Charges and countercharges fly at O-G

In a letter written to Supt. Ronald Erickson, Owen-Gage, and distributed to the Chronicle and Huron Daily Tribune, Donald R. Noble, executive director of the Tri-County Bargaining Association, accused the superintendent of trying to garner public attention to further "your personal political aspirations."

When asked to comment on the letter Erickson said, "It looks to me like this is a letter that is very sensitive. I caught him with his hand in the cookie jar...he didn't want that published," referring to a letter written by Noble, that was read at the Sept. 10 school board meeting, stating that the TCBA was refusing to enter into voluntary agreements for special education funding with school districts who have not settled their contracts with the TCBA.

At the board meeting, and in a letter sent to the Chronicle, Erickson said that Noble's letter "smacks of blackmail. We either accept your unreasonable bargaining demands or you will stop the money for our special education kids."

Owen-Gage does not qualify for special education funding because they are out of formula with state requirements. This is because the district has too high a state equalized valuation. In order to qualify for the funds, the school district has entered into an agreement with the Huron Intermediate School District and the TCBA. The special education teachers are employees of the Owen-Gage School District, but by being in the consortium, the school district receives about $30,000 in state aid.

Erickson said that the TCBA was using the special education funding as a lever to make the board accept their "unreasonable demands in negotiations."

Noble responded to Erickson's statements at the meeting by saying that he found it "difficult to believe that any person (who) would attempt to coerce the Tri-County Bargaining Association into an act which may in fact be illegal, could be so sensitive to the needs of impaired children."

He added that special education regulations provide procedures for transfer of programs from local school districts to intermediate school districts. He added that Erickson's letter was "nothing more than a cheap device to gain funds which were intended for school districts with fewer resources than Owendale-Gagetown. I think that smacks of fraud."

In both letters, Erickson and Noble each accuse their respective organizations of not working towards educational excellence, but only for political power.

Erickson said that the bargaining team for the school is made up of home grown negotiators while the TCBA has had four different chief negotiators, all from out of the immediate area.

Honesty pays for Robert McPhail

Robert McPhail Jr. has had his share of highs and lows during the past two weeks.

Saturday, Sept. 8, Robert found a stolen bicycle at a gravel pit at the end of Maple St., a bike that he wanted to keep. But his mother Katherine told him that they would have to report to the Sheriff's Department that they found the bicycle.

That same day, Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson came to Robert's house with the rightful owner of the bicycle.

"Robert was a little bit disappointed, but I told him that he had to give the bike back," Katherine said. She added that it would have been the first bike that he had that wasn't a girl's bike. You see, Robert is the youngest of three brothers and sisters. "He has always had hand-me-downs," Katherine said.

But Robert's spirits were built up again Friday when Wilson and Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy Ronald Begeman replaced the bike Robert found with a shiny blue bicycle. Robert was also given a Citizen's Award from the Fraternal Order of Police, James J. Epskamp Lodge 148, for returning stolen property.

Robert's new bicycle was a used bicycle donated by the Fraternal Order of Police. The bike was repaired and painted by Ron Embling, retired Caro police officer.

Robert, 7, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McPhail Sr., 4118 S. Seeger St., Cass City. He is a first grade student at the Campbell Elementary School.

School ends year in black, audit shows

The Cass City Board of Education reviewed the school's financial statement Monday at its regular meeting and were told by Gary Anderson, accountant, that the audit revealed the school is in excellent financial condition.

School revenues passed the $4 million mark for the first time, increasing $173,000 over 1983 to a total of $4,097,561. Total expenses were up $208,000 to $3,924,050.

The school carried over $462,984 in the general fund. Anderson said that the figure was higher than budgeted because three new busses costing about $75,000 were not paid in the 1984 fiscal year.

Revenues from local sources increased $74,000 to $2,710,829 and State aid jumped $84,000. Federal aid decreased $21,000.

After hearing the financial report, the board voted to keep the tax rate for 1984 the same as 1983. Operating millage will be 25.9. For the 1985 debt, .9 of a mill will be levied and for 1986, .2 of a mill. Total taxes remain at 27 mills.

CHEATING POLICY

The board officially adopted a policy for discipline of students caught cheating. Essentially, Principal Russell Richards said, it puts in writing the way the cheating episode was handled last spring.

Cheaters will be given a failing grade on the project that the student was working on. An alternate assignment as directed by the teacher will be required. If cheating occurs on a final exam the student will be required to comply with those two penalties and also take a comprehensive exam before credit is received.

The policy also makes the person furnishing the material equally guilty with the student that receives it.

Another change in the policy was requested by Sharon Baker, community health promotion specialist. She is working on the program at Hills and Dales Hospital under a Kellogg grant.

She said that she would like to meet with the board to expand the present policy on substance abuse that the school has in force.

The idea is to take a few more steps to try and solve problems at the school level. Supt. Donald Crouse said that he would meet with Baker and have suggestions on paper for the board to study and discuss at the next regular meeting.

The specialist also outlined the program that she will be establishing in the months ahead.

OTHER BUSINESS

Mrs. Joseph Steadman was appointed to represent Cass City Schools in the Tuscola County Intermediate Special Education Parents Advisory Committee.

In-service days were set Monday, Nov. 5, at Huron Intermediate professional development day and Monday, Oct. 22, from 1 to 6 p.m. for Tuscola Intermediate School District.

The Citizens Advisory Committee will schedule open meetings Sept. 27, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the agricultural room and Oct. 4, from 8 to 10 p.m. in the speech room.

The meetings are designed to give everyone an opportunity to contribute ideas and suggestions about the way the committee should be operating, Ken Jensen, a committee member, said.

The board adjourned briefly to survey the road south and east of the high school building. It was decided that more light is needed. Crouse will check with the village for a light on the road and also the cost to the school of adding a light to the east side parking area.

Crouse was granted permission to upgrade administrators' insurance program to that offered the teachers. However, because of a change in insurance companies the administrators will receive more benefits than last year, but the cost will remain about the same as in 1983-84.

Evergreen School has a party line in the 313 area. At the suggestion of Fred Matthews the cost of switching to the 517 area will be investigated. Trustee Ben Hobart said that every effort should be made to secure a private line at the school.

Crouse told the board that the phone situation was investigated before and proved to be too expensive to change. He will investigate again to see if the situation has changed since the last survey.

A session closed to the press and public was held to discuss the possibility of negotiating an added year to the contract the school has with the Tri-County Bargaining Association.

Up pay for sub teachers

The adult high school teaching staff for fall was approved and substitute teachers given a pay boost by the board of Cass City Schools Monday night.

