Clouse dies in crash

A Caro man became the 10th traffic fatality in Tuscola County this year when he died Sunday after inuries sustained in a Saturday morning auto accident.

John E. Clouse, 52, died in the Caro Community Hospital Sunday at 11:06 a.m. after undergoing surgery for extensive internal injuries.

Clouse, 3093 Hurds Corner Rd., Caro, was a self employed painter. He is rurvived by his wife, Barara, and 10 children.

According to Michigan State Police trooper Luanne Fredrick, Clouse was eastbound on M-81 when he struck a vehicle driven by David A. Wright. According to witnesses, Wright, 35, 1635 Dakota St., Flint, failed to stop at the intersection of M-81 and Vassar Road. Clouse was nable to avoid hitting the vehicle driven by Wright.

Wright's vehicle was pushed into the ditch on the southeast corner of the intersection. Wright was not seriously injured in the accident.

The Tuscola County prosecutor's office is investigating the accident.

ELKLAND TOWNSHIP voters got an early start on Tuesday's election. A precinct official said that they had 10 voters waiting in line at 7:00 a.m. Of the 2,006 registered voters in the township, 1,457 cast their ballots.

Voters flock to polls and follow state-wide trends of ten registered voters in Tuscola County went to the polls Tuesday night to cast their ballots for their chosen candidate. The 70 percent turnout was higher than forecast, but lower than in 1980 when local interest sparked a 70.5 vote. Of the county's 30,750 registered voters, 21,547 Tuscola residents chose Ronald Reagan over Walter Mondale by 66 percent. This is higher than the national vote of 59 percent for Reagan. Voters in Huron and Sanilac Counties chose Reagan by more than 70 percent. Of the three area counties, Huron had the highest voter turnout with 76 percent. Tuscola County had a voter turnout of 70 percent and 67.8 percent of the voters in Sanilac County were

Although Jack Lousma, Republican, lost to senator Carl Levin in the state polls, voters in the three county area chose the former astronaut by casting 29,373 ballots for him. Levin received 18,886 votes.

Eighth District Representative Bob Traxler lost in Sanilac County by more than 2,000 votes to Marlette are farmer John Heussner. T xler won in Huron and Luscola Counties by more than 4,000 votes. Traxler will return to Washington, D.C., with a total of 59 percent of the vote in his district with 69 percent of the ballots tallied. Traxler had 73,820 votes and Heussner, 43,648

In Tuscola County, incumbent 77th District Representative Dick Allen easily defeated Bay Port Democratic challenger Duane Harder by a total vote of 11,970 to 3,619.

Allen defeated Harder in his home county by receiving 10,022 Huron County votes. Harder received 2.944 Unopposed county officials reelected Tuesday are: G. Scott night Stermer, prosecuting attorney, 12,056 votes; Paul Berry, sheriff, 12,949 votes; Elsie Hicks, clerk, 13,848 votes; Elgene Keller, treāsurer, 13,372 votes; Anne Sattelberg, register of Stanley Henry, drain commissioner, 13,195 votes.

COUNTY PROPOSALS

Voters throughout the county rejected a county commissioner millage increase of 0.50 for five years by a vote of 9,685 to 8,237.

The increase was to be used for the maintenance of county owned buildings and to fund county departments needs.

Commission chairperson Donna Rayl said that because the proposal did not pass, the commissioners will be forced to make more cuts in the 1985 proposed budget. She said that even though the increase would not have been collected until 1986, the commissioners will have to cut the 1985 budget even more to pay for needed maintenance repairs on the courthouse, medical care facility building and the jail.

Rayl said that they have already cut the overtime budget for the Sheriff's Department road patrols and she expects that they will have to cut the budget even

Rayl added that the roof on the courthouse must be repaired because it is leaking and will destroy the walls and ceilings of the Voters also rejected a five-year 0.25 mill increase that was to be used to build fice space for the courthouse. Tuscola voters voted 12,176 to 5,569 against the 0.25 mill increase.

STATE PROPOSALS

Voters in the threecounty area agreed with voters throughout the state that of Proposals A, B, and C, only Proposal B passed Proposal B will establish a Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund that is to be used only to purchase property for public recreation. Under provisions of the proposal, the money can not be used to supplement the general fund. Voters in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties approved the proposal by a vote of 28,385 to 17,544.

Voters in the threecounty area voted against Proposal A, which would give legislators legal au-thority to suspend administrative rules. At the local level, the proposal was defeated by a vote of 26,777 to 18,405.

The controversial Proposal C, the Voters Choice proposal, was defeated by vote of 28,287 to 19,227. The proposal would have required that any tax or license fee increases since Dec. 31, 1981, would have to be approved by a 4/5 vote of the legislature or by a majority vote of the residents of the state.

