FATALITY — Clockwise from upper left: The car driven by Carl J. Belanger went into the water-filled ditch along Colwood Road. Lisa Ann Gaeth got out of a vehicle to assist and was struck by a car driven by Robert J. Schreiner Jr. The car is being examined by Sheriff Paul Berry. The Schreiner auto was then struck in the rear by a station wagon driven by Thomas P. Arsenault, which went into the ditch.

Unionville teenager trying to help killed when struck by car

An unfortunate set of circumstances resulted in the death of 16-year-old Lisa Ann Gaeth of Unionville early Saturday when she was struck by a car north of Colwood.

The incident involved three separate accidents, starting at 1:20 a.m.

The first, according to investigating Tuscola County Sheriff's Department officers, involved Carl J. Belanger, 24, of Geneseville, who turned left, from westbound Hobart Road onto Colwood Road.

His car went off the west edge of the road. He lost control and the car spun off the road into the east side ditch, facing north.

A few minutes later, a pickup driven by Donald D. Thompson, 22, of 2105 Hobart, Gagetown, stopped on the west side of the road to assist. His passenger, Miss Gaeth, got out.

As she was crossing Colwood Road, deputies said, she was struck by a northbound auto driven by Robert J. Schreiner Jr., 22, of Bloomfield Hills. She was dead at the scene.

The impact took place south of the intersection. Schreiner brought his car to a halt north of the intersection, where it was struck in the rear by a northbound auto driven by Thomas P. Arsenault, 22, of Cedar Street, Bay Port. The impact sent Arsenault's auto into the east side ditch.

Schreiner told officers he didn't see the victim until his car hit her and that possibly the headlights of the Thompson vehicle shining in his direction was a factor.

A passenger in his car, Susan M. Tipton, 22, of Troy, sought her own treatment for injuries.

Belanger was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. He was released from the county jail later that day after posting $100 bond, with arraignment scheduled in district court

July 30.

Investigation is continuing and a decision whether charges will be filed against Schreiner will probably be made by the end of the week, according to Tuscola County Prosecutor G. Scott Stermer.

Miss Gaeth was the seventh person to die in a Tuscola County traffic accident this year.

She was born Jan. 22, 1968, in Pigeon, the daughter of Arnold and Tanya (Sprague) Gaeth. She was a student at Unionville-Sebewaing High School.

She is survived by her parents, of Unionville; one sister, Tara Lynn Gaeth, at home; one brother, David A. Gaeth; her grandfather and step-grandmother, Gilbert and Florence Sprague, Owendale; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Helen Gaeth, Bay Port, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marjorie Monreal, Flint.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Bay Port. Elder Ervin Haley officiating. Burial was in the New Bay Port Cemetery.

Arrangements were by the Dinkel-Juengel Funeral Home, Sebewaing.

O-G given okay to borrow $540,000

Denial by the state of a request by the Owendale-Gagetown School District to borrow $550,000 in tax anticipation notes has been reversed.

The Michigan Department of Treasury has now granted permission to borrow $10,000 less than what was requested. The school board has scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the high school to award a bid for sale of the notes.

Bids will be opened at 2 that afternoon. The bid will be awarded to the bank charging the lowest interest rate for the $540,000 being borrowed for school operations.

The school district's request was initially denied on the grounds it finished the fiscal year with a deficit and had failed to file a plan to correct it.

Supt. Ronald Erickson Tuesday, July 10, met with state Treasurer Robert Bowman to discuss the denial, which led to permission being granted to borrow the funds.

Erickson contended the district finished the year in the black.

At Evans Material Handling Division in Gagetown, there are 71 hourly employees and nine in the office, about the same as last fall, but a big contrast to June, 1982, when only eight persons were drawing paychecks.

Plant Manager Robert Heard is optimistic about business and therefore employment increasing. Evans' main product is various steel racks used in automobile factories and he expects that business to stay healthy for now.

The plant also manufactures railroad car doors and that business is increasing. Heard is optimistic about the newest product, railroad boxcar brake beams. "The potential seems to be quite good," he said.

Will interest rate rise hurt business?

Economy better, more persons working

By Mike Eliasohn

Business isn't booming at the Caro office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, which is good news for the economy and even better news for persons with jobs.

"As a matter of fact, the claims load is the lowest it's been in years and years," said branch manager Charles Cramer.

The 404 claims on file last week of persons drawing unemployment compensation, he said, is the lowest number since 1977. Although the main reason for the low number is more persons working, there are less fortunate ones who don't have jobs and exhausted their unemployment benefits, which currently are paid a maximum of 39 weeks.

The number of applicants for various welfare benefits at the Tuscola County Department of Social Services has been decreasing since January, which Director Dale Detwiler sees as an optimistic sign the economy is improving.

In April, 732 applied for benefits, which dropped to 692 in May. (A person applying for a family is counted as one applicant, so more than 692 persons were in need.)

The Tuscola County unemployment rate in April, the latest month for which the statistic is available, was 14.9 percent. A year earlier, it was 19.1 percent.

The Michigan unemployment rate in June was 11.3 percent. "We're going to be close to that, I'll bet," Cramer speculated. The county jobless rate with rare exception is higher than the state figure.

The drop in the unemployment rate can primarily be attributed to persons being called back to old jobs, rather than being hired for new ones, according to the branch manager. "As a matter of fact, a lot of people went back to the auto industry who never thought they would get called back."

INTEREST RATES

Cramer is concerned about the effect rising interest rates may have on the economy. "That's kind of scary." He said some businessmen he has talked to who were planning to spend money for expansion have backed off because of the increase in the cost of borrowing.

