Officials close to charging Terrey

Tuscola County Prosecutor G. Scott Stermer said he is "close" to having enough information to charge a 45-year-old Emmett man in the robbery of the Kingston State Bank.

Stermer explained he has to interview a few more witnesses before deciding if he has enough evidence to file bank robbery charges against Michael L. Terrey, 45, 3892 Connors St., Emmett. Terrey has been charged with the Oct. 24 armed robbery of the Capac State Savings Bank, Allenton, by the St. Clair County Prosecutor's Office.

Because of the similar methods used to rob the Kingston Bank, St. Clair County Sheriff's Department Det. Robert Quain feels Terrey robbed the Kingston bank, and two other St. Clair County banks last year. In all robberies, the bandit wore a Band Aid or a fake scar. The bandit used an automatic pistol at all four banks. An abandoned vehicle was found within 1 1/2 miles of each of the robbery sites.

"At this point in time we are not ready to charge the guy," Stermer said, adding that he would not want his trial to interfere with St. Clair County court proceedings. "If they felt it wouldn't interfere, I wouldn't wait."

Following a Sept. 10 preliminary examination before St. Clair County District Court Judge Daniel J. Kelley, Terrey was bound over to Circuit Court. No trial date has been set. Terrey has been unable to post a $25,000 bail.

Det. Quain said he first suspected Terrey of being involved in the bank robberies while investigating an insurance fraud case against him. Quain explained Terrey, then owner of the Yale Insurance Agency, was under investigation because he took $200 from a Yale couple for a homeowners insurance policy, but failed to turn the money or the policy in to the company. Terrey has since sold the insurance agency.

During the investigation Quain learned Terrey had been doing "some heavy gambling" at Atlantic City casinos, and may have needed additional money to pay off some debts.

Quain said employees from the banks that were robbed last year picked Terrey out of a six-man lineup as the man who robbed their banks.

During a three-month spree, about $25,000 was taken in four different robberies from three banks in

After millage defeat

Reductions sure in county services

Because Tuscola County residents rejected a millage increase request from the county commissioners last week, the end result will probably be a loss in more county funded services.

"We really haven't done any serious long range planning," county commission chairperson Donna Rayl said after the 1.5-mill request went down to defeat 2,194 to 2,491. "We were so busy getting ready for the election... Now we know what direction we have to plan for."

Rayl said she couldn't be specific on what programs the commissioners may put on the budget cutting block until they begin work on the 1986 budget next month. "Anything that isn't mandated... those programs will be in jeopardy," Rayl said.

Rayl explained the state requires the county to fund departments such as the clerk, treasurer, register of deeds and several other courthouse offices, but is up to the county to determine how much funding the departments receive. This year the county has laid off eight employees to reduce budget expenses.

As an example, Rayl pointed out, employees in the clerk's office are "struggling to keep up" with the work load since two department employees were laid off. The commissioners are waiting to see how the new courthouse computer is going to affect courthouse operations before any staffing changes are taken into consideration.

"We have had the cooperation of department heads and most elected officials," Rayl said. "I don't see how we can cut back any further in these mandated offices."

Some of the non-mandated areas the county totally or partially funds are veterans affairs, cooperative extension service, animal control and the sheriff's department road patrol.

Rayl pointed out she would "hate to see" cuts to the cooperative extension service and the road patrol. This year the county allocated about $10,000 less to the cooperative extension service than last year. The sheriff's department funding has been reduced by about $50,000 of what it was originally allocated at the start of the year. Sheriff

Paul Berry said most of the $50,000 came from the loss of two deputy positions.

"We're not going to cut any services from now until the end of the year," Sheriff Berry said, explaining he has enough funding to keep operations at their present level until the end of 1985. "What's going to happen when I submit a new budget to the board? I don't know."

"If the money's not there, I will have to cut down on the scope of my operation, and the people are going to suffer," Tuscola County's top lawyer said. He explained in the early 1950's the department did not have 24-hour road patrol. "If we have to go back to no road patrol at night, we can do it, but I would hate to," Berry pointed out he is able to keep a patrol car on the road, or available for road duty, all the time, but he does not have as many cars on the road as in previous years.

Berry added that because the jail is a state mandated operation, he must keep enough jail staff on duty to run three shifts, regardless of what other cuts must be made. He said he is presently operating the road patrol and jail with a "bare bones" staff.

To help make ends meet, this year commissioners reduced funding to the county health department and road commission by $75,000 each. County library funding was cut by $20,000 this year.

After last week's millage defeat, the third in just over a year, Rayl said she didn't "see any need" to ask county voters to approve another increase this year. "I've gotten the message on what the people want." At the 1984 August primary and again at the November general election, voters rejected two millage increase requests.

Rayl was optimistic that voters would approve the increase request last week. "I thought it would be a squeaker, but I thought it would pass."

"I don't have any more ideas," she said about trying to win a millage election. "Maybe they (the voters) feel the county is offering. Please turn to page 16.

Student transfers headache for board

The transfer of students from Deford and Evergreen Schools to Campbell Elementary School continues to be a problem for the Cass City School Board.

Since the start of the school year, several applications for transfers to Campbell have been approved. Monday night at the regular meeting of the board at the high school two more requests were granted.

The problem with the transfers is that class sizes at Deford and Evergreen are about 25 per teacher with several teachers teaching two grades.

The students transferred into Campbell in the third and fourth grades join classes with 28, 29 or 30 students.

Although the transfers will not be an added expense to the district, the board is wondering if a tightening of the rules will be necessary because of Campbell class size.

It's likely that a policy proposed at the meeting that will require that all student transfers within the district be accomplished before school starts will be passed at the October meeting.

Because the transfers of other students were approved, the board okayed the transfer of Alfred Connolly from Deford to Campbell.

The request was granted because of health problems of Mrs. Norma Connolly that sometimes left her nine-year-old alone after school. Two older sisters now attend Campbell and he would be cared for by them when they all return home together.

A request for a transfer from Evergreen to Campbell for Dale Kaak was approved because the parents both work and there is no one home when he gets out of school.

A survey revealed that five students who live in the Evergreen district and six students who live in the Deford district attend Campbell school.

TEACHERS APPROVED

Director Dave Lovejoy presented the names of 11 teachers for the fall adult high school staff and they were approved by the board.

Lovejoy told the board that he considered the staff to be excellent and considered the school to be fortunate to secure them.

Lovejoy also was given another job by the board. He will teach school a half day in addition to his duties as director.

He teaches in the morning and works in the community education department afternoons and evenings. Normally, he said, his work day ends at about 10:30 p.m.

The teaching job is for one year only, Supt. Donald Crouse said, and he is paid half of a teacher's salary for this work in addition to his pay as a director.

Also approved was a half-time remedial reading post for Cathy Cooper and the contract for assistant high school principal Russ Biefer for one half the school day. Marian Binder was granted a leave of absence for a year and will be rehired for any vacant position for which she is qualified in 1986-87.

Finally, in another action concerning teachers, the pay for substitutes was increased from $40 to $45 per day unless the teacher works 15 or more days. After 15 days the rate is $55 per day retroactive to the first day worked.

MORE MONEY

The school will receive a special grant from the State because class size in kindergarten and first grade in the system do not average over 25 students.

The payment will be $8.35 for all the students in the system. Cass City's enrollment on the official count is expected to be somewhere around 1,700 students which means an added $14,000 for school operation.

The board also qualified for an additional $28 per student for meeting state mandated curriculum offerings. The school also qualified for this payment last year.

OTHER BUSINESS

Four bids were received for interest charges on $1.08 million of tax anticipation notes from the school. Low bid was Thumb National Bank and Trust of Cass City and Pigeon.

The low bid was 5.24 percent. Bids ranged to a top of 6.02 percent.

The school calendar was updated to list Oct. 16 as Huron Inservice day for which there will be no school and Oct. 21 for Tuscola Inservice when there will be no school in the afternoon. A parent-teacher conference the evening of Dec. 5 is scheduled. The time will be decided by a vote of the teachers, but Supt. Crouse insists that the three-hour session be the same at all five schools.

CHARLES CRAMER, director of the Caro office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, and 11 other office employees will be looking for work when the office closes Sept. 30.

Business slows at MESC office

Business at the Michigan Employment Security Commission, Caro, has been getting slower and slower during the past few weeks. Soon it will come to an end.

