O-G cafe worker claims job bias

At an Owen-Gage School Board meeting Monday night, problems in the high school cafeteria were aired before board members and about 10 district residents attending the meeting.

The discussion was carried over from the Feb. 25 board meeting, when part-time cafeteria employee Bonnie Fritz said that she was not being called to work because of her political differences with head cook Kay Karg. At that meeting Fritz told the board that she started working in the cafeteria in November. After she had worked for two days, Karg asked if she would vote to get board member Donna Salcido off the board. Fritz said she told Karg that she would not vote against anyone that she didn't know. Fritz pointed out that since then, she has been passed over when the high school cafeteria needed part-time help.

At the meeting Karg denied that she told Fritz that she wanted her to vote against Salcido. She added that at the time Fritz started working she wasn't head cook. Karg took over as head cook at the start of the second semester. At the Feb. 25 meeting Karg said they did not have any problems in the cafeteria until Salcido took office.

The discussion was tabled until the former head cook, Lawanda Gnagey, could be present.

"It is my contention that after she had worked two days, (Mrs. Fritz), Kay (Karg) asked her if she would vote against me on the school board," Salcido said at the meeting Monday night. "When she said no, she was never called back to work again. Now that is blackmail."

"There is nothing to that," Gnagey said, adding that until January she was the person who called in part-time people to work. "I have never heard anything like that."

Salcido asked Fritz if she had been called back to work since the last board meeting. Fritz said that she was called to work Feb. 27. Karg added that she was called last week, but Fritz was in the hospital.

"We seem to have a lot of static coming from the kitchen," Salcido said.

Salcido pointed out that at the September board meeting students from the high school presented the board with a signed petition stating complaints about the cafeteria. She said that the kids said they were "slapped in the face" by the board because at the meeting the board commended the cooks on their good cooking. "I asked some parents to be here tonight, and you know what they told me, 'If we go to that meeting, my kids will be picked on in the cafeteria,'" Salcido said.

District resident Darlene Dorsch said that her children told her they don't like the food in the high school cafeteria, but they loved the food in Gagetown.

High School Principal Wayne Wright said that an average of about 110 to 120 students eat at the Owendale cafeteria each day. There are 177 students at the school. He added that he can find just as many students who like the cafeteria food as who don't like it.

Karg said that parents are invited to come to the cafeteria and try the food.

Board member Joseph Warack said that maybe the board should have a citizens committee to eat at the cafeteria.

"If you want to complain, come down here for a few days and eat, and then come in here and tell this board what you think of the kitchen," Wright said. "I don't think the cooks will have any problems with that, and it will give you a basis for making a determination."

Salcido said the children are afraid to speak up because of the way they get treated in the cafeteria, and

Estimate $20,000 damage in fire

The Elkland Township Fire Department responded to a Wednesday morning blaze that caused an estimated $20,000 damage to a Germania Road residence.

The department responded at 1:28 a.m. to the Dallas Nichols residence, 5051 Germania Rd., Snover, to extinguish a fire started by an electrical problem on an inside kitchen wall. Fire Chief Jerome Root estimated damages to the house at $10,000, and a loss of $10,000 in personal belongings.

Root said that Nichols discovered the fire when smoke that filled the house awoke him.

"He helped prevent a lot of damage," Root said. "He had a garden hose on the fire when we got there."

The Bingham Township Fire Department was called for assistance.

Pothole repair will add to extra heavy winter road costs

Driving around Thumb area roads this spring is guaranteed to be hazardous to health...The health of your car that is.

The streets, roads and highways have been invaded by the pothole virus, and only a heavy dose of money will bring any relief.

Some of the money will be coming from the pockets of motorists who pay for bent tire rims, blown tires, and cars that have been jolted out of line. Road commission budgets for Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron Counties have already been cut by what representatives have called an unusually expensive winter for snow removal.

Money from the road commissions' general budgets is used to cover the additional costs of snow removal and pothole patching. The more the counties spend on these costs, the less they have for road maintenance this summer.

This winter the Village of Cass City has spent $35,979 for snow removal. Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie said that they had $26,400 budgeted for winter snow maintenance.

So far this winter the village workers have put in 421.5 hours of overtime. Most of the overtime, 346.5 hours, occurred in January and February. Last year during the two-month period workers put in 33 hours of overtime.

The village has recorded 70.75 inches of snow so far this winter. Last winter the total snowfall was 60.5 inches. DPW workers hauled 1,778 loads of snow off village streets so far this winter.

Michigan Department of Transportation Director Ralph Merrill said that M-81 from Wahjamega to Caro is scheduled for milling and resurfacing. Merrill explained that the surface of the existing road will be ground down, and new asphalt will be put on.

Twelve and seven tenths miles of M-25, from Unionville to the Huron County line, will be resurfaced this year.

In Huron County 13.8 miles of M-25, from the Tuscola County line to M-142, is scheduled for joint repair. Merrill added that M-53, from the north city limits of Bad Axe to M-142, will be widened to five lanes this year. Bids are to be let on the job after September, and work is expected to be completed on the 1.2-mile road this year.

In Tuscola County, snow removal costs were $240,000 more than last year. Jim Miklovic, road commission clerk, said they will decide what improvements are going to be made on the county roads after snow removal and patching costs are completed.

Patching for the county's primary roads, and the townships' paved roads is paid for from the road commission's budget. The townships pay only for major improvements and new construction. Snow removal costs, and patching costs on state highways in the county are billed to the state.

Miklovic said that because of the cold, wet weather, recent patches by road crews are not staying. He explained that for the patch to lock in, the weather should be warm and dry. The patches the crews are putting in now are expected to last about two weeks.

Sanilac County Road Commission Engineer Jack Kineman said about $200,000 more was spent on snow removal this winter than last year. "It has been an expensive winter," Kineman said. During a normal year the county spends about $50,000 for snow removal costs.

Potholes have become such a major problem for the county that crews were called out last Sunday to put in patches. Kineman said that some of the joints on the concrete state trunk lines "just exploded" when the weather warmed up.

Workers for Huron County Road Commission put in 6,000 hours of overtime so far this winter. Last winter they worked about 1,500 hours of overtime. Road Commission Secretary John Martin said that overtime and equipment costs amounted to about $150,000 in additional expenses to the county this winter.

"It has been a tough one," Martin said about the winter. "I don't know how far back you would have to go to find a worse one."

Martin said that most of the major snow storms started on the week ends, driving overtime expenses up.

Many proud families forced on welfare

By Bill McLeod

Editor's note - This story was written to show how much a person receives from Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) benefits. The amount is based on how much my family would receive with three people, my wife, a two-year-old son and myself.

A person we will call Jane has agreed to talk about living on ADC benefits, providing she not be identified.

"It's terrible," Jane said, when asked how she feels about living on public assistance. She explained that it is not only difficult to "make ends meet," but that she has lost a lot of her friends after they found out she was receiving assisstance. "During the first six months you are in a state of panic, trying to get a job," she said. Jane was laid off from a job that paid enough for a middle class income. The only type of work she can find pays minimum wages, without insurance benefits. Under ADC, most medical bills are at least partially paid for.

Jane said that in the 1970's she was one of the people who were "violently opposed to anybody on welfare." "By accident I ended up on it," she added. Jane has been receiving ADC benefits for about three years. "You can't judge anything until you have seen the other side," she explained. For Jane, one of the biggest problems is how she feels about other people knowing that she is on assistance. When she first started using food stamps, she shopped out of town, so friends wouldn't know. Soon she decided that she could not afford the extra gasoline to drive to Caro or Bad Axe, and began buying her groceries in town.

