SUPPLEMENT

VETERANS FROM the Cass City area proudly march in the Memorial Day parade Monday. Also marching in the parade were: the Cass City High School marching band, members of the boys' and girls' little league baseball teams, riders from the 4-H Junior Wranglers Club, and bicyclists. Rain evidently held down attendance during the parade and the services that followed, conducted by Rev. Harry Capps at Elkland Township Cemetery.

$700 sound system purchased by July 4 Festival committee

by Wayne Kamidoi

The purchase of a new $700 public address system by the Cass City Fourth of July festival committee was announced May 26 at an update meeting for the upcoming holiday celebration.

"We needed one badly. We always seemed to be scrounging around for one (a PA system)," festival co-chairman Dave Lovejoy said at the meeting.

Lovejoy said the sound system "that will blow your socks off" will be used in numerous areas during the festival. After the festival, the committee plans to turn the PA system over to the village for its use, Lovejoy said.

ATV RACES

The starting flag is down, according to event coordinator Dan Ulfig, on a three- and four-wheel all-terrain vehicle race at the sledding hill in Cass City Park July 4.

"We'll definitely have the racers," said Ulfig, who said many Cass City Jaycees race in an ATV circuit in the area.

The races, sponsored by the Jaycees, will replace the demolition derby held during the last two years. Ulfig said declining interest, financial infeasibility and danger played factors in its demise.

Fourteen different classes are scheduled, ranging from the 70cc class to an open class for vehicles with more than 250cc, Ulfig said. Also scheduled to compete will be "Odyssey" vehicles, which are "souped-up" versions of the four-wheelers, Ulfig added.

The races are scheduled to begin at 3:00 p.m. Racers are to sign up at noon on the day of the event. Admission will be $3 for adults, $1 for children ages five to 12. Kids under five will be admitted free for the races, which are scheduled to last about three hours.

SWEET ADELINES

With a commitment from nationally-known singing troupe the "Sweet Adelines," Lovejoy plans to kick off the evening's festivities with a "musical extravaganza."

Beginning at 5:30 p.m., a community choir concert will be followed by a jazz exhibition by the Sally Doerr Dancers. The "Sweet Adelines," a barber shop-type music group, is scheduled to provide the finale.

Lovejoy said he is also trying to line up a Shriner's brass band to add even more entertainment.

"Trying to keep the people there (at the festival) is a concern," said Lovejoy, who is hoping the festival-goers will stay for a tentatively scheduled hot air balloon launching. The balloon launching will precede the feature event of the day, a fireworks show sponsored by the Jaycees.

Things for the July 4 parade have been progressing slowly, according to coordinator Gary Jones.

After an early influx of parade entrants, Jones said he received only "about six or seven calls in the past two or three weeks."

Jones has secured 30 units for the parade already, but is looking for at least 30 more. Any group, band, float, or entertainers wishing to participate in the parade are asked to contact Jones at 872-2639 for further details.

M-53 detour in effect

Traffic carrying M-53 over the north branch of the Cass River northeast of Cass City, Sanilac and Tuscola Counties, will be detoured for widening and bridge deck replacement beginning sometime next week, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) announced.

The signed detour will direct traffic onto M-81 and Cemetery and Bay City-Forestville Roads, adding eight miles to the travel distance.

The work is estimated for completion in late August.

CURB AND GUTTER ASSESSMENTS

Four village residents living on Pine Street, between Brooker and West Streets, attended a public hearing to inform the council that they were in favor of having curb and gutters installed on their street. The council also received two letters from Pine Street residents informing them they wanted the street repairs made.

While the village will pay for the cost of having asphalt put on the street, the cost of curb and gutters, estimated at $8 per foot, will be assessed to the property owners.

The total estimated cost of the project is $32,500, with curb and gutters estimated to cost $9,380.

LaPonsie said the village hopes to complete the street by this fall. When finished, the street will be 32 feet wide.

Carl Weippert, 6351 Pine St., Cass City, told the council that he would like to see the street wider, so when cars park on each side of the road it will not be difficult to drive through.

LaPonsie explained that a 32-foot wide street is a standard width, and if they made the road any wider, trees along the sides of the street would start to show damage over the next few years. For a resident owning 50-foot of frontage on Pine Street, the estimated cost of curb and gutters is $400. This includes part of the engineering fees.

LaPonsie added that when making a driveway cut in the curb, the village will join the portion of the street to the existing driveway. "We will try to accommodate whatever is there," LaPonsie said, explaining that if the driveway is concrete, the village will join the existing driveway to the gutter portion of the road with concrete.

Residents of the Pine Street area will receive a notice of the amount due after the project is completed. They will have 90 days to pay for the project without an interest charge. After 90 days, a 10 percent annual interest charge will be billed quarterly. After three years the total assessment due, plus interest, will be placed on the residential tax bill.

The council also held a public hearing for curb and gutter assessments on Schell Street, from Doerr road, to the east end of the 880-foot long street. LaPonsie said he is not sure if the village can levy an assessment against property owners on Schell Street because funding for the street project came from a Small Cities Block Grant.

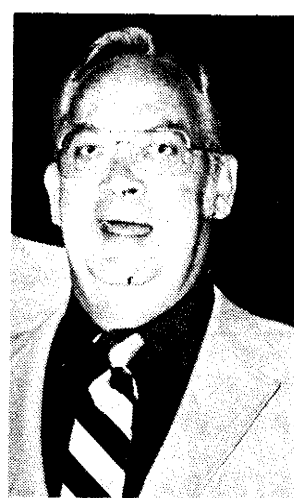

LaPonsie added that under other grant programs the village has been able to assess the owners for curb and gutters. The cost of the curb and gutters to property owners would be $8 per foot. The hearing Please turn to page 16.

Lee Rabideau

Community leader, businessman succumbs Sunday to cancer

Cass City lost one of its prominent businessmen and civic leaders Sunday when Leland (Lee) Harold Rabideau died at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe.

Mr. Rabideau succumbed after a long battle with cancer that led to his early retirement from the business community. He had been living in Port Austin.

Leland Harold Rabideau

the planning commission and hospital board.

Ken Jensen, administrator at the hospital, worked with Rabideau. He points out that "Lee Rabideau was a fine and humble human being, a dedicated member of our board of trustees, active on committees and a very people oriented person. We will miss him and his leadership a great deal.

He was born July 8, 1923, in Gagetown, son of the late George and Della Menzel Rabideau. He married Mrs. Shirley McCaslin Gracey Nov. 15, 1947, in Cass City.

He was the president of Rabideau Motors. He had served as village president and as a member of the village council for many years. He was chairman of the Cass City Planning Commission, a member of the Hills and Dales Hospital board, the D.A.V. of Caro and the Michigan Auto Dealers Association, and had served with the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Shirley; one daughter, Miss Lynnea Rabideau of Bad Axe; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Gary (Karen) Parsell of Caro and Mrs. William (Marian) Please turn to page 12.

Terry Brinkman tells how it was to be a TV game show winner

Like so many television game show viewers, Terry Brinkman could sit in his living room and easily answer questions the host asked the contestants.

But unlike most viewers, Brinkman decided to put his money where his mouth is, and become a contestant. For him, it paid off more than tenfold.

Several months ago, Brinkman, after watching his favorite game show, "The Sale of the Century," decided to take a chance, and call the telephone number to become a contestant.

"I wanted to go to California, and I thought that this was as good a way as any," Brinkman, a 1969 graduate of Cass City High School said. He would fly to California twice before he finally earned the opportunity to prove to television viewers that he could handle the pressures of game-show television. His $1,500 travel investment netted Brinkman more than $17,500 in cash and prizes during the four half-hour television shows he appeared in.

"My objective was to see if I could compete with the people on the show, and at least win one time," Brinkman explained. He felt it would take at least one win to recover his travel expenses. "It was a long shot, a gamble," Brinkman said about his chances of getting in front of the television camera.

He explained that before a contestant is chosen, he must first pass a rigorous screen test to see if he has the knowledge to answer a wide assortment of questions. On "The Sale of the Century," a contestant is not allowed to choose questions from specific categories. The questions cover several subjects. "You never know what (question) is coming at you," he said. He was also tested to see if he had an acceptable television voice, proper mannerisms, and to see if he would be camera shy.

