Ask Huron voters for skill center millage

Voters in Huron County will be going to the polls twice this November. The first time, they will vote in the presidential election. The second time, one week later, they will be voting on a millage request for a county-wide vocational skill center.

Jim Hunter, director of vocational education for the Huron County Intermediate School District (HISD), said that the county residents will be asked to approve a 1.49 continuous millage for the skill center. One mill generates the HISD about $750,000.

Hunter said that if the voters pass the millage request, for the upcoming tax collection, the state and federal governments will give the HISD grants totaling $1,492,650. This will pay for 45 percent of the estimated $3.3 million vocational education center.

Hunter said that in order to qualify for the state and federal money, the voters must pass this millage request. He said that with the 1.49 mills and the government grants, the skill center would be totally paid off by the time construction is completed in the fall of 1986. "We feel that this is a very palatable position," Hunter said. The $3.3 million would build the structures and purchase the equipment needed for the students.

In 1973 and 1974 voters of Huron County rejected millage requests for the skill center. Hunter said that in 1973 the voters were asked to approve 2.5 mills, and a bond sale of $2 million. In 1974 voters rejected a 1.75 mill request and a $1 million bond sale. He said that this time they are requesting less money because the HISD is eligible for larger state and federal money.

"It would be a real benefit to the students in our district," David Landeryou, superintendent of Ubyly School district, said. He added that about 15 percent of the graduating students of the school go to college, and the rest go into the work world.

He said that presently the school sends their students to Lakers High School for auto mechanic classes, Harbor Beach for welding, and to Bad Axe for classes in accounting, stenography, computer training and nursing programs. Ubyly offers home construction courses for students of the other school districts in Huron County.

Landeryou said that he feels that a skill center can offer the students a broader range of vocational courses. He added that a skill center will also be beneficial to adults seeking additional job training. Adult courses are offered at Caro and Sanilac skill centers in the evening.

Wayne Wright, principal of the Owen-Gage High School, said that the district needs the skill center to give the students the opportunity to compete in the job market. He said that about 35 percent of the students graduating from Owen-Gage will go to college, 15 percent will go into the military and the rest will go into the work force.

He said that these students are not able to compete in the job market with students from schools that do have a skill center because they have not had the opportunity to receive the necessary training.

"We are not being fair to the students," Wright said.

He added that it would be a tremendous asset to the county.

"I think we need it. Hopefully we will pass this millage," Wright said.

Owen-Gage School Board President Ronald Good said the skill center would give both students and adults the opportunity for getting a better job because they would get the needed skills to compete in the job market.

Owen-Gage, like the rest of the schools in Huron County, relies on other schools in the county to provide classes for vocational education.

"I think that there is going to be more and more need for vocational classes," Good said. He added that they could do a much better job of vocational instruction if the county had all of the vocational education courses offered at a single center.

Good has been chairman of a committee to investigate the need of a skill center. He said that they have visited several skill centers that other counties have. From these visits they have been able to determine what they want in a Huron County skill center.

Good said that Sanilac County chose a site that is directly in the center of the county. He said that because of the skill center's rural location, accessibility is limited because it is not close to any of the county's cities.

He added that because Owen-Gage students are presently driving their own vehicles to attend vocational classes at other schools in the county, he would feel a lot better if the students rode a school bus to a single skill center.

Good said that one of the Please turn to page 18.

From Health Department

Skilled help available for shut-ins

Whatever the need may be, from providing home health care to individuals needing skilled medical attention, or simply giving advice to a new mother with a fussy newborn child, the public health nurses of the Tuscola County Health Department are willing to offer aid to those who need it.

"We are the major certified home health care agency in Tuscola County," points out Carol Hrycko, Director of Nursing for the Tuscola and Lapeer County Health Departments. She added that because the department is certified, when a patient needs skilled care at home, their insurance will pay for the services.

Hrycko said that the Tuscola County Health Department has eight registered nurses serving the residents of the county. In 1983 they provided services and instruction programs to over 7,000 county residents.

In addition to providing children's immunizations and the well-known flu vaccination programs, the health department offers home health care and training to family members who have someone at home who is in need of 24-hour care. During a 22-month period

Catherine Graf, a registered nurse for the department, made 258 medical visits to Martha Lubaczewski, 93, to treat a serious diabetic condition. During the visits, Graf would change the dressings on the open sores resulting from a gangrene infection on her right leg. She would also do fasting blood sugar tests on Lubaczewski and report the results to the doctor. "We have to justify each visit and report everything to the doctor," Graf said.

Despite the medical attention, the gangrene progressed, and eventually the leg had to be amputated.

"It took a lot of convincing to have her have the leg taken off," Graf said. The decision to have the leg amputated was made when the gangrene reached the artery just below the right knee.

Lubaczewski lives with her son, Casimir Lubaczewski, 3769 E. Cass City Rd., Cass City. He said that without the care from Graf they would not have been able to care for his mother at home.

He added that as his mother's condition got worse it would have been difficult to take her to the doctor's office for tests and examinations.

"I could take care of her at home, but I couldn't do all the tests," Mr. Lubaczewski said.

The costs for the care and medical expenses were paid for by medicare.

Since the amputation, Lubaczewski's blood sugar has been stable, and she no longer requires the care of a visiting nurse. Hrycko said since the recent Diagnostic Related Groupings (DRG's) for medicare patients has been implemented in the hospitals, the department has Please turn to page 18.

Construction underway on 24-unit apartment for senior citizens

After more than a year of discussions, bargaining and planning, construction work on a 24-unit senior citizen apartment building in Cass City began last week.

The apartments are being built by Rural Housing Corporation (RHC), East Lansing. Funding for the project has been provided by loans from the Farmers Home Administration (FHA). The FHA has loaned 95 percent of the money needed to complete the $695,000 project. The remaining five percent will come from RHC.

Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said that RHC made an agreement to purchase the three-acre site at the end of Woodland Street last October. About three weeks ago, RHC paid the village $24,000 for the property. Before RHC finalized the purchase agreement, a required zoning variance was approved by the Village Zoning Board. The variance was needed because village construction codes do not allow for construction of a multi-family dwelling to exceed 180 feet. The 24-unit complex will be 224.01 feet long.

The variance was needed because RHC wanted to build a single story complex to eliminate stairways.

The 18,280 square foot apartment building will be a wood frame structure with brick veneer to the bottom of the windows. The remainder of the building and the trim will be made of rough sawn lumber.

Each of the 24 apartments will have 567 square feet. They will have a 13 by 16-foot living room, one 10 by 12-foot bedroom, a 7 by 14-foot kitchen and pantry area and a 5 by 8 1/2-foot bathroom.

Marci Powers of RHC said that the building will have lounge rooms, a crafts room and laundry facilities open to all residents of the building.