Only World War I vets see Armistice Day as key memorial ith day of the 11th month. the allied forces set their weapons aside, and put an marching down the streets end to the war that was supposed to end all wars. On that day, Nov. 11, 1918, American soldiers ended their bitter fighting of World War I. They were preparing to return home. They would be greeted by parades and welcomed by riends and family as the liberators of the world. A national holiday, Armistice Day, was set aside to remember the soldiers who served their country and preserved freedom for generations of Americans yet to be born. Vern McConnell, a Cass City area resident, was one of those soldiers fighting in Trance when the treaty was signed. McConnell, then U.S. Army Sgt. McConnell, said they were fighting right up until the time the treaty was signed. He said that the French people knew that the war was over before his infantry company was informed. McConnell said that the French were shouting, "finish the war, finish the war." McConnell's company had been fighting the night before, and they weren't sure that the war was really over, or if it was just a lull in the fighting.

McConnell said that his

The date was changed in 1971 to comply with a 1968 law that changed most national holidays to a Monday.

> Congress felt that Nov. 11 was significant because of the signing of the treaty in 1918. Veterans' Day was moved back to the original day in 1978.

> "I am glad that they moved it back," McConnell said. "They call it Veterans' Day now. I think that is the way it should be. It honors all of them (veterans) now.

After spending more than two years in the South of American cities. Pacific, Esau, a Marine Sgt., was stationed in Philadelphia as a Naval base guard when the war McConnell said that he ended. He said that Philadelphia was a great town for parades. During the war the city would hold parades every couple of > months. "People were really open and friendly towards us," Esau said. He added that when he was in an area where there wasn't a military base he couldn't pay for a meal or buy a ticket to see a movie. Everything was free for him. Esau said that the people's attitude was "anything for the boys."

He said that as a precaution, the governor of Pennsylvania forbid the sale of liquor for three days to keep things from getting out of hand. Esau added that there were a few festive nights in the city after the war had ended. Korean veteran Elwyn

Helwig said that Veterans' Day does not have a special significance for him. He said that it "bothers nim" that the government offices and the banks are the only places that close for the holiday. Helwig, a Cass City resident, said that on July 23, 1953, at 7:40 p.m., when the peace treaty was signed, the fighting stopped "just like closing a door." He said that they went out to pick up their wounded from the recent fighting and they could see the North Koreans doing the same.

"We really didn't know whether to trust each other or not," Helwig said. "It was hard to believe that you could shut off a whole country's fighting just like Helwig feels that Korean veterans have never received the recognition that veterans from World Wars I and II have received.

"I don't think that publicly we were even greeted home," Helwig said. "We just came home and that Helwig added that it bothers him that Korea and Viet Nam were never de clared a war. He said that if you talk to parents who lost a son in Korea or Viet Nam they will tell you that it was a war, not just a conflict or a police action.

Helwig, a medic for the U.S. Army's Third Infantry Division, received the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star during his service in Korea

Donald Rudy, a U.S. Army Viet Nam veteran, said that he feels that he and other soldiers from Viet Nam have never received any of the respect and recognition that was given to veterans of World Wars I and II.

Royce Russell, Cass City, county commissioner's from the board. McLoskey

Russell, a Cass City Republican, was elected to his fourth consecutive term Tuesday, easily defeating another Cass City resident, Lawrence Wright, by a vote of 1,891 to 624.

It was the first time that Russell had swept the four townships that make up District Two. The vote for the four townships are: Novesta, 336 for Russell 130 for Wright; Elmwood, 313 for Russell, 89 for Wright; Kingston 248 for Russell, 172 for Wright, and Elkland, 994 for Russell, 233 for Wright. This is the first time that Russell has won in Kingston Township.

For one incumbent com-Margaret missioner, Wenta, the election was not a present. Wenta was de-feated by Republican challenger Michael Green for District Five commissioner. Wenta lost her position on the board by a vote of 1,137 to 1,458 to Green.

District Seven Democrat William A. Worth defeated Republican Robert Fong by a total vote of 1,501 to Fong's 669. Worth will fill the position opened by retiring Democrat, Kenneth L. Kennedy.

In District Four, Republican candidate Chris Taylor easily defeated James R. McLoskey to replace Benson Collon, who retired

Root said that the compine, valued at $10,000, received an estimated $5,000 in damages.

He added that the fire was difficult to put out because the engine area was enclosed. Earlier that day, the fire department responded to a call to put out a fire on a gravel truck at 2138 Cemetery Road, Cass City. Root said that the truck, owned by Sanilac Concrete Products, blew out its muffler and ignited the gas tank. Root reported that the driver of the vehicle, Jim Stolicker, was able to put out the fire by throwing sand on the flames. Damages to the truck are estimated at $600.

