The accident, the eighth fatality in Tuscola County this year, has been taken under advisement by the Tuscola County Pro-secutor's office. No deci-ion has been made yet.

School sets 2 new goals

The restoration of debate and forensics and investigation of a program for gifted students were two new goals set by members of the Cass City School

New State funding offers $35 per pupil if a program for gifted students is started. However, there must be enough students to qualify for state aid of $5,000 to be eligible to participate.

Since there aren't that many students that qualify in the Cass City District the board is attempting to set up a program with the Tuscola Intermediate District.

Debate and forensics will be added to the extracurricular activities enough student interest is shown and a teacher can be found for the programs. Testing for minimum Please turn to page 16.

SUPERINTENDENT'S PROTEST - Ronald Erickson, Superintendent of the Owendale-Gagetown school district held his own demonstration before the school board meeting Monday night.

A LACK OF a contract with the Owendale-Gagetown teachers resulted in a protest by teachers, parents and students at the Gagetown Elementary School before the board meeting Monday night.

At the meeting a letter was read from the teachers' union, Tri County Bargaining Association (TCBA) informing the board that they will not enter into any voluntary agreements with school districts that have not reached an agreement with their teachers. School Superintendent Ronald Erickson said that the district has an agreement with the TCBA and the Huron County Intermediate School District (HISD) for state aid funding for the special education programs. Erickson said that in effect the letter says that because the two school districts, Owen-Gage and North Huron, do not have a contract, the TCBA is going to withhold $250,000 from them and the rest of the school districts in the county. Job training act of 1984 Fed program puts 100 to work

Since its beginning Jan. 1, 1984, the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) has placed about 100 unemployed Tuscola County workers back into the work

"The program was deigned to help the person who is low skilled and out of the work force," said Marvin Pichla, Executive Director for the Thumb Area Employment and Training Consortium, which administers the JTPA program. Pichla said that the federally funded program is not a giveaway program, but a boost to the person unable of lack of job skills. Pichla said that funds for the program, approved through congress, are listed as permanent legislation, but that it could be reorganized through legislative procedures. "It looks like a continual program, but there is no forever," Pichla pointed out.

Pichla said that in order or an individual to qualify for the JTPA program he or she must be unemployed, meet specific income guidelines and show a lack of specialized job skills. He said that since Jan. 1, about $800,000 has been spent on the adult job training and education for the four-county area of Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac and Lapeer. An additional $800,000 has been spent on the Summer Youth Program that placed about 600 youths from the ages of 16 to 21 into public service jobs in the area. These are temporary jobs at school districts, villages, cities and for the county. The program started June 1, and will expire Sept. 30. Pichla said that the youth must come from a low income family to qualify for the program.

Pichla said that one of the programs offered is the On The Job Training, where a job is found for the individual by JTPA. Under this program, the employer and JTPA enter into a contract where the employer agrees to give the individual training for a set period of time. He said that the employer signs an agreement with said that it is illegal to pay JTPA that states that they will give the individual training on a specific job for a predetermined time period. During this time period one half of the worker's wages will be paid by JTPA and the other half by the employer.

Jim Jackson, Employer Services Liaison for the Thumb Area Employment and Training Consortium, Caro office, said that when an employer agrees to hire someone through the service, the employer will decide on the duties to be performed. Jackson said that he will then use a federal guideline manual, the Directory of Occupational Titles, to determine how many hours it will take to give the employee sufficient training. He said that the time period generally lasts from two to 5½ months. "We don't dictate to the employer what they have to pay," Pichla said. He said that they agree to the set wage unless it is under the minimum wage. He less than the minimum the employee reaches the end of the contract with JTPA, it is up to the employer to decide if they will hire the worker or

"At that point you would hope that the employee is earning his keep," Pichla

Pichla estimated that in the four counties that he administers, about 75 to 80 percent of the employees are put on the payroll by the employer.

Pichla said that JTPA is mounting a campaign to inform area employers that the program is available to them. Employers are required to sign a four-page contract that states that training will be given for a specified time period. At the end of each month the employer must fill out a time card verifying how many hours the employee worked. He said that in some cases the employer may be requested to fill out a report on the employee's performance.