"I was a cut up the whole time," Brinkman said about taking the screen test. "I created mass confusion." He explained that while taking the test, if he didn't know the correct answer, he would make up an "off the wall" answer to get a laugh. His easy going approach paid off. Brinkman was one of 120 persons vying for a spot on the show to pass the screen test.

Brinkman said he is indebted to Angie Cochran, a member of the production company that screens contestants, for her help during the tests. He described her as being like a "Marine drill sergeant" during the testing, demanding that he and other contestants be more outgoing, jubilant and vocal. But after he passed the screen test, she became the "most supportive person in the world," making sure that everything went as smooth as possible while he was in front of the cameras. He added that unlike the typical stereotype of what people feel show business celebrities are like, he was treated well, and most were really interested in talking to him.

Although Brinkman was chosen as a bona fide contestant, he was not selected to be on television during his first trip to California. About six weeks later he returned for his second chance.

During his first day, Brinkman waited and watched as contestants were chosen and competed during one week's shows. He explained that five one-half hour shows are taped in one day. The reason he chose to go back to California the week he did was because they were taping three weeks of shows that week. Usually they tape only two weeks' worth of shows a week. He felt the odds were in his favor that he would be chosen as a contestant.

On the second day he was the first contestant chosen from a group of about 20 people. During the week they used 10 contestants.

When he first walked onto the set, Brinkman was introduced as "the leg man from Caro, Michigan". He explained the title came from his job as a self-employed contractor. He builds grain legs that transport grain to the top of bins at local grain elevators.

During his first game Brinkman flirted with disaster, losing one-half of his $20 bankroll after he missed the first two questions asked of him. He explained that he pushed the buzzer too quickly, but he was tired of not getting a chance to answer because the other contestants pushed the buzzer before he could.

"I felt I could beat anyone there," Brinkman said about sitting in his living room and playing the game. "At home the situation is completely different. You don't have the pressure...the circumstances...the competition."

He explained the biggest fear a contestant has is having their mind go blank when it is time to answer the question. He added that it happened to him. The Please turn to page 16.

REPLAY - Terry Brinkman critiques his television debut on The Sale of The Century, which aired on local television Monday. Brinkman won over $17,500 during a four-day television career.

BACKACHE The little pain that lasts and lasts.

Back pain often starts small. Sometimes it disappears; usually it returns; often it gets worse. If left untreated, back pain can linger for years as a nagging reminder that all is not well.

Your job may be the culprit; you may sit all day hunched over a desk; you may lift heavy objects; you may be constantly bending over, caring for children. These are common causes of misaligned vertebrae of the spine and may be good reasons why you have back pain.

And because the spine is a complex system which is connected to other areas of your body, misaligned vertebrae in the spine can also be the reason for tension, stiffness, fatigue and more specifically, constipation and headaches.

Doctors of Chiropractic are specialists in back care. They can restore spinal vertebrae to their proper position, relieving pain and avoiding further complications.

"If It Fitz..."

A son's wanderings

By Jim Fitzgerald

Last month, for the umpteenth time in his 26 years, my son Nerd did something that made me angry. He quit his job to take a completely unearned vacation in San Francisco. And I asked myself how I could be unfortunate enough to have such a wandering bum for an offspring. My daughters give me splendid grandchildren; my son gives me major-league headaches.

Nerd believes in working only long enough to save sufficient money to finance a getaway. The only thing remarkable about the San Francisco trip is he got there. A few years ago he left for Los Angeles and returned home weeks later with several interesting snapshots, all taken in a Chicago motel. Most of his travels reflect this wild-and-crazy-guy attitude.

Once he toured Europe with a Chinese friend, probably because he didn't have a Jewish friend to show him around Lebanon. From

According to a recent survey, the top selling soup in American restaurants is "vegetable soup."

Germany he mailed home a pair of hiking boots because they were falling apart. The postage was $60, and the boots were probably worth $1.25.

One winter, when most bums wandered south, he set up housekeeping in a Minneapolis igloo. At first he parked cars at a restaurant but then switched to working from 11 to 7 in a Seven-Eleven store because he liked the sound of it.

It may be something in the genes on my side of the family. I thought the 11-7, Seven-Eleven equation would stand forever as the weirdest-sounding job description in the Fitzgerald clan. But I just learned what Nerd's cousin - the daughter of Terrible Jean, my much older sister - is currently doing for a living. Sheila Fitzgerald is plucking chickens on an Israeli kibbutz.

Anyway, while Nerd was in San Francisco, I received a phone call from my friend Chuck who lives in Chicago. I'm not quite old enough to be Chuck's father, but I've often thought he is the type of hardworking, career-minded son who would make a father proud.

I first met Chuck in the 1950s, when he was a high school student and I was sports editor of the local newspaper. He said he wanted to be a journalist like me. I was impressed by his earnestness, if not his judgment, so I hired him. For the next few years, whenever he could spare time from his studies, he did all sorts of reporting and also sold advertising.

That was the beginning. Chuck subsequently graduated from the journalism school at Michigan State University, worked for a couple of newspapers, and then, while marrying and fathering three children, he moved on to richer fields. Currently he is an executive of a well-known advertising agency in Chicago. And, to this day, he gives me more credit than I deserve for nudging him in the right direction.

That's why Chuck phoned last month. He'd heard that my son was jobless and wondered if he could help Nerd find a job in Chicago, just in case he wanted to revisit that infamous motel room. Chuck said he'd like to help my son the way I helped him.

When Nerd returns from the West Coast, I will tell him about Chuck's kindness. I will also have to tell him about another phone call I received, last Saturday. It was from Chuck's 19-year-old son who had suddenly dropped dead of an unsuspected heart ailment.

Last month my son took a completely unearned vacation. And I am asking myself how I could be fortunate enough to have such a wandering bum for an offspring. He delights me, partly because he does the things I didn't have enough gumption to do when I was his age. But mostly because he is alive and healthy.

And I should never forget it.

The Haire Net

It doesn't matter what the calendar says, summer officially started Monday. This is being written Thursday at the end of the winter-spring season.

Yes, summer officially starts June 21. The calendar makers have had it wrong for years. It's started now and it ends on Labor Day.

Maybe it's because that's when the kids go back to school. Certainly it isn't because of the weather.

Memorial Day usually finds the Haire tribe at Boyne City in Northern Michigan. More often than not the weather stinks. Too cold for anything but sitting around the fireplace playing Trivial Pursuit.

After Labor Day more often than not, the weather is gorgeous. Balmy. Not too hot or too cold.

Yet, after Labor Day it's only on special select occasions that there's anyone in the north country from Labor Day until the ski season starts.

The Force has to be with you to change deeply ingrained lifestyles. That's why you don't hear much these days about year-around school.

There's little doubt that a 12-month school year is more efficient. Most times the real boosters of school year-around are folks without anyone in school.

The vast majority of parents don't want to sacrifice vacation plans or work habits to keep kids in school.

There are darn few teachers who don't relish the summer months away from the classroom grind no matter how dedicated they are to the profession.

Is not impossible to change. Just nearly impossible. After all in many foreign countries schools run on a year-around schedule.

Perhaps the economic realities forced it on them. Perhaps it's just the custom.

Maybe if you asked them to vacation only during the summer it would be an imposition.

Very few of the foes of full-time schools realize the real reason for opposition is habit.

Of course, persons like you and me are free from that lure of tradition. We don't tend to want to do things just because that's the way we always did them.

I could prove that to you, too, except that my wife tells me that the car is ready for the annual Memorial Day trip up north.

Elkland firemen assist Gagetown

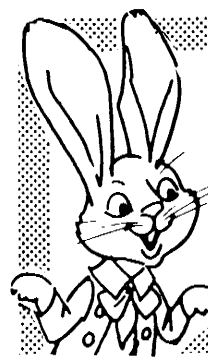

The Elkland Township Fire Department assisted the Gagetown Fire Department at a utility pole fire Sunday at about 9:30 p.m.

The fire, caused by lightning striking a Detroit Edison utility pole, destroyed the pole located near Dodge Road, about 1.5 miles north of M-81. A fuse box at a nearby residence was damaged from the electrical surge. A report on the damages was not available.

