for more millage

AUXILIARY VOLUNTEERS of Hills and Dales General Hospital released balloons Monday as part of their celebration of National Volunteers' Week, April 22-28. Attached to each balloon was the name of an auxiliary member, and the hospital address. Anyone finding a balloon is requested to return it to the hospital. Two balloons were found in the Bad Axe area.

Area residents were asked if they would be in favor of these curriculum improvements, considering that an additional tax levy may be needed.

Several people who responded favorably to the curriculum addition felt that physical education in the elementary school was a good idea, but questioned the need for counseling services. Persons who opposed the possible changes felt that property taxes were already high enough. Two people who opposed the possible curriculum changes stated they felt administrative and teacher salaries were too high.

"I think we need a decent school here," said Vivian Mosher, 6252 Cedar Dr., Cass City. "Our kids are just what we educate them.'

She feels there is a need for counselors at all levels of the school. She added that residents of the district have to support the school. "I know it is hard to get a tax millage passed, but if it is good for the children, then I am for it," Mosher said.

"No, absolutely not," said Linda Voss, Deford, about the possible curriculum additions. "I don't see any reason for a counselor and physical education instructor at the elementary school." She pointed out that they didn't have a counselor when she was in elementary school. and she did not see a need for one now

Voss added that workers around the state have been forced to take wage and benefit cuts to keep their jobs, and many have been laid off, but teachers and administrators of the school district are given raises each year. "That's just not Hoyle," Voss said.

Voss added that while the board rejected a June mil-'age vote, they will probably ask residents for a millage increase before school

"I think it would be a good idea," June Lapp, 3700 S. Cemetery Rd., Cass City, said about the curriculum additions. She is willing to accept an additional millage levy to pay for the programs.

Lapp's children have graduated from school, but she felt it would have been good for the school district to offer the programs when her children were in school.

At the November general election two proposed millage increases were rejected by voters. A fiveyear, 0.50-mill increase to fund county departments and for maintenance improvements to county owned buildings was defeated 9,685 to 8,237.

Voters also defeated a 0.25-mill increase to build additional storage and office space for the courthouse. The five-year proposal was defeated 12,176 to

At the Tuesday board meeting, commissioners decided against a proposal from Commissioner Christopher Taylor, Caro, asking voters to approve two sepamillage requests. Taylor's proposal was for a 0.50 millage request for improvements at the medical care facility, and a one-mill request for county operating funds. The board voted 4 to 3 against the proposal.

Commission Chairperson Donna Rayl, Akron, said she voted against Taylor's proposal because of a report signed by all of the county's elected officials, urging the commissioners the need for a counselor. to present one millage in-McDonald pointed out crease request instead of the increasing problems requests to fund individual with parents drinking, and departments. The recommendation of the elected officials to ask voters to approve one millage increase request instead of requests for individual departments was in direct contrast to a recommendation made by John Axe, the county's bonding attorney. At a previous meeting, Axe recommended that voters cast their ballots on three separate millage increase requests. Axe proposed that voters decide on a 0.75-mill increase for the health care facility, a 0.2-mill increase for Cooperative Extension Services, and 0.75 mills for

If voters approve the 1.5mill increase, it will generate more than $1 million a year. The county has been operating on 4.2 mills since 1964, when the fixed millage was approved for an indefinite period of time.

this year, but they are limited by the manufacturing plants on how many acres they can grow.

Vice-president in charge of agriculture for Michigan being the fastest expanding Sugar Co., Caro, Dave Sunderland, said the firm has increased its production capabilities to now accommodate 78,000 acres of sugar beets. This is an increase of 5,000 acres over last year. Sunderland said the inmanufacturing creased capacity was the result of growers wanting to harvest additional sugar beets. Michigan Sugar locally has plants in Caro, Croswell, Sebewaing and Carrollton. From these four plants they service farmers in Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer, Saginaw and Bay Counties.

the western states. In the 1985 Tuscola County Crop report, Bortel described soybeans as cash crop in the county.

In the report Bortel recommended that farmers seriously investigate planting soybeans in narrower rows. He explained that in side-by-side test plots, on no-till ground, a farmer raised 30 bushels of soybeans per acre when planted in conventional 30inch rows. When planted in seven-inch wide rows, yields improved to 34 bushels per acre.

Bortel said the increased yields will offset the cost of a second application of herbicide, if it is needed to kill any weeds the original herbicide application may have missed. Another advantage to narrow row soybeans is less time and fuel will be required by the elimination of cultivation. Plants will canopy more quickly in narrow rows, which helps to shade out germinating weeds. Cooperative Extension agents from Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties said farmers in their counties experienced higher than normal problems with corn root worms last year.