Caro branch Director Charles Cramer said the slowdown is not because workers aren't seeking new jobs or filing for unemployment benefits. It's because people know the office will close at the end of the month.

"People who are getting laid off are going to other branches," Cramer said. "If they get laid off (and sign up in Caro) they are going to end up getting transferred to another branch anyway."

The Caro branch is one of 22 MESC offices that are slated to close Sept. 30. MESC Director Richard Simmons estimated by closing the 22 offices they can reduce the 1986 fiscal budget by $6.5 million.

"The sad thing is we were so involved in the community," Cramer said. "So many people relied on us." He estimates last year the Caro office helped 9,000 persons with their employment problems. Cramer explained the Caro branch did more than just hand out unemployment checks. They put people back to work.

Cramer said that people who are looking for a new job are given a validity aptitude test to determine their interest and job skills for different types of work. From these tests he is able to determine the type of work an individual is capable of performing, and would be happy doing.

"We've been testing heavily here," Cramer said. He is still planning to test about 300 individuals yet this month.

"It's been really working out good... We have finally been able to send employers qualified workers, and (now) boom, down the tubes," Cramer said. He added that by matching employers with qualified workers, he has been able to place a lot of Tuscola County workers in jobs in Saginaw, Bay City and Flint, as well as for local firms such as Walbro and Evans Material Handling, Gagetown.

Tom Haughton, general manager for Evans, said when the Caro office closes it will be an "inconvenience" for the firm. He explained MESC did the employment screening for the firm, which made hiring a lot easier and cut down on the number of people stopping in the office to apply for a job.

"We've gotten some very good people through that program," Haughton said. He added the firm would probably go through the Bad Axe office for future employment screening.

Cramer said most Tuscola County residents will drive to Bay City, Saginaw or Bad Axe to sign up for unemployment benefits and job service testing. He isn't optimistic about future job service testing for the area unemployed.

"I doubt with the staff up there they will be able to handle it," Cramer said about the Bad Axe branch. Cramer is still encouraging local employers to stay with MESC screening programs for future hiring. He added it would be "sad" if employers stop using the service because their tax dollars fund the operation.

"The proof's going to be in the pudding," Cramer said. "Are people going to be willing to drive that far? It's a long way to make un- Please turn to page 16.

"If It Fitz..."

Emily's day

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Here, it's for you," Emily said, handing me her shoe. It was embarrassing. Just a few seconds earlier, I'd been pushing a Goodyear tire with Evita Adora stuffed inside it, out of sight, and now I was talking into a shoe. We were in a park, and strangers could see us.

Wherever we go, unless it's snowing, Emily takes her shoes and socks off. This was a horribly humid day, and she also wanted to shed her shirt. I hesitated because I wasn't sure her mother would approve of her romping topless in public. I told Emily about my doubts.

"Give me a break," she said. "I'm only a little kid." And I'm only a grandfather. The shirt came off. Adults who play with a three-year-old should always play by the child's rules. It is healthy exercise for the imagination. I'd rather stretch my world than my muscles any day.

Several years before Emily was born, there was a TV sitcom starring a spy whose right shoe was a phone. Her parents say Emily never saw "Get Smart" in reruns, so I guess she noticed for herself that a shoe is shaped something like a phone.

Emily answered the shoe almost before it rang. Holding the open side of the shoe against her chest so the caller couldn't overhear, she asked me if I wanted to talk to my wife. I grabbed the shoe. We'd been in the park for two hours and I was more than ready to go home. I figured this was my chance to be devious.

"You say we have to come right home because dinner is ready?" I said into the shoe. "OK, we're on our way."

"Give me that shoe," Emily interrupted, and snatched it from my hand. "We can't come home right now, Grandma," Emily said with her nose under the Velcro strap, "Evita Adora wants to swing some more."

Evita Adora is a Cabbage Patch doll. When people ask what the doll's name is, Emily always heads off the inevitable second question by saying: "Evita-Adora-she - came - with - that name."

Anyway, before that day, neither Evita Adora nor Emily had seen a swing made the old fashioned way — out of a car tire. Evita Adora was especially pleased because her hands are small and she has a tough time holding on to the chains while being pushed on a modern swing. She rode snug and safe inside the tire and didn't have to worry about falling.

And that's why, on Sept. 4, 1985, several people went home from the playground next to the Belle Isle Zoo and told their incredulous families that they'd seen a crazy old guy pushing an empty tire and talking into a small shoe.

It isn't always just Emily, Evita Adora and me. Sometimes Michael James comes along, with me pushing him in Emily's stroller. Michael James is the size of an average six-month-old baby and is always fully clothed in the latest infant fashions. People we pass in the park often smile kindly at the grandfather and his two pretty grandchildren.

Or they gasp if they're looking when Emily instructs me to carry Michael James because she is carrying Evita Adora, and I pick him up with one hand, by the head.

But even though Michael James is only a doll, I'm not always careless of his physical well-being. Whenever he's in the car, for instance, I fasten his seat belt. Otherwise, Emily refuses to go with us, and that wouldn't be any fun. I'd rather leave home without Karl Malden and everybody else in the world.

Senior Citizen movie time

Friday at 1:30 p.m., area senior citizens are invited to attend the monthly Movie Time at the Rawson Memorial Library, Cass City.

This month the library will feature the 20-minute movie, "Legacy for a Loon," the story of the behavior and life history of a common loon. The movie was filmed at Squam Lake, New Hampshire, the filming site of "On Golden Pond."

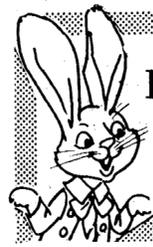

Also featured will be "Eclipse Over Siberia," a 27-minute feature about a total solar eclipse over Siberia.

The third movie will be "The Notorious Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," a 25-minute feature about a gambler and his favorite betting animal, a frog.

The movies are presented to senior citizens without charge. Punch will be served.

CARL WEIPPERT'S garden produced this 22 1/4-inch long cucumber this summer, with the help of special seeds. Also grown from the seeds were 14-inch long string beans, and several three-pound tomatoes were harvested from six-foot tall plants.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire
(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Short story: JoAnn Wiles, rural Cass City, said, no, I don't have any children or close relatives with cystic fibrosis. Why, then, did she agree to be chairman of the drive this week was the natural question. The answer: "Because I was asked." Every community can use a few more like that.

Did you hear about the two ladies that trekked all the way to the Black River Country Club last week to play golf and when they arrived were told that they were a week early? Far be it for this column to tell on them but their initials are Mary Rabideau and Nelle Maharg.

To many in Michigan George Perles, Michigan State's football coach, was unknown before he took over the reins at East Lansing three years ago. But to Les Ross and the crew that worked at C.R. Hunt many years ago, Perles is no stranger. They knew him when... when he was a student at MSU and spent the summer in Cass City weighing gravel while working for the Michigan State Highway Department.

If you took a man on the street poll everyone would know (especially in a rural community) that the number of farms is decreasing. It's not so sure that these same folks would know that the same situation prevails in all small businesses, including publishing. That thought crossed my mind when a notice of a public auction sale of the Wolverine Publishing Company (Sandusky Republican-Tribune) crossed my desk. The assets are being sold for back taxes.

Mailboxes - gas stolen from area residents

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy James Compo reported mailboxes and Shopper's Guide boxes were stolen from four River Road residents Sept. 9.

The four mailboxes, with an estimated value of $50 were taken sometime before 10:30 p.m., when Joseph F. Santos came home and noticed that his mailbox was missing.

In addition to the mailbox stolen from Santos, 6404 River Rd., Cass City, mailboxes and Shopper's Guide boxes were stolen from Jack Wallace, 6464 River Rd.; Alexander Robles, 6394 River Rd., and Ed Hill, 6444 River Rd., Cass City. No arrests have been made.

In addition to the larceny of mailboxes, three Cass City residents had gasoline stolen from their vehicles last week.

About $15 of gasoline was stolen from a vehicle owned by Timothy D. Jewett, 6557 Elizabeth St., Cass City, Sept. 7. Also that night an undetermined amount of gasoline was stolen from Margaret Remsing, 6558 Elizabeth St., Cass City. Sept. 9, about 10 gallons were stolen from a vehicle parked at the Robert H. Groth residence, 4138 S. Seeger St., Cass City. No arrests have been made.

Joslyn sentences two men to probation

Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Joslyn sentenced a 17-year-old Millington man to two years' probation after he pleaded guilty to larceny in a building.