Unlike the CETA program, where the worker's wages were always paid with federal money, JTPA pays while the employee is under contract for the job training.

Pichla said that most of the jobs are in small factories where plastic autorelated parts are manufactured.

The JTPA also pays for continuing education for the unemployed worker. According to Mary Lou King, Education Training Specialist, Caro office, 92 students have signed up for classes this fall. She said that students attend either Delta Community College, Baker Junior College, Mott College, Saginaw Business School, St. Clair County Community College or the Tuscola Area Skill Center.

She said that of the 30 who have graduated since the program began, nine are working full time in the priyate job sector, 12 are employed through On-The-Job-Training programs and nine have not yet found

King said that they will fund the student to take classes in clerical, medical and technical fields. She pointed out that some of the programs that the students take are auto mechanics, computer sciences, accounting, word processing and nursing programs.

King said that those who are going to attend school must apply for Pell Grants, financial aid for students in need. She said that JTPA will pay the difference of what the Pell Grant pays for tuition, books and fees. If the student does not qual-ify for the grant, then JTPA will pay for all of the tuition, books and fees. She said that JTPA will also pay up to $20 per week for mileage, but that the student must attend at least 90 percent of the classes that he or she has registered for.

Commission ok's 2 millage proposals

At a Tuscola County Commissioners meeting Tuesday, county commissioners decided to ask the voters of Tuscola County to decide the fate of two millage re-

The first request, Proposition One, is for a 0.50-mill increase for five years. Revenues gained from the request are to be used for capital improvement, operational costs, and major maintenance and repair to the county buildings. At recent county commission meetings the board discussed what areas they would have to cut funding if no additional millage was approved. At those meetings commissioners said that funding to the county cooperative extension service, the veterans administration, the building codes office, primary and secondary sheriff's department road patrols, the Medical Care Facility, the road commission and the county library could all face cuts or some may be eliminated if the millage increase is not approved.

Electors will also vote on a five-year, 0.25-mill increase to be used for the Building and Site Fund for the county. Voters rejected the millage by a vote of 2.198 to 1.697 at the Aug. 7 primary. At that election voters did approve a 0.2mill increase to be used for senior citizen projects.

County Commissioner
Royce Russell, Cass City, said that the 0.25-mill increase is to be used for an addition to the courthouse annex. "We needed space then and that hasn't changed from August to now," he said.

At the meeting the com-missioners added an additional $135,000 to the Child Care Fund. The commissioners took the funds from the capital outlay fund, public improvement fund and the contingency fund.

At an August meeting the commissioners were requested to add $259,000 to the Child Care Fund to finance it until the end of the year. At that meeting the commissioners came up with $65,000 for the fund.

The money is used to house county youths who are unable to stay at home because of a family or law enforcement problem.

The commissioners accepted the resignation of Chief Assistant Prosecutor David G. Myers.

Myers worked in the Prosecutor's Office for five years and is leaving to work in a private practice in Caro. His official resignation will be Oct. 15.

To heck with Brussels sprout

By Jim Fitzgerald

A young newspaper publisher named Ben Myers has jumped to the defense of the Brussels sprout. I mention that he is young so you will understand he isn't old enough to know any better than to defend such a useless vegetable.

Leading the much-deserved attack against this foul-tasting food is Clayton Preisel, an older and wiser man, who is chairman of the Society Opposed to Brussels Sprouts (SOBS). Preisel lives in Lapeer County where, when he can spare time away from his more important anti-sprouts post, he dabbles as a probate judge.

Lapeer County is only 60 miles north of Detroit, so if Preisel fails to curb the proliferation of Brussels sprouts there, it won't be long before the deathly stuff crosses Eight Mile Road, reaches downtown and forces Mayor Young to seek

"Imagine a dish of Brussels sprouts," Preisel said recently. "Can you think of anything more wretched looking, limp, mushy, ugly and unappetizing? You can't stuff them as you do cabbage, and, according to Cole's Law, they are too small for sauerkraut."

(For the benefit of people who aren't probate judges, it should be pointed out that Cole's Law is applicable only in litigation aimed at determining the difference between cabbage salad and coleslaw. Preisel's use of such a deadly pun is plainly indicative of how nasty the battle between him and Myers has become.)