Libraries sponsor Battle of Books

The Fifth Annual Battle of the Books, sponsored cooperatively by Rawson Memorial Library and Cass City Elementary and Intermediate School libraries will begin New 12 raries, will begin Nov.12. The purpose of Battle of the Books is to encourage more reading among third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade students by introducing them to 25 enjoyable books.

All children in grades 3-6 are invited to participate. There will be two divisions, one for 3rd and 4th grades, and one for 5th and 6th grades. Each team must have a name, six members, one alternate member if they wish, and an adult team manager. The team manager will act as contact person between the team and the library, arrange transportation, and provide help with scoring and timekeeping for the battles.

Each year some teams have a difficult time getting a team manager. Any adult interested in helping with a team is invited to call the library, 872-2238, for more information.

Registration forms may be picked up at Rawson Memorial Library or the school libraries, beginning Nov. 14. Registration will end Dec. 9.

Students without a team who wish to participate should bring their permission slip to the librarian. The librarian will make every effort to assign them to a team.

Reading lists and the books on the lists will be at Rawson available Memorial Library beginning Nov.12. The battles will begin Feb. 25, with each team testing its knowledge against another team's. Ribbons will be awarded to both first and second place teams in each division, and all participants will receive a certifi-

H. Ross Perot didn't get to be one of the 10 richest men in the United States by accident. He went from rags to riches ($2.5 billion) because he's smarter than the average bear.

So when he says something, pay attention. What he says is that despite all the rhetoric about soaking the rich, the tax burden will be paid by the middle class. The working masses.

My total wealth, he explains, would run the Federal government for about 10 minutes. All of the wealth of the nation's multi-millionaires would keep Uncle Sam going for about 120

When you look at the numbers this way, it's easy to see that every candidate that tells you that he will change the system so that the rich pay and we don't. is either too dumb to be elected or too slippery to be trusted.

Saying that soaking the rich will solve our tax problem ranks with the current administration's vow not to raise taxes.

It's the old snake oil remedy. We'll cut spending to make up the deficit. It would be nice if Perot would show in a few easy to understand sentences why this is impossible, just as he blows away the smoke about the rich paying for running the government.

A year or so down the road somehow, someway we'll be paying more taxes. It may be called something else, but it will be a tax increase. Even knowing that taxing the rich will not solve our fiscal problems, wouldn't it be wonderful if they were made to pay anyway? Most of us don't know how much a billion bucks is. Certainly, it is so much that Perot and his counterparts long since stopped counting.

There's no complaint here about a guy making a reasonable amount of big bucks because he is a successful entrepreneur.

The argument is over piling up the billions at age 54 while millions are struggling to make ends meet.

It's simply too much of a good thing. You say that without the incentive of great wealth, guys like Perot would back off from the activities that made them rich and spurred industrial progress? Maybe so, but I don't buy it. After all, Perot drives a 1979 Chevrolet Caprice and a new Buick T type car.

When you have $2.1 billion, the lure of money is long gone. The lure of power and prestige remains.

Survivors should apply for benefits

Surviving dependents of a deceased worker should apply for Social Security benefits as soon as possible following the worker's death, William T. Clynes, Social Security manager in Saginay, said recently.

Applying promptly will allow benefits to start in the shortest possible time. In addition, Clynes said, some benefits cannot be paid more than a month before the application is filed.

Social Security benefits can be paid to these survivors:

Unmarried children under 18, or under 19 if a full-time high school student.

 Unmarried children children.

• Unmarried children over 18 who were disabled before 22 and remain disabled.

• A surviving widow or widower of any age caring for a child under 16 or disabled who gets benefits.

• Widow or widower 60 or older.

or older.

• Disabled widow or, widower 50-60.

 Dependent parent 62 or older.
 Benefits can also be paid to a surviving divorced spouse if the marriage to the deceased worker lasted 10 years or more. Grand children can get benefits on a grandparent's record under certain circumstances.

Before any benefits can be paid, the worker must have had credit for a ceratain amount of work convered by Social Security. In 1984, the amount ranges from 1½ to 8½ years depending on the worker's age at death.

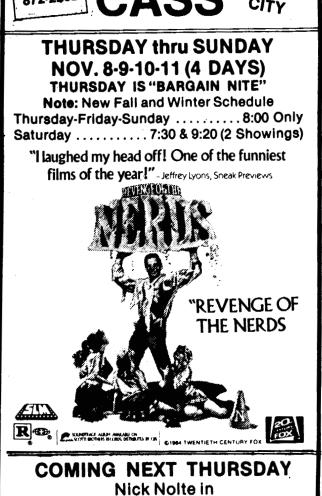

More information about survivors' benefits can be obtained at the Saginaw Social Security office, located at the corner of East Genesee and North Warren Streets. The telephone number is 771-1010. The people there will be glad to answer any questions.