Each of the apartments in the T-shape building will have an exit to the main hallway, and a second exit leading to a private outdoor patio.

Powers said that the building will have a live-in manager who will maintain the building and the three-acre site. Each apartment will have an emergency calling pull cord system that will alert the manager that there is an emergency in the apartment. The apartments will also have a smoke detector and a fire sprinkler system.

Charles Kelsey, district director for the FHA, Caro, said that because federal loans for the project are being used, rent is determined by federal guidelines. The maximum amount of rent for an apartment including heat is $456 per month. The lowest rent will be $241 per month. Senior citizens cannot have an income exceeding $23,000 a year and still qualify for housing.

Powers said that the complex is scheduled for completion by the end of April.

Rent applications are available at the Cass City Village office.

Avoid injuries in area crashes

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Sgt. James Giroux reported that Michael A. Boldizar, 74, 3595 Third St., Owendale, was not injured when the vehicle he was driving left the road and ended up near a corn field on Dodge Road. Giroux reported that Boldizar was southbound on Dodge Road, near Bay City-Forestville Road, when he drove onto the shoulder of the road, travelled about 100 feet before going into a railroad grade ditch and stopping in a private lane near a corn field. Giroux also reported that the vehicle's fuel tank broke loose as a result of the impact in the accident last Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

Sgt. Thomas Kern reported that Robert J. Hirn, 42, 6622 Kelly Rd., Cass City, was not injured when his vehicle struck a deer Saturday at 7:15 a.m.

Hirn was westbound on Deckerville Road, about one-half mile west of Dodge Road, when the deer jumped in front of his vehicle. The vehicle was driven away.

"If It Fitz...."

The series vs. Emily

By Jim Fitzgerald

Emily put her grandfather to the test during the first game of the World Series. All I wanted to do was watch the action on TV while keeping my mind and body alert and ready to erupt at the first sight of a Tiger base hit. All Emily wanted to do was sit on my lap and listen to me read a book called "Milk and Cookies."

The test would determine if, no matter how difficult the circumstances, I was man enough to stick to my theory that the only sensible way to make a little girl be a good girl is to give her everything she wants. This was, after all, the Detroit Tigers' first World Series appearance in 16 years.

On the other hand, this was a soft child, just four days past her third birthday, who wrapped her chubby arms around my neck, kissed my ear, and whispered, "Please read to me, Pappa." And if I refused, this was a noisy child, just a few decibels short of a steam whistle, who would yell loud enough to awaken her grandmother to the fact that I was keeping the little darling up too late simply to be mean to her.

Usually I like to keep Emily up too late. We have our most serious talks after everyone else has gone to bed. It is my chance to explain the world to her. Just the other night I told her why she is going to have it so easy when she gets in high school.

I'd just read that some schools are now giving class credits toward graduation to students with drug habits if they undergo anti-drug therapy. Progress and fairness being what they are, by the time Emily is a teenager, it will be possible to get class credits for skipping classes if the student attends an anti-skipping lecture.

On another night, I explained to Emily why I'd enjoyed a terrible movie that afternoon. It was while ABC-TV was in Detroit to telecast the baseball playoffs, and in a RenCen theater I sat behind Jim Palmer, the famous jock broadcaster and wearer of tight underwear.

I always feel guilty about having nothing more important to do than attend a movie matinee all by myself, and seeing a big celebrity like Jim Palmer do the same thing made me feel a lot better about my baggy boxer shorts.

Emily is bored by my late-night monologues, of course, and she probably has a right to ask me to interrupt myself long enough to read her a good book. But during the World Series?

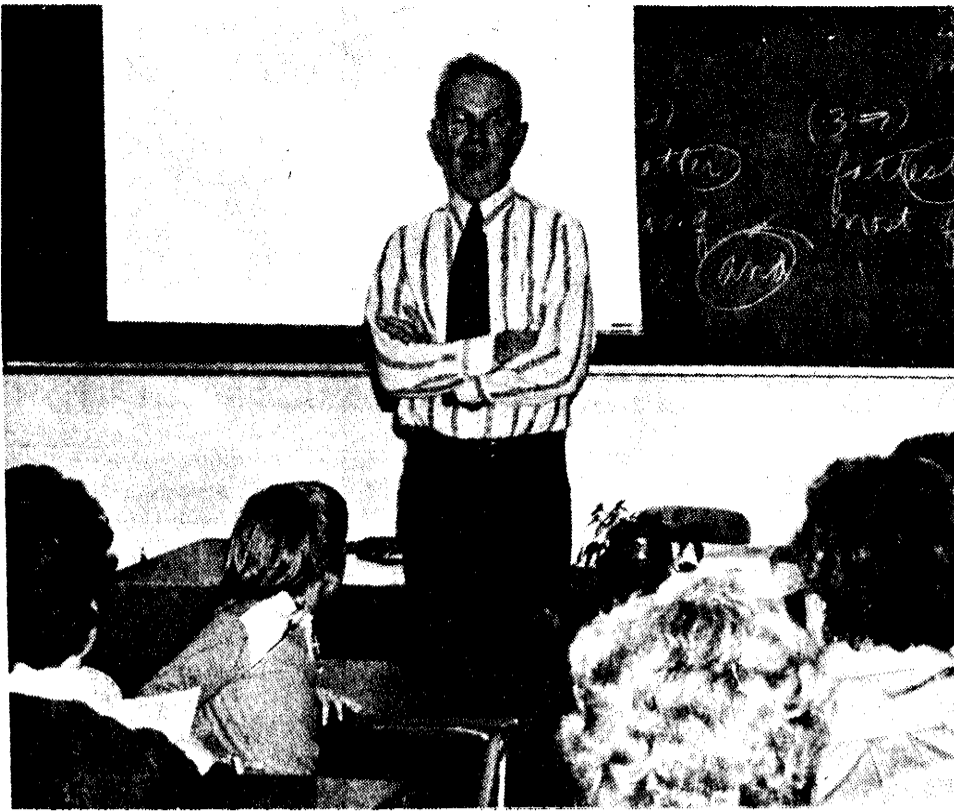

Yes. The book "Milk and Cookies" is about a little bear who looks through a keyhole and sees his grandfather feeding a fire-spitting dragon. So the little bear goes to sleep and dreams that a dragon came to his home and polished off all the milk and cookies in the place, leaving nothing for the little bear, who wakes up crying.

I read that story to Emily with one eye while the other eye watched Jack Morris strike out three straight San Diego Padres with two men on base. I also read it while watching two Tigers get picked off first base and Larry Herndon hit a homer.