The increase to the substitutes will make Cass City substitutes the highest paid in the Thumb, according to a year-old survey that Supt. Donald Crouse presented to the board.

The raises were granted because substitutes at $35 per day were receiving just a couple of dollars more than aides. For 15 or more consecutive days in the same position, substitutes were paid $43 a day retroactive to the first day.

The new rates are $40 and $50 per day. The new rates are tops for the Thumb, it was pointed out, but they are still less than half the amount paid a first-year full-time teacher. The increase will make it easier to hire substitutes when they have a choice of substitute positions in various area school districts, administrators feel.

The adult teaching staff was approved after Dave Lovejoy, director, reported on the Community Education program.

He said that enrollment in the adult completion program is down this year from the record enrollment of 1983-84. For the opening night Monday, 92 students have enrolled. Last year there were 105 students on the "fourth Friday" census count. We undoubtedly will lose a few of the 92 students enrolled before the official count, Lovejoy told the board.

The teachers approved and the courses they will teach are:

Dale McIntosh and Donald Markel, U.S. History I; Judy Brown, consumer economics; Deb Martin and Kathy Tuckey, writer's workshop; Phil Gray and Donald Schelke, government/current affairs; Robert Ciure and Thomas Smith, communication skills.

Others are: Joseph Guza and Lori Grezeszak, consumer math; Linda Boynton and Marilyn Peters, reading improvement.

Area employment up in September

Most plants take GM strike in stride

The strike against General Motors is not expected to have a significant effect on employment in area plants that are suppliers to the corporation, according to authorities at the companies.

In fact, employment appears to be on the increase now after a summertime increase in the unemployment rate.

A drop of 250 claims last week at the Caro branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission makes the employment picture brighter for Tuscola County for the month of September.

But for June, the most recent month reported, it was a different story. Unemployment in the county rose to 15.1 percent, up from 14.5 percent for May. This is higher than the state average of 11.3 percent for the month.

According to Charles C. Cramer, branch manager for the Caro office, the main reason for the increase was that teachers from several school districts were laid off at the end of the school year. Cramer said that the teachers filed for the unemployment benefits, but they were not given a guarantee that they would receive them.

Cramer said that hiring by the Michigan Sugar Company, Caro, and the return of the teachers to the classrooms helped to reduce the number of claims from 791 to 541 for last week. He added that some of the people drawing unemployment simply exhausted their benefits.

The total number of claims is down from a high of 820 claims on file during the week of Aug. 16. This was the result of temporary layoffs at the General Motors plant in Flint, and the closing of Kroger stores in the area.

Cramer said that the Kroger closing resulted in about 60 new claims being filed. He added that the G.M. layoff was not as large as in previous years when as many as 7,000 workers would receive their pink slips.

Cramer said that a short strike by the United Auto Workers' Union against General Motors would have little effect on area companies that manufacture auto related products. He said that if the strike lasted for a long time it would probably cause local layoffs.

"It is very possible that the strike won't hurt us at all," said Robert Heard, Plant Manager for Evans Material Handling Division, Gagetown.

He said that although about 90 percent of the materials that Evans Material Handling produces is for General Motors, he doesn't expect that a strike by the UAW would hurt the company. He said that in the past, the company has continued to build the steel racks that are used in the auto industry, and stored the parts until the auto producer needs them.

Heard said that Evans Material has recently laid off about 25 workers because of model changeover. Presently the plant employs about 50 workers.

The Gagetown company recently began producing a welded railroad boxcar brake beam that Heard feels will be "very promising" for the company.

Don Tonti, Human Resources Director at Walbro, said that a strike by the UAW could affect the company because some of the products they make are for the automobile industry.

Tonti said that the corporation hired about 40 college students for extra help during the summer. They expect to fill the positions that were opened by the students returning to school with full-time employees. This would increase the number of workers employed at the Cass City and Caro plants to about 340.

Tonti said that the firm does its hiring through the Michigan Employment

Dentist's picnic can't top rooftop wedding

By Jim Fitzgerald

"We are going to a wedding. Two reporters are being married by an editor on the roof of the Free Press building," I said. "It promises to be the most unusual social event of the season."

"No," my wife contradicted me, as is her wont. "This promises to be the most unusual social event of the season." And she handed me an invitation to a "Thank You Picnic" in the Belle Isle Casino.

Thank you "for five years of doing it (root canals) in Detroit" said the invitation from Dr. Joan Lanier.

I was not swayed by my wife's wont. Admittedly, there is a certain cachet to a party celebrating dentistry performed upon the root portion of the pulp cavity. It has to rank right up there with the annual convention of people who smashed their thumb with a hammer.

Especially unique is the invitation's promise of a "Dunk the Dentist" tank — "Ask your dentist if they wish to be Dunked." But my dentist, Jerry Coyle, is an habitual jogger. I would not want to be responsible for him drowning while jogging in a tank of water. His assistants, who scrape my teeth every three months, might exact revenge, and already, without a motive for mayhem, they are not exactly a barrel of laughs.

Anyway, spurning my wife's wont, I will continue to call the rooftop wedding because the root-canal party isn't until Sept. 29. But the wedding was last Saturday and, after I tell you what the bridegroom said during the ceremony, you will surely agree that the celebration of shared endodontics must finish second behind the wedding on top of the Free Press.

There are some picnic tables and trash cans on our sixth-floor roof, and adventurous employees lunch there when the weather is right. It was almost 90 degrees Saturday, and when my wife asked what to wear, I quoted some Free Press beauty tips on picnic attire: "Take along a spray bottle of mineral water to freshen up your face and shoulders from time to time. Let the wind settle your hair into its own style."

Around 150 people watched lovely Nancy Ross, science writer, marry beaming Brian Flanigan, ace investigative reporter. Harry Cook, an assistant city editor who is also an Episcopal priest, did the honors. Harry was fully robed in priestly vestments, and the sight, to some of his co-workers, was as surprising as seeing Boris Karloff dressed like Shirley Temple.

Senior Managing Editor Neal Shine visibly quaked under the terrible responsibility of giving the bride away to Flanigan. A strong wind settled both of Neal's hairs into their own style. I was so distracted I missed with the mineral water and freshened up my socks.

Among the guests were such local luminaries as Judge Justin Ravitz, U.S. Attorney Leonard Gilman, former Councilman Ken Cockrel and Deputy Police Chief Jim Bannon. Bannon wore brown shoes. I don't know why society writers always note what Bannon wears, but they do, and I want to do this thing right.

