The long term trend of reduced student enrollment continued unabated in 1984-85, according to authorities at the various schools.

Enrollment in area public schools has shown a derease compared to last year's fourth Friday census count. It is from this count that the schools receive state funding for the present school year.

Of the nine public schools in the county, only Mayville, Reese and Unionville-Sebewaing reported an increase in total student enrollment. Mayville reorted 1,402 students, an in-

Novesta mulls punch cards

Clayton Turner, El lington Township clerk, was at the Novesta Township meeting Monday night to explain to the township board about the punch card voting machines that they use in Ellington Township.

Novesta Presently ownship is using a lever ype voting machine that township residents have had difficulties with at past elections. Township Clerk Nursie L. Kloc said that the punch card type of voting machine would reduce the time that it takes for tabulating the votes from six workers working about six hours, to one person working for about 45 miutes for a national election. The township board discussed the purchase of the machines, but no decision was made to purchase them. The township would need four machines at about $4,000 each.

Trisches use many varieties of apples to produce better cider taste

About ten years ago, asked if he was crazy. He when Lloyd Trisch began told Trisch that he would a neighbor stopped by and planting an apple orchard, never live long enough to harvest any of the apples. Trisch was in his early 60's then

"I asked him what he was going to leave behind," Trisch said. Today the trees are producing sweet, juicy apples, and Lloyd Trisch, apples, and Lloyd Trisch, 72, is planting more trees. "It is very joyful to see my grandchildren picking an apple off one of the trees that I planted," Trisch said. Today Trisch and his wife Ruth have about 1,000 apple, pear and peach trees. All of the trees are of the semi-dwarf variety that will reach a height of about 12 feet. Ruth said that the fruit on the semi-dwarf trees is easier to pick because the trees don't get as tall as a regular fruit tree. "We did it (began the orchard) more or less as a hobby, but it got out of hand," Lloyd said.

'We don't lack for something to do." Ruth said. "Being outdoors has kept our minds and bodies in good shape." She added that she lost about 10 pounds this summer working in the orchard and running the fruit stand they operate. About four years ago they began selling homemade cider at the fruit stand. Lloyd said that he uses the smaller apples and apples that the wind has blown off the tree in the cider press. He adds different varieties of apples in the press to give the cider a taste that will not be too sweet or too tart. The press that Lloyd uses will hold about one bushel of apples at a time. After washing the apples he shreds them into a screening cloth inside of a wooden crock. When the crock is full he presses the shredded apples to squeeze the juice from them. The juice is poured through another cloth screen and it is ready to be bottled.

Lloyd said that he gets about two gallons of cider from each bushel of apples. So far this year he has processed about 300 gallons of cider. The cider sells for $2 per gallon, but every customer that comes to the fruit stand gets a free glass of the homemade cider. By the end of the season he estimates that he will press about 600 gallons of cider from his orchard. Lloyd's roots in the apple orchard business go back to when he was a young boy working for his father during the depression. He helped his father in the family orchard for $1 per week and room and board. Throughout the years the orchard went by the wayside until Lloyd started planting apple trees in 1972, the year that he inherited the family farm. "What would dad say if he could rise up and see me now ?" Lloyd said. It took about five years for the trees to begin producing apples. Ruth said that they purchased the trees from Hartford Nursery in Benton Harbor. The trees will reach peak performance in about seven years. Along with the several different varieties of apples, they grow five different types of peaches, Bartlett and Bosc pears and different types of sweet cherries. They also grow strawberries and Sanley prune plums. "This was a tremendous year for apples. I have never seen the trees this Please turn to page 5.

Laycock said that he had expected to lose the 12 students, so the loss of revenue was considered when programs for the 1984-85 school year were developed.

O-G teachers sign pact calling for 18% raise over 4 years

After 15 months without a contract, the Owen-Gage School Board and the Tri-County Bargaining Association, the union representing the teachers, reached an agreement last Friday.

Under the terms of the agreement, the teachers will receive a retroactive wage increase of three percent for the first year of the contract, the 1983-84 school year. A teacher with a bachelor's degree and one year of experience will receive a yearly salary of $14,728. This is a $429 increase over the 1982-83 contract.

