Broeckers ready for vacation

The students at Evergreen Township School said bon voyage to Robert Broecker at an assembly Friday as the youngster, suffering from cancer, prepared for a 10-day trip to Florida and Disney World with his parents.

A huge sign complete with signatures of all the students was draped along the wall with the headline, "Have a Great Trip Robert," printed across it.

Donated punch, left over from the benefit supper for Robert, was served.

The Broeckers will leave April 22 and return May 2. Besides the $2,236 collected at the benefit, the Broeckers are able to make it a 10-day vacation through donations by anonymous donors.

A person who owns a condominium in Florida has donated its use for the Broeckers' vacation. A person from Sandusky purchased round trip plane tickets for Robert and his parents.

THE AMOUNT shown on the sign is the cash raised for Robert Broecker, center, at a supper and bake sale in February. Presenting the check to Robert is Dorland Kuntz, principal at Evergreen School. Holding the sign are Mrs. Broecker, left, and Lana Nichols, an organizer of the event.

Reduced $500 per acre

Huron skill center site cost cut

At a March 26 meeting of the Huron County Commissioners, the board agreed to sell 24 acres of county owned property to the Huron County Intermediate School District for $3,000 an acre. The property, at the intersection of M-53 and Thomas Road, 2 miles west of Bad Axe, has been discussed as a possible site for the new HISD skill center.

Originally the commissioners had discussed selling the property for $3,500 an acre, price set by Commissioner Bruce Kuhl, District 1, and chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee. According to the Huron County Equalization Department, the true cash value of number one agriculture property in Vernon and Colfax Townships, the area determined where the center should be located, is $1,400 per acre.

The commissioners agreed to lower the price by $500 per acre after HISD Superintendent James McBride said they could only afford to purchase 18 acres. The State Board of Education has recommended the skill center be located on a 30-acre site.

The HISD presently owns six acres in the area. The property is used for the HISD Learning Center. The six acres was purchased from the county during the 1970s for $1. McBride said the HISD has board will discuss purchasing the property at an April 18 board meeting.

"Our board hasn't accepted or declined that price," McBride said.

The county is also in the process of building a new Huron County Health Department at the same site. Huron County owns about 80 acres of property at the M-53 location. The Health Department building will require the construction of a new sewage system at the site. Discussions are underway to share the lagoon.

State estimates show that a skill center the approximate size the HISD is planning to build will use about 8,000 gallons of water per day.

Owen-Gage School Board President, Ron Good, also chairman of the Huron County Vocational Education Council, said he was under the impression the property would be given to the HISD. Good explained the skill center would benefit all county residents, and the purchase of the property would be an additional cost to all county residents.

The county residents approved a 1.49 charter, or continuous millage levy to build the skill center at a Nov. 13 election.

"I feel all the taxpayers own the property," Good said. "I can't see us buying our own property back."

Although the HISD has not yet agreed to purchase the property for the center, they will be holding a conference for bidders on construction of the skill center April 18 at 1:30 p.m.

McBride explained they are going to use a designer-builder concept where building contractors will design the building to meet specifications the HISD has established. This eliminates the cost of hiring an architect.

Bids on the 65,500 square foot skill center are expected to be let in mid-July. Completion of the center is planned for the opening of the fall semester of the 86-87 school year.

Boost salaries of many officers

At township annual meetings held Saturday, roads and drain improvements will be the largest single expense for township tax-payers.

Most townships had a large fund surplus from the end of the 1984-85 fiscal year that will be used to carry the township through this year. All township officials contacted expressed concerns about the possible loss of federal revenue sharing funds to the township. For many townships, federal revenue sharing funds make about ten percent of the total yearly income. Township officials will find out if they are to continue to receive federal funding when the government completes its annual fiscal budget in October.

At the annual meeting, township residents were able to discuss and approve the 1985-86 budget, which began April 1.

TUSCOLA COUNTY

ELLINGTON - The township has budgeted $178,869 to cover expenses during 1985-86. A majority of the township's available funds will come from a 1984-85 fund surplus of $105,715. The township expects to generate $73,154 for this year's general fund budget. Expenditures for the year are projected at $154,869. Road construction expenses are expected to cost Ellington Township $124,000.

Clerk Clayton Turner said they will be requesting surveys and quotes on grade and drain improvements to Jacob Road, between Dutcher and Tomlinson Roads; Akron Road, between Cedar Run and Green Roads, and Orr Road, in the southwest corner of the township.

The township has also budgeted $7,700 of federal revenue sharing funds to be used for road repair.

Eleven township residents attending the meeting approved increasing the clerk's and treasurer's salaries from $3,575 to $4,500 a year. Hourly wage for the cemetery sexton was increased from $4.50 to $5 per hour. Turner said the sexton works 400 to 500 hours a year.

The township levies one-half mill for fire protection for township residents. This generates $4,800. The one-half mill was approved by township residents at the August 1984 primary election. The three-year millage levy replaces a three-quarter mill levy that expired in December.

Turner said the township projects that fire protection stand-by services will cost $7,700. The additional $2,800 will be made up from interest earning accounts, and payments from delinquent taxes. Ellington purchases township fire protection from the Elkland Township Fire Department, and the Caro Fire Department.

Ellington Township has budgeted $2,000 for improvements to the township hall, painting and possible wall partitions, and $500 for the library fund.