Brian Flanigan was dressed formally. It was the first time anyone ever saw him in a necktie, not to mention pants that weren't jeans. Brian usually dresses like a defrocked well-digger, and he was obviously uncomfortable in a tuxedo. When the Rev. Cook asked if he would take Nancy as his lawfully wedded wife, Flanigan answered:

"Harry, would I be dressed this way if I didn't?" Root canals don't have a chance.

The Haire Net

What price vanity? The other day a letter came floating past my desk from the First National Bank of Wilmington.

It notified me that I have been chosen to be eligible to apply for a line of credit given only to those who have achieved an "outstanding financial profile."

I can't comment about the bank, but that letter writer should receive a Pulitzer prize.

Anyway that letter goes on to say that after I send them my detailed financial history I'll be able to qualify for the gold card and line of credit up to $50,000.

What's more there is "no annual fee, no monthly fee, no statement fee and no transaction charge...there will be no fee until at least 1986."

Many letters addressed to me by name come from all over the map. You've probably received a few like them from companies you never knew existed.

Sort of makes you wonder if Big Brother is watching, watching, watching and you don't even know it.

But let's not digress. Back to the gold credit card.

It's tempting to fill it out and try for the card. Tempting for just one reason. Vanity.

Let's face it. What possible reason is there for me to have another credit card? Especially one that has a $50,000 line of credit usable only for personal expenses. I probably wouldn't need that for a lifetime. This card is for "personal, family or household purposes only."

That securing a gold card could even be remotely considered indicates a change in attitude. Credit cards were on the scene for many years before one finally rested in my wallet.

As a member of the "old school" for years we followed the philosophy of, if you can't afford to pay for anything (except the mortgages) forget it. What did you need a credit card for?

That's all changed now. Today a credit card is almost a necessity. It's hard to rent a hotel room, and nearly impossible to rent a car without one.

That change in outlook is reflected in thinking that maybe, just maybe I'll try for the gold card.

Maybe I will, chances are I won't. Why not? It takes a little work to submit all the stuff they need. Income tax reports, listing of assets, wages earned and on and on.

That's one reason. The other is, suppose I did all that and they said sorry you're too little a fish in the financial sea for us? That would be a real downer. Vanity, you know.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

In southern Michigan, as most know, only soft studded tires are legal from Nov. 14 to April 1. In northern Michigan, the legal time is Oct. 1-May 1. Most states now have restrictions for using studs. Nine do not.

All in the snowbound north, right? Wrong. Among the nine states where any type of tire is legal are Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky and South Carolina.

It always bugs me a little when preliminary 1982 census figures are issued in May 1984. There's always a doubt if the trends indicated in the two-year-old data are still valid.

If they are, the agriculture census reveals that there are more small farms and large farms and fewer total farms in 1982 than there were in 1978.

Farms 1 to 9 acres increased by 36,466 and farms 10 to 49 acres increased by 57,747. There are over 600,000 farms of this size.

Farms of 2,000 acres or more increased by 1,224 to a total of 64,525. There were four other farm sizes listed and they all decreased.

Oddly enough the average size of farms decreased from 449 to 439 acres.

What the census doesn't show and we all know to be true is that persons living on small farms make their primary living elsewhere.

Willsey arrested for attempting to outrun Cass City Police

A three and one-half-mile high speed chase Sunday at 8:40 p.m. resulted in the apprehension and arrest of Martin A. Willsey for fleeing and eluding a police officer and for reckless driving.

Cass City Police Officer Michael Stec reported that he observed Willsey squeal his tires while driving southbound on Seeger St., just north of the stoplight. Stec turned on the flashing lights in an attempt to pull Willsey over. Willsey did not pull over but began speeding up.

Stec said that Willsey was driving in excess of 90 miles per hour during the chase down Cemetery Road. The chase ended when mechanical problems stopped the Willsey vehicle.

Willsey told Stec that he squealed his tires because he was wearing Army boots and his foot slipped on the gas pedal. He said that he decided to try and outrun Stec because he had just gotten a ticket for squealing his tires the day before, and that he felt that the officer would not believe him.

Willsey, 6737 Church St., Cass City, was taken to the Tuscola County Jail.

Scott M. Hendrick, 25, 4200 Sebewaing Rd., Owendale, was not injured when his vehicle struck a deer

Tuesday at 5:45 a.m.

Cass City Police Officer Donald Miller reported that the Hendrick vehicle struck the deer on Bay City-Forestville Rd. about one quarter of a mile west of M-53. The deer ran off into a corn field. Hendrick was able to drive his vehicle away.

Saturday, Officer Miller reported that a vehicle owned by Peggy L. Bond, 50, Charlotte St., Bad Axe, sustained about $500 in damages as the result of a hit and run driver. Bond told Miller that she had parked her car in front of The Station, 6432 W. Main St., and went inside. She said that she heard noise from the accident and looked out to see a man in a blue Chevrolet pickup had struck her vehicle and was leaving the scene.

Bond's vehicle received damage to the hood, grill and headlights.

Friday, Officer Phillip Klaus was called to the parking lot behind the Cass Theater, 6464 Main St., to investigate the theft of a compound bow from a vehicle owned by Glenn Guilds, 3392 Cemetery Rd., Cass City.

Guilds said that the bow, a camouflage cloth, arrows and an arrow quiver were lying on the back seat of his car when he went into the show at 7:00 p.m. The equipment was valued at $175.

Officer Kenneth Schott was called to the Karen G. Rouse residence, 6406 7th St., Cass City, Monday to take a report on the theft of food stamps from her mailbox. Rouse told Schott that the mailman said that the food stamps were delivered either Thursday or Friday, but she did not receive them. She said that anyone with the proper identification card could use the food stamps.

Steve G. Dietrich, 16, 6633 Voss Rd., Cass City, struck a vehicle leased by Bauer Candy Co., 4260 Doerr Rd., Cass City, Friday at 8:15 a.m. Dietrich said that he pulled over to the side of the road on Sherman St., near Church St., because he had engine trouble. Your neighbor says

Teachers have the right to strike

Should school teachers have the right to strike to settle a contract?

"Yes, I don't see why not," said Calvin Ostrander. He said that they have to make a living and he felt that the teachers need the opportunity for collective bargaining.

He said that when a court forces the teacher back to work it defeats the purpose of the strike. He added that he thought that it is not necessary for teachers to go for a long period of time without a contract and not strike.

Ostrander said that he felt that the teacher should be paid by what they know and their education background, not just based on a seniority system. He added that he felt that the school districts should concentrate on the basics of education.