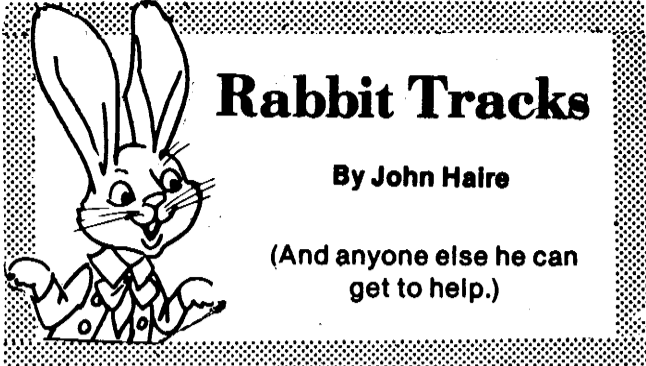

In all, I read that little book nine times, or once an inning, and by the time I went to bed, my eyes were farther apart than years.

But the ending was happy. The Tigers won, Emily hugged me every time she said, "Read it again," and Pappa passed his toughest test.

Also, the little bear's grandfather wasn't really feeding a fire-spitting dragon. He was putting wood in a furnace.

When Thomas Brown, organist and pianist from New York, sits down to play during the Bach Festival he'll be playing one of the finest grand pianos available.

The piano will be shipped to Cass City from the Detroit area on a one-day rental basis and will be returned the day after use.

In addition the instrument will be tuned after it reaches the village. It might well cost a grand for a grand.

Vandals damage mailbox Sunday

Sunday night, Cass City Police Officers Robert Moore and Todd Alexander were called to the Robert Green residence, 6214 Beechwood Drive, Cass City, to investigate the damage of a mailbox by vandals.

Green told the officers that he heard a noise in front of his house about midnight. He went out to investigate the disturbance and saw taillights of a GMC or Chevrolet van driving east on Beechwood Drive. The wooden mail box was valued under $100.

Officer Kenneth Schott reported that a vehicle owned by Reatha Hughes, 4300 West St., Cass City, was damaged by a hit and run vehicle while it was parked in the General Cable parking lot. Hughes told Schott that the vehicle was struck sometime between 7:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. last Thursday.

Chief Gene Wilson was called to the General Cable parking lot to investigate a hit and run accident of a vehicle owned by Rita Kaake, 5259 Bay City-Forestville Rd., Gagetown. Wilson reported that the vehicle was struck Oct. 10, sometime between 3:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m.

Chief Wilson reported that Jacqueline A. Heronemus, 40, 6950 Pringle Rd., Cass City, was not injured when she struck a deer Friday at 6:45 p.m. Heronemus told Wilson that she was driving north on Greenland Road, about one quarter mile south of Cass City Road, when a deer ran in front of her vehicle. The vehicle was driven away.

Officer Schott reported that a vehicle driven by Edith V. Little, struck a road sign post and a parked vehicle last Wednesday at 1:10 p.m. Schott reported that Little, 74, 6215 Dale St., Cass City, was westbound on the alley north of Main St., attempting to turn north onto Leach St. Little struck the post of the do not enter sign and struck a legally parked vehicle owned by Wayne L. Anderson. Little was not injured and both vehicles were driven away.

Courthouse to hold open house Oct. 25

An open house will be held at the Tuscola County Courthouse Thursday, Oct. 25, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Elected officials and other county employees will be available to answer questions and discuss the two county millage proposals on the Nov. 6 ballot.

At the Nov. 6 election, the commissioners are asking voters to approve a five-year, 0.50-mill increase to be used for capital improvements and a five-year 0.25-mill increase to build an addition to the courthouse.

The Haire Net

Seating in the bleachers Saturday at the World Series was a new experience and frankly the view of the game was better than expected.

Another plus was the antics of the fans. There's a ritual that the bleacher bums follow that's fun. They start the wave and the slow motion wave.

There are five different types of cheers that end with the rattling of chains of car keys. Then there's the "tastes better" chant by one half of the bleachers and "less filling" response by the other half. Everyone having a good time, no one rowdy, no one kicked out.

It isn't always this way and that's too bad. Did you know that you are physically frisked when you have a bleacher ticket? I didn't.

It's an indictment of our society that you are forced into the ignominy of a search at a baseball game.

Whatever happened, to motherhood, baseball and apple pie?

I'd guess the reason that fans submit to a frisking at the ball park is that they know what's happened before.

If you expected the worst after the Tigers won, you weren't disappointed. A couple of cars were wrecked, the playing field suffered considerable damage as parts of the outfield were ripped apart and someone stole home plate.

This vandalism is not unique to Detroit. Every city experiences it, some more than others.

There's a suspicion that much of the rowdiness is not by fans who really care about the fate of Detroit.

It's by the groups that gather wherever the action is. And the action was certainly at Tiger Stadium Sunday.

Two hours before game time there were persons waiting to get into any one of several bars that are popular spots for Tiger fans.

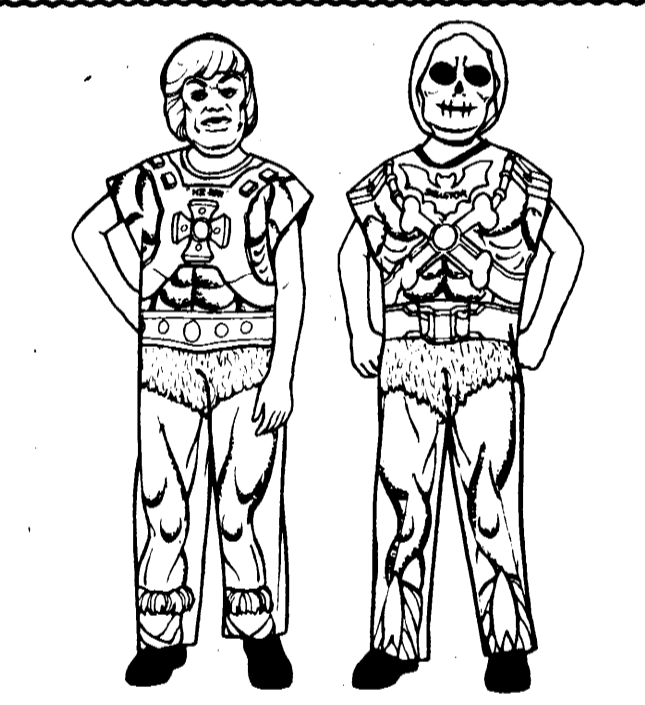

The streets around the stadium were jammed with people without a hope (or care) for getting a ticket.

Simply, they were there for the party.

That's all right, too. Most of them were happy and carefree. It's too bad that a few always get carried away and turn a good time into a bad scene.

But it always happens and it appears to be becoming worse. More vandalism. More fights. More arrests.

As long as it does, we can't object to a frisk going into the park even though we can resent the guys that make it necessary.

Holbrook Baptist Church to celebrate 25th anniversary this Sunday

The Holbrook Baptist Church will hold special 25th anniversary services this Sunday at the 10:00 a.m. Sunday school hour and at the 11:00 a.m. Sunday morning worship services.

