Accept Garza plea

Huron County Circuit Court Judge M. Richard Knoblock accepted a no-contest plea Monday from Melba N. Garza on a charge of being an accessory after the fact of murder in the first degree. The charge stems from the August 1976 death of Robin D. Adams, a 17-year-old Caro girl.

Melba Garza and her brother, Melvin, were both charged with first degree murder more than seven years after Adams was first reported missing.

Melvin Garza, 28, Caro, was found guilty of first degree murder Feb. 15, following a five-day Huron County Circuit Court jury trial. March 22 he was sentenced to spend the rest of his life in prison. Under Michigan statute, Melvin Garza's only opportunity for an early release will be by a governor's pardon. He has appealed the case.

Melba Garza faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison, and or a $10,000 fine. State statute does not specify a minimum sentence. The first degree murder charge has not been dismissed against the 25-year-old Caro woman. The murder charge is expected to be dropped after she is sentenced June 21 at 9:00 a.m. in Huron County Circuit Court. Bond continues at $25,000.

Trustees approved applying a coat of pavement to one-half mile of Dodge Road, south of the Gagetown village limits at a cost of $12,250. Included in the total cost is $500 for shoulder repair. One mile of Koeftgen Road, from Muntz to Bay City-Forestville Roads, will also have a top coat of pavement applied at a cost of $24,500. Of the total cost, $1,000 will be spent on shoulder repairs. The county has agreed to pay $2,500 for the cost of repairs to Dodge Road, and $5,000 to the cost of repairing Koeftgen Road.

Trustees also agreed to apply 1,000 yards of crushed gravel to one mile of Merchant Road, from Koeftgen Road to Cemetery Road, and to Voss Road, from Cemetery to Schwegler Road. The township will spend $6,400 for improvements to each of the one-mile projects.

The Cass City School Board voted Monday night to serve notice on clerks of the 13 townships in the school district that interest earned on school funds must be given to the district.

The decision was made at the regular meeting of the board at its once-a-year meeting at Evergreen School.

Supt. Donald Crouse referred to a decision reached in Grand Rapids saying that any interest earned on funds by townships before they are turned over to the district belongs to the district.

Prior to this year no interest money was received from any township. There's no way of knowing how much this might amount to, Crouse told the board, but it could be several thousand dollars.

The board also outlined a $50,000-plus program for repair and major purchases. Costs of the projects are estimates. At Campbell Elementary repair of the gym and room 14A roofs is estimated at $6,100. Also to be completed are repairs to the roof of the addition to the building at a cost to be determined. Also on the agenda for Campbell are chalkboards for eight classrooms for $8,000 and 40 student's chairs for $1,200. Replacing windows in the kindergarten room with a partition is slated at a cost to be determined.

Finally, concrete on the road on the north side of the building will be installed at an estimated cost of $6,000. At Deford, classroom furniture will cost $2,300.

Evergreen School will also receive $2,300 worth of furniture and eight 12-foot long tables at a cost of $2,400.

Monday's rainfall eases drought

While Monday's rainfall of about 0.4 inch was not enough to make up for the dry weather during the last month, it was a welcome relief for area farmers who have been waiting for a rain to plant their soybeans.

"It will get us over the hump, and that is what we needed right now," said Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service Director Bill Bortel. He pointed out that farmers have not only been hurt by the lack of rain, but also by the warmer than usual temperatures. As of May 15, the area had recorded 11 days when the temperature exceeded 80 degrees. He said the warm weather, coupled with strong, dry winds, has been robbing the soil of about 0.1 inch of moisture each day.

"We never did get a good spring rain this year," Bortel said. He estimated that during a normal year, the area would have received 2 to 4 inches more rain than has fallen this spring.

According to records from the Cass City sewage treatment plant, the last major rainfall to the area was when 2.14 inches of rain fell during the first week of April. Since then the area has received 0.71 inches of rain, not including Monday's storm. Last year, during the same time period, the area received 4.11 inches of rain. Also last year, the area received 2.11 inches of rain from a May 22 storm.

Because of the dry weather earlier this spring, farmers were able to plant their corn and sugar beets earlier than usual, which allowed the seeds to take advantage of the moisture in the ground. Bortel said the corn and sugar beets that were planted early had enough moisture to germinate the seed. He added that many area farmers have been holding off planting soybeans until there was a substantial rainfall to moisten the soil.

"We're going to have to hurry, because this moisture won't last," Bortel said about Monday's shower. He explained that because of the drought, the soil is not holding as much moisture in reserve as it usually does. It will require a heavy rain to build the supply back up.

"It could rain an inch or more right now, and I don't think any water would run out of (the field) tile," Bortel added.

The lack of moisture in reserve could become a problem this summer, when crops draw on this reserve during the dry months of July and August.

While Tuscola County farmers realized about 0.4 inch of rain Monday, parts of northern Huron County were not so blessed, receiving only about 0.1 inch of rain.

"It will help, no doubt about that," said Huron County Cooperative Extension Service Director Jim LeCureux.

He pointed out that farmers who planted their sugar beets early, when the ground still had enough moisture to germinate the seeds, and supply water to the growing plant, are in good shape. But farmers who planted later crops are having problems because of the drought. He said several of the fields will have to be replanted because the seeds failed to germinate, or the young plants were damaged by the strong winds.

Bortel, LeCureux and Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service Director Rex Stieting all agree that farmers may be facing a weed problem this season.

Stieting explained that if farmers used a pre-plant herbicide that was incorporated into the soil, it may possibly have had enough moisture to activate. But farmers who applied the herbicide when planting, and did not receive a rain during the next 7 to 10 days, may have a weed problem.

Most non-incorporated herbicides need about one-half inch of rain, 7 to 10 days following application, to properly activate them.

Farmers who are using no-till conservation planting methods may find that their soils are holding moisture better than fields that have been conventionally plowed.

Phil Dakin, district conservationist for the Tuscola Soil Conservation District, explained that when using no-till methods, the farmer is not drying the soil out by working air into the ground. He added that in no-till fields the top soil will hold the moisture better than in a conventionally plowed field.

Dakin pointed out that farmers who planted a cover crop should spray with a herbicide as soon as possible to kill the growth before it takes any more moisture from the ground.

In Caro

Prison protesters losing battle?

By Wayne Kamidoi

Residents in Caro opposing a proposed upper-Thumb area prison to be constructed there feel they are fighting a losing battle.

"We're just not getting much help," said Gary Anderson, 715 E. Frank, Caro, who is spearheading a group attempting to discourage the Michigan Department of Corrections from choosing Caro as a site for a multi-security prison.

A decision as to where the site will be located is expected to be made sometime during June, a corrections department official said. Besides Caro, a site in the city of Saginaw and a site in Midland, near Sanford Lake, are being considered.

Anderson said he and others from the group went to the Tuscola County Commission meeting May 14 to voice its argument, but the commission took no action.

Anderson has attended several other commission meetings and was met with similar response.

The Caro School Board and the Caro Community Hospital Board have both made public statements in favor of the prison construction.

"(Being) surprised would be an understatement," Anderson said. "A lot that signed (the petitions) are my friends...but I don't think they knew what was exactly being proposed. They signed a little prematurely."

One of the ramifications of the prison plan would call for a minimum of 50 prisoners (called trustees) who would work and live outside the prison fences, Anderson said.

"They could have committed any crime—even rapists. They're the ones now excluded from our minimum security prisons," Anderson said.

Caro is currently the site of two minimum-security prisons, Camp Tuscola, I and II, Wahjamega, which are located on Washburn Road near the Cass River. The proposed prison would be located on the same property.

"It (the prisons) has changed our lifestyles. It's an armed camp around there. We know where our guns are," Anderson said.

William Kime, deputy director of the corrections department, said Caro is a viable location because of its access to utilities and the buffer zone between the prison and the population center.

"None (of the sites) seem to fit the criteria, but we're not going to rule any one out or zero in on one, Kime said.

Proponents of the prison construction point to the economic benefits that Tuscola County and the surrounding area could receive.

About 230 new jobs (two-thirds of which would be available to area residents) and a $5.5 million payroll would be created, Kime said. "It is a delicate issue. From an economic standpoint, it will create jobs and bring in money," Caro village manager Don Duggar said. "If you have 250 new employees and a $5.5 million payroll...that's more than a drop in the bucket."

Michigan Employment Securities Commission Caro branch manager Charles Cramer said the job openings would not cut into the 12.3 unemployment figure (as of December 1984) in Tuscola County drastically, but "it sure would help the economy and the area."

Anderson said although the prison would bring in Please turn to page 20.

To seek interest from townships

School sets $50,000 program

The Cass City School Board voted Monday night to serve notice on clerks of the 13 townships in the school district that interest earned on school funds must be given to the district.

The decision was made at the regular meeting of the board at its once-a-year meeting at Evergreen School.

Finally, concrete on the road on the north side of the building will be installed at an estimated cost of $6,000.

At Deford, classroom furniture will cost $2,300.