"These aren't second and third generation welfare recipients. They are people who have worked all their lives," Dillon said. "They believe in work. They believe in the work ethic. The very last thing in the world they wanted to do is come into this office."

"It used to bother me a lot, going into stores with food stamps," she said. "It still bothers me, but you realize that if you want to eat, you have to do it."

Jane does her grocery shopping on Mondays, when there are fewer people in the store. Shopping on Fridays and Saturdays is out of the question. If she sees someone that she knows, who doesn't already know she is on food stamps, she will browse around until they leave. Because there are five people in the family she receives about $160 per month in food stamps, and a claim from ADC of about $600. The amount varies because she takes temporary jobs. How much she earns is deducted from future ADC checks.

Jane said that she gets upset whenever she hears people talk about "those dirty people on welfare."

"I don't consider myself a dirty person," she added. For people who are highly critical of people receiving welfare, Jane feels they would change a lot if they were forced to live on the amount she receives.

She added that if a person wants to live on peanut butter and jelly for 20 days a month, they can afford to purchase new clothing and enjoy the other wants that people take for granted. She believes in feeding her family first, which doesn't leave much for clothing and other needs. The children's winter clothing is ordered one size larger, and bought on layaway in the fall. Any extra money each month is put towards the cost of getting the clothes.

"It's a rough way to live," she said. "No intelligent person wants to live this way, but it beats the alternative...Nobody wants to starve."

Jane is still hopeful about finding a job that will get her off public assistance. "I keep trying. I keep knocking on doors...One of these days something will click, and I will be back where I belong."

According to Tom Dillon, Administrative Assistant to the Director of Tuscola County Department of Social Services, cases similar to Jane's have increased over the past several years. He explained that because of the severe recession, people with a long history of employment have been forced to seek public assistance.

"These aren't second and third generation welfare recipients. They are people who have worked all their lives," Dillon said. "They believe in work. They believe in the work ethic. The very last thing in the world they wanted to do is come into this office."

Dillon explained that these people have been in positions where they were able to criticize welfare recipients and the expenditures of tax dollars on social service programs. "Now they find themselves in a situation where they have to be recipients. The forms of hostility are tremendous. It is very difficult for these people," Dillon said.

Dillon explained the nationwide average stay on public assistance is two and one-half years. The view of social services is not to support people for the rest of their lives, but as a way of getting people to be self-sufficient and self-supportive. Please turn to page 4.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

There aren't any fans in the area who are experiencing the March madness that usually afflicts followers of area high school basketball teams.

That's because there is not a school in the area still in the competition after the district competition. The closest is Unionville-Sebewaing Area Schools. Not one school in the Thumb B Association survived.

Except for Kingston High School's defeat by Decker-ville, the losses were not unexpected. The Thumb B was probably the weakest it has been since it was formed in the 50's.

Rod Krueger of Cass City may have set a new record recently while golfing in the south. He reports that he played a course and lost three balls almost before he was well started.

He bought a dozen more that were sold at the course by owners who found them when they were lost by other golfers.

He used these up and purchased a dozen more as he worked his way around the 18 holes.

It was a grand course and a grand time, Rod is telling folks this week.

Open heart surgery these days is so commonplace that it is hardly newsworthy. However, having the second open heart surgery is rare enough to mention.

Dick deBeaubien's, of Cass City, second open heart surgery was conducted recently and he was reported by friends to be on the mend in Grand Rapids.

That doesn't surprise most folks who know him. After his first open heart operation he was back at the coffee shop in just a little over a week and looking well enough that you'd never have guessed that he was recovering from serious surgery.

24 beds added at regional center

The first phase of the $334,300 expansion and renovation at the Caro Regional Mental Health Center will be completed Monday when 24 new patients are due to be housed for treatment, Dr. Martin Roll, director, said this week.

It will be the first half of a total of 48 patients that will receive extended treatment.

The increase in Caro will be accompanied by a decrease of a like number of patients from the now overcrowded Clinton Valley Center.

Dr. Roll estimated that the increased patient load will generate about 50 new jobs at the Caro facility.

According to Larry Payne of the Michigan Department of Public Health, the department approved the budget appropriation Feb. 25. It calls for an expenditure of $135,000 for renovation of the two cottages that will be used in the program.

New equipment is budgeted at $82,500 and training of new staff is expected to cost $116,800.

The second cottage with 24 more new patients is expected to be in operation by April 1, Roll said.

Kingston man fined for impaired driving

Monday, Tuscola County District Court Judge Richard Kern fined Richard Cilk, 39, Centerline Rd., Kingston, $208 on charges of impaired driving.

Cilk was arrested by Cass City Police Officer Kenneth Schott Dec. 15, 1984. Cilk pleaded guilty to impaired driving Feb. 11, 1985.

He was also ordered to pay $117 court costs, and $60 to mental health screening. He was placed on probation for one year, and had his driver's license suspended for six months. Cilk was granted rights to drive to work and to adult treatment programs during the suspension period.

Also Monday, Judge Kern fined Sandra L. Caraballo, 19, 5889 Robinson Road, Cass City, $46, on charges of driving without a driver's license, never applied. She was arrested by Cass City Police Officer Schott Dec. 22, 1984. Caraballo was also ordered to pay court costs of $29.

The Haire Net

It seemed like a good idea at the time, but evidently it wasn't.

Ambitious plans to start a bed and breakfast program have withered and a meeting scheduled in Cass City has been cancelled because of lack of interest.

In these days of international travel, most folks are familiar with the bed and breakfast offered tourists throughout Europe.

Over there it serves two purposes. It stretches limited tourists' budgets and is added income for their hosts.

Many visitors say that they prefer the informal family type atmosphere over the more prestigious watering holes on the continent.

So why has it died on the vine in the Thumb? One reason has to be that it's a new concept. Face it. Most folks instinctively shy away from anything new, strange. We're more comfortable with the old and familiar.

Fear must enter into it too. Inviting a stranger into the house brings all sorts of hazards, real and imaginary.

There are safeguards against being ripped off in the program, but nothing is 100 percent sure.

While it doesn't appear that bed and breakfast will fly this spring in the Thumb, there is still an effort to get it going in Michigan.

A meeting is scheduled during American Natural Resources Week (farmers' week) at Michigan State University Saturday, March 23, to push the concept.

It appears that sponsors will have a dual task. First they need to be able to convince hosts that may be interested that it's a safe, viable program. It's sure there are many who would welcome the experience if they felt the hazards were eliminated.

Next they need to find persons wanting to use this type of service. That may be harder. In the prime vacation times in the Thumb, bed and breakfast hosts compete with almost free camping and the established motels.

Since one of the allures of bed and breakfast is economy, competition dictates that no one will be wealthy by entering the program.

The bottom line appears to be that the hosts must enjoy having strangers in the home and the guests must enjoy being there.

Finding enough of them is a major problem. Evidently,

"If It Fitz...."

Money talks

By Jim Fitzgerald

Pauline McBride was a flop at using the Michigan National Bank's money for her own purposes. She could learn a lot from Stanford C. Stoddard, former chairman and chief operating officer of Michigan National Corp.