The hike in interest rates may already be felt in the new housing business. Of the three local banking officials contacted by the Chronicle, two said they have noticed a slackening of inquiries or applications for mortgages. One referred to it as "a little less of a demand."

The third said increasing interest rates might be a factor in lessening of demand, but mentioned other factors, such as persons back to work after long layoffs not ready to invest in a new house yet and a poor farm economy.

Home loan interest rates have gone up 1-1½ percent since the first of the year and are now in the 13-15 percent range, with terms to be renegotiated after three years or four years, depending on the institution.

One banker speculated they could go up or down 0.5

over the next 90-180 days.

Four building contractors contacted by the Chronicle all said they are busy and the increase in interest rates hasn't affected their business yet.

"I'm sure it will bother me in time," said one, of the increasing interest rates. "It's not a good sign."

Interest rates for car loans have also gone up, from the 11½-12 percent range a few months ago to 13¼-13½ percent now for a four year loan at one bank.

Another said its rate hasn't changed. At a third, it has gone up 2 percentage points since the first of the year, to 15-16 percent.

The bankers feel interest rates haven't gone up enough to scare away car buyers. "People are still buying cars," said one.

Of the two car dealers contacted, one said higher interest rates haven't affected car sales yet. The other said there may be a slight decline in sales attributed to the higher cost of borrowing.

INDUSTRY

For the most part, factory jobs in the Cass City area are the most plentiful they have been in the past few years.

The exception is at General Cable, where about 90 persons are on layoff, according to Industrial Relations Manager John E. Cooper. Most of those have been out of work since January. There presently are about 350 hourly and salaried employees working in the plant.

As for the possibility of those on layoff going back to work, Cooper said, "We don't see anything in the near future for any large recalls."

At Walbro, about 300 hourly personnel are working at its plants in Cass City and Caro, according to Director of Human Resources Donald Tonti and no one is on layoff.

Several years ago, Walbro had 500 or more persons working.

The firm might be adding to its payroll come fall, Tonti said, but, "Right now we're waiting for the auto industry to tell us what to do."

A strike by the United Auto Workers against one of the car companies could hurt business for Walbro, he indicated.

Active Industries in Elkton makes auto parts and kitchen sinks. Hourly and salaried employment there totals a little over 700, Manager Roland Henne said, which is the best it has been since the recession started.

But back in January, 1979, the payroll totaled 913. Kitchen sinks are only a small part of the business. Henne referred to the auto business as "feast or famine."

Circuit Court

Steinbacher sentenced to 24-48 mos. for assault

Kirk T. Steinbacher was sentenced Monday by Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn to 24-48 months in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for felonious assault.

Steinbacher, 20, of 7424 Irish Road, Millington, pleaded guilty but mentally ill May 7 to the charge he assaulted his father, Jack Steinbacher, with a shotgun Feb. 10 in his parents' Vassar Township home. Shots were fired inside the home, but Jack Steinbacher was not shot at directly.

Steinbacher will receive credit for days served in jail. Joslyn recommended he receive psychiatric and drug abuse counseling while in prison.

In other cases Monday: A motion by Michael J. Walker, 29, for a change of venue was granted.

Walker, of 2700 E. Sanilac, Caro, is charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct with a child under age 13, Feb. 9 in Dayton Township. He pleaded innocent to the charges March 12.

The defense asked for a change of venue because Walker expressed doubt he could get a fair trial under Joslyn.

Allen D. Pero, 17, of 542 Birch Road, Vassar, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.

Pero has been charged with breaking into a Vassar Township house March 31. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled July 23. Bond was continued at $10,000.

Randy J. DuRussell, 30, of 2985 Lee Hill Road, Caro, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for breaking and entering an unoccupied building. DuRussell pleaded guilty April 30 to the charge he tried to break into a building April 5 owned by Dick Dievendorf of Caro.

He will receive credit for time served in jail, and three months of the sentence was deferred to an undetermined date. DuRussell was also ordered to pay $342 in restitution.

TRIALS

A circuit court jury last Wednesday found David L. Leonard, 42, of 2930 Ayre Street, Marlette, guilty of operating a motor vehicle while impaired Nov. 4 in Wells Township. The trial lasted two days.

He then pleaded guilty to being an habitual offender because of two prior convictions for operating while under the influence. His plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set.

At the end of a two-day trial Friday, a circuit court jury found Charles Z. Zimmer Jr., 47, of Flint, innocent of charges of assault with intent to commit criminal sexual conduct involving sexual penetration and assault with a dangerous weapon Nov. 16 in Vassar Township.

DISTRICT COURT

Joseph J. High, 43, of 6622 Huron Street, Cass City, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of disorderly person, to walking on Cemetery Road and disturbing traffic July 3.

Judge Richard F. Kern accepted High's plea and fined him $30, plus $25 court costs.

Donovan Vining, 21, of 5164 Shabbona Road, Deker, pleaded guilty Monday to driving with license suspended or revoked July 4 in Cass City.

His plea was accepted and he was sentenced to three days in the county jail, starting Aug. 17, plus a $42 fine and $33 costs, or an additional five days in jail if the fine and costs are not paid.

Michael K. McCoy, 21, of Mount Pleasant, pleaded guilty Monday to driving with license suspended July 4 in Kingston.

His plea was accepted and he was sentenced to three days in jail starting Aug. 17, plus a $42 fine and $33 costs, or an additional five days if the fine and costs are not paid.

