CHARRED TIMBERS that collapsed into the foundation were all that was left of the Ray and Kim Smutek barn that burned early Saturday. The fire spread to the garage in the background. It isn't considered repairable.

Arson suspected in barn, garage fire

The Michigan Arson Committee is offering a reward of up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who set an Evergreen Township barn on fire early Saturday.

Elkland Township Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. estimated the loss at $55,000. The barn on M-53, about 4 1/2 miles south of M-81, was owned by Ray and Kim Smutek, whose house on the same site burned March 29. They and their three children haven't moved back yet.

The fire spread from the barn to a nearby garage, destroying its contents. Lost in the garage, Root said, were new doors, aluminum siding, shutters, drywall and other items being used in repair of the house. Also lost were a freezer, beds and mattresses.

Lost inside the barn were six snowmobiles, which had various owners, a goat and a few bales of straw. The barn collapsed into its foundation, but the garage remained standing. It isn't considered repairable.

Det. Sgt. James Fahey of the Michigan State Police Fire Marshal's Division was at the scene Monday, after which the sign announcing the reward was posted.

Root said an undetermined accelerant contributed to the start of the blaze and that the evidence was "very strong" that the cause of the fire was arson. The fire started in the bottom level of the barn. Investigation is continuing.

No one was at the home when the fire started. It was called in to the fire department by a neighbor, Irvin Kitchin, Root said.

The Elkland department was assisted by firemen from Gagetown, Ubyly and Kingston. The three assisting units each brought a tanker.

The fire was reported at 1:48 a.m. Saturday. Firemen were at the scene about three hours.

The Smuteks' March 29 house fire started in a ceiling light fixture junction box in the basement.

It was the second fire in the home, the first being in January, 1982. Cause of that one, which also started in the basement, was blamed on a short in the wiring. In addition, the Smuteks lost their mobile home in Huntsville Mobile Park to fire in 1977. Its replacement was heavily damaged by fire in 1979, but was repaired.

Root said Ray Smutek asked to have the fire marshal's office investigate the latest blaze.

Owen-Gage High School praised by Univ. of Mich. accreditation official Owendale - Gagetown High School has received high marks from the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services.

School board members Monday evening were presented with copies of the accreditation evaluation made March 15 for the bureau by Theophile Wybrecht.

In his report, Wybrecht listed 20 commendations as the result of his visit, five observations and two violations. Both violations are being corrected. Principal Wayne Wright told board members they were that only one year of a foreign language (Spanish) was being offered and that the home economics teacher was not certified.

Later in the meeting, the board hired a certified home economics teacher and a French teacher for next year. Only one French class will be taught next year, but after that, first and second year French will be offered.

Two of Wybrecht's recommendations concerned foreign language and the one teacher not being certified in her subject. He also recommended that more storage space be added in the science laboratory, outdated library materials should be discarded and vocal music should be offered from elementary through high school.

The first two problems are correctable, Wright said. As for lack of vocal music, he commented, "I share that concern," but added that there doesn't seem to be much interest in it by students.

Wybrecht's compliments included the existence of a curriculum study committee (its recommendations were approved by the board in May), availability of four years of science, stiff academic requirements for athletes, use of computers by students, additions to the curriculum of courses in Michigan history, sociology, ecology, psychology, crafts and data processing.

He also had praise for business education, use of library by students, "the good behavior of students" and "the ongoing support of the citizenry that provides a relatively broad program of studies for students, especially when school size is taken into account."

"I was very pleased with the report," Wright commented. "His comments indicate they feel we're doing a very competent job with our school."

PERSONNEL

The board hired three new teachers and laid off one.

It debated for 20 minutes before voting to appoint Dean Roller as varsity basketball coach to replace Claude Stevens, who retired. A letter was read to the board from Stevens recommending that Roller replace him.

Roller, who has taught at Owen-Gage 13 years, was junior varsity basketball coach the past three years. He applied for the varsity job.

The reason for the discussion was the board's hiring of Richard Sager as high school math and data processing teacher. He has taught 14 years and has experience coaching basketball, cross country and track. He was varsity basketball coach at Lake City five years.

Two board members, Jack Brinkman and Pat Goslin, wanted to check into Sager's credentials as a coach before making a decision. "I think we should talk to this man," Goslin suggested, to which Brinkman added, "I think so too."

The reason for the rush is that Roller, if hired, was planning to start a summer basketball program this year.

The board ultimately decidated to go along with Supt. Ronald Erickson's recommendation that Roller be hired, the feeling being that after having been at Owen-Gage so long, he deserved an opportunity to be in the top spot.

Sager was laid off in Lake City after a millage defeat and taught this past year in Colorado. He will teach five math classes and one data processing class.

The other new teachers hired were Tammy Laurie, four sections of home economics, and Sandra Juengel, one section of math.

Mrs. Laurie, who lives near Gagetown, is an Owen-Gage graduate and recently received her teaching degree from Central lages defeated in Kingston

Matthews, Micklash on Cass City School Board

Fred Matthews and Ken Micklash were elected to the Cass City School Board Monday in the only school election in the area that didn't have a millage proposal on the ballot.

In Kingston, voters rejected all three millage proposals, while reelecting the two incumbents to the school board. Ubyly residents approved a millage renewal but rejected an increase. Owen-Gage voters easily passed a renewal.

KINGSTON

Voters rejected a tax increase of 21 mills, which was a 16-mill renewal and an increase of 5 mills over the next three years, 1984-86. It lost 310-172.

The second proposition, to increase taxes 1 mill over the same three years for building repair and maintenance, lost 263-222.

Proposition 3 would have allowed the school district to authorize the full 9 allocated mills for operations. The proposal would have waived the requirements of the Headlee amendment of the state constitution, which requires tax millages rolled back when valuations increase more than the consumer price index. It lost 289-188.

"We didn't have any organized opposition. It was all the proposals together," said Kingston Supt. Jerry Laycock. "The community is quite supportive of the school board, but they don't want to increase their taxes."

A new millage election is in the future, Laycock said, plus the board will meet this month to discuss what cuts will be made in school programs.

Kingston voters also reelected Albert Ruggles, with 317 votes, and John Borek Jr., with 304 votes, to the school board. Loser Jeff Newton received 198 votes. There were 488 votes cast, which is 40.6 percent of the 1,200 registered voters in Kingston.

CASS CITY

In Cass City, Fred Matthews, a Decker dairy farmer, and Kenneth Micklash, an administrator for the Huron Intermediate School District's Learning Center for handicapped children, won slots on the school board. Matthews received 303 votes and Micklash, 278, defeating Alice Guernsey, a Cass City homemaker, who received 263 votes.

The new board members will fill vacancies left by Dr. E. Paul Lockwood, DC, who is in his eighth year on the board, and Richard Albee, who is retiring. They did not seek reelection.

The percentage of voters who went to the polls was not available.

UBLY

Voters passed a proposal, 432-323, to renew 5 mills for five years for school operation. However, they voted down proposition 2, 431-325, which was a one-year 1-mill increase for building repair and maintenance.

"With some work (we will be) making people aware of the desperately needed repairs for the schools," school district business manager Mark Tenbusch said. "The board of education is meeting in special session Thursday, June 28, to see if they're coming back with another election in August," he said.

The reason the proposal did not pass was probably because of a low voter turnout, Tenbusch speculated. Out of 2,500 registered voters, 763 cast votes, 30.5 percent.

"We didn't expect it to go down like this," he said. "We were expecting a larger turnout. They (the school board) were very disappointed."

Ubyly voters elected two new board members. The winners were John Rutkowski, who received 531 votes, and Marshall Grifka, who got 432. James Zulauf, the loser, received 392 votes.

Incumbents Bernard Puvalowski and Evelyn Romzek did not seek reelection.

OWENDALE-GAGETOWN

Voters in this district passed an 8-mill renewal, 153-19. The millage is for two years.

Voters also reelected school board members Ronald Good and Donald Cummins, who ran unopposed. Good received 165 votes and Cummins, 144.

There were 178 votes cast, which is 14.8 percent of those registered.

Brother, sister charged with 1976 murder

A brother and sister were arrested Tuesday night for the first degree murder of Robin Denise Adams of Caro.

Melvin Garza, 27, of Vassar, and his sister Nora Garza, 24, of Caro, were arrested after a one-man grand jury conducted by Circuit Judge Eugene Penzien of Bay County issued warrants for the arrest.

Miss Adams was 17 when she disappeared Aug. 22, 1976, from a house on Congress Street in Caro where she worked as a live-in babysitter.

Although her body was never found, evidence "strongly linked" the Garzas to Miss Adams' disappearance, according to Det. Sgt. Dan Miller of the Caro state police post.

He could not give details of the evidence, which was ordered sealed by Penzien.

The Garzas were scheduled to be arraigned in District Court Wednesday morning, Miller said.

The case was investigated by Miller and before that by his predecessor, former Det. Milton Wolner of the Caro post.

MR. AND MRS. DALE LAMING

Miss Elaine Theresa Depcinski of Cass City and Dale Thomas Laming of Snover were united in marriage Saturday, June 2, at St. John's Catholic Church, Ubyly. Father Patrick O'Connor officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Allen and Alice Depcinski, Cass City, and the groom is the son of the late Max and Lavara Laming.

Music selections included "If," "Wedding Song," "Annie's Song," "Song of Joy," "You are Near," "All That I Am," "Prayer of St. Francis," and "Theme From Ice Castles." Guitarist and soloist was Karen Booms of Bad Axe.

The altar was decorated with vases of blue-tipped spider mums. A unity candle surrounded by a daisy and carnation arrangement centered the altar.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride wore a polyester organza gown designed with a high banded lace collar, and a fitted yoke bodice highlighted with a sheer insert. It had long, puffed sleeves with fitted cuffs. The full princess skirt fell from an empire waistline with a two-tier lace ruffle hemline which flowed to a chapel length train.

Her hat, made of white bridal illusion, was accented by silk carnations. She carried a traditional cascading bouquet of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and light blue tipped miniature carnations with fern cascading softly downward.

Anita Engel, Port Hope, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a long spaghetti-strap gown of powder blue triesta knit. It featured a gathered empire waistline which flowed softly into the skirt. A floral printed jacket accented the gown. It featured short, puffy sleeves. She wore baby's breath and a blue silk daisy in her hair. She carried a teardrop bouquet of blue-tipped miniature carnations, accented with white daisies, baby's breath, and blue streamers.

Bridesmaids were Karen Rutkowski, Bad Axe, sister of the bride, Theresa Abraham, Minden City, friend of the bride, and Judy Tyrrell, Plains, Kans., friend of the bride.

The bridesmaids' gowns, hairpieces, and bouquets were identical to the matron of honor's.

Melvin Laming, Decker, brother of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Randy Rutkowski of Bad Axe, brother-in-law of the bride, Louis Laming of Ubyly, brother of the groom, and Walter Laming of Cass City, brother of the groom.

