had an anti-hero or a tragic ending. Losers dominated.

Those shows undoubtedly captured the real world a whole lot better than "The Natural."

So what? When I leave the theater I want to feel good. Justice triumphant over evil. The happy ending. Boy gets girl. Hurray for apple pie and motherhood.

When that money is forked over at the box office it should buy a couple of hours of escape. That's what it's all about.

Besides its upbeat character, "The Natural" has another couple of things going for it. One is Robert Redford.

He usually plays the kind of character in movies that I enjoy. "The Sting" and "Downhill Race" are two that come quickly to mind. Another is Robert Duvall.

Remember him in "The Godfather" as the adopted brother?

One critic said that Wilford Brimley and Richard Farnsworth as the big league manager and the coach do the best job in the show.

I don't remember either of them in previous shows, but the odds are that the faces will be familiar even though the names are not.

I know that Duvall will give an outstanding performance. In this one he plays a newspaperman you love to hate.

And never mind calling to tell me that kind of a part is a cinch to play and true to real life.

I'm still going to enjoy the movie.

After 22 years

Wood retires at Gagetown

From now on, the only bills Harry Wood sees in mailboxes will be his own. After 22 years with the U.S. Postal Service, Wood retired April 27.

He started as a substitute rural carrier for the Gagetown post office, then in 1968, switched to the Cass City office, again as a substitute carrier.

Wood became a full-time carrier in 1976 on Rural Route 2, which is north and west of Cass City. The route has 340 customers and meant 83 miles of driving each day. He usually delivered the mail five days a week and his substitute drove it the sixth.

Before becoming a full-time postal employee, Wood earned most of his income doing carpentry and home repair jobs.

At age 60, he decided it was time to retire, one reason being he would rather not face another winter of driving like the last one.

Wood and his wife, Irene, live on Owendale Road, Gagetown. They have five daughters: Mary Walker, Cass City; Marge Dronsella, Union Lake; Bonnie Durfee, Cincinnati, Ohio; Jennifer Wood, a student at Delta College, and Amy

HARRY WOOD

Wood, who graduates this month from Owendale Gagetown High School.

Retirement activities will include traveling -- the Woods haven't decided where yet -- and helping Leo Wildman, who rents Wood's 40 acres, with his farming.

Wood doesn't plan to actively return to the carpentry and home repair business if he doesn't have to. "As long as I can get along without it, I'm going to take life easy for a while."

Wood's former substitute driver, Mert Hendershot, has, at least temporarily, taken over the route full-time.

Pedaling Around

Opposite effect

By Mike Ellasohn

I find it interesting when a government program has the opposite effect from what was intended.

For instance, a decade or so ago, the federal government had a program, the aim of which was to enable low income persons to own their own homes. It would mean homes in inner-city neighborhoods would be occupied and taken care of, instead of being abandoned.

But in Detroit and some other cities, because of poor management, there was the opposite effect. Even among the poor, there are good credit risks and bad ones, but the persons running the program didn't care.

The result was persons moved into the homes, didn't keep up the payments, and were forced out or moved out. Detroit ended up with more abandoned homes than before the program started.

I recall reading that in one city, I think it was Milwaukee or Minneapolis, the program was well run, which meant some poor persons ended up owning their own homes.

Saginaw is going through similar difficulties with a mostly federally funded program which loans money to persons in a 145 block area so they can fix up their homes.

A probe found money was being loaned for rental units, even though it was only supposed to go to homeowners; loans were made to persons who could afford to borrow from conventional sources; interest rates varied for no apparent reason; borrowers used the money to pay water bills and back taxes, and neither written or competitive bids were required for repair work. At least $122,000 has been misspent.

Hopefully, federal low-cost flood insurance has been reformed since I read several years ago how its availability encouraged development on the islands off the coast of North and South Carolina.

The islands are often racked by fierce storms, so it's inevitable that sooner or later, any structures will be severely damaged and possibly destroyed. But because low cost insurance was available, developers built fancy homes and condominiums there because any losses would be covered.

The result was more buildings being constructed that were sure to result in claims being filed, which drives up the cost of the program borne by all taxpayers.

Then there is the federal government's allotment of tobacco acreage, started in the 1930s, when tobacco farmers lived on the land they farmed.

Now, however, most allotted acreage isn't owned by those who farm it, which means the farmers must pay high rents to those who own the allotments.

An acre of farm land that might otherwise cost $60 to rent can cost as much as $1,000-1,500 if a tobacco allotment comes with it, which can increase farmers' expenses 30-60 percent.

The result is tobacco prices in the U.S. are artificially high, which encourages the tobacco industry to import more tobacco from countries where the price is lower.

Since our government supports the price of tobacco, the more that is imported, the more we taxpayers have to pay to maintain the price of tobacco at a certain level.

And, while the federal government is using our tax dollars to keep tobacco farmers in business, another agency of Uncle Sam is spending money to discourage persons from smoking.

The rubber plants that are grown as decorative home accessories are no relation to the tropical trees that supply us with commercial rubber.

Nemeth to attend national convention

Grace Nemeth of 6305 Main Street, Cass City, will be a delegate at the Democratic national convention in San Francisco the week of July 15.

She will be one of four delegates from the 8th Congressional District elected at the district convention April 14. She will be pledged to vote for the nomination of Walter Mondale as the party's candidate for president.

Mrs. Nemeth has long been active in the Democratic Party. She has been a precinct delegate many times, was Tuscola County Democratic Party vice-chairman from 1974-76 and has attended the Democratic state convention each year since she was county vice-chairman.

She was elected a national convention delegate the first time she tried. What tipped the balance, she said, was support from her "labor friends" in Bay

City and Saginaw, whom "I'm sure put me in."

Mrs. Nemeth was president of United Steel Workers Local 6222, which represents employees at General Cable, for 12 years, until 1981. She was recording secretary before then and is presently a trustee on the local's executive board. She was on the local's contract negotiating committee last year.

She is also the local's delegate to the Thumb Labor Council and is the council's financial secretary.

Mrs. Nemeth is in her 24th year at General Cable, where she works in electrical test quality assurance.

She described being elected a delegate to the national convention as an honor, "very much so." Asked if she was surprised by her being elected, she responded, "Yes I was, a little bit."

She is obviously looking forward to going to San Francisco. "This is my first trip (to a national convention) so I'm sure it will be something to remember."

Stermer to run for prosecutor

SCOTT STERMER

Tuscola County Prosecuting Attorney G. Scott Stermer has announced he will be a Republican candidate for the position in the August primary.

He was appointed prosecuting attorney last September to serve the remainder of the term of Artis Noel, who resigned. Stermer has worked in the prosecutor's office since 1976, first as an assistant prosecutor and then as chief assistant prosecutor.

He is a 1973 graduate of Michigan State University and a 1976 graduate of Thomas M. Cooley Law School, Lansing.

Stermer and his wife, Susan, a Millington Junior High School teacher, have two sons, Brad, 5, and Kevin, 3. The family lives in the Fostoria area.

Stermer is a member of the National District Attorneys Association, Prosecuting Attorney Association of Michigan, Caro Rotary Club and Michigan State University Alumni Association, and is chairman of the Tuscola County Citizens' Advisory Board.

Quarter-century for Owendale Lions

The Owendale Lions Club celebrated its 25th anniversary Saturday evening with a banquet and dance Saturday evening at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown.

About 75 persons attended — members and spouses, former members and spouses, and guests, according to club President Tom Laurie, who served as toastmaster.

Among the guests were District Governor Leroy Yorks and his wife from Metamora. Guest speaker was past District Governor Robert H. Wright of Algonac.