McBride is a 42-year-old divorced welfare mother. Last March, armed with a toy gun, she robbed a Michigan National Bank branch of $2,000. A bank customer got her license number and she was arrested the next morning. Although it was her first offense, and despite a plea for leniency from the prosecution, a Macomb County judge sentenced her to up to five years in jail.

McBride said she needed money to help support her five children. That was a mistake. When money is missing, people who need it for food, clothing and shelter immediately fall under suspicion. One way to get away with using other people's money is to be rich. If you already own a mammoth pile of money, you won't be suspected of coveting someone else's.

Another nice thing about being wealthy is, if you're fingered for spending my money, you can afford to pay it back. All dollars spend alike. You don't have to give me back the same dollar you took from me, any old dollar will make me feel a lot better. A welfare mother doesn't have this handy option. Once she's spent my money on food, she's broke again, and she can't give me the food because her children ate it.

Also, if you're a millionaire, you recognize the value of spending someone else's money. It allows you to keep your own money invested, earning 15 percent interest. A welfare mother doesn't know about high finance. She is so financially ignorant, she will spend her own money before trying to spend someone else's.

The case of Stanford Stoddard has been well-documented by the media. While he was top man at Michigan National, he used around $280,000 of the bank's money to pay some personal bills. Over a period of years, he spared himself the cost of spending his own money on two wedding receptions for his children and for labor and materials used to maintain his two homes and several Mormon churches.

Subsequently, there were questions raised by the board of directors. An investigation revealed that bank funds had apparently been "misapplied" and some bank records were missing or altered. His lawyer said Stoddard had intended to repay the money and was just waiting to "be billed."

Stoddard paid his bill and, at the request of the board, resigned. No reason for the resignation was announced. No bank official said it was Stoddard's punishment. No one believes that Stoddard is now living at one of his homes, in squalid retirement, waiting anxiously for the mailman to deliver each monthly pension check.

It is not as though Stoddard were a welfare mother who used a toy gun to steal $2,000 to support her five children. It is not as though Stoddard were a financially ignorant woman who knew nothing about maintaining her investments by misapplying someone else's funds. It is not as though Stoddard were an impoverished woman unable to sway a court by paying back the $2,000.

Because Pauline McBride gave helpful testimony in an unrelated case, and because "her crime was one of economic necessity," Assistant Prosecutor William Dardy asked the judge to give her a break. Instead, "he pretty much ignored us," Dardy said, and gave her 1 1/2 to five years.

Oh well. Maybe McBride will find time to improve herself while locked up away from her five kids. Maybe she'll learn how to be a bank executive.

Tissue paper gets its name from its original use: it was designed for placing between the folds of extremely fine gold-woven fabric, or "gold tissue."

Chemical Bank purchases Marlette branch

Chemical Bank Cass City, through its parent company, Financial Corporation of Midland, this week announced the purchase of the Marlette Branch of the Peoples State Bank of Caro.

The Peoples State Bank is in the process of being taken over by National Bank of Detroit and NBD already owns a bank serving the Marlette area.

Chemical Bank Cass City is a wholly owned subsidiary of Chemical Financial Corporation which operates 10 Chemical Banks in 50 banking offices in 17 counties located generally across mid-Michigan's lower peninsula.

The Marlette bank will offer a full line of banking services. All of the Chemical Banks are state banks and offer the full range of services associated with commercial banking.

The company's lead bank is Chemical Bank and Trust Company in Midland which provides trust services through its subsidiaries.

The corporation also owns CFC Data Corporation, which provides processing service to the firm's banks and also some of these services to others.

ADC benefits provide for basics, not frills

For a person to qualify for ADC benefits, deprivation of support for the children must be shown. This can occur through the absence of a parent due to death, separation or divorce, or through incapacity to work. Dillon pointed out that the incapacity can be caused by physical or mental health problems.

"If you have a heart problem, or some type of disability that would preclude working, then we would make a medical determination as to the deprivation," Dillon said. He added that for a person who is physically or mentally unable to work, they try to get the person on social security disability programs.

In Jane's case, the children are deprived of an income because of unemployment (ADCU).

"In order to meet the criteria for deprivation there has to be a work history," Dillon said. For a person to qualify, they must have worked at least six quarters during the past three and one-half years, and be eligible for, or received unemployment benefits in the last 12 months.

As part of the ADCU process, all people who are physically or mentally able to work, must sign for job training and placement services. The person's work skills will be assessed, and they will sign for a job with the Michigan Employment Security Commission. The person may be placed in work training programs that will give the recipient skills to get a job, and training on how to keep the job. Some will find themselves working in programs in the community, earning minimum wages, that will be deducted from the amount they receive from their ADCU grant.

"When you become a public assistance recipient, the activities we have planned for you are going to lead you back to self-support and self-sufficiency," Dillon pointed out.

Persons who are placed in a job, and are fired, must wait 30 days before they can again qualify for benefits. If a person refuses to accept a job, they are removed from public assistance for a period of time determined by the department. During this time the child's needs will not be ignored because of the parent's inability to work.

"We may do general assistance for that child, and set up a third party payee," Dillon said. "The parents would not receive any income from the department, but the child's needs would be met."

In extreme cases, the child may end up going to a foster care home. "Things generally don't get to that point. You are looking at the worst scenario possible," he added.

Dillon explained that a lot of people make assumptions about people who are receiving assistance. One of the most common is that a woman has a boyfriend living with her, and that is against the law.

"There aren't laws that restrict the moral commitment of individuals," Dillon pointed out. "As long as the children are in an environment where nurturing takes place, and there isn't abuse and neglect, then ADC isn't addressing somebody living there unless they provide some type of care and support for the child." If the person does provide financial assistance, the amount of money paid to the ADCU recipient may be lowered.

"The fact that they cohabitate has nothing to do with eligibility," Dillon said. "It may have to do with the amount of assistance they receive."

REVIEWING MY CLAIM

After filling out a 22-page application, and verifying the total number of family members, the amount of cash and liquidatable assets are investigated. A person may maintain a maximum of $1,000 in checking and savings accounts, credit unions, stocks and bonds and tax refunds.

A person is also entitled to keep one car, valued at less than $1,500. Assets essential to employment, such as tools, may be kept, but the amount cannot exceed $700.

To qualify, a person may have only one home. Vacation property must be sold. Dillon explained that for a lot who have worked over a long period of time, this is a hardship.

"They have assets that are accumulated for years, over a lot of effort and work," he said. "Now they find themselves not eligible for public assistance because they built some equity into their lives. They have to reduce that equity to become eligible, and that is a very difficult thing for them to do."

Dillon said that when a person sells a vacation cabin, it must be sold at a fair market value, and the money must be used for living expenses before they will be allowed to receive assistance. If the cabin is sold to a family member for a low amount, so it can be bought back later, a fair market value is determined on the property, and a person is not eligible until that amount would be used.

My family would receive a monthly allotment from ADCU of $455 per month, from November until April, during the heating season. For the rest of the year we would receive $409 a month, an average year-round income of $432 per month. Dillon added that we may qualify for food stamps. He estimated that if we qualified, we would receive from $75 to $100 per month. He explained that ADC is a federal government program. Food stamps come from the Department of Agriculture.

To meet the basic needs, excluding purchases of clothing, we have a $533 per month budget, based on year-round expenses (see chart).

This budget does not include monthly car and insurance payments, telephone costs, college loan payments, gasoline, life and renters insurance, and credit card payments.