The ushers were Aaron Engel of Port Hope, brother-in-law of the bride, and Ervin Depcinski of Cass City, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of tangerine knit designed with a high banded collar, highlighted with white lace, and a fitted yoke bodice. It had short sleeves accented with white lace. She wore a shoulder corsage of bluish pink cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Ubyly Fox Hunters Club for 350 guests attending from Kansas, Detroit area, Traverse City, Port Sanilac, Marlette, Vassar, Carsonville, and the Huron and Sanilac areas.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Ubyly High School. The groom is a 1974 graduate of Cass City High School. He is employed at Merrill Kreger Farms, Snover.

After a honeymoon to northern Michigan, the couple will reside in Snover.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

The reason that there were so many false fire alarms last week can be traced to new equipment installed for the Lapeer Fire Department.

They are on the same frequency as the Elkland Township Fire Department and an alarm in Lapeer set the sirens going in Cass City.

We had the same trouble when we installed new radio equipment, Chief Jerome Root Jr. said, and were triggering false alarms in neighboring departments.

We had to change our frequency then and we hope that Lapeer does the same now.

Elton Mark doesn't have any trouble telling you the number on his ballot for the election of members to the Cass City Board.

It's 92. How was it so easy to remember? That's how old he is.

The Norb Seelys are pulling a switch. When Norb retires later this summer the couple plan to pull stakes and head north, not south.

The Seelys own a farm near West Branch. He's just a frustrated farmer at heart, says Mrs. Seely.

Perseverance pays. Fred Matthews has been a candidate for the Cass City School Board two times before winning election to the board Monday.

He won't be going into school affairs blind. He attended each and every board meeting over the years even though he had been denied a seat on the board. His attendance record is better than a couple of the elected trustees.

We think that Matthews will do a good job on the board provided he realizes that he is not representing Evergreen Township but the Cass City School District.

It's not "us against them" but a better education for all that is the goal.

The state Senate Commerce Committee wants to make it harder for a single person or couple to adopt a supermarket orphan.

A supermarket orphan is a can of beans in a lettuce bin or a head of cabbage on a bread shelf. It is any item of food or other merchandise that has lost its home and been forced to live with strangers.

Customers who change their minds are the cause of supermarket orphans. A woman buys a half gallon of Coke in Aisle 2 at Kroger's, then later decides she can't afford it or would rather drink something else. But she doesn't wheel the Coke back where she got it. Instead, she leaves it on a shelf in Aisle 5, surrounded by soap.

No reliable statistics have been compiled, but it is believed millions of items are orphaned every day in supermarkets worldwide. Everybody who shops has seen these orphans, but how many people care about what will become of a lonely tomato partly hidden behind a display of panty hose?

My wife cares. She is the one who first told me the misplaced items are called orphans. I suspected she was lying. I thought she coined the term herself to appeal to my compassionate nature. When she brought home a brand of toothpaste neither of us liked, she knew I'd be less likely to protest if she'd adopted it charitably, rather than bought it wastefully.

But I discovered it is common for supermarket employees to say a banana on the aspirin shelf is an orphan. I also discovered that some supermarket employees, every once in a while, retrieve orphans and return them to their rightful home. I asked my wife if she realized the toothpaste she adopted from the meat counter would have eventually been returned to its kinkfolk if she had minded her own business.

She said the employees don't look for the orphans often enough or hard enough, which can cause a zucchini behind a book rack to think it is the only zucchini left in an uncaring world. "Besides," my wife added, "I never adopt anything I can't afford."

But she won't be able to tell if she can afford an orphan if a bill recently approved by the state Senate Commerce Committee ever becomes law. It will exempt retailers using computer scanning check-out devices from the law requiring that the price be marked in dollars and cents on each item.

Activated by the check-out clerk, the computer-scanner decipheres the price from tire tracks printed on each item. A human being can't do it, and that's why consumer groups oppose legislation eliminating the old-fashioned price tag. "This repeals the requirement that merchandise be labeled and eliminates an important consumer protection. You can be screwed," said Joe Tuchinsky of the Michigan Citizens Lobby.

Supporters of the bill, who claim it will decrease labor costs, deny the screwing charge. They say prices decipherable by human beings still will be posted on the shelves holding the tire-tracked merchandise.

But what about merchandise that becomes separated from its home shelf? What about the orphans?

It is difficult enough to determine if a shelf price sign refers to the peanut butter above it or the soup below it. It will be impossible for a shopper to know immediately the price of a shivering kohlrabi adopted from a frozen-food display.

My wife will be embarrassed if she is forced to renege on an adoption at the checkout because she can't afford the price deciphered by the computer scanner. To avoid such humiliation, she probably will stop initiating adoption proceedings altogether.

Many other potentially adoptive shoppers will undoubtedly react the same way. And God knows how many Little Orphan Zucchini will never again hear Sandy say ari.

It is something for the state Legislature to think about before it starts screwing around with price tags that human beings can decipher.

The first woman to win a U.S. Distinguished Service Medal was Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army. The award was made in 1919.

For the last couple of years the July 4 Festival has lost money. This year Curt Strickland, Dave Lovejoy and company are determined not to let it happen.

If it does it will be the final festival held.

Yet there is optimism that this year will be different. Why? Because there has been a change in direction.

Lovejoy says that he sees the festival as an event to attract area persons and their friends wherever they may live.

It would be nice to be able to attract persons from all over Michigan to show them what we have here in town, Lovejoy says, but we just can't do it.

That means we can concentrate our efforts right around home (Thumb) and cut our advertising expenses, Lovejoy feels.

If you accept Lovejoy's premise as the correct one, then it naturally follows that the Fourth falling on a Wednesday is another plus.

The home folks that might be going off on vacation should be around.

To bring costs into line with revenues some of the more expensive entertainment has been cut.

Tops on that list are the fireworks. The cost for just a few minutes of entertainment just can't be justified under the new pay-as-you-go planning.

There are plenty of other events slated and since the Festival is condensed into primarily a one-day show everyone can enjoy a day-long series of activities.

Anyone that has been connected with events like the Festival can tell you that it's a thankless job.

What it takes is hours, hours, hours with the better than even chance that someone will complain about the way you ran the show.

Knowing all of this, Lovejoy says that he is helping out again because he enjoys doing it.

Given a break in the weather the prediction here is that the Festival will end in the black this year.

If it does and you have a good time, take a moment to tell the fellows who make it possible about it.

That way maybe there will be a festival next year, too.

Forbush named realtor of the year by Dearborn board

Violet Forbush, a 1929 graduate of Cass City High School, has been named realtor of the year by the Dearborn Board of Realtors.

The Inkster resident earlier was named woman of the year by the Board of Realtors' Women's Council. She is now a realtor with McCray Realty after having operated Forbush Realty for 25 years with her husband, Keith.

A member of the board of directors of the Dearborn Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Forbush was chosen realtor of the year from among many candidates. The criteria for selection were education, business accomplishments, real estate board work, state and national realtor activities, and civic participation.

While still a student at Central Michigan University, she was active in helping rural schools through her work with the Apple Blossom Club.

During World War II, her volunteer work included helping to plan nutritious meals for residents in the face of rationing, and helping the 60 kids in her neighborhood.

Mrs. Forbush has had her real estate license since 1957 and during her years at Forbush Realty, she received 57 awards for listing and selling.

She is now serving her third five-year term as a member of the Dearborn Economic Development Commission.

Mrs. Forbush received a bachelor of science degree from CMU and was a teacher in Sanilac County and New Baltimore, and served as a substitute teacher in Dearborn Public Schools, before becoming involved in real estate.

She completed University of Michigan courses in real estate and attended training programs sponsored by the Homes for Living network locally and nationally and attended all local and state educational programs for Dearborn Women's Council while in office.

She has been a member and president of the Zonta Club and is also a past president of the InterService Club and a charter member of the Dearborn Women's Council, where she held many offices.

She also has been active in 4-H, the Presbyterian Church, American Association of University Women, YWCA, Rotary Anns, American Cancer Society and the League of Women Voters. In 1979, she was named to the board of trustees of Henry Ford Hospital Fairlane.

Mrs. Forbush met her husband while both were at CMU. He went on from there to obtain a master's degree at the U-M.

Still a real estate board member, he remains active through his work with the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and serves as a volunteer consultant. Nationally known for his work with small animals, he breeds rabbits.

He also is a member of Partners of America and is active in helping underdeveloped countries, with Michigan having been assigned to help Belize in Central America.

They have two children, Richard, of Fenton, a breeder of thoroughbred horses, and David, a veterinarian who resides in Howell, with an 80 acre spread in Frederic, where he lives during the winter.

SMOKE POURS out of the front door of the Stuart Merchant home. Quick work by firemen saved the home from complete destruction.

Estimate $30,000 home fire loss

A fire Friday morning caused an estimated $30,000 damage to the Stuart Merchant home on Cemetery Road, 2 1/4 miles north of Cass City.

The blaze started in the kitchen and was apparently caused by an overheated extension cord used in a toaster. There was no one home when the fire started and it was reported to the Elkland Township Fire Department by John Krug and Connie Profit.

A pet dog was lost in the fire. The house suffered damage to the kitchen cupboards and to a wall and window on the west side of the structure.

Smoke and water damage was extensive, but there was very little structural damage. Fire Chief Jerome Roof Jr. said.

The Gagetown Fire Department assisted in quelling the fire.

Pedaling Around No more reality

By Mike Eliasohn

While I decide whether my short vacation last week is worth writing about, I am repeating a column that first appeared in September, 1980. "Real People" and "That's Incredible" are the only shows mentioned below that lasted and 1983-84 was the last season for both.

It finally happened. Television has run out of human beings to talk about.

It started a couple of years ago with NBC's "Real People," the show that makes real people look like real weirdos.

In television, imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, so next we were blessed with "That's Incredible," ABC's incredible rip-off.

Then the creators of "Real People" started imitating themselves and came up with "Speak up America," which features Marjoe Gortner, who should have stuck with evangelism; Jayne Kennedy, who fortunately didn't stick with football, and Rhonda ("Hi, yall!") Bates, who seems fascinated with human depravity.

Admittedly, I haven't seen the show. The promos are sickening enough. All I have to hear is Ms. Bates saying, "On the show, we go out and talk to some real Hollywood gigolos," and I know I don't want to watch.

She is probably a secret agent for Ronald Reagan, trying to make all Southerners look like buffoons.

"What's it like to walk around in sheets? Tonight, we go and talk to some real Ku Klux Klansmen and find out."

CBS couldn't be left out in the cold, so developed "That's My Line," which dwells on persons with unusual occupations. The weirdest occupation of all belongs to the man who developed the show, or perhaps the television executive who agreed to put it on the air.

NBC, trying to fight its way out of the ratings basement, now has a third "genuine people" show on the air, "Games People Play."

One of the "games" on the opening show was about one or two men trying to escape from a car loaded with dynamite.

That's a game a lot of people play. "Hey, Harvey. What do ya' want to do tonight?"

"I don't know. How about loading a car with dynamite, setting it on fire while we drive down the road and see if we can escape before it blows us into little pieces."

The producers of the show should have known better than to put such a stunt on the air.