Evergreen School will also receive $2,300 worth of furniture and eight 12-foot long tables at a cost of $2,400.

Chalkboards for three rooms is estimated at $3,000.

The Intermediate School kitchen is slated to receive a convection oven and deep fat fryer so that school lunch food can be served hot instead of transported from the high school.

Together with an exhaust system, the cost will be $7,000. Other work at the school includes two rooms of furniture for $4,600.

At the high school new volleyball standards will be purchased for $3,000 and auditorium seats repairs for $2,200. Finally, chalkboard for room 100 will cost $1,000.

LET BIDS

Two bids for work were let by the board. Rich's Disposal was low between two bidders for refuse collection service. A three-year contract was awarded for $9,658.80. One other bid was received.

Don Shagene, Cass City, was low bidder for making a septic tank field at Evergreen School. The $15,448 bid was low among four bids received.

ACADEMIC TRACK

Something new will be added at the Intermediate School next year. It's academic track. The program calls for competition between schools in science, art, music and other academic subjects.

An estimated 80 students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades will participate and the meets will be held at night. In Akron-Fairgrove and Reese, where the program was held for the first time this year, Principal Bob Stickle reported that it was well received and supported by parents and other adults.

Four schools in the area, including Caro and Lakers, are planning to start the competition next year.

Each meet is estimated to cost the district $150, Stickle said. Film clips of the program were shown at the board meeting.

NEW BOOKS

Textbooks for 10 subjects at a cost of $12,387.80 were authorized. All are replacements for books seven years old or older. Subjects are: English III, world history, health, U.S. history, geography, sociology, life science, biology and health.

OTHER BUSINESS

The Thumb Gymnastic Boosters, a non-profit organization, was granted use of the high school gym and gymnastic equipment at an invitational next October.

A budget hearing was set for the next regular board meeting June 17.

Mrs. Bonnie Bennett was granted permission to enroll her daughter in kindergarten in Caro next fall. She lives on the Cass City-Caro district border.

Eight election inspectors were authorized. It is expected that five will be used in the June 10 election.

Cheryl Kilbourn explained to the board that manual typewriters are wearing out and that some parts for them are unavailable. Repairs will be made from parts of spare machines.

A service contract for typewriters was discussed. Kilbourn was not satisfied with the present contract, but switching to IBM was considered too expensive by the administration.

Extracurricular activities

By Jim Fitzgerald

Nothing is more important than a good education. Tomorrow's success depends on what our young people learn today.

Education wasn't always so complete at MSU. When I went there, 35 years ago, it was necessary to leave the East Lansing campus and travel all the way to Detroit to study the striptease.

My friends and I had to hitchhike because we couldn't make enough money selling our schoolbooks to buy a car.

Anyway, the 240-mile hitchhike took a lot of time. In order to study the striptease under Professor Scurvy at the Avenue Burlesk, I had to miss dormitory meals already paid for.

It was painful to dine on a hardboiled egg in a Detroit saloon while knowing the dormitory was receiving good tax money for a full-course dinner never served.

It wasn't only the lack of striptease on campus. In those days, you couldn't even buy a beer in East Lansing. And any student caught importing booze into the campus was kicked out of school.

In 1950, my friends and I often talked about how great it would be if we could study the striptease on campus and didn't have to hitchhike to Detroit.

Lady Linda's appearance was sponsored by a university-sanctioned group called Revolver Cinema. I like that name because it gives me an excuse to reveal what is meant by gun control.

But I digress. Revolver Cinema usually sponsors X-rated movies on MSU property. The stripper was added to increase attendance during the warm-weather doldrums.

It was estimated for completion in late August.

campus. But the protesters couldn't stop progress in education. Last February, Revolver Cinema and the American Civil Liberties Union won a temporary federal court order allowing the movies on campus.

I don't know where the ACLU and federal court were when I had to hitchhike from East Lansing to Detroit to study the striptease.

M-25 is closed for resurfacing

Traffic on 11 miles of M-25 from the Bay/Tuscola County line to Unionville will be detoured for resurfacing and bridge deck repairs of four bridges beginning Monday (May 20), the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) announced.

The signed detour will direct traffic onto Quanicasssee and Akron Roads and M-138, adding six miles to the travel distance.

The detour will be in effect during all holiday week ends.

The work is estimated for completion in late August.

QUESTION - What is happening at Hills and Dales Hospital that has caused some of the employees to be upset and write letters to the editor?

ANSWER - Simply, they have been caught in the economic upheaval that has been brought by skyrocketing health care.

Hospitals are in a bind. Because of a change in the way the government and health insurance programs are run, there just aren't enough patients to fill the available beds.

That's why you find such prestigious hospitals as Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit advertising for patients.

That's why there have been patient load days at Hills and Dales as low as 16 in the last two weeks and an average patient load per day of 26.87 for the last six months. In the last two weeks the average was 24 patients per day.

There's no way that our hospital or any hospital can pay the bills under these circumstances without making changes sure to hurt.

Certainly you feel for the employees who are bearing the brunt of the economic depression in hospitals. Time and again I've heard good things about the care at Hills and Dales. Grateful patients periodically run thank you ads for the care received from nurses and hospital staff.

QUESTION - Is the July 4 Festival running out of steam?

ANSWER - The jury's out on this. It won't run down as long as there remain dedicated volunteers to do the work. Look for big crowds this year. Next year could be a tester when the Fourth is on Friday and the Festival will run competition with the long vacation week end. Mid-week holidays don't give as many the chance to get very far from home.

QUESTION - Are the laws of chance catching up on us? Remember a couple of years ago when the rest of the midwest suffered drought conditions but this section of the Thumb received much needed rain?

ANSWER - Yes, I remember and who knows if we are going to be caught on the short end of the stick this summer. Right now we've already missed several good rains that hit other parts of the Saginaw Valley.

Even Monday's rain wasn't all that general. Ben Hobart, who lives in the Gagetown area, says that the amount of rain received on his farm was at most a scant quarter of an inch.

Fred Matthews, who lives in the Shabbona area, reports that his rain gauge measured a full half-inch.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

Monday morning as I stumbled into the kitchen for my 5:00 a.m. cup of coffee I saw the first telltale sign that I was in trouble. On the counter where I make my coffee was a note from my wife, "I am not your maid."

A quick glance into the living room reminded me of my late night binge with the Sunday newspaper. On the corner of the sofa was a pile of notes and scribbles of a half finished story. It was all topped off with a pair of sneakers and socks.

Knowing that if I ignored the warning, I would face a fate worse than death, I begrudgingly cleaned up my mess.

I have always considered myself a slob. It's nothing new. I had been a bachelor for 12 years, and I was quite comfortable living amongst dirty dishes, socks, and other vermin attracting messes. Throughout my marriage I have always used the excuse of, "Well, you know how I was before you married me."

Anyone walking down Main Street can attest that I am definitely not the neatest person in the world. Somewhere under the piles of notes, typing paper and used coffee cups is a nice, wooden desk. I saw it once.

At least once every couple of weeks I swear that I will change, and become the next Felix Unger. With the fury of a man killing snakes, I tear into the piles of old notes and discarded stories, only to tire before I am half finished. One good thing about a messy desk, I never have to change the blotter. Any coffee spills are quickly absorbed by piles of notes and scrap paper.