Myers is publisher of the Lapeer County Press when he isn't too busy serving as chairman of Lovers of the Brussels Sprout (LOBS). "I take umbrage at the trucu-lent remarks made by Judge Preisel in his mali-cious attack on one of the most delicious vegetables to be found in the American garden," Myers said.

Preisel retorted that Myers should watch his language, pointing out that "a truculent might find favorable growing conditions around Myers' newspaper, ally seen north of Washington, D.C."

There was a public confrontation. At high noon on Saturday, Sept. 8, in Lapeer's Cramton Park, the SOBS and LOBS met in the "Fourth Annual Brus- who works for the agriculsels Sprouts Are Not an Edible Vegetable Tug-of-War Challenge." The SOBS won the first three trophies, according to Preisel, because there aren't enough LOBS in the world to tug an unanchored shoelace through a huge eyelet. But Myers claims the first three chal-lenges were held in private, and he promised that Saturday he would field enough LOBS to tug the SOBS into the raging Cramton Park creek that separated the two warring factions.

This is serious. All lovers and haters of Brussels sprout were urged to join the competition Saturday and the Lapeer Farmers' Market was to award $100 to the county library in the name of the winning team. The losing team was to be eaten to death by the carp in the creek. Until Judge Preisel reported them to the Humane Society, some cruel people used to feed Brussels sprout to the carp.

I was editor of the Lapeer County Press when the pre-sent publisher was a little boy. No one likes to see a kid go wrong, and I'm re-ally sorry that Ben Myers grew up to like Brussels sprout. But I can't say I'm surprised. His father likes rutabaga and fried mush, God help us all.

The story that appears in the Chronicle this week about the trees in the village and area was due to the concern of John Ryba, Cass City.

Ryba has been worried about losing the trees and on his own tried to get answers about their condition. Failing he came to the Chronicle with his concern.

From his new post at Benton Harbor former editor Mike Eliasohn is still setting us straight. We said last week that we asked riders what the tags on the back were for. They said it was to honor Dick Allen. Well, Mike says, we have the right name and the wrong guy. The Dick Allen the ride was named for is former Senator Dick Allen of Ithaca and not Rep. Dick Allen of Fairgrove. The race has been staged for about 13 years. About 1,000 bicyclists took part It's lead pipe cinch that most of them didn't know any more about Sen. Dick Allen than I did.

Editor Bill McLeod says that he can't remember a fall with so much rain. You can tell he wasn't here the year that corn stood in the fields all winter because fields were too wet to enter. That's the year it rained just enough every week to keep the fields too wet for harvesting. I tried to think back to pinpoint what year it was, but even with the help of past issues of the paper was unsuccessful. I guessed four years ago.

I found out how wrong I was when Ben Hobart told me without hesitation that it was 1977. Time flies.

Speaking of rain, the Cass City Golf League seems to have an affinity for selecting a date for the year-end outing that is wet.

This year rain forced many of the players to quit before getting around the course. Last year was great, but the two years prior to that brought intermittent weather problems.

Arbitrator says Moore lay-off OK

A decision from an independent arbitrator on two House. grievances filed by the Fraternal Order of Police resulted in a savings of about $19,000 to the Village of Cass City.

The first grievance was filed on behalf of Cass City police officer Robert Moore after he was laid off from his full-time position last December.

Moore claimed that he was laid off from his fulltime position because he is-anywhere in the thirteen colonies before the American Revolution. Anyone needing money had to borrow from an individual.

village's attorney, Clinton

The village claimed that Moore was laid off because there was not enough police activity to merit the cost of having four full-time officers on duty. At that time the village had four full-time patrolmen plus chief Gene Wilson. Moore, a two-year veteran of the force, had the least amount of seniority on the department. Moore has been working part-time for the department. He is presently scheduled for eight hours per week.

The arbitrator, William P. Daniels, reported that the village's layoff of Moore was "an exercise of statutory authority in the management of the affairs of the village.

Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said that by cutting back on Moore's hours the village saved about $24,000 per year.

The second grievance was filed to protest a change in policy where only one officer was scheduled for duty Friday and Saturday night instead of the usual two officers. The Fraternal Order of Police stated that even before Moore's layoff the village had two officers on duty Friday and Saturday Friday nights.