TORNADO WARNING
Elkland Township Fire Department Chief Jerome Root said that after the siren sounded for the fire Sunday night, he received several telephone calls inquiring if the alarm was to alert people about a possible tornado. He explained that if a tornado is sighted, heading for the Cass City area, the siren will be sounded continuously for about three minutes. Three short blasts of the siren indicates an all-clear.

New Jersey is the state with the highest population density - nearly 1000 people per square mile.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Northern merchants were shedding crocodile tears over the long Memorial Day week end when they said isn't it a shame that rain came and spoiled the fun?

Well, it ruins the week end for the tourist alright, but it doesn't hurt the merchants. In fact, a little rain makes the cash registers bloom. Nasty weather doesn't leave folks much to do except shop around and spend money which, judging by the crowds, they were very willing to do.

We don't know how many persons will be interested in the proposed condos that Tom Herron wants to build, but if the area is as attractive to humans as it is to wildlife, success is assured.

This week some 50 geese were spotted on the pond that will form the centerpiece of the area. On the same day several deer were grazing there, too.

We'd wager that's more wildlife than any of the hordes that trekked north saw over the week end.

That's not surprising. There just have to be as many or more deer around here than anyplace.

For a man who refuses to give up his 50-year old typewriter for one of those modern do-fangled electric jobs what is happening as I write this is as astonishing as the first four-minute mile.

What this is being written on is a machine that is supposed to eliminate re-typing. Amazing.

It's not that I'm completely sold on it, it's just that I can't stand to pass up a bargain. They are letting me use it for nothing.

Well, not really for nothing if you consider time as worth anything.

The time that it has taken to write these few words would normally be enough to fill a column and a half.

Videotaping to be used

O-G to employ 3-D child search method

By Wayne Kamidol

Although it hasn't manifested itself locally, Owen-Gage Schools have taken measures to curb the ever-growing dilemma of child abduction and runaways. Photographs of those unfortunate children have been shown not only in newspapers and on TV news broadcasts, but have been plastered on such items as milk cartons and grocery bags to make aware the bitter reality. However, those are only one-dimensional, flat images which are unable to capture a child's personality.

At a May 13 board meeting, Owen-Gage trustees approved a unique videotaping program designed to aid law enforcement officers when searching for lost or abducted children, Superintendent Ron Erickson said.

"It's basically a three-dimensional setting. If someone changes them, like cut their hair, it's hard to tell them from a flat picture," Gageton Elementary School Principal William Britt said.

According to Erickson, the "videoprinting" of a child is a spinoff from the fingerprinting done in conjunction with the Huron County Sheriff's Department a few years ago.

The idea derives from a similar program in Canton, Mass., where more than 300 parents took advantage of their school district's offer, Erickson said.

Beginning in September, parents can arrange a time and date to have their child videotaped at the school he or she attends.

"It will be just like kindergarten roundup—people can expect it to happen (year after year)," Erickson said.

At that time a two-minute videotape of a child will be produced. The only cost involved in the offer is supplying a VHS format video cassette, which can be purchased for less than $7 at most stores.

"It is very difficult to recognize a child from a flat photograph but with a videotape you can see many things (such as) the demeanor, the tone and inflection in their voice, eyebrow lift, walk and the way they carry themselves—all the things that make each child different (that) don't show up on photographs," Erickson said.

Erickson said he will devote a full page in a school newsletter explaining the program in detail. He said the taping will be done during school hours spanning about a two-day period at each school (elementary and high school) sometime in September.

"It's just not for the children (attending school). They (the parents) can bring in their two-year olds if they wish. We're trying to utilize it to the maximum," Erickson said.

The equipment to be used will be a $3,000 video cassette recorder/camera/monitor system purchased last spring by the Owen-Gage Band Boosters.

"It (the video system) is a helluva thing, so we may as well use it to its fullest," Erickson said.

Should your child be abducted or kidnapped, the videotape can loom as a valuable commodity in hopes of retrieving a missing child, according to Erickson.

"If my child were abducted, I would make a couple of copies and run them to a law enforcement agency and to a local television station. I would have to believe it would be a deterrent (to the abductor) if viewers can see the child in 3-D on their screen. (The abductor) would really have to scoot with the child to get him out of the regional area."

"We can't stop the 'crazies' entirely, but the key is to get them (the children) back," Erickson said.

Erickson expects the number of videotapes will decline as the age of the children participating increases, so the majority will be made for elementary school-aged children.

"There's unlimited potential benefit to it if a tragedy does happen," Erickson said.

Owen-Gage High School Principal Wayne Wright said. "The question came up 'could older kids (use it)'? Yes, they can."

Obviously, occurrences of missing children in rural areas is far less than in urban areas, but the danger still exists.

"It doesn't happen here too often, but when they go elsewhere, like into metropolitan areas, they (rural parents) don't know the rules," Erickson said.

"If it's just one case (of using a videotape to help locate a child), it's worth the effort," Britt said. "I hope we don't have to use it."

Even if your child is not lost and the videotape is not used to help locate the child, the videotape has other advantages.

"... Wouldn't this be nice to have, so you can see your children move up in age? You'll be able to have a two-minute movie—a historical review of your child," Erickson said.

Prison escapees arrested

The Saginaw City Police Department has apprehended two prisoners who escaped from Camp Tuscola, a minimum security prison located at Wahjamega.

The two prisoners, Scott Harris, 22, and Ricky Truss, 23, both escaped from Camp Tuscola May 3. Their escape prompted an investigation of two officers for a possible breach of security at the prison.

According to Saginaw Police Lt. Craig Beins, Harris was captured May 19 on the corner of Fourth and James Streets by police officers. The department learned about the whereabouts of Harris through a tip. Harris did not resist arrest. He was also charged with possession of marijuana.

Truss was arrested May 23 after a police officer recognized him in a vehicle. Police tracked the license plate of the vehicle to Truss's girlfriend's residence, and apprehended him. Truss did not resist arrest. Both men were taken to the Saginaw County Jail, and have been transported to the South-eastern Michigan Prison, Jackson.

Both men will be charged with escape from a prison, which carries a two-to-five year prison term.

Camp Tuscola Director Michael Flintoff said that two guards who have been investigated for a possible breach of security are facing a disciplinary conference next week. He refused to name them.

The investigation stems from the escape of Truss and Harris. According to Flintoff, the pair escaped sometime between noon and 4:10 p.m. Prison rules require a prisoner count every two hours.

Since Camp Tuscola opened earlier this year, five prisoners have escaped. All but David D. Bane have been apprehended. Bane escaped

May 23. The most recent escape was by Richard Plasecki, 23,

Bay City, who was apprehended 45 minutes after he escaped.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

Like most people, I have a dream about what I feel would be the ultimate job. To me it would be writing with a Hemingway flair about my favorite sport, fishing.

Several attempts at writing a story about life on the Big Two-Hearted River have suddenly ended when it came time to describe how Nick stalks a trout. My biggest problem is, I am a lousy fisherman.

I find it difficult to describe the finer points of casting a hand-tied fly downstream, because I have never been able to master the techniques required to use a fly fishing rod. If I can't make the perfect cast, dropping a tasty-looking morsel below an overhanging tree branch, how can I write about it? In my defense, I continually keep practicing my hobby.

Last week a neighbor and set out to earn our fame in local fishing lore by catching the largest brown trout in White Creek history. Armed with a map from a local fishing expert, we headed into parts unknown, searching for our elusive prey. After bouncing down several miles of Novesta Township's finest gravel roads, we reached our destination, the first X on the map. It looked ideal, a quiet, babbling area of the creek.

But alas, there was a "fly" in the ointment. A "no trespassing" sign halted our approach.

My neighbor, with all his country boy charm, tried to convince the farmer's wife that we were truly the nicest guys in town, and we just wanted to spend some quiet time fishing. Two minutes later we were heading for the second X on the map.