"That's Incredible" is being sued by the idiot who was seriously burned while trying to run through a 150-foot tunnel of flames for the cameras. The would-be daredevil proposed the stunt and is now suing the producer for disregarding his safety.

If Mr. Not Flame Repellent's attorney wins the suit, that would be incredible.

That brings us to "Those Amazing Animals," the show for people to watch who are tired of looking at other people looking foolish.

In this show, the animals gain revenge for all the nasty things human beings have done to them.

The sneak preview episode featured a shark biting naturalist Valerie Taylor in the leg.

At least the shark had good taste.

UP, UP AND AWAY -- About 75 children assembled at the Rawson Memorial Library Monday afternoon to release helium balloons. Each child released two balloons with address tags attached, to be sent back to the child by whoever retrieves the balloon. Purpose of the event was to kick off the library's summer programs for children.

Haag given 1-year jail term for church break-in Kenneth M. Haag was sentenced Tuesday, June 5, by Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn to a year in the county jail for his role in the April 16 break-in spree in Caro during which the Church of Christ was set on fire.

Haag, 32, of 344 Wells Street, Caro, pleaded guilty May 14 to breaking and entering the Church of Christ and larceny in a building for theft of the tabernacle from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

He was credited with 52 days served. Work release privileges were granted. He was placed on five years' probation and fined $200 and assessed $300 court costs on each of two counts.

Restitution is to be determined. He is to attend an alcohol self-help program or receive other counseling.

His accomplice, Dennis J. Brady, pleaded guilty to arson of real property in the burning of the church, for which he was sentenced to 6 years and 8 months to 10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, plus 10-15 years for breaking and entering a house and 32-48 months for aiding and/or abetting Haag in the theft of the tabernacle. All sentences are served concurrently.

In cases last Thursday before Joslyn: Brian K. Bables, 17, of 145 N. Andy Street, Vassar, was placed on three years' probation for attempted entry of a building with intent to commit larceny March 31 near Vassar. He pleaded guilty to the charge May 7.

Bables was credited with 15 days served. He was fined $100, assessed $150 court costs and is to pay restitution.

Jerry Martinez, 18, of 372 Wells Street, Caro, was placed on two years' probation, for unlawful use of a motor vehicle March 16 in Caro.

He was also sentenced to 120 days in the county jail, with serving of half the sentence deferred to the end of probation. Martinez was fined $200, assessed $300 court costs and is to pay restitution. Work release from jail will be granted if he gets a job. He pleaded guilty to the charge May 7.

Carrie Sue Brinkman (Strieter), 23, of 3030 Leix Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to violating probation. Her plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Sept. 17.

She was placed on three years' probation in November, 1981, for larceny in a building.

Frederick G. Alderman, 26, of Curry Road, Caro, was sentenced to 2-4 years in Jackson prison for delivery of marijuana Aug. 4, 1983, in Wells Township. He was credited with 33 days served.

He pleaded guilty to the charge April 30.

Charging inmates for room and board may be no bargain for county

A new state law allowing counties to charge some jail inmates for their room and board may not be as good as it sounds.

Sheriff Paul Berry discussed the new bill with the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

The law says, "Before seeking any reimbursement under this act, the county shall develop a form to be used for determining the financial status of prisoners. The form shall provide for obtaining the age and marital status of a prisoner, the number and age of children of a prisoner...value of real estate, type and value of personal property, cash and bank accounts, type and value of investments, pensions and annuities..."

Having to compile such information, Berry suggested, might require adding an employee to do it, so it might not pay for the county to start requiring prisoners who can afford it to pay for their keep.

Elkland okays road repaving

The Elkland Township Board decided Monday evening to contract with the Tuscola County Road Commission to have three miles of paved roads resurfaced this year.

They are Milligan Road between Cemetery and Schwegler Roads at a cost of $24,055, and the two miles of Koepfgen Road between Milligan and Muntz Roads, $47,380.

The board decided not to have the mile of Koepfgen from Muntz to Bay City-Forestville Road resurfaced. That might be done next year, according to Clerk Norma Wallace.

The only other road work that might be done this year, she said, is some graveling.

Appointed to the Rawson Memorial Library Board was Bill Lovejoy. He replaces Evelyn MacRae, who didn't want to be reappointed. His term starts July 1.

The board gave its approval to a Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (Public Act 116) agreement between the state and Lester and Margaret Battel for 66 acres in Section 28 just west of Cass City.

The tallest bird of all time was the moa, a bird of New Zealand that became extinct 400 years ago.

One of summer's worst pests is lurking in this room.
Hot, humid air.

When summer temperatures soar, a perennial pest moves into your home for the season. Hot summer air. Fortunately, there's the heat pump—the air conditioning system that gets rid of hot summer air and helps you save money. Because the heat pump is a dual-purpose system, it's better than central air conditioning. The heat pump moves heat out of your house in summer, so you stay cool, and into your house during cold weather, so you save on fuel. And you'll save on energy costs the year 'round. Call Detroit Edison for a list of qualified heat pump dealers. It's a smart way to take the heat off your home—and your budget.

Hospital red figures less than expected

Hills and Dales General Hospital finished the 1983-84 fiscal year $38,896 in the red, but that was not as bad as was anticipated, Administrator Ken Jensen reported at the hospital's annual meeting Tuesday.

Officials estimated the hospital was $150,000 in the red, but after credits from revenues, insurance payments and reimbursements, the loss was reduced.

"The year 1983-84 was a rewarding, different and very frustrating year," Jensen commented. "Our purpose is to provide quality health care to patients and out-patient care. We felt that was accomplished."

Increased operating costs have caused the debt, but the administrators are working with the staff in a cost containment program to make the hospital more efficient, he said.

Another way to cut costs will be more treatments on an out-patient basis and quicker treatment. This would reduce the costs to both Hills and Dales and its patients, Jensen said.

He estimated that next year 40 percent of all surgery performed will be on an out-patient basis.

The hospital has received good ratings from patients, the state Department of Public Health and the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Jensen said.

Improvement programs underway include more education of the staff and affiliation with the Michigan Hospital Association satellite system to gather more medical information.

The hospital has nearly 52 percent occupancy in 1984, the lowest in three years. The executive board will study ways to utilize empty beds, such as extended health care, alcohol and drug treatment and senior citizens care, Jensen said.

Hospital board president Gerald Prieskorn reported that in order to survive, hospitals must keep abreast of the times and control costs.

"In seminars I've been to I've heard three bywords—change, change and change. If hospitals are to survive, they must change," Prieskorn said.

Hospitals must handle the caseload as the American population ages, he said.

Hospitals also must assess their programs and the operating costs to determine what departments are most cost-efficient, Prieskorn added.

Hospital Auxiliary President Virginia Hartwick reported 101 members donated 9,824 hours to the hospital in 1983-84.

Volunteers run the gift shop and the messenger service, and raise money for the hospital, Mrs. Hartwick said. "It is exciting to have so many volunteers."

Don Tonti, Clinton House and Dr. Robert Green, DDS, were reelected to the hospital board for the coming year.

Officers were named in a reorganizational meeting following the annual meeting. Don Tonti was elected president, Prieskorn is vice-president, Bob Green is treasurer and Carolyn Martin, secretary.

No fire

The fire siren sounded at 10:15 a.m. this Wednesday for what turned out to be an alarm malfunction at Croft-Clara Lumber.

Still probe fire in vacant house

Investigation is continuing to determine the cause of a fire that destroyed a vacant home at Colwood last Thursday.

The fire was reported to the Gagetown-Elmwood Township Fire Department at 11:35 p.m.

The home at the corner of Colwood and Dickerson Roads was owned by Bill Matt of Colwood. Fire Chief Chuck Wright said the home wasn't considered habitable before the fire.

Firemen were at the scene about an hour. It was one of three fires Gagetown firemen responded to within 27 hours.

They assisted the Elkland Township Fire Department at a house fire Friday morning and a barn and garage fire early Saturday. (See stories elsewhere.)

List candidates in area townships

Residents of seven area townships will have choices to make in the Aug. 7 primary elections.

June 5 was the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the primary. The general election will be Nov. 6.

Republicans Clara Gaffney and David Milligan are vying for Elkland Township supervisor. Current Supervisor Jack Gallagher is not seeking reelection.

Candidates running unopposed are Norma Wallace, clerk; Arthur Randall, treasurer, and for trustees, Roy Tuckey and incumbent Allen J. Merchant. Trustee Fay McComb decided not to seek reelection.

ELLINGTON -- Republicans George Cooklin and D.J. Svacha are challenging Republican incumbent trustees Robert A. Wood and Frederick Janks. Supervisor Jack Kappen, Clerk Clayton Turner and Treasurer Dora Ann Rushlo are running unopposed.

ELMWOOD -- Candidates running unopposed are Supervisor James Turner, who replaced the retired Roy Messer; Clerk Joanne M. Sattelberg, Treasurer Kenneth Hofmeister and Trustees Joan A. Sattelberg and Kenneth Blue.

O-G labor hearing continues

A Michigan Employment Relations Commission hearing regarding an unfair labor practice charge filed against the Owendale-Gagetown School Board continued in Detroit Tuesday with two witnesses giving testimony.

They were Bob Gengler, chief negotiator for the Tri-County Bargaining Association, which filed the charge, and high school Principal F. Wayne Wright.

After Wright's testimony, the board's attorney, James F. Schouman, said he had two or three more witnesses to testify and the hearing was tentatively scheduled to resume July 9 and 10. Wright was the first witness for the board; Gengler was the last to testify for the TCBA.

The first two days of the hearing were May 1 and 8. The TCBA, which represents Owen-Gage teachers in contract bargaining, charges the board with failure to bargain in good faith.

Teachers worked the recently concluded school year without a contract. A bargaining session is scheduled this Thursday evening.

Bill Kritzman and Newell Harris, both of Cass City, won the "A" Division of the Cass City Lions Club Golf Tournament Saturday, winning on the third hole of a sudden death playoff at Rolling Hills Golf Course in Cass City.

The tournament had 42 teams participating in an 18-hole handicapped best ball format.

Ken Gremel and Tim Dutcher, both of Sebawing, were second. Third place, also determined by a sudden death playoff, was won by Harold Titus of Brown City and Dick Blank of Snover when they eliminated two other teams on the first playoff hole.

"B" Division winners were Duane Farnsworth, of Otter Lake, and Harold Pocklington, of Rochester. Gary Marston and Gilbert Bevenavides, both of Sandusky, took second place with John Maharg, of Cass City and Tim Straight, of Unionville, third.

Proceeds from the event will be used for Cass City Lions Club sight and civic projects.

Tigers notch 4th victory in Minors

The Tigers picked up their fourth win by defeating the Pirates 8-0 Tuesday, June 5.

Marc Wallace, Greg LeValley, and Todd Diebel each had a hit for the Tigers. Five Tiger pitchers worked to hold down the Pirates' attack.

Collecting hits for the Pirates were Wendell Guinther and Tavis Osen-toski.

Croft-Clara wins Midland tourney

The Croft-Clara Kings extended their winning streak to 14 games last week end in Midland as they were 6-0 in the 10-team round robin tournament.