The April meeting will be held on the third Tuesday, so Ellington's officials may attend a county-wide township meeting. Meetings are held at the town hall, Ellington.

ELKLAND - The 1985-86 budget shows projected revenues at $105,450, and a 1984-85 fund balance of

Academic Games fire up kids

Saturday, 28 students from the Cass City High School had an opportunity to match wits against top students from all nine high schools in Tuscola County. The contest, the second annual Tuscola County Academic Games, held at Delta College, was not decided by who was the strongest or the swiftest, but by students who could best remember what they have learned during high school.

Each of the nine schools sent four teams to compete in math, science, English and social studies categories. Cass City took second place in math, science and English.

"They got just as involved and fired up to win as a basketball team," Doug Greszak, coach of the math team said. Greszak, also the track coach, said about one-half of the students in the competition are not students that compete in the "more traditional" sports, but were just as determined to win.

Students volunteered to participate in the games.

Greszak explained that between rounds the students were encouraging each other, and studying textbooks, preparing for the next round of competition.

The Cass City math team defeated Unionville-Sebewaing Area Schools in the first round, and Mayville in the second round. They were beaten by Akron-Fairgrove in the finals.

Questions were prepared by professors from Delta College. Guidelines for question areas were developed by the high school teachers.

Students were able to choose either a two point or a three point question. Three point questions were more difficult. Both teams answered the same question.

For mathematics, 50 percent of the questions came from subjects taught to second year algebra students, 30 percent from advanced geometry studies, and 20 percent from senior level math classes.

The English team, coached by Dennis Meck, defeated Caro in the first round, and Reese in the second round. The Cass City English team lost the championship title to Mayville after four overtime rounds. Last year the

"God gotta gun?" Andrew, my two-year-old son asked me Saturday night when I told him not to worry about monsters in his bedroom because God was taking care of everything.

Andrew's bedroom has been invaded by monsters for about a week. Since then my bedroom has been invaded by Andrew.

I explained to Andy that God does not use guns to protect people.

I really wish Andy weren't so fascinated by guns. If he sees a policeman, he instantly asks if he has a gun.

Friends and family members tell me that it is a stage that all kids go through, but I don't know how he got so interested in it. With the exception of an occasional Saturday afternoon John Wayne western, we don't watch any violent programs. Somehow Andy has become fascinated with guns.

I grew up on a farm in pheasant rich southern Sanilac County. I got my first BB gun when I was seven. By the time I was 11 I started hunting pheasants. I quit hunting when I was 20. I no longer felt

I don't want to see the government outlaw guns in the United States, but I feel that "packing a six gun" will not make America a safer place to live.

I know that gun and hunting enthusiasts are going to be saying that his kid will know how to handle a gun safely, and that they would never touch one without a parent being with him. I have read too many stories about kids who take their parent's gun and accidentally shoot someone.

As I said, I don't want the government to outlaw guns. But my personal feelings are that they are not worth keeping around.

AS PART OF THE National Reading Month, all students and teachers at the Campbell Elementary School participated in a Read-A-Thon Friday. Students left the classrooms at 2:00 p.m., and for the rest of the day read a book of their choice.

Peters honored by Reading Council

Marilyn Peters, the remedial reading teacher at Campbell and Deford Elementary Schools, has been selected as the 1985 recipient of the Celebrate Literacy award. The award was presented by the Thumb Area Reading Council, in conjunction with International Reading Association and the Michigan

Reading Association. The award is presented to individuals whose efforts have helped promote and made reading programs visible and important to the community. Peters is the first teacher to receive the Thumb Area Reading Council award.

Peters has been a remedial reading teacher for Cass City School District for 10 years. She also worked as a teacher and a reading instructor for the Owen-Gage School District for several years.

Peters, a long-time member of the Thumb Area Reading Council, is presently chairman of the membership committee. As a teacher at the Campbell and Deford Elementary Schools, she has been involved in operating book fairs, book swaps, Young Authors and Reading Month activities.

Peters also teaches adult education classes for reading improvement, and she is involved in the development of a gifted and talented student program for the Cass City School District.

Kern fines two in District Court

Monday, Tuscola County District Court Judge Richard Kern ordered a 20-year-old Cass City man to pay a $273 fine and $152 court costs after he pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge.

Judge Kern also ordered Randolph S. Patera, 3131 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, to pay $60 restitution to mental health screening.

Patera was originally charged with operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. He was arrested by Cass City Police Officer Michael Stec Feb. 16.

Patera was placed on probation for one year. His driver's license was suspended for one year. He will be allowed to drive for work needs and to residential treatment programs.

Also Monday, Judge Kern ordered Thomas L. Tyo, 45, 6853 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, to pay a $208 fine and $117 court costs after Tyo pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge.

Tyo was originally charged with operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. He was arrested by Cass City Police Officer Todd Alexander March 16.

Tyo was ordered to pay $60 restitution to mental health screening. He has been placed on probation for one year. His driver's license has been suspended for three months. During the suspension he may drive for work needs, and to outpatient treatment program meetings.

Students participate in reading month

During March, students of Cass City School District's three elementary schools participated in the Michigan Reading Association's Reading Month.

During the month, students at Campbell Elementary School were given 10 minutes each day to read a book of their choice. The program, Free Reading Every Day (FRED), is designed to encourage students to read.