To get there, we had to leave the beaten path, and cut through an "unimproved road" on state property. Since my old beat-up car wasn't running too well, I was driving my wife's car. I was a little apprehensive about heading down the sandy trail, but it looked good, at first. About half-way through the area, the nice trail turned into a brush infested track that a deer would have a hard time getting through. Before I knew what was happening, we found ourselves stuck in the only wet spot in Tuscola County. It took about 15 minutes of gear-grinding, clutch-slipping work before the little front-wheel drive car finally pulled itself out of the mud. We decided to look for a more civilized area.

Our next stop looked good. The quiet surface of the creek was constantly being shattered by the ripples of trout feeding on insects. Within moments those insects began feeding on us.

Fifteen minutes, and 200 mosquito bites later, we drove to the last X on the map.

It was Mecca for the novice trout fisherman. The narrow stream had a sand bottom, open banks, and most importantly, the sight of fish darting through the water.

After about 30 casts, I hooked my first, and only, fish of the day, a small brown trout, close to legal size, but still too small for the frying pan.

I am sure that Hemingway had to crawl before he walked, but how many miles will I have to put in before I catch enough for a fish dinner, let alone a full chapter.

OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED at a meeting of the Zonta Club of Cass City Tuesday, May 21, at Charmont. Installation was by Betty Krueger, front right, District 15 governor. Man injured after swerving to avoid deer

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy James Compo reported that Daniel L. Watson, 27, 6254 Chapin Rd., Deford, was injured when he lost control of his vehicle while attempting to miss a deer, and struck three small trees.

According to the report, Watson was eastbound on Bevans Road, one-quarter mile east of Burman Road, when the deer jumped out in front of him. Watson applied the brakes, and swerved to the right, causing him to lose control and go into a ditch. While sliding sideways, his vehicle struck three small trees on the side of the road.

Watson was taken to the Marlette Community Hospital following the May 21, 7:50 a.m. accident. The hospital refused to release any details about Watson's condition.

Deputy Patrick Finn reported there were no injuries in a May 22 two-vehicle accident near Unionville.

According to the report, a truck driven by Phillip J. Mathewson, 40, 17 S. Kingston Rd., Deford, was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Bruce A. Vandemark. Vandemark, 18, 3267 W. Ackerman Rd., Unionville, told Deputy Finn that he did not see the Mathewson vehicle that was stopped for a stop sign at the intersection of Colwood and Dickerson Roads.

The report states the Vandemark vehicle left 105 feet of skid marks in an attempt to stop.

Vandemark was issued a citation for failure to stop in an assured and clear distance. The accident happened at 1:05 a.m.

Deputy Compo reported that a vehicle driven by Jeanne A. Browning, 36, 2502 S. Phillips Rd., Kingston, struck a deer May 22 at 6:45 p.m.

Browning was northbound on Cemetery Road, one-quarter mile south of DeLong Road, when she struck the deer. Browning was not injured in the accident.

Caro woman charged in shooting of ex-husband

A 35-year-old Caro woman has been arrested and charged with assault to commit murder, and a felony firearm charge following the May 21 shooting of her ex-husband.

The woman, Sally J. Sharp, 128 First St., Caro, was arrested by Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputies, and officers from the Caro Police Department within two hours of the shooting. Law enforcement officers first learned about the shooting from the Caro Community Hospital, after the wounded man, Jerry L. Sharp came in for treatment of a gunshot wound to the back. He was shot at about 10:45 p.m. at a home on Murray Road, about five miles east of Caro. Sharp, 35, 1015 Turner Rd., Caro, was released from the hospital two days later.

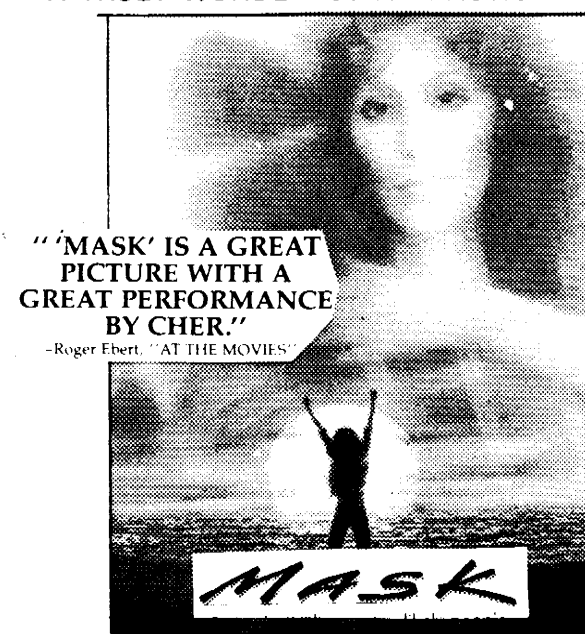

Sally Sharp was arraigned May 22 before Tuscola County District Court Judge Richard Kern. She posted a $25,000 bond and was released from the county jail.

Assembly joins athletics with academics

by Wayne Kamidoi

As hard as it may seem, Cass City High School had its first-ever all-school awards assembly May 17 -- and it was met with nothing but kudos.

In the one-hour and 15-minute assembly, nearly 200 different outstanding students in both the academic and athletic fields were recognized for their performance.

"I was real impressed with not only the quality of the assembly, but the attitude of the kids in the crowd," high school counselor Curtis Cleland said.

Cleland said a major advantage of the assembly was recognizing the outstanding students to the underclassmen.

"What we're hoping those kids are saying is 'Hey, isn't this neat. When I'm a senior, I hope I can be getting up there and getting an award,'" Cleland said.

Small pins were awarded to students for outstanding work in each academic department, their involvement in student activity groups and special services, such as volunteer tutoring, Cleland said.

In the past, athletics used to have a separate awards assembly held in the evening to honor its achievers.

"The problem with the awards at night was a lack of attendance (by the athletes)," athletic director and assistant high school principal Roland Pakonen said.

All varsity athletes were honored at the assembly, while special recognition went to all-conference selections and most valuable players in each respective sport. Also honored were Kevin Bliss, the winner of the Paul Smarks trophy for outstanding male athlete, and Julie Miller, the outstanding female athlete selection.

"It was a good deal. The kids were able to be recognized by their peers," Pakonen said.

Pakonen and Cleland both agree the assembly should become an annual happening.

"My thought is, it will be (annual) unless the students want it changed," Cleland said.

The idea for the assembly derived from a pair of Cass City students, Barb Root and Jeanne Marshall, according to Pakonen.

"It started at a student request. They'd seen other schools (with a similar assembly) and were impressed," Cleland said. "They did rather extensive work and presented it (a plan) to (school administrator) Russ Richards, who later modified it."

Faculty members Bob Gengler, Daryl Iwanovitch and Don Schelke were also involved in the planning, Pakonen said.

"We were disappointed by the parent turnout," said Cleland, who hopes for more attendance next year. "We know parents want to see their sons and daughters get awards."

Among the presentations was the announcement of scholarships and awards granted to the following graduating seniors:

--Terri Leino - Taylor University President's and Merit Scholarships, Rediger Educational Grant and a Detroit Free Press Academic All-State honorable mention selection.

--Carol Lockard - MSU Award for Academic Excellence, ACT Scholarship from Milligan College, Milligan College Presidential Scholarship and National Merit Scholarship Commended Student.

--Jon Garety, Andrea Nieboer, Angela Nieboer and Anne Polk - CMU Board of Trustees Scholarship.

--Julie Smith - Cass City Business and Professional Women's Scholarship and Lion's Club Scholarship.

--Tim Kappen - Cass City Business and Professional Women's Scholarship and Walbro Corporation Scholarship.

--Kevin Bliss - Julia Murray Scholarship from the St. Pancratius Church and Walbro Corporation Scholarship.

--Dana Zdrojewski - Julia Murray Scholarship from the St. Pancratius Church.

--Jim Osentoski - Oakland University Student Life Scholarship and Rawson Foundation Scholarship.

--Jim Schmaltz - Oakland University Student Life Scholarship and WMU Academic Achievers' Scholarship.

--Becky Severance - Cass City Business and Professional Women's Scholarship and NMU Board of Control Scholarship.

--Barb Root - Alma College Board of Trustees Honors Scholarship.

--Cathy Britt - McCauley Scholarship from Mercy College.

--Robert Wrona - Lake Superior State College Board of Control Scholarship.

--Kim King - Northwood Institute Grant.