Lions Clubs represented at the banquet were Cass City, Bad Axe, Lapeer, Pigeon, Sebawaing, Port Huron, Anchor Bay, Algonac, North Branch, Crosswell, Elkton and Snover.

Guests were introduced during the program by Ed Good Jr. The call to order was given by Merlin Kain. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Omar Hafner. Rev. Myra Sparks of Owendale performed a musical selection. Rev. Allen Lewis of Snover, the district chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. Among awards presented were ones to William Kretzschmer and Lloyd Kretzschmer, charter members who haven't missed a meeting in 25 years.

In addition to the Kretzschmers, other charter members who still belong are Ed Good Sr., Ed Good Jr., Merlin Kain, Stanley Kain and Joe Lorencz. Stanley Kain was the only one of the seven unable to attend, due to illness.

The Lions Club, which has 27 members, was chartered in April, 1959, with the Bad Axe club as sponsor. It has always held its meetings in George's Bar in Owendale. The club has its dinner meetings on the first and third Monday of each month.

Its primary fund raiser, Laurie said, is sale of refreshments from its trailer, which it takes to various events.

Its big annual event, strictly for fun, is the corn roast, which this year will be Aug. 15.

A major project over the years has been sending Owendale-Gagetown High School band students to Lions Club International conventions as members of the Lions all-state band, which requires them to be selected based on auditions.

This year, five Owendale musicians are going to the convention, which will be in San Francisco. The Owendale Lions are contributing a total of $700, the Sebawaing Lions are contributing $150 and the students and their parents are paying the rest of their expenses.

The club also donated to help send Brenda Schwartz to the Office Education Association national convention recently in Indianapolis, where she finished fourth in general clerical competition.

The Lions Club built the pavilion in the Owendale park and contributed lights for the restroom building at the football field.

The club also contributes to the Leader Dog School, Welcome Home for the Blind and eye research.

"Anyone who comes along and needs help, we help," Laurie said.

Walbro introduces new pump

Walbro Corporation's Automotive Products Group has introduced its new Series 5000 gerotor electric fuel pump, designed to meet the special requirements of certain gasoline fuel injection systems.

This new pump is believed to be the first of its type scheduled for automotive original equipment applications.

The pump is an electric motor-driven positive displacement design that utilizes a gerotor-type pumping element. Although gerotor technology is well established in hydraulic applications, its use in the Walbro pump represents a design breakthrough for fuel handling pumps. This concept, combined with other unique design features, results in a pump that provides exceptional performance and unusually low noise levels.

The pump is only 5 inches long, with a diameter of 1.4 inches, and weighs 11 ounces.

The pump is available in two versions and additional models are under development for higher pressure applications.

The Series 5000 pump can be mounted in the fuel line or totally submerged in the fuel tank. It can pump leaded and unleaded gasoline, gasohol and other alternate fuels.

Mich. wheat crop may be a record

Based on conditions as of May 1, winter wheat production in Michigan is expected to total slightly over 44 million bushels.

If production prospects are realized, this will be the largest wheat crop on record, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service, this year's wheat crop is fractionally larger than the previous record production in 1953.

The large crop is attributed to a projected 23 percent increase in harvested acreage. Acreage for harvest is estimated at 900,000 acres, the largest since 1975. Yields are currently expected to average 49 bushels per acre, equal to last year and one bushel below the record established during 1981.

Condition of most wheat fields is rated good. Plant growth has been limited by below normal temperatures this spring.

Nationally, winter wheat production is forecast at 1.98 billion bushels, one percent less than last year.

HEALTH TIPS

Moderate exercise ok while pregnant

By Luella Klein, M.D.
President American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Last year, a young woman led the University of Indiana basketball team to a championship as she finished the season six months pregnant.

Although I don't recommend championship basketball as a regular activity for expectant mothers, her story does make an important point about exercise during pregnancy. You can exercise during pregnancy at the same level as before you became pregnant for as long as you feel comfortable.

Exercise is an important part of good health, and that holds true even during pregnancy. Staying active for your nine months will probably help some of the minor discomforts of pregnancy like bloating and constipation, may make your labor a little easier, and can make it easier for your body to regain its pre-pregnancy shape.

Most likely you are the best judge of how much exercise you should do during pregnancy. A good rule of thumb is continue to exercise as you did before pregnancy with some modification in the later months.

If you didn't exercise before pregnancy, I don't suggest stating a rigorous new athletic program. It's probably a good idea to talk to your doctor about it during your first regular check-up.

If you don't have a regular exercise program, there now are different programs especially designed for pregnant women. Generally, walking, swimming, and mild aerobics are good for any woman even up to the ninth month.

In most cases, you won't have to cut back at all during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy as long as you pay attention to how your body reacts. Pregnancy is not the time to exercise "till it hurts."

In the middle three months when you gain nearly half of your pregnancy weight, you may have to reduce the level of your activity somewhat to accommodate your weight gain and modify some sports because of the change in balance. Comfortable, loose clothing, good footwear, and a good bra are important too.

In the last three months, you, your body, and your doctor are the best judges of how much you should exercise. You should avoid any activity involving high

Study Club meets in Gagetown

New books at the library

MEN ARE JUST DESSERTS by Sonya Friedman (non-fiction). This book, a pep talk for women, is not anti-men, just emphatically pro-women. Friedman admonishes all women to strive for independence and to be autonomous for their own survival. Men, she says, are not required for personal fulfillment, and they should not be given top priority in any woman's life. Men are to be considered dessert - fine and delicious but not life's main course. She describes the social dicta, myths and prejudices that commonly stand in the way of a woman asserting self-control over her own life, and she discusses how to overcome these attitudinal impediments.

THE GREAT TV SITCOM BOOK by Rick Mitz (non-fiction). This is a catalog of television situation comedy with coverage of each season since 1949 including a full description of the front runners and brief summaries of the "also rans." Also listed are the Emmy Award winners, the ratings battles, and the 36 longest-running shows. A great source for answering questions on when such shows as "Topper" or "Mr. Peepers" ran or who played "Our Miss Brooks."

THE TAMING OF ANNABELLE by Marion Chesney (fiction). Fox-hunting Vicar Armitage, father of six daughters, finally gets his high-spirited second daughter suitably married. Annabelle is a beauty of 16, irrepressible and naively romantic. When Annabelle develops an envy of her older sister and pursues an unrequited tendre for Minerva's fiance, she sets off a domino effect in the matrimonial sweepstakes. Annabelle's emotional education progresses through humorous escapades, which with Chesney's detailed observations of period dress and mores, make a toothsome treat from a skilled practitioner of the genre.

Holbrook Helpers named Sanilac 4-H club of month

The Holbrook Helpers 4-H Club is the Sanilac County 4-H club of the month.

It was organized in 1943 by Marion Spencer and was the first 4-H club in the northwest corner of the county.

It has since undergone many additions and subtractions and a few name changes. The organization with the present name was started in 1959.

Holbrook was the name of an early settlement located between the north and south branches of the Cass River, just south of the Petroglyphs Park in Greenleaf Township.

At its peak, the club had 50 members. Being too large a group for home meetings, it split into three separate clubs a few years ago and now has 20 members with eight active leaders.

Past accomplishments include several spring roadside cleanups. The club hosted two Labo exchange students from Japan and sent one member to Japan for a cultural exchange.

Some members have been selected for the citizenship short course and spent a week in Washington, D.C. Several personal appearance members were selected as state fair winners. The club's main project areas are personal appearance, gardening, crops, photography, nutrition, and natural resources. A favorite is natural resources, with members learning to identify wild flowers, birds, and trees. Members are all involved in at least one of the natural resource areas. They are planning a club project in conjunction with the Petroglyphs Park.