Ostrander, 25, 6276 Cedar Run Rd., Cass City, has worked for the Michigan Sugar Company in Caro for the past five years.

Council on Aging serves meals and senior needs

Backed by a 0.2 millage renewal from Tuscola County voters, the members of the Tuscola County Council on Aging will continue to service the needs of the elderly in the area with meals, transportation and general aid.

According to Bob Brown, Executive Director of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging, the program, which began in 1974, feeds about 142,000 meals to the elderly in the Huron, Tuscola, and Sanilac County areas each year.

At the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church meal site, 67 senior citizens have been served 2,518 meals since the fiscal year began Oct. 1, 1983, until the end of August, 1984. This is one of seven sites in Tuscola County. Brown said that there is no charge to the senior citizens, but a $1 donation is requested.

Brown said that 36 area residents have been served 5,085 meals in their homes during the same time period. These are senior citizens who are not able to come to the meal sites because of physical disabilities. The meals are delivered to them by volunteer senior citizens.

Brown added that the home meals program will serve the individual with up to 14 meals per week, for as long as the person needs the service. He said that because in many families where both adults work, there isn't anyone around during the day to come in and prepare a meal for the elderly parent. "If somebody can't fix the meal for them, then they just won't eat," Brown said.

He added that not all of the senior citizens who are fed by the home delivery program are permanent recipients of the meals. Some of them may have just come out of the hospital and aren't able to take care of themselves for a short time. "That small amount of service will help them recover faster," Brown said.

He said that they provide a meal that meets federal standards of one third of the federal daily requirements.

At the meal sites, seniors have the opportunity for recreation activities and socializing. Along with providing meals to the elderly, the commission also provides transportation to seniors who are unable to drive. Brown said that volunteers, using their own vehicles, drive other seniors to medical appointments, grocery shopping and other appointments where their presence is required. Brown has arranged for senior citizens to have transportation to hospitals in the Detroit and Ann Arbor areas as well as the Cass City area.

He pointed out that one of the jobs of a caseworker is to help the senior citizens fill out insurance and property tax forms or whatever area they are having problems with.

Brown said that one elderly man who was hospitalized with frostbite refused to stay in the hospital because his rabbits needed to be fed.

The man told him that the only reason for living was his love for his rabbits. He said that a caseworker took care of the feeding of the rabbits each day so that the man would stay in the hospital to receive the medical attention he needed.

HDC window plant to get new building

At a Sept. 12 meeting of the Human Development Commission (HDC) board of directors, the board agreed to purchase Laethem's John Deere dealership building, 337 Montague St., Caro, for $135,000 to be used for the commission's Storm Window Manufacturing Unit.

According to Mary Ann Vandemark, executive director for HDC, the agency needed the building for additional manufacturing space for the construction of storm windows, doors and concrete block vents.

She said that the agency has received an $80,000 grant from the Office of Community Services to expand the line of windows and to add a new line of storm doors.

Vandemark said that originally the agency began building storm windows to use in the home weatherization program that they sponsor because of the odd-sized windows that the older homes in the area have. As their demand increased, they began manufacturing storm windows for homes in the private sector.

Presently five full-time workers and two administrators are paid wages that are generated from the sale of the windows.

Vandemark said that the windows are assembled with screws instead of being stamped out of one piece of metal. This allows for replacement of broken parts.

She added that she hopes to begin work in the new building within six months or less.

The board also decided to establish an advisory council to represent each of the four counties served by the window manufacturing firm. Persons interested in servicing on this council are to contact the Human Development Commission, 429 Montague Ave., Caro.

Many advantages to weight lifting

Most people associate "pumping iron" with such muscle-bound types as Arnold Schwarzenegger and Charles Atlas. Now a medical researcher has released data indicating that lifting weights may also do a world of good for persons suffering from chronic lung disease.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the American Lung Association, William J. O'Hara, M.D., of the St. Joseph's Medical Center in Toronto said he found that patients with lung disorders responded well to a carefully regulated weight lifting program. "These preliminary results are the first to demonstrate the beneficial effects of weight lifting, a form of exercise which has previously been ignored."

Until now, most lung patients have been counseled to take up endurance training such as swimming and stationary bicycling. However, "patients with low exercise tolerance can't do endurance exercises long enough to have a positive effect," Dr. O'Hara said.

Dr. O'Hara had his patients do five simple repetitive exercises with dumbbells each day for six weeks. The patients were instructed to repeat each exercise 10 times, rest, and then repeat this sequence two additional times—making sure not to hold their breath while lifting.

At the end of the six-week program, the patients felt better and were able to more easily perform activities such as climbing stairs and walking up inclines. "A program that combines weight training and endurance training may lead to maximal breathing improvement," Dr. O'Hara concluded.

Dr. O'Hara's weight training regimen is the newest form of recommended exercise for chronic lung patients since the rebounder, or mini-trampoline, used here in Michigan.

For more information about chronic lung disease, call your American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5979.

Self-employed are older

Self-employed workers tend to be older than wage and salary workers; persons aged 45 and over account for nearly half the self-employed, whereas they make up only about a quarter of wage and salary workers, according to "Self-employed Workers: An Update to 1983," published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Travelogue of New Zealand slated in Ubly

Saturday evening, Sept. 22, the Sleeper Public Library will present its first program of the travel and adventure film series at 7:30 p.m. in the Ubly High School gymnasium.

The subject of this first presentation is "Bountiful New Zealand."

New Zealand has often been called a "World in Microcosm" because of its large variety of scenic wonders. Beaches, glaciers, mountains and tropical rain forests are all part of New Zealand's geographic bounty. Not only will the scenic wonders be presented, but the people and customs of the land, as well. New Zealanders have preserved, to a large extent, the customs and traditions of England, and in Rotorua, New Zealand's Yellowstone, they have conscientiously preserved the native Maori culture. New Zealanders are characterized by a love of home life and hospitality.

Filmmaker Sid Dodson believes the travelogue artist has a great opportunity to promote a better understanding between the people of different countries of the world and he will appear on stage in person to narrate the film. A musical backdrop and natural sound effects for added realism will be included.

"Bountiful New Zealand" is the first program in a series of three.

Computer class
for the novice

The Family Living Education program of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service is offering a class "Is There a Computer in Your Life?" It is scheduled Oct. 3 at the Sanilac County Extension Service in Sandusky and Oct. 5 at the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service, Caro. Both classes run from 9:00-12:00 noon and a $2.00 registration fee will be collected.