Judge Joslyn also ordered Kevin G. Crosby, 17, 5238 W. Millington Dr., Millington, to pay court costs of $150 and fines of $150. Crosby was originally charged with breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny. Charges against Crosby stem from his involvement in the June 17 theft of gas, gas cans, tools, tool boxes and a chainsaw from Thomas Beaulieu, 5344 Swaffer Rd., Millington.

Crosby was ordered to pay restitution of $20.62 to Beaulieu.

In other Sept. 9 court action, Joslyn sentenced Donald F. Tedford, 44, 5685 Briarwood, Millington, to three years' probation on two charges of felonious assault.

The charges stem from an Aug. 21, 1983 attack on LaVina LaLonde with a hammer. Tedford pleaded guilty to the two counts of felonious assault July 3, 1984. He was originally charged with assault with great bodily harm, less than murder, and assault with a dangerous weapon.

The court sentenced Tedford to a one-year delayed jail sentence Sept. 17, 1984.

In addition to the probation sentence, Tedford was ordered to pay a $300 fine and $300 court costs. He was also ordered to take daily treatments of antabuse, a drug that makes a person ill if he consumes alcohol.

The Haire Net

It is bad when the guy that went to jail for a couple of years for his negligence in a fatal auto accident tried to sue the estate of the survivors for contributing negligence after he was released.

It's the pits when injury victims sue doctors or good Samaritans for trying to help out during emergencies.

That's bad, but this is worse.

The other day someone sued a major league ball club because of injuries received when a foul ball ripped into the stands.

Sue baseball? Next we'll be attacking motherhood, apple pie and the flag.

That's not the worst of it either. A jury recently awarded damages for the injury received in the stands.

Admittedly, I don't know any of the facts in the case decided, but I can't imagine any circumstance where it's reasonable to pay a person injured by a foul ball in the stands.

Needless to say, the verdict is being appealed.

No one forced the injured person to buy that ticket to the game.

Certainly there is a risk when you enter the stands to see the game. Less than the risk taken to drive to and from the game, but a risk nevertheless.

Life is full of risks. The question is why blame someone else for one you volunteered to take when you paid your admission?

In addition to a philosophical hang-up on this issue, I confess to a selfish reason for hoping the court comes to its senses and reverses the lower court decision.

I'm a baseball fan. I enjoy watching games. It's a pastime that most American families can still afford.

Baseball tickets are about a third of that charged by football. A dad can still take the kids to the game without mortgaging the family jewels.

If the jury decision stands and baseball is liable for these injuries, there goes the ball game.

You know who will pay for the liability insurance that will skyrocket who knows how high.

There could be a silver lining to all this. If baseball is seriously affected, it might just get the attention of the politicians.

Force them to get off dead center and do something about liability insurance costs that are forcing doctors, bar owners and other concerns out of business.

It's long past time that we make individuals responsible for their own behavior.

Youth arrested for malicious destruction

Cass City Police Officer Kenneth Schott arrested a 19-year-old Cass City youth Sunday at 2:15 a.m. on charge of malicious destruction of property over $100.

According to the report, Officer Schott observed Allan W. Horne, 19, 4118 S. Seeger St., Cass City, walk in front of a vehicle driven by Lori L. Hartwick, forcing the Hartwick vehicle to stop. Horne then hit the vehicle several times with his fist. As Hartwick, 16, 1751 Cemetery Rd., Deford, was driving away Officer Schott saw him throw what he believed to be rocks at the vehicle.

The amount of damage to the Hartwick vehicle is not yet known. Horne was taken to Tuscola County Jail by officers.

Officer Phillip Klaus reported that a house owned by Joe Guza, 4468 Woodland St., Cass City, was vandalized when someone painted obscene words on the house with black paint.

The vandals painted the words on the house sometime Saturday after 1:00 a.m. No suspects have been arrested.

The house will need to be repainted.

Letters to the editor

Allen opposes MESC closings

Dear Editor:

I am prompted to write this letter because of the numerous inquiries concerning the State's closing of the M.E.S.C. office in Caro and elsewhere across the state.

I am disturbed about the closing of these offices for four reasons. First, the elimination of offices will make it extremely difficult for unemployed persons and employers to use the job services of the Michigan Employment Security Commission. Second the mailing of checks may cause a significant change in shopping patterns by the unemployed, who currently spend much of their checks in the community where they collect their unemployment benefits. This could have a very negative impact on some merchants. Third, payment by mail increases dramatically the possibilities for fraud and error. Fourth, the cuts seem aimed primarily at rural Michigan. It is unfortunate that this reduction in service must be suffered almost exclusively by one geographical area.

For all of the above reasons, I have expressed my strong opposition to such a change to the MESC and will continue to urge that the current office locations be retained.

What are the reasons for eliminating MESC offices? The MESC blames the federal government. It is true that the federal government is responsible through the FUTA tax for the funding of the administration of the state unemployment systems. It is also true that the federal government has reduced its funding for Michigan. That reduction has put severe pressure on our state administration. However, it is a bit hypocritical of the MESC to blame the federal government for its problems when the MESC itself is responsible for a $60 million cost overrun on its computer system! Who knows how much additional waste could be eliminated to keep local offices open?

A second reason for the elimination of the MESC offices may be found in the Legislature itself. A number of legislators have prompted the mailing of checks for several years at the urging of labor leaders.

The official reason has been the argument that mailing would be more efficient and save unemployed persons time and money. So it's not surprising that the new Democratic administration would initiate a pay-by-mail scheme. It is important to remember that a test was conducted during the Milliken Administration on the viability of pay-by-mail with negative results.

Sincerely,
Dick Allen
State Representative
77th District

Rumors about Dr. Martin untrue

To whom it may concern:

"RUMORS" A terrible, destructive way of life! We came to Cass City to work for Dr. Martin two months ago with the hope of providing a community service.

Dr. Martin began with an empty office and has turned it into a lovely professional setting with her main goal being patient care, their needs and comfort. We have both worked in the medical field for quite some time and have rarely seen such great medical care given to patients as Dr. Martin has given.

Then there are always those who attempt to destroy something good with something bad, such as RUMORS! They are saying that her prices are too high; that she is an immigrant who cannot speak English very well; that she is moving back to Florida and also that she is pregnant. NONE OF THESE RUMORS ARE TRUE!! She is as American as apple pie!

We have learned in this short time that Dr. Martin is very knowledgeable, thorough, caring and understanding. She is not just a physician but also a friend.

If anyone would like to call us about any concerns, please feel free to at 872-4331. Thank you.

Newspapers

Here are a few facts about newspapers that may be news to many:

- The country with the most newspapers is the United States.
- There are nearly 2,000 English-language daily papers published in this country, with a combined net paid circulation of over 60 million copies a day.
- There may be far fewer papers around next year with greatly reduced circulation for the ones that remain unless Congress acts this year.
- The President's budget proposal would do away with the government's assisting the post office to allow certain newspapers a lower rate, as has long been their right.
- If the papers have to pay regular second-class rates—two and three times higher than they pay now—many may go out of business. Others would have to raise their subscription rates. Many Americans would lose their source of local news and local advertising.
- The biggest newspaper ever printed was the New York Times of Sunday, October 17, 1965. It comprised 15 sections with a total of 946 pages and weighed seven and a half pounds.

Gagetown man drives vehicle into Saginaw Bay

A 25-year-old Gagetown man was not injured Sunday morning when he missed the intersection of M-25 and Oak Beach Road and drove his vehicle about 50 feet into the Saginaw Bay.

According to Huron County Sheriff's Department Deputy Elwood Smith, Randy D. Thompson, 25, 2105 Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, was northbound on Oak Beach Road, looking for M-25, when he struck a steel catwalk, and drove his vehicle into about four feet of water. A passenger in the vehicle, Nelson Bolzman, 33, 1915 Fairgrove Rd., Caro, also was not injured. Both men were wearing seat belts.

The accident occurred about 2:30 a.m. near Oak Beach County Park, about seven miles west of Port Austin.

Both men left the scene, and returned later to pull the car from the water. Deputy Smith said the vehicle suffered minor damages.

No injuries in minor auto mishap

No injuries were reported when a vehicle driven by a 52-year-old Deford man collided with another vehicle as he was leaving a field in Wisner Township.