The Kings finished first in their division by defeating Office Supply of Midland, 4-2; Goshen, Ind., 5-2; Novak's of Midland, 1-0, and Johnnie's Lounge of Coleman, 8-4.

Craig Helwig got the win against Office Supply allowing two hits and striking out 13. Doug Elbers and Mike Martin each had two hits.

Ken Martin gave up his first earned run in 65 innings in the first inning against Goshen, Ind., but Doug Elbers evened the score with a homer in the bottom of the first for the Kings. Ken Martin gave up three hits and struck out 14. Martin also homered.

Martin collected his second win of the tourney against Novak's in an eight-inning duel which Mike Martin ended with a homer off the scoreboard in center field.

Craig Helwig returned to the mound against Johnnie's Saturday night, giving up six hits and striking out 10. Jeff Williamson led the way at the plate with three hits, a homer and two singles.

League rival Nite Cap Tavern advanced to the playoffs in the other division and gave Croft-Clara their best game of the tournament. Ken Martin held Nite Cap to five hits and got some great defensive support for the shutout.

In the fourth inning with one out, Nite Cap loaded the bases with a hit, a sacrifice bunt, another hit and an intentional walk. A grounder was hit to Mike Murphy at second, who came home with the throw for the second out, and Jeff Hartel fired the ball to third to pick off the runner, who rounded the bag just a little too far to end the threat. Dave Elbers had an RBI single in the fifth and seventh innings for Croft-Clara's runs.

In the championship game, Croft-Clara defeated Office Supply for the second time in the tourney, this time, 1-0, in eight innings. The Kings scored when Mike Martin was hit by a pitch, went to third on a grounder by Ken Martin which the shortstop bobbled trying to force Mike Martin at second and went home on a wild pitch. Craig Helwig scattered four hits and struck out 10.

Ken Martin was awarded the most valuable pitcher trophy for his 3-0 record, allowing only one earned run in 22 innings and striking out a total of 29.

The 14-game winning streak along with the first place standing in the league will be put on the line Thursday night in Flint as the Kings play the two teams which challenge their first place position. They will face Nite Cap at 7 and AUL at 8:30. AUL has handed Croft-Clara their only league defeat.

The Kings will travel to Corunna this week end for tournament play.

Of the 38 students who graduated from the Cass City Community Education program Tuesday, two graduates were the only ones who had no high school credits when they started.

Pat Brooks, 50, and Lena Maleck, 61, are sisters-in-law who before they returned to school in 1980, both had only an eighth-grade education.

"I had been out of school for almost 40 years," Mrs. Maleck, 6381 4th Street, said. "I was out of school when I was 13. It was during the Depression, and I came from a large family and I just couldn't go on."

A neighbor sent Mrs. Maleck an adult education form for enrichment courses, and she filled it out because she felt it would "open the door" to getting her diploma.

She convinced Mrs. Brooks, 6398 S. 7th Street, to sign up with her. They took required classes in math, English, government, history and communications.

Mrs. Brooks took elective classes in accounting, computer math and typing so she could help her husband Oscar run his landscaping business.

Mrs. Maleck concentrated on general education courses.

Both have children who attended college. Mrs. Brooks' son David just finished his second year of law school. She also has two children living at home, one in the Marines and one looking for a job.

Mrs. Maleck's son Thomas, 41, has a Ph.D. in civil engineering and teaches at Michigan State University. Another son, George, 40, has a masters degree from MSU, and Joan, 32, also graduated from MSU.

BOTH WOMEN SAID they had to do a lot of studying.

"It's hard to get into that groove of studying, you know, and trying to remember things, after a number of years (of not studying)," Mrs. Brooks said.

"That was one of the things I was concerned about was trying to remember things. And I found out I could remember just as well as the younger people," Mrs. Maleck said. Mrs. Brooks said she built up her self-confidence and realized anyone can go back and get a diploma "no matter how old they are."

Mrs. Maleck said she realized her potential and did better than she thought she would.

"I'm considering taking a (college) course and getting my feet wet. A lot of people say the children walk in the parents' footsteps. For me, it was the opposite. I walked in my children's footsteps," she said.

The most interesting class they took was biology, where they dissected animals and learned about anatomy. They especially liked the teacher, Manuel Thies, who teaches at Owendale-Gagetown High School.

"He knows his subject, he keeps it interesting, and the time just flies by," Mrs. Maleck said. "We had some excellent teachers."

She said her education helps her to understand things better. Mrs. Brooks said her education not only will help run the family business, but if she must be on her own in the future, she can get a job to support herself.

THEY WENT TO school with students ages 17-73. They said they enjoyed meeting the students of all ages. Mrs. Maleck said the most interesting thing about being with the teachers was the age difference.

"(I'm) somebody old enough to be their grandmother. Or definitely their mother," she said.

Mrs. Brooks said she would recommend more education to everyone. As time goes on, everyone needs more education for skilled jobs, and this is one reason she went back to school, to acquire business skills.

"They need more education today. When we were kids, if you had two years of college you could teach school. You wouldn't even think of that today. In this day and age you need more education, no matter what it is," she said.

"I hope that more people go to school that don't have the education, because it's been a great experience."

One thing Mrs. Maleck said stops some older students is the fear younger students will laugh at them.

"But this doesn't happen. We all feel the same way (about school)," she said.

Antiseptic

When Sir Joseph Lister developed antiseptic surgery in England in the middle of the 19th century, medicine changed dramatically. Death rates fell from 50 percent of all surgical cases to between two and three percent.

Children and vision problems

An estimated half million children aged three through five in the United States have eye disorders that's one in every 20 youngsters. What's especially disturbing to many parents is that because children have no way of knowing how they should see, they may not complain about a vision problem.

How often should a parent take his child for an eye examination? According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the first exam should be shortly after birth and again by age four, then on a periodic basis throughout his growing years.

One of the eye problems of greatest concern among parents is amblyopia, or "lazy eye," which may lead to permanent vision loss if not discovered and treated before age six. It frequently gives no signals through appearance or obvious symptoms.

There are some clues, you can look for, however, that may be signs that your child is having difficulty seeing. These include excessive rubbing of the eyes, shutting one eye, difficulty with close work, frequent blinking, squinting or frowning, undue sensitivity to light, inflamed or watery eyes and recurring styes. The National Society to Prevent Blindness offers a Home Eye Test for Preschoolers. It's a simple, do-it-yourself way to check a child's sight at home, presented as a game to play. Simple instructions are included. For a free copy of the test, write your state Society to Prevent Blindness or the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10016.

TERRY AND SHARON Brown worked to finish high school because it increases job opportunities.

ROSEANNE SHOLES, right, talked her mother into going back to school to get a high school diploma and as a result she and her mother, Barbara Lou Price, received them Tuesday night.

Graduation was a family affair

Graduation Tuesday was a family affair for four of the 38 students who received high school diplomas in the sixth annual adult education commencement.

They are Terry Brown and his wife, Sharon, and Roseanne Sholes and her mother, Barbara Lou Price.

Three of the students were motivated by a desire to improve chances in the job market. As Terry Brown said, the first thing they want to know is, "Did you graduate from high school?"

Terry quit school in Marlette when he was in the 11th grade. Sharon left when she was in the 10th grade in Mayville.

The Browns have been married five years. He has had a variety of jobs during that time and currently is on lay-off from the sugar plant in Caro. They have a daughter, Kristina, 4. The Browns make their home in Deford.

Wanting to improve her job chances motivated Roseanne Sholes to spend 1½ years in adult education to earn her diploma. Roseanne, her husband, Jack, and two sons live in Wilmot.

It was Roseanne who convinced Mrs. Price to earn the eight credits necessary to receive her diploma.

She lives in Wilmot and drove to the classes with her daughter.

Mrs. Price is the mother of eight and has three children in school. Self-improvement was her only reason for continuing her education.

Mrs. Price said that she and her daughter were excited about returning and enjoying studying notes and testing each other on class subjects.

Graduation time is a happy time for me and my daughter, she concluded.

Suggestions earn cash for 3 Hills and Dales employees

Three Hills and Dales General Hospital employees have received cash awards for suggestions to help cut operating costs of the hospital.

Admitting clerk Deanne Bruce and licensed practical nurses Mary Rockefeller and Cheryl Janssen won awards and certificates of merit from the hospital's Cost Containment Committee.

The program is affiliated with the American Hospital Association's suggestion program to curb rising health costs and has been in effect for seven years.

Mrs. Bruce suggested Hills and Dales employees mow the lawn instead of hiring a landscaping contractor. The suggestion will save the hospital $561 a year, said committee member Harry J. Pestruie. She received a $168 award.

Mrs. Rockefeller suggested the hospital use disposable washcloths, resulting in an annual savings of $100. She received $50 for her suggestion.

Ms. Janssen suggested doing away with dressing trays, small plastic containers that hold a rubber syringe and a gauze bandage. She said the hospital should use only individual items, because with the kits, any unused items were thrown away, Pestruie said. The savings will be $3,500 a year and her award is $491.

"ANYONE WHO HAS AN idea improving patient care, improving productivity, simply writes the suggestion down and the Cost Containment Committee does all the work," Pestruie said. "We do all the cost estimates, investigation and so forth, and we determine the amount of the award."

The committee is made up of nine members representing all of Hills and Dales' departments — supervisors, surgical, pharmacy, finances, purchasing, social work, medical instruments and nursing.

A feasibility study is made on each of the suggestions, which takes 3-6 months. The committee is considering a dozen suggestions now, Pestruie said.

The committee especially is studying ways to cut energy use, one of the hospital's biggest expenses, he said.

"We have actually redefined the consumption of utilities. Not necessarily the cost, because costs keep going up. But redefining the consumption in plant operation."

"Something people noticed is we're replacing the windows in the patients' rooms. It will pay back the cost in six years," according to Pestruie.

He added that Hills and Dales uses less energy now than before the ambulatory patient addition was built six years ago.

Approximately $50,000 a year is saved with the suggestions, and those savings will go up as more suggestions are put into operation.

ABOUT 90 PERCENT of the suggestions are valid. Even those employees whose suggestions do not work out get compensation — everyone gets a free meal in the cafeteria for submitting them.

Large savings can come from small things. Pharmacist Otto Bacon suggested the hospital switch from the antibiotic Keflin, which costs $4.95 a dose, to the similar Cephadil, which costs $1.39 a dose. Annual savings have been $9,000, Pestruie said.

The pharmacy saved another $8,000 by switching its drug and supply wholesalers, he added.

Another suggestion was to switch from sterilized water to tap water in the vaporizers in patients' rooms. A device inside the vaporizers removes impurities from the water, Pestruie said.

All heating, cooling and electrical units have timers to reduce energy use. Everything is being switched to solid state to reduce consumption, such as televisions, heating, cooling and lighting, he said.

The system uses the hospital's most valuable resource, the people. "It's a method of improving productivity and efficiency using the employees as the source of the suggestions," Pestruie commented.