During the four years covered by the contract, the teachers will receive a total wage increase of 18 percent: three percent for the first year, six percent in the second year and four and five percent for the last two vears of the contract, respectively.

At the end of the fouryear contract, a teacher with the same one-year of experience will be earning a yearly salary of $17,048.

Over the four years this is an increase of $2,320. The teachers will also receive reimbursements for

It isn't chauvinistic to acknow-ledge a basic, biological fact of nature. And it isn't my fault that it is undeniab-ly dumb to try on shoes in-cessantly, or to talk on the phone all morning to some phone all morning to some-

Fire prevention seminar

to be at Colony House

Fire prevention week is Oct. 7-13 and area firemen are using the occasion to reveal details of a Fire Prevention Seminar slated at Colony House Saturday, Oct. 27, with all fire departments in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties participating. The Elkland Township and Caro Fire Departments will use the occasion to celebrate their 100th year of service to the area. The seminar will start at 12 noon with a display on antique and modern fire equipment. Displays of antique fire trucks and equipment will be compared with new fire trucks, fire fighters' clothing and equipment used today. In addditon, visitors will see smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, wood burn-ing stoves, kerosene burners and equipment used to escape from second story buildings. Demonstrations are slated to show the proper use of fire extinguishers. Insurance agents will be sources' fire officers. Tentatively slated is an officer from the State Fire Marshall office to answer questions.

There will be a parade Saturday morning in Cass City of old and new fire trucks.

NOT FOR PROFIT

There will be an admittance charge of $2.50 per person and that includes a dance from 8 to 11 p.m.

Bill Wallace says that in Germany they are C-A-R-E-F-U-L about security. When we debarked from the plane, every passenger was subjected to a physical search and the luggage was very carefully examined, he said. Wallace had a satchel full of photo equipment and didn't want to put it through the X-ray. There was a communication gap and Wallace figured the girl said okay to go when what she meant was that the machine would not hurt the photo equipment. He passed through and bingo! Two guards were there aiming shotguns down his throat.

The boys at the coffee shop were sympathetic. Can't blame the guards, they said. After all, you do look awfully suspicious to us and we know you.

Don't get in a battle of trivia with Cass City's Bob Ridenour. Not about the 1968 Tiger baseball team anyway. Ridenour has a copy of a paper telling about Detroit's world championship team. He passed it around the coffee table for inspection and farmer Dick Donahue was one of the avid readers.

He didn't care much about the Tigers but he just had to check those crop prices of 16 years ago.

South America consisted of a group of banana republics populated by radical, unthinking hotheaded, people while the United States housed levelheaded, stable, and progressive citizens. That myth has been fostered in fiction novels and the news reports of revolution and anarchy that are reported with monotonous regularity.

If you look closely, the inescapable conclusion is that we are temperamental twins of our neighbors to the south.

No revolutions here, you say? Given the economic conditions of South America, how long would our fabled Republic last? Conditions weren't nearly as bad when we revolted against England. The American tendency towards radicalism surfaces again and again. The football team wins the conference and the fans pull down the goal posts. Fences are torn down and the playing field dug up by celebrat-ing Tiger fans. That's comparable to the trampling of fans when a soccer match is held in Brazil.

Those are trivial examples, really, but our radical nature surfaces in more serious and tragic ways. Monday, a story was headlined across the nation about the burning of clinics that perform abortions. Right-to-life spokesmen were quick to say that it wasn't their fault.

It wasn't, of course, but what are the odds that it was one of the radicals in the group that was responsible? Someone who felt that picketing and supporting political candidates on

Ford Authorized Leasing Pro What is leasing?

There is nothing mysterious about leasing.

Leasing is merely using someone else's property for an agreed-to period of time for an agreed-to schedule of payments.

When you buy, you make a commitment to pay for the total lifetime of the car, and you usually "get something back" in the form of cash for the used car or a trade-in allowance.

In leasing, you commit and pay for only that portion of the car's lifetime that you use.