Huron County Cooperative Extension Service Director Jim LeCureux said farmers who had a high concentration of root worms in a field last year, and are unable to rotate the corn crop this year, should maximum recommended amounts of insectreatments this ticide Bortel said one of the reasons for increased corn root worm damage last year was because the worms were concentrated in fewer acres of corn in 1983, when the PIC program was in effect.

Agriculture agents in the three-county area said the 1985 wheat crop had excellent coverage this winter, and they are looking for a good crop.

STATE-WIDE

According to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service (MARS), corn production for the state is expected to be at three million acres, about 50,000 acres less than last year. Nationally, corn producers are expected to plant an estimated 82 million acres, up two percent over last year.

Michigan farmers are projected to raise 1,150,000 acres of soybeans, a four percent decrease over last year's record level. Nationwide soybean production is projected to drop about five

It may have been just that the names we drew out of the hat were school supporters, but the results of the few phone calls the Chronicle made to taxpayers indicate that any vote for more millage for more curriculum would be close.

Not as surprising is that nearly everyone contacted had formed a definite opinion either for or against.

Stranger than fiction department. Shirley Johnston.who works at Cass City Schools, was on the playground during the day when the heavy winds buffeted the area.

It was so strong that it whipped an earring off and Mrs. Johnston has pierced ears. Because the earrings come in two pieces it figured that they would be apart because, of course, earrings can't be removed unless they are.

Well, when one of the students found the wind blown earring the two pieces were together again. Explain that if

That sounds like too good a deal to pass up. But wait. From Lapeer to Chicago and back there is a train a day. It leaves at about 9 in the morning from Chicago and about 1:30 p.m. from Lapeer.

If you need two business days in Chicago that means three nights away. The night you arrive, then the two business days and the wait for the return train the following morning.

Contrast that with the frequent plane schedules that enable arrival in town for the business day, a one night stay in town and a quick exit after the second business day. With rooms running about 100 bucks a night in Chicago, a little quick arithmetic shows that the cheap train fare is really not so cheap anymore.

Judge Joslyn also accepted a guilty plea to charges of attempted larceny in a building from Carl W. Jacques, 20, 502 Freemont St., Apt. 2, Caro.

Jacques was originally charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, and attempted larceny in a building.

The charges stem from the Dec. 5 robbery of Lucky's Kountry Korner party store, 1792 E. Caro Rd., Caro. Items taken during the robbery included liquor, cigarettes, lottery tickets and some cash.

Joslyn will sentence Jacaues June 17. Bond continues at $500.

Jerome K. Haire, 32, 305 Joseph St., Bay City, entered a no contest plea to charges of attempted felonious assault.

Haire was originally charged with felonious assault following a Sept. 19 attack on Patrick Sullivan in Wisner Township.

Judge Joslyn accepted the no contest plea from Haire, and will sentence him June 3. Bond continues at $5,000.

Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from Kurt J. Fromm, 20, 521 S. State St., Caro, for attempted forgery.

Fromm was originally charged with aiding and abetting in uttering and publishing. The charges stem from checks written on the checking account of Pearl Bednorek.

A not guilty plea was entered for William A. Enos, 29, 521 S. State St., Caro, on the same charge as Fromm. Enos stood mute before Judge Joslyn. The court entered the not guilty

Also charged in the check writing incident was Wesley L. Davidson, 25, 521 S. State St., Caro. Davidson was charged with uttering and publishing.

Davidson pleaded guilty to attempted uttering and publishing. Judge Joslyn

Register for Exploration Days at MSU

Time is running out for 4-H members to register for Exploration Days, the annual statewide event held June 19-21 at Michigan State University.

The deadline for registration is May 1. The event attracts approximately 4,000 4-H members and leaders from across the state, who participate in learning activities on topics ranging from rocketry and computer programing to fine arts and animal science.

This year's theme, "4-H -- Passport to Understanding," emphasizes many international options and activities, including an international bazaar.

"4-H Exploration Days is a fantastic opportunity for young people ages 12 and over to participate in hands-on experiences in one or two areas of interest," says Judy Ratkos, coordinator of statewide 4-H events.

The event also provides 4-H'ers an opportunity to live and eat in campus residence halls and get a taste of college life.