The church, on Germania Road, between Cass City and Bay City-Forestville Roads, was organized in October 1959 by the late Rev. Milton Gelatt and his wife Leta. Rev. Gelatt was pastor of the church until his retirement in 1975. He died Jan. 21, 1982.

After Rev. Gelatt's retirement, Rev. David Williams served for three years and nine months. Rev. Wesley Briggs served as an interim pastor from April 1 to Sept. 1, 1979. Rev. Dale Bird served the community until Jan. 1, 1984, when he was appointed chaplain of the Huron and Tuscola County jails.

The church is presently being served by visiting pastors.

The original building, still being used, was built in 1914 by settlers in the area. It was originally a Methodist church. The building was sold to Mrs. Russell Sills and it lay dormant for seven years, until the Gelatts decided to open the Holbrook Baptist Church. The building was rented from Sills for $5 per month, the cost of keeping insurance on the building.

After an extensive cleanup, a dedication service was held Oct. 11, 1959. The first regular service was held Oct. 18.

The church property was purchased in 1967, and a mobile unit for classes and fellowship gatherings was added in 1970. In 1978 the church purchased eight additional acres. In 1979 a mobile home for the parsonage was purchased.

The Holbrook Baptist Church became independent of the Galilean Baptist Mission Jan. 1, 1973. The church is a fellowship member of the Eastern Michigan Regular Baptist Church and the Michigan and National Associations of Regular Baptist Churches.

Rev. Errol Jameson of the Calvary Baptist Church, Lansing will speak at the special services. He was formerly pastor of the Bay Fort Baptist Church, which was also a Galilean Baptist Mission Church.

Following the 11:00 a.m. service, a banquet will be held at Veronica's Restaurant, Cass City, at 1:00 p.m. Reservations are requested.

Media Center receives telecommunication grants

The Region 10, Regional Educational Media Center, located in Cass City and serving the schools of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties has been awarded one of eight cooperative programming grants for developing and implementing a program funded with discretionary special projects grant funds from the State of Michigan through Michigan Department of Education. The grant will be used for the development and implementation of a telecommunication system for potential linking of area school districts, Intermediate School Districts and the REMC center with two-way and one-way television systems.

If adopted as a result of this project, the systems would provide curricular enhancements of classes for low-incidence subjects, teleconferencing, data transmission, transmission of satellite educational programs, etc.

This project is the second phase of a three-year approach in which technical information gathering, analysis and course of action determination will be communicated to area school districts and participating agencies and organizations to determine future installation and commitments. Donald Richards, Director of Region 10 REMC, will be the project director and can be contacted at 4415 S. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726 (517) 872-3961 or 872-4212 for further information.

A 25th time Project Coordinator is being sought to begin Dec. 1 and work through the end of the project, Sept. 30, 1985. Requirements include a MA degree, Michigan teacher certification, 5 years' teaching experience, experience in communicating successfully with a wide range of organizations, agencies and persons, experience in grant writing and with media. Deadline for applications is Oct. 31.

Three men stand mute before Joslyn in Circuit Court Monday

Monday, three men stood mute before Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn on charges stemming from an Oct. 2 breaking and entering of the Cass River Trader printing office, 5881 Frankenmuth Rd., Tuscola Township. A not guilty plea was entered for the three.

John E. Howard, 32, 1401 S. Elm St., Saginaw, was charged with aiding and abetting a breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny. Bond for Howard has been set at $15,000.

Joe L. Battle, 27, 1311 Elm St., Bay City, was charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny, and larceny of a building. Bond was set at $25,000.

John L. Swaisgood, 23, 1309 Elm St., Bay City, was charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny, and larceny of a building. Swaisgood's bond was set at $25,000.

Taken in the Oct. 2 theft were a radio, an undetermined amount of cash and some beer.

A pretrial examination has been set for the three for Nov. 5.

Joslyn sentenced a Vassar man to 180 days in the county jail after he pleaded guilty to larceny in a building.

Kenneth C. Westendorf, 21, 3862 Oak Rd., Vassar, was charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny at the Vassar Golf Course, Juniata Township, Jan. 8.

Westendorf was also sentenced to two years' probation, ordered to pay a $300 fine, $300 court costs and pay court appointed attorney's fees to be determined later. Westendorf was also recommended to submit to the Tuscola County screening program. He was given credit for 12 days already served in the county jail.

James R. Marshall, 40, 249 N. Van Dyke Rd., Marlette, appeared before Joslyn to be sentenced for a delayed sentence. Marshall was charged with criminal sexual conduct in the fourth degree on May 19, 1983, with a woman in Juniata Township. Marshall pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 26.

Joslyn dismissed the charges.

Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from Curtis L. Gibbs to attempted larceny in a building. Gibbs, 19, 370 W. Grant St., Caro, was originally charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny. The building is owned by Marjorie Torr, 110 W. Frank St., Caro. A sentencing date will be set later. Bond continues at $7,500.

Joslyn requested a bench warrant be issued for Edward D. Carlisle after he failed to appear in court Monday.

Carlisle, 53, 5057 W. Sanilac Rd., Vassar, was charged with operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor, third offense, and operating a vehicle with driver's license suspended, second offense. Bond of $1,500 was forfeited to the court.

Carlisle was arrested by Michigan State Police

Trooper Richard Harrington, Aug. 24, on Ringle Rd., Juniata Township.

Marcus L. Craig, 20, 1140 E. Dayton Rd., Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny in a building before Judge Joslyn Monday. He was sentenced to a one year delayed sentence and ordered to attend alcohol abuse programs.

Craig was originally charged with breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny.

Pharmacists Against Drug Abuse (PADA), an anti-drug abuse public information campaign designed to help educate parents on the health dangers of the abuse of drugs by children, was recently launched nationwide. Now that kids are back in school, and PTA's are renewing their activities, Old Wood Drug and Coach Light Pharmacy will serve as key community resources for information on drugs in drug abuse.

Sponsored by the Pharmacists Against Drug Abuse Foundation, PADA focuses on alcohol and marijuana which, according to Tom Proctor, "are the two drugs school age children are most likely to use in entering the drug scene." The campaign also focuses on cocaine, the fastest growing drug of abuse in America. Added Proctor: "Parents and school age children need to know that using these drugs is harmful - that's why we're actively distributing a free brochure titled The Kind of Drugs Kids are Getting Into."

developed the program because pharmacists, by academic training and professional experience are experts on drugs and a good source of information on drug abuse. For a free brochure or more information, visit either drug store in Cass City.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Campbell will leave Thursday and visit their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Jones and son, in Lansing before going to their home in Stuart, Fla. Julie Helwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Helwig, was named Cass City Homecoming queen Friday. She was crowned by Amy Erla, last year's queen.