--Jeanne Marshall - MSU Award for Academic Excellence.

Vandals damage village building

Cass City Police Officer Kenneth Schott reported that vandals did an estimated $300 damage to the Arts and Crafts building located in the north end of the Cass City Village Park. Officer Schott has determined the damage was done sometime during the evening hours of May 26.

According to the report, vandals pulled eaves troughs away from the building, broke a window, and reached through the broken window and cut and stole a telephone receiver cord. Inside the men's bathroom a urinal was broken.

Humming birds

Before starting your next diet, consider the appetite of a hummingbird. In a single day, a hummingbird may consume more than half its total body weight in food and eight times its weight in fluids, says National Wildlife magazine.

Cass City Retired Persons group met May 9 at the Lutheran fellowship hall with 18 members and three guests present.

President Marion McClorey called the meeting to order. Rose Worstell led the salute to the flag and "America" was sung in unison.

Louise Yuer, a new member, was welcomed into the club.

Theda Seeger showed films of trips to the Painted Desert, Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, Cliff Dwellers and other interesting places.

Lillian Hanby, Myrtle McColl, Rose Worstell and Marion McClorey are in charge of arrangements for the June 13 meeting. Blood pressure readings will be taken at 11:30 a.m.

Offer Polka dance lessons

Sanilac area residents will have the opportunity to roll out the barrel by taking Polka lessons at the 4-H Fairgrounds. Mrs. Dorothy Warner is coordinating four lessons to be held June 9, 16, 23 and 30. The lessons will last from 1:20 p.m. and will take participants through basic and more advanced steps.

A $2.00 donation per lesson is requested. All proceeds from the lessons will be used to pay for the new dance floor. Payment in advance is requested.

Mrs. Warner is also willing to teach polka dancing to groups either at the fairgrounds or at their regular meeting place. She can be contacted at 648-9808.

Sign-ups for the Cass City Babe Ruth league will be held Monday evening at Cass City Recreational Park, Lee Hartel announced this week. All boys between the ages of 13 and 15 are eligible to participate.

25 YEARS AGO

Thirty-five were present Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bartle were hosts to the monthly meeting of the Golden Rule Class of Salem Evangelical UB Church. Devotions were given by Miss Frances Diebel and George Dillman presided over the business meeting. Leslie Severance, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Severance of Decker, was awarded a 4-H Scholarship. Leslie will be studying Animal Husbandry at Michigan State University.

At the Cass City Village Council meeting, village employees' wages were discussed. The committee appointed to study wages, Lee Rabideau, B.A. Calka and Andrew Bigelow, made a tentative recommendation to the council that wages be boosted from $1.55 to $1.60 an hour. Spokesman for the employees was Ed Anthes who said that they wanted 10¢ per hour.

An increase in prices and a new director will be among apparent changes when the public pool opens in Cass City. Gone will be the free swimming period. Richard Carroll will replace Arthur Holmberg as director.

Mrs. Gladys Auslander, Mrs. Wilfred Turner and Mrs. Bruce Kritzman attended the annual Extension Achievement held at St. Joseph's Parish Hall in Sandusky.

35 YEARS AGO

The reorganized West Elkland 4-H club held its first meeting at the W.E. Martus home Wednesday. The club leaders are Mrs. Martus, Mrs. Ed Golding and Mrs. W.J. Donnelly. There are 14 members enrolled.

Mrs. Zora Day, a teacher for 30 years in the Cass City Public School System, has decided to retire. She has taught kindergarten, first and third grades. Hawks qualify for Friday's district with win over Devils

by Wayne Kamidoi

Offense seems to come easy for the Cass City softball team as evidenced by its 10-8 come-from-behind pre-district game victory May 21 over Brown City.

However, keeping their opponents off the scoreboard has been another story for the Red Hawks this season. And that's one of the biggest problems they face heading into the Class C District Tournament Friday at home.

"We've got a team where we have to score six or seven runs to have a chance to win," Cass City head coach Jim Fox said. "Our pitching is not one of our strongest points."

The Red Hawks, 5-10 in the Thumb B Association and 7-13 overall, will host Marlette at 4:00 p.m. Friday in a first-round game. Thumb C Association champion Unionville-Sebewaing will tangle with Reese on an adjacent field in the other first-round matchup.

The winners are scheduled to meet in the district championship game at approximately 6:00 p.m. Friday.

"We've got a shot (to beat Marlette). It's a one-game season from now on," said Fox, whose team split a doubleheader with the Red Raiders earlier in the year.

The Red Hawks qualified for district play with a Jekyll-Hyde win over Brown City.

Green Devils' pitcher Amber Ford held Cass City hitless and struck out eight batters in the game's first four innings.

In the meantime, Brown City roughed up Red Hawks' hurler Yvette Hurd for four hits in the first two frames to take a 4-0 lead.

But then, according to Fox, "the dam broke."

Scoring three runs in the fifth and five more in the sixth, Cass City batters got nasty and took an 8-5 after six complete innings.

Consecutive singles by Brenda Severance, Deb Cook, Shannon McIntosh and Lisa Benitez keyed the fifth-inning surge. In the sixth, it was Benitez again delivering the big hit -- a two-run double. Julie Miller followed Benitez with a double of her own for an RBI.

"Things looked pretty grim. We were real uptight at the start, but a couple of bunts and hits got us started in the fifth," Fox said.

After Kelly Deering and Julie Smith, who both singled, scored runs in the seventh to pad the CC lead to 10-5, the Green Devils produced a mini-scare.

Brown City had scored three runs to cut the lead to 10-8 and had a runner on first with no outs, but Hurd settled down to retire the next three hitters in order to seal the victory.

O-G drops final game to Vikings

Owen-Gage baseball players hung up their spikes Friday, after losing to the Akron-Fairgrove Vikings in a predistrict game. Reid Goslin was the losing Bulldog pitcher in the 8-12 loss.

Goslin allowed 11 hits. The Bulldogs committed 10 errors in the game. The loss gives the Bulldogs a 7-12 overall record, and a 5-11 league record.

"We're looking forward to next season," said assistant coach Jim Glidden. He pointed out that some of the eighth grade students this year are showing some promise as being good, solid baseball players. The 7-12 record was an improvement over last year's 4-12 record.

In the Friday afternoon game, Goslin led the Bulldogs with a single and a triple. John Shope hit two singles. Tom Jeffery had one single for the Bulldogs' five hit attack.

Junior High Hawks win 14 dual meets this season

Combining to win 14 dual meets against no losses and capturing a pair of invitational championships, the Cass City Junior High boys' and girls' track teams ended another impressive campaign.

The boys took first-place honors in the season-ending USA Invitational May 20 while the girls were team champions at the May 6 Cass City Invitational.

Dennis Dadacki highlighted the boys' season by breaking junior high records in the 75-yard dash (:08.15) and the long jump (18-4).

Darlene Monroe set a pair of records in the 55-meter low hurdles (:09.9) and the 60-yard low hurdles (:09.4). Clearing the bar at 4'9", Cindy Powell established a new mark in the high jump.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Comment spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bain of Drayton Plains. Mr. Bain is in poor health at home. The Comments also visited Mr. Comment's sister, Mrs. Irene Grappen, a patient in the Cardiac Intensive Care Unit in Pontiac General Hospital.

Deacon and Mrs. Lambert Kuhr of Rochester announce the birth of a new grandchild, a six-pound, eight-ounce boy, born April 3. Parents are Don and Dana Kuhr of Fennville.

After a 14-day hospital stay, Lawrence LaPratt is resting at his home in Caro.

Tuesday, May 21, the Elmwood Extension Group sponsored a bus trip to Chequamegon for lunch and the old home tour. Among those on the outing were Justine Jantz, Agatha LaFave, Gerry Carolan, Helen Stock, Elma Miklovich, and Mary and Alma Wald.

Y2 Craig Carolan spent a seven-day leave with his family, the Francis Goslins, and attended graduation ceremonies at Owen-Gage High School where his brother, Reid Goslin, was among the graduates. Craig's assignment with the Navy has been aboard the USS Mt. Whitney at Norfolk, Va. While the Mt. Whitney is in dry dock, upon returning from leave, he is aboard the Nassau. Kirk Carolan of Mt. Pleasant also attended the graduation.