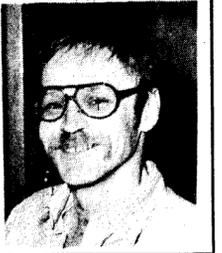

According to the report, Bernard D. Spencer, 52, 2034 N. Englehart Rd., Deford, was pulling out of a field, and was struck by a vehicle driven by Keith J. Inskeep, 48, 205 Marquette Rd., Bay City. Neither man could see the other vehicle because of brush and trees along the road side. Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Deputy James Jashinske reported the accident happened Saturday at 3:50 p.m.

Deputy Patrick Woidan reported Daniel J. Roggenbuck, 31, 7062 Rapson Rd., Harbor Beach, was not injured when he struck a deer Sept. 9 at 1:10 p.m.

Roggenbuck was westbound on M-81, one-half mile east of Schwegler Road, when he struck the deer.

McLeody Days

By Bill McLeod

Looking back on the years I've spent earning a living as a newspaper man (I just had a birthday. For some reason I always get melancholy around my birthday), carrying a press pass has given me the opportunity to do some unique things.

One of my first assignments at an Indiana newspaper was to do a story on conservation officer Monty Beaver (honestly, that is his name. For a conservation officer, you couldn't ask for a more fitting name). While we were riding around some back roads looking for poachers Beaver got a call from his partner requesting help with some poachers who were riding mules.

Beaver's partner was someplace on one side of the woods, and we were waiting on the other. As fate would have it, they came our way.

As they were approaching, Beaver told me he had given chase to these poachers before, and they had threatened to shoot him if he ever "hassled" them again. I started to lose my enthusiasm for the story.

Beaver decided to let them pass, so he could sneak up from behind and catch them off guard. My job was to lie low, and don't look up so my face wouldn't reflect the moonlight. As the mules walked by I was too scared to breathe, let alone look up. I thought for sure the end was at hand when I finally looked up just as one of the coon dogs stuck his nose in my face. Fortunately he moved on without baying.

When Beaver made the arrest, he was disappointed he only caught one of the "old man's kids," and not his arch rival. Standing there holding onto one of the smelly coon dogs I was happy that we didn't run into the old man.

For total out and out fun, the best assignment I ever had was doing a story on hang gliding. A man named Scruffy was trying to buy an old garbage dump that had been built up over the years until it finally became a large hill (we dubbed it Mt. Trashmore). Scruffy had just completed a story with a P.M.

Magazine crew, and offered me the same opportunity, write about it first hand.

As I strapped into the harness of the 32-foot wingspan kite I remember wishing I had paid more attention to my instructor (a problem that has plagued me throughout much of my life).

My first few flights were terrible, landings were worse.

About the fifth time down the hill I felt a sudden surge of acceleration. Scruffy, tired of me not getting high enough, was pushing from behind. When I finally got the nerve to look down (not up this time), I saw the ground about 30 feet below me.

I found out one thing about being 30 feet in the air. It seems like a long way up, but it doesn't take long to get down.

I never did learn how to land. After limping for a few days, I was good as new.

One of the biggest thrills I have had since coming to the Chronicle was doing the story on Owen Pierce's bees. To a lot of people it probably didn't seem that exciting, but standing in the midst of thousands of flying bees kept my blood pressure at peak power. I kept wishing I would have worn my insulated coveralls instead of just a shirt. Well, I only got stung once, and Pierce quickly removed the stinger, but it still itched a week later.

NO JEWELRY WAGON

HEALTH TIPS It's hay fever time from now through late fall

Want to go sailing 100 miles offshore and stay there until the first frost? If you're one of the 19 million Americans whose summer fun is interrupted by the sneezes, runny nose, and watery eyes of hay fever, being stranded in the middle of a body of water for relief of hay fever miseries may not sound like such a bad idea.
Hay fever, which is not really a fever at all, results when pollen, especially ragweed, stimulates the antibodies within the immunosystem. When the individual is exposed again to the pollen (inhaling it in the nose, for example), the antibodies trigger specialized cells throughout the body to produce powerful defensive substances. This is what causes the miserable symptoms associated with hay fever.
Uncontrollable sneezing, stuffy and runny nose, red, teary, swollen, and itchy eyes, and itching of the nose, mouth, and throat are the most common symptoms of hay fever. These effects differ in degree according to the individual, ranging from mild to severe.
In the past few years, hay fever victims were advised to read the pollen count, but according to the American Lung Association of Michigan, daily pollen counts are not dependable forecasts of hay fever symptoms. Nor are the weather trends in your area, such as wet or dry spells.

Since not all hay fever victims react to the same pollen, what is a high pollen count for one sufferer is a mere trifle for another. To make matters worse, the pollen count is only valid for the local area. The information is not useful even a couple of blocks away.
If you suffer the symptoms of hay fever, the American Lung Association of Michigan recommends that you consult your physician for help. Your doctor can order skin or blood tests to help identify the exact substance causing your allergic reaction.
If you can, stay away from substances that cause your reaction, such as cigarette smoke, and be sure to keep your air-conditioning filters clean. Many hay fever sufferers find relief at the beach because there is less pollen near large bodies of water. Air purification systems also may help many people.
For more information on hay fever, contact your nearest American Lung Association of Michigan office or write to the state office at 403 Seymour Avenue, Lansing, Mich. 48914. There's a toll free number for your convenience at 1-800-292-5979.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Policeman's Ball to be held Oct. 19

The annual Policeman's Ball, sponsored by Lodge 148 of the Fraternal Order of Police, serving law enforcement officers of Tuscola County, will be held Oct. 19 at the Caro Knights of Columbus Hall.

Sgt. Jim Giroux of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, chairman of the event, explained proceeds from the event will be used to support civic improvement programs throughout the county.

Last year the Fraternal Order of Police donated almost $3,000 to community programs and for college scholarships to county residents seeking an education in criminal justice. Some of the programs the FOP helped fund last year are: Lake Huron Area Boy Scouts of America, Caro Baseball Federation, Cass City Little League, Reach America project for drug abuse, Crime Stopper's program, Christmas baskets for the Commission on Aging and the Caro Jaycees fireworks display. Last year the FOP donated $1,300 for college scholarships to county residents.

Sgt. Giroux added the FOP represents about 50 members from the Sheriff's Department, Michigan State Police and village police departments in the county. The lodge was established in 1971.

Tickets for the Policeman's Ball are $12.50 per person, which includes a buffet style dinner, open bar, and dancing. Music will be provided by the variety band Loose Change.

The benefit starts at 6:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained in the Sheriff's Department lobby, by calling the Sheriff's office at 673-8161, or from a police officer in your area.

New books at the library

HANDS OF A STRANGER by Robert Daley (fiction). This story is about rape: the brutal act, the intricacies of detection and prosecution, and the psychological fallout for the victim. It's also about the ordinary emotions that bind and sunder men and women. Joe is a newly promoted New York Police Department inspector who regards his job as a "holy calling," conventionally "romantic" about women, he fails to understand his wife Mary. When Mary is raped but dares not disclose the details because she was involved in a lover's tryst at the time, Joe goes far beyond "the book" to pursue the culprit. Joe himself, however, has been having an affair with an attractive assistant DA, who had drawn him into a spectacular case involving both rape and drugs, and it's she, torn between her dedication to the law and her needs as a woman, who gives him an education in love.

A MAGGOT by John Fowles (fiction). A picture of four travelers riding together on an unnamed journey through the English countryside begins this story. It is the early eighteenth century, and the reader soon learns that none of these people are quite what they appear to be, although this knowledge doesn't begin to solve the puzzle or to sort what their individual motives for traveling together might be. Unexplained death and sudden disappearance sharpen the mystery, satanic rituals, a hurried elopement, and an eighteenth-century UFO help to bring Fowles' new novel to a climactic coup de theatre.

THE GRASSHOPPER TRAP by Patrick F. McManus (fiction). The author presents 30 humorous essays on the perils of the sporting life, writing with dry wit of the mishaps and hardships endured by zealous but inept outdoorsmen. McManus encourages those who lose their way to feign bravery by greeting rescuers with such quips as "did you bring the buns and wieners?" McManus offers tongue-in-cheek lessons on entomology (grasshopper harvesting), etymology (a group of dejected fishermen is called a "sulk"), and anecdotes about his cohorts Retch Sweeney, Crazy Eddie and Rancid Crabtree.