Daniels ruled in favor of the Fraternal Order of Police that the village must have two officers on duty during the week end.

LaPonsie said that it will cost the village about $5,000 per year to keep the second officer on duty Friday and Saturday nights.

Some of the radio shows that Hazzard tapes are "Ranger Bill," a story of a forest ranger who presents a Christian based message, "Story Book Room," which is an educationally based religious program, and "Fables of Faith," stories for young children.

"It is growing. The kids love it," Hazzard said about the popularity of the cast sette library. She said that she has gotten volunteer help from Ruth Dorman of Snover, and Dan Allen of Deford. She added that she feels that kids could be listening to better radio programing than what is on most radio shows.

Last year Joy Ministries Inc. cost about $1,800 to operate. Most of the money went for the purchasing, packaging and mailing of the tapes. She said that about $500 was donated to the tax deductible organization, the rest was paid for by her husband and herself.

Recently Joy Ministries
Inc. received a permit to allow them to use library postage rates which cut their mailing costs from $1.35 per package to 35 cents each.

Joy Ministries Inc. also has a Bible correspondence course where adults and children are able to study the Bible by mail. Hazzard said that the correspon-dence study course is purchased through The Mail Box Club and the booklets are sent out for the individual to complete. Upon completion, the booklet is sent back to Hazzard where she corrects what the individual has been tested on. She said that upon completion of the course they mail a certificate to those who took the course.

Both Garth and Joyce Hazzard teach Sunday School at the Deford Community Church and Garth is a deacon at the church. Garth is a truck driver for Fuelgas of Cass City.

The Hazzards have three children, Jody, Rodney and Nathan, who attend the Deford Christian Academy, Deford.

Thumb B season starts at North Branch

Tawas capitalizes on errors to top Hawks

The preliminaries are out of the way and the Cass City Red Hawks will get down to the serious business of the Thumb B Association race when they travel to North Branch Friday for a clash with the Broncos.

North Branch, always a tough football school, lost its opener against Millington and 14 of the front line players from last season's fine team.

Cass City apparently had the drive stopped at about midfield when a penalty gave the visitors new life and they marched down the field to score.

With the ball on the fouryard line and just seven seconds left in the period, Matt Ernst stepped all alone into the end zone and took a pass from John to get a touchdown and Holmes for the marker. The

The second key penalty came in the crucial last period with the game on the line. With 8:18 left the Hawks were moving the ball and had an apparent first down on the Tawas 33. But a holding penalty nullified the gain and Cass City lost the ball a couple of plays later.

With 6:32 left in the game, Tawas started the winning drive from its own 49-yard

Staying on the ground all the way the Braves picked up yardage in big chunks. It was first and 10 on the Hawk 25 and then first on the 15. Ten more yards in one run made it first and goal from the five. Rob Jackson smashed over for the score. There was 2:31 left in the game. Cass City was not able to generate an offensive threat in the time remaining

In the first period it looked as if Cass City might be steam rolled. After taking the kick and doing nothing the Hawks punted and Tawas promptly moved in to score.

The visitors used the air route to eat up most of the distance. The final in a series of passes resulted in a first down on the threeyard line from where Tawas took it over on three plunges into the line. Jim Pollin picked up the TD. The kick was good and Tawas was in front 7-0 with 8:11 left in the first period. It didn't take the Hawks long to get that one back. Starting on their own 26, Cass City picked up three first downs, one on a 15yard pass from Bryan Beecher to Joe Viney.

From the 25, Beecher ran around his own left end on a quarterback keeper to score. Beecher scored the extra points on a pass-run option play. The score came with 4:57 left in the first quarter.

Tawas got back in front with a sustained drive from their own 22. The Braves picked up five first downs in the march and scored on a pass to Ernst.

Hawk cagers lose 2

The Cass City Red Hawks will be definite underdogs when they travel to North Branch tonight (Thursday) for the opening game in the Thumb B Association.

The Hawks are in a rebuilding year and probably won't win too many games this season, especially in the first half of the year.

The Hawks did improve defensively in their second game of the season in a 40-19 loss at Ubly and that's the aim for the squad this season improvement from game to game.

Cass City was blanked in the first period against the Bearcats as the hosts took a 7-0 lead. The winners added to the lead with a 7-5 margin in the second quarter and also extended the lead in each of the final two periods.