In addition to the annual Battle of the Books, students participated in newspaper week, March 4 through 8. During the week newspaper reading was promoted in the classroom.

March 11, students at Campbell viewed the movie "Darby O'Gill and the Little People." A student book swap was held March 15. Students were also given a script for a Snoopy television show that aired during the week of March 18. The script was provided by the Detroit Free Press.

Friday a Read-A-Thon was held for all students. Starting at 2:00 p.m. students and teachers left their classrooms and for the rest of the school day read a book of their choice.

Next week, posters and book covers produced by art class students will be judged.

Hawk ball teams in rebuilding year

Pitching problem area for girls

If the Cass City Red Hawks are to improve on its 10-11 (5-7 in the Thumb B Association) record this spring, a host of relatively inexperienced players will have to produce in a hurry.

Coach Jim Fox, in his fourth year with the Hawk varsity, says that the team is young, capable on defense with over-all fine team speed.

However, the club will be hurting on the mound where Jill Hutchinson, top hurler in the Thumb B, and an all-region performer held sway last year.

Trying to fill her big shoes will be Yvette Hurd, a junior southpaw who was 4-1 last year, and Shannon McIntosh, sophomore, who will be on the mound this spring.

Also gone are Sherry Horner, shortstop, Colleen Irrer, 2nd base, and Pam Sawdon, centerfield.

Several top performers will anchor the team. Julie

Miller, second team all-conference, will play first and Fox is looking for a banner season from her at the plate.

A four-year veteran is strong armed Lisa Benitez who will play third and has shown she can hit. Julie Smith will be behind the plate for the third year while Becky Severance will patrol the outfield for her third year of varsity competition. Last season she was a .300 hitter.

Rounding out the veterans will be McIntosh who hit .370 as a freshman and was all-conference as the team's designated hitter.

Fox looks for a wide open race for the title with Marlette the favorite to take Thumb B Association honors. Cass City figures to be in the middle of the pack.

To finish higher, the untested pitching staff will have to produce and the inexperienced players will need to have big years.

Rookies key to baseball season

The good news is the Cass City Red Hawks has a cadre of experienced baseball players this spring to compete in the Thumb B Association.

The bad news is that Coach Don Schelke's charges were 1-11 in the conference and 6-13 overall in 1984.

The veterans who are expected to anchor the team are Jim Crawley, centerfield, and Eric LaJoie in right field, two outfielders who were regulars last season.

The Hawks lost three tough hitters by graduation. Randy Nicholas, one of the three, was also the team's leading pitcher. Gone, too, is Joe Langenburg, the team's most valuable player who slammed the ball at a .385 pace and Pete Martin, first string catcher who batted a neat .333.

In addition to losing these players by graduation, three others expected to be regulars have left because of transfers. They are Brian Adkins, pitcher and designated hitter, Steve Franks, outfield, and Pete Walpole, third base.

Schelke feels that the success of this year's team will rest with the development and performance of the young players on the team.

The team figures to be weak on the mound unless some of the rookie hurlers become competitive in a hurry.

The coach feels that Caro, Lakers, Vassar and Bad Axe should have the top teams in the Thumb B this season.

SURROUNDING COACH JIM FOX is the Cass City High School varsity softball team. Also included in the fire department's list of expenditures is $5,000 for a new boiler and two overhead doors. The township's share of having a direct telephone line to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is $1,900 a year.

Projected revenues and expenditures for the cemetary are $25,975.

This year the township is projecting $6,000 from federal revenue sharing. Last year the township projected $12,000 and received $13,151.

Randall explained that he budgeted only one-half of last year's amount because the federal government may cut the revenue sharing funds after October, the beginning of the federal government's fiscal year. Funds from federal revenue sharing will be used for road work.

It used to be believed that eating lilies of the valley flower strengthened the memory.

Townships' budget for road repairs

$87,195, for a total operating budget of $192,605. The total expenditures for the township are projected at $141,880.

Clerk Joanne M. Sattelberg said the township has budgeted $75,000 from the general fund, and $8,600 from federal revenue sharing funds for road repairs. Last year the township budgeted $53,000 for roads, but did not spend all of the budgeted funds because the road commission was unable to complete all of the work. About $45,000 of the funds budgeted for road work for 1984-85 have been added to this year's road budget.

"We are actually doing two years of road work this year," Sattelberg said.

In addition to spot graveling throughout the county, the township plans to ditch and gravel Green Road, between Hoppe and Bay City Forestville Roads, and to gravel, ditch and widen Elmwood Road, between Cedar Run and Dodge Roads. Supervisor James C. Turner will be inspecting Elmwood Township roads with an employee of the road commission, to determine what roads are in need of repair.

Supervisor Turner was the only township official to receive a salary increase. His wages increased from $1,500 to $2,000 a year. In most townships the supervisor is also the assessor. Trustee Joan A. Sattelberg is doing the assessing for Elmwood Township. This year the township will not be paying the Village of Cass City for sanitary landfill uses. This will save the township $3,397.

Township meetings are held on the third Wednesday of the month December through April. There are no meetings during May, July, September and November. Meetings start at 7:30 p.m.

Four township residents attended the annual meeting.

KOYLTON Township has a projected 1985-86 operating budget of $116,165, and estimated expenditures of $114,470.