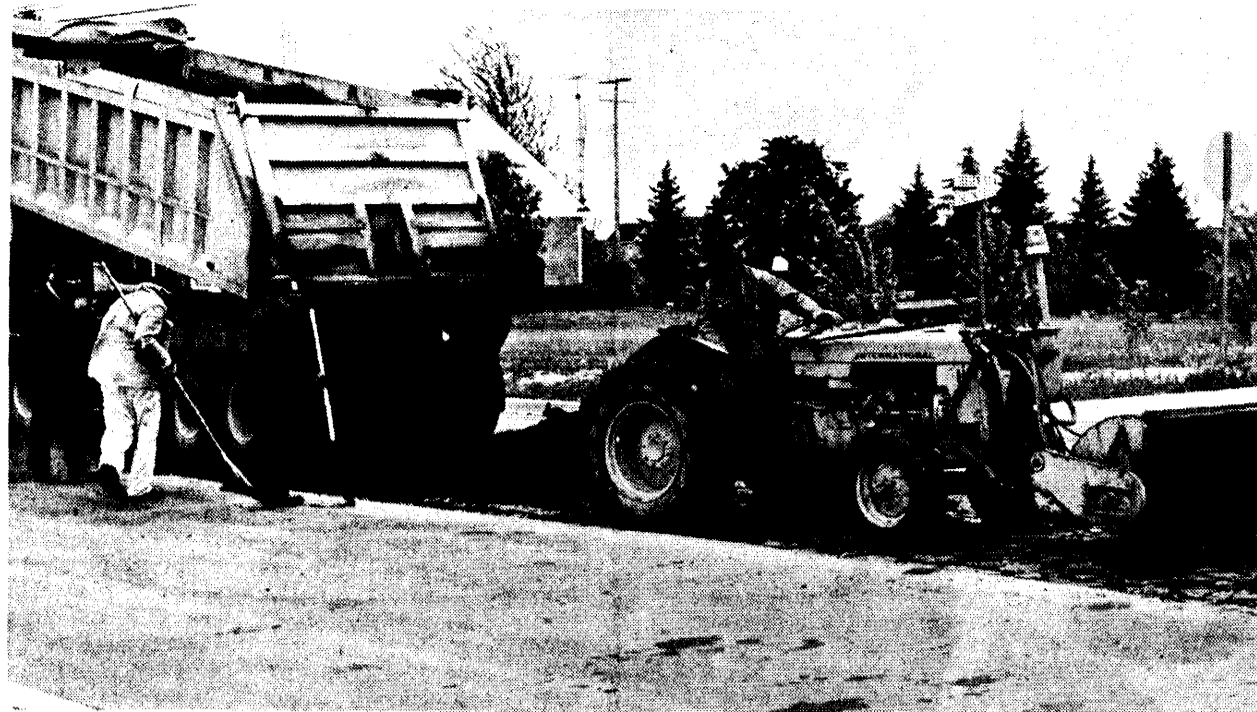

I have only been around two newspaper editors, Jane and Rosemary, who kept a really clean desk. Jane was a truly neat, organized person. She didn't last too long in the business.

Rosemary had a unique approach to keeping her desk clean. At the end of the day she would open her largest desk drawer, and shove everything inside. The next morning she would pile it all back on top. She claimed it always felt better to have a clean desk at the start of the day. I have never been able to form an opinion for an argument.

My car reflects all of my worst possible traits. It is a station wagon, but generally there is only room for one person, the slob who piles everything on the floor, the passenger seats, and in the back.

Last month I decided to give it a spring cleaning. Under the seat I found a worn timing gear I put there six months ago. Two trash bags later I found several Tupperware lids that have been missing since I first came to Cass City in August.

One good thing about being casually clean, nobody can accuse me of being a litter bug. I keep everything close by.

NORTH SEEGER STREET REPAIRS - Workers from the Cass City Department of Public Works, and PCI Construction, Chesaning, repaired several weak spots in the new asphalt on N. Seeger Street, near the high school. The weak spots were the result of excessive underground moisture weakening the sub base.

Marlette man sentenced on check writing charge

Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn sentenced a Marlette man Monday to serve 16 months to two years in Southeastern Michigan Prison, after he pleaded guilty to uttering and publishing three non-sufficient checks in 10 days.

Douglas E. Benjamin, 31, 7393 Mayville Rd., Marlette, was originally charged with writing three non-sufficient fund checks in 10 days. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge April 29.

Benjamin wrote the checks, totaling $272.61, on his Kingston State Bank account Nov. 24, 1984.

Benjamin was given credit for 102 days already served. Also Monday, Judge Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from William C. Pomeroy Jr., 18, 2034 Keilitz Rd., Cass City, on a charge of larceny in a building. He was originally charged with breaking and entering of an unoccupied building with intent to commit larceny.

The charge stems from the Jan. 24 theft of cigarettes, alcohol, cash and lottery tickets from Lucky's Kountry Korner party store, 1792 E. Caro Rd., Caro.

Joslyn will sentence Pomeroy July 1.

In other court action, Judge Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from William A. Enos, 29, 521 S. State St., Caro, on an uttering and publishing charge.

Enos was originally charged with aiding and abetting in uttering and publishing. The charges stem from the March 8 writing of checks to Cass City Auto Supply, 6585 E. Main, Cass City. According to the report, Enos and two other area residents found the checks belonging to Pearl Bednerek in a dumpster.

No sentencing date has been set for Enos.

A not guilty plea was entered for Terry L. Czekai, 19, 7279 Elmwood Rd., Cass City, on an embezzlement over $100 charge. The charge stems from the alleged theft of money from a bank deposit while Czekai worked for the Quaker Maid Dairy Store. Judge Joslyn will hold a pre-trial July 15. Bond continues at $10,000.

Gayle Louise Tucker, Gun Club Road, Caro, was sentenced by Judge Joslyn to a one-year delay of sentence and 60 hours of community services for attempted delivery of marijuana. Monday.

Tucker, 21, was originally charged with delivery of marijuana Dec. 20, 1984. She pleaded guilty to the reduced charge March 4.

Also sentenced by Judge Joslyn was Kurt John Fromm, 521 S. State St., Caro, for attempted forgery. Fromm was sentenced to two years' probation, and ordered to pay a $300 fine, $500 in court costs and $750 restitution.

Fromm, 20, was originally charged with forgery March 8. He wrote an invalid check to Cass City Auto Supply, 6585 E. Main, Cass City, amounting to $200. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge April 19.

In other court action Monday, Joslyn accepted a guilty plea from John E. Howard, Saginaw, on a charge of aiding and abetting in the commission of a building larceny.

Howard, 32, was originally charged with aiding and abetting with the intent to commit larceny and carrying a concealed weapon. He pleaded not guilty to both counts Oct. 14, 1984.

The charges stem from a building larceny at Cass River Trader printing office, 5881 Frankenthum Rd., Tuscola Township. Sentencing is scheduled for June 17.

Rodney W. Dunes, 2595 Washburn Rd., Camp Tuscola, Caro, and Horace Pitts, Camp Tuscola, Caro, both entered a plea of guilty Monday on separate charges of possessing alcoholic liquor in a prison.

Both were charged in a March 16 incident. Another charge, possession of a controlled substance (marijuana), was dismissed by Joslyn on both parties.

A sentencing date for Dunes and Pitts has not been set. Also Monday, a 25-year-old Caro man was sentenced to six months in the county jail after pleading guilty to attempted uttering and publishing.

Wesley Leroy Davidson, 521 S. State St., Caro, was originally charged with uttering and publishing March 8. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge on April 22. He also received credit for 56 jail days served.

\səb·ləks·'ā·shən\ n.

A "subluxation" means that two or more parts of your spinal column have gotten out of alignment. They cease working, and in most cases, stop moving the way nature intended. As a result, these subluxations not only cause pain, but also interfere with the proper functioning and healing of other vital parts of your body. Therefore, it is your chiropractor's primary concern to correct any subluxations you might have and adjust your spine back to proper alignment and mobility.

WHAT SYMPTOMS WILL A SUBLUXATION EXHIBIT?

- Pain. Pain is the one symptom that motivates most people to see a chiropractor. Pain is an alarm your body has set off. Ironically, pain is often the last symptom to show up, but the first to disappear during the healing process.
- Fixation. This shows up as a reduction or loss of mobility in one or more joints of the spinal vertebrae. And when just one joint in the spine fixates, it causes all the other areas of the spine to work overtime, creating unnecessary wear and tear, eventually leading to osteoarthritis.
- Edema. This is when fluid fills into the damaged joint area causing swelling, similar to what happens when you twist an ankle.
- Inflammation. The damaged area is often inflamed. This inflammation and swelling usually occur during the early stages of a vertebral subluxation.

In addition, other symptoms such as muscle spasm, tingling sensations and loss of control over certain muscles or organs are potential signs of subluxation.

IF YOU IGNORE YOUR SUBLUXATION IT WON'T GO AWAY.

New books at the library

THE CLASS by Erich Segal (fiction). The five men who come to Cambridge in September 1954 are desperate to test their mettle. Danny Rossi, a musical genius, can tolerate very little of the Harvard world beyond his piano and his classes. Jason Gilbert is the good-looking, tennis playing, most popular guy on campus, yet he must come to terms with his Jewish roots before he can acquire a sense of pride. Millionaire Andrew Eliot, the latest of a long line of Eliots at Harvard, searches for a meaning of life beyond his prep identity. Ted Lambros, son of a Greek restaurateur in Cambridge, has only one dream: to surpass his townie status by cleaving to academe and ultimately becoming a tenured professor. And last, George Keller, a Hungarian refugee, arrives at the university speaking only a few words of English and intent on forgetting his past and fulfilling the American dream through political prominence. Each of the men must make sacrifices to succeed at Harvard, and must continue to do so in the ensuing 25 years before they convene for their reunion in 1983.

HUSBANDS AND LOVERS by Ruth Harris (fiction). Harris chronicles the lives and loves of four "beautiful people" through the changing mores of the 1970s and 80s. One might expect that looks, money, sexual prowess, and fantastic success in their careers would guarantee happiness. Not so! Underlying insecurities destroy the essential ingredient - love and commitment - for each: Carlys, transformed by marriage from mouse to miracle woman; Jill, saved through divorce; George, who needs women desperately but loves only his son; Kirk, who invests his passion in business.

Bryant wins top honors at Bad Axe Invitational

A win in the 440-yard dash and running a leg of a school-record and meet-record winning two-mile relay team Monday helped catapult

Cass City's Gilly Bryant to earning distinction as "Female Athlete of the Meet" at the Daily Tribune Champions Invitational.