Free diabetes screening tests offered Monday

As part of the American Tuesday, Nov. 13, from biabetes Association's 10:00 a.m. to noon, at the Diabetes Diabetes Detection Week, Cass City's Hills and Dales Hospital will be offering area residents a free diabetes screening test.

The tests will be given Monday, Nov. 12, from 10:00 a.m. to noon, at the Hills and Dales Hospital, 4675 Hill St., Cass City, and

Deford Community School, Kindergarten Room, De-

Jane Mitchell, Inservice Director for Hills and Dales Hospital, said that testing will be held in the meeting rooms at the hospital. Signs will be put up to direct those interested in taking the test where to go.
Mitchell said that Dupont Corporation has donated the needed chemicals to test the individual's blood sample. She said that the results of the test will be given to the American Diabetes Association, and they will contact the patient and their physician with the results. The test will be given to anyone over 18, who has not previously been diagnosed as diabetic.

portant to eat a high carbohydrate meal two hours before the test to insure that the test will be accurate. A good breakfast would be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea.

The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, frequent urination, blurring vision, constant hunger or cuts and scratches that heal slowly.

Mitchell said that a person may have the disease without any of the symptoms. People over 40 who are overweight, and a blood relative of a diabetic are urged to take the test because they have a high risk of developing diabetes.

On the first Tuesday of each month the Hills and Dales Hospital offers a diabetic diet class for people who have diabetes or relatives or interested triends of a diabetic

The class is from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. and will provide general information about diabetes, diets and recipes for the diabetic.

Woods or water, Adams' dogs are ready

Robert Adams is one of those few men who have been able to develop a harmonious relationship between himself, his dogs and

Adams, a lifelong coon hunter from Cass City, said that during the season he has hunted coons from dusk until noon the next day. His dogs won't give up on the scent of a coon trail, and Adams won't give up on his

"If you got a good one (coon dog), it's a real plea-sure to be out there walking behind them," Adams said.
"I have had some good ones, and some bad ones.'

'I do it mostly for fun,' he said. "I just like to go out there for the sport of it. If you don't enjoy it you might just as well stay home in front of the television."

Adams' hobby takes him from the fields and wooded lands around Cass City to water races and field trial events throughout the area. His black and tan coon dogs have won several trophies for their ability to follow the scent of a coon in field competition.

Adams explained that in a field trial, the smell of a fresh coon is laid down through an area for about one mile. About five dogs are released at one time, and the first dog to cross the finish line and find the tree where the caged coon is held is the winner. In the competition, like on a hunt, the dogs must rely on their ability to find and follow the scent of the coon.

Adams said that another favorite competition of his is the water races. In a water race, dogs swim along a course for about 315 feet, chasing a caged coon that is suspended above the water on a cable.

Adams explained that in a water race four or five dogs are put into individual boxes at the start of the course. Before the race begins the dogs are allowed to see the caged coon.

When the dogs are re-leased, the coon is kept about 15 to 20 feet in front of the dogs. At the end of the water, the cable is hung of the dogs.

He said that there can be two winners in each heat, the first to cross the finish bay when the coon is treed. In March, when the coon hunting season is over, Adams and other coon hunpetitions that are held by area coon hunting cubs. Adams said that particip-to compete, a handler has to be able to recognize the bark of his dog, and be able to tell the judge that it is his dog that is barking. The handler must be able to tell the judge that it is his dog that has found the scent within three howls of the dog. Adams said that if a his wife contacted him. A handler knows his dog, he farmer about seven miles

When the coon is treed, the handler has until his dog bays three times to tell the judge that it is his dog. When the handlers and the judge get to the tree, they must be able to spot the coon. If the coon is found, the handler who called his handle a coon when they dog first receives 125 get one cornered," he said.

"There is a lot of difference between a trail bark and a treed bay," Adams said. "You've got to have an ear for it. If you know your dog you can tell."

Adams said that when a dog is on a cold trail, one that is several hours old, the dog will bark every now and then. As the trail gets fresher they will bark more often. When the dog has chased the coon to a tree, the pitch of the dog's bark is different.

On a typical hunting night, Adams will take the dogs to an area where he expects to find coons. He said that most farmers allow him to hunt because they are happy to get rid of the coons that damage their Adams turns his dogs loose and waits for them to howl, telling him that they have found the scent of a coon trail.

"I never know where I am going to end up," he said. "It may be clean across the section.

He said that if the dogs are unable to find any scent of a coon, they will usually come back to the truck within 20 to 30 minutes.

But once they have found the scent, the dogs will not stop until they tree the coon and wait for Adams to come. He said that he cannot call his dogs off the trail, so he has to be ready to follow them wherever they go.