South African gives view on political practices

One of the reasons that the whites in the country. Kerry McIlrath came to the United States was for the opportunity to be able to express her views to Americans about the way things are in her home country of South Africa. McIlrath, 18, comes from Empagen, South Africa, and is part of the Rotary country. student exchange program. She is a senior at Cass City High School. McIlrath said that she wanted to come to the U.S. to tell people that they can't judge the people of South Africa by what they read in newspapers and see on television news. She said that she feels that the only reporting on South Africa is about the racial turmoil in the country and that this is the impression that Americans have about all of the people in South Africa. "Every white in South Africa knows that it is wrong," she said about the apartheid law, but she feels that it is the only view of South Africa that Americans see. Apartheid is the term used for the racial segregation policies that discriminate against the reason. True, the Bible makes this claim for itself. "All scripture is given by inspi-ration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteous-ness." II Timothy 3:16. It is the text book of our Christian faith ... which raises an interesting question. Can a person disbelieve the text book of a movement and still be considered an adherent? Or, can a person discredit the founder of a movement and still be considered an adherent? Let's explore that a little bit.

If a man stood up and said, "I am a faithful, dedicated Muslim," and then proceeds to discredit Muhammad and express disbelief in the Koran, is there a Muslim anywhere that could honestly embrace him and accept him as a bona fide Muslim when he disbelieves the founder and discredits the text book of the movement?

Apparently only in Christianity can a man stand under a denominational "Christian" flag and profess to be a bona fide Chris- view of God, man and saltian and be accepted by the many people to disbelieve in both the deity of Christ and the infallibility of the Bible.

The Bible contains a re-markable unity. Through-out its pages it presents ju-one view of God; one view of man, and one way of sal vation. But consider its diversity in the face of this unity: It was written by some 40 different human authors over a span of more than 1500 years, during the time of 5 different world empires. It was written by men from all walks of life, and in different literary styles. Yet always withou. contradiction relative to its day. Of the 1,400 registered voters in the district, 133 voted. Those who did vote passed the two-year, 1.75mill proposal by a vote of 111 to 22.

At an Aug. 13 board meeting, Owen-Gage Superin-tendent Ronald Erickson told the board that the school district would need a millage increase because they needed to replace some of the three mills that had expired in June.

Erickson said that of the 1.75 mills that the voters approved Tuesday, 1 mill would be used for payments on the sewer projects in Gagetown and Owendale. The rest of the millage increase will be used to maintain programs at the school. One mill generates the district about $45,000. Erickson said that until Tuesday he was not sure

KERRY McILRATH

McIlrath said that she felt that Russia is supporting terrorists in the attempt to take over the government. She added that Russia doesn't care about the rights of the people. They are just interested in the land and the minerals that the country has.

"I want people to realize that something is being done," she said, adding that the government has recently built over 500 schools for the education of the blacks. She said that the government's present plan is for the education of the blacks so that when the time comes for black rule they will be better prepared than other African countries She said that the apartheid ruling has built up a lot of racial tensions in the country. "Now we are in a position where we have to put right history, and that is a difficult thing to do," she said.

'We have seen what has happened in Zimbabwe, and we don't want that to happen (in South Africa),' she said. She added that in Zimbabwe the terrorists were constantly trying to overthrow the white gov-ernment until finally the government turned the leadership over to the black revolutionists. She said that since the takeover of the country, it has gone dow-nhill politically and economically. Her parents recently visited Zimbabwe and they told her that the were practically empty and that the country was economically and politcountry "I can understand such an uproar because it (apartheid) is wrong," she said. 'If we handed it over to the blacks they would be in worse shape than it is now. We have to deal with it very slowly so we don't lose our country." She said that she felt that the progression was going at a safe pace. She said that there are a lot of whites who are working to get the apartheid law taken from the books. She added that the people in Cass City seem to be as prejudiced as they are in South Africa.

She said that she expects that blacks will be in control of South Africa within 10 to 15 years. She hopes that they are able to effectively take over control of the country

"It would be a shame to see South Africa go down, she said.

She said that because of the government's stand on apartheid, they have been barred from participating in international events, and boycotts have been sanctioned against the country. South Africa was not allowed to attend the recent Olympic games and they no longer get British television shows and movies because the actors' guild has set a boycott against the country.