The highlight of the year is an overnight campout at the beach with cookouts, swimming and baseball, with all members and leaders present as a reward to everyone for a job well done. Anyone age 8-18 interested in joining the Holbrook Helpers can do so by contacting Judy Doerr, administrative leader, at 658-8625. New leaders are also needed.

Virginia Crawford retires

'Short' teaching career ending after 20 years

Virginia Crawford planned a short career as a teacher when she first started, but it didn't work out that way.

This year is her last one at Deford Elementary School. She is retiring after teaching there 18 years and a total of 20 years in education.

Mrs. Crawford, 63, graduated from Belleville High School, then went to Eastern Michigan University (then Michigan State Normal School) in nearby Ypsilanti, from which she graduated in 1942.

She then taught one year in Chelsea, west of Ann Arbor, before quitting to marry Norman Crawford and raise a family. She met her husband-to-be when she was attending college and he was working for a harpsichord maker in Ypsilanti.

They were married in 1943 and moved from Ypsilanti to his parents' farm on Crawford Road, Deford, in 1947 or '48. Crawford farmed for a few years, then worked at the Caro Regional Center from 1953 until retiring last year.

The Crawfords have six children and 12 grandchildren. Their children are Anita Mayros, Arizona; David Crawford, Indiana; Sharla Crow, Missouri; Sharon Maurer, Bad Axe; Lora Kulinski, who now lives on the family farm with her family, and Manette Crawford, the only other teacher in the family, Warren.

A skilled woodworker, Crawford built the home he and his wife now live in on Dutcher Road, Caro. They lived in a mobile home on the site for a year (after moving from the farm) before moving into the house last September.

MRS. CRAWFORD HAD been content to raise her children, but, "When my youngest was in kindergarten, financially, we needed a little more income," so she started substitute teaching.

She subbed during the 1963-64 year. For the last six weeks, she subbed for the kindergarten teacher at Deford, who was on leave.

When the teacher decided not to return that fall, Mrs. Crawford applied for her job and was hired.

She taught kindergarten two years at Deford, second grade one year at Campbell Elementary, then returned to Deford to teach second grade, since it was closer to home and she could see her children off to school in the morning.

The only one of her own children she taught, and that was for the six weeks she substituted in kindergarten, was Manette.

Mrs. Crawford taught second grade until the last two years, when she has taught second and third.

She doesn't like having to teach the two grades "because I don't feel I can give enough individual attention (to students)."

With different books for spelling, math, etc., "I can't teach the same things to both groups at the same time."

ASKED WHETHER children have changed during the past 19 years, Mrs. Crawford responded, "I don't think so. I don't see don't think so. I don't see them too different than when I started here."

If there is any change, it's that "they may be more outspoken. They may be more honest in what they say."

There is another change. "There's more to teaching and more is expected of them than when I first started out."

That is almost all behind her now. "Norm has retired and I just don't feel I have enough enthusiasm and energy to last another year," Mrs. Crawford said in explaining why she decided to retire.

Not having to work will give her time to quilt, sew, cook and clean. "When you're teaching, you just don't have time."

"When I'm teaching, teaching is always on my mind," she continued. "I can't go home and relax. I've always been that way."

ON THE RETIREMENT agenda, in addition to quilting, cleaning, etc., are traveling, including a trip to Arizona next winter, and possibly some volunteer work.

Crawford built a travel trailer a couple years ago, but he and his wife haven't had much time to use it yet.

One thing Mrs. Crawford isn't planning to do is substitute teaching. "Maybe I'll change my mind, but I don't think so."

"I enjoyed the children and I have a lot of good memories," she said in looking back on her almost completed career. "I've worked with a lot of nice people."

She won't miss one thing: "I'll just be glad when I don't have to do lesson plans and report cards and that sort of thing."

During the school year, Mrs. Crawford gets up each weekday morning at 5 and is at work by 7. Once she retires, she plans on sleeping later -- maybe until 6:30, she said -- and is looking forward to enjoying an extra cup of coffee with her husband each morning.

"I was happy to go back to teaching," she said, "but I'll be just as happy to retire."

VIRGINIA CRAWFORD is still behind her desk, but not for long. She is retiring after 18 years at Deford Elementary School and a total of 20 years of teaching, plus one of substitute teaching.

Root and Haldane injured in crash

The drivers of both vehicles were injured in a 4:35 p.m. accident last Wednesday, west of Ellington.

Donald F. Root, 45, of 4229 Doerr Road, Cass City, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital. Robert W. Haldane, 38, of 8701 McAlpine Road, Sebawaing, was taken to Caro Community Hospital. He was released the next day.

Sheriff's deputies said Root was driving a farm chemical sprayer southbound on Colwood Road, south of Akron Road, started to turn left into a driveway and collided with the car driven by Haldane, who was attempting to pass him.

A witness who was driving behind Root said Haldane was attempting to pass his (the witness') vehicle and Root's all at once.

Cass City police reported that at 2:10 p.m. Saturday, Jane Ann Lowe, 23, of Bad Axe, eastbound on Main Street, east of Nestle Street, had stopped to turn left into a driveway and another eastbound car ran into the right rear corner of her auto.

Driver of the other car was Robert A. Cook, 16, of 4442 Doerr Road.

Village police reported a collision took place at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, in the Erla's Food Center lot.

They said Jo Ann Smerdon, 41, of 7764 Jacob Road was westbound in the lot and ran into the right side of the vehicle driven by Leonard M. Spencer, 53, of 7296 Kelly Road, who was entering the lot.

Deputies reported Ronald R. Kilbourn, 19, of 5879 Reed Street, Deford, was southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Kelly Road, at 3:15 p.m. May 8 when his vehicle ran into a deer.

At 9:40 p.m. Monday, according to Caro state police, Henry J. Jaster, 40, of Caro, was northbound on Froede Road, north of Kelly Road, when his vehicle struck a deer.

The chemical that gives the skunk its dreaded smell is called ethanethiol; this substance is so pungent that one ten-trillionth of an ounce can be detected by the human nose.

Open house to fete 3 teachers

An open house will be held from 3-5 p.m. Sunday at Deford Elementary School for the three teachers who are retiring from there.

Kindergarten-first grade teacher Harriet Warner leaves at the end of the school year with 38 years of teaching experience, 24 of them at Deford; second-third grade teacher Virginia Crawford, 20 years, 18 of them at Deford, and third-fourth grade teacher Emma Ackerman, 15 years, 14 of them at Deford.

Stockholders hear good news at Walbro meeting

Management of Walbro Corp. at the company's 1984 shareholders' meeting April 30 in Cass City reported record results and called for continued growth for the company in its major markets.

According to Walbro Chairman Walter E. Walpole, "The future opportunities for the company are greater now than ever before in its history."

Walbro President and Chief Executive Lambert E. Althaver reported to shareholders that in the first quarter of 1984, the company set new sales and earnings records.

Sales were $17,818,972 and net earnings were $743,123, compared with sales of $12,841,612 and earnings of $422,669 for the first quarter of 1983.

Althaver noted that the strong first quarter follows a record year for Walbro. In 1983, Walbro sales reached an all-time high of $57,441,000, compared with $42,694,000 for 1982. Earnings were a record $1,879,000 compared with a loss of $479,000 in 1982.

Walpole told shareholders the past year "was a pivotal one for the company, as new programs, personnel and equipment were put into place to support the company's strategic business plan."

He noted that "Walbro moved strongly into the automotive original equipment market in 1983," with a significant increase in the company's automotive customer base.