4 Cass City youths attend arts camp

Four Cass City youths are attending the second session of the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, July 10-22.

The students are Paul Asher, band major, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Asher; David Reeves, piano major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Marshall; Jennifer L. Baker, band major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baker; and Kathy Marshall, band major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Marshall.

4,100 students from elementary to high school grades. Last year students from 29 states and 16 countries attended the camp.

The second session is primarily for junior high students, who choose to concentrate work in art, band, choir, dance, jazz, orchestra, piano or theater. Electives, recreation and other activities round out the days.

The Blue Lake camp is located 15 miles north of Muskegon in the Manistee National Forest.

Pedaling Around Convention ho, hum

By Mike Eliasohn

It's too bad the Olympics aren't the same week as the Democratic and-or Republican conventions. Then we would have something worthwhile to watch.

I'm writing this Sunday, so the Democrats haven't started their exercise in foolishness, to be followed by the Republican version, and already I'm bored.

Although the networks are reducing their coverage of the conventions slightly this year -- broadcasts are starting at 9 p.m. instead of 8, that may be because of the time difference and equal time requirements.

When it's 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, it's only 6 in California and 8 in Texas. If television coverage of the Democratic convention starts at 9 p.m. EST, the networks can't start coverage of the Republican one at 8, even though that might be more convenient time-wise.

One reason why the conventions are boring is because the suspense is gone.

Their purpose is supposed to be for the party members to select their candidate to run for President of the United States and the vice-president. That used to be what took place.

Now, however, because of all the primary elections, caucuses, etc., and over-coverage by the media, the presidential nominees are selected before the conventions start. All the delegates do is make the selection official.

Once selection of the presidential nominee became established fact before the convention, the only suspense remaining was who the vice-presidential candidate would be.

Ronald Reagan decided during the Republican convention in 1980 that George Bush would be his running mate. Until that decision was announced, there was a lot of suspense and speculation.

This time, there was a lot of pressure on Walter Mondale to make his selection known prior to the convention, which he did.

He was criticized for his well publicized interviews of prospective running mates, which I find interesting.

There always was criticism in the past of selecting the vice-presidential nominee in a smoke filled hotel room during the convention.

The critics said vice-presidential nominees should be carefully selected on the basis that they might some day be running the country, not hurriedly on the basis of which one can attract the most votes for the party ticket.

Walter Mondale couldn't win either way in his method of choosing Geraldine Ferraro.

If the Democrats hold true to form -- organized confusion -- Walter Mondale's big acceptance speech this Thursday, the one that is supposed to get his campaign off to a rousing start, won't come on until long after most persons have gone to bed.

In contrast, the Republican convention will be a businesslike -- Republicans pride themselves on being businesslike -- homage to President Reagan.

Four years ago, he was trying to convince us that big deficits were driving this country to ruin. Now he's telling us $200 billion deficits aren't so bad, and if they are, they're the Democrats' fault, even though the GOP controls the White House and Senate.

With interest rates on the rise, due in a large part to the massive deficits, I think another recession is just around the corner. If Reagan wins reelection, which seems very likely, he will have a hard time blaming anyone else for causing a recession.

Fruits for rich

Oranges and lemons first entered the average American's diet in 1833. They had been a delicacy for the rich before the first shipment of cargo direct from Sicily.

Hazel Moore celebrates 85th birthday

Hazel Moore, a lifelong Cass City resident, celebrated her 85th birthday Saturday in the recreation park.

Fifty relatives attended. Persons traveling long distances came from Tinley Park, Ill., Livonia, Yale, North Branch, Davison, Au Gres and Saginaw.

Mrs. Moore was born Hazel Pfann July 17, 1899, in Novesta Township. She has six children, four step-children, more than 20 grandchildren and more than 40 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Moore shares her home with roomers and maintains a garden.

Ants stretch when they wake up.

Car fire extinguished

Elkland Township firemen extinguished a car fire reported shortly before 1 p.m. Sunday.

Jeff LaBelle of 6793 Third Street was driving the 1976 model car on Hospital Drive. Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. said, when the engine backfired through the carburetor and started burning.

Root estimated the loss at $850 and based on the value of the car, doubted if it was worth repairing. It is owned by the driver's mother, Pam LaBelle.

Sherri Horner attends WMU orientation

Sherri Horner of Cass City was among approximately 200 students who attended Western Michigan University's fifth orientation session, July 5-7.

Activities for the incoming freshmen included touring the campus, registering for classes and meeting with academic advisors.

About 2,400 freshmen will attend the Kalamazoo university this fall.

Miss Horner is the daughter of Louis and Jan Horner, 4410 S. Seeger St.

Provincial House float wins at Uby

The grand prize was a trophy and $75.

Theme for the float was "Love is Ageless."

"All doors are open to courtesy." Thomas Fuller

Armstead treated and released

Gregory G. Armstead, 27, of Bay Street, Unionville, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital following a 5:30 a.m. accident last Thursday.

Sheriff's deputies reported he was southbound on Hurds Corner Road, north of Dale Road, at 5:30 a.m. when, he told them, he swerved to miss a deer.

His car went off the west edge of the road, then crossed the road and went off the east side into a ditch.

Cass City police reported that at noon Tuesday, Lena V. Mausolf, 59, of 5960 Main Street, Deford, northbound on Oak Street, stopped at the Main Street intersection, then pulled into the path of a westbound car and the vehicles collided.

Driver of the other car was Brien K. Haley, 17, of 6305 Houghton Street.