The class will tell the novice what a computer is, some of the things it can do, the effect the appliance has on the family and how to be a wise computer purchaser.

To pre-register, call Linda Adams, Extension Home Economist, at 673-5999 (ext. 228) or 313-648-2515 for more information.

Gina Gaskill places fourth at Adrian show

Huron County 4-H'er Gina Gaskill, of Owendale, placed fourth in fitting and showing at the Michigan 4-H Standardbred Production Project Show Aug. 26 in Adrian.

The show was the last of a number of events planned to help Michigan 4-H members participating in the Michigan Standardbred Production Project to develop a greater understanding of the Michigan harness horse industry.

4-H members involved in the production program are given weanling Standardbred foals to raise for one year. During the year, the 4-H'ers attend a number of workshops, including a trip to a breeding farm, a session at a large racetrack, a training and driving day, a county fair racing program and programs on health, feeding and careers. The 4-H members also keep detailed records on their horses' growth and development, as well as detailed expense records.

At the end of the program, members take their yearlings to a special show so that judges and prospective buyers can evaluate the horses' condition and training and potential as winning harness horses.

The yearlings are sold at an auction and 4-H members receive one-third of the selling price plus expenses. The breeder who donated the horse to the program receives the remainder.

Selling prices for this year's horses ranged from $1,000 to $8,000 and averaged $3,281.

The Michigan Standardbred Horse Production Project is jointly sponsored by the Michigan Harness Horseman's Association, the Michigan Standardbred Breeder's Association and the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service.

Horses for this year's project were made available by the following breeders: James Downing, of Downing Stock Farms of Northville; Shiawassee Farms, Inc., of Durand; Charles Keene of Mt. Pleasant; Charles Kline of Midland; Don Price of Williamston, and Frances and Grove Stimer of Parma.

Puppets slated
at local Baptist church

The Puppet Prospectors of Nashville, MI, will present a multi-media program designed for the whole family Sunday at First Baptist Church. They will perform during the 9:45 a.m. Sunday School hour for all the children and will be in charge of the 6:30 p.m. service for the entire congregation.

The nationally famous muppets have travelled from Washington, D.C., to Alaska, teaching Christian character and Bible stories.

The services are open to the public and there is no charge.

After the first week of contention with Caro Baptist in a 4-week Sunday School contest, Cass City is 50 points behind. Each week features a special event for the Sunday School, with last Sunday being "balloon ascent" day.

Sunday, Sept. 23, is kids' day and every youngster attending, through junior high, will receive a McDonalds certificate.

Various committees are in charge of the weekly activities under the supervision of Sunday School Superintendent Stan Guinther.

Substance abuse seminar to be held

The public is invited to attend a meeting to discuss their concerns of drugs and their uses by youths in Tuscola County.

The meeting, Sept. 25, will be held at the Indianfields Library, 840 W. Frank St., Caro, at 3:30 p.m., sponsored by the Tuscola County Health Department. The goal is to bring together various groups that are concerned about substance abuse in Tuscola County.

George Sangster of Decker, Janet Perry of Crosswell, and Michelle Magraw of Marlette have been invited to participate in the fall 4-H Horse Galaxy meeting Sept. 22-23.

The Sanilac County 4-H volunteers will join other 1984-85 Horse Developmental Committee and subcommittee members at the conference at Kettunen Center, the state's leadership training facility in Tustin.

The conference will also give 4-H horse leaders a chance to compare county programs and share experiences in an effort to strengthen the Michigan 4-H horse program. Subcommittee members will evaluate the past year's programs and review and develop plans for the coming year's events.

For more information about the horse conference or other 4-H activities, contact the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service office or call 313-648-2515.

This We Believe

A modern version of Little Red Riding Hood

Our American society has undergone a radical social revolution in the past few generations, to the extent our moral balance has been seriously affected.

Now a few of us old diards are alarmed at how soft we have become in matters relating to crime and punishment. Sometimes the victim is abused by the judicial system while the lawbreaker hardly gets a slap on the wrist.

God said in Isaiah 5:20, "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!"

I do not know the author of the following up-dated version of Little Red Riding Hood, but it does focus attention on our crazy, mixed-up moral standards of today:

Once upon a time, in a far away country, there lived a little girl called Red Riding Hood. One day her mother asked her to take a basket of fruit to her grandmother, who had been ill and lived alone in a cottage in the forest.

It happened that a wolf was lurking in the bushes and overheard the conversation. He decided to take a shortcut to Grandmother's house and get the goodies for himself. The wolf killed the grandmother, then dressed in her nightgown and jumped into bed to await the little girl. When she arrived, he made several nasty remarks and then tried to grab her. But by this time, the child was very frightened and ran screaming from the cottage.

A woodcutter, working nearby, heard her cries and rushed to the rescue. He killed the wolf with his ax, thereby saving Red Riding Hood's life. All the townspeople hurried to the scene and proclaimed the woodcutter a hero.

But at the inquest, several facts emerged:

1. The wolf had never been advised of his rights.
2. The woodcutter had made no warning swings before striking the fatal blow.
3. The Civil Liberties Union stressed the point that although the act of eating Grandma may have been in bad taste, the wolf was only "doing his thing," and thus did not deserve the death penalty.
4. The Students for a Democratic Society contended that the killing of the Grandmother should be considered self-defense since she was over 30 and, therefore, couldn't be taken seriously, because the wolf was trying to "make love, not war."

On the basis of these considerations, it was decided that there was no valid basis for charges against the wolf. Moreover, the woodcutter was indicted for unaggravated assault with a deadly weapon. Several nights later, his cottage was burned to the ground.

One year from the date of "The Incident at Grandma's" her cottage was made a shrine for the wolf who had bled and died there. All the village officials spoke at the dedication, but it was Red Riding Hood who gave the most touching tribute. She said that, while she had been selfishly grateful for the woodcutter's intervention, she realized in retrospect that he had over-reacted. As she knelt and placed a wreath in honor of the brave wolf, there wasn't a dry eye in the whole forest.

Sheriff responds to three auto-deer accidents in area

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department responded to three auto-deer accidents in the Cass City area.

Suzanne M. Kidney, 29, 3446 Phillips Rd., Cass City, struck a deer last Wednesday at 8:20 p.m. when she was driving on Mertz Rd. about one-quarter-mile north of M-46. The deer was killed. Minor damages were done to the vehicle.

Kenneth R. Harris, 28, 7250 Greenland Rd., Cass City, struck a deer on Greenland Rd. about one-quarter-mile north of Milligan Rd. About $200 in damages were done to the vehicle in the accident last Wednesday at 11:21 p.m.