Twenty youth of Trinity UM Church, their counselors, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thayer, and pastor, Rev. Tom Wachterhauser, enjoyed a hayride and wiener roast at the Roy Wagg Jr. home Sunday evening.

The Cass City golf team qualified for the State tournament Friday. Medalist for Cass City was Tim Johnson, 82. Scott Krueger shot 85, Scott Murphy shot 84 and John Scollon shot 86.

TEN YEARS AGO

Evergreen Township Supervisor Laurence Hyatt announced this week he will seek re-election as a sticker candidate.

Twenty members of the McNeil and Craig families enjoyed a cooperative dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Craig when they celebrated Mr. Craig's birthday.

The Shabbona Farm Bureau group met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hendrick in Cass City. Arlington Gray led the discussion.

A pair of Lowes hit new highs in their grid careers when they were named "Red Hawks" of the week. On offense an improving sophomore, Mike Lowe, was named. On defense, husky, junior halfback, Ken Lowe, was named.

25 YEARS AGO

Youth officers were elected at the Mizpah United Missionary Church last week when Marcia Sherrard was named president. She will be assisted by Ethel Whittaker, vice-president. Secretary is Lois Whittaker and the treasurer is Lawrence Hyatt. Robert Holcomb, son of

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Holcomb, is home on a 14-day leave following completion of training at Great Lakes Naval Station. He will be reporting to the Naval Air Station at Patuxent River, Md.

Derek Romain, a Caro youth who received his early training at the Cass City municipal pool, recently earned a spot on Central Michigan University's swimming team. He was one of five boys from 500 candidates to make the CMU team.

The Red Hawks' football team defeated Marlette 54-0 Friday night. Scoring for Cass City were Bob Wright, Bob Sawdon, Dick Kloc, Alex Lopez, Paul Holmberg and Dick Creason.

35 YEARS AGO

The Greenleaf Child Study Group Club held its regular meeting at Mrs. James Ballagh's Wednesday evening. Mrs. Loren Rienstra gave a talk on "Child Behavior."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Batel and two sons, John and Mark, and Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Schwieger were callers in the Orton Klinkman and Owen Darling homes at Decker Sunday.

The next regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held Friday at the home of Mrs. Avon Boag.

Dr. James Ballard was program chairman at the Gavel Club dinner Tuesday evening. He called on Bernard Ross, Bernard Freiburger and Harold Oatley for impromptu addresses.

W. Otulakowski at Great Lakes

William R. Otulakowski graduated Oct. 12 from boot camp at Great Lakes, Ill.

A 1984 graduate of Cass City High School, he entered the Navy Aug. 14.

Attending the ceremonies were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Otulakowski, and his sisters, Deb and Angie, and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Gubanche of Brown City.

He will now attend Great Lakes Basic School. His address is SR. Wm. R. Otulakowski, CO 260, SSN 367848071, RTC 17 Div., RTC Great Lakes, Ill. 60088.

Master's Degree for Diane Hrabec

Mrs. James (Diane) Hrabec was recently awarded a Master of Arts degree in School Administration from Michigan State University.

Mrs. Hrabec, now residing in Flint, graduated from Cass City High School and received her B.S. in education from Eastern Michigan University.

Having maintained a 3.6 and 3.7 grade point average on her bachelor's and master's degrees, respectively, she is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, an honorary fraternity in education and Phi Epsilon Honor Society, as well as a member of the National Home Economics Association, the Michigan Home Economics Association and Consumer Educators of Michigan, an organization to advance consumer awareness.

Mrs. Hrabec previously taught school for the Birch Run area system. She is currently employed by the Bendle school system, and Flint's Mott Adult High School.

Mrs. Hrabec is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Leslie of Decker.

The technicolor process for movies was introduced in 1922, but didn't become popular for another 20 years.

Letters to the editor

Sunday march promotes good will in area

John, Having just read the Chronicle article concerning the "Sunday March," I feel I must comment.

First of all, I stand behind the School Board's decision 100%. Band is an elected class and not an extra-curricular activity. The marching band has 81 members and 63 young people performed at the Pumpkin festival. Seventeen others chose not to for a variety of reasons. A band cannot perform successfully with large numbers missing, therefore Mr. Bushong has to have rules on attendance.

Secondly, I would hope that the board's decision on this matter would not force pastors to remove young people from the school system. Bear in mind that this "Sunday March" was a rare exception to the rule.

Goodness knows, much good will and fellowship can be generated when our band accepts an invitation such as this in a neighboring community. And, as parents, we all know they could be doing worse things than marching in a parade.

Respectfully,
Doris Jones

Budget cuts will hurt Health Department

Dear Editor:

For the first time in the seven years I have served as Director for the Tuscola County Health Department, I am compelled to write. Unless there is an increase in funds appropriated for county services in general, deep cuts are anticipated in health services, among others.

Although an immediate reduction in health services will be most visible, the long-term invisible effects, such as loss in productivity to the county's economy and life long disability to our children will be the most tragic effects. The fact of the matter is that when county health services are cut, the very young and the very old are always the first and hardest hit.

It is now time that the lowest county millage rate in the State be increased to ensure that services such as health protection for seniors and children, as well as other crucial county services be at least maintained at minimal levels.

Sincerely,

John D. Niederhauser,
M.P.H.

This We Believe

How many friends do you have?

We all live in a very hostile and unfriendly world. It seems most people are preoccupied with self and not with others. In a dog-eat-dog world, where only the fittest survive, it is hard to find someone who really cares about us and loves us for what we are. What everyone needs is a friend.

A friend is one who knows everything about you and yet loves you anyway. In Proverbs 17:17 it says, "A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity."

Thousands of quips and proverbs have been written about friends and friendship. Let me share a few with you: Nobody can have too many friends, but one enemy is a surplus. Some people make enemies instead of friends because it's less trouble. Everyone should have a cemetery in which he buries the faults of his friends. A real friend warms you by his presence, trusts you with his secrets, and remembers you in his prayers. You can win more friends with your ears than with your mouth. False friends are those who roll out the carpet for you one day and pull it out from under you the next. Sometimes friends are just two people who are mad at the same person at the same time. The difference between our friends and our enemies is this: our friends love us in spite of our faults; our enemies hate us in spite of our virtues. And...before borrowing money from a friend, decide which you need more!

A beautiful example of friendship in the Bible is found in the two men, David and Jonathon. David had become a national hero by slaying the giant Goliath. King Saul, Jonathon's father, became envious of David's popularity and endeavored to have him killed. But Jonathon loved David and the Bible says their souls were knit together to such a degree that Jonathon sided with David, in opposition to his own father. In time, both Jonathon and Saul were slain in battle, and David wept over the loss of his dear friend.