Two vehicle-deer accidents were reported July 8 by sheriff's deputies.

Donna A. Petiprin, 27, of Caro, was southbound on French Road, south of Cass City Road, when a deer ran into the left side of her auto.

Garrison N. Kennedy, 33, of Bevens Road, Caro, was westbound on Bevens, west of Underwood Road, when his vehicle hit one of the animals.

Cass City police reported Friday morning that Lorraine M. Peters, 55, of 3200 Cumber Road, Uby, was backing out of a parking place in the lot at The Hair Benders, 6350 Garfield Street, and backed into a parked car. Owner of the other vehicle was not identified in the police report.

Between 9:15 and 9:30 p.m. Saturday, according to village police, a hit and run driver backed into the left rear side of the car of Douglas J. Nichols of Decker when it was parked in the Charmont lot and left.

Homemaker group plans activities

The Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers council met at the Caro area home of Alice Thomas this month to make plans for the coming year.

The educational group will once again have displays at the county fair, host a holiday tea, organize class nights, have an international night and homemaker's night.

A special mini-college night will take place Sept. 13. Linda Adams, extension home economist, will teach the "Fitness after 50" program, and Dennis Stein, extension agriculture agent, will teach a class on poisonous plants found in the home.

For more information on MAEH activities, call Miss Linda Adams at 517-673-5999, ext. 228.

Michigan Sugar Co. expanding

Michigan Sugar Co. will expand its Sebawaing and Crosswell plants to increase output of sugar from sugar beets.

According to Ernest Flegenheimer, company president, "The expansion will increase Crosswell's overall capacity by approximately 50 percent over a two-year period," he said. "The factory will be capable of producing about 75 million pounds of sugar a year."

The expansion will mean about 90,000 additional tons of sugar beets, which translates into about 5,000 more acres for 225 growers in the Crosswell area.

The Crosswell facility is the smallest operation of its kind in the country. It processes about 1,800 tons of sugar beets a day during the processing season and produces about 55 million pounds of sugar a year.

The expansion at the Sebawaing plant should increase its sugar production by about 30 percent. The increase will require 6,000 more acres or about 135,000 tons of sugar beets, according to Flegenheimer. This would mean about $4.7 million paid to growers annually.

The Sebawaing facility is Michigan Sugar's largest plant and can process more than 400,000 tons of sugar beets into 100 million pounds of sugar a year.

The projects should be completed by 1986.

The Colosseum received its name not for its size, but for a colossal statue of Nero that stood close by.

Pills heisted Monday in Old Wood Drug break-in

A large quantity of pills was the only thing stolen in a break-in of Old Wood Drug early Monday.

Entry was gained by using a pry bar on the alley side door. The break-in was discovered by Cass City police at 2:42 a.m., having taken place since 1:10.

Taken from a drug cabinet, unlocked because the lock was being fixed, were seven bottles containing a total of 230 codeine pills, 100 Demerol, 390 De-lauid and 60 Deseryn.

Police estimated damage to the door and doorway at $300. Value of the stolen pills wasn't listed.

Cass City police arrested Karen G. Rogers Rouse of Walnut Trailer Park, 4118 S. Seeger Street, Tuesday, July 10, originally on a charge of driving with license suspended. She was later charged with two counts of uttering and publishing.

Police were called at 11 a.m. that day to the Cass City State Bank, which had two checks it had cashed, one for $350 and the other for $150. They were supposedly signed by Beulah Cranick, who also lives in Walnut Trailer Park, but the writing didn't match her real signature.

The teller who cashed the check had written the license plate number of the car of the person who cashed the checks and was also able to give police a description of the vehicle.

At 12:30 p.m., police stopped the car as it was being driven on Seeger and took the driver into custody. She was later identified by the teller in a lineup of six women at the jail in Caro.

Mrs. Rouse was arraigned the following day in district court on two charges of uttering and publishing. Bond was set at $15,000, and preliminary examination scheduled July 25.

Arraignment on the driving with license suspended charge is scheduled July 23. Bond was set at $100.

She has posted bond in both cases.

Janet Williams of 4604 Oak Street told village police Sunday morning that a black dress hanging on her clothesline was stolen sometime since Friday evening. It was valued at $50.

Mrs. Bill McCluskey of 4162 Sherman Street told village police Sunday afternoon that aluminum siding on the support post for the front porch overhang was damaged, possibly by being hit with a blunt object. Damage was estimated at $20.

Malicious damage to a bicycle was reported to Cass City police Monday evening. No further information was immediately available.

Theft of a $3.99 ring from the Quaker Maid Dairy Store was reported to police July 8.

Louise Bliss of Maple Street told police July 3 that a tire and wheel were stolen from inside a car parked in the Schneeberger's lot at the corner of Oak and Pine Streets.

him, he grabbed the car and was thrown to the ground, then hit and broke the windshield. He then kicked the right rear door.

The man who broke Periso's windshield then kicked the left rear door of her car.

BROKEN WINDOWS

Caro state police are investigating reports of two broken windshields that took place outside a home on S. Kingston Road, Deford, Saturday night. A party was taking place inside the home.

Those who reported their windshields were broken, both as they were trying to drive away, were Edward Periso of 44 S. Kingston Road, Deford, and Robin Shafer of 6445 Downing Road, Decker.

Periso said he got into an argument with an individual who was intoxicated. When he (Periso) tried to leave, the person punched his windshield several times, finally breaking it. Periso said his children were inside and were sprayed with glass when it broke.