At Farm Bureau meeting

Farmers urged to ride out troubled times

At the Tuscola County Farm Bureau annual meeting Saturday night, members were told by District Director Jack Laurie that if they can "ride out" these financially troubled times, the agricultural industry can come back stronger than before.

Laurie, Cass City, addressing about 165 members at the meeting in Mayville, said the fall of 1985 may not be the worst times that farmers will face, but they can win the battle "if we don't panic." Laurie said he recently attended a meeting with representatives from other states, where he learned that most other states are expecting good corn yields, driving the price down even further. He explained that Iowa farmers are expected to average 175 bushels of corn per acre on good crop ground.

"Even though things aren't looking too bright in Michigan, we can be thankful we have diversity in the state," Laurie said about Michigan's overall economy. He explained in Iowa, where most of the state's income is based on agriculture or agricultural related business, 46 percent of the commercial banks are experiencing financial difficulty, and all of the farm credit corporations are in financial trouble. He added that in small agricultural communities, with 3,000 residents or less, about one half of the businesses have closed.

"If we ride it out (financially troubled times) it (agriculture) is still going to be the strongest industry in our economy," Laurie said. He pointed to the Farm Bureau theme for the year, "Together We Win," explaining "that's the key to our future in the farm industry."

Laurie told members they should keep up to date on four areas in legislative action that will affect their financial future. The four are: tax reform, water rights for irrigation, government involvement in the Farm Credit System, and the Farm Bill that is currently in legislative committee.

RESOLUTIONS

A resolution to dissolve the Women's Committee of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau and replace it with a Promotion and Education Committee was rejected by a 42-19 vote from the electorate.

Farm Bureau member Andrea Hofmeister, Gageton, explained that because of the increasing number of women in the work force, membership in the committee has dropped. She felt the work that has been done by the Women's Committee could be better accomplished if they went to a Promotion and Education Committee that would allow men to work on the projects.

Members also approved a resolution from Ron Gromak, a Mayville pork producer, to support proposed beef and pork research, education and consumer communications legislative programs in congress as desired by beef and pork producers. In Gromak's presentation he explained this will increase product demand that will increase profitability to livestock and grain producers.

The voters also passed a county resolution that opposes a state prison in Tuscola County. The resolution states that although a prison would create jobs, it would detract from the rural way of life and cause property values to decline.

A second county-wide resolution urges Farm Bureau members to utilize the services of the Soil Conservation District in developing a farm plan.

Voters also approved a state-wide resolution that urges legislators to include assessments on agricultural drains as a benefit of Public Act 116. Under Public Act 116 if a farmer agrees to keep his property in agricultural use only, he is allowed a property tax deduction.

Also on Public Act 116, members approved a resolution to educate lawyers that all sales of property must be reported to the Department of Natural Resources.

Members also approved resolutions that would place a limit on liability insurance claims, and to restructure the Michigan Department of Transportation's disbursement of funds so county road commissions would receive more funding.

On two legislative bills in the Michigan House of Representatives, Farm Bureau members voted to oppose a bill that would increase the capital gains tax by 150 percent, and a new premium tax on insurance policies.

Members approved a resolution that supports efforts to gain legislative endorsement of navy beans, canned in brine, to be used for relief efforts for starving people in other countries.

Voters unanimously approved a state and national resolution that would lower interest rates to all farmers.

In other business, members were informed the Tuscola County Farm Bureau now has 2,789 members, 164 more than last year.

Cass City Farm Bureau insurance agent Jim Ceranski was presented with an award for signing up the most new members during the past year. Ceranski signed up 70 new members.

12 Girl Scouts tour island

Twelve Girl Scouts from Cass City Girl Scout troops recently spent four days touring points of interest and working with the Honor Guard at Mackinac Island's Fort Mackinac.

During their four-day tour the girls also visited Sault Ste. Marie and took a scenic train tour into Canada.

They also visited Tahquamenon Falls and on the return trip took in the sights of Alpena and Tawas City.

While in the Mackinac City area the girls stayed in tents at the Tee Pee Campgrounds, a public camping facility. On the island they visited with Dolores Lopez, a girl scout from Caro who is one of 53 girls from 21 counties selected to work as an Honor Guard at Fort Mackinac.

Cass City Girl Scouts who went on the four-day trip were: Barb Kelley, Mary Polega, Heather Wright, Stephanie Szarapski, Linda Rands, Lori Ypma, Jennifer Erla, Lou Ann Sellers, Jennifer Knowlton, Jill Wright and Julie and Laura Erla. Adults in charge were: Pat Erla, Sandi Wright and Pat Jamieson.

Wool expert to speak Thursday

Harvesting high quality wool will be the focal point of a meeting to be held Thursday, Sept. 26, at Wildwood Restaurant, Cass City.

The program will start at 7:30 p.m. with a video showing how to shear sheep properly.

Following the video, Peter Miles from Milton, Australia, will describe how sheep shearing is done in Australia. He will also discuss wool grading and what one should look for when selecting wool for spinning.

A short discussion on what's available for tanning sheep skins will also be held.

Jim LeCureux, Huron County Extension Agricultural Agent, is coordinating the program and, according to LeCureux, the program is designed to assist sheep producers in producing a higher quality wool. He also pointed out that there is growing interest in wool and mohair spinning in the Thumb area and this program should also be beneficial to spinners.

The program is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and everyone is welcome.

More meetings for sheep producers in the tri-county area are being planned for later this winter.

VOTING MEMBERS elected John Foley (left) and Barry Hedley to the Tuscola County Farm Bureau board of directors at the annual meeting Saturday night. Foley, Millington, replaces Ron Elenbaum as the District 3 representative, serving Arhela, Millington, Vassar and Watertown Townships. Elenbaum retired after serving three terms. Hedley was elected to his second three-year term. He represents Almer, Columbia and Indianfields Townships. Also elected, but unable to attend the meeting, was Michael H. Proctor, Mayville, who will serve as director at large.

Kingston 4-H'er tops Adrian show

Sanilac County 4-H'er Michelle McGraw, of Kingston, took top honors at the Michigan 4-H Standardbred Horse Production Show Aug. 25 in Adrian. As first place winner in the conformation class, McGraw will receive an all expense-paid trip to Louisville and Lexington, Ky., Nov. 14-17, where she will attend the International Livestock Exposition and visit some top horse farms and Horse Park. She also took third place in the showmanship class.

The show was the last of a number of events planned to help Michigan 4-H members participating in the Michigan 4-H Standardbred Horse Production Project to develop a greater understanding of the Michigan harness horse industry.

4-H members involved in the production project are given weaning Standardbred foals to raise for one year. During the year the 4-H'ers attend a number of workshops, including a trip to a breeding farm, a session at a large commercial racetrack, a horse driving session, a county fair racing program, and programs on health, feeding and careers. The 4-H members also keep detailed records on their horses' growth and development, as well as detailed expense records.

At the end of the program, members take their yearlings to a special show so that judges and prospective buyers can evaluate the horses' condition and training and potential as winning harness horses.

The yearlings are sold at an auction, and 4-H members receive one-third of the selling price plus documented expenses. The breeder who donated the horse to the program receives the remainder.

Bows to Deckerville Friday

O-G to face Caseville in homecoming clash

Although the Owen-Gage Bulldogs went down to defeat against a tough Deckerville team, the talk on the sidelines was that Arnie Besonen's Bulldog team is showing signs of maturing early this season.

In Friday night's contest against Deckerville, whom many pick to walk away with the Thumb D League championship, the Bulldogs lost 17-7, but three times in the last quarter the Bulldogs were stopped after marching inside the Deckerville 10-yard line.

"They played well, but look at the scoreboard," Coach Besonen said. He pointed out the Bulldogs made two stupid mistakes when they allowed Deckerville linemen to block two punts.

Besonen said they cannot make any mistakes if they are going to beat Caseville Friday night in the Owen-

Gage homecoming game. "They are tough. They have the best defense in the league," Besonen said about Caseville. The Eagles are coming to Owen-Gage after pulling off an 18-6 upset of Kingston.

"Caseville will sting you if you make a mistake," Besonen said, pointing out that most of last year's starting players are back for this season.

Besonen explained they will have to beat Caseville with their team speed, using quick openers. Caseville has three starting linemen who weigh over 240 pounds. "We've got to beat them at the point of attack. We don't have anybody that big."