The best friend anyone could ever have is the Lord Jesus Christ. I believe the Holy Spirit had Him in mind when He said in Proverbs 18:24, "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly, and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother."

He meets all of the finest definitions of friendship. He knows all about us and yet loves us anyway. "But God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 5:8. Beyond question, the acid test of friendship is the willingness of one friend to die for another, and this Jesus did for us.

God has already proven His interest and willingness to be our friend by becoming one of us, and then dying for us on a cross. Mankind needs to respond by accepting, or receiving Christ as their own personal saviour. "But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God; even to them that believe on His name." John 1:12

Do you need a friend today? Jesus Christ wants to be your friend and more...He wants to be your saviour too. If we can be of help to you in this important area, please give our church a call. We would love to introduce you to our Friend.

HEALTH TIPS

Chewing tobacco is dangerous to health

Most nostalgia crazes are quite innocent and perfectly harmless. But there's a movement afoot across the land that is not harmless. In fact it could be termed as potentially harmful at worst and positively disgusting at best.

We're talking about the increasing popularity of so-called "smokeless tobacco." Both chewing tobacco and dipping snuff are making a comeback. Though both habits have been around for years, they faded in popularity over the past seventy years when the unsanitary practice of spitting was suspected of spreading tuberculosis and expectorating also became socially unacceptable.

Today, with the widespread campaign alerting the public to the dangers of cigarette smoking, "smokeless tobacco" is being touted by the tobacco industry as a safe alternative to cigarette smoking. Current estimates of the number of users range between 11 and 22 million. Most of the users are young men in their teens and twenties, who are most vulnerable to sophisticated advertising campaigns. Unfortunately, both chewing and dipping are not nearly as harmless as the tobacco industry would lead one to believe. In addition to the socially repulsive need to spit, the "smokeless tobacco" user runs the risk of developing oral cancer, increased nicotine addiction, dental problems and heart attacks and strokes.

The American Lung Association (ALA) is opposed to the human use of any tobacco. The organization states that despite the reduced risks of lung damage, it finds the increased risk of oral cancer associated with the use of "smokeless tobacco" also unacceptable.

There is at present little regulation of the "smokeless tobacco" industry or its advertising. The product carries no mandated warning labels. Advertisers are mounting a slick campaign

Your neighbor says

Reagan may be getting too old for job

Do you think that President Reagan should run for reelection when most Americans his age have already retired?

"He should have retired a long time ago. He's too old to be in there," said Karen Mayer. She said that a person can't be stopped from running for the office, but she felt that he was too old to make the decisions that the position demands.

About the controversial napping issue, she felt that he was tired because of his age. She feels that any of the other people running for the office could probably not do much better.

"He is better than the other one," she said in reference to Carter.

She said that in case of a problem with his health, Bush couldn't do any better.

Karen Mayer and her husband James live at 6318 Houghton St., Cass City. They have three children.

Norwegian finds Cass City different

Like most students at Cass City High School, Karianne Henni works hard on her studies to get good grades.

But unlike other students, the credits that she earns as a senior at Cass City High School will not count towards her diploma. Henni, 17, an exchange student, came to Cass City this summer from Norway.

When she returns to Norway next summer she will be a full year behind her former classmates. Henni would have graduated at the end of the school year.

Henni said that she was always interested in coming to the United States as an exchange student. She decided to delay her graduation by a year and become an exchange student after talking to a friend who had just returned from the United States as an exchange student. Henni is part of the American International Student Exchange program, a Norwegian sponsored organization.

Henni said that in Norway students are required to attend school for nine years before they graduate. She said that most students are 15 to 16 years old when they graduate. After graduation they can attend another school for three additional years. This will prepare them to go to a university, or provide them with job skills.

Courses during the first nine years include math, chemistry and physics, Norwegian studies, an English language class and a second foreign language, either French or German. She added that most Norwegians can speak English, French and German.

For students who decide not to go for the additional three years of school, they have the opportunity to go into a trade or an apprenticeship program to learn job skills.

Henni said that because she has had several years of chemistry, she does not have any problems in her chemistry class at Cass City. She added that math and government classes are difficult for her.

Henni is from a suburb of Oslo, the capital of Norway. She said that in Oslo they don't have the large suburban shopping centers that are popular in the United States. The downtown district of Oslo is still the main shopping district.

"I like Cass City a lot. It is really different from home though," Henni said. She said that in Norway she could easily commute to Oslo by train or car.

She said that because Norwegians must be 18 years old to get a driver's license, most students are not old enough to drive. She added that a car in Norway is not considered a luxury, but a necessity for people. As in America, most families have two cars.

Another change for Henni is the flat farming land in the Cass City area. She said that in Norway there are hills and mountains everywhere. This winter she will miss the opportunity to enjoy her favorite sport, downhill skiing.

Henni has been skiing in competition since she was six years old. She has participated in several national and international skiing competitions.

Henni finished 11th out of about 60 skiers in an international meet in Switzerland. "This is something that I am really going to miss," Henni said.

"Some of the girls quit school at 16 just to ski," Henni said. "That is something I could not do. It is really difficult to get that good."

She said that the school systems in Norway do not sponsor sporting events. If a student wants to participate in sports such as soccer and basketball they are able to play through private clubs.

She said that her favorite sports are sailing, windsurfing, tennis, and of course skiing.

In Norway, as in America, in most families both parents work. Her father, Knut, works as a manager for the Volvo B.M. Corporation. Her mother, Inger, works as a secretary.

She said that living so close to Russia is not a major concern to most Norwegians. "We have the same thoughts about Russia as you have here," she said.

Another change for Henni is American television. Norway has one government owned television station. She said that they do not have as many soap operas as in the United States, but they do have Dynasty. She said that the government does not control news shows that are broadcast. They are able to receive two Swedish television stations and a French station.

She said that her parents paid for her air fare to come to the United States. It cost about $3,000. She said that because of inflation, five years ago she could have come for about one half as much. Henni will spend her full year in Cass City with the Sandy Nicholas family, 4721 N. Seeger St.

Chinese hold to ancient beliefs

"When fung shui speaks, business listens," says International Wildlife magazine. Westerners in Hong Kong have learned to respect the mystic Chinese concept that holds if buildings, furniture, roads and other man-made objects are placed in harmony with nature, they can bring good fortune. If not, they can wreak disaster. For instance, it's not unusual for a businessman to keep a mirror pointing out his office window to reflect bad luck emanating from a poorly situated building across the street. Mirrors can create serious moral problems though during office mirror wars, when employees aim bad fung shui at each other.

CONSTRUCTION WORK has begun on the senior citizen housing project at the end of Woodland St., Cass City. Last week workers began installing sewer lines for the 24-unit complex.