'The government knows about the problem, but obviously they aren't going fast enough for other countries," she said. She taped some of the Olympic events

If a man stood up and said, "I am a faithful, dedicated Communist," and then proceeds to discredit Karl Marx's "Communist Manifesto," pointing out all of its mistakes, and discredit Marx himself, finding fault with him and pointing out he was not everything he pretended to be...is there a Communist anywhere in the world that would embrace him and recognize him as a true Communist? Not if he dis-world as such, and yet deny that Christianity's Founder, the Lord Jesus Christ, was everything He professed to be, and deny and discredit the text book of the movement, the Bible, and still not suffer credibility as a true Christian. I suggest to you that if a person refuses to believe in the absolute deity of Jesus Christ, and the absolute inerrancy of the Bible, he should in all honesty call himself by a name other than "Christian." And that was true until only recently

'The same Great Lakes breezes that temper Michigan's climate and produce a long, lingering autumn spectacle also provide an ideal climate for Michigan's small but select and growing wine industry,' said John Savich, Acting Director of the Bureau.

"As the cultivation of French Hybrid and Vinifera grapes increases in Michigan, we can add another activity to the traditional list of leisure activities in Michigan--particularly during the autumn color tour season," he said. With 17.5 million acres of forest, with more native varieties of trees than any other state, with its great north-to-south length, Michigan can put on a color show that is unmatched anywhere, he said. Color usually starts in the tip of the Upper Peninsula between the middle of September and the first of October, working its way slowly down the state, reaching the southern border about the end of the month. The autumn color tour guide consists of a dozen glovebox-sized cards mapping out 24 colorful tours -from the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula to the shores of Lake Erie -- and listing activities and attractions along each route. Copies of the Autumn Color Tour Guide and the

Owen-Gage tops Cards; prep for league leading Peck Friday

Last week Owen-Gage football coach Arnie Besonen said that a team their shouldn't lose homecoming game. Friday night Besonen proved to be a man of his word.

On a cold, rain drenched night, the Owen-Gage Bulldogs avenged a 1983 homecoming loss by shut-ting out the Carsonville-Port Sanilac Cards 21-0 to win the 1984 homecoming.

A stingy Bulldog defense easily handled the Cards, allowing them only 50 yards total offense. The Bulldog offense was able to gain 192 yards in the game. The victory was capped off with a 68-yard touchdown romp by Ron Susalla with 11:38 left in the final quarter. Susalla took a Card punt on the Bulldog 38-yard line and sprinted through the Cards punting team defense for the final score of the game. Now it will be the Bulldogs' chance to spoil Peck's hopes of a homecoming victory when the two teams square off Saturday in Peck. "Peck is the best team in the league, on paper that is," Besonen said. Peck is tied for first place with Deckerville in the North Central Thumb League with a 3-1 record. Friday night against Kingston, Peck narrowly escaped their second loss of the season. The Pirates were able to pull the game out of Kingston's grasp with a 55yard pass play with 36 seconds left in the game to put Peck on top 24-22. It was Kingston's first loss of the season. but scored a safety and caused two turnovers. Ed Dohring led the defense

Q. HOW DO I KNOW IF I QUALIFY FOR A KEOGH PLAN?

A. You qualify if you are self-employed (sole proprietor or partnership) and not incorporated.

Q. HOW DO I BENEFIT BY A KEOGH PLAN?

A. You benefit in your retirement years in that you will accumulate funds for your retirement. The funds you accumulate, plus the earnings on those deposits, are free of current income taxes right up to the time you retire or start withdrawals.

Q. DOES THAT MEAN I NEVER PAY ANY TAXES ON MY KEOGH FUNDS?

A. No, but it does mean that while your funds are accumulating, you will pay no income taxes. Keogh is a tax-deferred plan in that you will pay taxes as you withdraw your funds.

Q. LET'S SAY THAT I HAVE TWO JOBS -- ONE WHERE I WORK FOR SOMEONE ELSE AND THE OTHER AT WHICH I'M SELF-EMPLOYED --CAN I SET UP A KEOGH PLAN?