Last Saturday night he was unable to find one of his dogs. He said he was unable to hear the dog bark and thought that maybe the wind was too strong for the noise to reach him. After searching for several hours, he went home. Sunday morning he began searching again. Finally

Adams said that it takes a lot of work to train a dog to be a good coon hunter. He said that the best way to teach them is to have the pup hunt with an older experienced dog to show it how to hunt, and protect it-

"I have seen dogs get ripped right up by a coon." He said that a good kill dog will a guy is willing to pay," he

One of the most important things to teach the dogs is to keep them from chasing deer and fox. Adams said that because a deer can run so fast and far, and they leave a strong trail, the dog can chase them for a long distance. If the dogs are going to chase deer, they are no good to him.

"A lot of guys say that they can break them of chasing deer, but to me it has to be proved," Adams

> The Index of Prices Paid by Farmers, nationwide, for commodities and services, interest, taxes, and farm wage rates for October was 164 percent of its 1977 base, down 1 percent from September. Prices for feed and fertilizer were lower. Higher prices for feeder cattle and calves and diesel fuels were partially offsetting. The index was up 2 percent from a year earlier.

> In Michigan, overall farm prices were generally weaker in the crops sector livestock sector. Dairy products and cash field crops were the only commodity groups with higher price levels than September. Individual commodities with stronger prices were dry beans, calves and milk. However, these increases were not enough to offset the price decreases for corn, oats, soybeans,

The Index was 3 percent above a year ago.

New trout for acidic water

With a solution to the acid rain problem still a long way off, biologists in upstate New York are trying to develop a heartier strain and mostly steady in the of trout that could survive in at least moderately acidic waters, reports National Wildlife magazine. The viable, though temporary strategy, would surely help trout fishing, which is a big business throughout upstate New York.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS by Alison Lurie (fiction). Vinnie Miner is 54, mordantly aware of herself as "old, plain and unmarried," prone to self-pity, but looking forward to her annual stay in London as a haven for her spirit. On the transatlantic flight she meets Chuck Mumpson, a retired sanitary engineer from Tulsa and her opposite in every way, since he is ill-educated, uncultured and more than a bit vulgar. Improbable as it is, romance slowly flowers between them, with bittersweet repercussions for Vinnie. Her young, startling handsome colleague Fred Turner is initially miserable in London, finding the place cold, dreary and unfriendly, until he begins an affair with Rosemary Radley, a charming but eccentrically temperamental actress who transforms England for him into Eden. Indeed, the opinions of Vinnie and Fred about England rise and fall with visible predictability according to the varying states of their social relationships and professional amour propre.

STEELY BLUE by Dennis Smith (fiction). Steely Byrnes is typical of the men who save lives for the New York Fire Department: Irish Catholic, tougher than he is smart, loyal to his compatriots. The usual corruption in city politics and the Church, leads to a death when some faulty equipment is used in a rescue; the Department tries to pin the blame on Kathy Angelli, rookie firefighter, to prove women can't do the job. Steely knows otherwise, but to clear Kathy's name he must go up against boyhood pal Jack Haggerty, now Department chief.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS by Mike Wallace (non-fiction). Wallace was 50, a general-assistant broadcaster and interviewer turned news correspondent, when he joined Harry Reasoner to do the 60 Minutes show at CBS-TV 16 years ago. After recounting his Chicago radio years and his various local and network TV-interview shows, Wallace describes his 1962 decision (following the death of his oldest son) to move into TV's straight news side, and he ranges widely over his later political reporting (he covered Richard Nixon's comeback and seriously considered joining his press staff) and over scores of 60 Minutes pieces, from Watergate to the Middle East, and including the libel cases and personal controversies. He emerges as a compulsive newshound determined always to reveal the motives and characters of the powerful and celebrated.

Careers Unlimited for Sanilac teens

Sanilac County teens have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to develop their employability potential through a series of workshops to be offered in January.

The series. entitled Careers Unlimited, is sponsored by the Sanilac 4-H program and will focus on applications, resume writing, interviews and mentorships. Participants will gain hands-on experience in all of these areas as well as benefitting from interaction with professionals representing a variety employment fields.

Careers Unlimited begins Saturday, Jan. 5, with subsequent workshops to be held Jan. 12, 19 and 26.

All workshops will be held at the County Conference Room, Sandusky, from 1:00-3:00 p.m.

The series is offered to 15-18-year-olds and is limited to 20 youths. A $5.00 registration fee will cover costs of materials. To apply, contact the Extension 4-H Office at 313-648-2515.

Cancer. The very mention of the word can make people cringe. In fact, good news has never been associated with the disease, until now.

A recent survey conducted by the National Cancer Institute (NCI) found that approximately half of the American population surveyed believe "everything causes cancer" and "there is not much a person can do to prevent if

This program, under the direction of NCI, is an effort to help every American share the benefits of new findings on cancer preven-

Cancer claims an estimated 450,000 lives every vear. However. NCI scientists believe 50 percent of these cases could be prevented by a change in life-

Allison Boomer, health educator for the Michigan Cancer Information Service, said the program will help people understand what lifestyle changes they can make to reduce cancer risks for themselves and their families.