Besonen expects the Bulldogs will be "up for the game," but added they have a lot of distractions because of homecoming activities. This week Owen-

Gage will be having a "pajama day," "punk day," and a "red and gray" day to help get the team fired up for Friday's contest.

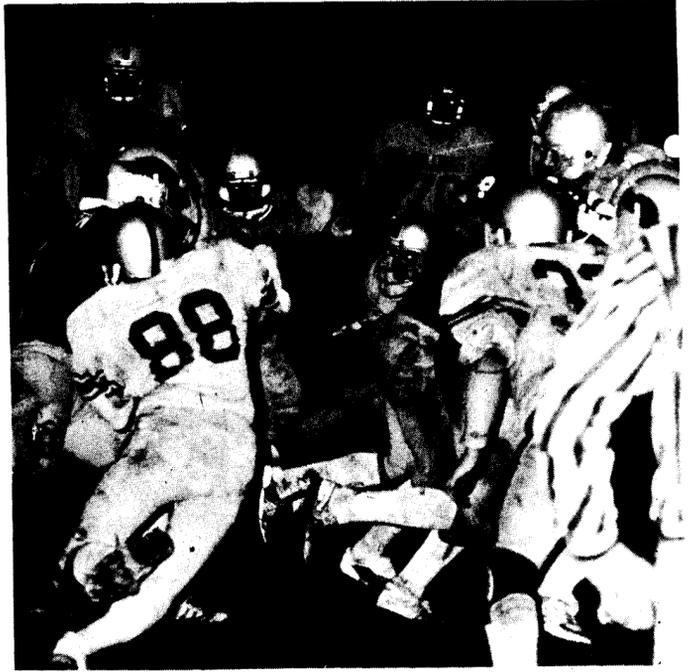

Besonen said he will continue using a pass to keep the defense off balance. Against Deckerville Friday night, Owen-Gage's only score came in the second quarter on a 15-yard pass from Stu Stirrett to Ron Susalla. The Bulldogs had driven deep into Deckerville territory, but were facing a fourth and 12 on the 15-yard line. Stirrett rolled right, and found Susalla in the open. Susalla shook one tackle, and scampered in for the score.

Deckerville put the first points on the scoreboard early in the second quarter with a chip-shot field goal inside the Owen-Gage 10-yard line. The Bulldogs gained 247 total yards to Deckerville's 288 total yards, but 82 of the Eagles' yards came on a long run with only seconds left in the game. Deckerville fullback Bill Brown broke a tackle deep in Eagle territory and scampered towards the Owen-Gage end zone, only to be hauled down from behind by lineman Ron Good. The Bulldogs refused to let the Eagles run up the score, and the game ended with Deckerville stopped on the three-yard line.

Mike Mandich led the Bulldog ground attack with 53 yards on 12 carries. Susalla carried six times for 45 yards. In addition to throwing for 53 yards, Stirrett scampered for 42 yards on five carries.

Rick Salcido led the Bulldog defense with nine tackles and one interception. "He's not very big, but he hits you," Besonen said about the 142-pound Salcido. Dave Laurie also had nine tackles.

OWEN-GAGE QUARTERBACK Stu Stirrett scampers around left end for a long gainer in Friday's 17-7 loss to Deckerville. Stirrett gained 42 yards on five carries against the Eagles.

A good credit rating will save state $17 million

Governor James Blanchard, who recently led a delegation of state officials in meetings with New York rating houses, said he is hopeful of getting an improved rating which he said would translate into a tax cut.

Both Moody's Investors Service and Standard and Poor's are reviewing material submitted by the state and other data before issuing ratings on $350 million in short term notes the state intends to market this month.

Blanchard said if the agencies grant Michigan's request for the highest rating possible on the notes, total borrowing costs should be about $17 million, or 50 percent, lower than the $33.3 million the state paid to obtain a $450 million note last year.

The annual borrowing is required to meet heavy school aid and other cash payments at the start of the fiscal year, Oct. 1.

The Governor said he and Treasurer Robert Bowman discussed the state's stronger financial condition and reduced borrowing needs.

If the state gets the highest possible rating without outside credit support, Blanchard said it would "allow us to keep our financial recovery program on track and will translate into a tax cut for the people of Michigan."

He said the state is able to expand education, prison and road programs while bringing down income taxes and proposing property tax cuts because "we have straightened out our finances, paid off our debts, and improved our credit rating."

Michigan has not had a MIG 1 — the highest Moody's rating — without backing from outside sources since 1978. Last year's bank-backed borrowing cost $31.5 million in interest and $1.8 million in fees to other banks.

Officials were also hopeful of getting the state's long-term bond rating improved from the A rating by Moody's (three steps below the top) and A-plus from Standard and Poor's.

KELLEY TO FILE SUIT FOR ILLEGAL DISPOSAL OF TOXIC WASTES

Attorney General Frank Kelley announced he has notified the former owners and operators of a site near Pontiac that has been used for illegal disposal of toxic wastes of an impending lawsuit.

The action involves a site located in Auburn Hills which was previously operated by the Great Lakes Container Corporation who had used the site for the reconditioning of metal drums.

Kelley said an intensive investigation by the Department of Natural Resources has revealed that more than 3,000 drums containing hazardous and toxic wastes were illegally buried at the site and that bulk liquid wastes were dumped into the ground, polluting soils, groundwaters and the Galloway Creek, a tributary of the Clinton River.

He noted the information indicated that the wastes were improperly buried and dumped at various times prior to Sept. 26, 1984, when the present owner, Columbus Steel Drum Company, purchased the facility from Great Lakes.

The Attorney General issued a notice to Great Lakes that a civil lawsuit will be filed in federal district court within 60 days unless the parties agree to a full settlement of the state's claims. The notice was given in accordance with federal laws, including the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980, the so-called Superfund law.

Special license plates for disabled

Special blue and white license plates for disabled veterans are now on sale, Secretary of State Richard Austin announced.

According to Austin, the plates are authorized under a law signed into effect in July of this year. To be eligible to purchase the special plate, veterans must show proof of honorable discharge and proof from the Military or Veterans Administration of a service-connected total or permanent disability for compensation or retirement.

Applications for such plates may be obtained from any Secretary of State branch office and should be sent to: Michigan Department of State, Special Registrations Unit, Lansing, Mich. 48918. The $5 fee should be enclosed. Further instructions will be given at the branch office.

The blue plates carry white letters "DV" followed by a combination of four letters and numbers. The words "Disabled Veteran" appear on the bottom. Plates expire on the owner's birthday.

Austin said an estimated 4,200 individual veterans may be eligible to purchase the plate. Only one plate per veteran will be issued.

Hawk cagers bow to Bad Axe

Cass City jumped off to an early four-point lead over visiting Bad Axe Thursday but wilted when the Hatchets took control of the offensive and defensive boards. The score was 49-30 in the Thumb B Association tilt.

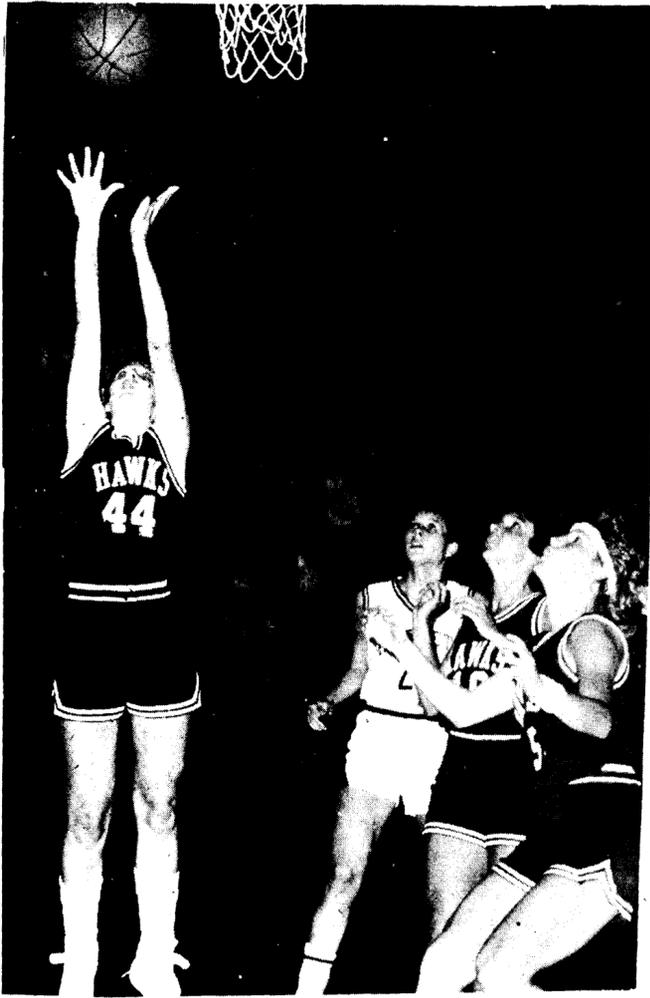

Cass City was blown out of the game in a horrible second period. After playing nearly even in the first quarter and trailing by just three points, 11-8, Cass City couldn't do anything right.