A. By all means, yes. However, you can only count your self-employed income in figuring your Keogh contributions.

Come, have a seat, and listen while I tell you of sad tales of poor investments. All were made by intelligent people. In most cases salesmen were "nice young men" of the leading brokerage houses of America.

They're all current stories --- the last year or so. Some investments were sound, but sold to the wrong people, for the wrong purposes. One or two were shady.

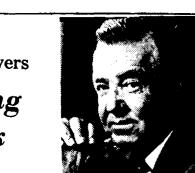

In every single case, the buyer was sorry he had bought. We'll change names and place so as not to embarrass the unfortunate.

1. Martha had a fine assortment of gilt-edge, AAA tax-exempt bonds, $100,000 worth. They were paying her $10,500 a year in interest. A nice young man in a broker firm in Delray Beach persuaded her to sell the bonds and buy a taxexempt mutual fund.

It cost her about $1500 in commissions to sell the bonds. It cost her $4,000 in a load charge to buy the mutual fund. The mutual fund paid her $9,500 a year in interest. The first year, then, she was out a total of $6,500 in commissions, load charges and lower return. And the mutual fund had considerably less quality than the bonds she already had

2. Kate, who lived in Colorado, was high pressured into buying an "estate con-servation plan" the main feature of which was that it cost her $700 for $2,000 worth of life insurance per year. The company made the pages of the Wall Street Journal a few days later when it paid the state of Illinois $150,000 in penalties and refunds for selling the same package in that state.

3. Albert, of Saginaw, MI, was a widower and 86. The thing he needed most was steady income. A nice young fellow from one of the "Big Four" of brokers sold him a "growth stock" fund — $50,000 worth, with dividends of 5 percent a year. Instead of growing, it shrank — $5,000 in the first six months he had it. It cost him another $5,000 to re-was going up 50 percent, they said. He could put up only 30 percent and some bank in another state would loan him the other 70 percent. The bank rates were sky-high, the salesmen's commissions were sky-high, and of course his income depended solely on gold going up in price. It would have to go up 30 percent in a year for him to get as much as he could have gotten with a government bond. Instead, the price of gold went down 5 percent the same month he parted with his money.

Erickson said that the teacher who retired was replaced with a teacher with less seniority, so he will be at a lower pay rate. He added that a percentage increase of a teacher with less seniority will cost the district less than a teacher who has been teaching in the district for several years.

Erickson said that the board refused to accept the original letter of understanding because he felt that it was "pure unadulter-ated blackmail" by the TCBA to force Owen-Gage into signing a contract by Sept. 27.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN Moore gets four-year sentence

A Cass City man was sen-tenced Friday by Huron County Circuit Court Judge M. Richard Knoblock, to serve a minimum of four years in the Riverside Correction Facility. David H. Moore, also known as David H. Elenbaum, 18, 6359 Robinson Rd., Cass City, faces a maximum charge of 15 years on charges of breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny at the Vernon Schulz residence, 4494 Rescue Rd., Grant Township. Feb. 14, Huron County Sheriff's Department deputies investigated the theft of $2,000 from a safe at the residence.

Moore's sentence will be served concurrently with a Sanilac County sentence of breaking and entering the Robert Palmer residence, 18 E. Eddy St., Sandusky. Moore pleaded guilty to both charges.

The fund had the typical lists of "growth" stocks, and maybe sometime they will. Meanwhile, a man at 86 doesn't have that many years to wait, and meanwhile, too, his capital has shrunk by $10,000.

Another fellow. this one from North Palm Beach, got into a similar deal. The company kept coming back for more money each year, until he got tired and wrote the whole thing off.

5. Some fast-talking boys from Miami got another fellow over the phone. Gold

The higher face interest rate serves as a buffer for investors to keep the notes more marketable for resale if their value would otherwise drop due to such things as passage of Proposal C or a downturn in the auto industry, Bowman said.

Citibank's Richard Kezer concurred with Bowman's assessment. He said the concern of the financial community about Proposal "is what it raises in the minds of investors of the