Chris Britt was the top Cass City scorer with five. Julie Maurer led Ubly with 12 points.

CASEVILLE GAME

It was a learning experience, said new coach Daryl Ivankovitsch after the Cass City Red Hawks cage squad dropped a 65-39 decision to Caseville Tuesday, Sept. 4. It was the opening game for the inexperienced

Hawks and Caseville quickly established who was boss for the night. The host girls jumped off to a 19-10 lead in the opening period and went on from there. At the half it was 34-16 and after three periods, Caseville had four players in double figures led by Chris Barton with 21 points. The Hawks were led by Kerry McIlrath with 14. The Hawks were beaten on the boards by Caseville. Julie Burns led Cass City with seven rebounds.

Farms of less than 50 acres increased 17 percent to 637,000, according to the 1982 census, conducted in 1983. Their growth helped to keep the total farm loss under 1 percent, one of the smallest declines in recent decades. The new count is 2,241,000 compared with 2,257,000 in 1978.

At the other end of the scale, the number of farms with 2,000 acres or more rose by 1,224 between censuses to a total of 64,525.

The market value of agricultural products sold amounted to $131.8 billion Livestock, dairy and poultry products in 1982 accounted for 53 percent of sales, or $69.5 billion; livestock alone brought in 33 per-cent or $43.5 billion. Other totals were dairy products, $16.3 billion or 13 percent, and poultry, $9.7 billion or 7 percent. Crop sales to-taled $62.3 billion, or 47 percent of all sales; grain accounted for more than half.

A TIME TO REAP by Michael T. Hinkemeyer (mystery).

Emil Whippletree of Sterns County, Minn., is back and in splendid form. Emil is now 71 and a retired, four-term sheriff. He and his wife, Sarah, are trying to enjoy his retirement, but Emil's young successor asks for help in a grisly double murder. Trixie Miggs and one of her young sons have been shotgunned, and her ex-husband and current boyfriend are automatic suspects. But during the last rites the rather eccentric Father Creedmore tampers (deliberately) with evidence, and Emil focuses on the priest as chief suspect. This embroils Emil in a struggle with the local bishop (73-year-old "Imperial Bill" Bundeswehr) and some nasty, threatening Right-to-Lifes.

HOW TO GET INTIMATE WITH YOUR COMPUTER:

A TEN-STEP PROGRAM FOR RELIEVING COMPUTER ANXIETY by Fred D'Ignazio (non-fiction).

A first book for adults who have never used a microcomputer but want to learn. D'Ignazio's 10-step program for easing computer fears never touches programming, except to state reassuringly that no one needs to know programming to make the computer work.

The book is well organized and centers on things computers do (i.e., software). All explanations are simple and

ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE: A GUIDE FOR FAMILIES

by Lenore S. Powell and Katie Courtice (non-fiction). In the past, when older people started losing their memories, they were called senile. Now the public is becoming aware that what used to be labeled senility is a component of Alzheimer's disease, an organic brain syndrome in which memory and consequently normal functioning are impaired. Written in an exceptionally easy-to-understand style, this book goes a long way toward demystifying the disease while offering practical advice for caregivers who must meet both the physical and psychological problems posed by loved ones who often can't remember what they are doing, where they are, or at times who they are. The advice is not only patient oriented, however. The importance of caregivers taking time for themselves is also stressed, and the authors provide specific examples of how to do so. Alzheimer's is a disease no one likes to think about, but for those who must,

Keogh Retirement Plan

Q. WHAT IS KEOGH?

A. Keogh is the name of a tax-sheltered retirement plan for the self-employed.

Q. HOW DO I KNOW IF I QUALIFY FOR A

A. You qualify if you are self-employed (sole proprietor or partnership) and not incorporated.

Q. HOW DO I BENEFIT BY A KEOGH PLAN?

A. You benefit in your retirement years in that you will accumulate funds for your retirement. The funds you accumulate, plus the earnings on those deposits, are free of current income taxes right up to the time you retire or start withdrawals.

Q. DOES THAT MEAN I NEVER PAY ANY TAXES ON MY KEOGH FUNDS?

A. No, but it does mean that while your funds are accumulating, you will pay no income taxes. Keogh is a tax-deferred plan in that you will pay taxes as you withdraw your funds.