Jerald H. Frick, 32, 622 Nugent Rd., Bad Axe, struck and killed a deer Friday at 8:15 p.m. on Bay City-Forestville Rd., about one-half-mile east of Cemetery Rd. Deputy John Oliver said that Frick was not injured and that the vehicle was driven away.

Deputy Ronald Begeman was called to the Haven Hunting Lodge owned by Duane Chippi, 6407 Huron St., Cass City, to investigate a theft from the lodge.

Begeman reported that about $25 worth of whiskey and empty beer cans were taken from the lodge last Sunday. He said that a glass jar with about $30 in small change was left sitting on the counter.

Caro man sentenced to 60 days in jail

Monday, Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from Craig Zajac on attempted delivery of a controlled substance, phenobarbital.

Zajac, 30, 637 Lincoln St., Caro, was charged with delivery of a controlled substance, July 16. Joslyn accepted a plea bargain to attempted delivery.

Joslyn sentenced Zajac to 60 days in jail with credit for one day served, 30 days deferred and two years' probation. Zajac is to complete his jail sentence by serving on week ends.

Joslyn also fined Zajac $1,000 and $500 court costs.

Joslyn also accepted a guilty plea from Donald F. Tedford, 43, 5658 Briarwood, Millington, on charges of felonious assault. The charge was plea bargained from assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder, for Tedford's attack on Marie LaLonde and Katherine Ross, both from Arbeta Township, Aug. 21, 1983.

Joslyn sentenced Tedford to a delayed jail sentence for one year and court costs of $500. Tedford is to spend the sentence at home with his mother. Joslyn stated that he is to be at home by 10:00 p.m. weekdays and by 11:00 p.m. weekends.

Michael M. Conaton, 35, 1161 Pine St., Mt. Clemens, pleaded no contest to charges of obtaining money under false pretenses over $100.

Originally Conaton was charged with embezzlement of over $100 from the Caro Honda Sales for failure to deliver advertising coffee cups after Conaton had cashed a check for $300. Sentencing was set for Nov. 26. Conaton's bond was set at $3,000.

HDC arranges $121,000 in low interest loans

At a Sept. 12 meeting of the Board of Directors of the Human Development Commission, the directors were advised that the agency had received a six-month operating extension for the Sanilac and Tuscola County Home Rehabilitation Program.

Mary Ann Vandemark, executive director, told board members that in the past year a total of $121,000 low interest loans for home repairs have been made in the two-county area. She said that the loan interest rate is from 1-percent to 9-percent, determined by income guidelines. She said that these loans are available to residents who earn $20,000 or less after subtracting $750 for each household member. She added that a total of $4,000 in overtime can be subtracted from the total income.

The board was informed that a double distribution of surplus commodities would be held Friday at the Cass City Lions Pavilion, Cass City Village Park from 10:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and at the Caro Fairgrounds from 10:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The distribution will be for two months instead of the usual one-month distribution.

Cheese, butter and honey will be distributed.

A total of $667,000 has been allocated for the 1984-85 Home Weatherization program. Vandemark said that the grants are available for a two-member family who earned less than $8,500 or a four-member family earning $12,870 or less. The money is to be used for measures to stop air infiltration and insulation. A maximum of $1,600 can be granted to a household.

A report from the Tuscola County Assault Crisis Center stated that in Tuscola County an average of one client per week is provided with assistance as a result of domestic violence and sexual assault.

Vandemark told board members that the agency would be receiving $142,500 for the Community Services Block Grant Funding and $38,265 for the Senior Home Repair program.

Representatives of the Institute for Cultural Affairs gave a demonstration to the board on what will be presented at the upcoming Leadership, Effectiveness and New Strategies workshop. The three-day workshop will be held at the Brentwood in Caro, Sept. 27, 28 and 29. Board members will be given information on long-range planning and how to develop a more effective agency.

Ready for Caseville

Bulldogs lose to Deckerville Friday

Following an 8-0 loss to Deckerville Friday night, Coach Arnie Besonen will be restructuring his offensive backfield in hopes of gaining more speed against a small but quick Caseville team.

Besonen said that despite Caseville not scoring a point in their first two games this season, while giving up 72 total points, they are a much better team than their record shows. He said in a scrimmage against North Huron the Eagles were able to run through the Warrior defense.

Besonen said that he will be using Victor Battisti and Steve Root in the offensive backfield in an attempt to gain more speed. He said he will also use Matt Ricker and Tom Jeffery as halfbacks, but he wants to try to match speed with the small but fast Eagle team.

Besonen said that scouting reports show that the Eagles do not use set patterns in their offensive attack. He added that they will have to play "heads up defense," because the Eagles will appear to be going to their strong side, but will run the play to the weak side of the offensive line.

"We are going to have to stay home on defense. It's going to be rough," Besonen said.

"Our defense played a real good game, but our offense stunk," Besonen said about his team after the Friday night loss to Deckerville.

Three times during the game the defense held the Eagles from crossing the end zone when they were knocking on the door. Twice they stopped the Eagle surge from within the five-yard line, and once from the 12-yard line.

Besonen said that throughout the first half they outgained the Eagles 100 yards to 50 yards respectively, but in the second half the Eagles dominated the game with ball control. In the second half the Bulldogs had eight offensive plays. Two of these plays were when they punted.

"There is nothing wrong with our defense, but you can't play defense all night," he said.

Ed Dorrington led the Bulldogs' defensive surge against the Eagles Friday night with 11 tackles. Matt Ricker and Reid Goslin each had 10 tackles on the evening. Goslin also had one interception and a fumble recovery to stop the offensive charge of the Eagles.

The Bulldog offense gained 133 yards on the evening, but also threw five interceptions and two fumbles were lost. Deckerville had 181 yards total offense.

The Bulldogs will play at Caseville Saturday at 1:00 p.m.

The Owen-Gage girls' varsity basketball team lost their third and fourth games in a row last Thursday night to Deckerville and Tuesday night to Kingston.

Linda Retford was top scorer for the Bulldogs with 20 points and 12 rebounds.

The junior varsity also lost to Deckerville 35 to 23. Against Kingston, Coach Don Cummins said that they were never really in the game. "They jumped out to a quick lead and we never caught them," Cummins said. The Bulldogs lost by a score of 34-64.

Retford was again top scorer with 15 points and nine rebounds. Shelly Ellicott scored 12 points and pulled down seven rebounds in the losing effort.

The junior varsity won their game 25 to 21.