Bryant teamed up with Karianne Henni, Ann Leslie and Chris Tuckey to run a 10:22.31 in the two-mile relay to shatter the old meet record time of 10:27.79 held by Harbor Beach. The time also broke the school record time (on a track measured in yards) set last year.

In addition to winning the 440, Bryant placed second in the 220-yard dash and ran a leg in the 880-yard relay team that finished second.

Bryant garnered 17 points to win the honor nipping Unionville-Sebewaing's Terri Houthoofd (15) and teammate Holly Steinbauer (14).

"We knew it would be close. But what gave Gilly an edge was breaking a meet record, because you get extra points," Cass City head coach Doug Grezeszak said.

Steinbauer took firsts in the 220- and 440-yard relays and placed second in the 110-yard dash and 880-yard relay.

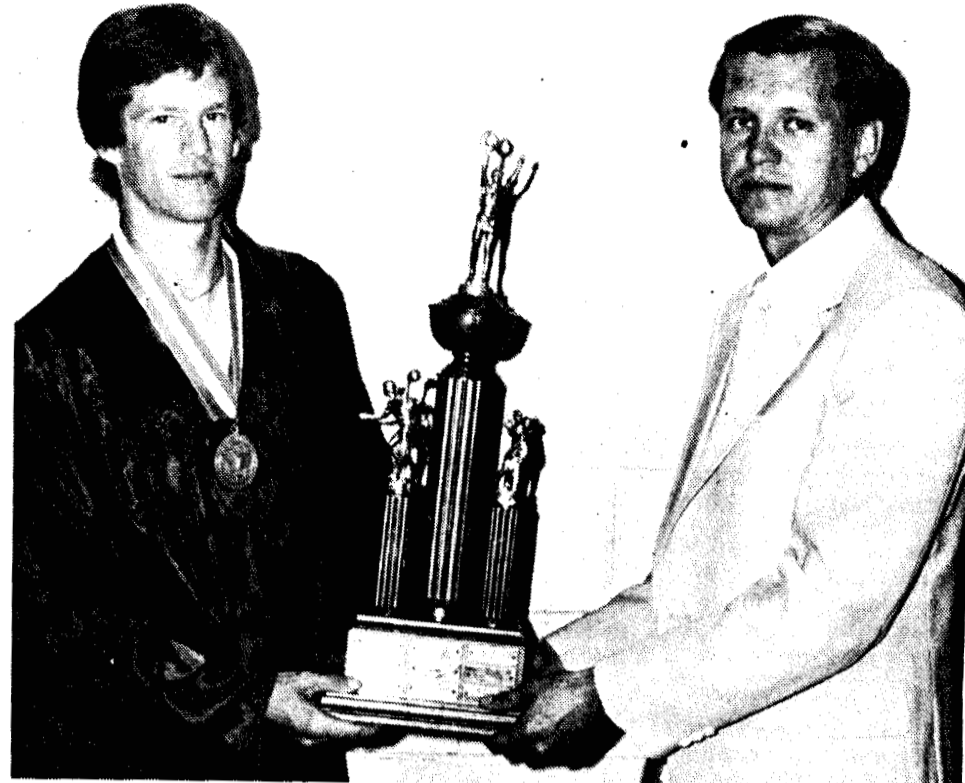

The Red Hawk girls

dominated the distance events as Henni and Chris Tuckey won the mile and two-mile runs, respectively.

For the boys' team, Tim Brown's toss of 136-7 in the discus gave him the first-place spot. Kevin Bliss had a banner day finishing first in the two-mile run and was runner-up to "Male Athlete of the Meet" Dean Fuerst of USA in both the mile and two-mile runs.

Joe Viney was second in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, and the Red Hawks' 440-yard and 880-yard relay teams finished second.

O-G loses to Eagles in last inning

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs lost their two final season games to Deckerville Tuesday night, ending the season with a 5-11 league record, and a 7-11 overall record.

The Bulldogs lost the first game 15-2. Stu Stirrett was the losing pitcher. Four Bulldog pitchers gave up six hits. Owen-Gage committed nine errors in the first game.

Owen-Gage will play Akron-Fairgrove in a pre-district game Friday at Owendale. The winner will play Deckerville at Akron-Fairgrove next Friday for the first game of the Thumb D League district championship. Deckerville drew a bye for their pre-district game.

Deckerville tops O-G in twin bill

The Owen-Gage softball team ended its regular season by dropping two games to Deckerville Tuesday afternoon. The two losses give the Bulldogs a 5-9 league record, with a 7-11 overall season record.

Susie Salcido was the losing pitcher in Owen-Gage's 11-13 loss in the first game.

"We lost it in the last inning," said coach Judy Campbell. "Boy, that ticks you off." The Bulldogs were on top 11 to 8 when the Eagles caught fire, and scored five runs off a series of singles and one double. The Bulldogs needed only one more out to end the game when the Eagles surged into the lead. Owen-Gage was unable to generate any runs in their half of the inning.

Kim Olszak and Cindy Enderle each had two singles. Dena McDonald and Shelly Ellicott each had a single and a double, and Susie Salcido had a single and a triple.

Jenny Hellebuyck was the losing pitcher for Owen-Gage in their 16-2 loss to the Eagles. Hellebuyck gave up 10 hits. The Bulldogs committed 12 errors in the game.

The Eagles were able to score eight runs in the fourth inning on a five hit attack. The Bulldogs committed five errors in the inning. The mercy rule was called in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Marcy Enderle led the Bulldogs with a single and a triple. Ellicott had a triple.

The Bulldogs will host Akron-Fairgrove Friday in a pre-district game. The game will be held at the Gagetown park at 3:30 p.m. The winner will play Deckerville next Friday at Akron-Fairgrove in the first game of the Thumb D League district tournament. Deckerville drew a pre-district game bye.

THE OUTSTANDING GIRL athlete award was presented to Julie Miller by Assistant Principal Roland Pakonen. Miller earned four letters in volleyball and was named to the all-conference volleyball team for three years. She also served as captain of the team. She participated in basketball and softball.

Loss ends Hawks' baseball season

The time was not right for the Cass City baseball team to do its impersonation of Charlie Brown.

The Red Hawks committed eight errors—including three crucial ones in the final inning—in a 12-10 loss to the Brown City Green Devils May 15. The game was a pre-district qualifying game, thus eliminating Cass City from state tournament play.

After falling behind 6-0 after three innings, Cass City finally took the lead when Dave Miller scored on an error by the Brown City shortstop to take a 10-9 advantage. Miller had driven in two runs with a single earlier to knot the score at nine.

The lead, however, was short-lived.

Three of Brown City's first four batters in the top of the seventh reached base on Red Hawk errors. Just as bases on balls can come back to haunt you, so did the errors, as all three scored in the inning to give Brown City a 12-10 lead.

The Red Hawks went down in order after Duane Wright's lead-off single in the bottom of the seventh.

Kevin Parrish suffered the loss for Cass City.

Steve Fox led the Red Hawks' hitting attack with three singles and two runs scored. Miller collected two singles.

Cass City closed out its season Friday by losing both ends of a doubleheader to Bad Axe in Thumb B Association action.

The Hatchets took the opener 8-1 and completed the twin-killing with a 5-2 win in the nightcap.

The Red Hawks finished the year in the basement of the Thumb B Association standings with a 2-12 league mark and 4-17 overall.

Hawks split with Bad Axe

The Cass City Red Hawks closed out the regular softball season with a split in a twin bill with Bad Axe Friday. The Hawks outslugged the Hatchets, 17-11, in the first game and then were buried in the second game, called after five innings, 14-4.

In the opener, Bad Axe jumped off to a six-run lead in the first inning, but the Hawks came back to win.

Cass City scored eight times in the third inning, their biggest one inning spurge of the season. Despite the outburst it took some more lusty hitting by the Hawks to salt away the game.

A key hit in the victory came in the fifth when Julie Miller cracked a triple with two mates aboard to spark a four-run rally.

Julie Smith was three for three and Shannon McIntosh, Deb Cook and Lisa Benitez each had two hits.

Yvette Hurd went the distance for the win.

It was also Hurd who took the loss in the second game. Hurd does practically all the pitching for Cass City and hurling double headers is standard operating procedure for her.

It wasn't much of a game for Cass City fans. The Hatchets went ahead with a three-run rally in the first inning and added to the margin the rest of the way.

A bright spot for Cass City, Coach Jim Fox said, was the fielding of freshman Brenda Severance, who made three great catches in center field.

The Hawks were able to garner only three hits off the slants of Betsy Herp. Lisa Benitez picked up two of them.

Vassar ends Red Hawks' 5-year reign as Thumb B champions

It happened once, but Vassar's girls' track team was not going to let Cass City repeat what it did last year at the Thumb B track championship.

Vassar, who broke the Red Hawks' 25-meet win streak in 1984 but lost to them in the league meet, snapped Cass City's five-year reign as Thumb B champs by recording a 68½-point win over the Red Hawks at Caro, May 14.