Ms. Shafer said as she tried to leave, another man grabbed her by the hair and pulled her shirt off. When she got into her car, he stood in front of it. When she tried to drive around

Regular Meeting Cass City Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held June 26, 1984, at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

The minutes of the regular May meeting were approved as presented.

As advertised bids were received and open for the 1979 Chevrolet Impala. Ten bids were received with a low bid of $532.00 and a high bid of $1,201.00. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee McIntosh to accept the high bid from Richard J. Greenwood in the amount of $1,201.00 for the 1979 Chevrolet Impala. Motion carried 7 yeas 0 nays.

The May financial statement was reviewed.

The treasurer's report was reviewed showing 15.29% of the taxes collected to date.

A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Hopper that the bills be approved for payment as presented. Motion carried 7 yeas 0 nays.

Streets and Parking committee reported that the N. Seeger Street project should start next week and will be completed by the time school starts.

Parks and Promotion committee reported that 9 picnic tables have been received and placed in the park from a donation of the Rotary Club. They also reported that 17 refuse containers have been ordered for the downtown business area from donations received from the retail division and service clubs.

The Public Service committee reported that they will have a recommendation concerning the sanitary landfill at the next regular meeting.

The Rules committee reported that they have received recommendations from the Village attorney concerning the existing Village ordinances and will make a recommendation at the next regular meeting.

The superintendent's report was reviewed.

Jack Esau representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars was present to request the use of the Cultural Center on Thursday nights starting in August for bingo. This was tabled and turned over to the Parks and Promotion committee for a recommendation.

A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee McIntosh that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried 7 yeas 0 nays.

Wauka done with Army basic training

Army Pvt. Thomas E. Wauka, son of Edith M. and Edward Wauka of 6229 Downing Road, Decker, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

His wife, Kathleen, is the daughter of Marion Moskow of Allenton.

VFW deserves better coverage

Dear editor,

After receiving and reading the latest edition of the Cass City Chronicle, I was disappointed and angry.

Why weren't there any photos of the Michigan National Guard Drill Team or Veterans of Foreign Wars? Why wasn't there even a sentence mentioning them?

Does a demolition derby car deserve more recognition than a VFW? Apparently so, it made the front page and still another photo on another page.

I feel as though you missed the whole point of the parade. Isn't the Fourth of July Independence Day? Who fought for our independence? It took two world wars to enable us to live free, and we have men like these to thank for it. It didn't seem fair to leave them out. It's about time they get the respect I feel they so justly deserve.

It took a lot of phone calls, letters and hours of people's time to arrange for the National Guard Drill Team to be in the parade. I am proud they picked Cass City after cancelling other appointments. Special help from Congressman Bob Trauxler aided us in arranging the team.

What can I tell the Congressman and drill team sergeant when I don't have a newspaper photo of the team performing, to send them? That is the only thing they requested. What did it take for the team and veterans to get noticed? Ride on a float? Ride motorcycles?

In conclusion, I would just like to say I think we should recognize these people. After all, if we looked out our windows and saw a Russian jet fighter coming, we'd sure remember our guys in the military then, wouldn't we?

These words cannot begin to express my disappointment in the newspaper.

Frank and Charlene Kietlyka Lamton Road Decker

Editor's note: No slight was intended of the National Guard Drill Team. We tried to show a wide variety of festival events, but for space reasons, obviously couldn't show everything.

Photographs of the new Cass City VFW post installation and of a flag presentation, plus articles, have appeared in the Chronicle, so the organization has not been ignored.

By Bill Myers
Taking stock

Criticizing the spelling and grammar of others, which I am wont to do, does provoke comments from sharp-eyed readers. Virginia Hahne, of Delray, Fla., clips a recent column, circling in red ink the word "alright" which of course should have been "all right." I plead not guilty to this one. That has to be a typographical error. All right, already. So you don't believe it.

In the same column, I found seven other errors, all plain typos, or perhaps ones in the original copy. If they reached the paper in that form, I'll blame it on the new typewriter that I'm still fighting.

The column Ms. Hahne sent had in the headline some snide reference to "Myers' 1890 dictionary," which had the imprint of the fine fingers of Managing Editor John Barry.

Well, better an 1890 dictionary than none at all, old boy.

A note from ol' Charley Redfield, now loafing on Cape Cod, reports that he uncovered a skeleton in his back yard. It was the remains of the advertising copy-writer who had spent 10 years establishing the brand name "AYDS."

Not only has the teaching profession rejected merit pay but also the whole bureaucracy. Washington government servants say it won't work because of favoritism and the impossibility of getting fair standards.

This reaction speaks eloquently for the sorry state of public workers in general. It tells plainly that the lack of a merit pay system has resulted in mediocre production. Private business has operated under a merit pay system and finds it not all that much of a problem. I don't think you need a complicated set of standards or performance measurements to give an employee a raise.

The boss knows which persons are producing and which aren't. Quite likely he'd be hard put to express his reasons on paper, for his decision could be partly instinctive. Anyhow, his own decisions on promotions or raises will reflect on his qualifications to be a boss.

Opinions of students could be an important factor in grading a teacher. Parents often can size up the merits of Junior's teachers.

My Aunt Jane, who taught piano privately for half a century, could grade the whole faculty of the schools at Standish. Through the students she had a never-ending contact with the work of the schools.

Condemning a good teacher to the same pay level as a mediocre one, just because they both have the same number of degrees and the same number of years of experience, surely dampens ambition. Why strive for excellence when there is no reward?

Whenever merit pay is mentioned it also brings up another reaction — the schools will need more money.