"We want people to know there is good news about cancer. Cancer may be one of the most preventable of all chronic diseases," Ms. Boomer said.

She added, "Here in Michigan, we're trying to reach people in their own communities through local newspapers. We're making an effort to spread the good news about cancer prevention to all Michiganians.

The scientific evidence for the prevention of the disease is so overwhelming that by the year 2000, NCI's goal is to reduce the number of cancer deaths by half of what it is today: This would save an esti-mated 200,000 lives each

Researchers have associated cancer with factors in the environment and with the way people live, what they eat, if they smoke, and the work they

A cancer risk factor is an agent that has been linked to the cause of a particular kind of cancer. Contact with that agent increases the likelihood of getting that kind of cancer. Exposure to a particular risk factor does not necessarily mean the development of the disease, but the possibility of getting cancer has increased. NCI officials encourage people to learn the cancer risks, so they can then minimize their chances of developing the disease.

The following is a list of ways Americans can reduce their risks of cancer:

-Stop smoking or using tobacco in any form. Lowtar, low-nicotine cigarettes do not eliminate the risk of getting cancer.

-Eat foods that are high in fiber and low in fat. Eat a balanced diet that includes lots of fresh fruits and vegetables and whole grain cereals. -- Avoid unnecessary X-

--Minimize exposure to bright sunlight, especially between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. by using sunscreens or protective clothing.

--Take estrogen only as long as necessary.

--Limit alcohol intake to one or two drinks a day. When people start adopting behaviors to reduce cancer risks, they will find themselves healthier.

Prepare car for winter

Motorists who invest 30 minutes now in a simple doit-yourself preventive maintenance program can help guarantee trouble-free driving all winter.

following owner's manual maintenance recommendations and performing 12 routine checks, motorists will have a more dependable vehicle and find overall operating costs reduced," stated Robert Tellier, Auto Club's Emergency Road Service manager.

"A properly maintained car can improve fuel economy and cut operating costs by as much as 20 per-cent," Tellier said. "If a vehicle driven 15,000 miles annually delivers 20 miles per gallon with gas priced at $1.23 per gallon, the savings could be $396 annually.

"In addition, motorists perform preventive maintenance now will know their cars can meet the cold-weather severest problems," Tellier added.

Nearly half of all road service calls occur between December and March, and 80 percent of those calls are caused by vehicle neglect, not failure.

A survey of nearly 5,000 vehicles inspected during the Auto Club's 1983 Winter Car Care Clinics showed that 48 percent of the vehicles checked had deficiencies, which if left unattended, could have resulted in breakdowns. The most common problems were low antifreeze, motor oil and tire pressure (28 percent of all vehicles checked). Each of those items can be maintained through instructions in the owner's manual. Preventive maintenance is the key to a vehicle's overall performance. "If motor oil is not changed at specified intervals, engine damage can result and is costly to repair," Tellier

To perform the following 12-point check list, a motorist will need a screw driver, anti-freeze hydrometer and a tire pressure gauge. The checks can be performed anywhere and require about 30 minutes.

•Motor oil -- the owner's manual will specify intervals between oil changes, but the oil should be checked each time the car is filled with gasoline.

•Brake fluid level should be within a quarter-inch of the top of the master cylinder. The screwdriver is needed to pry off the clip that holds the cover of the brake fluid chamber.

•Fill the windshield washer reservoir with a good commercial solvent to prevent freezing.

Check the strength of antifreeze in the radiator. Some cars have overflow tanks where the coolant can be checked. Strength of antifreeze can be checked easily with the hydrometer. Never open a hot radiator.

•Power steering fluid level can be checked on a dipstick similar to the oil dipstick. To avoid overfilling, add the fluid gradually and test the level several times

•Hold the carburetor air filter up to the sun or next to a light. If you can't see light through it, it is time for replacement.

•Check the automatic transmission fluid with a dipstick located on most cars behind the engine on the passenger side of the car. The car should be parked on a level grade with the engine running.

•Test for fan belt tension and look for fraying or cracking. Press your thumb on the middle of each drive belt. If the belt gives more than a half-inch, have it tightened or replaced. Also inspect hoses and connections for leaks.

•Clean battery terminals and dirty cables with a baking soda and water solution, and check the battery fluid level.

•Turn on all lights and turn signals to make sure they work.

•Check tire pressure with a gauge and inspect tread wear. The spare also should be checked.

 Check windshield wipers and replace them if

For best results, Tellier advised motorists to perform the checks on a monthly basis.

JV ends successful football season

Cass City Junior Varsity completed a successful season with a 6-3 record overall and a 5-2 mark in the Thumb B Conference.

Coach Larry Robinson said that the young Hawks usually got an early lead and then were forced to hang on to win.