After attending ceremonies in Lawrence, Kan., where their son Mark received his doctorate, Mr. and Mrs. Don Schwartz returned Monday, after having some delay with plane reservations because of the United Air Lines strike.

Myrtle Wilson Gray, a former resident of Gagetown, died Thursday at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility, Caro.

With the death of Alfred (Pete) Langlois last week, St. Agatha Parish lost one of its oldest members. He was one of the last to have taken part in the volunteer labor that built St. Agatha's. Some of those attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Langlois of Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Proulx of Lapeer and Arthur Rocheleau of Detroit. A grandson, Ted Balzer of Unionville, did an original reading at the funeral.

Mrs. Julie Lopez hosted an open house featuring a buffet lunch after commencement Thursday evening, in honor of her daughter Tina. Tina's brothers, Joe of Millington and Paul of Pigeon, were among the 75 relatives and friends at the party.

Aura Beaudon and Emma Belanger were callers Friday afternoon at the home of Gerry Carolan and Bea Langlois.

BEAUTIFICATION

In their continuing effort to beautify the environment, several ladies of the Gagetown Methodist Church and ladies of St. Agatha's held cleaning bees during the past month and the Over the Hill Volunteer Garden Group cleaned the little village park and planted petunias, donated by the Women's Study Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Faye Davis of Flint paid their Memorial Day visit to the St. Agatha Cemetery and were callers of the Harry Comments.

Mrs. Shirley Lenhard accompanied her sister, Dolores Schiavone of Saginaw, and their mother, Gertrude Kimmel of Caro, as they left early Saturday morning to visit until Monday with Jim, Donna, Chad and Tara Lenhard in Maryville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Hunter and Ann of Southfield spent the week end with Miss Mary O'Rourke and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Comment.

Mrs. Gerry Carolan received word Friday of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph (Mary LaPratt) Belanger. She was 92 and a resident of a nursing home in Detroit, a sister of the late Louisa Wood. Lena Rabideau and Mabel Clark are among the other surviving nieces and nephews.

On their way to the funeral of relatives in Ubyl Friday, Angus and Madelyn McEachin of Kalamazoo visited the Doug Comments and were overnight guests of the Eugene Comments.

Paul and Andy Hunter spent the week end with Mrs. W.C. Hunter and Deb. Mr. and Mrs. Les Clark of Kinde visited a few days in Owosso, OK., for the graduation of a granddaughter.

Ignace Paderewski, one of the greatest concert pianists of all time, was also premier of Poland.

Church film on women in Fla. prison

The Cass City Missionary Church will show a motion picture release of International Prison Ministry of Dallas, Texas, entitled "Honey, Your Mama's in Prison."

The film is a unique look at the importance of the family and the tragedy of family break-up as seen through the eyes of mothers who have been imprisoned for murder, assault, trafficking in drugs, forgery and embezzlement.

It was filmed inside one of the largest women's correctional facilities in the United States, Florida Correctional Institution, Lowell, Fla. The entire prison population of 650 inmates was involved in the making of the 45-minute documentary as were the officers and staff of the institution. Family members of some of the inmates were also interviewed.

International Prison Ministry, producer of the film, is a non-denominational organization whose principal work is providing free Bibles and books to prisoners in over 6,000 prisons and jails in the United States and Canada.

The film is free to the public and will be shown at the Cass City Missionary Church, 4449 Koepfgen Rd., Sunday, June 2, 7:30 p.m.

New books at the library

BETSEY BROWN by Ntozake Shange (fiction). It is 1957, and a boisterous, caring atmosphere usually prevails in Betsey Brown's St. Louis home. Music by Bo Diddley and Charlie Parker resounds through the house while Betsey's doctor-father, Greer, her mother, Jane, and Jane's mother, Vida, tend to the four Brown youngsters and their visiting cousin. But Betsey is restless. She yearns to don nail polish, kiss her beau without getting scolded by Vida and flee from this raucous family so she can "be somebody." Meanwhile, Betsey and the other children are being bused to white schools. Vida and Jane doggedly oppose integration; Greer advocates it. When he plans to take the children to a demonstration at a "racist" hotel, Jane, incensed that Greer would risk their safety, leaves him.

BREAKING WITH MOSCOW by Arkady N. Shevchenko (non-fiction). Shevchenko was a Soviet diplomat at the UN riding the crest of a meteoric career when, in April 1978, he renounced his role as staunch defender of Russian foreign policy and sought asylum in the U.S. Besides explaining the reason for his shocking actions (disaffection with the Communist system in general and with manipulative colleagues in particular), Shevchenko offers a complete autobiographical portrait, a fascinating view of world affairs over the last 30 years, and enlightening profiles of the prominent Soviet leaders under whom he served — Brezhnev, Andrei Gromyko, Anatoly Dobrynin, etc.

New Videos at the library are: Mr. Mom, Big Red, Romancing the Stone, Rear Window, Splash and Chariots of Fire.

Obituaries

M. Derengowski rites scheduled

Mrs. Martha Derengowski of Cass City died Sunday, May 26, at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a short illness.

She was born July 29, 1920, in Paris Township, Huron County, daughter of the late Peter and Victoria Makoski Ulfig. She was married to Stanley Derengowski June 8, 1946, in Detroit, and came to Cass City in 1961. She was a member of St. Pancratius Catholic Church of Cass City and its Women's Council.

Mrs. Derengowski is survived by her husband, Stanley; two daughters, Mrs. Delbert (Charlene) Krueger of Decker and Mrs. Bill (Gloria) Sattelberg of Cass City; seven grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Stanley Briole of Uby, and two brothers, Clemence Ulfig of Ruth and Raymond Ulfig of Cass City. One son, Robert, three sisters and three brothers preceded her in death.

A prayer service and rosary were to be recited Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Little's Funeral Home. Funeral mass will be conducted Thursday at 11 a.m. at St. Pancratius Catholic Church, with Father Julius A. Spleet, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in Novesta Cemetery.

Hannah Grifka dies in Ann Arbor

Services were held Friday for Hannah R. Grifka, 2, Vassar, who died Tuesday, May 21, at Mott's Children's Hospital, Ann Arbor, after a long illness.

She was born Nov. 5, 1982, in Jackson, daughter of Duane and Helen (McEachin) Grifka.

Surviving are her parents, Duane and Helen;

one sister, Heather; paternal grandparents, Henry and Bertha Grifka, Uby; maternal grandparents, James and Delphine McEachin, Sheridan Township; paternal great-grandparents, Michael and Agnes Grifka, Uby, and maternal great-grandparents, Peter and Cecilia Gorkowski, Filion.

Services were at St. John's Catholic Church, Uby. The Rev. Patrick O'Connor, pastor, and the Rev. Cornelius McEachin officiated.

Burial was in St. Columbkille Cemetery, Sheridan Township.

McDonald rites held Tuesday

The long futile battle with cancer ended Saturday for Mrs. Catherine McDonald of Cass City, just 15 days after the community rallied to her aid with a benefit dance that raised $7,000.

Although obviously weak, Mrs. McDonald was able to greet her friends for a brief time at the benefit.

Many of her friends from widely scattered areas of Michigan saw her in what proved to be her final moments outside of the hospital.

She died at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw where she was transferred after the benefit.

She was born May 26, 1933, in Sheridan Township, Huron County, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hector and Mary MacMillan Ross.

Miss Ross was united in marriage to Mr. Carl Gohsman Feb. 27, 1954, in Cass City; he died Aug. 18, 1962. April 18, 1964, Mrs. Gohsman was married to Mr. Richard McDonald in Cass City where they made their home.

She was a member of St. Pancratius Catholic Church of Cass City and its Altar Society.

Mrs. McDonald is survived by her husband, Richard; five sons, Bradley Gohsman of Okemos, Scott Gohsman, Mark Gohsman, Gary Gohsman and Randy Gohsman, all of Cass City; two daughters, Lori Gohsman of Riverside, Calif., and Bonnie McDonald of Cass City; five grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Florine Fox of Redford and Mrs. Roy Jeffrey of Detroit, and two brothers, Mr. Donald Ross of Hazel Park and Mr. Edward Ross of Northville, MI. One granddaughter, Stephanie, preceded her in death.