In a private business if there's so much allotted for payroll, you make it do. A grade B worker gets grade B pay, and grade A gets grade A pay.

When I suggest some teachers are overpaid, I do so from the safe observation point of Beulah, far in the North Woods. I can hear the outcries from this far away, but the brickbats will never reach me.

Your neighbor says

The time is right for a woman veep

Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale last Thursday named New York Congresswoman Geraldine Ferraro as his vice-presidential running mate.

The time is right for a woman on the ticket, according to Martha Emmons of Cass City.

"I think it would be an excellent idea," she said prior to his announcement. "I think it's about time women had some say, you know, in politics. And I think women should have equal rights with men."

"I really think more women should get involved in what's going on in the world."

A woman vice-president would open more doors for women in political circles and perhaps encourage more of them to get involved in party politics.

In the Republican party, Mrs. Emmons thinks women aren't going to get into any more high offices right now. She likes the way Ronald Reagan has turned the economy around and increased employment, but not his attitude toward women.

"I don't like the way President Reagan comes on about women," she commented. "I don't think he'd have a woman in office if he had his way. I can't see President Reagan letting a woman get in."

The political attitude of the country has turned more conservative, including views on women. Even with Mondale selecting a woman, Mrs. Emmons feels the Democratic ticket will lose because the attitude in the country is more conservative and voters probably aren't ready for a woman vice-president.

"I think things in general have a trend to go backwards, because I think history repeats itself," Mrs. Emmons said.

Lutheran Bible school next week

Vacation Bible School will be Monday through Friday of next week at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. Registration is at 9 a.m. Monday.

All children three years of age through seventh grade can attend. There will be Bible stories, songs, games and crafts to make.

A short program will be presented Friday evening. Mrs. Tom Lounsbury heads the session.

Beavers can fix erosion ills cheaply

To help remedy such man-made problems as erosion and overgrazing, wildlife managers are turning to the continent's largest rodent and nature's premiere dam-builder — the North American beaver, reports National Wildlife magazine. Some $100,000 erosion repairs by human engineers can be done for less than $5,000 by beavers under the supervision of wildlife managers.

Facts to know about sleep

Here are some eye-opening facts about a vital human activity—sleeping—which may well surprise you.

A sleeping person changes the position of his entire body at least 80 times during eight hours of slumber. He moves his head, arms or legs more often.

During an eight-hour period of sleep, you'll probably have from three to five intervals of dreaming sleep. These intervals last a total of about 100 minutes. The later dream periods last longer than the earlier ones.

According to researchers at Somma Mattress Company, people require both slow-wave sleep—during which mental activity slows down but does not stop—and dreaming sleep. Slow wave sleep may help especially to restore the control of the brain and nervous system over the muscles, glands and other body systems.

Gagetown care facility waits on Fed grant

It should be known by mid-August whether Gagetown will get a $93,500 federal grant needed for a private developer to purchase the old St. Agatha's school building and convert it into a foster care facility for senior citizens.

Total cost of the proposed project is $293,500, including purchase of the structure from St. Agatha Catholic Church and interior renovation.

Developer Clare Roller of Fostoria is to put up $200,000, which is coming from a bank loan and personal resources, with the rest coming from federal Small Cities program funds, administered by the Michigan Department of Commerce.

If the grant to the village is approved, the money will be loaned to Roller, who has up to 15 years to pay it back at maximum interest of 8 percent, said Village President Bill Downing. The re-aid money is to be used by the village for other community projects.

Gagetown's application for the funds is being handled by consultant Leonard Hool of St. Clair, whose fee is being paid by the Gagetown Development Corp. Hool said it should be known by Aug. 15 if the grant is approved.

Roller, who has an option purchase the school from the church, told the Chronicle if the grant is approved, he hopes to start construction no later than early October and have it done in six months. "We're hoping in early May," he said of a potential opening date.

What will be called Gagetown Senior Manor, he explained, will have 20 beds (three in six rooms and two in one room) for persons over 60 who are "ambulatory," that is, can get around by themselves. They will need basic care and supervision.

Meals and social programs will be provided, the aim being to take care of the residents, he said, and keep them active.

There will not be a nurse on the staff. Services of a doctor will be available.

Roller will serve as administrator. He said the facility will have four full-time employees and three or four part-time ones.

Fees should be about $500 or $600 a month per resident, depending on type of payment.

Roller, who said he operated a similar facility in Fairgrove before converting it into apartments, has applied for a license from the state Department of Social Services for the adult foster care facility. "We shouldn't have any problem," he said of his odds of getting the license.

St. Agatha last operated its Monday through Friday church school in 1968-69. It continued to use the building for Sunday school and catechism classes, and also rented it to the Owendale-Gagetown School District, through the 1978-79 school year.

THE GAZEBO has gotten heavy usage by hospital employees who use it for their lunch hours and committee meetings.

Hospital gazebo resulted from idea of employees

Employees of Hills and Dales General Hospital can enjoy meals at a gazebo behind the building, an idea originated by some of their fellow employees.

The gazebo was built late last summer by hospital employees associated with the Employees' Benefit Fund (EBF).

Employees started using the gazebo last month when the weather warmed up. It was not used last year because it was completed in October, when the weather was cold.

"Originally the EBF purchased a picnic table and that wasn't enough, so some employees thought of bringing blankets for picnics. So, we thought of presenting the idea (for the gazebo) to Mr. (Ken) Jensen (the hospital administrator)," former EBF president Carol Summers explained.

"He was all for it. He picked the site for us and everything."