Old Settlers' reunion set

The Novesta Township Old Settlers' Reunion will take place Saturday, starting at noon with a carry-in dinner at Deford Elementary School.

Each person is to bring their own table service. Beverages will be furnished.

Old photos and memories will be exchanged. The 1984 president is Albert Englehart.

The reunion's 75th anniversary will be celebrated next year. According to old records, the first gathering was held about 1891 and was greeted by a Mr. McCallum with an ox team and a dray.

Some Old Settlers' names from yesteryear are: Sole, Allen, Patch, Collins, Bruce, Slack, Snover, McCracken, Bunker, Holcomb, Bently, Wagg, Schell, McArthur, Henderson, Wheeler, Ferguson, McClarty, Knoblet, Kitchen, Little, Englehart and Crawford.

For several years there have been 90-year-olds attending. Goldie Martin McLaughlin, who was born and raised in Deford, attends every year and is usually the one who comes the farthest. She now lives in Dearborn.

It has been a custom to have a memorial for those who have passed on during each year.

Powell earns CMU degree

Richard D. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Powell of Owendale, completed his bachelor of social work degree from Central Michigan University.

A member of the Dean's list winter semester, he has been accepted at Colorado State University where he will pursue a master of science degree in marriage and family therapy in the fall of 1984.

He had a double major in social work and sociology with a minor in family life and human sexuality.

Kinney waives exam

Ralph P. Kinney, charged with the March 16 robbery of the First of America Bank branch in Gageton, waived preliminary examination when he appeared Tuesday in Tuscola County District Court.

He was bound over to circuit court, where he will be arraigned this coming Monday. He is being held in the county jail. Bond was denied.

Kinney, 32, formerly of Cemetery Road, Cass City, is charged under state law with armed robbery, assault with intent to rob while armed and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony. The first two charges carry a maximum penalty of life in prison.

Kinney was captured May 2 in Fort Worth, Texas, and was brought back to Michigan under federal law.

The federal charge, armed bank robbery, has been dismissed, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Hluchaniuk in Bay City, after consultation with Tuscola County Prosecutor G. Scott Stermer.

Kinney, who was first housed in the Bay County jail in Bay City, was transferred to the Tuscola County jail Friday.

Although the federal charge could be reinstated, Stermer said he doubts that will happen. "I think they (U.S. attorneys) will probably not bother with it," he said.

Open training courses

The Tuscola Area Skill Center, in cooperation with the Community Education Departments of Caro, Cass City and Vassar, will be accepting registrations for vocational training courses starting in September for high school graduates under 20 years of age as of Sept. 1, June 19.

Eligible high school graduates will have an opportunity to register that evening at the Community Education offices in Caro, Cass City or Vassar between 4 p.m. - 8 p.m.

Registration that evening will entitle graduates to one free leisure time course at the Tuscola Area Skill Center during the 1984-85 school year.

Late registrations will be accepted at the skill center in Caro after that date, but may not guarantee a slot for the graduate in September.

If you need more information, call the Adult Education office at the Tuscola Area Skill Center at (517) 673-5300.

TIM HENDRIAN accepts certificate indicating that he has successfully completed an advanced refrigeration course.

Tim Hendrian completes course

Tim Hendrian, technician at Schneeberger's, Cass City, recently attended an advanced refrigeration service seminar conducted by Whirlpool Corporation at its John H. Platts Educational Center in Benton Harbor.

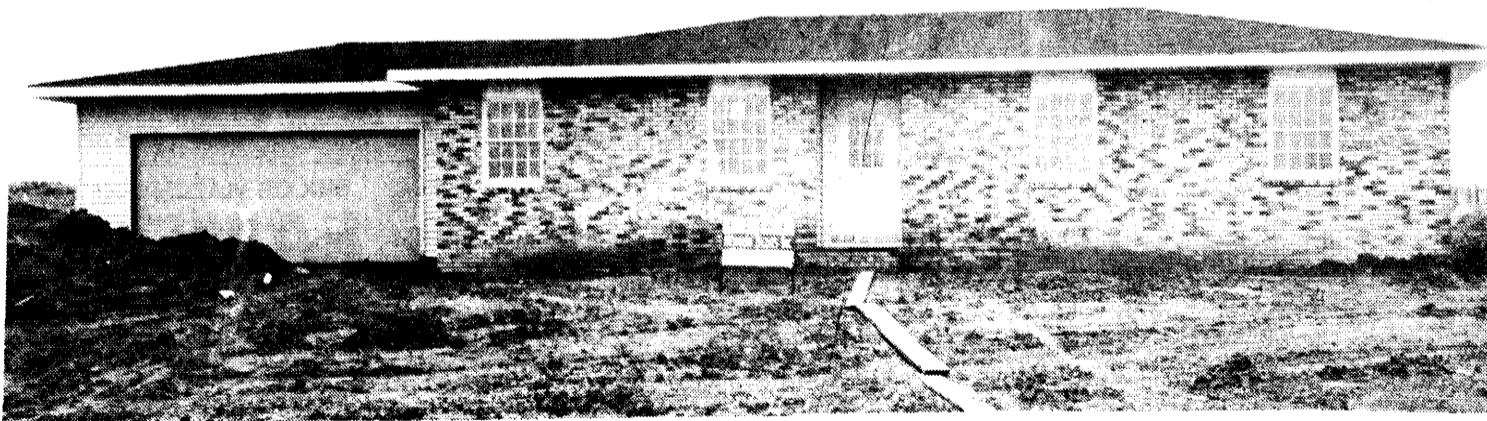

Designed to help experienced technicians develop diagnostic and repair skills, the one-week seminar reviewed electrical, refrigeration and sealed system fundamentals for Whirlpool refrigerators, freezers and air conditioners. Students learned to diagnose electrical and sealed system failures and defects, perform tube brazing exercises, and make sealed system repairs. Hands-on training was an important teaching aid in this seminar, which concentrated on in-depth diagnosis and repair procedures.

Hendrian received a Certificate of Achievement upon successful completion of the seminar from Tom Cook, regional training manager, southeastern region, consumer affairs division.

Your neighbor says

Vacation time fun for boy

Vacation time has started and it's just that for Ron Woodruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodruff of Cass City.

Ron, 16, says that he doesn't plan to do much at all this summer except the chores around the house.

I have to do my share of the housework and yard work, but that's all, he added.

How does he expect to spend the summer days? Ron isn't too sure about that except that he'll probably spend time at the pool at Cass City Recreational Park.

Ron's dad owns and operates Woodruff's Collision on Pine Street in Cass City. Ron says that it's not likely that he'll help around the garage.

His interest is elsewhere. He'd like to go to college after his high school days are over.

Right now he's just happy that school is out for the year and the lazy, carefree days of summer are here to enjoy.

Ron has five brothers and four sisters.

Direct deposit advantageous

People in the Tuscola area who get Social Security checks can have them deposited directly into a checking or savings account at a financial institution of their choice, William T. Clynes, Social Security district manager in Saginaw, said recently.

Direct deposit has several advantages, Clynes said, including:

--No need to worry about a check being lost.

--No need to worry about a check lying in a mailbox when away from home.

--Savings in time and transportation and no standing in line to cash or deposit the checks.

--Money in an account is safer than carrying cash.

A person can deal with any financial institution he or she chooses, including a commercial bank, savings bank, savings and loan association, Federal or State credit union, or similar institution.

Since banking practices vary, a person should find how the financial institution handles direct deposits, whether a statement is sent, about any service charge, minimum deposits, interest rates, and special services provided.

To arrange direct deposit, a person should complete a form SF-1199, available at the financial institutions. A monthly benefit check shows all the information needed to complete the form.

Direct deposit only authorizes deposits into a person's account.

More information about direct deposit can be obtained at the Saginaw Social Security office or at any financial institution. The Saginaw office is located at the corner of East Genesee and North Warren Streets and the telephone number is 771-1010.

Cable's Ellinger looks to the easy life after 40 years

After more than 40 years with General Cable Co., Albert E. (Bud) Ellinger is retiring and looking forward to spending the summer at his cottage on Oneida Lake in New York state.

"I have many chores to do, catching up of many years, that I have to take care of," Ellinger said. "And also some golfing and fishing."

Ellinger, 62, and his wife Jeanne, came to Cass City in late 1979, where he works as an industrial relations manager at the Cass City plant. He officially will retire June 29.

Natives of New York, the Ellingers will spend summers at the cottage and winters in Memphis, Tenn., where Ellinger worked for eight years before he was transferred to Cass City.

In Memphis he will devote time to his favorite hobby and possibly work part-time, Ellinger said.

"I do quite a lot of work with stained glass as a hobby. I make Tiffany lamps and things such as that. And I will probably work part time. I've got a couple of different offers down there," he said.

In New York the Ellingers will visit their daughter, Martha, 31, daughter-in-law Patricia and two granddaughters. Martha and Patricia live in Rome, where Ellinger first worked for General Cable.

He joined the company in 1940 as an office clerk, worked his way up through the ranks and was transferred to five cities.

In 1970 he commuted to New York City for a year but found it too hectic.

"It was crazy commuting back and forth. That's why I got out," Ellinger said.

By 1971 he had moved to a more relaxed work and lifestyle in Memphis. Eight years later he was transferred here.

"We have enjoyed it very much. The people in town and at the plant are very friendly, cooperative. I don't really care for your winters, but I really enjoy your summers," Ellinger said.

He said he is looking forward to retirement "after many years of labor." The 40-plus years at General Cable have been fulfilling.

"It has been a good, stable company to work for. I've really enjoyed the relationship with the plant bosses," Ellinger said. "General Cable has treated me well. I've enjoyed moving ing around, meeting new people and seeing new places."

Tom Thumb singers

At Cass City's Fourth of July celebration the Tom Thumb Singers, along with other members of the community, will present a program of music in the park. The performance will begin at 5:30 p.m.

Rehearsals for the concert will be on the three Monday evenings preceding the holiday, June 18, 25 and July 2, from 7:30-9 p.m. in the Cass City High School band room.

All interested singers are welcome, age 9 and up, and questions can be directed to director Andrea Hofmeister at 665-2634. The program will feature patriotic music and some sing-along songs for audience participation.

O-G seniors meet

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met last Thursday in the St. Agatha Catholic Church parish hall in Gageton with 48 members present.

Twenty-eight blood pressure readings were taken by Mary Lewis, LPN. Elma Miklovich opened the meeting by having the group recite the Lord's Prayer and the pledge to the flag.

Get-well cards were sent to Bernice Deeg, Irma Chisholm and Mary and Tony Enderle. "Happy Birthday" was sung to William Ashmore, Nettie Doan, Florence Schell, Clara Adams, Violet Diebel and Louis Ouvry, with Mike Pisarek playing the piano.

Three couples are celebrating anniversaries this month, Doris and Donovan Schell, Wilma and Lloyd Finkbeiner and George and Alexia Cook.

Door prizes were won by Estella Leyva and Donovan Schell. The foster grandmother program was discussed by Veneta Kling. Members were asked to bring cancelled stamps and old electric shavers and hearing aids to help veterans.