Q. LET'S SAY THAT I HAVE TWO JOBS -- ONE WHERE I WORK FOR SOMEONE ELSE AND THE OTHER AT WHICH I'M SELF-EMPLOYED --CAN I SET UP A KEOGH PLAN?

A. By all means, yes. However, you can only count your self-employed income in figuring your Keogh contributions.

The law imposes specific limits on the amounts that may be contributed under a S-E plan and on the amounts which may be deducted for years beginning before 1984. For years after 1983, there are no special limits to self-employed plans as such.

Caro bus driver 2nd in state

Michigan's 1984 champ-ion small-bus driver is James Locke of the Otsego County Transit system.

He scored highest (549 points of a possible 600) among 39 small-bus drivers from across the state who competed in Thursday's "roadeo" small-bus Lansing.

Placing second in the competition, with 538 points, was Richard Conley Caro in Tuscola County. The Caro bus system has been operating only since the first of July.

Jill Peterson of the augatuck Township Saugatuck transit system in Allegan County took third place with 536 points.

The ninth annual competition included a written test covering rules of the road and driving attitudes for bus drivers, a pre-trip inspection of the bus, and a driving test through a course set up with specific driving problems.

Eleven officers from Lansing-area law enforcement agencies were the judges. The "roadeo" is co-sponsored by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) and the Michigan Public Transit Association to encourage drivers of small buses to drive carefully and provide the best service and courtesy to rid-

The participating drivers represented Dial-A-Ride transportation systems, small-bus operations in urban and rural areas, and transportation programs for seniors and handicappers. All participating sys-tems receive some financial support from the state.

This year, the day of the 'roadeo" was declared Michigan Public Transit Bus Driver Day by Gov. James J. Blanchard.

Nelson new account manager at Walbro Corp.

Equipment Sales Account Manager for Walbro Corporation's Automotive Products Group, Caro. The appointment was announced by Automotive Products Group Vice-president Clark

In his new position, Nelson will be responsible for sales of electric fuel pumps to major automotive original equipment customers.

Nelson comes to Walbro from Wescon Products Company, Wichita, Kan., where he was Regional Sales Manager. Prior to that position, he served as a sales engineer for Milwaukee Spring Company, Milwaukee, Wis., and Helro Corporation, Fraser, Mich., calling on OEM customers in the Detroit area. He has also been employed as a buyer by Volkswagen of America, Inc.

Prior to 1970, selfemployment had been on the decline, largely due to the reduction in the agricultural sector. However, selfemployment on farms has now stabilized at about 1.6 million since 1976, and nonfarm self-employment has increased each year since 1970, reaching 7.6 million, according to a publication issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor.

By Bill Myers Taking stock

Ol' Charley Redfield, the financial guru of Juno Beach, is in an advanced tle-cry is always: state of maturity. Like the rest of us in South Florida he must be careful to keep his arteries open.

His therapy the past summer was to go to the upper altitudes of North Carolina. There the reduced air pressure makes your heart pump harder because you need more air. At the same time, with the atmospheric pressure being less it is easier to shove blood through those scaly old tubes that form a network in his body. Fatty deposits are flushed out, leaving only the one at his midriff.

During the dog days up in the mountains he has had nothing better to do than send abusive letters to me, figures: reviling my taste in investments. Things he has said about bonds shouldn't be allowed in the mails.

His chortles were heard all over Cedar Mountain, when the stock market took that 100-point leap in early August. (He overlooked the fact that it was still 75 points lower than it was in January this year.)

One of his stocks was Broadcasting, which did go up about 50 percent in that period. He doesn't mention the others. Nor does he mention that Cowles pays a teeny-weeny dividend of 1 percent a year, of which Charley will keep half. At this rate of after-tax return if such a stock manages to stay on its high perch, it will double his money in 142 years.

Contrast that with some zero-coupon municipal tax free bonds yielding 10 percent. They'll double your money in seven years, and there's no capital gains tax, as there is on Brother Redfield's lucky stock pick.

The next response will be

"But stocks are an inflation hedge."