"ADC is an interruption of the Great American Dream," Dillon said. "One that a lot of people don't want to experience."

"Our success is measured by the people we help...Assisting them to regain that self-sufficiency," he added. "In all honesty, it is a great feeling to have someone come in and tell you to 'go to hell. I am done with you.'"

Cafeteria problems aired at Owen-Gage meeting

parents are afraid to come to the meetings because their kids are going to "catch it in the kitchen. This is terrible."

"We have never mistreated any of those kids," Karg said.

Someone asked Karg how long she has worked in the kitchen, and if she has had problems before.

Karg told the audience that she has worked for 13 years, and they never had any problems until the last three years, "since Donna's been on the school board."

"That's a lot of bull," Salcido said. She added that she has been having problems in the cafeteria since her kid was in school.

"I never have had anybody complain to me about the food," board member Don Cummins said. "I don't know why it is always Donna."

Salcido asked a group of students for their comments about the cafeteria.

"There is not a day that goes by when I don't go into the cafeteria, and the cooks do not abuse anyone," said Owen-Gage senior Kendra Kretzschmer. "If anyone abuses anyone, it is the students abusing the cooks."

The discussion ended with the board directing Karg to call part-time help to work on a rotating basis. The substitute list is to be limited to three workers with the most experience, Sandra Karg, Barb McCalum and Fritz.

RESIGNATION TABLED

A group of residents attending the meeting voiced their opinion against the board accepting the resignation of Catherine Kropewnicki, special education instructor for the high school.

"We always seem to be losing good teachers. Why?" Darlene Dorsch asked the board about Kropewnicki's resignation. Dorsch's husband, Don, said the board seemed to be acting "very fast in accepting the resignation."

"I think she is a good teacher. She is the only teacher in this whole school that the kids go to with their personal problems, and she helps them." She pointed out that Kropewnicki is active in extracurricular activities.

School Board President Ronald Good said that for a lot of teachers the school is a "stepping stone" to another job.

"I don't think we should accept the resignation at this point," said Don Dorsch. "The board seems to be very fast at accepting it." He asked Superintendent Ron Erickson if there was any pressure on Kropewnicki to resign.

Erickson said that anybody that hands in their resignation does so at their own free will.

Salcido asked Kropewnicki if she was being pressured by the superintendent or principal to resign.

Kropewnicki refused to comment.

Warack withdrew his motion to accept the resignation, and tabled the issue until the next meeting.

The board was to vote on Kropewnicki's tenure at the meeting.

In other business the board:

Agreed to hire Walt Harrison as varsity baseball coach at a salary of $1,045. James Glidden will be assistant coach. His salary will be $596.

Announced that Joseph Warack and Leona LaFave's elected terms to the board will expire June 30.

Hired Kaye Swiastyn as assistant softball coach. Her salary is $596.

Named Kendra Kretzschmer, daughter of Bill and Norma Kretzschmer, Owendale, as student of the month.

Sent a notice to the district's bus drivers commending them for the good job they did driving through the snow this winter.

Sent a notice commending Judy Campbell on winning the league volleyball championship.

Approved tenure to teachers Alan Angeloff, Richard Sager and Melody Wolf.

Revoked an appeal process for students who are not accepted into the National Honor Society.

Ugly School Board extends class day

Students of the Ugly School District will be spending 35 minutes a day longer in the classrooms beginning Wednesday, March 13.

The decision to extend the length of the school day was made at the school board meeting Monday night. According to Business Manager Mark Tenbusch, school will start at 8:10 a.m., instead of 8:30 a.m., and will last until 3:20 p.m., instead of 3:05 p.m.

The reason the board extended the school day is to make up some of the lost class time caused by snow storms this winter. Students missed 16 school days this year.

The Ugly School Board has a policy, and an agreement with their teachers, that after four school days have been cancelled, the board can extend the school year to make up the days. The board also decided to hold classes for a full day on April 4, Holy Thursday. The day was originally scheduled as a half-day for students, and an afternoon inservice for teachers. The student school year has been extended to June 7, instead of the original June 5 date.

Also at the meeting the board announced that the term of board member Julia Heilig will expire June 30. She is seeking reelection to the four-year term.

Anyone interested in running for the position is to pick up an application petition form from the superintendent's office. The person running for the position must have 25 signatures of registered voters in the school district, and the petition must be turned in by April 8 at 4:00 p.m. The election will be held June 10.

MILLAGE

At a March 26 special election, voters of the Ugly School District will be asked to approve a two-mill increase for repairs to the roofs of the high school buildings, and to purchase new school buses.

The two-mill increase will generate the district about $144,000 a year. The request is for four years.

Business Manager Mark Tenbusch said that the school needs about $150,000 to repair the roofs of the high school buildings. The gymnasium roof is in need of repair the most because it has shifted about two inches to the south. Tenbusch said he first noticed problems with the roof Dec. 27, 1982, after a strong wind storm. He said that during July, 1983 the board received a $30,000 estimate to repair the roof. He feels that today it will cost about $35,000 to $40,000.

Tenbusch said the board hired an attorney to look into having the construction company, and the architect, see what they could do about repairing the problems. Owners of both firms have died, and their companies were sold.

The brick wall, on the south side of the gymnasium has several cracks. The gymnasium was built in 1966.

Tenbusch said the district also has to replace at least seven of its school buses. The cost of a new bus is about $40,000. The district just purchased two buses, which were financed. The district will pay about $19,000 in interest over the next five years.

Tenbusch said that all of the district's 12 buses will have over 100,000 miles on them at the end of the school year. He estimates the district spends $1,300 a month on repair parts.

The school district levies 22.9 mills. 9.25 are county allocated.

Fourth grade students compete in spelling bee

Five Cass City School District fourth grade students competed against 33 of the best spellers in the county at the Mar. 1, fourth annual Tuscola Area Skill Center spelling bee held at Kingston.

Campbell Elementary student Melissa Micklash finished seventh overall at the competition. The school district entered five students, one from each of the fourth grade classrooms.

Five alternates were also selected from each of the five fourth grade classrooms. The alternates would have competed in the spelling bee if the room champion had been unable to do so.

All of the winners and alternates were treated to a pizza lunch Monday at the Charmont by their principals.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

Being a parent is great. Aside from all of the love that I receive from Andrew, I get to play with all of his new toys.

His Lego set is the best. It reminds me of an Erector set that I had when I was a kid. Andrew and I have spent countless hours building houses, tractors and whatever with the interlocking pieces. They are a lot better than wooden building blocks because they don't fall down, or as is the case with Andrew, get knocked down. Some of my best buildings were toppled by a grinning two-year-old.

Play Doh was a lot of fun, for a while. After scraping out little chunks of the dried, blue stuff from the carpet, the novelty soon wore off. Now Andy only gets to play with it when Diane or I have the time to sit down with him, and keep it on the table.

The little cars and trucks are OK, but they don't stimulate his creativity enough to make playing with them that much fun. I can't wait until he is old enough for an electric slot car game. I always wanted one when they were first introduced on the market, I was too old. Electric train sets were popular back then, but they were too expensive for us.

Another great thing about having a young son is an excuse to watch cartoons. Not just on Saturday mornings, but quite often after I get home from work. On rare occasions, when I get out of the office by 4:30 p.m., I get the chance to enjoy Inspector Gadget.