The next game will be against Akron-Fairgrove Thursday night. The junior varsity game will start at 6:30 p.m.

Hawks bow to Broncos, prepare for Imlay City

Imlay City, newest member of the Thumb B Association, will face winless Cass City Friday and Coach Don Schelke will be looking for ways to eliminate mistakes that have proven costly in losses in the first two games.

It was a couple of mistakes that cost the Hawks a chance to win against North Branch as the Broncos turned an intercepted pass and a blocked kick into a 9-0 victory.

Despite the two defeats Cass City will be at least an even bet to top Imlay City. The Spartans lost their first conference game, 22-19, to Bad Axe.

The game's only touchdown came in the first quarter when Jason Hopkins intercepted a Bryan Beecher pass and moved the ball to the Cass City 26. From there the Broncos marched in to score with Chris Davis going over from eight yards out.

Cass City blew a golden opportunity to get back in the game in the second period. Starting on their own 48 yard line, the Hawks passed and ran for two first downs and first and 10 on the North Branch 37.

With fourth and two on the Bronco 27 the snap from center was fumbled and the drive died.

That proved to be the only real opportunity that the Hawks had to score. In the second half a steady light rain fell making passing difficult.

In the second period it looked as if Davis was going to single handedly score a second touchdown for North Branch. He ran for 36 yards for a first on the Hawk 25. A few plays later he rambled for 11 yards and a first on the Cass City 12.

But the Hawk defense stiffened. A running play lost five. Davis ran for nine and the Broncos moved to the four on the next play.

North Branch elected to try a field goal which split the uprights but was called back because the Broncos were offside.

The second attempt failed when Rod Anker busted through and blocked the kick.

The Broncos kept Cass City pinned to their end of the field most of the rest of the game. A punt attempt was blocked out of the end zone and the two-point safety concluded the scoring for the night.

Todd Sweeney was the top tackler for the Hawks with 5 solo tackles and 13 assists. The defense played well all night and with the exception of the opening quarter drive by the Broncos were able to turn back several marches by the Broncos when the ball was in four-down territory.

ROD ANKER, left, and Todd Sweeney were defensive standouts for the Cass City Red Hawks Friday against North Branch. Anker blocked an extra point try and was credited with 4 solo tackles and 11 assists. Sweeney recorded 5 individual tackles and 13 assists. The defense played a fine game, but the offense was unable to move the ball consistently against the tough Broncos.

Hawk cagers no match for Patriots

The Cass City Red Hawks are still looking for their first win of the season after losing 45-29 to visiting USA Tuesday.

The Patriots controlled the game whenever their starting unit was in the game, leaping to a 10-point lead at the end of the first period.

Cass City bounced back to post a 7-6 advantage in the second quarter to trail 18-9 at the intermission.

USA poured it on in the third quarter with a 25-6 advantage and a huge 43-13 lead.

The Hawks scored a 14-2 advantage against the USA reserves in the last period. Despite the one-sided loss, coach Daryl Ivankovitch said that the girls showed some improvement in defense and rebounding.

The scoring for the Hawks was evenly divided with Kerry McIlrath tops with 8 points. Sherry Fritz led USA with 16 and Robin Gaeth netted 10. Julie Burns was the top Hawk rebounder with 10.

Bliss a winner

Jaycee race nets club $155

There wasn't much money made for baskets at Christmas or fireworks for the Fourth of July Festival, but chances are the Jaycee-Strohs 4-mile race will be run again.

I really don't know what the club will decide, Gary Hornbacher said, but Strohs, which furnished the trophies and the shirts, wants to do it again.

There were only 20 runners in the street race Saturday, Sept. 8, that started at the Cass City Recreation Park and ended at the parking lot of Walbro Corporation. The Jaycees netted just $155.

However, with a few changes it's probable that we could do much better if another race is held, Hornbacher feels.

The overall winner of the race in the men's division was Kevin Bliss with a time of 22:14. Kenneth Jordan of Akron won the 20-29 division and Joseph Rangel of Fairgrove the 30-39 age race. James Finlayson of Kingston was first in the 40-49 class and Joseph Gravlin copped the 50 and over trophy.

In the women's division, Sally Sailage of Bay City who races in the 40-49 age group was the overall winner with a time of 35:09.

Maureen O'Connor of Cass City was first in the 20-29 race and Victoria Call first in the 50 and over race.

KEVIN BLISS was the overall winner in the men's competition of the 4-mile Jaycee-Strohs race.

Osentoski slow-pitch champions

The Osentoski Realty and Auctioneering slow-pitch softball team concluded a championship season Sunday by winning the Thumb slow-pitch championship.

Osentoskis took the crown by topping the USA Merchants once and Miller's twice in the double elimination tournament.

Prior to the Sunday tourney victory, the team had qualified for the Amateur Softball Association of America (ASA) tournament at Whitewater, MI., Sunday, Sept. 2.

At this tournament, featuring 20 top teams from a five-state area competing in Class B, Osentoskis finished fifth with a 4-2 record.

Osentoski topped Harry's Tavern from Ohio, 8-2; Miklan from Midland, 11-10 in eight innings; Kamsich Atorney, 6-5, also in eight innings, and Place Upstairs from Illinois, 13-9. The losses were to Hawk's Nest, 6-5, from Illinois, and Tyron, 13-6, from Detroit.

Leading hitters in the tourney were Gordie Kreuger, .609; Ron Hanson, .583; Gerry Hanson, .545, and Terry Winter, .524.

Commission reviews home occupation ordinance

At a Cass City Village Planning Commission meeting Tuesday night the commissioners agreed to have Stanley Woodhouse, of Vilcan-Leman and Associates, Southfield, the village's planning consultant, review the ordinances dealing with home occupations in residential areas in the village limits.

At issue were the home operated beauty-barber shops in the residential zoned areas of Cass City.

Bernard Ross, chairman of the commission, said that he and Village Manager Lou LaPonsie recently toured the home operated beauty shops in the village and found that only Richards' Barber and Styling, 6592 Houghton, was not in compliance. Ross said that the sign and barber pole painted on the door violated an ordinance that prohibits changing the characteristics of a residential structure. The ordinance states that the sign can not be larger than two square feet. Ross said that Richards told him that the violation would be taken care of to comply with the ordinance.

Woodhouse said that several of the towns that he works with do not allow any commercial activity in the residential zoned areas. He added that the village has gone as far or farther than most communities to control the home occupation business.