The girls shot poorly, were outrebounded and were guilty of numerous turnovers as Bad Axe posted a 20-4 advantage in the quarter and was comfortably in front at the intermission, 32-12.

Cass City turned things around in the third period and chopped eight points from the Bad Axe lead. But it was too little, too late for the Hawks, who dropped their second game of the season.

Shannon McIntosh, an all-conference guard if there ever was one, was the bright spot of the evening for Hawk fans. She scored 16 points and directed the offense from her guard position.

Bad Axe had three players in double figures, Shelly Havens, 12 points; Carmel Howie, 10, and Lori Reimann, 13.

CHRIS BRITT SNARED this rebound for Cass City, but Bad Axe dominated the boards to defeat the Hawks. Helping out for Cass City are Shannon McIntosh, left, and Lisa Nicholas.

Common material can be used when cleaning

By Betty Pattullo
Extension Home Economist

Literally hundreds of different brands and types of cleaning supplies are available in the average supermarket. Trying to choose can make you wonder whether it would be simple and cheaper to make your own cleaning supplies.

There are some household cleaning jobs that can be tackled with inexpensive, common materials if you know what materials work best on what kind of soils, says Betty Pattullo, Extension Home Economist.

For example, alkalis remove soil and grease and rinse away with clear water. A mild solution of water and baking soda—a mild alkali—can be used to clean appliances, metal sinks, fiberglass tubs and other surfaces. Because it's mild and nonabrasive, it won't damage these surfaces, either.

Ammonia, a stronger alkali, can be dissolved in water and used to clean painted surfaces, greasy film on windows or other glass, or grease on range burners and ovens. Laundry detergents, which are also alkaline, can be used for similar cleaning tasks. These products are all relatively inexpensive and can be made into different strength cleaning solutions for specific tasks when needed.

Inexpensive mild acids, such as vinegar, can be used to remove soap film and mineral deposits left by hard water. In a water solution, they can be used to clean window glass. When heated, they can dissolve lime from teakettles and pans.

Chlorine bleach makes an excellent disinfectant and mildew remover and can also remove many stains, if used carefully.

These "home" cleaners may require more time and energy to mix and use than the quick, commercially produced cleaners, but they cost less to use.

Families need to weigh one scarce resource against another, Pattullo says, that is, time against money. Which does your family have more of? Is it practical for you to mix your own cleaners, or too costly to buy specialized products? A new CES Bulletin, "Money Saving Tips for Household Cleaners," E-1859, offers practical suggestions for making cleaners when it seems appropriate. This bulletin will be available from our office.

Perhaps you can compromise, Pattullo says. Stir up a baking soda or ammonia solution for everyday cleaning, buy your furniture wax because it would be too time-consuming, costly and hazardous to make at home.

O-G cagers lose first 2 games

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team dropped their first two games of the season last week, losing to Ubyly 20-42 Tuesday night and to Kingston 52-67 Thursday night.

In Tuesday's loss to Ubyly, Susie Salcido was the top Bulldog scorer with 10 points. Barb Hellebuyck tossed in six points. The junior varsity won 34-22.

Against Kingston, Salcido was again top scorer with 12 points. Cindy Enderle tossed in nine points. Four girls, Barb Hellebuyck, Debbie Englehardt, Sandra Miller and Tiffany Reinhardt each scored six points. The junior varsity won 19-16.

Owen-Gage will host Carsonville-Port Sanilac Thursday night and will travel to North Huron for a Sept. 24 game. Home games begin at 6:30 p.m.

North Branch is next

Last half rally falls short, Bad Axe posts 19-14 win

Cass City will probably have to play as well or better than it did in the last half against Bad Axe last Friday if they are to break into the win column for the first time this year against North Branch.

The Broncos are big, strong and undefeated in two games. They rate as one of the teams to beat in the Thumb B Association. Cass City looked like two different teams last Friday while bowing to the Hatchets, 19-14, in the Thumb B opener for both teams.

In the first half the Hawks could do nothing right. In the last half the Hawks outscored Bad Axe 13-6 and in the process discovered a quarterback and fullback.

The quarterback is Gary Suzor, junior, who also played a lot of defense for Cass City Friday. The fullback is Pete Leiterman, junior, who was playing his first game of the season. Leiterman has a tender shoulder and Coach Don Schelke hopes that he will not have to play him on defense as well as offense this week.

That depends on the condition of Greg Erla, who is nursing a severely bruised leg, but will probably play. Rob Nicholas, who has been the quarterback, is lost because he broke a collarbone in practice.

Erla was lost to the Hawks for most of the game against Bad Axe. He limped to the bench with six minutes left in the first quarter and never returned.

It was a serious blow for the Hawks. Erla, a senior, is one of the co-captains and was a defensive linebacker as well as fullback.

Neither team could do much in the opening minutes of the game and it looked like it might be a very low scoring game.

But Bad Axe made a lightning thrust through the air with 2:27 left in the first period when Jeff Gavitt slipped behind Cass City's right safety and took a pass from George Edington without breaking stride on the 38 and galloped into the end zone untouched.

Bad Axe scored again in the second period after recovering a Hawk fumble on the five. Nicholas fumbled when hit by Hatchet Ed Draves and moments later Jim Troyer bounced into the end zone. David Rowland's extra point kick was good.

Cass City gave the home folks something to cheer about right after the opening second half kickoff. Dan Ware recovered a Hatchet fumble on the Bad Axe 38 and Cass City marched in to score.

Leiterman was a one-man gang in the drive, running nine times as Cass City went all the way on the ground. Leiterman got the marker from three yards out.

Bad Axe refused to fold and made one of the longest sustained drives of the night to push the lead back to two touchdowns. The march covered 60 yards.

Key runner in the drive was Troyer, who broke tackle after tackle in the drive and scored on a seven-yard run.

Cass City got that score back early in the fourth quarter with a 63-yard drive. Leiterman gained 26 yards in the drive and scored the touchdown with 10:52 left. The points after touchdown were scored on a run.

Cass City had a chance to pull the game out in the last few minutes but a drive stalled when a big fourth down play came up short.

Troy Sweeney led the defense with 11 tackle assists followed by Suzor and Dennis Steeley with 10 each.

Carpenter lauded for Farm Bureau service

For the past 32 years, Florence Carpenter has donated a large amount of her time and energy to the Michigan Farm Bureau working on committees at the county, district and state level.

Saturday night at the annual Tuscola County Farm Bureau meeting in Mayville, members took time to recognize and thank her for the efforts she put forth by inducting her into the Tuscola County Women's Hall of Fame. Her name and list of accomplishments over the last 32 years will be submitted to the Michigan Farm Bureau for acceptance into a state-wide Women's Hall of Fame.

Since joining the Farm Bureau in 1960 Carpenter has served for 10 or 12 years as the Tuscola County Women's Committee chairperson, the longest any member has held that position. She also served as the district chairperson for the women's committee, and was the vice-chairperson for Michigan Farm Bureau Women's Committee for four years. She also represented Michigan at the national convention in Atlanta, GA.

Carpenter and her husband Clare, former dairy farmers from the Cass City area, retired from farming in 1975. While their three children were growing up she was involved in the Cass City Livestock Club and other 4-H activities. Carpenter has also been active in work with the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service.

Carpenter's involvement in community projects has taken her from the farm scene into the Tuscola County Jail where she initiated a program to supply Bibles to prisoners. In the 1960's Michigan Governor George Romney appointed her to serve on the State Comprehensive Health Care Planning Council.

LaPonsie elected to board

Cass City Village Superintendent Lou S. LaPonsie was one of six municipal officials to be elected to three-year terms on the Michigan Municipal League's board of directors.