For those of you who don't have a built-in excuse to watch cartoons, or are too busy, Inspector Gadget is worth the half-hour in front of the tube.

Cartoons have changed since I was a kid. Today's cartoons, such as He Man, Inspector Gadget and Superheroes have enough interest to keep a child's attention, while throwing in safety tips and moralistic views. I guess the cartoons that I watched as a child, such as the Road Runner are not as popular with parents, or parent's groups. They do depict violence in a nonchalant way.

Sesame Street and other child education shows don't thrill me, but they definitely have an educational value. Andy has learned a lot through the repetition of numbers and the alphabet. It is good to see that Mr. Rogers has stood the test of time. He even looks the same as when I was a kid.

New books at the library

MINDBEND by Robin Cook (fiction). Third-year medical student Adam Schonberg, because his dancer-wife is pregnant, quits school and takes a job with prosperous and glitzy Arolen Pharmaceuticals. After only several days of peddling pills, Adam divines a connection between Arolen's suspect business practices and some peculiar goings-on in the New York City obstetrical community (one of whose members is Jennifer Schonberg's physician). Zooming between NYC, D.C., and several Caribbean locales, Adam manages to convince the world of Arolen's monolithic designs on the medical profession via the use of psychosurgery and powerful mind-control drugs.

GOD IN THE HARD TIMES by Dale Evans Rogers (non-fiction). Writer and former cowgirl Rogers earnestly makes her point that God is with us in hard times and that people grow through adversity. While each chapter deals with one of the more depressing aspects of the human experience (disappointment, loneliness, failure, death), Rogers' writing does have some lift and life to it.

MEXICO SET by Len Deighton (fiction). British undercover agent Bernard Samson relates his desperate moves in an unsporting contest. Samson perceives that his own colleagues are working against him, in hopes that his failure will mean their advancement. He's on guard against London Central and the Soviets while he lays plans to persuade KGB official Erich Stinnes to defect. The mission takes Samson to Paris, Berlin, England, and back to Mexico on flights interrupted by the murders of competing "players," the English spy narrowly avoiding being charged with the crimes. When Samson and Stinnes meet at last, the board is cleared for the next stage of the fearful game, the third thriller that readers will be waiting for impatiently.

Six Owen-Gage High School band students received first division ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District III solo and ensemble festival held at the Caro High School Feb. 16.

Owen-Gage senior Ron Good was selected as outstanding soloist for his cornet solo at the festival. The award earned him an audition with the Genesee Wind Ensemble orchestra.

Students receiving first division soloist ratings were Linda Retford, flute; Good, cornet; Kendra Reehl, flute, and Cindy Enderle, baritone. Retford and Reehl also received a first division rating for their flute duet. Barb Hellebuyck, French horn; Kim Olszak, trumpet, and Good and Enderle also earned a first division rating as a quartet.

No injuries in minor accidents

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy James Compo reported that there were no injuries in a two car accident March 7 at 4:45 p.m.

According to the report, Evelyn A. Butler, 71, 6469 Seventh St., Cass City, was westbound on Huron Street, when she struck a vehicle driven by George L. Bushong Jr., 36, 5722 East Cass City Rd., Cass City. Bushong was southbound on Oak Street.

Deputy Compo reported that Butler failed to yield at the intersection of Oak and Huron Streets. She told the deputy that she did not see the Bushong vehicle in time to stop.

Both vehicles were towed away.

Deputy Phillip Mallory reported that Richard S. Gaffney, 54, 6567 Elizabeth St., Cass City, struck a deer March 7 at 7:00 p.m.

According to the report, Gaffney was eastbound on Bevans Road, one-quarter mile east of Hurds Corner Road when he struck the deer. Gaffney was not injured in the accident.

CASS CITY POLICE

Officer Phillip Klaus reported that Kenneth R. Harris, Greenland Rd., Box 221, Cass City, was not injured when he struck a deer March 7 at 8:30 p.m.

According to the report, Harris was eastbound on M-81, one-half mile west of M-53 when he struck the deer.

STATE POLICE

Michigan State Police Trooper Neal Sweeney reported that a vehicle driven by Allen E. Lester, 24, 4923 Center St., Gageton, backed into a parked car owned by Donna Salcido, Gageton, March 4 at 5:50 p.m.

According to the report, Lester was backing out of a parking spot on State Street, near Lincoln Street, Gageton, when his vehicle spun on the ice covered parking area. The spinning wheel suddenly hit a spot of dry pavement, and backed into the Salcido vehicle.

Lester was issued a ticket for failure to use due care and caution.

SHIRLEY HOFFMAN, Sales Manager at Cass City Ford was presented a gold and diamond watch by Ford Motor Company Sales Representative Ricardo Bailey. Hoffman earned the watch by selling the most Ford Escorts, EXPs and Tempos in the district.

Fed. cuts could devastate Transportation Dept.

President Reagan's proposed 1985-86 federal budget "would be devastating to Michigan's public transit programs," the head of the state's public and urban transportation programs said.

The budget cuts, if adopted, could cost the state's bus systems as much as $38 million, threaten railroad passenger service and track rehabilitation as well as cut subsidized air service to two cities, Carol Norris, deputy transportation director for urban and public transportation, said.

If threatened federal cuts go through, it is unlikely state or local revenues would be available to make up the lost federal monies, she said.

In analyzing the impact of the federal budget, Norris said the state's outstate urban bus systems could lose as much as 24 percent of their operating budgets, while the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) could lose up to 16 percent.

Non-urban bus systems could lose up to 18 percent of their budgets, she noted. The state's two subsidized Amtrak services— from Grand Rapids to Chicago and from Port Huron to Chicago—could be eliminated under one budget proposal, Norris said, affecting some 200,000 passengers annually and train service to 10 cities.

A second Amtrak proposal calls for modest reductions in subsidies over four years, and while that would not significantly affect passenger service, she said, it could eliminate train station and track improvement programs.

And freight railroad rehabilitation projects could lose funds as well under the budget, she said.

"Given the magnitude of the state's trackage in dire need of immediate rehabilitation, any action other than continuation of or an increase in program funding would have a negative impact on the rail freight program," she added.

And Jackson and Manistee could lose their air carrier services if subsidies provided under the essential air service provisions of the 1978 airline deregulation act are cut, Norris concluded.

DAVE GREEN sinks two of his 21 points in Kingston's tournament loss to Deckerville Friday night.

Eagles soar higher than Cards in tourney play

Camelot came to an end Friday night for the Kingston basketball team when they were knocked out of district tournament play by Deckerville, 63-72.

Ironically, it was Deckerville that gave Kingston sole possession of the title in Thumb D League, when Deckerville upset the North Huron Warriors. At that time North Huron was tied with Kingston for first place. Each team had lost one league game, to each other. Kingston ended the regular season with a 15-1 league record. North Huron had a 14-2 league record.

Throughout the season Kingston has gotten off to a slow start, often trailing at the end of the first quarter. Friday night they took an early lead, and stayed on top throughout the first three periods of play.

"I don't think we played badly. We didn't loaf," said Kingston Coach Mike Schreiber. "We never had anything to get us put, nothing to spark the extra adrenaline." He added that several foul calls stemmed the tide for the Cardinals.

"We just never got a big play for our momentum."

In the first quarter Kingston quickly scored eight unanswered points before Deckerville's coach, Steve Young, called a time out to regroup the Eagles. At the 4:30 mark of the first period Deckerville scored their first basket. Deckerville cut the Kingston lead to 10-8 during the period, but the Cardinals scored six unanswered points to end the quarter 16-8.