The lion's share of the budget, $65,000 will be spent for improvements to township roads. Last year the township budgeted $75,000 for road improvements. An additional $5,000 from federal revenue sharing has been budgeted for road improvements.

Six township residents attending the meeting approved an $800 raise for Supervisor Terry Boyne, and $600 raises for Clerk Winford Groner and Treasurer Louis Haase. Groner and Haase will earn $3,000 a year. Boyne will be paid $4,800 a year.

The township will also be spending $7,500 for fire protection from the Kingston, Mariette and the Clifford Fire Departments.

Clerk Groner said the township meeting days may be changed from the second Thursday of each month, to the second Saturday of the month, because of work conflicts with two board members. If township meetings are switched to Saturday, they will be held at 1:00 p.m.

KINGSTON - The 1985-86 proposed budget lists projected revenues at $69,047, and a fund balance from the 1984-85 budget at $30,747, for a total operating budget of $99,794. Expenditures are projected at $99,794. The township will use $6,200 of federal revenue sharing funds for road improvements.

Brown said $5,000 has been budgeted for fire stand-by protection from Elkland Township Fire Department, and $1,650 for the Bingham Township Fire Department. Evergreen Township has budgeted $2,032 for ambulance protection from the Cass City Ambulance Service.

Refuse disposal service from Cove Sanitation, Bad Axe, will cost the township $1,500. Brown explained that on the second Saturday of the month, Cove Sanitation brings a truck to a location on Hadley Road, south of Seeger Road, for residents to dispose of their trash.

Township meetings will be held on the third Thursday of June, September, December and March at 8:00 p.m. at the township hall on Gilbert Road, two miles north of Cass City Road.

EVERGREEN - Of the

spend $100,000 for road improvements this year. Major road projects in Greenleaf Township are to ditch, grade and gravel two miles of Cleland Road, between Gilbert and Germania Roads, and one-half mile of Gilbert Road, between Seeger and Cleland Roads. Brown said the township will also be investigating the possibility of having two miles of Greenland Road, north of M-81, ditched, graded and graveled. The township will use $6,200 of federal revenue sharing funds for road improvements.

Brown said $5,000 has been budgeted for fire stand-by protection from Elkland Township Fire Department, and $1,650 for the Bingham Township Fire Department. Evergreen Township has budgeted $2,032 for ambulance protection from the Cass City Ambulance Service.

Refuse disposal service from Cove Sanitation, Bad Axe, will cost the township $1,500. Brown explained that on the second Saturday of the month, Cove Sanitation brings a truck to a location on Hadley Road, south of Seeger Road, for residents to dispose of their trash.

Township meetings will be held on the third Thursday of June, September, December and March at 8:00 p.m. at the township hall on Gilbert Road, two miles north of Cass City Road.

EVERGREEN - Of the township's $93,969 projected revenues for 1985-86, $38,000 is budgeted for road construction and repair. The township has projected expenditures of $74,043 for 1985-86.

Clerk Otis Dorland said the township's major road projects this year will be to blacktop one mile of Germania Road, from Decker Ville Road to Downington Road, at a cost to the township of $10,000. Also planned this year is the installation of a new road culvert for the Austin Drain on Germania Road. The township's cost for the culvert is $8,000. The remainder of the township's $38,000 road budget is to be spent on graveling and ditching. The township has also budgeted $4,500 for brining township roads.

The township has budgeted $5,350 for stand-by fire protection from the Elkland Township Fire Department, and $7,600 for drains-at-large.

Good said the township board is seeking two people to fill two positions on the Brookfield Park Commission. He explained the commission meets five times a year, to discuss and plan township park programs. The positions each pay $20 per meeting.

Regular township meetings are held the second Monday of the month, at 8:00 p.m. at the Owendale Community Building, Owendale.

GRANT - Ten township residents approved salary increases for the three top township officials. Supervisor Betty Powell received a $1,000 wage increase for performing assessing duties. This is the first time the township has had their own assessor. Powell's supervisory salary remains at $3,675, for a total yearly salary of $4,675.

Treasurer Theodore Sheldon's salary was increased from $3,150 to $3,500. Clerk Donald Reid's salary was increased from $2,625 to $3,250. Salary increases for trustees Ottmar Sting and Donnie Metzger were increased from $25 to $30 per meeting.

Board of Review members will receive the same increase. The salary increases for trustees were approved at the regular township meeting Monday night.

The township has an operating budget of $138,000, with expenditures estimated at $77,800. A 1984-85 fund balance of $71,000 is included in the total operating budget.

Grant Township will spend $35,000 for road repairs, of which $5,000 will come from federal revenue sharing funds. The other large expenditure from the general fund will be $15,000 for drains-at-large. Fire protection stand-by service $7,500, and $1,084 will be spent for ambulance protection.

Township meetings are held the first Monday of every other month, at 8:00 p.m. The next meeting is scheduled for June 3. Meetings are held at the Grant Township hall, Rescue Road.

SHERIDAN - The projected 1985-86 operating budget for Sheridan Township was set at $114,000. A 1984-85 fund balance of $31,000 is included in the total operating budget. Expenditures of $110,000 are projected.

Clerk Ronald Hoffman said the township will spend $80,000 of local funds for road repair. An additional $7,000 of federal revenue sharing funds will be used for township roads.