The Vulcans defeated Cass City in a battle of unbeaten earlier in the season in a dual meet.

The Red Hawks' boys' team finished a distant fourth with 47 points behind third-place Caro with 105 points. Vassar also won the boys' title handily.

"The kids gave everything they had, but they (Vassar) were just too strong for us," Cass City head coach Doug Grezeszak said.

A first-place finish by the 400-meter relay team of Ann Leslie, Jeanie Sweeney, Teri Wilson and Joann Steely highlighted the girls' day. Joe Viney was the boys' top finisher as he took the 100-meter dash with a time of :11.5.

Karianne Henni finished second in both the 1600-meter and 3200-meter runs, and freshman Wilson turned in a strong performance with a long jump of 15-3½. Gilly Bryant was just nipped at the tape to finish second in the 400-meter dash and the 800-meter relay team of Holly Steinbauer, Leslie, Wilson and Lisa Nicholas were runners-up.

Discus thrower Tim Brown turned in, according to Grezeszak, "a heck of a performance" by placing second with a throw of 135-2. Distance man Kevin Bliss finished second in the 3200-meter run and placed fourth in the 1600-meter run.

10 Hawks qualify for Class C finals

Although Cass City failed to win either the boys' or girls' team competition in the regional track meet held at Breckenridge Saturday, Coach Doug Grezeszak was pleased with the performance of his team.

We had the most people we have ever sent to the state, he said.

The team trophies were won by Unionville-Sebewaing boys and Valley Lutheran girls.

Among the boys, Cass City was ninth among the 19 schools with 22 points. The girls were second with 52 points.

won the 400-meter relay with a time of 53.2, with Leslie, Holly Steinbauer, Teri Wilson and Joann Steely running.

Qualifying with a third place finish was the 800-meter relay team with a time of 1:53.5. Running were Leslie, Steinbauer, Lisa Nicholas and Bryant.

DESPITE THIS grimacing look, Cass City's Tim Brown could only muster a fifth-place finish in the shot put at the Thumb B Association meet May 14 at Caro. The boys' team finished fourth in the team standings, while the girls placed second.

Brown trout planted in White Creek near Deford

For fishermen willing to fight their way through thick brush, battle mosquitos and wade through a soft sandy bottom, the Department of Natural Resources is doing everything possible to see that you can catch a trout on the south branch of White Creek.

Monday DNR workers planted 2,700 brown trout at 16 locations along the creek, south and west of Deford.

DNR fisheries biologist Joan Duffy said the trout, about 5 to 6 inches long when planted, should reach the legal 8-inch stream size by late this summer. In the lakes a brown trout must be 10 inches long.

Duffy said the DNR has been planting trout, browns and rainbow, in White Creek since the late 1950's. They have planted only brown trout for the past several years.

She said that DNR surveys show there are trout 11 to 12 inches long in the creek. Experienced fishermen claim that brown trout as long as 17 inches have been pulled out from the creek.

The brown trout planted Monday were brought in from the Oden hatchery located in the Petoskey area. They were planted at the following road bridges: Gifford, Mushroom, Phillips, Bevans, Clothier and Legg Roads.

Qualifying for the state were Tim Brown, second in the discus with a toss of 138 feet, 8 inches, and Kevin Bliss, third in the 3200 meter run with a time of 10:16.77.

Karianne Henni was the lone individual performer among the girls to qualify. She finished second in the 3200 meter run (12:33.59) and the 1600 meter run (5:48.61).

Three relay teams also qualified. The Hawks finished first in the 3200-meter relay with a time of 10:32.26 with Chris Tuckey, Ann Leslie, Gilly Bryant and Henni running. The girls also

Jaycees sponsor bike safety class

Thirty-three Cass City area children attended a bicycle safety class sponsored by the Cass City Jaycees Saturday at the Intermediate School.

"If we can save one life, then it was well worth it," said Jaycee President Danny Ulfig. He explained that children were instructed in the proper use of hand signals, and how to properly ride a bicycle. Bicycle brakes were checked for possible safety problems.

Michigan State Police Trooper Ron Schneider, Caro post, presented a film and spoke about bicycle safety.

Jaycee Alexander Swiderski, through AAA Insurance Company, donated three back packs and three tote bags. They were raffled to six children.

After the film, children rode through an obstacle and slalom course so they could demonstrate the proper use of hand signals.

Morel Month in Michigan

May is the biggest month for mushroom hunting in Michigan. A bulletin, "May is Morel Month in Michigan," is now available in local Extension offices.

This manual is written to help insure the safe collection of morel mushrooms for food. It is written for all collectors, whether beginners or professionals, and features many color pictures of the different morels. This bulletin also tells where the best places are to find the various types of morels.

The bulletin can be picked up at the Cooperative Extension Office, 37 Austin St., Sandusky. The cost is 40 cents.

Your neighbor says

Should vote for prison in area

What is your view on the possibility of a multi-security or medium-security prison which may be proposed to be built in Caro? "It's something that definitely has to be done. But it seems everyone wants it in someone else's territory," said Willard Dodson, 69, of 6742 E. Main, Cass City.

Dodson said the construction of the prison would bring some added danger, but being more alert to strangers and hitchhikers would curb the problem.

"There is a definite need for jobs, but it may not be the best answer for Tuscola County. The best answer may come from the vote of the people," Dodson said.

If he had to vote on the issue, Dodson said he would have to consider all the angles first, and suggested that existing prisons should increase their size.

Dodson has been a Michigan resident since 1952 and has lived in Cass City since 1972. A retired boiler-maker, Dodson is a minister at the Bad Axe Church of Christ.

Dodson was born in Winfield, Alabama, and used to write newspaper columns in the Winfield Journal on the coal mining industry.

Insect repellent

By Bill Bortel

Everyone will soon be trying to ward off attacking mosquitoes and other biting insects by slathering on repellent. Knowing how commercial products differ and the best ways to use them will increase repellent effectiveness.

Diethyltoluamide (DEET) is the active ingredient in most insect repellents on the market, and the main difference between these products is simply the DEET CONCENTRATION.

As the concentration of DEET increases, the effectiveness of insect repellents increases. Commercial products range from 10 to 35 percent DEET. Though a few repellents on the market have concentrations of up to 100 percent, studies have found that the optimum level of DEET concentration is about 75 percent.

Consumers should check the DEET concentration before buying an insect repellent, because the only other differences in the various products are the chemicals added to improve the repellents' smell and to make them more appealing to the public.

Commercial insect repellents are effective against deer flies, black flies, fleas and ticks, but people use them primarily to protect themselves from mosquitoes.

Claims that repellents don't work usually come from people who simply do not apply enough repellent for it to be effective. It is not known precisely how DEET wards off insects, but studies show that all exposed skin needs to be coated with the repellent to keep mosquitoes and other insects from biting.

Experiments performed to test repellents involved placing tape on a portion of skin and then spreading repellent over all the exposed skin. When the tape is removed, mosquitoes will land on the patch of skin that was not treated with repellent and avoid all areas that were coated.

Insect repellent tends to wash off easily, so it needs to be reapplied frequently if a person is freely sweating. DEET can dissolve plastics. Repellents may mar or damage anything they touch that is plastic, such as plastic frames for glasses, plastic steering wheels and some synthetic fabrics.

Insect repellent is not known to have any harmful effects, either through incidental ingestion or on the skin, so repellents are safe for routine use.

Wearing loose fitting, protective clothing and applying repellents to tight fitting clothing as well as exposed skin will help people survive another season of mosquitoes and other biting insects.

Expansion constant since 1953

Added departments feature new Erla's

The grand opening of the enlarged, remodeled Erla Food Center is another in a long list of renovations and improvements that have marked the growth of the corporation since it was formed.

In 1953, Cass City Frozen Food Locker was purchased by Genevieve Erla and her son, Richard. At the time, the store carried a small line of groceries and meats and one small truck was used to wholesale meat in the immediate area.

The first of a series of changes came in 1956 when the name was changed to Erla Food Center and enlarged.

Frozen food lockers were abandoned and the interior of the store was remodeled again in 1964 when an office, smoke house, sausage room, stock room and enlarged meat cutting room were added.

Although Richard Erla has retired and there have been other changes in the management, the corporation is still family owned.

We have always strived to keep up with the times and provide Cass City with the most modern store possible, said Arnold Erla.

The latest expansion includes both an interior and exterior renovation.

The entrance to the building was moved to the east middle of the building and a new front added. There is over 1,000 square feet of additional space in the store. New dairy and frozen food cases have been added. The store is now able to offer meat shoppers a choice. We cut meats to order or patrons can choose from our new self-serve department, Arnold Erla explained.

Also new is a deli department and an additional checkout counter for customer convenience.

Keeping pace with the retail division is the wholesale division which now delivers wholesale meats with a fleet of trucks to customers within a 100-mile radius.