There will be a plant exchange at the June 21 meeting. Further discussion about a spring tour was tabled until the next meeting. The July potluck dinner will be a picnic in the Owendale park.

Bingo was played. The June committee served coffee and sandwiches. The next meeting is a potluck dinner June 21 in the St. Agatha parish hall.

Obituaries

WILLIAM PENA
William Pena, 54, formerly of Cass City, died May 28 at his home in Battle Creek.

Born Jan. 16, 1930, in San Antonio, Texas, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pena.

He graduated from Cass City High School.

Survivors are: his wife Edith; two daughters, Jo-Lena and Billie Jo, at home; one brother, Ernest Pena of Gageton; five sisters, Leila Martinez of Pontiac, Genevieve Rodriguez of San Antonio, Stella Leyva of Gageton, and Alice Lopez and Amelia Bryan, both of Saginaw.

Funeral services were held Thursday, June 7, in Battle Creek with burial there.

THELMA WOODARD
Mrs. Thelma Woodard, 73, of Cass City succumbed Thursday, June 7, at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a long illness.

She was born May 10, 1911, in Sumner, MI., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Wilson.

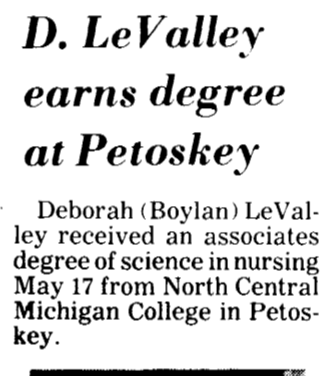

Miss Wilson was married to Howard Woodard Sept. 29, 1928, in Pontiac, where they made their home and later moved to Grayson, Ky. They moved to Cass City from Lapeer in 1949.

She was a member of the Novesta Church of Christ.

Mrs. Woodard is survived by her husband, Rev. Howard Woodard; four daughters, Mrs. James (Wanda) Lonsberry of Lapeer, Mrs. Keith (Wanetta) Little of Cass City, Mrs. Arthur (Mary Helen) Pratt of Deford and Mrs. Bruce (Florence) McVety of Detroit; one sister, Mrs. Odie Yeargan of Rochester, MI.; 14 grandchildren, and 15 great-grandchildren. One son, one brother and three sisters preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the

O-G school is praised

Michigan University, majoring in home economics.

Mrs. Juengel, of Sebawaing, taught French for 2½ years in the Unionville-Sebawaing district before leaving to raise her family. Fifteen students have signed up for first-year French (one class), Wright reported. She will teach two classes, first and second year French, in 1985-86.

Pink slipped because of declining enrollment and economic reasons was social studies teacher Phil Gray, who has taught at Owen-Gage 12 years. He is certified to teach geography and physical education and was laid off because he is lowest in seniority of teachers with those credentials, Erickson explained.

Gray did some counseling this past year, the superintendent said after the meeting, and if a certified counselor can't be found for 1984-85, he might be hired in that position.

He was pink slipped after meeting with the board for 35 minutes in executive session.

BUDGET

The board approved a tentative budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 calling for $1.21 million in total revenue and $1.31 million in expenses.

The resulting deficit of $101,363 would be offset by a fund balance, so the budget prepared by Erickson projects an actual surplus June 30, 1985, of $125,519.

The superintendent said after the meeting that the budget contains money for yet-to-be negotiated salary increases for teachers, who worked this past year without a contract.

Excluding a counselor and special education teacher, the budget lists a total of $490,000 for teacher salaries in 1984-85, versus $446,250 spent in 1983-84.

The new budget reports that Owen-Gage spent $73,200 in legal fees in 1983-84, versus the $30,000 which had been budgeted. Another $30,000 is budgeted for the new fiscal year.

OTHER ITEMS

The board authorized Erickson to apply to the Michigan Department of Treasury for permission to borrow $550,000 in tax anticipation notes, $30,000 less than the district borrowed last year.

It approved renewal of the student insurance policy with Wolverine Benefit. At a premium of $3.96 per student, up from $3.60 this past year, times an estimated 400 students, the premium will be $1,584. The board pays it, so all students will be insured.

Purchase of textbooks for math, retail merchandising, speech and journalism classes at an estimated cost of $1,782 was approved.

Action was postponed, probably until the July meeting, on a request from Duane and Dennis DeLong of Kelly Road, Cass City, to be allowed to send their five children to Owen-Gage in 1984-85. The children will be in kindergarten and grades 3, 4, 5 and 6.

OTHER ITEMS

In April, the board denied the request of Mr. and Mrs. James McCreedy of Dale Road, Gageton, to send their daughter to kindergarten in Cass City. The McCreedys asked the board Monday why their request was denied. They live on the Owen-Gage side of the border with Cass City.

Board members told them they only need the Owen-Gage board's permission if Cass City is to collect state aid for their child. They did not retreat from their position of not giving permission.

Wright announced certificates will be given to the following students for perfect attendance during the 1983-84 school year: Jacqueline Norcross, David Gunsell and Lorena Furness, seventh grade; Michelle McPhail and Charlene Goslin, ninth, and Kellin Kretschmer, 11th.

Permission was given to the Brookfield Township Park Commission to move the slide and swing on the east side of the high school to the rear so that children playing there won't be endangered by balls being hit from the diamond in that area.

The board voted to renew the district's membership in the Michigan High School Athletic Association for one year.

Nicholas files suit for damages

Sandy Nicholas of Cass City has filed suit in U.S. District Court in Bay City against the manufacturers of an overhead crane, charging them with being responsible for the death of her husband.

Defendants are Conco Inc., Mendota, Ill.; Conco-Tellus Co., Lansing; Heico Co., Mendota, and Conco Crane of LaSalle County, Ill.

Mrs. Nicholas and her lawyer, Brian Jennings of Saginaw, would not comment on the case.

The suit claims Ronald Nicholas, then 42, an electrician at Sebawaing Industries, was killed when the crane hit him while he was working on wiring in the roof at the plant.

Sebawaing Industries was not named as a defendant.

The crane was "defective and unreasonably dangerous," the suit said, and not equipped with any warning devices or safety shut-off feature.

The suit asks for more than $10,000 in damages.

Drivers injured in crash Tuesday on Main Street

Two persons were injured in an accident in Cass City Tuesday evening. Reported in fair condition Wednesday morning at Hills and Dales General Hospital was Clara Mae Gaffney, 52, of 6567 Elizabeth Street. Treated and released was the other driver involved, Linda A. Battel, 26, of 3394 Cemetery Road.

Village police said Mrs. Gaffney was westbound on Main Street. The right side of her car was hit by the eastbound Battel auto as Mrs. Gaffney was turning left into the driveway between the Quaker Maid store and the Wesley's milk plant.

Miss Battel, an emergency medical technician, was on her way to the fire hall to go on an ambulance run. The pavement was wet because of the heavy rains and police feel she may have been going too fast for conditions, while Mrs. Gaffney failed to yield right of way. No tickets were issued.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Robert J. Billingsley, 39, of Brown City, was ticketed by Cass City police on a charge of improper backing after a 12:45 p.m. accident Monday.

Officers said Billingsley's semi-truck was stopped on Ale Street, south of Church Street. He then backed into the front of the car of Joann C. Osantowski, 36, of 6673 Severance Road, who honked her horn when his truck started moving.

Deputies reported that at 6:49 p.m. Sunday, Melvin J. Thompson, 29, of Mayville, northbound on Kingston Road, stopped at Deckerville Road. He told them due to the sun he didn't see an eastbound car approaching, pulled into the intersection and the vehicles collided.

Kingston home heist loss is set at $2,000

Theft of jewelry and other items estimated to be worth more than $2,000 from a Kingston area home was reported to the sheriff's department last Wednesday.

Marion and Patricia Bland of 2735 Kingston Road told investigating officers the break-in occurred while they were gone from April 27 to June 2. A door was pried open and a storm window was broken.

Taken were a gold wedding band, worth an estimated $799; gold engagement ring, with diamond, $639; two woman's watches, total of $225; white gold wedding band, $590; two pairs of earrings, one gold and the other silver, total of $175; four pairs of woman's jeans, $80; four western style blouses, $48; housecoat, $42, and several old coins, value unknown.

Sophie Peters of 5032 Schwegler Road, Cass City, reported to Caro state police Tuesday, June 5, that her home was entered through a basement window between Dec. 19 and May 25, while she was in Florida.

Taken were a metal box containing a coin collection, a case containing two partially empty bottles of liquor and a kitchen wall clock. Total value of the stolen items was more than $500.

Allen N. Zimmerman, 20, of 4903 Center Street, Gageton, was arrested by Caro state police on charges of larceny in a building and illegal entry following entering of a Gageton home last Thursday.

Craig Downing of 4817 South Street told troopers entry was made while he was gone from 5:50-10 p.m. Witnesses said the home was entered through a basement window between 9:30 and 9:45.

All that was taken was $60 from the pocket of a pair of pants in a bedroom.

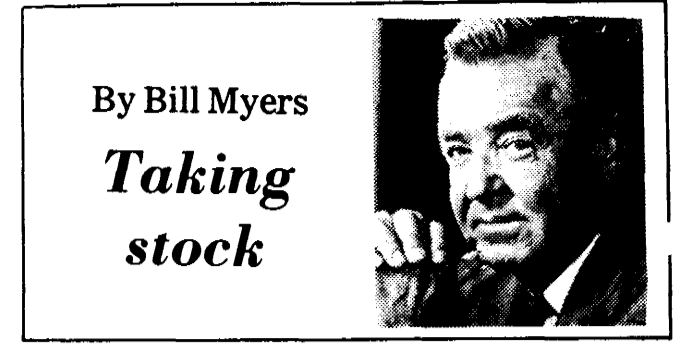

Zimmerman was questioned by officers about an hour after the robbery was reported, then arrested.

Summer school work

Monday the purchase of typewriters, sewing machines and Intermediate hallway glass was okayed.

In addition the superintendent was ordered to get competitive quotes from the three local dealers on the purchase of a new school van.

Finally, the board authorized furniture for district schools. Furniture for two rooms will be purchased for Campbell and the Intermediate School. One room of furniture will be purchased for Evergreen and Deford. Total cost of the project is estimated at $10,000.

Taking stock

In Fortune magazine recently, an article told how Hospital Corp. of America built a typical 250-bed hospital in 11 months for $23 million.

Similar hospitals built by communities or other non-profit groups cost $24 million. And their hospitals took 22 months to build.

The savings in interest in cutting down the construction time are great. There's nearly a whole year on $23 to a $24-million project, at 12 percent, say. That's around $2.5 to $3 million right there. Add another million in construction cost.

That's $4 million added to the capital investment of the non-profit hospital. The interest of that at 12 percent is nearly a half million year after year after year.

Spread that half-million over 250 beds, and it's $2,000 a year per bed that Hospital Corp. of America is ahead in such a hospital.

As a patient, that is $6 a day you are paying for inefficiency because of the bureaucratic, governmental way of doing things.