Interested 4-H members and leaders should contact their county Cooperative Extension Service office to register or get more information wife, Olivia, because of his desire to move from their home in Maine to Hollywood, she takes their young son Travis to their isolated summer house to do some thinking. Once there, however, she encounters three crazed backwoods brothers, who terrorize, rape and generally abuse her. She and Travis finally manage to escape with the older brother, Rand, in hot pursuit. How Olivia and Travis elude and then turn the tables on Rand leads to a bloody, exciting finale. ENTREPRENEURS: THE MEN AND WOMEN

ALL THE DAYS OF MY LIFE by Hilary Bailey

(Fiction). Mary Waterhouse's story stretches from 1941, when at age five she is evacuated to the country to escape the London blitz, to 1966, when, as Lady Allaun, she releases her memoirs. She shoots up and down the rags-to-riches ladder several times; takes a number of husbands, of whom one is a criminal and another a Labor MP; has a passionate affair with a racketeer landlord; and is variously prostitute, socialite and industrial tycoon. The story ends

THE TRAP by Tabitha King (fiction). When Pat Russell, fledgling screenwriter, splits up with his long-suffering with an astounding revelation about her birth.

BEHIND FAMOUS BRAND NAMES by Joseph J. Fucini (non-fiction). The Gillette behind the razor and the Kellogg behind the cornflake are unknown personalities, Lone Rangers riding into the West with a vision and a thundering steed. The authors, both business writers, reintroduce us to the Smith Bros., the first to devise pre-packaged boxes to protect cough drops; school dropout William Wrigley, who gave away free chewing gum to sell a long-forgotten baking soda; and many others. Divided into longer profiles and shorter cameos, this book covers 226 of the best-known "unknowns in the world." In facile prose, the Fucinis offer some arcane information: the Baby Ruth candy bar was named after President Grover Cleveland's daughter Ruth, and Henry J. Heinz had already packaged more than 60 products when he lit upon 57 as his logo, simply because he liked the number's looks.

Looking ahead to the Exunsion Service's future, we'll need financial management more and more, and work with our clientele on this hardnosed business of management. It's something we intend to do. It will be one of the adjustments we'll be making as part of our programming effort. This agency's efforts to help farmers weather this present crisis are just one approach being used by the nation's Extension Service network. Across the country, the agency, long charged with disseminating new information to farmers, is helping on several fronts. Efforts range from sitting down with farmers to restructure their finances to counseling farmers under emotional stress to helping failed farmers find new jobs. A recent 12-state USDA survey found the agency provided financial management guidance to more than 400,000 farm families over the past year. The same survey also revealed that 206,000 families in those states had severe financial problems. While conceding today's crisis is severe for many farmers, we see the longterm prospects for American agriculture remaining as strong as ever. Certainly, for a certain segment -- perhaps 20 or 30 percent -- of agriculture, the short-term future is very difficult right now. But for the long term, everything we read, see, hear and look at indicates we should see stronger commodity prices. I'm confident American agriculture will be a very real part of that scenario.

While a sense of pride is often difficult to hold onto in an extreme crisis, I've always felt an individual or industry crisis often times makes people strong and prouder. So, I'm confident that by the very nature of the people in this nation's agriculture, they will hang on to that pride. And, this same sense of pride and dedication will reflect in how well they then do in the long-term future we have to look at.

HEALTH TIPS Tests available to Recognizing that April is Cancer Control Month, what is the test that is being promoted to detect colon cancer? Is it accurate?

Hills and Dales General Hospital and the American Cancer Society are sponsoring a colo-rectal cancer screening project again this year. The free screening will be held at Hills and Dales Hospital April 29 through May 3, from 8:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m.

The Hemoccult R test is a screening test that is available in pharmacies. The Hemoccult R test is used to detect the presence of blood in the stool. Blood in the stool is a sign of bleeding occurring in the stomach, intestine or colon. Often, the blood is "hidden" in the stool and cannot be easily seen. A Hemoccult R test can be used to find such blood.

Blood in the stool is one sign of colorectal cancer. Other symptoms often seen with this type of cancer are weight loss, diarrhea or constipation and, sometimes, pain in the abdomen. Since colorectal cancer is the second most common type of cancer to occur in older men and women. doctors often check for the presence of blood in the stool. If found early, colon cancer is often curable with surgery. Blood in the stool can also be a sign of hemorrhoids, ulcers, colitis and other gastrointestinal problems. For this reason, the Hemoccult R test cannot be

Farmers test feeder pigs

Production testing swine has allowed swine breeders to react quickly to changes in market demand for high quality lean pork. By measuring rate of gain and backfat thickness, loin eye area and other carcass characteristics, the leaner more efficient modern type hog was developed.