Major road projects are the rebuilding of one mile of Huron County Line Road, between Ivanhoe and McMillan Roads; one mile of McIntyre Road, between McMillan and Thomas Roads, and to resurface one mile of Morrison Road, between Van Dyke and Ivanhoe Road.

The township will spend $5,000 for stand-by fire protection service from Bingham Township Fire Department, and $2,233 for ambulance services from the Bingham Ambulance Service and the Central Huron County Ambulance Service, Bad Axe.

Seventeen township residents attended the meeting.

Hoffman said some residents complained about trucks from Cove's Sanitation, Bad Axe, damaging township roads. No action was taken.

Township meetings are held at 8:00 p.m. on the second Thursday of every other month. The next meeting is scheduled for May 9. Meetings are held at Treasurer Helen Swartz's residence, South McMillan Rd., Bad Axe.

Taking stock

steak, Detroiters came out to Preston Mann's Hunting Club, a few miles from Lapeer.

So with a set-up like this, what did a lot of people do? Why, they got jobs in Detroit and Flint and Pontiac and spent two hours a day commuting. Car expense was say $15 a day plus parking of at least $5. Altogether, around $5,000 a year.

Just as important as the cost was the time involved. Each day you have maybe four hours of spare time -- time you're not working or dressing or sleeping or eating. Commute and you use up half this spare time. But they said opportunities were greater in the cities, so people commuted, and finally many moved there. Then they commuted back to the country to their weekend homes.

Now, having said all this, let me call your attention to an article in The Wall Street Journal a while ago: "Urban Villages: The Locational Lessons," by Christopher Leinberger, head of a Beverly Hills consulting firm. The author tells how big corporations are clustering by type of business in "urban villages" far removed from the cities. We used to call them small towns.

Leinberger analyzes the whole trend and does it logically. Some of his reasons are a shift from manufacturing to service industries, a change from rail to truck shipments, communication via computer screens, the choked expressways.

Whatever has brought about this back-to-the-country migration, it is here. Those of us who stayed in small towns smile smugly as we watch our friends move back to Lapeer.

Meanwhile we were stashing away the $5,000 a year we saved by walking to work. Our nerves were not shattered by the daily commuting scramble. We had twice as much spare time.

(Know what $5,000 a year saved for 40 years and invested at 10% amounts to? A bundle, that's what. $2,434,259.06, in fact.)

As I said at the start, you wait long enough and wide ties come back in style.

Four vandalism complaints taken by Cass City police

Cass City Police Department officers responded to four complaints of vandalism over a four-day period. Damages from the vandals are estimated at $630.

Friday at 8:15 p.m., officers Kenneth Schott and Phillip Klaus responded to a vandalism complaint at the Sarah Muck residence, 6362 Fourth St., Cass City.

According to the report, Muck heard a loud noise from the rear of her house. Upon inspection she discovered that a brick had been thrown through a window on the south side of the house. Officers Schott and Klaus reported that there was also a dent in the aluminum siding, near the window. Damages to the house were estimated at $100.

Officers Todd Alexander and Schott reported that a vehicle owned by Wallace S. Czekai, 4544 Brooker St., Cass City, was vandalized Saturday night or early Sunday morning. According to the report, Czekai parked the vehicle in his driveway Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Sunday at 2:15 a.m., when he was preparing to go to work, he discovered the vehicle had been entered. Vandals damaged the turn signal lever, and took knobs from the radio, the cigarette lighter, ashtray and papers from the glovebox. Czekai reported that his other vehicle had also been entered, and the gear shift knob, knobs from the radio and papers from the glovebox were taken.

Officer Klaus found some of the papers from the glovebox in a nearby alley. Police estimate $70 of property was damaged or stolen.

Officers Schott and Dave McComb reported that a vehicle owned by Paul G. McIntosh, 4118 S. Seeger St., Lot 22, Cass City, was vandalized Saturday night.

According to the report, McIntosh parked the vehicle on Sherman Street, near Main Street, at 12:30 a.m. When he returned to the vehicle at 1:55 a.m. all four tires were flat. Officers were unable to find any puncture marks. Damages were estimated at $60.

Monday, Officer Klaus was called to investigate damages to a Pilsbury Elevator Company truck.

According to the report, the vehicle was parked in the Pilsbury Elevator parking lot, 6210 Main St., Cass City, when vandals broke the passenger side window, and the windshield of the truck. The windows were broken sometime during the week end. Damages were estimated at $400.

When REA started, electricity was a luxury on area farms

For most people, going to the refrigerator for a cold drink, or turning on a light switch at dusk is something that is done without thought. Unless power is interrupted, electricity is something that is taken for granted.

But for rural residents of the Thumb area during the 1930s, electricity was a luxury that most could only dream about. Their friends in villages and cities had electric lights, but rural Americans were ignored by the power companies. It wasn't profitable to run electric lines in sparsely populated areas.

This situation existed until the federal government began the Rural Electrification Administration that paved the way to bring electricity to rural America.

"There wasn't a pole in the ground when I started," said Francis Hund, a former employee of Thumb Electrical Cooperative (TEC), Ubly. Hund began working as a field man for the cooperative during September, 1937. Ten months later, 1,800 miles of electric line had been put up, and 1,925 customers were waiting for the Ubly plant to deliver electricity. The plant went on line June 13, 1938.