I try to puncture this popular myth, but I have little success. One more ef-

Financial Weekly, which must be a smart publication because it carries this column, now and then runs graph showing the Dow stock averages. Below it is a graph showing these same averages adjusted for inflation on the basis of 1967 dollars apparently going up 14 per-cent, real stock prices in terms of 1967 dollars went DOWN 66 percent.

The price index, meanwent up almost exactly 300 percent. Never before was there such inflation in 18 years. During this time stocks were worth a third what they were at the start, in 1966. Some hedge!

But Charley's happy, and that's important.

As a matter of fact, so am I. I just sold some zero-coupon bonds bought in 1982 at 20, for 29, net. That's a 45 percent gain, showing that old maids occasionally kick up their heels, too.

BEAN HARVEST - Harold Little, 5178 Kelly Rd., Cass City, was one of the few area farmers who were able to begin harvesting beans. Little said that the yield on the beans is not so good as in past years. He has about 300 acres of beans planted this year.

WET BEAN fields were the result of rains that fell on the Cass City area this past week. According to Bill Bortel of the Michigan State Cooperative Extension Service, the recent rain will not hurt the bean crop too much providing that the fields dry out so that farmers can get the equipment in the fields to harvest. This bean field on Cedar Run Road had water standing in several areas. The Cass City Waste Water Treatment Plant recorded 1.02 inches of rain since last Wednesday. Because the storms were scattered throughout the area, other parts of the area received more rain. Bortel said that projections for the 1984 bean crop are 10.4 bags per acre, down from 14 bags per acre last year. Bortel said that the rains early this season is the reason for the lower than average yield projection.

Pair sentenced to jail

ail for his July 7 charge of breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling.

Osborn, 21, 4275 Center St., Akron, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering of the Briggs Furniture Store, 3717 Main St., Akron.

Joslyn also sentenced Osborn to five years' probation and ordered him to pay a fine of $1,000 and $1,500 court costs.

Also on Monday, Judge Joslyn sentenced John D. Androsuk, 17, 322 Wells St., Caro, to 180 days in the county jail for his June 27 charge of larceny and attempted larceny from a motor vehicle. Androsuk pleaded guilty to the charges. He was also sentenced to three years' probation, ordered to pay $87.34 restitution, a $500 fine and

$1,000 court costs. Judge Joslyn refused to accept a plea bargain from Ronald L. Richards, 31, 3837 N. Phillips Rd., Cass City. Richards has been charged with armed robbery of Mark Clark and Janice Botkins, Almer

Monday, Circuit Court Township, Dec. 2, 1983. Judge Patrick Joslyn sen-Richards attempted to tenced Edward P. Osborn have the charges reduced to one year in the county to intent to rob and steal while armed with a dangerous weapon.

No trial date has been set. Because the courthouse was closed for Labor Day last Monday, no Circuit Court news was reported in last week's edition of the Chronicle. The following cases were heard by Judge Joslyn Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Marcus L. Craig, 20, 1140 E. Dayton Rd., Caro, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling owned by Thomas Gould, 1575 Pierce Rd., Wells Pierce Rd., Wells Township. A sentencing date of Nov. 5 has been set.

Nolan Nash, 30, 2121 Evergreen St., Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny by conversion of a 1977 Chevrolet van owned by Warren Keezer, Indianfields Township. Nash will be sentenced Nov. 5. Anthony Ruiz, 20, 2066 Mertz Rd., Caro, was sentended to 180 days in the county jail after pleading guilty to attempted larceny of a building Aug. 11. The building is owned by Henry Johnson, 2720 Bliss Rd., Indianfields Township.

Ruiz was given credit for 20 days served. Judge Joslyn sentenced Edward D. Carlisle Jr., 19, 5063 Sanilac Rd., Vassar, to one year in the county jail after pleading guilty to charges of breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny.

Carlisle was given 24 days credit and 30 days deferred jail sentence with no date for his Jan. 8 breaking and entering of the Vassar Golf Course building.

John P. Dykes, 19, 181 N State St., Caro, pleaded guilty to the Jan. 24 charges of obstructing a police officer. Dykes was sentenced to 100 days in the county jail with 56 days credit for time served.

DISTRICT COURT

Monday, District Court Judge Richard Kern accepted a guilty plea from Scott W. Harmon on charges of impaired driving. Harmon was arrested by Cass City police officer Donald Miller July 18.