ERLA FOOD CENTER'S most recent expansion is one of many since the company was formed when the Cass Frozen Food Lockers was purchased in 1953. The new front is part of the modernization and enlargement.

Cass City TV permit issued

It was recently announced by James Benkelman of Schwegler Associates that the Cass City Company has been awarded a construction permit for a local MMDS television channel. MMDS stands for multi-channel, multi-point distribution system. An MMDS license, which is granted by the Federal Communications Commission, permits the transmission of Cable TV programs over a microwave frequency to receivers within a 15 to 25-mile radius.

Subscribers to the service, which will be located in the Cass City area, will receive programs from four or five movie, news and entertainment channels now available only through cable hook-up or satellite dish.

Benkelman indicated that choice of channels will be "influenced by subscriber interest." "The new service should be of particular interest to those who are not within reach of cable hook-up and who do not wish to make the investment required for a satellite dish," Benkelman added.

Programs are received on a small house-top antenna and a receiver attached to the TV set. Cost is expected to be around $20 monthly. Schwegler Associates has also applied for an MMDS permit for the Caro area. The FCC has not acted on the matter yet because of other conflicting applications, according to Benkelman.

Still doing the Lord's work

Thompson remains active at 94

The last 94 years may have dulled Elsie Thompson's eyesight, but her desire to continue doing the Lord's work remains crystal clear.

"I haven't given up and sat back and twiddled my thumbs," Mrs. Thompson said about celebrating her 94th birthday May 9. "I am still doing God's work."

Throughout her life Mrs. Thompson has attended church regularly, and has served as a Sunday school teacher for more than 30 years.

Even though she no longer can drive, she still maintains a car, and has Jim Hobbs, a friend and a music teacher at Cass City Elementary School, drive her to the Faith Gospel Tabernacle, Rescue Road, Bad Axe, each Sunday. "He always seems to raise someone up to take me to church on Sunday morning," she added. Before attending the Faith Gospel Tabernacle, she was a member of the Cass City Assembly of God Church, which has since left the area. Mrs. Thompson feels that her faith has gotten the family through hard times, when others have failed. "God has brought us through two depressions, and we never had to go on welfare," she said. She added that during the Great Depression of the 1930's the family was facing hard times, and was forced to borrow money to make ends meet. "It broke just when everything was getting tough (for us)," Mrs. Thompson said about the end of the depression. "Anytime we needed help, it seemed like God has seen us through. He has been a good partner to me."

Mrs. Thompson was born in the Fairgrove area. Her father was the owner-operator of a sawmill. When she was 25 years old she married her late husband, Walter J. Thompson, an Owendale area resident. He died 21 years ago.

After they were married they moved to the Flint area. World War I forced them to move to Detroit, where Walter worked in a factory, building ships for America's war effort.

While living in Detroit, the Thompsons were able to save enough money to have indoor plumbing installed in their Flint home. It was one of the first homes in the area to have a bathroom. "That was a real luxury," Mrs. Thompson said about indoor plumbing.

They lived in the Flint area for about 10 years before purchasing a 160-acre farm in the Cass City area.

"I remember how I cried when I moved out here and found out the house was full of bed bugs," she said. "I never had anything like that in Flint."

They had lived in the house for about two years when the building was destroyed by fire. She explained they had taken their neighbors to Deford, and when they returned the house was on fire. Area residents helped carry out most of the furniture, all except the beds.

"One good thing, I got rid of the bed bugs," she said, smiling. The home was rebuilt, but before long they moved back to their Flint home. She explained that the man who originally purchased the house was about to lose ownership because he was unable to make the payments to the bank. The Thompsons purchased the house back during the heights of the 1930's depression.

Mrs. Thompson said she was unhappy living in the Flint area, and they eventually sold the house and returned to their Severance Road farm.

The Thompson family would move twice more before she and her daughter Georgia moved to her present home on Garfield Ave., Cass City. They have made their home there for nine years.

Mrs. Thompson can still recall their first automobile, a Ford Model T they bought while living in the Detroit area, and having their first telephone installed.

She pointed out that at that time a telephone was considered a luxury, not a necessity.

"Could we afford it? Could we afford it?" was the question the Thompsons were contemplating when they first had the telephone installed. "Now they have two or three. Some people even have them in their car."

The Thompsons raised three children. She has eight grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Thompson feels that eating three meals a day, and remaining active are two reasons she has remained healthy. "I never indulged," she said when asked if she smoked or drank liquor. She is a life-long member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

"I have had a good life. I can't complain," she said.

"What more could I ask for than friends?" she said about all the birthday cards she received from family and friends. "I don't want to leave this world with a single enemy."

ELSIE THOMPSON holds one of her favorite birthday presents, the religious poem "Footprints." Mrs. Thompson celebrated her 94th birthday May 9.

Jobs available to area youth this summer

More than 350 summer jobs for young adults in the area will be available through the 1985 Michigan Youth Corps program, the governor's office said last week.

The Youth Corps is aimed at unemployed men and women between the ages of 18 and 21, with a priority placement on unemployed heads of households, or who live in a house with an unemployed head of the household.

The state allocates the number of jobs available by county based on the incidence of unemployment in each county relative to statewide unemployment. Tuscola County was allocated 101 jobs. Tuscola County residents also are eligible for employment in Sanilac (83 job openings), Huron (59) and Lapeer (117) counties, which are in the same "service-delivery area."

Applications for the Youth Corps jobs were made available May 20 and can be picked up at any Michigan Employment (MESC) Job Service offices (including Caro) and Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) offices. They are also available at universities, colleges, vocational schools, high schools and Service Delivery Agencies.

Youth Corps, now in its third year, will provide 15,000 jobs throughout the state. It has provided more than 45,000 summer jobs in the past two summers, Gov. James Blanchard said.

Jury finds Wendorf guilty of assault charge

A Tuscola County Circuit Court jury found Jeffrey I. Wendorf, 26, 657 Germania Rd., Marlette, guilty of felonious assault and malicious destruction of property valued over $100 following a two-day trial.

The charges stem from a vehicle driven by Elaine Martin, Caro, while she was driving on Riley Road, east of M-24.

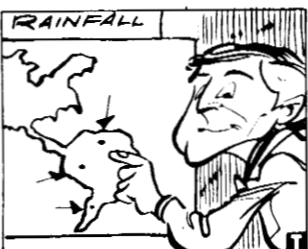

According to the prosecutor's report, Martin was driving home from working the afternoon shift at Provincial House, Cass

City. Wendorf, driving a pickup truck, followed the Martin vehicle from Cass City until she turned east on Riley Road. Wendorf then passed Martin, stopped, and backed his truck into her vehicle seven or eight times.

Martin eventually lost control of the vehicle, and while she was stopped, Wendorf got out and kicked in the driver's side window. Martin was able to flee the area, and Wendorf was arrested.

Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn will sentence Wendorf July 1. Bond continues at $50,000.

Kingston man injured in motorcycle mishap

Blaine C. Phillips, 21, 3451 Linden St., Kingston, was in satisfactory condition Tuesday at Marlette Community Hospital after suffering injuries in a motorcycle mishap Monday at 12:05 a.m.

According to the report, filed by Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy Richard Hofmeister, Phillips was northbound on Kingston Road, near Lanaway Road, when a large bug flew under his helmet shield, causing him to lose control of the motorcycle. Phillips left the road and rolled over about five times.

A Bay City man was issued a ticket for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor May 8 at 1:45 a.m.

Deputy Hofmeister reported that William E. Ricker, 41, Bay City, lost control of his vehicle and slid into a ditch on M-81, near East Cass City Rd. Ricker said a power steering belt must have broken because he lost control of the vehicle steering. Deputy Hofmeister reported he could not find any apparent vehicle malfunction.

Deputy Ron Begeman reported there were no injuries when a vehicle driven by Jill K. Seuryneck, 20, 6257 Hurds Corner Rd., Gageton, struck a vehicle driven by Dellene M. Savage, 37, 83 E. Burton St., Sandusky.

Both vehicles were eastbound on Sanilac Road, and the Seuryneck vehicle struck the Savage vehicle from behind. Savage was waiting for a vehicle in front of her to make a left turn onto Chambers Road when the accident happened May 11 at 5:20 p.m.

Deputy David Bezenah reported that Robert D. Bailey, 54, 3950 Phillips Rd., Kingston, was not hurt when his vehicle struck a deer May 11 at 4:30 a.m.

Bailey was westbound on Deckerville Road, one-quarter mile east of Plain Road, when he struck the deer.

Letter to the editor

18 protesting hospital lay-off

To Concerned Past and Present Patients of Hills & Dales General Hospital.

This past week was National Nurses Week. Hills and Dales General Hospital celebrated it Monday by giving their nursing staff of LPN's AND RN's a breakfast. Tuesday, at 10 a.m. (10) ten LPN's and (1) one lab tech. were laid off. Is this the hospital's way of saying "thank you?"