Jensen said he liked the idea for two reasons: first, the idea originated from hospital employees, and second, it's good for the employees to get outside, where they can still be paged in an emergency.

"Usually in the planning process ideas come from on high. It's nice when ideas come from the grass roots, so to speak," he commented.

The hospital paid $3,500 for construction materials for the gazebo. Hospital employees and their families provided the labor, and the shelter took three months to build, according to Pat Wutzke, EBF president. The EBF is reimbursing the hospital with money raised from bake sales and raffles. Staffers have raised $1,400 so far.

The EBF money, separate from the gazebo fund, is collected by deducting 50 cents each month from the paychecks of employees who sign a form voluntarily agreeing to the deductions, Mrs. Summers said.

The gazebo is used not only for lunch hour but meetings as well. Jensen said there has been "substantial use" of the gazebo.

Sanilac fair starts Sunday

Show horses, project judging and rides are among the many things to see and do at the Sanilac County 4-H Fair starting Sunday in Sandusky.

Sunday highlights will be the first of three Lipizzan horse shows, featuring the famous white stallions at 3 p.m. Crowning of the 4-H king and queen and the Sanilac County bean queen will start at 7:30. At 8 will be a gospel sing.

Monday judging will include the 4-H horse and pony show and the 4-H and Future Farmers of America non-perishable exhibits.

There also will be performances of the Lipizzan horses at 3 and 8 p.m.

Tuesday is "pay one price" day and will feature the Michigan 4-H performing arts troupe at 8 p.m. Judging will include swine, sheep, dogs, perishable exhibits and the second day of the 4-H horse and pony show.

Wednesday, the Sanilac County 4-H performing arts troupe will be featured at 8 p.m. Judging includes beef, poultry, veal, rabbits and dairy cows and goats. 4-H members and leaders will be admitted free with passes.

Thursday, the farm and antique tractor pull will be at 2 p.m. The 4-H and FFA small animal sale will be at the arena at 5:30, and the livestock sale will be at the same place starting at 6:30. Dairy judging will be that day.

The modified pickup and mini-tractor pull starts at 7:30 p.m.

Friday is children's day. The horse pull is at 2 p.m. The tractor and two-wheel drive pickup pull is at 7:30. Judging will include a tractor operator contest, sweepstakes showmanship bicycle rodeo and 4-H horses fun class.

Saturday, July 28, the open-class horse show begins at 9 a.m. and the pony pull one hour later. Judging includes public speaking, and demonstration contest and dairy quiz bowl. Demolition derbies will be at 2 and 7 p.m.

HEALTH TIPS
Responsibilities of pregnant women

By Dr. Ralph W. Gause

If a woman is concerned about having a healthy pregnancy and safe delivery, she has to be responsible for her own health and find out as much as possible about prenatal care, labor, delivery, and care of the newborn.

Many people today still think that it is the physician's job alone to inform the pregnant woman of all she needs to know. This is simply not possible. Doctors see so many patients daily that they cannot relate the many facts of pregnancy and childbirth during periodic office visits.

For these reasons, every pregnant woman should read as much as possible about pregnancy and childbirth.

Libraries and book stores are valuable sources of information, and I also recommend the government publications that can be obtained from health departments and the excellent brochures available from local March of Dimes chapters.

A pregnant woman should read them carefully and make a list of questions to ask her doctor or nurse-midwife at subsequent prenatal care visits.

An important responsibility for every woman is to keep an accurate record of her menstrual cycle. When a woman doesn't know the date her last menstrual period began, her physician can only approximate or use expensive tests or procedures to determine the due date of her baby.

A pregnant woman should also make her preferences regarding maternity care clearly known to the health care team who will assist her.

Most hospitals now advocate family-centered care, and every pregnant woman should arrange for a support person to share in her birth plans and to be with her during labor and delivery. This person is usually the husband or mate but in some instances can be a mother, sister, or friend.

Expectant parents who want to share the childbirth experience should be certain that their hospital and doctor permit fathers in labor and delivery rooms.

Early in pregnancy - a woman should discuss any anesthesia or medications that may be given during labor and delivery. This prevents any conflicts between a patient and her physician regarding what type of anesthesia, if any, will be used.

Along with making her health care preferences known, the pregnant woman should calculate in advance the cost of her obstetric and hospital care.

Once a pregnant woman has agreed to a course of health care, she should see that the program is carried out to the best of her ability. If her physician asks her to cut down or quit smoking or drinking during pregnancy, she should do so. If her doctor asks that she report any bleeding, fever, or other abnormal symptoms, she should do so as soon as possible and not at an office visit weeks later.

Another important responsibility for the new mother is to learn all she can during her hospital stay about continuing care for herself and her baby.

A mother who breast-feeds her baby must understand how she can ensure success in that undertaking. She needs help and encouragement, but it is her responsibility to ask questions and listen to advice from health professionals.

A maternity nurse can show the new mother how the baby should grasp the nipple and how to remove the baby from the breast.

Breastfed infants usually feed more frequently than bottlefed babies and are allowed an on-demand schedule.

In addition, a new mother should be responsible for discussing family planning with her physician, even before the birth of her child.

Spacing of children is important for both mother and child, and it is up to the patient and her physician to determine the best birth control methods for her and her husband.

Wheat forecast up over 1983

As of July 1, Michigan's winter wheat production is forecast at 40 million bushels, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service, 12 percent above last year's production.

Yields are expected to average 50 bushels per acre, 1 bushel above last year.

Oats production is expected to total 18 million bushels, up 15 percent from a year ago. Average yields are estimated at 60 bushels.