If the boys can learn to come from behind, the Hawks should be competitive in the next two years, Robinson believes.

Cass City's success this season was a team effort, the coach says. Both sides of the line opened holes for the backs.

Some penalties, mental mistakes and turnovers caused offensive letdowns, the coach feels. The defense played sound football, giving up an average of just over 10 points per game. Robinson pointed out that very few of the players missed practice and "ran to the woods" when they did without complaint.

Robinson said that the parents and managers, Jeff Dillon and Mark Albee, were important to the team's success.

with a victory over the squad, Besonen is looking Michigan School of the optimistically towards the 1985 season.

Friday, during an interview, Besonen said that one of the keys to a good season there were only 283 days next year will be for the players to keep themselves academically eligible. At the end of the first six-week marking period, three players were declared ineligible because they did not keep their grades at or above the school's required 2.0 grade point average.

Owen-Gage will be losing two of their offensive threats when seniors Reid Goslin, quarterback, and John Shope, kicker, will no longer be suiting up for the games.

Besonen will also be los-ing Kellin Kretzschmer, Tom Jeffrey, Matt Ricker, Angelo Batisti and Bill Ashmore. Jeffrey, Ricker, Ashmore and Batisti were key defensive players for the Bulldogs.

Besonen said that he will be relying on Victor Batisti, Steve Root and Rick Salcido to lead the other 12 returning players next sea-

"A lot of people picked us to win only two games this season," Besonen said. "Five and four isn't bad when you're starting so many young players.

Besonen said that two of the losses, Deckerville, 8-0, and North Huron, 12-7, were so close that the Bulldogs could have won and ended the season 7-2.

Throughout the season, Besonen said that his players were the smallest in the league. With the exception of two players, the Bulldogs will again be outweighed per player for 1985.

"I keep telling their mothers to feed them more," Besonen said.

It was Victor Batisti, Root and Salcido who were instrumental in defeating the Michigan School of the Deaf last Thursday.

Batisti scored the first points of the game on a 10yard run in the third quarter. Root scored in the third and fourth quarters on 5yard and 21-yard runs, respectively. Salcido blocked two punts to give the Bulldogs good field position in the game.

Defensive end Mike Mandich also scored for the Bulldogs after picking up a blocked punt and running 31 yards to score in the third quarter.

Once again Ricker led the defense with 10 tackles. Ashmore recovered two fumbles for the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs held the Michigan School of the Deaf to 53 vards total offense.

Root was the top ground gainer with 60 of the 114 total yards for the Bulldogs.

Helwig records

Brian Helwig, formerly of Cass City, of the Piqua Fastballers set a host of records for his team in 1984.

A spokesman for the team reported that Helwig pitched the most victories, 31; most complete games, 43; most strikeouts in a season, 327; lowest earned run average,1:44; best winning percentage, .674; most strikeouts per seven in-nings pitched, 7.

The two teams traded touchdowns in the second period. Brian Daigle scored on a 24-yard run and Inglis added the extra points to tie the game.

Cass City scored just before the half as Viney scored his third touchdown of the game on a 15-yard dash. When the extra point was scored by Dan Smith the Hawks went into the locker at the intermission leading 22-14.

Cass City stretched that lead to 28-14 with 7:26 left in the third quarter as Viney picked up his fourth marker of the game from Penalties

Wild Pandas can eat 30 lbs. a day

China's wild pandas, which weigh as much as 300 pounds, can eat 30 or more pounds of tasty bamboo shoots in a single day, says National magazine. But whether there's enough bamboo to go around is a serious ques-tion as large forests of bamboo are dying in unison after completing their once-in-a-lifetime act of reproduction. With nowhere else to go, hundreds of China's remaining 1,000 wild pandas are threatened with starvation.

The study was requested \ by the Small Business Association of Michigan.

Participating in the study were economists from the University of Michigan and the W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research.

The report concluded that unemployment insurance costs do vary sytematically by size of the firm in the state.

The larger the firm, as measured by total payroll, the lower the incidence of Relative to the single business tax rate, the study indicated that small firms normally pay an effective tax rate which is "considerably lower" than that paid by larger firms.

It said that on the average, smaller firms (those with a SBT liability less than $5,000) pay tax equal to .9 percent of their valueadded and larger firms pay .5 percent.

Sixty-six percent of the firms filing SBT returns fall into the small firm category, according to the study.
The report noted that the very smallest firms (payrolls of less than $78,000—or about four employees at the state average wage) do incur higher workers' compensation costs than larger firms.

Turkey call a national pastime

The sport of "talking tur-key" is on the rise, says Na-tional Wildlife magazine. No longer just a rural. southern sport passed from father to son, the art of turkey calling is turning into a true national pastime. Some say it's contagious. The object is to attract a wild turkey into the open by using an artificial call. Although a call has to be pretty bad not to work at all, most gobblers are often heard and not seen.