Lakers still unbeaten as Hawks blow scoring drives

Usually when Caro and Cass City clash, the outcome has a bearing on the Thumb B Association championship for one team or the other. That's not the case this year as early defeats have knocked both schools out of the running. The best that Cass City can hope for with a victory

Friday at Cass City would be to move up even to the Tigers who have a 3-2 conference record.

Following its defeat at Laker High, 21-0, last Friday, the Hawks have a 2-3 league mark. Despite the record the game is rated a toss up by league observers.

The Hawks played well against the undefeated, league leading Lakers, but Coach Don Schelke will have to find a way for his charges to cash in on scoring opportunities if they want to top the Tigers.

The Hawks wasted three excellent chances to score. In the first quarter Cass City moved inside the Laker 10 only to lose the ball on downs.

In the second quarter a fumble inside the Laker 15 blew another excellent scoring opportunity. In the third period the Laker defense stiffened and held the Hawks without a score after they had racked up a first inside the five.

The last chance to get on the board went glimmering when a pass was dropped in the end zone.

Meanwhile the Lakers were making the most of their scoring opportunities. The first time they had the ball the Green Machine waltzed down the field for a marker. Rob McDowell capped the drive with a nine-yard run with 2:51 left in the period. Ed Gentile's kick was good.

The Lakers took a 14-0 halftime lead when Dave Wisenbaugh ran 26 yards to score with 3:16 left in the second quarter. Gentile kicked the extra point.

That ended the scoring until the dying moments of the game when Wisen-baugh ran 11 yards for the final touchdown with 54 seconds left in the game.

Tracy Lapp had a fine offensive game for Cass City, picking up 61 yards in 13 carries. Wisenbaugh was credited with 212 for the Lakers.

Laker press too much for Cass City

The Cass City Red Hawks received a lesson in defense in the opening quarter against the Lakers Thursday and as a result fell to the Green and White, 64-41.

The Lakers opened with a pressing defense and the Hawks were too inexperienced to handle it. They fell

O-G girls still seek 1st win

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team dropped their ninth straight game last Thursday night against the Caseville Eagles 57-42.

Linda Retford led the Bulldog attack with 22 points and 15 rebounds. Chris Martin led the Eagles with 22 points.

Coach Don Cummins said that the 32 Bulldog turnovers was the main reason for their loss to Caseville.

The Bulldogs sank six of 18 from the free throw line.

The junior varsity also lost to Caseville, 28-15.

The Bulldogs travel to Deckerville Thursday night. The junior varsity game starts at 6:30 p.m.

Cass City thinclads improve, but lose

Essexville Garber boys ran away with a cross country invitational track meet Saturday scoring 57 points compared to Caro's third place finish with 84 points. Cass City finished fourth with 128 points, at Reese.

There were some bright spots for the Hawks, Coach Doug Grezeszak said. The Hawks were the top class C school in the division. Three runners posted greatly improved times. Kevin Bliss was fifth in 16:43. Kurt Bliss was 14th in 17:18 and Del Kostanko, 20th in 17:38.

Cass City girls finished fifth at the meet with 137 points. Garber made it a clean sweep with 59 points. Caro was third with 90 points and Marlette fourth with 120 points.

The girls all showed improved times and were second in their division, Grezeszak reported. The runners and their times were: Ruby Bryant, 22, 21:48; Chris Tuckey, 23, 21:55; Gilly Bryant, 25, 22:02; Katy Scollon, 28, 22:19; and Ann Leslie, 39, 23:12.

O-G battles to wire before bowing to Warriors, 12-7

It was like David going to battle against Goliath when the Owen-Gage Bulldogs took on the North Huron Warriors Friday night. The Bulldogs, outweighed by almost 50 pounds per man on the line, may have missed the mark with their stone, but not by much.

The Bulldogs went into the enemy camp and shut down the highly productive Warrior offense only to lose the lead, and the game in the final three minutes 12-7.

But even then the Bulldogs did not give up. With eight seconds left in the game, the Bulldogs took possession on the Warriors five-yard line. An interception by Kevin Knoblock stopped the scrappy Bulldogs.

After losing two weeks ago to then league leading Peck, and to North Huron last week, coach Arnie Besonen finds himself facing another tough team, Kingston, this Friday night.

Kingston, coming off a 35-

20 win over Akron-Fairgrove, has a 3-2 league record. Owen-Gage has a 2-3 record.

Besonen said that under the direction of Mike Rae, Kingston is a well coached team.

He said that they will have to stop the Cards' power I backfield and not be taken in by their trap and counter plays. Kingston was able to score 20 points against North Huron last week and narrowly missed beating the Warriors 28-30.

Besonen said that Kingston has a good defense. In their first three games of the season they did not give up a touchdown.

Besonen said that the Bulldogs are going to have to cut down on their penalties and fumbles if they are to be successful against Kingston.

It was a fumble that set up the winning score for North Huron when the Bulldogs fumbled away the

The Warriors took over and two plays later running back Dave Case took the ball over from the seven-yard line to put North Huron on top.

"Kinde (North Huron) is an awesome team, they can almost score at will," Besonen said. He added that most teams take six or seven plays to score. Because of their passing attack, the Warriors can score in two or three plays.

The Warriors scored in the first quarter on a 21-yard pass from quarterback Dan Craig to Dan Kennedy. The extra point pass was missed and the Warriors led 6-0.

With 4:53 left in the second quarter, Owen-Gage quarterback Reid Goslin took a punt and returned it 65 yards for the score. John Shope kicked the extra point to put the Bulldogs up 7-6.

The Bulldogs stayed on top until the fumble in the fourth quarter that set up the game winning touchdown for North Huron.

Bulldog quarterback Reid Goslin hit on 6 of 16 passes for 74 yards. He was intercepted three times in the game.

On defense Goslin took back two of those interceptions, both in the end zone to stop two Warrior scores.

Matt Ricker had 11 solo tackles. Stu Stirrett had eight tackles.

— A CORNERSTONE OF THE COMMUNITY —

By Bill Myers
Taking stock

Not-so-minor memos from the spindle of a money-changer:

What will a $10,000 investment made June 1, 1984, amount to in 20 and 25 years at current rates of tax-free zero-coupon bonds?

| Maturity   | 10%       | 10.5%     |
|------------|-----------|-----------|
| In 20 yrs. | $ 71,428 | $ 77,193 |
| In 25 yrs. | 114,467   | 129,128   |
| In 30 yrs. | 186,915   | 215,517   |

Note that after seeking out such bonds with a 10.5 percent yield and putting off the cash-in date for 30 years, you'll have nearly triple the amount you'd have at a 10 percent rate and waiting for only 20 years.

Look ahead.

Salesmen from Omni Precious Metals of Miami Beach had an interesting comment when I asked them to compare investing in gold mining companies (such as the American South African Mutual Fund) with buying gold bars.