Before this lay off, meetings were held to inform us that we needed to save money. We were also informed of the new outside ventures that may be undertaken. Some mentioned to us include a catering service, a laundry, uniform shop. We were asked to make many concessions concerning our benefits and offer suggestions. Many suggestions were offered but were adamantly refused. This lay off will save the hospital several thousand dollars. This money is not going to be reinvested to upgrade the hospital or the quality of care itself. It is going to be used to finance the other ventures. These ventures as far as we know are not utilizing people already employed by the hospital. Originally we were given the impression these other ventures would be used to keep hospital employees working.

We understand with the new government regulations (DRG's) that the hospital is taking some financial loss, and we, the employees, for the past year, have voluntarily taken extra days off and have taken voluntary lay offs. We feel we are already doing our part and on top of this we are being asked even more.

How will this lay off of professional workers affect the quality of patient care? While the RN's are giving our patients excellent care, we question the extra stress this is placing on them with the loss of their "right arms."

How does the community in general feel about this? Community interest funded and built this hospital. This is your hospital and we care about you!!

18 Concerned Professionals of Hills & Dales General Hospital

proved opportunity to expand our market area, but more importantly, expand our market in a community that has demonstrated a commitment to economic growth through the attraction of new industry and reduction of unemployment. We are confident in Battle Creek's future and our ability to provide modern financial services for its citizens."

Mutual Savings, chartered in 1887, operates 32 statewide offices, including one in Cass City, employs 240 people and has over 65,000 members. Peoples, formed in 1925, has 11,000 members and employs 40 people. Both associations are members of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, which insures accounts to $100,000.

Completion of the merger is expected before Sept. 1.

Cable keglers roll into first at state tourneys

Despite being together for less than two years, and near 100-degree temperatures, a Cass City women's bowling team put on a sizzling performance at the Michigan Women's Bowling Association State Tournament in Battle Creek May 10-12.

The Cable-ettes, sponsored by General Cable Co., 6285 Garfield, Cass City, garnered a 3294 series to take first place in the six-month tournament. With only three weeks left in the tourney, the Cable-ettes have a very good chance to maintain their stranglehold on the top spot.

"If we win it, we're going to get nationwide recognition. This is just unbelievable," team member Lauri Hugo said.

The Cable-ettes, who bowl at Charmont Lanes, Cass City, topped their league average series by 554 pins with the 3294 score.

Hugo said there are only about 200 out of more than 5,000 teams participating left to try and beat the Cable-ettes' score. Ironically, the Cable-ettes beat a 3288 score posted by a team from Marlette, who had held the lead since mid-February.

After an 822 series in the first game, the Cable-ettes got warmed up and fired a 972 series in the second game.

"We were sweating bullets out there," Hugo said. The non air-conditioned confines of the Battle Creek bowling alley made the atmosphere sweltering, Hugo said.

Dorothy Sweeney's 258 in the second game highlighted the week end for the Cable-ettes, who rolled six 200-plus games. Sweeney also had the high single series with a 615.

Other members of the Cable-ettes are Pat Beecher, Florence Witherspoon and Pat McIntosh. Randee Speirs is the team's sixth bowler and did not participate.

The members rimmed the shrubs, pulled weeds and planted flowers around the marker commemorating Michigan's first Highway Commissioner.

The marker was set in 1917 to commemorate the first mile of Michigan's State Reward road built in Elkland Township in 1905.

Members working on the clean-up detail were: Jim Milligan, Maynard McConkey, Arlene Hartwick, Jack Esau and Bob Dilman.

Mutual Savings and Loan merges with Peoples Savings

Mutual Savings and Loan Association, headquartered in Bay City, has reached a merger agreement with Peoples Savings of Battle Creek. The merger, pending final regulatory approval, will create an Association of nearly $1 billion in assets and ranking 6th largest among Michigan's 53 savings and loans. The newly merged association will be known as Mutual Savings and Loan Association F.A. following conversion to a Federal charter, expected to be completed shortly.

Mutual Savings currently has an office in Battle Creek, inside a Meijer department store. Peoples operates 5 Battle Creek offices and has $100 million in assets.

Mutual Savings President, Bruce W. Cook, said, "We are delighted with the merger. It will provide improved opportunity to expand our market area, but more importantly, expand our market in a community that has demonstrated a commitment to economic growth through the attraction of new industry and reduction of unemployment. We are confident in Battle Creek's future and our ability to provide modern financial services for its citizens."

Mutual Savings, chartered in 1887, operates 32 statewide offices, including one in Cass City, employs 240 people and has over 65,000 members. Peoples, formed in 1925, has 11,000 members and employs 40 people. Both associations are members of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, which insures accounts to $100,000.

Completion of the merger is expected before Sept. 1.

HEALTH TIPS

The most common form of diabetes is a growing killer

By William C. Duckworth, M.D., Professor of Medicine Indiana University School of Medicine

When 43-year-old Henry first came to me for a physical, he had symptoms he hardly thought worth mentioning. For some time, his hands and feet had been "tingling," a sign he mistakenly attributed to poor circulation. He also had difficulty walking up a flight of stairs.

Henry had some elements in his medical history that were significant. He was 20 pounds overweight and his maternal grandmother had had diabetes. There was a good chance that Henry did as well and that his symptoms were due to diabetic neuropathy, a common complication of diabetes in which nerves are damaged and some nerve cells eventually die.

The blood glucose (sugar) test I ordered confirmed my suspicions. In fact, Henry had probably had the disease for about four years.

This case is typical of people who have Type II diabetes, the type that usually develops among adults. Five million of these people don't even know they have it. What makes this disease insidious is that the symptoms are so un-dramatic, as they were in Henry's case, and that often it is not until complications develop that someone thinks to visit a doctor. In addition to neuropathy, the complications include heart, blood vessel, kidney and eye disease, and they can be very serious.

One of my patients who had neuropathy involving the nerves leading from the heart had a heart attack he didn't even know about, because he never felt the pain. The nerves that transmit messages from the heart to the brain were so damaged by diabetes that they did not convey the appropriate pain impulses or signals.

Diabetes with its complications is the third-ranking cause of death by disease in this country. And it is on the rise -- increasing by 6 percent a year. About 600,000 new cases of diabetes were detected in 1983. At this pace, the disease could become epidemic. An individual's chances of having diabetes are high. A baby born today who lives to age 70 has a one in five risk of developing Type II diabetes.

Not only is Type II diabetes frequently unrecognized by patients; its cause also eludes scientists. We are still investigating the precise nature of the metabolic defects involved in this disease. In fact, Type II diabetes, which also is called non-insulin-dependent diabetes, may actually be a group of diseases that researchers cannot yet separate. One factor that suggests it is more than one disease is the diverse spectrum of patients. The typical Type II patient is overweight with only mildly elevated blood sugar; diet and exercise alone are usually sufficient therapy. But at the opposite end of the spectrum is the thin, severely hyperglycemic (high blood sugar) patient who usually requires injected insulin to supplement his body's own insulin in maintaining normal blood glucose and functioning.

Another high-risk factor is obesity. Between 80 and 90 percent of the people who develop Type II diabetes are overweight. The chances of developing the disease double with every 20 percent of extra weight. Age doesn't help either. People over 40 are at higher risk; in fact, 40 percent of diabetic Americans are over 65. Gender also is a factor. Females develop diabetes twice as often as males. Women who have a history of spontaneous miscarriage or who have delivered large babies -- weighing at least 9 pounds -- also are diabetes-prone. Blacks are twice as likely to get diabetes as whites, and Hispanics are five times as likely.

Warning Signs

People with Type II diabetes often experience none of the classic symptoms of the disease -- frequent urination, excessive thirst, unusual hunger, weight loss, weakness, irritability or nausea. Instead, they may develop frequent infections of the gums, skin or urinary tract; changed or blurred vision; pain or cramps in their legs, feet or fingers; cuts and bruises that are slow to heal; intense itching; drowsiness, and/or frequent fatigue. Or, they may have no symptoms at all.

bloodstream must move into the body's cells. In liver, fat and muscle cells, the hormone insulin is essential for glucose utilization. If there is no insulin or too little, or if the body cannot react to an appropriate level of insulin, then there won't be sufficient glucose in these cells. They'll starve while sugar accumulates in the blood -- producing high blood sugar, or hyperglycemia -- and spills into the urine.

In Type I diabetes, the body simply stops producing insulin. But in Type II, the body still produces some of this hormone. It may even be present in above-normal levels, but because of cellular abnormalities still not clearly understood, the body's tissues may be unable to use the insulin properly, a condition known as insulin resistance. Although no one knows why or how this happens, it appears that faulty insulin production -- too much or too little -- contributes to insulin resistance. It may be that insulin receptors on the cells don't get a firm hold on insulin molecules, or there may be a lack of response to insulin within body cells.

Who Is at Risk?