Harmon, 20, 4400 Leslie

Rd., Decker, was ordered to pay a $192 fine, $133 court costs and is to pay $60 to mental health for screening. He was also sentenced to probation for one year and has had his license suspended for three months. Also on Monday, Debora J. Bimer, 34, 4617 State St., Gagetown, pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicants. Judge Kern ordered her to pay $192 in fines, $133 court costs and $60 to mental health for screening Bimer was also placed on probation for one year and had her license suspended for three months. During the suspension she is allowed to drive to work and educational treatment programs.

School sets 2 new goals

knowledge to be eligible for a diploma is a goal established last year. It has yet to be started. The board is waiting for recommendations from the citizen advisory committee. However, the aim is to have the new program in place by the start of the next semester.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board opened bids to borrow $1.6 million against anticipated tax revenues. Three bids were received. Low bid was 6.95 percent from Thumb National Bank of Cass City and Pigeon.

The truth in taxation meeting required by law was held and because of increased valuation 1.65 more will be raised than in the previous year.

Supt. Donald Crouse explained again that the increase in local tax revenues is balanced by about an equal decrease in money received from the state. The district doesn't benefit from the increased valuation, he said.

Wright said that he re-cently talked to the cooks and they said that everything was going good in the cafeteria. Last year 96 percent of the students ate the cafeteria food.

High school teacher Kathy Kropewnicki said that she felt that the cafeteria food was good, and that she had gotten large portions of the food they served. She added that the cooks are not wearing hair nets or gloves.

Erickson requested that Kuhl and some of the other students meet with Wright so that he can explain the complaints to the cafeteria workers. They are to report to the board at their next meeting.

BUS COST

Erickson told the board that during the 1983-84 school year it cost the school district $1.03 per mile to run the school buses. He said that in the county schools that were listed, the district's cost per student of $244.99 for the school year was about average. Ubly had the lowest of the schools surveyed with a cost of 60 cents per mile. At Wright's request, the board approved an athletic budget of $17,145 for the 1984-85 school year. Wright told the board that last year the school budgeted $18,400 for athletics, but the department used only $14,200 of the funds. This actually resulted in a cost to the board of $8,845.56 because the department generated $5,397.79 from ticket sales and a basketball tourna-

Wright said that football was the most expensive sport with a total projected cost of $4,900. The program generated $1,321.65 last

The board also approved spending $334.20 for 15 advanced biology textbooks.
Science teacher Manuel Thies said that he has been teaching the class for three years without a textbook. He told the board that he has been using copies from other books he had.

The board approved $500 to the high school yearbook fund to pay off a $400 back debt to the printer and the remainder to be used to start the students on this year's yearbook.

At the request of Dick not fit for games.

Glidden, junior high school girls' basketball coach, the board agreed to allow the girls to use the Owendale High School gymnasium for home basketball games. Glidden said that the floor in the Gagetown gymnasium is in bad shape and

Supervisor William O'Dell told the board that he would go to the Tuscola County Road Commission to see if they can get a speed limit sign put up on the road, and to see what else can be done about the problems with the dust and traf-

The board agreed to have clerk Nursie Kloc contact county clerk Elsie Hicks to see if the township can go back to using paper ballots for the November election. Kloc said that she felt that too many of the township's voters were unsure of the new voting machines. Kloc said that after she talked to Hicks she found out that it was too late to get paper ballots for the November election. She said that because the district has over 500 registered voters they would have to split the district into two precincts. Kloc said that the township didn't have time to properly split the district.

Kloc said that the board agreed to ask the township residents for a three year, 11/2-mill increase to upgrade the roads in Novesta Township. She said that the 1½ mills would generate about $24,000.

At the meeting, the board held a public hearing on the tax roll back from an allocated 1.65 mills to 1.4778 mills. The board agreed to collect the 1.4778 mills. Kloc said that the brining to control the dust on the gravel roads in the township was completed at a cost of $2,100 to the township. Grading, ditching and graveling by the Road Commission on Shabbona Road between Phillips and Cemetery Roads are underway. Kloc said that township residents who are not registered to vote are to register at her house, 6195 Severance Rd.