"The Mutual Fund will not go up so much in a rising gold market," said both salesman Richard Namon and Manager Ted Grossman, "and it will also go down more in a declining market."

Mull that one over. For each zig and zag in the gold market the mutual fund will go up less and come down more than the price of gold. You do that enough times and the Mutual Fund will be down to zero.

You may recall in 1983 in this column we had a bet going with Connecticut Bank & Trust in picking stocks. We marked their first 10 buy. Our 10 came from Hypoluxo Hattie, the snarly old witch who lives in a swamp near Clewiston, Fla. Hattie took the first 10 Bs on the New York Stock Exchange list.

One of Hattie's great picks was Baldwin United, which went from $55 down to $3, making her so mad she ate half a raw alligator.

Despite this, we stayed in the race. We totaled up the results early this year and found, based on 12 months:

|                     |        |
|---------------------|--------|
| CBT's choices.....  | Up 38% |
| Hattie's picks..... | Up 37% |
| DJIA.....           | Up 56% |

The CBT people, who recently opened a posh office near the Hyatt Hotel in Palm Beach, invited me to a wonderful cocktail party and dinner about the time I compiled these figures. It was such a nice party and they were such nice people, I didn't have the heart to show them my little memo sheet with the results. Well, maybe to a couple of them boys...I couldn't be that polite.

The Kiplinger Report appears to have just discovered zero coupon bonds, along with Time magazine. Kiplinger kicks figures around quite carelessly, saying that a $2,000 investment in zeros at 11.5 percent will produce $40,000 in 30 years. Actually, the figure should be $57,142.

Health department offers aid to many shut-ins

had an increase in the number of requests for aid.

Under the DRG program, the time that a patient stays in the hospital is pre-determined by federal guidelines for the type of illness that the patient has.

"The DRG's have had a real impact on home health care because patients are going home earlier, and sicker than before," Hrycko said.

The health department also has a program where nurse aides go to the homes in the three-county area to give aid to the senior citizens. The nurse aides are required to have taken training or have nurse aide experience through a hospital or similar institution.

"We have these people out there all alone. They need to be pretty capable," Hrycko said.

The nurse aide will perform services such as bathing, nail care and medical treatments that they have been instructed in performing. They will also do light housekeeping, purchase groceries and occasionally drive patients to their necessary medical appointments.

"These are things that a lot of elderly need to maintain their presence in their home," Hrycko said. "They are so grateful for the service, they never complain."

Hrycko said that in the past they have never refused any senior citizen, but because their funding has been cut, they now are required to screen applicants. The service will be provided to those who need it most.

About 75 percent of the funding for the program comes from the Area Council on Aging, 20 percent from county appropriations and five percent from private donations.

The Health Department, along with other county funded departments, is facing budget cuts if the voters of Tuscola County do not approve a 0.50 millage increase Nov. 6.

John Niederhauser, Health Officer/Director for the Tuscola and Lapeer Counties Associated Health Departments, said that Tuscola County receives a $190,000 appropriation from the county commissioners. He said that because the appropriation is not enough, for the size of the county, the commissioners also give the department $75,000 from federal revenue sharing funds that the county receives.

Niederhauser said that if the millage is not passed, the department may lose the $75,000. He said that this would result in cuts in the health services to those who need it the most, the young and the old.

Niederhauser said that the department is mandated by the state to operate programs such as family planning, immunizations and environmental health services that include well water samples, sewage system inspections and inspections of food services establishments. He added that programs such as flu vaccination clinics, school visits and the home health care may face reductions or be eliminated because of a reduction in funding.

The health department also administers the women, infant, and children nutrition program (WIC). With WIC coupons, pregnant women, women nursing children and children up to the age of five are given coupons for dairy products, fruit juices and infant formula.

"We have women come in here with babies on whole milk at two weeks old, because they can't afford the formula," Hrycko said. She added that WIC coupons must be spent on these types of products. They cannot be spent on junk foods.

Of the eight public health nurses employed by the department, Nolavay Blackmer, R.N., specializes in the care of newborns and newborns with severe physical problems.

During a five month period, she made over 30 visits to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Mills, 4137 Hoppe Rd., Gagetown, to help teach the parents how to care for their son Aeron. Aeron, featured in a story in last week's edition of the Chronicle, was born with several severe heart defects.

Because of Aeron's condition he had to be fed through a nose tube and his vital signs had to be monitored often. Blackmer was making two visits a week to the Mills' home to instruct them on the feeding of their son, and to monitor the child's weight gain and vital signs.

Mrs. Mills said that Blackmer was able to give her and her husband advice on how to care for Aeron, and also gave moral support to them throughout the difficult times.

"She was a big help and it was a comfort to have her come in and talk to us," Mrs. Mills said.

She added that because their oldest child, Linsey, 3, was not receiving the attention that Aeron was getting, Blackmer would bring a treat for her each time she visited.

The Millses did not have to pay for the visits from the department, and they received aid from the state funded Crippled Children's Program that is administered through the health department.

Hrycko said that under the Crippled Children's Program, all parents, regardless of income and insurances, are offered a free diagnostic examination by a physician to determine if the child may have a potentially crippling disease.

She said that if treatments are required, the state will either arrange for a payback for the cost of the treatments, or the bill will be paid for by the state. Last year in Tuscola County 222 children were examined for possible crippling diseases.

The department also offers alcohol therapy for families, groups or individuals and alcohol highway safety education classes.

In cooperation with the Thumb Area Council on Aging, the health department offers glaucoma screening clinics for the aged in the area.

Seek millage for skill center in Huron County

most important aspects of a skill center will be training and retraining adults in the work force.

"There are too many young people that just can't get a job because they don't have the needed skills," Good added.

Hunter said that a building and site committee has determined a site for the skill center that will be in a central county location in Verona and Colfax Townships. He said that the site was based on geographic location in the county, student population per school district and per township, paved roads and traffic congestion in the villages and cities in the county. Hunter said that all of these factors show that the area chosen for the site is correct.

The building is to be approximately 60,000 square feet, with a 5,000 square foot pole barn type storage building.

Hunter said that of the 16 instructional spaces that are planned, courses for instruction in auto, machine, welding, building and agriculture mechanics are considered. Also to be offered are business labs, marketing, medical, electronics, communications, cosmetology and food production labs.

Hunter said that the courses they plan on offering have been determined through studies of future employment needs, local employment demands, student and client requests and surveys of graduate students.

Hunter added that studies show that in the future, the demand for human services such as health care, food care, secretarial and retail job openings will be greater than the need for high tech employees.

"One of the most important features is the training and retraining of adults in the county," Hunter said. He added that because Huron County does not have a county based college, students are required to leave the area to receive higher education. Hunter said that colleges in the outlying area have indicated that they would be interested in offering classes at the skill center.