Walbro executives pointed out that the company's lines of electric fuel pumps and throttle bodies for fuel injection applications were the major elements in Walbro's increased automotive original equipment business.

In addition, sales of Walbro's custom manufactured products, including aluminum and magnesium diecastings and precision injection-molded plastics parts, also benefited from increased automotive original equipment business. The outlook for each of these product lines remains strong, according to management.

Walbro Executive Vice-president Robert H. Walpole told shareholders that the company is committed to "growth with profitability." He noted that Walbro is establishing a strong presence in the automotive industry, but is also committed to maintaining its leadership in fuel systems technology for the small engine industry.

Carburetor Group Vice-president Joseph R. McCluskey reported that small engine carburetor sales were running at higher levels than last year, with demand for diaphragm carburetors for string trimmers and float feed carburetors for outboard engines being particularly strong. In addition, new float feed carburetor programs are scheduled to start in 1984.

Sales of the company's electric fuel pumps for the automotive replacement and automotive original equipment markets reached record levels in 1983, according to Automotive Products Group Vice-president Clark A. Searle.

He noted that Walbro's recently-introduced Series 5000 gerotor electric fuel pump will debut on several 1985 domestic models, with production beginning in mid-1984.

Walbro shareholders elected three directors to three-year terms on the board, expiring in 1987. Elected were: Althaver; William T. Bacon Jr., associate, Bacon, Whipple and Co., and Warren E. Jones, chairman, JECO Industries. All three were previously on the board.

Following the meeting, shareholders were given a tour of the Carburetor Group's recently expanded engineering and administrative facilities in Cass City.

Scollon honored for painting

A painting by Suzy Scollon received honorable mention in the Scholastic Art Awards program national competition.

The Cass City High School senior is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ed Scollon of 4849 N. Seeger Street.

To be judged in the national competition, held in New York City, her pastel first won the Hallmark honor prize in the regional student art show in January at Hampton Square Mall, Essexville. It also won a blue ribbon, gold key and certificate.

Of the 8,000 regional winners judged in the national competition, 724 received honorable mention.

The parachute was designed in 1783 by Louis Lenormand, who designed it to save people who had to jump from burning buildings.

TOO LATE -- The ball came too late for Owen-Gage's Joe Lopez to tag out this Deckerville player who stole third base. Behind Lopez is Reid Goslin. Deckerville won both games last Wednesday.

2 wins push Owen-Gage softballers over .500 mark

Owen-Gage swept two games from Akron-Fairgrove Monday to elevate its North Central Thumb D League softball mark to 7-5. The Bulldogs won the first game, 8-6, behind the pitching of Sheila Engelhardt, who gave up five hits, struck out four and didn't walk anyone. Kathy Johnston hit two singles for the Bulldogs, Shelly Ellicott had a single and a double and LaNette

Michelson hit a double. Leah Willett took the loss for the host Vikings, surrendering seven hits and six walks, while striking out five. Engelhardt was also the winning pitcher in the 16-2 nightcap. She gave up five hits, struck out one and again didn't walk anyone. Losing pitcher Mary Schriber was relieved by Willett. They combined for eight hits, six strikeouts and 16 walks. Johnston batted two singles for Owen-Gage. Cindy Enderle and Engelhardt each hit a double.

CARSONVILLE-P.S.

Visiting Carsonville-Port Sanilac went home with two wins Saturday, 16-1 in the first game and 16-8 in the second.

Kim June was the winning pitcher in the opener on six hits, four walks and five strikeouts.

Losing pitcher Sheila Engelhardt gave up eight hits and eight walks and didn't strike out anyone. Marsha Lopez hit two singles in her two times at bat for Owen-Gage.

June also won in the second game on eight hits, nine walks and four strikeouts.

Shelly Ellicott, relieved by Engelhardt, took the loss. They jointly gave up eight hits and 14 walks while striking out two.

Ellicott led her team in batting with two singles and a double in her three times at bat. Kathy Johnston and Trina Peters each hit two singles.

Owen-Gage split with Akron-Fairgrove in baseball Monday, losing the opener, 9-1, but recovering for an 11-10 victory in the nightcap.

Jeff Ruppel's one-hitter in the first game gave him the win. He walked three and struck out seven.

Losing pitcher Scott Wright gave up eight hits and three walks and struck out two. Wright had his team's lone hit, a single.

Scott Ballard hit a double and a single for the Vikings and Dave Duke had two singles.

In the second game slugfest, Reid Goslin gained the win for the Bulldogs despite 12 hits. He gave up two walks.

Ballard started for A-F and was relieved by Duke. They allowed five hits and 11 walks and struck out eight.

Helping the Bulldogs were 10 Viking errors.

Kellin Kretschmer led Owen-Gage in batting with two singles.

The split gives coach Phil Gray's Bulldogs a 4-8 win-loss mark in the North Central Thumb D League and 4-9 overall.

The Owen-Gage baseball and softball teams end their league schedule Monday, May 21, at North Huron.

CARSONVILLE-P.S.

Owen-Gage split with visiting Carsonville-Port Sanilac in baseball Saturday, taking the opener 7-6, but getting clobbered in the second, 11-1.

Reid Goslin was the winning pitcher in the opener, in relief of Alan LeValley. They struck out a total of eight, walked four and gave up six hits.

Gary VanHorne, in relief of Eric Regnier, took the loss. They combined to strike out nine, walk three and surrender five hits.

Owen-Gage led 5-3 at the end of the fifth inning, but the Tigers scored three runs at the top of the sixth. Earl Harris' single with two men on in the bottom of the inning gave the Bulldogs the win. Joe Lopez was top Bulldog batter with two singles.

Sherwood hosts jazz festival

Gagetown's Sherwood on the Hill Golf and Country Club will host "Sherwood Jam-II" Sunday at 1:00 p.m. as dozens of musicians from throughout the mid-west will convene to showcase musical styles from Dixieland to modern jazz.

Chris Kauffold, Sherwood Jazz Season Coordinator, noted that the Jam is patterned after similar events that are growing in popularity across the country. "Last year we had over 400 people come out to listen, and they really enjoyed it. This year, we'll be spotlighting some truly outstanding musicians, and we're looking for an even bigger turnout," Kauffold said.

rors; C-PS, three.

The Bulldogs' butterfingers got worse in the second game as they made eight errors while their opponents didn't make any.

That and an inability to get enough hits in a row resulted in the loss. Owen-Gage got 10 hits off of winning pitcher Dave Maxwell, who struck out six and didn't walk any, but only managed one run.

Scott Wright took the loss. He was relieved by Lopez, who was relieved by Goslin. They gave up nine hits, walked three and only managed one strikeout.

Lopez, Harris and Stu Stirrett each hit two singles.

Regnier's double and a single and Clem Doyle's two singles were tops for the Tigers.

The split puts Owen-Gage at 3-7 in the North Central Thumb D League, 3-8 overall.

Hawks bow in pair of twin bills

It was a sad week for Hawk baseball fans as Coach Don Schelke's charges bowed in both games of two double headers against Thumb B Association foes.

A hint of things to come arrived quickly. In the opening game for the week, Cass City dropped a 9-0 decision to the Caro Tigers.

The Tigers pounded out 13 hits off Joe Langenburg, who started, and Gary Crickon who came on in relief after three innings. Cass City was held to two hits, singles by Jim Crawley and Steve Kolacz. R. Locks was the winning pitcher.

The nightcap was probably the best game of the week. A strong 5-hit pitching performance by Randy Nicholas was ruined by Muller who tossed a four-hitter for Caro as he came away with a 1-0 decision.