Hund said the plant had three diesel engines that were used to turn alternators to generate electricity for farmers in rural Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties. During the early years, after 10:00 p.m., the smallest engine could supply enough electricity for the three county area.

For Hund some of the most "joyful moments" for him were when the electricity was hooked to a house for the first time. He explained the children would be running from room to room, shouting that the lights were on. "It was really something to watch those kids. You don't know how exhilarated they were to have electricity for the first time," he said.

Hund said that when the REA was established, only 10 percent of rural American homes had electricity. Electricity was provided to villages and cities, but farmers were ignored because electric companies wanted at least five homes for each one mile of electrical line. Hund added that most of the power lines were built along railroad tracks, bypassing most farms.

Lynn Spencer, Germania Road, Ubly, was one of the many Thumb area farmers who did not have electricity during the early 1930s. His father, Robert Spencer, took a special interest in seeing that the Thumb area was electrified. He and Frank Wilson, also of the Ubly area, drove to Washington, D.C., to see what could be done to supply electricity to the farmers of the area.

After talking to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Spencer returned home with federal money earmarked to establish the TEC.

"They came back with a check with them," Lynn Spencer said. "It wasn't sent through the mail."

Robert Spencer was the first president of TEC.

The Spencer household was among the first 1,925 homes that received electricity when the plant started operations.

"It didn't make a lot of difference right away," Spencer said about having electricity in their home. "The changes weren't big at first. They came slow." He explained that most houses were set up only for electric lights when the power was first turned on. It was 13 years before Spencer had a refrigerator.

Spencer, who also worked on obtaining easement rights for the electrical cooperative, said that a lot of people only wanted one light bulb, in the kitchen, hoping to keep the cost down.

The minimum electric charge was $2.06 per month for 25 kilowatt hours. The cooperative also charged a $2.50 membership fee to all new customers.

"Most people didn't stay with one light bulb for too long," Spencer added.

Spencer was 22 years old when electricity first came to the family farm. He said they are still capable of living without electricity. Spencer keeps a hand pump on top of the well, and several kerosene lanterns are stored in the house.

Spencer added that because TEC lines were designed for rural areas, they were built from heavier material than Detroit Edison lines. Because of the extra strength, in his area power shortages seldom happen.

Sibling class

at Hills & Dales

A sibling class will be held Thursday evening, April 11, from 7-9 p.m. in the basement of Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The class is to prepare siblings (brothers and sisters) for the new family addition, enhancing their ability to cope with this change in their lives and to prepare them for the hospital sibling visitation.

The class includes a film about "Sharing" with discussion, a tour of the hospital, craft time where the children make announcements to spread the news about the new baby and a time for refreshments. Children must be three years old unless a baby-sitter is attending the class to care for this younger child.

There is a minimal fee to cover expenses: $3.00 for one child, $5.00 for two children, and $1.00 for each additional child.

Pre-registration is required. If you have questions or to pre-register, contact Mrs. Faith Fahrner, R.N., at Hills and Dales General Hospital, phone 872-2121.

HEALTH TIPS Smoking costs $3,959 for every American

The American public has spent over $930 billion dollars in cigarette induced medical costs since the first release of the Surgeon General's report in 1964.

This figure was estimated by Dr. Eugene Lewitt, associate professor at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. His findings were based on cases of cigarette-related cancer, heart disease, and chronic lung diseases which have occurred since 1964.

If you were to divide that $930 billion equally among every man, woman, and child in the United States, we would each receive $3,959. The American Council on Science and Health (ACSH) demands that this amount be paid by the tobacco industry as its proportional share of the "damages" caused by cigarette smoking.

"This is a conservative estimate," said ACSH Executive Director Dr. Elizabeth Whelan. "It does not take into account the costs of other smoking-related problems, such as fires, injuries to children whose mothers smoke during pregnancy or conditions exacerbated, but not caused, by cigarette smoking."

Whelan also contends that all Americans bear the cost of cigarette smoking. "Nonsmokers pay through tax-supported programs which provide benefits to those disabled by smoking-related diseases and to their survivors. They pay through health and life insurance companies which charge equal premiums to smokers and nonsmokers, even though smokers have a much higher risk of serious illness and premature death. And nonsmokers pay increased prices for consumer goods as a result of smokers' higher rates of absenteeism from work.

"Tobacco industry defenders contend that tobacco growth, processing, sales, and taxation make a significant contribution to the economy, but this is basically irrelevant," Whelan said. "Every industry contributes to the economy, but most are not responsible for costs which far outweigh their contribution. And, of course, tax revenues do not contribute to the economy, they merely redistribute wealth."

If you would like further information on nonsmokers rights, contact your American Lung Association of Michigan toll free at 1-800-292-5979 or write ALAM, 403 Seymour Avenue, Lansing, Mich. 48914.

Easter servicesat Novesta Church

The Novesta Church of Christ will present an Easter cantata and drama, "The Fourth Cross," Sunday, April 7, at 11:00 a.m. This cantata was written by Derrick Johnson and is directed by Bev Lockard.

"The Fourth Cross" portrays the events leading up to the crucifixion of Jesus, the crucifixion scene and the days following the resurrection. These events are deep and told by a thief named Barabbas.

There will also be a special sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. This service will feature several inspirational songs, a devotional and the receiving of the annual 30 pieces of silver offering. A light breakfast will be provided immediately following the sunrise service.