During the first four minutes of the second period Kingston was able to score three points to Deckerville's 10-point attack. A three point play by Kingston's Dave Green, and two free throw shots by Mark Reehl kept Kingston ahead late in the period.

Timely free throw shooting from Deckerville's Doug Shagena, and a last second, 25-foot jump shot by Tim Parks kept Deckerville in the game, trailing 26-28 at halftime.

During the third period the score was tied several times, but the Cardinals never trailed. At the end of the quarter Kingston was holding on to a 44-42 lead.

Deckerville scored four points within the first minute of the fourth period to go on top for the first time in the game, 46-44. Kingston regained the lead after Green scored four quick points. It was the last time Kingston would be ahead. Green led the Cardinals with 21 points.

Shagena put Deckerville on top, scoring four points at the five minute mark in the period. Shagena scored 27 points for Deckerville. The last time the two teams met, the Cardinals held Shagena to nine points.

Deckerville was able to hold Larry Smith, the league's leading scorer, to 14 points. Schreiber said that they were unable to get the ball past the Eagle defense for Smith to have the chance to shoot. Smith has averaged over 22 points a game for Kingston. It was Smith's last game in a Kingston uniform. He and Brad Widger will graduate this year. Widger has averaged over nine points a game.

"It is all over, that's for sure," Schreiber said about the loss that ended the season for them. "I am going to miss some of those guys."

Next season Schreiber will have Green and his two guards, Mike Megge and Mark Reehl, returning. Megge scored eight points against Deckerville. Reehl netted four points.

Schreiber said that sophomore Mark James will probably fill one of the spots opened by Smith and Widger. The fifth spot is "up for grabs."

"It was a good year for us," Schreiber said about their 18-4 overall record. "I am not bragging, but a lot of teams didn't do that well."

CPS GAME

Kingston earned the opportunity to challenge Deckerville by beating Carsonville-Port Sanilac Wednesday, March 6, 56-47.

Kingston had beaten CPS five days earlier to end their regular season. The score was 68-59.

Smith led the Cardinal at tack with 16 points. Green scored 14. Megge had 13 points and Widger scored 10.

DURING THE waning moments of the game, Kingston Coach Mike Schreiber called a time-out to try and get the team back on the winning track.

Vassar dominates Thumb B all-conference selections

Cass City failed to place a player on the Thumb B Association all-conference first team basketball squad, but did place two sophomores on the second team.

Vassar was the only school to place more than one player on the first squad. Jeff Tyson, 6-5 senior center, and Aaron Fletcher, 6-2 forward, were elected.

Fletcher was the only junior to be named to the first team. Other selections were: Scott Rosenthal, Lakers; Scott Romine, Imlay City, and Brian Wardhammer, Bad Axe. All are seniors.

Cass City sophomores honored were Kurt Bliss, 6-foot forward, and Dave Miller, 5-11 guard.

Bliss made the second team despite missing several games and operating at about 60 percent of normal in several others due to an injury.

Miller steadily improved as the season progressed and led the team in scoring.

Others named to the second team were: Brian Hirsch, 5-11 senior, Marlette; Jim Shelton, 6-5 junior, North Branch, and Tod Harris, 5-10 senior, Caro.

Cass City placed two players on the honorable mention list. They were Bryan Beecher and Tracy Lapp. Others receiving one or more votes to earn honorable mention were: Ror Dubs, Lakers; John Murphy, Imlay City; Darren Hazen, Tim Harbin, Mike Steele and J.D. Ritter, all of Marlette, and Mike McKay, Marty Zwerk and Paul Walz, all of Vassar.

Heidi M. Vyse appointed to Academy

Heidi M. Vyse of Vassar has been offered an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Miss Vyse is a senior at Caro High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay C. Vyse.

Under law, each member of Congress may have a maximum of five cadets at each Service Academy at any one time. Appointments to the Academies will continue until May.

Novesta annual meeting Saturday

Novesta Township will be holding its annual township meeting Saturday at 1:00 p.m. at the township hall, Deckerville Rd., Deford.

Erosion causes

The forces of wind and water are not the only causes of soil erosion, says National Wildlife magazine. For instance, off-road vehicles, like the "dune buggy," have scoured more soil off parts of California than nature will replace in 1,000 years.

Township Clerk Nursie Kloc said that they voted last year to hold this year's annual meeting earlier than other townships.

The budget for the 1985 fiscal year will be discussed at the meeting. The proposed budget for the township has been tentatively set for about $90,000.

"This is the chance for the residents to have their say," Kloc said. "We would like them to come and express their views. We want their input."

1,500 get fishing tips at annual Thumb sports show Sunday

Sunday, about 1,500 fishing enthusiasts attended the spring sport fishing show and clinic at the Colony House. The show was sponsored by the Thumb Chapter of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association. Thumb Chapter President Dave Coon said that he was pleased with the large turnout. During the event, 48 new members signed up to join the association. The Thumb Chapter has about 480 members. Coon said that some of the activities that the association has sponsored last year was to help pay for a walleye rearing pond at Fish Point, and they built a fish cleaning station at Port Austin. Coon said the fish cleaning station, which cost about $7,000 to build, will be turned over to the city this year. They are also planning on constructing one in Harbor Beach. Coon said this year fishermen can expect an "excellent return" of salmon into Lake Huron waters. He added that about mid-April fishermen can expect the salmon to make their run along the southern part of the lake, arriving in the Port Huron and Lexington areas first.

He also expects a good year for brown trout.

For the novice fisherman, Coon recommends that he take a few trips on a charter boat before buying equipment to start fishing. He explained that this way the novice will not spend a lot of money on equipment he doesn't need. He also recommends that all fishermen attend the monthly association meetings. The meetings are held on the third Thursday of the month at the Uby Fox Hunters Club building.

Coon said fishermen can expect to find the salmon near the shore in the warm shallow waters, until the deeper water warms up. For early spring fishing, he recommends using artificial body baits, similar to the smelt the salmon will be feeding on at that time of the year. As the water warms up and the salmon head for the deeper waters, spoons such as the popular Northport Nailer work the best.

During 1983 the Department of Natural Resources planted 100,000 coho salmon in the Port Hope area of Lake Huron. Coon pointed out that it takes a coho about two years to mature to the 7 to 12 pound size, so fishing in the area should

On separate felony charges

Pair sentenced to county jail

Monday, Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn sentenced David A. Wright, 35, 1635 Dakota St., Flint, to 120 days in the county jail on charges of negligent homicide. The charges stem from a Nov. 3, 1984 auto accident that claimed the life of John E. Clouse, 3930 Hurds Corner Road, Caro. According to the report filed by Michigan State Police Trooper Luanne Frederick, Wright failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of Vassar Road and M-81. His vehicle struck the Clouse vehicle, and forced Clouse into the ditch. Clouse died the following day in the Caro Community Hospital.

Wright entered a no contest plea to the charge Jan. 7. As part of the plea bargaining agreement, Wright was not to spend more than six months in the county jail.

Wright was also placed on two years' probation, and ordered to pay a $300 fine and $400 court costs. His driver's license has also been revoked. Wright was given credit on his jail sentence for time spent in substance abuse programs.

Also Monday, Joslyn sentenced David L. Marquardt, 33, 1741 Kingston

Rd., Deford, to 60 days in the county jail on a charge of attempted delivery of marijuana.