Rye production is forecast at 640,000 bushels, up 7 percent over last season. The barley crop is expected to total 1.9 million bushels, an increase of 18 percent.

Nationally, winter wheat production is forecast at 2.02 billion bushels, 2 percent more than a year ago. Oats production is forecast at 455 million bushels, 5 percent less than last year.

Merediths

feted for 50th anniversary

An open house was held Sunday in honor of Grant and Pearl Meredith for their 50th wedding anniversary at the Evergreen School in Shabbona.

Their family includes Mrs. Ann Powell of Troy, Alvin of Snover, Mrs. Loraine (John) Hill of Sandusky, Mrs. Ruth (Frank) Klee of Minden City and Dale of Snover.

About 250 guests attended.

Cass River

WCTU meets

Twelve women attended the Friday meeting of the Cass River WCTU at the home of Mildred Trisch.

"Exciting Challenges" was the theme of the devotions led by Harriett Rayl. In the business meeting, officers elected for the coming year are president, Martha Putnam; vice-president, Beatrice Soldan; secretary-treasurer, Phyllis Wright; promotional secretary, Georgia Thompson, and devotions leader, Harriett Rayl.

Members voted to sponsor two youths who will attend the Youth Temperance Council to be held at the Brown City Camp site from July 30-Aug. 3.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Aug. 10 at Martha Putnam's home.

A representative from the Displaced Homemakers program will be at the Human Development Commission office in Sandusky Thursday, July 26, from 9 a.m.-noon and 1-3 p.m.

The representative will discuss the program, its eligibility requirements and will enroll interested persons.

The program is free. The eligibility requirements, recently revised, are that a person must have been a homemaker at least 10 years, divorced, separated, widowed or have a spouse who is completely disabled.

Interested persons can call the HDC office toll-free at 1-800-292-3666 for an appointment, or come to the office during the times listed.

Commodity distribution July 27

The Human Development Commission will have a surplus commodity distribution, at the following locations Friday, July 27, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. or until the supply is exhausted:

Cass City Recreation Park, Lions Club pavilion at east end of park; Caro High School pool parking lot, and fairgrounds in Vas-sar.

Individuals must report to the distribution site in person and present their surplus commodity registration card. Those unable to go may have someone pick up their surplus commodities only if their card is shown.

Individuals who have not yet received the card must register at the HDC office in their county prior to July 27. The telephone number for the HDC office is 673-4121. Registration is by appointment only.

All households receiving a form of public assistance, such as AFCD, General Assistance, food stamps or SSI, may be eligible to receive the commodities. Households who have received services through the HDC and persons living on fixed incomes or unemployment benefits may also be eligible to receive the commodities, in accordance with federal poverty income guidelines.

The surplus commodities have been made available to the HDC from the federal government.

Sanilac offers child health clinic

Persons under 21 years of age and receiving Medicaid are eligible for free health screening by the Sanilac County Health Department.

Services provided are physical inspection and measurement of growth, child development and learning, lab tests, eyesight and hearing test, referrals to dentists if needed, answers to health questions and instructions on good health care.

All test results are discussed with the patients and if a health problem is suspected, the department can help them arrange for follow-up care and transportation.

Call 648-4140 Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m., for more information or an appointment.

when plans were made for next year. The group will meet at the same place the second Sunday in July.

The oldest member attending was Clarence Smith of Crosswell and the youngest was three-day-old Christine Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith of Bad Axe. Coming the greatest distance was Danette Loeding of California.

After dinner they went to the old Smith homestead for a ball game and games for the children.

New books at the library

WIRED: THE SHORT LIFE AND FAST TIMES OF JOHN BELUSHI by Bob Woodward (non-fiction). An incisive portrait of the talented, outrageous John Belushi and a provocative study of the extravagant world in which he lived and died.

THE GREEN KING by Paul-Loup Sulitzer (fiction). The Green King follows the fortunes and pursuits of Reb Michael Klimrod, whose time has finally come. As a boy of seventeen, he - alone of his family - survived a Nazi death camp, pulled from among the corpses by an American lieutenant. Now he is the world's richest man. No one knows him. No one knows his plans. But those plans, unfolding in an odyssey that spans the globe, involve wealth, success, influence, and revenge beyond anyone's wildest imagination.

THE DOSSIER by Pierre Salinger and Leonard Gross (fiction). The Dossier is a 40-year-old document from World War II that now sends shock waves through embassies around the world. It's vital to the Russians, enrages the Americans and terrifies the French. It will drive a veteran CIA man to defy presidential orders and force a world-famous journalist into a dangerous alliance with a man from the KGB. And someone wants it kept secret at any price. Along a twisted path of altered evidence and lying witnesses, from clandestine meetings in Parisian cafes to the dark corridors of the Kremlin, from bustling network news rooms to the squalid South American lairs of escaped Nazi killers, you are kept on the edge of your seat.

Children's movies to be shown this Thursday, are: "More About Paddington," "Kidnapped" and "Soopergoop."

Seniors are welcome

at luncheon

Thirty-one persons attended the senior citizens' noon luncheon Friday and 16 on Monday.

A total of 5,631 were served at the local site, the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, in 1983.

To remain operative, there must be an average of 25 for each meal. Any senior citizen age 60 or the spouse of a 60-year-old citizen is eligible.

Noon meals are served Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The senior citizen's contribution to the meal is $1.00.

Those who wish to attend, telephone Mrs. Konwalski between 8-9 a.m. the day of the luncheon.