The Tigers bunched three of their five hits in the third inning to score the only run of the game. Jim Adkins collected two hits in two tries for Cass City.

Cass City, which has been struggling at the plate all spring, failed to score a single run in the double header.

BAD AXE GAMES

The Hawks did score some runs in the double header Thursday at Bad Axe, but the Hatchets scored more in a double victory.

The opener wasn't really much of a game after the fourth inning. The Hatchets broke open the game which was tied at 1-1 in the third with a pair of runs and then added two more in the fourth on their way to a 6-1 decision.

Cass City scored its run in the first inning after two were out. Langenburg walked and rode home on a double by Steve Fox.

Nicholas was touched for seven hits and took the loss. The nightcap was close all the way as the Hatchets racked up a 4-3 decision.

The Hawks jumped off to a three-run lead in the second inning on four hits, including doubles by Steve Franks and Nicholas.

The explosion was all there was for Cass City which managed to get just two more runners on base the rest of the way. Meanwhile Bad Axe scored a run in the second, two more in the third and then added the winning tally on a single and two stolen bases.

Crickon took the loss and was touched for six hits.

Owen-Gage will play the winner of the Port Hope - Carsonville-Port Sanilac pre-district game Friday, June 1, at 10 a.m. in the district tournament at Deckerville.

DECKERVILLE

It was an ill and very strong wind that blew last Wednesday for Owen-Gage as it dropped two baseball games to visiting Deckerville.

The Eagles easily won the opener, with winning pitcher Doug Hall throwing a 12-0 no-hitter. He walked two and struck out eight.

Matt Lukshaitis hit a double and a single for the victors.

Losing pitcher Scott Wright was relieved by Ron Susalla. They jointly surrendered 10 hits and five walks and struck out five. The Bulldogs made four errors; Deckerville, two.

The Eagles won the nightcap, 13-7. Duane Paehlig took the win, striking out seven and giving up two walks and seven hits.

Alan LeValley was the losing pitcher. He was relieved by Reid Goslin. They combined for 14 hits, seven walks and three strikeouts. LeValley hit a home run with one man on base and Goslin and Wright each hit two singles.

Paehlig aided his cause with two singles. Hall and Sean Pardy each hit a double.

Owen-Gage made four errors, Deckerville, three.

The losses drop coach Phil Gray's Bulldogs to 2-6 in the North Central Thumb D League, 2-7 overall. Deckerville is 4-2 in the league.

Calka, Bliss athletes of meet

Cass City dominates Thumb B track

Cass City thinclads ran away with the top honors in the Thumb B Association league meet Tuesday at Caro as both the boys and girls finished on top and the two athletes of the meet were from Cass City.

The victory for the boys gives the Hawks the undisputed league crown as they were undefeated in league dual meets this season. It is likely that the girls will tie for the league crown with Vassar which finished second in both divisions. Vassar was undefeated in dual meets while Cass City bowed once in the regular season. Greg Bliss, the Hawks' premier distance runner, was athlete of the meet as he set three new league records while winning the two mile in 9:51; the half mile in 1:59.6, and the mile in 4:24. His times in the mile and half mile also broke his own school records.

Lori Calka was the female athlete of the meet with a win in the long jump with a leap of 17 feet, two inches, and a first in the 100-yard dash.

Calka also finished second in the 220 and ran a leg in the second place Cass City 800-yard relay team.

Besides having the boy athlete of the meet, Cass City also placed Mike Middaugh second and Joe Viney fourth. Rich Haffner of Vassar was third. Complete results will be published next week.

Junior high track teams also dominate this spring

If the varsity track teams could achieve the success of the Cass City Junior High track teams the Hawks would have a true dynasty.

Year after year the junior high is at or near the top.

Wednesday, May 9, the Hawks continued the tradition by winning both the girls' and boys' competition.

There were eight teams entered. For the boys the results and points were: Cass City, 111 5/6; Laker, 107 1/2; USA, 84; Akron-Fair-grove, 68 1/3; Mayville, 63 1/3; Immanuel Lutheran, 33; Vassar, 14; Caro, 10.

For the girls the results were: Cass City, 102; Akron-Fairgrove, 82; Lakers, 76; Caro, 45; USA, 45; Vassar, 34; Mayville, 34; Ubyly, 31; Immanuel Lutheran, 14.

DUAL MEETS

The teams also dominated other meets played earlier this spring. In three-team meets Cass City boys scored 71 points to top Lakers, 55 points, and Mayville, 21. The girls won with 85 points as Lakers scored 40 and Mayville, 11.

Coach Larry Robinson's charges were also well in front in another meet, again scoring 71 points to easily top USA, 49 points, and Mayville, 27. The girls scored 70 points, with Mayville second with 41 points and USA third with 25 points.

Loss ends Hawk softball season

Cass City's softball season came to an end Monday at Marlette when the host Red Raiders topped the Hawks, 2-0, in pre-district action.

It was a battle between two good pitchers. Marlette's Long bested Cass City's Jill Hutchinson. Long allowed Cass City just three hits, two by Colleen Irner, and was in charge all the way. Hutchinson was nearly as effective, allowing five hits and striking out nine in her seven-inning stint.

Coach Jim Fox said the reason for the Hawks' troubles this spring was lack of consistency. In many games this year, when the hitting was good, the pitching faltered and when the pitching was excellent the Hawks' bats were mute.

While Cass City failed in Thumb B Association and tournament play, they were excellent in a Saturday tournament at Flint Bentley.

Cass City won both games with a power display that has been absent most of the season.

The girls rolled over Otisville-Lakeville, 11-6, and Flint Bentley, 19-1.

Cass City pounded out 16 hits. Jill Hutchinson pitched three scoreless innings and Yvette Hurd mopped up the last two in the game called after five innings.

Leading the attack was Laurie Cook with the best game of her career with four hits in four tries.

Lakeville proved to be tougher competition and reached Hutchinson for six hits and as many runs.

It was Cook's day at the plate as she collected three safeties making it seven hits in nine tries for the day.

Also contributing to the attack with two hits each were Lisa Benitez, Hutchinson and Becky Severance.

The group was in the Saginaw area from Sunday through Saturday of last week; the Frankenmuth area since Saturday, and will arrive in Cass City this Thursday.

During their stay here, they will tour a dairy farm, egg farm and bean processing plant in the upper Thumb, and Walbro plant in Cass City. Saturday and Sunday, they will be in the Detroit area, visit Greenfield Village, Renaissance Center and see a Tiger game.

The highlight Monday will be a banquet starting at 6:30 p.m. at the Colony House for the visitors and upper Thumb Rotarians. The visitors will give a program about Scotland. The public is invited and can order tickets by calling Roger Little at 872-2195 or David Milligan, 872-2937.

The group will depart Tuesday for the Alma-St. Louis area and be there until May 29; in the Midland area from May 29-June 2; Alpena area, June 2-8; Grand Rapids, June 8-10; Mount Pleasant area, June 10-15; spend 1 1/2 days in Toronto, then go home.

John Graham of Colwood Road, Caro, will be chauffeuring the visitors from city to city in his motor home.

A group of six from the upper Thumb, including David Decker of Cass City, will make an exchange visit to Scotland in spring, 1985.

Former area man killed in crash

A former Deford area resident, Wesley James Connolly, 21, of Plainwell, was killed Thursday in a traffic accident north of Grand Rapids.

The Kent County Sheriff's Department reported he was southbound on M-37, near Sparta, when his car crossed the centerline and collided head-on with a semi-truck.