Area swine producers will have an opportunity to have their pigs tested for average daily gain, carcass merit and health history during the 1985 Thumb Feeder Pig Derby. The Feeder Pig Derby, co-sponsored by the Pigeon Co-Op-. Pork Producers Association, Michigan Livestock Exchange and the Cooperative Extension Service, attracted 51 entries last year.

The feeder pigs will be purchased by the Pigeon Co-Op Friday, May 24, at the Michigan Livestock Exchange stockyards in Cass City. They will then be fed out at a single farm receiving the same diet. This allows participants to compare their animal's performance to the others in the group.

Sept. 7, the finished pigs will be entered in the Thumb Barrow Show and will be evaluated on the hoof and a carcass and health check performed by a Michigan State University veterinarian.

There will be a $7.00 charge per pig to cover the costs of the carcass evaluation. All entries must be registered by May 1.

If you have any questions or need additional registration forms, contact Dennis Stein at the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service office, 420 Court St., Caro, or Gary Weber at the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service office, 37 Austin Street, San-

Crim & Gray take Ohio work course

Two employees of Walbro Corporation, Cass City, completed Unit I of Wittenberg University's Management Development Program Friday, April 12.

They are Fred Crim, 3575 S. Elkton Rd., Owendale, foreman, and Mark Gray of production Fairgrove, supervisor.

The five-day on-campus series in Springfield, Ohio, is designed to strengthen the management competency of supervisors and to provide them with useful insights into management functions.

The series concentrates in three areas -- management methods, organizational behavior and communications.

live-and-learn detect colon cancer

used alone to diagnose colon cancer. Other tests are necessary to determine the cause of the blood in the stool.

In order to give accurate results, the Hemoccult R test must be done properly. A special diet should be followed for two days before the test is done. Rare meat, turnips, radishes and cauliflower should not be eaten. Foods high in fiber, such as vegetables, should be eaten. While staying on this diet, a stool sample should be collected from one bowel movement on three consecutive days. Using a wooden applicator, a stool specimen is collected from the toilet bowl and spread thinly on one of the Hemoccult R test squares. A specimen from a different portion of the stool is spread on the second test square. A dye is then added to the squares. If a dark blue color appears the test is positive and blood is present. Incorrect readings may occur if the diet described above is not carefully followed. The reading can be wrong if vitamin C or iron supplements were taken. Medications that irritate the stomach, such as aspirin and arthritis medications, may cause some bleeding and cause the test to be positive. Remember, this test alone cannot be used to diagnose any condition, not even colorectal cancer. Though if done properly it does allow you to determine if blood is present in the stool. When buying the Hemoccult R test ask your pharmacist to review the directions for use with you. Always tell your doctor about the results of the test. If the test is positive, you should have the Hemoccult R test results double checked by your doctor as soon as possible.

Screening tests, such as the Hemoccult R test, offer you new ways to get information about your body and health. But don't forget the most important way to get health information - talk to your doctor and pharmacists. Pharmacists participating in the statewide Patient Education Program can also supply you with written information on your prescription medica-

Participants are to start from the parking lot of Trinity Methodist Church and there will be workers to show the route, give you a balloon and help you get started.

"Your ride will help children all across the country who cannot ride with y because they are in the hospital. At the end of your ride, there will be refreshments for everyone," says Doris Rawson, chairman. "It will be a fun day for everyone.'

St. Jude Children's Re-Hospital search founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat diseases which affect children. St. Jude is non-sectarian and non-discriminatory and provides total care to over 4,200 children.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians work side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these killers

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle cell anemia, and other child killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

Letters to the editor

Owners grieve over shot dog

We are hoping that the person that shot our dog is smart enough to read; but someone with such ignorance is in all probability illiterate. Being the case, this letter is to the rest of the cold-hearted people who have no compassion for a helpless, innocent animal in hopes that this may save someone elses beloved

We found Eagle in an animal shelter where he was scheduled to be put to sleep. He was in a state of having no hair due to Mange, a sprained leg and a severe deficiency due to neglect and abuse. We immediately had him examined by a vet where we were informed that it would be best to return Eagle to the pound because of the unlikelihood that he would live and because of the contagiousness of the mange to humans. Disregarding the advice, we took Eagle home and miraculously he survived. Eagle's life was not easy, he was crippled by a car, was infected with the disease Parvo, which almost always means death, yet we believe due to the love felt between us and him he was able to overcome these obstacles. When we moved back to Michigan from Galveston, Tex., it was our belief that removing Eagle from the dangers of the city and placing him in the safety of the country would enable him to enjoy a long life.