A thought: It would be nice if there was a company like Hospital Corp. of America that we could turn over our school building and operation to. You can bet this private outfit would never have come up with a school like the new one at Boca Raton that cost $200,000 per classroom.

A while ago I told how Bernie Sherwin of Long Island is running Montessori kindergarten schools at a cost per pupil of $1,100 a year. Current cost in New York state for all public school students is $4,000 per year.

Bernie turns out students who can read and write at age five, charges $1,100 a year tuition and makes money.

He does it by cutting out frills, although his teaching aids are superior to those in public schools. He doesn't blow money on gymnasiums and playground equipment. He turns the kids outdoors and gives them a ball and they make up their own games.

He doesn't set up an army of administrators — principals and assistant principals and counselors and such. The school teachers handle these jobs, same as they used to in the one-room country schools.

The products of the little red schoolhouses, incidentally, did better when they came to high school in town than the city kids did with their so-called quality education.

I know because I did research on this subject once.

Back to hospitals and high costs. A friend, Mrs. Tyler Holmes of Flint, suffered a broken ankle while staying in Sebring, Fla. At the hospital, where Medicare covered the costs, part of the treatment of the ankle included two electrocardiograms and a brain scan.

"Tell me, doctor," said Mrs. Holmes. "How did my ankle look in that brain scan?"

This sort of racket goes on all over America. Nobody is doing much about it, except to raise Medicare deductions from our Social Security.

Man injured in fall

An Illinois man was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital Wednesday morning after he had an epileptic seizure along Main Street in front of the Pillsbury elevator, fell and cut h. head.

It's never too late for education

College degree fulfills dream for Janet Roberts

Eighteen years ago Janet Roberts of Ubyly wanted to go to college. A housewife and mother of four, her dream since high school was to get a college education.

"I got very brave and signed up for this (college) math class," Mrs. Roberts recalled. "It was being offered at Bad Axe High School. I walked in and there was all these older Air Force guys. I panicked and walked right out. I didn't take classes again until about 10 years ago."

Mrs. Roberts, now 43, returned to college full-time and received a bachelor of social work from Saginaw Valley State College April 28. Her husband is Earl Roberts.

In 1974, eight years after she tried the math class in Bad Axe, Mrs. Roberts started taking classes part-time again. She was working as a secretary at Mental Health Services in Bad Axe, and her fellow employees were encouraging her to go back to school.

After she left that job in 1980, Mrs. Roberts attended Saginaw Valley full-time. She found herself facing hours of study and the experience of being an older student.

MRS. ROBERTS SAID times have changed since she tried college in 1966.

"Things are different now. When you walk into the classroom at Saginaw Valley, at least 20, 30 percent of the students are older. I think the older student has it made," she said.

One reason older students "have it made" is they have only one goal to fulfill, while younger students are faced with many options. The older students have just the goal of finishing college, while young people are also concerned with such things as social activities and the possibility of marriage.

As a female student, Mrs. Roberts said she still saw the pressure of marriage among young female students. She personally experienced it with her daughters Deborah, 25, and Laurie, 21, both single.

"Women like to think they're very liberated. But even today there's pressure. I have two daughters, one's in college (Laurie) and one works. I kind of have the feeling when we (she and Laurie) talk, education is not the most important goal," Mrs. Roberts said.

Mrs. Roberts felt older students need to study more than younger students. She called herself "an overachiever" and said she studied at least 20 hours a week.

"I think we (older students) make up for it with the incentive. We study a lot harder and get a lot better marks," Mrs. Roberts said.

OLDER STUDENTS WHO are married and have children have to manage time carefully. When Mrs. Roberts returned to college her two daughters and three sons, Kevin, now 23, Jeffrey, 20, and Greg, 15, were all living at home. She also worked part-time at Birchview Ranch in Pigeon, a residential home for severely disabled persons. She is still employed there.

Her family helped her out, Mrs. Roberts said. "My husband was very cooperative, and he took over the household chores, and the kids helped, too. I could say I actually gave up housework. It was school first and job second," she said.

She found the younger students were friendly, neatly dressed and helpful. "In some classes I was really good. They wouldn't hesitate to ask me for help.

The same when I was having trouble, they wouldn't hesitate to say, 'Hey, could I help you out?' They didn't treat me like an older person. We were all just students," Mrs. Roberts said.

Other older students could relate to the problems they encountered while going to college, Mrs. Roberts said.

She is considering getting a masters of social work degree eventually, but now she is working at the Birchview Ranch and spending time with her husband and son Gregory. She is at home more often and values the time there and the housework.

"I'm going to clean house and bake cookies," Mrs. Roberts said. "I haven't made them in four years and it's a ball."

JANET ROBERTS

Mrs. Kilburn cares for 7 while earning degree

Evelyn Kilburn loves children. She has seven living at home near Deford, and taught third and fourth graders in Pontiac for 14 years.

Mrs. Kilburn, who recently earned her second college degree, and her husband, Murrell, have three children of their own, an adopted son and three foster children. Their three children are Mark, 7, James, 4, and Ruth, 3.

Foster children are wards of the state, she explained, and live temporarily in people's homes. Charlie Stevens, 21, their first foster child, has been living with them since he was 13. He was living in a group home for mentally impaired persons before he moved in with the Kilburns.

Jason Pomaville, 13, another foster child, scored above average on school achievement tests and wants to become a doctor, Mrs. Kilburn said. He will probably live with them until he is 18.

Jason also won a junior high pole-vaulting championship.

Ted Pepper, 18, the third foster child, and Mrs. Kilburn's adopted son Jim, 18, attend Kingston High School.

"Ted is the computer whiz kid at Kingston," Mrs. Kilburn said. He won a T-shirt in a recent high school competition for being the best computer programmer.

Mrs. Kilburn graduated from Sandusky High School in 1960 and studied elementary education at Oakland University near Detroit. She later found a job in the Pontiac public school system.

Teaching children had many rewards. "Just watching them, working with them, their ability to learn and watching them mature," Mrs.

Kilburn said. "You feel rewarded when you see them reach their goals."

In 1974 Mrs. Kilburn and her husband moved to a farm near Deford, and she continued to commute to Pontiac. She drove a 120-mile round trip every day.

Mrs. Kilburn left teaching in 1979 to spend more time with her young children. She could not find a local teaching position because she had too much experience, she said.

Commuting to work and raising children became "too much" and "I wanted to spend more time with my children," Mrs. Kilburn said.

The Kilburns moved to Deford to be close to Mrs. Kilburn's parents in Sandusky, and because Mr. Kilburn, who worked for Pontiac Motors, wanted to try farming, she said.

"He hated working in the shop," Mrs. Kilburn said. "He just loves the farm."

TWO YEARS AGO SHE decided to go back to college. She needed 93 credit hours from Saginaw Valley State College near Bay City to get a bachelor's degree in sociology. Because she could count most credits from her education degree toward the sociology degree, she needed only 31 credits more to graduate.

Raising children and going to college was not easy. She enlisted the aid of her mother-in-law, Frances Kilburn.

"It was rough. It took a lot of hard work. My mother-in-law lived in the house and took care of the kids and kept them busy. I couldn't have done it without her help," Mrs. Kilburn said.

She accumulated 33 credits and received the degree this month. She is looking for a job in teaching again, because there are no job openings in sociology.

CMU issues 14 scholarships

Fourteen area high school graduates have been awarded scholarships from Central Michigan University because of their high school academic records.

The scholarships are awarded to incoming freshmen. The university awards $400 to valedictorians and salutatorians and $300 to students with a 3.5 or better grade point average. The CMU Board of Trustees selects the winners.

From Cass City the recipients are Elizabeth Dickinson, 6391 Church Street; Sherri Horner, 4410 S. Seeger Street; Diane Russell, 4730 Hunt Street, and Kimberly Wagg, 4775 Spence Road.

Gagetown: Paula Burdon, 4950 Owendale Road; Sheila Engelhardt, 6844 Bach Road, and Brenda Schwartz, 4574 Williamson Road.

Kingston: Matthew

Kopko, 3459 River Street, and Cathy Szostak, 5600 Bevens Road.

Owendale: Tina Dannis, 3596 Blakely Road; Gary Erickson, 3454 Sixth Street, and Ted Jantz, 6771 McAlpin Road.

Ubyly: Judith Ruthko, 5100 Ubyly Road. Decker: Cynthia E. Smith, 4801 Shabbona Road.

Study problems

Nine British soldiers are studying cold-related physical and psychological problems by spending most of 1984 living in tents and huts in the Antarctic. They won't have much company. The largest land animal on Antarctica is only a quarter of an inch long. It's a tiny wingless fly. The largest animals of the Antarctic, seals, penguins and whales, spend most of their time in the water.

Bean Queen pageant needs applicants

The Tuscola County Bean Queen Committee announces it is accepting applications for the 1984 bean queen contest. The annual activity will be held in connection with the Tuscola County Fair Wednesday evening, July 25. This will be the 38th annual Bean Queen Contest held in Tuscola County.

Contestants must be unmarried and a farmer's daughter who has grown beans within the past five years. The age limitations are 17-25 years (inclusive) as of July 1, 1984. Former county bean queen winners of prior years are not eligible.