WESLEY CONNOLLY

A tire from the truck or trailer it was pulling came off and struck a second southbound vehicle, but its occupants were unhurt. The driver of the truck was also uninjured.

Connolly was pronounced dead at the scene.

The semi-truck burst into flames from the impact. Two fire departments were called to the scene and while fighting the blaze, a fireman collapsed and died of a heart attack, the sheriff's department said.

As of Friday, the 6:30 p.m. accident remained under investigation. It was not immediately determined why Connolly's car crossed the centerline.

Connolly, who moved to Plainwell during the past year, was born Nov. 30, 1961, in Cass City, the son of James and Violet (Pratt) Connolly.

Ease regulations for dairymen

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in mid-April signed an order suspending the base excess plan in Federal Order 40 (southern Michigan) from August, 1984, through January, 1986.

In addition, Michigan dairymen are now paying an additional 5 cents per hundredweight (cwt.) for dairy product promotion and research.

The suspension was granted to remove pressure that all milk producers might feel to build a production base in the August-December, 1984, period and to accommodate producers participating in the voluntary milk diversion program.

The order means that area producers will be paid on the blend price beginning with August, 1984, milk through January, 1986, milk.

The suspension may be temporary and if no further action is taken, it will end Aug. 1, 1985. Dairy producers may extend the suspension or do away with base excess plan altogether. A hearing and producer vote would be required to do this.

Dairymen should voice their opinions through their local milk cooperatives and farm organizations. Sanilac County Extension Agricultural Agent Roberta Weber suggested.

A 15 cents per cwt. to fund dairy research and promotion went into effect May 1 for all dairy farmers nationwide.

For Michigan dairymen, it will mean an additional 5 cents per cwt. taken out of their milk checks, since they were already paying and will continue to pay 10 cents per cwt. to fund promotion activities of the American Dairy Association of Michigan, Dairy Council of Michigan and United Dairy Industry Association.

The nationwide assessment is part of the Dairy Opportunity Law, which included the voluntary milk diversion program. It is expected to generate an additional $130 million for dairy product advertising and promotion, nutrition research and education and new product research and development.

The added dollars are expected to increase milk sales 2-8 billion pounds a year, according to the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

The program will be governed by a 36 member board of directors composed of dairy farmers representing 13 geographic regions, with the number of directors from each region based on the amount of milk produced within the region.

Two Cass City men found innocent

A Tuscola County Circuit Court jury last Thursday found a Cass City man innocent of a charge of malicious destruction of property over $100, the day after the same charge was dismissed against another Cass City man.

The trial of Rodney L. Wakefield, 20, of 6204 Lakeside Drive, and Kevin L. Montreuil, 18, of 4091 Crane Road, began last Wednesday. Both men were charged with breaking the front and rear windows of the car of Larry Turnbull July 7, 1983, in Novesta Township.

At the end of the first day of the trial, Wakefield's attorney, John C. Burns of Cass City, moved for a directed verdict of innocent for his client on the grounds insufficient evidence was presented to show his client was guilty. Judge Patrick R. Joslyn agreed and granted the motion.

The trial ended the next day with the jury finding Montreuil innocent.

HAAG GUILTY

In a plea bargain with the prosecution, Kent M. Haag, 32, of 344 Wells Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to two of seven charges against him.

He pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Church of Christ in Caro April 16 and larceny in a building, of stealing the tabernacle the same night from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Caro.

Joslyn accepted his pleas and scheduled sentencing June 25. A motion for reduction of Haag's $50,000 surety bond was denied.

The charges to be dismissed as part of the plea bargain are breaking and entering an occupied dwelling (a house on N. Hooper Street), breaking and entering the Sacred Heart Church, breaking and entering Wright Pharmacy, and breaking and entering a motor vehicle (a pickup camper). All took place April 16 in Caro.

Haag's accomplice, Dennis J. Brady, pleaded guilty May 7 to arson of real property, to setting fire to the Church of Christ; breaking and entering an occupied dwelling (the home on Hooper Street), and aiding and/or abetting Haag in breaking and entering the Sacred Heart Church.

OTHER CASES

In other Circuit Court cases Monday:

Charles G. Crump, 22, of 4908 Murphy Park Drive, Otter Lake, pleaded guilty to criminal sexual conduct (second degree) with a girl under age 13 April 21 in Watertown Township.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled July 2.

In a plea bargain with the prosecution, the charge against him was reduced from criminal sexual conduct (first degree) and another charge with separate counts of CSC (first degree) and CSC (second degree) will be dismissed.

James A. Randall, 20, of 909 W. Burnside Street, Caro, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for probation violation. He was credited with 45 days served.

Randall was placed on four years' probation in December, 1980, for larceny in a building. He pleaded guilty April 30 to violating probation because of his guilty pleas in district court April 3 to assault and battery and illegal entry.

Edward R. Jobson, 36, of 3817 W. Center Street, Millington, stood mute to a charge of delivery of cocaine June 1, 1983, in Millington.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled June 4. Bond was continued.

Dean Emery, 28, no available address, pleaded no contest to attempted forgery of a state warrant for $100 June 25, 1982, in Caro. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

In October, 1982, Emery was found guilty of uttering and publishing in connection with the incident and was sentenced to prison, but the Michigan Court of Appeals set aside the conviction and sentence and sent the case back to circuit court.

DISTRICT COURT

Charles W. Kappen, 27, of 3192 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, pleaded guilty April 25 to impaired driving (subsequent offense) Nov. 11 in Ellington Township.

He was sentenced Monday by Judge Richard F. Kern to five days in the county jail, to be served week ends, and one year of probation. His license was suspended for nine months. He is to do no driving the first 60 days, then can drive to and from work and treatment.

He is to enroll in the Alcohol Highway Safety Education program and receive counseling or attend an alcohol self-help group. Kappen was fined $252, assessed $173 court costs and is to pay $50 restitution for screening.

Blaine Peyerker, 21, of 5040 McKinley, Elkhart, pleaded guilty Monday to driving with license suspended or revoked April 27 in Cass City.

His plea was accepted and he was sentenced to three days in the county jail, placed on probation for one year, fined $42 and assessed $33 court costs.

Crop management begins for 4-H'ers

A new crop management program designed to encourage 4-H and Future Farmers of America members in Huron County to keep accurate and complete crop records has been developed through the cooperation of county vocational agriculture teachers, Cooperative Extension Service, elevators and agribusinesses.

Through the program called Accurate Acre, members will also analyze their project by looking at what practices were followed and determine how those practices affected their yield and profit.

The project will consist of a minimum of one measured acre. The Accurate Acre program will be limited to soybeans, wheat, corn, barley and oats and all field beans. Participants are eligible to submit one entry for each of the five crop areas.

In addition to FFA chapters, which include Uby, 4-H entries will be entered in two groups, junior (pre-high school) and senior (high school age).

Each group will have at least three local winners in each crop area, who will receive a framed certificate.

The top individual in each crop area from each group will be interviewed by a sponsors committee to select the county winner in each of the five crop areas. A trophy will be presented to each county winner.

Winners will be selected on the basis of yield in relation to soil capabilities, completion of planned management and cultural practices, fertilization program based on need, completeness and accuracy of records, soil maps and related information.

Entries are due at the extension office, 104 County Building, Bad Axe, by June 10.

By participating in the program it is hoped that the 4-H and FFA members will be able to calculate production costs and develop a better understanding of the factors affecting profitable crop production.

Individuals or businesses wishing to assist in the sponsorship of the Accurate Acre program can contact the local vo-ag teacher or the extension office.

Radioactive waste plan

The Midwest Low Level Radioactive Waste Commission has been organized.