He said that under the current ordinances the business cannot occupy more than 200 square feet, or 20 percent of the living space of the house. Basements and enclosed porches are not to be included in the total square feet of the house. Woodhouse said that in larger houses, the total amount of square feet available to operate a home business could be as large as 600 square feet. He added that his firm has conducted studies and the space for a basic office is about 120 square feet.

Woodhouse said that the basic provisions of the ordinance may not be quite as definitive as some used by other communities, but the ordinance is performance oriented. He added that the main problem with the ordinance is the enforcement of the rules.

The commission agreed to have Woodhouse return to their next meeting with proposed changes in the ordinances for the commissioners to discuss and decide on.

area, since the contract talks began more than a year ago. He said at the negotiation meeting Monday night Sheldon Markley, Executive director for the

Missionaries to present programs at conference

The annual Missionary Conference will be held at Cass City Missionary Church, 4449 Koepfgen Rd., Sunday, Sept. 23, through Wednesday, Sept. 26, with the services starting each evening at 7:30.

The guest missionaries who will be participating in the Conference are Miss Margaret Brown from Haiti and Jim McDowell from Nigeria. Miss Brown will be present the evening of Sept. 23-24 and Mr. McDowell, Sept. 25-26.

Miss Brown, from Stayner, Ont., is a veteran missionary nurse now serving in the country of Haiti. Before going to Haiti, she spent ten years at the Tungan Magalya Mission Hospital in northern Nigeria. While serving there, she became head of the Nurses' Training School associated with the hospital. In 1975, the Nigerian government took over responsibility for the hospital. It was decided that she should transfer to the country of Haiti. She is stationed at La Jeune and has been in charge of the 27 bed maternity ward, training midwives, working full time in the dispensary and teaching a TEE course to the house girls.

Since 1974 McDowell enjoys his teaching ministry in an international school in Jos, Nigeria, and during this past four-year term, has taken the added responsibility as principal of Hillcrest School.

Brought up on a farm near Markham, Ont., he holds an Ontario Teaching Certificate in chemistry and mathematics and is accomplished on the piano and organ. In July 1974, with his wife Pat, he arrived in Nigeria to become not only teacher but host as well for missionary children and guests at Rock Haven, the Missionary Church home in Jos. They have two children, Mark Andrew, 11, and Laura, 6. Rev. Robert Taylor, pastor of the church, along with its members extend an invitation to the public to join in this year's conference.

TCBA from the Saginaw area, was the chief negotiator for the TCBA. Erickson added that at the Monday meeting the TCBA team came in at 8:07 p.m. and left at 8:23. During that time they left for a caucus.

Markley said that at about 8:23 p.m. they left to go into caucus meeting in another room in the building. He said that when they looked out the door at about 9:00 p.m. all the lights were out and the school's negotiation team had gone home. He added that Erickson was aware that they were still in their caucus meeting. The lights were on and their cars were still parked in front of the school.

"It was typical childish behavior that we have come to love and know so well in Mr. Erickson," Markley said.

Plants take GM strike in stride

A survey of the three banks in Cass City shows that interest rates have remained about the same in the past 60 days. One banker said that the overall picture is much better than last year, adding that they have had an increase in the requests for mortgage loans.

Mortgage interest rates range from 13.25 percent to 13.50 percent for a three-year balloon mortgage. At one bank, a five-year balloon may go as high as 14 percent.

All three banks agree that there is not as much demand for mortgage applications as they would like to see.

By Bill Myers
Taking stock

Some 25 years ago, the boys at the brokerage houses started touting "growth stocks." It was a fine term, for it caught the fancy of those who bought stocks and expected them to go up in price.

It also solved another problem: How do you sell a stock that pays only 2 or 3 percent in dividends? You have to hold the promise of it climbing in market value. So they were called growth stocks.

Trouble was, not all of them did, although it was clearly implied when you bought them that they were going to grow. Why, look, the very name said they were growers.

Take the bluest of all the chips, IBM. What a grand company it has always been! For 10 years, starting in 1968, it tripled its earnings, its book value, its dividends. There was just one catch — the price didn't triple.

Thus, we explode one myth — growth stocks may grow in many ways, but price is not necessarily one of them.

And of course, very, very few continue to grow year after year in any respect. I've told in this column of some: like Josten's of Minnesota, which makes school jewelry; of Citizens Utilities (OTC); Harvey Hubbell (electrical fittings); Deluxe Check Printers. They have essentially unbroken records for 20 years or more in dividends, earnings and book value.

Even another blue chip, Eastman Kodak, saw its profit drop 51 percent in 1983.

A Boca Raton, Fla., widow was talked into buying $50,000 worth of an E.F. Hutton "Growth Stock" fund in July 1983. In February of 1984, seven months later, she cashed it in for $45,000. It grew, all right — $5,000 smaller.

Let's ignore these little examples — as no doubt most of you will — and plunk $10,000 of your late husband's hard-earned cash into a Growth Stock. The nice young man at the brokerage house has told you it is bound to grow at least 10 percent a year. (More likely he has tossed out such promises as "a double in six months.")

This dynamic stock doesn't pay dividends, because the earnings are plowed back and the earnings compound on the higher assets of the company. In five years, compounding every six months, your $10,000 becomes $16,288, if the 10 percent annual rate is a reality.

The widow is probably impressed.

But if she wants to use that gain of $6,288 in 1989 she has to pay a capital gains tax. If her income puts her in a 40 percent tax bracket then the tax is $1,066.

This simple country boy offers an alternative to the $10,000 investment in a Growth Stock — a little old zero-coupon tax-exempt bond. You can get those to yield 10 percent. Your $10,000 in this investment would also produce a $6,288 gain in five years — but with no tax to pay. Compare:

Growth stock, gain after tax $5,282.

Zero coupon, tax-free, gain $6,288.

Only if the Growth Stock went up in value 12 percent a year would it beat the zero-coupon tax-free bond. It would mean that the stock you bought now at 100 would have to hit 179 five years from now. (The number comes from compounding 100 at a 12 percent rate for 5 years.)

Most Americans spend more heating the outside of their home than the inside.

Next time your furnace is on, go outside and watch all the heat escaping from the chimney.

That's heat you paid for but aren't getting. You might as well throw money into the wind.

Not any more... the IFC FuelSaver turns your conventional gas, oil or propane furnace into a modern pulsing unit. You save a guaranteed 20% to 40% on your heating bills. And your home or office becomes more comfortably heated from top to bottom, side to side.

Give us a chance to prove it to you, and we'll give you a demonstration you'll never forget. You'll see a furnace produce FREE HEAT. It could be your furnace.