The church is located on Cemetery Rd., 3½ miles south of the stoplight in Cass City. The public is invited to share in these Easter services.

The presentation was made during the Farm Management Banquet, which was part of the Agriculture and Natural Resources Week activities, March 18-23 at MSU.

The annual awards are given by the MSU Department of Agricultural Economics. Each of the candidates is enrolled in the Telfarm record-keeping program and are judged on the basis of their efficient organization and operation of their farm over the past three years.

Small business climate better, survey shows

Michigan members of the National Federation of Independent Businesses say the state's business climate has improved.

NFIB Michigan Director Roger Haynes said a poll of the group's 18,600 Michigan members show 67 percent of the respondents are now willing to expand in their present localities or within the state.

The poll also showed the small business owners favor retaining the common-law concept of "employment at will" employees and companies to continue business relationships at either party's wish.

The poll noted that 83 percent of the respondents were in favor of the concept.

The small business owners, the poll showed, are firmly against comparable worth legislation.

Some 83 percent said they were against the concept where equal pay would be awarded for equal levels of skill, knowledge, training, responsibility and risk as determined by an independent body.

Objections, Haynes said, centered on the high cost of such changes, creation of a new bureaucracy to set standards from about 23,000 jobs, the resulting escalation in prices and taxes, and a philosophy that the market rather than government should set job rates.

The poll also showed that utility rate representation for small business was sought by 54 percent of the respondents.

More than 73 percent of those responding to the poll provide health care coverage for employees and expressed concerns about rising costs of the coverage.

An interview with Drs. Patricia and Vincent Scelfo

What happens when you go to a chiropractor?

What is chiropractic?

Chiropractic is a branch of health care that recognizes that disease in the body is caused by nerve blockage produced when spinal vertebrae become misaligned from their natural position. These misalignments, subluxations, can be corrected by introducing a specific thrust, known as an adjustment to the involved area to release the nerve pressure associated with the subluxation. This allows the return of health to the body. It is important to understand that chiropractic does not include the use of drugs and surgery. Instead, it relies on the body's own inherent innate recuperative powers to achieve health.

A lot of people have misconceptions or mistaken ideas about what actually happens when you go to a chiropractic clinic. Would you talk about just what does happen?

If you've never been a chiropractic patient, you may wonder what your experience will be when you visit the Sebewaing Chiropractic Life Center.

First of all, after you make an appointment, you'll be brought back to a quiet place where you can sit down and fill out one of our patient-information forms, which gives us the basic facts—similar to a form that you'd fill out in any type of doctor's office: age, past health history, what's wrong now, where does it hurt. Usually spinal X-rays are taken at that point to determine the extent of damage to the spine, whether or not a pathology of the spine may exist and to determine the exact positions of the displaced vertebrae that are causing damage to the nervous system.

After that, a Derma-Thermograph study is performed along the spine to determine how much blockage is occurring in the nervous system.

After that, a consultation is given and an examination is made of the areas of complaint to find out which nerves are damaged (if any) and to find out to what extent they're damaged.

Next, the X-rays are studied, the results of the examination and testing are studied. That's preliminary, and we like to tell the patient the first day they're here whether or not we feel they're a chiropractic case, whether or not we feel they can benefit from chiropractic.

If we feel they can benefit, we're going to give care for the damaged area immediately to provide some temporary relief. There is no pain to an adjustment. (That's the correction of a displaced vertebra that may be compressing or damaging one of the spinal nerves or the spinal cord itself.) There's no pain—we take care of four-day old infants and 92-year-old senior citizens here, so there's no age limit.

Following the adjustment, the new patient is scheduled for a detailed report of findings at which time we'll thoroughly discuss and explain the results of the examination and X-rays so you understand them. We'll explain what was found and where, what it's going to take to correct it properly, and what you can expect from care here. We'll also take some time to explain how your body functions, how this is going to help it, and what you can do to help yourself. That's very, very important and we build a very good doctor/patient relationship in this office. We are in the business to do one thing, and that's to help and serve the patient through chiropractic. We want to be friends here. We want to be someone that you can call and depend on. You can depend on us.

There's a teamwork concept—the doctor and the patient together work toward getting the patient better. The patient is taught some ways to help himself, rather than depend solely on the doctor.

It is often said that chiropractors keep you coming back even after you're feeling better. Is this true?

When someone refers to "feeling better," that usually only means relief. Unfortunately, relief, no matter how obtained is usually temporary. Many people, because of their medical background, believe that once they are "feeling better," there is no longer any need for further care. Although this may sound logical, it is far from being true.

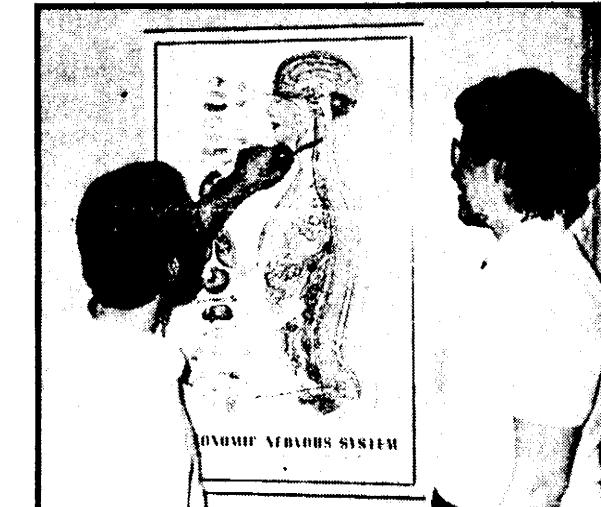

It is true that relief may be obtained very quickly in some cases, but our recommendations for length of care are not solely based on how much pain or how long a person has been in pain. Instead, our recommendations are primarily based on the severity of the vertebrae subluxation complex, which we find to be the cause of most people's health problems.