ENERGY SUPPLY

Terry Black, director of the Energy Administration, Department of Commerce, reported energy supplies should be ample to meet the heating needs of Michigan residents this winter.

In releasing a semi-annual report on state energy supplies, demand and prices, Black said inventories and production of natural gas and heating oil are at near normal levels and energy supplies should spread relatively even lower than that levied on remain adequate even if the among small and large others. Thus, over the coming winter is colder remain adequate even if the

The report was jointly prepared by the Energy Administration and the Public Service Commission.

Conclusions of the report include that electricity sales through June, 1985, are projected to be about the same as sales of the previous year; the Michigan demand for motor fuel during 1984 is expected to decline approximately 3 per-cent from 1983 with the trend to continue into 1985; new coal-fired power plants brought on-line or about to be brought on-line will add a total of about 2,400 megawatts of new generating capacity to the Detroit Edison system and world petroleum supplies have been relatively unaffected by the ongoing Iran/Iraq conflict and crude oil prices are expected to remain near current levels.

FIRST OF TWO ARTICLES

Fred and Sally will not likely ever make over they'll be able to retire at lance on their condo. 60, filthy rich.

By Bill Myers

Taking

stock

It warmed my heart to visit with these newlyweds, on their first wedding anniversary. They were "settled in" in a suburb of Atlanta, and ready to plan their future. For the finansuggestions.

It was fun to work out a plan, for Fred and Sally had all the ingredients to make it work, and to make it work

Both have good jobs which they've been in for years, although they're only 35 years old. So they're not job-hoppers, and obviously are performing well. They each make $35,000 a year, and in their field, there's not all that much further to go. Their employers, G E and Delta, are going to be around for a while.

They can count on their earnings being steady, and perhaps increasing some in years ahead.

The next great thing they have besides good, steady jobs, is a fierce desire to save money, and forego pleasures of the present. They want to live simply, keep out of debt, and buy only things they can pay cash for.

Not that they don't live well, for they do, in a good sort of condo. Their travel is mostly courtesy of Delta, which has a generous at-titude toward employees and their families. They have a small car, take care of it, and they will drive it for five years before trading. They have no children, and don't plan to have any, for their jobs demand almost constant travel away from home. They believe in socking

What should we do now?" asked Sally. I have known her family for some 50 years. She has inherited traits of responsibility and thrift and common sense. Here's the plan I worked out, with help from a bond cial part of it, they sought calculator and a compound interest machine.

THE FIRST FIVE YEAR PLAN

(The second one we'll work out in 1989. Let's not go too far now.)

Each year, for the next five years, put $4,000 -- the maximum -- into IRA plans. Specify U.S. Treasury zerocoupons, such as CATS or TIGRS, so reinvestment is no problem. Get ones that mature in 30 years.

There will be no tax to pay when these bonds (or any other securities) are in an IRA account. The tax you pay is when you draw them out.

RESULT:

$4,000 in these zerocoupon government bonds bought in 1984, will be worth $131,950 in 2014, 30 years from now.

$4,000 bought in 1985 becomes $131,950 in 2015. $4,000 in 1986 becomes $131,950 in 2016.

$4,000 in 1987, $131,950 in $4,000 in 1988, $131,950 in 2018. (Assume 12% rate on CATS and TIGRS).

So much for the IRA investments. There'll be a tax when money is withdrawn, 30 years out. No use trying to guess what the tax will

The study, based on a survey of the state's 83 county sheriffs, said the average jail was holding 86.7 per-cent of its total population capacity.

The survey showed that the total number of county jail beds had increased by some 20 percent over the past five years to approximately 7,300.

Even so, the utilization rate of those beds has also increased, the study said, as more and more people are being incarcerated in county facilities.

In March of this year, the study said, 50 percent of the state's county jails were 80 percent of capacity.

Approximately 25 percent were over 100 percent of capacity and one jail claimed it stood at 200 percent of capacity. The study also found that 25 out of the state's 83 jails rented space from other facilities.

The sheriffs' report also said that more than 160 lawsuits were started in 1983 related to conditions in overcrowded jails and nine facilities were under court control in an effort to resolve overcrowding.

Complicating the counties' efforts to resolve overcrowding, the study said, has been the cutoff of federal assistance, state requirements without any

DIOXIN STUDY

A new study by state and federal agencies disputes findings of a 1983 Michigan State University study which showed high levels of dioxin in sport fish in 10 Lower Peninsula rivers.

The study by the Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency noted that, aside from the Tittabawasee River in Midland, the concentrations of dioxin in Michigan river fish are below 35 parts per trillion and are comparable to levels found by the EPA for other locations in the midwest.

The new study showed low or non-detectable levels of dioxin in fish from 12 to