The Want

To the Person Who Shot our How terribly wrong we were!

We lost him for a week 1976 CORDOBA, 360 engine. shortly after we arrived automatic, air, radio, 48,700 here. A kind-hearted man saved him from being shot. What is it with people around here? It's unfortunate people like that man are so few and far between.

Today, we came home to the horrors of finding Eagle struggling for life after being shot with a gun. The vet could not help him and we lost Eagle April 15, 1985. We have lost a member of our family after only a short 5 years. He was a good natured dog who would never hurt anyone or anything. He wouldn't bother or damage anyone's property, and all anyone would have had to have done was shot in the air to scare him away, since he was terrified of guns. Our oneyear-old daughter loved him dearly. They were always playing together and Eagle would quickly warn anyone who he thought might harm her. He slept beside her bed and was her constant companion and now some ruthless and sick person has taken it all away. I cannot think of adequate punishment that could be bestowed upon the person who shot Eagle, but I am certain that God will find a way to punish him.

I would like to add that I inquired of several neighbors whether they knew of anyone in the neighborhood who would shoot a dog. One person who is less than a human being and is known for shooting at dogs, replied that he would. It is a sad day when our society is infected with people having such a sick

> Antitrust laws nixed by state

Michigan became the third state to revise its antitrust laws in March when the Michigan Antitrust Reform act took effect.

The act is designed to improve the business climate by making sure that unfair practices can be successfully combated by the Attorney General and local prosecutors.

Michigan's business climate should benefit from the act. The measure forbids "tying" arrangements in which a seller insists that a buyer purchase another product besides the one that the buyer wants; group boycotts, in which firms act together to keep other firms out of a market, and market divisions, where competitors parcel out exclusive territories among themselves. It also extends antitrust protections to the service sector of the state's economy. Many groups worked to formulate this reform for almost two years. The coalition included the Small Business Association of Michigan, the National Federation of Independent Business/Michigan, the State Bar of Michigan, and the Michigan Merchants Council.

plans for summer and fall promotions and heard of the activities of the Chamber of Commerce at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, April 16.

Kim Glaspie, Chamber president, reviewed the tree planting program on Main Street. He talked about the purchase of flowers around the trees which are planted and weeded by Cass City Girl Scouts.

He suggested Christmas decoration of residential homes and yards. Other activities sponsored by the Chamber include Main Street sidewalk plowing and sponsoring the July 4 Festival.

In connection with the Festival, Marian Keating suggested decoration of merchant windows the week of July 4.

Antiques and other items are needed and Betty Stilon, Sean Zawilinski, Jeri Tordai and Keating can be contacted in connection with the program.

Bank will loan 70% of base cost (excluding commission)......$2,800

Loan fee of 3%......$84 Total.....$2,884 Loan cost at 11.5% for first 6 months.....$165

You'll owe bank in 6 months.....$3,049 Second 6 months, the finance charges will repeat ($84 + $165) and at end of year, you'll owe the bank With your own cash you have had to put up 30 percent of the $4,000, which is $1,200 plus the $400 commission, for a total of $1,600.

This is all "up front," as they say on the Beach. This is tied up for a year. You could have put this in government bonds at 13 percent. So you pass up this income on $1,600 at 13 percent, which is $208, total: $1,808.

Now for the recap, if you'll pardon my slang: Cost of the portion right, just break even. Stock averages, around 1,100 as I write this, would have to go to 1,400 to duplicate that performance.

So forget it. You're making a good living already, skimming funds from the allowance Fred gives you for groceries.

a member of the Cass City site accord Monday, the Huron County School Board agreed to purchase property from the Huron County Commissioners for a new skill center

Intermediate site. The HISD agreed to pay the county $3,000 per acre for the 24-acre site located at the intersection of Thomas Road and M-53.

Superintendent HISD James McBride said the cost of purchasing the 24acre site will be cheaper in the long run than preparing a site the commissioners offered to the school board for free.

McBride explained the free site, about two miles north of the intersection of Thomas Road and M-53, would cost the HISD about $60,000 more to prepare than the 24-acre site they purchased. He said the free site would require extensive fill, an access road would need improvements, and the HISD would have to pay the entire cost of the sewage lagoon.