A prayer service was held Monday at 8 p.m. from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral mass for Mrs. McDonald was conducted Tuesday at 11 a.m. from St. Pancratius Catholic Church with Father Julius A. Spleet, pastor, officiating.

Interment was in Elkland Cemetery, Cass City.

O-G girls victim of no-hitter

The Owen-Gage girls' softball team lost their final game of the 1985 season without getting a hit in the 9-1 predistrict loss to Akron-Fairgrove Friday.

Jenny Hellebuyck, the losing pitcher for the Bulldogs, scored Owen-Gage's only run by stealing second, third and home. Hellebuyck was walked to set up the score.

Susie Salcido relieved Hellebuyck of the pitching duties in the fifth inning. Bulldog pitchers walked four Akron-Fairgrove batters.

Fourteen Owen-Gage batters struck out during the game.

The Bulldogs finish the season with a 7-12 overall record, and a 5-11 league record.

Cass City cyclist escapes serious injury in crash

A 21-year-old Cass City man was treated and released from the Hills and Dales General Hospital after his motorcycle collided with a vehicle that made a left turn in front of him.

According to the report filed by Officer Donald Miller Jr., of the Cass City Police Department, Ronald G. Czekai, 7279 Elmwood Rd., Cass City, was riding his motorcycle southbound on Hospital Drive, when a northbound vehicle driven by Ralph L. Retherford, 32, 4646 Hunt St., Cass City, turned left in front of Czekai. Czekai was unable to stop and struck the Retherford vehicle. Czekai was taken to the hospital by the Cass City Ambulance Service. Retherford was issued a citation for failure to yield when making a left turn. The accident happened May 22 at 5:00 p.m.

Police Chief Gene Wilson reported there were no injuries in a two-car accident May 22 at 7:55 p.m. According to the report, Scot A. Bostick, 18, 2106 Elmwood Rd., Caro, struck a vehicle driven by Peggy C. Ulfig, 33, 7145 Milligan Rd., Cass City.

Both vehicles were westbound on M-81, near Doerr Road, when the accident happened. Ulfig was waiting for a vehicle in front of her to turn left into a private drive. Bostick was unable to stop in time and struck the Ulfig vehicle. No citations were issued.

Chief Wilson reported that a vehicle driven by Joseph W. Szarapski, 20, 5485 Kelly Road, Cass City, struck a legally parked vehicle owned by William Merchant, 6067 Cemetery Road, Cass City.

Szarapski was backing out of a private driveway, on Main Street, near Weaver Street, when he struck the Merchant vehicle. The accident happened May 23 at 8:20 a.m. No citations were issued.

Officer Dave McComb reported that Sunday's heavy rain caused a two-car accident on Main Street at 8:45 p.m.

According to the report, both vehicles were eastbound on Main Street, when a vehicle driven by Patrick Kelly, 28, 339 South House Road, Sandusky, attempted to switch from the right lane into the left lane. As Patrick Kelly was switching lanes, he was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Randy Kelley, 30, 6655 Third St., Cass City.

Randy Kelley told officer McComb that he was unable to see Patrick Kelly's left turn signal because of the rain. There were no injuries in the accident.

HEALTH TIPS

Endometriosis, possible causes and cures

Any women of child-bearing age can be affected by a troublesome condition called "endometriosis." No one really knows exactly what causes the disease, but we do know that if it is not diagnosed and treated, it can lead to severe pain and infertility. Luckily, most women with this condition can be treated effectively.

Endometriosis is when a normal body tissue functions in the wrong place. When a woman menstruates, the blood-rich lining of her uterus is shed along with menstrual blood. In endometriosis, one widely-accepted theory is that small amounts of the uterine lining and blood may back up into the fallopian tubes. The tissue then travels outside the tubes and becomes attached to places like the ovaries, the outside of the tubes, uterus, bowel, and other parts of the pelvis.

During a woman's menstrual cycle, the tissue outside the uterus responds to a woman's hormones the same way the uterine lining does by growing and becoming rich in blood. During the menstrual period, the tissue outside the uterus has no place to flow. The body responds to this abnormal condition by trying to reabsorb the blood. It becomes inflamed around the pieces of tissue, and then scars over.

This situation occurs every month with the outside tissue repeatedly swelling, bleeding, and scarring. Sometimes the scarred patches may break open during menstruation and spread new patches of endometriosis to other parts of the pelvic area. The scarring and inflammation caused by the disease can block tubes and ovaries and cause infertility.

Although any woman may be susceptible to the disease, there is now some evidence that the disease may run in families. Because pregnancy and birth control pills both alter the growth of the uterine lining, they may protect women against the disease.

There are certain signals you should look for. Increasing discomfort and cramps during your period, or a sharp pain deep in your pelvis during intercourse could be signs of endometriosis. If you notice discomfort in your lower urinary tract or lower bowel just before, during, and just following your period which then subsides between periods, or any of the other symptoms, let your doctor know.

One treatment for endometriosis is the use of hormones to slow the growth of the uterus lining and, therefore, the growth of the disease. If you are being treated with hormones, you will not be able to become pregnant during the treatment but may be able to after treatment is stopped.

Surgery also is used to treat endometriosis. The surgery may consist of just removing the patches of endometriosis to removing part or all of the reproductive organs. This would depend on the extent of the disease, the patient's desire to have more children, and her age.

If you are faced with surgery, you should discuss the options carefully with your gynecologist before you agree to any surgery.

New seatbelt law 'will pay for itself'

What is your view on the law passed by the state legislature to go into effect July 1 requiring mandatory seat belt use?

"To some people it seems quite drastic," says Jo Ann Brown, 4451 N. Jacob Rd., Cass City, "but in the long run, as far as bodily safety and lessened insurance rates go, it will more than pay for itself."

Brown is an X-ray technician at Hills and Dales Hospital, 4675 Hill, Cass City, where she has been employed for nearly 25 years.

"People always seem to fare better when they're wearing their seat belts, at least through what I see (at work), especially with facial and head injuries," Brown said.

"About half the time," said Brown laughingly when asked how often she wears seat belts.

After the law goes into effect, Brown said she will try to remember, "but it's a matter of forgetting or on short stops where you don't even think about putting them on."

Brown is married to Arthur Brown and has five children.

Frog population in danger

Frog's legs a favorite? An estimated 200 million Asian frogs are killed each year for European gourmets. According to National Wildlife's Interna-

Township should keep interest from taxes

Regarding the action of our Cass City School Board at their last meeting, as reported in the Cass City Chronicle, issue of May 23, 1985.

Township property taxes are collected by the townships at date starting December 1 and ending the following February 14 of each year. Until that money is collected from the property owner, the money itself belongs to the taxpayer, and is his responsibility to make it available by a set date.

Now when the taxes are paid, the township becomes responsible and is custodian of these funds until the time of disbursement, by law, to various local government agencies. In truth the tax monies belong to the township until dates of disbursement. Therefore, I believe the townships are entitled to any interest that might accrue during this short time, and the school district can start collecting their interest when it is turned over to them.

It would seem from the report, that the Cass City School District is reaching a little too far out for funds and desperately trying to scrape the very bottom of the tax barrel.

Increased ethanol use to help farmers

By Bill Bortel

The Environmental Protection Agency decision to remove 50 percent of the lead in gasoline by July 1, 1985, and 90 percent by January of 1986, will create a dramatic increase in the demand for alternatives, octane enhancing additives, to replace lead.

One of the best options to accomplish this is ethanol, which is produced from renewable feedstocks, such as corn. In 1984, domestic production of ethanol reached nearly 500 million gallons, consuming the equivalent of approximately 200 million bushels of corn. The fuel ethanol business has invested more than a billion dollars in production facilities, and created thousands of new jobs.

The National Corn Growers Association has officially adopted as its top priority the conversion of one billion bushels of grain into ethanol by 1990. Meeting this objective would mean a four-fold increase from current ethanol production levels, and the use of roughly 10 percent of the nation's corn crop in meeting 50 percent of the demand for octane enhancers in motor fuel.

The use of fuel ethanol provides several benefits in addition to the octane enhancing role, not the least of which is a new and significant market for U.S. produced corn.