LaPonsie said he was pleased to be elected to the board, and glad to see the league is recognizing their future growth is with the villages in the state. "Not too many years ago they didn't have many villages in the league," LaPonsie said. "Now they are trying to reach them."

LaPonsie and a village manager from Ortonville were the only two village government employees to be elected to the board at the Sept. 12 annual convention held in Flint.

LaPonsie has been the village superintendent of Cass City since 1972. Before coming to Cass City he was the street commissioner in L'Anse, Mich. He is a member of the Cass City Library Board, and the school's Citizens Advisory Committee.

Carpenter said in the 32 years that she has been involved with the Farm Bureau she has seen changes in the organization that were brought on because of the financial difficulties that farmers are facing. One change is the decline of women active in the women's committee. "They don't have time to give to the organization like they used to," Carpenter said. She explained that now women have been forced to take jobs off the farm to help with farm finances.

Carpenter feels that Farm Bureau men also have less time for activities because they are farming more acres "as they struggle to make the dollar."

Although Carpenter no longer lives on a farm, she still plans on staying active in the Farm Bureau organization. "It is still a wonderful organization because it speaks for the farmer."

Sup. Kappen seeks county cooperation

Ellington Township Supervisor Jack Kappen wants to get the most out of the township's tax dollar for road repairs, but he claims the Tuscola County Road Commission won't let him.

At a Sept. 10 meeting of the Tuscola County Commissioners, Kappen explained he has requested that county work crews do the township paid repair work to Ellington roads. He claims the road commission told him they wouldn't have time to get to the work this year, and he should go to private firms. Kappen said by hiring a private firm, it costs the township more because private contractors pay their workers union scale, a higher wage than county workers receive.

"I don't know if they have the time or not," Kappen said. He explained at the start of the year, when the employed people drive to look for work."

Don Tonti, human services director for Walbro Corp., Cass City, said they are in "limbo" over whether MESC offices will have job screening for future hiring needs. He has contacted MESC regional managers, but he hasn't received a definite answer if they will continue servicing Walbro. Tonti explained the regional office is in a reorganization process because managers are "bumping" into new jobs.

"That was a big help for us," Tonti said about the screening process performed by the Caro office. "If they can't do it, we may have to do it ourselves."

"We are up in the air right now. We are studying the alternatives."

Several area corporations, including Walbro, did not take the closing of the Caro plant lying down. They sent letters to the MESC director, and to senators and representatives urging them to keep the office open. Cramer said the Caro office submitted petitions with over 2,000 signatures to the MESC directors, asking them not to close the office.

Cramer said of the 12 employees at the Caro office, only he, a clerk typist, a job counselor and the custodian have seniority "bumping rights" into other MESC offices. One Caro office employee is planning a move to Oklahoma after he is laid-off.

Cramer, with 25 years of seniority with MESC, said he will probably not take another job with the state. He explained that he would have to take a demotion, and probably have to move. Cramer said it "wouldn't be worth it" because he feels that another series of MESC office closings is on the horizon, bringing with it yet another layoff.

Cass City to host meet of township group

Legislation and education are the main themes for the Michigan Townships Association's (MTA) Fall District Meeting in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties, Wednesday, Sept. 25. Over one hundred township officials are expected to attend the annual program which is being held at the Colony House in Cass City. Registration begins at 8:00 a.m.

John M. LaRose, MTA Executive Director, will begin the day's activities at 9:00 a.m. with a legislative update. Property tax appeals, funding for township roads, and governmental liability, are among the issues that will be highlighted. Nationally-renowned parliamentarian, Gordon Thomas, will continue the morning program with a discussion on conducting public meetings.

After lunch, participants will be able to select from among several workshops. The State Assessors Board will be conducting an assessors renewal course. Clerks may want to attend a discussion on election legislation by Gene Thornton and Karen Holcomb of MTA's Legislative Affairs Division. Strategies for dealing with the problem of solid waste disposal will be presented.

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

Earlier this year in a column about personal computers, I was critical of sales personnel in the local Radio Shack when I tried to get some information about the contraptions.

I also questioned the practicality of home computers for most households, basically because there isn't that much to compute.

The column brought a letter from the marketing division of Radio Shack. Here are excerpts:

"We're sorry the store personnel were unable to give you good reasons for buying a home computer. May I apologize for their rude response?"

"Our home computers range from $119 Color Computer with a huge array of games and home applications software to the $1,199 Tandy 1000 computer...College students use the Tandy 1000 for word processing and information storage and retrieval...A woman in Los Angeles is going to astrological charts done on a computer in her home...Disabled youngsters in New York City are using computers to communicate...A Kiwanian in Florida uses one to enter his investment portfolio...Teachers use them to prepare lesson plans...

"We've been selling home computers since 1977...they fill real needs of our customers. We don't claim everyone needs a computer at home but there are plenty who do..."

To all of which we say thanks, and when we're in Fort Worth we'd be pleased to have the marketing division tell us more. Meanwhile, we bumble along with a typewriter and adding machine and pencil and paper. But what do you expect of a simple country boy from the boonies?"

A lot of salesmen from brokerage houses call me, and I try to give them the time they need to explain the latest pitch in investments. They're pleasant young men, trying to earn a living the hard way — phone selling.

Latest one had a new wrinkle on single-premium annuities. These have been around a long time, but there was a novel thing or two about this one.

First of all, you invest say $10,000. For this you get a policy that pays you interest between 10 and 10.75 percent the first year. You can let the interest accumulate and there is no tax until you withdraw it. Then your withdrawals are taxed as regular income, after you exceed your original investment.

There is an advantage here of delaying the tax.

After the first year, there is a death benefit, which declines each year as you get older. For example, at age 25, it's 10 times the amount of the single premium. At age 67, the death benefit is twice the amount of the original premium.

This is a fringe benefit, but note that by the time it's likely to be claimed — that is, in your old age — the benefit has shrunk from a factor of 10 to a factor of two (at age 67).

Disregarding the first-year come-on of rather high interest, the rates after that become those current each year. Under one plan, the rate is 2.5 percent less than the 20-year government bond. Today that would bring you in about 9 percent.

You can draw out your annual income by borrowing against the cash value. A charge of one-half of 1 percent is made for the loan. There is no income tax on this. Of course, the balance left in the account becomes that much less than interest for you.

So after the first year, if you want to get some of your interest out, you'll have a net return of 9 percent less one-half of 1 percent service charge. If you borrow against the principal, the fee is 3 percent.

Say you just want to pull out the interest via a loan. You net only 8.5 percent.

If you want to surrender part of the annuity, amounts beyond a withdrawal of 10 percent in any year are charged a 5 percent fee. This is for the first five years. After that the withdrawal fee gradually goes down to 1 percent after nine years. After 10 years, no charge.

As far as the future, Sweeney indicated no immediate plans for another referendum. "We need to concentrate on building our membership and get more grass roots support for a check-off. Our work has just begun," he concluded.

If tax-free income is important to you, some municipal bonds yielding 10 percent are more attractive, in my view. There is a lot of overhead involved in these single-premium so-called annuities and it has to come out of you, the buyer. If income tax is not a factor in your case, get some government agency bonds. They pay around 12 percent, can be easily bought and sold and are good as gold.

William A. Myers is a retired editor and investment manager.

County services may be cut

ing too many services. I don't think they realize how many services they are getting indirectly." Rayl cited last year's tuberculosis outbreak that was discovered and halted by the Tuscola County Health Department as an example of how tax dollars were put to use.

"Maybe they think they don't use the health department, but in that case it was protecting them," Rayl added.

Of the 30,750 registered voters in Tuscola County, 4,685, 15.3 percent, cast a ballot in the Sept. 10 election.

A three-year, 1.5-mill increase for new road construction in Novesta Township also went down to defeat at the election.

Supervisor William O'Dell said they will probably not ask township voters for another road construction increase. Novesta voters defeated the request 88 to 27.

"We didn't anticipate it passing, but we thought we would try it," O'Dell said. "You never know until you try."

He added that by running their request with the county, it didn't cost the township anything.

How do you obtain a bond from someone who knows a lot about protection?

No problem.

When you need a bond, for your business, or an employee—who do you turn to? Auto-Owners. They specialize in protection of all sorts.

If you're looking for reliable, convenient bonding, just ask your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent what he can do for you and your business.