Dr. Vincent using a very sophisticated analysis to locate the exact cause of patient's problem.

What is the vertebral subluxation complex?

When chiropractors first began explaining chiropractic to the public, it was primarily explained as a vertebra misaligned out of normal position, placing pressure on a nerve, which causes pain and other health problems. Although this is true, it is not quite that simple. It was also this simple explanation that gave people the idea that once relief had been obtained, that meant that the bone was "back in place," thus eliminating the need for further care. Now it is being realized that the subluxation is not merely just a bone out of place pinching a nerve, but a complex entity which also effects the connective tissue such as muscles, ligaments, and discs. Nerve tissue may become damaged and incapable to transmit mental impulses from the brain. The subluxation causes altered biomechanical and postural changes such as pelvic rotations, scoliosis, and other abnormal spinal nerves. These changes associated with the subluxation complex are what causes the body to function improperly. There cannot be pain and disease, unless there is first a vertebral subluxation.

Dr. Pat performing adjustment on patient to correct spinal subluxations.

adulthood. A high percentage of spinal cord pressure stems from the birth process itself as the baby's head and shoulders are twisted during passage through the birth canal. It takes seven years to notice the effects of spinal cord injury sustained during the birth process. This is why many children suffer from asthma, allergies, bedwetting, colic and other so called "normal" childhood diseases. This is why we are so concerned about correcting vertebral subluxations, especially in children.

Dr. Vincent explaining functions of nervous system to patient.

It sounds as though you take care of many families. How can they afford chiropractic care when so many health care costs have gone up?

Most insurance companies pay for some portion of chiropractic care. Whether they pay just for the examination or whether they pay for all or part of the office call depends on the policy, but most of them do. If you don't have a reimbursing policy, then we have other health care plans available that will allow your entire family to receive the full benefits of chiropractic care at an affordable fee.

We don't expect anyone to pay for pig in a poke, but chiropractic is and needs to be looked upon as, the alternative to medicine, not a part of medicine. We're not a sub-field of medicine as physical therapists are, for example. WE'RE AN ENTIRELY SEPARATE BRANCH OF HEALING. We need to be understood that way.

We want people to be healthy. That's our purpose. We're not here to make you converts, but we're here to get you to understand about HEALTH the way we understand it. We want to help you. We want you to come in for care, we want you to ask questions, we want you to become healthy, and we want you to attend some of our health classes, held every Wednesday-noon and 6 p.m. We want you to meet the people who really care.

Easter is special Sunday for Venema

What does Easter mean to you?

"To me Easter means that the Lord Jesus died for our sins, and rose again the first day of the week," said Hessel Venema, Deford.

For Venema, Easter is a special occasion because through Jesus, man has the opportunity for eternal life.

"He is coming again some day," Venema said. "And I am looking forward to that day."

Venema and his family attend church services at the Lum Baptist Church, Lum. Every Sunday, after the morning milking is completed, the Venemas drive 30 miles to Lum for worship services. When it is snowing, they attend church services at the Calvary Bible Church, Caro.

Venema said that after Easter Sunday church services are over, the family generally gathers together for the day.

The Venemas have five children. Three sons still live at home and help run the family dairy farm. Venema milks 72 cows. He lives at 2161 Phillips Rd., Deford.

Ernie Teichman, a State Farm Insurance Companies agent in the Cass City area, has been named to the Legion of Honor, one of the firm's most distinguished accomplishments.

Ernie Teichman

Only about one in four State Farm agents qualify for this designation. To qualify, agents must achieve high standards in all aspects of the insurance business, especially regarding the quality of their business.

tennial Farm, south of Harbor Beach. He grew up hearing firsthand accounts of the fire from his grandmother and other elderly pioneers. Lincoln served on the Detroit City Council from 1954 to 1960 and as Judge of Wayne County Juvenile Court from 1960 to 1977. After his retirement from the bench in Detroit, he became involved in extensive research of the great fire.

James L. Donahue, born in Harbor Beach and a native of the Thumb, is a reporter for the Times Herald, a daily newspaper in Port Huron. Donahue's family home in Rubicon Township is built over timbers that were charred in the fire. While growing up, Donahue also heard many stories of the fire.

"Fiery Trial" is a hardcover book with 68 pages. There are 17 black and white illustrations, many of which are reproductions of actual drawings, depicting the plight of the Thumb pioneers, which appeared in newspapers and magazines nationwide shortly after the news of the fire began to spread. Copies of "Fiery Trial" are $12.00 each plus $2.50 for postage, handling, and sales tax. Mail orders to the Historical Society of Michigan, 2177 Washtenaw Avenue, Ann Arbor, MI 48104, or phone (313) 769-1828.