Marquardt was originally charged with delivery of marijuana, June 19, 1984. He pleaded guilty to attempted delivery of marijuana Feb. 4.

Marquardt was ordered to pay a $500 fine and court costs of $400. He was given credit for eight days already served.

Also Monday, Judge Joslyn set a March 18 hearing date for a probation violation charge against David W. Robinson, 22, Caro Mobile Estates, Caro. Bond was set at $20,000.

Robinson has been charged with larceny over $100.

Robinson was sentenced to a five-year probation period after a jury found him guilty of arson April 22, 1982. He also received a one-year jail sentence at that time.

A probation violation hearing was set for Hugh D. Bulla, 22, 6777 E. Kelly Rd., Cass City, for March 18.

The court appointed David Myers as council. Bond was set at $500.

Charges for the probation violation stem from a conviction and sentencing in Huron County Court on assault and battery charges, Feb. 20, 1985.

Bulla was sentenced to probation after he pleaded guilty to larceny in a building Nov. 3, 1980.

Your neighbor says Lottery is not for me

Is the gamble on winning the big money on lottery games worth spending $1?

"I don't buy tickets. I think it is a waste of money," said Pat Jamison, Koepfen Road, Cass City. She said that she has friends who play, but the game is not for her.

"If I buy a ticket for someone else, they win," she said. "If I buy them for myself, I lose." It has been several years since she bought a ticket for herself. Jamison feels that it is good that most of the profits from sales of lottery tickets go directly to the school aid fund. Forty-one percent of all the ticket sales go to the school aid fund. For 1984 this amounted to $235 million.

Jamison said that from the lottery sales, the taxpayers get a break.

She is a leader and service unit director of the Cass City Girl Scouts. When interviewed Monday, she was hanging posters throughout town, commemorating Girl Scout Week.

Her husband, Eugene, is a radio technician for King Communications, Saginaw. They have two children.

Standish youth dies Sunday

Services for Kristopher P. Osier, four-year-old son of Phillip R. and Kitty Osier, who drowned Sunday in a creek near their Lincoln Township home, were held Wednesday in the Resurrection of the Lord Catholic Church, Standish, with burial in the church cemetery.

Besides his parents, survivors include a brother Brandon, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Neil Adams of Sterling and maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallagher of Cass City.

Mass held for Mrs. Wykowski

Funeral services were held Monday at St. Michael's Catholic Church, Wilmot, for Mrs. Lottie Wykowski, 80. She died March 8 at Provincial House in Cass City.

Born in Poland July 14, 1904, she was married to Bruno Wykowski. He died in 1953.

Survivors include one daughter, Irene Trzemeski of Kingston; one son, Casimir Wykowski of Warren; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Harmon Lance Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

By Bill Myers
Taking stock

Dear Bill:
I liked the lady in your column who rejected your advice to sell her stocks and buy bonds.
I put all the money in a family trust for me and my daughter into bonds. The income has stayed constant while the purchasing power and principal have both decreased at least 30 percent.
I put my sister's share into bonds and good stocks and her yield and principal have both grown 30 percent. If all my investments had been bonds (down 20 percent), I'd be a lot poorer than I am. Only the stocks have kept my head (and many other parts) above water.

Charles Redfield

Before reprinting my reply, let me identify Charles as the Juno Beach, Fla., financial and language guru often referred to in these columns. Currently, he has gone back to nature in North Carolina, living on roots and berries to stretch his dividend income and keep himself and his charming bride alive.

Dear Charles:
You and your stocks! There you are, living up in the mountains in a tent on the 3 percent (after tax) income from dividends. Did your nice wife know what sort of life she was getting into?

Let's see — at 3 percent, your shrunken capital will double in 24 years.
Your million dollars will have crept up to $2 million by the year 2008.

Meanwhile, this simple country boy, poor by your standards, will have seen his $200,000 — one fifth your present worth — grow in 12 percent tax-exempt bonds to $3.2 million.

I'm going to start with 20 percent as much money as you, but in 24 years I'll have 60 percent more than you will.

Meanwhile Jeanne and I will not have to spend summers in a tent in the boondocks.

Please do not answer with the silly argument that yours is an inflation hedge. I look at the stock averages of 1969, when inflation started in earnest, and look at today's quotes. I see that stock prices are the same as they were 15 years ago. This is after the worst period of inflation the country ever endured.

I feel sorry for you, as I would for any man who is so smart in many things. I have read your book on communications and today I hear from "sources" that your daughter Margaret, a neophyte in this field of words, is beating you at Scrabble. It makes me wonder if you are slipping.

I think if you doubled your vitamin C intake to 2,000 milligrams a day it would help.

Bill

P. S.: Before I could get this letter mailed, your old stock market went up 50 points in two days — 4.5 percent gain. Meanwhile my stodgy bonds climbed a modest 3.5 percent in the last fortnight. A Detroit News writer wondered if the stock rally was a "real" rally. You boys are never sure of yourselves.

March of Dimes sets $60,000 goal for area counties

Each year, more than a quarter of a million American babies are born with birth defects. But with the help of business and professional people throughout northeastern Michigan, the Saginaw Bay Chapter of the March of Dimes is working to reverse these statistics.

Last year, northeastern Michigan volunteers formed teams and participated in WalkAmerica, the March of Dimes annual fund-raising walk-a-thon. Thanks to generous community support, these TeamWalkers were able to raise $52,000 to aid the March of Dimes in its fight against birth defects—America's number one child health problem.

This year, the Saginaw Bay Chapter, which serves 21 northeastern Michigan counties, hopes to raise $60,000 in WalkAmerica donations.

From now until April 28—WalkAmerica day in hundreds of communities from coast to coast, volunteers will be searching for sponsors. The volunteer provides the feet, and the sponsor pledges to donate 10¢ or more to the March of Dimes for each kilometer the volunteer is able to coax those aching feet to cover along the 24-kilometer WalkAmerica route.

WalkAmerica began as a children's event; but over the years, more and more adults have stepped out in support of the March of Dimes and its battle to prevent birth defects. Adult volunteers now obtain about 70% of all WalkAmerica donations.

The TeamWalk concept was a natural outgrowth of this trend toward greater adult involvement.

Over the years, the chapter has provided grants to Clare, Grayling, Saginaw, Caro, Cass City, Sandusky, and Midland hospitals. The Saginaw Bay Chapter also funds the Tri-city Genetic Clinic, which offers counseling and services to women who run a greater than average risk of giving birth to children with birth defects.

And this year, Walk-

America dollars will help Saginaw General Hospital and the Saginaw County Health Department implement a new program designed to reduce the incidence of premature birth—a leading cause of illness and death in newborns.

If your business or group would like to form a WalkAmerica team and help the March of Dimes in its fight to prevent birth defects, please call March of Dimes WalkAmerica at 791-3622.

Thumb Electric receives grant

Authorities at Thumb Electric Cooperative, Uby, say that the $1.978 million loan authorized by the Rural Electrification Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be used over a two-year period.

The REA loan announced March 6 will be financed at five percent and the Cooperative will obtain supplemental financing from the National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corporation.

The loan will be used to finance improvements. Cooperative spokesman said that an estimated 23 miles of distribution line will be needed to provide power to newly constructed buildings and is expected to be enough to service 400 additional customers.