The commission, which includes Michigan, is a first step towards an interstate compact that will help develop a regional plan for safe and efficient management of low-level radioactive waste generated in the area.

The commission became formally constituted when Missouri became the fifth state to join.

Other members are Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota. There are 11 other states eligible to join the commission which have until July 1 to take advantage of automatic eligibility into the organization.

The commission cannot become an interstate compact until approval is granted by Congress. Michigan's authority to joining the commission stems from a 1982 law.

Ground broken for two silos

cated, depends on how much business the two silos being added this year attract and how well shipments can be made from the facility by truck, now that rail service is no longer available.

Howard said several persons attended the public hearings May 8 to ask questions, but no one had any objections to the industrial development district or the application for paving funds.

Following the hearing, the council approved a resolution establishing the district, which will give Pillsbury a 50 percent reduction for 12 years in what it would otherwise pay in property taxes on the value of its new facilities.

THE APPLICATION for federal Small Cities Program funds, administered by the Michigan Department of Commerce, is to help pay for repaving of Sebawaing Road as it runs through Owendale, a distance of one mile, and for the half-mile of Owendale Road from Sebawaing Road to the south village limits.

The village, Howard explained, has already been awarded a federal grant that will pay 78 percent of the cost of the repaving, with the village to pay the remainder.

The ceiling cost for Sebawaing Road has been set at $125,000, which means the maximum federal share is $97,500 and the village share is $27,500. The ceiling cost of repaving Owendale Road has been set at $69,000, of which the federal government will pay $43,820 maximum and the village, $15,180. In addition to the total of $42,680 for construction, the village has to pay an additional $10,000 for engineering.

The project, Howard said, will include widening two feet on each side, resurfacing and a separate bicycle path part of the way.

The village has applied for $30,000 in Small Cities funds -- a different federal program than the one paying most of the cost of the street project -- to pay most of the local share. The May 8 hearing was a requirement in order to get the funds.

HOWARD EXPECTS TO know by the end of June whether Owendale has been awarded the $30,000. If its application is rejected, he said the village will have to borrow the money it needs through the state's transportation bonding program.

Owendale has $20,000 saved, given to it over the years by Brookfield Township, of which the village is a part, for the street program. If it does get the Small Cities grant, the difference between that and the $20,000, about $2,700, will have to come out of the general fund.

Although some preliminary work might be done yet this year, the repaving won't be done until 1985, after all sanitary lines are installed. Construction of the sanitary sewer system began Monday, May 7. (See photo, page 1).

Howard noted that application for the major federal grant for the resurfacing began in the fall of 1982, before it was known that Pillsbury would be building the new silos.

The repaved streets will benefit the firm and the village, since there will be more heavy trucks in town.

They will also tie into the resurfaced Sebawaing Road. The four miles of it east of Owendale were repaved within the past couple of years. Sebawaing Road between Sebawaing and Owendale is scheduled for repaving this year or next, Howard said.

Brenda Schwartz places fourth in national test

Brenda Schwartz, an Owendale-Gagetown High School senior, finished fourth in the nation in the category in which she competed at the Office Education Association (OEA) national convention April 27-May 1 in Indianapolis.

She competed in General Clerical I, in which the competitors had to type a letter, prepare an expense sheet and a payroll sheet and file names in alphabetical order. They had one hour to complete the tasks. They were judged on accuracy, with ties being broken by time taken to complete the tasks.

Gagetown, will be attending Central Michigan University and plans to study business.

Accompanying her on her trip to Indianapolis was her older sister, Michelle. They drove.

Paying for Brenda's hotel room and meals and Michelle's room, plus the cost of gasoline, were the Owendale Lions Club, Owen-Gage Band Boosters, Owendale Women's Club and Gagetown Women's Study Club. The school board paid Brenda's registration fee.

HDC has annual meeting

A State of Michigan Senate Special Tribute has been presented to Mary Ann Vandemark, executive director of the Human Development Commission.

State Senator James Barcia, D-Bay City, presented the certificate Friday at HDC's annual meeting in Caro.

It honors Mrs. Vandemark for her "energetic belief in people" and states that such local involvement "constitutes one of the greatest strengths of our state and nation."

Local involvement was the focus of the day, with the theme "Investing in People." HDC presented awards to outstanding 1983 "investors." Among them were Barcia, Detroit Edison and Rose Fader of Caro as volunteer of the year.

Special recognition was given to new board members George Anderson, Caro; Dorothy McAlpine, Fairgrove, and Ida Calvert, Columbiaville, for their commitment to the local area.

Barcia honored HDC as a "vital link" in making local involvement effective. In 1983, the agency operated 28 programs and services, serving 62,264 individuals in Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac, Tuscola and St. Clair Counties.

The program advisory council chairpersons for 1983 and 1984, along with council members, were given special recognition.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwartz of Williamson Road,

BRENDA SCHWARTZ

Miss Schwartz, who received a plaque for fourth place, competed against 44 other high school students. She qualified for the competition by winning the state title in General Clerical I at the Business and Office Education Club (BOEC) state conference March 3 in Detroit.

The top three finishers in each of the 15 states sending students to the national convention competed in Indianapolis.

There were numerous competitions to test various office and business skills that took place at the national convention.

In addition to competing, Miss Schwartz also attended the general sessions, helped the Michigan BOEC treasurer get elected national OEA treasurer, attended dances, went on tours of the Indianapolis area and took part in other activities.

Junior-senior prom kicks off activities for seniors

Graduation activities for Cass City High School seniors began Saturday, May 5, with the junior-senior prom at the Colony House.

The baccalaureate service will take place this Sunday in the high school gym, starting at 2 p.m.

The high school band directed by George Bushong will play the processional, followed by the invocation, given by Pastor John Lange of the Novesta Baptist Church.

The high school choir, directed by Bushong, will sing, then Willard L. Dodson of the Cass City and Bad Axe Churches of Christ will give the scripture reading.

The band will play another number, then Rev. Allen Fruendt of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church will offer a prayer for the graduates.

Rev. Julius Spleet of St. Pancratius Catholic Church and St. Agatha Catholic, Gagetown, will give the address.

The benediction will be offered by Pastor Lange, followed by playing of the recessional.

By decision of the administration and school board, last year's "swing-out," a parade by seniors through downtown, which followed the baccalaureate, was the last one.

In its place, students decided, will be an annual tree planting ceremony following baccalaureate, conducted by the senior class and student council.

There is a landscaping plan for the high school, Principal Russell Richards said. The tree planted each year will fit into the plan.

An imperial locust will be planted in front of the high school this year. The senior class will pay for the tree.

Seniors will be taking their final examinations Monday and Tuesday of next week.

COMMENCEMENT WILL be at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 24, in the high school gym.

Following the processional played by the band, Rev. James R. McCallum of the Trinity United Methodist Church will give the invocation. Supt. Donald Crouse will give the welcome.

Student speakers will be Edward Hewitt and Suzy Scollon. The band will play, then counselors Jerry Cleland and Wayne Dillon will present honors and awards.

Richards will present the graduates, with Crouse awarding the diplomas. A total of 138 students are scheduled to graduate.

Rev. McCallum will give the benediction, then the band will play the recessional.

sional.

Officers of the class of 1984 are Suzy Scollon, president; Kevin Hobart, vice-president; Susan Sheldon, secretary, and Janis Burnette, treasurer. The val-edictorian is Gerald H. Kocan and the salutatorian is Kimberly Wagg.

Class sponsors are Cheryl Kilbourn and Joseph Guza, with Nancy Weippert, Bushong, Richard Carroll, Jacque Zawilinski and Lyle Clarke as assistant sponsors.