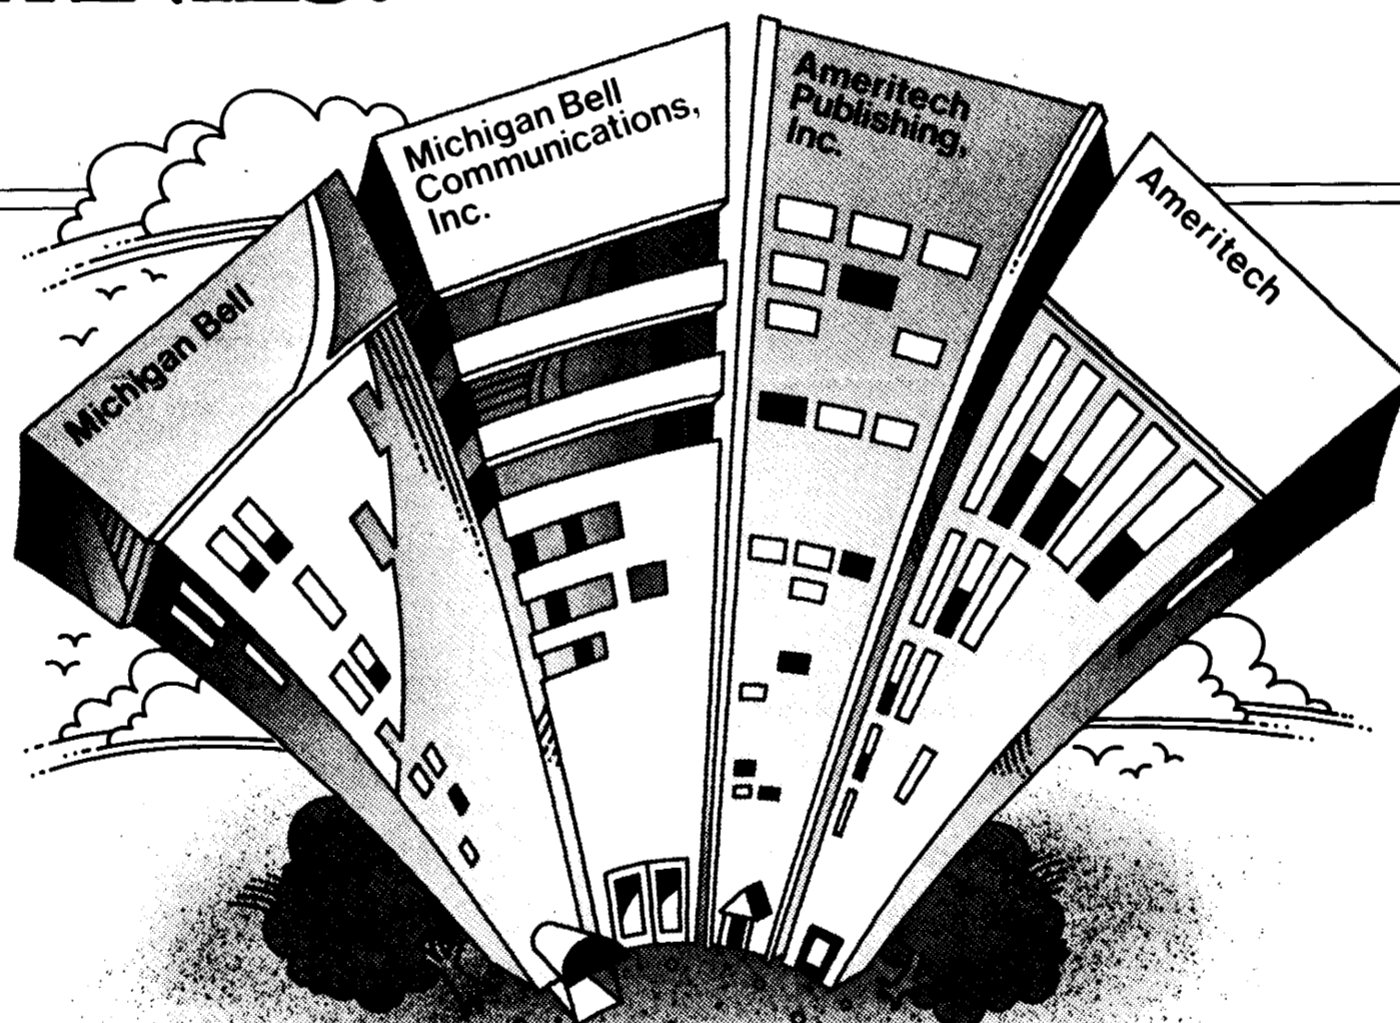

Bean queen entry blanks are available at the Tuscola County Extension office or County Farm Bureau office. A $5 check must accompany the entry blank to cover the cost of the contestant's corsage which will be given to the girl the evening of the fair. Deadline for bean queen entries is July 9. A dinner interview will be held July 16 with the pageant July 25.

Tuscola County elevators and the Tuscola County Fair Association furnish each contestant with an elaborate cash donation.

The committee of the 1984 Bean Queen Contest are John and Joan Borek of Clifford, Dave Milligan of Cass City, Dick and Sandy Partlo of Akron, Ed and Connie Spannagel of Unionville and Tom and Pat Starkey of Akron.

Telecommunicating in 1984

NOW YOUR TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICES COME FROM A NEW FAMILY OF COMPANIES.

As a Michigan Bell customer, you have been affected by recent changes in the telecommunications industry.

However—with few exceptions—the services previously available directly from Michigan Bell are still available to you... either from Michigan Bell or from one of our new Ameritech companies.

When federal action led to the reorganization of AT&T, Michigan Bell separated from AT&T and joined Ameritech, a new holding company headquartered in Chicago. Besides Michigan Bell, Ameritech's large family of companies includes a host of subsidiaries you may not have heard about, as well as the former Bell telephone companies in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin.

How we and these other Ameritech companies may be of service in meeting your telecommunications needs is described in the following.

Basic Telecommunications Services: Residence and Business.

MICHIGAN BELL provides basic telecommunications services including dial tone, flat rate, or measured service, white pages telephone listings, line repair services, and disabled customer services. You can also get optional network services like Touch-Tone and Custom Calling services from Michigan Bell, and business network services such as Centrex and network transmission services for voice, data, and image. And we provide public telephone service as well as long distance service within Michigan Bell's service areas, including optional long distance calling plans.

Equipment: Business.

MICHIGAN BELL COMMUNICATIONS, INC., serves as Michigan Bell's sales arm for business network services, including Centrex. It provides complete business communications systems, offering products and equipment from a wide variety of telecommunications suppliers, including terminal equipment for The Centrex Universe.™

Equipment: Residence and Small Business.

The new CONSUMER PRODUCTS DIVISION of MICHIGAN BELL COMMUNICATIONS, INC., provides telephone equipment for residence and small business customers, with ordering by phone and delivery to your home or business.

Directory Advertising.

Michigan Bell Yellow Pages advertising is now handled by AMERITECH PUBLISHING, INC., the publisher and provider of Michigan Bell Yellow Pages directory advertising, including Neighborhood, Specialty, Business-to-Business, and Travelers' Directories.

Bay Shore Camp sets schedule

Bay Shore Camp at Sebewaing, owned and operated by an association of United Methodist Churches, is opening its six-week summer camp and worship service schedule Sunday, June 24.

There will be camps for young people from grades 4-12.

As in past years, Lewis Tibbitts, formerly of Cass City, is director-coordinator of camping, and is in residence at Bay Shore year-round. The camp offers full sleeping and eating accommodations, with a balanced program of Bible study, dialogue, recreation and programs.

A new addition is camper parking, which now offers 40 sites with hookups available. Meals are offered each day and there are a bookstore and a nursery for families with children.

Highlight of the summer is the 11-day assembly, starting July 26, with Rev. John N. Grenfell Jr., senior pastor of First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, serving as evangelist and Bible teacher.

Camp dates are juniors, grades 4-6, June 24-29 and July 1-6; junior high, grades 7-9, July 8-14 and July 15-21; choir camp, July 22-29; and senior high, July 29-Aug. 5.

 donations

The monthly meeting of the Dorcas group of women was held at Salem United Methodist Church, Wednesday, June 6. Thirty-six persons attended the dinner which preceded the business meeting.

Several contributions were approved during the business meeting: $25 to Iva Mae Hildinger for supplies at Bay Shore Camp, $10 to Church World Service for the purchase of blankets and $10 to CARE for missions.

The group donated a new quilt and towels to the Don Puskas family, who recently sustained a house fire.

There will be no July or August meetings.

HEALTH TIPS
Facts about vision that all seniors should know

Whether you call it superstition, myth or just plain misinformation, many older people have incorrect ideas about their eye health. Here are some examples of what some senior citizens think about their eyes - and the real truth.

Using my eyes too much or even reading or doing close work in dim light will damage my eyes.

Not true. The eyes cannot be damaged by being used, not even by watching "too much" television. The muscles around the eyes, however, may become tired, and it might be more comfortable to rest them.

If I wear eye glasses, I can help preserve the strength of my eyes.

False. Eyes, like other organs and systems, are affected by the aging process, but glasses will not prevent that process from continuing.

I see perfectly well, and my eyes don't hurt, so there is no reason for me to visit an ophthalmologist.

Not true. Regular medical eye exams are essential if eye disease is to be detected in an early stage before serious damage has been done.

Glaucoma, in particular, is often called the "sneak thief of sight" precisely because it often presents no obvious symptoms in the early stages. The sad thing is that glaucoma can usually be controlled by medication - yet it remains a leading cause of blindness. This means that many cases of glaucoma are discovered too late for effective treatment.

I don't have high blood pressure so there is little chance I will get glaucoma.

False. Glaucoma is not related to high blood pressure. It is caused by an increase in pressure within the eye. It may be controlled by a continuing use of medication or by surgery.

I understand that a cataract is a clouding of the lens, but I am afraid of surgery.

Today the patient who has cataract surgery finds it easier and safer. The success rate is extremely high.

Still, I would rather have my cataracts treated with pills or drops.

Impossible. Surgery is the only effective treatment that we have at present. No matter what you hear or read, nothing else works.

Can cataracts be removed by lasers?

Lasers are used only for procedures before or after cataract surgery, but NOT for the removal of the cataract itself.

I hate to bother doctors, especially if I don't have a real problem.

The best time to visit an ophthalmologist is before an eye problem has become severe. Early detection of an eye disease offers the best chance for effective treatment.

Regular exams are especially important for people with a family history of eye disease and for diabetics, whose systemic problems often also affect their eyes.

As I get older, I have to expect that vision won't be what it used to be.

That is not necessarily true. There is a great deal that can be done to preserve and protect the eye health of senior citizens.

HEECHEE RENDEZVOUS by Frederik Pohl (science fiction). The elusive, benevolent aliens called Heechee are forced to come out of hiding because the future not only of humankind but of the universe itself is at stake. Compelled by personal reasons, tycoon Robinette Broadhead takes part in another dangerous venture into space, moving inexorably toward his surprising yet fitting destiny. The Heechee "captain," emerges from a black-hole hiding place for a routine patrol to check the monitors his people left behind. To his dismay, he discovers increased space activity on the part of humans that threatens to alert the Assassins, an even older and more powerful race bent on remodeling the universe to meet its own needs.

THE MARCH OF FOLLY: FROM TROY TO VIETNAM by Barbara Tuchman (non-fiction). The subject of Tuchman's new book is folly in government, which she examines in four case studies entitled: "The Trojans Take The Wooden Horse Within Their Walls," "The Renaissance Popes Provoke the Protestant Secession," "The British Lose America," and "America Betrays Herself in Vietnam." The primary ingredient of all governmental folly, Tuchman finds, is "wooden-headedness... assessing a situation in terms of preconceived fixed notions while ignoring or rejecting any contrary signs." The pursuit of personal gain rather than the general welfare, as in the Renaissance Popes' degradation of the papacy's spiritual authority in order to build their families' financial and political power, is another principal factor. Ignorance - for example, America's lack of understanding of Vietnamese culture and politics - is another.

VOICES IN A HAUNTED ROOM by Philippa Carr (fiction). Set in the late 18th Century, the story focuses on the amatory fortunes of Claudine, who must decide which of the Frenshaw brothers she really loves, the gentle, scholarly David or the wild, rash Jonathan. Since her marriage to David only deepens her attraction to Jonathan, the ultimate resolution is far from simple.

It is Ben Franklin's policy to have all items advertised in this circular in stock during the sale period. However, because this circular is printed approximately 90 days prior to the sale date, there could be an unforeseen delay, or in some cases, non-shipment of an item. We regret any inconvenience it may cause. If an advertised item is unavailable during the sale period, we will, to the best of our ability, offer a substitute item of comparable value with an equal savings over the regular price. We do reserve the right to limit the quantity on some items and special prices are in effect only during the sale period while quantities last.