Heredity appears to play a stronger role in Type II (non-insulin-dependent) diabetes than in the insulin-dependent disease. In one study of identical twins, when one twin was diagnosed with non-insulin-dependent diabetes, almost every sibling developed the disease within the next few years. It is suspected that an inherited metabolic defect may be responsible for this tendency. Whatever the underlying defect may be, a family history of diabetes -- no matter which relative has had the disease -- puts someone at high risk.

What Is Type II diabetes? Any kind of diabetes interferes with the body's ability to convert food, especially carbohydrates, from glucose (a form of sugar present in some fruits and produced by the body from other starchy foods when they are digested) into energy. For this process to take place, glucose that has entered the

Card of Thanks

THE HOSPITAL Auxiliary of Hills and Dales General Hospital reports a very successful Tag Day May 9 and wish to thank all who worked and to those who contributed. 13-5-23-1

THE CASS CITY JAYCEES

would like to thank

Thumb National Bank
Cass City

for use of its facilities during our car wash May 11. 13-5-23-1

THE FAMILY OF Angus MacCallum wishes to thank Dr. Jeung and operating room staff, the nurses for your special care at Hills and Dales Hospital. To the Saginaw Mercy Ambulance crew, the doctors and nurses in the CCU at St. Luke's Hospital for all their lifesaving efforts. But God had a different plan for Angus who is now safely home with his Heavenly Father. His pain is over. He is now at peace forever and the joy of knowing that he is waiting for me there. Thanks to Little's Funeral Home for all their kindness and help. To the pallbearers. A special thanks to Rev. Robert Von Oeyen for his comforting words, to relatives, friends and neighbors for flowers, memorial gifts and sympathy. To all who brought food, the ladies of Fraser Presbyterian Church for the delicious meal and all who helped me during this sad time. God bless you all. Mrs. Lena MacCallum and family. 13-5-23-1

TO MARV AND JANICE Winter, a special thanks for all the help and the hall for Cathy's party. It is so hard to say thanks to one without saying to all, like the band Gary Deering, Joel Palmateer, Larry McClorey, also Cheri Crane, and Rinerd Schember for their songs. Cathy's nephew entertained with the bagpipes. Rinerd Schember also did auctioneering for our sale. Dan Bera, Betty and Art Decker sold tickets at the door while Dennis and Paul Regnerus sold pop and drink tickets. As bartenders we had Beth Brinkman, Marilyn and Dana Truemmer, Lyle Truemmer, Joan Merchant, Marion Longuski, Bob Laffer and Jack Kappen. Eleanor Truemmer, Doris and Kelli Hendrick donated their time in the kitchen. Not to forget the merchants who donated all the items to be sold in our sale. There was so much help in the selling of tickets - also everyone buying tickets and all the people that gave in donations. Thank you, Milt and Brenda Phillips. 13-5-23-1

Also at the meeting, trustees approved spending about $4,500 to control the dust on township gravel roads. Clerk Norma Wallace said they will use a diluted asphalt emulsion, which is cheaper than liquid calcium chloride. The asphalt emulsion will be applied only in front of residents' homes. Wallace said the board has not received any bids on the sale of the township owned Cultural Center. The final day to submit bids was May 13. The sale of the Cultural Center will be discussed at a future meeting.

Trustees also agreed to have natural gas service to the Cultural Center discontinued. Wallace explained it costs the township $12.50 per month to keep the gas meters hooked to the building.

jobs and more families to Caro, "the negatives will outweigh the positives." "The prison will provide a small, temporary benefit. We're crazy to get it," Anderson said.

The Caro Village Council, along with the county commission, have taken neutral stands on the issue. Anderson said that Indianfield Township, the location of the two minimum-security prisons, was the only governing body to support the group.

"We've got leaders (of the community) saying 'yes, we recognize the problem—bad guys locked up. But we'll have stable employment,'" Duggar said.

"It will be a dilemma for the people that will make the decision."

By Bill Myers Taking stock

Second of two articles

In my column last week I wrote about problems that can arise with long term family trusts.

Here's another anecdote, along the same line. One of America's leading bankers set up this Family Trust, with the best intentions in the world. On his death, a Delray Beach bank became a co-trustee of this part of his estate with the widow the other co-trustee.

There are few things in the world more useless than a co-trustee, if a bank trust department is the other "co." The bank isn't going to do anything to depart from its ancient traditions in the department. All it means is getting another signature from time to time, and a round of explanations why the trust can't be run any other way than it is.

In this case, the widow showed the list of investments to a private investment adviser. The trust assets were in two groups — (1) Money market funds and (2) Growth stocks.

Money market fund interest rates were dropping every week at that time. Growth stocks seemed silly for a woman with an expectancy of 10 or 15 years, and she thought so, too.

I want the income now, she told the bank.

When the investment adviser showed her that government bonds would provide twice as much income as these so-called 'growth stocks,' she was even more insistent.

"But we have to protect the remaindermen," said the trust officer.

By that he meant the children and grandchildren who might some day come into the trust funds.

The widow snapped, "Do you mean that government bonds wouldn't protect the children as well as these stocks you've got?"

"Well, we'd have to get waivers from all of the children that they wouldn't hold us responsible."

So in due course waivers were prepared by a lawyer, and it eventually got sent out and returned. Still later, investments were switched, so that the trust produced not $6,000 a year in income, but $11,000.

The last report we heard of the whole thing, the widow as co-trustee was seeking to get the whole trust dissolved and the money distributed to the children.

"I'll ask the court to split the bonds between the children, and they'll get the income. And we'll save $1500 a year the bank was charging me to send four checks a year, plus a lot of computer papers."

William Myers is a retired country editor and investment adviser who lives in Delray Beach, Fla.

Overweight causes problems

People who are more than 20 percent overweight have three times the risk of heart disease than those slightly overweight.

If you are overweight, ask your doctor to suggest a diet that will help you get down to your proper weight.

STUDENTS AT Campbell Elementary School were entertained by performer and Mother Goose impersonator Euni Rose at "Young Author's Day" May 15. Sixty-three students were given certificates honoring their work as "Young Authors."

Stolen car found

Cass City Police Officer Kenneth Schott reported that a vacant store building, below Helen's Beauty Salon, 6473 Main St., Cass City, was forcibly entered over the week end. According to the report, vandals entered the building by ripping a screen door, and removing hinge pins from the south entry door.

Helen Agar, owner of Helen's Beauty Salon, told Officer Schott that she had been in the building recently, and she could not see where anything had been damaged or stolen. She felt the entry took place Friday evening or Saturday morning. The vandals did an estimated $20 damages to the doors.

STOLEN VEHICLE RECOVERED

Officer Donald Miller Jr. reported a vehicle that was stolen from a Cass City residence May 11 was recovered May 16. Officer Miller reported the vehicle was found by an area resident near a gravel pit on Argyle Road, one-half mile east of M-53.

The vehicle was stolen from Gary Robinson, 20, 6778 Third St., Cass City, while it was parked in an alley while Robinson visited a friend at 4410 S. Seeger St., Cass City. The vehicle was stolen between 9:30 and 11:30 p.m. The keys were left in the ignition.

Officer Miller reported that whoever stole the vehicle broke the right rear passenger's window with a baseball bat. The bat was left inside the vehicle. Miller was able to find fingerprints on the interior of the vehicle. No arrests have been made yet.

"Young Authors" receive awards

By Wayne Kamidoi

Third-grader Christopher Chappell proudly displayed his white-covered book with a unique picture of a tree depicting the four seasons, and he had reason to.

Nine-year-old Christopher was one of 63 Campbell Elementary School students to receive a certificate of honor for outstanding work in the "Young Authors" program May 15.

"Young Authors" is a program designed to "start (the children's) creative thinking," according to Marilyn Peters, reading specialist at Campbell Elementary School.

The awards ceremony featured a pair of performances by Euni Rose, a one-woman children-oriented performer who travels the Midwest.

Rose performed two energetic sets that thoroughly entertained the students. In the morning, Rose was Mother Goose and was Revolutionary War character Yankee Doodle in the afternoon.

"It's fun for the kids, but they all walk out having learned a lesson," Detroit resident Rose said. "(My performances) teaches them how to be an audience."

About 50 to 75 percent of the students participated as "Young Authors," and it is done entirely on their own time, Peters said. The program is now five years old.

Chappell's book, entitled "The Four Seasons," contained several of his artworks and a description of the four seasons by his Cass City home.

"I had to write it a lot of times. It was hard," Chappell said in an exasperated voice. "But drawing is my favorite hobby."

Christopher is the son of Richard Paul and Susie Chappell, 4169 S. Schwegler Rd., Cass City.

The participants were judged by retired elementary school teachers on overall content, neatness, story plot and illustrations, Peters said.

Jake Lounsbury was the lone first-grader to receive a certificate.

Eric Kincaid, Amy Schelke, Scott Iwankovitch, Danette Ziehm, Sarah Krause, Nathan Mastie, Karren Khoury, Jim Hempton, Shawn Zawilinski, Diana Kocan, Matthew Kappen, Leana Edwards, Shannon Turner.