The class motto is, "If you can imagine it, you can achieve it. If you can dream it, you can become it."

school year ends with graduation for the seniors, it isn't over for the underclassmen.

They will be taking final examinations June 6 and 7.

Students who missed more than 10 days of school without a doctor's permission will have to take comprehensive exams June 8, administered from 9 a.m. to noon, in order to receive credit for their classes, provided they pass all their exams.

Students will be picking up report cards Friday, June 8, from 2:30-3:30 p.m.

The American College Test will be administered at the high school June 9.

Stiffen standards for O-G athletes

Supt. Ronald Erickson agreed — "I don't think there is a kid who can't do it (maintain a C average)," but expressed concern about denying the opportunity for children who do poorly in school to be with "good kids" at athletic practice. "Since he can't be down here (at practice), he's going to be someplace else."

Board member Donald Cummins argued the recommended policy was a double-standard. "I can't see where somebody who wants to play ball has to have higher marks than someone who doesn't (want to play sports)."

What helped persuade some board members who may have been undecided were the comments of two parents who served on the curriculum committee whose eighth grade son was academically ineligible for one marking period.

When that happened, the father said, "He buckled down...it (being ineligible) was probably the best thing that ever happened to him."

The mother said later that their son is now participating in track and maintaining his grades so that he will be eligible to play football this fall.

There was also debate whether an ineligible student should be allowed to practice with a team, but not play in games. The policy, approved by voice vote, will forbid that.

Board reviews teachers at O-G

The Owendale-Gagetown School Board Monday evening took some actions concerning teachers.

It accepted "with deepest regret" the resignation due to retirement of math teacher Claude Stevens. It granted second year probationary status to band and English teacher Alan Angelloff.

Supt. Ronald Erickson informed the board that Spanish and home economics teacher Brenda Parker's terminating contract means she won't be back in the fall unless a certified home economics teacher can't be hired. Miss Parker is not certified to teach home economics.

High School Principal F. Wayne Wright said he is advertising for three teachers for fall — home economics, math and counseling, one of whom can teach a foreign language. He would like one of them to be able to do some coaching.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

The state Board of Education in November approved transfer of five small parcels from the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port (Laker) School District to Owen-Gage, but the state attorney general's office later voided the transfers because one of the property owners was never notified of the hearing.

As a result, the state board's hearing officer held another hearing May 4 on the transfer of all five parcels.

Erickson told the board the only person to testify was Gerald Elenbaum, the property owner who wasn't notified, and the hearing will resume in 30 days.

The hearing officer has to make a recommendation to the state board whether to approve the transfers. No children live on the parcels.

The superintendent also reported Ingham County Circuit Judge James Kallman will hear a new appeal by Owen-Gage concerning the so-called Elenbaum parcel, which was transferred from Owen-Gage to Laker in 1975. Its area is more than 10 percent of that of Owen-Gage. The five small parcels that were the subject of the May 4 hearing were included in the larger Elenbaum transfer nine years ago.

of the school year and given authority to act.

OTHER ITEMS

The board authorized use of a bus to take the nine seniors and two chaperones going on the senior trip to Florida, June 3-10, to Detroit Metropolitan Airport and pick them up.

The board expressed willingness to rent a classroom at the high school next year to Diane Warack for a pre-school program. Sessions would be one day a week, two hours a day, for 10 weeks. She needs to determine how much interest there is in such a program. Interested parents can call her at 883-3489.

Student of the month is senior Joe Lopez, an honor student, good artist and active in sports.

The invention of the first mechanical clock has been attributed to I'Hsing and Liang Lin'tsan of China, circa 725 A.D.

Set schedule for July 4

floats and six musical groups.

New this year in the parade will be a free-lance group of clowns called Circus Clown Alley. "They're shooting for at least 100 clowns," Glaspie said.

The clowns will probably park their cars and motor homes in a lot prior to the parade, then the public can watch them put on their make-up.

Members of the Thumb Area Antique Auto Club will be driving their cars in the parade and have them on display afterwards in the park.

Persons interested in entering the parade or in helping Glaspie the day of the event can call his office at 872-4358.

St. Pancratius Catholic Church will conduct bingo games in the park from 1-5.

Motorcycle trials demonstrations will start at 1:30.

At 2 p.m. will be a pet show sponsored by Thumb of Michigan Dog Fanciers. A lumbermen's competition and demonstration also starts at that time.

The American Association of University Women's paint-in will be from 2-4. The Cass City Little League all-star game will start at 2. Children's games will also start at 2.

The Cass City Jaycettes will have a children's fish pond starting at 1:30.

THE FIRST EVER demolition, sponsored by the Cass City Jaycees, will start at 3 p.m. The group is hoping for 50-60 cars. Persons interested in entering can call Dan Ulfing evenings at 872-2702.

The demolition derby will take the place of the tractor pull held in past years, which has been a money loser. Admission will be charged for the derby.

The fun run for adults in past years has also been a money loser, and with marathons scheduled July 4th in Frankenmuth and at Delta College, the committee decided not to conduct a fun run this year. There will be a tot run, starting at 3:30.

The McMahan Auto Supply softball team will conduct a softball tournament the week end prior to the festival. The top four teams will return July 4th for the playoffs, starting at noon.

The championship game should start about 4:30. At that same time, the Croft-Clara softball team will play an exhibition on the adjacent diamond.

Numerous groups will be selling food during the festival. They can contact Dale McIntosh, 872-4264, to register.

THE TUG OF WAR will start at 5. The Tom Thumb Singers, the community choir, will perform starting at 5:30. Square dancing will take place from 6:30-9.

Ultralight airplane demonstrations will take place behind the high school, weather permitting, starting at 7 p.m., tentatively on Wednesday, though it might be held at that time Tuesday.

A teen dance will take place inside the village equipment storage building from 10 p.m.-1 a.m.

As another economy measure, in hopes of having the festival break even this year instead of losing money, as has been the case in past years, there will not be fireworks this year.

Persons who would like to help at the festival can call the community education office at 872-4151.

Loeding at 4-H program

Liz Fry, Marlette; David Loeding, Snover, a Cass City High School junior, and Sheila M. Kautz and Becky West, both of Croswell, were among 72 Michigan 4-H youth and volunteer leaders to participate in the 1984 4-H Capitol Experience, April 30-May 2 in Lansing.

"The purposes of the activity were to acquaint Michigan 4-H'ers with legislative and governmental processes and to encourage them to get involved in public affairs on local, county, regional, state and national levels," explained Patrick Livingston, Sanilac County extension 4-H youth agent.

The 4-H'ers attended sessions on state government, met with media representatives who cover the capital, visited the Capitol, including the governor's office and the Senate and House chambers, and talked with representatives of several state agencies.

They spent one afternoon working on a community service project of their choice, ranging from assisting a local food bank to lending a hand at a child abuse center in Lansing.

After returning to Sanilac County, participants will organize a community action program, using knowledge they gained through the Capitol Experience program.

The program was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service 4-H, Natural Resources and Public Policy programs.

build a deck, patio or hideaway . . . .

Add to the enjoyment and value of your home. A deck or patio can serve as an at-home resort for rest and relaxation, a hide-away for sun lovers, a play center for kids, an inviting area for enjoying family cookouts or entertaining guests. Once built, your project should add to the value of your property, particularly if it is made of quality, long-lasting treated lumber which is resistant to attack by termites and rot. Treated lumber retains its decay and insect resistance for decades—with virtually no maintenance. There is no need for periodic painting or surface coatings. Check with our knowledgeable personnel for the treated lumber for your special projects.