Joe Sweeney, president of the Michigan Corn Growers Association committed the state organizations' support as well. "What a challenge," he said. "This clearly is the kind of new and expanding market that could really help boost corn utilization, for the long haul."

Sweeney continued, "This opportunity also points out the need for the corn check-off program. Research, development, and promotion are all needed to insure the maximum use of corn in this effort!"

The proposed Michigan corn check-off is a voluntary program of 1/8¢ per bushel, on corn sold for grain.

A referendum on the program is tentatively set for mid-July.

Letters to the editor

LPN protests hospital cuts

Mr. Editor,

The employees of Hills and Dales General Hospital are not a cold bunch of union members whose only concerns are a pay check and fringe benefits.

Nurses are special people in that we deal with human beings who have been placed, by some unfortunate circumstance, into our care. We become involved with these people's lives the moment they come through our door. We deal with pain, depression, anger, dying and death.

Many times we leave the hospital racking our brains to make sure we have done everything possible for our patients. Often, long after our shift has ended, we call back to the hospital to check on someone we've cared for. You see, we don't have an 8 hour job, except by our time cards.

We try to juggle our patients needs, doctor's demands and the administration's expectations all at the same time. Frequently we do not have time for breaks or meals. We don't close for week ends or holidays, nor do we receive extra pay for these.

The union members have been charged with refusing to negotiate on their fringe benefit package which has been declared "too big." Eleven people were laid-off, supposedly because of the refusal by the unions to open their contracts, when in fact, the layoffs occurred before the unions had even voted on this matter.

Hospital employees have not refused to negotiate. A wage freeze was offered that would save approximately $85,000.00. We offered to switch to a less expensive insurance company. An offer to negotiate on the proposed insurance package was made. The employees have been taking voluntary time off for several months.

Our benefits consist of Blue Cross for full time employees. Part time may purchase it at a rate dependent upon hours worked. P.D.O.'s are earned by hours worked and are used for sick pay, vacation pay and week-end and holiday compensation. We also have a "very modest" pension plan.

The cut in benefits the employees are being asked to take is in itself too much, but the close-minded attitude of the administration makes the request truly unbearable.

Respectfully,
A laid-off "non-union member"
Glenna M. Spencer LPN

INTEREST FREE LOAN

Five village residents offered to loan $7,500 to the village so an asphalt surface could be applied to the commercial alley south of Main Street, between Brooker and West Streets.

In a letter, the five residents, Donald Ball, Roger Little, Duane Chippi, Ray Armstead Jr., and B. A. Calka, informed the council they would be willing to loan the village the money, interest free for three years, if they agreed to the project. The council accepted the offer.

Under the terms of the agreement, the village will perform the necessary grade work to prepare the area for the asphalt surface. Donald Ball, who presented the offer to the village, said that he has received a bid from an asphalt firm for the total price of $7,500.

The village will pay back the five residents over the next three years, with the first payment to be made in 1986. Work is to begin on the project as soon as possible.

In their letter to the council, the residents stated the asphalt surface will reduce the village's maintenance costs, improve traffic conditions, and eliminate dust problems.

OTHER BUSINESS

Trustees agreed to a request from the Cass City Rotary Club to allow them to sponsor a one-day circus in the village park. The Rotary Club requested a 300 by 300 foot area to accommodate the circus, scheduled for July 10.

Dave Erla, a waste water treatment plant employee, was awarded a certificate from the State Health Department on completion of a course for pump maintenance.

FINANCED BY civic organizations and the village, 17 trash containers along Cass City's Main Street were installed last week at a cost of about $1,400. Department of Public Works employee Eldon Stoutenburg puts the finishing touches on a container in front of Schneeberger's, 6588 Main.

For Muscular Dystrophy

Set benefit race in Kingston

Marathon runner Jim Finlayson has more than paid his dues with blisters and bunions on his "big feet." But naming a road race after him may mend his pains for the time being.

The Kingston Area Jaycees will sponsor the 1st Annual Jim Finlayson "Big Foot" 5.2-mile Road Race June 8 to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy.

The race is named after Finlayson, a well-known runner from the Kingston area who has raced in the Boston Marathon among others.

"This has been in the works for a long time. We're hoping to get 250 runners," Jaycees President Richard Lance said.

Plaques will be awarded to the overall male and female crossing the finish line first, while medals in 10 male age divisions and six female age groups will be presented. Specially-designed T-shirts will be given to all the race contestants.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

For Sale.....$5,000
Cost.....$78.49

This was the head on an ad in The Wall Street Journal for Franklin Savings, a savings and loan outfit in Omaha, Kansas.

I was suspicious, because often these gimmicks have a catch.

The $78.49 you deposit now becomes $5,000 if you leave it there 40 years. Then there's a table (reprinted below) for amounts you deposit if you want to leave it for shorter periods, and still get $5,000.

The accounts are insured by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation, up to $100,000.

It's a plan the equivalent of a zero-coupon bond. Assuming the savings and loan is insured, as advertised, then the government is protecting you. Next question: What's the interest rate, figured over the life of the deposit?

I was pleased to find, on checking the figures in my own bond calculator, that the rate was liberal, indeed. Here's the table with the rates I computed:

Deposit	You Get $5,000 in:	Actual Rate
$78.49	40 yrs.	10.66
116.29	35 yrs.	11.05
179.16	30 yrs.	11.41
312.03	25 yrs.	11.41
543.44	20 yrs.	11.44
946.46	15 yrs.	11.41

Assume, too, that the money is not subject to being paid off ahead of schedule — "called," in other words. You'd better read the fine print on that.

If all these things are in your favor, then there's the advantage of being able to deposit relatively small amounts, compared to buying zero-coupon bonds.

The interest is taxable and has to be figured for each year as you go along.

You'd avoid this, though, if the owner was not liable to tax, such as a child or a pension fund or someone in a low tax bracket.

Not long ago in the Boca Raton and Delray Beach News, there was splashed across the top of page one some dire predictions a half century out. One in particular intrigued us: By 2035, every hour of the day, one species would become extinct.

Here's our hope list for the first half-day:

1. Mosquitoes.
2. Sand fleas.
3. No see-ums.
4. Flies.
5. Little red ants.
6. Big red ants.
7. Crab-grass.
8. Snail darters.
9. Gung-ho environmentalists.

In one of his market letters, Eliot Janeway had a couple of syntax errors which I chided him about. One of his phrases was to the effect that some politicians were "soft-peddling" the deficit.

He replied: "Soft-peddling, however, I think is ok unhyphenated."

Janeway probably didn't have the advantage, as I did, of having a pianist mother who early on explained the derivation of the term "soft-pedal."

The noted columnist and author continued, "It is good to know that you are reading me for substance as well as for spelling. We do our best with spelling, but I am afraid for the sake of our country that we've done too well for comfort with our predictions."

William Myers is a retired country editor and investment adviser who lives in Delray Beach, Fla.

Brinkman wins on TV game show

question was to name the ranch the Cartwrights owned in their popular television series. "My mind went blank." He knew the name of the ranch, the Ponderosa, but he couldn't think of it. "Nobody, regardless of how (relaxed) they look, is totally comfortable."

Brinkman was able to win three times, which qualified him for four television shows. The shows were all taped during the same day. Between each show he had about 15 minutes to change into another suit of clothes.

When asked what his secret to success was, he replied, "I went to school in Cass City." He later jokingly added the only reason he received his diploma was because Art Holmberg, then principal of Cass City High School, "didn't want to see me come back for another year."

Brinkman also attended Central Michigan University for three years as a business administration student.

The first game Brinkman played ended in a tie, with Brinkman and another contestant each having $35.

Brinkman correctly answered the tie breaking question: What is the Spanish name for Holy Faith, which is also the capital city of New Mexico? "Santa Fe," Brinkman answered. "Thank God for Mrs. Shaw," he said while watching the game on a video tape Monday evening. Mrs. Leone Shaw was Brinkman's high school Spanish teacher.

In addition to winning about $13,000 in cash, Brinkman also won a four-day, three-night trip to New York, a video camera and a cutlery set.

Brinkman's television debut was Monday. Thursday (today) morning will be his last show.