In addition a mile of transmission line will be constructed to tie in REA's Millington substation with Detroit Edison lines, authorities explained.

Thumb Electric serves customers in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties. The money will be borrowed on an as needed basis. We complete the construction and then turn the bills in to borrow money to pay for it, authorities said.

Snow damage

The hottest thing on the ski slopes this winter may be freeze-dried bacteria that produce man-made snow at temperatures up to 13 degrees higher than normal, reports National Wildlife magazine. The magical microbe is ubiquitous in nature, where it causes an estimated $14 billion worth of crop damage a year by inducing frost formation on plants.

HEALTH TIPS VDT users developing eye strain problems

"High technology is making new demands on us today, including demands on our vision as a result of the use of computer video display terminals (VDTs)," the president of the Michigan Optometric Association says.

In a Save Your Vision Week, March 3-9, message, Dr. Joseph D. Czinder of the optometric organization said that the use of VDTs, whether in the office, home or classroom has resulted in complaints often stemming from visual distress.

"The most common causes of visual complaints by VDT users often are brought about by the aggravation of already existing vision problems which do not otherwise affect the person's ability to function. That is why the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health and the Michigan Optometric Association recommend thorough eye examinations periodically, usually each year, for VDT users," Czinder said.

At the time of the examination, the doctor of optometry should be advised that the patient is a VDT user and about any specific symptoms the patient is experiencing. It is also important to mention the specific distance and angle of the VDT screen.

Optometrists offer some suggestions for making VDT use more comfortable. They suggest that reference materials be placed as close to the VDT screen as possible to avoid frequent large eye and head movements; that VDTs be placed to avoid glare from windows, overhead lights and other sources; that operators take periodic eye rest breaks and that lighting be adjusted to levels lower than that customarily used in offices.

"Complaints resulting from visual stress of VDT operators generally can be eliminated or significantly reduced when professional optometric care and workplace environmental controls are sought," Cr. Czinder said.

Miss Michigan to entertain at Thumb Cooperative meeting

The 48th annual meeting of Thumb Electric Cooperative will be held at 10:00 a.m. Friday, March 22, at the Ubyly High School gymnasium.

This year's annual meeting will again feature the payment of $184,000 in Patronage Dividends to cooperative members who purchased electricity in 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958 and 1983. Payments will occur in the same manner as last year and those members not able to attend will receive their checks by mail at a later date.

This year's entertainment will feature Miss Michigan and her nationally proclaimed ventriloquist act.

Cooperative General Manager Michael Krause stated, "This year's annual meeting should provide a very interesting day for those who attend and I would urge all TEC members to learn more about their Cooperative."

In addition to the items outlined above the election of three directors, amending of Cooperative bylaws and reports on the operations of the Cooperative will also be featured.

A hot lunch will be served at 12:00 noon with Miss Michigan to follow at 1:00 p.m. Prizes will be awarded throughout the day to members in attendance.

The meeting is open to members of Thumb Electric Cooperative and their immediate families.

Many Steps

There are 403 steps from the foundation to the top of the torch of the Statue of Liberty.

DRG Seminar at Caro church

The Thumb Area Commission on Aging, in conjunction with East Central Michigan Health Systems, will sponsor a DRG seminar Wednesday, March 20, at the Caro United Methodist Church, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Senior citizens will be particularly interested, but the seminar is open to any interested community resident.

This seminar is all about a payment system involving Medicare reimbursements to hospitals. The system sets fees to hospitals based on types of procedures. The same fee is paid to the hospital regardless of the actual cost to the hospital. If a hospital can perform a procedure for less than the DRG rate, the hospital can make a profit. If the procedure costs more than the DRG rate, the hospital must make up the cost. The difference cannot be passed on to the patient.

This seminar will be about 1½ hours in length with a question and answer period at the conclusion.

A small woodlot can provide its owner with firewood, lumber, recreation; however, most woodlots haven't had the necessary management to produce their maximum.

March 23, the Tuscola Soil Conservation District Soil Conservation Service and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will conduct a woodlot management tour at the Caro Regional Center.

Roger Hoeksema, DNR Area Forester, will discuss management, selection and harvesting of timber and firewood to maximize the woodlot's yield. Bud Jarvis, DNR Wildlife Biologist, will discuss management of the woodlot for wildlife. Kent Barden, forester for S.D. Warren Paper Company, will talk about marketing of pulpwood.

The meeting will start at 9:00 a.m. and run until approximately 12:00 noon. The driveway to the woodlot is one mile west of Wahjamega on the north side of M-81.

For more information about this meeting, other questions about forestry or soil conservation please call 673-8174.

Soil

A layer of soil no thicker than the width of a dime, spread across an acre of farmland, weighs about five tons, says National Wildlife magazine. That's all the amount of soil most American farmlands are able to replace, naturally.

O-G. Seniors plan 10-year celebration

Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met at St. Agatha's parish hall in Gagetown March 7 with 46 members present. Twenty-four blood pressure readings were taken by Mary Lewis, LPN.

Mabel Ondrajka opened the meeting with reciting the pledge to the flag and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The group is 10 years old this year. To commemorate, the plans are to dine out and invite the charter members as guests.

It was moved by Florence Schell and seconded by Beatrice Miljure that the group accept the invitation of the Gagetown Methodist Church to eat there April 18 at 12:00.

Instead of meeting April 4, Maundy Thursday, the group will meet April 2 for the regular business meeting and blood pressure readings. Members will participate in a homemade hat parade.

Saturday, May 4, at 3 p.m., the Christian Academy of Bad Axe will present a play, "Taking a look at the elderly," at the high school cafeteria in Cass City.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to seven members. Bill and Louise Ashmore are celebrating an anniversary this month.

Door prizes went to Elma Miklovich and Homer Kretzschmer.

A couple of ladies from Provincial House staff talked to members before adjourning to play bingo.

The March committee served coffee and sandwiches.

The next meeting is a potluck dinner March 21.

What the FAME brand means . . . .

Good Quality!
Good Selection!
Good Prices!

FAME® products are produced, packed, or manufactured to our specifications. That means that the high standards or quality set by FAME's management must be adhered to on every packing of every product.

The many canners, packers, and manufacturers who provide FAME products, must conform consistently to the specifications we provide.

We are proud of our FAME brand products. Everyone is backed by our guarantee of quality: your money will be refunded if you are not completely satisfied.

The FAME® product line was created in order to offer you a quality product that could be sold at a lower price than the nationally advertised brands. With FAME advertising being done locally by the IGA retailer, rather than nationally by the manufacturer or packer, the resulting savings is passed on to you.

By combining loads of national brand merchandise with FAME products on the same truck, freight savings are also realized — and passed on in the form of lower everyday prices.

Since the everyday price of our FAME brand products is normally lower than the national brands, when there is a special sale featuring FAME products, the savings are even greater!

There are over 800 items in the FAME product line, covering nearly every major product category. The items that appear most often on your grocery list — those that provide good sound savings each week — comprise the basic FAME product line. There are grocery, frozen, dairy, meat, and general merchandise, all high in quality and sensible in price.

The FAME name continues to grow each year. As new products appear in the marketplace, they are tested and evaluated for membership in the "Hall of FAME." However fast we grow in selection, one thing remains unchanged: our commitment to maintain the high standards that have become inherent with FAME products. And our adherence to those standards is the essence of FAME's phenomenal acceptance by you!

The "Good Family" likes to save on Fame!
